PRICE-FIXING TO BE BARRED UNDER PLANS

GREEN INSISTS UPON EXTENSION AT HEARING

By CLARENCE M. WRIGHT Associated Press Staff Writer WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt and house and senate leaders agreed tentatively today on a 21 1/2 months extension of NRA and giving the recovery agency jurisdiction over business "substantially affecting" interstate commerce.

Price fixing would be barred. The reached that understanding at a White House conference even as William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, was insisting before the House Ways and Means committee of the 75-year extension and describing as "short-sighted, reactionary and antisocial" those who opposed that.

He said nationwide strikes would result if NRA were not continued at least two years.

Ready to testify later in the day along the same lines was General Hugh S. Johnson, first boss of the blue eagle.

The White House conferees were Senators Robinson of Arkansas, democratic leader; Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the Finance committee; Speaker Byrnes and Representative Doughton (D-NC) chairman of the house ways and means committee.

It was reported by a conferee who declined to let his name be used that if necessary everything but a 2 1/2 months extension would be discarded in order to get the legislation through by June 16, the day the recovery act expires.

It could be followed, he explained, by subsequent legislation embodying the other things which the president deemed necessary.

After warning of strikes, Green added he wanted no congressman to think that organized labor was "bluffing."

Answering question after question fired at him by the 18 committee members seated at a semi-circular table, he implied, however, that he did not have a "general strike" in mind.

"We explained our position on that question rather clearly at the time of the San Francisco strike," he elaborated.

At that time the A. F. of L. turned down proposals to call a "general strike" in order to "threaten" or "intimidate" congress into doing what labor wanted.

"We are just here to reason with you," he said. "The chief objective of the American Federation of Labor is to seek industrial peace."

Condemning NRA opponents as "short-sighted, reactionary and anti-social," Green said if the recovery organization should be killed.

"Unemployment will increase by leaps and bounds; wages will sink; sweatshops will spring up again all over the country; children will again go to work in factories and mills in great numbers and under shameful conditions."

"Ruthless, bitter competition will appear; the worker who is helpless to protect himself."

Tucker Talks At Kiwanis Meeting H. D. Tucker, educational director gave an interesting talk on "the doors that can't be closed" before members of the Kiwanis at the club here today.

Ralph Thomas introduced Irwin Cole who told of the farmers trip to Washington. He stated that the object of the trip was not to ask for more aid, but to thank President Roosevelt for the aid that they had already received.

Next week the delegates to the International convention at San Antonio will give a report of the trip. President Guy E. McTaggart, Alex Schneider, A. G. Post and E. E. McGrew represented the Pampa club.

Bodies Of Missing Army Fliers Found At Wrecked Plane

BLINDING FOG ON MOUNTAIN CAUSES CRASH

DENSE FOREST GROWTH FOR 100 FEET SPLINTERED

PINE VALLEY, Okla., May 24 (AP)—A blinding fog covering the peak of Big Eagle mountain, 12 miles southwest of here today was officially blamed for the crash of an army plane in which Lieut. Wendell Holladay and Private Ira Hicks lost their lives Sunday.

Captain Edwin Sullivan of Hatbox field, Muskogee, who investigated the accident, said the two fliers apparently had become lost in a storm and passed over the peak of the fog on the obscured mountain, crashed into a densely wooded area on the other side, caught fire, and burned.

The bodies of the two men were removed to a Heavener funeral home. Relatives were advised, Captain Sullivan added, and were expected to claim the bodies today.

Wreckage of the plane, strewn over a wide area, was discovered yesterday by W. A. Morgan, Lennox farmer.

The bodies were located some distance from the place where the first bits of wreckage were sighted.

The discovery ended a wide search by army fliers for the two men, who left Muskogee, Okla., Sunday for Barksdale field, Shreveport, La.

The plane apparently travelled about 100 feet through dense foliage before the fuselage struck the ground, Sullivan added.

Tree tops were twisted and boughs splintered for 100 yards by the ship as it careened to earth, after crossing the top of Big Eagle.

The victims' bodies were burnt to such an extent that it was impossible to determine if they had been wearing uniforms, which were assigned to guard the bodies, which were ordered to remain undisturbed until the arrival of investigating authorities.

The crash scene is about 35 miles southwest of Heavener, in the midst of massive timber which is heavily timbered with pine, sweet gum, and oak.

Lawson Little Reaches British Amateur Finals

ST. ANNES-ON-THE-SEA, Eng., May 24 (AP)—William Lawson Little Jr., of San Francisco tonight stood on the threshold of doing what no other American ever has done and which only two Britons have accomplished in 50 years—winning the British amateur golf championship two consecutive years.

The husky, 24-year-old Pacific coast shotmaker, who won the title in his first bid for it a year ago at Prestwick and also holds the American amateur championship, qualified today for the 36-hole final tomorrow when he will be matched against Dr. William Tweddell, himself a winner of the crown in 1927.

In the quarter-finals this morning the defending champion defeated George L. Q. Henriques, the 42-year-old stock broker who had been the sensation of the early rounds, winning by the top-sided score of 6 and 4. This afternoon Little put out Robert Sweeney Jr., formerly of New York and a resident of London for many years, 3 and 2.

Tweddell scored two noteworthy victories in advancing to the final. His first victim of the day's play was Eric Piddian, a former runner up for the crown, who fell by the score of one up, and this afternoon he accounted for the 44-year-old British Walker cup player.

I Heard . . . That Dan Gribbon and Dr. W. C. Mitchell have decided to grow whiskers for the Pre-Centennial and Pioneer Roundup. The one shaving before the celebration is over will have to purchase a $10 hat for the other.

Dr. W. Purviance remarking, "My, what a short summer we had. I am glad I didn't buy a straw hat this year."

Oil Potentials Cut According To A Schedule

In executive session, the committee worked out minor differences over details and decided to name President Roosevelt as the fourth member of a federal commission to administer the project.

PALO ALTO, Calif., May 24 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover today issued a statement characterizing as "not American" use of the boycott to enforce the NRA. "American labor," his statement asserted, "will not stand for price fixing, limitations of output, stifling of competition or any other of the monopolistic and fascist practices inherent in the NRA."

YOAKUM, May 24 (AP)—The 8th annual Tom-Tom, Yoakum's tribute to the tomato industry, opened here today with the largest crowd in the celebration's history on hand to hear Gov. James V. Alford officially launch the festival.

An industrial parade was held during the morning, with Gov. Alford and other state officials and fire department racing teams from 35 towns in the Yoakum area at the head of the procession.

Johnson, Lewis Dispute Hoover

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—Hugh S. Johnson today described former President Hoover's statement opposing NRA as "epithet used as argument."

In his shirt sleeves and without a tie the former NRA head read Mr. Hoover's Palo Alto statement and said sarcastically:

"Anything that Mr. Hoover stands for is American, but anything the new deal stands for is fascist."

PREJEAN WILL BE ASSISTANT TO MITCHELL

WILL SUCCEED HARRY PHILLIPS AS MENTOR

The Harvester football team will have a new assistant coach next season. It was announced this morning. He will be J. C. Prejean, pronounced "Prajan," of Shamrock.

Harry Phillips, who came here from Texas School of Mines at El Paso last winter, will return to his former position at a substantial increase in salary. Phillips has been considering the move for some time but it was not until yesterday that he decided to accept the offer.

Texas School of Mines has joined the Border conference for next season.

The new line coach, like his predecessor, is a graduate of the University of Texas, class of 1933.

He played guard for four years under that master coach, Bill James.

Last year, Prejean took over the coaching assignment at Shamrock and piloted the Irishmen to the finals in the Class B high school race, losing only to Lamesa, re-peating champions.

Coach Mitchell and Coach Prejean will attend the high school coaching school to be conducted at Dallas and also the Texas Tech coaching school. Prejean will accompany the team to camp this fall.

Pageant Rehearsal Will Be This Eve; Cast Still Needed

All persons who have promised members of the Pre-Centennial committee they will be in the pageant are asked to report at 8 o'clock tonight at the high school gym for rehearsal. Business men are asked to volunteer or send representatives. To produce the pageant, a cast is necessary, and Mr. Hughes has no cast yet. Cooperation of the entire citizenship was asked.

FARRINGTON INJURED WICHITA FALLS, May 24 (AP)—J. D. Farrington, general manager of the Fort Worth and Denver railway, was injured today as he was inspecting repairs to the Peace river bridge near Vernon. Farrington broke two left ribs and badly wrenched his right knee when he slipped into a hole.

SHOULD QUINTS HELP 'MA' WHEN THEY GROW UP?

Wash The Dishes? Go To School? Many Worry About It

CALLANDER, Ont., May 24 (AP)—Many persons whose interest is remote, to say the least, are worried today over the future of the Dionne quintuplets.

Some think that when the girls get bigger they ought to go home and help manage with the dishes. This, of course, is not quite a modern view.

Another suggestion, offered freely for what it may be worth, is that the babies might grow up and become a basketball team. Probably nothing will come of it, anyway, the "Quints" would be compelled to play boy's rules.

The what's-your-hurry element of the community is tut-tutting at this speculation concerning the Callander's five famous females.

What these people have failed to take into consideration, however, is that some top-flight educational institutions, especially in the United States, require prospective students to be registered for matriculation at birth. Here it is only four days from their first birthday anniversary, and the quintuplets have not been registered for so much as a kindergarten.

The pother, in the final analysis, is to no avail, because the matter is not one for chronic worriers to decide. The king of England, acting through the special board of guardians, will take care of it in stride at the proper time.

Neither Papa Oliva Dionne nor Mama Eldre has had much to say about their hopes for their five identical descendants.

INFORMER ON STAND TELLS U S VERSION

WOMAN DENIES STORY CLAIMED BY POST SHERIFF

LUBBOCK, May 24 (AP)—Narcotic Agent Spencer Stafford was holding a federal badge in his hand when he was shot to death at Post February 7, Eva Michelle, government informer, testified in federal court today in the trial of Sheriff W. F. Cato and three others of Garza county for the slaying.

