New Endurance Flight Record Looms

Twinkles Many persons have inquired whether "it was hot" downstate. It probably is now, but we seldom saw the sun and the thermometer did not go above 94.

The latest suggestion in favor of a sales tax is to adopt one for next year so the Centennial visitors can pay off our state debt. We've heard worse arguments.

Skippy, the family pup, reflects the warmth of the season by being a bit less enthusiastic than usual when we reach home after being away all day.

Mrs. Gushaway says her idea of a good vacation is to send all the children away to the country relatives and have the fun all to herself.

Modern America: Texas and Oklahoma Panhandle residents debate formation of a new state while the nation prepares to decide whether we ought to have any states at all.

Mustings of the moment: Sort of seems like we've overlooked a few persons in the Pre-Centennial plans; until this year. The Indians were the "First Americans" after all, and they were not doing so bad with the country.

FOR SHEER historical interest, mixed population, and spots of interest, San Antonio offers extraordinary interest to Texans as well as tourists. No one who has failed to see San Antonio can claim to be a full-fledged Texan.

IN 1718, THE ALAMO was founded. It was known as the Mission San Antonio de Valero. The San Jose mission with its famous "rose window" and carved statues came somewhat later.

SCHEDULED TO SHATTER MARK IN AFTERNOON

Fliers Over Meridian Hope to Stay Up Another Week

MERIDIAN, Miss., June 27. (AP)—Two weary but happy brothers, Al and Fred Wey, pushed their oil-spattered monoplane toward a new world endurance flight record today, confident of shattering the official mark of 553 hours 41 minutes and 30 seconds at 3:13 1/2 p. m.

The official record was established by John and Kenneth Hunter in Chicago in 1930. The Keys must keep their ship in the air until 3:13 1/2 p. m. for an elapsed time of 554 hours, 41 minutes and 30 seconds.

Thousands of well wishers converged on the airport for the deadline in the flight. Bands were assembled and army plans were mustered to fly a salute to the Keys.

The brothers received with delight an offer by James H. Steves, president of the chamber of commerce and newspaper publisher, providing that he and other publishers will give them $100 for every day they stay up after breaking the record.

Estridge Irked Because He Is Given No Radio

HOUSTON, June 26. (AP)—The Rev. Edgar Estridge of Orange, Baptist preacher who killed the chief of police there, was brought to Houston today to await trial on a charge of murder.

The police chief, Ed J. O'Reilly, was shot down last month, and the case was transferred here after the minister's attorneys contended he could not get a fair trial in his home county.

Estridge was keenly disappointed when Harris county authorities refused him permission to install a radio in his jail cell here.

Estridge had been in the night jazz band programs; the bootleg preacher remarked with a smile.

Estridge's defense will be insanity.

COMMUNISTS ASSAIL OWSLEY ON HIS ARRIVAL IN DUBLIN

Leaflets Attacking Texas Minister Are Distributed By Bolsheviks of Ireland.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, June 27. (AP)—Alvin M. Owsley of Dallas, former national commander of the American Legion, today was received by President Eamon de Valera as United States minister to the Irish Free State.

Criticism against the envoy was expressed in leaflets asserting "We do not represent the American people thousands of whom are of our flesh and blood and are today lining up in bread lines in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and all over the United States."

Police lined the route followed by the minister in his way to the president. Before the procession turned in to Parliament street, a number of young men standing in doorways were searched by detectives.

URGES ACT TO OUTLAW SUITS ON CURRENCY

LOOPHOLES IN SYSTEM WOULD BE CLOSED UNDER ACTION

WASHINGTON, June 27. (AP)—Legislation to tighten up any possible loopholes threatening the nation's new monetary system was recommended to congress today by President Roosevelt.

"Before the termination of this session of the congress," the president said in a special message, "I believe that it is important that definite action be taken to eliminate any uncertainty with respect to the right of holders of gold clause bonds of the government to sue for payment either in gold or else in legal tender with an additional sum of 69 cents on every dollar."

"To this end, I urge the withdrawal by the United States of its consent to be sued upon its currency, or securities."

"I recommend, therefore, the enactment of legislation which will make clear that it is our fixed policy to continue to treat the bond holders of all our securities equally and uniformly to afford any holder of any gold clause security, who thinks he could by any possibility sustain any loss in the future, an opportunity to put himself immediately in a position to avoid such future loss, and to remove all possibility of any suit designed to hamper the government in administering the public debt and in financing its ordinary and emergency expenditures."

Specifically, the president recommended immediate enactment of legislation:

"1. That will authorize and direct the secretary of the treasury, at the request of the holders of gold clause securities of the United States, to make payment therefore in cash, dollar for dollar, with accrued interest, or at the holder's direction, to exchange such securities for non-gold clause securities with the same interest rate and maturity;

"2. That will terminate any consent which the United States may have voluntarily given to be sued on its securities, coins or currencies;

"3. That will reaffirm the fixed policy of the United States to make sure payment to all holders of its securities, coins or currencies on an equal or uniform dollar for dollar basis and will make appropriations available for payments on this basis and on this basis only."

"There is no constitutional or inherent right to sue the government," said the president, "on the contrary, the immunity of the sovereign from suit is a principal of universal acceptance and permission to bring such suits is an act of grace, which with us, may be granted or withheld by the congress."

