No Compromise on Bonus

SUPPORTERS OF PATMAN BILL MORE INTERESTED IN MONEY ANGLE THAN BONUS.

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—While President Roosevelt called in his financial advisors today to discuss the bonus situation, Senator supporters of the Patman bill announced there would be no compromise and they would submit the inflationary measure to the president as it passed the senate Tuesday.

Mr. Roosevelt summoned Secretary Morgenthau and Frank T. Hines, the veterans administrator, for a mid-afternoon conference to go over the Patman measure preparatory to a veto.

Senators who led the fight for the Patman measure, providing for payment of the bonus with $2,000,000,000 of new currency, said they had rejected proposals for a compromise to make the currency issue optional with the president.

This had been proposed by Senators Clark (D., Mo.) and Gore (D., Okla.), as a means of gaining more votes in an effort to pass the bill over a presidential veto.

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Moving rapidly toward final passage of the omnibus banking bill, the house after less than 10 minutes discussion, today rejected 78 to 44 an amendment by Rep. Hollister (R., O.) to eliminate the section letting the federal reserve board change the reserve which member banks must maintain against demand and time deposits.

LATE NEWS

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 9 (AP)—The spirit of old King Midas remained unbroken here today.

Unlike the king with the fabled touch, money-mad chain letter fans showed no signs of tiring of bargains they snatched up in the "cheater proof" chain letter changes.

AUSTIN, May 9 (AP)—The Texas house today adopted, 110 to 22, a resolution to give immediate effect to a bill to appropriate $3,000,000 in state aid for a Texas Centennial.

LONDON, May 9 (AP)—Authoritative quarters said today the Union of South Africa is ready and willing to have Southwest Africa, formerly Germany's, returned to the reich.

AUSTIN, May 9 (AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment to permit submission of constitutional changes at special sessions was approved today by the senate. The electorate will ballot on it August 24.

GOVERNOR NOT TO INTERFERE IN EXECUTION

HABEAS CORPUS WRIT REFUSED BY CRIMINAL JUDGES

AUSTIN, May 9 (AP)—Governor Allred refused today to interfere with the execution of Raymond Hamilton and Joe Palmer.

After her petition had been refused by Judges F. L. Hawkins and G. S. Lattimore, Hamilton's attorney, Miss Openshaw of Houston, made a direct plea to Governor Allred who said his "decision with reference to Raymond Hamilton is unchanged."

After careful consideration I should not interfere with the lawful execution of Joe Palmer and Raymond Hamilton," Governor Allred stated.

No particular appeal has been made in behalf of Palmer, but numerous petitions have been received asking commutation of Hamilton's death penalty to life imprisonment.

CLOAK OF WAR-TIME SECRECY THROWN ABOUT FLIGHT

HONOLULU, May 9 (AP)—The greatest mass ocean flight ever attempted began today when the first of 40 war-time secret planes roared off from Pearl Harbor for Midway island at 7:18 a. m. (11:10 p. m. EST.).

It was expected to take two hours for the entire flying armada to get into the air for the 1,323-mile flight over an uncharted route.

High naval officials in Washington insisted the flight would proceed farther west than Midway island.

Japanese officialdom in Tokyo meanwhile, maintained silence of news of the scheduled flight.

In the maneuvers the armada from America's mid-Pacific navy base at Pearl Harbor, 12 miles from Honolulu, will join 153 warships and the greatest aircraft force ever sent to sea in mimic warfare of a vast area of the north Pacific.

Exactly what part the planes will play in the maneuvers or why they will go from Midway island is clouded in the same cloak of secrecy that has covered every move of the fleet has made since it put to sea last week.

There was sparkling weather, practically no wind to help lift heavy loads of gasoline for the fleet as the first ship left the water.

Planes of VP-10 squadron, which flew here last year, skimmed intervals of about three minutes across the glassy water of Pearl Harbor and began circling the surrounding cane fields to gain altitude while awaiting other planes the air.

THIRD PARTY TALK GROWING OVER NATION

CONFERENCE WILL BE CALLED IN JULY IN MID-WEST

CHICAGO, May 9. (AP)—Third party talk—frequent forerunner of election years but only twice a serious vote-getter since the turn of the century—was heard today from many new friends along with most of the old stand-bys.

