FISHBACK CAPTURES JUNIOR NET TITLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (AP)—Joseph Fishback, the mechanical marvel with an unflinching forehead, today clinched two successful weeks of tennis and assured himself of at least a happy start on the new year by turning back Marvin Kantowitz, of New York and the University of Texas, 6-1, 6-3, 6-1, to win the national junior indoor singles championship. Fishback, 17-year-old freshman at St. John's university in Brooklyn, left no doubt in anyone's mind as to his superiority over his former high school teammate. In fact this triumph for the mechanical youngster who a week ago beat Kantowitz for the metropolitan title left little doubt that he should have been seeded at No. 1 instead of the fourth position assigned him.

NEW BENEFIT PLAN FOR SHELL WORKERS BEGINS

The incomes of more than ten thousand employees of the Shell Petroleum Corporation and the Shell Pipe Line Corporation were made more secure yesterday when the two companies announced a new disability benefit plan for all operating employees in 28 states.

Under the new plan, workers who lose time from their jobs due to sickness or non-occupational accident will receive a minimum of 50 per cent of their average wages. Those who are already covered by the companies' group health and accident insurance policy will receive an extra amount beyond their usual salary for medical expenses in the event of sickness or a disabling injury incurred away from work, since their insurance payments, equal to two-thirds of their salary, will be supplemented by the new company benefits. Employees who are disabled by an occupational injury will be assured their full average salary.

Company benefits will be paid for periods varying from two weeks to three months, depending on the employee's length of service. All operating employees with a year or more of continuous service to their credit will receive the benefits of the new plan.

MORE FARM PRODUCTS SOLD BREWERS IN '37

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—The American brewing industry purchased 3,055,772,832 pounds of farm products for the production of its 58,748,087 barrels of beer for the fiscal year 1937, according to the revised figures issued recently by the U. S. Treasury department. This was an increase of 235,395,157 pounds of agricultural products over the amount used for the previous fiscal year.

Gray county, which in 1929 produced 67,932 bushels of corn from 8,718 acres and 233,076 bushels of barley from 7,381 acres, had only a minor part in the production of these crops and their sale to the brewing industry last year.

Corn borers have cut down corn crops to 1,968 bushels on 517 acres. Barley production was down to 16,507 bushels from 2,131 acres with drought as one of the probable causes of decrease. These figures are from the latest available farm census.

WHEELER FARMERS ASKED TO MAKE APPLICATIONS FOR LOANS

AMARILLO, Jan. 1.—All farmers in the several counties in Region XII of the Farm Security administration which were selected recently to participate in the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Loan program are being encouraged to make application for purchase loans.

Only a few loans will be made this year in each of these several counties, the purpose of this request, according to L. H. Hauter, regional director of the FSA, who returned recently from a conference with Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace in Washington, is to determine just how many tenant farmers in these counties would participate in the program should it be expanded next year.

Farmers entitled to apply for tenant purchase loans include sharecroppers, farm laborers, or others who obtain or recently have obtained most of their income from farming. Preference will be given to married persons or persons with dependent families; to persons able to make a down payment; or to persons who own livestock, and equipment necessary to carry on farming operations. No loans will be made to persons who can obtain an adequate loan for the purchase of a farm from other sources at reasonable terms.

The Farm Security administration will assist applicants who receive loans in developing sound farm and home management plans, preparing operating budgets, and maintaining business records. January 15 has been designated as the closing date for receiving applications from farmers for the purchase loans. Those desiring to make applications or receive further information about the program are asked to contact their county FSA rural rehabilitation supervisor. Counties in the five-state region where the program will operate this first year are: Floyd, Randall, and Wheeler counties in Texas; Roosevelt in New Mexico; Texas in Oklahoma; Wallace in Kansas and Bent in Colorado.

IS YOUTH RECEIVING ITS PROPER CARE?

Nobody wants to see the United States descend to the sort of regimentation of youth that puts dummy rifles in boys' hands at 3, starts them drilling at 5, teaches them nothing but a blind, pre-digested philosophy, and turns them eventually into robots with bulging muscles and no more brains than a Hottentot.

In the county jail at Cleveland, Ohio, sit five young men. They are not unusual. Every city has scores just like them.

These five youths, ranging from 16 to 20 years old are, charged with cold-bloodedly shooting down two policemen who stopped them at a gas station on suspicion of several holdups. What brings a young life to this at 16?

Let us go back to babyhood with Anthony Liberatore, born 16 years ago to parents married in Naples, Italy, 30 years ago.

Anthony was little more than 10 when he first got into trouble for stealing some golf clubs and a fishing reel. Tony was paroled to a probation officer. Three months later, he was accused of helping two other boys steal 34 cents from a newsboy.

Five months later he admitted stealing some padlocks from a lime store. Then came failure in school. He was sent to a special summer school under close supervision. Eighteen months of that showed such improvement that he was released from juvenile court supervision. Almost four years passed before he got into trouble again.

Two years ago he was caught trying to break into a fruit store. At that time others of his "gang" were sent to various institutions for more serious offenses.

While they were absent, Tony improved greatly. He was regular at school, earned as much as $10 a week in free hours, had a savings account and a Y. M. C. A. membership.

Then his old gang began to drift back into town. He "found the neighborhood gang more attractive and satisfying than his own home." And when this 16-year-old was arrested after the police murders, there were powder marks on his hands.

Who put them there? First, of course, Tony himself. But there is a limit to the responsibility that you can put on a boy of 16, with an intelligence quotient of 73, on the borderline of mental deficiency.

The family, of course, shares responsibility, for after all they brought the boy into the world, and gave him little attention at home, "until he began to be a problem."

But on all of us there is some responsibility for those tell-tale powder-marks. For it is all of us collectively who have failed to provide interests and opportunities that would have been more attractive to this boys than gangs and guns.

Washington Letter

By PRESTON GROVER
WASHINGTON—Yonkers Senator Lodge of Massachusetts buttoned a "prevailing wage" amendment to the special sessions housing bill that is proving as tough for administration members to handle as slinging nettles.

The amendment provided that in building jobs inaugurated under the 90 per cent housing loan guarantee, all workmen shall be paid the "prevailing wage" of the locality. That means for all practical purposes, payment of the union wage for carpenters, bricklayers, stone cutters and the like.

The President wanted, instead, the English method of paying workmen on an annual basis in its house building program. He suggested that method of payment at a press conference as a means of reducing costs so as to stimulate building.

Apparently even Senator Wagner of New York, father of the housing legislation, was not wholly clear on the wage subject, for he was on both sides of the issue in the same day. When Senator Lodge offered his amendment, Wagner said, after some colloquy: "I propose to vote for the amendment if there is a roll call."

A few hours later, when the bill had been passed and sent to conference with the house, Senator Wagner told reporters the Lodge amendment would have to come out. He explained it would burden the department of labor to determine what were "prevailing wages" in different sections.

But a deeper-seated reason was obvious. If prevailing wages are paid to workmen

I listened the old year out and the new one in the other night in the New York manner. although it came to Pampa by short wave through a Mexico City broadcast station which picked up the big town's midnight whoopee as put onto the ether by the NBC for a five-hour morning dansant. . . A few minutes later I was in bed only to be awakened by persons I could expose right now if I had a mind to . . . They figured it would be a good idea—because they thought I would be in bed—to call up via telephone and sing barbershop songs to me as New Year's greeting. . . Nice people!

And, so we have moved out of the Christmas holidays, through the New Year's Eve merriment, on into the cold, cruel vestibule of 1938 . . . the major says, "round and round she goes and where she stops, nobody knows. . . Which is a good mouthful in anybody's language when you are looking ahead into 1938, or any other year for that matter. . . If we could only see ahead! . . . Perhaps there will come a day when that will be possible. . . Stranger things than that have happened down through the ages. . . After all, we all are so playmate that it is not for us to pass final judgment on "impossible" things of that nature.

Arvo Goddard is a Pampian who does a swell take-off on Bob Burns, the Arkansas county attorney, and Bob Selby, the junior High principal, going fishing last summer. . . They ran into a swell spot where the fish began biting like all get out and soon they had all the fish they could handle. . . Bob told Joe to mark the spot so they could return to it the next day. . . They rowed back to the landing, and Bob says, "Are you sure you marked the spot all right?" . . . Joe says, "Why sure, can't you see that cross mark in the bottom of the boat?" . . . And then, say Bob, "Well, how can you be so dumb—we might not even get this boat when we come back here tomorrow."

In the editorial column to the left, you will find a thought which can be applied right here at home, in Pampa. . . There long has been the complaint that there is little in Pampa to provide general interest for our boys and girls just over the High school age. . . What are your boys and girls between 16 and 20 doing these nights? . . . Where do they go when they leave home? . . . Unless they are guided pretty straight by proper parental supervision, it is mighty easy for them to get off on the wrong avenue. . . If we are to be permanent, it is a problem we ought to face immediately.

Over in Potter county, the grand jury has just recommended that the county's so-called "hot-spots" be closed at midnight, and that the sale of liquor be prohibited after that hour. . . It is an aftermath of the slaying of a young girl, who went to the night clubs probably because she didn't pick the right kind of company or because there wasn't a sufficiency of other interests to fill her time. . . Providing the proper outlets for youthful enthusiasm is a duty every city owes to its young men and women.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY
Another boost to the production from the Bowers pool in the south Pampa field was registered when the Gibson Oil corporation's No. 2 Bowers came in for almost 100 barrels an hour.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY
A drop of one cent a gallon in the retail price of all grades of gasoline was posted by the Sinclair Company.

Gray county elective office holders busied themselves preparing their bonds, taking their oaths, and familiarizing themselves with the duties of their jobs.

building these houses, the President's hope of scaling down the cost will go a-glimmering. Here is what is involved: A carpenter's wage in many places is $11 a day. That is the "prevailing wage" payable under the Lodge amendment. That is $55 a week for five days. Experience indicates that house carpenters work perhaps 30 weeks a year at their trade, which makes their annual pay $1,650.

The plan originally contemplated in the housing bill was to encourage mass production of $5,000 and $6,000 houses by large contracting companies which could provide year-round jobs.

If a carpenter worked the year around—50 weeks—at $11 a day, his annual wage would be $2,750. But that would not cut the cost of building a house.

Under the English plan the carpenter's $30-week wage would be spread over 50 weeks, perhaps with some increase. Thus the carpenter would build houses for 50 weeks instead of 30 weeks, turning out more work. This would reduce the cost of each house.

His 30 weeks at $55 a week becomes 50 weeks at $33 a week. That is $6.66 a day, quite a cut from $11. Labor officials have disapproved the idea.

