CLIPPER HOPS TO HONOLULU SECOND TIME

FLIES FROM ALAMEDA JUST SHORT OF 18 HOURS

HONOLULU, June 13. (AP)—The Pan-American Airways clipper arrived at Pearl Harbor at 6:26 a. m. today (10:56 a. m. Central Standard Time) from Alameda, Calif.

The giant seaplane completed the first leg of its pioneering commercial flight to Midway Island in just three minutes under eighteen hours, which apparently was the schedule on which she was running.

She came out of the east over Diamond Head flying very fast.

The plane shot over Honolulu, circled the air base at Pearl Harbor in a sweep three miles seaward, then settled down in the long arm of the channel for a perfect landing.

A gentle northeast wind was blowing on her tail as she arrived. Among the first to greet Captain Edwin L. Musick and his crew of five were the plant inspectors of the department of agriculture, who were waiting to give the craft a routine inspection.

The time for the 2,410-mile hop from the mainland was virtually the same as that on the clipper's first flight last April. The plane appeared over Honolulu 17 hours and 44 minutes after the take-off on the initial test trip.

There was little more fanfare today than on the daily return of navy flying coats from regular exercises.

The only official greeters were Commander Elmer W. Todd and Lieutenant Commander Henry M. Mullinix of the naval air base at Pearl Harbor.

Gassaway Will Attack Long In Baltimore Soon

BALTIMORE, June 13. (AP)—With his topic baldly announced as "Why Huey Long Should Be Eliminated," Rep. P. L. Gassaway (D., Okla.) will invade Baltimore on horseback June 20 to deliver another verbal assault on the Louisiana Kingfish.

The Oklahoman will clap his saddle on a local horse and ride thru Baltimore to the Elks club, where he will deliver his speech under the Calumet democratic club's auspices. The reception committee said last night Gassaway has asked for a male quartet to be present—one able to "rattle" with harmony similar to "Sweet Adeline."

Young Demos To Meet Tomorrow

A meeting of the Young Democrats club has been called for tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the county court room, by John Ketter, president.

Every member is urged to be present. Prospective members and visitors will be welcome. The membership campaign begun before the recent state convention at Amarillo will be continued.

Activity and interest in the local organization are expected to grow due to the fact that the West Texas convention will be held here next year.

NO CHARGES

WEATHERFORD, June 13. (AP)—County Attorney Frank Fulham said today no charges would be filed as a result of the death Tuesday night of Price Glazner, 18, a civilian conservation corps worker, after an altercation. Fulham said an investigation revealed the death, caused by a ruptured artery above the right ear, was "purely accidental."

I Heard...

Sheriff Earl Talley, sitting in the grandstand at Road Runner park last night, remarking to State Highway Patrolman R. H. Routh that as soon as his injuries got better he was going to have to put Grover Seitz in the dark cell to keep him from swiping the home plate so often. The high sheriff also thought it would be necessary to put hobbles on Al Summers to keep him from burning up the turf.

Thousand Dead In Arms Factory In Germany, Believe

Explosion Is Worst Catastrophe In History

BERLIN, June 13. (AP)—Unconfirmed and unofficial estimates at Reinisdorf place the number of dead in the explosion of the West Flian Anhalt explosives factory today as high as one thousand but the ministry of propaganda in Berlin said that the toll would be less than 100. The factory employs 1,300 workers.

The explosion was called one of the worst catastrophes in German industrial history. It occurred while the factory was working at full shift and there were hundreds of workers in the different work shops which collapsed following the blast. Windows in houses several miles away were smashed and debris, stones, and metal were projected in the air for long distances.

All ambulances in Wittenberg were requisitioned and every physician in the district was ordered to hurry to the scene. Strong forces of the army, storm troopers and labor corps were put to digging in the debris for the dead.

Telephone calls to Wittenberg for more details brought the reply: "We are not permitted to say anything concerning it."

Japs Ready To Put China To Sword If Army Is Resisted

TIENSIN, June 13. (AP)—Sino-Japanese tension increased tonight when Japanese army authorities announced they had received evidence of a "new secret anti-Japanese society," similar to the banned blue-shirts, "organizing heresobuts with the cooperation of Nanjing."

The spokesman added, "we are investigating."

Commenting on Nanjing reports that the Japanese were demanding a written acceptance of their terms from the Chinese, Japanese army quarters here flatly denied such written acceptance had been called for, saying they would be "satisfied with verbal approval."

Reliable foreign quarters said there was no question but what Japanese troops were pouring steadily into Shanhaiwan.

Patrolmen Will Inspect Cars In City June 19-22

Six state highway patrolmen will arrive here next week from various Texas cities to conduct an automobile drivers' safety campaign. Don Conley, chairman of the city traffic committee, announced today that the patrolmen would be here June 19, 20, 21, and half of June 22 to make safety lane inspections. The inspections will be sponsored by the Junior chamber of commerce which body recently instructed Mr. Conley to write the highway department and secure dates for the inspections.

Open Flow Of Gassers Shows Some Decrease

100 Gas Wells Are Tested In Wheeler and Eastern Gray County Gas Fields.

With nearly 100 gas wells in Wheeler and eastern Gray county already tested, engineers of the Texas Railroad commission, testing the 1,107 gas wells in the Panhandle field, announced this morning that the open flow had decreased about 15 per cent since the last test, made in April, 1933.

The decline was not as great as anticipated, it was reported at Railroad commission headquarters here. Bottom hole pressure in that particular area was also greater than expected.

Chemical engineers here to test the hydrogen sulphide of the gas in the Panhandle field will have their laboratory set up tomorrow and will immediately start a test of the gas. Two experts are here to conduct the test.

The engineers have little fear in predicting that the open flow and the bottom hole pressure of the huge gas area west of Pampa, center of the stripping area, will be greatly reduced.

The gas situation will be studied tomorrow in Amarillo where a hearing of the Railroad commission will be held. Several plans of controlling the gas waste situation in the Panhandle have been advanced but to date no set rule has been made.

Government Rests In Trial Of Laska

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 13. (AP)—The government rested at 11:58 a. m. today in its case charging Ben B. Laska, Denver attorney, with receiving $10,000 of the $200,000 Urschel kidnap ransom.

Resting of the case for the prosecution came just before the noon recess.

Claid Nowlen, defense attorney, gave notice that immediately after court convened for the afternoon session he would ask for a directed verdict of acquittal of the charge against James C. Mathers, 30-year-old Oklahoma City attorney charged with receiving $1,000 of the Urschel ransom.

A government witness was excused to return to Denver.

Sebastian Court Martial Starts

BROOKLYN, June 13. (AP)—Lieut. Henry A. Sebastian went to trial today before an army court martial at Fort Hamilton on the charge that he married Harriet Hagman, Vanities dancer, in 1931 while he was still a student at West Point. The trial opened behind closed doors.

Mrs. B. F. Mitchell, an aunt of the army officer, said at Gainesville, Tex., that Sebastian was not married until June 12, 1934, the day of his graduation as a cadet.

