AAA FARM ACT IS FLAYED IN HIGHEST COURT

EX-SENATOR PEPPER IS SPEAKER BEFORE JUSTICES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—New deal farm subsidies were denounced as bribery and robbery today in the supreme court.

Challenging the constitutionality of the AAA, former Senator George Wharton Pepper (R., Pa.) argued the government "offers a pecuniary award to the farmer who can't afford to decline it. He sells his freedom for a mess of pottage and sells his allegiance to the state."

At another point, expounding the position of the Hoosac Mills of Massachusetts, the lawyer contended the processing taxes meant "robbing Peter the processor to pay Paul the producer."

The nine justices listened in silence for the most part. The thronged court room was still. Solicitor General Stanley Reed waited for a final few words before the case would go to the guarded conference room of the court for final decision.

"The tax is regulatory," he insisted. "And doesn't even have to follow the formula prescribed in the law."

Only processing taxes are directly involved in the case, but the court of appeals at Boston held the entire act unconstitutional.

Pepper contended one AAA purpose was "expansion of the markets" and likened that to "rigging the market."

Reed methodically penciled notes. Their debate occupied the time until mid-afternoon, when the turn of the Bankhead compulsory cotton limitation plan had precedence.

Reed had the speaking role for the government in this, too. Counselor for Lee Moor, a Texas planter out to force the Texas and New Orleans railway to transport his cotton without the tags showing he respected the law attacked, have contended the legislation constituted improper delegation to congress of its powers.

It was necessary, for those in the crowded court who wished to follow the proceedings intelligently, to understand the difference between the AAA and the Bankhead act.

The AAA cotton program aims to control production of the nation's crop by the use of acreage contracts and through payments to contract signers for reducing acreage. The funds are raised by processing taxes.

The Bankhead act provides that the secretary of agriculture fix a national acreage allotment for each crop. Producers are given individual quotas from the national allotment.

A tax equaling approximately 50 per cent of the market value must be paid on all cotton ginned in excess of each individual grower's allotment. This is intended to make it possible for a producer to make a profit on cotton sold in excess of the allotment.

Cooperation with the AAA is voluntary. The Bankhead act is a compulsory measure intended by its sponsors to protect the adjustment contract signers and the farmer; farmers who decline to sign the contracts.

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

(By The Associated Press.)
Desultory fighting was reported at the front, Ethiopia claiming two victories last week. Italian advances said hard bayonet fighting had occurred.

Peace efforts of London and Paris hit a snag when the British made reservations to terms drawn by Premier Laval of France and Sir Austen Chamberlain of Great Britain.

It was reported the scheduled meeting of the League of Nations sanctions committee of 18 would postpone its Thursday meeting on an oil embargo.

Dr. Mendenhall To Speak Here

Local physicians, school groups, and the Gray County Tuberculosis association are making preparations to sponsor the appearance here Dec. 17 of Dr. Elliott Mendenhall of Dallas, specialist in tuberculosis.

It is likely that Dr. Mendenhall will address high school students at chapel and speak later to teachers, PTA members and the public late in the afternoon.

In the evening, he will be the guest of the Gray-Wheeler Medical association at a banquet in the Methodist church at 8:30 p. m.

I Saw . . .

Teagle Denies

Has the Standard Oil company of New York entered an agreement, through a subsidiary, to provide Italy with oil regardless of League of Nations sanctions? Walter C. Teagle (above), president of the oil firm, flatly denied such an agreement, and asserted it would be impossible of fulfillment. Reports from Rome insist such a pact has been made.

TOTAL TONNAGE OF BIG NAVIES TO BE TACKLED

Will Be First Problem at London Conference

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)
BY LLOYD LEHRBAS
LONDON, Dec. 10.—An authoritative source disclosed today that the international naval conference has decided to plunge immediately into the question of total tonnages of the world's greatest navies.

It was learned after the adjournment of the first session that the delegates, in conference at the Clarence House, requested that the Japanese make a detailed statement of their demands for total tonnages and present this statement at tomorrow's meeting of the other powers—the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy.

Although there was a discussion at the initial meeting of the possibilities of revising the session into two classifications—the Japanese pressed for the immediate consideration of their demands for a decision concerning the total tonnages of navies maintained by the great nations.

The two classifications which have been considered were total tonnage and limitations according to sizes and types of ships and guns.

The Japanese insistence conformed with their announced attitude of seeking a decision on the total sizes of navies before the possibility of any decision concerning secondary limitation questions.

Since the total tonnage problem now becomes the vital question facing the conference, it is considered by informed persons that the success or failure of the efforts to achieve a new agreement will hinge upon the next few days' deliberations.

The British government issued a statement today.

Shop and Mail Early, Advises Postal Group

During the holiday period the volume of mail handled increases approximately 200 per cent. It is physically impossible to handle the mail efficiently within a few days.

Therefore, to assure delivery of Christmas cards and packages on time, persons are urged to shop and mail early. A week or 10 days is not too early to mail packages or even cards and letters.

All parcels must be securely wrapped and tied with sufficient addresses, both of sender and recipient, typed, written or printed in ink before being accepted. Parcels in Christmas paper will not be taken for mailing.

An extra parcel post window has been opened at the local office and will remain in use until Christmas. Pampanis are asked to get their parcels at the window at the east end of the office. The regular window will be available for mailing and purchase of stamps.

TO DROP ALL EMPLOYABLES ON JANUARY 1

UNEMPLOYABLES WILL GET RELIEF THRU NEXT MARCH

AUSTIN, Dec. 10. (AP)—Texas officials today outlined a budget for direct relief to unemployed through next March by use of state funds after receiving a final $1,000,000 federal grant to care for employables the remainder of this month.

John F. Wallace, member of the board of control, the state relief agency, said approximately $2,000,000 state funds had been reserved through the fall to continue aid to unemployed until spring.

In addition to the final federal grant, he said about $400,000 other federal funds were on hand for general relief purposes which would provide aid for employables the remainder of December.

All employables will be dropped January 1, he said, regardless of whether or not they had been transferred to the Works Progress administration.

In addition to $1,000,000 for general relief, the final federal grant included $464,876 for other purposes. "We hope to start next year with $2,500,000," Wallace said. "That will be budgeted through January, February, and March for unworkables."

Without the additional federal grant, Wallace said workables would have been dropped immediately. Necessity for carrying workables after their transfer to WPA rolls rose from semi-monthly pay days of the new agency.

Allotments for the first half of December were based on a total of 128,000 Wallace said, while the commission hoped transfers to WPA would reduce it to less than 100,000 this month.

He calculated the load drop to 50,000 or 60,000 when all employables were dropped January 1. Even with the reduced load, allotments "must be spread mighty thin" to carry relief until spring.

"We argued with the federal government all along we ought not to end relief in mid-winter," Wallace said. "When they insisted on that plan, we saved back our state money. That is the reason we can now continue aid to unworkables until spring."

The final allocation by Harry L. Hopkins, federal administrator, was General relief, $1,000,000; Works Progress, $464,876.

BCD Will Hear Road Reports

The Board of City Development tonight will hear from George Briggs and J. S. Wynne reports on yesterday's road meeting in Amarillo.

Although an intensive fight for completion of U. S. 60 and U. S. 66 was launched at the meeting, the local men were especially interested in other roads, especially the Pampa-Borger road. They will give the Board information received concerning this highway.

The road men had joint sessions and meetings to discuss regional and local problems. The U. S. 60 group re-elected C. M. Bartlett of Miami, Okla., as its president, with M. L. Woodward of Gallup, N. M., as vice president and Carl Hinton as secretary. The road is being called the Will Rogers highway.

The delegates were guests of the Kiwanis club at noon.

Governor Denies Promise To Save Hauptmann From Chair

New York Newspaper Claims Hoffman Made Pledge

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (AP)—Sensational statements as to the attitude of Governor Harold Hoffman of New Jersey in the Bruno Richard Hauptmann case, and the reasons underlying his activities were made by two New York newspapers today.

The Sun asserted Governor Hoffman actually was laying a political "smoke screen" to further his efforts to legalize horse racing in New Jersey.

The Evening Journal said the executive had "definitely committed himself to a vigorous fight to save" Hauptmann.

TRENTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman said today that he had no intention of saving Bruno Richard Hauptmann from the electric chair.

"I have never expressed to any one," the governor said, "an opinion as to Hauptmann's guilt or innocence."

Asked whether he had been advised by a defense attorney at a conference yesterday that he had power to commute Hauptmann's death sentence to life imprisonment regardless of the vote of other members of the court of pardons, the governor said vehemently: "I'll deny that."

"Hauptmann couldn't get clemency," the governor said, "unless a majority of the court, including myself, voted for it. If I alone voted for clemency, a death sentence would not be disturbed and Hauptmann would be executed."

Asked whether his conference with Hauptmann in the state prison was a ruse, the governor said:

"I am going to go to Canada," Hauptmann had said when he was first arrested. "I am going to go to Canada," Hauptmann had said when he was first arrested.

U. S. TO GAIN FROM TREATY WITH CANADA

WALLACE TALKS ABOUT TARIFF TO FARM BUREAU GROUP

CHICAGO, Dec. 10. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace offered his "considered judgment" today that American agricultural gains from the Canadian reciprocal trade treaty "so far outweigh the losses that the net advantage to our agriculture as a whole is very much worth while."

He welcomed constructive criticism in an address prepared for delivery at the 17th annual American farm bureau federation convention, held here today.

"The other kind of attack—the bitter, venomous kind—is not inspired by any desire to help the farmers of this country. I believe that such unbridled assaults are inspired rather by the same interests which . . . have sought attempt by the farmers to gain economic fair play."

