Tonight should be partly cloudy with lows around 60, and northeast winds 5 to 10 mph. Thursday, partly cloudy. Highs around 80. Southeast winds 10 mph. Thursday night, mostly clear. Lows 58 to 63. Friday, mostly sunny. Highs 85 to 90. Friday evening, mostly clear. Saturday, mostly clear. Lows 55 to 65. Highs 85 to 95. Sunday, partly cloudy. Slight chance of thunderstorms. Lows 55 to 65. Highs 85 to 95. Monday, partly cloudy. Chance of thunderstorms. Lows 55 to 65. Highs in the 80s. Tuesday, partly cloudy. Lows 55 to 65. Highs west central Texas, with a slight chance of scattered severe storms.

In North Texas today, showers and thunderstorms are likely near the Red River. Elsewhere, it will be partly to mostly cloudy with a chance of showers and thunderstorms. Highs will reach the mid 80s in the west, to near 90 in the east.

Tonight, it will be mostly cloudy with a slight chance of showers and thunderstorms. Thursday, partly cloudy skies are forecast, with a chance of storms in eastern areas, and highs in the low to mid 80s.

Friday through Sunday, temperatures will warm slightly, and eastern North Texas may see showers this weekend. It will be mostly sunny Friday west and central, but partly cloudy skies will return for the weekend there. Highs will remain in the mid and upper 80s and reach the lower 90s on Sunday in many areas.

In West Texas, mostly cloudy skies will give way somewhat today although rain may develop later this afternoon. Temperatures will remain cool, with highs ranging from the 70s in the north to 80s in the south and west. Tonight, a chance of showers or storms will exist over most areas.

On Thursday, partly cloudy skies and warm temperatures will prevail, with a chance of showers south and west. Highs will be in the 80s except in the mountains and along the Rio Grande. Friday through Sunday it will be partly cloudy with highs near 90 in most areas, and no rain until Sunday when a slight chance will return to the forecast in the north.

STATEWIDE

Showers and thunderstorms moved into North Texas this morning as northwest Texas recovered from a wet and windy night.

Strong thunderstorms with high winds and hail hit that area last night, knocking down power lines and trees in Lubbock, uprooting trees in Stamford and damaging homes and cars in Matador and Lubbock. Five tornadoes touched down in the immediate vicinity of Stamford and in the Haskell and Throckmorton areas. No injuries were reported. Power outages were reported in Lubbock and Shallowater.

General, non-severe thunderstorm activity is forecast later today in the panhandle and

Unhappy Mexico citizens threaten to protest treaty

DEL RIO (AP) — In the start of what many South Texans believe will be a long, dry summer with a continuing international water dispute, one border town's leader and residents want to change the script to what they consider a bad play.

The mayor of Ciudad Acuna, Mexico, and more than 1,000 people from the city plan to march on Amistad Dam on Wednesday in protest of the Mexican governments water release policies.

Under a 1944 treaty, Mexico and the United States share water from the Rio Grande in Texas and the Colorado River the Western United States under the treaty.

But Mexico began falling behind in releases of Rio Grande water downriver to the United States and now owes about 1.5 million acre feet of water. Each acre feet is about 326,000 gallons of water — enough to flood an acre about a foot deep.

"We are planning this protest to call attention to our situation, to urge the senators and congressmen from both countries to get together to talk about a final solution," Jose Eduardo Ramon Valdez, the presidente municipal of Acuna, told the Del Rio News-Herald in an interview Monday.

He said he and an estimated 1,000 to 1,500 citizens of Acuna, including school children and the residents of colonia settlements on the city's outskirts, will meet on the Mexico side of Amistad Dam at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

The mayor said continued water release from the huge Amistad Reservoir to slake the thirst of agricultural interests and cities and towns downstream is expected to force a critical water shortage in his bustling border city in perhaps as little as a few months.

Meanwhile, a campaign by Rio Grande Valley farmers and growers to scrap the controversial 1944 U.S.-Mexico water treaty is gaining momentum.

Ciudad Acuna gets all of its drinking water from the reservoir, said Ramon.

"We are protesting the draining of water from Lake Amistad," said Ramon, adding that he does not want to depend on a hurricane to provide water for his city later in the summer. "We are not here to say whether we, as Mexicans, owe (the United States) water or not. We are concerned about the low levels of the water at Amistad."