Marriage while a cadet is a violation of army regulations. If convicted Sebastian faces possible dismissal or reduction by several files on the promotion list.

Sebastian was a football star at West Point. His wife sued for a separation two months ago, and the present court martial is based upon the information stated in that suit.

When the trial adjourned for lunch, Col. Charles G. Hamilton, presiding over the court, told reporters that he had no statement to make. He would not say if there would be a public statement at the end of the court martial.

40 AND 8 TO MEET The 40 and 8 will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Legion hall. All members were urged to be present for an important business meeting.

LONG FINALLY LEAVES FLOOR ABOUT 4 A M

KINGFISH TALKS ALL NIGHT; TELLS HOW TO STEAL EGGS

By CLARENCE M. WRIGHT Associated Press Staff Writer WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—Final congressional approval of the NRA extension resolution by tomorrow night was indicated today when President Roosevelt told house leaders he was willing to accept the measure, passed earlier in the day by the senate after crushing a 15 1/2 hour filibuster by Senator Long (D-La.).

At a White House conference with house leaders, the president said he also would accept the Borah amendment to tighten enforcement of anti-trust laws.

Just before the conference, Chairman O'Connor of the rules committee, commenting on the senate addition of the Borah amendment, said: "Long 'Gives Up'."

"To hell with them. If their amendment is what I understand it to be, the house wouldn't stand for it and I shall fight it."

The senate adopted the NRA resolution extending and abbreviated NRA until next April 1 at 6:10 a. m. Some senate leaders expressed the opinion that Long, white faced and weary, had given up at 4 a. m., leaving Senators Schall (R-Minn) and McCarran (D-NeV) to carry on. They emphasized he was not refused recognition later by the chair, but just "gave up."

Since parliamentarians said it would take unanimous consent to get house approval of the senate measure today, the schedule was to bring in a special resolution tomorrow making it in order to accept the senate resolution.

The conferees to whom President Roosevelt expressed his attitude included Speaker Byrns, O'Connor and Chairman Doughton of the ways and means committee.

Although at least one of these conferees—O'Connor—was reluctant to accept the Borah amendment, it was intimated the president feared the measure would not be enacted in time to keep NRA from dying unless the house accepts the senate change.

The present NRA expires Sunday night unless the legislation is enacted before that time.

The Long speech-making, storytelling and recpe-giving ended finally at 4 a. m., having lasted since shortly after noon yesterday.

The Louisiana senator was succeeded by Senator Schall (R-Minn), but the blind senator confined himself to a written speech which was read by the clerk. This took about an hour. Then Senator McCarran (D-NeV) took the floor.

IL DUCE EXPELS CHICAGO 'TRIB' CORRESPONDENT

Dictator Also Bans New York Times From Italy

ROME, June 13. (AP)—The Italian government press bureau today expelled David Darrah, the Rome correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. Darrah and his wife were forced to leave immediately.

The reason for Darrah's expulsion was given as the writing of anti-Italian articles. It was said that Darrah had attacked the financial structure of the country and the allegiance of the people to the fascist regime.

The correspondent's expulsion came shortly after the press bureau had banned the New York Times from entering Italy owing to a displeasing editorial entitled "Baldwin and Mussolini."

Darrah is the fourth foreign correspondent to be expelled from Italy since March, the others being two Germans and an Austrian.

The Foreign Press association, the local organization of foreign newspapermen accredited here, has the matter under advisement.

The editorial which brought about the ruling against the Times was printed after recent speeches of See IL DUCE, Page 8

REAL 'HERO OF YPRES' REMAINS UNSUNG

When Viscount Byng, famous British wartime troop commander, died the other day the newspapers were full of tributes to "the hero of Ypres."

It was Byng who commanded in the bloody salient about that Belgian town when the Germans rimmed it with heavy artillery, drenched it with poison gas, and poured the flower of their army into it in a desperate, vain effort to smash their way to the sea.

In all its centuries of fighting the world has seldom of ever seen any more bloody or determined struggle than the one which raged about Ypres. And because we like to personalize all combat, we speak of how Hindenburg tried to take the place, how Haig parried his thrusts, how Byng heroically beat him back; and Byng is and always will be "the hero of Ypres."

Such a way of speaking is natural. We seem to be unable to make a hero out of a whole army. And no army is ever much stronger than the man who leads it; if he cannot diffuse some of his own fire and determination into it, it will fail, no matter how brave and sturdy its individual members may be.

And yet there is a great deal of injustice in this habit of ours.

For the real hero of Ypres, like the real heroes of all the other great battles of the World War, was not any benedictine general. He was a bowed, weary, dirty, nameless private soldier; a man who lived in mud and ate his food, when he got any, in the hideous reek of the battlefield, and endured terror and strain and agony greater than anything even Dante could imagine for his inferno.

This man has never had his just dues. Probably he never will get them, because the only men who can really understand what he went through are the men who stood at his shoulder and suffered with him, and they do not talk much about it.

But we must not forget him when we start talking about the "hero" of this battle or that battle. His were not the mistakes of command. He never sacrificed a company, or a battalion, or a whole army, because of stubborn pride, or misunderstanding of the conditions of modern war, as some of the generals did.

He never sent someone else out to go through a hell that he himself did not have to enter. He was there, in the thick of it, dogged and heroic with a heroism that passes all ordinary understanding.

It is no use trying to learn his name, for there were millions of him. He came from every nation and wore every uniform; he left his bones at Ypres and Cambrai, at Verdun and along the Somme, by the Masurian Lakes and on Gallipoli peninsula.

The glory of war passes him by. The titles and the medals go to the generals. But the real hero of the war was and always will be the unsung and inglorious private soldier, who let his superiors send him out to the most horrible of deaths because he had in him something that was brave, loyal and deathless.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Dutcher

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Dr. Tugwell's enemies are licking their chops.

They suspect that the Rural Resettlement Administration will prove to be a millstone around the young doctor's neck. Many of Administrator Tugwell's friends fear exactly the same thing. The RRA is his big part in the work-relief program.

Secrecy veils the build-up and the planning activities of the Tugwell organization, on the theory that the less said now, the better. One gathers from what seeps out that this is the most conspicuous piece of good judgement of which RRA can yet be accused.

It's nothing new to find a New Deal agency floundering around, seeking its bearings. But the character of the personnel being recruited for this one, with a very few exceptions, is such as to make Tugwell's admirers break into frequent spasms of tears.

No shabbier trick has been pulled in this administration than when the powers wished on Tugwell the expensive, mismanaged Subsistence Homestead program, which seems to stand as New Deal Mess No. 1.

It appears now that Dr. Tugwell is trying to wish Subsistence Homesteads back on the Interior Department if he is spared the headache of liquidating it.

He will have enough grief without that.

Barring a reversal of present form, most of the prize lemons in the disintegrating NRA will find jobs with RRA.

Tugwell has been allocated $100,000,000 to date for his job of resettling, re-employing and rehabilitating stranded farm families. More will be available if he can get that spent.

