Twinkles

Now we know why we welcome the Christmas season—folks are a bit wiser and kinder when possessed of the Christmas spirit.

Kindness can be taught. Many a child, laughing cruelly at the ragged clothing of an underprivileged pup, doesn't know what it means to be kind until Christmas comes around and kindness is exemplified.

The campaign against popping off of natural gas is growing. Now somebody ought to start one against just popping off.

Men of a Collingsworth county community recently reversed the usual procedure and gave a stork shower for a couple of fathers-to-be. We trust the reversal of the natal customs will go no further.

We surely hope Berger gets a bank. Without malice, we observe that Berger hasn't had a bank robbery in some time.

Musing of the moment: We adults commonly talk of youngsters as being "problem children" and of the younger generation as being "daring and irresponsible." Yet by comparison with children of many other nations, ours are tame and well-behaved. Indeed, foreigners visiting in this country marvel at the way Americans raise flowers and vegetables in unfenced plots. They are flabbergasted when they find Americans leaving their houses unlocked much of the time, even at night. . . . If youngsters of some other countries had free access to money and automobiles, their antics would surprise everybody. . . . We Americans have our faults, but also some very solid virtues.

Brevitorials

WE HAVE come a long way, however, from the straight-laced ideas of the Pilgrims who, as you perhaps have read, at one time, made Christmas observances. The idea that laughter and joy are sinful is not far behind us. But, similarly, we are not far from the idea and practice that empty pleasure is the main goal in life. We still follow the system of making six and criminality synonymous—although repeal of the 18th and Texas prohibition amendments is a step in the other direction.

Our ideas on smoking by women have been far from consistent. Grandmother had her pipe and smoked it to a ripe old age, but the next generation regarded the habit as an indulgence allowed the aged and certainly not one for the younger women to adopt. More recently we have seen smart advertising break down the double standard in smoking.

THE AMERICAN Indian is credited with doing the first recorded smoking and with introducing it to Europe and Africa. The word tobacco has been traced to a Spanish name for a Y-shaped pipe. This queer pipe held no tobacco. The upper prongs were inserted in the nose and the open end was thrust into smoke from burning tobacco leaves. . . . Another manner of smoking is described in a U. of Oklahoma thesis. A small pit served as the pipe bowl while the smoker lay on the ground to inhale through a hole in the mouth holding the tobacco. . . . Much of the ancient smoking, however, was done with weeds, herbs, and help, rather than with tobacco.

The first cigars were brought to this country from Cuba in 1562 by General Israel Putnam, and sold for 25 cents a dozen. . . . Drinking of tobacco water to produce a sort of stupor was used by tribesmen in South America in religious ceremonies, during which the dream-producing drug was supposed to enable the worshippers to communicate with their ancestors. . . . The practice of sucking in infancy, an instinctive process, is believed to have an important effect in habit-formation of smoking. The tobacco habit has been shown to be muscular.

Heard . . .

Mrs. Mary Rugger, 81, mother of Mrs. Louie Behrens, and the Rev. L. Burney Ebell, who refused to divulge his age but which is somewhere between 35 and 40, consoling each other about their birthdays fall on Dec. 24.

From Editor Otis Clingman, former Pampa who is now a resident of Eugene, Ore. Enclosed in his Christmas card was a picture of himself and Rob Roy, another former Pampa resident, each holding a huge salmon while they contentedly smoked their pipe.

Hoffman Has Not Decided to Give Bruno a Reprieve

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 26 (AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman's press representative announced today the governor had authorized him to say "at the present time" he did not contemplate a reprieve for Bruno Richard Hauptmann should the court of pardons refuse clemency.

The announcement was made as a reply to published reports that the governor would grant Hauptmann a 30-day stay of execution if the pardons court fails to act.

William Conkling, the press representative, said Governor Hoffman would not be at his state house office today, but had authorized him to say "at the present time" he has no such plan in mind.

Previously, the governor had said any report of a contemplated reprieve was "unauthorized."

A last minute reprieve would not be unusual. One was granted John Favorito, the last man to go to the chair at state prison, and another was recently granted a negro, E. J. Johnson, whose new death sentence has been fixed for next week.

The governor has power to grant reprieves any time within 90 days after Dec. 13—the date Hauptmann was re-sentenced to die.

Carruth Will Be Farm Agent Of Hutchinson

Clyde Carruth, Gray county wheat farmer, will become county agricultural agent of Hutchinson county on January 1, it was announced today by the extension service.

Mr. Carruth has been assistant Gray county agent for about 1 1/2 years. He likely will live at Stinnett in his new work. His appointment followed a recent state examination at College Station, which he passed with high honors.

Mr. Carruth is a well-known farmer of the Laketon community, where for several years he ranked high in master dairying contests. He has been interested in farm organizations and cooperative marketing for several years. He will likely rent his farm during his work as a farm agent. His successor here has not been appointed.

County Agent Ralph Thomas expressed much pleasure in the success of Mr. Carruth in meeting the State's requirements.

Young Democrats To Meet Friday

Pampa Young Democrats are being called into session by John Ketter, president, to discuss the year's program.

The session will be held at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening in the county court room.

One topic for discussion will be a proposal to hold a local Jackson day dinner, in cooperation with older democrats of the community. Another will be ways and means for entering into the district convention of Young Democrats in 1936.

5 ETHIOPIANS KILLED

ROME, Dec. 26 (AP)—Five Ethiopians were killed and six wounded in a Christmas day skirmish with Danakil warriors fighting under the Italian banner, an official communique reported today. "On the eastern slopes of the plateau toward the Danakil, a group of Ethiopian warriors which tried to ascend with assault to the plateau was dispersed by 100 of our Danakils," the communique said.

Explosion Victim Dies Of Injuries

Injuries received when a boiler near which he was working exploded on the afternoon of December 18 caused the death of Herbert Garden McKecher, 34, in a local hospital early this morning. Mr. McKecher suffered a skull fracture, severe pressure burns, and other injuries.

His companion, Bill Darbin, is slowly recovering in a hospital here. The accident happened on the Tripplern lease near Denworth. The two men were blown a considerable distance by the explosion.

Mr. McKecher is survived by his wife, his mother, Mrs. D. J. Ward, his father, J. A. McKecher, and one brother, Jean McKecher, all of Pampa.

Funeral services will be conducted at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the chapel at Pampa Mortuary, the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. The body will be taken overland to McLean and from there by train to Oklahoma City where burial will be Saturday afternoon in the family plot at Oak Lawn cemetery.

SANTA MARIA TO FLY OVER THE ATLANTIC

AIRLINER WILL CROSS OCEAN WITH MAIL IN 1936

NEW YORK, Dec. 26 (AP)—The Santa Maria will take wing next year.

Transatlantic transport service by airplane will be in the making in the next summer flight of an airliner across the ocean over which Christopher Columbus sailed his flagship almost 450 years ago.

With the projected voyage will come fresh international races for markets as the world's air routes become trade routes.

Next year, say air transport companies, will be the biggest in the history of flying since the Wright brothers lifted their kite-like, sputtered contraption off the sands at Kitty Hawk in 1903.

A 25-ton flying boat of Pan-American Airways will ease out over the Atlantic under the impetus of four roaring motors to plot the course of the future Transatlantic air voyager.

American airplanes in the transport line already are prepared to inaugurate airmail and passenger service.

The routes are not the problem. It is competition. Supreme over the Pacific, American aviation on the Atlantic meets the challenge of those nations which will be America's neighbors when the service gets under way.

Over the Pacific, American engineering ingenuity has shown its hand. With flying boats more efficient and faster than any in the world, the American counterpart of "nationalized" aviation has out-distanced competition.

To China, this nation's traders have an advantage of some ten days over European competitors. In South America, the United States—government statistics show—has won out over the European rivalry on the South Atlantic.

The United States is the only nation which does not "nationalize" its air lines. In place of that, American industry and business men have effected a "commercial nationalization."

The one trans-ocean air transport company of which this country boasts is financed jointly by widespread American industrial and business interests.

Its flying boats were built behind locked doors. The secrets of their construction have not been divulged. Although thumbs were turned down on trading of patents with other nation's air lines, transatlantic flights will be of necessity the result of cooperative effort. Otherwise ports of entry would be barred.

Charting flights probably will start about mid-year. Inauguration of airmail service is likely before 1936 closes, and carrying of passengers soon will follow, aviation leaders predict.

Telephone Data Reflects Growing Recovery Here

In keeping with the rapid growth of Pampa, and in order to meet the increasing demand for telephone service, a project to provide 100 additional subscriber lines is now under way. E. Hooks, local manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, reported today.

The project, costing approximately $3,500, should be completed by the end of December, Hooks said.

More than 1,850 telephones are now in use in Pampa and a definite upward trend in local telephone business is evident, Hooks declared. "Back in the days of the depression we lost more than 500 telephones," he said. "Today our record shows that we are rapidly gaining back those customers who had their telephones disconnected in 1931, 1932 and 1933."

In December, 1930, there were 1,900 telephones in Pampa—the high peak before the depression struck in full force. According to telephone statistics, Pampa hit the bottom of the depression in July, 1933, when there were fewer than 1,400 telephones connected in the city.

"Our station gain has shown a steady upward trend for more than two years and we expect to have more subscribers by the end of the year than ever before," Hooks said. "The additional lines and equipment installed will enable us to meet the growing demand for telephone service."

Mercury Drops to 17 Degrees Here

Santa Claus had need of his heavy garments here on Christmas eve and yesterday, but he was wise in leaving his sleigh behind and using an airplane.