At the current rate of release, there may be no drinking water available for Acuna in eight to 10 months, he said. Acuna is the second-fastest growing urban area in Mexico, behind only Cancun. Acuna is growing at a rate of 7.5 percent of its population annually, compared to the national average of 2.4 percent.

Photo exhibit to honor death of Jasper resident

AUSTIN (AP) — A traveling photo exhibit will chronicle the gruesome dragging death of a black man in East Texas and the subsequent turmoil inflicted on his hometown.

James Byrd Jr. of Jasper died almost four years ago when he was chained at his ankles behind a pickup truck and dragged for nearly three miles along a bumpy country road until he was dismembered and decapitated. Byrd was black and the men in the truck were white.

"Jasper, Texas — The Healing of a Community in Crisis," stems in part from the classes of Dr. Ricardo Ainslie, a professor of educational psychology in the University of Texas.

"This exhibit tells the story of James Byrd Jr.," Ainslie said. "It also depicts the unknown story of the town's ministers, both black and white, who responded to a communitywide crisis by not only keeping the peace but by creating model lessons for all of us, and forging a history of mutual collaboration and respect."

The exhibit debuts at 7 p.m. Friday in Jasper's Gallery Square and runs till June 21.

Official: Kuwaiti mastermind of Sept. 11 attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — The likely mastermind of the Sept. 11 attacks is a Kuwaiti lieutenant of Osama bin Laden who had previously plotted to attack the World Trade Center and to bomb several airliners simultaneously, a top U.S. counterterrorism official says.

Khalid Shaikh Mohammed, one of the FBI's most-wanted terrorists, is at large in Afghanistan or nearby, the law enforcement official told The Associated Press on Tuesday.

U.S. investigators believe Mohammed, working under bin Laden's leadership, planned many aspects of the Sept. 11 attacks.

"There's lots of links that tie him to 9-11," the official said, speaking on condition of anonymity. "He was intricately involved."

Mohammed is accused of working with Ramzi Yousef in the first bombing of the World Trade Center, which left six dead in 1993. He and Yousef also were accused of plotting in 1995 to bomb several trans-Pacific airliners heading for the United States. Yousef, now serving a life sentence in the United States after being convicted in the 1993 World Trade Center bombing, also is believed to have planned to crash a plane into CIA headquarters.

Mohammed was charged by federal prosecutors in New York in 1996 in connection with the alleged 1995 plot. The State Department is offering a reward of up to $25 million for information leading to his capture.

Other bin Laden lieutenants are also believed to have helped put together the Sept. 11 attacks, the official said. But evidence is mounting that Mohammed was at the center of the operational planning.

A second U.S. official, also speaking on condition of anonymity, acknowledged that Mohammed played a critical role in planning the attacks but said questions remain about the extent of his leadership. The official said other bin Laden lieutenants, including Abu Zubaydah, now in U.S. custody, are also believed to have played top organizational roles.

Mohammed is one of the highest-ranking al-Qaida leaders still at large, officials said, and continues to plan attacks against U.S. interests.

According to the counterterrorism official, within three months of Sept. 11, the FBI learned that Mohammed had performed some financial transactions to fund the attacks; since then the United States has gathered other significant evidence pointing to him as the key planner. The official declined to go into detail, citing a need to protect intelligence information.

The FBI describes Mohammed as in his mid-30s., slightly overweight and sometimes wearing a beard and glasses. His aliases include Ashraf Refaat Nabith Henin, Khalid Abdul Wadood, Salem Ali and Fahd Bin Abdallah Bin Khalid.

U.S. officials have repeatedly said that capturing or killing bin Laden's cadre of lieutenants — men like Mohammed — is a key goal in the war on terrorism. In some ways, they are considered as dangerous as bin Laden: Where al-Qaida's leader serves as an inspiration to his followers, his top aides conduct the nuts-and-bolts planning of attacks.

The lieutenants are said to pick targets and attack dates, maintain operational secrecy and provide money and training to the foot soldiers and overseas cells chosen to carry them out — sometimes at the cost of their own lives.

NTSB: Coal train instructed to wait

AMARILLO (AP) — Federal investigators say a coal train should have waited for another one to pass before the two collided head-on last week, killing one and injuring three, near Clarendon. National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) is investigating the May 28 collision between the two Burlington Northern Santa Fe trains.

