250 ARE DEAD IN NEBRASKA'S FLOOD WATERS

2 TOWNS ARE WASHED OFF MAP; STORMS SWEEP AREA

McCook, Neb., June 1 (AP)—A new menace, a six foot wall of water, rushed down the flood swollen Republican river valley in southern Nebraska tonight after relief workers estimated the death toll might reach 250.

By The Associated Press
Nebraska's twin disasters at a glance:

Loss: estimated 250 dead, injured unestimated.

Cause: Floods all along Republican river from Colorado border to southeast corner of state 160 miles along southern border of Nebraska to Franklin county.

Tornadoes striking near McCook and north for a least 30 miles. North Platte and South Platte rivers rising. Trouble feared at junction point. Minor creeks raging all over southern half of state.

Situation: All wires down in vital areas, roads and railroad tracks washed out. Only communication by airplane and amateur radio.

Damage: Conservatively estimated in millions of dollars. Hardest hit: Towns of Max and Darks, with total population of about 150, authentically reported "washed off map."

Help: National guard, Red Cross and volunteers being rushed to scene.

Three: High tide of Republican river water hit southwest corner of state early Friday morning. Tornado struck approximately 4 p. m. (CST) Friday. Serious floods anticipated on Platte river and its two forks later Saturday or Sunday.

McCook, Neb., June 1 (AP)—Flood waters, tornado strewn debris and broken communications veiled the fate of scores of residents of the Republican river valley of southwestern Nebraska tonight as Dr. J. M. Willis, a leader in relief work here, estimated the number of dead might reach 250 in the devastated area.

An early count placed the known dead at 160.

Special Edition To Tell Story Of Celebration

The official Pre-Centennial edition of the Pampa Daily News will be published Tuesday afternoon, June 4th. This edition is published annually, having been endorsed by the Pre-Centennial committees and supported by the merchants of the town. It was originally conceived in order to effectively wind up the extensive newspaper publicity in the Panhandle with a smashing climax. This annual edition has proven its value to the Pioneer Round-Up and Pre-Centennial celebration in past years by virtue of the fact that the paper has gone into every home in Pampa's trading territory, resulting in interest and bringing thousands of people to our city during the celebration. Because of the widespread attention which it receives, it has equally proved itself as an advertising medium for business and professional men who support it.

The Pre-Centennial Committee therefore respectfully urges a Pampa business and professional institutions to get behind this edition and make it representative of the city and the celebration which it represents. Other towns of Pampa's size and smaller have published gigantic editions for celebrations that do not even approach the Pioneer Round-Up, Pre-Centennial Celebration and Panhandle Oil Show in its scale. Let's get behind this final piece of publicity which will be made possible by your support and put our celebration over with a bang. Respectfully submitted,

H. L. POLLEY, President, Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Arrangements for Celebration Thursday and Friday Are Almost Completed.

The week in which the Pre-Centennial, Roundup and Oil show were requested to be present and submit a detailed report of their plans and expenditures. Those who may find it impossible to attend were requested to send a report to the meeting.

Flags, Floats, Dances
As the final week before the celebration which is to be held next Thursday and Friday, closed concrete evidence of hard work could be noted in the following accomplishments:

The town is partly decorated with Centennial colors. Flags of Texas and of the five other nations under which Texas has lived will be hung over the streets this week.

Numerous Oil show and Pre-Centennial floats have been already built and others are being constructed.

Arrangements for the two square dances, the street dance Thursday night and the Pre-Centennial ball, Friday night have been completed. Fiddlers for the square dances are ready to go. Orchestras for the other two dances have been obtained.

Barbecue, Beans, Cake, Etc.
Beefers for the barbecue were butchered free of charge yesterday at the Barrett Packing company. Don MacCabe will begin to barbecue 900 pounds of beef for an estimated crowd of 700 old timers, Friday noon. In addition, the old timers will be served beans, pickles, coffee, apricots, slaw, cake. A coffee company will serve the coffee and furnish the berries if the barbecue committee will furnish the urns in which to make it. Persons who will lend the committee the urns are requested to telephone 785. The committee will begin serving the barbecue at 11 o'clock sharp.

Derrick, Oil Contests
Construction of the oil derrick and installation of oil exhibits will begin this week across the street from the post office.

Oil field workers who plan to enter the oil contests to be held at the derrick are asked to get in touch with Bill Lang and Max Mahaffey. These contests are rope-splicing, non-diving, first aid. Prizes are more than the equivalent of a day's work in the field.

Danciger Oil and Refining company will give a barbecue for its employees at the Danciger plant east of town, Friday noon. The company is inviting families from all over the Panhandle to attend the celebration.

Hostesses, Pageant, Indians
Mrs. Claude Ledrick, chairman of hostesses, will announce names of hostesses and hours of duty Monday. Registration will be done at five tables, and ribbons will be pinned on registrants, those who have been in the Panhandle from 25 to 40 years and those over 40 years.

Stage and background, the latter a mountain landscape, have been built for the pageant at Harvester park. Rehearsal will be held Monday night at the park if weather permits. Indians, 25 in all, expected in pageantry and in "attack-

Wading Pool at Park Will Be Open by Noon

The beautiful new wading pool for children placed in the city park by the Pampa Rotary club will be cleaned and filled and opened to the public this morning.

A spray will be located in the center. Depths will be either 6 or 9 inches at the side and 9 or 12 inches in the middle. A man will be on duty today to watch the operation of the pool.

While the pool is shallow, it is urged that very small children be accompanied by their parents or someone responsible for them. It would be possible for a tot to fall on the concrete bottom and drown while standing. For older children, however, the pool is entirely safe and should afford great fun. It is marked in the shape of a Rotary wheel through use of colored concrete.

The pool adds materially to the beauty and usefulness of the park.

TWISTER AND RAIN INFLICT MUCH DAMAGE IN SECTION

DOZEN PEOPLE SUFFER CUTS AND BRUISES

DERRICKS DOWN: PIPE-LINES, BRIDGES WASHED OUT

Rainfall of torrential proportions which washed out bridges and pipelines and a twister which leveled more than a score of derricks did many thousands of dollars damage in the Pampa territory Friday evening. Pampa received a .06-inch rain.

More than a dozen persons were treated for cuts and bruises after the tornado had cut a swath through the oil field about 2 miles north of Roxana. Three houses were said to have been demolished and many others damaged. Derricks were down, many twisted or shattered, on all sides. The families of A. E. Birdwell and Mrs. Mack Murphy miraculously escaped injury when their houses crumbled. There was heavy property damage in Roxana and Skellytown. Many roofs were lifted and small buildings leveled.

Bridge Pounded Out
The precinct 1 bridge over the North Fork of the Red river immediately west of LeFors was battered out by trees and timbers washed against it with terrific force. Commissioners Artie Carrleson and Harry H. Wray led men out locating the usable parts of the span yesterday. It is a needed structure on a much-traveled road.

Activity in the LeFors oil field was practically at a standstill after the flood of water had receded. Gas lines, water lines, and oil pipes across the Red river had been washed away. In many places it was impossible to reach the lines to determine extent of the damage.

The water could be heard roaring down on LeFors several minutes before it came in sight. Families living along the river banks and in the low areas on each side of the river were warned to leave immediately. Many were relief clients. The river bed was suddenly filled with madly rushing water, carrying large trees, barrels, lengths of pipe, pieces of derricks, and at least three houses.

Hitch-Hiker Is Stripped of His Money, Clothes

HOLDENVILLE, Okla., June 1 (AP)—He didn't find it so much. Tom, a Calvin Police officer, sent to investigate, came along and brought him here.

While hitch-hiking two young men in a small coupe picked him up. When he admitted he had "a little gas money," they took it. Then they took all his clothes and left him, an unwilling nudist, in the bushes.

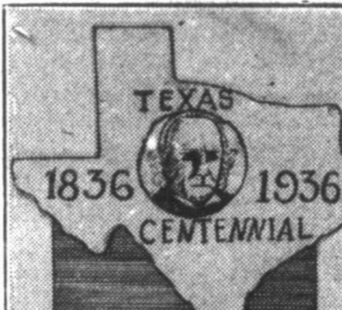

Glazier covered himself as best he could with leaves and twigs. For hours he halted passing motorists who merely speeded up when they saw him.

Reports of a "crazy wild man" reached the police station at Calvin, Okla.

Finally another hitch-hiker came along. Len, Glazier's a garment, soon a Calvin Police officer, sent to investigate, came along and brought him here.

Local Souvenir

Above is a pen sketch of the design for the bronze Pre-Centennial souvenirs which have been adopted as official for the celebration of June 6 and 7. The beautifully executed souvenir badges are to be of heavy metal and silk ribbon. The head of Sam Houston appears on the map of Texas. The souvenirs, 1000 of which will be available, will be sold by the B&PV club at 50 cents each. The Pre-Centennial fund will share in the proceeds. Manufacture is being rushed so the sales may begin about Wednesday.

OFFICER STILL

FACES A DRUG PLOT CHARGE

TEARS WELL IN EYES AS VERDICT IS REACHED

LUBBOCK, June 1 (AP)—Federal court jury today acquitted Sheriff W. F. Cato and three other Garza county men of murder for the machine gun killing of Narcotic Agent Spencer Stafford at Post last February 7.

Dr. L. W. Kitchen, Post veterinarian who watched the slaying from the office of his veterinary hospital; Tom Morgan, a deputized farmer, and Dr. V. A. Hartman, a Post physician, were the others freed, Dr. Hartman on instructions of the court.

Tears welled in the eyes of the 46-year-old sheriff, who was a blacksmith and studied to be a detective before he was elected Sheriff for five consecutive terms, as groups of friends gathered about to congratulate him.

It was the second acquittal of Cato on charges growing out of investigation of alleged violations of narcotic laws at Post. He was freed May 7 at Dallas on charges of conspiring to obstruct justice in investigation of the slaying.

The sheriff still faces a charge of conspiracy to violate the Harrison anti-narcotic act, and a suit filed by the widow of the slain agent for $25,000 damages.

Dr. Hartman, Kitchen, Lena Roberts, Dr. Hartman's nurse, and Ed Frazier also are under the indictment charging narcotic law conspiracy.

Kitchen and Dr. Hartman pleaded guilty last week of violating narcotic laws. Pronouncement of sentence was deferred.

Verdict in the murder trial, the second under the 1934 statute making the slaying of a government officer in performance of his duty a federal offense, was returned at 4:45 o'clock.

The case was given the jury of nine farmers and three merchants at 11 o'clock this morning. The jurors received a transcribed copy of Judge James C. Wilson's 8,000-word charge at 3:30 p. m.

Stafford was machine gunned to death while he, a companion agent, and two government informers were investigating a purported "dope" ring in the little town of Post.

The government sought, through the testimony of a score of admitted drug addicts, to link Cato, Hartman and Kitchen with alleged transactions under which it charged thousands of dollars worth of stolen merchandise was traded for narcotics.

The sheriff based his case on a plea of self defense and the contention that he was looking for "armed suspicious strangers" at the time of the homicide.

United States Attorney Clyde O. Eastus, who headed the government prosecutors, said "we did the best we could, and we are ready for the narcotic conspiracy trial."

That case probably will be called next week.

The jurors arrived at a verdict on their second ballot. They stood 11 to 1 for acquittal on the first.

In freeing Cato, the jury heeded the plea of W. P. McLean, defense attorney, to send the officer "back to his wife, his five children, and the people of Garza county who want him for their sheriff."

"That's fine, that's fine; it sounds plenty good to me," Cato choked.