The agreement, he said, "attempts to undo the terrific damage done by the Smoot-Hawley act." Under that tariff act, he said, agricultural exports from the United States to Canada shrank from $100,000,000 annually to $40,000,000.

"Of American concessions to Canada on agricultural products, he said that "in none of these cases are imports in prospect that will have materially adverse effects upon American products."

Canadian concessions on meats and meat products duties, he said, will open the way "for our farmers to get back a bigger share of the British pork market."

The new agreement will permit American pork to go to Canada, replace Canadian pork exported to Great Britain, thus in effect permitting increased exports of American pork to Great Britain.

He claimed important benefits to this area of the country. Dr. C. H. Schulke, Canadian concessions and said there would be "substantial gains" for United States grain growers.

"Farmers of the United States will unquestionably gain from the increased exportation of manufactured products to Canada," he said. "Suppose that exports of these products are increased by $300,000,000—a conservative figure in view of our trade with Canada in the past—and that half of this amount, or $150,000,000 goes into payrolls."

MILITANT MINNEAPOLIS EDITOR IS SLAIN AFTER WRITING PREDICTION IN JOURNAL

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 10. (AP)—The assassination he predicted in the last issue of his weekly newspaper today had overtaken Editor Walter Liggett, stormy petrel of Minnesota politics and bitter foe of Governor Floyd B. Olson.

A killer in a darkened car last night fired five bullets into Liggett's back as he accompanied by his wife and 10-year-old daughter, Mardia, he drove into an alley near his home.

Liggett, his arms full of groceries and with a pistol in his pocket, fell dying as his daughter cried, "Don't die, Daddy, don't die."

At police headquarters Mrs. Liggett sobbed, "I will remember the killer's face as long as I live."

The police held Isadore Blumenfeld, alias Kid Cann, for questioning in the case after he submitted voluntarily for examination. He was thought it was true. In a formal statement to police, Schulberg said Liggett demanded $1,500 to "lay off."

Blumenfeld said he was introduced to Liggett by Mrs. Annette Fawcett, divorced wife of Magazine Publisher Billy Fawcett, shortly before Liggett was severely beaten by unknown assailants in a beer parlor two months ago.

Soon after, Liggett was acquitted of criminal charges involving two minor girls. He branded the charges a "political frameup."

Schulberg he was writing a series of articles on Schulberg's activities. He said Schulberg bet the editor $500 he was wrong in his premises and suggested Liggett give government operatives his evidence if he thought it was true. In a formal statement to police, Schulberg said Liggett demanded $1,500 to "lay off."

Blumenfeld said he was introduced to Liggett by Mrs. Annette Fawcett, divorced wife of Magazine Publisher Billy Fawcett, shortly before Liggett was severely beaten by unknown assailants in a beer parlor two months ago.

Shirley Temple Writes Wants to 'Dear Santy Claus'

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Dec. 10. (AP)—Shirley Temple wants a midget automobile for Christmas, but Santa Claus is going to turn her down.

The little film star wrote him today, saying: "Dear Santy Claus, Mother says I can ask for a doll-carriage, a bicycle, some rainy day games to play with, a painting set and books about animals, as that is what I am supposed to get."

"If you can't get me" those things, I would like a midget auto that runs. If they don't make them at the north pole, I know where you can buy them. I will trade you an autographed picture of me and Ronald Colman for one of yours. Your dear friend, Shirley Temple."

Mrs. George Temple, her mother, said Shirley will receive the things she described as "what I am supposed to get." It will be a few years before she finds that automobile in her stocking, Mrs. Temple said.

ARMY DRIVES CHINESE SOUTH AFTER BATTLE

Many Killed by Jap Soldiers, Say Reports

PEIPIING, Dec. 10. (AP)—Chinese sources reported tonight that an invading Manchoukouan army, using tanks and airplanes, had driven the special police of southeast Chahar into the city of Kuyuan after a battle in which many were killed.

As a result of the troop action, it was said, the forces of the Japanese-directed empire of Manchoukouan were in control of more Chinese territory.

The Chinese reports came from Kalgan.

They recounted that the special police of southeast Chahar were in control of more Chinese territory.

Ward School Bids Will Be Opened

Bids were to be opened at 2 o'clock this afternoon and possibly a contract awarded for two ward school additions here.

Four-room brick additions will be placed at the Sam Houston and Woodrow Wilson schools.

Plans are being completed for the high school auditorium, which will be started somewhat later.

The three projects are made possible through a PWA grant of $40,900 and a bond issue of $50,000, recently voted. The school board met at 11 a. m. but extended the time for the opening of bids to 2 p. m.

The ward school expansions are much needed, as shown by overcrowding in the lower grades.

Mrs. Garnet Barrett, Mrs. Hugh Morrow, Mrs. Bert Isbell, and Mrs. Howard spent yesterday in Amarillo.

Selassie And Il Duce In Mood To Hear Peace Plan

British Still Seek an Understanding With French

(By The Associated Press.)
LONDON, Dec. 10. (AP)—The foreign office announced today that Great Britain was resuming negotiations with France for the negotiation of a plan to end the war between Italy and Ethiopia, lending evidence to reports the cabinet had summarily rejected a tentative agreement.

Indications that France and Great Britain might succeed in their efforts to bring peace to Italy and Ethiopia were seen in Paris today with reports that both Premier Mussolini and Emperor Haile Selassie would listen to the new peace formula.

Still there was no authentic description of the terms of the peace plan, although it was generally considered likely that Italy would be offered a portion of Ethiopia, while Ethiopia would be given a seaport.

TRACK TO BE STARTED HERE ON WEDNESDAY

$13,000 WPA PROJECT TO BE BUILT AT FAIRGROUNDS

Pampa's new fair ground park will begin to take form tomorrow, when about 45 men will report for work on the race track—a project selected by WPA to be the first launched.

The project will include a race track and fence, with a minimum of materials compared with labor cost. Final cost will approximate $13,000 of WPA funds. The interior of the race track oval will be a polo field.

City Manager C. L. Stine has received a telegram from WPA Administrator Meredith at Amarillo, informing him that the track could be started tomorrow. Mr. Stine today was driving stakes and laying out the track.

It is expected that other units of the park will be begun as plans are completed and money allocated. These will include a grandstand, gymnasium, auditorium, administration building, display buildings, and landscaping. The latter will include a dam.

About 6 months will be required to complete the race track and fencing. It is estimated, Bad weather will cause some delays.

Brevitorials

MANY PERSONS ARE ASKING questions about the Pampa WPA projects. Why is the race track being started first? Why are such minor things as tennis courts and bridges being started when the fair-ground-park is the main thing desired? Why is there continued delay while other counties are getting their projects? Half a dozen local agencies are trying to get at the answer to these queries. There is no lack of cooperation here in any agency concerned. . . . But when one leaves Pampa, he enters a maze of contradictions, alibis, jealousies, and red tape.

If this is any sample of government trying to operate as a business on short notice, make the Literary Digest poll is rather representative, after all. For it is a fact that there is colossal mismanagement and lack of coordination in the federal bureaus which are trying to end unemployment.

LOCALLY, THE City of Pampa has bought the land needed. It has hired an architect and prepared plans. Everything asked of it has been done. Still the program was delayed. The City has ample support. The Board of City Development has been constantly sending telegrams and letters. It has sent a man to Washington. THE NEWS has been similarly active. Repeated assurance that all was well have meant nothing. Delay now may mean unfinished projects later with unnecessary cost to the community. But the community is obliged to take whatever project WPA chooses to start first.

Local officials quite rightly are about ready to take off their gloves if the questions are not removed. They have been courteous and helpful. They have tried to give us a minimum of political wire-pullings, although Congressman Marvin Jones has heard from them almost daily. A few more days should indicate whether WPA can clear its decks and give Pampa what is ear-marked for this community.

MOSCOW PROVES VALUE OF PRIVATE INDUSTRY

The ways of unbridled capitalism may lead to sin, but they do keep salesman and producer on their toes. Whatever else may happen to the man who is out to make a dollar, he at least has to remember his customers.

Over in Soviet Russia, where they ate the last capitalist for breakfast long years ago, they seem to be having trouble with their department stores. They have fine stores and the stores sell fine goods, but something is missing—and a glance at the machinery leads one to wonder if the missing article may not be the lubricating oil supplied by your old pal, Individual Initiative.

An American newspaper correspondent sent an account of the situation to the New York Herald-Tribune recently. He explained that the Moscow stores are experiencing a big buying boom nowadays.

The city's largest department store is entertaining 230,000 customers a day. Soviet industry is at last beginning to turn out goods in something like the volume that the citizens demand, and business is swell.

It is swell, that is, except for one thing; the would-be buyer is having a terrible time finding things he wants.

The correspondent tested this by taking a Russian in town and setting out to buy some of the things which the factories are turning out in quantity lots.

Boots, for instance. The biggest store had lots and lots of boots—but none in the sizes between 4 and 10. The would-be purchaser was advised to come back in maybe three weeks.

Sheepskin coats, fur-lined vests—made desirable by the thermometer-depressing tendencies of the Russian winter—and plain, every-day, proletarian pants were in a like case. The counters overflowed with them, but getting a fit was something else again.

Russian customers seem to be much like any other kind, so loud squawks have been filling Muscovite air.

The Russian government has been looking into things, and it reports that the trouble lies in the relations between retailer and manufacturer.

The retailers simply don't know how to keep a sufficient assortment of things on hand. Factories may be turning out plenty of shoes, coats, vests, and pants—but the Moscow version of the purchasing agent doesn't seem to know how to take advantage of it.

Now the point of all this is simply that this is one place where the lure of private profit looks irreplaceable. The department store man in America stocks up with what his customers want or he goes out of business. The process is automatic and speedy.

