MCDONALD ON STAIN IN LAND PROBE

As Coldest Winter Grips Europe

Wildly and beautifully ice-sheathed, this striking avenue of trees flanking the shores of Lake Geneva, Switzerland, bears its own testimony to the coldest winter the European continent has experienced in many years. Ice-laden winds, bearing down from the surrounding Alps, turned the trees into a "petrified forest" overnight.

AAUW MEMBERS--GUESTS ENTERTAINED AT COLORFUL BANQUET

GROUP HEARS TALK GIVEN BY GUEST SPEAKER

Highlighting the week's social calendar was the annual American Association of University Women's Founders' Day banquet at the Schneider hotel last evening with Mrs. Perry Gault and C. C. Wilson as hostesses.

An address by Professor S. H. Condon, head of the Department of Economics and Government at West Texas State college at Canyon, was a feature of the entertainment program presented by Mrs. Kathryn Vincent Steele, master of ceremonies.

In speaking on "Basic Principles of American Foreign Policy," Mr. Condon gave the four principles which form the basis of a foreign policy--geographic, economic, demographic, and strategic. Giving his idea of the foreign policy the speaker said that if America is to hold her position and to improve her standing, she must break away from the policy of isolation.

"If the voters of a democratic country are to have a voice in voting on foreign policy in their hands, they should know the facts, be able to weigh arguments, maintain an even temper after they have the facts in hand, and be a reasonable voter," Prof. Condon pointed out.

"America's first line of defense against damages and danger is her foreign policy," the speaker quoted from a current book, "Is America Afraid?"

The invocation by C. L. Thomas, pastor of the First Methodist church, opened the program for the evening. After the welcoming address by Mrs. C. C. Wilson, Mrs. T. B. Moss entertained the group by playing a medley of popular piano selections.

Miss Helen Martin presented a high school quartet composed of Ethel Miller, Gladys McMahon, Gene Finkbeiner, and Arvo Goddard, who sang two selections.

An outstanding number on the program was the Big Apple floor show given by the Vincent ballet. Performers included Gloria Robinson, Billie Black, Mary Jo Galt, Lorraine and Peggy Murphy, Bernell Bynum, Mary Ellen Moss, Betty June Davis, and June Moss.

An arrangement of red carnations centered the speaker's table which was lighted with tall red tapers. Decorated apples, holding tiny candles marked each place and the program cards were large red apples. Silver dishes filled with gold and silver painted apples decorated the other tables.

Plans for the program were made by Mrs. Steele with Mrs. M. E. Lamo in charge of the decorations and Mrs. J. A. Meek, reservations and finances.

Rebekah Lodge to Honor Founder at Service Thursday

A candlelight service honoring the birthday of Thomas Willey, founder of Odd Fellowship in America, will be held Thursday evening at the regular session of the Rebekah lodge at the L. O. O. P. hall.

Refreshments will be served and members are asked to take sandwiches.

All members are urged to attend the meeting. Irene Kline, reporter.

EVERY DAY WASH DAY.

Start a fine habit this year by washing your underwear and stockings every night. Silks, nylons and woollens last much longer if the dirt and perspiration are removed right away. Swish these filmy pieces in a bowl of lukewarm, sudsy water, rinse thoroughly, then hang on a towel rack to dry.

LIME JUICE OVER MELON.

Sprinkle bread-and-butter cantaloupe balls with lime juice. The result is a tasty combination to be served as appetizer or dessert.

An interesting and worthwhile personality in the LeFors P-T-A is Mrs. J. G. Shipley, secretary of the organization, who has been associated with work in the P-T-A for three years. She has been president of a Mothers' club for two years, and vice president for one year. This is her first office in the P-T-A, and she is fulfilling it well.

Mrs. Shipley came to LeFors nine years ago. She was a former school teacher in Oklahoma county, Oklahoma. This teaching experience gives her an insight into the P-T-A work that many do not have, that of having been teacher and parent, also.

Other than her interest in the school organizations, Mrs. Shipley is a leader in the North Holliness where she is the secretary and is a teacher and leader among the young people of the Sunday school.

Mrs. Shipley is connected with the Shamrock Oil and Gas company of LeFors.

LONG COURTSHIPS END IN HAPPY MARRIAGES

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)--Long courtships result in happy marriages, a survey indicated today.

Ernest B. Burgess, professor of sociology at the University of Chicago, studied the cases of 526 couples, each of whom had been married at least one year but not more than six.

He said he found a five-year period of acquaintanceship, a three-year courtship, and an engagement of at least 24 months were prelude to most successful marriages.

Dr. Burgess termed successful that marriage in which separation or divorce has never been contemplated.

reduce danger of eyestrain

THESE amazing new I. E. S. Better Sight Lamps... that cost only a cent or two an evening to operate... are scientifically designed to help prevent eyestrain. They come in a wide range of attractive styles in both floor and table models.

The lamp shown is a direct-indirect lamp. It throws light directly on your book and at the same time floods the room with a generous quantity of indirect light--free from harmful shadows and annoying glare. See these direct-indirect lamps--as well as other I. E. S. Better Sight Lamps--in our show room. Cost little to buy and little to operate.

DIRECT-INDIRECT LAMP

New models of the direct-indirect lamp have a glass reflector especially adapted for a MAZDA Indirect Three-Lite lamp which gives three levels of illumination from the same bulb. Besides throwing light against the ceiling for general illumination, the glass reflector permits ample direct, downward light. For more severe visual tasks, add the light from three candles beneath the shade. Making 40 or 60 watt MAZDA lamps.

IMPORTANT--Be sure to look for the authorized certification tag on the lamp you buy. If it isn't an I. E. S. Better Sight Lamp if it doesn't have this tag.

When measured with the light meter, this I. E. S. Better Light Lamp gives 30 footcandles of light at 30 inches from the lamp... the minimum amount science prescribes for eye tasks.

Spain Has Become Testing Ground For Armaments

ARMIES FIGHT HAND-TO-HAND NEAR TERUEL

(By The Associated Press)

Uncle Sam cast about today for ways to bolster American defenses before a turbulent, quarreling world. More men, more guns, added strength in the air and at sea, stronger defenses on land—these are the needs advanced by protagonists of armaments increase.

The civil war in Spain has become a testing ground for armaments of all nations, thrown in to aid one side or the other.

It is probable that test one day may determine whether one nation or the other shall find it expedient to challenge another to conflict, which could embroil all Europe.

Tug of War.

The war, too, is an ever present visual display of the Fascist-Leftist cleavage in Europe, with Fascist countries backing Spanish insurgents although the fighting itself seems to have become a hold-out, tug of war rather than a fast, grand offensive which quickly would bring victory to one side or the other.