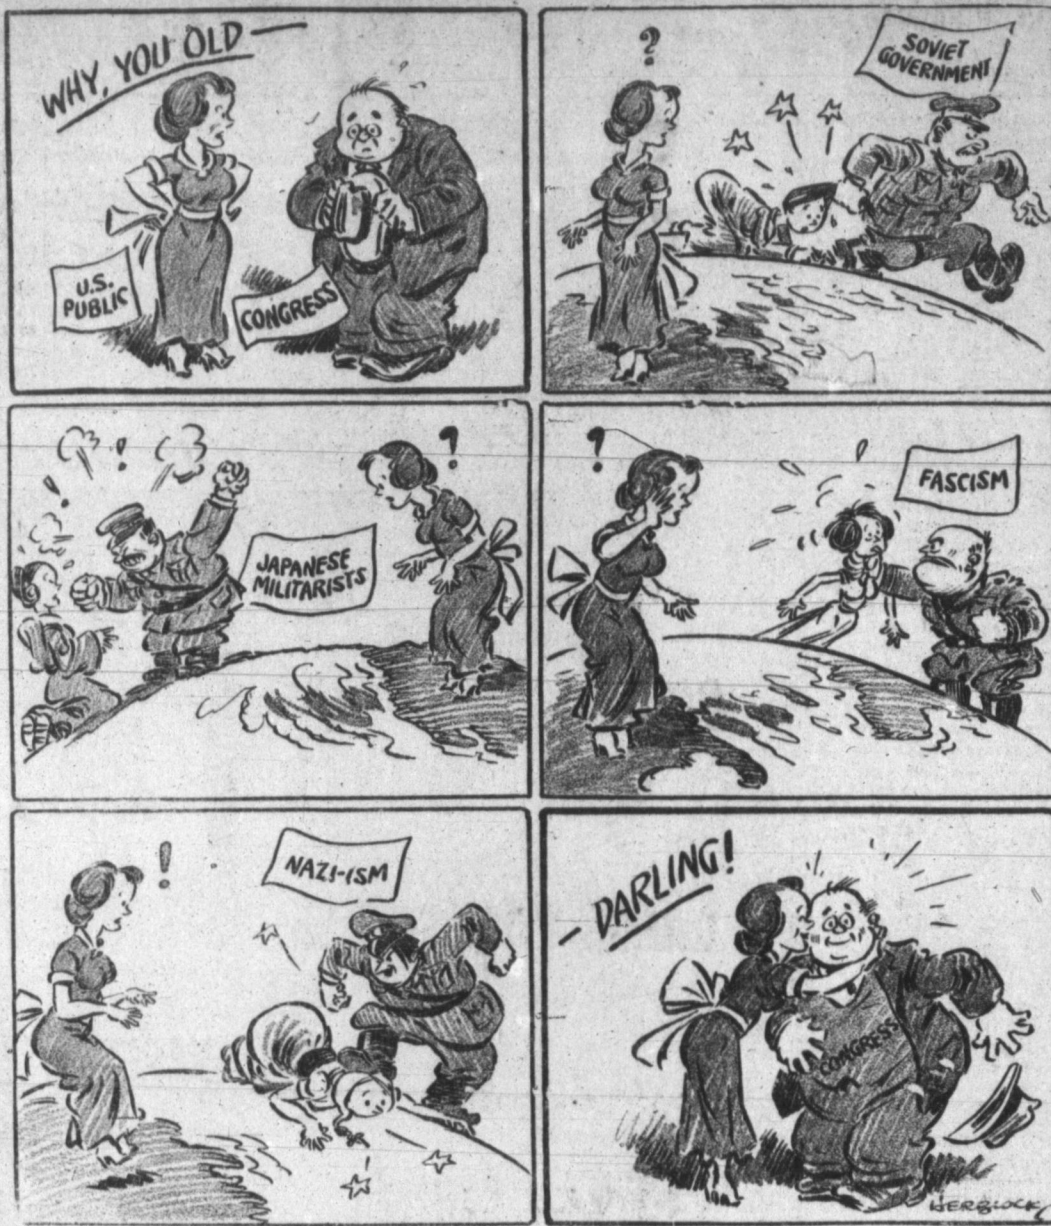

If some compromise should be struck to boost the annual wage from $1,650 a year to, say, $2,000 a year, that would give a carpenter $40 a week, or $8 a day.

But labor unions say there is no assurance that more than a few will get year-round work, while the others, working the same old part time for less pay, will be worse off.

Housing officials, on the other hand, say that unless costs are cut there will be no housing boom, and no work for carpenters and plumbers.

A compromise has not yet been found.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—"I'm tired of being a gypsy. . . I'm tired of drafty railroad stations and bad food. . . I'm tired of sitting in hotel rooms talking to shadows. . . That's why I'm back on Broadway, with a fistful of $1000 bills and I'm laying them on the line. They're mine, too, every nickel. . . I've got a six year lease on this place and I couldn't leave if I wanted to, which I don't."

Who's talking? Why, Billy Rose, who else? In all his spectacular career as producer he has never before risked one kopek of his own dough. . . In past instances such cities as Cleveland and Fort Worth financed huge, spectacular projects which Rose visualized and brought into being. They were great risks—but not Rose's risks. He had nothing to lose. That didn't lose is simply a pretty good certificate of Rose's own value.

But he stands to lose this time. Mister, it makes you wince to think how much.

Blindly and with a happy smile Billy waves away your fears. "There has been a lot of blab about Broadway being dead. . . All the news boys are fighting it out in their columns now. Into this scene I arrive, leading with my chin, WHY?"

"Because I believe in Broadway, that's why," don't think Hollywood will ever own it. I don't think there is any substitute for flesh and blood acting—American style. What is this dead Broadway they are talking about? It's too Frenchy—everything about it is based on the Folies Bergeres, that out-moded can-can stuff. You hear of Europe's invasion of Broadway. What has the European showgirl got? I'll tell you—a mustache and piano legs. Did you ever see a Moulin Rouge chorus that could compare with a Ziegfeld chorus?"

No, Brother, and you never will. Well, I've got the French Casino, and in it New York has an American show—American girls, American actors—an all-American show. Why, you could bankrupt the halls of Europe and not find a chorus as fresh, as sweet, and beautiful as these kids of mine. I'm taking out Hollywood insurance. If Lloyd's will sell it to keep the movies from raising my ranks. That's how pretty they are."

"Well," we ventured, "you've got a mighty big place here."

"Say, let me tell you about that," he exclaimed. "Years ago, when this place was first built, they brought me in to show it to me, and they said, 'Isn't it big, isn't it magnificent, isn't it marvelous?' And I said, 'Why it's better than that. Thank you for fixing it up for me.' And they said, 'Eh, what do you mean by that?' And I said, 'I'll end up owning this place, see if I don't.' . . . Boy didn't they laugh. . . But, I'm asking, who's laughing now?"

People You Know

It was the moment that the New Year arrived, and the only sound of the still night were the soft breathing of young boys as they slept in the small cabin on the lonely creek, and the periodic footing of an owl as it sat high in one of the huge cottonwoods that were thick on both sides of the creek. And at that moment this one, glad that he was in the midst of children, solitude, quietness, and far from the pandemonium of New Year's "celebration," made no resolution but numbed this prayer for the New Year:

May we explore that strange and unfamiliar country of our hearts, and ride the ranges on the frontiers of our minds. May we hurried, hurried Americans be able to stand loneliness, learning the inexorable of the stars. . . May be able to hold our tempers, and stay our criticisms; restrain debauching moods, and indecencies. May we learn to distrust speed, and to drive our fast machines more destructively than wars—carefully, so we may live and let live. May we depend on the evanescent face of beauty and not the dollar for our thrills, WHY?

That may be human among those who have no money as well as among those who have. May we resist propaganda that enslaves the humble, the meek, the lowly. May we glance often at the bright heads and shining eyes of our children and resist war! May we learn that the essence of sin is making someone, including ourselves, uncomfortable. May we live not in the physical unless we can at the same time live in the simplicity and beauty of natural instincts, and not in the torture of uncivilized passions.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GILDSTON, M.D.

Blood is endowed with many remarkable properties, but one of the most striking is its power to coagulate (form a clot) after it escapes from the blood vessels. The value is obvious, for by clotting and thus closing the openings of the wounded blood vessels further blood flow is stopped.

In human blood the time required for clotting varies greatly. In minor cuts, a blood clot, with consequent stopping of bleeding, may form within 3 to 10 minutes. The presence in a bleeding wound of the substances liberated by injured tissue cells tends to hurry the clot-forming process.

In some individuals the blood partially or markedly lacks the power to coagulate. This may be due to various diseases or to an inherited deficiency.

A marked loss of the power of the blood to coagulate is seen in persons known as bleeders or hemophiliacs. In such persons, blood clots form so slowly that even a small wound may cause a fatal hemorrhage.

Hemophilia, as this condition is known, is hereditarily transmitted. It exhibits an interesting peculiarity in that as a rule it affects only the male, but is transmitted

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—At a time when practically everybody concerned is busily regretting a certain broadcast, it is pleasant to report there should be few regrets about Mae West's new picture.

"Every Day's a Holiday" puts Mae—much slimmer, better photographed than ever—back where she belongs, in hour-glass gowns, huge feathered hats, and 1900. It's her closest approach to "She Done Him Wrong" in spirit and execution, though not in content.

As Peaches O'Day, hard-berled beaut from Brooklyn, Mae's burlesque is more of crime than of sex.

She sells the Brooklyn bridge to strangers, tersely directs Charlie Butterworth in stealing her New Year's Eve wardrobe from a store window, and demonstrates incredible ease at lifting any property that isn't nailed down. But the heart of gold drops out when she loses it to Detective Edmund Lowe. Before the fed-out Mae is so staunchly on the side of law that she elects Lowe mayor over the underworld candidate, Lloyd Nolan. Biggest novelty is Mae's disguise, in several sequences, as a brunette cutie from Paris. A. Edward Sutherland directed.

Simone Quits Posting
Fetching as Mae's Parisienne is, real surprise of the week is Simone Simone in "Love and Hisses," a story by Arthur Arthur, in which Simone plays Yvette. Yvette, despite all this double talk, Simone's singing is her own, not a double's. When Simone takes a stab at "Lakme," no one fears for Lily Pons—but this is not meant disparagingly to a voice that until recently was not even known to exist. Simone's singing is good enough that many in the preview audience doubted it was her own, but also interesting is the little French pouter's emergence as a poutless personality, very cute and engaging.

"Love and Hisses" carries on the Ben Bernie-Walter Winchell feud, solely for entertainment. With Bert Lehr and Joan Davis, Dick Baldwin, juvenile with character, the buxom Peters sisters and a flock of specialties and music, the film can't miss. Sidney Lanfield's direction is smart.

Spectacle of the week is "Rosalie," full of Nelson Eddy's singing and Eleanor Powell's tapping against backgrounds of West Point and the mythical kingdom of Romania. Produced and written by William Anthony McGuire, who did it on the stage for Ziegfeld, "Rosalie" would have started that great showman with its opulence and beauty in settings, dance and song.

through the female. The sons and daughters of a man who is hemophilic ordinarily do not themselves suffer from it. But his daughters may transmit the defect to their sons who are thus likely to be hemophiliacs.

The opposite disability, excessive coagulability of the blood, is also known to medicine. In such cases blood clots may form spontaneously within the veins or arteries and cause serious complications, or even death.

The essential part of a blood clot is a protein substance known as fibrin. This fibrin is present in an insoluble form in circulating blood. When blood is shed, the fibrin is precipitated and forms very delicate threads which spontaneously weave themselves into a fine mesh.

