Police: Woman suffered bad health

Law enforcement officers were awaiting autopsy results today in the death of a woman hit by a train during a thunderstorm Thursday morning.

Joyce Graham Mitchell, 69, 1200 N. Wells #82, died when she apparently stepped in front of a train Thursday morning at a railroad crossing at Starkweather shortly before 7 a.m. Thursday as flashes of lightning crackled in the sky.

Pampa Police Chief Charlie Morris said today that the railroad crossing is protected by flashing lights and arms extending across Starkweather.

"It appeared to be in working order," Morris said.

The death has tentatively been ruled a suicide.

Cathy Day adjusts an American flag in front of Rheams Diamond Shop on Cuyler today as storm clouds move across the Panhandle. Downtown Kiwanis Club members got up early today to place flags across Pampa for Flag Day. While this flag is nearly new, many of the American flags that have been waving furiously since Sept. 11 have reached their tattered end and will be disposed of ceremonially today in Flag Day observances around the country.

County says 'no' to shirts

By NANCY YOUNG
MANAGING EDITOR

Gray County employees will be able to have shirts with a Centennial logo on them to observe the 100th birthday of the county, but they must pay for them out of their own pocket.

During a meeting this morning, the Gray County Commission voted to allow the coordination of the purchase so that the shirts would be identical. However, the commission voted 3 to 1 not to purchase the shirts with county funds.

Expressing concern about the funds, Commissioners Joe Wheeley, Jim Greene and James Helley voted "no" to the proposed expense. Commissioner Gerald Wright voted to spend the money on the shirts. County Judge Richard Peet was not at the meeting.

"I think this is a wonderful idea," said Joe Wheeley. "If we had a growing county and had a growing tax base, I would be for it, but right now we need to save every penny we can."

Wheeley said he worried about the county budget (See COUNTY, Page 3)

It's a disaster!

Agencies learn from terrorism drill

By DAVID BOWSER
STAFF WRITER

The hostages surrendered soon after one of their number had to go home for dinner.

A two-hour terrorist training drill Thursday afternoon resulted in simulations of a plane crash at the Pampa airport, the taking of hostages, shooting the sheriff, hostages and some of the terrorists, and a number of lessons learned.

Emergency Management Coordinator Ken Hall said today that he was happy with the exercise. He said it was very different from emergency exercises the city has staged before.

"When we started planning this," Hall said today, "we realized that a law enforcement event had not been done in the last couple of years."

He said that with terrorism on everybody's mind, it was time to exercise the incident command system run by law enforcement agencies.

"It was an opportunity to see how the organization structure is set up and run," Hall said.

At 4 p.m., a simulated plane crash was staged near the southern most hanger at Perry Lefors Field. (See DRILL, Page 3)

Still the best ...

PHS Class of '72 plans 30-year reunion

"We're the best the West can do. We're the class of '72!"

That's the class yell for the 383 students graduating from Pampa High School in May 1972, possibly one of PHS's largest classes ever.

"Still the best in 2002!" proclaim the alumni as they plan a return to their alma mater for their 30th reunion, June 28 and 29.

Class members can get reacquainted on Friday, June 28, at 7 p.m. in the M.K. Brown Room of Pampa Community Building, 200 N. Ballard, followed by dinner at Dyer's Bar-B-Que. Next comes dancing to the music of the 1960s and '70s played by "Flashback."

On Saturday morning, registration will be held at the PHS library featuring coffee, juice, and donuts to eat and reunion packets to peruse.

For lunch, a poolside sandwich buffet featuring a 1970s style show is planned at the Pampa Country Club swimming pool. Several of the alumni's teenagers are to model the "vintage" fashions, now back in vogue.

At 2 p.m., Saturday, 1972 "swingers" can take part in a golf scramble on the country club's tree-shaded course. That evening, a reunion dinner at the country club starts with happy hour at 6:30 p.m., followed by a dinner buffet at 7 p.m. From dinner to midnight, the reunion activities include a class picture, music, awards, special (See REUNION, Page 2)

B-25 bomber en route to Pampa museum

By DAVID BOWSER
STAFF WRITER

A U.S. Army Air Corps B-25 will return to Pampa this month.

The vintage B-25, a twin engined bomber with a distinctive split tail, was the principle aircraft at the Pampa Army Air Field during World War II.

The Freedom Museum USA's new acquisition is scheduled to arrive the morning of June 22 or 23.

"The dates could vary by a day or two," said Mike Porter, director of the museum.

Porter said a crew from Florida is scheduled to disassemble the B-25 where it is in storage at Quantico, Va., beginning June 17.

"They don't have room for it," Porter said. "We do."

The disassembled plane will be loaded on two semi trucks and driven to Pampa. The trucks carrying the plane and the assembly crew are expected to arrive here the morning of June 22 or 23. The crew will then assemble the plane on the north side of the museum where it will be on permanent display.

Porter said they hope to have the plane fully assembled by June 25 or 26.

The plane is the result of a trade with a Marine Base museum in Pemberton, Ore., Porter said.

Freedom Museum acquired a U.S. Marine patrol version of the B-25 several years ago and stored it out at Perry Lefors Field, but the museum in Oregon was interested in it.

The B-25 that Freedom Museum initially acquired was the first model to have nose-mounted radar. The Navy and Marines used the planes for patrolling and surveillance missions. That model, Porter said, was used effectively during the closing months of World War II to watch for approaching suicide Kamikaze attacks.

"They kept 15 of those planes circling on station in the Sea of Japan," Porter said, "watching for Kamikazes on their way to attack U.S. forces on Okinawa."

Porter said Freedom (See BOMBER, Page 3)

"all the time."

"I've been sweating BBs," he said, "thinking about the upcoming budget. I don't see how we can do it."

He said the commission would soon be working on next year's budget and cutting out any expendable items. "I don't see how we can do it (purchase the shirts)."

Greene agreed with Wheeley. "There's usually not a lot of money left over at the end of the year," he said. "I sure hate the idea of raising taxes. It's a hard call."

Hefley also said he could not support the item. "I know we're going to have a budget increase next year," he said.

Sandra Martin, county court administrator, told the commission that the purchase of the shirts for the 138 employees would help improve morale. She also said the county employees and officials have planned nothing to observe the Centennial.

Martin told the commission that the denim shirts she discussed with the commission on June 1 would be $25, but a pique knit polo shirt would only be $17 each.

She said they would be green in color with yellow lettering. She also volunteered to coordinate the project.

Martin said when she attends county seminars and conferences many county employees wear shirts with their logo on them. Two county officials, Tax Collector Sammie Morris and County Clerk Susan Winborne, also said other county officials wear similar shirts designating their home county at meetings they attend.

"I hate to see 2003 come along, and the county has done nothing," she said. "We need something positive and this would be positive."

Hefley said the county is currently remodeling the courthouse and he felt that was supporting the history of the county.

"We've been a little lax in taking care of this budget," he said, "and we're getting ready to have to start on next year's."

Hefley said he hopes the courthouse restoration project can be completed before the end of 2002 during the Centennial year of the county.

Wright said the shirts could be purchased as safety awards for the employees. He said it was only a few years ago that workers compensation premiums were as high as $100,000 a year. "They've now dropped to $30,000-$40,000. I think we should do this for the employees," he said.

Greene made the motion to make available a central location for employees to place orders so that shirts could be uniform, but added to the motion that employees would pay the money for the shirts. Wheeley seconded the motion. Hefley joined Greene and Wheeley in voting down the request.

WOMAN

Buick with handicapped license plates, was found parked in the southbound lane of Starkweather, just north of the railroad tracks. Judge Curfman said officers found a note in the car.

Morris said Pampa police officers had talked to Mitchell about a week ago while she was parked near the railroad tracks at the Starkweather crossing. She told officers at that time that she was waiting for someone at a nearby business.

Investigators said today that Mitchell apparently suffered from severe health problems and was in chronic pain.