Without a hint of snow or rain, and with a starry sky overhead, last night developed a temperature of 17 degrees at 1 a. m. The thermometer had risen to 20 at sunrise.

Today was cloudy and continued cold.

KILLED IN KANSAS

PLEASANTON, Kas., Dec. 26 (AP)—Ralph J. O'Blens, 37, Kansas City contractor, and Tom S. Woods, 40, were killed early today when their motor car overturned on a highway near Trading Post, Kas.

Rose Motor Safe Robbed Of $200

The man, or men, who entered Doak's Department store a few months ago returned to Pampa for Christmas, police believe after investigating the burglary of the Tom Rose (Ford) agency here. Employees visiting the place of business yesterday morning found the safe empty.

Police linked the two jobs after carefully measuring a scar on the door where a thin, narrow instrument had been inserted between the door jamb and the door to force the lock. The size of the mark on door and jamb coincided with those found at Doak store.

The tool used to enter the garage was less than one inch wide and thin enough to bend around the safe and the combination driven back.

Japs Promise Vengeance As Chinese Puppet Is Shot To Death By Shanghai Killers

TROJAN EPIC BY HOMER IS FOUND TRUE

Diggers Decide Version of Fall of Troy in 1183 B. C. Was Correct.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 26 (AP)—Archaeologists of the University of Cincinnati reported added confirmation today of Homer's story of the fall of Troy.

They added word of hope that next year they would uncover magnificent stonework to typify the height of Trojan grandeur.

Their announcement of conclusions after four years of burrowing in ruins in Asia Minor did not enter into the Homeric story of the dispute that ended in the fall of Troy. But it said they were convinced that Homer's Troy was the seventh of nine cities that rose and fell on the site; and they reported the finding of bones they said likely were those of a victim of the Greek onslaught to revenge Helen's abduction.

Earlier it had been held that Homeric Troy was the sixth settlement of those flourishing, one after the other, on the site of a pre-historic village.

"We concluded from a study of the architectural and ceramic evidence," said Dr. Carl W. Blegen, field director of the archeological research, "that the sixth Troy came to its end, probably in a severe earthquake, not long after 1300 B.C."

"We concluded that the early seventh Troy, which immediately succeeded and was constructed to a great extent of fallen material from the buildings of the sixth settlement, maintained its existence for approximately a century until it was destroyed, doubtless in a great conflagration, in the early years of the twelfth century, B. C., and that in turn was followed at once by a later seventh settlement."

That view, he said, fits more accurately with the traditional date of the capture of Troy, 1183 B. C.

For the first time since the original excavations of Troy were begun about 1870, the report said, a complete house of the first Troy has been discovered. Dr. Blegen called it typical of a stage dated about 3,000 B. C., or earlier, and indicative of advancement to the use of copper for tools and implements.

Debris of a house of the second settlement, wiped out by fire, told a story of its own.

The investigators found 189 gold beads, numerous spindle whorls or buttons, and a number of loom weights of unspun clay. Dr. Blegen said evidence for the position of the loom itself was clear, indicating the beads perhaps were from the necklaces of an early Trojan housewife who, as she suddenly stopped her weaving to flee in terror at the approach of fire, caught her necklace on her loom.

'Gift' Baby

Joyful at possessing again the baby for which she has fought since it was taken from her four months ago, Anna Ware, 19, unwed Newton, Pa., servant girl, is shown with the lot which a St. Louis court ruled was hers and not the child of Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench, society matron. Last August 18 Mrs. Muench announced birth of her "gift of God" baby, and fought Miss Ware's action in a case with few parallels since the days of Solomon.

FRANK ANDREWS NAMED HEAD OF BIG AIR FORCE

U. S. To Have Most Modern Fleet in World

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP)—Secretary Dern completed reorganization of top positions in the army air corps today with the temporary promotion of Brigadier General Frank M. Andrews, chief of the general headquarters air force, to the rank of major general. Westover had been serving as acting chief, succeeded Major General Benjamin D. Foulois.

Andrews was named head of the "GHQ" force at the time of its organization, but without change in title.

The war department statement said the promotion was in line with Dern's desire to give the army air force greater rank in the tactical scheme of the land force, and place it in its "proper relative position with the other combat organizations which are now commanded by major generals."

During the coming year the "GHQ" air force will be reinforced by the acquisition of more than 500 combat planes. The promotion of its commander, Dern believes, will be commensurate with the growing size and importance of the air corps combat force.

The war department is expected to award contracts for 82 additional pursuit planes by the end of this week. Officers considered this year's purchases will provide an air fleet more modern than that of any other nation, with the possible exception of Germany.

All China Likely to Suffer; Wave of Revolt Spreads

BY MORRIS J. HARRIS (Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)

SHANGHAI, Dec. 26.—Maj. Gen. Rensuke Isogai, military attaché of the Japanese embassy, predicted tonight that there would be serious effects from the assassination yesterday of Tang Yu-Jen, the pro-Japanese vice minister of Chinese railways.

The Japanese general indicated that the serious effects would concern relations between China and Japan.

Other Japanese military sources, earlier in the day, had declared the assassination "throws a dark shadow over the future of Sino-Japanese relations."

The police at Nanking forbade all public gatherings and parades in an effort to stop student demonstrations against Japan.

China's authorities immediately declared martial law throughout Shanghai and the central government capital at Nanking.

Severe military restrictions also were imposed at Hankow against anti-Japanese demonstrations.

The Nanking government ordered a section of its railway line torn up in a drastic move to check the attempt by Shanghai students, protesting the movement for North China separation, to reach the capital in a commandeered train.

The demonstrating students seized a locomotive when authorities refused to grant them free transportation to Nanking, and reached Changchow, about 75 miles short of Nanking.

Railway police intensified their precautions in the capital. The Japanese embassy at Nanking took a serious attitude toward the assassination of Tang Yu-Jen, as did the Japanese military in its statement at Shanghai.

An embassy spokesman characterized the killing of the vice minister by unidentified gunmen in the French concession here last night as "glaring evidence of anti-Japanese sentiment, leaving no doubt of the trend of Chinese sentiment toward Japan."

The spokesman asserted the Tang assassination became doubly serious because of the fact that it followed closely a similar attempt to assassinate Ching-Wei, who resigned as Chinese premier after being wounded at Nanking.

LIFE IN 1935

7. Big Names in Marriage, Divorce News

BY HERBERT YAHRAES (Associated Press Staff Writer)

The year's drama brought many a heart throb, many an ache, as the story of marriage and divorce in high places unfolded.

John Smith saw some of his real-life heroes and heroines join hands till death do us part, watched others take separate paths.

Hessie Barbara Hutton provided double excitement. First she divorced her prince, Alexis Mdivani—killed a few months later in an automobile accident; then, almost immediately and still in Reno, she acquired another title by marrying Count Court von Haugwitz-Reventlow.

"Richest Girl" Marries

Hessie Doris Duke, "richest girl," became the bride of James R. Cromwell, business man, writer, former husband of Delphine Dodge, in a ceremony almost provokingly unostentatious.

Another quiet wedding united Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall and John Boettlinger.

Hollywood contributed plenty of throbs for those who take their romance vicariously. The first 11 months saw 44 marriages and 42 new break-ups—including divorces, estrangements, annulments—among film notables, as compared with 65 marriages and 54 break-ups during the whole of 1934.

Barlow Divorced

Jean Harlow won a decree from cameraman Hal Rosson, her third husband. Virginia Cherrill divorced Cary Grant, Clara Grant Ray divorced Charles Ray, Elissa Landi divorced John Cecil Lawrence, Clark Gable and Ria Langham admitted parting.

Other filmland "casualties": Kay Francis and Kenneth McKenna, Colleen Moore and Al Scott, Adrienne Ames and Bruce Cabot, Claudette Colbert and Norman Foster, Joan Blondell and George Barnes, Barbara Stanwyck and Frank Fay.

NORTH TEXAS CITIES HAVE COLDEST SNAP

PARIS THERMOMETERS HIT 16 AFTER NORTHER

(By The Associated Press.)

The coldest weather of the season chilled Texas today in the wake of a fast-moving Christmas norther which penetrated to the Mexican border.

Sub-freezing temperatures prevailed all over North Texas, with the mercury down to 16 degrees at Gainesville and, hundreds of miles to the south, it was freezing at Del Rio and El Paso.

Wichita Falls had a low of 17, Dallas 21, Corsicana 23, San Antonio 31, Austin 30, San Angelo 27, Lubbock 25, Sherman 18, El Paso 32, Del Rio 32, Amarillo 20, Port Arthur 34, Oklahoma City 14, Corpus Christi 41, Brownsville 52, Tyler 20 and Palestine 23.

For most of these points, scattered over a vast area, the readings were the lowest this winter. San Antonio, Del Rio, Corpus Christi, Brownsville and other adjacent sections.

Skies were generally clear in the north but rain fell at Austin, San Antonio, Del Rio, Corpus Christi, Brownsville and other adjacent sections.

The coldest weather of the year brought 15-degree weather to Paris. A brisk wind was blowing and the sky was clear.

Borger had a low of 22 degrees yesterday and 23 this morning. Waco's minimum was 26.7 and the mercury was expected to fall about as low tonight.

The thermometer read 27 degrees at Longview at 9 a. m., after dropping to 21 during the night.

Plainview had a minimum temperature of 21 last night. The mercury rose to 25 at 9 a. m. Skies were cloudy on the south plains.

The reading at Denton was 19 degrees, six below the season's previous low mark.