From the farm lands of the middle west, the melting pot of New York City and the cotton fields of the deep south, "left wingers" have been assailing the new deal and liberals have been blasting the republicans with increasing frequency.

The first step designed to crystallize their charges that the democrats are unable to cope with the present crisis, intelligently and that the G. O. P. policies are too conservative has been taken.

One hundred New York fusionists, Wisconsin progressives and Minnesota farmer-laborites met in Washington Saturday and decided the time was propitious for organization of a third party to place a national ticket in the field next year. Also attending the meeting were Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of Pennsylvania's former liberal governor, and Alfred Bingham, son of former Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut.

They called for a conference in June or July in the middle west, probably in Chicago, with the widest possible representation from economic, political, social and other organizations, and from all parts of the country.

In only two national elections since 1896 has a third party movement been of any consequence.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt's bull moose ticket in 1912 with ex-Senator Hiram Johnson, California liberal republican, for vice-president, received 4,126,000 popular and 88 electoral votes, splitting the republican party and giving victory to the democrats headed by President Wilson.

In 1924 the late Senator Robert M. La Follette Sr., of Wisconsin led a revived progressive ticket with Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Montana liberal democrat and individualist, for vice-president. It gathered 4,822,856 popular and 13 electoral votes, but did not prevent the election of a republican, President Coolidge.

Leaders of the two major parties appeared, at least outwardly, to discount the new party movement as unimportant despite the prominence of individuals and other factions. In addition to those represented at the Washington conference, who are talking of it. Some reports were, however, that privately both old parties were no little perturbed by the trend.

Mr. and Mrs. Huey Lewis of Gainesville, formerly of Miami, have announced the birth of a daughter, Mary Sue.

HONEYMOON TO END IN BLISS DESPITE YEARS

Couple Separated 35 Years Ago Meet Again

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 9. (AP)—A honeymoon which was believed for 35 years to have ended in tragedy in Galveston, Tex., is to be renewed.

Thirty five years ago Dr. J. W. Lytton, now of Colorado Springs, and his bride were married in Denver. They went to Los Angeles and thence to Galveston, where after a brief stay Dr. Lytton went to Buenos Aires, Argentina. His bride remained in Galveston.

Then came the tidal wave and hurricane of September 8, 1900, which overwhelmed the Gulf coast. Dr. Lytton was informed that his bride had been killed.

Last week as he walked down a street in Cripple Creek, Colo., Dr. Lytton saw his bride of nearly two score years ago—and recognized her instantly. She did not recognize him however, even when he stopped to speak to her.

After Dr. Lytton recalled incidents which only he and she knew, Mrs. Lytton fainted, realizing that the man was her missing husband.

For six weeks, Dr. and Mrs. Lytton had lived in neighboring houses in Cripple Creek without meeting each other.

Mrs. Lytton, after failing to hear from her husband, believed he had been killed. She left Galveston and went to Tennessee, where she lived until several years ago.

Workers Reject Peace Proposal Of Auto Plant

TOLEDO, O., May 9. (AP)—Federal mediators renewed their efforts to settle the strike at the Chevrolet Motor company plant here today following rejection of a company peace proposal by the workers yesterday.

The auto workers voted 1,251 to 605 to refuse the company's offer and continue the strike. The company employed about 2,300 workers when the strike was called.

Edward F. McGrady, assistant to Secretary of Labor Perkins, said he intended to confer with General Motors officials in a new attempt to smooth out differences which have made 33,000 auto workers idle.

The strike here was called a little more than two weeks ago. The company immediately shut down its plant, cutting off the supply of Chevrolet transmissions to General Motors assembly plants. Since then nearly a score of auto plants in different cities have been shut down by the management or closed by strikes.

Fred Schwake, business agent of the United Automobile Workers federal union here, said the strikers were "eager to open negotiations as soon as possible."

COUGHLIN AND PATMAN POUND ON BONUS BILL

COMPROMISE MAY BE RESORTED TO BY CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—While the white heat of controversy beat upon the bonus issue today, the senate found itself deeply involved in a legislative paradox.

Those cash bonus leaders who are anxious to pass the Patman measure's journey to the white house while they carefully polled the senate to determine whether they could override a veto. Meanwhile, some of them lent an ear to proposals for a compromise, and indicated they would seek a compromise if they found they could not upset a veto.