It is commonly feared that Tugwell, as an administrator, is a valuable presidential adviser: Liberals, especially, would hate to see him join the procession of Moley, Douglas, Johnson, Richberg, and others out of official life.

They hope Rex will fool them by making RRA something other than a flop.

The U. S. supreme court foiled up for the season with a clean docket.

For three years it has been managing to dispose of all cases taken under advisement by the time of its last "opinion day."

During the summer the justices study writs of certiorari and petitions from those seeking to bring cases before the court.

The next big constitutionality test of an administration measure probably will be that of the AAA processing taxes.

University of Chicago grads employed in the New Deal gathered ammunition from government records to use against a millionaire who charged their alma mater had become a hotbed of Communist teaching.

First they found the Food and Drug Administration had assessed a fine against the gentleman for a product which the administration decided wasn't all it should have been.

Then they learned that the wealthy critic was drawing a Spanish War pension of $10 a month from the government.

Gleefully, they shipped the information out west.

When a couple of bores get together, it's a case of an I for an I.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By ROBBINS COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Undaunted by the influx of operatic singers, some of your popular movie people are dilling up whatever voices they possess and preparing to croon, warble, or screech their way to added fame. Letting the diamond horseshoe sopranos have the arias, the players who hitherto have specialized in voices for speaking only want to be prepared should a ditty, simple and tuneful, come their way. They are casting off vocal inhibitions, "so you won't sing, eh?" was just a temporary title. It was changed, if you recall, to "Sing and Like It". The movie boys and girls, they sing and love it.

Joan Do Musical

It is reminiscent of the first burst of screen music when Hollywood, as well as the rest of the town, was surprised to hear tunes from Nancy Carroll, Estelle Taylor, Gloria Swanson, Charles (Buddy) Rogers, Charles Farrell, Janet Gaynor, and a crew of others from the silent films. Some of these did better than the others, of course.

Joan Crawford, who sang a number in the old "Hollywood Revue," has been taking singing lessons and they are planning to star her in a musical soon. Franchot Tone is studying voice, too. Gene Raymond surprised everybody in "Sadie McKee" and proved it was no double by singing on personal appearances.

Some Doubt Jean

Will Rogers' outburst in "Life Begins at Forty" was a highlight of the film, and Jean Harlow is supposed to sing in "Reckless," although her previous had more than a suspicion of vocal doubling despite studio insistence that Jean did her own moaning-lou.

Lionel Barrymore, playing a doctor in "Public Hero No. One," has a drunk scene in which he is supposed to break into song. J. Walter Ruben, directing, advised him to burlesque it. Instead Barrymore sang it "straight" — but then he used to sing some on the stage.

There's a scene in "Masquerade" in which a concert singer intones "You're All I Need." The camera pans to Myrna Loy, who sings it softly, directing, advised him to burlesque it. Instead Barrymore sang it "straight" — but then he used to sing some on the stage.

Speaking of voices—and of a real one this time—Maria Jeriza is the latest opera star to flirt with a film contract, and the odds are better than even that she is to sing in Metro's projected "Life of Johanni Strauss." The role calls for a stately beauty who is an opera singer, and that describes Jeriza.

Third Party Advocates To Meet In Chicago July 5-6

Farmer-Labor Party Issues Call For Meeting

ST. PAUL, June 13 (AP)—Farmer-Labor, trade unionist and socialist leaders today threw their weight behind a third party movement in 1936.

Other insurgent groups, notably the Wisconsin LaFollette progressives, and the Nebraska democratic faction headed by former Governor Bryan, brother of the "Great Commoner," withheld comment for the present.

Howard Y. Williams, national organizer for the Farmer-Labor party, issued a call today for a third party convention to meet in Chicago, July 5 and 6.

Admitting a schism in the third party ranks over the timeliness of the movement, Howard said there was sufficient interest to warrant calling the meeting.

"My own feeling is that if economic conditions continue to disintegrate," Williams said, "we ought to make a strong drive for a third party in the 1936 election with a national ticket."

The Chicago conference, he said, would bring 150 to 200 leaders of trade unions who were moving in a progressive direction together with third party congressmen and farm leaders in the hope they would support the movement.

The purpose of discussion, he said, would be to determine on what lines a third party would be inaugurated. The group would give no thought to possible nominees.

Williams declared, "even in event of inflation we should elect from 40 to 100 third party candidates to congress from the midwest in 1936. And if inflation is not forthcoming the sky is the limit to the number we may elect."

"We may even hold the balance of power if the republicans make inroads on the present democratic representation in congress."

"I am pushing for a national ticket in 1936 in the belief it would help the third party movement in the states. The socialists are ready to come in with us now."

Shriners March In Rain Before Chief Executive

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—After sloshing up Pennsylvania avenue to pass in review before President Roosevelt in rain that looked like a cloudburst, the Shriners hung their fezzes out to dry today and hoped for better weather for their grand finale.

That comes tonight when the nobles hold the final parade and pageant of their 61st annual convocation. The chief executive and the first lady again are expected to be spectators.

The president enjoyed last night's parade, insisting upon standing throughout the procession, he acknowledged salutes, with waves of his hand, shouted "good work" to reward the drill teams, and bared his head for the legions of honor, consisting of Shriners who are world war veterans.

36 ARMY BASES IN FIVE STATES ARE ASKED BY WAR DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—A request for $17,071,388 to finance 36 army base construction projects in five states was left at work relief headquarters today by the war department.

The work proposed would be done in Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California and Kansas.

Simultaneously, the labor department asked $400,000 for research designed to aid the United States employment service in selecting and placing workers on relief jobs and in private industry. The department said it would use this money to carry on studies in Baltimore, Newark, Chicago and 11 other cities not yet selected.

The employment service, which is now classifying those who are to be given work relief jobs, was described as hopeful that the studies would show how a worker who loses his job because of improvements in manufacturing methods could find employment in a related industry. A statement issued by the work relief publicity office said the program also is intended "to provide employment services with some useful tools to aid in the selection of individuals for referral to given occupations, particularly the millions of younger persons seeking their first job where they can not be placed in terms of previous experience."

Meanwhile, a proposal that President Roosevelt use $1,000,000,000 of the $4,000,000,000 works fund to help the durable goods industries put more men to work claimed attention in congress. A bill to authorize such an expenditure was introduced yesterday by Rep. Mitchell (D-Tenn.), who said factories supplying machinery and materials would be reimbursed under its terms for losses directly attributable to hiring new men. Mitchell asserted his plan would aid in the production of $80,000,000 worth of durable goods which he said was needed by private industry.

WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS
 Wash Out Your 79,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes
 Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestine, yet the kidneys contain nearly 10 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 79,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.

Healthy persons pass thru the bladder 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste-matter. If you pass less than this, your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is a danger signal, the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to wash out your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

A death sentence assessed W. D. May in Tarrant county for murder of Jack Sturdivant in July, 1933, was made as the court denied May's motion for a rehearing.

Avirett was convicted in the death of James Malcolm Stewart of Katy last November 17 on a highway leading from Waco. Trial court errors advanced as ground for reversal included acts of jurors in talking to outside persons after having been impaneled, and refusal to admit defense testimony concerning the conduct of the deceased.

