We'll never forget

By DEE DEE LARAMORE
EDITOR

At 8:45 a.m., all three Pampa Fire Department trucks housed at Central Fire Station rolls out, representing the New York City firefighters' response to a plane flying into the north tower of the World Trade Center.

Clad in starched white shirts, black ties and black pants, the firefighters assemble in front of Central Fire Station. A crowd of 50 to 60 onlookers also gather there.

At 9 a.m., a PFD color guard composed of Firefighters Rick Littlefield, LeRoy Cox, and Craig Harkcom and led by Thomas Campbell of Canyon playing the bagpipes, places the U.S. and Texas flags on each side of the podium.

After an introduction by Captain Jesse Hanes, Firefighter Jerry Tomasek tolls a silver bell representing the North Tower's collapse as Firefighter Jeremy Lyman lowers the flag to half staff. The sounds of the pipes wafted "Amazing Grace" over those assembled there on this cloudy, cool September morning.

So began Pampa's formal observance of the first anniversary of the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks.

City halves PEDC legal budget

By NANCY YOUNG
MANAGING EDITOR

Even though Pampa residents voted to dissolve the Pampa Economic Development Corporation more than 10 months ago, the controversy continues.

The amount budgeted for PEDC's legal fees sparked several comments by Pampa City Commissioners during last night's meeting.

Last night, the $77,900 PEDC budget was presented for approval by the Pampa City Commission. The city commission appoints the PEDC board members and provides oversight of the organization.

Included in the 2002-2003 proposed budget was $40,000 for legal fees. In a 3-to-1 vote, the amount was cut to $20,000 — but not before considerable discussion.

Voting to cut the amount was Mayor Lonny Robbins and Commissioners

Bob Dixon and Jeff Andrews. Commissioner Jeff McCormick voted against it. He explained after the meeting that he thinks the commission should review all bills of the PEDC. However, he said that with the PEDC having an approved budget the board may spend whatever is in the approved budget. Pampa City Commission appoints the PEDC members. Commissioner Faustina Curry was not at the meeting.

McCormick said he thought $40,000 in legal fees is too much for the PEDC. "I just see it as a blank check," he said. "I just think it is too much. I think the citizens need to know how the money is spent to close out the EDC."

Voters cast ballots on Nov. 6, 2001, to dissolve the PEDC with a vote of 1,786 to 1,404.

Dixon said that during the previous two years there was not an amount specified for legal fees in the PEDC

Pampan: NYC different after terrorist attacks

By NANCY YOUNG
MANAGING EDITOR

Today — the first anniversary of the Sept. 11, 2001, attacks — Pampa residents are reflecting upon their remembrance of the tragedy which occurred in the United States one year ago.

The hijacking of four planes and the thousands of deaths which occurred that morning stunned Pampan as well as residents throughout the country and the world.

Pampan Ken Rheams was no exception. The local jeweler and his wife were in New York City only a week before the two planes crashed into the Twin Towers of the World Trade Center in 2001.

He and Stephanie returned to New York City last week. Rheams reported on the contrast to his previous trips to the bustling city.

"This trip was different," he said. "People near the Ground Zero area were more quiet. They were solemn."

He said that construction has begun to replace the three blocks of the subway system located under the Twin Towers which was decimated in the attacks. "They must replace that before building can begin," he explained.

Rheams said the visibility of the Twin Towers was something he took for granted in his previous trips to New York City.

"When it's there every day you don't pay attention to it," he said. "It's really different in NYC in downtown Manhattan without them standing there."

State prison officials suggest paring budget by $44 million

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — After a decade of expansion that tripled the state's inmate population, Texas prison officials will ask lawmakers to cut their budget by $44 million.

"We think we found a level where we can operate a safe and secure correctional system and hold down spending to a minimum," Criminal Justice board Chairman Mac Stringfellow told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram in Wednesday's editions.

The budget proposed by the Texas Department of Corrections lowers costs from $2.6 billion in the current fiscal year to $2.56 billion in 2005. The reduction comes as the state prepares to grapple with a shortfall that state officials and legislators predict will be anywhere from $5 billion to $12 billion over the next two years.

Gov. Rick Perry has asked state agencies to find as many ways as they can to save money before the Legislature meets in January to draft the 2004-05 state budget.

"We took the governor's request to heart," Stringfellow said.

According to a study by the Justice Policy Institute of Washington, the Texas prison system grew almost twice as fast as any other state's during the 1990s, and one in 20 adult Texans was under supervision of the criminal justice system. During the decade, the state spent about $2 billion to increase capacity from about 50,000 inmates to more than 150,000.