ALVIS KARPIS GANG HUNTED FOR 'SNATCH'

$200,000 IN CASH IS PAID TO CAPTORS OF CHILD

PENDLETON, Ore., June 1 (AP)—Search for the kidnapers of 9-year-old George Weyerhaeuser centered tonight in north-central Oregon with county and state officers tightening their net in an attempt to corner a tan sedan which sped past two deputy sheriffs at an 98-mile-an-hour clip and outdistanced them.

The tan sedan, which the deputies said carried five or six men, was believed bottled up in an area 45 miles in diameter, in northern Umatilla county.

Two deputies from the Umatilla county sheriff's office were cruising eastward from Umatilla when the thunderbolt whizzed past so fast they didn't even see what make of car it was or what type of license it carried.

Hot in pursuit, the officers spurred their car to 91 miles an hour but soon lost the sedan. It was learned, however, the car turned off toward the north, before reaching Wallula, Wash. With the broad Columbia river hemming them on the north, the only alternative apparently was for the men to head southward toward Holdman and into a comprehensive net of county and state officers.

TACOMA, Wash., June 1 (AP)—Kidnapers freed young George Weyerhaeuser today and fled with $200,000 ransom in their pockets and the west's greatest army of man hunters at their heels.

Important "leads" in the chase after the abductors, believed members of the Karpis outlaw gang, turned up quickly after the 9-year-old lumber fortune heir was released.

Three men freed the lad before dawn near Isaaciah, 25 miles from Tacoma. He set out afresh eventually, he reached his home in Tacoma in a taxi with John Dreher, a newspaper man.

Within a few hours—as nearly ever peace officer in the northwest look up the trail—the man hunters found the oft-mentioned tan (Pontiac) sedan of the abductors. It had been abandoned at Seattle.

Federal "G" men, still silent but repeatedly in a shooting mood; state police, city police and sheriffs went after the "snatchers," expecting to find at the end of the trail the slugging gang.

DIONNE FATHER SEEKS CONTROL OF QUINTUPLETS

CALLENDER, Ont., June 1 (AP)—An action at law to challenge the "state rule" of the Dionne quintuplets may be the next act in the strange drama being enacted against the backdrop of the Callender-Corbell countryside.

Neither the Dionnes nor Leo Kervin, their manager, is ready to say what form the court action will take or when it will be filed. They are determined, however, to make every effort to regain custody of the infants.

At stake for the Dionnes is not only the right to take back control of their five famous babies, now in their second year, but also a fortune steadily mounting toward $200,000. This sum has accrued to the quintuplets by the sale of various privileges.

It is the contention of the parents that the Ontario government went beyond its rights in legislating itself into guardianship of the babies.

The fortune at present is being carefully preserved for them by the board of guardians—Dr. A. R. DeFoe, Judge J. A. Vallin, minister of Welfare David Croll, and Oliver Dionne, the father. The latter, however, has declined to take part in conference with the others, feeling that his minority opinion would stand no chance of prevailing.

Showing no intention of acting immediately, the chief executive officer of Chesapeake bay over the week-end.

The administration's interpretation of the supreme court's decision was seen by political observers as likely to cleave party lines in 1936.

Congressional leaders disclosed receipt of word that Mr. Roosevelt expects congress to stay in session until December if necessary to complete his program.

Senate republican spokesmen loudly demanded the enactment of some form of NRA legislation at once.

The house liberal bloc called a meeting for Tuesday to discuss ways and means of amending the constitution in the light of the court's NRA decision.

Indirectly related to the NRA situation, a strike of 450 soft coal miners was called for June 17 by the United Mine Workers of America.

JUDGES TO MEET

LUBBOCK, June 1 (AP)—Called meeting of the state county judge and commissioners association at the Baker hotel, Mineral Wells, Saturday, June 8, was announced today by Judge E. L. Pitts, president of the association.

Man Found Nailed To a Crude Cross

HIGH POINT, N. C., June 1 (AP)—R. J. Riggs, 36-year-old filling station operator, was found nailed to a cross near here early today and officers, terming him a "religious fanatic," quoted him as saying he had his young son "crucified" him in hope of regaining his estranged wife's affections.

Riggs was found nailed through the flesh between thumbs and index fingers of each hand and through the flesh of his heels to a crude wooden cross which lay by the roadside near his filling station.

He was taken to a hospital where attaches said his injuries were painful but not serious.

He first told a story of three men having broken into his home with the cry "You've been so good we're going to nail you to a cross" but, Solicitor Gaston A. Johnson, said that under questioning he confessed he had Donald Riggs, his 15-year old son by a former wife, spike him to the crossed boards with ten penny nails.

Young Explorer Interests Two Audiences With Tales Of Antarctic Expedition

Young Hill Talks Well About His Experiences

Nika, his malamute sled dog, appeared stage-shy but young Joe Hill Jr., Antarctic explorer, gave clear and well-versed accounts of the recent expedition in talks to audiences at the city hall Friday and Saturday nights.

The slender, but well-muscled young man, neatly dressed and surprisingly good in stage presence for one having been away from civilization so long, sketched the trip from its inception based largely on donations of materials—to the return.

Modest, he omitted personal experience largely and did not mention the official government base given the party on its return.

Many members of the audiences wished that he might have talked longer and in greater detail.

That was told. He said that he saw the thermometer drop to 72 degrees below zero.

Admiral Byrd saw weather 10 degrees colder at his isolated base where he was alone, making observations, for five months. Supplies for only one man could be transported so near the pole, and Byrd chose to be that man.

He spoke at length about the tractors, which were used successfully for the first time, and of the hazards of driving them over snow-bridged crevasses. It required nearly two hours to heat a tractor for starting by covering it with canvas and using a huge blow torch.

Tractors were used for months 24 hours daily in two 12-hour shifts. Air-planes were started much like tractors. Two planes left by the previous expedition were taken from a snow bank and one was flown—a Parachute photographic ship.

"Joe Boy," son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill, sailed from Boston in September, 1933, with Admiral Richard E. Byrd aboard the Bear of Oakland, sturdy ice cutter whose prow was bolstered by steel cement.

The voyage to the Antarctic was made via Panama, New Zealand and Easter Island. He returned to Boston recently and arrived back in Canyon last week. Dr. Hill is president of the West Texas State Teachers college where Joe was a student before "going to sea."

Arrive 5 Summers down there—winter months in the northern hemisphere—we were out in the open most of the time," he said. "We arrived there about January 1, 1934, the middle of summer. From then until April 19, when the sun went down and winter set in, we were busy fixing up the camp at Little America.

"After that we were busy with preparing tractors and airplanes for the explorations which came during the next summer.

"On April 19, the sun sank in the north and we saw it no more until August 22. Before that it had shone day and night, circling around and around us. About the time we arrived it was directly overhead. But it slipped northward gradually. We were 750 miles from the pole.

"The daily routine during the winter was much the same. We arose at 7 o'clock, had breakfast at 7:30 and worked until noon when we had 'ob,' a nickname given the 15-minute trip to the galley for a sandwich and coffee. Then we went back to work and worked until 4:30 o'clock. Supper came at 5 o'clock. After that we were free to do what we pleased until bedtime—anywhere from 9 until 2 o'clock. My work most of the time was in the underground garage where the tractors were stored.

Trail Meals Limited. "Our food when at the base was about the same as you'd have anywhere else. On the trail it was oatmeal, penguin meat and chocolate—and if you didn't like that, you could have chocolate, penguin meat and oatmeal.

"My main recreation was skiing, when it wasn't too cold. We built a small course and I got so I could ski fairly well. At least, I never broke my neck. When it got colder than 45 degrees below zero I stayed in the library after work hours.

"Yes, I got caught out in several blizzards. One lasted eight days. I was with four other men 140 miles from Little America. We just put up our tent, carried for emergencies and sat through it. Played cards for eight days. The wind reached a velocity of 55 miles an hour, blow from the east. It was pretty fierce. The temperature was 64 degrees below zero and we only had a little torch stove for heat."

The penguins, Hill said, "are delicious. A few were caught and made pets. A Dallas man, he said, still bears a scar on his nose where he got nipped by a playful fowl four feet high and weighing 70 pounds. The larger ones are called emperors.

Dangerous flights in planes were restricted by hill. Near disasters occurred time and again, he said, due to the difficulty of landing on skis instead of wheels. Limited space also made it dangerous.

GRAY COUNTY HAS 9 LOCATIONS, 7 COMPLETIONS IN WEEK

BIGGEST WELL IS MORYDAN'S NO. 4 DAVIS

WHEELER TAKES BACK STAGE IN OIL ACTIVITY

BY GEORGE L. GUTHRIE,
Consulting Geologist, Combs-Worley Bldg.

Most of the new locations were staked in Gray county during the last week as Wheeler county took the back of the stage in both new starts and completions. Nine of the 15 stakes were sent in Gray county and the largest well of the week was that of the Morydan Petroleum company. It's No. 4 Davis averaged over 1,000 barrels daily, flowing on Railroad commission test, with the pay in the granite wash. Moore county also showed some activity with two new starts for the week.

The Panhandle has been quiet for the past two weeks, but things are starting to pick up again.

COMPLETIONS.

Gray County.
The Bradshaw Oil & Gas company No. 5 Sackett in section 149, block 3, I&GN survey, averaged 306 barrels daily on 5-day Railroad commission test.

The Empire Oil & Gas company No. 5 Culler in section 173, block 3, I&GN survey, averaged 295 barrels daily on a commission test.

The ITIO company No. 8 Smith in section 139, block 3, I&GN survey, averaged 338 barrels on a 5-day test.

The Kewanee Oil & Gas company No. 8 Smith in section 149, block 3, I&GN survey, averaged 338 barrels daily on a commission test.

The Morydan Petroleum company No. 4 Davis in section 8, block 1, ACH&B survey, averaged 1,004 barrels daily on a 5-day Railroad commission test flowing with the pay in the granite wash from 2,753 to 2,819 feet from the bottom of the hole.

The Skelly Oil company No. 26 East Schaffer in section 172, block 3, I&GN survey, averaged 574 barrels daily on a commission test after it was bottomed at 3,314 feet with the pay 3,155 to 3,165 and at 3,180 feet. It was shot with 640 quarts.

The Wilcox No. 35 Combs in section 25, block 3, I&GN survey, averaged 218 barrels daily on a 5-day test with the pay from 2,958 to 2,960 feet.

Hutchinson County.
The SACM Oil company No. 2 Moore in section 10, block 3, B&E&F survey, averaged 366 barrels on 5-day test after a shot of 640 quarts from 2,965 to 3,100 feet, the total depth.

The Phillips Petroleum company No. 1 Foxx averaged 355 barrels.

NEW LOCATIONS.

Gray County.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 1. (AP)—Shaken by nervousness over President Roosevelt's suggestion that wheat might possibly fall to 36 cents a bushel, grain receded downward today, wheat 3 cents.

Low price records for the season were broken not only in wheat, but also in corn, oats and rye. Substantial rallies from the day's bottom quotations took place in the late dealings, however, largely as a result of buying on the part of previous sellers who were in a position to collect profits.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1 cent to 1 1/2 cents under yesterday's finish, July 82 1/2-83, corn unchanged to 1 cent higher, July 78 1/2-79, oats 1/4-1/2 cents lower.

Giving added momentum to the tumble of Chicago wheat prices today was weakness of the Liverpool wheat market and of British exchange rates, together with a reduction of the official pegged price for wheat at Winnipeg.

An authoritative unofficial June monthly crop report issued today in advance of others due next week gave a further impetus to the bear side of the wheat market.