In China, the rumbling of Shanghai's seven charity morgue wagons daily emphasizes war's toll is not alone from the battle front. But also is taken behind the lines by disease and starvation. Fifty-one thousand Chinese refugees and poor have died in Shanghai since the warfare began there last August, hence the burial of dead is not alone from the battle front.

Fighting is scattered through much of China, with Japanese in control of the major cities—Shanghai, Nanking, Peiping and others. The Japanese avow their intent to form a Japanese-Chinese-Manchoukuo economic union and want a new, favorable Chinese government.

Japanese Stalled.

Japanese were stalled, however, dispatches indicated today, in a drive to conquer China's lifeline railway, the Lungai. Chinese were active near Wuhu, 60 miles above Nanking, and heavy casualties on both sides were reported in an engagement there.

Infantry fought hand-to-hand in Spain's conflict, the battle centering still about Teruel, 100 miles to the east of Madrid. There were, too, the customary air raids on both sides. Forty-one were killed yesterday in an insurgent air raid on Barcelona, the Spanish government said.

The world's chief avowed peace agency, the League of Nations, has been unable to bring any halt to the two wars and its council met today to debate junking sanctions as a league instrument.

Small nations hold sanctions cost them as much as the nation against which they are directed in an effort to halt aggression. The larger nations, particularly Britain and France, want sanctions left in the covenant text but appear willing to forget them as a practical policy.

FDR Concerned.

China may appeal to the council for sanctions against Japan during the current council sitting. But, sanctions failed to halt Italian conquest of Ethiopia, it appeared unlikely they again would be invoked.

President Roosevelt, perhaps thinking of these instances, referred a few weeks ago to world events "which have caused me growing concern" and intimated they might necessitate expansion of the navy.

There is talk in Washington congressional circles of legislation to authorize 40 additional warships, and there has been agitation for more anti-aircraft guns, increased army personnel, more tanks and planes.

Chairmen of five house committees conferred yesterday with the President, and he is expected within a few days to ask Congress for more funds for army and navy.

ALANREED RADIO SHOW, PIE SUPPER PLANNED

ALANREED, Jan. 25—A two-hour program of entertainment is booked for Thursday night at the school gymnasium here. The program will consist of a radio show and a pie auction sale.

Alanreed persons on the program will be Pauline Word and Gladys Day, singers; Edith Gibson and her Melody Harpers; Buddy Hill and Roland Gibson, the singing hoboes; Coy Palmer, baritone and pianist; Bradley Kaiser, tap dancer; Wilkie and Mildred Blakney, Sunshine piano duo; Edith Eastman, singer of Spanish ballads; W. E. James, accompanist; his comedy phantoms composed of "Red" Stapp, "Red" Gull, Everitt Allan, "Shorty" Preck, and J. C. Otkley.

Candidates for office in the coming elections are especially invited to attend and are assured they will not be imposed upon, Supt. Ledger says.

CHARGED WITH SLAYING.

MADISONVILLE, Jan. 26 (AP)—Dr. H. H. Carter, 35, dentist, charged with the slaying of his wife Friday, was held without bond here today. Justice of the Peace O. L. Brown remanded Carter to jail yesterday after an examining trial. Witnesses said Carter had followed his wife to the cafe where the alleged slaying occurred.

New York Amazes Windsor's Cousin

Marvelling at the changes in New York since last seeing it in 1924, Lord Louis Mountbatten, pictured with his wife on arrival from England, said he wanted to be a sightseer during a week's stay prior to sailing for Jamaica to play polo. Lord Louis is cousin to King George VI and the Duke of Windsor. The latter made no mention of an American trip when they met a few weeks ago, he said.

Lamar Signed Measure That Created School System 99 Years Ago

AUSTIN, Jan. 26 (AP)—Ninety-nine years ago Wednesday Mirabeau B. Lamar, president of the Republic of Texas, signed an historical document which started a flow of inestimable millions into public education in this state.

Responding to the soldier-statesman's eloquent plea, the congress of the infant nation passed the first of a number of acts which set apart vast areas of unclaimed land to the benefit of a "system of mental and moral culture."

The public domain, retained by Texas on joining the union, largely has been converted into permanent funds, but the state still owns about 500,000 acres and a few counties have not sold their grants.

Lamar's foresight has brought public education more than $200,000,000 in money accounted for plus millions which counties realized through sales. The permanent school fund alone now stands at more than $53,000,000.

Assuming the presidency in December, 1838, Lamar found a poorly organized country overwhelmed with debt, harassed by hostile Indians and threatened with Mexican reconquest.

supplemented by 1,000,000 more in 1883 and 50,000 in 1897.

The county school grants amounted to approximately 4,250,000 acres, all but about 500,000 acres of which have been sold.

"State school lands have contributed more than $1,000,000 annually for at least a quarter of a century to the available school fund," Walker said.

Discovery of oil in the trans-Pecos, south and east Texas areas has poured the yield of more than 800 wells into the school fund while the University permanent fund has received the profits of 600 wells.

The public school fund also owns all vacancies—areas found between inaccurate old surveys—which are estimated in the thousands of acres.

acres had been granted individuals by the Spanish and Mexican governments.

In 1853, after the state had become part of the union, the state continued Lamar's policy by granting half the land surveyed for railroads and other utilities to the public schools, a practice continued until 1876.

Former Land Commissioner J. H. Walker, authority on Texas land history, says at that time, when the constitution was adopted, legislators set apart all remaining public domain to the school fund.

"About 28,000,000 acres went to the schools by that act," the 78-year-old former commissioner explained, "in addition to 16,000,000 previously granted. Of this, all but 500,000 acres have been sold. The school funds also benefits by oil and gas rights on submerged areas, islands and riverbeds in the coastal areas."

Walker said the university was granted 1,000,000 acres by the constitution in addition to that set aside by the original Lamar act.

SAM MACEO RELEASED FROM GALVESTON JAIL

GALVESTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Sam Maceo, night club operator, had been released from county jail today under $10,000 bond, pending hearing on his appeal for a writ of Habeas Corpus in Houston Saturday.

Maceo and 14 other Texans are accused of conspiracy to violate narcotic laws, in indictments returned by a New York federal grand jury. After a hearing before U. S. Commissioner George W. Coltzer for removal of the defendants to New York for trial, Maceo and eight others were committed to jail.

Praises Education

His achievements in the face of this, are only partly attested by the facts which led to establishment of the free school system.

"The influence of education in the moral world is like light in the physical, rendering luminous what before was obscure," Lamar told his assembled lawmakers.

"A suitable appropriation of lands to the purpose of general education can be made at this time without inconvenience to the government or to the people, but defer it until the public domain shall have passed from our hands and the uneducated youths of Texas will constitute living monuments of our neglect and remissions. It can now be effected without the expenditure of a single dollar."