At Houston, the temperature fell to 32 and there was a trace of rain. Colder weather was expected there. San Antonio reported mist and a 29-degree temperature at 9 a. m. This was a drop of two degrees since dawn.

CONTROL OF DRUNKEN DRIVING

At the risk of being trite in again pointing to an alarming increase in automobile accidents, The NEWS calls attention to late statistics on the subject. Ordinarily, newspaper telegraph editors expect round-ups of week-end fatalities in summer, when million of persons go on outings during warm weather.

Lately the round-ups have become almost daily occurrences. At least two things have contributed to the new menace: 1. Speed, incorporated in the new lines of cars; and 2. drunken driving.

Statistics from 22 states, just compiled, reveal however that arrests for drunken driving are increasing all out of proportion to the sale of cars. It is a fact that Americans, if they are not drinking more, are certainly showing more of a tendency to drive while drinking. Dr. Theron W. Kilmer, police surgeon of Hempstead, N. Y., recently spoke as follows, in part, at a session of the International Association of Police and Fire Surgeons in New York City:

"It makes little difference whether our attitude be wet or dry, the drunken driver should be eliminated as a menace to safety.

"In order to ascertain the status of the drunken driver in the United States, I wrote to the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles of every state issuing operator's or general driving licenses, and each replied stating the number of licenses revoked or suspended for driving while intoxicated during the years 1933 and 1934. If drunken drivers were shown to be on the increase, was it not by reason of the increased number of automobiles? I therefore obtained figures from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Division of Roads, as to the number of cars licensed in each state during 1933 and 1934.

"We find that in all but one of these states that in 1934 there appears a spectacular increase of drunken drivers over the increase of cars as compared to the year 1933. We see that in our own Empire state of New York, that while cars have increased but 1.3 per cent, drunken drivers have increased 64.5 per cent, or in other words, 49.5 times faster than cars!

"There are other states showing a higher increase but ours is no enviable record. The general average of the total number of states shows 4 per cent increase of cars with a 45.6 per cent increase of drunken drivers, which is an 11 1/2 times increase of alcoholic drivers over cars. The District of Columbia shows an increase of cars, yet a decrease of drunken drivers, while Massachusetts shows just the reverse, less cars, more drunken drivers. The time has arrived that this menace must be eradicated from our highways.

"How to stop drunken driving:

"(1) Immediate and thorough physical examination of the apprehended driver by a physician.

"(2) No change to the lesser plea of 'reckless driving' should be permitted.

"(3) Mandatory jail sentence and revocation of driver's license."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The switchboard operator at the Works Progress Administration still answers "Federal Relief" when you call, but the Federal Emergency Relief Administration—the FERA—is dead.

In the FERA work program a government for the first time in history laid the pattern for establishing public or civil work with a view to fitting jobs to the skill of needy people rather than to community demands for construction projects.

The Federal Surplus Relief Corporation, a branch working with AAA, dealt in a big way with the fact that people were starving in the midst of big farm surpluses when it spent $255,000,000 in buying, processing, and distributing 700,000,000 pounds of meat (handling nearly 10,000,000 head of livestock) and huge quantities of surplus grains, vegetables, coal, cotton, and other commodities.

Through its transient relief system, FERA relieved and reduced a situation which had reached appalling proportions. Many other things FERA did, including the rural rehabilitation program—some of them strange, new, and even bizarre, too many to mention here.

The worst mistake seen in FERA policy was in its lack of long-time planning and the insistence on a month-to-month policy.

The official view was that a mere temporary emergency was being handled and hence projects were planned so they could be terminated almost at once, which meant considerable inefficiency, on the theory that the amount of destitution couldn't be anticipated.

President Roosevelt, often over-optimistic, clung to the belief that private industry would rapidly absorb the unemployed. He was about the only person in Washington who did so believe.

The nation's social work mechanisms were expanded at least 10 times by FERA and the lack of expert personnel to administer this huge job and its quite new technique was often painfully apparent.

Yet that fault was somewhat offset by an eager enthusiasm of FERA men and women who worked as if they were on an emergency job. (Some of the energy and zeal has worn off lately—one reason for the way the WPA program has dragged).

FERA has received many knocks. But Harry Hopkins and his chief assistants, such as Jacob Baker and Aubrey Williams, were engaged in a job unprecedented in magnitude and type.

The organization made grants of slightly more than $3,000,000,000 to the states in its fight against starvation and (exclusive of the $828,000,000 of PWA money for the 90,000 CWA workers).

The task of providing food, clothing, and medical care was a relief roll of 20,654,084 persons in January, 1935.

The present New Deal policy—abandonment of FERA and the federal relief, with creation of WPA—is based on the theory that the dole makes "bums" out of "employed" human beings. Also, on Roosevelt's desire to reduce the drain on the treasury.

13 Lose Lives In Cold Wave

CHICAGO, Dec. 26 (AP)—Bitter cold and heavy snow held most of the nation in an icy embrace today.

Thirteen persons lost their lives by freezing and exposure in the 24 hours ending at midnight. Iowa, Illinois, and Wisconsin each had two deaths by freezing and single deaths were reported in Missouri, New Jersey, Arizona, Indiana, Tennessee, Montana, and North Dakota. Blinding snow storms made driving hazardous and hundreds of automobile crashes were reported with many fatalities. Ice pavements added to the death list.

The warmest spot in the nation yesterday was Phoenix, Ariz., where residents basked in a maximum of 78 under warm, clear skies. Another comfortable spot was Seward, Alaska, where the day's high was 43 degrees. The weather was described as balmy with no snow on the ground.

For those who like a touch of nipiness, Devil's Lake, N. D., offered 18 degrees below zero, the coldest in the nation. At Bismarck, N. D., it was minus eight degrees.

Japan now is the largest foreign supplier of merchandise to Ethiopia, accounting for the great bulk of its cotton textile imports, the outstanding item in the country's import trade.

TREES BANNED BY MUSSOLINI ON CHRISTMAS

ROOSEVELT, MORGAN READ CHRISTMAS CAROL

(By The Associated Press.)
Pleas for peace rose above the cries of war in the world's observance of Christmas—a holiday marked in the United States by the exchange of gifts which had boosted retail sales well above last year's total.

Hostilities on the Ethiopian front virtually halted yesterday, as thousands of pilgrims prayed at Bethlehem for an end to the East African war.

King George V of Great Britain echoed sentiments for peace in a Christmas message which he broadcast to his empire.

"It is good to think that our own family of peoples is at peace in itself and united in one desire to be at peace with other nations."

Italian children—many of their fathers were with blackshirt troops in Ethiopia—found their few Christmas gifts piled in traditional manners after fascist officials banned Christmas trees as "foreign." League of Nations sanctions and anxiety over the war cast a note of restraint over the holiday merrymaking in that country.

In the United States tragedies—automobile accidents, fires, and the like—overhung the holiday for occasional families. For the most part, however, the holiday was one of family gatherings, ringing church bells, and stacks of gifts in bright wrappings.

A recent survey of retail merchants indicated that holiday trade was nearly 10 per cent higher throughout the country than for last year.

President Roosevelt spent the day quietly in Washington with his family. Awakened by his granddaughter Sara, he attended special church services, participated in opening gifts around a white house tree and later presided at a family dinner.

Two prominent Americans—the president and J. Pierpont Morgan—featured their holiday celebration with a reading of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol."

Mr. Roosevelt followed his custom at the White House and Morgan, his grandchildren gathered around him at his Glen Cove, N. Y., home, read from the original manuscript, one of the Morgan library treasures.

The holiday came on the high seas for Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh and their son, Jon, en route to England on the American importer to escape kidnap threats in the United States. Officers and crew provided the festive arrangements for the aviator's 3-year-old son.

Dr. A. R. Dafoe, physician-guardian of the Dionne quintuplets at Callander, Ont., allowed the babies an addition of jelly desert to their regular diet.

The quintuplets were not allowed to have their family inside the nursery because of the possibility that cold germs might be brought in, but Mama and Papa Dionne and their elder brothers and sisters waved a "Joyeux Noel" through the window panes.

Harvard university received one of the most valuable presents—Thomas W. Lamont, the New York banker, presented $500,000 to endow the first professorship for "roving scholars of unusual ability."

PAMPA SCHOOL TEACHER WEDS AMARILLO MAN ON WEDNESDAY

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stinson of Amarillo have announced the marriage of their niece, Miss Clarice Fuller, to L. N. Shirley of Amarillo. The marriage was performed by the Rev. Dr. Grimes at the Methodist parsonage at 10 o'clock on Christmas day.

Miss Fuller has taught at Baker school here for the last six years. She will continue her duties here for the present. She attended Clarion college and West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon.

Mr. Shirley is in business in Amarillo. The ceremony was performed by the pastor of the Holiness Mission here for the last 8 years. Miss Johnston was attended by Miss Jo Pool and Mr. Zornes by D. D. Cleveland. She attended local schools.

The bride was dressed in white tulle and carried carnations and sweet peas. The groom wore a blue serge suit.

After congratulations had been extended and the gifts viewed, refreshments were served.

"The couple will live here, where Mr. Zornes is employed by the Cabot company."

Guests were present from Kansas, New Mexico, and Texas. Miss Mattie Johnston of Okfus N. M., attended the wedding and spent the Christmas holiday here with the bride, who is a cousin.

Mrs. Walter Simpson and daughter, Marie, also came to the wedding and brought the wedding cake.