The relationship between producer and salesman adjusts itself. Take away the compulsion and you inevitably put the customer on a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Dec. 9. (P)—Unless sentiment changes the legislature may end its third special session, tentatively set for January, in another deadlock over taxes to pay old age pensions.

Observers see the identical elements that prevented an agreement on sources of revenue at the second session when tax legislation went down in the closing hours. The house, firmly opposed to a general sales tax, refused to compromise in the face of full knowledge that it doomed the tax program.

Before sending the revenue bill to conference committees in the second special session the house issued iron-clad instructions to its conferees to hold out against any form of a sales tax. Conference committee members suggested, as the session drew to a close, that the instructions be modified to permit a selective sales or luxury tax—but the house turned a deaf ear.

The senate voted strongly in favor of a general sales tax of one per cent on all retail sales excepting food, clothing and other necessities. House sales tax opponents resisted this plan bitterly, contending it was the opening wedge for a general sales tax.

Anti-Sales tax leaders assert the state is collecting huge revenues from this source through the four cents a gallon on gasoline, three cents a package on cigarettes and other levies.

Some persons believe Gov. Allred erred in not calling another special session immediately to solve the revenue problem.

Others hold the contrary viewpoint and believe it is better for a legislative body to be in frequent contact with the people. They assert a legislature fresh from home constituencies has a better viewpoint and will return in January with concrete views on how the problem best could be handled.

Gov. Allred said he thought everybody was tired and needed a rest. He was confident the legislators would return refreshed and find a satisfactory solution to the vexing puzzle.

Keokuk, Ia., was named after a chief of the Sank and Foxes who remained peaceful during the Black Hawk war and died in 1848.

THE RELIGION

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The new voluntary four-year plan for cotton production control was written with a tacit belief among AAA officials that the Bankhead compulsory cotton control act would be found unconstitutional.

No one here ever liked the Bankhead act much, except perhaps members of the Congress which passed it and representatives of hundreds of thousands of southern cotton planters who voted for this form of "regimentation" almost en masse.

Even the AAA lawyers who helped frame the legislation thought it was pretty bad. The politicians promoting it wouldn't even let them do a good job of draftsmanhip.

The Kerr tobacco act, another compulsory control measure enthusiastically supported by growers, is a better-written law. But the New Dealers don't expect that to stand up in the supreme court, either.

The penalty tax in the two bills is considered to represent more coercion than the court has shown any sign of being willing to stand.

Secretary Wallace always opposed compulsory control. The new program, linking loan-subsidy provisions with the benefit payment scheme, is expected to accomplish the same end by persuading farmers it isn't profitable to refrain from signing contracts and from production curtailment.

AAA still expects the Agricultural Adjustment Act to be upheld. There its lawyers are arguing that Congress has merely given farmers a method of doing exactly what they want to do.

Seldom does one have the privilege of reporting discovery of hidden genius such as comes with the inspection of a score of propaganda pamphlets handsomely published by the Democratic National Committee, in such gay colors as yellow, blue, sepia, and several shades of green.

As everybody knows, blue, sepia, and several shades of broke and way down in the red, and anything it thinks it can afford to print is bound to be of the utmost importance.

These particular booklets haven't yet had the wide circulation they will doubtless receive as the campaign warms up, but certain favored ones have been privileged to glimpse them.

They can now report that all bear the signature of the same New Dealer and that the titles seem to stamp him as the most versatile and learned brain-truster of them all. The booklets include:

- "Education and Its Responsibility," by James A. Farley.
 - "The Opportunity," by James A. Farley.
 - "Building Citizenship," by James A. Farley.
 - "Dictatorship—A Myth," by James A. Farley.
 - "The Spirit of the New Deal," by James A. Farley.
 - "John Marshall," by James A. Farley.
 - "The Problem of Agriculture," by James A. Farley.
 - "The New Deal and Old Hickory," by James A. Farley.
 - "The Irish Influence in American History," by James A. Farley.
 - "A Challenge to America," by James A. Farley.
 - "Postal Affairs and the National Economy," by James A. Farley.
 - "Haverstraw—My Home Town," by James A. Farley.
- And several more. Closer inspection reveals that the booklets are really a collection of speeches—by James A. Farley.

'Immortal Ten' Won First Title For Ponies In 1923

Army Game in 1928 Turned All Eyes To Texas

BY FELIX R. MCKNIGHT. DALLAS, Dec. 10 (AP)—Ten rugged youngsters, destined to become a Southern Methodist university football legend as the "immortal ten," tossed away freshman caps for grid helmets in 1923 and the 7-year victory fame at the Mustang corral had ended.

Simultaneously, Ray Morrison, absent five years, returned to the campus a wiser young football coach.

Cratier, more daring after five years of analyzing the game, Morrison tutored his "immortal ten" in the magic of the forward pass. Thus started the renowned "aerial circus," a football losing group which returned to the grid helmets in 1928 and the Mustang corral had ended.

It matters but little who was the eleventh man in the Methodist lineup. Just another man in football uniform to plug the extra gap; that's all they needed.

The team started with a blast. Early season opposition felt like tennis. And then came the Louisiana State game—and one of the most amazing individual performances in football history.

Side-stepping Allan Rowson, 150-pound halfback, did his believe-it-or-not act that day. Eight times the quarterback barked his number and eight times Rowson obliged with touchdowns. Mined in with his scoring were sprints of 87, 72, 59, 57, and 38 yards.

His work netted a 51-0 conquest over a highly ballyhooed Louisiana team. But strangely, Rowson did not receive a varsity letter that season. Injuries dogged him and he played but little.

Coach Morrison and his Mustangs definitely arrived in 1923. They tackled up 207 points against the enemy's 9 in an undefeated season that saw them crowned champions of the Southwest conference for the first time.

Remember Jerry Mann? The "Immortal Ten" finished their careers in 1924 by landing in second place in the conference and dropping only two games in the three seasons they handed together.

Out of that stalwart band came Russell (Dutch) McIntosh, a light-weight guard, to align with Morrison as line coach in 1925. That coaching combination has held fast for 10 years and ever now McIntosh tutors the Vanderbilt line.

Relieved of the nucleus of his team, Morrison started rebuilding. He molded a backfield around Jerry Mann, diminutive passing specialist, and Chris Cortemeglia, bulky full-back. The Mustangs picked up another conference title in 1926 by winning eight games and tying a ninth.

Panhandle Will Play In Pampa Friday Evening

The Panhandle Panthers are expected to be much better when they play here Friday night than tonight when the Harvesters will clash with Coach Pat Gerald's boys on the floor of the Panhandle gym.

It was announced before the season started that Friday night's game would be played in Pampa. This morning, Coach Mitchell said that it would be played here.

The Panthers began practicing yesterday. They lost a bi-district football game last Saturday at Hereford. Coach Gerald has most of the veterans on last spring's team back this season. Panhandle was rated about equal with Pampa and Allison at the district tourney here.

They started on their own 15-yard stripe and passed and dashed to the Army 13-yard line before the final gun stopped them.

Eastern fans thought them a wonder team, but the Methodists came back home and could finish no better than fifth in the tough Southwest conference. That opened eyes of the eastern critics and the Southwest had been given a place in the football world.

(Tomorrow: The "aerial circus" flies to new heights—finally, the Rose Bowl.)

Fort Collins Is Defeated 6-0 By Small Town Club

It doesn't pay to be cocky in a football game, say members of the Fort Collins, Colo., football team. The Lamkins were doped to be Colorado state champions without a struggle but they failed to get past the bi-district game.

The Lamkins were dropped hard and sudden from the pinnacle by a team from Wray, a small town with a population of 1,700, by a score of 6 to 0. Ironically, it was a 45-yard pass that gave Wray the bi-district title.

Wray, in turn, dropped a 6 to 0 quarter final game to Salda Saturday afternoon. Wray ran up 15 first down to 5 for Salda, and gained 300 yards to 100 for Salda, but lost the game.

Fort Collins is the team that took the Pampa Harvesters to their worst beating of the year.

COMBIE BACK TO SELL FOUR BEST PLAYERS

BOSTON BRAVES WILL BE BOUGHT BY ADAMS

BY PAUL MICKELSON, Associated Press Sports Writer. CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (AP)—Unless every expert is wrong, Connie Mack already has sailed $300,000 away in the bank and picked up three or four new players from the Boston Red Sox in exchange for a quartet of his greatest stars—Jimmy Ffox, Eric McNair, Roger Cramer, and Johnny Marcum.

And, unless Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis and the National League club owners changed their minds overnight, Charles Francis Adams, New England sportsman, will take the Boston Braves back from the league, pour a lot of money into the club and give Bob Quinn, present general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, the job of guiding it back to the land of plenty.

Mack, it was unanimously agreed by baseball writers and rival major league baseball owners and managers, will announce the deal where-by Fox, McNair, Cramer, and Marcum have been sold to the Red Sox for $300,000 and four players—Pitcher John Welch or Pitcher Gordon Rhodes, Outfielder Carl Reynolds and Outfielder Mel Almada.

Part of the deal was expected to be officially revealed today at the formal opening of the annual major league winter meetings, but the rest to follow around the first of the year. Why the probable split-up announcement, no one knew.

The general guess was that Mack didn't care to hand the other American league pennant contenders too much of a shock.

After three weeks of sparring, the New York Giants finally became so aggravated with the St. Louis Cardinals that they announced Pitchers Roy Parmelee and Allyn Skout, Outfielder Phil Weintraub, and Pitcher John Welch or Pitcher Gordon Rhodes for second baseman Burgess Whitehead, a fine fielder but a .288 hitter last season.