"Impressed the Congress passed the first act which gave three leagues (13,294 acres) to each of ten established counties, and 50 leagues to what became the University of Texas. Later, another act added a league each to the counties' share.

Grants Before 1836

In the aggregate, the counties received an average of 17,712 acres each with the exception of 16 created many years later.

When Texas won her independence from Mexico some 26,000,000

HIGHER PRICES FOR OIL SEEN BY OKLAHOMAN

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 26 (AP)—Higher oil prices in the future were indicated today in an Oklahoman's survey of the petroleum industry presented to a governor's conference here.

The survey, made by Alex W. McCoy, Ponca City, Okla., for Gov. E. W. Marland of Oklahoma, predicted a 78-cent per barrel increase in the estimated cost of delivering oil to the pipe line during the next 20 years.

I. G. Harmon, member of the Oklahoma Tax Commission, attributed the advancing costs to greater expense attaching to future discoveries because of the increasing difficulty in finding new wells.

McCoy's survey reported that the average total cost to the industry for delivering one barrel of oil to the pipe line, considering all investments with interest, amounted to $1.11 for oil discovered between 1924 and 1938, and estimated that the per-barrel cost for oil "necessary to be discovered during the next 20-year period" would be $1.98.

Geologist McCoy's findings were offered in support of the contention of Marland, who called the conference, that oil in sight was not adequate to meet prospective demand.

Marland urged that the seven oil producing states represented at the conference take concerted action to encourage the finding of new reserves, cooperate in conservation and in regulation of drilling and production.

McCoy's survey reported the necessity of discovering 28,000,000,000 barrels of new oil in order to meet expected demand during the next 20 years. This would be in addition to production from the known reserve.

The report estimated present drilled reserves were capable of supplying demand until November, 1941.

Dr. M. M. Leighton, chief of the Illinois geological survey, challenged McCoy's estimate that annual U. S. consumption would increase from its current 1,300,000,000 barrel figure to around 2,200,000,000 barrels in 1957, asserting many factors, including depression periods and development of the diesel engine might change the picture.

Gov. Carl E. Bailey and Gov. Clyde Tingley represented Arkansas and New Mexico respectively at the assembly while the governors of West Virginia, Utah and Louisiana sent personal representatives to the meeting.

Advice on choosing a wife?

Don't take it! Choosing a wife is one thing every man should do for himself. It's the same with a brewmaster in choosing hops. No laboratory rule-of-thumb can guide him. Only skill and experience can distinguish between the mere fragrance of ordinary hops and the medley of exquisite and elusive aromas that exudes from truly fine blossoms. The costly imported Saazer hops used in brewing BUDWEISER are chosen only after three separate and distinct judgments. Hence the sprightly bouquet that hovers over each glass of BUDWEISER... and the distinctive taste that sets BUDWEISER so vividly apart.

TODAY'S SERMONETTE
 One of the most beautiful stories of men's determination to help a fellow man is that where, when those bringing a paralytic to Jesus found the house crowded and let him down through the roof. And we know they rejoiced when the Savior, seeing their faith, said, "Son, thy sins are forgiven."—Chivers.

UNSEEN TAX TOLL

The Detroit Board of Commerce has compiled a list of 47 days on which many Michigan business men will have tax matters to attend to in 1938. These days include the dates for returns and payments on federal income taxes, state and county property taxes, sales, unemployment and other taxes and the returns that accompany them.

That indicates one source of tax drains that never show up in the figures—the cost of paying them. Every firm of any size has had to hire whose duty is exclusively to see that tax returns are filed and payments made on time.

Even individuals and small businesses must devote an increasing amount of their time to the mechanics of tax payment. In many cases the burden of computing the taxes is greater than the burden of payment.

Every possible simplification of this business of paying taxes is a real tax reduction without depriving the governments concerned of any needed revenue. For the time, energy and trouble spent in preparing returns, making reports, and actually making payments, is a dead loss all around, hampering the payer without adding to the amount received by government.

QUALITY, NOT QUANTITY

Congress, in its 1938 meeting, has done little to distinguish the session. Indeed, it has been proceeding so slowly and laboriously toward solution of some of the pressing national problems that many citizens, engrossed in the task of working out their own problems during a slack period, have almost forgotten that a session is in progress.

There is one point, however, on which the 1938 Congress can hold its head a little higher—the number of new bills offered has shown a marked decline.

Only slightly more than 200 bills have been introduced since the session began in January, compared with more than 5000 which were thrown into the hopper in the first two weeks of the 1937 session.

It would be a wonderful thing if Congress should decide that the welfare of the country depends, not on the quantity of bills proposed, but upon their quality.

Washington Letter

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—John L. Lewis has appeared as a possible barrier to the administration's loudly ballyhooed effort to knock down monopoly prices, simultaneously a burst of confidence among anti-monopoly crusaders who begin to believe some of those prices will be driven down.

Specifically, some of the New Dealers think the price of steel may drop within the next two months. The ammunition they have hurled at fixed, rigid and administered prices in the past few weeks has been aimed most of all at the steel industry. So a cut in steel prices would be to them a most important victory.

But steel is equally important in the eyes of Mr. Lewis, who recently appeared at the White House with Tom Lamont, who is a partner of J. P. Morgan & Company, top banker for U. S. Steel. When Lewis made a collective bargaining agreement with U. S. Steel and steel companies all raised wages, up went the price of steel. If steel prices go down, Lewis has reason to fear, the steel companies will try to force down wages as well.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life ...

By R. C. Hoiles

AMERICA'S STANDARD OF LIVING

Electric refrigerators—like most other electric appliances—are enjoyed by more people here than in the rest of the world put together—one of the reasons is that our average rates of electricity are the lowest.

We have almost a half again as many autos as the rest of the world... one for every five persons... A seat for every man, woman and child. Perhaps the reason is that in America today a laboring man can earn the price of a car in 853 hours, whereas in Italy, for example, he must work 8300 hours for it—almost ten times as long.

We have so many of these comforts and luxuries that the leading private-capitalists can't possibly use them all—as the "officials" do in dictatorships. Statistics may lie, but common sense tells us that it takes a large proportion of our 30 million families to drive 26 million cars and listen to 21 million radios.

Tex's Topics

The time is drawing near for the opening night of the Pampa Golden Gloves boxing tournament to be staged Feb. 2, 3 and 4 in the Pampa Athletic arena under the sponsorship of the Pampa Daily News... Boxing fans who go out to the arena on any of these nights are going to see plenty of action, properly supervised... Harry Hoare, Pampa boxing commissioner, tells me there already are approximately 65 entries in the tournament and that still many more are expected during the final days before the tourney opens.

