WORDS by O.E.H. Words are things - - -

By OTHER WRITERS L. D. and MOLLIE SHAW in Higgins News—Just because a lad happens to be born on a farm is no good reason to suppose he will be a successful farmer; nor is the son of a merchant always cut out to be a merchant. This applies to all other trades and professions. But, on the other hand, if youngsters have practical, working knowledge of some trade or profession, if the time comes when a job is needed they will be able to take up the work and fit in, where an inexperienced applicant is turned down.

GROOM NEWS—Dad Lingo says he saw a sign in an Amarillo library which read "Low Conversation Permitted."

KATHRYN STANTON in Clovis News-Journal—Christmas gift suggestion: Why not buy a muffler for dad or the back seat driver?

HUBERT H. HEATH in Hot Springs, N. M. Herald—At Christmas season we are disposed to have quite a bit to say about peace on earth but at other times it is apt to be like Mark Twain said about the weather, no one seems to do much of anything about it.

GEORGE H. HILL in Roswell Dispatch—The United States has shown no inclination to become embroiled in another European war. Multiple reasons have been put forth, all entirely sane and sensible. But we noticed something else, which we believe should be outstanding reason for not joining the melee, no matter how enticing the offer of those now playing the major parts.

The parade of the 'no' messages on payments due on the ancient war debts has started.

THE PANHANDLER in Panhandle Herald—Pampa is a well paved city, but we believe that it continues with its reputation of being the muddiest place in the Panhandle when it rains. Was over there the other day and its chief streets could not have been muddier, if they had deliberately hauled mud in the business section.

D. A. DAVIS in McLean News—You know, folks, I think these United States of ours is the most wonderful place in the world. Just as soon as we get the football season off our hands, here comes basketball, and when basketball season is over, here comes old man golf and baseball to keep us all hot and bothered until the football season comes around again.

THE APOSTLE in Donley County Leader—The fellow who wrote "Love Thy Neighbor" evidently had never lived in an apartment house where the several neighbors under the same roof owned two pianos, five radios and a bozo was trying to learn to play the saxophone.

HENRY DESKINS WELLS in Wellington Leader—Although the birth of Christ is the event which is supposed to be celebrated on Xmas we are more and more inclined, as a recent writer suggested, to celebrate Santa Claus on December 25. Certainly in the minds of most persons the giving and receiving of gifts holds a larger place than the holy event, which the day commemorates.

AROUND TOWN in Hereford Brand—Grant Fuller says he is always asked the question: "When are we going to have moisture?" So in order to settle the question for once and for all, he made his prediction for the entire year, starting with last Tuesday, when he predicted snow. He also says: February 8, snow; March 17, cold wind and snow; April 14, rain; June 10, rain; July 24, rain; August 24, rain; September 20, rain; October 14, rain and November 10, snow. Now Grant we want to know just how much of this snow or rain we will have on each of these days.

CLYDE W. WARWICK in Canyon News—Many a good town of today will be a ghost town tomorrow if the local people are not more loyal to their home people. It is a good time for very, very serious thought on the part of those who are trying to keep the small towns alive.

I Heard...

John Hessey howling with glee as he told about two men arguing about the Greenville-Corpus Christi football game. One finally bet the other $5 that Corpus Christi would win. They called in a third party to hold the stake. The funny thing was that the bet was made Friday night, four hours after the game had been played. Greenville had won, 45 to 0.

C. A. "Slick" McMurray asking Santa Claus for a pair of overalls and a watch. Santa told him that he would look up his record so "Slick" said, "Just bring me the overalls."

LINDBERGH TO LIVE IN ENGLAND

GALLES FLAYS GARDENAS AS A 'COMMUNIST'

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 23. (AP)—Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles reiterated today his decision to remain in Mexico despite the massing of 20,000 workers who paraded before the national palace yesterday and demanded his expulsion. The one-time "strong man" and former president described the address of President Lazaro Cardenas to the workers as that of "any communist" and said it was "filled with political passion."

Faces Prison

Convicted of perjury in telling a senatorial committee he received no financial aid when he ran for U. S. senator in 1930 against his famed namesake, George W. Norris, former Broken Bow, Neb., grocer, shown here in a new picture, faces a possible maximum sentence of five years and a $2,000 fine. Sentence will be passed in Lincoln, Neb., federal court on January 2.

FLIER SAILS AT MIDNIGHT WITH FAMILY

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh—the flying colonel, and his wife, and their small son, Jon—have left America to establish a home in England. An increased number of threats and a growing dread of kidnapers, it was said by persons close to them, were responsible in part for their decision, which was also influenced by activity in behalf of the convicted kidnaper and murderer of their firstborn.

Hauptmann Files Pardons Petition

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 23. (AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's petition for clemency was filed today with the court of pardons. The petition was filed by Col. Mark O. Kimberlin, principal keeper at the state prison, who sent a messenger with 6 copies of it to Albert R. Hermann, the clerk of the pardons court. The contents of the petition were not made public, in conformity with a rule of the court that such material must not be published unless the court so permits by vote. At the same time it was learned definitely that one of the eight members of the court of pardons would not be able to take part in the deliberations on the Hauptmann petition.