Mrs. Everett Hodges gave a most delightful party at the home of Mrs. Ben Talley Friday evening honoring her husband on his birthday. Five tables of bridge was enjoyed until a late hour, then the honoree was presented with some useful and amusing gifts. High score for the women went to Mrs. Ervin Pursley, low to Miss Mary Dial, and J. T. King was awarded high for the men.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Johnston and family of Fort Worth arrived Sunday to spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Jim Johnston.

Among the college students home for Christmas are Veva Barnett of Missouri university; Ivy Howard, Betty Wycoff and James Osborne of T. S. T. C.; Paul Bowers and Billy Craig, Texas Tech; T. McKittrick, Sterling Kinney, Portales Junior college; John T. Locke, Howard Payne; Iona Gill, Baylor-Hardin; Marion Ramsay, Draughon's Business college, Dallas; Dona Purkey, Harding college; Ardena Talley, Sellar's School of Beauty Culture, Fort Worth.

Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Hopkins and daughter, Anne, left today for Floydada to spend a few days with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bowers and Mrs. E. A. Cooper of Crane are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Cooper.

George Philpott of Memphis, Tenn., arrived Sunday to spend Christmas with friends and relatives. Mrs. Philpott and a son have been visiting here and at Okfus for a few days.

Frank Philpott of Alpine was a Miami visitor Sunday.

Music Strikes Recovery Note; Opera Revives

BY JOHN SELBY.

NEW YORK (AP)—Music, which had shown signs of becoming a chronic invalid under depression conditions, pulled itself out of bed and started moving briskly about this year.

At least three major orchestras and the Metropolitan Opera were in a bad way at the beginning of last season. All seem more secure than for years at the beginning of this year.

The New York Philharmonic-Symphony society was considering a merger with the Met. This was stamped out of existence by Arturo Toscanini and the orchestra has proceeded with renewed vigor since that day. The Los Angeles Philharmonic was also very shaky, and it seems to have recovered its breath.

A Philadelphia, considerably shaken by the resignations of Arthur Judson, manager, and the threatened resignation of Leopold Stokowski, conductor, is calm again.

Concert business. For Stokowski did not leave; indeed, he is conducting more this winter than last. And Alfred Redfield Allen, the new manager, has dropped Mr. Judson's artistically successful but financially unsuccessful operatic venture.

The concert business has produced no very startling new features but has found business better by 50 per cent in some cases. Probably the increasing interest in ballads is the year's most applicable change.

The addition of Kirsten Flagstad to the recital field has created a considerable stir. If Edith Szanathi is as good a recitalist as she was assisting contralto for Otto Klemperer's performance of the second Mahler symphony, she may prove of equal or greater value.

Johnson at Met. The only new operas of great moment were Dmitri Shostakovich's "Lady Macbeth of Minsk" and George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," neither of which was produced by the Metropolitan. The Cleveland Orchestra was responsible for the first; the Theater Guild for the second.

But the Met provided the most dramatic event in the year's music calendar. Late in the afternoon of May 10, Herbert Winterspoon, Gatti-Casazza's successor as general director, was speaking with his assistant, Edward Ziegler, in the latter's office at the Met. Winterspoon smiled, stepped through the door and dropped dead.

Edward Johnson has begun his first season as director auspiciously. Many new American singers are on his roster; the house is much improved physically, and there even is some new scenery, but no American opera is to be given this winter. Gatti always gave at least one.

Gatti's last was perhaps his least successful—John Lawrence Seymour's "In the Pasha's Garden." Produced last spring, this at least served to introduce Helen Jepson to the Met's roster.

Kings Are Hosts With Christmas Dinner in McLean. McLEAN, Dec. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Harris King entertained employees of the Texas Station last Thursday evening with a dinner at their home. A Christmas theme in blue and silver furnished a beautiful setting. Christmas flowers decorated the rooms. In a corner blue lights shone on a silver tree from which each person received a gift.

In the dining room was a scene of lighted candles on a hill with Santa in his sleigh approaching. The centerpiece on the table was a mirror lake surrounded by snow and miniature forest with figures of animals. Santa, his sleigh and reindeer were among the tiny figures.

Dinner was served buffet style, then games of forty-two were played. Those attending were Messrs. and Mrs. George Bally, Kenneth Brodie, Chester Lander, Mrs. Williams, Booth Woods, Arnold Sharp, Misses Wanda Ballock, Dorothy Bally, Dorothy Woods, Frankie Sue and Martha Joyce King.

Culture Club Party. Members of the Culture club were delightfully entertained with a Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Harris King Thursday. An interesting program was given, with Mrs. Wilson Boyd as leader.

Childress Girl Weds Kellerville Man Wednesday. Miss Laverne Cannon of Childress and Eugene Daugherty of Kellerville were married here yesterday by John Mullen, minister of the First Christian church, at the parsonage. The couple will live in Kellerville, where Mr. Daugherty is with the Fox Rig & Lumber company.

Birthday Party Has Holiday Air. Christmas decorations and a beautiful tree set a note of gaiety when Mrs. Joe Spoonmore entertained honoring the ninth birthday of her daughter, Myrtle Mae, Saturday afternoon. Gifts were opened and games were enjoyed during the party hours from 2 until 4. Refreshments, with figures of Santa Claus on the plates, were served. Guests were Maxine and Betty Jo Holt, Ruby Lee Minatre, Virginia Simmons, Barbara Organ, Margaret and Doloris Herrin, Anna Mae Graham, Ursula Jones, Doris Spoonmore, Nova Baker, Betty Sue Pope, Jo Ann Hawkins, Derl Dean and Walter Jr. Spoonmore, and Hoyt Minatre. Adults present were Mmes. Roy Holt, W. E. Minatre, Henry Simmons, W. E. Dolson, and W. A. Spoonmore.

MONGOLS AND JAPS SLAIN IN BORDER FIGHT

JAPANESE PUT BLAME ON MONGOLIAN FORCES

BY GLENN BARR, Associated Press Foreign Staff.

TOKYO, Dec. 26 (AP)—A fresh conflict was reported today to have arisen on the frontier between the Japanese-occupied state of Manchoukuo and the Soviet-influenced area of outer Mongolia.

A dispatch to the newspaper, Asahi, from Sinking, capital of Manchoukuo, said two clashes Tuesday between Japanese-Manchoukuo and outer Mongolian detachments resulted in the death of one Manchoukuo and the wounding of three Japanese.

The outer Mongolian forces were believed by the Japanese to have suffered heavy casualties.

The two-fold incident was reported to have occurred in Manchoukuo territory on the disputed border southwest of Lake Bor, near the scene of a December 19 clash. A communique issued by the Japanese general headquarters at Haining, was reported to have charged that more than 50 outer Mongolians, riding in motor trucks, invaded Manchoukuo in that sector, precipitating the second conflict.

The Mongols clashed with an outpost of Manchoukuoans, the Japanese advised, but a Japanese detachment came to the support of the Manchoukuoans and drove back the Mongols.

The same day, a smaller Mongolian cavalry detachment was reported to have crossed the border, only to be repulsed by a Manchoukuoan outpost.

The December 19 clash had drawn a protest from the Mongolian people, republic that five Mongol border guards had been killed and that serious consequences could arise from any new incident.

The Japanese insisted the incident occurred on Manchoukuoan territory during efforts to establish the boundaries.

Manchoukuo's foreign office rejected outer Mongolia's protest and demand for an apology over the December 19 clash, insisting again it occurred in Manchoukuoan territory as a result of a lawless invasion by Mongolians.

HIGHLY-TOUTED FARM BOY TEAM FROM OKLAHOMA TO INVADE GYM TONIGHT

LARGE CROWD EXPECTED TO WITNESS TILT

UNBEATEN QUINTETS TO MATCH SHOTS IN TWO GAMES

The high school today had reasons to believe that larger-than-usual crowds would watch the Harvester basketball team, unbeaten in 10 games, and a rural school quintet from near Aralia, Okla., also undefeated, play at the gym tonight and tomorrow night. The game each night will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

The Oklahoma team has a high and mighty reputation. It has beaten the team, already this season, that lost to Capitol Hill in the finals of the Oklahoma state tournament last year. It has beaten some of the best caging crews in Oklahoma. The boys, all of whom live on cotton farms, will not feel "out of place" when they take the floor against the Harvesters; it will not be the first time they have gone up against city teams. In fact, the "cotton pickers" feel more at home against the city boys than against their rural neighbors.

The Rosner squad is coached by Clifford Solomon, former Pampa. A large crowd of ex-students is scheduled to see this clash. More than 150 former students of Pampa high school are spending the Christmas vacation at home. The regular center on Pampa's district championship team in 1933, "Hoot" Pulling, saw the first string wallop a force of "exes" now playing on freshman teams at colleges and universities in Texas, and declared he believes that Pampa may have the best basketball team in history; it has the stuff out of which to make one. It should go far.

Admission to the game will be 25 cents for students and 10 cents for non-students. Coach Mitchell's starting lineup has Green and Hartman at forward, Ayer and Jones at guard and Strickland at center.

It is likely that Harold Nicholson, who is battling for a place on the first team will play the boys in the second string. He has been settling down to their knitting and should show up much better tonight if they get a chance to play. All members of the first string spent Christmas in Pampa except Stokes Green, who visited his parents in Wheeler county. It was believed that he would return in time for the game tonight.

Next week, the Harvesters will meet their greatest basketball rivals and the "best sports in Texas," Allison, on the local floor. Because Coach Mitchell plans to name the Rose Bowl game, it is likely that Principal L. L. Sons will have charge of the basketball team.