The Al Simmons to Detroit deal was given much air, but the White Sox were going to get away from the subject of being. Coach Riney insists he will not include Outfielder Gerald Walker.

23 Mustangs Get Victory Letter

DALLAS, Dec. 10 (AP)—Twenty-three players who helped the Methodist Mustangs to go through the past gridiron season with 12 victories and no losses were honored with letters.

Letters were awarded Robert Wilson, Maco Stewart, Bob Finley and Billy Stamps, all of Corsicana; Buster Baborn, El Dorado, Ark.; J. R. Smith, Jackie Gore, Johnny Sprague, James Russell, J. C. (Ironman) Wetzel and Paschal Scouting, Dallas; Shelley Burt, Cecil Colville and Maurice Orr, Hillsboro; Bill Tipton, Carmona; Bob Turner, Weatherford; Artie Johnson and Harry Shuford, Tyler; Ray Acker, Fort Worth; John Stoffelbeme, Grand Prairie; Charlie Baker, Chireno; Truman Spain, Breckenridge; Bill Sanders, Memphis, Texas, and Manager Claud Hervey, Rice, Texas.

All of the lettermen except Finley and Sprague were ever-coached. Scouting and Sanders will be lost through graduation.

Mike Gibbons' Son Comes East For Fight Fame

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Out of the West today came young Jack Gibbons to show the big town the latest edition of the Northwest's No. 1 fighting family.

Young Jack, a likeable 165-pounder, is the image of his famous pop—old "Phantom Mike"—who was just about the best middleweight in the business 20 years ago. The likeness is amazing, even to the pompadour hair cut.

The youngster, who makes his eastern bow against Billy Ketchell of Philadelphia in a preliminary on the Joe Louis-Pauline Uzcudun bout Friday night, stepped through a tuneup in Prof. Charles Desserick's midtown gymnasium before a critical audience of fight managers, most of whom knew old Mike.

"Just like his dad," murmured "Dumb Dan" Morgan, who has managed and trained plenty of good ones in his day.

"I never saw the son of a fighter look as good as this lad. He seems to have inherited his father's cunning and boxing ability. Most fighters' sons inherit little from their dads except big appetites."

Young Jack, who has been burning up the west coast, comes east with a formidable record. The books show he was won 94 of his 65 professional fights, 24 of them by knockouts. He ran up 59 consecutive victories.

TCU Boys Parade In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10 (AP)—The rooting-touting sons of Texas Christian university left downtown Los Angeles ringing with music when they continued their homeward journey to Fort Worth. They came here from a 10-6 football victory over Santa Clara at San Francisco Saturday.

The T. C. U. band, with Amos G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher, as assistant conductor, serenaded Broadway. Marching tunes were coupled with predictions that Southern Methodist would uphold the Southwest conference's prestige by defeating Stanford New Year's day in the Rose Bowl.

ONE AUTO, THREE DRIVERS GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Dec. 10 (AP)—John Dalley, 35, and Arthur Martin, 38, couldn't agree who was driving when their automobile collided with another. So Patrolman Richard Doot held them both for driving while intoxicated.

Mrs. Dalley, riding in the car, complicated the case when it came up for hearing. She backed the men away from the bench and insisted both were wrong—that she was the driver.

Justice Harry Creswell decided to ponder the situation.

Mahoney And Brundage Vow To Give No Quarter In War

Olympic Game Fight Continues as AAU Convention Ends

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Battle lines were drawn definitely today between backers of American participation in the Olympic games in Germany, setting out to raise funds, and opponents who vowed they would give no quarter.

Avery Brundage, chairman of the American Olympic committee and new head of the Amateur Athletic Union, called the task of raising expenses of the American athletes a formidable one. Upward of $300,000 is needed to send between 400 and 500 stars to Berlin.

Jeremiah T. Mahoney, who resigned as A. A. U. chairman, was pledged to continue the fight against participation which his forces lost in the A. A. U. convention.

Brundage called it an "issue between principles and dollars." He said he had heard a million dollar "war chest" had been gathered by opponents.

Athletes and committees designated to make arrangements went ahead with setting sailing dates and formulating new ways of raising money.

Brundage insisted that despite the opposition's efforts to tie the knots in the purse strings of potential benefactors, the funds would be obtained somehow.

"In the last analysis, I am not worried about finances," he said before returning to Chicago last night.

"We will be glad to have the opposition to the Olympics stay out in the open, where the patriotic people of the country can judge for themselves whether they want to keep sport separated from politics as well as racial or religious issues."

"We do not uphold Nazi Germany. We do uphold the Olympics. I am convinced the mass of people will share my view that the games belong to the athletes.

"I believe they will support the Olympics, on that basis, and that as a matter of fact anything lost by the tactics of obstructionists will be offset by the support of people wanting fair play in sport."

Tempers flared between Mahoney and Brundage yesterday. Mahoney, taking cognizance of Brundage's reference to the "war chest" said: "I heard about the fund, too, but Brundage is quoting nothing but hearsay. I think if there were a million dollars around he is just the type of fellow who would be right after it."

"If he thinks I influenced delegates or says I distributed propaganda (he is a liar.) What the Jews of America did is one thing. I know nothing about it." Brundage had charged that propaganda had been spread against American participation. He exhibited a brief case full of circulars, pamphlets and posters emphasizing charges of racial and religious discrimination in Germany.

WRESTLING WILL BE RESUMED IN CITY, ASSERTS GARRISON

There was a flurry of excitement in wrestling circles yesterday when it was learned that car-twisting would be resumed in Pampa immediately after the New Year. Promoter G. B. Garrison, father of the fighting Irishman, Pat Garrison, refused to make a definite announcement, however.

"I have nothing to say at the present time," said Mr. Garrison, "but I hope to be ready to make a formal announcement soon. The last time I announced wrestling, the deal fell through. This time signatures will be on the dotted line before the information is released."

It was rumored that Frank Keehn would come to the rescue of wrestling in Pampa, but the rabid fan would say nothing excepting that he might be able to get with Mr. Garrison about a location.

Some of the best drawing grapplers in the nation are in this section of the country for the winter, and outstanding matches can be secured for Pampa, such as Denny Watkins, Billy Hallas, Walter Stratton, Albert Schae, Chesley Tiltman, Al Westcott, Henry Wilson, Joe Baer, and a host of other top-notchers are available. Others will be arriving after the new year in an effort to get at their enemies now here.

Panhandle grappling is considered the toughest in the nation and no car-twister who can "take it" in the Panhandle is considered ready for all comers.

Part of the proceeds will be contributed to the Will Rogers memorial.

The All-Stars got away to a slow start and their initial miscues brought loud cheers from the crowd. But the old timers warmed to their task, after receiving reinforcements from the 1934 and 1935 football teams of the University of Texas, and more than held their own.

The All-Star lineup featured such stars as "ack" Gheyny, Tim Moynihan and Marty Karow, Texas coaches. Bohn Hilliard, one of the Southwest's greatest, Jack Gray, Charley Coates, Johnny O'Brien and a host of others.

Hilliard was in rare form making runs of 30 and 35 yards in the old hip swinging style that drove terror into Southwestern conference opposition for three years. Chevigny and Karow contributed some nice broken field running and Moynihan gave a real exhibition of a roving center.

The All-Stars scored twice in the second period and once in the third. Southwestern never seriously threatened.

Governor Allred kicked off at the start of the game. He got off a low

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BREITZ. NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Minnesota fans are afraid their crack coaching combination of Bernie Bierman, Red Dawson, George Hauser, and Bert Batson will be broken up. The dope is that Dawson may be called back to his old school, Tulane, to give Ted Cox a lift. If that's so, here's a guess Glenn Gould, rated by the press as the best quarter-back he ever coached (besides Dawson), will take over the Gopher backfield. . . . Bierman says it is just like having a playing coach with Seidel in there.

While Mike Jacobs goes into the Garden with Louis and Paulino, Jimmy Johnston will be promoting a charity show for a New York church. . . . Two of the greatest pass tossers in the country—Sam Baugh of Texas Christian and Abe Mickel of Louisiana State—will do their stuff in the Sugar Bowl game here.

Bucky Harris and Sam Rice have been hunting with Buck Newsum in South Carolina. . . . Louis Sorest, manager of Primo Carnera, hired a half dozen Southerners to parade in front of Max Schmeling's hotel with banner urging a boycott of Schmeling. . . . Louis says Max ran out of a match with Primo. . . . Just why he should is beyond us.

If the Sleser group gets control of the Browns, a job will be offered Bob Conner, former boss of the St. Paul club. . . . Florida is looking for a new head coach. . . . and doesn't have to be an alumnus. . . . Ace Hudkins, the former welter-weight star, now operates a stable of racers.

ELECTION CALLED AUSTIN, Dec. 10 (AP)—Governor Allred today called a special election for January 11 in Fannin county to fill a vacancy in the house of representatives caused by the death of Rep. W. W. Fitzwater of Bonham.

MONEY TALKS

—BUT YOU MUST TELL IT WHAT TO SAY!

Let's suppose that the dollars you spend were suddenly given minds of their own—and the job of deciding what to buy for you

They'd have to learn their way around in a hurry. And one of the first things they'd do would be to study the newspapers—every advertisement that discusses something you'd be needing, or want. They'd get the latest facts on automatic refrigerators and sports shoes and tea and motor oil and all the rest. They'd make a business of knowing what, where and when to buy.

Are you less careful and less constant in your advertising than you should be? Do you have to depend on other people for facts that are clearly stated in the advertising pages of this newspaper?

Read advertising thoughtfully, consider all the points you find there on their merits. Find out in advance exactly what things will best serve your needs—and why. After all, that's the only way to get your money's worth, every time.

