When the Eason Oilers of Enid, Okla., come to town, baseball fans of this section expect to see some of the year's best baseball. The Oilers have one of the strongest teams in Oklahoma this year.

The visitors will be here with blood in their eyes, seeking revenge for two losses in a three-game series with the Road Runners in Enid last week-end.

Although Manager Freddy Brickel had not definitely named his starting hurler for tonight it was expected that Joe Berry would get the call. There is a chance that Lee Daney will get the nod. The Indian has not been in good condition this season, but he has been working hard and may be ready.

Manager Nick Urban of the Oilers wired yesterday, "coming with intention of taking all three games."

Game time tonight and tomorrow night will be at 8:45 o'clock. The game Sunday afternoon will be at 3 o'clock. Admission will be 25 cents for women and 40 cents for men.

DALLAS TROUNCES BEAUMONT IN EIGHTH WITH THREE RUNS

No few Texas league games are being won in single inning rallies. The Dallas Steers last night put across three scores in the eighth to stop the Beaumont Exporters, 6 to 5, and San Antonio opened with a 4-run attack to defeat Fort Worth, 9 to 3.

The Dallas-Beaumont game was a stubborn combat until the Steers' big eighth. Each team used two pitchers. Fletcher started for Beaumont but was knocked from the box in the eighth. Bratton finished. Francis Nelson opened for the Steers and did fair pitching until a shower of hits in the sixth brought Sal Giallato to the game in time to get credit for the win.

Larry Bettencourt knocked a home run with one on in the first to start the San Antonio fireworks against Fort Worth. As the Missions continued to make the circuit, Abe Miller held the Cats at bay without running into trouble.

A four-run rally in the second and the same number of scores in the fourth after they had started the game with one tally gave Houston a 9 to 4 victory over Oklahoma City in the first of a twin bill. The Indians came back in the afterpiece to down the Buffs, 4 to 0.

Galveston was at Tulsa for a game, but rain and a windstorm that damaged the ball park kept the players indoors. A large section of the fence was blown down and two eighty-foot poles of the lighting system crashed to the ground.

Three Americans In Semi-Finals In London Meet

LONDON, June 21 (AP)—Two more Americans joined Donald Budge of Oakland, Calif., as semi-finalists in the Queens club tennis tournament today.

Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Texas, No. 1 ranking American player, defeated E. C. Gardar-Dower in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4, while D. N. Jones of New York, former Columbia university net star, advanced when his opponent, J. S. Olliff scratched.

Allison made up for a number of mistakes with his deadly volleying. Another American, Sidney B. Wood, teamed with Enrique Maser, the Spanish champion, to defeat D. W. Butler and G. R. D. Meredith of Great Britain, 6-3, 6-4, in a second round men's doubles match.

Records show the average growth of a liveoak tree in a 7-year period is 173 inches in circumference.

GOLF TOURNEY IS LIMITED TO 8 DALLASITES

ALL VISITING PLAYERS ARE ELIMINATED ON THURSDAY

DALLAS, June 21. (AP)—Eight Dallasites started quarter-final competition today in the 29th annual Texas Golf association championship after eliminating all visiting golfers in yesterday's first and second round matches.

Having turned the state championship into a "city tournament," the surviving shot-makers promised sub-par shooting in today's two rounds. The 36-hole championship final will be played tomorrow.

Lafayette Franks, medalist runner-up with 37-33-70, and Reynolds Smith, defending champion, were first off the tee. Smith was favored. However, Franks had his share of supporters after yesterday's one-up victory over Leland Hamman of Paris, the Trans-Mississippi champion.

Eddie Connor, who yesterday eliminated David Goldman of Dallas opposed James McConagill in a sub-par battle.

In the lower bracket, Don Schumacher, Texas junior champion, ruled a slight favorite over Wilson Schoellkopf. Schumacher yesterday beat Hap Massingill of Fort Worth, one up.

Harry Todd, western junior open champion, faced a severe test against Joe Bailey, Jr., who yesterday furnished two tournaments upsets when he beat Jack Munger, the medalist, and Peyton Slade, an outstanding Dallas star. He shot three birdies on the inward trek in his match with Munger to eliminate the National Interscholastic champion, 3 and 2.