WELL FLOWS NATURAL

CHILDRESS, June 1. (AP)—Bridge in tubing at 5270 feet in the Alma Oil Company No. 1 Low test was dislodged today under 1,900 pounds pressure, with a natural flow of about 25 barrels of oil following. It was believed a floating bridge was obstructing the hole and an attempt was to be made by swabbing to loosen the obstruction.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—After selling rather feverishly during the early part of the stock market session today, traders turned abruptly and jumped aboard the equities bandwagon again, concentrating in mining shares.

In its sudden improvement the market recovered most of the ground lost earlier.

The sharp gains in the mining stocks, brokers said, resulted from buying in speculative quarters where it was believed the administration might once more hoist the price of silver in an effort to offset deflationary forces set in motion by the supreme court's decision on NRA.

PETROLEUM INDUSTRY CODE WILL NOT BE ABANDONED

DALLAS, June 1.—In commenting upon the United States supreme court's decision in declaring the National Recovery act unconstitutional, Arthur P. Dyer, Texas state chairman for marketing of Planning and Coordination committee of the oil industry code, which committee has been functioning under the N. I. R. A., made the following statement.

"The Petroleum Industry code has been operated for many months along voluntary cooperative lines. More than a year ago it was seen that federal enforcement of the rules of the petroleum code was ineffective and, therefore, our chief work has been in educating marketers of Texas to observe these rules as matters of efficient business practice.

"Therefore, it is highly probable that the work of this committee, which has proven of inestimable value to the industry throughout the country, will be continued in some form. Primarily the industry desires a code of fair competition with a centralized appeals body. This opinion has been voiced consistently and it is hardly to be expected that this industry will be allowed to drop back the many steps which it has taken forward in the past eighteen months.

"Many practices of competition have been eliminated under the code, which, for many years, represented expensive inefficiency, but until the code was adopted no means had been available to eliminate these things which the entire industry was anxious to be rid of. The industry as a whole, if opinions in Texas can be used as a basis for a statement, is insistent that some code of fair practice be perpetuated and it is very probable that within the next few weeks a definite plan will be evolved by the National Planning and Coordination committee, along lines suggested in the supreme court's decision—that is, a code conducted under the supervision of the Federal Trade commission."

Ford V-8 Brings Fine-Car Performance Within Your Reach

THE FORD V-8—one of the most important forward steps in the history of the automobile—brings to all the people what was formerly within reach of the few. The V-8 engine had always been known for its outstanding performance, but it was used only in expensive cars. People wanted it—knew it was better. But, few motorists could afford to pay $2000 or more for an automobile.

The principle of the engine was right but the price was prohibitive. Ford decided to get that price down to where more people could have a V-8 car.

That was the new idea. The V-8 was a new kind of car to fit new times, but the thought behind it was the same . . . the tested Ford idea of service. The Ford

Motor Company simply continued to do the pioneering work that has been its specialty for 30 years and set a new standard of value.

The significance of the Ford V-8 is that now it becomes possible for every one to have a really fine automobile at low cost. Price is not a barrier. Even those who can afford high prices for an automobile are driving the Ford V-8. It is the car of fashion as well as utility.

Today's Ford V-8 gives everything you would like to have in performance, beauty, comfort and safety. As for dependability and economy—the Ford has always been known for that. Today it stands also for the newest, latest developments in automobile building.

Summer Sweethearts

Chapter VII.
Zoe spoke cautiously into the mouthpiece: "Telegram," she said. "Straight telegram to Mr. Gibbs Larkin, Pequot House, White Bay, Maine: Come back. Must see you. Awfully important. All my love. Signed Zoe."

She sighed with relief. No one had heard her. The maids were downstairs, busy with luncheon preparations. Her mother, in crisp linen and a shady hat, had driven off half an hour ago to a Garden Club meeting. The gardens brooded in the fog. Regularly, at intervals, a mournful sound pierced the stillness... the foghorn, blowing down past the Point.

"It's uncanny," Zoe murmured to herself. The soft summer morning was breathlessly warm, still; haze brooded over everything. Nasturtium leaves were furred with bright drops and the tall spikes of foxgloves caught and held beads of moisture in their inverted dunce-caps.

She ran downstairs, ran out upon the lawn, her white shoes becoming streaked and stained with the heavy dew. If Gibbs should wire back, if Mother should get the wire—oh, she would be in a situation then, right enough! Her heart was beating fast, beating thickly. She couldn't stand this much longer! She had been giddy with shock last night when someone—that Hart boy, she remembered—had said Gibbs was going to marry some girl from Swampscott. It wasn't, it couldn't be true! People started stories like that, heaven only knew why. But she had to see him—had to find out what it was all about.

She ran across the unwearyly bright green of the closely-clipped grass her rubber soles making a faint squeak as she passed. You could scarcely see the pier. Down below, at the club, a few people were in bathing. You could hear the faint ghostly sound of thin laughter.

Zoe hugged her arms about her, shivering in the warm stillness. Uncanny, this silence, this all enveloping fog!

She had letters to write, a new book with the leaves all uncut. But she couldn't settle down to anything. She listened, tense as a violin string, for the sound of the telephone, for Gerda's voice calling her.

She needed a shampoo and manicure, but she dare not leave to go down to the village. Her wire might come; her notes, thinking it urgent, might open it.

All day she waited, strung on thin wires of waiting. Lunch was served. She toyed with the food, her ears strained for the scrape of a messenger boy's wheels on the gravel.

"You're not hungry, dear?" "Not very. Had a little breakfast."

"You lazy kitten. Father played 18 holes with Victor Strykurst."

"Don't see how they could see the ball."

"Oh, the club's much higher ground, you know. I always think we get the worst of the dampness down here. Bad for my sinus."

Gerda came round with the soufflé.

"You must try some of this. It's delicious. Cook will be hurt."

Zoe helped herself to it indifferently. Maybe she was going to be really ill. Her cheeks burned, as if with a fever, and her hands were like ice. Gibbs!

"Katharine looked lovely last night, didn't she?"

"What did you say, Mother. Oh, yes, she was grand in that white thing. Sort of goddess-like."

"Neal Cotaine thought so. He said she reminded him of the old pictures of Lady Diana Manners."

"I must tell Kay that," Zoe said, trying to rouse herself to some interest. Her mother would be sure to notice, if she didn't.

"Did you notice Gracia last night?"

Zoe tried to smile intelligently. (Was that the library telephone? You could hardly hear it in here; it's trill was so faint.)

"Not particularly. Why?"

"She made a dead set for Dr. Kaye," observed Lisa Parker, with a relish. "Captain Byrne is going back to Fort Hill next week, suppose Gracia is planning for the future."

"Kitty, kitty, kitty!"

"Why, Zoe, I'm not being in the least caty about Gracia. Everybody knows she's the world's worst flirt. She'll marry Captain Byrne, all right, but she must be amused in the meantime."

Words, words, words, thought Zoe wearily. As if she cared what Gracia McIvaine thought or did. But she had to pretend interest, smile, eat mouthfuls of the rich dessert.

At last lunch was over and she was allowed to escape.

"No tennis?" Her mother took out her needlepoint. She was working a bell-pull this time, an intricate affair of small bright blossoms on a black ground.

"Listen, Kay," said Zoe, "I'm nearly frantic. I wired Gibbs today—"

"She'll be back for dinner, Miss Zoe. Do you want her to call?" "Yes, please!" Zoe had to tell someone. Katharine might not understand, but she would be sympathetic enough.

There were just three of them for dinner. The fog still held and it was close and warm indoors, so they dined on the terrace.

"Broke 100 this morning," her father said genially. He was a spare, florid man of 55, very proud of his waistline and his red setters. One of those amiable dogs now ambled up to the table and was discouraged, not too strongly, by his master.

"Get away, Laurie. Down, sir. No manners."

"Tell Gerda to take him to the kitchen," said Mrs. Parker, plaintively. "He acts as though Waters hadn't fed him."

"Oh, he's been fed all right. He just likes his family, don't you, Laurie. Eh, boy?"

There was a good deal more of this, Mrs. Parker objecting strenuously to the dog's presence on the terrace, her husband agreeing but keeping Laurie at his side. Zoe thought she would have to scream if she were compelled to stay there

"She's been mopin' gail day," she said. "I don't know what wrong. She seemed so gay—so glad to be home... at first."

"You pay entirely too much attention to her," Henry Parker said, deliberately cutting the end from a long cigar.

Zoe ran through the hall, scarcely conscious of where she was going. Gerda interrupted her. "There's a call for you, miss. On the upstairs phone."

Her heart seemed to stop beating for an instant. She flashed a smile at the girl. Gerda was clever. She knew there was something in the wind...

Zoe ran like a wild thing up the broad staircase.

"Hello. Hello." Her hands were shaking.

But it was Katharine's familiar, laughing voice that answered her. Zoe felt actually sick, shaken, with disappointment.

"Gerda said you called before?" "Oh, I did. Look, Kay, can you run over for a minute? Have you guests?"

"Bertine has, but I can get away. Down at the end of the garden? In five minutes..."

Zoe powdered her nose, thinking in a detached way that she looked ghastly. Katharine was the lucky one, not to have involved herself in any way in a love affair. "I wish I could be like her. She's so cool and detached," Zoe thought.

Katharine's pale green organdie glistened behind the trellis. You skirted the convent garden to come in this way. A painted gate and a rustic seat broke the line of the hedge, and below the rough line of rocky beach showed.

"What's up?" "Listen, Kay, I'm nearly frantic. I wired Gibbs today..." The whole story tumbled out.

"I don't believe he's going to marry anyone," Katharine said flatly.

"But if he is! What shall I do?" She was so obviously miserable. Strain showed in her round face, pale now in the gathering dark, and in the shadows under her eyes.

"He's not worth it," Katharine began. But she was interrupted. Both girls drew instinctively together as a dark figure sprang at them out of the fog, from the direction of the beach.

"Oh, he isn't, eh?" demanded a masculine voice.

"Gibbs!" cried Zoe, on a note of terror and delight.

Twilight deepened; the candle flames burned straight and steady in the dimness. There was no breeze anywhere. The foghorn began again—a monotonous, eerie note.

"I declare that gets on my nerves," Lisa Parker said, placidly, after an interval.

Zoe pushed back her chair. "I hate it," she said explosively. "I can't stand it a single other minute!"

Her mother stared after her reflectively.

Since then, this most modern of refrigerators has been faithfully guarding their health with dependable food protection

ON May 28, 1934, the world was electrified by a message flashed from the remote Canadian village of Corbeil. Quintuplets were born... and living... for the first recorded time.

Through their birthplace was almost beyond the reach of civilization, these babies have received during the past year the utterly dependable food protection that only modern automatic refrigeration can provide.

Forty-eight hours after orders were given in New York, a New Air-Cooled Electrolux, operated with kerosene, was at work cooling the human milk rushed from Toronto and Montreal to feed these newborn babes.

This kerosene-operated Electrolux is the same nationally advertised refrigerator that is already serving more than half a million modern American families.

In the cities it is run by a tiny gas flame... in the country, beyond the gas mains, by a wicked glow-type kerosene burner. Listed at the left are some of the vital advantages of this most modern of refrigerators.

Pampans Play Coltexo This Afternoon At Birdies Park

Shaw Park at LeFors Is Flooded in Downpour

BASEBALL TODAY

Pampa Road Runners versus Coltexo at LeFors at Road Runner park, 3:30 o'clock.

Shell versus Cargray at Shell diamond two miles west of Pampa, 3 o'clock.