'WHITE KNIGHT' TO PRESS FOR OIL EMBARGO

SANCTIONS EXTENSION WILL BE PUSHED BY LEAGUE

By DEVON FRANCIS Associated Press Staff Writer Efforts toward developing a "solid military front" against possible Italian aggression in the Mediterranean were reported successful in Europe today.

From London came word that the British and French general staffs have concluded satisfactory consultations concerning mutual support by the armies and navies of Great Britain and France in case of an Italian attack.

Negotiations were reported opened in Paris among Premier Laval of France and Turkey and Greece with the same end in mind.

Laval was said to have told the Italian ambassador that he would offer no new peace terms to Premier Mussolini.

As for the active military angle, the Italian government stated its forces in northern Ethiopia had beaten off an attack of 5,000 Ethiopian warriors.

Anthony Eden, the "white knight" of the League of Nations, assumed control of British foreign policy today with a mandate to stop the Italo-Ethiopian war by international pressure.

The issue of war or peace in Europe, hinging on the success of league sanctions backed by the bayonets of member nations, rested largely in his hands.

Italy was both apprehensive and bitter over his appointment as British foreign minister.

A wave of popular approval greeted Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's selection of the 39-year-old former minister for league affairs to conduct the foreign policy of the British nation through the most anxious times in post-war history.

Informed sources said Eden's first duty would be to formulate in detail the British policy for armed resistance in the event Italy attacked any league state because of the sanctions siege.

The appointment, informed sources said, was a surprise.

LIFE IN 1935

5. Ethiopia Becomes World's Powder Keg

BY HERBERT YAHRAS, Associated Press Staff Writer. A story glamorous as a tale from the Arabian Nights and grim as a diary from Plandem's trenches climbed to a commanding place in 1935's headlines.

So far as John Smith was concerned at the moment, the big news of October 2 came from Detroit, detailing the opening battle of the world's greatest American epic, the world series.

But he would not dispute that for posterity the day was marked by news that thundered from the distant borderland between Italy's Eritrea and independent Ethiopia—the war had started—It Duce's legions were on the march.

The curtain had been long in going up on the African drama. All through the year had run that ominous refrain—"War... in Ethiopia... when the rainy season ends."

Troop ships sail for Africa. Ethiopia appeals to the league, another

BACK TO THE BRANDING IRON

Blacksmiths in the ranching counties report a big increase in the making of branding irons. Cattle rustling has become so serious in recent months that stockmen who have been neglecting to brand their animals now want them carefully marked so that they can be identified if stolen and taken to market. At many markets cattle brands are being carefully checked.

Most people have assumed that the practice of cattle rustling passed long ago. It is true that herds are no longer stampeded and driven off under gunfire, as in the day when longhorns were driven to Kansas or the later day when Jack Garner made his name known as a prosecutor of cattle thieves. Cattle stealing in Texas is still serious, however. The modern rustler uses a truck and takes only a few animals from each herd.

The curbing of cattle rustling is still one of the major activities of the Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association, formed in 1877. The association keeps inspectors on the ranges and at the major marketing centers and retains a staff of lawyers to prosecute rustlers. From twenty-five to fifty cattle thieves are prosecuted each year. The hardest ones to catch are the "tree-shade" butchers who kill the stolen animals at night, bury the hides and sell the meat.

Two generations ago Texas cattlemen took care of rustlers with six-shooters and ropes. Those methods are unavailable today; but Texas does have laws which, if vigorously enforced, would make cattle thieving a hazardous and unprofitable occupation. Vigilance on the ranches and at the markets and relentless prosecution of rustlers as they are caught should again relegate the subject of cattle thieving from newspaper pages to those of Western "pulp" magazines.—Dallas News.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—With all the humility which most lawyers feel is becoming to a layman, it is suggested that many of the attorneys have long been biting the hand that fed them and that the hand now has bitten back.

More than 2,500 suits have been filed against the government as a result of New Deal legislation. If you were to guess that the average cost of fighting such cases up and through the supreme court was $50,000 (some cost hundreds of thousands), you could figure that there was a possible $125,000,000—mostly in legal fees—for the lawyers of the country to scramble for.

Anyway, that's the idea, even though the figures may be cockeyed.

Now comes the government, through Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, in a move that is likely to take millions in fees out of their reach. Faced with 50 widely scattered suits against the public utility holding company act and the threat of 50 more, Cummings asked the federal district court here to hold everything until the government could get a U. S. Supreme Court decision on its main case against the Electric Bond & Share company.

"Of course," said Cummings, "many attorneys will be professionally disappointed."

What he meant was that many attorneys would be financially agonized. For the big money in these cases comes from the work in the circuit courts of appeals and the supreme court itself.

His plea was calculated to break the hearts of some of the world's biggest and best corporation lawyers and a host of smaller fry in New York, Washington, Philadelphia, and other places.

There's some heavy gasping going on here because this was the first time an attorney general had ever appeared in a mere district court, because this was the first time the government had ever fought back in such manner against a myriad of lawsuits, and because Cummings made the unprecedented promise that if federal district courts were going to deny his plea, the government would let the utilities get all the injunctions they liked without contest while it kept concentrating on the Electric Bond & Share case.

It was a bad shock to lawyers for the holding companies, whose spokesmen had been boasting that the government would have to get together with them and agree on four or five suits as test cases.