Curfman ordered an autopsy in the case. Preliminary reports are that she died from multiple blunt force trauma. He said he'll make a final determination pending the final autopsy results.

No services are planned for Mrs. Mitchell. Cremation arrangements are under the direction of Carmichael-Whately Funeral Directors.

A native of Forgan, Okla., Mrs. Mitchell had lived in Pampa since 1969. She had worked for Marie Foundations, Halliburton Services and Agape Health Services.

Mrs. Mitchell is survived by one daughter, Barbara Blount of Amarillo, and two grandchildren.

DRILL

Leaving behind the crashed simulated plane, actually a Pampa school bus, and its passengers with make up to portray serious injuries, the pretend terrorists, consisting of Deputy Fire Chief Randy Dunham and a force of corrections officers from the Jordan Unit, crossed the airport's taxi ways and captured the airport office building, holding about half a dozen hostages.

Hall said the disaster drill was centered around local law enforcement agencies, including the Gray County Sheriff's Office, Department of Public Safety, Pampa Police Department, and the Jordan Unit of the Department of Corrections.

The drill was planned to determine the ability of the different law enforcement agencies to work together and with emergency agencies such as the Pampa Fire Department, Rural-Metro Ambulance and the Pampa Regional Medical Center.

Hall said several kinks were planned in the exercise to challenge the command system.

While Hall said he was happy with the ability of the groups involved to adjust to a changing and challenging situation, the important aspect of the exercise was to reveal systemic problems under such a situation.

As a result of the drill, Hall said, future emergency plans may include having a hospital representative present at the incident command center in the field. The drill also pointed out the need for improved communications equipment among the different agencies.

"That's why we have these drills," Hall said, "so we can find any problem areas and correct them."

JURORS

Hemphill County Deputy Sheriff Jim Bruce Graham, 54.

Two women and one man have been selected for the jury after one week of jury selection. One woman was chosen for the jury on Tuesday and another was picked on Wednesday. A man was selected for the jury Thursday.

Jury selection is expected to take about six weeks. Testimony in the trial should begin July 29 at the Potter County Courthouse.

The trial was moved to Amarillo on a change of venue motion by defense attorneys Mark Buzzard and Warren Clark.

A spokesman for 31st District Judge Steven Emmert said today that attorneys for the state and defense were interviewing five prospective jurors a day. The jurors were being interviewed individually.

Court officials said the jury selection process was being limited to Monday through Thursday, so the judge and lawyers would have time to tend to other duties.

Judge Emmert was in Stinnett today on another trial.

Graham was gunned down as he tried to arrest Britton on Sunday morning, June 17, 2001. Britton, at the time, was wanted on warrants charging him with stalking, assault and making a false report to police.

Britton was arrested Sunday afternoon, June 17, near a pond east of Canadian following a day long manhunt by state and local law enforcement officials.

BOMBER

Museum negotiated a trade in which the Oregon museum took the big blue Marine B-25.

In return, Freedom Museum got an Army Air Corps B-25 similar to the ones that flew out of Pampa during World War II.

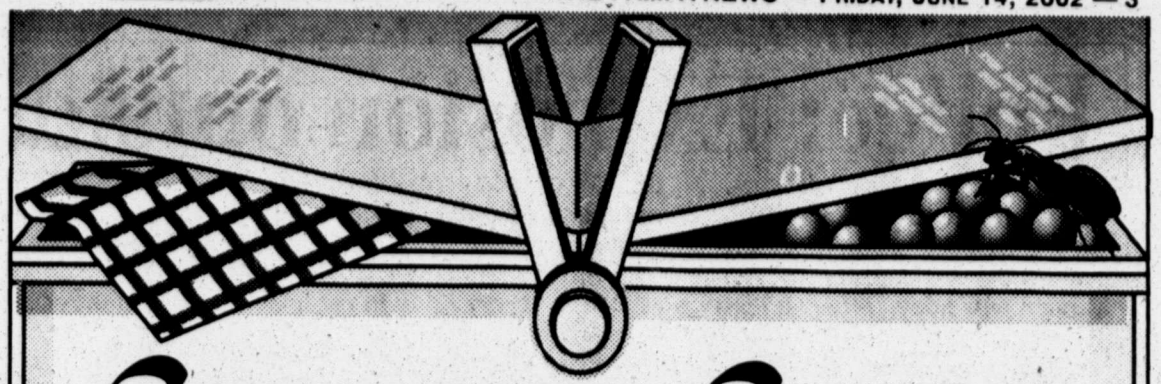

Porter said he doesn't know much about the history of the plane that is coming to Pampa.

"I don't have the tail number yet," he said.

He said it is a B-25B, the first modification of the B-25. The B-25B planes were used primarily for multi-engine training beginning in 1940, Porter said, and was the type in which bomber crews trained while at Pampa.

"I don't know if this particular plane flew here or not," he said.

The disassembly, assembly, and transportation of the plane coming to Pampa will be at no cost to Freedom Museum, Porter said.

Police: Explosion outside U.S. consulate kills eight

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — A suicide attacker crashed a bomb-laden vehicle into a guard post outside the U.S. Consulate in Karachi on Friday, killing at least seven other people and injuring 45.

The massive blast incinerated a dozen cars, blew a 10-foot-wide hole in the compound wall, and sent debris flying a half-mile.

No Americans were believed killed, but one U.S. Marine and five Pakistani employees in the consulate were lightly injured.

Some of the dead were blown apart, making it difficult to determine exactly how many people were killed.

The Interior Ministry reported eight dead and 45 injured. The victims included four Pakistani police constables, a male passer-by and two unidentified women, along with the bomber, police said.

No one claimed responsibility, but suspicion fell on al-Qaida fugitives who have taken refuge in Pakistan since the collapse of Taliban rule in neighboring Afghanistan.

The blast occurred less than a mile from the site where 11 French engineers and three others were killed in a suicide bombing last month. It also came on the heels of a visit to Pakistan by U.S. Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld to Pakistan. Rumsfeld left the country Thursday.

Police said the bomb was concealed in a white vehicle, believed to be a Suzuki van, that the driver crashed into a police kiosk at the southern end of the consulate at 11:08 a.m. (1:08 a.m. EDT), leaving a crater five feet deep and a hole 10 feet wide in the 10-foot-high perimeter wall.

It also damaged the nearby Marriott Hotel and shattered windows in the consulate and other buildings up to a block away.

Mark Wentworth, a U.S. Embassy spokesman in Islamabad, said six consulate employees — one U.S. Marine security guard and five Pakistani employees — suffered minor injuries when struck by flying debris.

He said the bomb exploded about 50 feet from the building, which sustained some structural damage.

Sharif Ajnabi, a private security guard, was sitting in a park across the street from the con-sulate when the bomb went off.

"I heard a deafening explosion," he said. "There was smoke everywhere."

"Moments later, I saw a man's body flying in the air, and it fell near me. He was badly injured. Before we could give him water or medical help, he died. It was a horrifying scene."

Witnesses said U.S. Marines took up protective positions around the consulate.

Ambulances shuttled the injured to nearby hospitals. What appeared to be wreckage from the car was stuck in a water fountain and in trees.

"This is sheer terrorism," said Javed Ashraf Hussein, the chief administrator of Sindh province, who visited the scene of carnage. "We have put this area under high alert and heavy security, but the terrorists struck."

He would not comment on who might be responsible.

Karachi Mayor Naimat Ullah offered sympathy for U.S. officials and vowed to arrest those behind the attack.

"The terrorists have no religion. They are not Muslim. They are not human. They are just terrorists," Ullah said.

Violence against foreigners by Islamic militants has increased since Pakistani President Pervez Musharraf threw his support behind the U.S.-led war in Afghanistan.

Wall Street Journal reporter Daniel Pearl was abducted and murdered in Karachi in January while working on a story about Islamic militants.

Suicide attacks have occurred twice. Both were believed to have been carried out by al-Qaida.