Coltexo Carbon versus Pampa-Busby Indians at Coltexo diamond four miles east of LeFors, 2:30 o'clock.

Sunoco Sluggers versus Kingsmill at Sunoco diamond, half mile south of green water tank on LeFors road, 2:30 o'clock.

Sinclair-Prarie versus Stanolind at Sinclair-Prarie diamond, 2:30 o'clock.

Pampa Independents versus I. O. O. F. Rams at Independent's Wilcox diamond, 2:30 o'clock.

The heavy wall of water which overflowed the banks of the Red river at LeFors on Friday afternoon struck Shaw park with all its fury and it will be several days before the Coltexo baseball team will be able to perform in its home lot.

A scheduled game this afternoon with the Pampa Road Runners has been transferred to Road Runner park at Pampa. The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock with admission 25 and 40 cents.

Coltexo will be here seeking revenge. They have secured three new players and taken back Gordon Nell, who has the habit of flitting between Coltexo and the Road Runners.

Wearing Coltexo uniform for the first time will be "Pud" Purdy, one of the classiest slugging outfielders out of organized baseball. Purdy went to the big time in 1927 spending three years with the Cincinnati Reds. He was with Columbus in the American-association in 1930 and 1931 and with Indianapolis in 1932. Purdy was with San Antonio in 1933 and 1934. It was in 1933 that he led the Texas league in hitting. Purdy is a righthander but bats left-handed.

Another newcomer is Fred "Red" Bennett, also an outfielder. Bennett was with the St. Louis Browns in 1929, Milwaukee in 1930, Pittsburgh in 1931, Jersey City in 1932, and Dallas in 1933 and 1934. He throws and bats righthanded.

A new pitcher with Coltexo will be Luke Colburn, a big righthander. He was formerly in the Evangeline league in Louisiana. He had a trial with Dallas this season but was released last week.

The Coltexo outfield tomorrow will probably see Nell in leftfield, Purdy in center field and Bennett in rightfield. Shinski, regular centerfielder, injured a thumb in Berger Thursday. He raced far on a hard hit liner which struck his thumb. The ball rolled to the fence for a home run.

Brawley will be on the mound for Coltexo with either Polvogt or Poindexter behind the bat. Polvogt was struck above the knee by a foul tip while playing in Berger Thursday afternoon. He might be able to play today, but it is doubtful.

Manager Freddy Brickell will have all five of his hurlers ready for mound duty. To date however, only Berry and Stewart have shown themselves ready for work. Hardin, Daney and Bulla have had flashes of form but have not proved ready for regular work.

Huber carbon company Black-faces will be here Monday night, weather permitting. It will mark the fifth attempt to bring a Berger team here this season. Two games had to be called off because of excessive dust and three because of wet grounds.

Game time will be 8:30 o'clock. Huber holds a win over the Road Runners.

WATKINS WOULD MAKE MATCH WITH MARVEL GORY BATTLE

A wrestling match that will bring back days of long ago when wrestling was punching, etc., will be brought to Pampa on Thursday night when Sallop Tex Watkins, participant of many gory battles in the past, meets the Masked Marvel, a newcomer to these parts but one of the toughest in the game.

The big match will be part of the Pre-Centennial and Pioneer Roundup celebration staged at Road Runner park. The finish match will not be the only headline attraction on the card. Another finish match will be staged between Red Michael, Pampa boy who has made good in a big way, and Gene La Belle, wild French-Canadian lumberjack.

A big semi-final between Art Becher of Amarillo and Rex Sullivan of Abilene will be preceded by a preliminary featuring Andy Dowler, Pampa, and Kid Thomas, Berger. The preliminary will be called promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

"Who is the Masked Marvel and where did he come from?" is the question on the lips of Pampa wrestling fans. The answer is, "No one knows."

Coming silently out of the east with the remark that he would meet any middleweight wrestler in the world, the Masked Marvel has kept his word. He has defeated the best in this section, including Watkins. The "gob" fell before the marvel a few weeks ago and since that time he has been howling for a return match. Watkins promises that fans will get their money's worth or he will refund the price of admission himself.

Reserve ringside and box seats are going fast at Pampa Park No. 1. If the demand continues, it may be necessary to install more ringside seats. Wrestling fans are urged to get their tickets early. Ringside seats are only 40 cents and box seats 50 cents, tax paid.

TIGERS DOWNED

DETROIT, June 1. (AP)—Ted Lyons was touched for 13 hits today but the White Sox scored a 5 to 4 victory over the Detroit Tigers. A threatening Tiger rally in the ninth was nipped when Gehring was trapped off first and Cochrane was caught at the pay trying to score on the play for Gehring.

Grover Austin Is Loser in Tourney

Grover Austin, crack, Pampa golfer, lost a 20-hole match to Dick Coon, Dalhart ace, in the first round of play in the championship flight of the Amarillo Country club golf tournament Friday. Austin shot a 76 for the first 18 holes to tie his opponent in strokes and holes. The pair halved the first extra hole with par fours, but Coon sank a pretty put for a birdie on the 20th hole while Austin made a par four.

The Pampa youth carded an 81 on his qualifying round and drew Coon, who carded a 73 for second low qualifying score. Austin shot brilliant golf Friday in losing. He had played only a few games on grass greens.

Coon went 19 holes with Gene Seie of Amarillo before losing in the second round of play.

Another golfer, J. R. Farmer, playing from the Pampa Country club, defeated E. R. Pryor of Amarillo 6 and 5 in the first round of play in the first flight. He was to meet T. Blanchard yesterday.

KEITH BROWN SMASHES WORLD RECORD IN POLE VAULT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 1. (AP)—Southern California's all conquering Trojan fulfilled expectations today by romping off with the blue ribbon eastern track and field team prize, for the seventh time in ten years, but the hero of one of the most thrilling meets held in the 59 year history of the intercollegiate A. A. A. was a lanky son of old Eli Yale, Keith Brown, of Chicago.

Wearing the blue in competition for the last time in his brilliant varsity career, Brown hoisted himself to world record heights by clearing the dizzy altitude of 14 feet 5.18 inches in the pole vault. He then made three futile tries with the bar raised 10 feet 7 inches.

Brown's performance surpassed the world record of 14 feet 4.28 inches made by Bill Graber of Southern California in the 1932 Olympic tryouts at Palo Alto, Calif. This spring Graber was credited with clearing 14 feet, 5.58 inches, but I. C. A. A. officials said today it had been established the take-off for achievement, at Santa Barbara, was faulty and no recognition would be sought for it.

Four record-smashing performances were registered altogether, in the finals, marked by a series of upsets, including the dramatic break-down of Columbia's Ben Johnson while leading in the 100 meters dash. Johnson, eastern favorite in both sprints, staggered across the finish in fifth place after pulling a muscle in his right leg and withdrew from the 200 meters.

Rapidly closing in on Johnson at the time of his mishap, George Anderson of California flashed through to win the 100 in 10.7 but was beaten in record-breaking time in the 200 meter final by Foy Draper of Southern California, whose time of 29.8 seconds was disallowed because of the wind.

Draper had clipped a tenth of a second off the 200 meter dash record, with a 21-second performance in the semi-finals, and this was officially accepted. His Trojan teammate, Phil Cope, captured the 110-meter high hurdles final in the new meet record time of 14.5 seconds.

League Golfers Will Register

Local golfers desiring to play in the league now being formed by De Love, professional at the Pampa Country club, are urged to register today, leaving their average scores and the business in which they are employed, at the clubhouse.

Mr. Love urges everyone who has not registered to do so today. If they do not plan to play, they should drive out to the club and register so that the teams can be organized early this week, and pairings made for the first round of play next Sunday.

An eight team league will be formed with eight or more players on each team. Play will be on the point system, graded according to the number of players on a team. More than 35 players have registered to date.

Helen Stephens Topples Marks

ST. LOUIS, June 1. (AP)—Helen Stephens, 17-year-old Missouri track sensation, played in the finals and smashed one national record and one meet record this afternoon in the annual Ozark AAU outdoor meet for girls.

Denied the privilege of meeting her track foe, Stella Walsh of Cleveland because the latter refused an invitation to run here, the Fulton high school girl "got even" by equalling the Cleveland star's world record of 11.8 seconds for the 100-meter sprint.

Miss Stephens tied the world record only about 10 minutes after traveling the 200-meter distance in 24.4 to break the American record of 23.1, set by Elizabeth Robinson of Chicago, and to come within three-tenths of a second of Miss Walsh's world record of 24.1, a mark established three years ago.

Rodeo Contestants To Begin Registering On Wednesday

BASE DIDRIKSON TURNS PRO AND SIGNS UP TO MEET HICKS

CHICAGO, June 1. (AP)—Rebuffed in her effort to gain an amateur standing in the game she took up only two years ago, Mildred Babe Didrikson, the girl wonder athlete from Texas, today decided to market her 280 yard drive and personality on the fairways by turning golf professional.

Before clicking cameras and whirring movie machines, the Texas Babe joined the growing women's professional golf troupe by signing a contract with P. Goldsmith Sons Co., a Cincinnati sporting goods manufacturing organization, also a comparative newcomer in the field of golf, under the terms of the contract, an indefinite one, Miss Didrikson will promote the company's supplies and appear in exhibitions, possibly with Helen Hicks, former national champion who turned professional last June 19, and Joyce Wethered, former English champion now on a professional tour of this country.

Golf will be the third professional venture in sports for Miss Didrikson, already having appeared in a professional role in baseball and basketball. She also turned professional in track following a misunderstanding with the national amateur athletic union, but never capitalized on her ability in that line except in receiving money for advertisements.

Stock Is Tops, and Meanest in Southwest

Entries in the Pre-Centennial rodeo will be received beginning Wednesday morning in the chamber of commerce rooms in the city hall with Virgil Nixon in charge. C. N. Brewer, rodeo manager announced yesterday.

He also announced the arrival of more than 40 head of "the meanest rodeo stock in the southwest." Mr. Brewer said that he had a half-dozen broncs that would make the original Strawberry Roan look like a "softie." The horses, Brahmas calves and steers are so mean, he said, that several professional rodeo cowhands decided not to come when they heard that Mr. Brewer will have the same bunch of stock that has been terrorizing crowds this spring in Oklahoma towns.

However, Mr. Brewer has received letters from tanners of "sun-fishers" at Plainview, Shamrock, the J.A. Silvertown, and several Oklahoma towns, who turn down the "society" rodeos in the big cities because the stock is too tame. Those hands say they will be here.

The belligerent stock includes 12 mean horses, 25 head of bucking steers that only the best in the business can ride or bulldoze. Fifteen Brahmas calves will attempt to keep their head and feet out of the twirling lassos. Three of the broncs have been ridden only a few times. They are Negro Boy, Strawberry Roan and Dirty Face. The calves will come from Aubrey Brothers' ranch and the rest of the stock from Butler Bros. at Elk City.

Entry fees will be as follows: calf roping, $8; bronc-riding, $6; steer riding, $6; bulldozing, $6.

There will be a clown to amuse the spectators, and two of the visiting bands will furnish music for the rodeo. However, Mr. Brewer insisted that music infuriated rather than inspired his stock. He hooted at the stock which will not perform unless music is on hand.

There will be two shows with day money each day. The prizes will be: calf roping, $40, $30, and $20 each show; bronc riding, $30, $20, and $10; bulldozing, $30, $20 and $10; steer riding, $30, $20 and $10.

The rodeo has been widely advertised. He believes that now fewer than 75 rodeo hands will participate in the event.