The May conviction was affirmed by the appellate court May 8, and his attorneys sought a rehearing, stressing in the appeal their allegation the trial court did not properly charge the jury on ar'alibi defense.

Sturdivant's death was one of three described as "the Hindley triple murders," for which O. D. Stevens and M. T. Howard were indicted separately. Sturdivant's body was found with those of Harry and J. B. Rutherford in a Trinity river tributary.

Stevens also was sentenced to death for the killing but his appeal has not been decided. Howard has not been tried on the murder charge.

These men were convicted in the $71,000 Texas & Pacific mail robbery of February 21, 1933, at Fort Worth and are now serving sentences in Alcatraz federal prison. May's sentence was 27 years.

Date of May's electrocution, which could be prevented by executive clemency, will be set by the trial court in Tarrant county after the appellate court has forwarded the mandate.

The court denied the state's motion for a rehearing in the case of Roy J. Daniel, whose conviction in Wichita county of embezzlement of $11.09 from the Wichita county democratic executive committee previously was reversed and prosecution ordered dismissed.

The court ruled the indictment was faulty for it was drawn under a statute pertaining to embezzlement from a corporate body, while a political party was held to be a voluntary association.

A life sentence assessed Arthur Pullen in Johnson county under the habitual criminal act upon a conviction of theft was upheld.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

The cooking problem of a bride is time. That's why the best investment you could make for your favorite young-woman-getting-married is a cooking time-table.

They have been worked out in kitchen laboratories for every branch of the culinary scene.

There are factors, though, which must be considered in the cooking of vegetables that time tables cannot help with. Maturity, how long picked and size, for instance, cannot be calculated in the table.

The experienced housewife has a definite routine that enables her to get everything on the table, in good condition, at once. The new cook has to learn this.

Wilted Vegetables Take Longer

It will help to know that all young, freshly gathered vegetables will cook in less time than riper ones. Vegetables which have wilted will take longer to cook than unwilted ones. Small vegetables or large ones cut in small pieces will cook quicker than those left whole. The more surface exposed, the shorter the cooking time.

Very fresh green peas should not be shelled if they are not a good vegetable to choose when dinner must be served in thirty minutes because it takes time to shell peas, longer than preparing beans or potatoes. And if they are not fresh from the garden and perfectly young and tender, they will need thirty minutes.

Asparagus is a convenient vegetable if you are in a hurry because it cooks in twenty to thirty minutes and is quickly prepared.

Beans, either green or yellow, should cook in thirty minutes if they are fresh and young and cut in diamonds. If they break with a snap, you may be pretty certain that they are fresh. Older beans take longer.

Tomorrow's Menu.

Breakfast: Stewed rhubarb, ready-to-serve cereal, cream, waffles, syrup, milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Creamed sardines, cucumber sandwiches, strawberry shortcake, lemonade.

Dinner: Mock filet mignon, mashed potatoes, buttered asparagus, watercress and orange salad, pineapple tapioca pudding, milk, coffee.

Cook all green vegetables UNCOVERED. Start them in boiling water and serve as soon as tender. Prolonged cooking not only causes loss of color but makes the vegetable unappetizingly soft and tasteless.

New carrots cut in thin slices cook tender in fifteen minutes. Diced they will take longer. Since they are lightly scraped, they are quickly prepared and only a few minutes need be allowed for their preparation. Although not green, cook uncovered.

New beets require only a thorough scrubbing for preparation and they should cook in thirty to forty minutes.

Bake Potatoes an Hour

Potatoes vary according to the method. Baked potatoes need an hour in an oven which registers 400 degrees F. Boiled potatoes require from thirty to forty-five minutes, depending on the size. Cut in half lengthwise they will cook tender in boiling water in thirty minutes.

Individual tastes naturally influence the time of cooking, too. Some people like vegetables, cooked more than others, just as some prefer roast beef rare and others medium.

Train yourself to cook green and succulent vegetables in as little water as possible. They will need closer watching, but they cook quicker and taste better.

TREASURED ANTIQUES SHOWN IN ONE PRE-CENTENNIAL EXHIBIT

So much news happened during the crowded two days of the Pre-Centennial, Pioneers Roundup and Oil Show that it was impossible to publish it all at that time. One of the items that the reporters passed up for the time being but which was seen and admired by thousands was the display window of the Violet Shoppe which contained probably the most valuable and elaborate exhibit in town.

Antiques displayed belong to Mrs. Frank Clarke and Mrs. Morris Levine of Pampa and were handed down in their family for more than two centuries through the grandfather of Capt. Thomas Applebee, who was captain in the War of 1812 at the age of 16. Mrs. Levine is his granddaughter.

The exhibits on display were as follows:

Chinese punch bowl, 200 years old; bronze urn, 150 years old; brass mirror, 150 years old; bronze peacock, 150 years old; bronze vase, 75 years old; candle snuffers, 150 years old; old vase, 200 years old; jeweled plate, 250 years old; old white pitcher with face carved on, brought over by Dutch when they settled in New York; candle sticks, 200 years old; old gate legged table with secret drawer, 150 years old; lantern like one Paul Revere used on his midnight ride when he rode through country warning colonists the British were coming; Roman striped shawl, 200 years old; silver tea pot, 100 years old; Masonic apron like one worn by George Washington, made by hand; old bonnet and parasol worn by Mrs. Applebee when she came from England to marry Capt. Applebee; garnet and bar pin given to Mrs. Applebee by her husband-to-be before he left for the U. S.

Other exhibits:

Owned by Mrs. Stroupe—Idol from India, 200 years old; solid brass smoking set; coat wedding present, brought by Mrs. Stroupe from India, made by children 12 years old. A counterpane, carded, dyed and woven by Mrs. Gertie Arnold's grandmother, Betty Sipe.

Points in Cake Making Learned By Hopkins Club

"When frosting a cake, do not leave the top smooth but have enough icing on the back of the spoon to make an interesting swirl," Miss Ruby M. Adams, county home demonstration agent, suggested to Hopkins club in a meeting with Mrs. Ralph Manley Tuesday afternoon.

If frosting hardens before the cake is completed, Miss Adams advised that a small amount of lemon juice be squeezed into it, or vinegar as a substitute, and the frosting placed in a pan of boiling water to keep it the consistency for spreading.

Seven cakes made by club members were brought to the meeting and scored. Mrs. Jim Hopkins' cake ranked highest; Mrs. E. F. Vandenburg's frosting was judged best.

Refreshments were served to four guests: Mrs. Jack Stephens, and Opal Franklin; Misses Toy Lee Bird and Peggy Stephens; and 12 members: Mrs. R. I. Davis, S. J. Fleming, J. C. Campbell, C. P. Couts, Mary Mabelle, G. Fingall, Jim Hopkins, Robert Brown, Hopkins, Vandenburg, Manley; Misses Pae Davis, Geneva Skinner, and Adams.