The precipitation of fibrin to form a clot is effected through another substance known as thrombin. The precise way in which thrombin acts upon fibrin to form the blood clot is not as yet clearly understood.

Year 1937 Upset All Predictions For U. S., 1938 May Do Same

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1—There are two reasons for playing cagey in any attempt to forecast the year 1938. One is that the outlook is uncommonly foggy.

The other reason is that anyone who was making predictions as to 1937 a year ago is compelled now to admit that he was at least 90 per cent all wet. The departing year began with business hopping right along, with a President just overwhelmingly elected and a prevalent belief that Congress would give him everything he wanted. There was no end of talk about a new "era of good feeling" between government and business.

Hardly anyone expected Roosevelt's bold, ill-fated Supreme Court plan. No one anticipated a Congress which would spend nine months of the year in balking F. D. R. and getting nothing done. A prediction that John Lewis and C. I. O. would win the General Motors and Chrysler strikes, and wangle agreements and union recognition from U. S. Steel would have seemed a pipe-dream.

Neutrality laws were expected to preserve us from threat of war. And no one supposed 1937 would wind up with Roosevelt taking his worst drubbing to date on the wage-hour bill, and with a new depression which already has thrown 2,000,000 more persons out of work.

But you can't duck 1938, so here goes.

If you don't see what you want to know, consult your favorite fortuneteller!

See Upturn In Spring
Business: Nobody knows, but the prevalent notion in Washington—which is shared by Roosevelt—that there will be an upturn some time this spring.

April, according to many guesses, will be the magic month. Optimists anticipate a "scramble for inventories" after present stocks are worked off. New Dealers among those optimists already are suggesting that it was a lucky break to have the recession at this time, if it had to come, because business will be on the upgrade in summer and fall. But more than one ace government economist questions whether there'll be a real upturn, and suggests that possibly industry will reach a level much lower than this year's peak and hover there indefinitely. Some experts are optimistic over chances of a housing boom and some are not.

A tiny minority of the government's top-flight experts believe the general business trend will be downward until industry receives a strong, vigorous push, through increased government spending. Although there is prospect of more money for this year's deficit needs, Roosevelt still talks of budget-balancing and no large spending push is promised.

More of the Same
Foreign Affairs: The government is well pleased with its triple effort to:

Scare the Japanese by being stern and hard-boiled;

Encourage England and France to stiffen resistance to German, Italian and Japanese aggression;

Awaken the American people to the idea that the United States cannot keep out of war by mere wishful thinking.

There will be more of the same and we will be getting chummer and chummer with England. The proposed Anglo-American reciprocal trade agreement is being high-pressed.

F. D. R. Will Fight On
Congress: The Capitol Hill situation is in a mess and so is the familiar Roosevelt program. It got nowhere in the last regular session, received the cold shoulder in the recent special session, and may or may not do any better in the next regular session.

Roosevelt will continue to fight for his defeated wage-hour bill and may win, or may lose. No one quite understands what the differing House and Senate farm bills are all about, and even if a workable bill be brought out of conference, the friends of wage-hour legislation on any farm measure until the "Cotton South" is willing to vote for a wage-hour bill.

There will be a hot fight on modification of the corporation surplus profits tax, but whether the result will tend nearer to the administration's idea of minor modification or to the ultra-conservatives' aim of repeal is still unpredictable.

Roosevelt will seek to master Congress again, but whether he will try to do so with a slap on the wrist of a left hook to the chin—and whether either blow will be effective—is just another of those fascinating questions 1938 offers.

Normally, in such a year, the out-of-power party makes congressional gains. The Republicans are practically certain to improve their poor position in both Senate and House, especially the latter.

The "third term for Roosevelt" question is still static, except for a growing impression that F. D. R. may again be a candidate if he continues to find his aims blocked in Congress. Southern and northern conservatives are joining in huddles to prevent Roosevelt from receiving a third nomination or dictating a successor.

No Sign of Labor Peace
Labor: . . . o good news is in prospect for labor as long as the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. fail to reach some peace agreement. Their failure to do so seriously handicaps the administration.

Depression is depleting the ranks—and dues collections of both groups. There isn't the slightest sign of peace. Both C. I. O. and A. F. of L. are attacking the National Labor Relations Board, the best friend either group ever had.

Labor as a whole is likely to suffer grievously in 1938, although it is likely—as a result of political organization by Labor's Non-Partisan League—to be more influential than ever before and to make perceptible gains, in the 1938 elections.

Just the Thing
Generally speaking, if you happen to notice any bluebirds, please pat them on the neck and tell them to head toward Washington.

So They Say
The attainment of a durable peace is still a matter of desire and hope rather than a reality.

1937 INCOME BIGGEST FOR U. S. MAIL

Postmaster General James A. Farley, in his fifth annual report for the Post Office department covering the fiscal year ended June 30, 1937, states that the 1937 postal revenues were higher than any previous year in the history of the postal service; that the expenditures were thirty million dollars less than in 1930, the previous all-time high in this respect, and that the net postal surplus, after deducting the cost of the nonpostal items, was $12,643,739.04.

The principal financial statistics of the department for the year, as revealed in the postmaster general's report are:

Audited expenditures $772,815,842.22
Audited revenues..... 726,201,109.69

Gross (including non-postal) deficit..... $46,614,732.33
Deduct:
Nonpostal items..... 59,258,471.37

Net (postal) surplus... $12,643,739.04

This net postal surplus is the third shown by the Post Office department during the past four years, and was attained notwithstanding the additional annual cost of forty million dollars incident to the operation of the forty-hour week law for postal employees.

The postmaster general pointed out that the air mail has continued to show a remarkable growth, resulting in an increase in air mail revenues from six million dollars annually to twelve million dollars annually in the last two years. In this connection, Mr. Farley further states that in 1933 over $19,000,000 was paid for the transportation of 6,741,000 pounds of air mail, whereas in 1937, $12,900,000 was paid for the transportation of over nineteen and one-half million pounds of air mail.

Mr. Farley took occasion in his report to commend every postal employee in the postal service for the splendid cooperation and assistance they have rendered in providing an efficient and economical postal service to the people of the country.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—How a trifling change in an airplane's design may mean money was illustrated on the Northwest Airlines.

Translated into money, this means a $10,000 saving annually.

WORLD TO HEAR FOR'S SPEECH IN BROADCASTS

By JOHN LEAR, Associated Press Staff Writer.

President Roosevelt's message to the opening session of the 78th Congress Monday will be hammered home to a war-worried world as the words of no other President have been.

Whatever he has to say about America's views on international affairs will go to every nook and corner of the globe in a record-breaking radio broadcast.

Without knowing what the President planned to include in his speech, acting only on the assumption that—regardless of how much of the message might be taken up by domestic problems such as the business recession—something of worldwide importance was bound to follow recent White House pronouncements on world rearmament and the Japanese situation, the National Broadcasting Company began Friday to send out short wave messages informing the peoples of the world that they could hear the President.

In 19 separate broadcasts, in seven different languages, linguists drummed up an audience over the New Year's week-end with announcements of when and where to listen.

By Monday noon, the broadcasters were confident, the world in general would be tuned in despite foreign censors who might wish otherwise.

The international hook-up was so arranged that when President Roosevelt began his message in Washington about 1 p. m. (EST) his words would go out not only over the three major American networks (WEAF-NBC, WABC-CBS, WJZ-NBC) but to all of Europe by short wave from station W3XAL at Bound Brook, N. J.

DU PONT, TAYLOR TO TESTIFY ON RECESSION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1. (AP)—A special senate committee investigating unemployment and relief plans to hear testimony by Lamont Du Pont and Myron C. Taylor.

Chairman Byrnes (D-S.C.) said today his committee would start hearings Tuesday, with federal statistical experts outlining the extent of the unemployment problem.

President William Knudsen of General Motors, whose company has announced the layoff of 30,000 men, has been asked to appear Thursday.

Byrnes, saying the committee was seeking information on how long the economic downturn might continue, said Du Pont and Taylor would be asked to testify some time during the week of January 9.

The South Carolina Senator recalled Du Pont's recent speech advocating a business-government program for reviving industry, and said Du Pont might elaborate in testimony before the committee. Taylor, as President of the United States

RICE, CALIFORNIA, AUBURN, BRONCOS, W. VIRGINIA WIN BOWL GAMES

CRIMSON TIDE EAR INFERIOR TO BIG BEARS

(By The Associated Press)

California's battering Bears and all-American Whizzer White lived up to all advance notices today as the one exploded the Alabama Rose Bowl myth sky high and the other fought his heart out in a losing cause in headline attractions of the annual New Year's day football bowl festivities.

More than 262,000 fans turned out for the six games on the holiday card from coast to coast. Some 90,000 of them watched Stubby Allison's "wonder team" hang a 13-0 beating on Alabama, thereby turning back the Crimson Tide for the first time in five Rose Bowl assignments.

For individual achievement, however, the Cotton Bowl and its Rice-Colonados clash was the thriller for the day. White, leading the underdog Colonados, astonished 37,000 fans by personally taking charge of two first-quarter touchdowns drives to send the Rocky Mountain champions away to a 14-0 lead.

That's where sophomore Ernie Lain, who turned out to be a whole lot of ball-player, entered the picture, and when he came in, Colorado's chances went out. Ernie scored one touchdown himself and passed for the other three as Rice showed over three tallies in a big second quarter, added another in the third, and walked in with a 28-14 decision over the Buffalo brigade that had gone through its regular season unbeaten and untied.

Upsetters of the day were the Broncos of Santa Clara, who again whipped the stripes off Louisiana's State's Bayou Tigers by opening a whole bag of tricks for a 6-0 victory in a repeat performance of last year's Sugar Bowl tilt. About 45,000 fans turned out for this year's showing.

The picked teams of east and west, performing before 59,000 spectators at Sun Bowl stadium, all over the field, but wound up just where they started in a scoreless tie.

Auburn's second team showed over a touchdown in the second quarter and topped Michigan State 6-0 before 18,970 in the Orange Bowl game at Miami. West Virginia protected a one-point lead for nearly three periods today to nose out Texas Tech 7-6 in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, with 13,000 fans on hand.

Plainsmen Beat Michigan 6 to 0 In Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 1 (AP)—Auburn's Plainsmen pushed the Michigan State football team all over the Orange Bowl today but clicked with just one scoring threat for a 6-0 victory, the first by a Southern squad in the four years the New Year's game has been played.

A crowd of 18,970 saw Auburn's second team crack loose with a well-placed pass that set up the touchdown against Michigan State's relief players in the second quarter.

It was a 36-yard drive, with Ralph O'Gwynne skirting end from a yard out three plays after snagging an aerial from George Kenmore, Earl Thorpe's placement for the extra point went wide.

Speak Kelly's 26-yard end run late in the first period showed the Spartans back and made it possible for Kenmore to return Gene Ciolek's punt into Michigan State's territory. Pelham Sizt slanted off tackle for nine yards but Auburn was set back to the Spartan 30 by an offside penalty.

Kenmore then rifled the ball to O'Gwynne who took it on the 15-yard line and dashed to the two before he was dragged down. Sizt picked up just a yard in two cracks at the Michigan State line before O'Gwynne swung wide around end and went across.