The real reason for advertising is not to help some one sell something, but to help you buy what you want.

Totaled reports for the past year were presented for First Methodist Missionary society yesterday, when a covered dish luncheon at the church marked the end of activities for 1935. Fifty members were present.

Welfare work locally and in the state has played a large part in the year's program. Almost $900 was raised and expended, largely on the local needs of the church including repairs and furnishings for the parsonage.

Contribution of $105 was made to charity, in addition to five boxes of clothing valued at about $75 which were sent to Texas institutions supported by the society, two boxes of clothing distributed locally, 47 pairs of shoes and 65 garments given to local needy.

Other reports showed 669 trays of food sent to the sick, 243 bouquets given, 1,181 magazines distributed, 625 telephone calls made in the interest of the church, and 3,356 visits to the sick and strangers.

In their study program, members completed three books on home and foreign missions.

A Christmas gift was presented to Mrs. John Hessey in appreciation for her services as president of the past year. A gift was also made to the Rev. C. E. Lancaster of First Baptist church and Mrs. Lancaster, as an expression of thanks for their cooperation.

Carey Thomas, president emerita of Bryn Mawr college.

Revival to End On Wednesday at Central Church

Services today and tomorrow will end a 10-day revival at Central Church of Christ, where Evangelist C. E. McGaughey is preaching. Crowds have grown through the meeting, and the largest attendance of the series is expected for the closing hours.

The minister, Paul A. Thompson, and members of the church invite those who have not heard Mr. McGaughey to attend the final meetings. Services are conducted at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. daily.

Last evening the sermon subject was Trifles. "There are some things, such as persecution and temptation, that cannot be trifled with or made light of," said the speaker, "and other things—God's word, the New Testament church, others, and self—that should not be trifled with."

Yesterday morning Mr. McGaughey discussed Neglected Commands, saying that the neglect of minor commands may become a great offense.

ANTHONY EDEN TO RESIGN IS BRITISH RUMOR

REPORT BALDWIN HAS INSPIRED REVOLT IN OFFICIALDOM

LONDON, Dec. 10. (AP)—Persistent reports circulated today that some sections of British officialdom and parliament were in revolt over the way Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's government was handling Italo-Ethiopian peace negotiations.

As the cabinet met in an emergency session again to discuss the peace proposals, the strictest official silence was maintained on overnight developments, which included rumors, later denied, that Anthony Eden, British minister for League of Nations affairs, intended to resign.

Members of parliament stated openly that the house of commons was in a ferment of discontent over the government's action in the peace move, and said the government may be questioned about the negotiations in a debate on the floor of the house.

Parliament was reported to be displeased at Baldwin's refusal to announce the terms of the Anglo-French "united front" peace plan, or to deny a published report that the agreement goes much farther than terms to which Britain had previously committed itself.

The government's critics were understood to feel that Britain allowed its position to be weakened, making Eden's position intolerable.

Rumors of Eden's resignation were revived again today. Some members of parliament said the government was seriously alarmed at the situation in Egypt and Africa and was therefore pressing for quick termination of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

It was learned authoritatively that peace terms were still under consideration by the cabinet, and no explanation was offered for an apparently erroneous announcement in official quarters that consideration had been concluded and the terms approved.

The cabinet discussed the situation in meeting of one hour and ten minutes.

Police Capture Wounded Bandits

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 10. (AP)—Donald Joseph and Paul Pierce, the two "hair tonic" bandits sought for questioning in the murder of an Anderson, Ind., policeman Nov. 24 and who shot their way out of a police trap here Saturday, were captured today by Indiana state police.

The pair, both wounded through the body, were found asleep in a farmhouse near Milroy, 50 miles southeast of Indianapolis, and surrendered without a fight.

They were brought to state police headquarters in the capitol building and given emergency treatment by Dr. Charles R. Bird.

Pierce was shot through the body, just above the heart and Joseph through the side.

They were wounded Saturday in a gun battle in Indianapolis with City Detectives Orville Quinette and Russell Chatham when the two detectives walked in on them in an uptown apartment. Quinette was seriously wounded and is in City hospital. Chatham was shot in the foot.

Ohio State Will Play TCU in '37

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 10. (AP)—Ohio state's Buckeyes, co-champions of the Big Ten with Minnesota, bit off some big chunks of trouble today in booking opponents for the 1936 and 1937 football seasons.

Not content with what Athletic Director L. W. St. John called the toughest schedules the Bucks have ever played, they booked these non-conference teams:

1936—New York University, Pittsburgh, Notre Dame.

1937—Texas Christian, Southern California.

The signing of New York University and Texas Christian completes the schedules for the next two seasons. In 1936 the Bucks will meet Northwestern, Indiana, Chicago, Illinois and Michigan in Western conference play.

The following year six conference foes are on the slate, Purdue, Northwestern, Chicago, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan.

Don Metz was to leave Pampa-Jarvis hospital today after recovering from a severe attack of influenza.

The GOLDEN FEATHER by Robert Bruce

Chapter XXVIII

The clatter of gunfire in the street jarred sharply on the ears of the people inside the bank. To the victims, standing helplessly by the wall with upraised hands, it brought a sudden stab of hope; to the gunmen it sounded the imperative need for hurry.

The red-haired man prodded the back of the trembling clerk with his automatic. "Come on, dopey!" he snarled. "Get goin' or I'll plug you. Hurry!"

They had finished with the safe and the cage in which Mr. Hobart lay in a grotesque sprawl on the floor; now they were in the other cage, and the clerk was taking bills from the cash drawer—there weren't many, but this red-haired man believed in being thorough—and stuffed them into the flour sack. At last it was finished. The clerk turned to face the bandit. The bandit coolly took the sack with one hand, swung the gun against the clerk's left temple with a force that knocked him senseless, and ran out into the lobby.

"Come on, Winky," he yelled. "We got to step on it."

He opened the door and came out on the steps just as the village policeman crossed the street 50 yards away. The policeman was running—and puffing heavily, for he was stout, middle-aged chap, unused to heavy exercise—and he was raising his revolver.

On the steps stood the sandy-haired chap they called Oklahoma. He was swaying slightly, and his face was pale beneath his tan, and blood had trickled down his body.

The government's critics were understood to feel that Britain allowed its position to be weakened, making Eden's position intolerable.

Rumors of Eden's resignation were revived again today. Some members of parliament said the government was seriously alarmed at the situation in Egypt and Africa and was therefore pressing for quick termination of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

It was learned authoritatively that peace terms were still under consideration by the cabinet, and no explanation was offered for an apparently erroneous announcement in official quarters that consideration had been concluded and the terms approved.

The cabinet discussed the situation in meeting of one hour and ten minutes.

The doctor came, presently, to attend to Mr. Hobart, and Mr. Dunn did the third gunman backed out of the bank, shouting through the door some parting threat to the people inside, who stood there with their hands up, pasty-faced, seemingly paralyzed. Together the three gunmen stood there on the steps for a few seconds, looking watchfully up and down the street. Then they ran down the steps and crammed themselves into the car. Oklahoma stumbled, and the red-haired man pushed him in. The door slammed and the car shot away from the curb like a stone out of a boy's slingshot.

Buddy McGinnis had just raised his head over the fourth-floor window sill. He rested his gun on the still again and fired his remaining shots at the car; but although this was a target altogether too big to miss the bullets seemed to have no effect. At any rate, the big car sped down the street, its motor roaring to a high crescendo, took a corner on two wheels, and disappeared.

In the car the wounded man slumped back against the cushions, his lips bloodless. The red-haired man bent over him and pulled back his coat.

"Got you, eh?" he said. The wounded man nodded.

"Bad?" "Don't think so," came the reply, the words faint and labored. "I can use my arms . . . and I'm not spittin' any blood. . . . Only I'm getting weak. . . ."

Cursing softly, the other man wadded two handkerchiefs together to make a compress and ripped the shirt open to get to the wound.

In the low there was the kind of confusion that prevails when you withdraw a destructive stick from one of the busier ant hills.

The people who had been on the street during the holdup had, naturally enough, covered in doorways, dodged behind parked cars or ducked off down alleys when the shooting began. Now they all came streaming toward the bank—to stop, most of them, in a horror-struck circle about the fallen policeman, who still lay quite motionless. Someone had turned him over and unbuttoned his collar at the throat; someone else was bending over him; others were crowding near, looking on and feeling slightly sick at the stomach, while there arose a steady buzz of confused and anxious questions from all sides: "Is he dead?" "Did somebody go for a doctor?" "Where'd they go?" "What happened, anyhow?"

Inside the bank there was less confusion, chiefly because there were fewer people there. Mr. Dunn led the trembling stenographer to the door and instructed her to tell everybody to stay outside. Then, with the farmer—who was finding to his secret shame, that his chief emotion was one of relief at the fact that the robbers had not bothered to take his own money away from him—he went back behind the grille to see about Mr. Hobart.

Mr. Hobart still lay where he had fallen. His head was in a pool of blood, and it had got in his sparse gray hair and made his look rather dreadful; but Mr. Dunn knelt beside him and discovered, with joy in the corner of the room and bathed Mr. Hobart's forehead with clumsy tenderness.

The young clerk who had been slipped into unconsciousness came to and sat up groggily, his head wobbling a little. He raised one hand and touched his aching temple gingerly, said "Oooohh" in a low, shaky oes, and tried to remember just what had happened. By the time the first of the half dozen people who had managed to jam their way past the quaking stenographer at the door came into the bank, he was trying to get to his feet. Someone came back of the grille and helped him, and he found himself the focal point for a dozen eager questions, which ranged all the way from "How do you feel?" to "What happened?"