The witness quoted Stafford as saying, "here's my badge" as he scuffed with Sheriff Cato immediately prior to the shooting.

The machine gun—first owned by a peace officer on the South Plains—which the government alleges was used to kill Stafford was introduced in evidence by United States District Attorney Clyde O. Eastus.

Mrs. Michelle, who said she had been a drug addict for four or five years, testified that she had purchased narcotics from Dr. V. A. Hartman, Post physician, and Dr. L. W. Kitchener, veterinarian in front of whose veterinary hospital the shooting occurred. The doctors and Tom Morgan, a farmer deputized by Sheriff Cato shortly before the killing, are co-defendants with Cato in the murder trial.

The woman's testimony corroborated that yesterday by D. L. Lowery, another informer. She said narcotics were purchased from the doctors with money furnished by V. C. McCullough, companion officer of Stafford.

She testified that Cato was pointing his machine gun at Lowery when Stafford came from Dr. Kitchener's office where he and McCullough had been examining narcotic records.

Stafford took hold of the gun with his left hand and pushed it out of Lowery's stomach, the woman testified. "He threw his gun and scabbard on the ground and said, 'here's my gun, here's my badge,'" Cato jerked the machine gun through Stafford's hand and yelled, "shoot him, Tom (Morgan), shoot him."

The informer said she and the agent told Cato that Stafford and McCullough were federal officers. She corroborated Lowery's statement that narcotic evidence against Dr. Kitchener was missing after the doctor had borrowed a government automobile in which the evidence was kept.

Returned to the stand for completion of cross examination, Lowery testified that he did not see Dr. Hartman at the scene of the homicide and did not see Dr. Kitchener from the time he entered his office with the two agents until after the shooting.

Lowery said Sheriff Cato appeared cool after the killing. He denied hearing the sheriff remark: "If that fellow had told me they were federal agents this wouldn't have happened."

AND STILL THE sturdy pioneers succumb to the inexorable demands of time. . . Pampa has suffered extraordinarily in the going of so many of her well known citizens in recent years and days.

Another decade will result in many more replacements. Pampa is becoming a city of young men, but men who will not long be young. Ten years of all have passed more rapidly than we thought.

RECENTLY we said: "Remember when people used to chew each mouthful of food a certain number of times to aid digestion? Now they do it to get their money's worth."

Comments the Higgins News: "But it is doubtful if they get their money's worth. Food is so high priced that a dime will not buy anything, nor even a dollar. When a good subscriber pays up his subscription—as all good subscribers should—the News chief cook and dishwasher goes forth to buy grub. Of course the grub can not be bought if the subscribers do not pay—then it is run our face or starve. But, we repeat, when a subscriber drops a little money in our purse, that money may go for grub. And with the high price of living that bit of money does not buy enough to keep a canary alive. There is a bit, a single chew and that ends it. While the farm lady gets more for a dozen eggs, she has to pay a whole lot more for what she has to buy. All she takes home is a paper sack and a gummed sticker. We are using paper sacks and tin cans as substitutes for bacon and beefsteak. There are a few more chews of paper than bacon, so we fry the paper and stew the tin cans instead of a pot roast. The fact is, our economic system is all wrong. When crops are good, work plentiful, wages high, prices should be high. But when crops fail, men are out of work and

Worst Disaster Recorded as Biggest Plane Crashes

Most magnificent product of Soviet airplane factories and largest of all land aircraft, the Maxim Gorky (above) caused the worst airplane disaster in the world when it plunged 2,000 feet to earth after collision with a smaller craft above Moscow. Included in its victims were 37 passengers, 11 members of its crew and the pilot of the colliding plane, who was stunting against orders at the time of the accident. The size of the Maxim Gorky can be judged by comparison with the figure of the man at left.

WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A GARDEN?

CUTTING GARDEN OF ANNUALS DECORATES VEGETABLE PATCH

Annual flowers, with their riotous array of summer color, will combine to make your vegetable patch a delight to the eye as well as the palate. By planting them in rows with the vegetables, or as border or background, they perform the double service of a cutting garden, which decorates your home indoors as well as outdoors.

Everybody likes flowers to use in the house or give to neighbors and friends. Where the supply comes from, border or bed, it is necessarily limited. A planting in the vegetable plot eliminates the danger of upsetting your garden picture.

The idea may be carried out in several ways. The simplest and least expensive is to make a border of one or more rows of flowers. This border may entirely or only partly surround the plot, depending upon the quantity desired. Where more flowers are wanted, the border may be used, and flowers also planted in rows with or between the vegetables. The surprising thing about such a layout is that the vegetables themselves, if cultivated cleanly, are as attractive as the flowers. Many gardeners whose space is limited, confine much of their gardening efforts to the vegetable plot.

Where space is available, real landscape planning may go into the vegetable patch. A fence, with an arbor gate for vines or climbing roses will segregate this part of your garden from the ornamental garden and at the same time frame it in such a manner that it may be built into a picture in its own way. The vegetables may be divided into four sections, with paths bordered by alyssum, lobelia, petunias, dwarf marigolds or other annuals. A bird bath or sundial in the center where the paths meet makes a good focal point. The back of the lot may have a lattice fence or shrubs or a border of tall annuals such as African marigolds, cosmos or sunflowers.

Consider your vegetable garden seriously when you lay it out this year, and you can make it pleasant to look upon and work in, with no loss to your kitchen crops.

DETROIT WINS 5TH STRAIGHT FROM RED SOX

CARDINALS TAKE 8 TO 7 STRUGGLE FROM BROOKLYN

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

The strange situation which finds the two 1934 pennant clubs struggling to hold first division berths in their respective leagues seems due for a sudden overhauling if the spurt of the Detroit Tigers continues.

Mickey Cochrane's crew, playing a steady, consistent brand of ball, unmarked by fireworks, finally has climaxed a climb from the American league cellar by breaking into fourth place.

Since they struck bottom April 27 at the end of a six-game losing streak, they have rung up 14 victories against four defeats and finally moved past Boston into the first division with a 5 to 3 triumph over the Red Sox yesterday.

The triumph was their fifth straight, the second string of that length since they began winning and was accomplished in just as unimpressive a manner as the others.

Schoolboy Rowe, winning his third game of the season, pitched three-hit ball for six innings, then weakened just enough to let the Sox get into the running.

Meanwhile Hank Greenberg paced the Tiger hitters, driving in three runs with his eighth home run of the season and a timely fly after Detroit had hopped of a 2-0 lead against Dusty Rhodes in the fourth.

The rest of the American league program yielded to cold and rainy weather as did Cincinnati's effort to stage the first major league night game in history with the Phillies as their opponents. A steady overnight rain and chilly breezes forced the postponement of the spectacle with its elaborate side features until tonight.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, did their share toward the program of getting the world series out of fourth place by taking a weird 8 to 7 ten-inning decision from Brooklyn and gaining a full game on all the other first division clubs except Chicago.

The Cubs, with a somewhat altered lineup, outlasted the league leading Giants to win 6 to 4 when Charley Root proved a better relief pitcher than Leon Chagnon and moved into second place a few points ahead of Brooklyn, which had consolation only in a virtual tie for the position.

A freak home run by Kiki Cuyler, who circled the bases in the eighth after Hank Leiber had fallen just as he got under a fly ball, proved the deciding blow for the Cubs.

The Pittsburgh fans put on a special show to honor Rabbit Maranville, former Pirate player, and the Bucs put the usual finish on the affair by beating the Braves and Maranville 7 to 1 with the aid of Arky Vaughan's eighth circuit swing of the year and plunked the losers back into the National league cellar behind the Phillies.

Mexicans To Play Pampanos This Eve

Charros Have Better Luck Than House Of David

"Ladies and Gentlemen, battles for tonight's game will be—for the visiting club, Bragana pitching and Amaro catching, and for the home club, Berry pitching and Lysie catching."

Pampa baseball fans are wondering if the above will be the somersaults of the umpire in the Head Runners park tonight when the La Junta Charros ball team meets the Pampa Road Runners in the third and deciding game of their series. Game time will be 8:30 o'clock.

The two hurlers, Berry and Bragana, mixed in a 13-inning duel on Wednesday night with the Cuban getting credit for the victory. Both are anxious to lunge again, and it is probable that the team managers will allow them to take the mound tonight. Otherwise Bill Hardin will probably get the nod for the Road Runners with Cabal, lefthander, doing mound duty for the Mexican nine.

Manager Freddy Brickell will be in left field for the Road Runners, after being out of the two games Wednesday because of illness. Gordon Nell will be on first base again, with Sam Sealing going back to the hot corner. Tank Horton will still be missing from the lineup. The peppery little catcher has a bruised finger. It became infected and the nail had to be removed. He will not be able to play for another week. Floyd Lysie, veteran receiver, will be behind the bat.

The visitors will line up with the same team that won the 13-inning tussle Wednesday night. The peppery little Mexicans have had better luck with Pampa than they did at the House of David.

On Sunday afternoon, the Road Runners will go to Amarillo to open the season with the Shamrocks of that city. Manager Johnnie McMahon, former Coletto star, will have a strengthened lineup to greet the Road Runners. He will have Chody for mound duty. It is believed, Chody is the pitcher who set the Road Runners down with three hits last season when pitching for El Reno, Okla.

STEEERS SWACK 11 HITS AND GET ONE RUN

OKLAHOMA CITY PILES UP SIX HITS, GETS SIX RUNS

The Dallas Steers can't bat but they can't turn hits into runs.

The hapless herd last night eked out a single run on 11 hits while the Texas league-leading Oklahoma City Indians romped around the circuit 6 times on half a dozen hits.

Clarence Heise and Gene Trow did a good-enough job in the box, but the Steers hit came at the wrong time for scoring purposes. John Niggeling, although hit hard by the Steers, went the route for the Indians.

The loss was the 30th out of 36 starts for the Steers.