The Plainsmen, outweighed 10 pounds to the man, rolled up 12 first downs to Michigan State's 5 and outgained the Spartans 197 yards to 40 on the ground and 81 to 25 through the air.

They completely throttled Johnny Mitchell, highly-touted Michigan State halfback, and never let the Spartans make a serious threat.

Work continued yesterday on the construction of the Pampa-Borger road, there being no lay-off on account of Saturday being New Year's day.

One grading crew was at work at the Spring creek location, four miles west of Skellytown, and another crew at work on both sides of Bear creek, in Hutchinson county.

Workmen of the Austin Bridge company were assembling a pile driver at the Spring creek bridge, putting out material at White Deer creek, and pouring concrete at Bear creek. Work on the White Deer creek bridge is expected to be started by the latter part of next week.

Employed on the project are 50 workers, of whom 10 are employees of the bridge company. Grading work is being done by workmen of Allison and Davis.

The department of labor was created in 1913.

Chambers Will Present Champ Grunt-Groaners

He's as Wild as He Looks

With a snarl on his lips and black, shaggy hair streaming over his eyes, Wild Bill Cazzell, above, will try to slaughter Jack Mandell in the main event of Promoter Cliff Chambers' "rasse cray" Monday night at the Pampa Athletic arena. Mandell is the human kangaroo, Cyclone Mackie and Sailor Jack Moran will meet in the semi-final with Andy Tremaine and Otto von Ludwig. Mandell and Tremaine are the white-haired boys. Cazzell is well disliked because of a streak of roughness which appeared on his last two appearances.

WEST HOLDS EDGE OVER EAST IN SCORELESS TIE BATTLE

BRONCOS HALT TIGERS' FAMED PASSING GAME

WEST VIRGINIA, Jan. 1 (AP)—East and West locked grips today in a mighty football struggle that ended in a scoreless tie to the cheers of 58,000 fans.

The thirteenth annual classic, bringing together the cream of the country's gridiron talent, and fought out for charity, was more even than any contest since the game was established in 1925.

It was a battle of ground power, as exemplified by the Eastern all-stars, and a brilliant aerial attack which saw the Western boys complete 14 out of 22 passes for a total of 151 yards.

Underrated and decided short-end, the West squad, coached by Earl Hollingbery of Washington State College and Major Lawrence "Biff" Jones of Nebraska, actually held an edge on the offensive side.

The Westerners tried and missed two field goals, one being short and the other blocked, but the scoring attempts constituted the difference between the rival eleven.

The only important scoring threat by the Easterners, coached by Andy Kerr of Colgate and Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, was an opening period drive that saw them march 41 yards to the West's 29.

Aside from this thrust, the warriors from the sunrise side of the Mississippi river were confined to the area bounded by the 35-yard line.

George Karamatic, stocky little fullback from Gonzaga U., made the field goal tries. One, a real test of foot, was from his own 49-yard in the second period.

He had an easier chance in the final period. After the West had advanced 50 yards to the East's six yard marker, mainly on passes from Dwight Sloan of Arkansas, Karamatic came back into the game to try his luck again.

The goal posts were directly in front and the kick was straight but—lanky Ralph Wolf, center from Ohio State, smashed through to block the ball.

The East, relying mainly on ground plays, nevertheless produced a strong passing attack, with Cecil Isbell, Purdue halfback, and John Michelosen, Pittsburgh quarterback, handling the bulk of the tosses. None was of a score-threatening nature, however.

Standouts were Isbell, Elmore Hackney of Duke, Don Heap of Northwestern, Michelosen and Corby Davis of Indiana in the Eastern backfield and the line play of three Fordham linemen, Center Andrew Wojciechovic, Tackle Al Barbatzky and the other tackle, Ed Franco, kicked over the goal but the Broncos were offside and LSU got five yards and another play, Rohm went back to kick. Milner took the ball from him on a fake play and it looked as if he was away. He was half pulled down and stumbled at the three after running 23 yards. On the next play Rohm lost seven and passes failed to connect.

Late in the final period, the Broncos checked a Tiger threat at the 29 and Pavlek booted out. A long pass by Bussey was intercepted and Santa Clara lost the ball at Louisiana State's 45 with 15 seconds to play. Bussey completed a long aerial to Ken Kavanaugh, who raced to the Broncos 28 before being tackled down.

A big 1938 for wrestling fans will begin on Monday night at 8 o'clock when Promoter Cliff Chambers presents another of his famous all-star cards—main events in every match.

The headline attraction will be the appearance of Jack Mandell, human kangaroo, and Wild Bill Cazzell, scapling Indian, in a main event. Preceding the final set, Sailor Jack Moran, wild and woolly gub, will try to make mincemeat out of Cyclone Mackie, chubby iron man of the mat.

Opening proceedings at 8 o'clock sharp will be Andy Tremaine, human lightning, and Otto von Ludwig, plodding roughneck.

Mandell is one of the favored few to Pampa wrestling fans. The wolves gave a marvelous exhibition of boogie, etc., during 1937. Favorites dropped by the wayside with lightning rapidity. At the present time, Mandell and Tremaine are the white-haired boys. Cazzell is well disliked because of a streak of roughness which appeared on his last two appearances.

Almost a one-man team, White, the scholarly all-American sensation, did everything they said he could. He seized a great soon after the opening kickoff and it was a touchdown in three minutes.

Downfield he broke over the Rice tackle thrusts from a short punt formation, finally passing to Antonio from the eight-yard line for the first score.

The Colorado cutup was at it again soon after the kickoff, intercepting Lain's first pass of the game on the middle stripe and waiting untouch for a touchdown. As he did on the first score, he booted the extra point.

Lain, the "substitute" who is inserted when scoring opportunities seem near, started his antics and White was a forgotten man the remainder of the game.

Once he drove across himself for a score and three other times he bulleted passes that found end Frank Steen and backs Jake Schuehle and Cordill for aerial touchdowns. Carrot-topped Jack Vestal, sixth another sophomore back, added all the extra points.

Rice did not relinquish the ball on the four touchdown drives, jabbing with Lain's passes, Cordill's tackle blasts and general pass receiving on sustained marches of 72, 57, 91 and 50 yards for the scores.

Lain, best Saturday. Scrutinized on individual statistics, Lain was better man than White today. Fourteen times the hulking Rice halfback surged through the Colorado line, picking up 78 yards for an average gain of 5 1/2 paces. His passes were even more deadly; eight of the dozen he passed were good for 123 yards and three touchdowns.

White—a worn, sad figure at the end of the rout, couldn't hold the terrific pace he started. He was the Colorado football team. He belted the Rice wall 23 times for 62 yards, and after his losses were deducted, had an average of 23 yards. His passes didn't come often—only five—but he completed only one for eight yards and had two intercepted.

But the phantom of the Rockies didn't have the stout Rice line behind him Lain, Cordill, Tom Vickers, Jack Schuehle and others operated.

It was that line that opened the holes for Rice's three-touchdown surge in the second period. On the first score, Rice started back on its 28 and went on without a hitch on passes by Lain and Schuehle and a slash to Steen that carried to the seven. There Lain dropped a flat-zone pass in Schuehle's hand and he wiggled across.

From their 43 Rice shoved off for the second score. Lain tossed to Steen and Hager for sizeable gains and Cordill first-downed it to the Colorado 35.

Lain got in a blast of his own and then passed to Cordill, who seemed stopped five times but wiggled on to the four. Lain went over standing up.

Ninety one yards went the third Rice drive. Vestal bucked through Colorado's wall for 15 to start it and then Lain punched to the Owl 45. Schuehle worked on a Statue-of-Liberty play for 12 more and Lain uncorked a 43-yarder Cordill speared on the eight and escorted across.

Johnny Neece and Schuehle, aided in spots by Lain, powerhouse from the middle stripe to the nine before Lain passed to Steen for the fourth score.

Survivors, in addition to Miss Crawford, include the widow and a son, Hal Hayes Le Sueur of Los Angeles.

RICE SHACKLES 'WHIZZER' FOR 28-14 VICTORY

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT

DALLAS, Jan. 1 (AP)—Two irrepressible Rice Institute sophomores, Ernie Lain and Ole Cordill, unfolded all their cunning to crush Whizzer White and his hitherto unbeaten Colorado mates, 28-14, before 37,000 Cotton Bowl fans today.

Stunned at the outset by White's ramblings that brought in two quick touchdowns and a comfortable Colorado lead, the Southwest Conference kings stormed back behind Lain's pitching arm and Cordill's twinkie toes to bury the Buffaloes.

In the last three periods Colorado was no match for the burly Owl crew that punched the Buffalo defense for 422 yards, four touchdowns and another threat that died on the one-foot stripe.

Too much Rice line was the answer. The rangy Texans, after White's first running and pass splurge that netted a touchdown, settled down to an afternoon of stubbornness, yielding only 87 yards in all.

'Whizzer' Satisfies. Almost a one-man team, White, the scholarly all-American sensation, did everything they said he could. He seized a great soon after the opening kickoff and it was a touchdown in three minutes.

PAMPANS COME FROM BEHIND IN 4TH TO BEAT TECH 30-17

TWO FUMBLES CONTRIBUTE TO TIDE'S DEFEAT

ROSE BOWL, PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 1 (AP)—Alabama's once glorious gridiron dynasty of the sunny South fell today, conquered thoroughly and completely for the first time in five invasions of the Rose Bowl battle ground by the mighty blue and gold warriors of California. The score: California 13, Alabama 0.

The gallant red regiment from Dixie, powerful enough to whip three other Pacific Coast Conference teams and the one in the Bowl, never encountered a more valiant, determined band such as California, with its Vic Bottari, Sam Chapman, John Meek and Bob Herwig, placed on the field today before a record-breaking crowd of 90,000.

The crusading Southerners found that California was on a crusade of its own, sworn and fully capable of bringing back some of the lost glory of the west in the Rose Bowl.

The Golden Bears scored first in the second quarter, converting a fumble by little Herky Moseley, Bama back, into a 63-yard drive over the goal.

The other touchdown came in the third period on the heels of a 48-yard parade that swept the Crimson Tide before it with seldom an interruption.

Vic Bottari proved the touchdown hero of the day, scoring both tallies for the Bears, but California's so-called "team without a star" lived up to its name. It had eleven stars.

Breaks and fumbles contributed largely to the defeat of the Tide for the first time in two long years of campaigning. Two vital fumbles were laid at the feet of Moseley.

Racing in to catch a punt in his fumble, which Perry Schwartz, California's right end, recovered, that led to the first score.

Fourth score, the rangy end making a great catch.

Faced by Vickers, a gang of reserves almost scored again in the fourth, but the red-headed senior was stopped on the one-foot line on fourth down.

Starting lineup: Pos. RICE INST. COLORADO LE Nance, Brown, LT Hines, Stevens, LG Moore, Moore, Center, RG Landry, Smith, RT Stanned, Lavington, RE Steen, White, QB Hancock, Bosney, RB Vickers, Antonio, RB Cordill, Rice Institute 0 21 7 0-28

Colorado scoring: Touchdowns, Schuehle, Cordill and Steen (passes from Lain); Lain, Points after touchdown, Vestal (4), (from placement).