Those Roosevelt leaders who seek to block the movement for full and immediate cash payment of the bonus were anxious to get the Patman bill to the white house from the senate, which already has passed it. They held that the bill, with its plan to issue $2,000,000,000 in new money to pay the certificates, would be easiest to beat after a veto. They turned thumbs down on the compromise talk.

Rep. Patman (D., Texas) author of the new currency measure, still was declaring it would pass over a veto.

"If the president in his wisdom should decide to veto the bill," he said in a speech at New York, "we will still have the necessary two-thirds to over-ride it."

Father Charles E. Coughlin continued to hammer away in behalf of the Patman bill. First predicting that President Roosevelt would not veto the bill because he is "too clever er a politician," the clergyman later said the new deal administration would "commit suicide" if it did veto the measure.

PLAYERS FIRED, HIRED DALLAS, May 9. (AP)—The Dallas Steers released four players today. Joe Wood, pitcher, and Dutch

Prather, first baseman, were sent to the Steer farm at Longview. Slim Kinzy, southpaw pitcher, and Catcher Calthamer were returned to the Chicago White Sox. Vice-President Bob Tarleton purchased Jim Mosolf, outfielder, from the Kansas City Blues, and is seeking another catcher. Mosolf will replace Red Harvel in leftfield. Harvel, who has been in a hitting slump, will not be released, Tarleton said.

Newark Crowd Hardest Part Of Trip, Says Miss Earhart

Flies From Mexico City to Gotham Non-Stop

NEW YORK, May 9. (AP)—Amelia Earhart, who stepped lightly from her red monoplane at the Newark (N. J.) airport last night after completing the first non-stop flight from Mexico, had one objective today—sleep.

Not that the perilous take-off or the 2,100-mile hop had tired her—she found the addition of another record to her list a "colorless" feat—but it was a "trying" reception by a cheering throng at the airport.

"It was not a particularly interesting flight," she told questioners.

The plane which had carried her across the Atlantic and from Hawaii to California touched its wheels to the brightly lighted field at 9:28:50 p. m., eastern standard time, 14 hours, 22 minutes and 50 seconds after the take-off.

Miss Earhart's face was un-streaked, but she showed no signs of fatigue as she pushed back her un-ruled blonde locks and waved cheerfully to friends.

Police lines meant nothing to the crowd. The spectators swarmed about the plane and Miss Earhart had to abandon it to sturdier guardians.

With police cars for opening wedges, the flier slowly made her way to a hangar. Almost there, she met her husband, George Palmer Putnam, who reached her side only after prolonged football tactics by a bluecoat escort.

"Mexico is more civilized than Newark," exclaimed the publisher. Miss Earhart appeared to enjoy the excitement, although she later described it as the hardest part of the trip.

She disclosed that she had found the Gulf of Mexico covered by a great layer of cloud. This she escaped by soaring to 9,000 feet, only to find another great range of cloud mountains built up ahead. Between the two were a few hundred feet of clear atmosphere and for more than 100 miles she flew with clouds both above and below her.

She had headwinds at first, then tailwinds, the flyer said. She averaged 151 miles an hour, flying slowly enough to conserve fuel and arriving with a little left in her tanks.

Borger Victim Of Crash Dies

ELECTRA, May 9. (AP)—William M. Brashears, 49, of Borger, today became the third victim to die from injuries received in an automobile crash near here last week.

Brashears' body was sent to Mound Valley, Kas., for burial.

Jake M. Morrow and John Bridges were the other victims. Deputy Sheriff Jimmie Cloud of Hutchinson county, injured when the automobile in which he, Morrow, Brashears and Bridges were riding, struck a truck, was removed from a hospital here yesterday and taken to his Borger home.

Constable Homer Whisand said an investigation of the fatal crash was incomplete.

COLORADO RIVER DAM TO BE NAMED FOR ROBERT KNIERIM

SAN ANGELO, May 9. (AP)—"The Robert Knierim Dam" is the name that backers of the upper Colorado river authority have chosen for the huge barrier that will be swung across the Colorado river above Robert Lee.

A loan of $4,000,000 will be applied for the PWA for constructing the dam, which is expected to place from 25,000 to 35,000 acres under irrigation. Little difficulty in obtaining the loan is expected since the act, which Gov. James V. Allred signed recently, sets aside state taxes of Tom Green and Coke counties, amounting to around $75,000 annually, to repay the loan over a period of 20 years.

