GREATEST CELEBRATION IS CALLED READY

Battle For Patman Bonus Bill Will Be Carried To People For Next Session

Twinkles
One kidnaper's life spared; another gang hunted. We Americans learn very slowly.

This column is due to be short this week—too much Pre-Centennial. Got to tell other papers about it, too.

A tornado is worse than a dust-storm, if you happen to entertain a twister. The folks down at Forts can add that there is such a thing as too much rain water.

Down where chiggers are really known, they also call the things mite larvae. But that doesn't solve the flea problem. Says Skippy, the family pup.

The Supreme Court says it's open season on the Blue Eagle, but nobody wants to hunt for sick game.

Musing of the moment: It is all too obvious that a truly good celebration cannot be staged and financed all at the same time and by the same men, without overworking those who are giving their time. A year-round committee is going to be necessary to continue the success of such a big enterprise.

Brevitorials

FAR TOO BUSY to wander off into a lengthy exposition of all the entertainment offered by the triplets of the week, the Pre-Centennial Pioneers Roundup, Panhandle Oil Show, this columnist wishes nevertheless to add his personal endorsement of the program and to urge you all to come to Pampa Thursday and Friday. If you like notables, there'll be Governor James V. Allred, Elliott Roosevelt, and others. If you like to meet old timers, there will be hundreds of them here. If you like red hot baseball as the professionals play it, see the Colteco-Road Runner games. And the rodeo planned by C. N. Brewer appears to lack nothing. And Indians there'll be gods of them. And dancing, and all field contests, and exhibits. It would take too much time and space to mention all of the things in store for you. . . . We do wish to emphasize, however, that the No. 1 attraction is the Pre-Centennial pageant, where the Indians will attack a wagon train and where Texas history will live again. And, above all things, don't miss the historical and oil show parade. . . . Come on over!

NOTES ON parliamentary law:

During debate on a measure one way to end the argument is to call for the "previous question" and make the decision by vote immediately. Another way is to push over a motion to postpone indefinitely, which is often equivalent to killing the original motion. Still another method is to "lay on the table" a means of pushing aside the motion for the time. Ruthless suppression of debate, however, is not to be advised, inasmuch as mistreated minorities feel keenly the effects of the steam-roller tactics. . . . A tabled motion may be recalled for discussion and a motion postponed indefinitely may be "reconsidered" under a motion favored by the assembly. Moreover, a motion to "rescind" the previous action may be made. A motion to reconsider must be made by someone who voted with the original prevailing side. Such a motion cannot be repeated when it is to take a recess, to lay on the table, to adjourn, to suspend the rules, to reconsider, or to do something on which the current attitude of the assembly has been adequately shown.

A REPORT of the State department of health tells us that "Contrary to public opinion, the number of suicides in Texas has decreased during the last few years. There was an increase from 616 suicides in 1934 to 624 in 1935."

MODIFIED NRA WILL BE SUBMITTED BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

PLAN WILL BE OUTLINED FOR PRESS TODAY

MINIMUM HOUR AND WAGE PROVISION LIKELY

WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—President Roosevelt and his cabinet today agreed that the social security bill now before the senate is on "sound constitutional grounds."

WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—President Roosevelt and his cabinet agreed today to submit an emergency legislative program to congress for restoration of NRA on a restricted basis.

The president and cabinet met in extraordinary session for more than an hour and a half.

It was decided that Mr. Roosevelt will propose action to congress probably immediately.

The NRA legislative program was described to newsmen as likely to be a "piece-meal" proposition. Details were withheld.

At a luncheon in the press club, meanwhile, General Hugh S. Johnson, former NRA chief, said no constitutional amendment was necessary to protect NRA principles.

Slaps at Borah

He criticized Senator Borah (R-Ida), and Donald R. Richberg, present NRA leader, and called upon "ordinary American cooperation and common sense" to save the Blue Eagle.

When word of the president's cabinet session reached the capitol, where various legislators were arranging for a talk with Mr. Roosevelt later in the day, it was assumed the emergency action will restrict the NRA principles on minimum hours and maximum wages and fair trade practices to strictly interstate commerce business.

One possibility was that congress would be asked to define "interstate business."

The plans were to be made public at a special press conference later in the day.

Not Final Action

Indications were that the immediate legislation would not necessarily be considered final; but that Mr. Roosevelt would possibly seek a broadening of constitutional powers by the people to support the new deal economic and social plans.

As the White House conferences proceeded, it was said by some new deal sympathizers at the capitol that the president had added the Wagner labor disputes bill and the Guffey-Snyder coal bill to his program for congress.

Fending confusion of congressional leaders called by the president for late in the afternoon following a special cabinet session this morning. It was expected details of the plan would be divulged at a press conference at 5 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Has A Stop-Gap

Mr. Roosevelt has a legislative program to propose as a stop-gap pending the results of his campaign for broadening of constitutional authority for the federal government to deal with national economic and social problems.

Fending confusion of the day's conferences, the White House declined any hint of the nature of the president's move.

Emphasis was laid on the fact, however, that the president had told Donald Richberg, NRA head, last night not to arrange for dismissal of all of the 5,400 NRA employees on June 16, when funds expire.

The word "no" was emphasized, indicating a sharply restricted NRA to come within the limited definition laid down by the supreme court of what constitutes interstate commerce and the right of the federal government to regulate it.

Panhandle Oil Show Answers Long-Felt Urge

The first Panhandle Oil show—something Pampa has craved, perhaps a bit subconsciously, ever since this city became the oil center of the Panhandle—will be one of the three major attractions of the celebration here Thursday and Friday.

Firmly fixed in the minds of Pampa civic leaders is the idea of making the show a permanent and ever-growing project. This year's will be the last Pre-Centennial since the Centennial will be held next year, and from then on it is planned to concentrate on the Oil Show and Roundup.

At first it seemed that this year's Oil show would have only a modest, though stable, beginning. Today, the show had developed into a full-sized attraction. Certainly, it will eclipse any oil celebration ever held in the Panhandle, and will share equal importance with the Pre-Centennial and Pioneers Roundup.

It has already made an auspicious beginning. The momentous fact that thousands of employees of oil companies in the Panhandle field will be drawn to Pampa Thursday and Friday gives it an importance. An example of how the oil show is a "natural" for Pampa lies in the precedent set by the Danciger Oil and Refining company. That concern has invited its employees—more than 200—from all over the Panhandle to attend the second day's attractions. The company will be host to the employees at a big barbecue at noon. The oil show will be in two parts this year—the parade and the oil contests. However, visitors are likely to be more interested in the oil parade than the workers themselves who see such things every day.

Every phase of the oil industry will be portrayed—from the old Drake well, the first one, in Pennsylvania, to a view of a modern oil well.

'BOOTLEG MONEY' IS ISSUE AS SHERIFF IS ON TRIAL

LUBBOCK, June 4. (AP)—Sheriff Len Irvin of Lamb county, while a candidate in 1932, promised not to "take any more bootleg money." Corner Hall of near Littlefield testified in United States district court this morning.

Twenty-six persons, including Driscoll, 24, and Deputy Sheriff J. L. Walraven, are on trial charged with conspiracy to violate liquor laws. Those three men and nine others pleaded not guilty.

Hall said that Sheriff Irvin, after hearing that Hall had said the sheriff had received a "rake-off," had told him "if I didn't keep my mouth shut he would whip me."

After having been defeated for the office, Irvin opposed his successor for reelection. In that campaign, Hall said Irvin apologized.

"Why did he apologize?" Clyde G. Hood, assistant district attorney, asked.

"I guess it was because he was running for sheriff."

Hall then said Irvin assured him he would "make a sheriff Lamb county would be proud of" and "would not take any more bootleg money."

On cross examination by George W. Dupree, an attorney for the

Col. Zack Miller, Famed Oklahoman, Coming Thursday

Col. Zack Miller, the most colorful personality that ever came out of Oklahoma, except of course, Will Rogers and Alfalfa Bill, will be one of the big attractions here Thursday and Friday at the Pre-Centennial celebration.

Col. Miller, former owner of the famous 101 ranch and of the 101 Wild West Show, now defunct, will bring to Pampa with him tomorrow his famous trained horse. He will ride the $3,000 animal in the parade while he sits astride his other $12,000 saddle. One of his two diamond-studded saddles was brought to Pampa last week by Carl Benefield and Dick Hughes and is now on display at the LaNora theater. The horse is master of scores of tricks which require almost human intelligence.

At the inauguration of Gov. Marshall of Oklahoma, Col. Miller led the parade and received, Miller devotees claim, more applause than the governor. Col. Miller will bring 25 Indians who went with his show to Europe. These Indians are masters of many tribal dances, and wear colorful costumes. Col. Miller and the Indians will appear in the parade and pageant.

REILLY IS LOSER

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 4. (AP)—Edward J. Reilly lost his suit in supreme court today to impound the appeal fund for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted for the murder of the son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Miss Emil Brewer has returned from the University of Missouri.

Selection of Two Beauties Will Be Started Tonight

"Miss Pampa" and "Miss Gray County" will be chosen in competition at La Nora theater tonight and tomorrow night.

A score or more of local girls, whose entry is sponsored by merchants, will appear on the stage each night at 9 p. m.

The two winners and their chaperones will have free trips to the sectional eliminations at Lubbock. The ultimate winner will get a free trip to Hollywood and a Paramount screen test.

ABANDONMENT OF FIGHT NOW NEW STRATEGY

NO COMPROMISE CAN BE EFFECTED BY CAMPS

WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—Bonus forces in congress decided today to abandon their battle for cash payment at this session of congress and to concentrate on a campaign with the people for enactment of the Patman inflationary bill next session.

That will put the contest just before the presidential election. Some bonus supporters believe that would be good strategy.

A joint conference between house and senate leaders of the Patman bill forces agreed almost unanimously that President Roosevelt's opposition would require "too serious a sacrifice" to make a compromise possible at this session.

Senator Thomas (D., Okla.), who presided, announced that "we decided to refer the question of the Patman bill back to the people and start a campaign for adoption of the bill at the next session."

Highway Patrol And Committee To Escort Allred

Governor James V. Allred and a personal secretary will arrive in Pampa at 10:45 o'clock Friday morning, the governor to make an address at 11 o'clock as part of the Pre-Centennial and Pioneer Roundup.

The governor will be met at Childers by Colonel H. Otto Stauder, member of his staff, and Gilmore N. Nunn. The official car will be escorted to near Shamrock by state highway patrolmen. There the car will be met by R. H. Routh, of the state highway department, and A. B. Johnson, city traffic officer, and escorted to Pampa.

According to the schedule, the governor will reach Shamrock at 9:45 a. m., McLean at 10:05 a. m., LeFors at 10:30 a. m., and Pampa at 10:45 a. m.

Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president of the United States, will join Governor Allred here. They will leave at 4 o'clock for Amarillo to attend a meeting of the Young Democrats club of Texas.

Governor Allred will review the huge parade from the marquee of La Nora theater. It is hoped that Elliott Roosevelt will be here in time to join the governor in witnessing the parade.

Traffic Will Be Changed In City 2 Days

Citizens Are Urged To Cooperate With Police

Pampa motorists are being urged to cooperate with the police during the celebration Thursday and Friday. Cuyler street, between Atchison and Browning avenues will be closed to automobile traffic. Intersecting streets will be closed each direction between Cuyler street and the alleys.

Closing of the main street will necessitate use of the alleys as traffic thoroughfares. Police have arranged to make the alley east of Cuyler street available for one-way traffic—that going north only. The alley west of Cuyler street will be for southbound traffic only. Signs are being painted to guide motorists.

Stores on Cuyler street will lead from their rear doors wherever possible. Stores with no back entrance will have boys to carry packages to cars parked on the adjoining streets.

Six motorcycle officers will be on duty during the two days of the celebration. That number may be swelled with officers from Amarillo who may be sent here.

Cuyler street and intersecting streets between Cuyler and the alleys will be closed at midnight Wednesday.

Wood Alcohol Is Fatal To Student

SHERMAN, June 4. (AP)—Two Austin college students died today as a result of drinking wood alcohol, and eight others were ill, though not seriously.

SHERMAN, June 4. (AP)—One Austin college student died today as a result of drinking wood alcohol, another was in a critical condition and some eight others were ill, but not seriously.

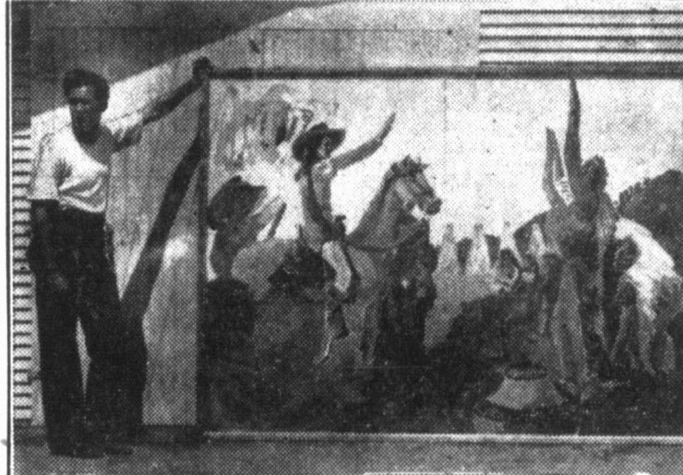

Durwood Newman, 19, of Athens, died in convulsions, and James Garrett, 20, also of Athens, was in a serious condition at a local hospital.

Several of the boys admitted to E. B. Tucker, president of the college, that, as a college prank, they broke into the chemistry building Sunday night, and took a quantity of the alcohol. They thought it regular alcohol, they said, and drank it. Tucker said the fluid was wood alcohol.

STAYS WITH NRA

NEWARK, N. J., June 4. (AP)—Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, told the stockholders in annual meeting today that the company will maintain the standards of NRA in spite of the supreme court's decision outlawing NRA codes. "I give my promise to employees that there will be no salary cuts and no increase in hours of employment," Teagle said. "Any other benefit derived from NRA will also be permitted to stay."

Huge Paintings Made for Floats

The first mural painting in the Pre-Centennial parades Thursday and Friday will be on the float entitled, Origin of the Name "Texas." The picture, above, shows the Texas Indians giving a friendly welcome to Coronado. "Tejas" means "friends," and the Indians were friends to the first white visitors in Texas. Tom Simms, at left, is the artist. (NEWS Staff Photo and Engraving.)

PAGEANT COSTUMES WILL BE GIVEN OUT TO CAST TONIGHT

Costumes will be given all members of the Pre-Centennial pageant cast who report for rehearsal at 8 o'clock at the high school gym tonight. The costumes were shipped from Kansas City yesterday morning by fast express and will arrive this afternoon.

From the gym, the cast will go to Harvester park for rehearsal. The Indian attack on the wagon train will be rehearsed tonight, according to an announcement by Dick Hughes, general director. The Indians who will appear in the scene, accompanied by Col. Zack Miller of 101 ranch fame, will arrive tomorrow and set up their tents at Harvester park. They will appear in the parade both days.

Approximately 75 costumes for Mexicans, Texan soldiers, frontiersmen, and women's dresses of the sort worn in 1835 will be distributed tonight.

The scenic background of the stage has almost been completed. A landscape painter has been painting peaks, hills, rocks, trees, grass on a backdrop for several days. The first scene of the pageant will show Stephen F. Austin in prison in Mexico City. A special backdrop for this will be a prison cell. In the second scene, depicting Austin's arrival in Texas from Mexico, a backdrop will show Austin's poor cottage. The scenery is painted in warm colors—red, green, orchid, orange.

The audience will sit on both sides of the football playing field. Spectators will be able to see and hear everything from any seat in the stands. Mr. Hughes pointed out that a pageant of the sort to be staged Friday night can be seen best if the spectators are from 50 to 100 yards away. Action of the pageant will be explained by Ben Guill over a loud speaking system that can be heard 500 yards or more away.

School Plants To Be Watched

Certain boys and others who in past summers have tried to transform the ward school buildings and grounds into a shambles, should think twice before staging a raid this summer.

Last night, the school board retained janitors at each of the schools to look after the property during the summer months. They will water the lawns, trees and take care of the building. The janitors live near the schools and will be able to guard the property.

TREBLE CLEF MEMBERS SELL TICKETS FOR CONCERT HERE

Tickets are being sold today by Junior Treble Clef club girls, wearing cowboy hats, for the Pre-Centennial week concert sponsored by that club and senior Treble Clef members this evening.

The Balladors and Balladettes of Amarillo Junior college will present the program, at city auditorium beginning at 8 p. m. This outstanding Texas college chorus

PAMPA INVITES ATTENTION FOR THREE EVENTS

FOUNDERS OF TEXAS—NOT TOMATOES—TO BE HONORED

All set! Texas' most unique, and the greatest patriotic celebration of 1935, the Pre-Centennial Pioneers Roundup and Panhandle Oil Show, was ready for the word "go" today.

Other Texas celebrations this year have glorified or will glorify the turkey, the tomato, the cow, the sheep, the grapefruit, the rose, but Pampa's will be held for the simple, lofty purpose of honoring the founders of Texas who 100 years ago were preparing to wage a war of independence against the overwhelming odds of Mexican tyranny.

Believing that patriotism means creating happiness for one's neighbors and that the spirit of the Centennial means re-creating the pioneer spirit in the hearts of Texans, Pampans and residents of the Panhandle have taken the Pre-Centennial to their own hearts.

Opens Thursday

The celebration will open Thursday morning, and present indications are that the crowds will begin arriving early. Registration of old-timers at the gym will begin at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Claude Ledrick, chair-

It was nearly certain today that Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, would be in Pampa by 11 a. m. Friday instead of Friday afternoon. Present plans call for Mr. Roosevelt to be on the platform with Governor James V. Allred at 11 a. m. and to make a short talk, and to sit on the reviewing stand with the other visitors, noted Friday afternoon.

LATE NEWS

ABOARD FLAGSHIP PENNSYLVANIA, June 4. (AP)—Perhaps the most amazing air show ever held has just been staged for men in the mid-Pacific. The United States fleet displayed air power at sea unlike anything hitherto attempted. Four hundred thirty-two power dives of from one to two miles were made by intrepid navy men in bomb attacks on 12 battleships.

ORANGE, June 4. (AP)—His ankles shackled and his wrists handcuffed, the Rev. Edgar Eskridge, militant Baptist minister accused of slaying Police Chief Ed J. O'Reilly, was brought back here today from Louisiana.

OREGON, Ill., June 4. (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover and Frank O. Lowden of Illinois are agreed, Lowden said today, that the 1936 presidential campaign will be fought over what Lowden called "the proposed changes in our form of government."

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 4. (AP)—Approximately 350 employees of the Wilson and company packing plant walked out shortly after 10 o'clock this morning and immediately started forming picket lines. Two slight explosions, heard all over the packing plant area, were the signal for the walkout. Source of the explosions could not be determined.

Widely Advertised

The celebration has been widely publicized. Practically every daily paper in Texas and every weekly newspaper in the Panhandle have carried detailed stories about the fest.

Invitations have been mailed to thousands of oldtimers most of whom have said they will be here. A crowd of oldtimers is expected to be waiting at the gym Thursday morning when it opens. The fete has not only been advertised thru newspapers and magazines but on billboards. Last week-end, "circus sheets" were plastered all over the Panhandle.

The town presents a gala appearance for the event. The main streets are colorful with flags. Never before so many bands, in Pampa as during the two days. Bands from Amarillo, Panhandle, Shamrock, Memphis, Groom, McLean, White Deer, two Pampa bands, and possibly others will furnish music. The Panhandle band will be here both days. It is Governor James V. Allred's official band, and will play just before he makes his address.

Cuyler street from the high school gym, Roundup headquarters, to Atchison will be roped off and blocked during the 48 hours of the celebration. People will be allowed on the street but no vehicles, except those in the parade.

Governor Allred will make his address Friday morning at 11 o'clock on Cuyler street's intersection with Foster avenue. The oil contests and

NATIONAL MAP PROPOSAL NOW GIVEN THOUGHT

ENGINEERS WOULD BE USED IN BIG SURVEY

WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—Into the work relief machine, the interior department today dropped a proposal that idle engineers and architectural draftsmen be put to work mapping the United States and its possessions.

The geological survey, a division of the department, applied for $7,000,000 of work relief money to carry out its portion of the venture. Officials said the coast and geodetic survey would cooperate and that the topographic maps to be prepared would require ten years for completion.

Each square mile of the 48 states, Alaska, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands would have an inch-square space on the maps. It was said that maps already had been drawn for about half of this area but that the national resources board considered only about one-fourth of these in conformity with its requirements.

The geological survey's proposal is the largest in a batch of applications, totaling $12,776,200, announced by the applications division. The treasury requested $964,000 for a study of federal tax collections and an analysis of state and local debts from 1930 to 1935. Reduction of tax conflicts between the federal and state governments was described as one aim of this project.

A request for $535,000 to survey and map grazing lands in far western states was received from the interior department, and the navy department asked $1,544,200 for 21 construction projects in California, Connecticut, Massachusetts, South Carolina, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

President Roosevelt's allotment advisory committee, at its fourth meeting yesterday, decided that projects proposed from now on must involve a "lowering of the ratio of material costs to labor costs."

At the conclusion of its session the committee announced it has recommended only 21 projects, totaling $13,629,700, and that these and other recommendations in the future would be kept secret until Mr. Roosevelt had an opportunity to pass upon them. The White House has given final approval to $3,622,500 worth of projects so far.

The committee considered a suggestion that the present age limit for members of the civilian conservation corps—18 to 28 years—be raised and that more single men be enrolled.

Robert Fechner, director of the CCC, told the group it would be difficult to enlist 300,000 additional recruits from relief families, as planned, unless the enlistment requirements were modified.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, June 4. (AP)—Motorists driving through Van Zandt county on highway 15 will see a beautiful park dedicated to the man who has been the executive officer in the development of the Texas highway system.

It is Gibb Gilchrist, state highway engineer, and the park that bears his name was dedicated by the Edgewood Garden club in appreciation of Gilchrist's services and to commemorate the deeds of a home-town boy. Gilchrist was born at Willis Point.

Gilchrist was thrilled with the honor and beamed his appreciation on returning from the dedication ceremonies.

"It sure was great. That's the first time in my life I have ever been the big shot at one of those ceremonies. It really does something to a fellow."

Officials and employees of the highway commission have been the center of three prominent functions recently.

Harry Hines, new chairman, and his wife were honored at a celebration at Mineral Wells. A few days later Gilchrist's park was dedicated and then an appreciation banquet was given at Abilene commemorating the eight years of service of Judge W. R. Ely, retiring member of the commission.