Those lawyers were hard put to explain why, since they all insisted the act be voided as unconstitutional in its entirety, a straight clear-cut test couldn't be had in a case involving the best known and most widespread holding company.

John H. Higgins, of the enormous and expensive Wall Street firm of Sullivan & Cromwell, even told the court it had no power to do any such thing and cast so many aspersions around that some of the utility Washington counsel began to whisper about the genius of New York big shots in "coming down to the provinces and saying the wrong thing."

Whatever the judge decides, the government will concentrate on the E. B. & S. case and let the rest go hang.

In so doing, it probably will ruin the "power trust" strategy of "ganging up" to bring more suits than it possibly could defend.

The Bostonian's announcement that his Santa Claus whisker business is the best in six years isn't startling. Just figure the federal bureau trade alone.

Ten Below Zero And Quintuplets Snooze Outside

GALLANDER, Ont., Dec. 23. (AP)—The Dionne quintuplets slept outdoors in 10 below zero weather today just to prove Jean Hersholt wasn't spoofing Hollywood when he reported the youngsters slept in sub-zero temperatures.

Hersholt, who made part of a moving picture here with the quintuplets, mentioned on his return to the movie capital that he was amazed the youngsters braved 20 below almost daily during the long northern winter.

He might have taken his story well beyond that point. Wrapped in warm blankets and fur robes, the youngsters slept on their veranda when the mercury dropped to 40 below "last winter and already this month have been out when it registered 17 below.

They never are frostbitten. When bundled for their sleep and placed in their prams there is little but five stubby noses for the frost to attack. Shaws cover their foreheads and chins. They never have had a cold.

Dr. Allan Dafoe, the quintuplets' physician, believes the hours the girls have spent outdoors have been a large factor in their development into healthy children.

The city of Jodhpur, India, established in 1459, is surrounded by a strong wall six miles long with seven gates.

ARKY VAUGHAN TAKES LEAGUE STICK HONORS

MEDWICK SECOND AND HARTNETT IS THIRD

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—The stars of yesterday were conspicuously absent from the higher positions in the National League batting averages for the 1935 season.

While none of the ten top-ranking regulars were out-and-out rookies, only three made the leading group the previous season. The contrast was just as sharp in the lowered averages of the 1934 pace setters.

The official averages reveal that (Arky) Vaughan lifted his average from .333 a year ago to win the batting crown with .385, succeeding his teammate, Paul Waner. The elder of the Waner brothers dropped to twelfth place, his average falling from .362 to .321.

Bill Terry of the Giants, second a year ago at .354 and sixth in 1935 at .346, and John Moore of the Phillies were the only other regulars in the first ten. Moore retained tenth place among the regulars although his average dropped from .330 to .323.

Notable newcomers to the high group were Hank Leiber of New York and Frank Demaree of Chicago. Leiber was not rated as a "regular" in 1934, playing in only 63 games and batting .341.

Here are the 1935 leaders, with their records for the previous season.

Crowd Of 21,000 Expected At Greenville-Sandie Game

Amarillo to Practice At Denton for Battle

DALLAS, Dec. 23. (AP)—Arrangements were under way today to accommodate a crowd of 21,000 at the Texas schoolboy football championship contest between the Greenville Lions and the Amarillo Golden Sandies in the Southern Methodist stadium here next Saturday.

The Sandies, 1934 champions, swept into the finals Saturday by defeating the Wichita Falls Coyotes 27 to 12, at Amarillo, the Lions clinched a place in the final game a day earlier by trouncing Corpus Christi, 45 to 0, at Greenville.

It was at Dallas that Coach Blair Cherry's Sandies beat Corpus Christi last year in the title game. About 21,000 persons saw the game.

P. C. Cobb, director of Dallas high school athletics who is helping arrange for the championship battle, said he believed Saturday's game would attract fully as many persons as did the Amarillo-Corpus Christi tussle last year.

"I see no reason why we shouldn't equal the 1934 mark," Cobb said. "There are plenty of seats to accommodate as many persons as attended the title game last year. I believe the presence of Greenville in the contest will bring more team followers than were attracted last year, Greenville being so close to Dallas."

Cobb said fifty-yard line tickets were ready for sale at the downtown headquarters here today. He said the tickets were for reserved seats and that general admission tickets would not go on sale until Saturday.

Stiff training was planned for the Sandies at Amarillo today, tomorrow and Wednesday before Coach Elmer Cherry moves to Denton to continue his drills through Friday.

The Lions will remain on their home lot for training and will come to Dallas a short time before game time.

Decision to play the title game on neutral ground was made at a conference between Coach Berry, Coach Henry Frink of Greenville and school officials at Amarillo Saturday night.

TEXAS POLO STARS LEFT OUT OF LINEUP TO PLAY ENGLISH

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—The stars from Texas and the Pacific coast, who have cut large figures in American polo during the last few years, are not included in the squad named today by the United States Polo association to face England in the renewal of the Westchester cup matches next summer.

Headed by Tommy Hitchcock, again the world's only ten-goal player, the five players are drawn entirely from eastern fields.

Named with Hitchcock are four young players, each handicapped at four goals: Winston Guest, Elbridge T. (Eby) Gerry, Michael G. Phillips and Stewart B. Iglehart. William Post, 11, also was invited to make the trip but declined for business reasons.