In regard to games tonight and tomorrow night, Coach Mitchell said, "I would like to see a big crowd out; the boys deserve it. I believe the fans will enjoy watching the team."

Moscrip Will Start Against Ponies, Jan. 1

FALO ALTO, Calif., Dec. 26 (AP)—James (Mack) Moscrip, star star for Ford and reported today by Coach Claude E. Thornhill to have recovered from his knee injury to start against Southern Methodist in the Rose Bowl game.

Before leaving with part of his team for Pasadena, Coach Thornhill said Moscrip's torn knee cartilage had shown definite improvement in the past three days.

Dr. Fritz Roth, team physician, however, reported that the injury of the ace place kicker would not permit him to play "more than 15 minutes."

With Moscrip in the line-up at the kick-off, the Stanford coach will start the same team that has opened nearly every contest this season.

He will have Moscrip and Topping at the flanks; Reynolds and Beedle at tackle; Adams and Roubie at guard; and Muller at center. Paulman will be at quarterback, little Jimmy Coffis at left half, Hamilton at right half, and all-American Bobby Grayson at fullback.

R. C. Waggoner Dismissed From Amarillo Grid Squad

Broke Training Rule Before Eve of Big Game

(By The Associated Press.) The Amarillo Sandstorm blew down-state today to wind up preparation for the Texas schoolboy football title game against the Greenville Lions at Dallas Saturday.

Coach Blair Cherry and his Sandies entrained for Denton last night. They will practice there through tomorrow before moving into Dallas the night before the game.

Before leaving Amarillo, Coach Cherry announced that R. C. Waggoner, brilliant blocking halfback and one of three starters on last year's state title-winning team, had been dismissed from the squad because of a training rule infraction.

Cherry indicated he would use Ellis Gill, 150-pounder, in Waggoner's place.

The Sandies took Coach Henry Frnka at his word—that the Lions would fill the air with flipped footballs at Dallas—and not only started work on a defense against the Greenville aerial attack but stressed an over-head offense for use if the power-house ground plays fail.

Although the Lions, in stiff training at Greenville, where they will remain until shortly before game time, stressed an aerial offensive, they paid a great deal of attention to wide sweeps and off-tackle smashes.

Coach Frnka also found time to build up his defense, paying particular attention to tactics designed to stop the spinners, reverses and razzle-dazzles of the Sandies.

Coaches of both teams predicted a hard tussle.

"It will take alert, heads-up football to stop the Sandies' power and deep ve running plays," said Coach Frnka.

"The game is a toss-up any way you take it," remarked the Amarillo mentor. "Greenville has an advantage as far as experience and site of the game are concerned. Quarterback Marshall is playing his third straight year with the Lions and has been an all-state player all three years."

PORT WORTH, Dec. 26 (AP)—The loss of Co-captain R. C. Waggoner, one of the three veterans back from the 1934 championship team, will be keenly felt by the Amarillo Sandies in the game with Greenville, Coach Blair Cherry said here today.

The Sandies stopped here two hours en route to Denton where they will wind up their training for the game Saturday in Dallas.

With Waggoner out, Ray Cochran will remain at end both on offense and defense with Ellis Gill going to Waggoner's quarterback post. Waggoner had alternated with Cochran on defense and offense.

Gill was the star of the Sandie game with Pampa this year and also is playing his first year of senior high football, Coach Cherry expects him to be a standout Saturday.

Former Arkansas Governor Is Dead

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP)—Former Governor Charles H. Brought of Arkansas died at his home here early today.

He was 59 years old. Mrs. Brought said death was caused by angina pectoris.

A native of Mississippi, Brought adopted Arkansas after teaching at that state's university.

"His students elected him governor of Arkansas," Mrs. Brought said today.

Brought was Arkansas' world war governor, serving from 1917 to 1921. He came to Washington two years ago to serve as chairman of the Virginia-District of Columbia boundary commission, which recently completed its report for congress recommending settlement of a boundary dispute more than 100 years old.

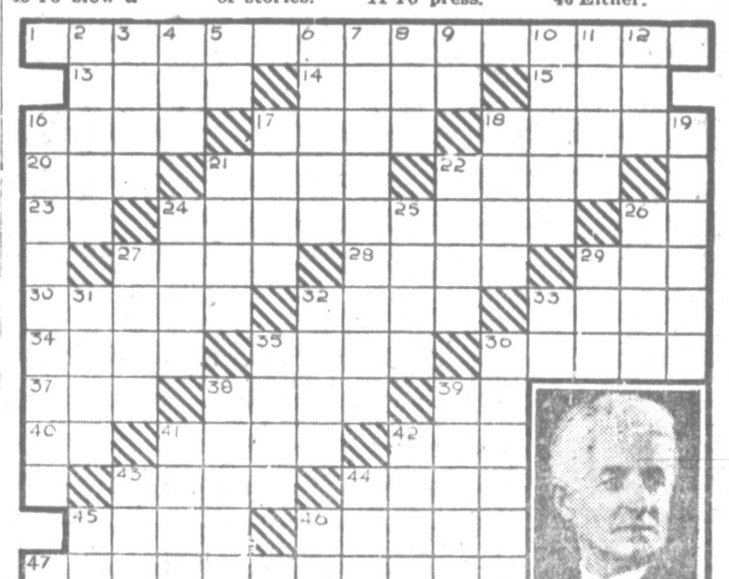

After a short religious service here tonight, the body is to be taken to Little Rock for burial tentatively planned for Sunday afternoon.

Brought is survived by his widow and step mother, Mrs. Cora S.

DIZZY WANTS $7,000 RAISE, AND REFUSES TO GO TO CUBA

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 26 (AP)—Brandishing a handful of bills which his wife won at the opening of the Sulphur Springs dog track, Dizzy Dean declared today he wanted $7,000 more salary from his Cardinal bosses next year.

Furthermore, he said, he would make no trip to Cuba. Once was enough, and the memory of a seasick spell in crossing the Florida straits caused him to add this to his requests for talking at a St. Louis contract.

"Sure, I'm worth $27,500," the colorful Dizzy said. "Didn't I win 28 games last year and 30 games the year before? Has any other pitcher in the National league won 58 games in two seasons in late years?"

"And furthermore, those Cards are going to Cuba without me, regardless of whether they meet my price before the trip. I just ain't going, that's all."

Brought of Los Angeles. There were no children.

Mrs. Brought said her husband had arisen this morning as usual. He commented on "what a beautiful Christmas this had," she said, and asked her to get him a paper.

She said she had stepped out of the room to get the paper when she heard him fall. She found him dead. He had not been ill.

TCU to 'Sling' Its Offensive in Sugar Bowl

PORT WORTH, Dec. 26 (AP)—The Texas Christian Frogs plan to "sling" their offensive when they meet the Louisiana State Tigers in the Sugar Bowl battle at New Orleans New Year's day.

Coach L. R. Meyer indicated today he would depend upon the aerials of "Slinging Sam" Baugh, one of the nation's outstanding football leaders, to lead the Frogs' offensive against the Tigers. Meyer let it be known, however, that the Frogs feared the accurate heaving of Abs Mackal, ace Tiger back.

A long session of offensive drill culminated with a series of defensive plays ordered for the Frogs today. Coach Meyer indicated that tomorrow's practice would be devoted to defensive work.

With Baugh in the Frog backfield will be Jimmy Lawrence, powerful runner. George Gline and Waldon Stanton. Meyer had Harold McClure, ace left half, Hamilton ready to replace Lawrence should injuries suffered in the Southern Methodist game keep the ace back out of the line-up. Meyer said, however, he felt sure Lawrence would be able to play.

'COP KILLER' IS SOUGHT IN MONTANA HUNT

TWO PEACE OFFICERS AND ANOTHER MAN ARE SLAIN

BUTTE, Mont., Dec. 26 (AP)—Grim posses searched western Montana hills today for a "cop killer" identified as Harry Knight, Kingston, Mont., ex-convict, wanted for killing three men—two of them peace officers.

Policeman Tom O'Neill, 37, was killed in a Christmas shooting affray at a boarding house here.

His companion officer, James Mooney, wounded in both arms and the right shoulder, said the killer was Knight.

The officers were called to the place by residents who reported Knight shot Frank Walsh, 24, and Mrs. Florence Benevue, after being repulsed in effort to enter the apartment of Mrs. Benevue's sister, Jean Miller.

Walsh died early today of his wounds. Mrs. Benevue was wounded superficially in the neck.

Knight met the officers with a blast of gunfire and fled in a light automobile.

Miss Miller told police Knight killed an officer near Seattle in November and Sheriff W. B. Stevens of Seattle said her story solved the slaying of Deputy Sheriff Moohan the night of November 13.

Chief of Police Walter Shay quoted her as relating Knight left her during the night at a cabin camp and returned later saying: "Come on, let's get out of here. I've knocked off a bull."

She said Knight warned her "if you ever doublecross me, I'll knock you off, too."

The woman added she and Knight had quarreled Christmas morning and he expressed belief she would "shoot" about the Seattle slaying.

She said Knight told her he killed the officer when the deputy sheriff sought to stop him for questioning while he had some stolen chickens in his car. She quoted Knight as saying: "I was alone and I let him have it between the eyes."

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Dec. 26 (AP)—It was back in the rumbling days of 1914 that Sam Gross, Iowa quarterback, pulled this one against Northwest.