Promotion of this amateur sports event under the rules laid down by the national Golden Gloves organization promises to do much in the way of fostering amateur sports in Pampa... The plan now is to make it an annual affair... Of course, this will depend upon the support which is given to the first tournament next week... Patrons tickets have been on sale for the tournament for the past week and the sale has been excellent... There are, however, many good seats left among the patrons' division... These sell at $5 each and entitle the holder to the same reserved seat on each of the three nights... All money derived from the tournament, over and above the actual expenses, goes into a fund for the betterment of amateur sports in Pampa... This is a stipulation of the national Golden Gloves organization, under which the Pampa tourney operates.

One of the hardest workers in connection with the arrangements of this Golden Gloves tournament coming up next week is Cliff Chambers, the enthusiastic young man who also stages the wrestling shows out at the Athletic Arena... Mr. Chambers is highly interested in seeing amateur sports put on a high plane in Pampa, and his work in connection with the Golden Gloves tourney is ample evidence of his sincerity... Fans who attend the boxing shows next week will find them handled in a high class manner and on a plane equivalent to the handling of similar events in Chicago and New York... Nothing is being left undone to make this first Golden Gloves tourney a success insofar as the promotion end is concerned... All that remains now to make the event a complete success is the support of the public, and the indications are that this, too, will be successful.

NEW YORK—The old New York that historians write about has largely disappeared beneath a layer of asphalt and concrete, yet you can still find the old familiar landmarks if you care to look for them.

The other day I went over to 55th street and First avenue where the Dove Tavern used to stand and where a young Yale graduate was hanged by the British as a spy.

John Hyde Preston describes Nathan Hale as a tall slender young man with golden hair and blue eyes. He had posed as a school teacher and went gadding about the Tavern with the British officers spent their evenings drinking frog and flirting with the pretty barmaids. But Hale's luck ran out on him, and he had to die.

One fine September day an army wagon, hauled by a span of dirty mules, arrived in front of the Dove, and an elegant young man, surrounded by a squad of soldiers, got down and retired to the shade of a tree.

An officer barked a command. While a grave was being dug and a scaffold hastily erected a vast crowd of curious sightseers began crowding around. Presently a soldier came up, saluted, and announced that everything was ready. Then Nathan Hale, who was 23 years old, got back into the wagon and was driven under the gibbet. A noose was dropped over his head and a white silk handkerchief covered his eyes.

"Have you anything to say?" inquired the officer in charge.

"Nothing," replied Hale. "I am sorry that I have only one life to give for my country."

So they whipped the horses out from under him and Nathan Hale swung into immortality—not because of great deeds of valor but because he uttered a phrase that caught the imagination of mankind.

As near as I can make out, the Dove tavern stood where the Church of St. John the Evangelist, a grey stone structure with leaping spires, now stands. Directly across the street, on 55th, is a modern apartment house and next to it is a sign which says "William C. Waters, Funeral Home."

On the opposite corner, on First avenue, is a small restaurant known as the Vital Bar and Grill, and across from it stands the Edison Dry Cleaners, a brick store with an ugly yellow facade.

First avenue at this point is a bumpy thoroughfare, paved with brick. The whole stretch from 55th to 56th is dull red brick, and is in line with (1) Billy's restaurant, (2) Gehrke's antique shop, (3) the Flower Market, and an assortment of plumbers' shops.

There is, too, a green mail box at a wire wicker basket from the "Dept. of Sanitation," and not far away is a second-run cinema, where out-dated movies are shown.

But I found nothing that marked the street as a historic site. Not even in the mind of the big Cop directing traffic there.

"What about Nathan Hale?" I asked.

He looked up, studied a moment, and shook his head.

"I never heard of him."

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M.D.

Individuals suffering from anemia or those with poor blood circulation are likely to suffer frostbite or chilblains when exposed to severe or even moderate cold.

The hands, feet, ears and nose are most likely to be affected. Young persons and old ones are especially apt to be frost-bitten.

In chilblains, the skin usually is markedly reddened. The sufferer complains of pain and tenderness, itching and burning, and these sensations may become severe as the affected parts become warmed. Despite the redness of skin, it feels cool to the touch.

In the more serious forms of chilblain, or particularly upon repeated attacks, little blister-like formations may develop on the skin. These are likely to break open and should the underlying skin become infected, ulcers are likely to result. These in turn may lead to more serious consequences, including general sepsis or blood poisoning.

The prevention of frost-bite calls for two items: (1) protection of the exposed parts and of the extremities against cold, and (2) the upbuilding of general health.

The extremities should be protected against cold by wearing woolen gloves, woolen socks and adequate shoes and overshoes. Tight garters should be avoided. If a lanolin-containing cream is applied to the exposed parts of the face, it will offer some protection against cold.

The general upbuilding of the susceptible individual's health of course calls for such corrective measures as are indicated. Chiefly, how-

These are likely to break open and should the underlying skin become infected, ulcers are likely to result. These in turn may lead to more serious consequences, including general sepsis or blood poisoning.

The prevention of frost-bite calls for two items: (1) protection of the exposed parts and of the extremities against cold, and (2) the upbuilding of general health.

The extremities should be protected against cold by wearing woolen gloves, woolen socks and adequate shoes and overshoes. Tight garters should be avoided. If a lanolin-containing cream is applied to the exposed parts of the face, it will offer some protection against cold.

The general upbuilding of the susceptible individual's health of course calls for such corrective measures as are indicated. Chiefly, how-

KENOSHA, Wis.—Deputy Sheriff James Marshall took Harold Dickman, 20, a prisoner in his jail, to a Racine hospital where Dickman's son, 2½ years old, was ill with pneumonia.

A blood transfusion was necessary, but the young father collapsed before physicians could take a sample of his blood. Whereupon the deputy sheriff provided the blood and then took his prisoner back to jail.

The Capitol Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Jan. 26 (AP)—It is said in political circles Land Commissioner W. H. McDonald may have opposition for re-election, which, in view of recent attacks on his policies would not be surprising.

Rep. Raglen Jones of Eddy, chairman of the house committee on game and fisheries, is understood to be considering running against McDonald, who is serving his first term.

Jones has a family precedent for seeking to head the land office. A great grandfather was land commissioner when Texas was a republic.

Alfred Roark of Saratoga

chairman of the important house revenue and taxation committee, says that at this time he does not aspire to a seat in the senate.

Instead, he said recently, he will stand for another term in the house, and, incidentally, will try to snare speakership honors.

It had been rumored Roark might make the race for the senate in the fourth senatorial district a three-some. The incumbent, Allan Shivers of Fort Arthur, is being challenged by Rep. Harry McKee, also of Fort Arthur.

Speculation that Roark might tilt with Shivers and McKee arose out of the fact that he was appointed chairman of the revenue and taxation committee by Speaker Bob Clark, a friend of Governor James V. Alford.