Mat Card Will Be Held Here Tuesday Night

There will be wrestling at Road Runner park on Tuesday night unless a flood washes the park away. Promoter J. B. Garrison said this morning in announcing his card for next week. The first preliminary will be at 8:30 o'clock.

Headlining the card will be Bob Castle, one of the toughest hoppers in "wring" history, who will meet Mr. Masked Marvel in a finish match, best two falls out of three. The two have met once before, with the Marvel winning a three-fall match, one of the toughest of his career. Castle wrestles to win and doesn't care whether his opponent wears a mask or comes into ring bare-faced.

Pampa's own Red Michael will appear in the semi-final of one fall or 30-minute time limit, with Jack Dumar providing the opposition. Michael staged one of the greatest battles ever seen in Pampa when he downed Tony Piluso in the main event at the Pre-Centennial match. Dumar is an iron man who has been having things pretty much his own way in the east.

The card will open with Andy Dowler and Curly Lewis trying to settle their difficulties. The two have battled three 20-minute periods without either gaining a decision.

The two grapple a little, slug a lot, and generally try to batter each other into submission.

Last week's match had to be called off when a misunderstanding made it impossible for the wrestlers to secure Road Runner park.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press.

Bill Myers, Reds and Dazy Vance, Dodgers—Myers hit triple, double and two singles in first game of doubleheader; Vance pitched and batted the Dodgers to victory in second.

Dizzy Dean and Rip Collins, Cardinals—The former limited the Phillies to five hits for his tenth victory of the season, and the latter's eleventh home run with one aboard gave the Cardinals a 3-1 victory.

Joe Moore, Giants—Hit eleventh home run in season in aiding Giants to defeat Pirates, 6 to 2.

Mules Haas, White Sox and Jimmie Fox, Athletics—Haas' single in twelfth inning enabled the White Sox to win second game of a double-

Roman Soldier Races Saturday

CHICAGO, June 21. (AP)—Roman Soldier, hardest working thoroughbred of the American turf, goes back to his job again tomorrow, after a week's rest.

The black colt that never runs a bad race and cares little about track conditions will go to the post favorite in the 27th running of the $25,000 added American derby at a mile and a quarter at Washington Park Saturday.

A sparkling field of 13, including practically every horse, with the exception of Omaha, that has accomplished anything as a three-year-old this year, seemed certain today as trainers checked over the preparations of the candidates for this most famous of Chicago's stake races.

The list includes Col. E. R. Bradley's Black Helen, winner of the Florida derby; Fearout, winner of the Latonia derby; Firehorn, second to Omaha in both the Preakness and the Belmont; Whiskolo, in the money in three derbies; Cold Shoulder, the entry of Alfred G. Vanderbilt; Nellie Flag and Count Arthur, the latter the entry of Mrs. John D. Hertz of Chicago.

Nagano province, Japan, has a cherry tree estimated to be 1,000 years old which still blooms fully.

header 2-1, after Fox's 12th home run of the season with one on base in the tenth inning gave the A's the opener 5 to 3.

DOCTOR SAID SHE NEEDED "BULK" FOR HER CONSTIPATION***
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief to Mrs. Maneely
"Up to five years ago, I knew no end of suffering caused by constipation. I used all kinds of laxatives but only found relief till I got used to them. My physician told me to get some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and instructed me how to use it."
"I did just as I was told by my doctor, and today I send my highest praise for what your ALL-BRAN has done for me."—Mrs. Jas. Maneely, Jr., 9 Kilburn St., Valley Falls, R. I.

*Due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.
ALL-BRAN provides gentle "bulk" to help overcome common constipation. It is also a good source of vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" of ALL-BRAN is often more effective than the "bulk" in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. If not corrected this way, see your doctor.

Isn't this food much pleasanter and safer than risking patent medicines? Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

PARTIES FAIL TO MEET CRISIS

We are not impressed by the proceedings of the conference of Midwest Republicans at Springfield, Illinois, during the first part of the week, nor by "the Republican creed" which that conference adopted. There is something unreal about the spectacle of Republicans attempting to play the role of defenders of States' rights, in view of the record of their party on that question, and it would be difficult to explain the difference between the farm program endorsed by the conference and that which the administration has been following for the past two years. Moreover, on what appears to us to be the most important and most fundamental issue facing the American people just now, that of economic nationalism versus international cooperation, the conference's "creed" is significantly silent. The conference's declaration on labor measures sounds almost like an endorsement of the position taken by President Roosevelt, Senator Wagner of New York, and President Green of the American Federation of Labor, and a condemnation of the position of the Republican leaders in Congress who are opposing the Wagner bill and similar legislation. All that is missing to make the "creed" a complete opportunistic platform, drafted primarily to attract the votes of all who are dissatisfied with some of President Roosevelt's measures, is a ringing declaration of favor of the immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus.

