after June 10, then the motion shall be deemed overruled, according to Castanuela.

On May 31 the TNRCC gave approval to NPD to build the genetic pig facility. The emotion-charged issue has been a main topic of conversation in Pampa and the Texas Panhandle for almost a year. In September 2001, a petition containing more than 1,700 signatures asking for a vote to dissolve the PEDC was presented to city officials.

Two PEDC board members resigned soon after.

Pampa voters voted 1,786 to 1,404 in the November general election to do away with the economic development group.

Many supporters of the dissolution said the impetus to do away with the group was the pig controversy, but said there had been other issues.

The remaining three board members resigned soon after the election.

Pampa City Commission then appointed five new PEDC board members to oversee the dissolution process which is currently under way.

A copy of the TNRCC, response regarding the NPD permit application issued by Jeff Saitas' letter following his decision to grant the registration application was sent to more than 400 individuals and groups who had previously requested notification about two weeks ago.

A letter from LaDonna Castanuela, chief clerk of the TNRCC, announcing the state agency's decision giving NPD permission to go ahead with their plans, accompanied the response.

Both pro and con comments made by citizens prior to the Jan. 8 deadline and at a public meeting that night in Pampa regarding the swine industry were included in the response. According to the TNRCC, approximately 250 persons by the Pampa Economic commented on the facility. Pieper-Voshell, Development Corporation to media representative with the answer questions about the TNRCC, said the public project.

The nose and tail sections of the World War II bomber arrived in Pampa from Quantico, Va., by truck Sunday. A crew, including Ray Brown of Ocala, Fla.; Cris Furguson of Evansville, Ark., and Chuck Mosely of Weirsdale, Fla., began unloading the twin-engined plane about 7:30 a.m. today. A second truck, carrying the mid-section of the plane, is expected to arrive this afternoon.

Many area residents expressed concern to the Texas Natural Resources Conservation Commission (TNRCC) that the water from the Ogallala Aquifer would be rapidly depleted, and contaminated, if the swine combined animal feeding operation (CAFO) is permitted.

Numerous residents have requested an Environmental Impact Study (EIS) to be conducted to conclusively prove that the facility will not reach and contaminate the underground water supply, according to the TNRCC

Camp Directors Need Parents' Support To Help Keep Kids Safe

DEAR ABBY: I have been a camp director for 14 years. I strongly disagree with one of the suggestions offered by "Frustrated in Georgia" to parents when selecting a camp for their children.

She suggested that if parents "drop in" on a session and are not permitted to see their little camper in action, the parents should ask why they cannot be allowed to meet their children, wherever they happen to be at the time.

Security is a big concern. To limit intruders, everyone must check in at the office. Also, it has been my experience that if kids see their parents — or even other kids' parents - it can trigger homesick-

The rest of the advice to parents was excellent, but I would like to add two more suggestions:

First, make sure that your camper is never allowed to wander without supervision.

Second, encourage your camper to follow safety rules, even if you don't agree with the rules.

DUMAS — Pampa opened the 10-year-old District Girls' Softball Tournament with a 12-1 win Saturday night over Dumas.

Ashley Facio pitched for the Pampa All-Stars and gave up only one hit, a triple in the second inning. She struck out nine batters and walked four in four innings

Pampa had a big eight-run, third inning, which started with a walk. Shelbie Watson, Carlyn Teichmann and Summer Roberts followed with three straight singles. Two batters later, Ashley Williams had an RBI on a fielder's choice.

Pampa meets Borger at 6 tonight in pool play in Dumas.

BASEBALL

CHICAGO (AP) - Darryl Kile of the St. Louis Cardinals likely died from a blockage of a coronary artery, Cook County's chief medical examiner said.

An autopsy showed the 33year-old pitcher had "80-to-90 percent narrowing of two of the three branches of the coronary artery," Dr. Edmund Donoghue said. He said the blockage was the "likely cause of death."

Kile was found dead in the team hotel Saturday. Police said there were no signs of forced entry or foul play.