Ely, according to information from Abilene, greatly misses the rush and companionship of the highway commission. For years he had been subjected to almost constant pressure from counties to aid in solving their road problems. Few days passed in which one or more delegations failed to consult him.

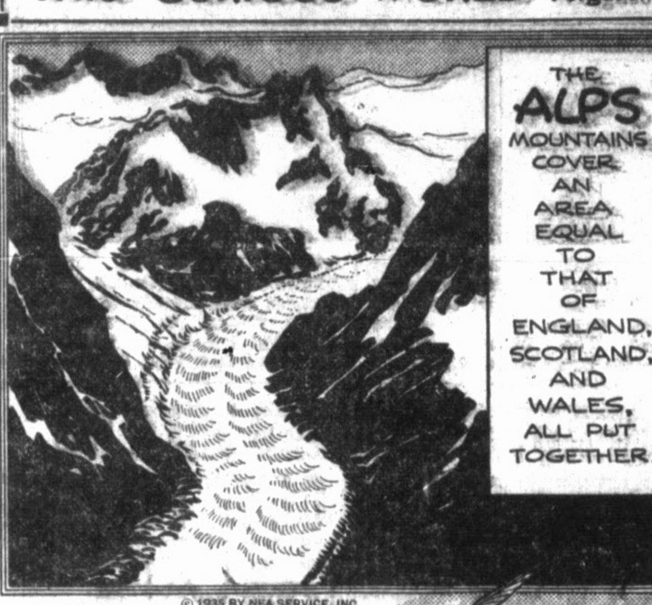

The new chairman has entered on his job with vigor. Since his appointment he has spent much time studying the highway department setup and made an inspection of several thousand miles of highway in company with Gilchrist. At his first public meeting with the commission he expressed the opinion that road building is one of the finest types of public service and that he is looking forward with enthusiasm to his work in building up the state system.

GIRL FRIEND OF DAVIS TIPS FEDERAL AGENTS ABOUT THUG AND CAPTURE MADE EASILY

GOVERNMENT SCORE IN BREMER CASE IS GOOD

ST. PAUL, June 4. (AP)—A woman with whom he had been keeping company betrayed Volney Davis, Barker-Karpis gangster who pleaded guilty to conspiracy in the kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, it was learned from an authoritative source today.

Davis' arrest in Chicago brought the federal government's score in the $200,000 abduction to nine in jail. Four others were dead, five were acquitted, and eight were still at large.

Following a "tip" from a Chicago girl with whom Davis was seen on several occasions after his escape at Yorkville, Ill., where he snugged a federal agent with a beer mug, government officers maintained a trap for the gangster for a week. They missed him on two occasions prior to his capture.

Davis, sweetheart of Edna Murray, "rising bandit," who was freed of conspiracy charges in the kidnaping of the St. Paul banker and returned to a Missouri prison, had made arrangements with the girl to meet him at Austin, Ill., Chicago suburb, and authorities were informed of the proposed meeting.

Federal agents said they were convinced Davis had no connection with the kidnaping of nine-year-old George Weyerhaeuser in Tacoma, Wash.

Sentence will be pronounced on Davis in federal court Friday, with life imprisonment the possible penalty.

MEXICO RIVERS BRING DEATH AND DAMAGE

ESTIMATED 350 DEAD IN FLOODS—MANY AT CHURCH

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

MEXICO, D. F., June 4. (AP)—More than 350 persons were officially estimated today to have perished in floods which swept down upon the fertile valley of Mexico, trapping a throng of worshippers at their prayers in the church at San Pedro.

Most of the victims were members of the group gathered in the church yesterday to celebrate the festival of San Pedro's patron saint. Only seven persons escaped from the church.

The neighboring communities of Xochimilco, 12 miles from here; Milpa Alta, San Gregorio, and San Pablo also suffered numerous casualties.

Torrential rains, starting at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, sent mountain streams roaring out of their courses into the valley below. Within a few hours roads were impassable and fields became vast, surging lakes.

Those who escaped from the San Pedro church said the swiftly rising water burst the walls of the structure and poured in on the worshippers before they were aware of the threat to their lives.

Later the building collapsed, burying the dead and dying beneath its debris.

Villagers interfered with the efforts of federal troops to extricate bodies from the ruins, threatening to attack the soldiers because they believed the disaster to be an act of vengeance sent from heaven.

Earlier in the day authorities had entered the church, halted the services and arrested the priest. The superstitious Indians insisted the floods were retribution for this interference with their worship.

The known victims in Milpa Alta numbered 21 and in Xochimilco 22. It was believed the dead in San Gregorio, San Pablo, and Ostotepec might reach 150.

Approximately 10 square miles, dotted with farms and homes, were inundated.

Xochimilco, in the devastated area, produces most of Mexico's vegetables. It is famous for its cultivation of flowers.

President Lázaro Cardenas immediately ordered a mobilization of relief forces, which labored throughout the night bringing aid to the injured and searching for bodies.

Range Livestock Prices Up After Series of Rains

SAN ANGELO, June 4. (AP)—Recent rains over West Texas that reached into the drought-stricken range section have brought a general marking up in range livestock prices and resulted in active cattle trading.

Cattle are being sold all over the section at prices of seven to eight cents a pound for steers, a rise of one cent in recent days. Many buyers are in the county. Cows with calves are selling at $40 to $50.

Interest in feeder lamb contracting and purchasing of yearling ewes is noted. A few mutton lambs have been contracted for fall delivery at four to five cents a pound. The high of five cents was contracted by Orlio Adams who bought 5,000 mutton lambs for fall delivery at Fort Stockton. The lambs go to Colorado buyers. Some contracting has also been done in the country around Del Rio. Yearling ewes jumped 41 a head to 36 recently.

Several thousand head of mixed calves have been sold around Brady and Mason at six cents for heifers and seven cents for the steers.

A great many mutton goats are selling in the Sonora section at $1 to $1.50 a head. L. J. Wardlaw of Ft. Worth bought 2,500 there. In 1933 when mohair was selling at 13 cents a pound he purchased several thousand and sold their hair in the fall at more than 40 cents a pound.

Thousands of head of cattle have moved from the Big Bend country to range in California but recent rains which covered a large area are expected to end these movements.

Curtis, the sheriff said, was shot through the head while he slept. A pistol was used.

An examining trial for Mrs. Curtis was scheduled for this afternoon. She made no statement.

YOUTH SLAYS YOUNG WOMAN WITH KNIFE; HANGS SELF

LOS ANGELES, June 4. (AP)—Linking the two deaths as a murder and suicide, detectives searching for the butcher knife slayer of an attractive young woman identified as Dolores Booth, 25, found the body of George Booth, 25, hanging today from a tree near his home.

The young man's father summoned detectives to his home and said he heard his son come in earlier in the night and then leave. He found a note, which said the youth was "going to meet my maker."

Detectives began attempts to learn more about the girl, whose body, stabbed six times, was discovered late last night in a clump of weeds by the road side in a deserted section of the Pacific Palisades.

Booth's farewell note read: "Dear folks, I am going to meet my maker. I have just killed Dolores after she had told me her right name. She did not tell me her right name until I struck her with the knife. Then I stabbed her five times more.

"I'm sorry I got Arthur's car all bloody. I'm sorry I have to do this to Arthur, mother and you."

The note was signed "amen."

In view of the reference to the girl's "right name," officers made efforts to locate some of her acquaintances.

Her wrist watch bore the initials "J. E. E."

Two passing motorists discovered the girl's body last night.

HUNDREDS OF OLD TIMERS TO BEGIN REGISTERING THURSDAY

DANCES AND 4 SKITS FEATURE GYM PROGRAM

VISITORS TO REGISTER IN FIVE DIVISIONS AT ROUNDUP

More than 1,000 old timers of the Panhandle have been invited in letters to attend the Pre-Centennial, Pioneers Roundup and Panhandle Oil show here June 6 and 7, and committees expect at least 700 of that number to attend.

The high school gymnasium on the campus will be the center of all pioneer activities. Registration will open at 8 o'clock on the morning of June 6 and continue until 8 o'clock that evening.

Mrs. Claude Ledrick, hostess chairman, will have a group of women at the gym all the time to welcome the visitors. Registration will be in five divisions, to avoid congestion at the booths. All those who came to the Panhandle before 1880 will register at the first table, those who came between 1880 and 1885 will register at the second table; residents who came between 1885 and 1890, between 1890 and 1895 and between 1895 and 1910 will register at the other tables. Last year there were only two registration tables and they were badly crowded, and listing of the old timers' names was slow.

In order to classify as an old timer one must have lived in the Panhandle 25 years. A large map of Texas with the Panhandle area outlined will be nearby for consultation. All persons who have lived in the Panhandle 40 years and more will be given white ribbons; those who have lived in the Panhandle less than 40 years will be given a ribbon of another color. The name of the celebration will be printed on the ribbon, and the name of the ribbon will be written on a slip of cardboard and pinned on the ribbon. All old timers who register will be eligible for the barbecue the second day.

Entertainment at the gym the first night will be four skit sketches grouped under the heading, "Panhandle Drama," because they will be dramatizations of incidents in the history of the Panhandle and all of which are familiar to pioneers. These short plays will be staged beginning at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. They will require rehearsal for production and immediately afterward the square dances which proved so popular last year will begin.

The plays are as follows: "The Law West of the Pecos," amusing incidents in the career of Judge Roy Bean, directed by Harriet Amy Robb and Ben Guill.

"The Arrival of John Adair at the JA Ranch," directed by Elizabeth Graham and Ben Guill.

"The Indian Scare of 1890," directed by Ben Guill. The directors named above were star dramatic pupils of Mr. Guill during the last school session.

"Judge Willis Wins the Day," directed by Joe Stribling and produced by the Kiwanis club. This will be the longest sketch presented. Characters are Temple Houston, Judge Frank Willis, Sr., Judge Browning, Clarendon jury, district attorney, assistant attorney general in the 1870s cowboys. The first scene will take place in a Old Clarendon court room, the second on the floor of the Texas senate, Austin, and the third in an old Mobeetie saloon.

The skits were written by Archer Pullingim and were based on conversations had with the late T. D. Hobart a short time before his death. The play about Judge Frank Willis, Sr., who was the first judge of this district, was read and approved by his son Judge Newton P. Willis, Pampa lawyer. The plot is based on the attempt of misunderstanding Austin land-grabbers who tried to make Panhandle ranchers pay exorbitant prices for leasing the state school system's grazing land. The ranchers indicted themselves and were acquitted by sympathetic ranchers and cowboys. An attempt was made to impeach Judge Willis on the ground that he should have transferred the cases out of the Panhandle, despite the fact that they were misdemeanor cases and such cases could be tried only in the counties in which they originate. The impeachment proceedings failed on the floor of the senate after Judge Willis had made a long and dramatic speech. The third scene shows his arrival by stage in Mobeetie where all the Panhandle was gathered to greet him.

After the skits are staged, the old time fiddlers will tune up and the square dances which will last beyond midnight if they are as popular as they were last year, will begin. The floor will be roped off and there will be several callers, and fiddlers with "seconds." Square dancing has become popular here within the last year and there is at least one club that meets every week.

At noon of the second day, a barbecue with buns, coffee, slaw and cake will be served the old timers. Only old timers who wear ribbons will be served at the barbecue. The same group will be allowed free admission to the square dances and the dramatic programs. All others must pay admission prices or present a ticket to the gate-keeper.

No speeches will be made at the gym, except those arranged on the spur of the moment. Since old timers enjoy remaining among themselves, the program has been arranged so that they may "visit" to their heart's content. Singers of old time songs will entertain the crowd at intervals.

A memorial service for old timers who have died in the last year, including Mr. Hobart, J. C. Paul, Frank Elston, George Walstad, H. W. Taylor of Clarendon, L. C. Cobb of Claude, A. L. Cobb of Claude and Ben Talley of Miami, will probably be held at one of the churches.

The square dance on the second evening will not begin until after the Pre-Centennial pageant at Harvester football park, and the gym will be closed during the production of the pageant.

INDEPENDENCE, Kas. (AP)—As a safety measure, E. R. Tucker said he was obliged to remove four young coyotes found on his farm from the custody of their adopted mother, the fam' cat.

STAR-STUDDED OIL FIELD TEAMS ARE TO CLASH HERE THIS WEEK

Double Main Event Wrestling Program Provided For Fans Thursday Evening

ROAD RUNNERS ARE EAGER TO TRIM RIVALS

MIGHTY OUTFITS MUSTER PROFESSIONALS TO AID THEM

Bitter rivals of the diamond will clash in a two-game series during the week celebration Thursday and Friday. The committee in charge of that event, A. J. Johnson, Roy Wilmesmeier, and Dr. R. M. Johnson, has signed the Pampa Road Runners and LeFors Coltexos for the series.

Both teams will present lineups able to take care of themselves in fast company. Many former big league stars will be seen in action, including Brickell, Seitz, Hale, Purdy, and Bennett. Brickell had several seasons with Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. Seitz was with St. Louis and Cleveland. Hale was a long-time member of the Philadelphia team. Purdy saw service with Cincinnati. Bennett was with St. Louis and Pittsburgh.

The Road Runners, mightiest of Panhandle baseball teams last year, have met defeat twice this season before the rush of the Coltexos in an effort to annex the 1935 title. The Pampa team has been in a batting slump the last week, but Manager Freddy Brickell plans to put his charges through long hours of batting practice before Thursday afternoon.

A pitching duel is in prospect for the opening game Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Manager Brickell will probably send his ace moundsman, Tiger Joe Berry, to the box, with Floyd Lysle receiving. Manager Sammy Hale will rely on the curve balls dished up by Brawley, with either Polvog or Poindner receiving. Polvog is suffering from an injured knee.

It was rumored in LeFors yesterday that a change in the lineup in an effort to give more hitting power, will be made for the series. The hope was that Gordon Reid would be brought from the outfield to the hot corner, with Manager Hale replacing Dingman at second base. Red Bennett, new outfielder, would go into the game for the first time. Dingman has not been hitting the ball and Manager Hale is anxious to utilize all his power. Dingman is one of the snappiest fielders yet to wear a Coltexo uniform.

The Road Runners have been batting with four left-handers in a row, which is usually considered "bad business" against lefthanded pitching. The practice has not exactly been disastrous to the Road Runners, however, since five of the team's eight hits in their last two games have been by lefthanded batters against lefthanded pitching.

Mr. Brawley is likely to have difficulty against the lefthanded moundsman, Coltexo also boasts a number of hitters from the wrong side which would lead fans to believe that George Bulla might get a chance in Friday's game. Lee Daney will also be ready to take his turn, especially if the weather is warm.

Oklahoma City And Buffs Win League Battles

Houston and Oklahoma City won the only games played last night in the Texas league. Dallas rested at Galveston and Tulsa was idle at Beaumont because of rain.

The Fort Worth Panthers made a game challenge with a three-run rally in the ninth inning against Bill Beckman, but they were too far behind to make a go of it and dropped a 6 to 4 decision to the Houston Buffs.

The Buffs scored twice in the first and sealed the game away with a three-run riot in the fifth. Claude Jonnard hurled for the Cats.

With every player in the line-up except third baseman Eddie Hock scoring at least one run, the Oklahoma City Indians whipped the San Antonio Missions, 9 to 2. Pitcher Evans, in addition to holding the Missions to 8 hits, crossed the plate twice for the Indians.

Jim Keesey and Paul Easterling hit homers for the winners, Miller, Mills and Pyle took turns in the box for the Missions.

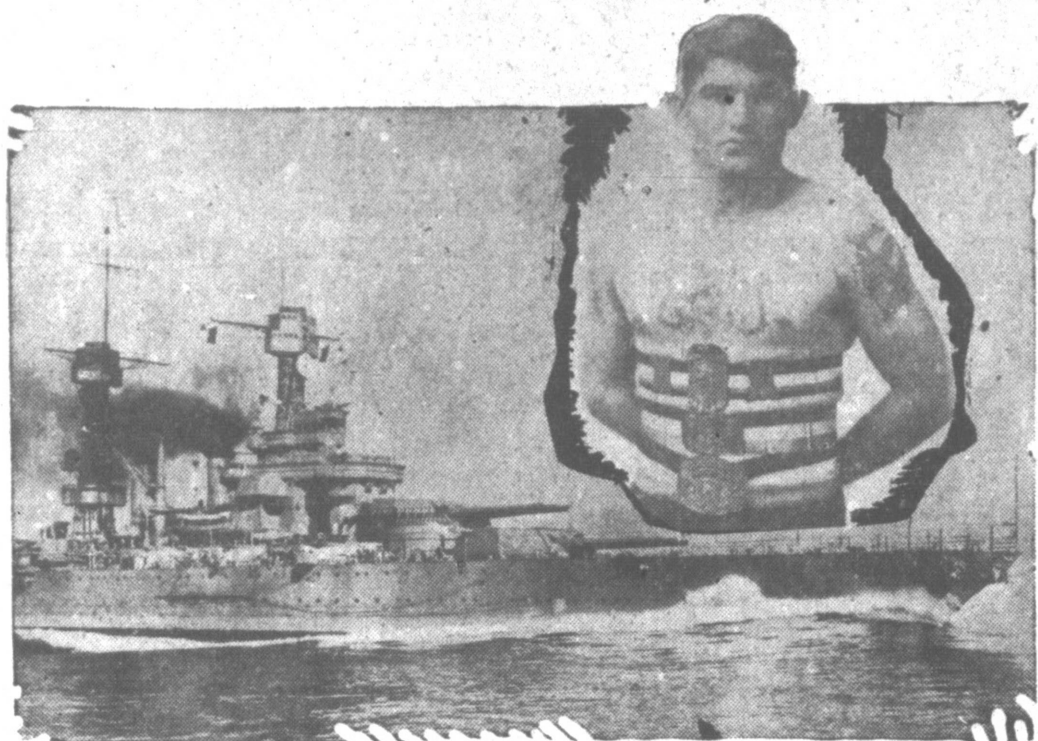

The games and postponements did not change the loop lead, Galveston remaining in the top place.

Baseball League Plans Will Be Talked Tonight

Independent and Oil company baseball teams in this section, not including the Road Runners and Coltexos of LeFors, will have representatives at a meeting in the chamber of commerce rooms in the city hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight when efforts will be made to organize leagues or plan some means of organized play.

Team managers and captains have been invited to attend the meeting. Several plans will be presented and it is believed that a unanimous decision to organize will be made. There are at least 18 baseball clubs now playing in this section.

THE GREAT TEX WATKINS, HIMSELF

The great Texas Watkins and his battleship are pictured above. The mighty sailor will not have his ship with him when he takes to the mat with the Masked Marvel here on Thursday night. The two maulers will meet in a finish match, best two falls out of three. Red Michael, Pampa boy, and Gene La Belle, French-Canadian roughster, will tangle in another best two out of three falls or one hour time limit affair. Two good preliminaries will open the show at 8:30 o'clock at Road Runner park.

ATHLETES OF 2 LOOPS TO BE KEEN RIVALS

GULF A.A.U. MEET WILL BE HELD SOON AT RICE

HOUSTON, June 4. (AP)—Several interesting duels between track and field stars of the Southwest conference and equally outstanding athletes of the Southwestern conference are in prospect at the annual Gulf A. A. U. meet at Rice field here June 8.

Louisiana State, which captured the Southwestern conference title by a large margin, and Texas, which won its fourth successive Southwest conference championship, will be represented by powerful contingents.

In addition to its athletes who brought home the conference title, Louisiana State will send Jack Torrance, world record holder in the shot put, who has completed his college eligibility. The Louisiana giant will put on a one-man show in the shot and perhaps will decide to make things interesting for Jess Petty of Rice in the discus.

Probably the most exciting races will be the 100 and 200 meter dashes and the 200-meter low hurdles. Rice partisans believe that all-American Bill Wallace, running on his home track, has a chance to beat Glenn "Slats" Hardin of Louisiana State in the low hurdles. Wallace made the 220-yard low hurdles 23.3 in the Southwest conference meet whereas Hardin's time at his conference meet was 23.4. However, Hardin has negotiated the distance in faster time and conquered Wallace in a dual meet at Baton Rouge several weeks ago.

Hardin is a more pronounced favorite in the 400-meter run although "Smoker" Brothers of Rice, Southwest conference champion, probably won't be far behind.

The races between "Chink" Wallender of Texas and Herman Neugass of Tulane, sprint champions of their respective sections, should be close enough to satisfy anyone. Wallender is a slight favorite in the 200-meter race as a tossup. Neugass nosed out Wallender in the 100-yard dash at the Texas relays.

Ted O'Neill of Louisiana State, holder of the Southeastern conference record of 1:55.4 in the half mile, is picked to best the Oklahoma City Indians in the 800-meter run.

"Buddy" Blair of Louisiana State will come here intent on adding to his long string of victories in the javelin but Skripka of the Texas Aggies, holder of the Southwest conference record, may upset his ambition. Either is capable of hurling the spear more than 200 feet.

Texas' crack aggregation of quarter-milers will be favored in the 1600-meter relay.

In addition to the senior meet, a junior meet will be held June 7.

McKechnie Issues Condemnation Of Raging Babe Ruth

Bambino All Washed Up With Major Leagues

By EDWARD J. NEIL Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK, June 4. (AP)—A seething mountain of a man was George Herman Ruth today, but all the arguments in the world, all the hot words, bitter recriminations that have passed between him and the Boston Braves couldn't hide this epochal line for baseball's history: Babe Ruth is all done.

His final turbulent exchange with Emil Fuchs, president of the Braves, and Bill McKechnie, manager of the club, served today only to emphasize the completeness of the passing of the man who for 21 straight years has been making major league history.

The Babe admits he's through as a ball player, and it's hardly likely a single club in either major league would chance the grief that followed Ruth to Boston, even though he did bring swollen gate receipts along with it.

An Associated Press poll of the big league owners indicates that none has anything but an academic interest in him and his future.

The Babe nursed his wounds in his apartment, made plans for an extended vacation, and for all the golf he's wanted to play in the summer time all these years.

He went out with the final blast of McKechnie, whom he had taken great pains to defend, ringing in his ears.

McKechnie, in a formal statement, said yesterday: "I must state publicly that in justice to the action of Judge Fuchs with reference to Babe Ruth, on Friday and Saturday of last week I pointed out to Judge Fuchs that the main trouble with the ball club was that it was not able to function properly with Babe Ruth playing the outfield.

"I frankly stated that certain actions of Ruth, while with the ball club, which I would absolutely forbid with any other member of the club, were responsible for the lack of discipline, and that unless Judge Fuchs could convince Babe Ruth to retire, I was unable to get any real discipline or proper spirit as manifested by the club prior to the acquisition of Ruth from the Yankees this spring.