Robert E. Strawbridge Jr., himself a seven-goal player and a capable substitute, was chosen team manager. This team will renew the competition for the historic trophy for the first time since 1930 at the Hurlingham club, London, July 10, 13 and 20.

It will be the first American invasion for cup competition since 1921. The series will alternate between Hurlingham and the Meadow Brook club, Long Island.

The absence of western players is seen not only as a result of the failure of all but Cecil Smith of Texas to play in the major tournaments last year, but as a concession to the English style of play, where the softer turf places more emphasis on short passing and less on long hitting.

44 FOOTBALL STARS GATHER FOR EAST-WEST GRID BATTLE

TWELFTH MAN IN GAME WAS ODDDEST EVENT

IDENTITY OF PLAYER IS MYSTERY OF SEASON

By ALAN GOULD Associated Reports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—The oddest happening of the year on any field of American sport was the volunteer appearance of a spectator as a "twelfth man" in Dartmouth's football lineup against Princeton.

This, at least, is the conclusion drawn from the fifth annual Associated Press poll of sports experts, who gave this particular oddity wide preference over all other unusual developments of 1935.

The incident had an appropriate setting. Playing in a raging snowstorm, Dartmouth was being pushed all over the soggy gridiron by the ferocious attack of the Tigers. Backed up against their own goal line, late in the game, the Indians needed help.

As Princeton called signals on third down, with scarcely a yard to go for a touchdown, a spectator leaped from the stands, raced across the end zone and took a place in the Dartmouth line before officials could stop him or the play.

The Tigers, somewhat startled, executed their line smash uncertainly and failed to score. The "twelfth man" was summarily removed and Princeton then scored.

A dispute over the identity of the spectator enlivened the aftermath. A Rahway, N. J., lunch wagon employe claimed the distinction, but broke down on the way to the Yale-Princeton game as a guest of the Yales, and admitted he wasn't the right man.

Here's another version of the extra-man situation: During the Susquehanna-Pennsylvania Military college football game, Susquehanna's quarterback noticed his side had 12 men on the field. He ran a play to the sidelines and the extra man grabbed a seat on the bench.

Golf's oddest, most spectacular contribution to the 1935 novelties was Gene Sarazen's "double eagle" in the Augusta invitation tournament.

Sarazen, needing birdies on three of the last four holes to tie Craig Wood, got their equivalent with one shot when he holed out a 220-yard spoon wallop for a deuce on the par-five 15th hole. Par on the last three holes enabled Sarazen to clinch the deadlock. He beat Wood in the playoff the next day. Pitching for both sides at inter-

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23. (AP)—Forty-four football stars, the pick of collegiate gridirons of 1935, assembled here Saturday to prepare for the annual East-West charity game on New Year's day.

The Eastern squad of 22 players, accompanied by Coaches Andy Kerr and Dick Hanley, arrived to receive a tumultuous welcome at the Perry building.

Coach Kerr expressed the belief it was the strongest Eastern team since 1931, when the East won its last game 6 to 0. The little Colgate mentor declared "we have four good blockers, four outstanding passers and kickers and a better balanced team than in years. The West has been winning too many games to suit us. We're going to buckle down to practice tomorrow and there won't be a let-up until the kick-off."

The squad includes nine players who were captains this year.

Coaches Percy Lacey and Orin Hollingsberry checked in the last of their 22 Western men this morning. Both squads joined in a parade to the city hall where Mayor Angelo Rossi extended official greetings.

Regular practice started yesterday, with the Eastern team training at the University of California and the West making its headquarters at Palo Alto and drilling at Stanford university.

There was a keener race among the part-time catchers for the highest average. Virgil (Spud) Davis of St. Louis, who alternated with Bill DeLoach, made a 592 average against 590 for Earl Grace of Pittsburgh and 590 for Frank Hogan of Boston. Davis played in 91 games as compared to Hartnett's 110; Grace in 69 and Hogan in 56.

A total of 18 pitchers had perfect fielding records but Schumacher easily took the lead by handling 18 chances, more than twice as many as his nearest rival, Guy Bush of Pittsburgh.

Hartnett made a unique record when he copped the place as best fielding catcher for the third year in succession. It was the eleventh year of his long major league career in which he had caught 100 games or more and the sixth in succession. The only other repeater was Terry Both were among the leading batters of the season as well.

The St. Louis Cardinals edged out New York's Giants for the club fielding leadership by the margin of .9227 to .9220 with the Cubs third at .9170. Chicago, however, led in double plays with 163 twin killings with Herman figuring in 109 of them. Cincinnati and Philadelphia made the only triple plays. The league as a whole established a new low record by making only 14,167 assists, displacing the 1934 mark of 14,276.

Mustangs Will Leave for West In Three Days

Practice Before the Mustangs En Route for the West Coast

DALLAS, Dec. 23. (AP)—Coach Matty Bell ordered hard scrimmage behind locked gates for his Southern Methodist Mustangs today as the Ponies started polishing plays for use against Stanford in the Rose Bowl game Jan. 1.

Only three days remained for practice before the Mustangs en route for the west coast Thursday noon and Bell ordered two-hour rehearsals for today, tomorrow and Wednesday.

Bell indicated that scrimmage sessions would be repeated tomorrow. Third-stringers have been equipped with Stanford plays to offer opposition for the varsity in defensive and offensive practice.