"Not only justice to the holders of our currencies and of our securities who support and rely on our policy of equal and uniform treatment to all, but also the interests of our people require that the government of the United States make it clear that it cannot and will not consent to the use of its courts in aid of efforts to sabotage the operation of government or in aid of private speculation."

This proposal asserts and makes definite the control of the congress over the securities and money issued by the United States of America."

After Crash of Plane and Raid of Souvenir Hunters

Above is pictured the small North-copter which crashed north of Pampa, killing Tommie Keenan, local pilot and Fred Loving, of Wellington. The badly battered wing, shown on the right, is where rescuers pulled and saved the rods and struts imprisoning the two men. Loving was on that side, at the controls. The bottom part of the damaged motor is plainly visible while the top part and half of the propeller appear only slightly damaged.

The plane was on its "nose" when rescuers arrived. Roy Marshall of The NEWS made the picture. Souvenir hunters did considerable damage.

NITRO BLAST KILLS 2 MEN AT AMARILLO

Third Seriously Injured As Two Bomber Men Are Blown Into Bits.

AMARILLO, June 27. (AP)—A small plane of a man's foot was the largest piece found of two men who were blown to bits when a nitroglycerin truck exploded at a grade crossing six miles east of here yesterday.

The victims were Ben McDonald, 55, and Paul Brock, 25, both of Borger, who were employees of the New Mexico Glycerin company of Artesia.

Bruce Hayes of Whittenburg, who was working on a truck 50 yards away, was seriously injured by the blast which ripped out a hole six feet deep and 12 feet wide in the highway, splintered a rail of the Fort Worth and Denver road and spread the rails at least 15 feet on either side.

Fragmentary bits of flesh and pieces of the truck were found more than 1,000 yards from the scene. Three telephone poles were blasted from the ground and the motor of the truck was demolished and one axle was hurled 275 yards.

The truck was said to have contained 350 quarts of the explosive.

Sixty troops were registered, and several others expected to renew affiliation. The council has enjoyed its greatest growth during the "hard years."

YOUNG DEMOCRATS ARE ACTING OLD

There is more or less of a tempest in a teapot in progress among Young Democrats of Texas at the present time. A youthful son of President Roosevelt, who seems to have established legal residence in this state a short time ago, was chosen first vice president of the state organization of Young Democrats. Everything was apparently quite satisfactory until a short time ago in a convention held at Amarillo the youthful son of the President took occasion to criticize some statements of Governor Allred, after the Governor had said something in a speech which Mr. Roosevelt construed as a criticism of the policies of his father's administration.

The verbal tilt got Mr. Roosevelt on the front page of Texas newspapers, but evidently some of the delegates didn't approve of his remarks. At any rate charges were made that Mr. Roosevelt was not legally elected first vice president of Young Democratic Clubs in Texas. The statement was made that an effort would be made to oust him on several counts. One was that he was not properly elected. Another was that even if he were properly elected he was still not entitled to the office because he is not a legal citizen of Texas.

Then to add a touch of heavy tragedy and also to get some more front page space, a counter move was started by the friends of Mr. Roosevelt warning that if he were ousted Congress and the President would be so mad at Texas that they would not pass a bill to appropriate $3,000,000 in Federal money to help finance the celebration of the Texas Centennial.

Of course, neither Congress nor the President is greatly concerned about who is vice president of Young Democratic Clubs in Texas. It may be doubted if they have ever heard of the so-called controversy between the Governor of Texas and the President's son. They have bigger business on hand than that. In this matter, however, the Young Democrats are acting childish, so childish indeed that one would think they are veteran politicians rather than mere beginners. Old Democrats could hardly do a better job. The boys are learning.—Vernon Record.

Bodies Of Man And Woman Are Found In Auto

BROWNSVILLE, June 27 (AP)—The mysterious death of a man and woman, believed to have been from San Diego, Calif., puzzled officers today as they sought to identify the bodies which were found in a parked automobile near here yesterday.

Soon after the bodies were found, a justice of the peace returned a verdict of suicide and attributed death to carbon monoxide poisoning. The bodies were found in an automobile (1927 Chevrolet coach) that bore a 1935 California license plate (No. 42-1877), and California officers reported the machine had been registered to L. S. Monson of San Diego.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 27 (AP)—The bodies of a man and woman found in a car bearing California license plates near Brownsville, Texas, today were believed by local authorities to be Lawrence S. Monson and Mrs. Carol Mickelson, both of San Diego. The license plates were registered to Monson, they said.

Mrs. Mickelson and Monson left San Diego April 17, according to his parents here, Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Monson. He was going to visit his brother, Robert Monson of Dallas, Texas.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON
 BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Staff Correspondent

This is the first of six daily articles in which Rodney Dutcher discusses President Roosevelt's program of "must" legislation. You will find this series of especial value in clarifying the many issues over which conflicts are now raging in Congress.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON
 BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The fight over the banking act of 1935, like those over most of the other proposals on President Roosevelt's "must" program centers on a New Deal demand for greater public control in the American economic system.

Mr. Roosevelt and Gov. Marriner S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board say, in effect: "We cannot afford to trust private bankers any more with the management of our national credit and financial policies."

The bankers reply: "We cannot afford to trust the politicians."