The truth is, of course, that the memory of the record of the Republican Party during the twelve years between 1920 and 1932 is too fresh in our mind to make any Republican declaration sound convincing. Former Governor Lowden, who made the keynote address of the conference, is a man for whom we have great admiration, but he certainly is not representative of the dominant attitude of the Republican Party since the World War, and there is no convincing evidence that the party has changed that attitude in any great degree during the past two years.

The conference declared, to be sure, for "the breaking down of restrictions on world commerce such as quotas and exchange restrictions." But the qualifying "such as" and the omission of the word "tariffs" from the enumerated restrictions completely nullify this declaration and render it innocuous. The chief restrictions on world commerce today are the rates of the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Law and the tariffs and other trade barriers which more than forty other nations felt compelled to set up after the enactment of that law in 1930, in order to protect their trade balances in an effort to maintain the integrity of their currencies. But, of course, the Republicans could not be expected to repudiate the record of their party by declaring for a revision of the rates of the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Law downward, as a necessary first step toward the "breaking down of restrictions on world commerce." This, however, is to say in effect that the Republican Party is absolutely unsuited to deal with the present situation effectively.

There you have the crux of the whole matter. The Republicans had the first opportunity of dealing with the depression. But instead of dealing with it effectively the measures they adopted actually aggravated the depression and gave impetus to the process which were already strangling the trade of the world and rendering domestic measures impotent to check the economic and social disintegration which had set in.

The Republican cure for the depression was the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act. It was so proclaimed at the time of its enactment, and while Governor Lowden and a few like him would have prevented the enactment of that law if they could, the fact remains that a Republican Congress enacted it and that a Republican president signed it. More than one thousand American economists, representing 179 American universities in forty-six states, filed with Congress and with President Hoover a protest against the enactment of this measure. They pointed out that it was not possible to "increase employment by restricting trade" and that the net result of the enactment of the Smoot-Hawley bill would be to reduce our exports and cause further unemployment. "Countries cannot permanently buy from us," they declared, "unless they are permitted to sell to us, and the more we restrict the importation of goods from them by means of our even higher tariffs, the more we reduce the possibility of our exporting to them."

At the same time no less than thirty-six countries made diplomatic representations to the American government in formal fashion through our State Department, protesting against the proposed increase in tariff rates, and setting forth that such action would result in an economic catastrophe. The note from Czechoslovakia, for example, was characteristic of all of them, and it declared: "The adoption of the proposed tariff would of necessity throw thousands of people in the ranks of the unemployed and bring a crisis in Czechoslovakian industry, causing a general depression and of necessity decreasing the buying power of the people and diminishing imports even of the most necessary articles."

But what was the Republican attitude to all this? Well, the record speaks for itself. On the day the bill was finally passed by the Senate, United States Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, in closing the debate, had the following to say: "It is my prediction today, deliberately made on the floor of the United States Senate, that, after the passage of this bill this afternoon, the skies will clear and within a comparatively brief time the sun again will shine and bring back prosperous conditions and happy days to the people of the United States. Whenever we permit in free and unrestricted fashion the products of the cheap labor of Europe to come into competition with the products of our labor, there can be but one of two results: our laboring people come down to the wage level of the foreigners or else we shut up shop. There is no other alternative, and every time we have tried a Democratic tariff we have shut up shop; and every time we have tried a Republican tariff, we have opened up shop, the boys have gone back to work, and the hum of industry has again come to bless and gladden the ears of all the people. I here and now predict, and I ask my fellow Senators to recall this prediction in the days to come, that if this bill is passed this nation will be on the upgrade financially, economically and commercially within thirty days, and that within a year from this time we shall have regained the peak of prosperity."