At the same time, the cost of operating the system grew by nearly 300 percent.

In 1990, for instance, the Texas Department of Criminal Justice's operating budget, which doesn't include construction costs, was $793 million. The budget had climbed to $1.7 billion by 1995 and to $2.24 billion by 1999.

Wal-Mart sues life insurance

HOUSTON (AP) — Wal-Mart has sued the insurance companies that sold it life insurance policies on its workers as a way to save on taxes, the company claims in a lawsuit.

Wal-Mart says the benefits of the policies were misrepresented by the insurance companies in the lawsuit filed last week in Delaware, the Houston Chronicle reported in Wednesday's editions.

Wal-Mart said the insurance companies told the corporation that the policies were a way to save on taxes. The policies pay benefits to the companies which purchase them when the insured employee dies. None of the benefits are paid to the employee's survivors.

In its lawsuit, Wal-Mart additionally claims the insurance companies did not insure it of federal tax liabilities or that the company may have to pay back proceeds it received from the policies in some states, such as Texas, the newspaper reported.

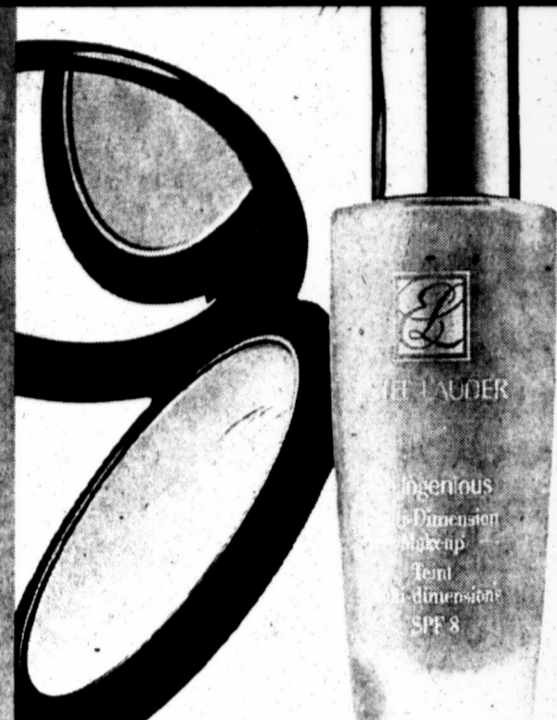

"Although it is a large and sophisticated company, Wal-Mart did not have internal expertise in the arcane and complicated intricacies" of the policies, according to the lawsuit.

CEREMONY

Actually the day's events started earlier, when Kiwanis Club members set out several hundred flags around town. Then many Pampans gathered at the Chamber of Commerce Prayer Breakfast to pray for those who had died, their families, and this country.

As the firefighters were setting up for this morning's ceremony, a young woman with two children arrived. Dorothy Ware had to work and could not attend. Instead, she brought a long-stemmed red rose. Her three-year-old daughter, Kami, carefully laid the rose at the base of the flag pole in front of the fire station.

The firefighters were touched by the simple, heartfelt tribute.

"Anytime a firefighter dies, it's like losing a brother. It reminds us of how fragile our lives are and how dangerous our work can be," said Capt. Hanes.

"Today is not a memorial, but a day of remembrance, reflection and tribute to the firefighters, police officers and emergency medical technicians who responded to a cry for help, just as millions continue to do today," he said.

"They have been called heroes, but they wouldn't have thought of themselves as heroes. They were just doing their job," Hanes said. "Though the attention has been focused on those who died on Sept. 11, let us not forget the 91 firefighters, and scores of police officers and EMTs that lost their lives this past year. And also our soldiers who are guarding our shores and our freedom."

Hanes and Firefighter Tim Roberts introduced a framed representation of the PFD's new patch showing an American flag with a silhouette of the New York City skyline and the words "September 11, 2001" above the flag and "We will never forget" underneath it.

"We have issued a patch in remembrance of Sept. 11," Hanes explained. "It will be sewn on all our coats and worn with pride."

The Rev. Jake Clemmens of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church spoke briefly, recalling a conversation he had had 30 years ago discussing what it meant to be "favored of God."

"I know what that means, it's like being a fireman," A fireman Clemmens knew commented.

"A lot of people think firemen sit around the firehouse and don't do anything, but you train, you prepare and you're ready to go until the phone rings. And then you're ready to put your life on the line. That's what it's like to be favored of God," the fireman explained.

are available for purchase near the scene of the Sept. 11 attacks, he said. "I just got a picture of the Twin Towers before the attack," said Rheams. "I didn't want anything else."