The Mustang mentor said he hoped to iron out rough spots in the final training sessions. He added that his charges would have to buckle down to business to redeem themselves for the poor showing they made in scrimmage last week when the reserves completely outplayed the regulars.

FIELDING HONORS GO TO EXPERIENCED PLAYERS

By HUGH S. FULLERTON

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—The veterans of the baseball wars had the edge in the annual struggle with youth for National League fielding honors during the 1935 season.

The official records today reveal that while the speedy youngsters compiled many of the highest marks, players who had been piling up experience over a longer stretch gained the leading places on the basis of the full season's play.

Taking 100 games as a minimum for a competition in which the leaders in the various positions were:

First base—Bill Terry, New York, .966; second base—Billy Herman, Chicago, .964; third base—John Vergez, Philadelphia, .973; shortstop—Bill Jurgens, Chicago, .960; pitcher—Mel Ott, New York, .960; catcher—Charles (Gabby) Harnett, Chicago, .984; pitcher—Hal Schumacher, New York, 1.000.

The leadership in most of the infield positions and behind the plate was open to dispute as the 100-game players were few and far between. At second, for example, Jimmy Jordan of Brooklyn fielded .983 in 46 games and Frankie Frisch, St. Louis manager, .982 in 89 games, just beating out his alternate, Burgess Whitehead. Jimmy Bucher of Brooklyn made a .982 mark in 39 games at third.

Christian Frogs Settle Down to Hard Scrimmage

FORT WORTH, Dec. 23. (AP)—The Texas Christian Horned Frogs, a week of leisurely practice behind them, were ready to get down to hard work today in preparation for their Sugar bowl game with Louisiana State New Year's day.

Coach "Dutch" Meyer ordered a light scrimmage in which he planned to polish the Frogs' blocking.

The Frogs went through light practice sessions last week on their own initiative, the coaches not ordering regular drills until today.

Many of the regulars put in extra time on class work last week instead of attending practice.

George (Dutch) Kline will be one of the key men on the Frog team in the post-season classic. The speedy halfback has been a consistent ground gainer all season. He likely will be in the starting lineup instead of Rex Clark, who is nursing injuries.

Along with his speed and ball carrying ability, Kline is a fine blocker. In the starting backfield with the speedster will be Sam Baugh, the passing man, Jimmy Lawrence and Taldon Mouton.

Rockne Trophy Will Be Given Ponies Tonight

DALLAS, Dec. 23. (AP)—The Knute K. Rockne memorial trophy of the national football championship will be presented to the Southern Methodist Mustangs tonight.

Prof. Frank G. Dickson of the University of Illinois, the man who devised the system by which the Mustangs, personally will present the trophy at the annual S. M. U. alumni banquet.

Coach Mason Bell's Mustangs went through the season with 12 victories and no losses and were selected to play Stanford in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

Members of the team will be introduced at the banquet.

SUCCESSOR TO BLIND SENATOR TO BE NAMED

SCHALL DEATH SPURS SAFE-DRIVING CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP)—The passing of Senator Thomas David Schall, blind 58-year-old republican from Minnesota who died yesterday from injuries suffered when he was hit by a motor car, appeared certain today to spur efforts to curb the automobile accident menace.

Coming as it did on the same day when 14 persons lost their lives in the plunge of a bus through an open drawbridge at Hopewell, Va., the death served to emphasize the rising tide of automobile accidents, which took 36,000 lives last year.

Senator Borah of Idaho said: "I wonder how long this reckless destruction of life will go on" and it seemed likely that more would be heard on the subject at the coming session of congress.

The death of Schall, a flaming critic of the new deal, also created uncertainty in the political situation in Minnesota. He had intended to seek re-election to the senate against Governor Floyd B. Olson, farmer-laborite, who is a candidate. Political observers in Minnesota wondered who will be chosen now as Olson's opponent in the 1936 race. As for the unexpected term, Olson said he had no intention of having himself appointed to fill it. He said he would name a successor to Schall soon.

Schall was struck down Thursday night as he attempted to cross a highway on the arm of his secretary near his home in a Maryland suburb of the capital. He died at 11:31 a. m. yesterday without ever regaining consciousness. His injuries included a fractured skull, a crushed leg and internal hurts.

Vice President Garner and Speaker Byrnes will name a committee to attend the funeral of the blind senator who had served almost two decades in the senate and house. The body will start from here tomorrow for Minneapolis, where the funeral will be held at 2:30 p. m. Thursday, with burial in Lakewood cemetery.

At the funeral will be the survivors: The widow, two sons, Richard and Thomas Jr., and a daughter, Paget Ann.

Thoxine Loosens Phlegm—Brings Quick Relief

If you have a "common cold" settled in your throat, relief comes fast when you take pure, swift-acting Thoxine—newly improved and better than ever now.

One swallow helps raise and expel phlegm—soothes rawness and hasty swallowing—and relieves the sore throat and cough.

Thoxine—swallow as you swallow, then acts internally too. Hence so superior to gargles. Try it! If not delighted, get your money back. 35c, 60c, $1.00 bottles. FATHEREE DRUG COMPANY. (Adv.)

OH, WHAT FUN! THE LITTLE MEN ARE BLOWING BUBBLES!