MIAMI (AP) — The Detroit Tigers weren't going to give Luis Castillo another chance to extend his 35-game hitting streak.

Castillo went 0-for-4 and was left on deck when the Florida Marlins finished off a four-run, ninth-inning rally to beat the Tigers 5-4 Saturday night.

Castillo's streak was the longest since Paul Molitor's 39-gamer in Castillo's streak, tied for the 10th-longest in baseball history, stands as the longest by a Latin player and the longest by a second baseman.

HOCKEY

TORONTO (AP) — The NHL draft provided few surprises. The real intrigue soon begins. Free agency starts July 1, allowing general managers to tend to immediate concerns.

"The candy store opens and you don't know who's going in to buy," St. Louis Blues GM Larry Pleau said.

Last summer's maneuvering helped the Detroit Red Wings add the final pieces to their Stanley Cup team — signing free agents Brett Hull and Luc Robitaille, and acquiring Dominik Hasek, who used the threat of free agency to force his trade from Buffalo.

Teams expected to shop this summer include: the New York Rangers, perennially active on the free-agent front; Dallas, which shed Hull a year ago and will not re-sign goaltender Ed Belfour; and Toronto, which could be in search for a goalie depending on whether Curtis Joseph re-signs.

The Red Wings are waiting to learn if defenseman Chris Chelios will re-sign and if Hasek will retire or come back for one more

Garrido guides Texas to fifth CWS title

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Texas knew what it wanted when it went after Augie

The Longhorns hadn't won a College World Series title in 13 years and were intent on ending the drought. Garrido had won three national titles with Cal State Fullerton.

On Saturday, everything came together. Texas captured its fifth national title by beating South Carolina 12-6.

"The mark for coaching this team is coming to the College World Series," Garrido said. "That's where it starts. And the real mark is when you win it:"

Garrido is the only coach to win the CWS with two schools. He won national championships with the Titans in 1979, '84 and '95, and has the third most CWS titles. Only Southern California's Rod Dedeaux (10) and Skip Bertman of LSU (5) have won more.

Garrido came to Texas after the 1996 season and replaced Cliff Gustafson, other Division I baseball coach. Garrido has 1,379 career victories in his 34 seasons, second only to Gustafson.

Garrido took the Longhorns to the CWS in 2000, their first trip to Omaha since 1993, and went 0-2. Texas returned for its 29th CWS this year as one of the favorites.

The orange-clad fans finally got their first chance to sing "The Eyes of Texas" in celebration since Texas' 1983 national Garrido was not the only Longhorn to reach a milestope Saturday. One of his 18-year-old freshman, reliever Huston Street, became the first player to save four games in a CWS and was voted Most Outstanding Player. Only three other freshman have received the honor, the last being Miami's Pat Burrell in

The son of former Texas football and baseball player James Street pitched 6 1-3 innings in his four appearances, allow-and walked three.

"I was praying before the whole thing started that when I came in we were up 10-2 and there wouldn't be any save opportunities," Street said. "I give credit to the team behind me."

Garrido's fourth title included one of his most memorable decisions. Shortly after batting practice he decided to start senior Chris Carmichael in left field and have him hit in the No. 7 spot for the Longhorns (57-15).

Carmichael, who sat out last season with a wrist injury and was 0-for-1 in his only CWS appearance, hit a three-run homer that put the Longhorns up 7-2 in.

"It was just an intuition," Garrido said. "I knew he would play hard. that's the whole criteria for our team — it's about running the ball out. You're not going to have a good day, but I knew he'd do that."

Carmichael's homer to right came off who had more wins (1,427) than any ing one run on two hits, struck out five Aaron Rawl (7-2). Carmichael, who had just one homer this season before Saturday, leaped when the ball cleared, pointed at teammates as he trotted down the third-base line. He spun his arms in a windmill as he touched home and was swarmed by teammates.

"I just gave them all a hug," Carmichael said. "Usually in a game we try to focus on the game and don't show any emotion, but I couldn't help it."