Gross, who had been beefing about alleged violations of the opposition, made a false protest in the last quarter. . . . When officials refused to listen, he indignantly took the ball from the center and paced off a penalty himself. . . . amid jeers he walked by the opposing coaches, then ran like a jack rabbit for a touchdown. . . . Texas Killed by Draw of Brother

SHERMAN, Dec. 26 (AP)—Accidental firing of a pistol while a "quick draw" was being demonstrated, caused the death Christmas night of E. M. Hughes, about 52, farmer living nine miles northwest of Sherman.

The pistol was in the hands of his brother, P. M. Hughes.

In a sworn statement to Coroner Jess Wall, P. M. Hughes said: "My brother and I were talking. I picked up a pistol and was showing him how to make a 'quick draw.' The pistol went off and shot him."

Claribel Fuges, 14-year-old daughter of P. M. Hughes, was the only witness to the shooting.

Wall said he expected to return a verdict of accidental death.

Mustangs Will Arrive In Pasadena Saturday Morning

'Not Going to Any Tea Party,' Says Matty Bell

BY BILL PARKER.
Associated Press Sports Writer.
DALLAS, Dec. 26 (AP)—A warning that "we're not going to any tea party" was handed out to the Southern Methodist Mustangs today by Coach Madison Bell as they prepared to leave for the Rose Bowl to face Stanford in the post-season classic on New Year's day.

"We're going to Pasadena to try and win a football game, and prove the strength of the Southwest conference," Bell said. "We're not going to any tea party—you fellows know that."

To which he added that there would be plenty of entertainment after the game—that is, if you feel in the mood."

The untied and unbeaten Mustangs are scheduled to arrive in Pasadena at 8 o'clock Saturday morning. While waiting for their clash with Stanford, they will practice at Occidental college except with an occasional drill in the Rose Bowl.

The Mustangs galloped through a brisk drill yesterday in spite of a chilly afternoon.

Perfectly conditioned, confident of their ability to beat Stanford, but knowing it will be a stubborn game, the Mustangs are primed to turn loose a dazzling football exhibition in California.

The official party included Coaches Bell, Vic Hurt, Charlie Trigg, and Business Manager Jimmy Stewart. Five sports writers, George White of the Dallas News, Jerry Hayes of the Times-Herald, Felix McKnight of the Associated Press, Flint Dupree of the Dallas Journal, and "Red" Webster of the Dallas Dispatch, accompanied the Mustangs.

Nine special trains each carrying 14 cars, leaves here Saturday to follow the Mustangs to the Rose Bowl. It is estimated that 2,000 persons will ride the special, establishing a new special train record. The largest was when Alabama sent three special trains to the Rose Bowl conveying approximately 1,800 persons.

It's been a long, and at times tiresome march, from September 11 when the Mustangs started practicing until today when they embarked for the Rose Bowl. In the parade of months they won 12 scheduled games, grabbed the Southwest conference championship and won the Rockne trophy as the 1935 national champions.

FIRST DOWN - AND THEN SOME

BY HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK—Baseball experts agree that the first basemen will be heard from in 1936.

Performing for his friends, Tom Yawkey and Eddie Collins, a satisfied Jimmy Foxx is looking forward to his finest campaign in his first season in a Boston Red Sox uniform.

Both Foxx and Lou Gehrig of the Yankees are to aim at records held by Babe Ruth. Foxx has an idea that he has a chance to better the Bam's home run record of 60 in appearing in 77 games at Fenway park, with his favorable left field wall.

Gehrig seeks to equal Ruth's feat of batting in 150 or more runs in each of six seasons. Gehrig holds the American league record for the largest number of runs batted in—184 in 1931.

No other junior leaguer ever hit in as many markets as Gehrig has in three different seasons. Columbia Lou drove home 175 runs in 1927 and 174 in 1930. He drove in 165 in 1934, the year in which he won the triple batting crown of the majors, and 151 in 1932, when the Yanks last copped the pennant.

While Gehrig at no time last season struck the devastating pace that, in the eyes of many veteran critics, made him the gaddy of all first basemen, he finished with a batting average of .330 and with a runs-batted-in total of 120. Those figures would make most any other ball player a star, but mean an off season to the Yankee iron man.

Gehrig's slump was attributed to his long barnstorming trip thru foreign lands last winter and to his annual midsummer attack of lumbago. Lou is taking no chances this winter. He thus far has kept himself comfortable at his New Rochelle home, and plans to get in several weeks of deep sea fishing off the tip of the Florida peninsula before reporting at St. Petersburg.

At the present trend it was expected that prices would be out of reach by the morning of the game, with few tickets available at any figure.

Of the 84,000 tickets, 4,000 were sent to Southern Methodist for distribution in Texas. While this sum proved entirely inadequate, it was double the amount any visiting school ever requested before.

another year of experience under his belt, Greenburg will be a champion even a Gehrig and a Foxx may find it difficult to replace.

Zeke Bonura of the White Sox is another long-range hitter who expects to better his 1935 batting average, which was .297. Earl Trosky of Cleveland is certain that he will regain his 1934 batting eye. The blind Iowan was one of the biggest disappointments of 1935, when his batting average dropped to .271.

TED HEALY IS ARRESTED FOR FIRING HOUSE

'CHRISTMAS IMPULSE' IS BLAMED FOR QUEER ACT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26 (AP)—Wise-cracks failed Ted Healy, film comedian, today as he wondered what his "Christmas impulse" would cost him.

He started celebrating the advent of the yuletide by firing up in jail, accused of starting a fire in a neighbor's residence.

Tomorrow the fun-maker, charged with attempted arson, is scheduled to appear in court for hearing on a writ of habeas corpus by which he obtained his release under $1,000 bail.

Healy said he didn't remember setting any fire.

"Somebody started a row and the next thing I knew somebody took a shot at me," he declared. "That's all I remember until the cops plucked me for doing nothing except celebrating Christmas eve. This beef is liable to cost me a $60,000 contract. At the moment I'm too sick to care about anything."

The celebration apparently began in Healy's hotel room. It ended in Santa Monica canyon, where members of the arson squad took him into custody.

During the interim, Miss Bonnie Ordegh, dancer, told Investigator John Mize, Healy smashed through the glass front door of her house, broke furniture and attempted to set fire to the place by piling debris on the kitchen stove.

The comedian's sister, Marcia Healy, declared the house belongs to her and that her brother was just expressing a "Christmas impulse."

Healy said he hadly recollected advancing toward the cottage and that someone shouted, "don't come another step forward or I'll shoot."

That, however, did not deter him, Healy said. At the jail, he exhibited a bandaged hand which he said had been wounded by a gunshot. Surgeons said it appeared to have been burned.

Soldiers Might Stage Centennial Drama at Marfa

MARFA, Dec. 26 (AP)—The history of the Big Bend country, site of one of Texas' first settlements but now considered the last frontier, complicated plans for a sectional celebration during the state's Centennial year.

Because of the section's "ins and outs" in the development of Texas and America, the Presidio county Centennial advisory board decided to depict 400 instead of 100 years of history in a celebration next year.

Date of the celebration was not definitely set. Board members said the army likely would stage maneuvers near Marfa early next May and that more than 3,000 soldiers would be asked to take part in a pageant depicting history of four centuries.

Three centuries before the Texas revolution, the section in the Big Bend of the Rio Grande made history. As far as is known, however, there was not an American living in the deep Southwest during the Texas war with Mexico.

Immediately after the United States-Mexican war, the Big Bend again became a center of activity. Army posts were established near the border. Texas Rangers and Indian and border bandit fighters were stationed in this section. Now the vast ranching country is frequently referred to as Texas' last frontier.

Liquor Sales Are Huge; 2 Arrests Made by Officers

The Christmas season often set aside by many to become hilariously intoxicating was one of the sanest in Pampa history, according to officers. The county officers made only two arrests on intoxication charges while the city police made a single arrest over the holiday.

The officers noticed that liquor stores were crowded and anticipated a big rush on the Christmas holiday. To their surprise, Pampans imbibed at home and stayed at home or sobered up enough before coming out that arrests were not necessary.

REPUBLICANS SEE CLEVELAND AS ALMOST PERFECT SETTING FOR NAMING '36 CANDIDATE

BY BYRON PRICE,
Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington.

To the layman it may seem that the choice of a nation convention city is merely an unimportant detail, but the politicians think otherwise. Some very serious inside deliberation preceded the decision of the republicans to meet in Cleveland in 1936.

Like theatrical producers, party strategists believe the stage setting is one of the most important parts of the show.

They try for perfection of detail, and often give thought to the backdrops and spotlight effects before the case is selected or the script put into final form.

They want to create the proper "atmosphere" from the very beginning, and that explains better than anything else could why the republicans are going to Cleveland.

The "atmosphere" the republican leaders want for the initiation of their 1936 extravaganza is one of eastern conservatism, tempered by just the proper amount of mid-western liberalism; one which will give the impression of a militant revival of party power, plus an alertness to the changing trends of the moment.

To the majority of the party leaders, Cleveland seemed to fill the bill exceptionally well.

Reasons for Choice.

The chosen city is one of the country's largest industrial centers, capable of providing the much-needed background of business solidarity and financial understanding.

Yet it lies outside that section contemptuously by western politicians as "the industrial center." It is within a state which depends heavily on agriculture, inclined in recent years to turn toward the liberal side of many questions.

In addition, Cleveland recently has turned out a democratic mayor and installed a republican in his place. Not the least important of the psychological ramifications of this is one which relates purely to a detail of convention procedure. When the welcoming festivities are in order, the party can parade a winner in the role of official greeter.

Nor was the possible effect of convention rallying on Ohio as a whole overlooked in the calculations of the leaders. With the democratic state organization quarreling, republican state leaders express high hope for 1936. They told the national organization that nomination of a standard bearer on Ohio soil would be about to assure state victory in 1936.