That was in June, 1930. During the ensuing year the nations of the world were busy at "adjusting" themselves to the situation created by the Smoot-Hawley law, and in June, 1931, when Senator Watson predicted the peak of prosperity would have been regained, President Hoover was compelled to declare a moratorium on all intergovernmental debts!

Senator Watson sat on the platform at the Springfield conference, but none of the assembled Midwestern Republicans seemed to be disposed to grant his wish that they "recall this prediction in days to come" or to re-

And the conference, taken as a whole, had nothing to say about the tariff except that it agreed with the statement of Governor Lowden that "as long as we have a protective tariff for the benefit of industry, we should give the agriculture corresponding benefits for that portion of the products of the soil which goes into domestic consumption."—The Texas Weekly.

JOHNNY ALLEN STOPS TIGERS WITH 5 HITS

CLEVELAND IN SECOND PLACE AFTER BEATING SENATORS

BY ORLO ROBERTSON, Associated Press Sports Writer. Many reasons have been advanced as to why the New York Yankees lead the American league pack by 8 1/2 games, not the least of which is Johnny Allen, the man who came back.

His arm went bad early last year with the result he was offered a contract calling for $1 a year until he showed Boss Joe McCarthy that he had regained his old-time effectiveness.

The statistics tell the remainder of the story. Johnny has chalked up six victories against two defeats and ranks second only to Vito Tamulis among the hurlers on a team that boasts such stars as Lefty Gomez and Charlie Ruffing.

He stopped the Detroit Tigers yesterday with 5 hits as the Yankees turned back the circuit champions for the third straight time, winning 5 to 2.

Young Joe Sullivan hit Bill Dickey on the head and he had to be carried from the field. An x-ray examination showed only a slight concussion, however, and the veteran catcher is expected back in the lineup within a few days.

The Cleveland Indians climbed over the Chicago White Sox into second place by trouncing the Washington Senators 8 to 6 while the Palo Alto were dividing a pair with the Philadelphia Athletics. A home run by Ralph Winegarner, pinch-hitting in the eighth, started the Indians on a 3-run rally that gave them the victory.

Jimmy Fox's 12th home run of the season with Bob Johnson on base in the tenth decided the first of the Philadelphia-Chicago double-header in favor of the A's by a score of 5 to 2. The nightcap also went to extra innings, three singles giving the Sox a 2 to 1 victory in the 12th. Roger Cramer and Zeke Bonura hit home runs in the second, the latter getting his 12th.

Home runs also played an important part in the New York Giants' 6 to 2 victory over the National League's second-place Pirates. Bill Terry and Joe Moore drove in half of the Giants' runs with circuit swats as Roy Parmelee and Al Smith held the Bucs to 4 hits. Parmelee relieved in the fifth because of a strained back.

The St. Louis Cardinals moved within 5 points of second place by defeating the Phillies 3 to 1 behind the 5-hit hurrying of Dizzy Dean and Jimmy Collins' home run with a "make on base." The victory was Dizzy's best of the season as compared to five setbacks.

Two big innings left the Brooklyn Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds all square after their double bill. The Reds counted five times in the 11th to win the opener 8 to 1 and the Dodgers put over 6 in the 8th of the nightcap to even matters, 7 to 1.

The Cubs-Braves and Red Sox-Braves games were rained out.

Dalrymple Will Teach End Play At Tech School

LUBBOCK, June 21. (AP)—Jerry Dalrymple, head coach at State Teachers college at Conway, Ark., and for two years an all-American end at Tulane university, has been signed to teach end play at the fifth annual Texas Tech coaching school here, August 6-17. Tech officials have announced.

Dalrymple will work with his former coach, Bernie Bierman, now Minnesota mentor, in demonstrating his style of play. Seven other leading football and other athletic coaches of the nation are to teach during the school.

The school is attended by approximately 400 coaches annually.

CHAPTER 24

The girl stared back at Michael Heatheroe, her pupils dilating oddly. "You win," she quietly.

"Katharine..." His arms were around her now, his breath was on her cheek. "You mean — you'll actually marry me?"

She looked straight ahead, her hands gripping the wheel.

"I'll do that."

The die was cast. She couldn't turn back now. She knew in her soul if she turned Michael over to those detectives she would be tormented all her life long. She could not think of Sally Moon now — nor of anything else —

"Drive on then," the man cried exultantly. "We can get a special license in Connecticut."