South Carolina (57-18) was trying to become the first team since Southern California in 1998 to start the CWS with a loss and come back and win it all. The Gamecocks opened with an 11-0 shutout loss to Georgia Tech, then made the title game with wins over Nebraska, Tech and two against claimed two wins to advance to the championship round of the Pampa Optimist 11-12 League.

Celanese had a 4-2 victory over Cabot in the early game, then knocked league champions Rotary out of the tournament with an 11-6 win at Optimist

In the first game against Cabot, the first three Celanese batters drew walks, followed by a single from Colby Copeland to score John Luke Covalt and Casey Trimble. Josh Rios then hit a double, scoring Copeland.

Cabot retaliated in the bottom of the first with a walk by Chase Harriman and a double by Dakota Gowin to score Harriman.

At the end of the first inning, Celanese held a 3-1 lead.

Neither team scored in the second inning. Celanese only had one runner reach base and he was thrown out at home by Cabot third baseman Dakota

Cabot didn't have any runners reach in their half of the inning.

To lead off the third inning, John Luke Covalt had a base hit and was then thrown out at second base on a fielder's choice off Casey Trimble's single. Trimble scored on a base hit by Colby PAMPA — On Friday night, Celanese Copeland, who was then thrown out trying to advance to second. The third out was a strikeout.

Celanese held Cabot to only two hits in the third and fourth innings, while Cabot held Celanese to three hits in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings.

Cabot scored one run in the fifth after Tyler Morris walked, advanced to second on a fielder's choice, and scored on stolen bases to cut the lead to 4-2. That score stood up through the sixth and final inning.

Winning pitcher was Tanner Dyson, who went four near perfect innings. Colby Copeland pitched in relief.

Celanese's defensive player of the game was Josh Rios, who had an exceptional game in center field. Defensively for Cabot, pitcher-third baseman Dakota Gowin shut down Celanese the last three Offensively, Colby Copeland, John Luke Covalt, Tanner Dyson and Josh Rios each had a .667 batting average. Covalt and Dyson had a perfect on-base percentage.

In the second game of the doubleheader, Celanese faced league champions Rotary and came out the victor in a hard-hitting battle.

Celanese opened the first inning with one run, which was made possible by who had walked. Trimble and Copeland were then both thrown out at home on fielder's choices to bring Rotary to the plate in the bottom of the first.

Rotary's attack was led by singles from Shavious Kelley and Mark Stone. Kelly advanced to third on an error by the Celanese shortstop. Kelly, Stone and Kenny Hightower all scored on subsequent passed balls, walks and a single by Madison WIlson. Rotary held a 3-1 lead at the end of the first inning.

The third inning proved beneficial for Celanese after a scoreless second inning for both teams. Celanese went on a ninerun rally as eight of the nine Celanese batters scored runs.

Copeland walked to lead off the third and Dyson followed with a base hit. Both runners advanced on a sacrifice fly by Rios. Jad McGuire was walked to load the bases. Copeland and Dyson scored on subsequent walks to Jeremy Busse and Michael Alexander, Taylor Busse then singled to score McGuire, followed by singles by Covalt and Trimble to score Jeremy Busse and Alexander. A double by Copeland scored Taylor Busse and Covalt. Rios' single scored both Trimble and Copeland to end the Celanese rally.

In the bottom of the third, Rotary scored three runs off a leadoff walk by Copeland's double that scored Covalt, Kelly, followed by base hits from Stone and Hightower. All three runners scored from passed balls, then left the bases loaded to end the inning.

Rotary reliever Rusty Snider shut down Celanese in the top of the fourth inning by displaying some excellent pitching skills. He struck out the three batters he faced. The Celanese defense held Rotary scoreless in the bottom of the fourth on a strike out, a popup to first base and a throw out from catcher Trimble to second base.

Celanese held Rotary scoreless the rest of the way. Celanese added another run in the fifth when Copeland tripled and scored on a single by Dyson.