Undoubtedly the fact that Ohio is putting forward no candidate for the presidential nomination had some weight in the decision.

Politicians usually feel that the nomination and the convention should not go to the same state; that each has a certain pulling power locally, and this power should not be concentrated in one spot.

Cleveland's chief competitors were Chicago, home of Col. Frank Knox, and Kansas City, on the boundary of Gov. Alf M. Landon's state of Kansas. This circumstance undoubtedly dampened the enthusiasm of some Knox and Landon men who otherwise might have fought harder for Chicago or Kansas City.

Cleveland likewise has a self-sentimental, half-practical appeal for historical reasons. It has no unpleasant party memories hovering about it. It was in Kansas City that republican fortunes were entrusted to Herbert Hoover in 1928, and it was in Chicago that the second

PROTESTANTISM HAS FAILED, SAY CHURCH LEADERS

Union With Catholic Body Advocated In Appeal

NEW YORK, Dec. 26 (AP)—Twenty-nine leaders of a movement to unite Protestant Episcopal churches in America with the Roman Catholic church have appealed to Protestant Episcopal clergymen for support of the plan.

Coupled with the plea, written by the American committee of the church unity octave council, was a criticism that protestantism has become "bankrupt ethically, culturally, morally, and religiously."

The committee's statement accompanied a letter to ministers by the Rev. Franklin Joiner, rector of St. Clement's church of Philadelphia. The group consists of 20 Protestant Episcopal clergymen, two members of religious orders, and seven laymen.

"The forces of the day have proved too strong for protestantism and it is disintegrating rapidly," Hoover nomination took place in 1932.

But at Cleveland, in the same hall where this year's convention will meet, Calvin Coolidge was named for president in 1924, amid long-remembered party glories. A return there is one way to begin to give the party that "Coolidge prosperity" label which many republicans would like to see it wear in 1936.

CONGRESS TO OPEN IN NEW TERM, JAN. 3

PRESIDENT NOT LIKELY TO HAVE MUCH TO PROPOSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP)—In a capital whitened by a yuletide snowstorm, new dealers and their opponents concentrated today on strikingly different plans for the new session of congress opening January 3.

Roosevelt men were striving for a short and harmonious session and there were reports that President Roosevelt might not have much to propose in the way of major legislation beyond new neutrality bills and appropriation measures.

In republican ranks, however, there was strong sentiment for breaking the whole fight over the new deal wide open again in an aggressive attack on administration men and policies.

Moreover, the American Liberty League was fighting for a drastic revision of past enactments, including the utility holding company act, the AAA, the social security program and tax legislation.

Most plans, however, were contingent on what the supreme court does about the six major pieces of legislation now before it for review. If, for example, it should strike down the agricultural adjustment program, many legislators believe the resultant struggles would prolong the session at least a month beyond the April or May adjournment date which is now the aim of democratic leaders.

Even aside from this some legislators foresee enough fights to stretch the session into the summer. They point out that congress is an ideal forum for speeches designed to influence the trend of the 1936 election.

The first big issue scheduled for discussion is the fight over cash payment of the $2,000,000,000 soldiers' bonus, which is due on the house floor January 13.

Soon afterward congress is expected to get to work on neutrality. For the present law requiring a mandatory embargo on arms and munitions shipments to belligerents expires February 29. There are various proposals for broadening this measure. Signs also have pointed to a possible struggle over whether the measure should give the president more recognition.

Her heart sank, as she realized that this, indeed, was the very worst thing about it; that she had let herself in for all of it by giving way to a senseless infatuation for Sandy Harkins. She had discarded the honest and loyal affection of a youth like Bobby Wallace to cast her fortunes with an outlaw!

She found herself nodding miserably. "Well, what's the matter, then?" asked Jackson. "He's just as nice now as he was before. Still brushes his hair the same way and wears the same kind of clothes. Looks just the same and talks just the same. You'll get along with him fine. . . . And with the rest of us, too. You just got to get used to us, that's all."

She shook her head. "I can't," she whispered. He looked her over from head to foot with slow, curious deliberation. "Oh, yes, you can," he said. "I'll tell you this, sister. When you put in with him, you put in with all of us. And puttin' in's a lot easier than pullin' out again. You're stickin' now—for always. And don't forget it."

A door opened, and Sandy himself came into the hall. He looked from Jean to Jackson in unspoken inquiry. "Your girl friend," said Jackson, "wants to go home. You talk her out of it. You're kind of gifted that way." He turned to go, and added in a rasping voice, "Or kick the daylight out of her, if that's easier. I don't care."

He went away and left her in the cavernous old hallway, with its dark woodwork, its old-fashioned chandelier and its dim light. Sandy came over and put a hand on her shoulder. "What's the matter, kid?" he asked.

"What's the matter, kid?" he asked. "Back to town," she said. "Back to town? What town?" "Oh—again she moved one hand in a meaningless gesture. "Any town. I don't know. I just wanted to get away."

The GOLDEN FEATHER

Chapter XLII
When the guard brought Jean Dunn back to the house, she felt as if some queer paralysis of the spirit had descended on her, making it impossible for her either to think or to feel any longer. She moved her legs automatically, dully conscious of extreme weariness but unable, somehow, to feel that it mattered very much.

She knew the worst, now. She was in the hands of the Red Jackson gang—the most notorious, dangerous and vicious gang of man-killers on the continent—she, Jean Dunn, who had thought it a wickedly-exciting lark to poke her nose inside The Golden Feather night club! She was in their power, and the man she had promised to marry was one of the gang, and there was no possible chance that she could ever get away.

She stumbled along, until at last they came out of the woods into the clearing. The old house loomed up, a dark, insidiously-designed shadow against the star-flecked sky. The few lights in its rooms gleaming dimly through the night. Beyond it the surface of the lake was a black pool, lit here and there by a touch of reflected star-shine. A breeze was rising, and there was a gentle rustling of leaves in the trees, a silky wash of wavelets on the beach.

The man conducted her straight to the house and marched her up the steps and into the hall. He stood there with her, his gun under his arm, and waited. A door opened somewhere, and Red Jackson came toward them.

He looked at the guard coldly. "What're you doin' in here?" he asked. "I thought you were supposed to be a lookout, up the road. What's the idea coming in here?" The man hastily gestured toward Jean.

"Honest, chief, I had to come in," he said. "Sandy was talkin' it on the lam up through the woods, and I figured—"

"Oh, you figured," said Jackson. "If I can ever get some of you pin-heads to remember that I'm supposed to do the figuring around here . . . well, let it go. Go on back there now, lunkhead, and the next time you find anybody wandering around loose give us a call—don't come in yourself."

The guard departed, obviously relieved to get away with no worse rebuke than this. Jean was left alone, facing America's Number One public enemy.

He eyed her coldly, his washed-out eyes seeming more lifeless than ever in the dim lamplight. "Just where was you going?" he asked her.

She gestured helplessly with one hand. "Back—to town," she said. "Back to town? What town?" "Oh—again she moved one hand in a meaningless gesture. "Any town. I don't know. I just wanted to get away."

He looked at her silently for a moment, she said. "Oh, and now you do know, you don't like it. Is that it?"

She nodded. Standing under his inhuman stare, she felt that she knew just how a bird felt when it looked, helpless, into the hypnotizing eye of a snake.

"What's the matter with you, don't you like us? We're nice people." His voice was edged with clumsy sarcasm. She made no reply.

"You like that boy friend of yours first rate, don't you?" he continued. "You went for him plenty, I understand, before this."

Her heart sank, as she realized that this, indeed, was the very worst thing about it; that she had let herself in for all of it by giving way to a senseless infatuation for Sandy Harkins. She had discarded the honest and loyal affection of a youth like Bobby Wallace to cast her fortunes with an outlaw!

She found herself nodding miserably. "Well, what's the matter, then?" asked Jackson. "He's just as nice now as he was before. Still brushes his hair the same way and wears the same kind of clothes. DEATH TAKES LIVES OF 150 ON CHRISTMAS

36 ARE KILLED IN A GERMAN TRAIN WRECK

(By The Associated Press.)
Disaster and death marked the Christmas holiday at home and abroad. The toll of lives, including 36 killed in a German train wreck, exceeded 150.

Traffic accidents took the heaviest toll. Crime, fire, and exposure claimed other victims. Domestic disturbances accounted for several deaths. John Rogers, 56, Philadelphia, killed his wife, his mother-in-law, his three children and himself. Joseph McElroy, 17, was accused of shooting to death his stepmother, Mrs. Lillian McElroy, in another Philadelphia affair.

At Butte, Mont., Frank Walsh, 24, and Policeman Tom O'Neil, 37, were killed and two other persons were wounded in a boarding house disturbance. Police sought Harry Knight as the suspected slayer.

Arthur Blake Maness killed his infant child, wounded his estranged wife and killed himself at Carthage, N. C.

A woman was burned to death in a Hot Springs, Ark., theater fire, another woman and two children died in Oklahoma residence blazes; a father and his two children burned to death in New York; a woman was burned to death at Stockton, Calif.

A freezing cold was blamed for deaths in Illinois, Minnesota, North Dakota, Indiana, Missouri, Iowa, Arizona, New Jersey, and two in Wisconsin.

Suicides gave a macabre twist to the Christmas celebrations. At Kansas City, Kas., Mrs. Alline Thompson found a farewell note on her Christmas tree, her husband dead of carbon monoxide poisoning in the basement.