HUSH! THEY ARE THE KIND OF MEN WHO ARE SPENDING THEIR LIVES MAKING BEAUTIFUL DREAMS FOR LITTLE CHILDREN

I DON'T SEE ANY DREAMS

NOBODY EVER DOES—DREAMS ARE MADE OF VERY DELICATE STUFF—THE LIGHTEST TOUCH WOULD DESTROY THEM—SO WHEN THE GOOD MEN FINISH A DREAM, THEY BLOW IT INTO A SOAP BUBBLE!

THEN THE DREAM BUBBLE FLOATS AMONG THE CLOUDS, UNTIL IT FINDS A MOONBEAM PEEKING INTO A SLEEPING CHILD'S WINDOW

THEN THE DREAM BUBBLE SUDES DOWN ALONG THE MOONBEAM UNTIL IT TOUCHES THE CHILD'S HEART—AND THEN THE DREAM REMAINS IN THE CHILD'S HEART FOREVER AND EVER.

OH, THAT SOUNDS LOVELY!

RAINY SEASON ON WAR FRONT IS WELCOMED

LEAGUE HOPES NATURE MAY TAKE PLACE OF SANCTIONS

BY RICHARD G. MASSOCK, Associated Press Foreign Staff. PARIS, Dec. 23 (AP)—Usually well-informed sources said today that the French government hopes nature may take the place of the League of Nations in directing new sanctions against Italy.

It was stated that the government was inclined to delay action on the proposed oil embargo against Italy when the league council meets in January in the hope that the start of the Ethiopian rainy season in February will halt the Italian campaign.

Ambassador Cerruti of Italy visited Premier Laval today in a continuation of their series of conferences on the Italo-Ethiopian war as it affects Europe.

Laval was reported to have told Cerruti that he was unable to undertake the negotiation of new peace terms for submission to Premier Mussolini of Italy.

Plans for the Mediterranean powers to aid each other in fighting off any Italian attack were discussed by Premier Laval with Tzveti Ruzic, Aras, foreign minister of Turkey, and with Nicolas Socrates Politis of Greece.

Ruzic Aras, who was accompanied by the Turkish ambassador, was believed in some quarters to have raised the question of fortifying the Dardanelles.

It was disclosed by authoritative sources that Soviet Russia is attempting to float a 1,000,000,000-franc (about $66,000,000) loan in France to finance Russian purchases from French factories. Whether the order involved war materials was not stated.

Premier Laval, seeking peace at home and abroad, faced today a week-long struggle before parliament as the senate began its debate on a bill providing for dissolution of France's rival semi-military political forces.

The fight centered on a left-wing effort to pin responsibility for dissolution of leagues, such as the nationalist war Veterans organization, Croix de Feu, on the government, while the right sought to shunt the burden off on the courts.

AT LEAST ONE HERO OF ALAMO HAD T. B., DECLARES PHYSICIAN

An unusually large number of elderly people are among contributors to the Christmas seal sale, according to Miss Pansy Nichols, executive secretary of the Texas Tuberculosis Association, Austin, who helped plan the Gray county sale recently.

One octogenarian, sending his remittance for seals, wrote the association that he had a grandfather and an uncle killed in Texas' war for independence, the latter at the battle of the Alamo.

This communication, Miss Nichols said, probably was occasioned by the letter which accompanied consignments of seals sent from her office to prospective purchasers.

The letter, signed jointly by Dr. Elva A. Wright, president, and H. A. Wroe, treasurer, of the Texas Tuberculosis association, said in part: "It has been said that among the heroes of the Alamo at least one had tuberculosis. Had he survived the siege of that famous fortress, it is probable that later he would have suffered more from the ravages of his disease than he did at the hands of General Santa Anna—for death came quickly in the Alamo. "Hundreds of loyal Texans—some of them your neighbors—are lying today fighting courageously against tuberculosis. All Texas rose to avenge the deaths of Santa Anna's victims. Shall we be less concerned over the 4,000 new graves filled in our State last year by the victims of tuberculosis—more than the Texas armies lost in their entire fight for freedom?"

"Men died in the Alamo because they could get no help, but we know how to prevent and to cure tuberculosis and, thanks to those who have helped in buying Christmas Seals, we are winning the fight against it.

This fight is not spectacular but it is continuous and unceasing. "We need money now to continue our work of tuberculin testing and X-raying school children; for tuberculosis clinics, for nursing and hospitalization, and for our special work among the Mexican and Negro races. The lives of many Texans can be saved if you will help us. We know this is true because the death rate from tuberculosis has already been reduced more than two-thirds as a result of the work done in the last twenty-eight years."

He got an early start this year. The all-time record was broken when County Clerk W. P. Bounds issued marriage licenses to 21 couples today. The old record of 17 was made on Christmas Eve of 1933.

Dillard of Gray County, Texas as lessee, whereby they granted, leased, and let to said lessee, for the sole purpose of mining and operating for oil and gas, the following described property situated in Gray County, Texas, to-wit: Section 202, Block B, H&G N Ry Co. Survey, except a square of 2 acres in the north west corner of the southeast quarter of said section 202, and the north half of section 201, block B, H&G N Ry Co. survey, containing about 940 acres.