Suicide bomber kills 16 on Israeli bus

MEGIDDO, Israel (AP) — An Islamic militant drove a car packed with explosives alongside an Israeli bus Wednesday and then ignited a huge fireball that flipped the bus over twice. Sixteen passengers — 13 of them soldiers — were killed and dozens wounded in the suicide attack on the 35th anniversary of the 1967 Mideast War.

In a first response, Israel sent two dozen tanks into the West Bank town of Jenin, the assailant's hometown.

The Islamic Jihad group claimed responsibility for the bombing. Yasser Arafat's Palestinian Authority condemned the attack.

The White House condemned the attack and said it raised questions anew about Arafat's relevance to the Middle East peace process.

"In the president's eyes, Yasser Arafat has never played a role of someone who can be trusted or effective," presidential press secretary Ari Fleischer said.

Passengers were hurled onto the pavement as the bus tumbled; others, including a man and woman embracing in their final moments, died trapped in the burning vehicle.

"I felt the bus leap and then turn over," said driver Mickey Harel, who has survived three previous attacks in the past seven months. "I saw soldiers thrown around the front of the bus."

For the first time, the Palestinian Authority said it had no advance knowledge or any ties to the attack. Israel said Arafat was responsible and was presiding over a coalition of terror. Palestinian security officials said they were under orders to arrest Islamic Jihad members.

"Following this attack, there will be no sanctuary and no safe haven for any terrorist," said Raanan Gissin, an adviser to Prime Minister Ariel Sharon.

Wednesday's attack marked a departure from recent suicide attacks in that the assailant used a moving car capable of carrying large amounts of explosives, said Reuven Paz, an Israeli counterterrorism expert.

Until now, suicide attacks largely have involved individuals on foot and wearing less-powerful explosives belts.

COACH

Knight has conducted camps and clinics all over the world — from China to Finland. In 1984, he led the U.S. Olympic team to a gold medal in Los Angeles.

The 61-year-old Knight practices what he teaches, Schaeffer says.

"I admire Coach Knight because he is very much opposed to drugs and alcohol. He doesn't use them and he expects his players to follow suit," Schaeffer said. "You get a lot of coaches who teach against those things, but they turn around and get themselves involved in drugs and alcohol. He's the epitome of what a coach should be, a role model for players and other coaches."

Schaeffer believes Knight's temper tantrums and his use of colorful words has been blown out of proportion by the media.

"I don't think anybody would want to be judged in 30-second sound bites over what they've said in the past 30 years. I've been around him for 10 hours at a time and never heard him use any language that would be inappropriate," Schaeffer said. "I know just being around Coach Knight has made me a better person."

Knight enters next season 95 wins shy of becoming the winningest coach ever in Division I men's college basketball. North Carolina's Dean Smith is the only coach ahead of him.

DEAR ABBY

written by Pauline Phillips and daughter Jeanne Phillips

Adopted Daughter Finds Mother Who Loves Her Like No Other

DEAR ABBY: I was adopted at birth, 34 years ago. My adoptive parents always told me I was adopted. They also told me that I was lucky they took me because nobody else wanted me, and "that girl" who gave birth to me abandoned me at the hospital.

All my life they made sure I knew I was not a catch, and my father told me as a child that if anyone else had adopted me, they would have given me back as soon as it turned daylight.

Then last year a miracle happened. My birth mother found me. We talked on the phone, and she came for a visit. Abby, she is the sweetest woman I have ever met. She was only 15 when she gave birth to me, and she placed me for adoption in the hope that I would have a better life than the one she could offer.

The closer my birth mother and I become, the larger the rift has become between me and my adoptive parents. They continue to say terrible things about her. I haven't introduced them because I'm afraid they would say or do something to either embarrass me or hurt my birth mother's feelings. They still refuse to call her by name.

It's getting to the point that I don't even want them around. My husband says if they bother me that much, I should tell them not to come over any more. I won't have a problem with that, as I have very few feelings left for them: I'm glad I finally found the mother I always wanted — and the one who always wanted me.

BIRTH MOTHER'S DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: You are no longer a child. At 34 years of age, your childhood is behind you. If your birth mother is the mother you always wanted, then cherish your newfound relationship.