Beaumont and Galveston split a double-header, the Bucs taking the first, 7 to 0, and the Exporters grabbing the second, 5 to 1. Max Butcher, Galveston's right-hander, kept his "cupped" hand intact by hurling a fourth shut-out in the opener. He fanned seven men.

San Antonio hammered out a 13 to 5 win over Houston. The Missions sacked the game when they scored nine unearned runs in the first four innings. Gene Luck and breaks stalked the trail of Vernon Taylor in the first when two errors, two hits and four walks counted five runs. Three more errors made the grade tough on Potter in the second, when three runs were counted on a couple hits. Johnny Martinez held the buffs to seven hits and he walked seven and fanned seven men.

Keigh Frazier, although he allowed 11 walks, pitched the Fort Worth Cats to a 3 to 2 victory over the Tulsa Oilers. He allowed only four hits. Dick Whitworth opened for the Oilers and held the Cats to six hits before retiring for a pinch-hitter in the eighth. Ed Selway finished the game.

JUST WHAT THE DOCTOR ORDERED - for the weather in your state

Of all such motor fuels, Phillips 66 is the outstanding leader. Phillips 66 is the trail nine years ago. Originated CONTROLLED VOLATILITY, the revolutionary process which broke the vicious connection between changes in weather and changes in motor performance.

Every gallon of Phillips 66 is seasonally adjusted every month, in accordance with thousands of continuous laboratory and road tests, as well as hundreds of thousands of U. S. Weather Bureau observations.

This scientific control of volatility has one purpose only—to make Phillips 66 deliver unchanging, money-saving performance at any and every temperature from well below zero to over 100 in the shade. Spring... summer... winter... they're all the same to your motor if the tank is filled with this greater gasoline.

No other refiner has been seasonally adjusting motor fuel as long as Phillips has. No other has thus processed as much gasoline. No other has as widely developed facilities for doing so. The result is general acceptance of Phillips 66 as the 100% custom-tailored gasoline.

Find out how you can get more power and more miles, snappier pick-up and smoother running; all without paying a penny extra per gallon. And find it out easily by stopping for a trial tankful of high test Phillips 66 at any Orange and Black 66 shield.

NEW YORK, May 24 (AP)—Don Faurot, Missouri's aggressive new athletic director, has blown the whistle on the highly explosive type of college athletic recruiting and subsidizing.

"So what?" I can hear his associates saying after Faurot had accused Texas, Centenary, George Washington, and Northwestern among others, of taking star schoolboy athletes from the home precincts of their Tigers.

The truth is he has not even scratched the surface of college conditions as they have developed since the Carnegie Foundation published its famous finger-pointing bulletin, No. 22, in 1929. At Missouri, the Foundation apparently did was to show the others how subsidizing and recruiting was being done. At any rate and as a direct consequence of the depression, a short period of de-emphasis has been followed by more and better subsidizing and recruiting. Competition nowadays for schoolboy stars is keener than ever before.

It's impossible to apply a "zoning system" to the business of acquiring or hiring college athletes, anyway. No coach or "Missouri for Missouri boys" or "Ohio State for Ohio boys" is all right, patriotically, but is by no means entirely effective. Wealthier old grads can be counted on to look after the interests of the old alma mater, no matter where they settle down. The poor but ambitious schoolboy star is generally open to the best proposition.

It may be just a coincidence but it is at least noteworthy that a shake-up or change in the athletic organization or policy of any of our bigger universities or the smaller ones, for that matter, generally is followed by an influx of sturdy new material, especially football material, since it is now fairly well known that the gridiron game pays the freight for the rest of the sports.

It was, for example, a happy coincidence at Princeton that a star class of freshmen football players greeted Fritz Crisler on his arrival to revive the fortunes of Old Nassau a few years ago.

Dick Harlow is already encouraged with the outlook at Harvard. Ohio State's return to gridiron power coincided with the arrival of Francis Schmidt to take charge and the Buckeye motto is "onward and upward." Pop Warner was gratified to find a squad of huskies awaiting him at Temple.

"We did not come here to lose," one coach is reputed to have said, on gathering his forces about him in a new battleground. This historic phrase is now a collegiate slogan.

Cage Prospects For Next Season Are Encouraging

The spring practice for the Harvesters basketball prospects closed yesterday afternoon without a practice game against the ex-Harvesters. School activities and graduation exercises made it impossible to schedule the game.

A lengthy scrimmage was staged yesterday between the 1935-36 prospects and a few ex-Harvesters and members of the gymnasium class team. The up and coming Harvesters showed flashes of form that made Coach Odus Mitchell grin. His joy was short-lived, however, when he watched J. R. Green step in and mess up play and play.

The big center will not be eligible for competition next fall, just because he played part of a season for a rural school in Wheeler county after he had passed the seventh grade. His brother, Stokes Green, will be eligible, however.

Other boys out for practice were Donald Sparling, "Moose" Hartman, Junior Strickland, Albert Ayer, Boyd Owens, Woody Baker, Garvin Elkins, Jim Whittenberg, Roy Lee Jones, Claude Oliver, Bob Wasson, Kelley Kitchens.

TRENTON, N. J., May 24 (AP)—The $211,588, 440 New Jersey Bell Telephone company has bought out a competitor. The Richard Mutual Rural Telephone company has an "exchange" in Vineland. Its wires leap from one fence post to another, dropping off in the homes of 13 subscribers who turn a crank to get "central." Now it has received authority from the public utility commission to sell to the New Jersey Bell all its assets, including a score of cedar poles, a dozen "ten-pin cross-arms" and 14 crank telephones.

TEXAS COACH DENIES CHARGE HE RECRUITED MISSOURIANS

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 24 (AP)—Coach Don Faurot's charge that the University of Missouri is luring athletic talent to schools offering inducements in the way of scholarships, jobs, etc., today drew denials from Northwestern and Texas universities and Centenary college.

Athletic authorities of those three schools have already advised Missouri officials that they have no Missouri boys on their athletic rosters.

George Washington university, also included in Faurot's bitter denunciation of outstate schools he charged with bidding in native Missouri high school heroes, was silent.

Briefly, here was the response to Faurot's charges:

Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, athletic director, Northwestern university: "I do know of one athlete in the university high school at St. Louis who applied for a Northwestern scholarship. I turned it over to the faculty committee on scholarships and don't know what action was taken. I know Faurot and he's a good fellow."

Coach Curtis Parker, Centenary: "That charge is false. No such offer has been made to any Missouri athlete. There are no Missouri boys on the athletic squad."

Coach Jack Chevigny, University of Texas, addressing Faurot in a telegram: "Your statement absolutely absurd. We do not have a single Missouri athlete either on our varsity or freshman teams. You will need to substantiate your remarks with proof or apologize to the university and alumni. Apology must be forthcoming within limited hours."

Chevigny recalled that the last time Texas played Missouri, the Longhorns won by 65-0 and added: "If that's the best they could do, I can't imagine why anyone would want to subsidize any Missouri athletes."

At that time, in 1932, Clyde Littlefield was coach at Texas and Missouri's pilot was Frank Cardozo, 2-year All-America quarterback, whom Faurot succeeded after the last football season.

Chevigny's recollection of Missouri's humiliating defeat revived a hitherto unpublished story that has gone the rounds of midwestern football circles.

Cardozo, fresh out of Notre Dame, attended a summer coaching school at which Littlefield was delegated to describe various football systems, among them the Notre Dame style. Cardozo, who the story goes, gave Littlefield the Bronx cheer in the midst of the discussion. When their rival teams met here the following autumn, Littlefield is said to have given the "go" signal even after Texas had acquired a comfortable margin over the Tigers.

After this defeat early in the

ROYAL WEDDING TURNS OUT TO BE VERY ELABORATE

By ELMER W. PETERSON, Associated Press Foreign Staff.

STOCKHOLM, May 24 (AP)—In the 13th century church where all kings of the Bernadotte lineage in Sweden have been crowned, Princess Ingrid became the wife today of Crown Prince Frederik of Denmark and Iceland. By the same token she became a future queen.

It was a royal wedding, born of tradition, and executed with pomp and splendor but it had an aura of romance amid the glitter of polished swords and burnished brass and the formality of court ritual.

"Ingrid, take you, Frederik, my lawful husband, to love you through sorrow and pleasure, and as a symbol I accept from you this ring."

The entire audience, one of the most distinguished ever to gather in Stockholm, joined in the singing of a wedding psalm as Ingrid passed the altar to join the prince.

Followed only by the flower girls and Count Gustaf of Wisborg, the royal couple advanced to a position in front of the altar from which Archbishop Edman read the wedding service.

"Before God the Omnipotent," intoned the archbishop, "and in the presence of this gathering, I ask you, Crown Prince Frederik, if you choose this woman, Princess Ingrid, as your lawful wife, to cherish her in both sorrow and happiness."

On Frederik's response the same question was put to Princess Ingrid. The wedding ring, a thin band of gold, was then accepted and blessed by the archbishop. In the final repetition of their wedding vows, Frederik and Ingrid held the hands of soldiers formed a lane to the church doors.

With the guests seated, and with uniformed pages at attention along the aisles, Archbishop Edman of Sweden and his assistant priests, entered the church and came slowly forward to a place near the high altar.

Visiting royalty, headed by King Leopold and Queen Astrid of Belgium, then entered through a special door to take their places in the royal pews directly in front of the altar.

Crown Prince Frederik, escorted by his father, King Christian of Denmark, and by a special wedding escort including a master of ceremonies, was next to arise. He entered by a side door of the church, sensationally in game with Red Sox and knocked in three runs, hitting eighth home.

PRINCESS AND PRINCE MARRY IN STOCKHOLM

DECATUR, Ill., May 24 (AP)—members of the Riverside Baptist church have decided by resolution to withdraw from the Northern Baptist convention because of what they described as the growth of "communism and modernism."