Parking and seating arrangements for the rodeo are being made at the rodeo grounds just south of the city limits, east of the LeFors road. The rodeo is being sponsored by the Pre-Centennial committees.

Rustion-control experiments with mustard seed plantings have proved successful in California's fire-prone wooded forests.

CHICAGO, June 1. (AP)—The world champion St. Louis Cardinals gained a full game on the idle New York Giants today by taking both ends of a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs, 4 to 3 and 4 to 1. Paul Dean shaded Lon Warneke in the first game which went 12 innings, and Phil Collins bested Bill Lee and Fabian Kowalik in the nightcap.

First:
St. Louis 000 110 000 101—4 12 0
Chicago 010 000 100 100—3 10 1
P. Dean and Delancey; Warneke and Hartnett.

Second:
St. Louis 300 001 000—4 10 1
Chicago 000 000 010—1 8 5
L. Collins and Davis; Lee, Kowalik and Hartnett, Odea.

DODGERS SHUT OUT

BROOKLYN, June 1. (AP)—Sylvester Johnson shut out the Dodgers with three hits in the second game of today's double header to give the Phillies a 3 to 0 victory after Brooklyn had hammered out an 8 to 4 decision in the opener.

First:
Philadelphia 111 000 010—4 9 1
Brooklyn 031 010 03x—8 11 1
Prim, Jorgens, Thomas, Pezullo and Todd; Mungo, Clark and Lopez.

Second:
Philadelphia 020 000 001—3 8 0
Brooklyn 000 000 000—0 3 0
S. Johnson and Wilson; Leonard and Phelps.

Dallas Wallops Missions 4 to 2

SAN ANTONIO, June 1. (AP)—The return home of the San Antonio Missions was not so auspicious here tonight, as the lowly, but nevertheless lively, Dallas Steers administered a 4 to 2 setback to the local hopefuls, Young Nelson was a complete master of the situation in all but two innings, the first and seventh, when in each case the Padres scored on a double and a single.

In 1921, Kansas had 1,112 banks. Now there are 547. Bank deposits reached a maximum of $307,511,000 in 1920; now the total is $145,000,000.

Helen Jacobs Beaten in Paris

PARIS, June 1. (AP)—For the fifth successive year, Helen Jacobs failed today to win the French hard court tennis championship. Her defeat surprised experts.

The American champion was eliminated by Mme. Sven Sperting of Denmark in a semi-final match 7-5, 6-3.

Mme. Rene Mathieu of France won the other final bracket by overthrowing the defending titleholder, Margaret Scriven of England, 8-6, 6-1.

Baron Gotfried Von Cramm, of Germany, seeking to retain the men's crown he won a year ago, qualified for the finals by ousting H. W. (Bunny) Austin of England, 6-2, 5-7, 6-1, 6-7, 6-0. His opponent in tomorrow's championship round will be Fred Perry, British ace, who conquered Jack Crawford of Australia, 6-3, 8-6, 6-3.

Trenary Stars As Team Wins

Timely hitting by Lary Trenary and Red Ramsey gave the Los Ratos baseball team the Texas Tech-intramural championship last week, says a story in the Lubbock Avalanche. The Los Ratos team won straight games from the Silver Key nine in a championship series.

Trenary, Pampa boy, has been playing great ball all season. He had played outfield, pitcher, and caught during the series. Trailing by one run going into the last inning of the first game, Ramsey hit a home run to tie the score. In the tenth inning with two men out and two on base, Trenary cracked a single to score the winning run.

The Los Ratos team won the second game by a score of 6 to 4.

Trenary will return home Saturday to spend the summer vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Trenary.

FAMOUS SADDLE ON EXHIBIT FOR PRE-CENTENNIAL

Cost $12,000; Owned By Col. Zack Miller

The most famous and most expensive saddle in the world, one that has been admired by thousands of persons all over the world, including kings and queens of Europe, will be one of the attractions of the Pre-Centennial, Pioneers Roundup and Panhandle Oil show here this week.

The saddle, which cost $12,000 and is heavily ornamented with dozens of diamonds, rubies and silver, is owned by Col. Zack Miller of Ponca City, Okla., and was taken by the latter to Europe as an attraction of the 101 Ranch wild west show.

The saddle was brought from the vault of the 101 ranch headquarters by Carl Benefiel and Dick Hughes Friday. It is heavily insured. Col. Miller, himself a one-man show, will likely arrive here this week to attend the celebration.

The saddle will be on display in the lobby of the La Nora theater where it will remain until the parade. The parade marshal, riding in the saddle, will lead the parades Thursday and Friday.

Debris Traps Six After Blast

An explosion in an automobile service station caused one of the most serious recent tragedies in New York, burying a half dozen occupants of nearby buildings in the debris of their wrecked homes

KARPIS GANG

perly, murderous gang of Alvin Karpis, public enemy No. 1.

The sedan found at Seattle had a trunk with holes in it such as little George described as one of the places in which he was hidden.

Uncle's Car Stolen
It bore the license plates of a stolen car.

Search for a still another tan car (Hudson sedan) and a big gray machine (Buick) mentioned by the boy as one of the vehicles used, was started.

Every road in the area was blocked against the fleeing gang.

Confirming George's own statement that his uncle, F. Rodman Titcomb, paid off the snatcher, an authoritative source revealed that the abductors even took the uncle's automobile, forcing him to walk several miles to his home.

With the boy safe in the arms of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weyerhaeuser, Jr., it was affirmed the abductors got the full amount asked—$200,000. That is what the Karpis mob collected in the Edward G. Bremer kidnaping at St. Paul.

It was disclosed that the serial numbers of all the federal reserve notes in the great pile of ransom money had been taken by officers a violation of one of the abductors' terms) and could be thus easily traced.

State patrolmen went after three men and a woman reported to have fled from a Snoqualmie pass auto camp after having rented two cabins there but failing to occupy them.

Another report said a bundle of the ransom notes already had changed hands at Aberdeen.

Karpis Gang Blamed
Names from the lips of the boy himself were believed by investigators to tell searchers what they had suspected for days—that the dread Alvin Karpis gang was their quarry.

"Harry, Bill and Allen (later acknowledged by George to be Alvin); were the names the snatchers used, he said.

That recalled not only Karpis himself but also Harry Campbell, notorious lieutenant of the gang. Officers did not immediately recognize "Bill."

Apparently the abductors had a four hour start on the hunting army, for George said he was released about 4 a. m. and it was about 8 a. m. when he rode cheerfully into the spacious grounds of the Weyerhaeuser home for a joyous family reunion after nearly eight days of horrifying suspense since the kidnaping last Friday morning.

"Your pa will pick you up," the kidnapers told the lad when they let him out of a car on the country road. They instructed him to wait.

His dad didn't come. George set out afoot. He trudged six miles until he came to a farmhouse. John Bonifas, chicken rancher who has 10 children of his own to worry about, opened the door.

"Tia the little boy who was kidnaped," said George.

I nifas took the dirty, wet little timber fortune heir into his rickety automobile and headed for Tacoma. Arriving at Renton, Bonifas sought entrance to the telephone company building there to call the Weyerhaeuser home. Mrs. Rachel Snyder, the operator, refused to admit him because it was against the rules. He would have to wait until the opening time, 7 a. m.

Writer Takes Boy
Bonifas stopped next at a roadside filling station. He called the Weyerhaeuser home but got no answer.

Finally he called the Tacoma police.

Like lightning the word flashed out that little George Weyerhaeuser was safe and free.

In Tacoma John Dreher, veteran golf writer for the Seattle Times, jumped into a taxicab and headed out the Issaquah road. Some miles out he came upon Bonifas, with the little victim wrapped in a blanket the kidnapers had left with him.

Bonifas turned George over to Dreher, who listened to the little boy's exciting story as they sped directly to the home of his parents. The father and mother were wildly joyous after nearly eight days of agony occasioned by the kidnaping last Friday noon.

The little victim said his uncle, F. Rodman Titcomb, had given the kidnapers the ransom. They shackled him once in a while to keep him from running away, but he said the chains didn't hurt.

George said there were six men in the kidnap gang. Three of them called each other "Harry, Bill and

Lubbock Judge Defers Motions In Irvin Case

LUBBOCK, June 1. (AP)—Federal Judge James C. Wilson today deferred decision on motions to quash a blanket indictment charging Sheriff J. L. (Len) Irvin and 28 others with dealing in unfaxed liquor.

W. D. Girard, counsel for four of the defendants, contended that the indictment alleged no offense against the laws of the United States because the internal revenue statutes under which the charges were drawn had been invalidated by repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Adoption of the eighteenth amendment made inoperative existing liquor tax laws but those statutes were reenacted by congress in 1921 by passage of the Willis-Campbell act, making them a part of the national prohibition act, he argued.

Girard contended that repeal of the eighteenth amendment by the twenty-first amendment, without a saving clause, invalidated all liquor tax laws which stood by virtue of the power vested in congress by the prohibition amendment.

flowed and water crept within a block of the main business section of LeFors. Water rose three feet in the baseball park. Several small houses on the banks of the river were washed away. Others were flooded but withstood the rush of water. Everyone was moved to safety before the water reached the town and no injuries were reported.

South of LeFors, the river cut a new channel in its made rush. A Texas company rig and separator in the path of the onrushing water, down its new channel, were swept away, leaving only the pipes protruding above the water.

The Texas company lost two oil pipelines but only a small amount of oil escaped. The lines were temporary ones, erected a week ago when six lines went out in a sudden rush of water. Employees watching the lines cut off the flow of oil soon after the break was discovered. Company officials estimated that 40 wells had to be shut down when the water carried away gas and water lines.

The Panicker Oil & Refineries lost several gas and water lines necessitating the shutting down of several drilling and pumping wells.

Phillips Wells Quiet
More than 30 Phillips Petroleum company wells had to be closed after the breaking of gas and water lines.

The Magnolia Petroleum company had to shut down its carbon black plant east of Pampa when water connections were smashed crossing the stream. The company also lost a number of gas and water lines connected with wells.

Other companies operating in the LeFors area, having water and gas lines crossing the river, were sufferers when the lines were cut out.

In the territory in and around Roxana, it was reported that 22 derricks were blown down when a twister swept that section. A small twister was noticed east of Pampa but it did no damage.

The Borger area was visited by a hard downpour which sent the water in Dixon creek out of bounds. The Humble Oil company's pump station on the bank of Dixon creek, near Borger, was flooded. Extent of the damage had not been learned yesterday, but it was expected to be large.

DRED SCOTT RECALLED
BALTIMORE, June 1. (AP)—Termining the supreme court's NRA ruling "probably as important" as the Dred Scott decision affecting slavery, Maryland's republican governor, Harry W. Nice, today proposed that Gov. Herbert J. Lehman of New York call a conference of all state executives to seek "a remedy."

tribal dances. At least three of them have performed their intriguing and savage dances in Europe. In one dance a brave bends backward four times and picks up a feather and never misses a dance step—he is the world's champion feather dancer.

They will have an opportunity to present all their dances, shout their war whoops and war cries in the Indian attack on a wagon train, the closing scene of the pageant. Sixty horses, and as many white soldiers, frontiersmen, women and children, including a camp fire quartet, will appear in this scene. Some of the wagons will be drawn by horses, some by oxen. About 800 rounds of ammunition will be fired in the attack. The fight will look real but of course it will be "only in the play."

Most all of those men one sees around town with bushy black whiskers will participate in the Indian attack.

Protecting the Indian scene, will be six acts equally as colorful but not so noisy, since only three sham battles are fought between Texas and Mexican soldiers. Seventy-five costumed characters make up the cast of these scenes.