Alford doesn't think much of Shivers and McKee politically and some speculated he would be glad to see a man friendlier to him enter the fourth district contest.

The governor maintains he will follow a hands-off policy in this connection.

Roark professes that his chances for the speakership, an office of much power, are very good.

Like several other candidates, he has been doing a little quiet campaigning which he will step up after the elections. In his opinion the verdict will be written largely by new representatives elected in July and August.

Avowed or potential candidates, in addition to Roark, are Bob Alexander of Childress, Emmett Morse of Houston, Ross Hardin of Prairie Hill, Fred Mauritz of Ganado, and Charles H. Tennyson of Wichita Falls.

Senator Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls

a close friend of Governor Alford, expressed confidence here he would be re-elected. Now past 60, although he looks much younger, Oneal is out for a third term.

Rep. George Moffett of Chillicothe, chairman of the house committee on conservation and reclamation, has announced in opposition to Oneal and Rep. Tennyson may follow suit.

Oneal admittedly is a good campaigner, but some point out it is nearly always hardest to be elected to a third term. The third term seems to be the big hurdle.

As evidence of the third-term hazard the case of Senator Clint Small often is cited. Generally regarded as one of the outstanding men in the senate, Small narrowly escaped defeat two years ago when he ran for the third term.

Rep. Coke Stevenson, the only man in very modern times to serve two terms as speaker generally is in the race for lieutenant governor.

Others mentioned for this contest are Senators Will Pace of Tyler, W. D. Collier of Eastland, and G. H. Nelson of Lubbock.

There is talk Pace may switch to the race for attorney general, but most persons at the capitol think he will decide finally to stand for lieutenant governor.

The capitol hears Ed Gossett, young former district attorney of Vernon, may tackle Congressman W. D. McLean of Graham again.

Two years ago Gossett was runner-up to McFarlane, strongly pro-Roosevelt and a former member of the Texas senate.

In that contest Senators Oneal and Gandy Woodruff of Decatur also were entrants.

CORN BELT CATTLE TO BE MARKETED LATER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Bureau of Agricultural Economics predicted today that fed cattle in the corn belt would be marketed later than normally this spring.

It said the greatest proportion of the marketings apparently were intended for May or later.

The bureau took into consideration reports from feeders that cattle placed on feed in that region included a relatively large proportion of yearlings, about an average proportion of feeder calves, and a smaller number of more than 750-pound stock than in any of the past four years.

Latest bureau summaries placed the number of cattle being fed for market in the corn belt at about 15 per cent larger than on January 1 last year. In contrast, a decrease of two per cent was indicated for the 11 western states.

The number on feed in the eastern corn belt was said to be probably the largest in 15 years but the number in the western corn belt was reported much smaller than in most years before 1934.

More cattle were reported on feed this year in all corn belt states except Kansas and Michigan.

Texas and Oklahoma showed increases, with larger numbers of cattle being fed at cottonseed oil mills.

BORGER KNOCKS PAMPA OVER 26-16; TEAMS WILL PLAY HERE FRIDAY

BULLDOGS TO PLAY HERE IN GRUDGE GAME

Before Pampa and Borger played a week ago, Coach "Catfish" Smith predicted that his Bulldogs would whip the Harvesters, but the Pampa boys walloped the invaders 37 to 24. Last night before the game at Borger, "Catfish" again predicted that his boys would trample the Harvesters.

"We're going to kick your pants off—by at least 10 points," he boasted.

And that's just what the Bulldogs did. They lambasted the Pampa cagers 26 to 16 in a rough battle. Referee Knowles called 7 personal fouls on the Borgans and 16 on the Harvesters, but still the game was the roughest the local quintet has played in this year. However, none of these things made any difference because what was fair for one team was fair for the other. Besides the 10-point margin was too convincing.

The Harvesters who usually play their worst game of the season at Borger were off-form last night. The only field goals chalked up were made by Claude Heiskell who tossed four and Junior Foster who roped one from center.

Game Friday Night
In the last quarter, the Bulldogs couldn't find the basket. They grabbed all the rebounds and their defense smothered the Pampa offense.

The Harvesters will have a quick opportunity to get revenge. The Borgans and their coach will be back in town Friday night. The two teams will play again next Tuesday night at Borger. This weekend the Harvesters will enter the Canadian tournament.

Andis Plays
There were a number of factors that figured in the rout of the green and gold cagers last night. Cox injured his knee again and left the game, and they missed his shagging of the rebounds. Reynolds and Dunaway couldn't hit the basket or work the ball in, and they didn't risk anything. Andis played most of the game. It was the first time he has played in nearly two weeks. Naturally, it was not expected that he would be in top-form, but he hustled every minute. None of his boys could hit the easy ones.

The simple explanation would be that last night was the Harvesters' off night. Friday the boys should reap a convincing revenge.

The score at the end of the first quarter was 5 to 2 in favor of Pampa; and was tied 8 to 8 at the half. Borger led 26 to 16 at the end of the third quarter, and in the last period Dye and Barron started hitting the loop. Barron failed to make a single field goal in the first half, but made three in the fourth quarter. Dye scored three field goals in the third period.

The game was a thriller through three periods, and as usually in such games, at Borger can be twice as many fouls could have been assessed the Bulldogs.

Free Shots Fail
The Harvesters should begin hitting the bucket from the free-throw line pretty soon. Their streak of bad luck and jittery nervousness at the charity mark should about be over, but it wasn't last night. They could have won the game if they had made as many of their free shots as Borger did.

The Harvesters sacked six out of 20 free shots, while the Bulldogs roped six out of 11. The Pampans got in their damaging lies from the free-throw line in the first half. They missed 9 out of 11 in the last half. It was not natural that the boys should continue to miss them, and it is expected that they soon will begin hitting them.

Two players, Simmons, Borger guard, and Dunaway, Pampa guard, left the game on personal fouls. However, Foster replaced Dunaway before the latter fouled out and did a good job of it.