Colorado scoring: Touchdowns, Antonio (pass from White); White, Points after touchdown, White (2), (from placement).

Rice substitutions: Ends, Williams, Palmer, Hager; tackles, Green, Singler, Hughes; guards, Hairston, McBrayer, Hauer, Stern; centers, Husband, Flowers, Price; backs, Neece, Sullivan, Lain, Reeves, Coffee, Parker, Mechler, Brandon.

Colorado substitutions: Ends—Liley, Grove, Quinberg; tackles, Krueger, Lawen, Levine; guards, Davidson, Smart, Gard; center, Thomson; backs, Hickey, Reeves, Hill, Rob, Roehls; QB—Curtis; Officials: Bell (Vanderbilt), referee; Bresnahan (Colo. Final plans for the holding of the first annual Pampa Daily News Golden Gloves amateur boxing contest will be made at a meeting of the tournament sponsors on Tuesday night at a time and place to be announced. The tournament will be staged the first week in February and entries are already being received at the NEWS.

Workouts for entrants will probably begin on Wednesday at the Pampa Athletic arena with Cliff B. Chambers, tournament director, in charge. Punching bags, ropes and gloves will be available for participants.

Boys interested in entering the tournament are urged to do so immediately so that they will be able to have a full month of training before the big event.

Winners in each class will be eligible for a trip to the state Golden Gloves tournament in Fort Worth Dec. 17 to 21. From there the victors will go to Chicago for the national tournament.

The tournament will not be confined to Pampa and surrounding territory but to any amateur boxer in the southwest. Eight classes will be available for entries. Fill in the entry blank and mail or take it to the Golden Gloves Editor, Pampa Daily News.

DEBERRY SWORN IN
AUSTIN, Jan. 1 (AP)—Tom Deberry, champion of the "Spivins Boys" in the Texas Legislature many years was sworn in as a member of the board of control today, succeeding John F. Wallace whose term expired. After a brief ceremony with Supreme Court Justice Richard Critz administering the oath, Claude Teer was re-elected chairman of the board. The third member of Henry C. Meyer.

Dallas Tech was leading the Harvesters 15 to 14 Friday night in a game at Dallas, but the Pampa boys put on the pressure and routed the enemy 30 to 17.

Bob Andis was the boy who got hot. He scored most of his points in the last quarter to lead the scoring with 12 tallies. Claude Heiskell chalked up 7 points, Norman Cox 2, and Dunaway 2.

Dallas led the Pampa team 12 to 2 at the half and 12 to 3 at the end of the first quarter. The Harvesters made a clean sweep of the four games played on their road trip, and boosted their victories to 13. They have lost only one game. The reserves played an important part in all games played on the trip. The subs were Junior Foster, Omer Harrell, Jack Cunningham, A. C. Miller.

Coach Mitchell and the entire team attended the Colorado-Rice Cotton Bowl classic yesterday. The Pampa mentor said the game Friday night on Tech's court was the best of the series. The Pampans won two games at Olney and one at Turkey earlier in the week.

The Harvesters had difficulty in getting their offense started, and were unable to achieve a balance in shooting crisp shots. The Pampa defense also failed to function in the first quarter, but in the last quarter the Tech offense wilted and Andis started hitting the basket, followed by the other Pampa sharpshooters.

THE BOSS

JAPS SEEK TO HALT ESCAPE OF DEFENDERS

(By The Associated Press) SHANGHAI, Jan. 2—(Sunday)—Two Japanese columns moving rapidly southward, complete the conquest of Shantung province today were converging on Yenchow, important railway junction near the province's southern border.

Japanese dispatches said the two columns, skirting a Chinese resistance center around Taishan, already had captured Pingyin and Feicheng, west of the Tientsin-Pukow railway, which marks the main line of the Japanese advance.

Capture of Yenchow, it was believed, would cut off escape for the Chinese forces still battling the invaders around Taishan and the nearby city of Tzian, Yenchow is 70 miles south of Tzian, the captured provincial capital, and about 100 miles north of Suchow, the junction of the Tientsin-Pukow and Lunghai railways, the latter being the main east-west trunkline of China.

The Chinese at Taishan were reported led by the famous "Christian general," Feng Yu-Hsiang, long among the most bitterly anti-Japanese of China's military men.

700 Bombs Dropped. Japanese airplanes were said to have dropped more than 700 bombs in the Taishan area, destroying or damaging many of the famous temples that crown the mountain or nestle on its slopes. Suchow also has been heavily bombed by the Japanese airplanes. Two hundred Chinese civilians were reported killed or wounded in the raids.

The Shanghai municipal council, ruling the International Settlement, took stern measures to cope with terrorism following Saturday's bombing in which four Japanese soldiers were wounded. Five grenades were thrown at the group by unidentified persons, probably from a Chinese hotel at a busy Settlement corner.

In an emergency proclamation the council gave the police sweeping authority to search public or private property for unauthorized arms and offering rewards up to $1,500 to anyone supplying information leading to the arrest of terrorists or seizure of unauthorized arms.

Settlement authorities, Americans and Britons, hoped to prevent development of a terrorist campaign against Japan's domination of the Shanghai area. Friday Lo Pao-Hong, eminent Chinese Catholic layman and philanthropist, was assassinated in the French concession shortly after he assumed leadership of a Chinese committee co-operating with the Japanese in restoring normal conditions here.

Admiral Hanting began in earnest, a public safety commission having restored order after two weeks of destruction and looting of Japanese property by Chinese forces, which departed Friday.

One hundred eighty-two Americans remained in Tsin-tiao and its vicinity, and Samuel Cokogin, United States consul, reported all safe and all American property undamaged.

The destroyer Pope arrived at Shanghai from Tsin-tiao, bringing five children of American residents of the Shantung port. About 70 Americans have left Tsin-tiao since Chinese began burning Japanese cotton mills and the Japanese invasion of Shantung began in earnest.

Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander in chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, announced his flagship, the cruiser Augusta, would sail Jan. 6 for Manila. The Augusta had been scheduled to leave Shanghai in mid-December, but remained because of the sinking of the gunboat Panay and the crisis at Tsin-tiao.

Admiral Yarnell and his staff will remain at Shanghai, making headquarters aboard the naval yacht Isabel, now en route here from Manila. The Augusta, after five months in the muddy Whangpoo river here, was said to need an overhaul.

Peace Terms Rejected. Foreign officials in Shanghai said they had learned that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, China's leader, had rejected Japanese peace overtures communicated to him by Dr. Oskar Trautmann, German ambassador to China, now at Hankow.

Suggested terms of peace were said to have been forwarded to Dr. Trautmann by the Tokyo government through the German ambassador to Japan. Included were said to be: An economic agreement under which Japan would participate in development of China's resources, aviation, transport and communications; increased Japanese control over the Chinese maritime customs; China's adherence to a pact against Communism; establishment of permanent Japanese garrisons in China; formation of demilitarized zones in China to be fixed by Japan; payment of war indemnities by China.

SCOUT NEWS

TRUOP 80

Eoy Scout troop 80, sponsored by the First Methodist church, enjoyed the second camping trip within two weeks at Lederick's ranch on Chickens Creek, during the week-end. Boys who made the trip were the scoutmaster, and the assistant scoutmaster, Franklin Baer, and the following scouts: Cotton Smith, Jack Crout, Bert Isbell, Bennett Wray, Archie Brown, Jerry Smith, Earle Ketter, Billy Mounts, James Archer and L. V. McDonald. The previous week, eight members of troop 80 camped at the same spot.

The two week-end camping trips made a total of 18 over night camping trips for the troop during the last year, not counting a two week camping trip to Colorado during the summer.

Next Thursday night is the deadline for re-registration for the new year. The annual banquet will be held the following week. Thus far only eight boys have re-registered, and about that many more are eligible for registration. Boys who have deliberately missed four times in a row may not re-register until they attend four consecutive times. Under no consideration will boys of scout age, not including associate scouts, be allowed to re-register if they do not attend.

The Scoutmaster wishes that about a half-dozen boys of 12 or 13 years of age who have never been Scouts would join the troop. The troop will appear before the Court of Honor this month for advancements and merit badges. About 15 boys attended Scout meeting Thursday night. The troop plans to hold its registration during this year.

Educators, Leaders To Attend Laying of P-T-A Cornerstone

AUSTIN, Jan. 1.—The forty-eight members of the Board of Managers of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, presidents of the State Teachers colleges of Texas and other prominent educators and leaders in child welfare work will gather here January 11 for the ceremony incident to the laying of the cornerstone in the new Texas Congress home at 408 West Eleventh Street.

The home is a headquarters building for the Texas congress and has been occupied by the State office force since the latter part of November.

Coincident with the January meeting of the Texas Congress Board of Managers here, the cornerstone-laying ceremony is scheduled for 11:30 o'clock in the morning of January 11. The home will be open to the public for inspection, beginning at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Edmund Heinsohn, pastor of the University Methodist church, Austin, will pronounce the invocation. Mrs. Will T. Decherd, chairman of the building committee, will present the building to Mrs. M. A. Taylor of Bonham, State Congress president. Mrs. Taylor will make a short address following which she will present the past State Congress presidents, Mrs. Ella Caruthers Porter, Dallas, founder of the Texas Congress; Mrs. Chalmers Hutchison of Fort Worth; Mrs. F. W. McAlister of San Antonio; Mrs. E. A. Watters of Fort Worth; Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs, Austin; Mrs. C. E. Madocks of Ranger; Mrs. Noyes Darling Smith of Austin, and Mrs. A. F. Wood of Athens. Each past president has been invited to bring a short greeting.

Mothersingers of the John T. Allen High School P-T-A, will present several numbers to complete the program.

The past presidents of the Texas Congress and the present president, together with members of the building committee, will place some of the mortar when the building architect, Roy L. Thomas, and the contractor, Scott Yeamans, both of Austin, lay the cornerstone.

The ceremony will be broadcast over Radio Station KNOW, beginning at 11:40.

A luncheon sponsored by the Austin Council of Presidents will honor Congress board members and other guests at 12:30 in the Junior Ball Room of the Union Building on The University of Texas campus. Attendance at the luncheon has been set tentatively at between 150 and 200 persons.

COURT BATTLE MAY BE AIRED IN NEW TERM

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON. WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (AP)—Echoes of the old battle over the court bill, strangely infrequent in the special session, seem likely to be heard again in the regular meeting of Congress beginning next week.

Within little more than three months comes the first primaries of the 1938 congressional contest. Illinois party polls to pick senatorial and other candidates fall on April 12 and on May 3 Indiana follows. From then on until late September several states will be holding primaries every month.

Special interest centers upon the Indiana primary. Senator Fredrick Van Nuys, whose seat is at stake, was one of the half dozen Senate Democrats who bolted presidential leadership on the court bill. During the long drawn battle it was freely predicted that disciplinary party action would be taken against the rebels. Yet there has been no talk of administration reprisals since then.

It will be August before the second active Democratic Senate force of the court bill faces a primary test. Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri goes up for re-endorsement by Missouri Democrats August 2. During September other Democratic court bill bolters like McCarran of Nevada, Tydings of Maryland, George of Georgia and Lonergan of Connecticut will follow.