That said lease was for a period of five years from its date and as long thereafter as oil and/or gas should be produced therefrom by lessee, and contained certain covenants and agreements to be performed by lessee, and is of record in Vol. 40, page 76 of the Deed Records of Gray County, Texas, to which reference is made for all purposes. That defendants and each of them are claiming by assignment through said F. W. Dillard some right, title, or interest in and to said properties under said lease.

That lessee and his assigns have heretofore defaulted in the performance of the covenants and agreements in said lease to be performed by lessee; that the primary term of said lease has expired; and that neither oil nor gas is being produced from said land by lessee or his assigns at this time.

That by reason thereof, the interests, titles, and estates of defendants in and to said property under and by virtue of said lease have terminated, and said lease is of no further force and effect. That defendants and each of them have failed and refused and still refuse to execute proper releases of their apparent interest under said lease in and to said properties, and same constitutes a cloud on the title of plaintiffs thereto, plaintiffs being the owners in fee simple.

Plaintiffs pray for judgment cancelling their title to said land; for cancellation of said lease, the assignments of portions thereof, and all rights, titles, and claims of defendants therein and thereto; for removal of same as a cloud upon plaintiffs' title to said property; for general and special relief.

Herein fall not but have before said Court, at its next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

JAPS SEEK ANTI-COMMUNIST 'COOPERATION' FROM CHINESE

TOKYO, Dec. 23 (AP)—The Japanese government has been discussing with Chinese leaders "the general principle of Sino-Japanese cooperation to prevent a spread of communist influence" in China's northern territories, a foreign office spokesman disclosed today.

The spokesman said such communist influence was not necessarily synonymous with Soviet Russia, although his disclosure followed statements by militarists, indicating the army in Japanese-advantaged Manchoukuo has launched a campaign for pressure on Soviet-dominated outer Mongolia.

The Sino-Japanese conversations have been confined thus far to discussion of the principle of anti-communist cooperation, the foreign office representative said, and have not touched upon details.

He asserted Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, virtual dictator of the central Chinese government, has already "accepted in principle" the general thesis of such Sino-Japanese cooperation, but that the talks have not reached the stage of considering whether it should take the form of a military alliance, and what territories should be involved.

The spokesman said Soviet newspapers, possibly because they knew such Sino-Japanese talks were in progress, were printing quantities of anti-Japanese matter, inflaming anti-Japanese feeling.

4-YEAR SLEEP OF BRITON IS FINALLY ENDED

PATRICIA MAGUIRE IS STILL SLEEPING IN ILLINOIS

FOLKESTONE, England, Dec. 23 (AP) — Awakened from a four-year sleep, Victor Cleave said today he and his family would celebrate on Christmas what his friends call his "coming back from the dead."

Cleave, a railway employe suffering from shell shock in the world war, began to doze over his meals in 1931.

Then he fell asleep. Doctors, unable to rouse him, had to inject nourishment. The beating of his heart was one of the few evidences he continued to live.

Waking recently, Cleave did not recognize his own children.

"I had no dreams, no thoughts, no feelings," he explained. "The four years have been no more than a blank."

He has returned to his cottage home, after long confinement in a hospital.

Cleave now is 40 years old, but friends say he seems younger than before his sleep, although his eyes look tired.

Pretty Patricia Maguire of Oak Park, Ill., has been asleep for nearly four years. She is now 30 years old and 25 pounds heavier than when her strange malady developed.

She has survived an attack of pneumonia and a minor operation during her long sleep.

Now she has her eyes open from eight to ten hours a day, can follow simple commands written on a slate, but is still far from real consciousness. Baffled medical science has tried every possible remedy for her condition — lethargic encephalitis.

At Rochester, N. Y., this week Dr. George Facker Berry, professor of bacteriology, and Dr. Jerome T. Sverston, both of the University of Rochester school of medicine and dentistry, announced they had successfully propagated the encephalitis virus.

Dr. Berry said that there now remains to be developed a vaccine.

3,135 Employed On WPA Projects

AMARILLO, Dec. 23.—The week ending Friday, Dec. 20, found 3,135 workers employed on Works Progress administration projects in district 16 of the WPA, working approximately 140,000 hours per month for the security wage scale, as provided by the 74th congress, for the unemployed people. Out of this number, several hundred women are at work who are the sole support of families and dependent upon public works for this subsistence, according to A. A. Meredith, district director of the Works Progress administration.

Most of the women employed are working in sewing rooms, however, many other types of work for women have been provided in the program, such as community canneries, libraries, emergency education, tax surveys and other professional and service projects. Garments from the sewing rooms and food commodities accumulated in the canning plants are being used to aid in the relief of destitute families who are not workable.

A total of 4,784 jobs have been authorized in district 16, and aside from some handicap to workers because of the lack of transportation to the jobs that are operating, there is a job available to every eligible worker in the twenty counties in the district.

There will be no occasion for workable men to be idle in district 16 after the first of January, because a sufficient number of work projects have been provided by the counties, cities and school boards in the territory to absorb their unemployed workable people from the relief rolls. The political subdivisions in the Panhandle have been very liberal in contributing local funds and have accomplished this task in a very commendable manner.

Chapter XXXIX
When the big blue sedan whirled away from the Engles' farm, Jean huddled in a corner of the back seat and stared straight ahead of her, unseeing, her mind in a turmoil. Beside her, Eva Brady sat at ease, smoking a cigarette; in the other corner Red leaned back against the cushions, a cigar gripped in his teeth, and kept his own counsel. The two men in the front seat were silent, also; and the car sped along over the road without a sound except for the hum of the motor and the whistling of the wind about the body of the car.