The setting of the Billy the Kid episode will be the saloon-dance hall of Rowdy Kate in Tascosa. Present will be Panhandle Nan, Slippery Sue, Drowsy Dolly, Billy the Kid, and Rowdy Kate's dancers, all wearing the voluminous and romantic costumes of the '70s.

The first two scenes will show why Stephen F. Austin is the father and founder of Texas. Santa Anna will leer and jeer in his elaborate uniform. The New Orleans Grays, boy soldiers who died at Goliad with Fanning, will salute the first Texas flag—a huge flag, 12 feet long and 7 feet wide—on which was written "Victory or Death. The fourth scene, "Old Ben Milam," is dedicated to the late T. D. Hobart because it was one of his favorite stories of Texas history.

ly 25 persons were missing. No bodies had been recovered from floodwaters although late today they were receding. At Oxford, 29 were missing. Unconfirmed reports told of 12 deaths at Benkelman and of dead and missing at many other towns and villages, including six deaths at Alma. At least one man drowned at Trenton.

News that two entire villages—Max and Parks, with a total population of approximately 150 persons—had been washed away was confirmed at Burlington, railroad headquarters here. From Parks came official word that eight persons perished and 23 were missing. Their neighbors were safe at Benkelman. No casualty reports came from Max.

With Candles and Kerosene lamps, relief crews searched the valley as the roaring torrents dwindled. Twisted rails, driftwood barricades on highways, bridge and road wash-outs and a complete absence of telephone and telegraph service made progress slow.

TO GOLF FINALS

LUBBOCK, June 1. (AP)—John Edmission, veteran Lubbock Country club campaigner, and Joe Bihl, young star from Lubbock Meadowbrook club, came through shaky semi-final rounds this afternoon to become the finalists in the third annual Lubbock Country club invitation golf tournament.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McDonald will leave today for a visit to Houston, Dallas, and other cities downstate.

E. J. "Mickey" McGouldrick, manager of the Independent Eastern Torpedo company, is ill of pneumonia in Worley hospital. His condition was slightly improved last night.

Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Hunt and Miss Birdie Belle Turner, who have been visiting relatives in Ranger, Weatherford, and Fort Worth, returned home Friday.

CONCERT TUESDAY WILL BRING NOTED COLLEGE CHORUS, HERE

ARNO CLUB TO EXHIBIT TEXAS ARTISTS' WORK

NEXT YEAR'S PLANS ARE MADE AS SEASON CLOSURES

Next season's main project was planned by Arno-club, as it ended a year of work Friday afternoon. The meeting was at the home of Mrs. Eamon Wilson.

The club will book the Texas Fine Art exhibit for a showing here some time next year, members decided. This exhibit shows the work of Texas artists, and will be brought to Pampa in keeping with the club's policy of encouraging public interest in art, especially that of the southwest.

A contribution to the fund for summer recreational equipment was voted by members also.

Work of the past year was reviewed. The outstanding project was a county school art exhibit sponsored this spring, with dozens of entries and hundreds of visitors. A display of copies of art masterpieces was another main event.

Study centered around American artists the first of the season, and the development of modern art later in the year. Receipt of a state award for its work of the preceding season, conferred by the state federation of women's clubs in convention last fall, climaxed the year.

Present Friday were Meses. John V. Andrews, T. W. Sweatman, A. H. Doucette, E. L. Brooks, E. B. Scammon, R. E. Gatlin, T. F. Morton, and the hostess.

Tiny Pupils Give Program to End The Year's Work

The kindergarten located in the Chevrolet building, taught by Mrs. Clyde Gold, closed the year's work Friday morning with a program.

Billy Hutchinson was in charge of the first half of the program, with the following children assisting him: Betty Jane Boynton, recited "The Naughty Doll"; David Levine, Loy Dean Stone, and Bill Bellamy gave "The Duel, or The Gingham Dog and Calico Cat" as a trio; James Ramon Kinzer recited "Lizzie and the Baby"; an arithmetic contest was given with Frank Whitaker, Billy Hutchinson, Henry Carrington and Harold Blevins as the contestants.

The program was then handed to Henry Carrington, who completed it with the following:

Kenneth Hobbs told a story, "The Ambitious Little Apple," by Cora Bryant. Frank Whitaker gave "Father's Letter," Jackie Fletcher gave "Our Whippings," Harold Blevins "Seeing Things at Night," Davie Levine, Loy Dean Stone, Bill Bellamy, and Betty Jane Boynton read from the "P" meter readers, "The Race" and a few other short stories.

Kenneth Hobbs, Betty Jane Boynton, Jackie Fletcher, and Bill Bellamy had a contest in arithmetic, showing how rapidly they could put number work on the board.

James Ramon Kinzer told the story of "Peter Rabbit Had the Earache," Henry Carrington gave the reading, "The Night Wind."

At Christmas the number enrolled in this class was 23, but due to colds, sand storms, and other bad weather conditions, the school closed with an enrollment of 16. The school was pleased to have 20 visitors. The readings, taken from "Poems of Childhood," by Eugene Field, were well given. This closed the work for this season. The fall term will open the first of September at the same location, Mrs. Gold announced.

Bride-Elect Is Given a Shower By Junior Class

Honoring Miss Lela Scief, whose marriage to Walton Dempster is announced for June 14, a shower was given Friday evening by the Junior B. Y. P. U. of First Baptist church of which Miss Scief is leader.

It was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lee, with Meses. Ollie White and Wilson Hatcher assisting Mrs. Lee as hostesses.

Gifts were presented by the girls and boys to the honoree, after a number of games. Ice cream and cake were served.

Present were Miss Scief and Jean Edlen, Meribelle Hazard, Bonnie Lee Rose, Virginia Covington, Ellen Lee, Betty and oris Roundtree, Hazel and Virginia Newcomb, Helen Durham, Jenny Lynn Myatt, Alice Marie McConnell, Annastee Lee, Earlene White, H. E. Crocker, R. L. Edmondson, Floyd Hatcher, Bert Isbell, and the hostesses.

Take Parts in Joint Installation

A joint installation of Eastern Star officers for Pampa, Panhandle, and Borger was conducted at Panhandle Friday evening, with Mrs. Lou Gommilion of Pampa, left above, as installing officer.

Officers for Eastern Star chapters of three cities were installed Friday evening, in a joint ceremony at Panhandle. Pampa and Borger chapters participated. Mrs. Lou Gommilion, retiring worthy matron here, acted as installing officer. Mrs. Wendenburg of Borger was installing marshal.

Mrs. Ida Burns took office as worthy matron of the order here, aided W. W. Hughes as worthy patron. They were elected last month, with the following other officers also installed in the joint program: Madge Murphy, associate matron; Charles Ward, associate patron; Jessie Hoffman, conductress; Bertha Beck, associate conductress; Lillian Murphy, secretary; Augusta Yaley, treasurer.

Florence Neely, chaplain; Bessie Crummett, marshal; Vesta Palmer, organist; O. M. Anderson, sentinel; Agnes Rose, warder; Edrie Colvin, Ada; Madge Donnell, Ruth; Frankie Lee Hughes, Esther; Stella Gaylor, Martha; Maude Volves, Electa.

NEW PLANS IN SUMMER PLAY PROGRAM TOLD

Added details of the summer recreation program launched by the Council of Women's clubs and sponsored by civic organizations were heard in a post-season called meeting of the council last week.

Use of a room and playground equipment at each school in the city has been granted by the school board and several teachers have volunteered their assistance during the summer to directing activities. It was reported by Ben Gull, who will be supervisor of the program.

Beginning June 6, the recreational program will include children from 6 years and up, and will also feature some activities for adults.

Support has been secured from the Board of City Development for the supervisor's salary, and clubs in the council are donating funds for equipment. All women's clubs which have discussed at the last meeting plans for an entertainment early next fall, honoring all new presidents of clubs in the council.

Cake Baking To Be Discussed in H. D. Club Series

Cake baking, studied in April club meetings and practiced during the past month by women of county home demonstration clubs, will be the subject of another series of programs beginning Tuesday.

In the previous programs, club women learned that altitude affects cake recipes, and that for this country standard recipes must be varied. Increasing the fat content 16 to 25 per cent, decreasing sugar by 33 per cent and flour by 7 per cent was recommended.

Experiments with the changed recipes have been made the past month, and in June meetings the women bring cakes they have baked by new formulas, to be scored and judged.

Sunshine girls club will meet Monday morning with Margaret Tignor, Kingsmill club Tuesday and Bell club Wednesday. No meetings will be conducted on Thursday and Friday because of the Pre-Centennial celebration.

Interest among club women is pointing to the county quilt and linen show to be held in McLean. First planned for this month, it will be postponed to July when the state clothing demonstrator will be in the Panhandle and has promised to spend a day there.

Series to Begin At Church Today

A series of five Sunday night messages on the general theme, "The Whole Lot Family," will begin tonight at 8:18 at the First Methodist church when the pastor, Rev. Gaston Foote, will deliver a message from the subject, "Country Folks Move to Town."

George Wilson, Sioux Indian baritone, will sing special numbers, and a chorus choir led by W. V. Jarrett, accompanied by Mrs. May F. Carr will sing every Sunday night during the series.

Other subjects of the series will be, Lot in City Politics (Elected Mayor); Mrs. Lot and Girls in Society; Mrs. Lot Loves Her Sodom; and A Helpless Old Man With a Wicked Family.

This morning at 10:50 the firemen of Pampa will be special guests of the First Methodist church and Rev. Foote will speak from the subject, "Fire Fighting." A trio composed of Mrs. San Irwin, Mrs. Philip Wolfe and Frances Sturgeon will sing.

The new young people's department will have their first morning worship program at 9:45 o'clock with Miss Amanda Smith as leader.

Mrs. Joe Mullins Is Honored at Shower

A shower for Mrs. Joe Mullins Jr. of Borger was given Friday afternoon by Meses. John Kelley and Clarence Pulks at Mrs. Kelley's home on Magnolia street.

Flax and blue was the dainty color scheme. After several games, gifts were presented and inspected, and refreshments of sandwiches, potato chips, olives, minis, and iced tea were served.

Guests were Meses. Joe Mullins Sr. and Mrs. M. J. Mullins, Mrs. S. C. Barrow, Cyril Hamilton, Frank Hopper, L. Whaley, G. L. Stovall, D. W. Coffman, G. C. Heard, W. W. Russell, T. C. Carter, H. A. FAMILIES OF PLAINS JOINED BY MARRIAGE

STONE-LOCKE WEDDING IS ANNOUNCED AT MIAMI

The marriage last October 27, 1934, of Miss Dona Locke of Miami and Douglas Stone of Elida, N. M., announced yesterday by Mrs. Stone's mother, Mrs. Agatha Locke of Miami, united pioneer families of the Panhandle and Eastern New Mexico.

The ceremony was performed by the minister at the First Christian church at Archer City, where Mrs. Stone's maternal grand-parents were married.

Mrs. Stone, head of the English department in Panhandle high school during the last year, left yesterday to join her husband at Elida where he is cashier of the First National bank.

Mrs. Stone is a grand-daughter of Newton F. Locke who came to Mobeetie as a Texas Ranger in the 70's and has lived in this section ever since. Mr. and Mrs. Locke celebrated their golden wedding anniversary several years ago. Mr. Locke is a "charter" resident of the Panhandle. The Locke family has long been prominent in Miami. Ellis Locke, Mrs. Stone's brother, has been coach of Miami high school for several years.

Mrs. Stone is a graduate of McMurry college and of the University of Southern California. She taught school in Mineral Wells one year.