WALEYS PLEAD NOT GUILTY IN KIDNAP CHARGE

TEMPORARILY ESCAPE NEW DEATH LAW OF STATE

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.) TACOMA, Wash., June 13 (AP)—Temporarily escaping Washington's new death-for-kidnapers law, Harmon M. Waley and his wife, Margaret, fought for their freedom today from the less stringent federal kidnap act for the abduction of 9-year-old George Weyerhaeuser.

Even as they pleaded "not guilty," department authorities pressed their search in Montana and Canada for William Mahan, bank robber and former convict, charged as the third member of the snatch gang.

Apparently the Waleys, who were flown here yesterday from Salt Lake City, hoped to beat the charge which put the case under federal jurisdiction—the allegation they crossed a state line, taking George to Blanchard and Spirit Lake in Idaho before his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weyerhaeuser Jr. brought about his release with $200,000.

The Waleys entered pleas of not guilty to the kidnap charge and to the charge they conspired with Mahan to use the mails to defraud George's father of the ransom sum.

Their bail on the conspiracy charge was set at $100,000 each—the exact sum the Weyerhaeusers paid for their boy's freedom. No bail was set on the kidnap charge.

Informed of the pleas, Pierce County Prosecutor Harry H. Johnston asserted:

"If they beat the federal case, I'll file under the state law and demand the death penalty. Even if they are convicted in federal court, and sentenced to life imprisonment, I can and will place a 'hold' on them so if they ever are paroled, we can immediately try them under the state law."

Washington's untried kidnap law makes death the automatic penalty for kidnaping unless the jury recommends life imprisonment. The Lindbergh law provides death only in case the victim is harmed.

Owen P. Hughes, who officiated at yesterday's brief arraignment before U. S. Commissioner H. G. Pich, said he could say nothing about federal prosecution plans until his chief, District Attorney J. Charles Dennis, arrives from San Francisco. He said Dennis is due home tomorrow or Saturday.

Department of justice operatives declined to explain why the Waleys were whisked away to the Thurston county jail at Olympia, or what the next step would be in prosecuting the Pacific Northwest's most notorious crime.

In waiving a hearing at the arraignment and declining to be represented by an attorney, it was explained, the Waleys cannot be tried in federal district court until a grand jury has been summoned and has indicted them. Then they would be arraigned before the district judge.

It was also explained that they could then change their plea to guilty, "copping a plea and a life sentence," in exchange for their reported confessions which implicated Mahan and resulted in the recovery of about $116,000 of the ransom money.

Otherwise, they can stand on yesterday's denial of guilt, challenging the government's proof that they crossed a state line with their little hostage.

From a prosecution standpoint, the Waleys couldn't have done better if they had been following government instructions. When the Waleys waived preliminary hearing, they saved the government from submitting any of its evidence.

Search for Mahan, the slippery third member of the accused gang, drifted from Montana, where he abandoned an automobile and $15,150 ransom currency last Sunday, into Canada, his former home in Victoria, Saskatchewan.

A man was picked up at Modridge, S. D., but federal agents said he was not Mahan.

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McElliot © 1935, NEA Service, Inc.

Chapter 17
"Look," Sally coaxed brightly, "if you come along with me to the Club for a bit probably Father will be home by the time we get back. Then you can see him and talk to him."

"I don't like to see you in a place of that sort," Michael Heatheroe argued.

"Michael, that's terribly sweet of you," Sally's dimples faded in their place a grave wistfulness brooded. "I do—I mean it! I think that's terribly sweet. But don't you see I'll be perfectly all right with you there. You're so very strong, Michael."

Her voice was so soft. Her brown liquid eyes were luminous. For the moment Sally was all woman. She was Circe in a pink lace dress.

"All right," Michael said grudgingly. "But I'm against it, don't forget that."

"You're a lamb." She laid a fluttering, warm hand on his wrist. "I'll do something for you some time. Besides Father will be pleased. He said you were such a sterling young man. Honestly, that's what he said."

"Thank," said Michael, getting red and feeling a fool. But it was all right if Sally said such things to him when there was no one else to hear. She was really a sweet little thing. She said the first thing that came into her head.

So it was that, as Katharine's car turned out of the driveway of the Bath Club, Sally's drove in. Michael saw Katharine. He caught a glimpse of Dr. Kaye beside her, his thin, aristocratic face sharply cut above the black and white of his dinner clothes.

Sally, driving rather intently, did not see them. "Here we are," she cried gaily, jumping out. "Michael, we'll let the man park it, shall we? I don't know exactly where..."

But the doorman was not in sight. A waiter, looking rather wild-eyed, ran to the door, inspected them and ran back again. "Isn't he queer?" Sally marveled.

Michael pushed open the big, grilled door and went in. The marble-floored hall was empty. A fat cheek girl appeared from no-man's-land. "Where are you, where are you, looked rather disheveled. She viewed the newcomers with something like suspicion.

"Will someone find me a table, please?" Sally demanded with hauteur. "Miss Moon!"

There was a doorman, after all. He came on the run.

"What goes on here, anyhow?" Sally wanted to know. The doorman looked blank. It was, she knew, one of the best things doormen did. But Sally was curious. There was about the place a curious air of tenseness.

The few groups of people at the tables around the pool, to which they were presently escorted, seemed excited about something. The captain of waiters eyed Michael with suspicion, but purred when he heard Sally's name.

It was well, the employees of the Bath Club had been told, to "stand in" with the local fathers. Joseph Moon was a prominent local father. He ran the bank; he was a village trustee; he bossed the school board.

"This isn't so much," observed Sally in a dissatisfied tone. Michael grinned.

"What did you expect? People hanging from the walls?" She grinned. "I thought it would be more exciting."

"Oh, well, it's early for this kind of place," Michael told her. "Most of the people who come here are still catching a little shut-eye. It won't wake up, really, till midnight."

"Michael!" burst Sally. "How do you know all these things? I mean you're from the woolly west and all that, and yet sometimes you talk so—so like a man of the world."

His eyes darkened subtly. "Oh, I've been around."

"You're a man of mystery," cried Sally, widening her eyes. "That's what you are. I know you ran a ranch—dude ranch, wasn't it?—out in Montana. Your partner cheated you and you came down here with what was left... Father told me that."

"Oh, he did?" murmured Michael. "You know a lot, don't you?"

"Don't be stiff," pouted the girl. "I like you. You're a grand person. Why won't you tell me all about yourself?"

"There's nothing left to tell," persisted Michael. Red had crept up into his face.

"You're not just an ordinary—well, cowboy," said Sally thoughtfully.

"Thanks." The little laughter lines showed now, around the corners of his eyes.

A waiter hovered at Sally's elbow. A sleek, oily, foxy-faced waiter with a cast in one eye.

"Oh, I'll have a Martini, waiter," Sally said airily. "Bring some canapes with it. Caviar and anchovy paste and things like that. And have you got some of those little sausages?"

The waiter said yes, they had some of the little sausages.

"Then that's fine," Sally nodded. "Oh, Michael, I forgot—what are you going to have?"