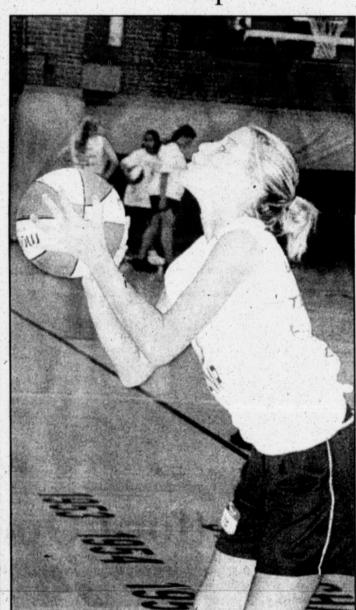

Colby Copeland was the winning pitcher. Dyson and Copeland led the team in hitting with a .750 average. Mcguire, Copeland and Taylor Busse had perfect on base averages.

Rotary hitting was led by Stone with a .667 average, followed by Kelly and Hightower, each at .333. Kelly had a perfect on base average.

Celanese faces Glo-Valve at 6 tonight in the championship round. Celanese must defeat Glo-Valve twice to win the tournament since they had to come through the loser's bracket. A second game, if necessary, will be played at 8 tonight.

Glo-Valve defeated Celanese 15-8 in the first round of tournament play.

Rangers' manager recalls eerie night he replaced Munson

Narron knows how it feels to replace the player that his teammates believe cannot be replaced.

He remembers the grief, the loss, the same I'd-rather-be-any place-inthe-world-but-here sensation in the pit of his stomach that St. Louis starter Jason Simontacchi no doubt felt Sunday night.

Just as Simontacchi pitched for the Cardinals on the day after Darryl Kile died, Narron took over for the Thurman Munson the day after the star Yankees catcher died in 1979.

Even 23 years later, Narron, now the Texas Rangers' manager, finds it difficult to talk about one of the most gut-wrenching moments in his eightyear playing career — and, as it would turn out, his only season with the Yankees.

"Thurman was a leader on our still was the Yankees' catcher.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jerry club," Narron said before Sunday's 10-4 victory over Pittsburgh. "Everybody looked up to him and everybody was close to him. It was like losing somebody in your family."

Munson, a former AL Most Valuable Player and one of the game's biggest stars at the time, was killed on an off-day while piloting a jet he had recently bought.

Narron, then a 23-year-old rookie catcher, remembers where he was when he heard the news and, no doubt, the uneasiness he surely felt when he realized he would replace Munson in the Yankees' lineup the following day.

Narron had caught the five games leading to the Aug. 2, 1979, accident. Munson, who had a succession of injuries, including a sore knee, played first base or was the designated hitter.

But Munson, in the eyes of the fans,

Narron was told the moment of silence would be brief but, as fans broke into an ovation that grew louder and louder, he recalls it felt more like 15 or 20 minutes

As Narron talked Sunday, tears welled in his eyes, his voice grew emotional and he paused between words.

"Any time you're on a ballclub for an entire season, it's a very close-knit family and when you lose somebody in the family, it's a huge tragedy," Narron said. "But as a professional, you've got to go out and do your job."

On Aug. 1, Munson's last game with the Yankees, Narron homered, and the rookie had several multihit games earlier in the week. But in the game he will always be remembered for — the night he replaced Munson — Narron struck out in his only two atbats in a 1-0 loss to Baltimore decided by John Lowenstein's homer off Luis

"It's tough for everybody, when you lose a teammate that you're close to," Narron said. "It's not easy. You just have to go on with your job and you just can't stop time.'

The Yankees, who would go on to lose the division race to Baltimore, followed the wishes of Munson's wife, Diane, by taking the field that night.

Agassi opens Wimbledon tourney with easy win over Israel player

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - Andre the weekend and asked for his match to be put Agassi opened play on Centre Court at Wimbledon by overwhelming Israel's Harel Levy in straight sets Monday as the championships got underway without a rain cloud in sight. With 2001 champion Goran Ivanisevic absent following shoulder surgery, Agassi was given the honor of playing the first match on Centre Court — and he didn't waste any time in underlining his title credentials. The third-seeded American, who won Wimbledon in 1992, took 1 hour, 29 minutes to beat Levy 6-0, 6-4, 6-4.