Your adoptive parents may call you ungrateful, but please remember that they are the ones who should have been grateful to have you — and they had no right to make the

DEAR UNSURE: There is a difference between clearing the air early and making a premature announcement. Wait until you know the lady well enough to discuss the subject of sex without embarrassment to either of you. According to my mail, although many women are interested in a sexual relationship, not all are.

P.S. I don't know how long it has been since you discussed this subject with your doctor, but you should know that in recent years there have been many advances made in the area of male sexuality.

hurtful comments that haunt you to this day.

DEAR ABBY: Upon entering a relationship that has the possibility of becoming a lifetime involvement, when should a senior widower disclose to his potential future mate that, due to medical reasons, he'll be unable to fulfill any "bedroom responsibilities"?

Should discreet disclosure be offered before any close feelings develop, or should the subject wait — however long — until intimacy becomes the obvious natural progression?

Clearing the air early would give the lady an opportunity to amicably end the relationship. On the other hand, if I delay too long, a decision might never be required! Your thoughts, please.

Pampa baseball team honored at banquet

PAMPA — Pampa's regional quarter-finalist team was honored for its outstanding season Tuesday night at the 2002 baseball banquet.

Numerous awards were handed out including Most Valuable Player, which was shared by shortstop Evan Miller and pitcher Adam Jones.

Second baseman Wes Martin received the Leadership by Example Award, which was presented by KGRO-AM radio sports announcer Donny Hooper.

Centerfielder Randy Tice and catcher Michael Galloway were recognized as Team Captains, while outfielder Charlie Craig received the Momentum Award.

Senior trainer Alisha Furnish was also recognized.

It was a storybook season for Pampa, which had failed to reach the playoffs last season.

This year, a fast start in district helped Pampa clinch third place in the final standings behind Canyon and Randall.

The Harvesters were question marks going into the playoffs because of their losing record. After 3-4A runnerup Canyon — which had swept Pampa in district play — was eliminated in bi-district, the Harvesters just kept right on going.

Pampa defeated Snyder in bi-district and El Paso Ysleta in the area round to advance to the regional quarterfinals against No. 1 ranked Randall. The Harvesters came close to knocking off the powerful Raiders after dropping the first game in the three-game set. Pampa run-ruled Randall 10-0 in the second contest and made an outstanding comeback in the finals before coming up short 10-9.

Randall would be eliminated by Southlake Carroll in the next round of the playoffs.

Six Harvesters made the All-District 3-4A team, which was selected by the eight district coaches.

Both Tice and Miller were first team picks while Jones was named to the second team. Galloway, Martin and pitcher Max Simon made honorable mention.

Departing seniors on this year's bi-district and area championship team were Adam Jones, Evan Miller, Michael Galloway, Kyle Francis, Wes Martin, Randy Tice and Charlie Craig.

Approximately 100 persons attended the banquet, which was held in Pamcel Hall at Celanese.

Luis Rivas went 4-for-6 with five RBIs and five runs in his return from the disabled list Tuesday night, and Minnesota won by the largest margin in team history, 23-2 over the Cleveland Indians.

"I wasn't about to say, 'Whoa, slow down!'" Reed said. "That's the way I like it."

A.J. Pierzynski went 4-for-6, Jacque Jones drove in five runs and had four hits, and Dustan Mohr was 4-for-6 with a two-run homer for the Twins, who set a franchise record with 25 hits and fell one short of their record for runs.

Mohr, Pierzynski and Rivas — the bottom three hitters in the Twins order — had 12 hits, 11 runs and eight RBIs.

"I just can't believe it," Indians manager Charlie Manuel said. "It looks like a Pacific Coast League game. It just snowballed. The best thing, it's over."

In other AL games, it was: Boston 10, Detroit 5; Toronto 3, Tampa Bay 1; N.Y. Yankees 13, Baltimore 5; Kansas City 3, Chicago White Sox 2; Anaheim 3, Texas 0; and Oakland 3, Seattle 2, 10 innings.

The Twins, beset by a variety of injuries this season, used their best lineup for the first time since opening day to hand the Indians their most lopsided loss since a 21-0 defeat to Detroit on Sept. 15, 1901. Cleveland missed giving up its most runs ever by one. Boston scored 24 against them on Aug. 21, 1986.

"They started hitting and we couldn't stop them," Manuel said. "We had trouble with a couple of balls early, and they become real dangerous because they know how to play here."