"I'll have some ginger ale—plain," Michael said dryly. "Oh, you big stick! You'll have a Martini with me and like it," pouted Sally, tossing her head and making her opaque brown eyes very large and winning.

"No thanks."

"Spoil-sport!" "I'm sorry," said Michael very quietly.

She caught at his hand. "Oh, now don't be a donkey. I was only teasing. You mustn't mind that. I tease everybody. Everybody knows that," cried Sally, warming to her subject. "I'm just a kid—I guess I'll never grow up."

"I reckon maybe not," he drawled.

She clasped her hands and one or two people at adjacent tables turned to stare at her in some curiosity. A pretty girl with big eyes and a rounded figure in a pink lace frock.

"Michael, when you say that you sound exactly like Gary Cooper. That's the way they all talk in God's Country, isn't it? Oh, I adore the west. I've always said I'd love to live there some day. It's my dream—my ideal."

She was enjoying the little stir she had made, enjoying his glances of the curious. Maybe that fat man in the linen suit was a theatrical producer, looking for "types." Maybe he would notice her verve and animation and send a note to their table, asking her if she had ever thought of going on the stage. She had heard that the Blue Sky Club was absolutely dripping with celebrities, but nobody here looked particularly exciting.

"Who's that girl over there by the door?" she demanded of Michael suddenly. "The one talking to the captain. I've seen her picture some place."

Michael turned and glanced at the newcomer. She was a tall girl with a sinuous, beautiful body draped in transparent black. Her magnificent bosom was bare and there were glittering tangles on both her arms. Her black hair grew in a widow's peak on her white forehead.

"She's a stunner," Michael conceded, after a brief survey. "Yes, but who is she?" Sally repeated. "Oh, I'll have her name in a minute—it's on the tip of my tongue. I saw her in that show last winter."

The drinks and dainty little tidbits of toast and fish paste were set down before them. Sally took a bite of caviar with a child's greediness and sipped the burning liquid.

"Good," she murmured. "You don't know what you're missing." Her color mounted and her tongue tripped along to a merrier tune. She assumed a possessive attitude toward the man at her side. Her glances were frankly amorous now and her interest in him more boldly displayed.

"I must have another cocktail, Michael. One's only the starter, you know. Really, just a sip..."

The tall young man in the gray suit frowned to himself. It was a desperately uncomfortable position to be in. Sally was his hostess; a guest did not protest at the conduct of his hostess.

Sally had her second cocktail. "Do you mind if we push along?" Michael asked rather awkwardly. "I have to get back—I'm sorry."

The place was filling up. The girl in black had stood in the doorway only a moment, her eyes raking the crowd. Then she had vanished.

"All right," Sally said. "We'll go. But I do think you're being very stuffy, Michael, darling."

When they arrived at her front door Joseph Moon was just rising from the swinging couch on the veranda.

"Ah, Heatheroe, Sally said you wanted to see me." He started with some surprise and distaste at his daughter, who was swaying oddly on her feet.

"Sally, what on earth does this mean?" His eyes darted to her escort's dark, troubled face.

"It's perfectly all right, Father," Sally said, very carefully. "You see, Michael and I are going to be married."

Laredo Concern To Make 300,000 Mexican Helmets

LAREDO, June 12 (AP)—The largest federal contract ever awarded a Laredo industrial, concern has been placed by the quartermaster's department of the United States army for approximately 300,000 Mexican palm helmets for distribution to CCC camps in various corps areas throughout the United States. The contract price, officers of the firm state, will aggregate about $70,000.

Matias de Llano, president and general manager of the hat making concern, said the order would cause a big increase in his operating force for the next two months. Filling the order will begin immediately, or as fast as requisitions come in from quartermaster of each of the corps areas where CCC camps are to be located.

Gruelling Tests Prove New RIVERSIDES America's Outstanding FIRST-QUALITY TIRES!

Prove New Riversides Give Up to 28% More Mileage Than Other First-Quality Tires!

Millions of miles in gruelling tests—on the road and in the laboratory—prove the superiority of New First-Quality Riversides!

Mile after mile these new Riversides were test-driven in competition with America's leading tires over the toughest roads in the country. And New Riversides came through the tests with up to 28% more mileage!

One reason for this extra mileage is because New Riversides have a thicker, flatter tread of SUPER VITALIZED rubber... a better, tougher longer-wearing rubber... the result of road and laboratory tests on hundreds of different samples!

The big, cleated test wheel shown proves New Riversides resistance to carcass fatigue and internal heat. Think of the terrific punishment, the tremendous shocks as wheel and tire spin around at racing speeds. Ordinary tires soon wilt under this test, but New Riversides stand up and "take it"!

Berkeley Bell Is Defeated By Houston Netter

NASHVILLE, June 13. (AP)—Three seeded stars were absent as quarter-final matches in the Southern Amateur Tennis tournament got under way today with three veterans and four youngsters aspiring to the title held by Bryan M. (Blitz) Grant of Atlanta.

The elimination of Berkeley Bell, top-seeded New Yorker, by Wilbur Hess, Houston, Texas, collegian in a spectacular match, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5, yesterday strengthened Grant's position as favorite.

Grant, who yesterday conquered Bruce Baxter and Bent Weltens, both of Austin, Texas, by identical scores, 6-1, 6-4, today faced Malon Courts of Atlanta.

Young Hess today found his path to the semi-finals barred by the Missouri valley titleholder, Hal Surface, of Kansas City, who trounced Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., 6-1, 6-2.

In another striking upset, John McDiarmid, Chicago's representative, rated 15th nationally, fell before the placements of Charles Harris, Florida state champion of Palm Beach.

J. Gilbert Hall, listed third, today getting a triple and single, was mixed up in three double plays. Summers made a great play for the last out of the game when he went deep behind first base to scoop up Youngblood's grounder in time to get his man at first.

Stewart pitched nice ball for the Road Runners, getting nine strikeouts and making two assists. Pachak started on the mound for Amarillo. He was relieved in the third when the Road Runners scored six runs. Dorman lasted until the seventh when Chief Youngblood went to the mound.

Pachak hit safely on his first two trips to the plate. Melear got one of Stewart's fast balls in the 7th and hoisted it over the centerfield fence.

The Road Runners will play in Enid, Okla., Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon, meeting the Eason Oilers, third place winners in the Denver Post tournament last year.

COURT HOUSE NOTES

Pleading guilty to two charges of burglary, Rand Griffin was sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary on each of the charges. Griffin made his plea before Judge W. R. Ewing this morning in 31st district court.

Griffin was charged with entering the farm homes of Marlon Husted and Jim Haden.

The jury panel was excused for the rest of the term when no other jury cases could be heard.

SOME KIND OF RECORD

LUXORA, Ark.—An even 130 persons clambered into a huge truck and started for a plantation to work. The truck rounded a curve, a side broke loose, and all 130 spilled out. "They weren't hurt much," said Mayor R. C. Langston. "Just cut and bruised a little. Not a bone broken in the whole outfit." Even at that, it required Luxora doctors a half day to bandage the crew.