On March 17, a suicide grenade attack at a church in Islamabad's diplomatic enclave killed five people, including two Americans.

On May 8, 11 French engineers and three others were killed in a suicide bombing in front of a Karachi hotel.

The United States withdrew all nonessential personnel and relatives of other staffers from Pakistan after the church bombing, and the British mission evacuated about 150 staff in late May after receiving "credible" information about a terrorist assault.

Square House Museum to host of artists during June, July

PANHANDLE — Carson County Square House Museum in Panhandle will showcase the talent of Len and Ginny Slesick along with local artists Nancy Riley and Ronda Garner throughout June and July. The Museum will honor the artists with a reception from 2:30-4 p.m., June 16, in Hazlewood Gallery.

Len and Ginny Slesick, specializing in pastels and oils, have been doing shared exhibitions of their art since 1999.

Len Slesick lived in the Chicago area before joining the U.S. Navy and serving during the Korean War. He became a meteorologist during that time. After spending 30 years in the Texas Panhandle as a TV meteorologist, he devoted his life to his artistic career.

He has been painting since the mid-1960s, has studied with Ben Konis and Dord Fitz, and has had workshops with Steve Napper, Laurence Calcagno, and Elaine de Kooning. He says, "The clean air of West Texas and New Mexico brings out the strength and truth in colors." His use of pure color can be seen in all of his paintings.

Len has taught workshops in Texas and surrounding states and operates a studio/gallery in Amarillo where he teaches pastel and oil painting. He has won many awards, and his art is in many private collections in the Midwest, Georgia, Wyoming, and New Mexico.

Ginny Slesick, along with her husband and two daughters, moved to Amarillo in 1965. She has spent many years maintaining an antique and art business. Painting in both pastels and oils has become an everyday enjoyment at the Slesick Studio and Gallery in Las Tiendas. Ginny, a member of the Lone Star Pastel Society and the Amarillo Fine Arts Association, has won numerous awards at juried art shows. Her teacher and mentor, husband Len, has encouraged her pursuit of the arts; studies with Dord Fitz and workshops with Steve Napper have helped sharpen her talents.

Nancy has loved art all her life but has only recently begun portrait and landscape pastel and oil painting. She graduated from West Texas A&M University in 1989 and began her teaching career in Pampa.

She taught kindergarten for three years and special education at Panhandle High for eight years before becoming the art teacher at Panhandle Junior High and High School students. Largely self-taught, she acquires additional instruction from Amarillo artists Mike Mahon and Ben Konis. Ronda Garner, friend and art education mentor, has significantly influenced Nancy's direction in art.

Garner was born and raised in Waco, Texas. After high school, she went to McLennan Community College and studied art for two years. She then transferred to the University of North Texas, where she met Lanny Garner, the man who would later become her husband. Garner graduated from UNT in December of 1972 with a major in art education and a minor in interior design.

She has taught elementary art in Lewisville, substitute taught in Denton, and became the junior high and high school art teacher in Panhandle in 1992. Unfortunately, she had to retire in May 2000 due to health concerns.

After a two-year hiatus from art, she is back with new work. She has taken workshops with the Oklahoma Arts Institute, Adams State College, Len Slesick, and Steven Napper. She is a member of the Texas Art Education Association, Texas Panhandle Art Education Association, Amarillo Fine Arts Association, and the Lone Star Pastel Society; her work has been shown in the Amarillo Fine Arts fall and spring art exhibitions, Amarillo and Waco Fair art exhibits, and the Cimmaron County Art Association summer art exhibition.

For more information about these exhibits, contact Carson County Square House Museum at (806) 537-3524.

Russia withdraws from nuclear arms treaty

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia formally withdrew from the START II nuclear arms treaty with the United States on Friday, calling the accord meaningless given current U.S. defense policies.

START II, which was signed in 1993, would have reduced nuclear warheads to between 3,000 to 3,500 on each side, but the treaty was never implemented and has been considered dead.

The U.S. Congress ratified the treaty in 1996 and the Russian parliament did so in 2000, but Russian lawmakers linked START II to preservation of the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty.

The U.S. Congress never accepted the Russian linkage, and the United States subsequently withdrew from the ABM treaty to pursue a national missile defense system — prohibited under ABM rules.

The ABM treaty expired on Thursday.

Russia has strongly criticized the United States for pulling out of the treaty, which it called a cornerstone of global security. But Russian President Vladimir Putin and President Bush signed a new nuclear arms reduction pact in May and pledged to exchange information about missile defense programs.

The new arms reduction agreement reduces strategic nuclear warheads to between 1,700 and 2,200 for each country, down from 6,000 or more for the United States and about 5,500 for Russia. It also gives the two sides some flexibility in deciding which weapons to destroy.

Ruby's Moves on Fatal Day Traced

Johnson Starts Busy Slate On World Diplomacy

By STEWART HENSLEY
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson today plunged deeper into the intricacies of international diplomacy.

Funeral Services Set Tomorrow For Mrs. Gething

Funeral services will be held 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church for Mrs. E. E. Gething after a holy communion service at 9:30 a.m. The family requests no flowers, but asks that all memorials be given in the form of donations to either the Boy Scouts or St. Matthew's, Rev. William E. West will be in charge.

Mrs. Gething was born in London, England, April 19, 1872. She eloped with Arthur Gething, a Welshman, in 1896. Gething had come to America earlier, and discovered the wonders of the West. He wanted to share these wonders with his girl back home, so he and his bride came to the Panhandle. They settled on ranchland just southeast of Laketon and 10 miles east of Lefors.

School Board OKs Audit For Year at Called Meeting

The Pampa School Board unanimously approved the 1962-1963 audit at a called meeting at the Junior High School building Monday.

During examination of figures, Floyd Watson brought to the attention of the board that the increase of $74,122.94 over the cost of operating the schools during the 1961-1962 year was mainly an increase in teachers salaries and other instructional services as required by law. The audit reflected a decrease in the cost of other services.

H. Creel Grady Jr., Dr. R. M. Hampton and J. G. Doggett, auditor, who was invited to the meeting to explain the various accounts within the audit, answered many questions of board member John Gikas concerning the expenses.

The audit showed that over $250,000 of the $3 1/2 million indebtedness had been retired during the year. The school fund showed a total balance of $84,988.21 as of Aug. 31, 1963.

Gaulle, the President scheduled talks during the day with Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and other world leaders who remained after attending President Kennedy's funeral.

The President's first session was a meeting with Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia. Others he planned to confer with included Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal and Prime Minister Ismet Inonu of Turkey.

The Selassie meeting was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. and the Mikoyan meeting was scheduled for 11:30 a.m.

Johnson obviously was determined to avoid any loss of momentum in U.S. foreign policy, to dispel any ideas that there will be vacillation or confusion following the assassination of Kennedy.

Plans De Gaulle Meeting
The new President announced Monday night, following an 18-minute meeting with De Gaulle, that the French leader would come to Washington next year for a formal meeting. Administration leaders predicted this would take place within a few months, possibly in February.

Johnson also met Monday night with Japanese Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson.

These meetings followed a mammoth reception at the State Department during which the President greeted the leaders of 69 foreign delegations represented at the Kennedy funeral.

After the reception Johnson met with a group of state governors. He was late for the meeting and explained that he had been talking with De Gaulle, Ikeda and Pearson.

"Canada is such a close neighbor and such a good neighbor," he said, "that we always have plenty of problems there. They are kind of like problems in the hometown."

No Detailed Talks
Johnson, according to his aides, did not contemplate detailed discussions of all manner of problems with the leaders here. But he wanted to make certain that the more important of them understood there would be no change in the basic policies of President Kennedy.

There is bound to be, however, some change in the manner of conducting negotiations since this invariably takes on the personality of the man at the top.

Officials see no possibility that Johnson will be able to do any more than Kennedy could in narrowing the gap between France and the United States on NATO strategy, nuclear defense and the political course of Europe.