Political observers attach importance to the fact that the special session saw no revival of charges that the administration was preparing to seek the scalps of bolters in the primaries. A direct threat was voiced in the wake of the court fight by Senator Guifey of Pennsylvania, then heading the Democratic senatorial campaign committee. It is counter to the insistence of other administration leaders in the Senate that no reprisals against the rebels would be attempted. Vice President Garner raised the no reprisals slogan when he intervened to end the contest and sink the Roosevelt court bill into a committee pigeon hole where it still remains.

SOLONS DIDN'T KNOW BROWDER—NOW DALLAS

DALLAS, Jan. 1 (AP)—Ignorance of an early-day Texas legislature about Texas geography was largely responsible for Dallas' developing into an important commercial center.

"The first railroad entering Dallas from the south completing its line by the end of 1871," Dr. Edwin J. Fosberg, professor of geography at Southern Methodist University, writes in "Field and Laboratory," S. M. U. scientific publication.

"At that time the Texas and Pacific was building Westward from Longview. Its original route called for a direct line southwestward to Watters of Fort Worth; Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs, Austin; Mrs. C. E. Madocks of Ranger; Mrs. Noyes Darling Smith of Austin, and Mrs. A. F. Wood of Athens. Each past president has been invited to bring a short greeting.

Through a smart stroke a note was inserted in the charter of the Texas and Pacific Railroad company requiring it to cross the Trinity river within one mile of Browder Springs. No one in the legislature knew the location of Browder Springs, but after the charter was granted, those springs were found to be along Mill creek in the present city park.

Dallas also offered a bonus of $100,000 to the Texas and Pacific to complete its road to the city.

CRIPPLED BOY MAKES SWEET-TONE VIOLINS

BUCKHOLTS, Jan. 1 (AP)—Eddy Orsag, 19-year-old boy of Buckholts, recently completed his third violin, carved from sections of a telephone pole and railroad cross tie. A pocket knife and rasp were the only tools employed by his thin hands to make the instrument which is said to have a sweet tone.

The boy never has been able to walk nor go to school, but likes to make things and those who have seen his work say he has developed remarkable skill in carving. He pushes his body along the floor of his home with his hands, or with an iron rod propels a little wagon around the door yard.

Eddy wants to be self supporting but he cannot buy materials or tools for his self-taught avocation. He uses what he can find, and the violins, representing his handiwork, were made entirely with a jack-knife with no evidence of amateur workmanship, it is said. The only parts bought were the strings and bridges. The fiddleneck and pegs are delicately carved, and the tailpieces fashioned from beef bones.

CENTRAL CHURCH OF CHRIST

All preaching services at the Central Church of Christ will be conducted today by the Rev. Robert R. Price of Clinton, Okla.

Rev. Price, who has spoken here several times before, is one of the outstanding and leading preachers of the church. He was pastor of the church at Childress for more than eight years before going to Clinton.

The schedule for the week is as follows: 8:30 to 9 a. m. Radio Sermon over KPND. 9:45 a. m. Bible study and classes at the church. 11 to 12 a. m. Preaching and communion services. 6 p. m. Young folks' class. 7 p. m. Preaching and communion. 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, mid-week Ladies' Bible class. 7 p. m. Song and prayer services. The public is cordially invited to attend all services.

Dallas also offered a bonus of $100,000 to the Texas and Pacific to complete its road to the city.

RUMANIA PLANS TO PERSECUTE MILLION JEWS

BUCHAREST, Jan. 1 (AP)—Rumania's 1,200,000 Jews faced the New Year with gravest anxiety today as stringent measures imposed by the new government of Constantin Goga for "regulation of foreigners" made them fear loss of homes and fortunes.

If utterances of the more zealous leaders of Goga's national Christian party are to be accepted at face value, Rumania is about to take measures more stringent even than those introduced by Adolf Hitler in Germany.

These leaders are demanding that all foreigners who became Rumanian citizens after 1920 be expelled from the country, or be so strictly limited in occupation privileges that they be reduced to poverty.

Such restraints would hit squarely at thousands of Jews who fled from Russia, Poland and Germany after the World war.

Jews, desperately contemplating flight now to a new haven, asked "Where to?"

Borders around them are closing. Bulgaria has indicated she would not permit any great influx of fugitives. Little welcome was expected in Hungary or Yugoslavia. Even the government of tolerant Austria—where thousands of political refugees have found security—paid attention to a newspaper campaign "to close the gates against foreign Jews—we have enough."

In Bucharest today blue-shirted "Lancers" (the Rumanian equivalent of Nazi Brownshirts and Fascist Blackshirts) paraded the streets maintaining order and recruiting a force to carry out policies of the new nationalist government as soon as its program is definitely made public.

Of Rumania's 18,000,000 population, 1,200,000 are Jews, many of whom have played important parts in recent industrial and commercial expansion of the country. Thus, many leading citizens appeared des-timed to be hit by the impending regulatory measures. The country anxiously awaited radio talks tonight by Goga and King Carol for full explanation of these measures, which were semi-officially said to call for confiscation of Jewish land holdings, revocation of citizenship of all Jews who entered the country since 1920 and dismissal of all Jews in public service. Goga said "we are anti-semitic in principle—we don't hate Jews. We propose merely to recover Rumania for the Rumanians."

MIDDLE-SIZED CITIES STEAL BUILDING NEWS

By JACK KRUEGER
Associated Press Staff Writer

A handful of middle-sized cities which have long played second fiddle to the bigger centers of the state are coming of age.

On the wide plains and a thousand-mile Gulf coast, centers of population which not many years ago were mere towns turned $30,000,000 worth of stone, steel and wood into buildings.

The big four—Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio—remained in front—but such towns as Corpus Christi, Galveston, Austin and Lubbock showed a community building vigor that made them strong runners-up.

Notable was Corpus Christi's expansion. Building permits for the year totaled $3,840,322, an increase of more than $1,070,522 over 1936's construction (including the last few days of 1937). That lusty coast city contracted for new docks, a telephone building, a new office building, a community house, sewage plant. Outside the city limits were construction jobs not included in the total. One was a $3,000,000 salt and chlorine plant and a $1,000,000 oil refinery. Also excluded from the total were five refineries costing half a million dollars each and $2,000,000 worth of oil tank construction. And observers there saw no symptoms of a let-up.

Houston Aways Ahead
Big Houston, open to the sea, poured $18,684,035 (through Dec. 31) into construction.

Houston's expansion this year was a sustained program equalling that of 1936. Greater Dallas, including suburban University Park and Highland Park, ran to $12,085,548. As in Houston, Fort Worth and San Antonio, most of Dallas' money went for new homes. For Dallas proper the 1937 total was slightly under that of 1936 but the suburbs reported the best years since 1928.

Port Worth noted a heavy trend toward home construction and was third in the state with $6,666,972. Construction dropped off sharply in the last three months and the year's total was a million or so under last year's. San Antonio built 632 homes this year for half their building permit total of better than $4,553,778. Last year 661 homes were built, but this was balanced with more store construction.

Austin worked steadily though the year on almost $4,000,000 worth of buildings. Residential construction was treble that of last year. Galveston's growing pains were acute and from a 1936 total of $1,565,000, permits this year jumped to $3,690,000 which provided for construction of a causeway, beach groins, a pier and telephone building.

Hallstorm Causes Boom
A hallstorm in Tyler last year boomeranged building there to $1,746,570. There was no hallstorm this year but permits reached $1,170,800. Lubbock's south plains sphere of influence enjoyed good growing weather nearly all year and Lubbock prospered. This year it contracted for $2,046,268 worth of construction, nearly a million dollars in excess of last year.

Other cities showed similar expansion. Fort Arthur allotted $1,392,000 for construction, not including $1,000,000 for a high school and lakefront reversion. Last year's total was less. Amarillo again knocked at the door of the two-million dollar mark and looked forward to a $370,000 federal building in 1938.

Waco Building Jumps
Waco building jumped sharply from $847,496 in 1936 to $1,171,701 this year. Abilene's $595,309 was a bit under last year's total. San Angelo built many homes to increase its 1937 total to $412,483 against $332,979 last year. Most of the dwellings cost between $15,000 and $50,000.

Big Spring permits were up to $335,650 against $227,150 for last year. Sherman spurred to $373,241 against $117,091 while Pampa and Wichita Falls figures were less than last year's. Public and school construction in 1936 were cited in the drops.

Other reports: Palestine, $167,151 for 1937, $178,097 for 1936; Paris, 164,590 for 1937, (best in six years), and $109,001 last year; Corsicana $126,815 this year, $115,383 last year; Plainview $89,946 in 1937 against $27,800 last year; Midland, $801,382 for this year.

OIL FIELD EQUIPMENT RECOVERED NEAR HERE

Sheriff Earl Talley started off 1938 with the recovery of some oil field equipment, discovered Saturday evening concealed in a field near Kingsmill.

The equipment, now in the sheriff's office, consists of a 1 1/2-ton chain hoist, a 6-inch swab, a 2-inch elevator, 10 valves and fittings, and two truck tires.

Monterey was the original capital of California.

MEXICO BACKS DOWN IN WAGE RAISE DEMAND

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 1 (AP)—A showdown in the bitter wage dispute between the Mexican Government and the $400,000,000 oil industry was postponed today when the labor board suspended its order increasing the wages of 18,000 oil workers.

The suspension was ordered pending a ruling by the Supreme Court on an appeal taken by the 16 American and British companies concerned from an arbitration board's wage award of Dec. 18.

Gustavo Corona, chairman of the labor board, said conditions of the suspension were that the companies must post bond of "several million pesos" and "guarantee workers' rights."

In effect the companies have challenged President Lazaro Cardenas to compel them to pay the wage increases, which were to have gone into effect last midnight.

Many oil men predicted a compromise settlement. One said the government's reasonableness in the face of a difficult situation gives it the opportunity for re-examining the whole situation.

The whole knotty question of Mexico's relations with foreign capital and President Cardenas' program of the "Mexicanization of industry" were involved.

Wages Ordered Raised
An oil strike or shutdown would mean appreciable losses of state revenues of which 17 per cent comes from the oil industry.

The arbitration board granted increases estimated by the companies at $11,200,000 (41,000,000 pesos) annually against their offer, made before a 12-day strike last May and June, to increase wages not more than about half that amount.

The board said the increase would amount to only $7,200,000 (26,000,000 pesos) a year.

The companies appealed to the Supreme Court and notified their workers that the old wage scale would be continued. Corona granted the companies' request to await the court decision.

Cardenas' Move Next

Informed persons believed that while the court considers the case President Cardenas might make one of three moves: A compromise on wages with the companies; concessions to the companies in leases or oil prices to offset higher wages; placing agents in the oil companies' managements—perhaps temporarily expropriating their properties—in order to guarantee the wage benefits.

Most foreign oil men believed the state would fall if it should attempt to run the industry and produce the same government revenues from it as in the past.

Virtually all sources agreed that such intervention would bring the issue to the stage of diplomatic representations.