"It was pretty special being out there today," Agassi said of the Centre Court debut. "It just felt great playing out there. Every time I'm on the court, it brings back a lot of memories."

Playing his first grass-court match of the year, Agassi ripped through the opening set in just 18 minutes. Levy, who is ranked No. 326 and has won only one grass-court match in his career, raised his arms in mock triumph when he held serve to open the second set.

Agassi needed one service break to take the second set. He faltered briefly near the end of the third set when he was broken at love while serving for the match at 5-2. After Levy held at love for 5-4, Agassi didn't waver this time and served out the match.

Agassi, who is always a crowd favorite here, waved, blew kisses and bowed as the Centre Court spectators gave him a warm ovation.

Agassi, who is known more for his returns than his serves, had a surprising 16 aces and 10 service winners. Playing mostly from the baseline, he had 46 winners and 17 unforced errors.

"It felt great," Agassi said. "You can only expect so much in your first match. I felt like I took care of business from the start. I felt very comfortable.'

Jennifer Capriati, meanwhile, opened her bid for a first Wimbledon title with a comfortable 6-1, 6-4 win over Janette Husarova.

The third-seeded American, who has won the Australian Open twice and French Open once, played unspectacular tennis but did just enough to get past the 41st-ranked Slovakian in the opening match on Court 1.

Capriati broke three times in the first set. She fell behind 3-1 in the second, but then ran off four straight games to take command.

It was an unsteady performance from Capriati, who served six double faults and had 24 unforced errors to go with her 16 winners.

In other early matches, 14th-seeded Thomas Enqvist swept past Britain's Arvind Parmar 6-1, 6-4, 6-4, and No. 29 James Blake advanced when Mariano Zabaleta quit with an illness after losing the first two sets 6-2, 6-2.

Richard Krajicek, who won Wimbledon in 1996 and is one of only three former champions in the draw along with Agassi and Pete Sampras, got off to a good start. Playing only his second match since Nov. 2000 following shoulder surgery, the big Dutchman beat Franco Squillari 6-2, 7-5, 7-6 (5).

The second match on Centre Court had No. 2seeded Serena Williams vs. 103rd-ranked Evie Dominikovic of Australia.

Seven-time champion Pete Sampras was scheduled to play Britain's Martin Lee in the third match on Centre Court.

Sampras, who sustained a rib strain over the weekend, had been expected to be scheduled for the Centre Court opener. But he was injured over back to Tuesday. Tournament organizers rejected the request, but put him up third to give him a few extra hours for rest and treatment.

Other matches Monday included No. 2 Marat Safin facing 1997 finalist Cedric Pioline; and No. 5 Yevgeny Kafelnikov playing Dominik Hrbaty, who holds a 7-3 career edge against the two-time major champion.

The two top-seeded players won't play until Tuesday. As the defending women's champion, Venus Williams will open Centre Court on Day 2 against 344th-ranked Jane O'Donoghue of Britain, while Lleyton Hewitt has a tough test against Jonas Bjorkman, winner of the Wimbledon tuneup at Nottingham.

With Ivanisevic out with a shoulder injury and two-time runner-up Rafter taking an extended break from the sport, it's the first time since 1931 that neither of the previous year's finalists returned.

With Ivanisevic staying at home, he was represented in the Royal Box by his father, Srdjan.

With Sampras no longer his dominant self, there is no overwhelming men's favorite this year. Eight men have won the last eight Grand Slam

'This tournament's wide open," said Agassi's coach, Darren Cahill. "There are half a dozen guys who are level with a chance to win."

The British bookmakers' 4-1 favorite is Tim Henman, who has made the semifinals in three of the last four years.

No British player has lifted the Wimbledon men's trophy since Fred Perry in 1936. With England losing to Brazil in the quarterfinals of soccer's World Cup, the weight of the nation is now on Henman.

Henman was asked Sunday about the possibility of Queen Elizabeth II attending the final, as she did in the last Jubilee year, 1977, when Virginia Wade was the last Briton to win a Wimbledon singles title.