Ruby May Be Aided By Ehrlich

By BRYCE MILLER
DALLAS (UPI) — Jake (The Master) Ehrlich, prominent West Coast criminal lawyer, said today he is willing to consider defending flashy Jack Ruby on charges of murdering the President's accused assassin.

Ehrlich is the flamboyant San Francisco attorney upon whose life the television series "Sam Benedict" is based.

Ruby told his Dallas lawyer, Tom Howard, Monday that he had a "spur of the moment" urge to kill Lee Harvey Oswald to avenge the Kennedy family and because he thought Oswald was part of a Communist plot.

Howard planned to have him plead temporary insanity and stressed that he felt Ruby had been "emotionally disturbed."

Called by Sister
Ehrlich said he got a telephone call from Mrs. Eva Grant Ruby's sister, and that she asked him if he would defend her brother.

Since Ruby already has retained Howard, Ehrlich said he should have him call his San Francisco office.

If the attorney asks Ehrlich to head up or organize a defense for Ruby, would he accept?

"I would give it a hell of a lot of thought," he replied. "Howard was not immediately available for comment, but his wife said that someone from Ehrlich's office in San Francisco had been in contact with her husband."

Howard said a preliminary examining trial probably will be held for Ruby after Thanksgiving.

9 Hurt in Fire At Celanese

Nine workers were injured in a small flash fire at the Celanese Corp. plant here Monday afternoon.

The men were taken to Worley Hospital. Four were admitted to the hospital. Five were treated and released.

The four men still in the hospital today suffering from first and second degree burns are J. O. Middleton, 637 N. Banks, and Ernest C. Pulse, 1153 Neel Rd., both Celanese employees, and J. E. Bailey of Mobeette and Dennis Wyatt of White Deer, both of whom are contractor employees.

Dr. R. M. Bellamy said this noon the four hospitalized men were in good condition and that one of them was expected to be released soon.

Celanese officials said the flash fire happened about 5:30 p.m.

Armed Man Seen Atop Building In Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A report that a man carrying a weapon had been seen on a roof opposite the attorney general's entrance to the Justice Department sent police scurrying across the rooftop of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Building today.

Sergeant T. F. Sullivan of the General Services Administration police detail said an extensive search by officers failed to uncover any trace of anyone on the roof, but that the search was continuing.

The first report of the man on the roof came from a photographer who was waiting for the Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to arrive at the Justice Department. The photographer called the IRS switchboard operator who in turn notified the GSA guard headquarters.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Howe. (Adv.)

JACK RUBY

Stripper Too Late To Calm Ruby Down

HOUSTON (UPI) — A shapely brunette stripper said Monday night she went to Dallas Sunday to "calm" hot-tempered Jack Ruby, but got there too late.

Cindy Embers, who performs at Houston's San Souci Night Club, said she left Houston early Sunday after doing a show.

"I heard Jack had closed his Dallas night spots," Miss Embers said, "and I knew something was wrong. I usually could calm him down."

She said she could not reach Ruby when she got to Dallas and she learned a short time later he had shot accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

"My first reaction was shock," Cindy said. "I couldn't believe Jack had killed Oswald, though I felt somebody would."

Cindy, 28, said she had known Ruby for about seven years, and had performed several times in his walk-up Dallas night club, the Carousel.

"He was always a gentleman around me," she said, "but I knew he had a violent temper."

Cindy, whose real name is Mrs. Jack Cole, said Ruby tried to attack her husband one night in the Carousel because he told a joke about the Kennedy family. Cole is a theatrical agent. She and her husband have one child and live outside Dallas.

"I got between the two before Ruby could do anything to my husband, and I managed to calm him (Ruby)."

Ruby had strong feeling about Kennedy and would not allow any of his comedians to tell jokes about the president or his family," Cindy said.

Miss Embers said she doubted if Ruby ever knew Oswald and she said she had never seen Oswald in Ruby's club.

"If Oswald had ever come in the club and said something about the President, Ruby would have thrown him down the stairs," she said.

She said Ruby carried a gun to protect large sums of money he sometimes had with him.

Activities Unknown At Time of Shooting

DALLAS (UPI) — Jack Ruby, charged with killing suspected assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, was confirmed at the Dallas Morning News ad department before and after President Kennedy was shot but a 25-minute gap straddled the 12:31 p.m. shooting time.

The News office is four blocks from where Kennedy was hit by a sniper's bullet.

The Newspaper said today its advertising men could account for Ruby from 12:10 p.m. to 12:20 p.m. and from "about 12:45" p.m. until "about 30 minutes after it happened."

The News said Ruby was in the paper's cafeteria at about 11 a.m. Donald Campbell said he noticed when Ruby came into his department because it was 10 minutes past the noon deadline.

"He was all wound up," Campbell said. "He remarked that a 'lousy business' he was in."

Campbell said he left Ruby alone in the office at 12:20 p.m. No one at the newspaper, the News said, would confirm see.

Open in Assassination

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Three major investigations were developing today into the assassination of President Kennedy and the murder of his accused slayer, Lee Harvey Oswald.

The inquiries by the FBI, the State of Texas and, possibly, the Senate Judiciary Committee were expected to reveal all the details surrounding the death of the President to check off at once any of the inevitable rumors of a "plot."

As one senator remarked, "some people debated for a century whether John Wilkes Booth killed Lincoln, now is the time to get the whole story of the Kennedy assassination."

"Ever hear of a rifle buff? Well Ruby was a police buff. He just liked policemen," Kelly said.

Former Partner Describes Ruby As 'Police Buff'

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A former partner of Jack Ruby said Monday night he thought the Dallas nightclub owner was avenging the policeman slain after President Kennedy's murder.

"Patriotic he wasn't — a police buff he was," said Herbert C. D. Kelly, who was part-owner and chief in Ruby's Club Carrousel at Dallas in 1959.

"If Ruby did kill Oswald for revenge, I believe it would be more over this policeman (J.D.) Tippit than over President Kennedy," Kelly said.

"Ruby wasn't very interested in politics. I doubt that he even voted. The only patriotism he had was for the President's picture on the buck," Kelly said.

He said Ruby was extremely generous and very violent.

"He'd give you the shirt off his back one moment and be fighting you the next... but he was a person of extreme loyalty, and he could have been showing loyalty to the policeman."

ASSASSIN SHOT — Lee Harvey Oswald, center, the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy, cringes as a bullet fired by nightclub operator Jack Ruby hits him in the stomach as he was being transferred from the city jail to the county jail in Dallas Sunday. Oswald died at Parkland Hospital, the same hospital where the President died. This dramatic photo was made by The Dallas Times Herald staff photographer Bob Jackson. ## Voice of the faithful Lay group draws worldwide support in midst of scandal

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — In a crowded church basement, founders of a Roman Catholic lay group discussed the church's future in the wake of a sex scandal, their stated purpose on a banner above them: "Keep the faith, change the church."

The goal may be monumental but the idea has resonated. The Voice of the Faithful has grown in just a couple of months from a single parish to an organization with 14,000 members in 240 parishes in at least 40 states and 20 countries.

"I felt in our church a disconnect between the hierarchy and the people of the parish," said Ellie Norris, who attended the meeting to learn about starting a group in the Ipswich area: "Voice of the Faithful is full of people who don't want to go anywhere. Leaving (the church) is not an option."

The group was formed by Jim Muller, a cardiologist whose work with the International Physicians for the Prevention of Nuclear War earned him the Nobel Peace Prize in 1985. Anguished by revelations of priest abuse in the Boston Archdiocese and the failure of church officials to prevent it, he and other parishioners at St. John the Evangelist in Wellesley held listening sessions after Sunday Masses.

Soon hundreds were crowding into the church basement for regular Monday evening meetings, rallying around three goals: support of abuse victims, support for priests with integrity, and structural change in the church through involvement of the laity.

The group argues that the church would be run better and similar scandals would be less likely if the church made better use of parishioners.