The House already has passed the bill, on the theory that it is safer to trust a governmental agency, representing—and accountable to—the people, than the bankers, representing—and accountable to—themselves.

The administration stops well short of Father Coughlin's demand for a new government-owned central bank to absorb the 12 Federal Reserve banks with absolute power over currency, credit, and banking—including issuance of all money and regulation of its value.

But it takes a vigorous step toward the central bank idea in its proposal to remove control of open market operations from the 12 Federal Reserve bank governors, representing private bankers, and give it—with power to initiate and enforce—to the presidentially appointed Federal Reserve Board, which now has only a veto power over those operations.

Bestowal of such control on a presidentially appointed board is opposed by Senator Carter Glass, the American Bankers' Association, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the American Liberty League, and others.

The A. B. A. urges an open market committee of a five-man Federal Reserve Board plus four rotating Federal Reserve bank governors, presumably on the theory that the banker members could work comfortably with at least one of the board members and thus exert control.

It is also argued that the bill confers power for inflation which might be used recklessly.

To which administration forces reply that Roosevelt—under the Thomas amendment and other measures—already has far more powers to inflate than he wants to use.

Other provisions of the administration measure—some of which also extend public control—include establishment of permanent insurance of bank deposits up to $5,000, approval of Reserve Bank governors by the F. R. B., broadening of collateral requirements to extend discount privileges to all sound assets approved by F. R. B., power for the F. R. B. to approve long-term loans on real estate up to 60 per cent of value, raising salaries of board members from $12,000 to $15,000 and—under an Eccles proposal designed to increase the board's independence—pensions for board members.

TEXAS HAS BEEN UNDER SEVEN FLAGS, SAYS INDIAN HISTORIAN

COMANCHERIA STANDARD WAS CRIMSON FLAG

INDIANS WORSHIPPED SUN; CONTROLLED VAST EMPIRE

AUSTIN, June 27 — Texas has been under the flags of seven ruling nations instead of six, as has been recorded in history. This discovery was made recently by Mrs. Mary Jordan Atkinson, author of a volume of Texas Indians which is soon to be released by the Naylor Publishing company. In delving into dusty archives and ancient Spanish government records in the University of Texas library, she has brought to light many interesting and heretofore little known facts connected with the Indian tribes who inhabited Texas at and immediately after the time of the first coming of white man to this vast domain. She has found that the Comanches who rose to control over a large part of what is now embraced in the area of this State and their own flag which waved over the villages in their vast barbaric empire. The rise of the Comanches began with the spread to the lower brush region of Texas of wild mustangs in the sixteenth century. The horses which were first introduced by the Spanish conqueror, Hernando Cortez, were the progenitors of the mustangs which in later years roamed at will in great droves over the southwest. Their coming sounded the knell of the buffalo and transformed the Comanches and other Indian tribes from peaceful into fighting Redskins. The Indians of Texas were sun worshippers. The glaring orb of day was an important factor in their lives. The theme of the sun runs through all of the Indian lore unearthed by Mrs. Atkinson. "Among the flags that waved over Texas have never been mentioned the standard of the sun and the blood-red banner of the Comancheria," Mrs. Atkinson recently wrote. "The first of these, having had its inception in the twenty thousand years preceding the arrival of Coronado, greeted the French and Spanish explorers, while the second marched and counter-marched between San Antonio and Nacogdoches for something like three centuries. "Christian missionaries from Mexico, preceded by the banner of the cross—gold on white—and the mystic intaglio of the Virgin of Guadalupe, crossing the Texas wilderness, eager to introduce baptism in the sun temples beyond the Trinity River, found their path blocked by sun standards—buffalo skins, tanned as smooth as parchment and emblazoned from edge to edge with holy sun rays. "The Karankawa, house-boating on the coastal lagoons, gorging on alligators and carrion and human flesh, worshipped the sun. Each evening he stood with folded arms, reverently watching it sink into the sea—laying a golden path to the entrance of that 'other house'—a path to the Under World—whither would follow the spirits of the dead who had 'made good medicine' during their sojourn on the earth—the Middle World. "The Tonkewa, clad in a breech-cloth, a feather, and a pair of moccasins, slipping over the chalk-hills after the deer, worshipped the sun and his women tattooed their breasts in its image for the sake of magic medicine. "The civilized Mound Builder—the Caddo and the Asinal—living in straw houses said by astounded explorers to have been a hundred feet high, built temples in the piney woods to house the sacred fire—servant of the sun. "Even the fierce Apache, foraging out of the Mexican mountains, struggling for control of the buffalo range, enemy of the Karankawa and the Tonkewa, of the Asinal and the Caddo—even he, worshipped the sun. "How long the sun standard was permanent over the hills and on the prairies and in the piney woods of Texas, nobody knows. Until a few weeks ago one would have said: 'Perhaps ten thousand years'; but archeological discoveries within the past winters, particularly at Round Rock, Texas, have doubled the calculation of man's life in the Americas. On old Brushy Creek, famous in Texas history, anthropologists and geologists, working together, took out artifacts—articles made by man—to a depth of eighteen feet in a gravel pit. This archeological site is in the heart of the Tonkewa country, but the flintwork taken from the lower levels is pre-Tonkewan. "The Indians who first greeted invading Europeans, the Karankawa, the Tonkewa, the Caddo, and the Asinal, though they had been in Texas for hundreds, perhaps thousands of years, were not the first to occupy this territory. Underlying the archeological evidence of their existence are those of older and more primitive peoples, but even they, in all probability, worshipped the sun. Near Austin, some years ago, a post-hole digger uncovered a cache of great flint blades, some of them nearly a foot long and a half foot wide. They were ranged round a center block of stone to simulate sun rays. Who made them and placed them there, as part of a sacred ritual, no one knows. Presumably they belonged to Indians older than any recorded in history—the Basket Makers, perhaps. "The staff of the museum of the Texas Indian at the University of Texas hopes soon to acquire one of