The doctor came, presently, to attend to Mr. Hobart, and Mr. Dunn did the third gunman backed out of the bank, shouting through the door some parting threat to the people inside, who stood there with their hands up, pasty-faced, seemingly paralyzed. Together the three gunmen stood there on the steps for a few seconds, looking watchfully up and down the street. Then they ran down the steps and crammed themselves into the car. HIGH COURT IS SPLIT ON AAA EXPERTS THINK

OPINIONS BASED UPON QUESTIONS ASKED BY JUSTICES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—With arguments on the constitutionality of AAA still underway before the supreme court, many observers were already guessing today that the opinion would be divided.

They based their forecasts upon the somewhat slim ground that questions asked by the justices indicate another split between the "conservative" and "liberal" wings of the bench.

They found little evidence, however, indicating which way the majority of the court would go. The two men who have held the balance of power in past splits of this kind—Justices Hughes and Roberts—had kept silent.

They were the subject of chief attention today as arguments continued between George Wharton Pepper, former republican senator from Pennsylvania as counsel for the Hoosac Mills corporation, and Stanley Reed, solicitor general.

Pointed and sometimes almost argumentative questions about the delegation of power under the new deal crop control program came from the conservative justices yesterday when Reed opened the case.

On the other hand, it seemed to at least some spectators that questions asked of Reed by Justices Brandeis and Stone, usually classed as liberals, had been distinctly friendly.

Concluding arguments were being made today, with the court expected to rule some time in January. It could throw out the entire AAA, outlaw the taxes levied on processors to pay benefits to farmers for controlling production, or reach several other possible decisions.

him before he could move." The sheriff bit the end off a cigar, spat it out in the general direction of a waste basket, and began to smoke.

"No, we're licked in these small towns—licked before we start," he said. "The only wonder is that they don't rob more of these banks. There's nothing much to stop 'em, as far as I can see."

He brooded over this for a moment. Then he looked up suddenly. "Listen," he said. "I tell you what: put in a call for the Department of Justice men in Dover. You're a Federal Reserve bank, aren't you? Well, robbery of a Federal Reserve bank is a federal offense. Get the government men busy on it."

Mr. Dunn reached for a telephone. "I wish I'd thought of that sooner," he said. "The head of the Dover office is a Maplehurst man—Larry Glenn. I've known him since he was a baby."

Larry had just got back from lunch when the call came in. It had been quiet day, and the sunlight on the pavement was beguiling; so much so that it made him think of the Maplehurst park, and he was just reviewing the current state of affairs in his mind, to see whether he would be justified in "sneaking off to the ball game," when his telephone bell tinkled.

"Maplehurst is calling. Will you hold the wire?" said the operator. He waited; then came Mr. Dunn's voice, to tell him about the robbery. "Thoughts of the ball game fled from Larry's brain—not to re-enter it until many an eventful day had passed. He drew a scratch pad over to him and made notes—as, with swift questions—he got from Mr. Dunn the chief features of the case. As last he hung up, pushed his chair back, and strode to the next door, to meet Tony LaRocco and Al Peters looked up expectantly.

"Get your hats," said Larry. "We're taking a run down to Maplehurst. Looks like Red Jackson has blown himself to another bank robbery."

Cato Freed of Drug Charges

LUBBOCK, Dec. 10. (AP)—Sheriff W. P. Cato of Post was free today of charges of conspiracy to violate the Harrison anti-narcotic act filed soon after Spencer Stafford, narcotic agent, was shot to death at Post.

On request of District Attorney Clyde O. Eastus, the indictment charging Cato and four others was dismissed. Also named in the indictment were Dr. L. W. Kitchen, Dr. V. A. Hartman, Lena Roberts and Ed Frasier.

Hartman and Kitchen previously had pleaded guilty to charges of illegal sale of narcotics.

Cato was acquitted of charges of slaying Stafford when tried in federal court here last spring.

Dog Dies; 14-Year-Old Boy Kills Self

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Dec. 10 (AP)—Homer Lee, 14, was found shot to death in his room, a shotgun at his side.

Nearby lay the body of his pet, a black and white bulldog which had died of old age.

A note the lad left said: "My best pal will never come back. Neither will I. The world can go on without us."

Georgia Mae Hall, daughter of Mrs. Alvie Hall, is undergoing medical treatment at Pampa-Jarratt hospital.

'Happy' Chandler Is Inaugurated Kentucky Chief

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 10 (AP)—Albert Benjamin "Happy" Chandler, 37, came to Frankfort today to be inaugurated at noon as the 46th governor of the commonwealth of Kentucky.

A throng of Kentuckians who multiplied the population of this little city of 10,000 by five came here in special trains, by automobiles and farm wagons to witness the inauguration.

Postmaster General James A. Farley, Governor Paul V. McNutt of Indiana, Governor Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia, and the retiring governor of Kentucky, Ruby Laffoon, were among the prominent members of the democratic party gathered to extend best wishes to the new governor.

Only speakers on the program, however, were Governor Laffoon, who today completed his four year term, and Governor-elect Chandler, who is at the threshold of a similar term.

During his last day in office Gov. Laffoon yesterday commissioned 52 Kentucky colonels, and an admiral. There are now some 7,000 Kentucky colonels scattered over the country, 5,000 of whom got their commissions from Laffoon.

ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN OPENED BY GULF INSURANCE COMPANY

DALLAS, Dec. 10.—Efforts to convince Texans of the soundness of insurance written by old-line Texas companies through the medium of a state-wide advertising campaign are being met with hearty response from all parts of the State, it is announced by T. R. Mansfield, vice president of the Gulf Insurance company, a Texas institution.

Many Texans who gave preference to Texas products have hesitated in the past to buy Texas property insurance simply because they did not fully appreciate its reliability and value," Mr. Mansfield said. "We are attempting to clear up this misunderstanding through a series of newspaper advertisements. Public reaction has been most enthusiastic, with letters and messages assuring us that a real good job is being accomplished.

"This," continued Mr. Mansfield, "is a healthful trend. Those of us affiliated with Texas institutions are asking no preference merely because the companies we represent are domiciled in Texas. We want our clients to assure themselves first that these Texas companies are as good as the best; that they are financially solvent and able to meet every claim made on them; and furthermore, that the services from these Texas companies located close at hand is better than can be obtained elsewhere.

The Gulf Insurance company is represented in Pampa by the Panhandle Insurance agency.

Utility Groups Offer to Reduce Number of Suits

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—Organized utility holding companies today offered to cooperate with the government in reducing the multiplicity of suits under the holding company act.

Philip H. Gadsden, chairman of the committee of public utility executives said in a statement:

"If the attorney general and the SEC are anxious to avoid the prosecution of the multiplicity of suits based upon the public utility act of 1935, they can rely on the full cooperation of the utilities."

The offer was the first break in what has been separate efforts of the government and the utilities in the holding company fight.

"We recognize that it is important," Gadsden said, "not only to the electric light, power and gas industry, but in the interest of general business recovery that the constitutionality of the act be passed upon as soon as possible by the supreme court of the United States."

"The utilities are anxious to avoid lengthy and burdensome litigation based upon a multitude of legal actions.

"It should not be difficult to select suits brought by three or four principal companies and push them forward as rapidly as possible. The rights of litigants in other cases should be protected in the meantime by temporary injunctions granted without opposition. That is what the utility industry is willing, and in its own interest and in the interest of the country at large, anxious to do."

E. D. Ross of LaFors was dismissed from Pampa-Jarratt hospital yesterday afternoon.

Flood Damage at Houston Is Fixed At Two Millions

HOUSTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—Relief facilities were organized today as the receding waters of Buffalo bayou left almost a score of persons missing, hundreds homeless and damages estimated at more than $2,000,000 in Houston and vicinity.

National guardsmen patrolled the flood stricken area to prevent vandalism, and police and firemen searched wreckage for bodies.

Joe Wilson said he felt sure his son, Ollie Wilson, 15, drowned. Playmates said they saw the boy go under the water as he played at the edge of the flooded section. Several other persons were reported drowned, but so far no bodies have been recovered.

While awaiting disaster relief experts from the midwestern headquarters of the Red Cross at St. Louis, the local unit of the Red Cross cared for several hundred refugees.

The flood was considered one of the worst in the city's history, the swollen waters of the bayou, inundating a large territory.

FAVORITE SPORT OF GOVERNOR IS RIDING HORSE NEAR AUSTIN

AUSTIN, Dec. 10 (AP)—Riding horses is quite a sport among capital residents. This country hereabouts, wild and hilly, is conducive to outdoor activities and riding paths, as well as plain old country roads, are popular with riders.

Gov. Alfred Long has been a riding enthusiast. Mrs. Alfred more recently took it up and their little son, "Jim Boy," is following fast in his parents' footsteps.

"That boy of mine is getting to be a real rider," the governor opined the other day. "He has a little paint pony now about half way in size between a shetland and big pony. "It's the best exercise in the world. I learned to ride as a kid and never have lost the liking for it."

University of Texas co-ed and many workers in the capital take to their horses for exercise and recreation after classes and working hours.

Even the capital press correspondents, a notoriously conservative lot, at times in the past have caught the fever and mounted (borrowed) nags.

The story is told that one correspondent was invited by Captain Bill Sterling the adjutant general, to visit his ranch and ride the captain's favorite horse.

"Don't you do it," warned another, who had accepted such an invitation to his sorrow. "That horse will throw you a mile."

It was the captain's idea of a joke.

On another occasion, the press corps had a week-end party at a ranch near Yorktown. After some

Bodies of Sixteen Miners Recovered

COALHURST, Alta., Dec. 10. (AP)—The bodies of 16 men, victims of the first major tragedy in the half-century of coal-mining in the Alberta foothills, were brought to the surface today and the work of identification started.