Some observers connected prevailing rumors of a compromise with negotiations of finance Minister Eduardo R. Suarez in Washington, where he received the United States' promise to help maintain the peso's exchange rate of 3.50 to the dollar.

Suarez, they said, must have traded something for that pledge, and the likeliest "trading stock" was considered to be an assurance of better treatment of United States capital in Mexico.

There was one other difficulty. The labor board ruled the companies must pay wages of 1,295,000 pesos

FEDERAL GRAND JURY TO HEAR TESTIMONY

A federal grand jury in Amarillo on January 10 will consider the case of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Kenreck and D. J. Souter, charged with possession and concealment of narcotics at a hearing before a United States commissioner in Amarillo, December 22, following the arrest of the trio at a downtown Pampa hotel on the night of December 21.

Sheriff Earl Talley led a group of officers in making the raid that resulted in the apprehension of the three persons.

Kenreck is wanted in Pineville, Mo., in connection with a burglary case, Sheriff Talley said.

FUNERAL FOR HIGGINS INFANT WILL BE TODAY

Funeral services of Gerald Benton Higgins, 7-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Higgins of Pampa, who died at 2 p. m. Saturday in a local hospital, will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in Mountain View, Okla.

($357,000) for the period of the 12-day strike. Corona said 75 per cent of that amount must be paid by Tuesday, or he would requisition sufficient company property to cover it.

WEDDINGS HOLD SPOTLIGHT IN SOCIAL ACTIVITIES OF THE WEEK

NUPTIALS READ BY COUPLE IN HOME SATURDAY

Announcements of marriages and engagements have highlighted the social activities in Pampa for the past week. One of the most prominent of these events was the marriage of Miss Mary Olive Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin W. Payne of Duncan, Oklahoma, and Bob Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Thompson of Nacogdoches, which was solemnized yesterday morning in the home of the couple at 425 North Yeager street.

The Rev. C. Gordon Bayless, pastor of the First Baptist church, performed the ring ceremony before an altar of synthetic palms, tall candelabra, and baskets of red roses and stivie. A table covered with huckleberry formed an alcove on which large white satin bows were attached. Mrs. Del Hartman lighted the tapers in the candelabra.

The bride entered leaning on the arm of her uncle, Scott Hall of LeFors, who gave her in marriage. She was attractive in a blue metal-lice crepe daytime frock with taupe wine accessories. Her bouquet was of red roses.

Miss Eugenia Waller of Duncan was the bride's only attendant. She wore a dress of rust crepe with a corsage of sovenir roses and lavender sweet peas. The bride's mother was dressed in mahogany crepe with a corsage of white carnations.

Paul Hipsher attended the bridegroom as best man.

Author Explains Solar Storms for Benefit of Readers

By BRUCE CATTON

When we have a depression, a war, a revolution or a political upheaval, should we blame human cussedness or the sun?

In other words, do the people who blame such ills on sunspots have any scientific basis for their talk, or are they charlatans and romancers? Does the sunspot cycle have any real cause-and-effect relationship to such a human concern, for instance, as the business cycle?

If you are curious about such questions you might well have a look at "Sunspots and Their Effects," by Harlan True Stetson (Whitely House; $2). Dr. Stetson is one of the nation's distinguished astronomers, and he has taken the pains to compare the sunspot record with the corresponding record of human activities.

As a cautious scientist, Dr. Stetson refrains from dogmatic answers. He does show, however, that there are excellent grounds to suspect that sunspots do have a very strong effect, indeed, on human behavior. He states these grounds and leaves the reader to draw his own conclusions; and the result is a most provocative book.

Sunspots—terrible cyclonic storms in the solar atmosphere—occur in cycles of approximately 11 years. Seemingly, they do have an effect on certain biological behavior; it is quite possible that they may directly affect the growth and quality of the foodstuffs we eat, and the behavior of our ductless glands. It is permissible to believe that "the sun may have more far-reaching effects upon terrestrial affairs than we have been accustomed to suppose."

Designed for the lay reader, this book does a fine job of making an abstruse subject clear and interesting.

The late Sir Edward Elgar, English composer, dedicated one of his best known works to the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose.

Texas Oil Fields Background Of RKO-Radio Film

NITRO DRAMA STARS CAREY, EILERS, BEAL

The story of the "soup handlers," the daredevils who transport nitroglycerine in the oil fields, is the theme of RKO-Radio's picture "Danger Patrol," showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Rex.

"Danger Patrol" tells a vivid story of workers in the Texas oil fields, the men who transport and handle high explosives, thus living under constant shadow of death. The film contends, however, that difficult as the task of these men is, the nervous strain on their womenfolk is doubly great.

Graphically, the picture shows both the workers and the stay-at-homes, and emphasizes that though the danger is great to those on assignments, the ones left behind with nothing but their imaginations to draw on, are in a much more difficult spot.

The tense situations are frequently relieved by comedy, which, like the theme of the story, is drawn from the life of the people depicted.

Sally Eilers, John Beal, and Harry Carey head the cast and supporting players include Solly Ward, Frank M. Thomas, Jack Arnold, Ed Garman and Lee Patrick.

The story is from an original by Helen Freeland and Hilda Vincent, with screen play by Sy Bartlett. Lou Landers directed.

The Rex opens the week with a double program. Showing today, tomorrow and Tuesday in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Thoroughbreds Don't Cry," with Judy Garland, Mickey Rooney, Sophie Tucker, C. Aubrey Smith, and Renald Sinclair. The second picture is Twentieth Century-Fox's "Lancer Spy," with Dolores Del Rio, George Sanders, and Peter Lorre.

Four westerns are on film bookings in Pampa theaters this week: today, tomorrow, and Tuesday at the Crown, "Springtime in the Rockies," with Gene Autry and Smiley Burnette; "Wild Horse Rodeo," with the Three Mesquites, also at the Crown, on Friday and Saturday.

On the same days, the Rex is showing Buck Jones in "Boss of Lonely Valley," and the State, Larry Grabbe is featured in Zane Grey's "Forlorn River."

Ginger Rogers and Adolphe Menjou have the leading roles in "Stage Door," RKO-Radio film at the LaNora today, tomorrow, and Tuesday. The picture for today and Monday at the State is "Artists and Models," with Jack Benny, Ida Lupino and Richard Arlen.

Wednesday and Thursday the Crown is showing "The Man Who Lived Twice," with Richard Bellamy and Marian Marsh. Barbara Stanwyck and Herbert Marshall are featured in "Breakfast for Two," showing at the State Tuesday. Joe Penner had the leading role in "Life of the Party," showing Wednesday and Thursday at the State. On Wednesday the LaNora picture is "Springtime in the Rockies," with Gene Autry and Smiley Burnette.

Benny—Lupino—Arlen

Jack Benny, Ida Lupino, and Richard Arlen are the principals in "Artists and Models," showing today and tomorrow at the State.

The picture is "She Married An Artist," featuring John Boles and Lull Desie. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday the LaNora is showing "Damsel in Distress," with Fred Astaire and Jean Fontaine in the leading roles.

CROWN

MUSICAL WESTERN. "Springtime in the Rockies," Autry's latest musical western for Republic, comes today to the Crown Theater for a run of three days. It deals with the adventures of a rough-and-ready cowboy who suddenly and unexpectedly has four lovely maidens fresh from an agricultural college descend upon him to teach him how to run a ranch. Naturally, this procedure doesn't set very well with the cowboys. They at first decide to get rid of the maidens post haste, but Gene and his pal, Smiley Burnette become so charmed by them that they decide instead to teach them the real principles of ranching such as one never learns in an agricultural college.

Joe Kane directed the production, under Associate Producer Sol C. Siegel.

LaNORA

BACK STAGE. A glimpse behind the scenes in a Broadway coaching school is vouchsafed audiences in RKO Radio's "Stage Door" which brings Katharine Hepburn and Ginger Rogers to the screen as co-stars with Adolphe Menjou.

As the members of a sister act, Ginger Rogers and Ann Miller rehearse their specialty and get their dance training in the school, while Norma Drury, former concert pianist, performs as the school piano player. Miss Rogers offers only one dance number in "Stage Door," a characterization of a young night club entertainer.

REX

DOUBLE BILLING. Racing hoofs and beating hearts mingle to provide dramatic thrills in "Thoroughbreds Don't Cry," in which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer present Renald Sinclair, new discovery in English boy actors, teamed with Judy Garland, Mickey Rooney, and Sophie Tucker.

The machinations and intrigues of the far-flung espionage systems during the World war are revealed 20 years after by "Lancer Spy," Twentieth Century-Fox picture. Dolores Del Rio, George Sanders and Peter Lorre head the cast.

Both of these films are shown in a double program today, tomorrow, and Tuesday.

STATE

"SOUP." Splendid comedy highlights the melodrama in "Danger Patrol," RKO Radio's new picture about explosives workers in the Texas oil fields. John Beal, Sally Eilers and Harry Carey carry the principal parts in the story, and Solly Ward serves as chief comedian.

Wednesday and Thursday. BUCK JONES. Glamor of the old west, highlighted with daring riding, heroic hand-to-hand combats and flash of gun play, is shown in Buck Jones' latest epic of the rangeland, "Boss of Lonely Valley." It's from the novel by Forrest Brown. Friday and Saturday.

FILM TRADE WILL UTILIZE 1937 LESSONS

By JACK ALICGATE, Publisher of The Film Daily.

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—The American film industry's major problem as it faces the new year is the further consolidation of its gains achieved in 1937 in the face of the general business "recession" which suddenly developed during the last quarter.

It is a problem not beyond the resources and the capabilities of an industry which emerged from the depression of 1929 more progressive and far stronger than ever before.

Fewer pictures were available for American screens during 1937, according to figures of the Production Code Authority of the MPPDA. Drop in features during the first 11 months was 84, and in shorts, 51. Total approved in 1937 was 1,311, a year ago, 1,446.

Importation of foreign features shows an increase, the total for the first 11 months approximately that for the preceding full year. The Film Daily review index shows 217 foreign releases up to Dec. 1.

Production Costs Rise. One of the most significant—and to some extent, certainly, alarming—developments of 1937 was the rise in total production costs. The increase in authoritative industry circles is estimated at from 20 to 30 per cent, and in some quarters there is a feeling that 40 per cent would be a correct estimate for a two-year period.

The box office price adjustment, on the whole, was upwards. The average admission price for 1937 was 23, a gain of one cent.

Games Still a Problem. Games and giveaways, plus premiums, remain problems for 1938 solution. Certainly, there were no marked declines in their use in 1937.

In some states and cities, legal decisions forced out games. Among the latter, Chicago was outstanding; states to act through the courts, include Nebraska, Georgia, Alabama and Texas. In Connecticut, a test case is pending.

2,088 More Theaters. It is axiomatic, of course, that theater expansion is keyed to good times. On January 1 last, motion picture houses in operation in the United States numbered 14,500. During the last 12 months, the total has increased to 16,588, according to records of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., the official Haysian organization.

The increase is made the more interesting by the fact that only 436 of the 2,088 added during the year represent new construction. The others are theaters reconstructed and re-equipped, many of them having been dark for periods of years. Circuits and independent operators have shared in the expansion, but the latter have been responsible for the larger number.