Unanimously supporting their pastor, the Rev. E. C. Schute, 100 members of the congregation last night have decided by resolution to withdraw from the convention. By their action they automatically became affiliated with the general association of regular Baptist churches, a group that is made up of units which have withdrawn from the Baptist conventions as a result of differences over changes authorized by convention acts.

The action of the congregation followed a series of sermons by Mr. Schute, who charged that changes authorized by the Northern Baptist convention had "undermined the fundamental credences of our faith." He described the changes authorized since 1922 as "the overthrow of our spiritual teachings."

little Princesses Regnhild and Astrid of Norway.

The entire audience, one of the most distinguished ever to gather in Stockholm, joined in the singing of a wedding psalm as Ingrid passed the altar to join the prince.

Followed only by the flower girls and Count Gustaf of Wisborg, the royal couple advanced to a position in front of the altar from which Archbishop Edman read the wedding service.

"Before God the Omnipotent," intoned the archbishop, "and in the presence of this gathering, I ask you, Crown Prince Frederik, if you choose this woman, Princess Ingrid, as your lawful wife, to cherish her in both sorrow and happiness."

On Frederik's response the same question was put to Princess Ingrid. The wedding ring, a thin band of gold, was then accepted and blessed by the archbishop. In the final repetition of their wedding vows, Frederik and Ingrid held the hands of soldiers formed a lane to the church doors.

Communism Leads To Withdrawal Of Illinois Baptists

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—Roosevelt Forces counted on Hugh S. Johnson and William Green to give a boost today to the administration's plan for extending NRA two years.

The former Blue Eagle chief and the president of the American federation of labor, who declared in a speech in New York last night that there would be a nation-wide general strike unless congress extends NRA two years and passes other legislation, were invited to testify before the house ways and means committee today.

There were indications that the committee would approve promptly the two-year plan backed by President Roosevelt and William Green to give a boost today to the administration's plan for extending NRA two years.

Speed is necessary, they indicated, if action is to be taken before the present NRA expires June 16. However, in the senate there were reiterated demands for a shorter extension. The senate already has passed a resolution prolonging NRA only until next April, and removing all intra-state commerce from its jurisdiction.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.) said: "I favor the short extension. I do not see how congress can be expected to establish a permanent NRA system until the various legal questions involving the constitutionality have been dealt with by the supreme court."

President Green, in his New York speech to a labor meeting, called not only for NRA extension, but for enactment of the Wagner labor bill. He warned that labor's demands must not be ignored.

"If it comes to that point," he said, "we will refuse to work and will mobilize our entire economic strength of the United States until we get our rights."

The wrist watch item is one of the biggest in the annual bill, running around $17,000, for staging the Penn relays. The games award 84 watches at $29 apiece.

The American league's current leading home run sluggers—Zeke Bonura, Jimmy Fox, and Bob Johnson—all are right-hand hitters.

LEADERS PRESS FOR ACTION ON NRA NEXT WEEK

Roosevelt Counting On Johnson And Green

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—Roosevelt Forces counted on Hugh S. Johnson and William Green to give a boost today to the administration's plan for extending NRA two years.

SAMMORWOOD STUDENTS TO GET DIPLOMAS

FIRST TO BE GIVEN AT LARGEST RURAL SCHOOL

WELLINGTON, May 24 (AP)—Twenty-two students, sons and daughters of Texas farmers who march across the stage of the Sammorwood rural high school June 7, and receive their diplomas.

The diplomas will not be unlike thousands of certificates awarded other high school graduates in Texas this year but to the Sammorwood pupils they will represent more. The 22 diplomas will be the first presented from this district, the largest rural high school district now operating in the state.

Faculty, students and patrons of the 165½ square mile area are pointing with pride to the event because the 22 are replacing the average of six graduates the area has turned out during past years.

Furthermore, the students will receive the diplomas from an affiliated high school system, which has worked out a curriculum comparable to that in any school in the state, and from a school that supplements its work with achievement tests.

For inquiries whether the huge consolidation has been a success these connected with the school have a spontaneous "yes."

From the standpoint of scholastics the school has shown a marked increase. When the district was created April 24, 1934, a total of 96 high school students were listed in the seven districts from which it was formed. During 1935, the new high school recorded a total attendance of 140 high school students. Only one school in the district offered a complete high school course through "even grades" but the consolidation—and this school was not affiliated, a fact which forced graduates to take extraneous examinations before entering college.

In addition the grade senior division showed an increase from 285 to 305 scholastics.

OLD AGE PENSION

WILMINGTON, Del., May 24 (AP)—Sarah E. Jester is 90, and a widow, but is far from being alone in the world. There were 165 guests at the 96th birthday party—12 sons and daughters, 100 grandchildren, 52 great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild.

Grain Dealers Convene Today At Galveston

TEMPLE, May 24 (AP)—Texas grain dealers convene in annual session today, at Galveston.

R. E. Wenland of Temple, president of the Texas association and vice-president of the Associated Southwest Country grain elevators group, will preside at all business sessions in which prominent government, banking and grain officials will speak.

Frank A. Theis of Kansas City, prominent grain man, will speak on "the future outlook of agriculture under government control." This talk will embrace a wide range of topics including crop prospects, possible movement of wheat, lack of export business, agricultural need to urge tariff reductions protecting the industrial east, the benefits of the reciprocal trading legislation, the impending AAA amendments and the so-called Jones futures trading bill, Mr. Wendland stated.

A member of the Texas Bankers' association to be chosen, will be requested to speak on "the ways of so many charges assessed against handling grain papers."

C. D. Morris, assistant to the chairman of the western railways committee on public relation, will speak on "present railway conditions."

Ernest L. Tutt of Dallas, regional NRA chieftain, will make an address on "industrial cooperation now possible," providing opportunity for round-table discussion of the codes affecting the grain and feed industry.

Charles Shurn of Houston is slated to be next president.

Retail Sales in Texas Increase

AUSTIN, May 24.—Retail sales in Texas during April made favorable comparison both with the previous month and the similar month last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"Reports from 92 representative Texas retail establishments indicate a total increase in dollar sales of 3.4 per cent over the previous month and 13.6 per cent over April, 1934," the Bureau's report said. "The fact that this year Easter fell in April whereas last year is in March accounts largely for the improvement."

"Further significance attaches to the percentage increase over last year from the fact that retail prices in April were running 3.5 per cent under the year before thus indicating not only great dollar sales but an even greater increase in physical volume."

"Great variation in relative sales in the various cities is to be noted. For example, April sales in Port Arthur were 41.5 per cent above those of the previous month and 42.6 per cent greater than during April last year. Other cities in which sales were well above the average increase for the state as a whole were: Abilene, Beaumont, Corsicana, Houston, Temple, and Waco. The 'all others' group, composed mainly of smaller cities, also showed a marked increase over the comparable periods."

"As between the different classes of stores the best relative showing was made respectively by men's clothing stores, dry goods and apparel stores, and small department stores."

"Further liberalization of credit policy in comparison with a year ago is revealed by the reports and at the same time the ratio of collections to outstanding accounts improved by 1.5 per cent."

The PEOPLES COLUMN

Editor, The NEWS:

The Pampa Public Library board wishes to express its thanks to the following persons and firms for helping to make the massed band concert a success: The Panhandle Lumber company for lumber, the Pampa Furniture company and Fred Cullum & Son for the use of trucks, and the band directors and principals of the schools for their cooperation and help.

The ticket sale netted $30.96, and this amount will be spent for Texas books.

FRENCH NAVY LEADERS MUST BE ABLE TO FLY

PARIS (AP)—Naval commanders must know how to fly as well as how to float, Francois Pietri, French navy minister, has decided.

To qualify for the command of a battleship, cruiser or light flotilla, officers, henceforth, must serve a period in one of the active units of the naval air forces.

This, the minister believes, is essential to bring about close working among the surface, air and underwater elements which make up the modern fleet.

2 Clubs Receive Kiwanis Awards At Convention

SAN ANTONIO, May 24. (AP)—The Portland, Oregon, Kiwanis club was adjudged best all around in the gold of major division of the annual club achievement campaign, and the Spokane, Wash., club took top honors in the club attendance contest when awards were made today at the closing session of the nineteenth annual convention of Kiwanis International.

The closing session in the municipal auditorium today was marked by the election of seven new trustees.

The new trustees are Charles S. Donley of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Harold Hippler of Eustis, Fla.; George E. Snell of Billings, Mont.; Vio H. Householder of Phoenix, Ariz.; Dr. E. W. Wolcott of Des Moines, Iowa; Faber A. Bollinger of Atlanta, Ga.; and Claude A. Dock of Detroit, Mich.

CAPITOL CHATTER
BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, May 24. (AP)—Three factors generally are being credited with causing the congestion the closing day of the legislature.

They were: A desire to avoid a direct vote on repeal of the law legalizing pari-mutuel wagering on horse races and on tax legislation, a filibuster against the bill to establish a state agency to construct pipe lines from the Panhandle to northern cities and the long arguments centering around the Centennial bill.

The Centennial bill was passed but many observers believe the day of reckoning has only been postponed on the tax measures and on horse race wagering repeal. It is regarded as probable the topics will be submitted at a prospective special session in September and likely will come up for a straight vote in both houses.

The term "filibuster" is more or less elusive and means anything employed to conduct one. A favorite method in the last session was to prolong consideration of the appropriation bills by debating each item.

The horse race wagering repeals were out-manuevered at every turn. They held a comparatively high suspension but invariably found some important matters ahead on the calendar. Some times it was a bill on a lower suspension request. Toward the end of the session the docket on suspension day was loaded with proposed constitutional amendments which are accorded the right-of-way.

The unsatisfactory condition has caused certain members to start agitation for a change in the rules. They propose, among other things, to abolish the preferential consideration of bills under suspension and to require that constitutional amendments take the same course as bills and not be given preferred position.

Communism Taught In Baptist Church, Pastor Declares

DECATUR, Ill., May 24. (AP)—Aroused by charges that communism is being taught in Baptist churches, members of the Riverside Baptist church of Decatur will vote tonight to decide whether they will withdraw from the Northern Baptist conference.