They did not go through Midlothian. Instead, they turned to the left and headed north; not, as far as Jean could remember, in the direction either of Plainfield, the railroad junction point, or of Dover.

The red-headed man had practically forced her to get into the car. He had said nothing except, "We're going for a ride"; of Sandy's whereabouts she knew nothing, except that he had "gone on ahead" with Mr. Lewis. Jean felt herself a prisoner; the red-headed man seemed a monstrous and enigmatic embodiment of menace, with his expressionless eyes of pale blue conveying an unspoken but irresistible threat.

They rode for perhaps five miles before she managed to regain enough calm to speak. Then, her fists clenched in her lap, she turned to her companion and asked, "Just where are we going?"

Eve Brady cast a sidelong glance at her and smiled faintly. The red-headed man looked at her in mild surprise, and finally said, "Just who wants to know?"

"I do."

He gave her another stare, subtly derisive. "You'll find out when we get there," he said at last.

"I want to know now. Are we going to Dover? I've got to get back. This—this isn't a joke, to me."

He gave a mild little sniff.

"It's not a joke to anybody," he said. "But lemme tell you this, baby—and try to remember it."

He leaned across Eva Brady and tapped Jean on the knee with a massive fist. "Where we go, you go. It's too late to back out now. You're in with us, and you stay in. See?"

Jean's heart felt like a lump of ice in her breast. She turned away and stared out of the window. It was all so incomprehensible! She heard Eve say, "Oh, lay off of her, Red. She's all right." As soon as she sees Sandy again—

"Sandy?" said Red. "Oh, you mean Oklahoma." He chuckled, and there was something in the chuckle that Jean liked even less than she liked this forced auto trip. "Oh, Well. Let her pipe down for a while, then."

They rode on and on, skimming over the concrete road with effortless, unslackening speed; five silent people, one bewildered and frightened and lost, the other four grimly purposeful; and Jean huddled in her corner, looking out at the fields and woods and farm-houses and little towns that shot by them, seeing nothing, unable to speak, hardly conscious of the passing of time.

Noon came; a hot, blistering noon, with the sun beating down from a cloudless sky, and no wind to cool the air. They reached the great National Highway and turned to the east, and for a moment Jean's heart leaped up—Dover lay to the east, and this road, she knew, led to it. But her joy was short-lived; for after half an hour's travel the car slowed down and swung to the north again over an unpaved road that wound in and out through a tangled stretch of woodland.

A mile from the main highway the road bore to the right, and a

Sandy grinned and clasped his hands comfortably behind his head. "What's the matter with this place?" he asked. "Nice and quiet and pleasant-like, isn't it?" "She looked at him in hurt surprise. "But Sandy, I can't stay here—" she began. He grinned ironically.

"Oh, yes, you can, baby," he said softly. "Oh, yes, you can."

Dusk had come, and the silence that enfolds the queer, lonely house seemed to Jean to be oppressive and ominous. She stood at the border of the lake, beside the ruined boathouse, more frightened and more bewildered than she had ever expected to feel in her whole life.

She was virtually a prisoner. This man Red and his satellites were—

She knew not what — something cruel, desperate and lawless, surely — and Sandy was no longer the frank, open-minded and stentive lover of the old days. He refused to help her get away, laughed at her fears and scruples, and calmly took it for granted that her fortunes were tied to his now irrevocably.

Suddenly, on impulse, she turned and walked rapidly from the lake to the lane that led to the outer world, impelled by a despairing conviction that only by immediate flight could she save herself. She stumbled through the dusk, making a detour to avoid the carriage house, and plunging into the gloom of the lane when it entered the woods with a feeling of relief.

It was pitch-dark under the trees. Branches and brambles caught at her dress. Her high-heeled slippers were worse than useless for travel over this uneven ground. Fear clutched her heart in an icy grip. Struggling on in the dark was like racing over a treadmill, or running in a nightmare; yet she went on, stumbling, half-sobbing hysterically, conscious only of an overwhelming desire to get away from this place and these people, back to the old, safe, familiar world she had left—the world of people like her father, and Larry Glenn — and Bobby Wallace.

A shadowy figure took shape in the darkness ahead of her, and the blinding light of a flashlight fell on her; and a harsh voice said, "Well, sister, where're you going?"

She came to a halt, almost paralyzed by fear. The man with the flashlight stepped up to her, and as he moved she could see the muzzle of an automatic shotgun which he carried under one arm.

"Turn around and go back where you come from," he said. "I'll just walk along behind, to make sure you get there."

Feeling dully that she had played her last card and lost, Jean turned like an automaton and started back. The light went out, and the guard plodded along close behind her.

They went a few rods, and she found strength enough to protest. "What right have you to do this? face the man. 'Who are you? Who are all these people? Why can't I go away if I want to?'"

There was a short silence, then the man chuckled drily. "You mean you don't know who the big red-head is?" he asked. "No, of course I don't know who he is."

"Well, sister, he's nobody at all. Nobody at all—but Red Jackson. And no moll that ever tied up with his mool tried to cop a sneaky without feeling awful sorry for it."

And they plodded on back to the house.