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McElliott

CHAPTER 25
Sally said furiously, "I don't understand it. I simply don't get it at all!" She glared at the inoffensive Tips and at Clarence, stooped and graying, in the background. "You say he said he was going to the city?" Sally demanded. Clarence nodded. They had been over the ground several times before, but if the young lady wanted to ask the same questions over and over he had no choice but to answer them. "He says he goin' to the city," Clarence elaborated, with a side-long roll of chocolate eyes in a dark face. "He may say to me to lock up."

A thick, clumsy old gold watch. A button box.
Sally riffled through the letters. The stable boy came to the door to stare at her.
"You go away, Tips," she said crossly. "Don't you bother me. This is my business."
"Ain't nobody got any right buttin' into Mister Michael's private things," he said stubbornly. But he dared not interfere. After all, she was the girl his employer had been engaged to marry.
Clarence had shuffled out into the kitchen. You could hear him rattling pots and pans and setting down the cups with angry gusto. Sally paid no attention to all this. She had come with a determination to go through Michael's belongings, to see if she could find any clue to his disappearance. She flounced into the living room after a busy five minutes, a small bundle in her hand.
"Tips watched her go, open-mouthed. His father came out of the kitchen to ask him, "That her car goin' away?"
"That's it," Tips sniffed, going into Michael's room and picking up a cushion Sally had dropped in her haste. "She sure made a mess of this here place. She sure is a big-talkin' young lady, Miss Moon."
"Her!" Clarence uttered contemptuously. "Ain't no Moons ever goin' to come high-tonin' me. I know 'em."
"She taken away a lot of stuff of Mister Michael's," Tips offered hesitantly. "Letters and such."
Clarence grinned, an old man's wide, sly grin. His lips were stretched inconspicuously wide. "She did, huh?"
"Yes, sah!" The stable boy was emphatic. Looks like Mister Michael run away from her while the rummin' was good. What you think about it?"
His father lifted his shoulders in an eloquent shrug. "Boy, I ain't mindin' nobody's business."
"You think a better stay on a while?" Tips said.
"Where'd we go, anyways?" Clarence demanded. "You talk crazy, sonny-boy. Course we're stayin'. And, case that girl comes back here lockin' some more, we going to lock up this here place."
He turned the key in the lock and went back to his leisurely pottering among the kettles. Tips wandered out into the stableyard, fed the horses and idly swept up some scattered hay. In the kitchen, behind the red checked curtains, an old man took out an official-looking paper and chuckled over it.
"Here's somethin' that big-talkin' young lady ain't goin' to find," Clarence said to himself. "Cause I got it first. An' it's Mister Michael's private business."
It was the marriage certificate of Michael Heatheroe and Katharine Stryker.
Sally rushed to her room and opened the letters she had found in Michael's bureau. They were not very interesting letters. There were several notes from the bank about the mortgage. There was a bill of sale for a mare. There were one or two brief and badly written, personal letters from a man in Montana—a man who signed himself quite simply "Bill". Nothing incriminating, nothing to point the way Michael had gone.
Sally stood staring at the letters in bafflement and anger. Her temperament demanded that she expend energy on someone. So she dressed herself in plain dark silk and boarded a train for the city. The clipping about Michael's inheritance lay in the smart dark blue handbag.
She went straight to Mr. Downrigg's hotel and that gentleman came down to the foyer to meet her. He was a lean, elderly Englishman with a stoop and a courteous, tired voice. No, he hadn't had any communication from Mr. Heatheroe as yet. And that was odd because Messrs. Mallory and Gerhardt had assured him Michael was easily to be found. All his telephone calls on the day before had been fruitless. Mr. Heatheroe, the servants said, was away and it was not known when he would return.
"Something's happened then," Sally announced firmly. "Something happened to Michael the night he came into New York." She had it all now. She had been stupid to be so frightened and angry. Of course, Michael had been hurt. He had no reason on earth to run away on the eve of this triumph.
Her manner softened perceptibly. She had met Mr. Downrigg with an air of challenge, thinking he knew something about the absent Michael, thinking perhaps, he had aided and abetted him in his escape.
"You must help me," she said, her voice taking on its cooling note. "We must search the hospitals—the morgues."
"My dear young woman!" stammered Mr. Downrigg. "Surely you don't think—" She was firm, but to show him

Father And Son Die On Gallows At Ontario Jail

ST. THOMAS, Ont., June 27 (P)—A father and his son, shielded from the rain by tarpaulins and guarded by a line of policemen, died on the gallows behind the walls of Elgin county jail today for the murder of a policeman.
Rather than have the younger face a year-old bicycle-theft charge, Frank, 32, and his son, Fred Temple, 21, alias MacTemple, killed a policeman May 7, 1934.
The father paid the penalty first, dropping through the hole in the wooden scaffold in the women's yard of the St. Thomas jail.
Fred mounted the steps to the seven-foot high platform on which official witnesses crowded in the glare of an electric light. Thirteen minutes later he was pronounced dead.
It was Elgin's second hanging in 30 years.
The men died for the slaying of Constable Colin C. McGregor, who was killed in the Temple home when he attempted with Sergeant Sam McKeown and Sergeant Bert McCully of the Michigan Central Railway police to serve a warrant on the younger Temple.