In recent sermons the Rev. E. C. Shute, pastor of the Riverside church, attacked what he considered communist proclivities in his denomination.

Spiritual teachings have been usurped and communists beliefs have affected the secular lives of the members, he alleged, as a result of Baptist churches in the northern states admitting modernists, radio broadcasting station, including fundamental creeds of his faith.

Mr. Shute said several Baptist churches already have withdrawn from the conference, among them the Belden Avenue Baptist church of Chicago and groups in New York, Wisconsin and Indiana.

FISHER APPROVES VETO
SAN ANTONIO, May 24. (AP)—Irving Fisher, professor of economics at Yale university, today termed the president's veto message on the Patman bonus bill a statesmanlike address. In a speech before the 19th annual Kiwanis International convention Professor Fisher said he had personally opposed the bill but on "other than monetary grounds."

HUNDREDS OF FRIENDS PAY TRIBUTE TO J. T. CRAWFORD IN CHURCH AND AT CEMETERY

The First Methodist church was crowded to capacity with friends of J. T. Crawford when funeral services were held there Wednesday afternoon. Scores of people from nearby communities attended the funeral. Floral tributes filled the church altar.

The American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Harvesters and ex-Harvesters attended in separate groups. The Masonic lodge had charge of the funeral at Fairview cemetery, where the body was interred. A Confederate flag under which Mr. Crawford fought for the Lost Cause four years in the War Between the States was draped over the casket. Services in the church were in charge of the Rev. L. Burney Shell, minister of the Presbyterian church, assisted by the Rev. Gaston Roote, Methodist pastor.

The following obituary sketch was read by Rev. Shell, minister of the First Presbyterian church:

John Tyler Crawford was born in the county of Texas, Dec. 30, 1844. He passed away May 19, 1935, at Pampa, Texas, at the age of 90 years, 4 months, and 19 days.

He joined the army in 1861 and served in the 26th Infantry in his father's company. He remained in the army until the close of the war. He was married to Miss Mary C. Doss in Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1867. To this union was born eight children, four boys and four girls. They are:

J. T. Crawford, Pampa.
W. H. Crawford, Amarillo.
Mrs. J. W. Bunting, Amarillo.
Miss Georgia Crawford, deceased.
Mrs. Katie Vincent, Pampa.
R. Crawford, Amarillo.
Mrs. Martha Riley, Claude.
W. A. Crawford, Amarillo.

He is survived by seventeen grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren.

He came from Tennessee to Texas with his family, in 1850, making his home in Stephens county. While a resident of the county, he was a commissioner for eight years, and helped to build the first courthouse in the county.

He was secretary-treasurer of the Farmers' Alliance of Texas, with headquarters in Dallas.

From Dallas he went to Gisco and engaged in business there.

He was with the T.-P. railroad for a time, with Weatherford as his home.

From Weatherford, he came to Pampa in 1898, and had been here until the time of his death.

Mrs. Crawford died in 1910.

He was manager of the Planter's Mutual Hall Insurance company from its organization in 1908 until his death.

He became a Mason at Breckenridge, Texas, in 1884. He became a charter member of the Pampa lodge, and was the first Worshipful Master. He was interested in the lodge and active in it as his age would permit until the time of his death.

He joined the Cumberland Presbyterian church when a young man, and retained his membership in that church at Eolan, Texas, until the time of his death.

He was an active Christian and interested in the church. He walked from his home to the Presbyterian church on Mother's day, just one week before his death. A man in Israel has gone to his reward.

CAMPAIGN TO DESTROY SCRUB CEDAR SUGGESTED BY SOUTH

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP) — Representative Charles South of Okla. expressed hope recently that the government would be induced to sponsor a campaign to eliminate scrub cedar now destroying thousands of acres of usable land in central Southwest Texas.

The forestry service has manifested considerable interest in the matter but has not yet given its approval.

"I represent 27 counties in central southwestern Texas," South wrote Director Robert Fechner of the emergency conservation work. "Sev-

Ratliff Accepts Appointment As District Judge

HASKELL, May 24 (P)—Dennis P. Ratliff, former legislator from the 13th district, today accepted an appointment by Governor James V. Alfred as judge of the thirty-ninth judicial district.

Ratliff will succeed Judge Clyde Grissom, named to a place on the appeals court at Eastland.

Ratliff, who is 63, was born in Haskell county, and has lived in Haskell 14 years. He received his law education at Cumberland university.

In order to reside at the term opening in Stonewall county Monday, Ratliff is expected to be sworn in this week.

"Cedar, unlike the average tree or plant, when cut down does not sprout up from the stump and therefore can be killed out by cutting off at the ground," This cutting, I am advised, can be done for an average of $1 an acre. Vast areas in that section are endangered unless some concerted and intelligent action is taken.

"It seems to me that money spent in combating this menace would be no less valuable than that spent in soil erosion work and other government activities."

COMMENCEMENT TONIGHT WILL CLOSE HIGH SCHOOL YEAR

DIPLOMAS WILL BE PRESENTED TO 152 GRADUATES AFTER AN ADDRESS BY PAMPA MINISTER

Four years of high school life will end for 152 boys and girls this evening, with commencement exercises at First Baptist church. Diplomas will be presented by Supt. R. B. Fisher and Principal L. L. Some after the graduation address by the Rev. Gaston Foote, First Methodist minister.

Planned as an outdoor program at Harvester park, the commencement was moved indoors because of rain and cool weather. The graduates and their families will occupy the main auditorium and the balcony. The public could not be invited for the program because of limited seating capacity. Seniors will enter to a processionary played by Mrs. John Hooper, Miss Marjory Ericsson, and B. W. Wallace, violins, and Mrs. Mae Foreman Carr, pianist. The invocation will be by E. C. McKenzie, pastor of Francis Avenue Church of Christ.

Subject Announced "Gold Mines in Your Own Back Yard," has been announced by Rev. Foote as the subject of his address. It will be preceded by two vocal solos by Mrs. J. M. Dodson, song of Sunshine, Bunting; and Be the Best, wells. The class honor students, both talented young musicians, will present their message in music. Helen Marie Jones, valedictorian, will play the piano accompaniment to a violin solo by Willie Reece Taylor, salutatorian. The benediction by John S. Mullen, First Christian minister, will follow.

This program will end a busy two weeks for the graduates who have enjoyed many entertainments. The final social event, a garden party scheduled yesterday at the J. M. Saunders home, was not held because of bad weather.

Of the graduating class, eight students lack a half-credit of work which they will make up in summer school this year. They will be given "dummy" diplomas in the exercises this evening, to be replaced when they have completed the required work. A list of graduates follows:

QUINTUPLETS

The Dionnes do not fancy this experiment in state control of babies. The arrangement, a special act of the Ontario legislature by which his majesty serves as guardian for the babies, is to remain operative until they reach the age of 18.

The matter of education already has proved vexing to the Dionnes. Of the five children born to them—by one—prior to the breath-taking advent of the quintuplets, two are of school age. Schools hereabouts are few and far between, and consequently Ernest Dionne, 8, and Rose, 7, are still completely in the dark in the matter of verb conjugation and multiplication tables.

Here is a household of ten children, with a strip of highway running right through the middle. On one side of the road, in their own private dwelling, with their own laundress, cook, nurses, doctor, lawyers and bankers, are the quintuplets.

On the other side of the road, in the four-room frame farm house with their parents, live those destined as just "the five other children."

They are handsome youngsters, these "five other children"—Ernest and Rose and Daniel and Theres and Baby Pauline—bright-eyed, clear-skinned and solem.

Papa Dionne loves all his children. He does not like a road between them. Papa Dionne would like to have that road of official favoritism removed.

But the dominion lawmakers think otherwise.

POPPY

tion to aid the war's living victims.

"Therefore, I, W. A. Bratton, Mayor of Pampa urge all citizens to honor the dead and aid the living by wearing the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary memorial poppy on Saturday, May 25th.

"And to that end, I do hereby proclaim Saturday, May 25th, Poppy day in the City of Pampa.

MERTEN WOMEN LEARN HISTORY OF CLUB WORK

Delegate to Short Course Makes Report

Scientific canning was started by Mrs. Marie Cromer of Virginia in 1913, who began club work. Merten Home Demonstration club women learned at their meeting Wednesday when Mrs. E. W. Taylor reported on the talk made by Miss Mildred Horton at the Canyon short course last week.

Miss Horton, state home demonstration agent, spoke on Women as Pioneers, and especially of pioneers in the home demonstration club movements.

She said that in 1912 eighteen women were appointed to demonstrate canning and worked next months in the year. This work spread from Virginia to Georgia and then to Mississippi.

In 1914 Miss Bernice Carter was elected as the first home demonstration agent to work full time and organize what were then called canning clubs. The clubs spread rapidly, and there are now 50,000 in the United States. They have expanded their work to take in every phase of home making and home improvement.

In addition to Mrs. Taylor, Merten club women who attended the short course were Mmes. C. O. Bridges, Alva Phillips, W. A. Pickering, C. B. Haney, J. F. Meers, and T. L. Sirman.

Mrs. E. M. Hope was hostess to the club. Plans were made for a club party at the school building next Friday evening. A picnic lunch will be served.

Roll call was answered 100 per cent with current events. It was announced that the cook books will be out next week.

Two new members, Mrs. J. O. Myers and Mrs. J. L. Burba, were present with Mmes. Phillips, Bridges, W. O. Kelly, Pickering, M. Rake, Taylor, J. C. Browning, I. A. Wilson, Harlan Knapp, Haney, Sirman, and the hostess.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Meers on June 12, when Miss Ruby Adams, county agent, will demonstrate making sponge cakes.

Spanish Flier Is Only Friend Says Senorita

MEXICO, D. F., May 24 (AP)—"Only friends" is what Senorita Maria Elena Rivero Corral said today about herself and Juan Ignacio Pomo, the young Spaniard who a couple of days ago flew the South Atlantic in a single-engine landplane to meet her.