TWO NATURALS SIGNED HERE--GOOD PRELIMS

MASKED MARVEL MUST MEET WATKINS IN LAST MATCH

WHAT—The year's biggest wrestling card. WHERE—Road Runner park. WHEN—Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock. WHO—Sailor Tex Watkins, Post, vs. The Masked Marvel, New York, best two falls out of three. Red Michael, Pampa, vs. Gene La Belle, Montreal, Canada, best two falls out of three, one hour time limit.

Andy Dowler, Pampa, vs. Kid Sullivan, Abilene, one fall or 30-minute time limit. Andy Dowler, Pampa, vs. Ed Thomas, Borger, one fall or 20-minute time limit.

There have been wrestling matches and wrestling matches held in this section of the country, but never before has there been a match like the one that will be staged at Road Runner park on Thursday night.

There will be two main events and two preliminaries. The opening bout will get under way promptly at 8:30 o'clock. Admission will be 60 cents for reserve ringside seats, 50 cents general admission for men, and 20 cents general admission for women and children. Reserve seat tickets are going fast at Pampa Drug No. 1.

The feature battle of the card will see Sailor Tex Watkins of Post facing the Masked Marvel, the unknown menace of the wrestling game. Refusing to allow his identity to be learned, the masked wonder wears a chamouis mask covered with airplane silk. He is recognized as one of the best grapplers in the middleweight class today, and is undefeated in two years of grappling in seven countries.

Watkins, one of the roughest and toughest grapplers in the game, lost a freak match to the masked wonder a few weeks ago. Since then he has been haunting the byways for a chance at the unknown, either in or out of the ring. When notified that he had been matched with Mr. Mystery in Pampa, Watkins went into earnest training for the first time in years.

HUBER FAILS TO ARRIVE FOR BASEBALL TILT

Misunderstanding Cancels Game Last Night—Coltexo Is Next Opponent.

Through a misunderstanding of team officials, the Huber Carbon company Blackfaces failed to arrive last night and the game with the Pampa Road Runners had to be called off. Fans waited until nearly 9 o'clock before it was learned that the team had not left Borger.

The Huber manager thought he should be notified that the game was to be played. He had made three previous attempts to play the game. Two meetings were called off because of wet grounds and the other because of dust. He was apparently so dazed that nice weather turned up for the game that he forgot to make the trip.

The Road Runners will meet Coltexo of LeFors on Thursday and Friday afternoons. The games will be for blood. Coltexo has won two out of three games from the mighty Road Runners this season and the fact doesn't make the birds feel any too good.

Brawley, ace righthander, and Ledford, portside who tamed the Road Runners Sunday afternoon, will be the probable starters against the Road Runners. Berry will get the call for mound duty one of the games. It is a toss-up who will hurl the other game for the Road Runners.

Improved until he has become a threat in the ranks of wrestling, Red Michael will be given his big chance in the second main event when he tangles with Gene La Belle. Michael has been away in the northwest for two years. During that time he gained quite a reputation and a real knowledge of the game. La Belle is a veteran at the game. Art Belcher of Amarillo and Rex Sullivan of Abilene will tangle in the semi-final. Andy Dowler, better known as Andy Gump, will meet Kid Thomas of Borger in the preliminary.

BENITO'S EYE BLACKED ROME, June 4. (AP)—Benito Mussolini, Italy's black-shirted premier, has a black eye. To sympathetic inquirers, Il Duce explained today his disfigurement was the result of being knocked from his horse by a low-hanging branch while taking his daily canter yesterday. He also hurt his hand slightly.

Tiger Joe

(NEWS Staff Photo and Engraving.) The probable moundsman for the Pampa Road Runners when they take the field Thursday against Coltexo of LeFors will be Tiger Joe Berry, ace of the 1935 Road Runner pitching staff. Berry will probably be opposed by Brawley, best of the Coltexo hurters.

TEXAS' GOLF STARS SET FOR BIG TOURNEY

REYNOLDS SMITH WILL PLAY IN MISCANANA

CORSICANA, June 4. (AP)—Competition was keen today as a large field of golfers steadied nerves for the qualifying rounds in the third annual Corsicana Country club invitation tourney.

Opening match play was set for tomorrow. Among the golfers of note who entered are: Reynolds Smith, Texas amateur champion; David (Spec) Goldman, Jimmie Goldman, Jack Munger, national interscholastic champion; Reuben Albaugh, Don Schumacher, and Jimmie McGonigall, all of Dallas; Willie Maquire Jr. and Malcolm Monroe of Houston; Jimmie Winston of Fort Worth; Jack Speer of Waco; Lieut. Ken Rogers of Kelly Field, San Antonio; and Clark Hardison of Goliad.

Race At Epsom Downs Will Be Run Tomorrow

FPSOM DOWNS, Eng., June 4. (AP)—By the thousands the racing clans poured today into this village where tomorrow upward of a half million are expected to watch 17 of the English turf's ranking three-year-olds, one of them American-owned, battle over one and one-half miles in the English derby.

From cockney to nobleman there was but one question: Will the odds-on-favorite, the Aga Kahn's Bahram, win? It has been 30 years since an odds-on-choice won and then it was Cicero at 4 to 11.

Seldom, if ever, has one owner sent out such a powerful entry as will represent the Indian potentate, the religious and spiritual leader of more than 100,000,000 Mohammedans. Bahram, winner of the two thousand guineas and unbeaten, is the 10 to 11 choice but Hairan and Theft, both well thought of, are next in line at 100 to 12 and 100 to 9, respectively. Fourth choice was Lord Astor's Field Trial, 100-8.

Oldtime Cowboy Gives No Credit To Buffalo Killer Pack Which Filled Plains

BALINGER, June 4 (AP)—Buffalo Bill and other legendary buffalo hunters may be heroes to arm-chair adventurers but to J. M. Johnson and some other early day cowboys of West Texas they do not rank high.

Buffalo in vast numbers roamed this area when Johnson arrived in the fall of 1876 to ride herd for Tom Mathews, one of the largest cattle owners then in this section. Outsiders with hired hunters wiped out the buffalo so rapidly that by spring only a few scattered herds were to be seen. By 1878 the animals had practically disappeared, Johnson says.

The trail of the hunters was an unpleasant sight, Johnson says. The air was polluted as buzzards tore into the skinned carcasses strewn in thousands over the plains. The ruthless hunters killed for the 75 cents obtained for each hide delivered at Fort Worth, the venerable ex-cowboy asserted.

"My first winter in West Texas marked one of the greatest slaughters I ever hope to see," Johnson relates. "Parties came here bringing crews of 10 to 15 men and combed this section. Within five months it was no longer a profitable hunting ground. Thousands of tons of meat went to waste, although some hunters did dry portions of rear quarters which they carried away."

"One crew would hunt the buffalo, while until that time had been practically unmoested, on foot while another followed as skinners."

LOST FAT Fooled Gossipers

Mrs. J. S. McCausland of Pittsburg writes: "I took off 8 lbs. in two weeks with Kruschen. I ate as usual and feel fine." You, too, can safely reduce as Mrs. McCausland did if you'll only have a mind of your own. Pay no attention to gossipers who wouldn't want to see you the slender woman you can be if you'll only take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a cup of hot water every morning. (Tastes fine with juice of half lemon added.) Kruschen is SAFE—it's a health treatment and when your body abounds with Kruschen fitness—excess fat leaves. Jar last 4 weeks and costs but a trifle. Hunters could walk up on a herd peacefully grazing and open fire before the unsuspecting animals had time to stampede. In this manner hundreds of head in a single herd were shot down and more were slaughtered by giving chase on horseback.

Johnson said a cowboy rarely shot a buffalo but when he did so it was a young calf chosen for food.

The last wild buffalo he saw in this section was a large bull at the foot of Mount Moro, 54 miles northwest of San Angelo, in 1878. The bull, flushed by Johnson and five fellow range riders while rounding up cattle, fled westward in a long gallop. That direction invariably was taken by buffalo when frightened, he said.

Johnson rode for Mathews in this section until 1881 when he accompanied him to Wyoming and remained a few months. Upon returning to Texas he joined the J. H. Barremore outfit, becoming foreman soon afterward and remained in that capacity until 1889, when he obtained a section of land near Winters. He retired from ranching 13 years ago.

Kills Wife and Self In Harlingen

HARLINGEN, June 4 (AP)—Double funeral services were planned today for Hollis P. Craig and his wife, victims of a domestic tragedy yesterday.

Mrs. Craig, said Judge Will G. Fields' verdict, was shot to death by her husband who then turned the gun on himself. The shooting occurred at the home of his parents here.

The shooting was attributed to failure of Craig to effect a reconciliation with his estranged wife. They had been married 10 years.

HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK.—While it was the length and accuracy of Joyce Wethered's iron play that attracted attention in the former British champion's first appearance in America, she chiefly is noted for her wizardry with the spoon.

"Necessity is the mother of invention," says Miss Wethered, in explaining her success with the brassie and spoon. "We women have to play these clubs so frequently on approaches where men would take an iron that we get accustomed to the pleasant feel of a wood club through the fairway."

"As a matter of fact the left in a spoon is easier to get to the ball up in the air and to apply backspin. I prefer a spoon to an iron for all long shots where the ball must stick on a fast green and from any downhill lie.

"I believe in swing rather than hitting. The left arm must be kept as straight as possible throughout the swing so that the club can be swung in as big an arc as the left arm at full extension will allow."

"At the same time there should be no stiffness or rigidity in the muscles. One should feel that the arms are ropes connecting the body with the club head. Try to get a sense of moving the club head rather than a consciousness of hands or shaft."

"The bent left arm at impact is the worst fault one can commit. All the wrist to break and the strength of the connection is ruined."

"Did you ever see a hinge in a lever? Such a break would violate a mechanical law. The spokes of a wheel do not vary in length. This same symmetry can be attained in the golf arc by keeping the left arm straight."

"If straightness at the top of the swing is an awkward or painful position it must be modified to retain the essential rhythm but one must strive for all the straightness possible. Tension kills form. A straight left arm does not mean a rigid one."

A member of the national committee is authority for the statement that Frederick J. Perry will defend his United States singles tennis championship at Forest Hills this fall. He declares that the international titleholder will be accompanied by one other ranking Briton.

Roderich Menzel also has promised to come over. The large Czech's doing so largely will depend on how he is playing abroad in August.

Notman Brookes said flatly when he was here three weeks ago that the Australians would not compete in the American championships.

"They are very confident of taking the Davis Cup with Jack Crawford, Adrian Quist, Vivian McGrath, and Don Turnbull."

The national committeeman points out that the French do not care to come to America.

"Neither do the Japanese," he declares. "Why should they? We have not as a nation been particularly active in an interchange of players."

"We will have a good tournament at Forest Hills, however. All of the British women of the Wightman Cup forces will be there."

The Forest Hills tournament will be conducted according to the Wimbledon pattern this year.

Kennedy Not To Resign At Once

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—The supreme court's invalidation of NRA has led Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy of the securities commission to defer his tentative plans for resigning soon.

Kennedy had nothing to say today on the matter, but associates asserted the chairman believed the general situation was too indecisive for him to make any plans for leaving. He was said to have decided tentatively on a further stay of six months or a year.

Although President Roosevelt has contended that the NRA decision, by implication, raised doubts of the constitutionality of the securities act, which the commission administers, commission members themselves have expressed no worry that their work would not survive court tests.

But Kennedy was represented as feeling that retirement would not be a suitable move until the general situation is more settled.

BORDER PORTS SET UP

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 4 (AP)—"Ports of entry" studded Oklahoma's border today, at 25 points where highways come into the state. The 86 men who went on duty at the ports were charged with the enforcement of motor vehicle laws, the prevention of shipment of "hot" oil or gasoline into the state, and damping the flow of liquor into the commonwealth, except beverages in transit across Oklahoma.

YANKEES TAKE 3RD STRAIGHT FROM A'S 7-4

CLEVELAND'S INDIANS TROUNCED BROWNS IN 14 INNINGS

By ANDY CLARKE Associated Press Sports Writer

The wags who dubbed the Yankees the "hitless wonders" played a mean trick on the Athletics.

Ranked by such a label, the American league leaders yesterday vented their wrath on the boys of Connie Mack, hung up their third straight win and snapped the Athletics' winning streak at four games. They hammered out nine hits for 18 bases to chalk up a 7-4 victory, although the Athletics collected 11 safe blows, including two homers.

George Blaeholder, who started in the box for Philadelphia, was treated so unkindly that he took refuge in the showers in the sixth inning. Dickey's home run sent Blaeholder off with his fourth straight defeat since he went to the Athletics from the Browns.

That the Yanks went into the games with dire intentions was evidenced in the first inning when, with two aboard, Lazzeri smacked one to the outer reaches for three bases. In the second Crossett whiffed a bunt down the first base line. The Yanks got three more in a sixth-inning uprising capped by Dickey's circuit blow, and Ben Chapman hit a triple to send Combs home with the final run in the seventh with Mahaffey in the box.

Jimmy DeShong, who had distinguished on the bench all season, was called into service for the first time. He fared well until the ninth inning when he passed Fox to load the bases with one out. Murphy, who relieved him, forced Pinky Higgins to hit into a double play, ending the game. The victory increased the Yankee's lead to two and a half games.

In the only other game in the American league, the Cleveland Indians waited until the 14th inning to unleash an attack that netted seven runs and an 11-4 victory over the downtrodden Browns.

In a nip and tuck battle in which the Indians went into a one-run lead in the 11th only to have the Browns tie it again, Cleveland finally shelled Jack Knott, the fourth Browne pitcher of the mound and continued the attack against Bob Weiland. As a final shot, Bruce Campbell hit a homer with the bases loaded.

In the only National League game, the St. Louis Cardinals, striving to overhaul the speeding Giants, dropped one to the Chicago Cubs, 6-2. It was the Cards' first defeat in seven games and set them four full games behind their New York brethren.

Charlie Root pitched heady ball to hold his club in the first division.

HUGO, Okla. — Oster Johnson, full-blood Indian, was arrested and accused of forging the name of County Judge Tom Hunter to a check on a minor's estate. The judge asked him why he did it. "You sign my name and yours when put money in bank," the Indian replied. "I sign your name and mine when get money out of bank." He was given a 2-year sentence.

UTILITIES WILL FIGHT ATTACK OF NEW DEAL

"OBSESSION" ON PUBLIC OWNERSHIP CITED BY SPOKESMEN

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 4. (AP)—The administration was warned today that the nation's utility interests would fight to the finish what was called a "devastating and destructive attack" from the new deal.

The warning came from Thomas McCarter, president of the Edison Electric Institute, in a speech to more than 1,200 members of the institute here for their annual convention. His hearers include virtually all the utility leaders of the country.

McCarter, head of the public service corporation of New Jersey, in speaking of President Roosevelt's power program, said:

"I do not think I go too far when I say he seems to have an obsession on this subject.

"Since the present national administration was inducted into office, there has been launched by it against this industry the most devastating and destructive attack, having for its object the end of private operation of the electric industry and its nationalization under federal direction and ultimate ownership.

He then enumerated various measures he said the administration had directed against utilities, starting with the 3 per cent tax on consumers' bills and culminating in the Wheeler-Rayburn holding bill now before the senate.

GOVERNMENT INCREASES ITS KIDNAP HUNT FORCE AS NEW LEADS ARE BEING FOLLOWED

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

TACOMA, June 4 (AP)—Increasing their Tacoma field force to about 30 by the arrival of a dozen new men, federal department of justice agents were unusually active again today, hoping to clear up the George Weyerhaeuser kidnaping within the week.

Otherwise they face the possibility of a long wait until the abductors, who extorted $200,000 from Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weyerhaeuser, Jr., for the return of their nine-year-old son, come out of hiding and attempt to flee.

More than 200 federal men were at work in Seattle in addition to the state patrol which yesterday was reported to have used an airplane and automobiles to search the Issaquah region, where George was set free Saturday morning. The patrol was looking for a hideout, but if they found it, they and the "G-men" were able to keep the secret.

Two federal agents were reported today to have made a hurried trip into eastern Washington yesterday to run down one of the flood of "hot clues."

It also was believed that several department of justice men were in British Columbia on a similar mission.

Despite the activity, the designated spokesmen for the investigators confined his comment to a succinct "we are investigating along routine lines. We expect nothing to turn up within the next few hours."

The federal men on the job scoffed at reports that the Barker-Karpis gang was involved and reiterated it yesterday when Volney Davis, arrested in Chicago, pleaded guilty in St. Paul to complicity in the $200,000 Edward G. Bremer kidnaping.

The investigators refused to say whether any of the ransom money had been reported. All but nine of the $5, $10 and $20 ransom bills are 12th federal reserve notes issued at San Francisco.

If You Receive Ransom Bill You Will Not Lose

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

TACOMA, Wash., June 4 (AP)—"Innocent bystanders" who receive one of the 20,000 Weyerhaeuser ransom bank notes will be compensated, department of justice agents said here today.

"Nobody will lose their money," a spokesman said. "The department will take the bill and see that another is given to replace it. We also want to emphasize the importance of remembering from whom the ransom bill was received."

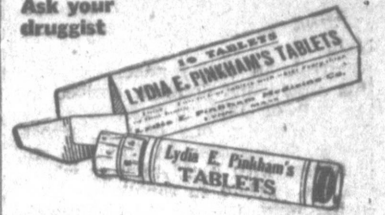

The serial numbers of the bills were circularized by the government as a means of finding the kidnapers, believed to be a north-west gang.

State patrolmen continued their highway blockade and were reported to have resumed the search they started yesterday for the hideout in which George Weyerhaeuser, 9, was kept prisoner until brought back to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weyerhaeuser, Jr.

The manhunters hope to round up the abductors this week. Otherwise they face a long wait until the extortionists attempt to pass some of the ransom money or try to make a getaway.

Ten or twelve new federal men arrived in Tacoma yesterday, raising the total to about 30 working out of the Tacoma office. About twenty more were reported working out of Seattle.

PAMPA TONGUE OF OUR CITY

Oldtimer III

Another oldtimer who attended the Pioneers Roundup last year will be able to attend the celebration this year. He is N. B. Gragg of Shamrock, long-time resident of the Panhandle.

Mr. Gragg wrote: "Sorry to say we can't be there as I have been sick 7 weeks; just able to be up a short time each day. I sure would like to meet the oldtimers next week. There have been several of the oldtimers who have passed away in the last 3 or 4 months, and I came near passing out myself. I would like to be there and tell a few jokes that happened on the JA ranch in 1890. I was working there at the time the Indian scare happened. Here's hoping everybody will have a good time."

Two Practices

Rehearsals of the Pampa Little Symphony orchestra will be held at the high school tonight and again Thursday night, according to Mrs. May Foreman Carr, director. The time will be 8 p. m.

Change Practice

Choir practice at First Presbyterian church, regularly held on Thursday evenings, will be on Wednesday this week to avoid conflict with Pre-Centennial activities, it was announced today. Members are asked to be present tomorrow evening at 7:30.

To Attend Reunion

Mrs. John A. Daly and daughter, Miss Jean, will leave tomorrow for South Bend, Ind., where Miss Daly will attend the reunion at St. Mary's of Notre Dame from which school she graduated last year. They will then go to points in Michigan and Minnesota to visit friends and relatives.

Streets To Be Cleaned

Streets in downtown Pampa will be thoroughly cleaned and washed before the celebration. Pampa motorists are urged not to park their cars against the curb tonight and tomorrow night. The city commission in regular session last night ordered a large crew of men to start work cleaning the streets tonight.

Trash Fire Yesterday

The Pampa fire department answered its first call of the month yesterday afternoon when called to extinguish a trash fire at the rear of 307 East Kinsmill avenue. There was no loss. The fire department made only three calls during May with no insured fire loss. Total loss of the three fires was estimated at about $20 by Chief Clyde Gold.

Pampa Shooters Second

Pampa's skeet team, composed of Tom Perkins, Jerry Rogers, M. N. Chastain, Roy Wilmesner and Floyd Hoffman, took second place in an invitation shoot at Shamrock Sunday afternoon. It marked the opening of the Shamrock range. The Pampa shooters averaged better than 22 out of a possible 25. Shooting over the local range will be tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Funeral For Oil Man Held Here

Requiem mass was said at 8 o'clock this morning at Holy Souls church for E. J. McGouldrick, 41, who died yesterday of pneumonia. The Rev. Ness of Sacred Heart Cathedral, Amarillo, officiated. The body was taken to Sapulpa, Okla., by Pampa Mortuary.

Mr. McGouldrick, with the Independent Eastern Turpedo company since 1933, was active in Kiwanis club and Veterans of Foreign Wars work here. He served overseas for two years.

Surviving Mr. McGouldrick are his wife and two sons, John and James. A sister and three brothers also survive.

Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. McGouldrick, 1014 N. 10th street. Burial was in the Holy Souls cemetery.

field camp. There will be shown in the parade a miniature tank car, carbon black plant, refinery, old oil field camp, drilling well, and many other structures and machinery common to the industry.

The oil contests will be three and will be held in the business district, within the roped off section. On Wednesday night, midnight, the city will rope off the business district of Cuyler street to the alleys of intersecting streets and they will stay roped off for the 48 hours during the celebration. The roped-off section will extend from the gymnasium to Atchison.

The contests and prizes: First aid, $25, $15; nail driving, $10, $5; rope splicing, $20, $10. These contests represent every oil field activity and every form of the petroleum industry in the Panhandle. The contests will be open to all workers except those having official capacity. Judging in all the contests will be based upon time and efficiency. Max Mahaffey and Bill Lang will be in charge of the contests.

Mr. Davis is the general chairman of the oil show. A. G. (Petel) Post, who first suggested the oil show idea, is chairman of the float committee. Other members of his committee are R. G. Allen and Walter Biery.

Oil exhibits by local companies will be on display on East Foster between the Cuyler intersection and the alley.

Panhandle Oil Event To Continue As Centennial Idea Ends With '36 Show

SCENES OF EARLY PANHANDLE ARE SHOWN IN STORE DISPLAY

Crowds were pressed around the display windows of Pampa Drug No. 1 this morning, looking at one of the most interesting pioneer exhibits ever displayed here. Other merchants over town were planning to install exhibits today and tomorrow.

The exhibit consists of pictures that tell the story of the first district court in the Panhandle. There are enlarged pictures of Judge Frank Willis, Sr., Newton P. Locke of Miami, first district clerk, Capt. Arrington, sheriff. A group picture contains photos of Willis, Locke, Arrington, Cape Willingham, deputy sheriff; J. J. Long, saloon-keeper and treasurer. Only one of the group, Mr. Locke, is still living. He will attend the Pre-Centennial, Pioneer Roundup and Panhandle Oil Show.

Judge Dubbs, first county judge, and Joe Mason, deputy, also appear in the group picture.