To San Angelo and the surrounding ranch country the project offers the opportunity to create close to home a feeding activity that should make it possible for ranchmen to fatten their livestock on the way to market. It also is expected to bring 500 families to Coke county and cut the ranch feed bills in this territory.

For a quarter of a century Robert Knierim of Bronte has worked for the creation of the dam. He cannot serve as director of the irrigation project because he holds the rights to the water in his own name and these must be transferred to the district.

In 1912 Mr. Knierim carried a rod for a surveyor who made preliminary surveys for the dam. He has been working on it since.

In 1913 Charles M. Stanley came to Coke county and with a camp outfit on the back of burro went up and down the river hunting a proper site for the dam. Stanley spent three years and $75,000 on the project.

In 1920 the Colorado valley irrigation association was formed with Mr. Knierim as president; Carl Guin, then mayor of Ballinger, vice president and S. L. Williams, secretary of the Ballinger chamber of commerce, secretary.

Creation of the district was contested by a number of persons and the case finally fought through the courts for eight years. Finally the district was declared not to have been formed in accordance with the law.

During this time the permit which the state board of water engineers granted the district was kept alive by Mr. Knierim. He paid the fees and made trips to Austin to prevent other interests absorbing the permits through filings.

C. C. Holder was sent to Coke county in 1922 to survey the upper Colorado project for the United States geological survey. He spent a year on the job and was so impressed by it that he resigned from the service, installed a small electric light plant at Bronte and since has been a citizen of Coke county.

Clyde Gilchrist, present highway engineer, next surveyed the area and located the dam site above Robert Lee. The project was dropped during the depression but activity for the new authority put the project across in the legislature.

"There is a long road ahead. The PWA engineering staff must first approve the project, which federal officials have indicated they favor. Land must be acquired, contracts for work and for water also must be accomplished.

Regardless the committee which sponsored the project feel that the legislative action constituted their greatest hurdle. Governor Allred is to name nine directors of the district, three from Tom Green, three from Coke county and three from counties that border the district.

GOP Continues Attack on TVA

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—Republican opponents of the administration's Tennessee valley electric power experiment indicated today they would carry on indefinitely their senate fight against consideration of a bill redefining the TVA act.

During a three-hour speech yesterday, Senator Austin (R., Va.), charged the TVA with a long list of "violations of law." He said it had committed itself to spend $250,000,000, or five times its original borrowing power, and added it should be thoroughly investigated before further change in the law are made.

Pending was a motion by Senator Norris (R., Neb.), co-author of the TVA-Muscle Shoals industrialization act, to consider his bill clarifying that law and seeking to give TVA specific authority to buy up existing power plants and sell surplus electrical energy. It also would double the TVA's original bond issuing authority by permitting it to borrow $100,000,000, but limiting this to five years.

Democratic leaders were trying to prevail upon the Nebraskan to withdraw his motion if the opposition speeches became protracted, but Norris insisted that his motion be voted on.

New NRA legislation, one of the five "must" bills listed by President Roosevelt for disposition before Congress adjourns, waits behind the Norris proposal.

GREAT RICHES

Chapter 37
JANE'S DEMAND

But perhaps Jane understood his limitations only too well, thought James. It must be true that the Judge had been blinded from the very beginning by his loving fondness. Certainly no one but the Judge believed now that he still showed any promise of greatness. Jane and her father and mother made only the feeblest attempts to hide their disappointment and contempt.

The young people with whom he had grown up still liked him well enough, but they called him "poor James" behind his back. If he went to the grocery store to give an order for Jane, Mr. Perkins thought it a great joke to ask whether it should be charged to him or Mr. Northrup.

Even the Judge had begun . . . But perhaps he had become over-sensitive and imaginative. That would be the last straw, the last and final straw, if his old friend lost faith in him.

When James went home an hour later he found Jane still sitting on the porch rocking back and forth. "Can't I get you a shawl? Aren't you cold?" he said quickly, hoping to placate her.

"No, thank you. It isn't cold. Where have you been?"

"Nowhere. Just walking around."

"James, I've been sitting here thinking things over and I've come to a decision. We've been married five years and in that time we've practically stood still. I think perhaps you were right a little while ago when you said you could not make a success of anything your heart was not in."

"I'm glad, dear, you could see that. Thank you."