Minnesota's 10-run seventh was its biggest inning in the franchise's 42 years of existence. They also scored four runs in the fifth and four in the sixth to give Reed (6-2) all the run support he could need.

Reed pitched seven innings, allowing three hits — two of them homers by Jim Thome.

Indians starter Ryan Drese (5-4) allowed five runs, seven hits and four walks in three innings — his shortest outing of the season. Yankees 13, Orioles 5

Jason Giambi hit a three-run homer during New York's eight-run sixth inning and the host Yankees hit four home runs in a victory over Baltimore.

Alfonso Soriano, Robin Ventura and Rondell White also homered, for the Yankees, who lead the majors with 96 homers in 59 games.

Giambi hit a two-run double in the first-off Scott Erickson (3-6) and added his 16th home run in the sixth.

Ramiro Mendoza (3-2) pitched 1 2-3 innings for the win.

Red Sox 10, Tigers 5

At Detroit, Johnny Damon and Shea Hillenbrand each went 4-for-5 and Carlos Baerga drove in four runs as Boston beat Detroit to improve to 23-6 on the road.

John Burkett (7-0) allowed four runs in the first two innings, but settled down and allowed five runs on 10 hits and two walks in six innings.

Jose Lima (1-4) took the loss in relief, allowing five runs in 3 1-3 innings.

Blue Jays 3, Devil Rays 1

Justin Miller pitched seven innings of three-hit ball, and fellow rookie Eric Hinske hit two home runs as host Toronto beat Tampa Bay for their season-high fifth straight win.

The Blue Jays won their second in a row under new manager Carlos Tosca. Buck Martinez was fired Monday after Toronto swept Detroit last weekend.

Hinske put Toronto up 2-0 in the fifth with a home run off Paul Wilson (2-4), who pitched the first complete game of his career.

Miller (4-2) allowed one run, striking out six and walking three.

Royals 3, White Sox 2

At Chicago, Miguel Asencio got his first major league win as Kansas City handed the White Sox their eighth loss in nine games.

Asencio (1-0), making his third career start, gave up one run and four hits over 6 1-3 innings. He walked two and struck out two.

Mark Buehrle (8-4) allowed three runs in eight innings but missed his second opportunity to become the first nine-game winner in the AL.

Scott Schoeneweis came within one out of his second career shutout, leading the Angels over Texas at Anaheim.

Garret Anderson and Tim Salmon had RBI doubles to support Schoeneweis (4-4), who allowed four hits.

Troy Glaus, hit a two-out triple off Dave Burba (3-3) to end an 0-for-15 slump. He entered the game 2-for-18 against Burba.

Athletics 3, Mariners 2, 10 innings

Terrence Long hit a game-winning double in the bottom of the 10th inning, and Eric Chavez homered twice as host Oakland defeated AL West rival Seattle.

With runners on first and second and one out, Long hit Shigetoshi Hasegawa's (3-1) pitch off the wall in center field.

Billy Koch (3-0) pitched two innings and the A's won despite getting outbid by the Mariners 14-5.

Hurricanes clip Red Wings

DETROIT (AP) — Suddenly, it's a series.

The Detroit Red Wings heard all the talk of four-game sweeps, of their vast superiority over the Carolina Hurricanes in statistics, stars, salaries and Stanley Cup rings.

There's one edge they don't have, though — the lead.

Ron Francis, one of the few Hurricanes players who matches the Red Wings' stable of superstars in Hall of Fame credentials, scored 58 seconds into overtime as Carolina surprised the Red Wings 3-2 in the Stanley Cup finals opener Tuesday night.

Sweet Caroline, indeed. And no more yapping about Sweep Carolina, either.

"We are excited, very excited," said Jeff O'Neill, who set up Francis' score after scoring the tying goal in the final minute of the second period. "We've got a lot of young guys playing in the finals for the first time, so to get the first one is good."

Make that a lot of young guys and Ron Francis, the most revered player in the history of the franchise that began life long ago in the WHA as the New England Whalers.

Tuesday was Francis' first finals game in 10 years, or since he scored the game-winner for Pittsburgh in its Game 4 clincher against Chicago in 1992. The goalie that night was Dominik Hasek, now the Red Wings' goalie.

Game 2 is Thursday night in Joe Louis Arena, where, until Tuesday, the Hurricanes were 0-11-0-1 since Nov. 14, 1989. The game-winning goal was scored that night by — yes, Francis.