Right now, Pomo is resting at Natal, Brazil, before continuing his trip from Spain to Mexico. Although he was quoted as saying he was making his flight in order to propose to Dona Maria, the girl said:

"There is no romantic attachment of any kind between us. I met Juan on the beach at Santander and later knew him in Madrid, Paris, and London. We have been good friends for about a year, but that is all."

Auxiliary Makes Ready for Poppy Sales Tomorrow

Tomorrow the United States will pay its annual tribute to its World War dead by wearing their flower, the poppy.

Women from Pampa unit of the American Legion Auxiliary will be on the streets here all day distributing the memorial flowers. They will be part of an army of nearly 100,000 women which will carry out the Auxiliary's nation-wide distribution of poppies. Fully 10,000,000 of the little red blooms are expected to be given out, with $1,000,000 received in contributions in exchange for them.

The poppies have been made by disabled veterans working in 56 different government hospitals and convalescent workrooms located in forty states. The flowers which will be distributed here were made at Legion, Texas. They will be offered on the streets by volunteer workers under the leadership of Mrs. L. D. Blasingame, chairman of the Auxiliary's Poppy day committee.

No price will be asked for the poppies, each person being free to contribute as little or as much as he chooses for his flower. All funds received will be expended in the welfare activities of the American Legion and Auxiliary among disabled veterans and needy families of veterans during the coming year. The bulk of the money will remain in Pampa to be used in the work of the local Legion post and Auxiliary unit.

Bonus Forces See Eventual Victory In Big Majorities

Enthusiasm Drops As FDR's Veto Is Sustained

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—Cash bonus forces, somewhat encouraged and disorganized by the size of the senate vote sustaining President Roosevelt's veto of the Patman bill, counted upon their strong majorities in both houses of congress today for eventual victory.

The decisive defeat of the Patman bill, even by a minority vote, took the wind out of the bonus movement, temporarily, at least. Several new proposals were advanced immediately, but the leaders waited to get their breath before plunging into a new drive.

Confident predictions were issued by the veterans' chieftains, forecasting that the bonus would be paid, but there was a noticeable drop in enthusiasm among legislators over the prospects for achieving it at this session of congress.

Several senators, both for and against the bonus, took the view that the senate vote yesterday sustaining the president killed the prospects for full cash payment this session.

The 54 to 40 vote in favor of the Patman new currency bill fell 9 votes short of the two-thirds necessary to override a veto. Several senators predicted there would be no bonus legislation this session unless the veterans' forces were willing to accept something like the Harrison compromise.

On the other hand, the Patmanite forces pointed out that even in the face of President Roosevelt's unprecedented personal appearance against the bill it had mustered a majority of 14 votes in the senate and a vote of more than 3 to 1 in the house, and contended that such majorities could not be blocked for long.

In view of divided opinions within the bonus camp over strategy, Senator Clark (D., Mo.) virtually decided not to press for action on his attempt to attach to the pending navy bill a rider calling for cash payment. He indicated, however, that he would offer his plan later in the session. It would permit the president to finance the bonus by borrowing, by using work relief money or by issuing new money.

The defeat in the senate left the bonus forces in conflict. One group wanted to start all over again with the Vinson bill for full cash payment on the theory it could be passed over a presidential veto. The bill would leave the method of financing to the government. But many of the bonus leaders were at much interested in the monetary issue as the bonus question and wanted to push the Patman bill again.

They could offer it as an amendment to some vital administration measure such as the MTA reformation bill or the social security program and there were indications that this course might be followed. But some indicated they realized they could not muster full strength on any proposal to put the bonus as a "rider" on another bill.

Already administration leaders have moved to forestall such an attempt. Even before the vote yesterday, Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee pleaded with democrats not to be a party to the strategy and warned that it might jeopardize the party control of the government.

Harrison and other administration leaders were making no effort to work out a compromise on the bonus issue. It was understood they were ready to negotiate if the cash bonus forces wanted to, but there were no signs of compromise from that quarter.

Rep. Wright Patman (D., Texas), author of the Patman bill, sounded the keynote for his followers with the statement that "no question is settled until it is settled right."

He forecast that it would be the dominant issue in the 1936 campaign unless the bonus had been paid meanwhile.

James E. Van Zandt, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said he was confident the "feat could be turned into victory" if the ex-service men's organizations present a solid front in a new drive.

He sent a wire to Commander Frank N. Belgrano of the American Legion, who was at Ogden, Utah, inviting him to return for a conference "to unite on a measure which will insure victory."

On yesterday's vote three senators who voted for the Patman bill when it first passed the senate changed to the other side. They were Senators Coolidge (D., Mass.), Pittman (D., Nev.) and Pease (D., Idaho). The administration also garnered the votes of the new Senator Chavez (D., N. M.) and Senator Gore (D., Okla.), who were not recorded before, as well as the votes of Senators Tydings (D., Md.) and O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), who were paired last time.

a dollar looks like a million, then prices should be low, so that a little money will buy a whole lot. The dollar should buy more, not less, as is the case today.

WHAT IS WORTH doing at all is worth more attention than usually is given Memorial days. Veterans organizations fortunately have planned an adequate program for May 30. We commend their program to the public and urge that the dead be paid the respect which is due. And we respect the dead, by the way, in order that we who are living may live in a manner to be respected. He who does not respect the dead does not respect the living. . . . And he who does not respect the flag does not have much to live for; the flag represents the ideals of country and home.

NOTES ON parliamentary procedure: Often it is desirable to obtain the floor in an assembly in order to make some statement which may decide an important issue without further debate. If their chairman denies a member the floor, any two members may appeal from the decision of the chair, forcing a vote of the assembly. Or the chairman, if in doubt, may ask for such a vote. Except by general consent, a motion cannot be made by a person who does not have the floor. However, when a speaker has the floor, it is in order for another member to move to reconsider an issue, to raise a point of order, to point out irregularities in procedure, to ask a personal privilege, or to request some information vital to the assembly. But the member who has the floor does not lose it through consideration of the interruptions. . . . However, a member who has spoken once is usually not recognized until other persons not heard are recognized, unless the discussion is of an interminable character.

What Would Be YOUR Answer?

If you were the editor of a newspaper advice column and this letter came to you—

Dear Miss Heart Problems:

Do you think "Summer Sweethearts" are ever serious? We men in love with a man don't let him come to see his parents do not like. They come so I meet him and will I really love him and will never love anyone else.

Please advise me

how would you reply? Perhaps you think the girl who wrote the letter is foolish, too young to know her own mind. But "Summer Sweethearts" are apt to be young and foolish. Their problems are none the less real, important. Mabel McElliott deals understandingly and sympathetically with modern, romantic youth in her new serial—the finest this popular author has written. JOBLESS FLEECED OF SAVINGS

Extortion rackets reach every community sooner or later, but not all are at gun-point. A survey covering 29 American cities shows that the jobless are especially hard hit. The chain letter scheme in which many lost as well as many gained is about the mildest of the lot. Americans lose half a billion dollars a year in illegal schemes.

Men, it was discovered, are better losers than women. They say less about it. Elderly persons are easier victims than the young folk. Belated hopes of getting rich intrigue the aged. Youngsters are more eager to obtain merchandise-for-nothing and to buy things they do not need.

It is significant that 85 per cent of the losses could be eliminated if everyone traded at home instead of "falling" for the schemes of transients.

The "job with investment" frauds have been especially plentiful in the last few years, causing the unemployed to risk the last of their savings in a futile attempt to buy jobs. Much borrowing on insurance is being done in order to "take advantage" of the wonderful propositions of smooth-tongued promoters.

One scheme, which cost Pampans much money, was a "free" picture plan, under which an "oil painting" was offered for about $1.85 to cover postage and the solicitor's fee. What actually was sent was a plain photo enlargement in an octagon shape, to be tinted and framed when the Pampans furnished several dollars for a picture frame. The net result was that dozens of persons paid $1.85 for a 50-cent enlargement.

It is always safe to assume, for purposes of investigation, that anything offered "free" will cost at least as much as it is worth. "Introductory offers" are in 98 per cent of the time mere approaches of salesmanship. A favorite plan is to offer an encyclopedia free—providing the recipient pays $39.60 or some other figure for 10 annual supplements.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—One of President Roosevelt's most trusted aides has just returned from a trip across the country to report that the administration hasn't anything, politically speaking, to worry about.

The president's hold on the people is still strong, he found—or thought he found—though not so strong as it was. According to this man, a seasoned politician himself, Roosevelt can still easily lick anybody else in sight. Huey Long has not been making much headway lately, except perhaps in Kansas. There the Kingfish looks good to many of the voters who once supported the celebrated Dr. Brinkley, political candidate and goat gland specialist.

Business men and bankers, the president's informant gathered, are irritated chiefly because they cannot "run" the federal show as they did in previous administrations and find their positions weakened as leaders of popular thought.

Most of them are making more money, but some of them declared: "That don't make a damn bit of difference. You fellows down there are going to ruin us."

On the other hand, even administration supporters in various states were found to be confused by apparently conflicting policies and statements from Washington.

Advice that he can afford to ignore such extreme critics as the U. S. Chamber of Commerce has been welcomed by Roosevelt lately.

The late Senator Bronson Cutting probably will be held up as a martyr in the 1936 presidential campaign if a third radical party ticket enters the field.

His friend, Congressman Thomas A. Amle, Wisconsin Progressive, in his weekly letter to hundreds of liberals, refers to "the persecution of Senator Cutting by President Roosevelt," and declares: "The Death of Senator Cutting, and the circumstances which led up to it have marked also the death of the last hope of many liberals in the president and his New Deal."

Amale is a leader in the House insurgent or "maverick" group and a quiet but persistent worker for a new political realignment.