Scenes of old Mobeetie in the 1870's are among the most interesting in the display. One picture

Keys Quadruplets First To Reach 20--Saxophone Work Mixed With Month At Home

HOLLIS, Okla., June 4. (AP)—For the first time in the history of the world, quadruplets celebrated their twentieth birthday here today.

There were four cakes bearing twenty candles each for Hollis' famous "bunch of Keys," the sisters, Mona, Roberta, Mary and Leota, who were born to Mr. and Mrs. Flake Keys June 4, 1915.

Their clothes are alike and they all play the saxophone, but on this business of being quadruplets and 20, their observations vary:

Roberta—"Just think! In one more year I can vote."

Mary—"I'm not going to let being 20 cramp my style."

Mona—"I really regret leaving my teens."

Leota—"I still like the high school group, and I hate to grow out of that age."

There is no record in medical history that any other quadruplets, or the offspring of higher multiple births, ever reached maturity. Medical records show quadruplets are born no more than once in every 512,000 births.

A "surprise" banquet will be given in honor of the Keys quadruplets tonight by their fellow members of the Hollis high school alumni association, at which the sisters will entertain as well as be entertained. All four sing and play the saxophone; Mona plays the piano, and Leota reads. She was chosen a member of the Baylor university "Little Theater" during their sophomore year, just closed.

After a month's vacation and rehearsal, they will tour North Carolina's principal cities under the auspices of civic and church organizations.

During the month at home, the fall and lovely co-eds will ride, swim, and loaf, although finding time to sew—it takes a lot of sewing to keep four identical dresses always ready, and they insist on dressing alike, although they look no more alike than ordinary sisters.

There'll be daily practice, too, for the saxophone quartet, programs now and then.

BURNING OF TANK BOTTOMS IN EAST TEXAS IS CALLED WASTE

KILGORE, June 4 (AP)—Between 500,000 and 1,000,000 barrels of oil are burned in East Texas yearly. L. J. Peters of Longview charged at a recent hearing by the Railroad commission tender committee on the question of amount of oil recovered from tank bottoms.

Peters stated that the tank bottoms are burned by both major and independent operators to avoid the 75 per cent charge-back to lease allowable made by the commission when tank bottoms are turned over to reclamation plants. He charged also that the practice of burning was a violation of conservation whether it was done under commission permit or not.

The hearing was called by the tender committee at the request of Peters after contention by reclamation plant owners that more than 75 per cent of oil was recovered and asked for tenders to move such amounts as they stated they had recovered. The commission established a rule June 29, 1934, permitting reclamation plants tenders on oil representing 75 per cent of tank bottoms on conditions that operators agree to the amount being charged to lease allowable.

Testimony at the hearing showed that the amount of oil recovered varied widely, sometimes falling below 75 per cent and at times ranging as high as 93 per cent with no two tanks giving the same recovery. Peters contended that the charge-back rule should be abolished in order that the oil now burned to circumvent the charge-back might be conserved, stating that reclamation plants are now operating in the field whereas about 40 operated prior to the charge-back rule.

Tank bottoms usually cost plants from 36 to 45 cents per barrel and oil reclaimed from it sells as charging stock from 65 to 80 cents a barrel.

tion plants could be regulated in a manner similar to refineries in the field thereby eliminating any likelihood of "racketeering."

F. W. Renshaw, in charge of the field forces of the commission in East Texas, observed that "some reclamation plants are on the up and up but turn the tank bottom business loose as it was a year ago and you will have five times as many reclamation plants in the field. It is not the honest reclamation plant that makes a racket of it; it is the man who goes to the tank and gets the oil, dumps it into a creek and then gets good clean crude oil in its place."

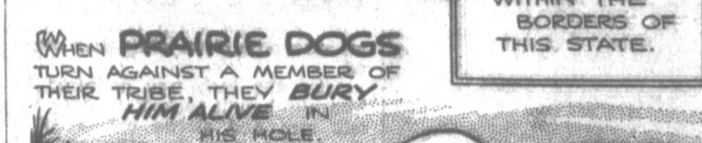

Renshaw said six reclamation plants are now operating in the field whereas about 40 operated prior to the charge-back rule.

NORMANDIE AT PIER--RETURN TO BE FRIDAY

Mme. Lebrun, Her No. 1 Passenger, Enjoys Thrills In New York.

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—The record-breaking liner Normandie rested in the Hudson's oily swells today amid preparations for a return trip while her No. 1 passenger, France's petite first lady, got acquainted with America. The sights on a first trip to the United States occupied Mme. Lebrun, not long after her arrival yesterday in Manhattan—she was whisked to the 102nd floor of the Empire State building where former Governor Alfred E. Smith, in checked suit and lavender shirt, showed her the wonders below and afar.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

MORE stony meteorites have been found in Kansas than are known from the combined states of Illinois, Oklahoma, Utah, Massachusetts, Washington, Idaho, Oregon, North Dakota, Wyoming, Nevada, New Hampshire, Louisiana, Vermont, Montana and Minnesota.

dark-haired Mme. Albert Lebrun, wife of the president of France. "A fairy city," Mme. Lebrun said of New York before leaving today for an official visit to Washington.

She will return here tomorrow evening and will board the Normandie for the return voyage Friday.

Like many another sightseer, Mme. Lebrun—not long after her arrival yesterday in Manhattan—was whisked to the 102nd floor of the Empire State building where former Governor Alfred E. Smith, in checked suit and lavender shirt, showed her the wonders below and afar.

FRENCH CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES GIVES NEW PREMIER POWER TO BE 'BRUTAL' IN SAVING FRANC

BOUSSON PROMISES TO BE DECISIVE IN ACTIVITIES

PARIS, June 4 (AP)—The chamber of deputies, which for nine years he ruled as its president, today gave Fernand Bouisson, France's new premier, a rousing vote of confidence in answer to his demand for a virtually free hand in dealing with the nation's financial crisis. The vote was 390 to 192 in his favor.

Premier Fernand Bouisson pledged "brutal and decisive" action against those who "attack our gold" in a ten-minute ministerial declaration today.

Making his first appearance as premier before the chamber of deputies, which he ruled as president for nine years, Bouisson asked the full powers already promised him so that the government could "safeguard the franc from any assault."

These "brutal but limited and temporary powers," he said, "enable us immediately to crush speculation."

"It took only a few days for speculators to make their assault, attack our gold vainly, and to try to alarm investors and demoralize workers. The government's reply will be brutal and decisive."

He said that swift action was imperative because "the country threatened by an obscure menace is no longer a free country—a wave of panic destroys civic spirit."

The vote was granted the new premier and his government on the technical point of shutting off debate on the proposed law granting the government decree powers. The vote postponed interpellations of the government.

A more severe test, that of the actual vote on the law, was to follow. Many of the deputies indicated they were rebellious against the bill.

Bouisson gave his pledge that he would "persevere in the peace policy abroad," but said that because "France is pacific, she must constantly safeguard the national defense and the collective organization of security."

He promised "vigilant activity" at Geneva.

Queen Reigns

JACKSONVILLE, June 4 (AP)—Mrs. Violet Slaton reigned as queen today as the second annual national tomato show entered its third day's program. She was crowned last night by Gov. James V. Alfred at "the romance of the love apple" pageant in which a large number of persons took part. The grand love apple ball was set for tonight.

Marble Machines Which Pay Off Gambling Devices

MEXIA, June 4. (AP)—Attorney General William McCraw believes that marble boards that pay off are gambling machines. He expressed that opinion yesterday when he filed in district court an injunction against the petition of the W. S. Antonio of Mexia, owner of marble machines, who had obtained an injunction restraining officers from molesting his machines on the grounds they were not gambling devices. McCraw asked a hearing on the petition to set aside the injunction before the hearing of the cause on merits. In an opinion, which was made part of the petition, McCraw ruled that machines which pay off either coin or checks, were classed as gambling devices.

McDonald Probe Body Organized

AUSTIN, June 4. (AP)—A house committee organized here today to investigate charges of official misconduct by J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture. Members were E. E. Hunter of Cleburne, temporary chairman, C. C. Canon of Honey Grove, Pat Dwyer of San Antonio, R. H. Good of Cooper, and Leonard Westfall of Aspermont. The first meeting was held behind closed doors to facilitate organization, but members said open hearings might be instituted after witnesses were summoned. In a resolution recommending the investigation, charges were made that McDonald had not followed the law strictly in administering the jack and stallion fund, that he had violated the nepotism act, and among other things, had permitted a dealer in stallions to present McDonald's boys with two fine percheron mares. McDonald defended his actions in a speech before the house on the last night of the general session, demanding an early hearing before the committee.

Relief Office Is Closely Guarded

PARIS, June 4. (AP)—The closed Lamar county relief office today was guarded by police to prevent possible violence of clients who yesterday stormed the building in a demand for groceries. Relief administrator Tai Warner closed the office after officers, threatening with tear gas, dispersed the demanding crowd of about 400 clients. He said it would remain closed until more relief funds were obtained. Warner said the county had been out of funds several days and that his staff had told clients it was hoped more funds might be received by June 1. Officers expressed belief that the clients had waited until June 1 and then organized to demand aid. Officers reported that several agitators were in the crowd yesterday and urged the clients to riot and break into the office if they did not get groceries.

Huey To Permit Discreet Gambling

BATON ROUGE, La., June 4. (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long says gambling can return to New Orleans only if it is "discreet." "We are not going to have any wide-open gambling with big electric signs down there," he said. "We are going to cut out open gambling just like we cut out the open district, and we are going to cut down gambling to ten per cent of what it's been." Long made his announcement after officers of the New Orleans ministerial association asserted his administration had broken faith with them. Prospects for an apple crop in northern Kansas are above the five-year average, a survey by the state horticultural society indicated.

MARKET BRIEFS

Stocks Are Bullish

NEW YORK, June 4. (AP)—The stock market gave another bullish performance today, aided by cotton, grains and other commodities. Railroads, chemicals, tobacco and scattered specialties pushed forward at a brisker pace than in the preceding session. Trading was still quiet, however, transfers approximating 800,000 shares. The close was firm.

Injunction Issued On Trapped Oil

LONGVIEW, June 4. (AP)—A district court order today prevented the railroad commission from interfering with movement of fuel oil which recently escaped from flood-damaged earthen pits near Gladewater.

Big Oil Probe Ready to Begin

LONGVIEW, June 4. (AP)—The Texas legislative oil investigation committee announced that "every lead which will focus any light on undesirable practices in the East Texas field will be pursued with vigor." The committee opened its investigation behind closed doors yesterday and questioned three witnesses whose names were not disclosed. Sidney Latham of Longview said testimony indicated some crude oil was being produced in violation of railroad commission orders, but he refused to say how much. Latham said the probe was to find out about running illegal oil, how it was done and to go as far as possible to determine who was connected with the alleged practice.

Train Kills Child

SWEETWATER, June 4. (AP)—Wanda Nell, 20 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson, tumbled across the path of a speeding Sunshine Special train last night near Eskola. The train crew said they never saw the child. Wanda Nell's body and her doll were found 200 yards from the crossing.

cents in Liverpool wheat prices resulted in higher quotation in Chicago today. The injection of bullish foreign news into trade gossip more than offset bearishness of favorable crop prospects with private authorities predicting a total domestic wheat production this year 40 per cent greater than last year. Some traders showed hesitancy pending clarification of the administration's program in the light of the restrictive effect of recent supreme court rulings. Wheat closed 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents above the previous finish, the upturn aided by short covering, with July at 83 3/4-84. Corn was 1/4-1/2 higher, July 80 1/2-81. Oats were unchanged to 1/4 lower, rye 1/4 higher and barley unchanged. Provisions were steady to firm.

Bandit Escapes With $1,000 After Telephone Raid

SAN ANTONIO, June 4. (AP)—An unmasked bandit, brandishing a pistol, entered the Southwestern Bell Telephone main office on auditorium circle, shortly after noon today and forced employees to surrender between $1,000 and $1,800. He escaped in a car which had been parked at the curb. Five employees and a customer were in the office when the bandit appeared. He ordered Miss Mary Cunniff and L. E. Ward, who were behind the cashier's cage, to scoop up all available cash and put it in a metal box. He kept them covered with an automatic pistol while they obeyed. After the cash was delivered to him, the bandit tucked it under his left arm and strode out, keeping the occupants of the office covered and warning them repeatedly "don't try to follow me."

TRIAL

sheriff, Hall testified he had voted for Irvin in that election. "You, a citizen of Lamb county, voted for him after he had admitted to you he had taken bootleg money?" Dupree asked. "Yes," Hall replied. "You relied on his promise not to take any more bootleg money?" Hood later asked. The witness answered affirmatively. C. E. Luce, police recorder of Lubbock, testified that Sheriff Irvin, in December, 1933, at Sudan had offered a roll of money if the "federal" would "meet me anywhere." Luce was Sudan city marshal about 75 days. Once he asked Sheriff Irvin to go with him to a dominion hall, about which Luce had heard some complaints, he testified. He declared the sheriff told the operator of the hall: "I think you are trying to get me into a jam, you and some of these federal. I'll give them this roll of money to meet me anywhere."

TO ASK ROAD MONEY

AUSTIN, June 4. (AP)—The highway department announced today that Harry Hines of Wichita Falls, commission chairman, and Gibb Gilchrist, state engineer, would go to Washington next week to apply for additional federal aid allotments for Texas. Allocations from the national work relief program funds will be sought to supplement the regular federal aid allotment of $7,700,000 annually, and approximately $23,000,000 promised Texas from the highway and grade crossing fund.

Urschell Will Testify Against Two Attorneys

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 4. (AP)—Reversing previous plans the U. S. district attorney's office here decided today to call Charles F. Urschell, kidnaped millionaire oil man, to testify against Ben B. Laska, Denver attorney and James C. Mathers, Oklahoma City lawyer, in their kidnap conspiracy trial starting here next Monday. The announcement Urschell would testify was made by W. C. Lewis, the district attorney, and Frank Dudley, his assistant, went into seclusion to map the government's offensive against Laska and Mathers, counsel for two of the actual kidnapers of the oil man. Urschell paid $200,000 for his release. Urschell, first excused from participation in the trial, returned only last week with Mrs. Urschell from a world cruise. He indicated his willingness to tell again the kidnaping story that sent three men to Alcatraz Island and 15 others to other prisons. While the United States increased its exports of bicycles 33 per cent in the last year, imports of bicycles during the same period advanced 80 per cent.

ATHLETES SAY: "THEY DON'T GET YOUR WIND!"

PETE DESJARDINS, winner of many U. S. and Olympic diving titles, says: "I prefer Camels—they never get my wind or jangle my nerves."

WOOD, the golf star; Reggie McNamara, the "bike" racer; and Susan Vilas, of swimming fame—all outstanding athletes who say they smoke Camels all they please, without disturbing their wind or nerves. More enjoyment for you in this mild cigarette! You'll find you can smoke Camels all you want! And athletes say that Camel's costlier tobaccos don't tire their taste—don't upset their nerves or get their "wind."

YOU'LL LIKE THEIR MILDNESS TOO!

IT'S JUST AS IMPORTANT TO YOU to keep "in condition" as it is to any champion. Smoke Camels all you wish. Athletes say Camels never upset the nerves, never get the wind.

PRE-CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION WILL HAVE A WOMAN'S SIDE

HOSTESSES TO PIONEERS ARE GIVEN DUTIES

DANCES TO BE SOCIAL EVENTS OF THE TWO DAYS

Women will have an important part in the Pre-Centennial celebration and Pioneer Roundup, not simply as participants in parade and pageants, but in some spheres definitely their own.

Pitifully, pioneer women of the county will act as hostesses to visiting old-timers at the high school gym Thursday and Friday. Many will be wearing costumes of the period when they helped establish the first homes in this section.

Mrs. Claude Ledrick is chairman of hostesses, and has named the following to special hostess duty for the two days:

Thursday morning, Meses. W. R. Ewing, Gertrude McMurry, Lee Ledrick, H. J. Lippold, Tate, J. E. Corson, Claude Ledrick.

Thursday afternoon, Meses. A. A. Tiemann, Emma LeFors, H. B. Lovett, Albert Doucette, J. W. Meers, Tom Lane, Alex Schneider.

Friday morning, Meses. Katie Vincent, Earl Talley, Smith Gragg, J. L. Billeck, Will Wilks, F. P. Reid.

Friday afternoon, Meses. C. P. Buckler, Siler Faulkner, Ed Carr, Mary Williams, Jim Williams, C. A. Tignor.

One Pre-Centennial entertainment sponsored by women will be the street dance of Thursday evening, a costume fete on Cuyler Street. It is in charge of the Business and Professional Women's club, which is also selling souvenir Pre-Centennial badges this week.

Ending the celebration, the Pre-Centennial ball will be given Friday evening at Pampa-Mor auditorium, in charge of a committee headed by Bob Knox. Johnny Floyd's orchestra will play.

Crowning of the Pre-Centennial queen will be an event of the dance. Tickets are on sale at Pampa Drug No. 1, priced at $1.65. Tables for four may be reserved for one dollar, Mr. Knox announced.

Square dances on both evenings will be other social features of the celebration. They will be at the school gym, with favorite tunes furnished by old-timers.

A musical program arranged for Pre-Centennial week will be presented this evening at city hall auditorium, sponsored by Treble Clef clubs. They will bring the Amarillo Junior college Balladors and Balladettes here for a concert at popular prices.

Friends Attend Party for Boy

A party honoring the tenth birthday of her son, Delbert, was given by Mrs. L. Lyles with a large group of his friends as guests. They enjoyed games, and were served delicious refreshments that included birthday cake.

Those present were Neely Joe Ellis, Adrain Hughes, Raymond and Thomas Perkins, Herbert Maynard, Douglas Smith, Fred Need, Roy Walker, Billy Huckaby, LeRoy Thomas, Douglas Burrow, and Delbert.

County Singers To Meet Sunday

Gray County singing convention will meet next Sunday at the Full Gospel Temple, 500 S. Cuyler, for an all-day program.

Officers are planning the best meeting of this year. Several quartets have promised to appear on program in special numbers. All lovers of gospel singing are invited.

Will Help Welcome Pioneers

Mrs. Albert H. Doucette, above, is one of the long-time Pampa residents who will act as hostesses for the annual Pioneer Roundup to be held in connection with the Pre-Centennial celebration Thursday and Friday. She is pictured here in the costume she wore at last year's Roundup, a dress of heavy black satin made with high boned neck, tight boned waist, sleeves gathered at the armholes, and gored skirt of floor length. The dress, which is a treasured possession of Mrs. C. L. Mullen, is trimmed with silk fringe, and the hat has a sweeping black plume.

TRIPS ARE MADE BY NOELETTE RESIDENTS AS VACATIONS BEGIN

NOELETTE, June 4.—Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cannon and son, Elbert, and Mr. and Mrs. John Martin enjoyed a week-end fishing trip near Higgins.

Mrs. Sadie Donaldson of Borger is visiting her sister, Mrs. O. L. Satterfield, who has been ill several days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Honaker and baby left Tuesday for Wichita and Fredonia, Kan., to spend a few days with his father, C. W. Honaker.

Mrs. R. E. Showers, who underwent a major operation at Worley hospital, Pampa, Saturday is doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. George Demoss announce the arrival of a son, born Friday morning.

Mrs. Charles Showers and children have returned after visiting several weeks in Oklahoma.

The Skelly boarding house has reopened, with Mrs. J. A. Arwood as manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Cannon and daughter, Leona, spent Sunday in Borger, guests of Mrs. Cannon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lowe.

Ethel Ross, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ross, broke his arm when he fell from a horse Sunday.

Mrs. Ray Campbell and children are visiting her parents in Sayre, Okla.

George Rathbun has returned after visiting a few days in Kansas.

Balladors and Balladettes Will Give Concert Here Tonight

The above group, Balladors and Balladettes of Amarillo Junior college, will present a concert at the city hall auditorium here this evening at 8 o'clock. The program is sponsored by Treble Clef clubs here as the outstanding musical event of Pre-Centennial week. This college chorus, directed by Alla Potts Turk, has won

CIRCLES JOIN IN SOCIAL TO END PROGRAM

THREE NEW MEMBERS WELCOMED BY GROUP FIVE

A joint social was enjoyed by circles one and three of the Methodist Missionary society yesterday afternoon, following separate study hours at the church. Most of yesterday's circle meetings were at the churches.

Mrs. H. O. Roberts, hostess to circle three, invited circle one to join her group at the social hour, and served delicious refreshments in the basement of First Methodist church.

Mrs. John K. Sweet was in charge of the program for circle one. It was a Bible lesson, Jesus and His Disciples. Mrs. Joe Shelton gave the devotional on the topic, "Behold My Hands."

Subjects presented were Peter's Confession, by Mrs. Sweet; Shrink- ing From the Test, Mrs. Shelton; Confirmatory Evidence, Mrs. R. A. Baker; Spirit of the Venture, Mrs. Frank Shotwell; What Is Forgiveness? Mrs. M. E. DeTar; Fire From Heaven, Mrs. W. R. Presnell; Wilder Proclamation, Mrs. Luther Pierson.

A new member, Mrs. Ethel McEwing, was present with 13 other members.

Circle two met in the home of Mrs. Bob McCoy, with Mrs. H. B. Carson as leader of the program on Jesus and His Disciples. Various members read Bible references and discussed the topics.

The closing prayer was by Mrs. A. W. Babione. A visitor and 12 members were present.

Mrs. C. R. Nelson was hostess to circle four in the church parlors for the same lesson.

Circle five met at McCullough church, with 3 new members and a guest among the 13 present. In the business session, members planned to complete payment on the parsonage furnishings.

Mrs. H. L. Wallace was leader of a lesson on Methodist Missions in Japan. The new members enrolled were Meses. Thomas Clayton, Walter Vandever, and Winkler. Miss Norma Vermillion was a visitor.

Other members present were Meses. C. A. Almond, H. C. Boyd, W. M. Cox, J. C. Dollard, J. W. Foster, C. D. Harris, A. McClendon, J. D. Mitchell, A. N. Rogers, and Wallace.

Pleasant Hour Club At Skellytown Has Party Last Friday

SKELLYTOWN, June 4.—The Pleasant Hour club was entertained Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. Shipley with Mrs. Arthur Johnson as hostess. Sewing and conversation were enjoyed.

Sandwiches, pickles, iced tea, strawberry ice cream, and cookies were served to Meses. J. Tomlin, D. Bowsher, W. W. Hughes, Joe Carroll, Carl Williams, G. Dixon, J. C. Jarvis, Shipley, and the hostess.

The next meeting will be on June 14 with Mrs. Jones as hostess.