This is the fifth trip to New York City for Rheams since 1995. A tennis fan, he has attended the U.S. Tennis Open for several years.

Today Rheams joined other Pampans at the local fire station for a remembrance of Sept. 11. He closed his jewelry store so that his staff could attend the morning observance.

"Sept. 11 has changed people to be patriotic again," said Rheams. However, he said people have gone back to their day-to-day activities after the shock wore off.

"I think we all went back to our own lives," he said. "Now we need to leave it up to the government to protect us."

Pampa Mayor Lonny Robbins and Commissioner Jeff McCormick address the issue of the amount to budget for legal fees for the Pampa Economic Development Corporation.

"And with that task," said Andrews, "there is a lot of paperwork and a lot of legal issues. There are titles that need to be handled correctly or you have a bigger mess." He added there are numerous loan documents involved.

Dixon said he thinks the legal fees are an unnecessary expense.

Mayor Robbins asked PEDC President Dalton Lewis, who was in the audience, about the proposed amount in the budget. Board member Doug Locke was also in the audience but did not speak.

Lewis said board members Locke and Steve Phillips along with City Finance Director John Horst established the amount they thought would be reasonable for the phase-out during the upcoming fiscal year.

Lewis said the men put the amount in the budget that they estimated it would cost to cover anything that should occur during the upcoming year.

"We don't know what is going to come up in the future because of things we ran across that have to be handled," said Lewis.

Robbins asked City Attorney Don Lane if the budget could legally be amended. He advised that the commission could do so. "The by-laws provide the city commission has the final authority," said Lane, stating the PEDC proposed amount could be modified.

Andrews said he thought the PEDC had to make several considerations.

"Under city policy as long as you have unspent money in your budget you can move it as a line item," said Andrews. "Our directors do it all the time."

Andrews expressed concern the PEDC may need legal advice in the close-down but not have any money for it.

"The thing I don't want to get into is that they may need representation, but not have any funds left," he said. He proposed lowering the $40,000 amount to $20,000 and having the PEDC notify the city if they need additional monies for legal fees. He said $5,000 was too small an amount because it could be used very quickly.

"Legal costs can add up in a big hurry," he said. "That's not much more than 120-130 hours."

Robbins said he was much more comfortable with the $20,000 amount. "I want the EDC to be able to perform their duties, and it will give us (city commission) a little bit of jurisdiction." He said if the PEDC needed to come back to them for additional funds they could.

Legal fees of the PEDC became an issue when Dixon appeared at a PEDC meeting in June expressing outrage over a $9,088 legal bill.

City Attorney Lane addressed the commission's consideration of repealing a bonding provision of the PEDC officers. He explained that since the PEDC is being closed that Horst has taken over the financial operations of the PEDC, and none of the officers have anything to do with the money.

Lane said the matter arose when the PEDC was discussing the cost of bonding and costs of dissolution.

"This repeal was requested by the PEDC, and I don't see any reason not to honor their request," he said. The commission voted unanimously to repeal the bonding provision.

In other business, the commission took the following action:

- Approved adopting a resolution authorizing the relocating of the Pioneer Cottage into Santa Fe Park;
- Authorized Interim City Manager John Hatchel to execute the OMI contract;
- Deferred adopting Ordinance No. 1380 regarding annexation until 30 days after the public notice is published in the newspaper;
- Approved first reading adopting the International Energy Conservation Code with amendments;
- Authorized issuance of bonds related to the Waterworks and Sewer System surplus revenue refunding bonds;
- Adopted resolution honoring Kenneth Roysse, DVM, for his years of service to Pampa.

Religious leaders offer prayers of comfort on 9/11 anniversary

By RACHEL ZOLL
AP RELIGION WRITER

Religious leaders urged Americans to look to houses of worship, which became havens for many after the suicide hijackings, to help them ease enduring memories of terror through prayer and ritual.

Religious services marking the Sept. 11 anniversary were planned for Wednesday in New York, Pennsylvania and the Washington area, where the hijackings left 3,000 dead. Hundreds more events were planned around the country, many featuring the tolling of church bells and the recitation of victims' names.

The United States Conference of Catholic Bishops released a statement Tuesday urging Americans to rely on their faith while commemorating the tragedy. The statement also sent a message about the war on terror, which the group said was justified but should be fought "with the support of the international community and primarily by non-military means."

In New York, memorial services began Tuesday night. Protestant, Jewish and Muslim clergy shared a pulpit at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in midtown, reciting prayers in Arabic, Hebrew and English.

"We have come together as one tonight to pledge to work together in kindness," said the Rev. Thomas Tewell, of the Fifth Avenue congregation. "We have come together as one to mourn the loss of loved ones."