Mr. Stone attended Southern Methodist university and New Mexico Military Institute. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity. His father, James Polk Stone, was prominent in the development of Eastern New Mexico until his death a number of years ago. He established a bank at Portales and had other interests. The couple will make their home in Elida.

Oma Morris Is Party Honoree

Oma Claire Morris, three years old Thursday, was honoree at a birthday party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morris.

Mrs. Morris was assisted in entertaining the tiny guests by Oma Claire's grandmother, Mrs. A. D. Hughes of Amarillo.

Tumbling tables were given as favors, and pink ice cream and cake were served after several games.

Present were Irma Gene McWright, Belya Dull, Ronnie Hollingshead, Barbara McGowan, Elizabeth Ann Stewart, Jim Hamlett, Joyce Harrah, Coleen and Mary Jo Cockerill, Oscar Leon West, Bobby Roy Dyson, and the honoree.

Gifts were sent by Glenn and Dale Cary, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Stinson, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Dixon, Oma Blattenberg, Mary Lu Neath, Brice Lively.

CLASS HONORS MEMBERS WHO ARE TO LEAVE

Farewell Dinner Is Given Mr. and Mrs. Smith

The Business and College class of the Presbyterian church gave a farewell party Friday night for Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Smith, who are moving to Amarillo. The party was a pot-luck dinner, which consisted of a large variety of foods.

The table was decorated in pink candles in crystal holders, with a beautiful centerpiece of Calabium, which was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Smith as a remembrance. The house was decorated throughout with American beauty roses and mock orange blossoms.

The following were present: Messrs. and Meses. Burney Shell, E. C. Sidwell, Jesse Stalls, W. F. G. Stein, Bob Mullen, Harvey Todd; Mrs. Ted White, Miss Dorothy Mullen, and the honorees.

Church Services To Include Solos

Special music will be a part of both worship services at First Christian church today. Charles Thomas will sing a solo. The Palms, this morning, and R. L. Allston will sing this evening.

The sermon subject for the morning is "The Danger of a Vacuum," and John S. Mullen, minister, will preach this evening on the subject, "Hell and High Water."

BANDS OF MINK TRIM MUSLIN FROCK

PARIS (P)—Cotton and fur are combined to make a new evening gown which Princess Jean Louis de Faucigny Laing is wearing. The frock of white eyelet-embroidered muslin has a deep hem flounce of white organdy at the top of which runs a band of mink. White organdy ruffles rim the shoulder line.

TREBLE CLEF CLUBS TO BE THE SPONSORS

PROGRAM IS ARRANGED AS PRE-CENTENNIAL WEEK FEATURE

An outstanding musical organization of the Panhandle, the Balladors and Balladettes of Amarillo Junior college, will appear in a concert here Tuesday evening that will be the musical feature of Pre-Centennial week.

Treble Clef clubs are sponsoring the concert, to be given in city auditorium at 8 o'clock. Both junior and senior Treble Clef members have tickets for sale, at popular prices.

The chorus, directed by Alta Potts Turk, has won distinction in recent years by placing first in state contests for college choruses. Both classical and popular songs are in its repertoire.

Solos and ensemble songs, as well as numbers by the full chorus, will be included on the program here. It will close with a concertized version of Gounod's "Faust." The complete program is announced as follows:

Allah's Holiday, Friml; Nightfall in Granada, Beuno by the Balladors and Balladettes.

Sunshine of Your Smile, Ray, Branton Pioniken.

On the Shore, Neidinger, James Dalley.

Night Wind; Solitude, popular songs by a sextette.

We've Got Love and a Dime, popular song by Byron Ogle.

Chinese Lullaby, Bowers, Ruth Butler.

Black Coffee; Clouds, popular songs by a quartet.

Come Unto These Yellow Sands, LaForge, Helen Galloup.

Vesti in Gubbis, from "Pagliacci," Leoncavallo, by Bernard Meyer.

Flanders Requiem, LaForge; Voice of Spring, Greig; Sing Again My Heart, Weidig, by the Balladors and Balladettes.

The Jasmine Door, Scott; My Heart is a Silent Violin, Fox, by Alta Turk.

EDITORIAL

FIRST THINGS FIRST: Luke 12:15-21.

And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not of the abundance of the things which he possesseth. And he spoke a parable unto them, saying, The ground of a certain rich man brought forth bountifully: and he thought within himself, saying, What shall I do, because I have no room where to bestow my fruits? And he said, This will I do: I will pull down my barns, and build greater; and there will I bestow all my fruits and my goods. And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry. But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided? So is he which layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God.

Examining the Critics

Purported inaccuracies in the legislative investigating committee's report on the state permanent school fund deserve more than a casual examination. Immediately after the report was published, newspapers over the state began to comment upon the charge that the present Board has been responsible for a huge loss to the school fund. In a reply to the report, the Board has stated that the newspapers were, perhaps, justified in coming to the conclusion reached, in that the report was full of false statements, surmises, and general distortion of facts.

It is true that the committee report was a powerful indictment of the handling of the permanent school fund. In justice to the Board, its reply may be examined. The reply begins by quoting the state auditor's report as of June 30, 1933, relative to the permanent school fund: "From the foregoing it will be seen that the 'dead' balances shown by the books to be due from these railroads are a combination of false errors and omissions on the State records, and the officials in charge of them should speak to the necessary authorities to make proper adjusting entries in order that the true conditions of the permanent school fund may be reflected."

Minutes of the Board show that its resolutions have urged upon the legislature and the attorney general many steps to safeguard the school funds in particular instances, though in a number of instances nothing desired was done. For example, the Board of Education under existing law has no administrative authority over the public school lands of Texas, this being vested in the land commissioner and the attorney general.

The Board, in purchasing local school bond issues all over the state, was under great pressure. It cannot be logically charged with all responsibility for some defaulting districts, especially those of agricultural districts once prosperous but in recent years hard hit. The legislative committee's report classified the Board's bonds as 25 per cent fair, 25 per cent good, and 50 per cent undesirable. Unfortunately, this percentage basis would rather well describe the condition of school districts in Texas generally. The market value of the bonds was given as about 70 per cent of par. The credit of Texas districts, however, obviously is better than the fluctuations of the bond market would indicate.

As of last August 31, the permanent school fund had bonds of all kinds aggregating $43,962,997.55. Interest on this sum in the last year was $2,126,348.69. This represents a per cent return of 4.84, which certainly is rather good for "undesirable and fair" paper. As of this May 25, only 16 issues were reported delinquent for as much as two years. Considering the economic stress of the last five years, this record does not seem alarming.

The Board can purchase bonds only from the State and its sub-divisions and the U. S. government and then only from the issuing agency for par and accrued interest. Bonds must be approved by the attorney general as to form, eligibility, and legality, and the total amount of the indebtedness of the borrower must not exceed 7 per cent of its total assessed real estate values. The Board has voluntarily limited the due date in newly discovered oil counties to five years.

The best test of the Board's investments appears to be the way the maturities are being met. And the facts do not support the investigating committee in its wild statements. Although we do not doubt that the Board's experience has shown mistakes, the worst that could be said of it would be that it had shown no better judgment than its critics.

Awards Made at Close of Term In Dance Studio

When an award is offered in perfect attendance in most schools, only two or three pupils receive that distinction, but at the Vincent studio of dancing over 30 will receive recognition because of scholarship and attendance.

The following children out of a beginning enrollment of 80 pupils will receive special consideration at the Vincent school of dancing Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock: Beverly Stalls, Jean Evelyn Weeks, Troy Lynn Ruttman, Bobbie Gene Gilbert, Alice Sparford, Connie Lou Horton, Peggy Thomas, Barbara Davis, Yvonne Perry, Elizabeth Ann Sturgeon, May Jo Gallimore, Armenta Harness, Marion Hoover, Don Carlos Baer, Ruth Stocum, Tracy Cary, Shirley Hazel Noel, Dorothy Jo Moore (student assistant), Betty Sue Price, Frankie Lou Keen (student assistant), Joyce Smith (student assistant), Donna Jo Berry, Gloria Robinson, Jane Robinson, Dorothy Nelle Trimble, Patsy Rae Routh, Vada Lee Alden, Jo Shields, Betty Joyce Weeks, Peggy Lois Shank, Ethel Doris Sorens, Winnie Jean Mackenzie.

Children receiving special mention during the year for unusual scholarship but who will not be able to attend exercise Wednesday because of attendance records are as follows:

All of the students receiving awards or honorable mention appeared on at least one program presented during the year. Those receiving commencement honors Wednesday have appeared several times in public even though some are beginners. They will be featured in Mrs. Steele's opening program for next fall.

Others who aided Mrs. Steele with her work in the studio are Mrs. Frank Keen, rhythm instructor and pianist; Mrs. Earl Noel, pianist; Jeanette Price, Dorothy Jo Moore, Frankie Lou Keen and Joyce Smith, student assistants.

Many parents have already enrolled their children for next September and many of this year's students have their assignments for classes for next year.

SAM HOUSTON BAND ENDS BUSY YEAR WITH A BIG MEMBERSHIP

A successful year for Sam Houston school band closed with a busy final two weeks. A. C. Cox was director of the blue and gold uniformed band.

End of the term activity started with a trip to Plainview on May 14, to play for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention. A sign was carried with the appropriate legend, Pampa Schools Have Six Bands, and much attention was received.

With other bands of the city, the Sam Houston group, welcomed Wichita boosters on May 15, and that evening played in city auditorium for the Magnolia company employees' safety program.

Music for Wheeler graduation exercises was furnished May 16, when the school auditorium there was crowded. Supt. Gilmore and Principal Clarke of Wheeler school expressed appreciation, and band members were served refreshments.

On May 17, the band became part of a massed school band to play a concert for benefit of the Pampa Public library.

Band mothers served a covered dish luncheon for members and directors at school on May 22. Sam Houston Parent-Teacher association furnished ice cream and soda water. Mesdames Frazee, Lanham, W. Mullinax, Frank Culberson, Hugh Ellis, and Carlson formed the arrangements committee. A cash gift was presented to Mr. Cox in appreciation by the mothers for his work.

Several pictures of the band were taken recently, and copies are on sale at a local studio.

The band personnel includes Jack Libburn, Junior Zimmerman, Peggy Mae Ford, J. W. Staten, Hugh Stennis, Alford Pollard, Ethel Lane, Roy Cone, Mary Kate Bourland, Meribelle Hazard, Martha Frances Pierson, Margery McCoin, Neil McCullough.

J. B. OUTLOOK FOR PAMPA TO GET YOUNG DEMOCRAT MEET GOOD

That Pampa appears to have a good chance to get the 1936 convention of West Texas Young Democrats was reported to the local club Friday evening by John Ketter, president.

Mr. Ketter has been in conference with state and district officials who are preparing for the conventions beginning in Amarillo next Thursday.

Red Christy, state secretary, and Jack Little of the Amarillo club were visitors here Friday. Both were hopeful that the West Texas organization may be strengthened and that Pampa may have a part in bringing this condition about.

The Pampa club has pledged its assistance to the Amarillo club in entertainment of the big meetings of this week. The state department is in turn cooperating with Pampa by making it possible for Elliott Roosevelt to appear here at the Pre-Centennial next Friday.

Eugene Worley, state representative, also was here Friday to participate in the discussions.

To Pick Two Local Beauties

LA NORA TO BE SCENE OF CONTEST HERE

FINAL WINNER WILL RECEIVE SCREEN TEST

Two winners, rather than one as usually done, will be chosen in La Nora theater's annual beauty contest to be held next Tuesday and Wednesday at 9 p. m. on the stage.