In an April meeting at the Vatican, the U.S. cardinals urged laity to take a greater role in the church. But Cardinal Bernard Law, who has weathered repeated calls for his resignation, risked alienating many lay people when just days after the Vatican meeting he ordered priests not to attend meetings of a proposed coalition of parish lay groups.

The Voice of the Faithful met with Law's vicar general the following month — after which the archdiocese issued a statement saying a church organization's mission is "carried on necessarily with and under the bishop of the diocese."

Scott Fraser, the group's treasurer, said that's the type of attitude the group wants to change.

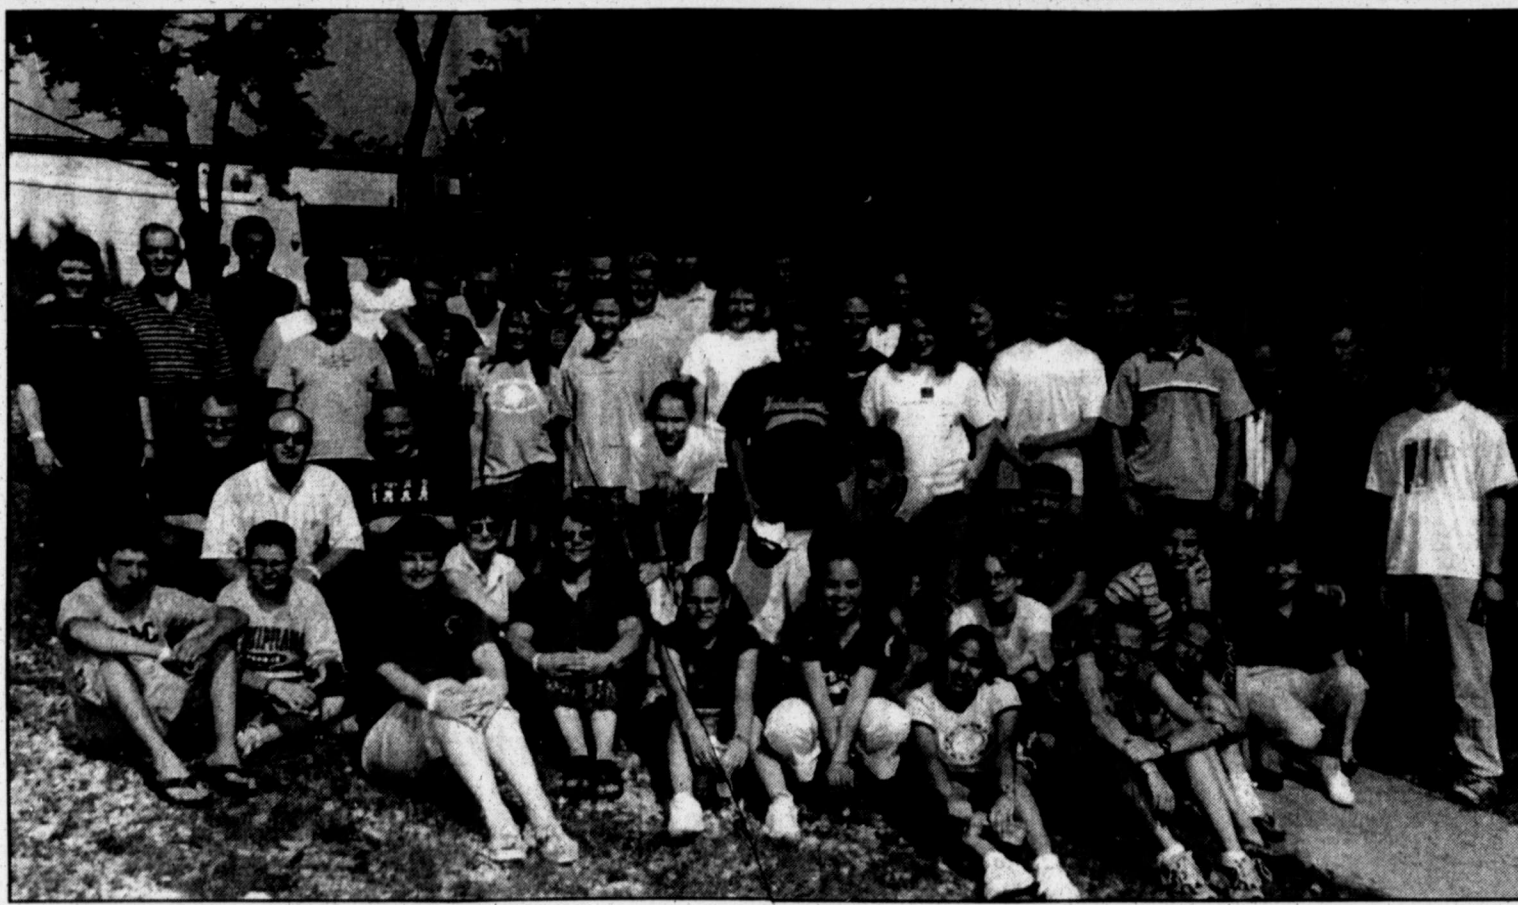

"In a sense, our fathers have to realize that their children have grown up," he said.

Donna Morrissey, a spokeswoman for the archdiocese, said Tuesday that there has always been a critical role for the laity in the church in Boston, noting the cardinal "has always appreciated their talents."

But in some ways, Voice of the Faithful appears to be filling a void.

With word of the group spreading through media coverage and the Internet, membership is growing by hundreds each week.

The group has tried to capitalize on the rapid growth: It plans a presence at the national meeting of bishops in Dallas this week and is organizing a national conference, scheduled in Boston for July 20.

Activities abound for Central Baptist Youth

Central Baptist Church of Pampa's youth just returned from a week at camp at Falls Creek, Okla.

Participants say the camp was an inspiration and a challenge to the youth to become instruments of revival.

The young people were reminded that most of the great revivals and awakenings in the world were influenced by young people leading out in a great hunger for things of God. The camp's theme was "To live is Christ ... to die is gain."

Central Baptist youth are now preparing for a mission trip to Pueblo, Colo., where they plan to lead in Vacation Bible School, sports camps, street witnessing, musical/ drama presentations and more.

Many opportunities for youth are available at Central Baptist Church, 513 E. Francis.

Young people not actively involved in a local church are invited to attend.

Krispy Kremes return to Briarwood Church

Krispy Kreme doughnuts are coming back to Briarwood Full Gospel Church, 1800 W. Harvester, on Saturday, June 22.

Fresh doughnuts can be picked up from 7 a.m. to 12 noon at the church, without leaving the car.

Pre-orders can be placed by calling Sweet Dreams at 665-7201 by June 19. Pre-orders can be picked up Saturday, June 22, at Sweet Dreams, located at Hobert and Somerville streets.

All proceeds go to Briarwood's children's ministries.

RELIGION NEWS IN BRIEF

Mormon university settles dispute with professor

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Brigham Young University agreed to settle a federal lawsuit filed by business professor B. Michael Pritchett, who said the school tried to force him out of his tenured post and blacklisted him.

Terms of the settlement were not disclosed.

Administrators at the Mormon school accused Pritchett and other professors of viewing pornography on university-owned computers, according to the lawsuit. The administrators would then offer to let a professor "resign from BYU and waive all legal claims in exchange for approximately one year's salary," the suit alleged.

Pritchett also said he was "blacklisted," a practice several current and former professors also described for the Deseret News. By their accounts, administrators blacklist employees who publicly question school policy, air gripes or study issues considered taboo.

The university, operated by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, has denied or disputed Pritchett's contentions.

The American Association of University Professors censured BYU in 1998 for alleged academic freedom violations but this did not affect accreditation.

United Church of Christ joins Cincinnati boycott

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland-based United Church of Christ has joined an economic boycott against another Ohio city: Cincinnati. The boycott campaign resulted from the fatal police shooting last year of an unarmed black man that provoked days of rioting.