CANADIAN NEWS

CANADIAN, June 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams visited in Pampa Sunday.

Mrs. Leo Coffey returned Sunday to her home in Borger after a week's visit with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. White, Miss Imogene Hollenbeck, Clarence Hulbertson, and Edgar Rockwell of Pampa visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Finch over the week-end.

J. W. Saunders of Amarillo was a visitor here yesterday.

BIRDIE

WESTFIELD, N. J.—Billy Rohrbach was playing golf at the Echo Lake Country club. He drove a high, sizzling "screamer" toward the sixth green but it didn't get very far. The ball struck a wild duck in mid-flight and killed it instantly.

The visitors will be guests of the company, not only for the barbecue, but to come staged as part of the Pre-Centennial, Pioneer Roundup and Oil Show.

Don McCarlie, ace barbecuer, is preparing 125 pounds of pig ribs

In Pre-Centennial Costume

Mrs. Raymond Harrah is pictured in the costume she wore at last year's Pre-Centennial celebration. It is a pale green taffeta frock of the Civil war period, with black cape and perky bonnet of hand-made straw. The costume is the property of Mrs. Frank Elliott of Albany, former Pampian whom Mrs. Harrah has visited recently. Although this dress will not be seen at the celebration this week, many others as interesting will be worn in the pageant and plays, or by hostesses at the Pioneer Roundup.

WEDNESDAY

Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary will meet at the church, 2:30.

First Christian Women's council will meet; Group one with Mrs. Floyd Coffin, 723 E. Browning; group two with Mrs. Louis Schlammeier, 1119 E. Francis; group three with Mrs. R. L. Allison, 709 N. West; group four with Mrs. Shelby Gantz, 407 Faulkner.

Mrs. John Lawler will be hostess to Priscilla Home Demonstration club at the home of Mrs. Joe Lewis.

THURSDAY

Junior Treble Clef club will meet with Mattie Lee Clay.

FRIDAY

Regular meeting of Order of Eastern Star at Masonic hall, 8 p. m. Members and visiting members invited.

DANCING DEALERS TO BE GIVEN BARBECUE AND PAGEANT TICKETS

Barbecued pig ribs and barbecued veal, and all the trimmings, will be served dealers of the Danciger Oil & Refineries Inc., when they gather at the refinery east of the city at noon Friday. The guests will be the nearly 200 dealers handling Danciger gasoline in this section of the country.

The visitors will be guests of the company, not only for the barbecue, but to come staged as part of the Pre-Centennial, Pioneer Roundup and Oil Show.

Student Hopes To Keep Self From Turning to Stone

BERKELEY, Calif., June 4. (AP)—In a seemingly hopeless race against death, Albert Hagedorn Jr., 20-year-old university student, is trying to become a doctor before he turns to stone.

The young medical student at the University of California labors nearly 16 hours a day over his books and back of a counter in a chain grocery store in the faint hope he can save himself, or at least others, from the rare and slow death caused by calcitosis.

He works in the grocery store to pay for his studies, to which his father, Albert Hagedorn Sr., devotes almost his entire earnings as a night watchman in a cannery.

Young Hagedorn admits only a miracle of medical science can save him but still he hopes somehow to be kept from turning to calcium carbonate. His body began to slowly turn to stone nearly seven years ago.

Medical scientists know of only 25 sufferers from the disease.

The United States department of agriculture expects the low point in the cycle of horse and mule production in this country to be reached about 1938 or 1939.

MISS GIBSON, BRIDE-ELECT, GIVEN SHOWER

Teacher at Hopkins Will Be June Bride

Honoring Miss Ruby Gibson, who is to become the bride of Phil Courtney this month, Mrs. Vern Savage and Mrs. George Delver entertained with a shower at the home of Mrs. Savage Monday afternoon.

Appointments were in pink and white, and refreshments repeated those colors. Games and contests furnished amusement, with the prizes going to the honoree. Many gifts were presented the bride-elect.

Miss Gibson has been a teacher in Hopkins schools the past two years. Guests at the shower were Meses. George Howe, Paul Lambert, J. B. Horn, Herbert McKeicher, J. M. Boucher, G. T. Bunch, C. W. Baston, D. M. Bynum, E. L. Sparks, E. F. Vanderberg, R. E. Patridge, Mick Moddrell, W. B. Martin, H. H. Davis, George Reeves, Homer Gibson, Ed Rallsback, Abbie Izzard, R. L. Jones, Marvin Gibson, George Adame, Joe McCartney, Victoria Patridge; Meses Gibson and Melba Savage.

Gifts were sent by Meses. Dee Partridge, C. O. Gilbert, Seth Horn, E. R. Manley, Ralph Irwin, and Miss Carrie Marie Townsend.

Food Sale Will Aid Week-end Hostesses

Housewives with guests for the Pre-Centennial but no desire to miss the celebration to prepare meals, were considered by women of Holy Souls Altar Society when they planned a baked food sale for Thursday morning.

It will open at 8:30 at Standard food market, with Meses. R. E. McKernan and Emmett Dyer in charge. All kinds of baked foods will be on sale.

Once numbering 19,000 members, the Kansas G. A. R. reported the number slumped in 1935 to 287, with only about 50 able to attend state meetings. The "youngster" is H. I. Merrill, Wichita, who is 85.

Jesse Hall and Bride Arrive to Make Home Here

The marriage of Miss Helen Conwell of Vernon and Jesse Hall of Pampa was solemnized at the Church of Christ at Vernon Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, with a few relatives and close friends as guests. R. L. Colley, minister, read the ring service.

Miss Maude Dockery was maid of honor, and Clinton Friberg of Wichita Falls was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Hall left for a short trip after the ceremony, and are at home here now.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. H. Jackson of Vernon, and has been bookkeeper for a Vernon firm for several years.

Mr. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Hall of Madisonville, has lived in Pampa several years. He is with the Edmondson dry cleaning company here. He formerly lived in Vernon.

NEARLY FORTY PER CENT OF OIL PRODUCTION OF UNITED STATES ALLOWED FOR TEXAS

GULF SOUTHWEST MAY PRODUCE 73 PER CENT

By ELMER H. JOHNSON
Regional Economist University of Texas Bureau of Business Research

Oil Administrator Harold L. Ickes, has authorized to Texas for the month of June an allowable of nearly 40 per cent of the total oil production authorized for the United States. This allowable is a little more than the combined amount allowed to California and Oklahoma. However, the total allowable for the states of the Gulf Southwest, including Kansas, amounts to 73 per cent of the total for the United States.

In March, the last month for which data are available from the Bureau of Mines, crude runs to stills in the Gulf Southwest, including Kansas, amounted to 45 per cent of the total for this country. Of crude runs to stills Texas led by far with California next in rank. Crude runs to stills in Oklahoma, which is second in production, were sixth in rank among the states, being exceeded not only by Texas and California but also by Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Indiana.

By groups of states the Gulf Southwest leads in refining. California comes second—California refines a larger percentage of its production than does any other large oil producing state. The third group in rank is held by the Middle Atlantic States with Pennsylvania leading, followed by New Jersey, and with New York and Maryland refining smaller quantities. Fourth in rank is the Middle Western group, with Indiana leading, followed by Illinois and Ohio. Massachusetts refiners in the New England group refine only a small quantity, but even that small amount is larger than the whole of the Northwestern or of the Southwestern states. During March 52.7 per cent of the receipts of crude oil at refineries was derived from within the state in which the plants are located. 44 per cent came from domestic sources outside the state; and 3.3 per cent came from foreign sources. The refineries using large quantities of oil derived from within the state concerned are those of Texas and California; but of oil sent outside the state to be refined, Texas was first with Oklahoma a near second. Texas refineries in March received about 60 per cent of the state's production, and Oklahoma refineries less than a third of the production of that state.

The bulk of Oklahoma's out-of-state shipments of crude oil went to Middle West refineries—Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio—although a fair percentage went to refineries on the Eastern Seaboard; a fair percentage, about 17 per cent, however, went to Louisiana, and a small amount to Arkansas; about 6 per cent of Texas' out-of-state shipments went to refineries in the Middle West. Of foreign oils 31 per cent went to the Middle Atlantic Seaboard, 11 per cent to Massachusetts, and 35 per cent to Texas and Louisiana combined.

Musicians Double in 20 Years
MOSCOW (AP)—Latest figures put the population of Moscow at 3,813,600, more than double the 1913 census. Of these 823,000 were workmen, 649,900 office employees, and 89,000 students.

About 800 cotton farmers in Jim Wells county, Texas, signed contracts to rent acreage to the government this year, an increase of 200.

Blast Turns Gasser Into Torch

This gigantic torch, etching the steel skeleton of an oil derrick against the night sky, blazed 80 feet high after a blast that killed two and burned six others at Six Lakes, Mich., in bringing in a huge gasser. The spectacle, photographed just before the derrick's girders crumbled in the intense heat, attracted hundreds of spectators. Fire crews fought vainly to quell the flames.

Oil Production In County Is Down

TULSA, Okla., June 4 (AP)—With Oklahoma again leading the way among the major producing areas total daily average production in the United States showed a decrease of 40,005 barrels, dropping from 2,624,976 to 2,584,971 barrels daily.

the Oil and Gas Journal reports. Oklahoma's production was 494,775 compared with 53,659 barrels, the previous week, a reduction of 28,775 barrels daily. Kansas had a slight increase of 325 barrels daily from 152,900 to 153,225.

Total Texas production dropped 4,950 barrels to 1,051,203 barrels, and East Texas showed a reduction of 4,828 barrels to 468,097 barrels compared with 472,925 the previous week.

Eastern fields, including Michigan, reported an increase of 1,251 barrels, from 144,075 to 145,326. Rocky mountain area production was 100,140 compared with 98,270 last week, an increase of 1,870 barrels.

California's production was off 14,000 barrels, from 484,000 to 470,000 barrels.

Dr. G. C. Campbell, president of the Oklahoma Croquet association, has sent 1,000 rule books to prospective entries in the state tournament to be held in August.

Over this sea of spikes without a FLAT!

● Just imagine driving an automobile back and forth across a "torture road" as pictured above all day long until the tires had picked up a total of 2,498 nails... and still not a single tire went flat!

That's the record made by Seiberling Sealed Air Tubes and Seiberling tires. The nails were allowed to remain in the tires and the car was driven for three days after which the nails were pulled out — yet none of the tires went flat!

The secret of this amazing tube's success is an ingenious invention by which soft, plastic gum is held in place by partitions of cured rubber which divide the tread of the tube into compartments, like the bulk-head of a battleship. When a nail or other object punctures the tube and is withdrawn, the plastic gum fuses together, and the hole is gone forever!

Come in and let us equip your car with Seiberling Sealed Air Tubes today!

BETTER RANGE CONDITIONS IN STATE NOTED

RETAIL SALES GREATER THAN ONE YEAR AGO

DALLAS, June 4 (AP)—Outstanding developments in the business field noted during the past month by the Federal Reserve bank in Dallas in its monthly business review released today were:

Heavy and widespread rains which supplied needed moisture in all sections of the eleventh district, a sharp upturn in building operations and an active demand for merchandise in wholesale and retail channels.

A good subsoil season now obtains, the review states, in all sections except portions of the former drought area where additional rain would be beneficial and farmers can proceed rapidly with planting operations and crop cultivation as soon as topsoil dries sufficiently.

Vegetation on livestock ranges, the review continues, has made rapid growth as a result of the improved moisture situation and the prospects for early summer pasturage are good. With better grazing conditions livestock should mend rapidly. There is a stronger demand for stocker animals and range prices are rising.

The review announces that construction activity reflected a sharp upturn in April and that valuation of building permits issued at leading cities in this district rose to the highest level since the large January figure. Gains were registered by most of the reporting cities and the April total was more than twice that for March and three times larger than in the same month of 1934.

Summarizing other phases of the business field the review says:

Retail distribution as reflected by department store sales, was two per cent larger than in March and exceeded that of a year ago by 11 per cent. The improvement, however, was due largely to the lateness of Easter this year. In wholesale trade the combined sales of reporting firms evidenced a slight seasonal decline as compared with the previous month but they were substantially larger than a year ago.

Debts to individual accounts at banks in principal cities, while slightly smaller than in March, showed a gain of 16 per cent over a year ago, which was the most favorable comparison reported since last August.

Federal Reserve bank loans to member banks reflected a further expansion and at the middle of May were larger than a year ago. The investments of member banks in selected cities were increased between April 10 and May 8 but the commercial loans of these banks showed a small seasonal recession.

The daily average of combined net demand on time deposits of member banks rose $1,131,000 between March and April and the total in the latter month was $84,282,000 greater than in the same month of 1934.

Effective May 8, 1935, the discount rate of the Federal Reserve bank of Dallas was reduced to two per cent.

CHAPTER 9.

After the fog the morning was crisp and cool and invigorating. There was a blue sky, high ruffled clouds, and a breeze blowing over the harbor.

Katharine dressed hurriedly, after her shower, eager to be out and away. Ellen brought her a tray because the others were not yet stirring. There was crisp toast and clear coffee and strips of bacon under a silver bell.

"Oh, Ellen, this is a divine breakfast."

"You've got your appetite back, Miss. That's what it is."

It was the fog, the brooding heavy weather, that had made her feel so heavy and stupid, Katharine told herself. This morning she wanted to sing.

"Mr. Kaye packing?"

"I think he is, Miss. I heard him moving around in the gunroom."

Bertine had put John in the gunroom, half a flight up, because she said it was quieter. Well, Katharine had said goodbye to John last night; it would spoil things—be an anticlimax—if she saw him again now. Better slip away without saying a word.

The morning was clean washed when she stepped out into it. Every separate blade of grass, every newly opened calyx enchanted her.

"Oh, beautiful day!" Katharine almost sang it aloud.

Her car purred under her touch. Funny, some days the motor ran better than others. Cars were like people—moody!

"Good morning, Michael!"

"Mornin', Miss Strykhurst!" He stood, smiling at her easily, one hand braced against the rail fence which bordered the meadow of the old Rogers place.

"I thought I'd ride," Katharine said demurely.

"Oh, splendid. Fury's rarin' to be off. Hips!" he called to the boy whose steps could be heard on the stable floor. "Bring Fury out, will you?"

"How do you think I'm doing?" Katharine inquired, of her prowess as horsewoman. There had been many animated conversations between them all spring concerning her progress; she was determined now to have the relationship back upon its old, safe footing—that of pupil and teacher.

"Oh, you're grand," he said simply. "I noticed the other day..."

"Something within her exulted," Michael, when you say 'you're grand' like that you sound a wee bit Irish."

His gaze left her. She was conscious of having overstepped the bounds.

"I'm from Montana."

"O' course. I hadn't forgotten that."

Why did he mind her saying he sounded Irish? Why did he withdraw so completely and coldly at the suggestion? That was rather silly. They rode together, as before. Katharine chatted lightly and Michael Heatheroe answered. Once or twice his great laugh rang out. She went ahead when the bridle path narrowed, glancing back over his shoulder to see if Fury behaved well.

"She's a bit skittish today."

"Oh, she's all right, really," Katharine protested.

She thought of Zoe and the fever she had suffered the night before. She thought of Gibbs Larkin with his bold, exploring dark eyes and the thickening line of his waist, his too-soft, too-intimate voice. Poor Zoe! What was it going to come to?

She thought of John Kaye, Dear Johnny, he was so nice! The girl who married Johnny would be a lucky one. There would be no excitement, of course, but she would have security.

"All right?" That was Michael's voice. He had gone on rather far ahead and she had lost sight of him. She halted back reassuringly.

"All right back there."

He waited at the turn of the path, glancing at the watch strapped to his wrist.

"We'd better turn back. I have an appointment at nine."

It was pleasant, Katharine thought, having Michael so worried about her. Now he wouldn't be able to ride with Sally Moon.

Sally Moon! Well, what of it? But Katharine's exaltation was gone for the instant. The morning had a cloud upon it.

"Watch out for that dog," Michael warned as the path wound again into the open clearing, facing which one lone white house stared down upon the fertile valley. The terrier which had bothered Fury on the ride down was sitting on the bank, watching, sharp-eyed for his enemy. At first sight of the riders, the small brown dog hurled himself like a streak down the precipitous slope, through fern and berry bushes, to yelp frantically at Fury's very heels.

The little mare began to dance. She had done this before and Michael, at some pains, had quieted her. But now her nervous gait increased and she deserved her name, Michael, wheeling Prince Charlie, made for Fury's bridle—missed it.

Katharine was not conscious of Fury. Fury plunged forward at a violent rate, rearing and kicking, and the girl clung desperately.

"Woe, Fury! Steady there, girl!" Then the sickening consciousness of hurtling through the air at incredible speed; the damp earth and the grass rising up to meet one.

From a long way off, a voice reached her.

"My darling!"

Michael's voice. Michael's strong arms lifting her, carrying her. Katharine felt sore all over—not broken, she assured herself, only dreadfully sore and shaken.

She opened her eyes.

People were running toward them; a truckman whose vehicle was halted near the field, people from the white house where the dog belonged, a woman in a striped dress and two little girls.

"Oh, is she badly hurt?"

The woman, Katharine thought, had a nice sort of face with wise, tired eyes. The little girls stood staring, all flyaway blond hair and bare, sunburned legs.

"Bring her up to our house," the woman said. To the dog, who had ceased to bark and now cowered naughtily in the hedges, she said scoldingly: "Bad Sandy! Bad boy!"

"He'll be punished for this, he knows that," she told them, leading the procession. Katharine closed her eyes again. The truckman had gone to hold Prince Charlie's bridle. Some men down by the River Road had stopped Fury. It was very pleasant to be carried thus. Michael's arms were strong and gentle.

Katharine opened her eyes again. They were going up the steps of the white house now. Michael was passing through a doorway. The remodeled farmhouse was comfortable in a homely way. Michael went up a flight of steps and the woman directed him to lay Katharine on a bed.

The woman bent toward her anxiously. "I'll call my doctor," she said in a gentle voice. "Are you very much hurt?"

Michael, looking extraordinarily big in this low-ceiled room, towered over her. His face was dark with anxiety.

"I—I don't believe so," Katharine said faintly.

"Your head's all right?" Michael knelt down by the bed when Mrs. Mercer went to telephone. They could hear her calling Dr. Cartwright down in the village.

"My boots will soil the spread," Katharine whispered. It was pleasant, having Michael so worried about her. Now he wouldn't be able to ride with Sally Moon. It was such a silly idea that Katharine smiled, and Michael Heatheroe watched that smile as a starving man might have at a loaf of bread.

"Oh, don't worry about that, please," Mrs. Mercer cried, coming back. "The spread doesn't matter. Poor child! I do feel so awfully responsible. That bad dog..."

The children lurked in the doorway. They were sweet little girls, Katharine thought, and decided, too, that this was the sort of home she would have liked to grow up in. Simple and sweet and good, with a mother who had kind, wise eyes like Mrs. Mercer.

"How about Fury?"

"He's all right," Michael told her. But his tone boded ill for Fury. Maybe she hadn't dreamed it, after all; maybe he had actually called her "my darling."

Presently Dr. Cartwright came and examined her.

"She's had a nasty shock," he said, "but she seems to have come through it all right. You're a very lucky young lady," he told Katharine. "You must stay in bed all today, and tomorrow I'll run in and see you again."

"May I go home, doctor?" Katharine knew the little physician well. He had nursed her through most of her childhood ailments.

To her secret delight he shook his head, negatively. "I'd rather you stayed right here," he said, with an interrogative look at Mrs. Mercer. "Of course she shall. Of course!" cried her hostess delightedly. "That will relieve me of anxiety, I should be terrified to turn her out now, without being certain she was all right..."

So Katharine, divested of her muddled riding things, spent the day in the little mansarded room of the Mercer house. It was delicious to be fussed over this way. The stout colored maid helped her to undress, and her hostess brought pajamas and gown of many times washed striped silk. The children tolled up the stairs with offerings of flowers and shells.

"They're enchanted," said Violet Mercer to Katharine later. "They do so love a guest—and such a charming one."

Bertine had come and gone, clucking and murmuring and rather averse to the arrangement until she, too, fell under Violet Mercer's quiet charm.

"But of course we don't know her," Bertine complained in a half-whisper, when she and Katharine were alone. "That was Innick's eternal complaint about a new-comer."

"Does it matter?" Katharine closed her eyes. Here it was so quiet and peaceful. Bertine worried her... But after she had gone away, in the quiet of nightfall, Michael Heatheroe came again.

swift and slippery greens along the 16-hole route.

"Why should I fear Oakmont any more than any of the other fellows," Dutra said. "I'm not throwing the party here any more than I was at Marion a year ago. Wednesday night I'll hand over the championship cup to the United States Golf association and then I'll be exactly where I was a year ago this time."

Oakmont measures 6,891 yards and calls for some distance, but more than that, accuracy is required. There are 300 treacherous traps strewn around the links and an off-line shot into any of them will more than likely result in a stroke penalty owing to the deep ridges.

DEVELOPMENTS IN FINANCIAL WORLD NOTED

VETO OF PATMAN BILL CALLED IMPORTANT BY PROFESSOR

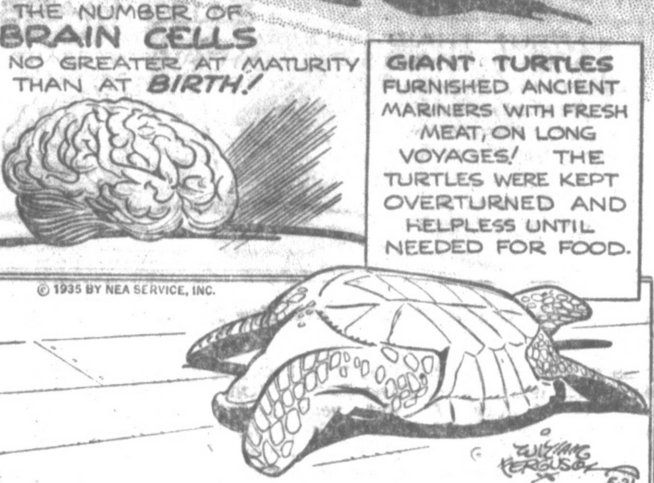

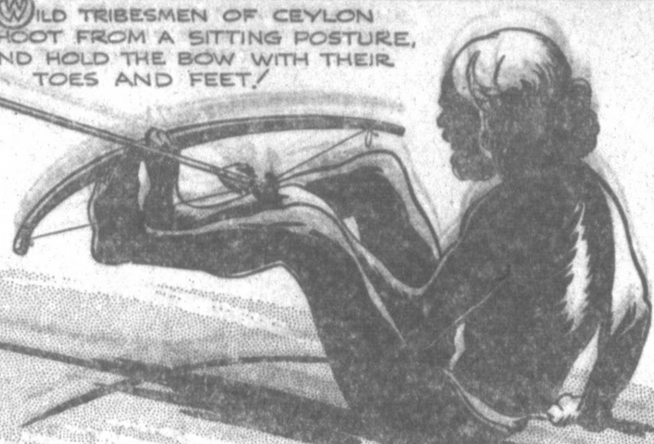

AUSTIN, June 4.—From the viewpoint of money and banking, the most significant developments of the past month have been the veto of the Patman bonus bill, the growing financial difficulties of the gold producing countries, and the progress of the banking act of 1935 through the congress. Dr. J. C. Dolley, associate professor of banking and investments at the University of Texas, said in an analysis of the financial situation for the Texas Business Review published by the University Bureau of Business Research. "The Patman bonus bill, providing for payment of the latest soldiers' bonus with some $2,200,000,000 of fiat currency, passed both houses of congress by overwhelming majorities," Dr. Dolley continued. "On May 22, the president vetoed this bill, delivering the veto message in person before a joint session of the congress. Two points in this message appear to be of especial significance. First, Mr. Roosevelt condemned the proposed method of payment, pointing out the grave dangers incident to large issues of fiat currency, and second, he minimized the probable effect of the payment as a business stimulant, thereby implying some loss of faith in his 'pump priming' theory of inducing business recovery by abnormal expenditures. The subsequent senate action in sustaining the veto by a margin of eight votes renders unlikely any early payment of the bonus in fiat currency.