Seeks To Establish National Lottery

WASHINGTON, June 27. (P)—Rep. Kenney (D-NJ) will seek a vote this session on his plan to establish a national lottery and take a billion dollars a year away from racketeers and gamblers.
He said today a house ways and means subcommittee would begin hearings Friday. The lottery would be patterned after Cuban lotteries with prizes offered monthly or even oftener.
One-fourth of the money taken in from the lottery would be turned into the treasury.

how deeply she was affected by the thought of Michael injured or dead she wept a little, quite prettily and convincingly.
"We must," she said. "We dare not do otherwise. After all," she reminded him, with a liquid glance of those dark, opaque eyes, "I'm his promised wife, you know."
She could see herself telling the story to newspaper reporters. Dead or alive, Michael should not escape her.

Clean Out Kidney Poisons

Wash Out Your 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes
If kidneys don't pass 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters may become clogged with poisonous waste and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult, which often smart and burn like scalding water and cause discomfort.
This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney functions is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.
Most people watch their bowels which contain only 27 feet of intestines but neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. If these tubes or filters become clogged with poisons, it may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 3 pints a day.
Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

the few buffalo skins still in existence emblazoned with the sacred emblem of the sun.
"In opposition to the standard, which was a religious symbol, like the banner of the cross, stands the red-dyed skin raised on a lance tipped with eagle feathers that preceded the shock troops of the Comancheria—ever a battle flag.
"Like the other Texas Indian, the Comanche worshipped the sun, calling it his father, patting its image on his tents, his robes, and his shields—but his social and political organization was the product of strife, brought into being when the invading Spaniard presented him with the horse.
"The Comanche of historic times was a barbarian, powerful and as flashily picturesque as the Tartar and the Arab. Under his red banner he whirled into Mexico, raiding the ranches, referring to the proud Spanish ranch-owners as his herdsmen. Under his flaunting square of vermilion-lined leather he robbed the pack-trains moving forward toward the French trading posts. Following his plume-tipped lance, he set the Mexican garrisons by the ears when they raised the tri-color; and he fought pioneer, ranger, and federal soldier as they moved against him under the Lone Star and the Stars and Stripes. Taking advantage of the Anglo-American rift that raised the Confederate Stars and Bars, he cut to pieces the Tonkew in ally of the Texas settler, and whirled to the Gulf. All in all, he retarded advancement of the white frontier for forty years following San Jacinto.
"Nor was it in fair fight that the blood-thirsty barbarian banner lost its sovereign sway over the Buffalo Lands. The slaughter of the humped herds through cold iron—the invention of the power rifle—starved the herds that bore the sun-shield on the plains.
"Neither was it in man-to-man combat that the standard vanished from the Texas woods and prairies. Diseases imported from the 'Downlands,' brought by the pale-faced people, the Indians mistook for gods, together with internal strife bred by encroaching whites, chilled the fires in the sun temples and mowed down the populations of the garden lands."

DICTATORIAL ORDERS SHAPE LIFE OF NAZIS

LABOR CAMP SERVICE MADE COMPULSORY FOR 300,000

BY A. D. STEFFERUD.

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)

BERLIN, June 27.—Dictatorial decrees went into effect today shaping anew the lives of all Germans without giving them a chance either to approve or protest.

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's "rubber stamp" cabinet, meeting for the last time before the summer holidays and four days before the first anniversary of the bloody June 30 "purge," adopted these measures:

1. Making labor camp service compulsory for 200,000 young men and 100,000 young women annually.
2. Demanding that everyone in Germany, even foreigners domiciled here, participate actively in air protection exercises.
3. Authorizing revision of the penal code "in light of national socialist tenets" and regulating trials.
4. Regulating official salaries.
5. Speeding up investigation of preliminary sterilization "in order to prevent unsound progeny."
6. Encouraging establishment of peoples gardens and homesteads.
7. Empowering Bernard Rust, Prussian commissioner for culture and education, to deal with the church controversy.

Other lesser decrees were adopted, all but the labor services measure awaiting publication in the official gazette.

Not since the "blood purge" last June had Hitler made such a show of dictatorial powers, and it seemed agreed that the far-reaching decisions would tighten even more Nazi's hold on Germany.

Only in the church measure was an element of conciliation seen. Rumors were heard that in the autumn, when rearmament problems are expected to be ironed out, a cabinet shake-up was likely in a move toward 100 per cent nazism of more radical ideals.

Rural Carrier Is Charged With Murdering Wife

WICHITA FALLS, June 27 (AP)—Ralph Foster, rural mail carrier who was arrested Tuesday on a charge of slaying his wife, in their Burk Burnett home early Sunday morning, continued to maintain his innocence when interviewed in his cell at the county jail here.