The denomination wants members to shun the city for business meetings and leisure activities.

Church President John H. Thomas said the boycott "is important to pressure leadership toward meaningful change."

Boycott leaders are demanding millions of dollars for inner-city programs and fairer treatment of blacks by police.

Cincinnati officials in April signed an agreement with the U.S. Department of Justice to tighten police policies governing use of force, enhance training and create an independent agency to investigate complaints of police brutality.

The Union of Black Episcopalians canceled plans to hold its national convention in the city this summer and entertainers Bill Cosby, Wynton Marsalis, the Temptations and the O'Jays have canceled performances.

Celebrate Children's Day

Today is Children's Day.

I ran across this article while preparing a sermon and thought I would like to share it with you.

This comes from "Parents Magazine."

"Blessed is the child who has someone who believes in him; to whom he can carry his problems unafraid.

"Blessed is the child who is allowed to pursue his curiosity into every worthwhile field of information."

"Blessed is the child who has someone who understands that childhood griefs are real and calls for understanding and sympathy.

"Blessed is the child who has about him those who realize his need of Christ as Savior and will lead him patiently and prayerfully to the place of acceptance.

"Blessed is the child whose love of the true, the beautiful, and the good has been nourished through the years.

"Blessed is the child whose innate imagination has been turned into channels of creative effort.

"Blessed is the child whose efforts to achieve have found encouragement and kindly commendation.

"Blessed is the child who has learned freedom from selfishness through responsibility and cooperation with others."

I can only say, Amen!

Suffering monk about to become saint

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A mystic monk who won adulation from rank-and-file Roman Catholics but scorn from the Vatican during his lifetime will be made a saint Sunday by Pope John Paul II, a longtime admirer who once sought the priest out as his confessor.

The honor for Padre Pio, an Italian Capuchin who died in 1968, fits into the pontiff's quest for models of unquestioning belief and obedience in recent, faith-testing times.

Hundreds of thousands of fans of Pio are expected to flock to St. Peter's Square on Sunday for the canonization of the monk whose palms bled inexplicably for decades like the wounds of the crucified Christ.

Doubted and rejected by many in the Vatican for much of his life, and accused by detractors of being a fraud, Padre Pio persisted in his life's labor of prayer while his popularity among lay Catholics grew wildly.

Italian celebrity magazines sold briskly when Pio was on the cover instead of the usual photo of a sexy star.

His reputation spread abroad. While a simple priest, Karol Wojtyla journeyed from Poland to Puglia, in southeastern Italy, to be confessed by Padre Pio. As pontiff, John Paul prayed at Pio's underground tomb at the monk's sanctuary, San Giovanni Rotondo, which now rivals Lourdes, France, as a pilgrimage site.

For John Paul, "here is somebody who demonstrates the possibility of sanctity, when the forces of industrialization, modern life, modern agnosticism and totalitarianism have seemed to eclipse that possibility," said historian R. Scott Appleby, who directs a center studying American Catholicism at the University of Notre Dame.

In May 1999, the pope beatified Pio, the last formal step toward sainthood. After that, one miracle was needed to clinch canonization, and believers had only to wait eight months.

A little boy, the son of a doctor who works in a hospital Pio founded in San Giovanni Rotondo, awoke from a coma triggered by meningitis. Doctors consulted by the Vatican concluded that Matteo Pio Colella's recovery had no scientific explanation.

"The doctors gave him up as a lost cause. I entrusted him to Pio," said Matteo's mother, Maria Lucia Ippolito, as her son, dressed up like a little monk, rehearsed at the Vatican in early June for a musical about Pio.

A Capuchin priest who formally argued the cause of sainthood at the Vatican, the Rev. Forio Tessari, said it was Padre Pio's uncomplaining life of pain which impressed John Paul, who is now 82 and struggling to continue in the papacy despite physical frailty and difficulty in walking and speaking, symptoms of Parkinson's disease.

"The pope was struck above all by the spiritual figure of Padre Pio, a man who had a strong experience of God, who prayed, suffered in silence, obeyed his superiors with faith," said Tessari.

Some of Pio's silence was imposed by Vatican officials wary about his mysticism.

Born Francesco Forgione in 1887 in a small town near Naples, he had a vision when he was 15, entered religious life and took the name "Pio," which means pious in Italian. In 1910, hours after celebrating his first Mass, Padre Pio reported pain in his feet and hands, a foreshadowing of the bleeding he was to report a few years later.

Pio was considered the first priest in centuries to bear the signs of the stigmata, the wounds that Christ suffered in his hands, feet and side at crucifixion.

In the 1920s, the Vatican expressed doubts about the supernatural nature of the wounds and ordered him to stop celebrating Mass in public, a ban that would last a decade.

Some in the Church hierarchy wondered if Pio caused the wounds himself by perhaps pouring acid on them.

FOCUS

ON THE FAMILY

DR. JAMES DOBSON is a psychologist, author and president of Focus on the Family, a nonprofit organization dedicated to the preservation of the home.

Q My teen-age son is becoming increasingly difficult to get along with. Isn't there some way to avoid this blackout period and the other stresses associated with adolescent voyage?

A Not with some teen-agers, perhaps not with the majority. Tension occurs in most loving and intelligent of families. Why? Because it is driven by powerful hormonal forces that overtake and possess boys and girls in the early pubescent years.

I believe parents and even some behavioral scientists have underestimated the impact of biochemical changes occurring in puberty. We can see the effect of these hormones on the physical body, but something equally dynamic is occurring in the brain. How else can we explain why a happy, contented, cooperative 12-year-old suddenly becomes a sullen, angry, depressed 13-year-old? Some authorities would contend that social pressure alone accounts for this transformation. I simply don't believe that.

The emotional characteristics of a suddenly rebellious teen-ager rather like the symptoms of premenstrual syndrome or severe menopause in women, or perhaps a tumultuous midlife crisis in men. Obviously, dramatic changes are going inside!

Furthermore, if the upheaval were caused entirely by environmental factors, its onset would not be so predictable in puberty. The emotional changes I have described arrive right on schedule, timed to coincide precisely with the arrival of sexual maturation. Both characteristics, I contend, are driven by a common hormonal assault. Human chemistry apparently goes haywire for a few years, in some more than others, affecting mind as much as body.

Q I made a little offhand comment the other day about my daughter's hair, and she cried for an hour. I didn't mean to hurt her. I guess she's just more sensitive than I thought. Do I have to walk on eggshells around her?

A You should always be mindful that your daughter is listening to what you say about her and that she's "reading" the subtle attitudes that you might like to conceal. Kids are extremely sensitive to their parents' love and respect. That's why adults must learn to guard what they say in their presence.

Many times I have consulted by a mother regarding a particular problem her child is having. As Mom describes the details of the boy or girl's problems, I notice the subject of all this conversation is standing about a yard behind her. His ears are 10 feet tall as he listens to a candid description of all his faults. The child may remember that conversation for a lifetime.

Parents often inadvertently convey disrespect to a child whom they genuinely love. For example, Mom may become tense and nervous when his remarks sound foolish. When someone laughs nervously when his remarks sound foolish. When someone asks him a direct question, she interrupts and answers for him. She reveals her frustration when she is trying to comb his hair or make him "look nice" for an important event. He knows Mom thinks it is an impossible assignment. If he is to spend a weekend away from the family, the mother gives him an extended lecture on how to avoid making a fool of himself.

These subtle behaviors are signals to the child that the mother doesn't trust him with her image and that he must be supervised closely to avoid embarrassing the whole family. He reads disrespect in her manner, thought it is framed in genuine love.

The first step in building a strong self-concepts in your children is to be very careful what you say and do in their presence. Be particularly cautious about the matters of physical attractiveness and intelligence. These are two primary "softspots" where boys and girls are most vulnerable.