J. Andrews, in charge of mine rescue work for the province, simultaneously began an investigation of yesterday's explosion in the Lethbridge Collieries Limited mine.

In addition to killing 16 miners, caught just as they were going on duty with the night shift, the blast sent three others to the hospital. Fourteen escaped.

BROTHERS CONFESS

DETROIT, Dec. 10. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Walter Alesbach said today two brothers, 6 and 7 years old, have confessed they beat six-year-old Ardena Wilson yesterday, tore off her clothing and left her unconscious in a water-filled ditch in suburban Hazel Park. The girl will recover, a physician said.

HARVESTERS MEET PANTHERS AT PANHANDLE TONIGHT AND HAVE RETURN MATCH FRIDAY

Battle for Positions Rages in Early Contests

Tonight the Harvesters travel to Panhandle to meet the Panthers. The Panthers have not been long at work, but they have some good material. They should put up a real fight against the Harvesters. On Friday night the Panthers will play a return game in the Harvester gymnasium. Game time both nights will be 8 o'clock.

Having played three games already this season the Pampa cagers have shown constant improvement. The local cagers opened their season with a 14-11 win over the Croom team, last Tuesday evening in the local gymnasium.

There is an early season fight for positions already well under way. The Harvesters, having only one starter returning for this season, are greatly in need of new material, and many of the new men have shown up well in practice. Every player on the squad is fighting for his respective position. The most heated battle is at the center position between Strickland and Harvill, both men of much determination but with Strickland having the margin of experience.

For the guard positions, the most likely prospects are Ayers and Sparlin. Ayers was a Harvester substitute last season and he is a real player. Sparlin, although this season, has made up in fight and willingness to learn, and he is showing up nicely.

Keyser is another guard who is making a very nice showing, and with a little more work he might be sure of a starter's position. Jones, who was a Harvester last season, is also doing some nice work at guard, although he is just recovering from a sprained ankle. Another guard who is doing good work is Nix.

In the running for the forward position is Stokes Green, a regular from last year's team. Another forward is Harold Nickelson, who will make someone hustle for a position when he gets a little more experience under fire in fast play.

Baker, who saw work on the Gorilla squad last season is another promising forward, and he is going to do some nice work if former showings mean anything. Two other Gorillas from the last season's squad who are showing up well are Bob Bailey and Kelly Kitchens. Another forward is Ivan Nobilit, a man of no former experience but one who is a likely prospect.

Last week the Harvesters won two games from Spearman. The first of these games was played on the local court, the Harvesters defeating the Lynx 30-27. The second game was played in the Lynx gym at Spearman Saturday night when the Harvesters won by a tally of 27-19. The last game with the Lynx looked very doubtful when at the end of the third quarter the Lynx were leading by three points. With a somewhat changed line-up the Harvesters soon filled up the gap and forged into a lead which they held the remainder of the game.

Faculty and Student Friends

Pampa students and teachers are fortunate in having an existing relationship between them a closer and more understanding relationship than is frequently the case between faculty and student body.

Much could be said about the pleasantness of the relationship between teachers and students here, but it is more to the point to say that the relationship can be improved if students will devote some thought to the matter. Every student certainly should be interested in this matter, for it is one that vitally affects him.

There is no teacher in the system who is not sincerely interested in the student body—and in each student. There are many things, however, which may give a student reason to think that a particular teacher is not interested in him.

Suppose, for example, that the two pass each other on the street and the teacher does not speak to the student. High-hat? Not likely. Remember that there are nearly 700 students in the high school. You may know the teacher, but he may not know you. If he does know you, there may have been several reasons why he failed to speak. Haven't you ever unintentionally passed up an acquaintance?

Teachers are often forced to break off rather abruptly conversations started by students in hallways and offices; they frequently fail to stop to talk to students who are gathered in groups before and after school hours; they sometimes fail to give satisfactory answers to questions which asked them in inopportune moments; they may not be able at any given moment to devote time to something you suggest.

Posture Week Is Being Sponsored By Gym Classes

"Said the grave, gray goose to her cooling fry, 'Don't walk so queer and jerky. For people along the way might mistake you for a turkey.'"

—Source Unknown.

If a member of a girls physical education class reminds you to stand or sit up straight, try to cooperate instead of considering it an insult. This week is being sponsored as Posture Week by the girls' physical education classes.

The need for stressing the desirability of good posture to local students has long been obvious. All students are being urged to become "posture-minded."

Good posture, the physical education classes have learned, is not a rigid military stand, but more a relaxation, poise, and grace of the body. Standing posture is not all that is included in good posture. Walking and sitting are also included.

The point is being stressed that when it seems one is just too tired to stand up it is the very time he needs to do so. It has been scientifically proved that our bodies are in a better state of relaxation when we assume correct posture.

Girls should be interested in learning that stylists this year are featuring clothes that require the wearer to be erect and graceful.

CAGE SQUAD IN FINALS IN FFA DISTRICT MEET

Deciding Game May Be Played Here Saturday

Local F. F. A. basketball players reached the finals of the district F. F. A. tournament held in Clarendon Saturday. The Pampa club beat Miami 48-24 and then defeated Estaline 28-14 in order to go into the finals. The final game was postponed until a later date.

The Pampa first team, made up of Ed Hassell, James Herring, Wilbur Irving, Albert Webber, and E. Vanderberg, ran up a score of 42 to 2 against Miami in the first half, and the second team finished the game with the Miami students scoring 22 points in the last half.

Estaline was one of the precutney favorites, but the Pampa team eliminated its team with a comfortable margin. Only one defeat was required to eliminate a team.

Efforts are being made to bring the final game to Pampa at a part of the district F. F. A. meeting to be held here next Saturday. No decision has yet been made as to the site of the game.

Boys other than those already named who made the trip were Ed Herring, Ed Poe, Frank Duff, Earl Rice, Farrington Lewis, Hugh Anderson, and Freeman Sullivan. E. W. Hogan and Leroy Johnson accompanied the team.

Pep Squad Will Not Disband Yet

Although there will not be any more football games, the pep squad will not disband until after the Christmas holidays. Owing to the insufficient seating capacity of the gymnasium, the girls are not planning to attend basketball games in a body.

Their time during the remainder of the term will be devoted to singing different types of songs in parts. Christmas carols, Texas songs, and popular songs are being practiced at present.

Party Given Friday Night by N. Sunkel

A group of friends gathered at the home of Naomi Sunkel for entertainment last Friday evening.

Various games were played after which refreshments consisting of apples, cookies, and hot chocolate were served.

Those present were: Elizabeth Barnes, Donna Jo Berry, Lois Irene Foster, Louella Saunders, Marjorie Somerville, Lou Dean Luttrell, Betty Curtis, Ann Beth Barrett, Naomi Sunkel, Junior Barrett, Homer Widener, Richard Kilgore, W. J. Brown, Ralph Hamilton, Howard Buckingham, and Bertie Vaught.

Students Will Give Historical Pageant

Miss Cox and Miss Milam are planning a pageant to be presented in January or February, which will include the work of physical education students as well as that of Spanish and Latin students.

Typical dances of Mexico, Spain, and the two Americas will be featured as well as dramatizations of scenes in the early history of America. Costumes will aid the portrayal of these scenes.

Snapshot Day Sponsored by Annual Staff

Students are being urged by the annual staff to bring their kodaks to school tomorrow. If the weather is favorable, Wednesday will be declared snapshot day in order that the staff may secure a sufficient supply of snapshots to enable them to prepare a full page of snapshots before the Christmas holidays.

The yearbook staff hopes to make this section of the book so truly representative of the student body that there will be included at least one picture of every student in the high school. In most annuals, this section includes pictures of only a few students who band together to secure pictures for the publication. It is the aim of the local staff, members say, to make the Harvester exceptional in this respect.

PHS MATHEMATICS TEACHERS ARE ALL GRADUATES OF TEXAS AND OKLAHOMA INSTITUTIONS

Staff of Five Makes Up Senior High Department

Five well-qualified teachers make up the mathematics department in the senior high school. These teachers are B. G. Gordon, Mrs. E. L. Norman, B. R. Nuckols, W. N. Anderson, and Odus Mitchell.

Several of these teachers were associated together during their college years. Mr. Gordon and Mr. Nuckols both attended Southwestern State Teachers college, at Weatherford, Okla., and Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Anderson were students at the same time in West Texas State Teachers college.

B. G. Gordon, head of the department for the past four years, received his B. S. degree in 1926 from Southwestern. He engaged in athletics here, making a record in track and playing football.

Mr. Gordon has had ten years of experience in the teaching profession. He began his teaching career in a one-room country school in Caddo county, Oklahoma, in 1921. He served as superintendent of schools at Norge, Okla., and as high school principal at Port Cobb, Okla., where he taught in the high school.

Besides his regular duties as head of the department and as teacher of plane geometry and commercial and advanced arithmetic, Mr. Gordon coaches the boys' tennis teams.

NUCKOLS TAUGHT IN ALMA MATER.

B. R. Nuckols had wide experience in the teaching field before coming to Pampa in September, 1934. He received his B. S. degree from Southwestern, and spent one year in studying engineering at Oklahoma A. & M.

Mr. Nuckols has taught in the public schools of Dublin, Texas, and Sayre, Okla., and he taught English two summers in Southwestern. He was superintendent of schools at Cheyenne, Okla., and was also teacher of mathematics there.

Mr. Nuckols owns a wholesale and retail gas and oil station near Amarillo.

Velda Richards described the various sections of the annual, and as she discussed each one, a student representing that section walked across the stage.