Ten died in Missouri traffic accidents; Texas counted 17 dead in auto crashes and one in the premature explosion of a cannon.

Other traffic fatalities included: Illinois, 9; Oklahoma, 4; Georgia, 8; Washington, 3; Kansas, 3; Michigan, 6; Los Angeles, 8; Florida, 2; Ohio, 6; Indiana, 5; Massachusetts, 3.

She ran upstairs and fled to the room that had been assigned to her. Once inside, she hastily locked the door, then she dropped on the bed, wishing that she could ease her emotions with a torrent of tears, but finding herself utterly unable to do so.

She did not know how long she stayed there, staring up, wide-eyed, into the darkness overhead, while a thousand self-reproaches raced through her mind. At last, unable from sheer nervousness to lie still any longer, she got up and walked aimlessly to the window. There she slumped down on the floor, her chin resting on the window sill.

The wind had risen, and she could hear the waves beating on the shore of the lake quite plainly now. There was a moon, too, peering through a thin cloud-rack and filling the clearing with a misty, ghostly half-light. For a long time she remained there despondently, looking down at the unkept lawn.

Then, in the shadows beyond the carriage house, a movement caught her eye. She looked more closely. A man was walking around the outbuilding, coming up the path toward the house. There was something familiar about him—something about the way he held his head, the way he walked.

He came closer and closer, walking steadily up to the house, and as Jean looked down she recognized him—and thought that her heart would stop beating from sheer, overpowering joy. For the man was Larry Glenn. He held a pistol in one hand, and he stalked up onto the porch, where she could no longer see him, and hammered thunderously on the great oaken door.

"I am a Department of Justice agent, and we have the place surrounded," he called out in a loud voice. "If you'll come out peacefully, no one will be hurt."

There was a tense silence. Then, somewhere below, came the crash of a gun going off, and another, and another. Quick spurts of flame stabbed through the darkness beyond the lawn. Larry Glenn leaped down from the porch and slipped behind a tree trunk near the corner of the house. A racket more intense and fiendish than anything Jean had ever dreamed of split the night air—shots, yells, the evil spatter of bullets against stone, the splintering of woodwork, the jangling crash of broken windows—

And then, from sheer excess of nerve strain, Jean Dunn fell to the floor in a faint.

DIONNE PARENTS BARRED FROM SEEING QUINTS ON WEDNESDAY

CALLANDER, Ont., Dec. 25 (AP)—The Dionne quintuplets, having seen their second Christmas come and go, frolicked today among enough toys to last them at least until next Christmas.

The guardians of the five sisters were expected to pursue the same policy throughout 1936 as they did in this year, giving Annette, Cecile, Emilie, Marie and Yvonne each one present to play with until it is worn out or broken and then replacing it with new ones from the store.

Breakage runs high with the vigorous little girls, and as they reach more venturesome age new precautions are becoming more and more necessary.

Dr. A. R. Lafoe, their physician guardian, has installed shatter-proof glass in the hospital windows, and has introduced unbreakable dishes and crockery into the quintuplets' cupboard.

While Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne and the five elder brothers and sisters of the quintuplets were guests at the Pales hospital for Christmas dinner yesterday they did not even enter the nursery. The parents and other children stood outside the glass panes from which visitors look into the nursery and waved and called "Merry Christmas" to the quintuplets. As the members of the family left, all received presents from the babies.

Cecile caused some Christmas day excitement. While two nurses were out of the nursery, she managed to get the door open and was headed for the great world beyond when she was caught.

Negro Is Shot In Foot; Police Hunting Woman

A negro woman was the object of a search by city officers this morning. She was wanted for questioning in connection with the shooting of a negro, Willie Jefferson, about 8 o'clock last night.

The shooting occurred in the "flat" and officers, who answered the call, learned that a negro woman handled the gun. Jefferson was shot through one foot. After receiving emergency treatment at Worley hospital, he was able to be taken to his home.

The officers hunted for the woman last night but failed to find her. They expected to apprehend her today.

to improve Sino-Japanese relations," the Japanese embassy spokesman said, "and were largely responsible for staving off a crisis in North China, which would be inevitable without wise diplomacy."

Motive Political

Chinese government sources expressed profound shock at Tang's death. Recalling the charm and amiability of their colleague, they said this precluded any likelihood that personal motives prompted the assassination.

French police, in whose district the slaying occurred, insisted the motive probably was political.

Japanese newspapers asserted editorially that repeated assassinations of pro-Japanese statesmen of the Chinese central government might force Nanking to pursue an anti-Japanese policy.

A detachment of bayonet-armed Japanese marines swarmed into the Hankow district here after a bomb exploded in front of a Japanese hotel.

They were withdrawn, however, when it was learned the blast was accidental.

Japanese reports said a bomb, picked up in the Chapel one-time war zone by a Chinese gar picker was dropped accidentally when the man collided with a pedestrian.

Killers Escape

Two Chinese were injured by the explosion.

Armed patrols of Japanese sailors marched the streets of the Hongkong area, however, as a precaution against any further incidents arising from the death of Tang.

The vice-minister for railways fell dead under a blast of gunfire turned upon him just after he left his automobile last night to enter a house in the French concession.

His chauffeur, describing the shooting to police, said Tang was killed by two men in Chinese dress who fired on him seven times at close range.

The killers escaped.

Three officers were critically burned as they jumped through windows or forced doors and fled their quarters with 14 other officers when the fire, fed by tar paper roofing, swept through the long L-shaped one-story building.

The dead were:

Captain Edwin W. Boothby, 37, of Watertown, Mass., assistant inspector of CCC camps in the sixth district of the first corps (New England) area of the U. S. army. He was married a month ago.

Scientist Dies Of Meningitis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP)—Medical science claimed the life Christmas night of Anna Pabst, young laboratory assistant at the national institute of health, who contracted meningitis in line of duty.

Miss Pabst, an experienced technician and co-author of several scientific articles, was inoculating an animal with meningitis culture on December 17, when the animal moved and some of the culture squirted into her eye.

Though all possible immediate steps were taken to cleanse the eye from the deadly injection, Miss Pabst contracted the disease. She became ill while Christmas shopping December 21, and was taken to an emergency hospital where she died last night.

as well as concerned with nicotine. Perhaps those persons who must smoke 50 cigarettes a day are just big babies and don't realize it!

PROBABLY SOME alphabetical worker in justifying his pay check invented the robot, which shocked Uncle Sam the other day how to smoke to avoid nicotine. The robot proved that a moist cigarette, half smoked, retains most of its nicotine, while a dry one fully smoked gives the smoker the largest amount. But Uncle Sam stopped short of doing something more worthwhile—he failed to determine the harmful effect of nicotine inhaled with tobacco smoke.

That cigarette harm some folks is beyond dispute. Certain types of stomach ailments make persons sensitive not only to tobacco, but to sugar, starchy foods, coffee, and to many kinds of medicines which are taken in hope of relief.

We think it an observation of merit that Mother Nature provides the antidote for most of man's excesses and troubles. Nature prescribes regularity, moderation, rest, simplicity, and in her various forms provides all that man needs to be healthy. She also in playful mood furnished an abundance of opportunity for mischief. The key to health is in an understanding of man's relation to the nature of which he is a part. Few of us rest enough and eat as our needs dictate. We drift into abnormal conditions which make common foods as damaging to us as tobacco or whiskey. Personal discipline should be the strongest enemy of drunkenness or excess in any form. And all excesses that are harmful are fundamentally wrong, regardless of whether society approves or taboos them.

Second Capital Well Comes in OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 26 (AP)—A second oil well near the governor's mansion and Oklahoma's state capitol was drilled in today for an initial test of 290 barrels of oil an hour and an estimated 6,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day. The well is the British American's Mary Green three blocks north of the mansion.

The well was completed at 6,354 feet in the Wilcox sand which was capped at 6,319 feet.

Although the Mary Green was the discovery well of the capitol area and averaged 150 barrels of oil an hour when it drilled down to 6,365 feet recently, it was shut down when a swab hung up in the well. It was then plugged back to 6,275 feet and another hole started from that point.

Last week the British American's No. 1 Piersol, a block north of the governor's mansion, was drilled in for an estimated 550 barrels of oil an hour and 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day.

Fugitive Gives Up at Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Dec. 26 (AP)—Jack King, 32, chose Christmas night to begin "squaring accounts" with the State of Texas.

He went to the sheriff's office here last night, told Deputy Sheriff Bedford F. Carpenter he had violated a penitentiary furlough in 1931, and asked to be jailed.

Carpenter refused to jail King, but wired the prison system for verification of the story.

A few minutes after King, who had served six months of a two-year sentence for forgery, returned to the jail today, a telegram verifying his story was received.

King, who was penniless, is held for prison officials.

Joe Louis' Gesture

Max Baer and Joe Louis, who squared off in the year's biggest boxing match, made quite a splash with wedding rings, too. Playboy Baer sprang a surprise by marrying quiet, plump Mary Ellen Sullivan in Washington, Louis, crown prince of boxing, staged a superb gesture by marrying Marva Trotter, toast of the 1935 Henmen, just before he entered the ring to strike down Baer.

Washington offered the year's outstanding November-June romance—the marriage of Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, 71, and Nurse Doris I. Cross, 26. Said the senator: "Every year I am getting younger, and there's nothing I can do about it."

Mrs. Eugene Vidal, wife of the chief of the bureau of air commerce, won a Reno divorce after 13 years of marriage, three months later married Hugh R. Auchincloss, wealthy Washington investment broker.