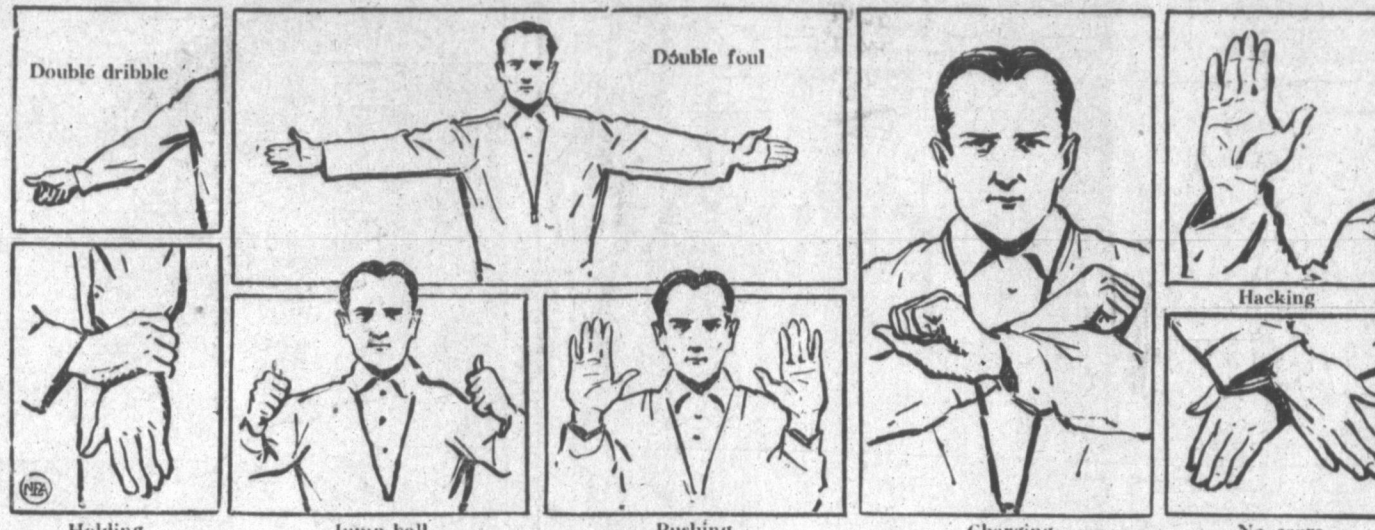

Andis may get to play all of the game Friday. He played last night with a huge pad over the carbuncles above his groin. The two big "risings" were lanced during the week-end and Bob immediately began to feel better. It may be necessary to use the knife again on them. However, if he continues to improve the Harvesters should be back in form pretty quick. During his absence from the lineup, Heiskell has had to carry the brunt of the goal-shooting.

Basketball Rules Standardized But Styles Vary According to Section

The signs shown here are those employed by officials in a basketball game. In the double dribble, or steps, the thumb is pointed out, denoting the player with the ball has broken his dribble. A double foul is indicated by outstretched arms, used when a penalty is called on two opposing players for a simultaneous infraction of the rules. Charging, or bodily contact, is indicated by arms, with clenched fists, crossed over the chest. Hacking is shown by the arm, palm out, moving from shoulder to hip, denoting that a defensive player has hacked at offensive shooter or dribbler in an attempt to get ball or block shot. Holding is illustrated by one hand grasping the wrist of the other. A jump ball is called with a hands out, thumbs up motion. Penalty for pushing is indicated by hands held parallel to face, palms out, and moved forward and backward vigorously. No score, or basket doesn't count, is indicated by both hands crossed back and forth vigorously at wrists.

By JERRY BRONFIELD, NEA Service Sports Writer.

Although basketball is very much standardized in regard to the rules of the game, it probably varies more in style of play throughout the country than any other major sport.

Basketball as played on the Pacific coast follows a vastly different pattern than that found in the midwest. And by the same token the boys in the Rocky Mountain section play a much different game than that of the east or south.

According to John Bunn, Stanford coach and one of the best authorities on the game in the country, this is no unatypical phenomenon. Coaches entertain certain ideas and just don't get around to any radical departure from their systems.

Bunn, for instance, frankly and without showing any prejudice, believes that the west coast colleges play the best balanced basketball in the land.

"Out here," he says, "we don't go 'offense' crazy or spend our nights planning air-tight defenses. We try to strike a happy medium, and I believe we've found it."

Defense Important.
Rocky Mountain schools are noted for their race-horse tendencies. In that area the field goal is supreme and the big idea is to get as many of them as possible and let the defense go hang. High-scoring games are the natural result. It's great for the spectators but competent critics hardly call it the best basketball extant.

The midwest, adversely, is keen on defensive play. Here are found the best guards in the country, and winning scores often fail to go over the 25-point mark. . . . very often, however.

Not that midwestern quints aren't capable of showering the meshes from all angles. Far from it. Teams like Purdue and Notre Dame frequently ring the bell at 50 points or better, which is all the points anyone could want.

The east, long known to be the most conservative section in the country, has been less willing to depart from its style of play than any other district. For the most part, it uses a short-passing, loose guard-play that is not in a sense of being lax, but rather an absence of bodily contact.

Rules Interpreted Differently.
As has been said before, the game is very much standardized, yet this does not prevent different interpretations of the rules. Body contact in the midwest may become very rough and vicious before a foul is called, while in the east, the mere suggestion of roughing is instantly called by the officials.

Screen plays, or "pick-offs," are looked upon with suspicion along the Atlantic seaboard, and often a foul, result in a foul, yet midwestern, southern and far western teams use this style of play with great freedom.

In fact, this maneuver, which by split-second blocking of defensive players, enables a man to get a shot at the basket, has proved a big bone of contention in the past every time a "foreign" invader came east.

Perhaps it's all for the best that the games does vary. There's nothing as spicy as variety.

ROOSEVELT PAYS TOO MUCH INCOME TAXES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The treasury collected $1,029 too much in taxes from a person listed as "Franklin D. Roosevelt, Washington," and had to give it back.

Or perhaps Mr. Roosevelt made the mistake and paid the treasury too big an income tax.

At any rate, the $1,029 was part of $32,253,803 in tax refunds which thousands of individuals and firms received.

A list of refunds of $500 or more, sent to Congress by the treasury, was made public today by the house expenditures committee.

The largest single check, for $1,458,100, went to Arthur Curtiss James, New York industrialist and financier. The Equitable Life Assurance of New York got two which totaled $1,316,830.

BASEBALL WRITERS TAKE TURN AT BATS AGAINST BILL TERRY

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Colonel Bill Terry, who dislikes vulgar display in any form, may rest assured he won't be greeted by a brass band or have to stoop under any arches when he lands here Saturday to attend the annual frolic of the baseball writers' association.

The Giants' manager, who takes his pen in hand in the current edition of the Saturday Evening Post to say what he thinks about the local press box pundits (and none of it is complimentary), has the lads in an uproar.

Following are a few of the comments, properly adulterated before serving:

Daniel M. Daniel, World-Telegram: "His statements are not entirely founded on fact. Furthermore, I don't think it is very polite of Terry to take those veiled raps at John McGraw, the man he admits gave him his job. Some of his insinuations are an insult to oldtime sports writers who are dead."

Garry Schumacher, Journal-American: "It's his own and naturally biased version of controversial circumstances. On the whole, he in-dicts himself as severely as he does those who disagree with him. Several New York newspaper men are in position to dispute many of the things he states as facts. The tenor of the article suggests he will make no effort to lead whatever breach exists."