Foster told officers Sunday that he had returned home about 2 a. m. Sunday from a Legion convention in Wichita Falls and that he and his wife quarreled. He said he went to bed and thought she had done the same. About 6 o'clock Sunday morning the woman's body was found in the cellar with a bullet wound in the head. Officers said Mrs. Foster's body bore numerous bruises.

A verdict of suicide was returned by the coroner after Sunday's investigation. Officers today refused to reveal what led to the filing of murder charges yesterday.

C. C. McDonald, candidate for governor last year, has been employed as defense counsel. Bail will probably be asked Thursday.

'Youth Administration' Is Established By President; Details of Plan Outlined

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—In signing the executive order establishing a "youth administration" to help unemployed young men and women, President Roosevelt said: "Satisfactory progress in setting up the work program for the unemployed is being made. This program calls for the removal of unemployed from direct relief to jobs and should be well underway during July."

"I have determined that we shall do something for the nation's unemployed youth because we can ill afford to lose the skill and energy of these young men and women. They must have their chance in school, their turn as apprentices and their opportunity for jobs—a chance to work and earn for themselves.

"In recognition of this great national need, I have established a National Youth Administration, to be under the works progress administration.

"This undertaking will need the vigorous cooperation of the citizens of the several states, and to insure that they shall have an important part in this work, a representative group will be appointed to act as a national advisory board with similar boards of citizens in the state and municipalities throughout the country. On these boards there shall be representatives of industry, labor, education and youth because I want the youth of America to have something to say about what is being done for them.

"Organizations along state and municipal lines will be developed. The work of these organizations will be to mobilize industrial, commercial, agricultural and educational forces of the states so as to provide employment and to render other practical assistance to unemployed youth.

Set Up Described "It is recognized that the final solution of this whole problem of unemployed youth will not be attained until there is a resumption of normal business activities and opportunities for private employment on a wide scale. I believe that the national youth program will serve the most pressing and immediate needs of that portion of unemployed youth most seriously affected at the present time.

"It is my sincere hope that all public and private agencies, groups and organizations, as well as educators, recreational leaders, employers, and labor leaders will cooperate wholeheartedly with the national and state youth administrations in the furtherance of this national youth program.

"The yield on this investment should be high."

The youth administration set up was described as follows in a White House announcement:

1. Organization. (a) National. (1) A national youth administration shall be established, by executive order of the president, under the works progress administration. (2) The national youth administration shall be headed by a national advisory committee, appointed by the president; the committee to consist of representatives of labor, business, agriculture, education and youth. (b) The administration, which is to be the administrative body shall be administered by an executive committee and an executive director.

State Division 1. State youth divisions shall be established in each state. (a) The state youth division in every state shall be headed by a state advisory committee, to be appointed by the national advisory committee with the aid and consent of the executive director of the national youth administration. Such state advisory committee shall consist of representatives of labor, business, agriculture, education, youth, and in some cases officials of the state government. (b) The state division shall be administered by a state director. 1. The principal duty of such director shall be to mobilize the industrial, commercial, agricultural, and educational forces to provide employment and other practical assistance to the unemployed youth; to develop and carry out a coordinating program of work and work opportunities and training for unemployed youth in the state, utilizing all existing public and private agencies, industries, schools and various phases of the problem.

III. Parts. (a) Employment and apprenticeship. Employers in all types of industries including agriculture, commerce, transportation, building and construction, and utility services shall be asked to accept youths as apprentices under arrangements to be worked out with the state committee on apprentice training. Also wherever possible state, local, and county clerks, city engineers, city departments of public works, and other activities of county, municipal and state governments, shall be asked to accept such youths as apprentices. A minimum allowance should be given during the duration of the apprenticeship. Where youth is apprenticed for government service it shall be regarded as of the nature of field work for classes to be formed to train youth for public service. The opportunity afforded by this type of work should be used to develop a new type of trained public servant, rather than to merely add to the immense groups of men and women who now clamor to go into government service.

(b) Job training and job placement. 1. It shall be the work of the state and local committee to develop job training and job placement for youth. Provision for job training shall be developed in every youth division center, after satisfaction of youths themselves, working out with organized labor— (a) Utilizing available school shop facilities for initial or basic trade training, through special late afternoon or evening classes, taught as work relief projects by needy unemployed persons qualified to teach the special field. (b) Utilizing available private factories, industries, or plants, at times when they are not in regular operation, as places to hold training classes, taught as work relief projects by needy unemployed persons qualified to teach the special field. (c) Public libraries shall be used for training youth, to function as libraries and to enable the libraries to be kept open for the public a greater number of hours a day. 2. Job placement for unemployed youth shall be developed in cooperation with the reemployment offices. A service shall be developed in each youth center for counseling, guidance, adjustment and job placement for unemployed youth, making use of all existing public and private agencies which can contribute to the solution of this problem. In order to place them in stable, continuing, private and public employment at as early a date as possible.

3. Efforts shall be made to coordinate and cooperate with the existing college and university employment agencies to find employment for college graduates. An immediate program should be developed with the view of finding employment in industry for as many of the graduating class of 1935 as possible. This for its immediate effect upon youth morale, as well as its obvious practical desirability.