Do you believe in omens?

"It's a good lesson for us," Red Wings forward Igor Larionov said. "They're playing in the finals, so there's no way you can underestimate anybody."

Even if the only people who gave the Hurricanes much chance reside mostly along Tobacco Road, where this idea of playing championship games on ice during June is still a bit of novelty.

"We knew that over the course of the series we would have to win one game in here," Hurricanes coach Paul Maurice said. "I thought we were nervous in the first period — but that we felt more comfortable as the game went along."

Especially when the game went into overtime. The Hurricanes have won seven of eight overtime playoff games, the most since 1993 Stanley Cup champion Montreal won 10.

"I think we just play our system and keep it simple," O'Neill said of the Hurricanes' overtime success. "Obviously, we don't try to open up too much. We just try to grind it out for wins, and it's worked so far."

That system is a trapping, neutral zone-clogging 1-2-2 defense that prevented odd-man Detroit breaks. What it didn't stop was power plays, but Detroit was only 4-of-7 with the man advantage.

"You can analyze it any way you want, but we had a chance to win it on the power play," Red Wings coach Scotty Bowman said. "We didn't play as well as we wanted, that's for sure."

69 Misc. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)  A financial change takes you in a new direction. You need to stick to the basics if you want to solve this problem. A family member, does his or her best to work with you. Schedule a fun get-together late in the afternoon when you don't need to worry about time. Tonight: Play away.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)  Excitement seems to follow you. Perhaps you're a force in creating it. Consider it a possibility. Get feedback from others. Meanwhile, be the whirlwind that you know works, and clear your desk. Remember, how close the weekend is. Tonight: Your home is your castle.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)  Take your time with financial matters. Unexpected knowledge comes your way. Apply it appropriately. Consider yourself lucky. Follow through on what you feel works. Use the later day to clear your desk and catch up on messages. Tonight: Visit with a friend over a drink.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)  You might be more entrenched in your work than you realize. Others might find it hard to distract you. Don't be surprised by what another might resort to in order to get a reaction from you. Schedule a long chat over dinner. Tonight: Out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) your focus. Stay on target. Tonight: Call an early night.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)  Use your position to move a project along. Another will reverse his or her position. You might have an overly strong reaction to this person. Choose your words carefully, and you'll get the results you want. Schedule meetings later in the day. Tonight: Where the crowds are.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)  Reach out for those at a distance. Check out gossip behind the scenes and make sure it is real. You could have a lot of strange facts filtering through. Seek out an expert. Others look to you to take a stand. You will, whether you want to or not. Tonight: In the limelight.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)  Work with others individually to get the results you want. Stay on top of priorities and don't let others, especially co-workers, distract you. If unduly nervous, check in with the doctor soon for a general checkup. Take a bigger perspective. Tonight: Reach for the sky.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)  Defer to a partner about a loved one. You might not have all the answers. A child or new friend proves to be unpredictable, but recognize how much you enjoy this characteristic in this person. Express your docile and easygoing personality. Tonight: Schedule some quality time.

Horoscope BY JACQUELINE BIGAR

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Thursday, June 6, 2002.

You're full of surprises this year. You could change direction out of the blue. Your mind becomes ever active and inquisitive. You want answers and will seek them out. On the other hand, you could spend a lot of time alone, pondering issues of relevance to you. You might opt to go back to school or travel more. You're interested in growing and learning. If you are single, your prospects of finding the right person will increase after July. Keep your eyes open. If you are attached, your relationship will warm up considerably this year. Schedule some out-of-the-way getaways. TAURUS understands you.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)  Friends toss the unexpected into your life. By now, you should nearly anticipate this behavior. Your humor goes a long way in easing some of the immediate pressure. Use your personality to accomplish what you want. Tonight: Let another treat you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)  You might need to be more than diligent to achieve the results you desire. Still, you might not be able to please another. What remains important is that you are satisfied. Review a personal matter behind closed doors. Recycle your energy later in the day. Tonight: Beam in exactly what you want.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)  Use the daylight hours to the max. when you could land what you want. Incorporate unanticipated news into your plans. You also might want to check out facts on your own. Do not lose your focus. Stay on target. Tonight: Call an early night.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)  Use your position to move a project along. Another will reverse his or her position. You might have an overly strong reaction to this person.