Jim Kahn, Sun: "Despite the justification that Terry makes for his own bad behavior, I think that newsmen have always treated him more fairly and more courteously than he's ever treated them. I also think they've made a greater effort to understand Terry than he has made to understand them."

The one item in Terry's piece that the writers disliked most, possibly, was his statement that they cooked up the report that he had been offered a job managing Cleveland last year.

"As one who fell for the Terry-to-Cleveland gag," said Tom Meany of the World-Telegram, with heat, "let me say that Bill did little to discourage the belief that he had assurances from the Indians that the job was his for the asking. The report was bolstered, rather than weakened, after we quizzed Terry about it."

INFORMATION ON HOLDERS OF SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBERS IS CONFIDENTIAL, SAYS OFFICIAL

Information given by applicants for social security account numbers is confidential and can not be disclosed to representatives of any agency or individual, public or private, except as noted below, it was announced today by Dewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo office of the Social Security Board.

"The 30-odd million applicants for account numbers were assured at the beginning of this program that information given by them would be used only for the purpose of identifying them under old-age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act. This assurance amounted to a pledge, and we can not now go back on our word," Reed said.

It was explained that from time to time requests are received from individuals seeking missing relatives, and that, occasionally, law enforcement officers seek information concerning law violators.

"While we earnestly desire to cooperate with public and private agencies, as well as individuals, in matters directly concerning such claimant or prospective claimant; to an officer or employee of the treasury department of the United States lawfully charged with the administration of title VIII or title IX of the Social Security Act, for the purpose of such administration only;

JAP DRIVE TO TAKE ROAD STILL STALLED

SHANGHAI, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Japanese drive to conquer China's lifeline railway has been stalled in its tracks for three weeks.

This was disclosed today by an appeal from American missionaries at Tenghsien—65 miles north of the Lunghai lifeline—for assurance that Japanese would not bombard mission refugee camps there.

Japanese had asserted their troops occupied Tenghsien a week ago, but the appeal, to United States Consul General Clarence E. Guass, disclosed that the city still was in Chinese hands.

Guass told Japanese authorities the missionaries were flying a white flag with a blue cross in the center and asked them to refrain from bombarding areas thus marked.

JEWISH FEARS LESSEN.

BUCHAREST, Jan. 26 (AP)—Premier Octavian Goga's decree banning semi-military political organizations from campaigning in elections March 2 lessened Jewish fears of terrorism today. CONNIE MACK ANNOUNCES HE WON'T RETIRE

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26 (AP)—Baseball's "grand old gentleman," Connie Mack of the Athletics, will waive his scorecard as usual in the dugout at Shibe park this summer.

"There has been much talk about my retiring," the 75-year-old manager of the Athletics said last night at the annual banquet of the Philadelphia Sports Writers Association. "My intention is to continue as long as I can."

Mack, honor guest at the dinner, spoke after Gordon "Mickey" Cochran, manager of the Detroit Tigers, was given a plaque as "the most courageous athlete of 1937"; Joe DiMaggio, star outfielder of the New York Yankees, was given a loving cup as "the most outstanding athlete of 1937."

"I suppose talk of my retirement this year was helped because of my recent illness," said Mack, who showed no signs of fatigue in three hours of speeches before his turn came.

"Then, too," Mack continued, "that number 75 on my back helps people wonder whether it isn't time for the old man to retire to the front office and make way for a younger man."

"I love baseball. There isn't anything about it I dislike. . . . I feel it is not a bad game for 75. And so . . . my intention is to continue as long as I can."

"Besides, if I had any thought of retiring, this would be a bad time for me to retire. I don't like seventh place."

Bowl Tickets To Be Offered To The Public

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 26 (AP)—Rose Bowl football games of the future are going to be open to the public.

The Pacific Coast conference intends to preclude, by legislative action at its June meeting, the possibility of a recurrence of the ticket distribution system that marked the 1938 contest between the Universities of California and Alabama.

Tickets were not offered to the public to preclude, by the University of California management exercised its right under conference rules and offered to its students and alumni the right to buy blocks of six tickets each.

Because California has one of the largest alumni groups in the nation, the general public was excluded from the game. Pasadena presidents, although their city was host, officially, could not get seats.

Prof. Hugh Willett of the University of Southern California said today the conference fully intended to correct the method of ticket distribution.

FIRST CHECK MAILED IN SECURITY PROGRAM

AUSTIN, Jan. 26 (AP)—Texas' newest phase of social security—unemployment benefits—reached a cash-in-the-pocket stage today.

James G. Wilson, unemployed Austin electrician, was the first recipient of a benefit check, one of 36 paid in the city yesterday.

Orville E. Carpenter, director of the unemployment compensation commission, said checks ranging to a maximum of $15 would be mailed daily, depending upon determination of eligibility of more than 31,000 applicants.

Richest Girl in the World

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday, Bret and Connie began their married life. Connie wonders if they will always be so completely happy, making a "home" together.

CHAPTER XVIII

ANOTHER six months had passed and Connie and Bret had been married one year. Into these last months had been crowded almost as much activity as during their honeymoon. They had followed the sun and the restlessness of gaiety, the never-ending search for new thrills and excitement that was the custom of the golden world into which Connie had been born.

Newport, Palm Beach, Bermuda, Switzerland, Cannes, Florida, California, Hawaii—a mad race from one to the next, a frantic rush somewhere else again. Or so it seemed to Bret and so now he complained to Connie on this, their first anniversary.

"Why don't we stay put for a change," he asked. "When are we going to settle down, honey, as we said we would, to the serious business of living? We can't keep this up forever, you know."

He had come into Connie's dressing room, where she sat, putting the last touches to her hair. They were having a dinner that evening in celebration of their anniversary.

"This was not the first time Bret had voiced these same thoughts. He seemed to be voicing them more repeatedly lately; more persistently, Connie turned to look at him. He did not look like the man she had married—although Connie did not recognize the fact—any more than she looked as she had when she had pretended to be Katie Blyn. He was just tall, as broad of shoulder; his eyes were as dark and direct; it was not that he wore immaculate white tie and tails instead of rough tweeds. There was something more; something that did not have to do with outward appearance. For outwardly, at least, Bret had adapted himself very well to his wife's golden world.

"We could keep it up forever, if we chose," Connie answered. She thought how handsome he looked. She hoped, though, he was not going to be difficult tonight of all times. "What's the matter, darling, aren't you happy? Aren't you glad you are that you married me just one year ago tonight?"

HUGE HOUSING FUND ADVISED BY CIO HEAD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—John L. Lewis recommended larger relief funds and a five-billion-dollar housing program today to aid the unemployed and stimulate recovery.

He suggested that the federal government take the $5,000,000,000 from the social security reserve fund and invest it in low cost housing.