The winners, with their chaperones, will have their expenses paid to the semi-finals at Lubbock somewhat later. "Miss Queen of the West," to be chosen at Roswell later, will receive a trip to Hollywood and a Paramount screen test.

In the local contest, the audiences will pick the winners through their secret ballots. Each patron will be given a ticket and will write the numbers of the two girls favored on the cardboard slips. The judges, who will be out of town men, will count the ballots. The winners will be announced on the second night. There will be a change of screen program each evening.

Business firms will sponsor the entrants, who may number as many as 35.

Ray Cooke, otherwise known as "Torchy," star of that famous series of "Torchy" comedies and who has had roles in "Gold Diggers of 1935," "Times Square Lady," "Taxie," "Happiness Ahead," "Now I'll Tell" and several others and who will next appear in Will Rogers' latest picture, "Doubting Thomas," has extended a personal invitation to the final contest winner, "Miss Queen of the Southwest," and her chaperone to be his guests at a famous Hollywood night club when the final winner journeys to that city for the Paramount screen test.

"Torchy" is well known in motion pictures, as he started his career over 8 years ago. He has promised a rapid series of introductions to famous movie stars personally. In addition to this invitation from "Torchy," the final winner and her chaperone will have another popular star, Reb Russell, as their personal escort and also will be entertained by Guy Kibbee.

The final beauty winner and chaperon will dine and dance with

Hollywood Escort of Beauty Winner

Reb Russell, above, movie actor, will be the personal escort of "Miss Queen of the West" when that beauty contest winner and her chaperone goes to Hollywood next fall. The local preliminaries will be held at La Nora theater Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

the stars in the famous "Blossom room" of the Hollywood Roosevelt hotel, have luncheon with RKO studio officials in the RKO commissary, be photographed with the movie stars, be gowned by the famous Lettie Lee, take a trip to beautiful Catalina island, visit San Diego, romantic Old Mexico and the California international exposition which is similar to the world's fair. This beauty will be selected from a group of contestants from Oklahoma, Texas, and New Mexico.

Another movie star offers to entertain the winner and chaperone. Guy Kibbee, famous comedian at Warner Bros., Hollywood, Calif., states in his own words, "I shall consider it a great honor to do all I can to entertain the beauty and her mother or chaperone. Here's hoping your contest is a great success."

LOCAL THEATER PROGRAMS

The Pampa theater program for this week follows:

La Nora Theater.
Today and Monday—Wm. Powell and Gloria Stewart in "Gold Diggers of 1935."
Tuesday—Bette Davis and Colin Clive in "Girl From 10th Avenue."
Wednesday and Thursday—Chas. Ruggles and Mary Boland in "People Will Talk."
Friday, Saturday—Warner Baxter and Ketti Gallian in "Under Palm-pas Moon."

Rex Theater.
Today, Monday—Jackie Cooper and Mary Astor in "Dinky."
Tuesday, Wednesday—Ricardo Cortez and Virginia Bruce in "Shadow of Doubt."
Thursday—Sally Blane and Chas. Starrett in "Silver Streak."
Friday, Saturday—George O'Brien in "Cowboy Millionaire."

State Theater.
Today, Monday and Tuesday—Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey in "Kentucky Kernels."
Wednesday, Thursday—Jean Muir and Ricardo Cortez in "White Cockatoo."
Friday, Saturday—Ken Maynard in "Down in Old Santa Fe."

SCRAMMEZ VOUS!

This is a Woman's Column!

Designed to acquaint women with those appurtenances which make for easier and more beautiful living.

Rest and relaxation are two of the most important aids to beauty treatment. You'll get this at the Orchid Beauty Salon. Have your next permanent with their Thermique machine. It is absolutely heaterless, eliminating the usual weight and possibility of burns. Prices from $3.50-$8.50. They're in the Combs-Worley building. Phone 654.

Early to bed, if you must early rise, keeps the wrinkles from coming around your eyes.

The house that Jack built was just nothing at all compared to the one that John Bradley has for sale. It is a 6-room modern home, with a double garage. It has servants quarters, is well located on the pavement, and he'll arrange good terms. Stop in, or call him at 672. His office is in the Combs-Worley building.

Tiny pieces of candied ginger or fruit peel are nice in a fruit cup.

"Those who live in glass houses" these days are wildly enthusiastic about it, for it's Carrara Glass, the new structural glass that is replacing the old bathroom and kitchen. It's extra smooth surface prevents staining, or the absorption of odors. You'll find it in a variety of colors at the Pampa Glass & Paint Co., 115 W. Kingsmill.

Having the blues is smart this season. Mlle. Cecile de Rothschild has almost her entire wardrobe in shades of this color.

"Sweets to the sweet," and flowers are the sweetest of all. On festive occasions, they add a note that nothing else can bring; to those in grief they bring solace above all else. For that extra special occasion, order flowers today from Emily's Flower Shop, 107 N. Frost, Tel. 492. (And for that "extra special" girl, they're always in order.)

Joseph's Coat here, no more stripes than does the frock. Thousand Stripes, worn by fashion wise Parisians.

Turning a cold shoulder won't help you in business, unless that business is keeping out moths. If so, a cold shoulder is the best possible way of doing it, and the best place is the cold room at EDMONDSON'S. It is equipped with a flowing-cold air-conditioning unit, which, at 36 degrees gives your furs and winter clothes complete protection. For summer storage call 854, EDMONDSON DRY CLEANERS.

There'll be "music in the air" this summer when Walter Hurst and Winston Savage get those school bands going. Now is the time to get your youngsters started on their summer music. And remember, Tarpley's, 115 1/2 N. Cuyler, carry the Conn Instruments, the best band instruments made, and also authentic varieties at lesser prices.

With the more demure styles of today, come the flower perfumes of a less sophisticated age.

"It takes a heap o' livin' in a house to make it home," but it surely wears down the furniture. This is the time of year for renovation. Why not go to the Texas Furniture Co., 210 N. Cuyler? They'll be glad to offer suggestions and furniture, that will help you in a big way.

And with the return of the "lavender and old lace" in styles, the traditional English complexion is scheduled for a comeback.

In the spring a young man's fancy may turn to thoughts of love, but a woman's turns to a new permanent at Brown's Beauty Shop, in the Adams Hotel. If your hair is inclined to be over-curly, a machineless permanent will give you a soft, natural wave; if it is hard to curl, a Eugene Reverse Spira turns the trick. June special, $5.

Chintz is no longer confined to bedroom furnishings. Now it goes a-dancing, a swank frock, and mayhap jacket to match.

Clothes may not make the man, but shoes just about make the woman, for on their comfort and style depends her sense of well-being and the chic of her whole ensemble. That's why I'm suggesting you go to Surratt's Bootery, next to the La Nora. They carry the Peacock and Vitality lines, the best in combined ease and smartness, with a courteous service that makes you want to go back.

If I were making violins. For any string quartet, I'd make them of tomato tins With tones of violet.

Getting the right wrinkle to your clothes is all-important, but not at all difficult, with the Singer Make-it-yourself Plan. They suggest a summer wardrobe, complete from active sportswear to dancing frocks, for only $25. Go to the Singer Sewing Machine Co., 214 N. Cuyler, phone 687. They'll gladly give you particulars and demonstrate their machines.

COOPER FILM BRINGS YOUNG WOMAN STAR

BETTY JEAN HANEY IS A WARNER BROS. "FIND"

The youngsters supporting Jackie Cooper in his last Warner Bros. starring vehicle, "Dinky," which comes to the Rex theater on Sunday, June 2, form a group that sounds like a "Who's Who" of the child stars of Hollywood.

When the picture was being cast it was decided to give the little star the very best supporting cast and no expense was spared in reaching out and getting the very best in child talent.

Betty Jean Haney, who is Jackie's "leading lady," is regarded as one of the most promising youngsters in motion pictures. She had just finished an important part in "Mary Jane's Pa" for Warner Bros. and stepped right into "Dinky."

Edith Fellows, who has been referred to as a "vest pocket" edition of Lily Pons, because of her exceptionally fine voice, was given the part of a little orphan.

George Ernest, who has won more hearts on the screen than any other youngster of his years with roles in "Little Men" and the "Mystery of Erwin Dredd," plays one of Jackie's orphan pals.

Another orphanage friend of Jackie in the story is Sydney Miller, who appeared in "The Band Plays On" and "Hi, Nellie."

The long straggly black hair of Frank Gernardi has stamped him as the offspring of one of Italy's sons and as such he is another of the little star's orphan pals.

In the military academy scene Jackie's closest friend is played by Jimmy Butler whose performance in "Romance of Manhattan" with Francis Lederer and Ginger Rogers, is being talked of all over the country.

Richard Quine as "Jackie" in "Dinky" is the snob who tries to curb Master Cooper's friendship for the unfortunate orphans in a neighboring institution. Dick is a capable young thespian who recently did parts in "Little Men" and "Wednesday's Child."

The grownups in the cast include Mary Astor, Roger Pryor, Henry Armetta, Henry O'Neill, Clay Clement, Florence Fair and Joseph Crehan.

The story is by John Fante, Frank Fenton and Samuel Gilson Brown, which D. Ross Lederman and Howard Brotherton directed from the screen play by Harry Sauber.

Jackie Cooper Here in "Dinky"

Here is a scene from "Dinky," the film now at the Rex theater in which Jackie Cooper is starred with Betty Jean Haney as his leading lady.

Baby Jane, Screen Starlet, Sends Birthday Cake to Quintuplets

"Baby Jane" Quigley, tiny Universal Pictures "starlet," is seen here holding a birthday cake that the clever little screen player had especially baked in Hollywood for the famous quintuplets in Canada. This cake is her personal gift to the notable Dionne babies on the occasion of their anniversary celebration.

The smiling film "starlet" has just taken the cake intended for the quintuplets from a refrigerator like the one sent from the Electro-lux plant at Evansville, Ind., to the little Dafoe hospital where it is now used to guard the food supply of the celebrated babies.

"Baby Jane," appearing in "Alias Mary Dow," with Sally Eilers, is also sending to the quintuplets as a birthday present the five "Baby Jane" dolls sitting at the foot of the refrigerator.

RELIEF LISTS ARE EXAMINED TO DETERMINE VALIDITY OF CASES

AUSTIN, June 1.—County relief administrators this week began a re-examination of the Texas relief lists to determine the validity of cases now on the rolls.

Federal emergency relief authorities ordered the study in this and all other states because the percentage of residents on relief varies widely from county to county and state to state. It is believed that analysis of the results may disclose reasons for these variations.

"This inquiry does not mean that we are setting out to reduce the Texas case load to an arbitrary figure," said Mrs. Val M. Keating, director of the social service department of the Texas Relief commission. "It does mean, however, that we expect to determine the eligibility to relief of every client on our rolls. Such a check very likely will reveal that in some counties the load is too high; in others that persons eligible to relief have not been so classified."

Special workers, directly responsible to the state relief office, are being sent into certain counties to conduct this re-examination. A questionnaire will be used in interviews which, when answered and signed by the client, will contain the information upon which a decision as to eligibility will be made.

In determination of budgetary deficiency, or lack of subsistence requirements, these workers will use a budget provided by Mrs. Keating's office. Instructions have been issued to reject all applicants whose incomes exceed the budget allowed. This budget is not uniform. Mrs. Keating said, it varies according to conditions peculiar to counties and will be higher in some than in others. In all cases, however, it is based on the family's needs and is established to cover minimum subsistence requirements.