South African Archbishop Desmond Tutu planned to offer prayers Wednesday at Washington's National Cathedral, where President Bush participated in an interfaith service days after the attacks. The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. George Carey, was asked to join worshippers at Trinity Church Wall Street, a historic Episcopal congregation located a block from ground zero.

Church and synagogue attendance increased dramatically after last Sept. 11, but soon returned to normal levels. Clergy around the country were preparing for another increase in attendance as Americans sought solace on the anniversary of the attacks.

Muslims were organizing interfaith services and open houses at mosques nationwide. The Fiqh Council of North America, a supreme court of Islamic scholars who interpret religious law, issued a statement just before the anniversary condemning the attacks as violations of Muslim teachings.

Bishop Stephen Bouman of the Metropolitan New York Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America asked parishes to "give witness to the only true and ultimate security in this life: the death and resurrection of Jesus."

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Nearly 200 people from mosques in the Northwest gathered at a courthouse to show support for an Islamic leader who was arrested and charged with document fraud.

Sheik Mohamed Abdurahman Kariye was ordered held without bail at a detention hearing Tuesday, the same day federal agents searched his apartment.

Only 25 people were allowed into the hearing, while the rest crowded the hall and the courthouse steps. Kariye, who was arrested Sunday, serves as an imam, or prayer leader, at the Islamic Center of Portland-Masjed As-Saber.

"If it can happen to him, nobody is safe. He was our leader," said Musse Olol, who has known Kariye for 18 years. "The stress of worrying about who is watching you is like having a magnifying glass on you."

Kariye is accused of using false information — including a changed name — while applying for and receiving three different Social Security cards between 1983 and 1995. The federal indictment also alleges Kariye used an altered birth date in a 1998 asylum application.

He has pleaded innocent to felony charges of unlawful use of a Social Security number and unlawful possession of a U.S. government document. A trial is scheduled for Nov. 5.

FBI spokeswoman Beth Anne Steele wouldn't disclose details of the search of Kariye's apartment.

Kariye, 41, was arrested at Portland International Airport as he tried to board a flight en route to Dubai, United Arab Emirates, with his brother and four children.

Federal investigators said explosives residue was detected on two pieces of luggage they confiscated from Kariye. He has not been charged with a crime related to the residue.

Attorney Philip Lewis said his client's bags could have been contaminated by other bags or clothing.

"What we have is a positive test here for something so minute it boggles the mind," Lewis said. "We have no idea when the item was contaminated, how long ago and in what amount."

Robert Ramos, senior inspector for the U.S. Customs Service, testified at Tuesday's hearing that he has never had a bag test positive for explosives residue.

WT to add pre-law program

CANYON — The Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board has given the go-ahead for a pre-law course of study at West Texas A&M University.

The new undergraduate program was approved by The Texas A&M University System Board of Regents in March and just received final approval by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board. Students may begin pursuing a bachelor of arts/bachelor of science degree in pre-law studies this fall.

"It's an innovative new program that will provide pre-law students with a way of learning early whether law school is the right path for them by giving them a more directed study," Dr. Flavius Killebrew, provost/vice president for academic affairs, said.

Dr. James Calvi, professor of political science, said the pre-law program will offer students interested in pursuing a law degree a more diversified curriculum that will better prepare them for the Law School Aptitude Test (LSAT).

"Students planning on law school can major in anything," Calvi said. "This course of study just gives another option for those wanting more direction, more guidance."

The pre-law course of study will closely resemble the curriculum for a general studies degree in that it will follow a broad range of courses. The range of courses in pre-law will better prepare students for the LSAT. The curriculum will include law-related courses as well as courses ranging from logic and vocabulary building to accounting and speech communication.

"I'm excited about it," Calvi said, "and it will make us more competitive with other schools."

WTAMU now offers 58 undergraduate degree programs and 42 graduate degree programs.

Stewart not in clear yet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Martha Stewart has been spared from having to testify before Congress about her sales of a biotech stock. But lawmakers are asking federal prosecutors to begin a criminal investigation into whether she lied to a House panel about her trading.

Stewart's attorneys viewed the House Energy and Commerce Committee's request to the Justice Department on Tuesday as preferable to a subpoena and congressional appearance.

Shares of the company, Martha Stewart Omnimedia, jumped almost 10 percent immediately after the lawmakers' announcement Tuesday afternoon. The shares closed at $9.05 — up $1.30, or 16.8 percent, from a day earlier on the New York Stock Exchange.

Attorneys for the domestic design tycoon said they welcomed the committee's action because the Justice Department — already investigating possible insider trading of ImClone stock — is the appropriate authority to address questions related to her stock sale.