Work Relief (c) Work (work relief). Work relief shall be provided for youths in connection with the various projects of the work program. This shall be limited to unemployed youths in families that are certified for relief. This work shall be adjusted as to hours, rates, and wages so far as to enable them to earn $15 per month. This is to be in addition to work given to the head of the relief family. 1. Particular stress should be laid upon the building and the use of recreational and community centers which, depending upon local conditions and the energy, ability and enthusiasm of local youth groups, can be anything from an old-fashioned "swimming hole" to a complete center including all types of athletic facilities, community houses, library, classrooms, etc. In most communities these recreation- and community centers can be made self-liquidating. Substantially all of the direct labor in the creation of these centers shall be performed by youths themselves, working as apprentices under the direction of skilled mechanics. 2. Census—a national census of the status of all youths in the United States between the ages of 16 and 25 is to be taken, using competent youths within that age group to carry on the work. This should be coordinated with the unemployment census. (d) Education. 1. High school aid for boys and girls who are unable to attend high school for want of money for carfare, lunch and incidentals, authoritarily to be given to provide for the attendance upon public or non-profits making schools of high school grade, for youth in families which are eligible for any form of state or federal relief or work relief, who are 16 years of age or over, at $6 per month average. 2. College aid. Extension of college aid now given to high school graduates who are unemployed and unable to attend college without an opportunity to earn some money through part-time work. Authority to be given to provide for the attendance at college by qualified persons on a work relief basis at $15 per month average allotment of work relief jobs to a college is now based on 12 per cent of the total enrollment of the college as of October 15, 1934. 3. Post graduate aid for college graduates who are unable to find

PEIPING, China, June 27 (AP)—The Japanese military announced today that the Chahar incident has been completely settled.

Chinese authorities were silent concerning the announced settlement, but the Japanese statement was considered an indication that the Chinese had capitulated to the demands of the Japanese military. The settlement of this incident, however, was but a minor phase in the general Sino-Japanese North China crisis, liquidation of which has been proceeding, with much accomplished but with much remaining undone.

Lawyer Piquett Is Sentenced In Van Meter Case

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—The heaviest penalty possible under the law—a sentence of two years in prison and a fine of $10,000—was imposed today upon Attorney Louis P. Piquett, convicted Tuesday of harboring the late Homer Van Meter, Dillinger gangster.

Piquett's punishment was fixed by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan after he overruled a motion by the defense attorneys for a new trial.

Piquett, once a city prosecutor under former Mayor William Hale (Big Bill) Thompson, was charged by the federal government with arranging a "hideout" for Van Meter and Van Meter's chief, the late John Dillinger, in the summer of 1934, when they were the two most wanted criminals in the country.

The lawyer, branded a "master criminal" by the prosecutors, also arranged for "face lifting" operations with which Dillinger and Van Meter sought to disguise themselves, the government charged. Two surgeons, Drs. William Loeser and Harold B. Cassidy, testified that they also operated on the gangsters' finger tips in an attempt to prevent future fingerprint identification.

Piquett must go to Leavenworth penitentiary, by the judge's decree, but he was permitted his liberty until July 15, under bond of $12,550. The stocky, white-haired lawyer, a veteran of the Chicago courts who has defended many an accused criminal, took the sentence calmly without comment.

Six Americans Make Grade In British Tourney

MURFIELD, Scotland, June 27 (AP)—Batting a stiff head wind that at times reached gale strength, Henry Cotton, the defending title holder, yielded the lead today in the second round of the 72-hole British open golf championship to Charles A. Whitcombe, 40-year-old veteran British Ryder cup team player. Among the early starters and escaping the roistering wind that blew up after noon, Whitcombe covered the Murfield layout in 68—four under par—for a 36-hole aggregate of 139, while Cotton went out in 35 and then faltered badly on the greens, taking an incoming 39 for a 74 and a total of 142—good for a tie for second place with Alf Paigham, a British professional. Players with scores of 154 or better for the first 36 holes qualified for the double-round stretch drive tomorrow. Thus six Americans made the grade easily. Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., and Robert Sweeney, New York amateur now living in London, qualified with totals of 145; MacDonald, 147; Lawson Little Jr. of San Francisco had 146 aggregates, and Joe Egar of Waco, Texas, and Frank Hill, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., made the grade with 151 totals.

Landscaping Of P. O. Grounds To Begin Here Today

Landscaping of grounds around the Pampa postoffice was to begin this afternoon with Mrs. C. B. Whitehead of Dallas, successful builder, directing the work.

Mrs. Whitehead arrived in Pampa this morning. Most of the trees and shrubs to be used in the work have arrived and work will be rushed to completion. Length of time on the job will depend on the weather and the amount of treatment necessary to the soil. The woman landscape artist has been directly connected with this type of work for more than nine years. She was in charge of the 40-acre beautification program at the University of Texas, recently completed.

The postoffice will be beautified with shrubs of various types suitable to this section, numerous trees of various kinds, a hedge and grass.

$470,000 Spent On Wind Erosion Control Program

AUSTIN, June 27 (AP)—State relief officials announced today a wind erosion control program recently completed in 44 Panhandle and plains counties cost the government $470,000.

Fuel for tractors or feed for teams used in listing land to prevent its blowing was made available to 22,000 farmers. Most acreage was plowed in Deaf Smith county, where $43,000 was spent. Other large expenditures included: Dallam county, $26,000; Hansford, $25,000; Ochiltree, $27,000; Packer, $20,000, and Sherman, $24,000.