DEAR ABBY

written by Pauline Phillips and daughter Jeanne Phillips

Ex-Wife Takes On Lead Role At Former Husband's Funeral

DEAR ABBY: The woman who asked if there were any rules of etiquette or guidelines for when an ex-spouse is hospitalized or dies, reminded me of a painful incident.

When my beloved husband died, his ex-wife was not only at the funeral home thanking everyone for coming (as though she were the bereaved widow), but she spoke at length at the Catholic Mass about how she found "acceptance, forgiveness, blah, blah, blah..."

That woman had been married to my husband for only seven years, and they had been divorced for 13 years when I married him. We had been married for 13 happy years. That I couldn't bury my dear husband without this woman's interference was very upsetting.

STILL UPSET IN FLORIDA

DEAR STILL UPSET: If it's any comfort, I'm sure other mourners at the funeral found the former wife's behavior as bizarre as you did. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: Your reply to the ex-wife concerning whether or not to attend her ex-spouse's funeral left out an important component. You advised her to ask permission from wife No. 2 about attending. What about the wishes of the children?

If Mom's presence was desired at graduations, weddings and baptisms, then my guess is the kids would want her to attend their father's funeral.

It would be insulting to have to "ask permission" for your own mother to attend your father's funeral. Children of divorce are the victims of a relationship gone awry. When a parent dies, they shouldn't be victimized again. Allow the children closure, no matter what wife No. 2 prefers. The funeral will be the last time the children see their parents "together," and there will be enough grief already.

SUZI GIBBONS,
RICHARDSON, TEXAS

DEAR SUZI: You have a point. I don't think the children should have to ask permission. However, the considerate thing to do would be for wife No. 1 to call wife No. 2 and express her condolences — and for her to ask if her presence at the funeral would be disruptive or painful.

DEAR ABBY: I am a wife and mother of four who works full time. My time with my family is limited. Over the past four months, it has become even more so because of a weekend house guest.

Ever since my best friend, "Loretta," began dating my brother, she has invited herself to spend every weekend at my house. This is due to the fact that she lives a couple of hours from the city in which we all reside.

What makes matters worse is that Loretta baby-sits for other people while they go out of town, and she'll bring the child (or children) with her to our house!

I was raised to believe that you don't just invite yourself to someone else's home, and I consider Loretta's behavior extremely rude. How can I stop this without reducing myself to her level of rudeness? Abby, please help!

UIL to do survey on steroid testing

PAMPA — University Interscholastic League officials in Austin agreed earlier this week to survey Texas school districts on whether high school athletes should be tested for steroids.

Dennis Cavalier, Pampa High athletic director and head football coach, sees the steroids situation as a trickle-down effect.

"It started with the testing of the Olympic athletes and just recently we had the Sports Illustrated article about professional baseball players. It's just a sign of the times," Cavalier said.

The issue of steroid use by professional athletes became a national controversy after the recent magazine article about its impact on professional baseball.

The University Interscholastic League vote was a first step in gauging the prevalence of steroid use among Texas high school students and the need to test for the illegal substances.

"There's been no information yet from the UIL that has been sent directly to the schools. I'm assuming, from what I've read in the newspaper, that there would be random testing for playoff teams," said coach Cavalier.

According to the UIL, several members of the medical committee have raised concerns about the steroid use in high schools, particularly in football and baseball. The UIL is the governing body for high school sports in Texas.

The UIL's Medical Advisory Committee first suggested the survey, which was approved unanimously by the Legislative Council Standing Committee on Athletics.

The survey of school districts will be non-binding in that it would not commit them to drug testing. It will be drafted by UIL staff and distributed in September with results to be returned by the Legislative Council's October meeting.

"It's the general consensus it's something (drug testing) that needs to be done," Cavalier added. "Just how it's going to be funded and what procedures will be followed, we don't know yet."

If testing is done, it probably wouldn't start until the 2003-2004 school year, according to Cavalier.

Pampa boxers compete at Dimmitt

DIMMITT — Four Pampa boxers competed in the Dimmitt Boxing Show last weekend.

Chris Perez, Santos Alvarez, Joshua Perez and David Cano represented the Youth Survival Club at the tournament, which was sponsored by the Dimmitt Boxing Club.

Chris Perez was the only local boxer to come away with a victory. Boxing in the welterweight open division, Perez scored a technical knockout over Nicholas Torres of Slaton.

Perez had earlier won run-nerup at the State Junior Olympics Tournament in Fort Worth.

Alvarez went against Plainview's Tommy Alcozar, a former state and national champion. Alvarez stayed with Alcozar for three rounds before losing by a technical knockout in the 145-pound open class.

"This was Santos' sixth fight and Alcozar has fought 30 or 40 matches, but Santos stayed right with him. Santos made one mistake and that was it," said J.R. Moreno, founder of the Youth Survival Boxing Club.

Joshua Perez and Cano fought hard, but lost their matches, according to Moreno.

"I thought both Joshua and David had won their matches, but that's boxing," Moreno said.

Nikki Medley, Pampa's female boxer, entered the State Junior Olympics Tournament in Fort Worth last month and won in a walkover. The 14-year-old Medley is the first Pampa girl to win a gold medal in State Junior Olympics boxing.

Tiger is pulling away

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Tiger Woods sent a clear message to the rest of the U.S. Open field on a gloomy, damp day: Better bring your "A" game.

Woods picked up Friday where he left off in the first round, making up birdies on three of the first four holes at the Black Course.

He did stumble at No. 8 with his first bogey of the second round, but still stood at 5 under — three strokes ahead of Sergio Garcia. The Spaniard wasn't set to tee off until the afternoon.

By then, Woods could have a commanding lead in the rainy conditions.

He made the birdies look easy: a 4-foot putt at No. 1, a 2-footer at 2, and a 7-footer at 4 after donning a black rain vest to cope with the increasing showers.

At the par-3 eighth, Woods made his first big mistake, dropping his tee shot in a bunker. He blasted out through the green and had to chip on for bogey.

Woods kept his sights on a true Grand Slam by shooting a 3-under 67 on Thursday, overcoming the frightening conditions at Bethpage State Park.

It was an ominous start for the rest of the field, which included only six players who broke par on day one. Woods missed just three fairways and never had a putt for par longer than 12 feet. He made that one, along with six others of at least 8 feet.

"The only time I've putted better than this was at Augusta," Woods said.

He won the Masters in April, and is off to a great start in his quest to become the first player since Jack Nicklaus in 1972 to win the first two legs of the Grand Slam.

There's still a glimmer of hope for the others.

Woods has been in this position four times before — leading a major after the first round — but only twice has he gone on to win. Both occurred in 2000, when he took the U.S. Open by a record 15 strokes and the PGA Championship with a playoff victory over Bob May.

In 1998, however, Woods held first-round leads in both the British Open and PGA Championship. He wound up third at Royal Birkdale and tied for 10th at Sahalee

Country Club.

Still, this looked more like the guy won four straight majors in 1999-00, becoming the first to hold all four majors at the same time — the "Tiger Slam."

Woods has never lost a major when leading going to the final round. Garcia, who opened with a 68, hopes to have the chance to knock him off.

"I'm looking forward to being in a similar position or better position on Sunday, and see how I can handle it," Garcia said. "I can't wait to hopefully have two more good rounds and be up there."

An 18-foot birdie on his final hole Thursday gave Woods the lead all by himself after a long day that made some of the world's best feel like weekend golfers who pay $39 for the privilege of playing at Bethpage State Park.

"I love the golf course," said Phil Mickelson, elated at shooting 70, "but I'm OK with only four rounds under these conditions."

CHOOSING A LISTING

Real estate listings differ in the way in which the seller is committed to paying a commission. An open listing compels the seller to pay the agent if he or she brings in a buyer. If the seller or another agent brings in a buyer, there is no commitment to pay the non-producing agent. With an exclusive listing, a seller pays a commission to only one agent, no matter who finds the buyer. If the seller finds the buyer, however, he or she is not committed to pay a commission. With an exclusive-right-to-sell listing, the seller agrees to pay a commission to the agent with whom he or she signs, no matter who brings in the buyer (even the seller).