Road Runners Give Amarillo Team Terrific 16-2 Beating

Pampans Bang Out 17 Hits Off Three Pitchers

Fortside pitching looked the same as right-handed hurling to the Road Runners last night as they took a 16-2 game from the Amarillo Shamrocks at Road Runner park.

Behind the seven-hit pitching of Carl Stewart, the Road Runners banged out 17 hits off three Amarillo hurlers. Seitz made things interesting for Chief Youngblood, after he took the mound in the eighth, by slamming out a home run. On his previous trip to bat, Seitz walked, went to third on a wild pitch and single, and stole home, his second successful pitter of the home sack on two consecutive games.

Everybody hit the ball and everybody scored at least one run for the Road Runners. Nell, back with the Road Runners again, and Seitz, each counted three times. Patton, Stewart, and Horton, each got a single hit with other members of the team collecting two each.

George, new shortstop, besides getting a triple and single, was mixed up in three double plays. Summers made a great play for the last out of the game when he went deep behind first base to scoop up Youngblood's grounder in time to get his man at first.

Stewart pitched nice ball for the Road Runners, getting nine strikeouts and making two assists. Pachak started on the mound for Amarillo. He was relieved in the third when the Road Runners scored six runs. Dorman lasted until the seventh when Chief Youngblood went to the mound.

Pachak hit safely on his first two trips to the plate. Melear got one of Stewart's fast balls in the 7th and hoisted it over the centerfield fence.

The Road Runners will play in Enid, Okla., Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon, meeting the Eason Oilers, third place winners in the Denver Post tournament last year.

BAER, NOT POPULAR IDOL IN FIGHT TONIGHT, IS SERIOUS

By JOHN STAMM (Associated Press Sports Writer)
 NEW YORK, June 12. (AP)—So it's Playboy Max Baer versus Solid Citizen (Max-Relief Rouser) James Jay Braddock, for the world's heavyweight championship in the Long Island hotel the night of June 13, 1935?

Oh, no if that! The first half of that billing is all wet, though the general public doesn't know it, yet—and maybe never will. You'd never guess it from the way he goes about the business of being champion, for that matter—but Maximilian Adelbert Baer fancies himself something of a student of psychology, and in the first defense of his title he swears he's going to be just a serious young man trying to get along.

You see, Max has it all figured out that public sympathy is going to be overwhelmingly on the side of his Family Man, depression-ridden foeman in the June 13 battle. So he's putting away his cap and bells costume, has wiped that grin off his face, and has decided to take this fight seriously if it kills him.

As a matter of fact, Max can be a lot more serious than most of the boys who write the entertaining copy about his entertaining exploits. Amarillo, he was relieved in the third when the Road Runners scored six runs. Dorman lasted until the seventh when Chief Youngblood went to the mound.

Pachak hit safely on his first two trips to the plate. Melear got one of Stewart's fast balls in the 7th and hoisted it over the centerfield fence.

ALL FIGHT EXPERTS AGREE BAER WILL KAYO BRADDOCK EARLY TONIGHT

ONLY CHANCE DEPENDS UPON FIRST ROUNDS

CHAMPION IS FIVE TO ONE FAVORITE TO HOLD TITLE

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—James J. (Long Shot) Braddock will get the opportunity tonight to spring one of the greatest fistic upsets of all time when he battles the clouting Californian, Max Baer, for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Braddock was on the short end of 5 to 1 odds that seemed certain to lengthen by the time the clans gather around the ringside.

The weather man predicted "occasional showers" during the day. The title card will be postponed until Friday night if there is too much rain.

It seemed unlikely there would be more than 35,000 spectators in an arena built to handle more than twice that number. But they promised to give the challenger all the vocal encouragement possible.

Apparently nine out of every nine fight experts figure Braddock to have no more than an outside chance of escaping an early knockout.

All have conceded Jimmy's improvement, his courage under fire and the intensity of his preparation to achieve the fistic goal of a life-time. Critics and fans alike have had their imagination captured by Braddock's uphill battle to achieve the heavyweight title.

The challenger's only chance, it seems, depends upon an unexpected opening early in the fight or a flash of carelessness by the champion. They both have the same weapons but Baer's are the sharpest and most explosive.

The champion won't have the crowd with him—unless they are yelling "for the kill" after the fashion typical of American fight crowds—but he will have the speed, the strength and the power to achieve his objective, an early knockout.

Tonight's fight may be the last conducted under the promotion of Madison Square Garden for the heavyweight title for some time. Only an upset triumph by Braddock, who is under contract to the Garden, could continue the hold of Tex Richard's successors on the main pugilistic plum tree.

Baer's next championship fight, if he wins, will be under the auspices of the Twentieth Century Sporting club, the Garden's metropolitan rival.

Champion and challenger weigh in this afternoon at one o'clock (Eastern Standard Time) at the State Athletic commission office. Gates to the Garden bowl open at 5 p. m. and the main bout, slated for 15 rounds or less, goes on at 9 p. m. The fight will be broadcast over a nation-wide (NBC) hook-up.

A'S CHALK UP 3RD STRAIGHT OVER INDIANS

ST. LOUIS CARDS WIN TWO GAMES FROM BRAVES

By HUGH S. FULLERTON Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.

It appears unlikely that the Athletics will cut much of a figure in the American league pennant race, but if they keep going at anything like their current pace it will be hard to hold them down in the second division.

When Connie Mack took Jimmie Foxx from behind the plate to get the star slugger's steadying influence back into the infield on May 25, the A's had a .308 average. Since then they've marked up 12 victories against seven defeats—a .632 clip. They raised their average to .444 after yesterday's third straight triumph over the Indians and cut Washington's sixth-place margin to a half game.

The A's had to overcome a bad start yesterday. Al Benton giving the Indians three runs in the first inning when Hal Trosky belted his ninth homer of the season, but they chased Mel Harder to the showers in the seventh and won 7 to 5. Earl Averill and O'Dell Hale of the Indians and Wally Moses of the A's also hit homers.

Washington took a 7 to 2 drubbing from the White Sox, who did some heavy stick-work behind Ted Lyons' five-hit flinging. The Sox gained a half game on the league-leading Yankees, who could get no better than an even break with the home run-hitting Browns. The Yanks won the opener 11 to 4 for Lefty Gomez despite two circuit swats by Julius (Moose) Solters, but his third, plus one by Ed Cole with two aboard, proved too much in the afterpiece and St. Louis pulled out a 7-6 decision.

With "Pop"—formerly "Schoolboy"—Bowe celebrating the increase in his family by pitching a three-hit game, the Tigers registered the day's biggest gain. They hopped from fifth place past Boston and Cleveland into third with a 4 to 1 triumph over the Red Sox.

The Cardinals produced the only change in the National league standing, regaining their undisputed hold on second place by winning two games from the Braves while the Pirates were taking one from Brooklyn.

Boston fought well before going down 8 to 6 and 5 to 4. Dizzy Dean, who answered a hurry call to rescue

STEERS BEAT OKLAHOMA CITY AND TULSA LICKS PANTHERS

By The Associated Press.