Long afterward the girl thought some special madness must have possessed her that day. She could not remember quite clearly by what devious route they arrived at the shabby, shingled house in the little sleepy village. The frayed clergyman who examined their papers did not seem to find the situation at all odd. He accepted them and their demand quite calmly.

As if in a dream the girl heard the words, "I, Katharine, take thee, Michael..."

A woman came out of the kitchen, wiping her floured hands, to sign the papers.

Then they were back in the car again, Katharine's hands on the wheel. The simple gold band, bought in that same sleepy town, glimmered against her finger.

It wasn't real. It couldn't be. Yet there was Michael beside her. And in the back of the car were the drug store packages, the forgotten library book, to remind her of home, of duties.

Katharine turned a scandalized face to him. "Bertine — my stepmother! She'll be expecting he back. She'll be half mad. What time is it?"

Michael consulted his watch. "Half past two."

Half past two. And it had been 10 o'clock when Katharine had stepped out of the drug store into bustling Main Street. She was married now. She was the man's wife.

"Michael," she said frantically. "You must wait here. Is there a hotel or something? I'll go back to Innicock and get some money — throw some things into a bag."

She had promised to go with him, for better or for worse. In sickness and in health. Something wild and free within herself exulted at the thought. This lean, smiling young man was her husband. No one could take him from her.

He glanced away, avoiding her eyes. "Do you think I'm going to let you go now? We can telephone your stepmother..."

Suddenly it seemed to Katharine that if Bertine knew it would spoil everything. Bertine, prying and questioning, weeping perhaps, and talking of the shame and disgrace of it.

"No," she said gently. "But now we must plan what to do, where to go. Shall we go west again — or is it — would it be uncomfortable for you?"

She asked this haltingly. Now that she was his wife, perhaps Michael Heatheroe would tell her why those grim men with badges were looking for him.

"No — not very," said Michael. If she hadn't known the affair was so serious, she would have sworn there was amusement lurking in his eyes.

"Katharine, can you realize it?" he asked huskily after a moment. "Yesterday I thought I was done for. Today you belong to me."

"I can't drive when you look at me like that," she murmured. She stopped the car and there was a murdering interlude.

"Listen, Katharine," said Michael after a space. "You needn't go back to Innicock at all. I have some cash in his pockets. 'Idiot!' she told him. 'I haven't any clothes.'"

"Well, I'll buy you some."

"With what?" she demanded, laughing.

He frowned. "You've married a poor man, my darling."

"As if that mattered."

She raised her hand to her lips and, with a spontaneity amazing in one always so cool and repressed, closed it. His face burned a deep red. He said huskily, "Do you realize, girl, that's the first time you ever..."

"Ever what?" Her dark burning blue eyes challenged him. Bertine, who complained of her stiffness and coldness, would not have recognized Katharine at the moment.

"The first time you ever gave me any tangible proof of your affection," said the man softly.

She laughed gayly. "I like that. Here I dash off in my oldest frock and marry the man and he says I give no tangible proof..." She broke off to regard him oddly.

"Michael Heatheroe, I've said it before and I say it now again — do you know you don't talk in the least like a wild westerner?"

He laughed. "Oh, I've been to school, you know."

"I know, really, so little about you," she said, luxuriating in the adoring glance he gave her. "There is so much I want to hear..."

Some demon of jealousy prompted her next remark. "I know less than Sally Moon, probably."

He shrugged his shoulders.

"Will you believe me, Katharine, or think me less than gallant if I say that affair wasn't of my making?"

She lifted candid eyes to his, her fingers interlaced in his strong ones. "Oh, I knew that," she said loftily. "It isn't the first time Sally's been engaged. Only..."

"Only what?"

"She's always been the one before to break the darn things," Katharine confessed, indignantly. "Michael, this is a terrible thing we've done to her..."

"Lord, it is rotten," the man confessed ruefully.

There was Bertine to be told and Katharine's father and Sally Moon... oh, how could they face it?

"Michael, I tell you what," Katharine began eagerly, "you let me drive you to the through train and go off some place until this thing — whatever it is — blows over. Then I'll join you, and everything will be all right."

He shook his handsome head.