The sections and organizations represented were: senior, junior, sophomore, athletic, classes, football, basketball, volley ball, track, tumbling, tennis, and golf teams, pep squad, band, National Honor Society, orchestra, Little Harvester staff, Hi-Y club, Interscholastic League, contests, Latin and Spanish clubs, play casts, commercial teams, F. F. A. snapshot section, faculty, and the favorites section.

The annual sale which followed the program resulted in orders for more than 100 copies of the yearbook.

Prior to the program a group of students from Junior high school, under the direction of Miss Helen Martin, gave a skit from the opera, "The Lass of Limerick Town."

REPORT SHOWS ATTENDANCE IN SCHOOLS GOOD

Senior High Average Is 96.2 Per cent; Frosh Lead

Average attendance of high school students during the second six weeks was very satisfactory, it was reported yesterday.

With 688 students enrolled in the senior high school the percentage of attendance was 96.2. Probably because of their small number, the freshmen had the highest average. With 70 students enrolled, they had an attendance percentage of 98.

Seniors were second best with 183 students enrolled and a percentage of 96.5. The juniors and sophomores tied the juniors with an enrollment of 180 students and the sophomores with an enrollment of 255. Both classes had an attendance percentage of 95.8.

Tardies for the second six weeks of school totaled 227. The freshmen had 17 of these tardies, the sophomores 102, the juniors 50, and the seniors 58. There have been more tardies this six weeks than was necessary, and all students are urged to be on time daily and to help bring the total of tardies down for the next six weeks.

The average attendance for the entire system was 95 per cent.

Band Will Present Assembly Program

The high school band will give the program at the assembly hour tomorrow. Ernest Cabe, chairman of the program committee announced yesterday.

Numbers which will be played include "E. Pluribus Unum," "On the Square," "Lull's Back in Town," "Hermit of Kildare," Victor Herbert's favorites, and "Children's March."

Tests given to representative groups of high school students have brought to light some distasteful facts about students' knowledge of what is happening in the world about them—in Pampa as well as in Washington, London, or other more remote parts of the world.

While it is not surprising that students usually share the ignorance of many of their elders about the significant events and personalities in the day's news, it is regrettable either group should fail to be deeply interested in such matters, and it is doubly regrettable in the case of students who are benefiting from better means of communication and better educational advantages than the older generations had.

In many cases, of course, students who show little interest in the day's news will later become so interested that newspaper reading will be a regular daily procedure with them.

It is highly desirable, however, that students not wait for adult experience to interest them in current events. Today's news is tomorrow's history. Movements afoot today, both good and bad, will do much to determine the sort of world students will live in as adults.

It is fine to have a clear knowledge of history and of various other subjects taught in high school, but that knowledge cannot be complete nor can it be thoroughly applicable unless the individual keeps abreast

Senior Section Ready To Be Sent to Engravers

After a hot and very trying campaign, Pampa high school at last has sold enough annuals to insure publication of the yearbook. One way in which the annual was assured was through the acceptance of postcards. There are still a large number of these checks unredeemed, and the annual staff is asking the students to take them up at their earliest convenience.

The checks are being held by Mrs. Hol Wagner in room 205, and students will have to go to her to redeem them.

The senior section of the annual is almost ready to go to the engravers.

Schedules for the other class pictures will be announced soon.

The popularity and beauty contests will not be held until after Christmas because it is felt that students will need all the money they can get for the Christmas holidays.

Any student still desiring an annual should see Mrs. Wagner or one of the staff members immediately.

Material Is Given To School Library

Mary Adams and Dewey Palmieri presented to the library last week pamphlets which they had secured while working on their English term themes. Since the seniors each year write on vocational subjects the librarians are glad to receive such gifts.

Magazines have been given to the library by Mrs. W. M. Craven, Mrs. E. B. Hutchinson, Mrs. E. B. Fisher, and others recently.

Jack Allison and Raymond Johnson gave the library "The Science of Life," by H. G. Wells, and Mrs. Hol Wagner gave Roeder's "The Man of the Renaissance."

It is highly desirable, however, that students not wait for adult experience to interest them in current events. Today's news is tomorrow's history. Movements afoot today, both good and bad, will do much to determine the sort of world students will live in as adults.

It is fine to have a clear knowledge of history and of various other subjects taught in high school, but that knowledge cannot be complete nor can it be thoroughly applicable unless the individual keeps abreast of current developments as reported in the day's news.

There are many other points that might be stressed as making newspaper reading important, but it is sufficient to say here that there is an everyday need for knowledge of every day's news.

There is a more immediate reason for newspaper reading which students will soon realize if they read their newspapers regularly for a few weeks. That reason is: The newspaper is interesting, and reading it should be considered a privilege rather than a duty. The world is full of interesting people, and interesting events and personalities are brought to your doorstep by the newsboy. You will find in them entertainment, relaxation, knowledge and understanding.

The usual answer of the high school student when asked why he does not read his newspaper regularly is that he has not the time. The student, however, usually finds time for other forms of entertainment, so it is not likely that he cannot find time to read the paper. As a matter of fact, no great amount of time is required. If one cultivates the habit of reading the daily paper, he soon finds that only a few minutes a day are needed for him to keep up with the news.

Finally, let it be understood that no one has read the newspaper when he has merely glanced at the front page then turned to the sports and comic sections. These sections are all right in their places, but it should be remembered that all the world's not a football game—and is a stage upon which Moon Mullins, Popeye, and Little Orphan Annie play the leading roles.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (AP)—The New York Evening Journal said today that Gov. Harold G. Hoffman, of New Jersey, "has definitely committed himself to a vigorous fight to save" the life of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted slayer of the Lindbergh baby.

"The journal quoted 'highest source' for its statement that the governor has definitely made up his mind about Bruno—that he will seek to snatch him from the shadow of the electric chair even in the teeth of a contrary vote by the board of pardons."

The disclosure, the Journal said, "breathed new life into the political upheavals in New Jersey's history."

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (AP)—Mining issues reacted sharply in today's stock market following further price confusion in world silver centers.

While the list, generally, was unsettled by the sagging metals, a number of specialties moved against the trend. Losses of 1 to around 9 points were recorded by the mines. The close was heavy. Transfers approximated 2,500,000 shares.

an oil embargo against Italy, would be postponed.

The penalty of an oil embargo, urged repeatedly by Great Britain as the mainprinciple of the sanctions movement, has drawn most of the recent vituperative utterances from Rome and accompany declarations that such a move would only prolong the war in East Africa.

Peace efforts at Paris, however, given a flip by the conversations between Premier Pierre Laval and Sir Samuel Hoare, the British foreign secretary, appeared to be stalemated temporarily by modifications the British cabinet was reported to have asked in the settlement program they drew up.

The nature of the British objections was not known. They were reported to have accepted in the main the proposals advanced by Laval and Hoare, based on an exchange of territories between Italy and Ethiopia.

Bayonet Fighting Reported
A delay in consideration of an oil embargo, it was pointed out, would give Mussolini more time to weigh the peace proposals advanced. The French cabinet met today to consider the question of peace in the light of the reported British reservations.

Meantime, at the war front, hard bayonet fighting was reported to Rome by Italy's northern forces. War correspondents advised that the northern front won two engagements last week, scattering Italian encampments at Kalbahie Dec. 2 and at Menagar the next day. The Italians, said the Addis Ababa government, left nine dead and many rifles.

Traitor's Soldiers Desert
The announcement added, "Fifty soldiers from the personal bodyguard of the traitor Haile Selassie Gugga joined the Ethiopian side Dec. 8." Gugga is the Italian-appointed governor of Tigre province who went over to the blackshirts weeks ago incident to the original Italian advance.

From Rome came word that Premier Mussolini persisted in his efforts to take by warfare what other powers were debating whether to concede him by peace negotiations—a strip of Ethiopia. Informed Italian sources said Gen. Graziani had been encouraged by promotion from the rank of corps commander to "army commander."

He had taken no public notice of the Franco-British proposals. At London the naval conference struggled through its multitude of problems for the regulation of the navies and submarines from the navies of world powers, punctuated by reports that Japan and France will oppose abolition of the submarine strenuously. France has its eye on Italian naval construction as it dickers with other powers in London.

On the other hand, Italians at the conference pledged themselves to give serious consideration to the Adam R. Johnson, state relief director, was unable to say immediately how long the funds would carry direct relief. He previously had explained the state had certain reserve funds to continue aid for unemployed.

"This grant is the final allotment to the state," the governor said, "and is intended to meet all obligations now outstanding or to be incurred in the future."

"No further funds will be made available by the federal emergency relief administration and they will be able to recognize no further claims for relief expenditures nor will they be able to meet any overcommitments for relief which may appear in state relief accounts. These are now the responsibility of the state."

The governor transferred the funds to the Texas Relief commission division of the State Board of Control.

communicate which read: "The first meeting of the first committee of the naval conference took place at 10:30 a. m., after a consideration of the 'continuation of procedure' there was a continuation of the general discussion of matters entered into in the plenary session."

"The head of the United Kingdom delegation made a statement to the committee as regards qualitative (size and kind) and quantitative (total tonnage) naval limitation, part IV of the London naval treaty (dealing with submarines and the laws prohibiting the sinking of passenger vessels without assuring the safety of passengers and crew), and the provisions of the Washington and London treaties."

"Statements on these issues also were made by the principal delegates of the United States, Japan, France, and Italy."

"The committee then proceeded to the discussion of quantitative limitation."

The delegates agreed to meet again at 3 p. m. tomorrow and to recess for Christmas from Dec. 21 to Jan. 2.

Strong opposition by Japan and France was expected to make abolition of the submarine impossible, but every indication was that a separate agreement outlawing unrestricted submarine warfare would be one of the first concrete accomplishments of the conference.