"That would be great," he said. "But I'll worry about that if I get to the final. I have to get to the final first."

Rudd is the winner of Dodge-Save Mart 300

SONOMA, Calif. (AP) - Ricky Rudd would do well to carry his four-leaf clovers all the time. Rudd won the Dodge-Save Mart 350 on Sunday, taking command on the third-to-last lap when leader Jerry Nadeau lost his rear gear and

This was Rudd's sixth victory on a road course, one shy of Jeff Gordon's Winston Cup

"I don't believe in superstitions," Rudd said. "But one of our fans sent a package of four-leaf clovers and it did happen to make the trip all the way out to California and my wife did happen to remind me to rub on it this morning before we got in the car."

Rudd won for the second time on the winding track formerly known as Sears Point Raceway, christened Infineon Raceway over the weekend. Rudd also won the inaugural race in Northern California in 1989.

Nadeau, who hasn't had a steady ride since he was let go by Hendrick Motorsports last month, was driving for Steve Grissom in the No. 44

Mickelson repeats as Greater Hartford Open winner

CROMWELL, Conn. (AP) - Phil Mickelson put the U.S. Open behind him in a hurry at the Greater Hartford

Coming off a runner-up finish to Tiger Woods at Bethpage Black, Mickelson overcame a five-stroke deficit Sunday to become the first player to win the tournament in consecutive years.

Thinking he needed to birdie the final hole to get into a playoff, Mickelson crushed a 342-yard drive and hit a sand wedge to 5 feet to set up what turned out to be the winning birdie.

"To be the first one to win it twice is something very special, but there's nothing greater than the feeling walking up 18 and feeling the support," said Mickelson, referring to the 50,000 fans ringing the amphitheater hole on the TPC at River Highlands.

Three hours after eagling No. 7 with a sand wedge from 108 yards, he left himself exactly that distance on the decisive 18th.

"Same shot as I had on No. 7," he said. "I had to take about 10 yards off with the sand wedge because it was a little downwind.'

The left-hander, playing his last event before the British Open at hopped up in the air right after I hit Muirfield, closed with a 6-under 64 for a 14-under 266 total and a onestroke victory over Davis Love III and Jonathan Kaye.

"I fully expected to be in a playoff," said Mickelson, who earned $720,000 for his second victory of the year and 21st tour title. "If you give Davis and Jonathan that 18th hole again, they're going to make birdie seven times out of 10."

He matched the largest finalround comeback of the year on the PGA Tour after a sloppy Saturday finish in which he dropped three strokes on the final three holes for a plenty of opportunities, but couldn't Mickelson was on the putting green with wife Amy and their two young daughters when Kaye pushed a 13-foot birdie try to the right on the par-4 18th hole.

"I didn't hit a good putt," said Kaye, the third-round leader. "It

Earlier, Love missed a 25-footer on the final hole.

"I got better every day, and I just got a little unfortunate," said Love, who had his best finish of the year.

Love, winless since early last year, shot a 67, and Kaye closed with a 70 that included an 89-yard shot that spun back for eagle on the par-5 13th to briefly give him the lead at 14

"I'm glad it hit the hole because it was trucking," said Kaye, winless in six full seasons on the tour. "I had shake a putt in when I needed to." Scott Verplank (71) finished three, strokes back, and Joel Edwards (63) and Jim Carter (68) were 10 under. After Mickelson holed out on No.

7, he Tost his momentum with a three-putt bogey from 6 feet on the par-3 eighth. His 2 1/2-foot par try spun around the lip of the cup. "I really wanted to make some noise there ... and I three-putt," Mickelson said. "Just unbelievable! I was so heated! He made a 15-foot birdie putt on

No. 10 to get back to 12 under, but left a 20-foot birdie try an inch short on the 12th. Mickelson turned on his short-game magic on the next three holes, getting up and down for two birdies and a par save.

He birdied the par-5 13th, chipping to 2 feet from the hollow along the right of the green. On the par-4 14th, he left his first two shots in the left rough, but salvaged par by hitting to 6 1/2 feet from a difficult lie.