"No reason for thanking me. The thing to do is to decide what you can do best. It hardly seems worth while for a grown man to spend his time and energy persuading poor miserable old women to get rid of drunken brutes when you know next week they'll only be back again asking to be beaten. Surely, James, you want to do something better than that."

"I think I have done something better than that, Jane."

"Well, yes, of course, but I'm speaking figuratively. But you aren't a money maker and you never will be. You aren't interested in making money. Now, honestly, are you?"

"Well, yes, I want to make money. But I don't take a case just for the money in it, if that's what you mean."

"Exactly. So you may peg along here for a thousand years and never make as much as five thousand a year. But you are interested in politics and Father says the Judge still has enormous political influence. Now the Judge can't possibly live much longer and if he ever is going to put you in congress now is the time."

"But Jane, I'm only twenty-nine. Naturally they wouldn't elect me. Besides, Daniels is a perfectly good man and has represented this district for years. He is sixty-one or two now, and the Judge thinks he will drop out just about the time I am ready to run—say in five or six years. But I'm only a kid in politics now."

"Then why doesn't the Judge at least send you to the state legislature?"

"He wants me to run next term, but McCullough is entitled to his that seem a very terrible thing to you? It does to me."

"I suppose so," answered Jane fretfully, "but I dare say you'll be claiming next that it's all my fault. If you had my nerves or suffered with your back as I suffer with mine it seems to me that I would be a little considerate and get out of my way occasionally to try to please you."

"I'm not claiming anything or blaming anybody. I am trying to figure out just where the trouble lies. Nor is it just to say I have not tried to please you. Sometimes I think I try too hard. Sometimes I think you would like me better if I gave you real cause for disliking me."

"I don't dislike you. How silly! Let's go to bed or first thing you know you will be getting sentimental and I'm not in a sentimental mood tonight."

James sighed and the discussion ended. What James wanted to ask of Jane and did not dare, was why she so often went out of her way and spent so much energy to hunt up old grievances against him.

Not that it was really necessary to ask James, unfortunately, knew the answer. He knew only too well that it was necessary for Jane's peace of mind that she stand well in her own eyes. Even she could not make herself believe that she treated her husband fairly these days.

James knew that Jane was ashamed of the scene before her father—ashamed in her heart of hearts of the attitude she had taken regarding Mrs. Preston. But he knew, too, that if she were ashamed tonight and somewhat repentant she would not or could not rest content until she had somehow found excuse for herself and was once more happily restored in her self-esteem.

And to do that it was unfortunately necessary that he should be sacrificed and his culpability magnified. Old offenses would be dug up and hashed and rehashed—old quarrels re-lived; old grievances multiplied.

James went to sleep dreading the morning. "I believe that Jane's conscience is to blame—that we both would be happier if she had no conscience," was his last waking thought.

CASH INCOME FROM SALE OF FARM PRODUCTS INCREASES

WASHINGTON, May 9. (AP)—Cash income from the sale of farm products in March, a statement from the bureau of agricultural economics of the United States department of agriculture says, is estimated at $418,000,000 compared with the revised estimate of $381,000,000 in February and $406,000,000 in March, 1934.

The increase in income from February to March this year was greater than usual and, after allowance for the difference in the length of the months and other seasonal factors, income from marketings in March was 56.5 per cent of the 1934-1935 monthly average compared with 54 in February and 57 in March, 1934. In this connection the report explains that "the seasonally adjusted index of income is slightly lower than a year ago even though the actual income was $10,000,000 higher due to the difference in seasonal adjustment for different commodities."

Rental and benefit payments in March amounted to $40,000,000, the same as in February, and $40,000,000 higher than in March last year. Total farm income including rental and benefit payments in March was $458,000,000 compared with $415,000,000 last year.

During the first three months of 1935, the report continues, farmers' cash income from the sale of farm products was $1,226,000,000 compared with $1,215,000,000 in 1934. Rental and benefit payments, including income from cotton options and emergency sale of cattle, sheep and goats were $171,000,000 this year compared with $97,000,000 the first three months of 1934, making the total income of farmers $1,397,000,000 from January to March this year compared with $1,312,000,000 in the same months last year.

Although farm prices in March were slightly lower than in February marketings of grains and cotton increased sufficiently to increase income from these sources. The rise in the price of meat animals more than offset the decline in prices of dairy products and the seasonally