"Although the Patman bonus bill temporarily is dead, it is interesting to speculate as to its probable effect had the presidential veto been over-riden. The actual effect of the payment on business activity and commodity prices would have depended in large measure upon the psychological reaction of the public to this large issue of fiat currency. Assuming that general confidence in the soundness of the dollar would not have been affected, it seems likely that the payment would have stimulated retail purchasing for time, perhaps six months, causing commodity prices to rise slightly during that period. Eventually, the new money, being redundant, would have drifted into commercial banks and displaced a proportionate quantity of other money now in circulation. The displaced currency would be forwarded to the Federal Reserve banks for safe keeping and the net effect would be to add some two billion dollars to the already enormous excess reserves balances of the member banks, which balances would be used whenever rising business activity made possible their lending.

"But it is entirely possible that this huge issue of uncollateralized currency with the prospect of similar issues, would have impaired seriously public confidence in the dollar and induced general fear of runaway currency inflation. In such event, there would have resulted a wholesale effort to convert money, bank deposits, insurance policies, bonds, and other credit instruments into goods, real estate, common stocks, and foreign exchange. Bond prices would have collapsed, and commodity and stock prices soared, while foreign exchange rates would have tended to move far above the gold export points involving heavy loss of gold. Although it seems unlikely that the above panicky situation would have resulted, it is well to remember that the margin between confidence and loss of confidence can never be marked out clearly and that it will always be impossible to gauge accurately the psychological reaction of the public to currency manipulation. One more fiat currency issue might not impair confidence and again it might precipitate a panic.

"Of major importance to the United States and the world at large is the threatening monetary

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

ANCIENT mariners had no way to keep food from spoiling, and scurvy took a huge toll, due to the absence of fresh food in the diet. But Green Turtles helped solve the problem. A number of these huge, 500-pound reptiles were taken aboard at the beginning of long voyages.

HOUSTON WILL BE HOST TO BAR ASSOCIATION OF TEXAS

HOUSTON, June 4 (AP)—Plans for the annual convention of the Texas Bar association and related organizations here the first week in July are well advanced.

A large proportion of the state's appellate and district judges and prosecuting attorneys and many lawyers are expected to attend. Most of the courts likely will stand adjourned through the week so the judges and district and county attorneys may come to Houston.

The bar association convention has been set for July 4-6. The junior bar will hold its sessions July 2 and 3.

Meetings of two other related organizations have been scheduled for July 2. They are the District and County Attorneys association and the judicial section of the bar association, comprising the state's judges.

District Judge P. A. Martin of Wichita Falls is chairman of the judicial section. Speakers at its meeting will include Judges W. E. Gee of Amarillo and Nolan G. Williams of Dallas, who will discuss "The Trial Court in the English and Canadian Systems of Jurisprudence." Judges R. T. Brown of Henderson and E. J. Miller of Brownwood, who will outline "The Trial Court in the Judicial System of the Federal Courts of the United States;" and Judges J. P. Pool of Victoria and W. W. McCrory of San Antonio, whose subject will be "The Trial Court in the Texas System of Jurisprudence."

Divergent views on the question of "Rules and Codes of Civil and Criminal Procedure—Who Should Make Them?" will be presented by Judges George W. Westervelt of Corpus Christi, Allen D. Montgomery of Wichita Falls, Royal R. Watkins of Dallas, and Langston G. King of Houston.

The bar association will give a luncheon July 4 in honor of the judges. C. M. Cureton, chief justice of the Texas supreme court, will preside. John H. Bickett of the San Antonio court of civil appeals will speak on behalf of the appellate judges and Judge Frank P. Culver of Fort Worth will represent the district judges.

District and county attorneys will be honored with a luncheon July 5. Fred Blundell of Lockhart, president of their organization, will preside.

H. C. Pipkin of Amarillo is president of the bar association. W. T. Armstrong of Galveston is vice president, and George C. Gaines Jr. of Houston, secretary.

Calvin B. Garwood, head of the Harris County Bar association, will deliver the address of welcome and Ben Powell of Austin will respond.

LONDON (AP)—They are marrying younger in England these days, it is revealed in the latest return of the registrar-general. In fact, if an Englishman, is not married by the time he is 30, the odds are 5-to-1 against his ever taking the step.

A third of the 109,000 men married within the past quarter were under 25 and 60 per cent of the brides were under 24. The largest group of bridegrooms gave ages ranging from 25 to 30.

FOUR DANCES IN 2 DAYS TO ADD TO PRE-CENTENNIAL GAIETY

STREET DANCE WILL BE HELD THURSDAY EVE

SQUARE DANCES TO BE ON BOTH NIGHTS AT GYM

The Pre-Centennial, Pioneers Roundup and Panhandle Oil show will be enlivened by four dances.

Two of these, both square dances, will be held at the gym primarily for the pleasure of the old timers who proved last year that they can "trip the light fantastic" until early morning hours.

Another dance will be the masquerade dance, sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club, on the first evening after the pageant. Cuyler street will be roped off for the occasion. Prizes will be given for the best costumes. The B. & P. W. club has planned for a gay, carnival evening, the carnival spirit reigning.

On the second evening the Pre-Centennial ball will be in progress at the Pla-Mor auditorium. Bob Knox, chairman of the dance committee, has announced that Johnny Floyd and his 11-piece orchestra of El Paso have been retained to furnish the music. Price of admission will be $1.65 per couple and $1.65 per stag.

The climax of the ball will be when the queen of the Pre-Centennial will be crowned.

Kleberg Says Ginners Are Not Treated Fairly

WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—Representative Kleberg (D., Texas) voiced vigorous approval today of a proposed senate amendment to the agriculture adjustment act increasing the allowance a cotton ginner receives for assisting in administration of the Bankhead cotton act.

Remarking that "the ginner hasn't been treated fairly," he endorsed the complaint of ginners that they lost money since the act became effective and could not pass the administrative costs on to the cotton grower. He declined comment, however, on the complaint of D. C. Wallace, a Grayson county, Texas, ginner, that he had paid out $770 personally to collect $62.90 in processing taxes.

Kleberg pointed out that the ginner had been ordered by law to become the government's collector and suggested he be paid 50 cents a bale for his services to "three masters."

The house agriculture committee has declined to agree on more than 25 cents. Kleberg has figures purporting to show the administrative per-bale cost to the ginner is 50.8 cents in Texas and about 48 cents on the average over the South.

"The ginner serves three masters," Kleberg said. "He is the paid servant of the cotton farmer for whom he performs the service of separating the lint from the seed; he is the unpaid servant under bond of the treasury department as a collector, and serves the department of agriculture through the part he plays in administering the Bankhead act."

"The administration is favorably inclined to an amendment which ought to be made—in the senate providing for a fixed per-bale remuneration."

Tent City Houses Pioneers Building Alaska Homes

Housing the 500 midwest families colonizing the Matanuska valley in Alaska, this tent city teems with activity as the pioneers, aided by details of transient workers, build their homes, clear the timber, and prepare the land for their first crop next year. Soaring back of the picturesque town of canvas are the snowcaps of the Chugach mountain range, a vivid contrast to the fertile valley where the sun now shines until nearly midnight.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History

For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

AUSTIN, June 4.—"Good order, good conduct and gentlemanly deportment" were expected at all times from Texas soldiers in the Confederate army, it is evident from the official orders of army officials found in the collection of James Barry Buckner papers in the University of Texas archives. Buckner, a colorful soldier, patriot, statesman in the early Republic days and the later days of statehood, on March 26, 1861, was appointed a captain to raise a Texas company for the service of the Confederate States. In this capacity, as well as in the numerous posts he held in the service of Texas, Buckner carefully preserved the official documents and other papers that came into his hands, so that his family archives in the university library present one of the most complete and detailed pictures extant of the Civil War period in Texas.

One of these early communications was a regimental order addressed to Captain Buckner by Col. H. E. McCulloch of the Volunteer Army of Texas, instructing him as to the personnel of his company:

"You are hereby authorized to proceed at once to enroll a company of Mounted Volunteers to consist of one captain, one first lieutenant, two second lieutenants, four sergeants, four corporals, two buglers, one blacksmith, and four forty-four to sixty four privates. The men will elect the commissioned officers, and the captains to appoint the non-commissioned officers, Burglar, farriers, and blacksmith. The men must be over 18 and under 45 years of age, sound and healthy and as far as possible good riders and good marksmen and of good moral character and steady sober habits and in no instance will you enroll a professional gambler or habitual drunkard, as such men are unworthy of and unfit for place in our service. The horses must be of good size, not less than 5 nor more than 10 years old, and in good condition; saddles must be on the Texas style, good and strongly rigged with good blanket and a good strong, single reined Curt bridle. Each man will provide himself with a Colt's six shooting pistol if possible, and, when it can be conveniently done, have a good double barreled shot gun or short rifle with him also. Each man should enter the service with a tin canteen, covered with cloth, a gallon of water, each man a good heavy blanket. The officers and men will be entitled to the same pay and allowances allowed Volunteers in the Army of the Confederate States and subject to the same rules and regulations at such places as you desire and organize the company in time to report at Camp Cooper on the 4th day of May next. Where your Company will be mustered into the service for twelve months unless sooner discharged. The Lt. Colonel and Major will be elected by the regiment after they are received into service. The utmost good order and good conduct is expected of your company in passing through the country, and no unnecessary interference with the persons or property of the citizens of the country or others will be justified or excused by me under any circumstances. The pay and subsistence of your men will commence on the day of your company rendezvous and your rations and forage commuted 'I presume' from that time until you are supplied by the government. I confidently expect you to bring into the service a company of which Texas will be proud, and that will nobly sustain her reputation in the service of the Confederate States."

Card playing on the part of the Texas volunteers was prohibited in Regimental orders No. 12, issued by Colonel McCulloch on July 13, 1861:

"No order having been issued heretofore prohibiting card playing for amusement and advantage being taken by some persons in the regiment to convert the privilege into the means of gambling, it is necessary to put a stop to the practice and it is hereby ordered that no card playing for amusement or otherwise be permitted at any post station or camp, or in any company, squad, or detachment in the regiment by officers non-commissioned officers or men.

"Should any of the troops so far forget themselves their homes and country as to commit any depredations on the stock fields, fruits, gardens, etc., of any of the citizens of the country, the offenders must be punished by their commanding officers at once in the most rigid manner which their offences merit, and any officer failing to carry out this order strictly and reasonably will be held accountable for neglect of duty under it and treated accordingly."

These regulations not having proved sufficiently stringent to keep the Texans in the straight and narrow path, the colonel found it necessary to issue the still stronger Regimental Order No. 20, on December 5, 1861:

"No horse racing, cardplaying, or gambling of any character will be permitted in the regiment by officer non-commissioned officers or men.

"No sutler, or other person who has permission to sell goods or other supplies to the troops will be permitted to sell cards or liquor, to either officers, non-commissioned officers or soldiers, except for medical purposes on the certificate of a surgeon or physician of the regiment."

Slaying Case Is Ended in Mistrial

LLANO, June 4. (AP)—The trial of L. E. Trimble, charged with slaying Menard County Commissioner W. R. Tomlinson, ended in a mistrial.

The jury reported late yesterday that it was unable to reach a verdict and it was discharged and the case set for another trial in the November term.

Tomlinson was slain near Menard during an argument over a pasture lease. The case was brought here on a venue change.

EACH PRE-CENTENNIAL FLOAT TO TELL TEXAS HISTORY STORY

DOZEN FLOATS ARE BUILT BY OIL COMPANIES

INDIANS, COWBOYS AND CHARACTERS TO BE IN PARADE

Texas history, the old west and the oil industry will be featured in the Pre-Centennial and Panhandle Oil show parade to be held at 1:30 o'clock on the afternoons of June 6 and 7.

Material for the floats has already been made and the floats are being rapidly assembled. The parade will be about twice as large as last year's.

The parade will consist of ten historical floats, a dozen floats entered by major oil companies operating in the Panhandle, antiquated methods of transportation, and many horseback riders wearing cowboy, cowgirl and historical costumes. The parade will start on South Cuyler street, just below the last traffic signal light. It will move up North Cuyler to Browning, thence over to Frost, along Kingsmill to Somerville and then up Foster avenue.

After the parade, if the weather is favorable, the historical floats will be placed on exhibition at the high school gym. The theme of the Pre-Centennial floats will be "Famous Stories of Texas History." A large mural painting, in brilliant colors, and other decorations on each float will tell the story. The floats are built on wagons and will be drawn by horses. A large banner bearing the title of the story will be carried by a page boy at the head of each float.

The stories which will be portrayed in the parade are as follows: Sam Houston among the Indians—The scene will show Sam Houston at the age of 14 among the Indians in Tennessee, the Cherokees who were his life-long friends. The youthful Sam was put to work in a store near where his family lived on the Tennessee frontier. He ran away from home and went to live among the Indians. He became a favorite with the chief and was made a member of the tribe and was dubbed the Raven. The scene on the float shows the time when his older brothers "discovered" his whereabouts and came riding horseback and heavily armed, for him, Sam Houston holding his beloved copy of the Bible then made this famous reply to his brothers' request to return home. "I had rather measure deer-tracks than tape."

Origin of the Name "Texas"—The scene shows the first meeting between white men, the Spanish conquistadores, and the Tejas Indians in Texas. The literal meaning of "Tejas," from which Texas derived its name, is "friends," and the first meeting between the Spanish and the Indians was friendly. It was not until after the Spanish began to mistreat the Tejas that the Indians became war-like.

The Re-Capture of Cynthia Ann Parker—The scene shows Col. Sul Ross and his Rangers on the Pease river near the edge of the Panhandle. The Texas Rangers just dispersed the Comanches after a bloody battle. One of the captives was a white woman, Col. Ross' companion-remarked that the woman might be Cynthia Ann Parker who was captured by the Indians after a bloody massacre in 1836. Cynthia beat her breast with her clinched fists and said, "Me Cynthia Ann!" With her was captured her small daughter. Her husband, Pete Nocomo was slain. Quannah Parker, her son, who afterward became a famous Comanche chief, escaped.

The Goliad Massacre—The detail of the massacre that is shown on the float is that wherein Fannin, commander at Goliad, was killed by a Mexican firing squad. Fannin asked the Mexican general Urrea that he might be shot in the breast and that his watch might be sent to his mother. He was shot in the head; the Mexican general kept his watch, and his body was burned. The scene shows the over-turned chair that Fannin sat in while he was shot—he was too weak to stand, having been injured in battle the previous day.

The Drawing of the Black Beans—This scene will show the fate of the men who marched to Santa Fe in the tragic Meir expedition. They were marched overland to Mexico City from Santa Fe, mistreated, starved, beaten, and then thrown into dungeons. The Mexicans then decided that they would place black and white beans, in equal numbers, in a jar, and have the men draw them. All who drew black beans were shot.

James Bowie at the Alamo—The scene shows Bowie, suffering from pneumonia, on a cot within the walls of the Alamo just before the Mexican horde under Santa Anna stormed the walls. Travis knew that every man would die if he remained. He drew a line across the floor with his sword and told all who preferred "victory or death" to march across the line. All Texans came across. Bowie had them move his cot across the line. The only one who stayed was a Frenchman who immediately escaped.

Deaf Smith at Vince's Bridge—The scene shows the famous scout Deaf Smith destroying Vince's Bridge just before the battle of San Jacinto to cut off the escape of the Mexicans.

The first float in the parade will be called the Pioneer float, and in it will ride the man and woman who have lived in the Panhandle the longest and who register at the Pioneer Roundup before noon the first day.

Parade Scene in Frontier Day Parade Three Years Ago

"On to California" was the slogan painted on the side of covered wagons which formed part of the Frontier Days parade here three years ago when the pioneer reunion idea was launched. The picture above is a part of the big parade of that first celebration. (NEWS Staff Photo & Engraving.)

The Oil show parade will include miniature carbon black plants, refineries, derricks, boilers, an old-time oil camp and a modern oil camp.

One of the chief attractions of the oil show will be a derrick over a "pumping" well that will be constructed across the street from the new post office. The derrick, built by the Tulsa Rig & Reel company, will be the center of the oil activities. The Oil show contests will be held at the derrick. Scores of local citizens will ride horses in the parade.

The Indians who will appear in the pageant will ride horses and appear on the floats.

The second float in the parade will honor Stephen F. Austin, the founder and "father" of Texas. Austin's achievements will be especially honored in both parade and pageant.

Carl Benefiel, manager of the local motion picture theaters, is chairman of the float committee, and personally supervised construction of the floats. Other members of his committee were H. C. Berry and Bob Watson. Mr. Benefiel had had much experience in building floats before he came to Pampa.

Tyler, Texas, claims the widest one-way thoroughfare in the state for its 80-foot streets bordering the court house square.

Work on Garner Park Begun—To Have 500 Acres

UVALDE, June 4. (P)—Construction work has started at the Garner State park in the main Prio canyon, 25 miles north of this city which is the home of John Nance Garner, vice president of the United States.

Cantonments are being built to house 200 members of a Civilian Conservation Corps which will be moved to the park site.

Garner State park will be the first established in this section of Texas. It embraces about 500 acres.

Forty eight buildings, including a hospital, mess hall, recreational hall and cantonments will be erected. A. A. Ririe of San Antonio, superintendent of the work, announced.

"Since the park is named in the honor of the vice-president, every effort will be made to make it a model project," County Judge M. B.

Walcott said.

Permanent buildings of native stone will include a keeper's lodge of five rooms, a carpenter's shop, blacksmith shop and stables. The concession building, 32 by 100 feet, will include living quarters for the operator, a kitchen and a large dining room.

An arched gateway will be constructed at the park entrance on highway 4 bears the name "Garner State Park."

Four miles of scenic road will be built and plans also call for one or more low water concrete dams across the main Prio river to provide swimming pools. Bridle paths, overnight cabins, barbecue pits and concrete tables and benches also are planned.

Two large caves on the site will be improved also, Judge Walcott said.

Although venomous snakes are abundant in the Great Smoky mountains national park, none of the 400 workmen employed there by the national park service has been bitten.

Poultry Shipping In State Lower

AUSTIN, June 4.—Poultry and egg movements from Texas to interstate points by rail during April were sharply below those of a year ago, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Forwardings of poultry and eggs combined totaled 113 cars of which 72 cars were poultry and 41 cars eggs. During April last year there was a total of 162 cars made up of 80 cars of poultry and 82 cars of eggs. The decline in rail shipments is in part due to increased shipments by water to Atlantic and Gulf ports. It is also probable that truck shipments have made further inroads into this traffic especially to New Orleans. Receipts of eggs from outside the state were only 20 cars, all of which came from Kansas. Last year 67 cars were shipped in, 63 from Kansas, 3 from Illinois, and 1 from Wisconsin.

Streamline TIRE

..anticipated TODAY'S SMARTER, FASTER CARS

TWENTY-FIVE makes of cars have gone Streamline in design. But there's only one Streamline Tire — the General Streamline Jumbo.

General saw the trend to Streamlining two years ago when it introduced the Streamline Jumbo tire. Radically different from old style "doughnut" type balloons, the Streamline Jumbo is the only tire that matches the advanced style and dashing performance of 1934 motor cars.

Note how the Streamline Jumbo tapers from a wide rim to a standard width tread. This exclusive design prevents power loss—permits ultra low-pressure—brings air-flight riding comfort—banishes blowout and skidding fears. And it's the last word in smart style.

FREE TRIAL OFFER
Let us tell you how you can have your new car delivered on these softer, safer, smarter tires—and how easily older models can be brought up-to-date with Streamline Jumbos.

Accidents Don't Happen

Preliminary reports of motor-vehicle deaths for the first three months of this year show a decrease of 2 per cent from 1934 figures. The principal improvement however, came in the mid-winter month of January; February had practically the same number of motor deaths as February 1934, and March showed an 11 per cent increase.

Yet practically all these fatal accidents were preventable, according to Paul de Kruij, well-known author of "Microbe Hunters" and other books, telling the stories of the fight science is constantly making against disease and death.

"Accidents don't happen," says de Kruij in his crusade to cut down the motor death rate from the appalling figure of 35,500 reached in 1934; accidents are caused, the causes are known, and what is caused can be prevented.

"The trouble is," de Kruij writes, "we've not yet learned to use the motor car that can turn our continent into a neighborhood, that's by all odds the most wonderful time-conquering tool science has given us.

"The automobile itself is not to be blamed for this new danger. Along with its speed, engineers have given us greater powers to control it. Let's accept it that these swift motors can turn all of us into a new, strong, nomad humanity. When we've taken the death out of motor traffic, when we've learned to live safely with high-speed danger as it's now in our power to do, we've done much more than free ourselves from our present danger; we'll be more than safe from accident. We'll be safe for new adventure. To build a new America. To really begin to live in air and sunshine that will save countless more lives than all accidents have taken."

In this national effort to save lives that is now beginning, Mr. de Kruij says that again "a little child shall lead them." Since 1927, the number of grown-ups killed in automobile accidents has increased 29 per cent. But in the same time, the number of fatal accidents involving pre-school children has decreased 21.4 per cent and the number in which school children have been killed has decreased 34.8 per cent. Mr. de Kruij, therefore expresses the scientific belief that the reflex of safety should be fixed in youngsters, so that they will be more careful drivers and pedestrians as they grow up.