"There is no wiser investment of these funds than in a sound, low-cost housing program," Lewis said in his report at the opening session of the United Mine Workers convention.

The report covered his activities in the presidency for the last two years and also discussed the present economic situation.

The C. I. O. leader reported that the union had $2,534,668 in the bank last November 30.

His recommendations included: Congress should tax fuel oil as a "luxury"; broaden the scope of the social security program and increase the benefits; refuse to amend the Wagner Labor Disputes act; add one billion dollars to this year's relief appropriation and appropriate at least two billion next year.

The federal government should refuse to buy anything from employers cited for violation of the labor act, the report continued, and should forbid the national guard from being used in labor disputes.

Lewis said an alliance with a farm labor group was the "outstanding achievement" of labor's non-partisan league last year. The league is closely allied with the C. I. O.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, he said, had been asked to attend the convention to answer charges of "treason." Green has been a member of the miners' union for 48 years. He is now in Miami attending a session of the A. P. of L. executive council.

The enactment of federal or state legislation to regulate the anthracite industry was urged by Lewis, who added that anthracite freight rates should be cut.

Philip Murray, vice-president, and Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer, also signed the report which was referred to a convention committee for study.

JURY DISCHARGED

PALESTINE, Jan. 26 (AP)—A hung jury had resulted today in the trial of Turner Lang, Postville storekeeper, charged with the slaying of Lou Jimmie Edwards, negro girl, last July. Judge Sam Holland yesterday discharged the jury which received the case Saturday.

Annual Banquet To Entertain Guests And Members of AA

Plans have been completed for the annual Founders' Day Banquet to be given this evening at the Schneider hotel at 8 o'clock by the American Association of University Women for club members and guests of the club.

An entertaining program which will include an address by Professor S. H. Conrad, head of the department of Economics and Government at West Texas State college at Canyon, a piano medley by Mrs. T. B. Moss, numbers by a high school quartet under the direction of Miss Helen Martin, and a Big Apple floor show by pupils of Kathryn Vincent Steele.

Mrs. Steele will preside as master of ceremonies for the program.

Trial by jury was originated by the Normans.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds "up and up." Bile flows freely, and you feel good. Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

IDAHO WOOL GROWER HITS FOR POLICIES

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 26 (AP)—The President of the National Wool Growers Association voiced criticism today of two Roosevelt administration policies.

R. C. Eddy of Burley, Idaho, in a speech prepared for delivery at the opening session of the association's seventy-third national convention, cited aspects of the proposed reciprocal trade treaty with Great Britain and the pending government reorganization bill which he held detrimental to his industry.

Of the trade treaty he declared "we must see to it that no stone is left unturned in the effort to keep American markets fully protected for the American farmer."

He termed the reorganization bill giving President Roosevelt power to transfer the forest service from the agriculture department to the department of the interior as "in the interest of livestock growers generally."

The three-day convention, drawing about 500 delegates, is slated to consider sheep in all their aspects, from the wool loom to the dinner table.

Among the important topics is the labeling of shoddy to show the percentage of fiber content other than wool and mohair.

The convention's wool marketing committee had before it a resolution demanding that any legislation passed by Congress require this differentiation, and requesting that the federal trade commission establish rules governing wool products similar to those recently put into effect for the rayon industry.

Rich asserted wool men are "somewhat hopeful that livestock, wool and meat rates will not be increased."

LEVIATHAN SAILS FOR SCOTTISH JUNK YARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Once the proudest ship afloat, the 23-year-old Leviathan lumbered through familiar seas today on its last voyage, the drabness of a Scottish junk yard waiting at the end of the trip.

A bright British ensign flapped from the Leviathan's staff—the third flag under which it sailed since it was launched as the Vaterland at Hamburg, Germany, at the outset of the World War.

Transport ship for thousands of American soldiers in the war, "old Levi" may play another part in future military campaigns, for the scrap metal of its hull and machinery is expected to be used in Great Britain's armament program.

One of two passengers aboard was Geoffrey Russell-Hay, of a British auctioneering firm. He disclosed that the British purchaser, metal industries, inc., had been able to outbid Japanese interests because the latter had not known that the boat's bottom was made of nickel-steel, more valuable than ordinary steel.

WOULD SHOOT ROCKET MILES ABOVE EARTH

By DEVON FRANCIS, Associated Press Aviation Editor.
NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—A scheme for shooting an exploratory rocket to a height of 967 miles above the earth was unfolded today before a convention of aeronautical engineers.

The idea works in theory, Frank J. Malina and A. M. O. Smith of the California Institute of Technology, said in a paper written for the annual meeting of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences.

Whether it will work in fact, they added, depends on the efficiency of the rocket and its "motor."

Most rocket "motors" consist of a combustion chamber where fuel is fired, transformed into gas and shot through a nozzle-like exhaust to provide propelling force.

The California problem was solely one of calculated speeds in relation to atmospheric density.

"This analysis," they said of their study, "definitely show that, if a rocket motor of high efficiency can be constructed, far greater altitudes can be reached than is possible by any other known means."

Their proposed rocket would actually consist of three separate rockets, one within the other, to be launched successively.

"A rocket made up of three steps, respectively of 600, 200 and 100 feet," they explained, "the lightest being fired last... reaches a calculated altitude of 5,100,000 feet and a maximum velocity of 11,000 miles per hour."

They proposed to launch the rocket from a mountain top to save fuel because the high velocity of flight through dense lower levels of the atmosphere causes fuel to be rapidly eaten up. Once the three-in-one rocket had cleared denser air, they said, it would "coast" to higher altitudes.

FOR TO SPEAK TO NATION ON HIS BIRTHDAY

Inaugurating the celebration of his birthday by the American people for the benefit of the national foundation for infantile paralysis, President Franklin D. Roosevelt will make a 30-minute speech in a radio broadcast over all networks between 11:30 p. m. and midnight, January 29, eastern standard time.

The broadcast will be heard in Pampa between 10:30 and 11 p. m. central standard time.

Planned for Saturday over the nation are 12,000 events, all for the benefit of the national foundation for infantile paralysis. In Texas, 151 counties will observe the President's birthday.

Due to local conditions, Monday night was set as the time for the celebration here. The county committee believing that the three dances to be held here would be more successful on Monday night than on Saturday night.

Three dances are planned here, one at the Lamar school building, to begin at 7:30 p. m., and the two other dances, one at the Schneider hotel and the other at the Southern club, to begin at 9 p. m.

Admission to the dances will be $1 a couple at the old-fashioned dance at the Lamar school; $1 a couple to the dance at the Southern club; and $2 a couple for the dance at the Schneider hotel.

Stags will be charged $1 extra. Ladies 50 cents. The Lions and Rotary club are in charge of ticket sales.