He charges that Roosevelt himself took the initiative in a political alliance of conservative Republicans and Democrats to defeat the progressive Cutting in the last election; that Roosevelt's fight against Cutting continued in the Chavez election contest, although "even Jim Farley tried to persuade the president to abandon this persecution"; that Cutting was forced to make many trips to New Mexico to defend himself against groundless charges; and that in returning from one such trip he met his death.

About half the people you meet these days ask you who wrote a book called "Handout," which purports to expose an alleged great administration plot to suppress vital facts and to control the channels of news.

Reason for the curiosity is the fact that the book is largely an incredible collection of misstatements and distortions. Various newspaper correspondents and others are being accused of authorship in the many local centers of irresponsible gossip and the charge is such an insult that there may be a few fist fights before Washington forgets the book.

Denmark provides government protection against unemployment and old age, says new item. But maybe the Danish count decided to marry Barbara just in case.

Hollywood couple have just completed 25 years of married life. If America wants to show England a thing or two about throwing jubilees, there's the excuse.

Families who will eventually want to send them through college are given only the brighter babies to adopt, says humane society director. In this gridiron era, we can't see the connection.

Gertrude Stein says she is "married to America." What she was pouring into our ears during her recent visit, it seems, must have been sweet nothings.

Here's a possible solution. Out of their profits, let the telegraph companies chip in and pay the bonus.

Congressmen are advised by John N. Garner to override the presidential veto. That man's here again.

Society Girl in Plunge to Death

BOSTON, May 24 (AP)—Miss Esther Sears, 28-year-old prominent Boston society girl, was killed today in a plunge from the third floor bedroom of her home. Dr. George Burgess Magrath, medical examiner, said death was due to injuries suffered in an accidental fall which occurred while she apparently was walking in her sleep.

Miss Sears was the daughter of Dr. George G. Sears, noted physician and member of the Harvard medical school faculty.

Miss Sears was a graduate of Vassar.

Bob Johnson, slugging Athletics outfielder, hit into double plays during ninth inning rallies in three consecutive games.

WITNESS TELLS HOW STAFFORD MET HIS DEATH

Asserts Sheriff Was Warned Man Was U. S. Agent

LUBBOCK, May 24 (AP)—Further government testimony was in order today in the trial of Sheriff W. F. Cato of Garza county and three other residents of the county charged with slaying Narcotic Agent Spencer Stafford at Post last February 7.

Stafford was shot to death with a machine gun while he and V. C. McCullough, also a narcotic agent, were investigating alleged widespread trafficking in narcotics in the Post section.

Dr. L. W. Kitchen, veterinarian, in front of whose office the shooting occurred; Tom Morgan, a deputized farmer, and Dr. V. A. Hartman, are the others charged.

Changing that Stafford was killed while on government duty, the government started shaping its case against the West Texans yesterday.

D. L. Lowery, who said he had been addicted to narcotics for 17 years and a government informer three years, said Sheriff Cato shot Stafford shortly after McCullough had shouted: "Don't shoot—that man is a federal agent."

Lowery testified that he and another informer, Eva Michelle, were in front of Kitchen's office when Cato and Morgan arrived. He said that after the sheriff had ordered them not to move, the woman had told the sheriff that they were in a government car and that two agents were in the office.

The witness said that Stafford appeared after the commotion caused by Cato's arrival and that Stafford yelled at the sheriff that "we are federal agents."

Lowery said Cato shouted to Morgan, who had accompanied him: "Kill him, Tom, kill him."

"Morgan levelled his gun at Stafford," the witness said, "but I grabbed his arm and told him that Stafford was an officer. Cato wrenched the machine gun away from Morgan and went around the car. Mac (McCullough) came out. Cato took a step and a half or two steps—that's when he shot."

The witness testified that he had bought narcotics from Hartman and Kitchen and he added that they threatened him and the other informer after the shooting.

Lowery said he did not see Stafford draw his gun but saw it hit the ground.

The defense counsel brought out that local officers had not been informed that federal agents were in town.

Daniel E. McQuinn, assistant attorney general, who is helping District Attorney Clyde O. Eastus in the prosecution, outlined the government's case shortly after the defendants had pleaded not guilty.

PLEADING PUPS FULL PARDON PHILADELPHIA—Henry Wehrmann carried a box containing five whimpering puppies into headquarters of the Women's S. P. C. A. "These pups," he told Charles Smith, the attendant, "have got to be fed or they'll cry their heads off."

"Well, why don't you feed them?" Smith asked. "How can I?" Wehrmann replied. "You've got their mother here."

The mother, Lassie, picked up as a stray, was released from "jail." Use Daily NEWS Classified Ad.

ACCEPTED by Science and the American People

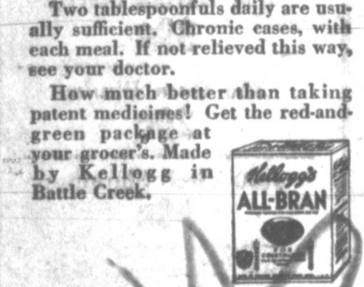

Laboratories have devoted years of research to discover the facts about bran. These facts show that Kellogg's All-Bran is a natural laxative food for normal people.

As a result, ALL-BRAN has been accepted by the American Medical Association Committee on Foods, and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute.

Millions of Americans use ALL-BRAN to correct constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. For ALL-BRAN supplies generous, mild "bulk" which continues to be effective when used for months. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron, an element of the blood.

Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal if not relieved this way, see your doctor.

SETTLERS IN REPUBLIC OF TEXAS OCCUPIED BY LAND SQUABBLES AS RESULT OF EMPRESSARIO METHOD

Account of Mercer's Colony Outlined In Archives

(Note: This is one of a series of articles taken from the 300 special collections of family archives in the University of Texas library. The collections cover all periods of Texas history from the earliest days of the Spanish missionaries in the province of Texas, through the days of the Mexican republic, to the present. The articles present interesting excerpts from a number of these family collections, some of which are of unusual significance in the development of the empire of Texas, others for their purely human interest in portraying personalities, economic conditions and social intercourse.)

AUSTIN, May 24.—In the early days of the Republic of Texas, land squabbles occupied the settlers to a not inconsiderable extent. It is evident from documents in the various family archives in the University of Texas library, Texas was settled from the beginning by the empresario method, namely: A colonization promoter, known as an empresario or contractor, would undertake to settle at least one hundred families and not more than eight hundred families in the new territory, for which service he was entitled to a premium, or compensation, of five leagues of grazing land, equivalent to 22,945 acres, and five labors of 1771-7 acres each of farming land. Stephen F. Austin was the first of these empresarios, but the system continued long after his death.

One such promoter was Charles Fenton Mercer, who settled a colony in Northeast Texas, near the present Dallas county. Mercer was a Virginian by birth and tradition, and a statesman in national politics. He was a member of congress, an educator, and an ardent free slaver. His venture into Texas land dealing was evidently a mere interlude in his life, for it is unmentioned in biographical sketches of the man. Colonization papers in the official records of Texas, however, give ample proof of his attempt to become a large landholder in the frontier republic.

The real estate profession of those days was not so simple as might be expected, however. An "squatter" had few rights, and an empresario who failed to meet his contract to the letter was not subject to the regard of other land dealers who coveted his land.

That Mercer had not carried out to the letter the contract he had made with the government was considered by surveyors as justification for re-surveying the land, collecting the fee therefor, and making it possible for a new land dealer to take possession.

A letter in the Matthew Cartwright papers in the University library reveals such a situation. It was about this time (1840) that Cartwright began dabbling in land, a business for which he temporarily deserted his merchandising firm a few years later. This letter, written from Nacogdoches December 26, 1845, is from W. M. Simpson, a surveyor, who urged Cartwright to establish his claim on a portion of the lands in the so-called Mercer (or Murcer) colony. The letter follows:

"Brother informs me that you have some certificates, but that you have some hesitations about having them surveyed up on the Trinity fearing there would be some opposition from the people. I do not intend to survey, on any mans preemption claim and therefore: I do not anticipate any contention with the people. I spent nearly the whole of last summer among the people of the colony, I found them very friendly disposed and they made no objection to my surveying, any quantity, so that I did not interfere with their pre-emption claims. I found them on as opposed to Gen. Murcer and his contract with the president, and as further evidence of their being opposed to said contract, they assembled on the occasion of voting for the constitution, and voted unanimously for the ordinance. They say that Gen. Murcer's agents had defrauded them by making heavy exactions of them, as dues, and fees, on their lands, charging them 8 dollars for a duplicate of citizenship, 8 dollars for land certificates, 12 dollars for surveying their land besides many other expenses, amounting in all to more than double the amount charged by this government. So they are all anxious that his contract would fall, for they would have nothing to lose by it but everything to gain. Besides in all my travel through the colony, I saw no man that said his was introduced by any person. If we would get land, then at all, we must get it soon, for all the good lands will be taken by preemption in less than 12 months. I have the opinion of Oehltree and Rusk on the subject, and they gave it as their opinion that that part of the contract is unconstitutional and, laying aside the constitutionality of the contract, that Gen. Murcer and his associates have entirely failed to comply with their contract with the president, and the contract pointedly says that a failure on the part of Charles Fenton Murcer, to comply with any part of the contract shall amount to a forfeiture of the whole. The contract says, that Gen. Murcer, shall introduce and settle, i. e. 150 families, by the 1st day of May, 1845—that he shall introduce and settle in good comfortable lodgings, cabins on their own lands set apart to them 150 families by the 1st day of May 1845—in this part of his contract he has entirely failed. I traveled through the colony in July last and did not see 10 families that said that they were introduced by Gen. Murcer, or any one else. That they have gone there with their own accord, and certain it is that not one out of 10 of the families that are there are on vacant land, and none of them on lands set apart to them for there is not as yet a survey made by the authorities in Murcer's colony. Therefore, if there were the 150 families, they are not living on their own land; and consequently have not the improvements as required in the contract, but on the contrary, there was not on the first day of May last more than 75 families and of those 75, 9 out of 10 are squatters on other peoples' land, by casting your eye upon the map you will see that there was 6 or 700 surveys made and recorded in the very heart of that colony; previous to the date of the contract and the people have settled upon them; and are willing to buy of the owners, and they are willing to average land at $1.00 per acre, and they have not settled on those lands without knowing they have at a very early day after the date of the contract; furnished with a complete map of all "The surveys made in the Colony," by Major Pillary, then agent for the colony.