So far as the individual is concerned, Mr. de Kruij urges every man or woman who drives a car to do his or her part toward reducing accidents and saving lives by aiming to become a super driver. A super driver is one who avoids and prevents accidents by adhering to the following code:

"I will know the driving customs or rules of the road in whatever region I may be driving.

"I will give understandable signals of what I'm going to do.

"When I'm to turn at an intersection I will slow down and then, if about to turn left, I'll place my car toward the center of the road or if about to turn right, I will place it at the curb.

"I will signal my direction correctly with my hand. Even though there is no uniformity in hand signals called for in the various states, I will at least extend my arm out the window to indicate that I am about to do something different.

"I will know my car and keep it in safe condition that it will pass any motor-vehicle inspection.

"I will, mentally, 'drive ahead' so that I will always have time to make whatever decision is necessary.

"I will always suit my speed to conditions—the traffic; to how far I can see ahead; to the state of the road; to the time of the day; to the number of hours that I've been driving.

"I will choose the safest routes and times for travel. "I will train myself never to have to think what to do in emergency.

"I will never crowd slow-moving vehicles or join processions. I will always stay far enough behind so that, when the way's clear, I'll have speed enough to pass any vehicle in the minimum time.

"I will never pass a car near the crest of a hill or on a curve.

"I will be courteous.

"And, finally, I will remember that it takes two to cause any accident in which I'm involved. And that the blame is always partly mine."

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, May 29. (AP)—A blithely warning that Texans must cease making demands that increase governmental costs or be prepared to pay a huge tax bill was issued by Rep. Homer Leonard of McAllen in a resume of major appropriation bills passed by the 44th legislature. Leonard was chairman of the house appropriations committee.

The increase in appropriations for the next biennium was attributed by Leonard to the cost of new departments and to expansion of activities of established branches.

"During the past few years citizens have come to demand more and more of their government," Leonard stated. "There seems to have arisen in the minds of the people a theory that the government should be a patron to its citizens."

"As improper as this theory is, and notwithstanding that pursuing this policy can lead only to a top-heavy, unwieldy and expensive government, the fact remains that the demands of the people for these new and increased services far outweigh the efforts of those who seek to keep governmental expenditures within reasonable limitations. Unless there is a change in the attitude of those who demand so much of their government we cannot hope for long to keep within the ability of the people to pay the taxes that will be necessary to support new and expanded governmental agencies that will result."

Leonard believes the legislature accomplished in a creditable manner the task of keeping appropriations down although they were several million dollars in excess of the current budget.

The chief increase was in the eleemosynary budget. It resulted from sharp rises in cost of food and necessary supplies and new buildings to care for the hundreds of patients now sleeping on floors in the badly crowded institutions or confined in jails awaiting admission. The eleemosynary budget was raised 29.15 per cent, or $2,453,544. It was, however, one and one-half per cent less than the appropriation for 1929-31 and only 81 more than the 1931-33 biennium.

Much of the rise in the departmental appropriation is due to salary increases, although only modest raises were allowed. Five per cent was added to salaries of less than $1,800 annually but since most

Due to the number of parks established with OCC labor the 44th was forced to raise this $59,240. The new state planning board required an appropriation of $70,000 while the new department of public safety required an additional $65,000. Other items that added thousands of dollars to the budget was the personnel increase allowed the comptroller to enforce the cigarette tax law and the addition of bond experts to aid the state board of education in investing permanent school funds.

75 WHITES, 25 INDIANS, ALL COSTUMED, TO BE IN PAGEANT

STAGE SETTING AT GRID PARK IS ELABORATE

BILLY THE KID AT OLD TASCOSA WILL BE ONE SCENE

Approximately 75 persons, wearing authentic and colorful historical costumes will participate in the Pre-Centennial pageant to be held on the evening of June 7 at Harvester football park. Admission to the pageant will be 40 cents.

An elaborate stage setting has been designed for the dramatic production this year. Rocks, trees and hills will form the background. The stage will be located at the north end of the gridiron.

In addition to the regular cast, there will be a score of Indians, about as many horses, a wagon train. Some of the wagons will be drawn by horses and at least one will be drawn by oxen. Dick Cann of Higgins will bring his oxen to the celebration and they will appear in both the parade and pageant.

The first six scenes of the pageant will deal with events that transpired in 1835. These episodes are as follows:

The imprisonment of Stephen F. Austin in Mexico City, taking up the story of Texas history where it was left off last year in the 1934 pageant.

The arrival of Austin in Texas after his release from prison.

The first shot of the Texas revolution of Gonzales.

The boy soldiers of Texas. Texans today somehow think of Texas patriots of 1835 and 1836 as elderly men. The soldiers who fought at Goliad, in the Alamo and at San Jacinto were youthful. Travis, Bowie, Fannin were in their twenties.

The origin of the Lone Star flag. Old Ben Milam. This story was one of the late T. D. Hobart's favorites, and the scene was dedicated to him when it was written two months ago.

The seventh scene in the pageant will relate an incident of Billy the Kid at Tascosa that is based on an actual occurrence. The action will take place in Rowdy Kate's saloon in Tascosa in 1878. The Kid made many cattle raids on Ben Canadian in the 70s. He then drove the herds he rounded up into New Mexico. The incident related in the pageant happened during one of his trips to Tascosa where he was a frequent visitor and a favorite with many of the residents.

The crowning act in the pageant will be an Indian attack on a wagon train in which the real Indians will participate. . . will require about 30 minutes for production. Approximately 2,000 rounds of ammunition, and blank shell, will be fired in the five battles in the first six scenes and in the Indian attack.

General director of the pageant is Dick Hughes. His assistants are Miss Beth Blythe, Jack Kretzinger, Harry Kelley and Reg Farless. Miss Blythe is director of the two Austin scenes. Mr. Kretzinger, J. C. Milam episode, Mr. Kelley, the first shot of the revolution and the boy soldiers, and Mr. Hughes, the Lone star flag scene and the Indian attack. Ben Gull, head of the dramatic department of Pampa high school, will be the "reader," that is he will explain the action in the pageant, and tell the stories of the various scenes over a loud speak system. Tests have revealed that Mr. Gull's voice can be heard distinctly three blocks away. The audience will sit in both grandstands which will accommodate approximately 6,000 spectators.

Clarence Kennedy has charge of scenery and stage construction and properties.

There will be music in the pageant. George Wilson, an Indian, will sing two Indian songs during the Indian attack. A quartet will sing special music. Music will be played by the band at intervals during the pageant. An old-time dance will enliven the action in the Billy the Kid scene.

The cast includes the following persons:

Bill Barnett, Bus Benton, Crawford C. Caussey, Earl Rice, R. Kirk, Lee Owens, K. W. Irwin, Scott Green, W. J. Foster, E. A. Records, Wayne Hutchens, Dorothy Harris, Bill Harwell, W. R. Clayton, Mr. Harris, Betty Blythe, L. J. Coombe, Boyd Owens, Cal Pierce, Virgil Simmons, Melvin Harsh, Cleve Drake, Wallace Barrett, Conrad Graham, Judge Smith, Elmer Whipple, L. A. Speck, K. Y. Miller, C. W. Smith, Eldridge Keith, Harold

Simms, George Maguire. Mrs. Floyd Coffin, Oliver Calhoun, L. N. McNally, Glen Eldridge, Edgar Myatt, Joe Peacock, Wayne Winkler, Haskell Maguire, J. C. Wilson, Bill Karn, E. O. Barrett, Miss Opal Egan, Bill Smith, Bob Drake, Onan Barnard, Dick Benton, Leo Fletcher, Buck Haggard, Mrs. Dyson, Roy Dyson, Barnes Samuel, Miss Willie Blackman, Mrs. M. R. Williams, Addie Earwell, Ruth Ebert, Chas. Welton, Paul Schneider, Ella Faye O'Keefe, Alvin Rothschild, George Porter, Red Fanning, Mrs. Paul Jensen, Mrs. Cone, Miss Helmick, James Salzman, Fred Cullum and his square dancers, Carl Smith, Dick Benton, J. T. Morrow, and others.

Scott Green and J. C. (Jack) Wilson will be in charge of ammunition.

Tech Conference To Open June 28

LUBBOCK, June 4. (AP)—The second annual curriculum conference at Texas Technological college will be June 28-29, according to A. W. Evans, head professor of education, who is in charge of arrangements.

Speakers scheduled include Dr. Henry Harap of Western Reserve University, Cleveland; Dr. F. C. Ayler, University of Texas; Dr. W. A. Stelger, director of state curriculum revision; State Superintendent L. A. Woods of Austin; C. N. Shaver, president of the Texas State Teachers' association, and B. B. Cobb, an executive of the association.

Million Bushels Of Corn Will Be Gathered By Man

McALLEN, June 4. (AP)—One million bushels of corn will be gathered by a single individual this year in the lower Rio Grande valley, present crop prospects indicate. Banks Miller of McAllen with 2,800 acres in corn in one area and hundreds of acres from Brownsville to Mission under contract, expects to harvest at least 1,000,000 bushels. He is building drying and processing plants and storage facilities at convenient points.

STRIDES MADE BY UNIVERSITY ARE OBSERVED

ONE PER CENT OF ALL TEXANS ATTENDED AUSTIN SCHOOL

AUSTIN, June 4.—With more than 65,000 individual ex-students and some 21,000 holders of degrees, The University of Texas former students constitute approximately one per cent of the population of the entire state. In addressing the graduating class at the fifty-second annual June commencement at the University, President H. Y. Benedict this morning called attention to these and other significant facts about the institution, its work, its cost, and its achievements.

In commenting upon the university's rank in the top ten of state universities of the United States, of its membership in the Association of American Universities, probably the highest honor that could come to an institution of learning on the North American continent, President Benedict proceeded to analyze the investment which the state has in the university and its students and ex-students, and to mention the fact that the school is costing less than any other member of the Association of American Universities and that the cost per student is approximately the average of the state supported institutions in Texas, a number of the other state institutions costing more per student than the university.

Giving a statistical review of the university in the 52 years of its operation, the president stated that of the 21,000 degrees which the institution has conferred since it opened in 1883, approximately 9,000 have been in the arts and sciences, 1,700 in business administration, 1,600 in engineering, 3,000 in law, 1,750 in medicine, 650 in pharmacy, 600 in nursing, and nearly 3,000 graduate degrees.

The enrollment has grown from 200 the first year to approximately 7,650 now.

Reporting on the extent of the educational plant of the university, the president said that the land owned by the institution includes 200 acres on the main campus in Austin, 500 acres more in the Brackneridge tract on Lake Austin near Austin, four blocks at Galveston, and 400 acres in the vicinity of Fort Davis, the site of the McDonald Observatory.

In 1935, the inventory of buildings and other improvements amounts to approximately $13,000,000 at Austin, $1,750,000 at Galveston, and $200,000 on Mount Locke in West Texas. The equipment amounts to $2,300,000 at Austin, $450,000 at Galveston and $300,000 at the McDonald site on Mount Locke. The president said. Books are inventoried at $2,000,000. He also gave a review of the endowment funds of the institution, both state and non-state, listing "public confidence" as the outstanding asset of the school.

In figuring the cost of conferring a degree, the president estimated that from 1883-1917 the average was $1,400 while from 1883-1935 it is $1,500. Assuming that half the cost is borne by degree taker, it is estimated that each degree awarded has cost the state only $750. He pointed out that the combined cost of the university to the degree takers, and their parents, and to the state is about equal to that of one battleship during its life; or to the United States government expenditures in three or four days, and represented approximately one per cent of the wealth of Texas.

He urged the graduates to remember that the funds for the operation of the institution came from all and hence should benefit all and asked them to consider the value of the state's investment in them. "Did the state 'win, lose, or draw' on this class?" he asked.

He pointed out that the continuing existence of the university and the increase in popular support provide encouraging proof of service and he admonished the 1935 graduates to make their contributions to the welfare of the state in order that this prestige might be maintained and increased.

HUNDREDS COOPERATE TO PRODUCE BIG PAMPA CELEBRATION

CITIZENS GIVE FINANCIAL AID TO ENTERPRISE

FARMERS, MERCHANTS RALLY TO SUPPORT PRE-CENTENNIAL

Literally hundreds of Pampa citizens have made the Pre-Centennial celebration, Pioneers Roundup and Panhandle Oil Show possible this year. Scores of men and women have devoted the major part of their time to producing a successful celebration for the last two weeks.

Probably the best example of the cooperation of Pampans occurred two weeks ago when the need for operating funds grew pressing. The Pre-Centennial committees at that time had less than $25 in the bank, and they had contracted to spend hundreds. They had allocated $500 to build ten floats, almost as much more to the pageant production, about one-third as much for advertising, and several hundred dollars for other expenses.

It was necessary to raise money immediately. If the celebration should be a financial failure, meanwhile, the town had become "sold" on the celebration. The entrance of the oil industry into the celebration further convinced business men that the Pre-Centennial had become a huge enterprise. The committees frankly declared that it was "too big for them." They realized they had a big thing on their hands and they appealed to the business men to help.

The response was instant. At a mass meeting in the courthouse, at which Frank Cuberson presided, more than $1,000 worth of tickets were sold to business men and merchants who took them in blocks ranging from 10 to 100. In the succeeding days, several hundred dollars worth of tickets were sold to other business men who did not attend the meeting.

Thereafter, the business men became active in working for the success of the celebration. "When we called upon them, they responded nobly and generously—in the way that Pampans always rally to the support of civic enterprises," said H. L. Polley, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. "You can always depend on Pampans to come through in a pinch."

Farmers and business men help provide wagons, horses, the pageant unit and everything that was needed. Never before has a community cooperated so closely in a civic venture. The clubs have lent their support. The Business and Professional Women are sponsors of the street dance. Women who have been residents of Pampa for a long time volunteered immediately when asked to perform a task.

The Pre-Centennial committees are made up of members of most of the organizations in town. Some who belong to no club are members of the committees. For instance, J. S. Wynne, pioneer citizen, is chairman of the horse and wagon committee. C. T. Hunkapillar is chairman of the band committee. Tickets were sold by practically every organization in town.

The chairman of the various committees are as follows: Archer Pulling, general chairman; Dick Hughes, pageant; Carl Benefield, floats; Bill Gasaway, exhibits; Olin E. Hinkle, publicity; dances, Jack Dinn and Bob Knox; wrestling, Harry Hoare; Raymond Harrah, Pioneers Roundup; Charlie Duenkel, guns; T. B. Chesser, street decorations; Frank Hill, barbecue; hostesses, Mrs. Claude Ledrick; finance, Harold Miller, Jim Collins, John Keller, George Briggs, Frank Culbertson; Panhandle drama, Ben Gull; street dances, B. & P. W. club. Mrs. E. A. Shackleton, slaw; Mrs. Dick Walker, cakes.

Oil Show chairmen are as follows:

Mel Davis, general chairman; floats, A. G. (Pete) Post; contests, Bill Lang and Max Mahaffey; derick, H. L. Polley.

The Oil show idea was first suggested by Mr. Post at a meeting of Pre-Centennial committees and business men of the town at a banquet held in the Schneider hotel. The Oil show idea was adopted that night. In subsequent meetings, the oil industry's part in the celebration was worked by the oil men themselves.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

AUSTIN, May 20.—The lure of the Southwest called many men of vigor and daring in the days when the Republic of Texas flew its own flag. One of these was James Buckner Barry of North Carolina, a descendant of men who had fought for independence in both hemispheres. He himself served in three Texas armies and his deeds have become traditions in the history of the commonwealth.

Barry was methodical enough to keep his military papers and military post order book; his diary, covering several years prior to the Civil War; and his official and personal correspondence. When he died, December, 1906, at his home in Walnut Springs, he left all his papers to his son, Kossuth Barry. This son several years ago presented these papers to the archives of the University of Texas.

In the introductory to Barry's memoirs, entitled "Buck Barry," James K. Greer said of him: "As a Ranger with Hays he met the Mexican, as a sheriff he encountered outlaws, as a frontiersman he fought Indians, as a stock farmer he was the Nemesis of horse thieves, as a ranchman he experienced the annoyance of fence cutting, and as a Texan and southerner he saw four years of the most grueling, the most undesirable type of military service. On the other hand, he served as a faithful county civil engineer, legislator, and village postmaster. Nor did life in the great period of adventure before, during, and after the Civil War prevent his frequent attendance on the services of the circuit rider and the occasional camp meeting in his section of the state. No writer of western stories has created better fiction of adventure than this quiet, unassuming, early settler lived."

The letters and official documents Barry preserved, which are now deposited in the family archives division of the university library, touch all phases of his career. Among these papers are many which deal with Indian affairs Barry was in charge of Company C, at Camp Cooper, and the orders he received from his superiors with regard to treatment of the Indians indicate the necessity for remaining on friendly terms with the red men and at the same time protecting the whites from their depredations.

On June 18, 1861, Barry was instructed in special orders No. 40, issued by Col. H. E. McCulloch, as follows: "Company C commanded by Capt. James B. Barry will continue at Camp Cooper. Capt. Barry will command that post until further orders."

"This company will cover the country from its post to the Willow Springs on the road to the camp on Red river and will keep a detachment of 20 men under a lieutenant on a branch at or near the road two or three miles beyond the Brazos to be relieved by similar detachment every two weeks if practicable and will keep up weekly scouts in small parties from the post to that detachment by starting the scouts on each Friday morning, directing them to meet the detachment certainly on the next day; the detachment will send a scout on to the Willow Spring on Sunday so as to meet, and spend each Sunday night at that place with the scouts from the Red river command."

"This company will also send out such larger scouts above (from northwest to northeast) this post as its commander may think proper in order to keep the Indians out of its country and chastise any that may be found in it. It will also furnish escorts to all wagons or trains passing to and from the stations on Red river and Camp Colorado as far as the first camp or detachment on each side of them, directing the troops stationed at these points to send escorts on to the next camps so that every wagon or train passing with supplies for our troops may be properly guarded against Indians. This company will co-operate with the companies at Camp Colorado, Phantom Hill and Red river in pursuing Indians under a call from the commanding officer of any one of these posts, and when thrown with any other troops, the senior officer will command."

In a communication from Colonel McCulloch on September 12, Capt. Barry was ordered to keep his men within a restricted territory unless the trail of offending Indians led further, in which case they were to follow unhesitatingly.

"You will confine your scouting parties to the country this side of Red river, unless they follow the trails of Indians who have committed depredations upon our people, and then they will never stop as long as there is any hope of overtaking them no matter where the trail may lead.

"The Col. has been apprised of the fact that in one or two instances when information was given that Indians had passed out with stolen horses, the company commanders did not follow because they were preparing for a Scout, such excuses must not be set up, and every reported trail must be examined and followed as long as there is any hope of success. And every officer who fails to do so will be held responsible for violation of orders and neglect of duty."

Scouting instructions for commanders of all companies in the First Texas Regiment were issued in a general circular January 15, 1862, by Lieut. Col. T. C. Frost, from headquarters at Fort Mason: "The commanders of the troops at the different stations will cause the following expeditions to be made in accordance with the subjoined instructions.

"An expedition against the Indians will be made from Fort Belknap, with not less than fifty men and two commissioned officers, to the plains, at the head of Peaskimer. The command will leave Fort Belknap on, or about the second day of February next.

"An expedition against the Indians will be made from Camp Cooper commencing on the 15th day of Feb'y next to the Plains on the head of Big Wichita river, then by way of the head of Main or North Fork of Brazos river to Camp Cooper. The command will consist of not less than fifty men and two commissioned officers.

"A scout will also be made from Camp Colorado, to the Plains, at the head of the Double Mountain Fork of the Brazos, commencing on the 12th day of Feb'y next, with as great a number as the condition of the command will allow.

"The expedition from Fort Chadbourne will be of such numbers as the commanding officer may find consistent with the condition of the animals at his post; will leave the post on the 10th day of Feb'y and extend to the Plains at the head of the Colorado river.

"The scout from Ft. McKennett will extend northwest about the head waters of the streams flowing to the Concho, and as far as the Concho river. The commanding officer will direct the number of men, and will start the scout on the 5th day of Feb'y next.

"With this outline of the expedition desired to be made, I expect the respective commanders to regulate the time of making them, and to use, the best possible manner, their experience in, and information of, the country, as well as their judgment and discretion in fitting and directing the most efficient expedition.

"The points indicated will be reached by the different commanders but the routes to and from them will be designated by the respective commanders, who will report to headquarters of the regiment the result of the scout.

"The weather is so variable and uncertain in our climate as to be almost unendurable at times, and especially so in the section of country to which these expeditions are directed, and it may be well to remark that commanders of scouts will prevent, as far as possible, such exposure and suffering as would permanently injure the health or expose the lives of the troops.

"Commanding officers are required to keep the troops under their command as constantly employed scouting the country as to the condition of their horses will permit.

"I shall direct the general movement of troops until a field officer is assigned to immediate and active service with the troops of the line. It is my greatest desire that by the time of the departure of our regiment from the frontier, the settlements may be undisturbed by Indians, and a feeling of security established in every house, and I earnestly and confidentially ask the hearty and vigorous co-operation of all the troops of our regiment to that end. I expect it for the reputation of our service and the good of our common country. We may not hope for any other service than the protection of the frontier until our term shall have expired, and we may possibly then be detained if the country is destructively depredated upon by the Indians. Col. McCulloch has long hoped with some expectation that he might be able to give his regiment service more agreeable to them; that prospect has now vanished—and we have but the one service to perform, to prepare for, to hope for, and let us faithfully perform it.

"It is our solemn duty as men and soldiers to discharge truly and honestly the part assigned us, and that is naught else but the protection of the frontier. It can only be done by labor, endurance, patience and perseverance. By an earnest effort to fulfill this trust we show ourselves worthy of others."

In February, 1862, Barry was promoted to the office of major in the first regiment, and on February 22 Lieut. Col. Frost issued the following "special orders":

"Major James B. Barry is assigned to duty with the troops on the portion of the line of defense from Camp Cooper to Red river, and will proceed at once to take command of them and direct their movements under the special instructions heretofore issued, with such changes as he, in his judgment may find necessary and proper.

"He will make his headquarters at Camp Cooper or any other place that may be agreeable to him, on his portion of the line, and command the post, when present, at which he may be located, but he is entirely free to enter actively into the duties of field service at any time he may think proper, and command the troops in person.

"It is earnestly hoped, and confidentially expected that the troops on that portion of the line, as well as any other in the regiment with which he may be thrown, will yield strict obedience to his orders, and that his services with them will be pleasant and agreeable to all. I have the fullest confidence in his ability and fitness for the position he holds in the regiment."