If it is important that as the seller or buyer, you know exactly what kind of an agreement you are entering into with an agent, helping you to understand your options and which is best for you is what we're all about here at CENTURY 21 - PAMPA REALTY INC.. ## After 45 years, Notre Dame returns to CWS

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Notre Dame needed 45 years to return to the College World Series, and coach Paul Mainieri plans to enjoy the stay.

The Fighting Irish, the last team to qualify for the eight-team field, open Saturday against Stanford in their first trip back to Omaha since 1957.

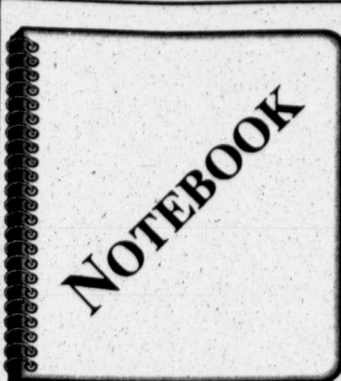

"The understatement of the year is that we're very happy to be here," Mainieri said.

The Irish (49-16) were 9-10 at one point, then returned to the form that had them ranked No. 1 for a short stretch last year. Notre Dame beat top-seeded Florida State on Monday, in a super regional.

The Cardinal (45-16), back at the Series for the fourth straight year and 14th overall, hope to erase memories of losing in the last two title games.

Stanford and Nebraska are the only teams returning from last year's field. Texas and Clemson played in Omaha two years ago and Rice played in 1999.

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — Unable to do it themselves, the Americans were lifted into the second round of the World Cup by South Korea.

What nice hosts! The United States was beaten 3-1 by Poland, allowing two goals in the first five minutes Friday night. But when South Korea edged Portugal 1-0 to win Group D, it also sent the Americans into the second round as the group runner-up.

"It's a very surprising tournament," U.S. coach Bruce Arena said. "Certainly we are elated to qualify for the second round. However, I am disappointed with tonight's results."

Poland showed soccer isn't the Americans' game quite yet. The Americans played nervously and were no physical match for the already-eliminated Poles at Daejeon, South Korea. All they needed was a tie, but when they lost, they had to turn to Incheon, where South Korea got a late goal from Park Ji Sung. Portugal, playing two men down for the final 24 minutes, three times was denied a tying goal in the dying minutes.

"We were very unlucky in final minutes," said Luis Figo, the world player of the year. "We had two or three chances to score."

"We're now leaving the World Cup and we have to look forward to the future."

After their opening 3-2 upset of fifth-ranked Portugal, the Americans were outplayed in a 1-1 tie with South Korea and by Poland.

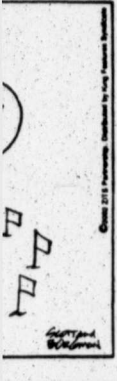

The South Koreans joined co-host Japan in the second round, winning the group. Both made it for the first time.

Dutchman Guus Hiddink turned around the South Koreans when he took over as coach.

"When necessary I could be very tough with them, but always with respect, and they reacted well," he said. "They can learn, they have proven to learn very fast to exercise what I have told them to do."

South Korea faces Italy on Tuesday in Daejeon. The U.S. team plays regional rival Mexico on Monday in Jeonju.

Japan gained a place in the second round by beating Tunisia 2-0 in Osaka. Belgium struggled back from the brink of elimination with two late goals against Russia and also moved on. It gets the unenviable task of meeting four-time champion Brazil in the round of 16.

A quality run

Lacie Oxley crosses home plate with another run for the Quality Sales team in Optimist League softball action earlier this week. Quality Sales slipped by The Pampa News team 6-5 and won first place in the league standings.

Red Wings win Stanley Cup; Bowman announces retirement

DETROIT (AP) — On the night he won his ninth — and final — Stanley Cup, a retirement-bound Scotty Bowman upstaged his Detroit Red Wings stars who finally got their first.

Dominik Hasek finally won the Cup he has chased throughout a Hall of Fame career — and 600-goal scorer Luc Robitaille did, too — as the Red Wings beat Carolina 3-1 Thursday night to win their third Stanley Cup in six seasons.

Bowman won a record ninth Stanley Cup as coach, breaking a tie with Toe Blake, and then announced his retirement before putting on his skates to take a victory lap.

"It's my last game as a coach. I've been thinking about it," he said, making the announcement even before NHL commissioner Gary Bettman presented the Red Wings with the silver cup. "I made up my mind at the Olympic break.

"It's time to go," said the 68-year-old Bowman, who will stay with the team as a consultant. "I just told my wife 10 minutes ago. I'm not an old man, but it's time to go. I never knew before, but I felt this year that I was able to go out with a winning team."

Red Wings owner Mike Ilitch said, "We just had a big hug, he whispered in my ear, 'I've got to go.' I just said, 'Thank you, Scotty.'"

Just as he did after winning his first Cup with Detroit in 1997, Bowman carried the cup around the ice with his players — the 10th for the franchise.

"I wanted to do it again," Bowman said. "I enjoy being with the guys."

Bowman said he wasn't thinking as much of his own record as he was of those who hadn't won the Cup: Hasek and Robitaille, being the most prominent.

"What a win. ... That's what I'm thinking about. The guys who hadn't won," Bowman said.

Tomas Holmstrom, a surprising scorer for much of the playoffs, and Brendan Shanahan, a surprising non-scorer for most of the last two rounds, scored Detroit's goals in tightly played Game 5 that mirrored one of the most defense-dominated finals ever, with only 21 goals scored.

The Red Wings sealed it with Shanahan's empty-net goal with 45 seconds left, his second of the game and third in two games after he went 10 games with only one goal.

Defenseman Nicklas Lidstrom won the Conn Smythe Trophy as the most valuable player in the playoffs — the first European to win it, just as Hasek is the first European goalie to lead his team to the Cup.

Bowman, who first coached in the finals, during the 1960s, became the second major pro sports coach in two nights to win a ninth title, joining Lakers coach Phil Jackson. Former Boston Celtics coach Red Auerbach is the only other coach with nine titles in any of the four major sports.

But this title also will be remembered for being Hasek's first, just as Ray Bourque's first with Colorado was a year ago.

Hasek, who at 37 may also retire now that he's got a Cup, finally gave up a goal — Jeff O'Neill's line drive that he had no chance to play late in the second period — after shutting out Carolina for more than 166 minutes.

Afterward, Hasek said he would decide in "a couple days" whether he would retire.

It was Hasek's almost perfect play in the final three games and the timely scoring of Brett Hull and Igor Larionov that turned around the series and finished a season dominated by Red Wings from start to finish. Their Presidents' Trophy for winning the regular season was all but assured by a 22-3-1 start.

From the time Hull scored with just over a minute left in Game 3 to prevent Detroit from going down 2-1 in the series, allowing Larionov to win it late in the third overtime, Detroit outscored Carolina 8-1.

Detroit teased its fans throughout the first period Thursday night without a series of good scoring chances without getting the first goal, only to get it early in the second period.

Holmstrom, skating down the slot, stuck out his stick with his right hand to deflect Larionov's pass from the right circle through Arturs Irbe's pads.

Holmstrom's eighth goal of the playoffs, at 4:07 of the second, was all a jammed Joe Louis Arena crowd needed to erupt into a wave of red and white — many in replica Red Wings jerseys.

If the first goal looked big in a low-scoring finals in which the no winning team has scored more than three goals, the second looked even bigger.

In a series in which nearly every goal was scored at even strength, Shanahan powered in a shot from the right circle at 14:04 — only the third Detroit goal in 22 power-play chances.

But, turned aside repeatedly for the equivalent of 2 1/2 games by Hasek, the Hurricanes finally scored on O'Neill's power play goal at 18:50, only the second in 23 chances for the Hurricanes.