"I was sitting on a sandy divot on a straight downhill lie, but fortunately there was fairway right in front of me that I could bounce it into," Mickelson said. "I took a pitching wedge and just drove it into the ground and let it release."

On the 296-yard Mickelson's 3-wood tee shot rolled over the green, but he chipped to 4 feet to set up a birdie. He gave the stroke back on the par-4 17th, failing to get up and down after hitting his second shot long from the fairway bunker at the corner of the waterlined dogleg left.

He followed with his final-hole birdie, sending him to Muirfield for his next shot at Woods with a far better feeling than he had leaving

Critics fear new leadership in Hong Kong

BY HELEN LUK ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

HONG KONG (AP) - In Hong Kong's biggest shakeup since its return to China, Chief Executive Tung Cheehwa named a new Cabinet of political appointees on Monday and pledged they will govern even better than the old British-style civil service.

Tung, who is backed by Beijing, will gain more power under what he called the "dawning of a new era for the governance of Hong Kong." Critics say Tung pushed his plans through without adequate debate.

The former shipping tycoon brushed aside charges he was undermining the civil service system, which has a

"In pursuing any reform, I will not allow the integrity and stability of the civil service to be compromised," Tung told a news conference. "On the contrary, I intend to strengthen these core values.'

Tung calls the new arrangement an "accountability system," but critics say the new government chiefs will be accountable only to Tung, who is accountable only to Beijing.

Although Hong Kong is now part of China, it maintains a separate economic and political system and Westernstyle civil liberties remain in place under an arrangement dubbed "one country, two systems."

Tung's new team will be in place for the start of his second five-year term on July 1, the fifth anniversary of the handover. Tung was re-elected — without opposition in an unusual process that

Hong Kong residents, who mostly pro-Beijing figures and special interest representatives.

Tung's new lineup contains many officials who worked ed to. Chinese rule haven't their way up through the ranks of the old system. His top three deputies - Chief Secretary for Administration Donald Tsang, Financial Secretary Antony Leung and Justice Secretary Elsie Leung - will keep their jobs.

However, as political gave votes to just 800 people, appointees, they would be easier to fire if Tung becomes unhappy with their work.

Tung also named 11 political appointees to serve as secretaries in charge of government bureaus. Six came from within the government and five are outsiders.

The lineup was approved by Beijing over the weekend.

The political opposition has complained that Tung's appointees will not even be vetted by Hong Kong lawmakers. Local rights activists fear the government will become more politicized, and more likely to crack down on activists, who criticize Beijing.

Tung's spokesman, Stephen Lam, has dismissed such charges as groundless. He says Hong Kong is preserving the best attributes of its apolitical civil service, a holdover from British colonial days that many view as one of Hong Kong's enduring strengths.

PPHM exhibit to celebrate Jazz Age CANYON — On June 30, Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon will kick-off "Flappers and Fads: Fashions of the Jazz Age," an exhibit featuring clothing and accessories of the 1920s.

Labeled "The Jazz Age" novelist F. Scott Fitzgerald, the 1920s were a time of change and revolution. Also referred to as the Roaring 20s, the era is marked by prosperity and reckless optimism, youthful exuberance, prohibition and bootleg liquor, consumerism, radicalism, and bohemian-

Business boomed and the stock market soared, setting the stage for the devastating economic crash of 1929. The oil and gas industry of the Texas Panhandle developed during the 1920s, sparking a period of growth and development.

Fads such as sitting atop flagpoles and dance marathons swept the nation. Jazz music was celebrated by some as the new American music while others denounced it as barbaric and primitive. A new style of decorative art known as Art Deco gained popularity and influenced everything from

Glamorous movie stars became style leaders as fashion became increasingly accessible to people at all socioeconomic levels. Racy young women known as flappers bobbed their hair and wore short skirts that moved or "flapped" as they danced the Charleston.

A typical dress of the 1920s might be a kneelength silk chemise with short sleeves and possibly some decorative beadwork. Close-fitting cloche hats and costume jewelry were essen-