It is estimated that the cost of new construction during 1937 totaled $29,500,000 as compared with the 1936 figure of $26,500,000. The greater part of the increase was due to the higher construction costs.

Television Progresses. Television during 1937 continued in the experimental stage, but there were signs of progress and hints that commercial television would not be much longer delayed. Demonstrations of the use of the AT&T New York-Philadelphia coaxial cable as a current transmitter for pictorial reproduction impressed. Significant sound films were used in the demonstrations.

$34,000 RANCH SALE MADE AT CANADIAN

CANADIAN, Jan. 1.—Sale of 8,830 acres of W. C. Isaac ranch land, located west and southwest of here, across Red Deer Creek, was recorded at the court house here last week.

The purchaser is E. S. F. Brainard, a nephew of Mrs. Isaacs, and the consideration was $34,000.

Espionage Story

A secret agent in his enemy's high command, George Sanders gambles on the love of Dolores Del Rio, whose business is betrayal, as a million men await the success of his daring mission in "Lancer Spy," Twentieth Century-Fox suspenseful espionage drama. Showing today, tomorrow and Tuesday at the Rex.

Rogers vs. Hepburn

Ginger Rogers relaxes listening to Katharine Hepburn's argument on the advisability of paying a price for stage fame—a highlight from "Stage Door," co-starring Adolphe Menjou in RKO Radio's vivid version of the Broadway play. At the LaNora, Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday.

Miss Jeffries

O'Keefe of Panhandle, accompanied by Mrs. O. R. Owens of Panhandle, sang "Always." During the service Mrs. Owens played softly, "I Love You Truly." The bride party entered the room to the strains of the march from "Lohengrin" and Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as the recessional.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in blue taffeta. She wore a coronet of valley and carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses, red roses, and lilies of the valley.

Miss Claudine Jeffries, sister of the bride was maid of honor. She wore a rose taffeta dress and carried a bouquet of souvenir roses and orchid sweet peas. Her head dress was of matching rose petals and sweet peas, and caplets of the same flowers trimmed her dress.

Joe Burrows attended the bridegroom as best man. Tailsman roses and sweet peas decorated the rooms where an informal reception was held following the ceremony. A lot of sweet peas adorned the wedding cake which centered the candle-light table. Arrangements of roses and sweet peas were also used at each table. Following the reception the couple district gauger for the Magnolia Petroleum company. Guests attending the wedding were Messrs. and Mrs. Joe Burrows, Robert Boshen, C. N. Ochiltree, Charles Jeffries of Ft. Worth, Tom Bliss, Fred Thompson, J. H. Mann, C. M. Jeffries; Mrs. J. E. Eddy of Dallas, mother of the bridegroom; Jack Mann, Owen; Misses Neva Eurgan, Mary Payne, Jean Mann, Avery Bass, Claudine Jeffries; Messrs. Dan McCree, Bob Thompson, Ansell Thomas, James Meyers, James Weir, Jeff Bearden, Joe Pat O'Keefe, and the bride and groom.

CALENDAR GIFTS NOT QUITE AS POPULAR NOW

Wide-spread distribution of calendars is not as popular as it was in bygone years, judging from a checkup made Saturday.

Business firms using this means to advertise their products or services are not sending out so many small calendars. In past years, few of the advertising calendars were of large size.

1938 calendars now on walls at Pampa public buildings are generally larger in size, have more attractive typography, and carry three months on one sheet; the present, preceding, and following months. Printing is of better quality.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
LINDA BENTON—Heroine, daughter of a famous singer.
CAPT. BARRYMORE TRENT—Hero, flying daredevil.
MIRANDA TRENT—Barrymore's grandmother, a "strong" woman.

Yesterday, Linda learns that Barry's grandmother is lonely and ill. And then a note in the paper the next morning changes her entire outlook.

CHAPTER XV
REGGIE GRIMES column flourished on innuendo.

"People are beginning to ask questions," Linda read now, "about the mysterious and spiritual little singer who has suddenly begun to pack 'em at a well-known night club of our fair city. . . . Who, since the issue has been raised is Sylvia? . . . Where did she come from into the here? . . . Your commentator is old enough to remember the nights when Linda Aulaban was standing the stage-door Johnnies on her ears before the scandal of her tragic end. The resemblance — in voice, appearance, and a uniquely effortless gift for putting it across" — is so remarkable as to suggest something more than mere coincidence. . . . Oh, well, we merely mention it for what it is worth."

"The one thing," Tony said, that spoils Reggie Grimes' meals, is a mystery. But you don't have to tell him or any of 'em anything you don't want to — not me either," he added.

"She was my mother," Linda said steadily. "I have often been told that I am very much like her. . . . Then this is O-kay by me." Tony tapped the paper. "But how about you?"

"Why should I mind?" Linda demanded proudly. "I never understood — what happened to her — until I was grown up. Then I was never ashamed, only — sorry. . . . This just doesn't matter."

But she knew now that she would never visit to old Miranda for that key. Almost overnight the legend of Sylvia Star had taken possession of the city. Everywhere people were humming or whistling the quaint, wistful air Tony used for her entrance cue. Orchestras jazzed it, radio entertainers crooned it.

ONE afternoon, a day or so after her talk with Tony, Linda went down town under the wing of Mrs. Campagno to shop.

They went for lunch to a fashionable tea-room in the shopping district of the city. Hardly had they entered when, in the midst of a number, the orchestra broke off, while the leader murmured to his men. Then, as Linda walked to her table, the leader turned, and bowing ostentatiously to her, raised his baton; and the plaintively sweet strains of "Who Is Sylvia?" floated through the room.

People turned to stare. Then they applauded and whispered among themselves. Linda would have retreated in confusion; but Mrs. Campagno steered her competently to a table. "You gotta get used to this sort of thing," Mrs. Campagno almost purrured with complacency. "When the orchestras all over town begin to cue you, that means you're a top liner."

"Oh!" said Linda. "This was something she had not taken into consideration. All she had wanted was to earn a living and to forget in work — even for a few brief hours each day — that hideous suffering that tore her when she allowed herself to remember."

She had a quick mental vision of old Miranda's reaction if she had been here to see this — of the fastidious tensing of her nostrils, the aloof, disdainful amusement in her steady eyes. . . . The Trent women, Linda had gathered, did not run to being "top-liners." Whether or not Tony, himself, had arranged this little demonstration — as Linda sometimes suspected — it immediately became a popular gesture. Soon Linda could not step into a public place that someone did not play or sing "Who Is Sylvia?"

BUT Linda went obediently about the routine Tony and his sister had planned for her. She practiced her simple little songs with the orchestra; she tried on the simple frocks that Tony had designed for her; she showed herself occasionally at the most discreet of the fashionable amusement places, always aloof under Mrs. Campagno's proud chaperonage — for being seen seemed to be part of her job.

And if, when she was tired, she sometimes felt waves of homesickness for that great shadowy house where she seemed to have left so vital a part of herself — even for that indomitable, proud old woman who was alone there with her own unhappiness, Linda determinedly beat the feeling down.

Why return, even in imagination, to the fire that once had burned her so unendurably? Better to remain frozen and anaesthetized, except for those few minutes each night when she came to life in song.

One evening, however, her uneasiness did so far get the better of her that she went to a pay station, got long distance, and called the Trent House. Jefferson had answered the telephone. "Yes," he said in answer to Linda's guarded questions. "Miss Miranda was doing nicely. . . . Would she like to speak to Miss Miranda?"

"No," Linda said. "Oh, No! I — just called to inquire."

"She was about to hang up when

Jefferson demanded suddenly. "Ain't this Miss Linda speakin'?" Linda hesitated in panic. She had thought she was disguising her voice so well. "I think you must be confusing me with someone else," she said at last. "Yassum," said Jefferson, but his tone was unconvinced. "Who shall I tell Miss Miranda called?" "I — oh, Mrs. Trent might not even remember me."

"Yassum," said Jefferson, but his tone was unconvinced. "Who shall I tell Miss Miranda called?" "I — oh, Mrs. Trent might not even remember me."

There came the sharp tap-tap of a cane on the polished floor, and then old Miranda's imperious voice, came nearer: "Is that Miss Benton, Jefferson? Why did you not tell me? I wish to speak with her."

Linda hung up and sat down weakly for a moment. TONY was deeply immersed in his plans for his New Year's celebration, which was to be what he called "super-super-colossal."

But something had come up that made it hard for Linda to take much interest in the event. There were rumors in some of the papers that an amateur radio operator somewhere in Texas claimed to be picking up faint signals from the radio of the lost Aurelius expedition. The later editions had it that he had succeeded in translating whole words, names and phrases, and that one of the names was that of Captain Barrymore Trent.

Late one afternoon, when Linda could endure the suspense no longer, she called up the flying field from which Barry had taken off. When a girl answered, she asked, clenching her hands to keep her voice steady, "I wonder if you can give me some information about Captain Trent?" "Captain who? Oh, him! Well what do you want to know?" The girl's voice was indifferent, as if she had dropped more entertaining matters to answer the telephone.

"Is it true —" Linda began breathlessly — "I mean, have you any new information about Captain Trent?" "Oh, they gave him up several days ago. . . . Who is this speaking, please?" The girl became bruskiy efficient.

Something in her perit indifference stung Linda to incantation. "This," she said, "is Captain Trent's wife, and could have bitten off her tongue when she heard the girl fitter under her breath, and say to someone beside her: "A dame is asking about Captain Trent." Again that suppressed titter, and then, "She says she's his wife. Wouldn't that burn Magda Shirley up?"

Linda hung up in a panic. That evening the papers all discounted the rumors of the morning. Experts were quoted as saying that the frequency on which the Texas amateur claimed to have picked up signals did not coincide with that on which the Aurelius expedition — or Captain Trent, either — had been transmitting. Moreover, why should an amateur in Texas pick up a message that the powerful government stations in the Panama had failed to get?

So Linda put on her gray frock and went out to sing her simple songs, to a crowd even bigger than the night before.

TEXAS AGGIE EXPERT GOES TO HARVARD

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 1 (AP)—Dr. P. C. Mangelsdorf, staff member of the Texas agricultural experiment station division of Texas A. & M. college for 11 years and an outstanding authority on corn, has come to Harvard university to be "guest investigator" in its biological laboratories for the coming six months.

At Harvard Dr. Mangelsdorf hopes to complete work, begun at Texas A. & M. in collaboration with Dr. R. G. Reeves of the biology department on the history and development of corn. Recent studies convinced him that teosinte was developed from corn and not corn from teosinte as scientists have believed.

Dr. Mangelsdorf's work as corn and small grain investigator for the agricultural experiment station the past decade has produced widespread improvement in quality of the state's corn crop by eliminating many objectionable features and combining the best qualities of native varieties.

Chief effects of his corn breeding work have been to produce marketable varieties of southern sweet corn such as the new well known surcropper sugar and honey June corns. Another achievement was to transfer yellow colors, and with them vitamin A. A potency of yellow corn, into the higher yielding native varieties, producing yellow surcropper and yellow tuxpan corns.

Mr. Johnson retired from service December 1, after having been a Santa Fe employe for 40 years. J. W. Haynes has been acting agent since Mr. Johnston retired.