"But, Gen. Murcer has not only forfeited his contract on the grounds already mention, but he has failed in every requirement of the contract, up to this time. Besides he has failed to comply with a law passed by the Congress of 44 requiring him to complete the survey of his colony by a certain date, at a forfeiture of his contract. The survey of his colony is not yet closed, nor nothing doing towards doing it nor is there a single survey made.

"It is the opinion of all the statesmen and jurists, with whom I have conversed that the contract is an nullity, and that surveys might be made there with perfect propriety, and those gentlemen whose opinion might be most relied on, are the first to participate, in the locating of those lands. I shall be off in a few days, and shall make a quantity of surveys the field notes of which I shall have to dispose of, when I come in I shall be certain to call on you, for by that time I think you will be convinced of the propriety of locating in that section."

The vacant lands there is worth four times the quantity of vacant lands any place that I know of, and I would much prefer land in that section to any other that is at this time vacant. It is not that I am limited, for I could survey any where in this country. Those who furnish me their certificates before I go out, I shall feel under obligations to survey first if you will send me your certificates, I will pledge myself to get you as good locations as can be had, or send you the number and quantity of your certificates in full, and I will serve you faithfully, I will wait until you next fall, or I will take notes on good men or a good man. If you write do it immediately or I will not get it before I go out.

"Respectfully your Obt. Servant: Etc., Etc., Etc." W. M. Simpson.

Quick Approval Of Conchas Dam Now Expected

WASHINGTON, May 24. (AP)—Prospects for quick approval of the application filed with the works administration by the army engineers for $4,500,000 to construct Conchas dam in New Mexico were seen today by members of New Mexico and Texas congressional delegations.

Senators Hatch and Chavez of New Mexico, Sheppard and Connally of Texas and Representatives Dempsey of New Mexico and Jones of Texas discussed the project with Harry L. Hopkins, director of the progress division of the works administration, after the application was filed.

It was understood that only Hopkins' approval was lacking for the reservoir and dam, and members of the delegations indicated his attitude was entirely favorable. In addition to solving the problems of flood control and irrigation, the Conchas dam and resulting reservoir will supplement the water supply of Amarillo, Texas, and Tucuman, N. M.

The Texas delegation has been working closely with the New Mexico representatives in an effort to gain immediate approval for the project. Texas and New Mexico also have joined with Colorado in backing the Caddo dam on the Arkansas river in southern Colorado.

The Conchas dam in New Mexico, the Caddo in Colorado and the El Reno dam in Oklahoma from the three angles of a triangle which encompasses a large part of the area ravaged by dust storms in recent weeks.

Sits Up and Takes Notice

When a 2-year-old filly like Jessie Hanover comes along to the races, it's something to make one sit up and take notice, opinion little Mollie, as she poses statue-like before her master, Tom Berry, famous harness reinman. The picture was taken at Lexington, Ky., where the brown trotter is training for the opening of the "Roaring Grand" at Toledo, O., July 1. The dog and horse are inseparable companions.

International Sunday School Lesson

By DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic:—The Lord's Supper.
Scripture Lesson: Matthew 26: 17-30.

17. Now on the first day of unleavened bread the disciples came to Jesus, saying, Where wilt thou that we make ready for thee to eat the passover?
18. And he said, Go into the city to such a man, and say unto him, The Teacher saith, My time is at hand; I keep the passover at thy house with my disciples.
19. And the disciples did as Jesus appointed them; and they made ready the passover.
20. Now when even was come, he was sitting at meat with the twelve disciples:
21. And as they were eating, he said, Verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.
22. And they were exceeding sorrowful, and began to say unto him, every one, It is I, Lord?
23. And he answered and said, He that dipped his hand with me into the dish, the same shall betray me.
24. The Son of man goeth, even as it is written of him: but woe unto that man through whom the Son of man is betrayed! Good were it for that man if he had not been born.
25. And Judas, who betrayed him, answered, and said, Is it I, Rabbi? He saith unto him, Thou hast said.
26. And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed, and brake it; and he gave to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body.
27. And he took a cup, and gave thanks, and gave to them, saying, Drink ye all of it;
28. For this is my blood of the covenant, which is poured out for many unto remission of sins.
29. But I say unto you, I shall not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine, until that day when I drink it now with you in my Father's kingdom.
30. And when they had sung a hymn, they went out into the mount of Olives.

Golden Text:—This do in remembrance of me.—1 Cor. 11:24.

Introduction
"This Table of our Lord presents a trinity of truths. First, it sets forth Christianity in its historical aspect. It eloquently says, 'Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures; that we are redeemed by the precious blood. Secondly it sets forth Christianity from an experimental point of view. It declares our spiritual subsistence on him. Thirdly, it represents Christianity from a prophetic aspect. It expresses by sign and symbol, 'I expressed by sign and symbol, 'W. H. Rogers, in 'The Word We Preach.'"

The Lord's Supper Instituted
On the night of his betrayal Jesus instituted the ordinance of the Lord's Supper (Mark, 26:17-30). In his first letter to the church at Corinth Paul gave directions as to the observance of the Lord's Supper (1 Cor. 11:23-26). The story of what occurred in the upper room at Jerusalem is told in all four Gospels; but Mark tells it in eight verses, Matthew in eleven verses, and Luke in twenty-four verses, while John devotes to it five entire chapters.

The story by Matthew is before us today and in it we have an account of the Lord's last observance of the Hebrew Passover and his institution of the Lord's Supper.

Perfect Agreement in the Records
The different accounts of the institution of the Lord's Supper are most interesting not only because of their contents but also because of their sources. Matthew's account of the Lord's supper is that of an eye witness and participant guided by the Holy Spirit; Paul's account is that of one who had received a special revelation from the Lord himself.—1 Cor. 11:23. In point of time, Paul's record was written first. So far as we know, no one places the date of Matthew's Gospel earlier than A. D. 60, and no one gives 1 Corinthians a later date than A. D. 57. The interesting point is that neither of these writers was familiar with the writings of the other, that only one of them had witnessed the scene described, and yet there is essentially harmony between the two records.

The Passover Meal, vs. 17-19
The Jewish Passover was an annual feast commemorating the escape of the first-born from death, when, in Egypt, the angel of death smote the houses of all who had not the blood sprinkled on doorposts, and lintels. It was held in direct connection with the feast of unleavened bread. The ordinance was recognized as having a deeper significance, both commemorating the sparing of the first-born in Egypt and pointing forward to the coming of the Lamb of God, whose death should atone for the sins of all. The whole system of Jewish ceremonies and sacrifices has been fulfilled. They are today empty and vain, and Christianity has taken their place. As the Passover looked back to Egypt, so the Lord's supper looks back to Calvary. As the Passover looked forward to the time when the heavens shall open and our Lord shall return, the Supper replaced the Passover.

"Jesus Took Bread"
Nothing could have been chosen by our Lord so perfectly and profoundly symbolizing his death for us as bread. It is first, the food of man, universally used, indispensable, and required daily. "Civilization creates its luxuries, and refinements, and decorations of every sort, and seeks to tempt the appetite by many a condiment, or stimulant, but, under all lies the sweet and healthful word 'bread.' Every food and wine, but the great world itself, with all its wealth, would perish in a month but for the presence of bread and water." — Joseph Parker. Bread points to death in at least four different ways: (1) The wheat must be buried (John 12:24); (2) It must be cut down in the harvest; (3) it must be ground in the mill; (4) it must go through fire, i. e., be baked in an oven before it can be eaten. Bread imparts life; so Christ is spoken of as the bread of life (John 6:35). It is deeply significant that the meaning of the name "Bethlehem," where Christ's body was born into the world, is "house of bread."

"This is My Body" v. 26
To take his "is," in Matthew 26:26-28, literally, necessitates what is known as the doctrine of the "real presence" (held by the Roman Catholics, and in a rather different sense by the Lutherans). But to Protestants this is a strange misuse of his language, discarded of his common practice of employing figurative speech. The "is" is equivalent to "stands for," "represents," "my body—my blood, offered for you." Similarly, we point to a picture on the wall and say, "that is my mother."

A Memorial Ordinance
"Do this in remembrance of me." 1 Cor. 11:24. The purpose of the Lord's Supper is here particularly emphasized—it is to be observed in remembrance of Christ. "Just as a departing friend, anticipating the future and unwilling to be forgotten places in the loved one's hand some simple souvenir, so, with a like motive, and in a fashion not dissimilar, the King of glory came to the rescue of the human weakness of his chosen twelve. The celebration of the Supper means a deliberate recalling of the teaching and character, but especially of the passion of our Lord—how he voluntarily offered himself for, and in the place of men. Christ demands Remembrance, Remembrance, and ever Remembrance."—J. Golden Baines.

A Prophetic Ordinance.
"Ye do show the Lord's death until He come." 1 Cor. 11:26. By such an observance do we proclaim the Lord's death till He come. The word here translated "proclaim" means "to announce, declare, promulgate, make known, to proclaim publicly, publish,"—J. H. Thayer. We proclaim the Lord's death to one another and certainly we proclaim it to the world until the Lord returns, a note of hope which always should be found in the celebration of this sacred feast.

Paul alone records the prophetic feature of the Supper, in the words of Jesus "For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do show the Lord's death till he comes." That is to say, in properly observing the Supper, we proclaim the Lord's death and declare his second coming. Thus does Paul supplement and enrich the Gospel records of the Lord's Supper. The Lord's Supper is both a memorial and a prophecy. A looking backward to Calvary's cross and a looking forward to the glorious day of the Lord's return.