"I don't dare let you out of my sight. You'd vanish like the princess in the fairy tale."

She must make him see reason. "But don't you understand? It will be for just a little while. I can come to you in a few days — maybe a week."

He was obdurate. She had not known he could be so stubborn. She was in despair.

"But why else did I come with you — marry you — except to save you?"

"I thought," he told her quietly, "it was partly because you loved me."

Then she was in his arms again, half-weeping, wholly absorbed in the off-bold, ever-new story. But they were getting nowhere in the argument.

She telephoned Bertine, with some garbled, hazy account of a forgotten appointment and hung up the receiver with shaking fingers. Michael waited for her in the foyer of the little hotel.

"We can't lunch here," he said. "But the man says there's a tearoom down the street..."

She laughed on the note of excitement. "Let's dash there then. I'm starving."

Over an omelet and rolls and tea their eyes and hands met. "Our wedding luncheon," Katharine said. How strange fate was! Only this morning she had planned never to see Michael Heatheroe again.

"Now, my darling, you must really let me go," she pleaded when he had paid the check and they had wandered out again into the hot, bright sunshine of mid-afternoon. Two children with bursting brown paper bags came out of a grocery store to regard the pair with curious, interested eyes.

Michael laughed, tucking her hand in his. "I'm coming back to Innicock with you," he said.

"Oh, you can't really." There was terror in her tone.

"Oh, yes, I can," he said gayly. "I haven't done a thing to be ashamed of."

She whirled on him. "You mean — you mean you tricked me into this?"

COURT HOUSE NOTES

Five marriage licenses have been issued by County Clerk Charlie Thut this week, the first sign of a rush during "marrying month." Licenses were issued to Earl Davis and June Cooley; Pete Martins and La Verne Lowe; Roger Powers and Vera Cummings; George H. Martin and Leota Bernice Shafer; William Henry and Hattie Radford, negroes.

Non-jury cases are taking most of Judge C. E. Cary's time in county court. Only one jury suit was heard this week and it resulted in a hung jury. County court will be in session for another week. The docket this term is light.

The 31st district grand jury will re-convene Monday morning for its third session of deliberation. Fifteen indictments have been returned to date.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY BENEFITS IN CEREAL SALES

Sponsoring a special sale of Kellogg cereals this week-end in Pampa Grocery stores the American Legion Auxiliary will earn money to use in the charitable activities of that organization, it was announced yesterday.

A group of the ladies, meeting with Kellogg representatives last week, were assigned co-operating stores to serve tomorrow as saleswomen.

The plan is one adopted several years ago by W. K. Kellogg and through the arrangement a number of local organizations throughout the country have benefited. It was pointed out.

Packages as well as the contents of three Kellogg's products have been designed with the idea of appealing particularly to children.

New packages of Kellogg's Corn Flakes present a series of adventure stories on the back panels. Included in these and written especially for children are such stories as the Wooden Horse of Troy, Sword of Damocles, Ninth Diamond and The Lost Falcon.

The Rice Krispies packages carry Mother Goose stories, a series of thirty-six, including such stories as Peter-Piper, King Cole and Little Bo-Peep. The new Pep package presents rules and regulations of baseball and swimming.

The stories on the Corn Flakes and Rice Krispies packages are arranged in series, and will be furnished to grocers so that regular periodic purchases will make it possible for children to obtain the entire series.

Connally Fights Seating Of Holt

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—Little Mrs. M. E. Holt wants it known she isn't afraid of six-foot-three Senator Connally (D-Tex.) and doesn't like his fight to keep her son, Rush D. Holt (D-W. Va.), out of the senate.

G.O.P. Challenges Rush Holt's Seat

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—Senator-elect Holt (D., W. Va.) offered himself for the oath of office in the senate yesterday and was immediately challenged by Senator McNary, republican leader, on the ground he was not 30 years old when elected.

McNary asked that Holt stand aside until the contest over his seating was disposed of.

Chairman George offered the report of the elections committee recommending that Holt be seated.

Senators Hastings (R., Del.) countered with a motion that Holt's election be declared void "he not having attained the age of 30 years at the commencement of the term for which he was elected."

He was 30 yesterday.

Kellogg's PEP is packed with nourishment for active bodies. Plus enough added bran to be mildly laxative.