Of the total cost, $359,799 was spent for fuel; $101,186 for feed, and approximately $9,000 for personal services, of which $5,774 was for non-relief services. Budgetary relief labor was employed by farmers in some instances to drive tractors or teams.

TEXAS ETCHER DIES

SAN ANTONIO, June 27 (AP)—Miss Mary Bonner, 50, noted for her etching of Texas scenes, died here last night. She had undergone an operation a week ago and apparently had been recovering. Some of her works were purchased by the French government for permanent display. She was a frequent visitor to Paris and was a friend of Edward Leon, noted French etcher.

Bus Hoover and Mrs. Mary Hoover left yesterday by plane for Pennsylvania, where Mrs. Bus Hoover has been visiting friends and relatives. The party will fly back in a week or two.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—The stock market showed quiet resistance today to such developments as a sharp break in the domestic copper price and the decision of another railroad to seek reorganization under the federal bankruptcy laws.

A sprinkling of oil, glass, copper, and rail shares lost 1/8 to 3/16 points, but the bulk of the list was barely changed, and a few industrials closed fractionally higher. The close was irregular. Sales approximated 750 shares.

CHICAGO, June 27. (AP)—Miss Helen Hicks, Hewlett, Long Island, won her way to the semi-finals of the Women's Western Open Golf championship today, defeating Mrs. H. Austin Pardue, Winnetka, Ill., 4 and 2.

CHICAGO, June 27. (AP)—Mildred Babe Didrikson, Beaumont, Texas, battled her way to the semi-finals of the Women's Western Open Golf championship today, staging an amazing come-back to conquer Miss J. Sophie Souchek, 17 year old Chicago girl, in a 19 hole match to win one up.

Leaving the sixth, Miss Souchek, daughter of a Russian truck gardener living on the outskirts of Chicago, had a lead of three up, but the Texan girl gradually cut down her margin and they were all square at the eighteenth.

Miss Didrikson, won the match with a par on the nineteenth, with Miss Souchek dubbing her approach shot, taking four to get on the green. The Texas Babe was on in three and took two putts.

In the semi-finals tomorrow, Miss Didrikson will play Mrs. S. Louis Reinhardt, Winnetka, while Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Kansas City, will play Miss Helen Hicks, Hewlett, L. I.

George Stocking Chosen To Settle Strike In Toledo

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Secretary Perkins announced today the appointment of George W. Stocking, chairman of the petroleum labor policy board, as chairman of two arbitration committees to settle disputes growing out of the recent strike of employes of the Toledo Edison company.

Labor department officials said Stocking had been borrowed from the interior department to handle the Toledo arbitration. Before his appointment to the petroleum board, he was technical advisor to the NRA labor policy board. Born in Texas, he is a member of the faculty of the University of Texas on leave of absence.

Qualities Of Gulf Gasoline Will Be Advertising Theme

The Gulf Refining company is beginning in the NEWS today an advertising campaign designed to better acquaint motorists with the qualities of Gulf gasoline. The story of recent tests by 750 motorists is told in the advertisements. A free booklet "15 Ways to Save Gasoline Money" is being offered motorists who will request it at Gulf stations. The booklet contains valuable information and has proven highly popular with those who have received one, according to John Haynes, local Gulf distributor.

Suspect In New Mexico Tourist Mystery Is Held

DEL RIO, June 27 (AP)—A department of justice agent from El Paso was on his way here today to question a 21-year-old transient held as a suspect in the disappearance of four Illinois tourists.

Sheriff A. E. Steinmetz telephoned Governor Clyde Tingley of New Mexico last night for a description of the man who cashed a number of traveler's checks in New Mexico and Texas bearing the forged signature of George Lorus of East St. Louis, one of the missing quartet.

Sheriff Steinmetz said that the governor's description fitted the man "perfectly." He had red hair, tattoo marks on his arm, is of the same height as the man who cashed the checks, the same slow manner of speech and the way of tossing his hair back, the sheriff said. The man was arrested here yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace when he raised a disturbance at a filling station. Newspaper descriptions of the man who cashed the Lorus checks led the sheriff to telephone Governor Tingley.

Besides Lorus those missing are his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heberer of DuQuoin, Ill. They have not been seen since May 22, when they disappeared at Albuquerque, N. M. Their automobile later was found abandoned at Dallas. The forged checks were cashed at Dallas and at towns on the way from Albuquerque to Dallas.

Injunction To Void Processing Tax Is Granted

DALLAS, June 27 (AP)—The E. R. Smith Milling company of Sherman today held at least a temporary victory over the agricultural adjustment act.

Federal Judge William H. Atwell late yesterday issued a temporary injunction restraining federal officials from collecting or attempting to collect the AAA processing tax on wheat from the milling company.

The company posted a $125,000 bond to protect the government should Judge Atwell not declare the law unconstitutional. Counsel for the company told the court its monthly tax at 30 cents a bushel averaged $44,000.

W. H. Oppenheimer of St. Paul, Minn., company attorney, attacked the tax as unconstitutional on the claim that "it is an unlawful delegation of legislative powers to an executive; that it constituted the taking of private property without due process of law, and that in effect the measure was a penalty and not a revenue measure."