Dallas defeated Oklahoma City, 7 to 4, and Tulsa won from Fort Worth, 7 to 6, in the only Texas league games played last night. Beaumont loafed at San Antonio because of rain. It was too wet for Galveston and Houston to play at Houston.

Although Oklahoma City took a three-run lead in the first inning, the Dallas Steers, playing a jam-up brand of baseball, pulled ahead to win an impressive victory in the opening game of a long home stand.

Glen Spencer went the route for the Herd after being hit freely in the first inning, when the Indians bunched four hits and a walk for three runs, he settled down to turn in a good job on the mound. In the last eight innings he allowed only five hits, all of them singles, and rang up a half dozen strikeouts.

Charlie Moncrief hurried for the Indians. He was rapped for 12 hits, including three doubles.

Ed Heusser after the Braves had knotted the count in the eighth inning of the opener, got credit for his eighth victory when Terry Moore singled with the bases full and the pitcher.

The Pirates plastered Emil Leonard and Johnny Badgch for five runs in the seventh to come from behind and beat the Dodgers, 7 to 3.

With Carl Hubbell pitching a steady game and Mel Ott betting his eleventh homer to recapture the National league lead, the league-leading Giants had little trouble trouncing Cincinnati, 10 to 4.

The Cubs and Phillies hit one another with everything in sight and wound up with an even break in a twin bill, Chicago taking the opener 15 to 0 behind Larry French's five-hit elbowing and Philadelphia the nightcap, 11 to 8. Chuck Klein copped individual honors with three home runs, two in the second game.

Tulsa managed to make a few hits go a long way. The Oilers turned five safe ones into seven scores after Fort Worth, credited with seven hits, got off to a four-run lead. The Cats had the Oilers down to the tune of 6-2 in the fifth. Then Tulsa made a four-run rally to knot the count and made the winning run in the sixth.

Art Jones opened for the Oilers. He was replaced in the first inning by Harry Matuzak, who held the Cats to four hits during the remainder of the game. Lee Grissom and George Milstead worked the mound for the Cats.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press.

Chuck Klein and Larry French, Cubs—Klein pounded in six runs in doubleheader with three homers; French held Phillies to five hits in opener.

HOSTILITIES IN GRAN CHACO TO HALT AT NOON TOMORROW

BUENOS AIRES, June 13 (AP)—War-weary soldiers in the Chaco's bloody wastes were jubilant today as word spread along the Bolivian and Paraguayan fronts that hostilities will halt at noon tomorrow.

While the signing of the protocol, worked out by neutral nations in the eighteenth attempt to settle the half-century old dispute was hailed generally as halting the war, there are further points to be adjusted.

The general protocol and an extra protocol disclosed that the responsibility for the definite cessation of fighting depends on the congresses of the belligerent nations.

The first step will be the suspension of firing by order of a neutral military commission. Within 10 days, if the Bolivian and Paraguayan congresses ratify the general protocol, the suspension of hostilities automatically will be converted into a 12-day truce.

If one congress or the other fails to concur, however, the suspension of firing will end after the initial 10 days.

The Bolivian government will issue a call today for an extraordinary session of congress June 18 to consider the protocol.

The capitals of South America, particularly those of Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Peru, were joyous at the prospect of peace in the Chaco.

Foreign Minister Tomas M. Elio of Bolivia and Luis Riart of Paraguay, signed for their countries as the cast rosada, at a ceremony presided over by President Agustin P. Justo.

Military representatives of the neutrals set out by plane for the Chaco to carry out the provisions of the protocol.

FILIBUSTER

—who had been siding Long throughout the night with questions and in negotiations with leaders—took the floor but did not talk long.

When he finished there was no one else to talk and the senate rushed rapidly to the final vote.

Long continued to sit in the chamber chatting with senators while Schall and McCarran had the floor. He was shouting for the floor when the resolution finally was voted on but did not get recognition before the "ayes" and "noes" began sounding.

Minutes before, the senate had rejected the Gore amendment to require senate confirmation of all presidential appointees to positions paying over $4,000 a year. That proposal was the vehicle for Long's fruitless filibuster.

Believed that the task was behind, the senate adjourned at 6:21 a. m. until Friday. Then it will debate the social security bill.

Forced Down
The big break had come shortly before 4 a. m. when Long finally gave up, broken by his long discourse that covered everything from the constitution to the way to steal a guinea hen's eggs. He was forced down before a group of new democratic senators who served notice they were out to break his "control" of the senate.

In its final shape, the NRA resolution would continue the recovery administration in ghost-like form, without codes, but with authority for voluntary agreements among business men dealing only with collective bargaining, minimum wages, maximum hours, abolition of child labor and prohibition of trade practices already outlawed by statute.

The tally showed one republican, Norris, of Nebraska, joining with 39 democrats and LaFollette, the lone progressive, to approve the tension resolution. Nine republicans and four democrats opposed it.

The Borah amendment would specifically write into the law that trade practices agreed upon under voluntary codes should not be in violation of the anti-trust laws.

IL DUCE

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin of Great Britain and Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy.

The Times editorial, published June 10, said in part: "... concerning Italy, the British prime minister had a hard word to say. The Italian government was proceeding with military measures in East Africa which were disturbing the peace of the world, although there was no concerted public opinion in Italy" behind Mussolini in that venture. Italians will point to counter this, to the great crowds which cheered Mussolini's belligerent speech on Saturday, but as there is no real liberty of the press or freedom of expression in Italy, Mr. Baldwin may be right although his statement was admittedly somewhat rash; ...

"Prime Minister Baldwin had some general remarks to make about dictators. It is true that they often present for some time a semblance of governmental stability. It is still true in Italy, as Cavuri said it was years ago, 'anybody can govern under martial law.' To do it with the courts open and the press free is another matter. Dictators, asserted Mr. Baldwin, are always vanishing personalities. They last only so long as they can maintain themselves by force. They found no dynasty and leave no successors. Mussolini has kept himself in power longer than most people thought possible but the earth always trembles where he stands. Any day a great public catastrophe or a vast shaking-off of Italian fetters in order to be free might leave him helpless on the ground, a shorn Samson."

did not publish a word of the declarations made by Calles Tuesday nor of the reaction to them throughout the country.

No definite or authoritative prediction as to the outcome of the situation could be obtained.

Many expected a showdown which would determine whether Calles, so-called "chief of the revolution," still retains the political supremacy he has held for eight years, and also decide in the long run whether the radical movement is to continue to gain strength or be checked.

Cardenas has repeatedly shown his sympathy with the labor movement and the tendency of his government has been to back labor in all its demands. Calles attacked labor leaders and accused them of "treason" for promoting strikes which he said were not justified.

Long Filibuster

Costs Over $4,000

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—The cost of recording the things Senator Long (D-La.) said about fried oysters, guinea hens, turnip greens and other matters in his 15 1/2 hour filibuster against extending NRA was estimated today at $4,650.

After the first ten hours of his speech, James W. Murphy, chief senate reporter, figured that enough words had been spoken to fill 60 pages in the congressional record at a cost of $50 a page.