Use of Cotton In State Drops

AUSTIN, June 4.—Only 2,786 bales of cotton were used in sixteen Texas textile mills during April, a decline of 25.6 per cent and 63 per cent respectively from the previous month and April last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Production of cloth, totalling 3,511,000 yards, was down 24.3 per cent and 37.5 per cent from the two comparable periods. Sales, 2,689,000 yards, were 31.6 per cent below those of March but 2 per cent above those of April last year. Unfilled orders on April 30, amounting to 6,150,000 yards, were 8 per cent below those of March 31 and 27.5 per cent below those on the corresponding date last year.

FLOAT MURALS ARE WORK OF SOONER YOUTH

TOM SIMMS' PAINTINGS ARE PROFUSELY PRAISED

The artist who painted the murals for the Pre-Centennial floats is Tom Simms, a brother of Mrs. Herbert Alexander, science teacher in Pampa high school.

Mr. Simms who is 26 years old studied art at the University of Oklahoma. He was one of the highest-ranking art students in the College of Fine Arts. Last year, he was one of two students chosen to design a memorial gateway for the campus. Mr. Simms opened an art studio here last winter, but closed it shortly afterward.

He began painting the pictures almost a month ago, and it was necessary to complete one per day. He worked every day, with the exception of Sunday and part of each night. It was a large undertaking on account of the short time available in which to paint the pictures. However, the strength which he built up while starring on the Sooner track squad stood him in good stead.

He first read the stories in Texas history which the paintings depict and then drew sketches of the scene with pen and ink on cardboard that measured 11 by 14 inches. Photographs of these were made, and then placed on a projector at the LaVora theater and traced off on beaver board. Four of the murals were drawn directly on the board in free-hand fashion by Mr. Simms. Despite the fact that only show card colors were used in painting the pictures, the technique he used was the same that he employs in painting in oils. The murals resemble oil paintings. Local teachers of art and local painters have declared that Mr. Simms did a high-class job in painting the murals, and that the pictures should be worth $100 or more each.

ATHLETIC PROGRAM INCLUDES WRESTLING, BASEBALL GAMES

BEST NINES IN PANHANDLE TO TANGLE HERE

TEX WATKINS HATED SO MUCH HE IS POPULAR

Entertainment to suit the tastes of everyone will be provided for visitors at the Pre-Centennial, Pioneers Roundup and Panhandle Oil Show.

There will be a rodeo for those who like rodeos, square dances for those who do not care for the modern dance, and a street dance for those who like the carnival atmosphere. For the oil field workers and persons interested in the oil industry there will be the oil field contests.

The Pre-Centennial committees have again booked an interesting athletic program which will include two baseball games and a wrestling match.

On each afternoon after the parade, a baseball game will be played at Road Runner park between the Road Runners and the LeFors Colletes. Diamond statesmen of the southwest now rank the Road Runners as one of the best amateur teams in the country. The House of David and the Mexican Charros championship team have both lost to the Road Runners. These two teams have auspicious records.

The Colletes are in a class with the Road Runners. They have beaten the Pampa team once and lost one game to them.

Pampanos who like wrestling and fans over this section rejoiced to read that old Tex Watkins, practically the meanest lump-ear in the wrestling game, would try to tear the mask from the Masked Marvel's face on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at Road Runner park. Red Michael and Gene La Belle will tangle in the semi-final. Tex is regarded as the best wrestling attraction that ever appeared in Pampa, with the exception of Otis Clingman. Fans still talk of the gory battles that were fought between Clingman and Watkins at the Pla-Mor. It has been said that Tex could get in a barrel with a bunch of wildcats and run all of them out.

University's Oil Fund Now Huge

AUSTIN, June 4. (AP)—Oil production from its extensive West Texas land holdings has yielded the University of Texas $17,789,966 in royalties.

Income from oil production forms the bulk of the university's permanent fund, only income from which may be spent.

Higher crude prices in the past 12 months resulted in a sharp increase in royalty collections over the corresponding period last year. Royalties for the year ended April 30 totalled $812,745, compared to $716,132 for the 12 months ended April 30, 1934.

Collections for the first five months of 1935, however, were lower than in the same period of 1934. Through May of this year the general land office received $321,935 compared to $360,194 in the first five months of last year.

Lowest income from oil production in recent years was $27,564 for June, 1933. The lowest in 1934 was

Death Ends Flying Waitress Career

Put into a tailspin from which Friedel Braun, flying waitress, was unable to right it, her plane spun 1200 feet downward while her horrified fiancé looked on, struck the roof of a house at the edge of exclusive Westbury, L. L., and crashed on the lawn, a heap of twisted metal and fabric. The pretty aviatrix was killed instantly. The group at left is removing Ensign John Dotes, her passenger, who was gravely injured, from the wreckage.

TRANSIENCY IS ON DECLINE IN TEXAS AREAS

TEN DEPOTS IN STATE HELP TO ANCHOR DRIFTERS

AUSTIN, June 4.—Transiency in Texas is on the decline.

The trend has been downward since last July, when the all-time peak load of 39,511 cases representing 40,166 persons were handled at the Texas division points. In April, the case load had decreased to 26,358 and the number of persons to 26,312.

Marshall B. Thompson, state transient director, attributes the decline to measures set up to make transients a more stable population. In order to handle the wandering population of the country, 10 divisions or depots have been established in Texas at Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Big Spring, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, and College Station.

A branch of the Beaumont division has been established at Port Arthur and the Houston division has a branch office at Galveston. From these division points, transients are routed to the 18 work camps located near these centers. Two of these camps house transient families; others are for unattached men and boys. One so-called camp at Houston is an infirmary, where medical care is administered in cases of serious illness.

The A. & M. division does not route men to camp but is so designed because approximately 200 transients have been attending school there since September, 1934, under an agreement whereby these students, in return for work on projects about the camps, received their tuition, books, food, clothing, lodging, and medical care.

To be admitted to a camp, a transient must signify willingness to work. Types of work done at the camps are much like those carried on for resident relief cases and Citizens' Conservation Camp enrollees. Women at family camps are taught sewing and other handwork arts. Men work on construction jobs affecting the public welfare. Leisure time activities are carried on in all camps to keep the transients from twiddling their thumbs.

A standard bill of fare, prepared by Mrs. Helen Swanson, consultant dietitian of the Texas Relief commission, is found on all the tables in the transient camps of Texas. "It is a working men's menu," said Mrs. Thompson, "and may be one reason why transiency in Texas is declining. News by the grapevine route travels fast among the transients. They know at El Paso that we are serving the same dishes at Dallas and Houston and if a new boarder doesn't fancy the fare at El Paso, he knows he wouldn't like it elsewhere in the state and so heads back into New Mexico."

Mrs. Thompson estimated there are 19,000 young Texas men in other states, tramping around the country. Moreover, there are 2,000 Texans in our own transient camps, unattached but unwilling to go back home and admit failure. In many cases, they give false names because their pride don't let them give their real ones.

Among those handled by the Texas transient divisions in April, 23,817 were unattached males, 497 were unattached females, 2,274 were families representing 7,140 persons.

Texas now ranks eighth among the states in number of transients cared for. At one time, it was second only to California, the all-time leader. Ahead of Texas are also New York, Washington, Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Missouri in the order named.

Amarillo, El Paso, Big Spring, and Fort Worth are the points where most of the traffic occurs because these divisions are situated on important transcontinental highways and railroads.

"Traffic is not so heavy at our southern divisions," asserted Thompson. "They check in at these points mainly because they like the mild climate."

Employment Has Been Sustained Well in State

AUSTIN, June 4.—Reports from approximately 1,600 establishments show a total of 70,955 employees, a decline of about half of one per cent from both the previous month and from May a year ago, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research report as of May 15. The weekly payrolls of the reporting firms aggregated $1,614,000, an increase of 1.3 per cent over April and 4.4 per cent over May, 1934.

Industries showing gains in the number of employees over the two comparable periods were: Brick, tile and other similar building materials, commercial printing, electric railway car shops, ice cream factories, laundries and dry cleaning, meat packing and slaughtering, millwork, paper box manufacturing and structural iron works.

HIS ASSISTANT COMMITS HIM TO 3 THINGS

McGRAW'S DIPLOMAT IS CERTAIN HE USED "NERVE"

AUSTIN, June 4. (AP)—Attorney General William McCraw has an assistant he believes would be valuable to the diplomatic corps.

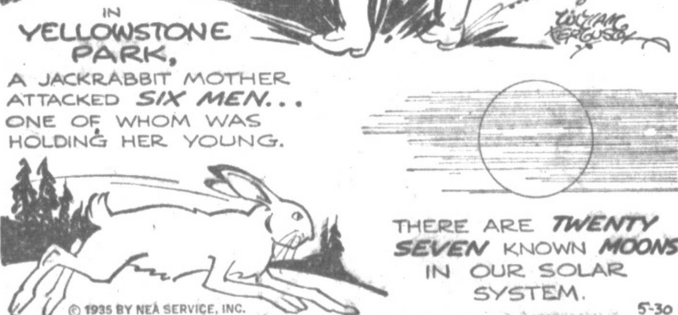

Recently when the attorney general went to Washington to appear before a congressional committee in opposition to federal control of the industry he was forced to cancel several speaking engagements. Where convenient, however, he assigned assistants in his stead.

Assistant Attorney General Vernon Coe of Goose Creek was delegated to speak to a woman's club. When McCraw returned from Washington he received a report on Coe's talk.

"I didn't commit you to anything you can't stand behind," Coe told his superior. "I committed you to three propositions. The first was that Texas is the greatest state in the Union, the second that women are man's greatest blessing, and the third that you stand four square against crime and for law enforcement. It took a lot of nerve to make those statements but I knew you would back them up."

The attorney general, it is said, has demonstrated astuteness in getting rid of delegations and visitors that show signs of over staying. When the meeting reaches a point where the attorney general believes it should end he calmly reaches for his hat and announces an engagement at the courthouse. Going out the door with the delegation he sends them away and then returns to his office through another entrance.

SAVES ENOUGH TO PAY FOR ITSELF

Low operating cost
Reduced food bills
No moving parts to wear
Permanent silence

IN SAVINGS—as in beauty—the new 1935 Electrolux is years ahead. You'll find, as owners everywhere have found, that this modern gas refrigerator will actually pay for itself with its big three-way saving.

Electrolux saves money on running cost—thanks to its simpler, more efficient operating principle, which requires no moving parts at all! It saves, too, on food bills because of the fuller protection this remarkable refrigerator gives to milk and other perishables. Finally, Electrolux saves on depreciation. It is the moving parts in a refrigerator that wear—and Electrolux has none!

Come in today and see the beautiful new Electrolux for yourself! Compare its advantages with those of any other refrigerator. Inspect carefully its sparkling white cabinet—its gleaming hardware. Examine its many worth while conveniences. Learn the whole story of this money-saving modern refrigerator!

STOCK FOR RODEO WILL TEST SKILL OF BEST ARENA HANDS

NO SET-UPS IN SIGHT AS MANY MEN REGISTER

C. N. BREWER MANAGING TWO-DAY EVENT THIS WEEK

A really first class rodeo and not a wild west show will be staged in Pampa on Thursday and Friday afternoons during the Pre-Centennial and Pioneer Roundup. C. Brewer, manager, has secured some of the best bucking stock in the southwest. The calves are wild and fleet and the steers tough.

The rodeo will be staged half a mile south of the city limits. An excellent rodeo ground has been laid out with seating capacity for more than 1,000 and room for cars along the arena.

Performance will begin promptly at 2:30 o'clock each afternoon with admission 25 and 40 cents. Seats to accommodate between 1,000 and 1,200 persons will be installed. There will also be room for parking a large number of cars.

Although registration of contestants was not to begin until this morning, there were 27 applications in the hands of C. N. Brewer last night. He anticipated that the entry list would reach 75 before the first performances.

A Test of Men.
Fourteen head of wild bucking horses, including Nigger Boy, killer horse, arrived this morning. Some cowboys who looked over the stock decided that they were foolish to enter but their money was already in the bank and it was too late to withdraw. In the herd was two horses as mean as Nigger Boy. They were Strawberry Roan and Dirty Face.

Huge Brahma steers, from the Auburn Bowers ranch, started arriving this morning. Cowhands declared they were larger than any stock encountered this year. Calves, wider than March hares, were also among the arrivals for the big event which will be staged rain or shine.

Clown Is Here.
Smoky Woods, famous clown, is already in the city. The well known rodeo star will perform throughout the event both days.

A loud speaker system has been installed and all events will be announced. The opening performance will be as follows:

Introduction of judges and officials promptly at 2:30 o'clock.
First session of calf roping, eight calves.

Bronc riding.
Second session calf roping, eight calves.

Bulldogging.
Steer riding.
A purse of $150 will be given in the calf roping event. The entry fee will be $5. The purse in the bronc riding will be $120 with entry fee $3.50 for one day or $6 for both days. Purse in the bulldogging will be $120 with the entry the same as in the bronc riding. Steer riding will be the same as the previous two events.

Cowhands either here or who have registered by mail, telephone or proxy, include:

Eddie Cane, Perryton; Charlie Broadnax, Shamrock; Smoky Woods, Snyder; Odell Betsel, Casper, Wyo.; Boots Fleming, Pampa; Eddie Smith, Wellington; Bill Van Vactor, Carter; Okla.; Jake Beutler, Elk City, Okla.; Bezer Nixon, Newkirk, N. M.; Chief Kirby, Jericho; Guy Andis, Groom; Roy Mayes, Memphis; Laird Sanders, Fort Worth; Buck Standifer, Plainview; Ace Henson, Carter, Okla.; Jimmie Olsen, Pampa; Aubra Bowers, Canadian; Jack Yale, Amarillo; Earl Moore, Roswell, N. M.; Vick Swarts, Brier; Whitey Stewart, Odell; Dale Adams, Brier.

Persons who have attended or followed rodeos will be familiar with some of the horses here. Included in the list are Black Powder, Shorty, Kaiser Bill, Dirty Face, Nigger Boy,

Ring-Master

Lynn Beutler, above, will be ring-master for the C. N. Brewer rodeo here June 6 and 7. Mr. Beutler is owner of the famous Nigger Boy, man-killing horse, which is being brought here.

Star, Rawlins Grey, Flaxie, Blue Heaven, Strawberry Roan, Two Step, Little Nigger, Buck Shot, Ma Ferguson.

Rural Schools to Get Assistance From FERA Soon

AUSTIN, June 4.—Examination of applications for aid from rural school superintendents was under way again this week as Texas Relief commission officials were formally notified by federal authorities that money for the program will be allotted from Federal Emergency Relief administration funds.

"We already have approved applications for aid from 454 schools and have begun the examination of applications from 648 more," said Adam R. Johnson, state relief director. "School superintendents are reminded that all applications found to be in order will be approved immediately. Those not in order will be returned to superintendents. Checks to teachers will go forward as soon as money for the program is received from Washington."

The 1,102 applications received by the Texas Relief commission request $864,107.27 to pay salaries of 6,940 teachers and 655 bus drivers, who continued to perform their duties in order that their school might proceed to the end of their normal terms after funds for their maintenance had been exhausted.

A staff of examiners has been assigned to expedite the work of clearing the remaining applications. The work is expected to require three or four weeks, at time. Superintendents were requested not to worry about applications not returned to them for corrections.

"If school heads don't hear from their applications, in most instances it means they have been approved and that we are waiting on funds from Washington to supply the requested aid," said Mr. Johnson.

TIMED TWISTINGS BRING BOAT CRASH STOCKHOLM (AP)—Two small passenger boats, plying the same course for 40 years in the twists and turns of the Stockholm archipelago, have at last collided. The collision, which occurred in a dense fog, was due to the "perfect" timing by the pilot on each boat. Accustomed to the fog and darkness the pilots have learned to navigate by the watch, sailing so many minutes in this direction and so many seconds in that, to escape treacherous reefs and islands. When they collided both boats were exactly halfway to their destination—both timed to the very second.

"Pin money" fines are used at Eagle Pass, Texas, to enforce the headlight ordinance. It costs motorists 25 cents the first time.

Wheat Crop On South Plains Is Looking Better

LUBBOCK, June 4. (AP)—A review of the grain crop situation on the south plains by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal quotes the opinions of farmers and grain men that more wheat will be harvested than was believed possible a month ago.

Two conditions are given as responsible. First, the rainfall the first 20 days of May revived much of the wheat considered dead. Heads began to fill out an a yield of more than three bushels to the acre above what was expected was seen. Wheat regarded as almost beyond saving is growing well and heading.

Second, the need of seed wheat next fall is farmers are to sow their allotted acreage has forced them to consider harvesting even the smallest yield. There is little seed wheat in this area for fall planting. Railroad agents report that on this account what that would yield as little as two and three bushels an acre would be gathered.

Several railroad agents, who keep a check on crop conditions in their regions, report that some wheat areas formerly regarded as "gone" appeared likely to produce three to five bushels to the acre and in some instances exceed that.

At Kress, Swisher county, 20,000 acres that had virtually been abandoned may be harvested. Farmers predict an average of five bushels an acre for that territory.

Sep Smith of Crosbyton was quoted that 700 acres he sowed to wheat may average as high as 10 bushels an acre.

W. H. Wright, manager of the Burrus elevator here said that his reports showed that not as much wheat acreage had been abandoned as was believed and that the percentage of dead wheat was smaller than earlier forecasts.

FRENCH ACE'S MEMORIAL RUINED IN FOUR MONTHS

MALO-LES-BAINS, France (AP)—A mass of ruins is all that remains of France's memorial to Georges Guynemer, wartime ace, conqueror of 33 German planes. Dedicated only four months ago, the plaster monument soon began to crumble. The aviator's statue was removed just in time to save it from smashing when the rest of the memorial collapsed.

BELGIUM USES HAND LABOR

BRUSSELS (AP)—Because of the unemployment situation, the Belgian government has forbidden use of steam shovels or similar labor saving machinery on public works except in emergencies. The edict made 6,000 new jobs on the Albert canal.

Scenes Like This Always Thrill True Pioneers

The rodeo hand has plunged from the back of the riderless horse pictured above and has thrown himself upon the horns of a particularly powerful steer, who pushes him along for many feet through the dust before man finally triumphs over beast. This picture, taken at the Frontier Days celebration here three years ago, will be re-enacted June 6 and 7 at the two-day rodeo held in conjunction with the Pre-Centennial. (NEWS Staff Photo and Engraving.)

CORONADO'S CHILDREN — J. Frank Dobie—The Southwest Press, Dallas.

In reviewing briefly the early history of the southwest it is easy to understand how Dobie came to choose this title for his chronicle of lost treasures. Most of us know the story of Cabeza de Vaca who was shipwrecked off the coast of Florida; how, passing from tribe to tribe of Indians for eight years, his life often threatened by starvation and enemies, he finally reached civilization. He told a marvelous tale about the seven cities of Cibola, ornamented with sapphires, turquoise and gold. This tale sent Coronado with 900 Spaniards in quest of the treasures. He found instead, among the Zuni Indians of Arizona, walls of mud and naked burrows in the cliff. But that did not deter him, on hearing another story, he set out across the plains to Gran Quivira, found a handful of naked savages.

While Coronado was searching for treasure in North America, other Spanish expeditions were scouring South America in search of El Dorado, the gilded king whose attendants anointed his body with oil and gold dust.

Years later California gold stamped a nation; Nevada silver stamped California. And Dobie says: "Both added to the tradition of Spanish wealth, gave it a flavor and coloring characteristic of the American frontier." The results are legends of lost mines and buried treasures current today over the southwest. They seem to be increasing instead of diminishing, as astounding numerous as are people who tell them and believe them. These people are Coronado's children.

Dobie's book is simply a vast overflowing collection of these stories and legends. Some of the most interesting are: The lost San Saba mine, or the lost Bowie mine, reputedly on the San Saba and Llano rivers in Texas. Generally it is silver, sometimes gold. Bowie got his idea concerning this mine from the Indians who bartered silver once a year in San Antonio.

In the Nueces country located somewhere near the Espantosa Lakes are the rock pens, where thirty-one mule loads of silver were reputedly buried by General Baylor. Near Fort Ramirez, the walls of which are torn down now because of treasure hunters, another great treasure was supposed to have been buried by the ranch owners who were forced to abandon it.

Immediately after the surrender of Santa Anna, some Texans pursued some fleeing Mexicans toward Naacoches. The Mexicans abandoned two of their wagons at Boone's Ferry on the Nueces, were seen to have pushed a cannon into the river. Years later a Spaniard returned with the story that his father was one of the fleeing party and gans and all looked and advertised for the Negro, but never found him. Nor have they found the gold.

"Los Muertos No Hablan." Dead men tell no tales. In those days there was a wealthy gang of bandits and bank robbers in the Big Bend country. But, the hand of the law lay heavy on them, and now they and also the Mexicans they killed are no more. Dobie intimates that old Bill Cole knows more about the booty they left behind than he tells. You can read his story between the lines.

Stories of desert gold are as varied and shifting as the desert sands. In the Panamint Mountains three men camped near a spring of water. In the night Indians attacked them. Only one man escaped with his life. In taking leave across the desert he discovered gold. Later he tried to lead a party to the spot where he picked up the ore, but the tricky desert had covered his landmarks.

Some ten miles distant from old Camp Grant in Arizona amid the Arivalpa hills, old home of the Apaches, a white man known by the name of Yuma persuaded an Indian to lead him to the Apache's secret cache of gold. The gold is reputedly in the top of one of the myriad inconspicuous crater like depressions, perhaps six feet in diameter, amid the hills. Unfortunately Yuma and his partner were the only ones who knew about this location. Both were killed. The million dollar cache still awaits discovery.

There is also the secret of the Guadalupe. Guadalupe Peak, the highest point in Texas, rises 9,500 feet above sea level, just below the New Mexico line. Tradition has it that General Lew Wallace was at one time in possession of a document showing the location of a gold mine in this area. The story goes that a one-time successful prospector, "Old Ben Sublett" found the mine, spent the ore recklessly, took a great delight in keeping the secret. Some say they have seen the mine. Their descriptions are all similar, but these people are either dead or cannot find their landmarks.

The mystery of the Palo Duro: Jesus Ramon Grachias was born in Lighthouse Canyon in 1850. Years later he returned to visit his father's grave, found $7,600 in Spanish coins. By whom, why, and under what circumstances these were buried are as mysterious to the finder as to anyone else. Perhaps there are other treasures in the Palo Duro.

Finally, among many others there is the story of Jean LaFite, pirate and privateer, at one time the hero of New Orleans during the war of 1812, but later the shame of Galveston island. After the interference of the U. S. N., with his illegal transactions he disappeared, and many are the stories of the booty he left behind.—A. A. U. W. BOOK REVIEW CLUB.