"I strongly disagree with the analysis of the committee and its staff but am pleased that the matter will now be exclusively in the hands of professional law enforcement authorities," said Stewart attorney Robert Morvillo.

In a letter to Attorney General John Ashcroft, the Republican and Democratic leaders of the committee wrote, "As members of Congress we believe it is our obligation to forward specific and credible information in our possession that could suggest a federal crime has been committed."

Justice Department spokesman Mark Corallo said the agency will review the lawmakers' letter.

Stewart is a friend of former ImClone chief executive Sam Waksal, the only person so far charged in the federal investigation of ImClone Systems Inc., which he founded. He pleaded innocent last month to charges of securities fraud, perjury, bank fraud and obstruction of justice.

Stewart sold nearly 4,000 shares of ImClone stock on Dec. 27, a day before the company's application for federal review of its highly touted colon cancer drug, Erbitux, was denied.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENT OF PROPOSED
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
Special Election
NOVEMBER 5, 2002

Explanatory Brief for HJR 2
HJR 2 would amend the constitution to allow the commissioners court of a county to declare the office of constable dormant if that office has been vacant for at least seven consecutive years. The records of a constable office that is declared dormant will be transferred to the county clerk. If the office is declared dormant, the previous officeholder does not continue to hold the office. The office may not be filled by election or appointment unless the commissioners court votes to reinstate the office or a majority of votes cast in an election held on the issue favor reinstatement. The reinstatement election may be held if the commissioners court on its own motion orders such an election, or the reinstatement election must be held if the commissioners court receives a petition signed by 10% of the registered voters of the constable precinct.

The proposition will appear on the ballot as follows:
"The constitutional amendment authorizing the commissioners court of a county to declare the office of constable in a precinct to be dormant if the office has not been filled by election or appointment for a lengthy period and providing a procedure for the reinstatement of the office."

Este es el informe explicatorio sobre la enmienda propuesta a la constitución que aparecerá en la boleta el 5 de noviembre de 2002. Cinema 4 Announces Fall Showtime Schedule

Heritage Park Theatres Cinema 4 of Pampa has announced it's fall Schedule to take in affect August 26, 2002 and will run through the month of October. The new showtimes will be as follows: two nightly showings on Friday evenings, two afternoon matinees plus one evening showing on Sundays and only one evening showing Monday through Thursday evenings. Theatre Manager, Timothy Ervin says the new showtime schedule is what most small towns follow during the slow seasons. "School starts back and the theatre business slows down, it's not just this location, this happens to theatres everywhere but small towns are the ones that really see the change". Ervin says that since the re-opening of the Cinema 4, business has been good, The people of Pampa and the surrounding towns greeted us with open arms, the community has been very supportive". The busiest times for a movie theatre are summer and the time period during the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays, that is when the film studios release the films that promise to have big box-office appeal or Academy Award potential. "The slow time will give us a chance to work more on making some cosmetic and projection improvements at the theatre". "We have already installed two more, plus we are still wanting to make some other changes like new carpet and chairs". Ervin says the theatre will resume the normal showtime schedule in November. "This years holiday season for movies looks good with sequels to "Harry Potter", "Lord of the Rings" and "The Santa Clause" just to name a few". Ervin says; "Every week I have customers who tell me how nice it is to have the theatre back open, they are happy to have us and we are happy to be here". The theatre movie hotline is 665-7141 and web sites are www.oktheatres.com and www.hollywood.com.

DEAR ABBY

written by Pauline Phillips and daughter Jeanne Phillips

Daughter Now in Good Hands Because Mom Planned Ahead

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl whose mother died 10 days after the attacks of Sept. 11. I never knew my father, so after Mom's death, I moved to Utah to live with my guardians and their three children.

My new family makes me feel comfortable and safe. I feel very lucky. The children are like my siblings. We all get along well, and I feel a real sense of belonging.

Although there have been difficulties adjusting to my new life, new school and new family, I have managed well with the help and support of my guardians — especially my new sister.

Recently an adult friend asked me for advice regarding her own children. She was worried that if anything happened to her and her husband, the kids would end up in foster care.

My recommendation to her and to any parent is this: If at all possible, find a place with family or friends that you know your kids would feel safe and comfortable. Let them know that they would live there and be taken care of if anything happened to you. Above all, let the kids know how much they are loved.

Thanks for letting me share this with your readers, Abby. I love your column.

ALL SETTLED IN,
SALT LAKE CITY

DEAR ALL SETTLED IN: You are a courageous and mature young woman who has written a letter addressing a subject that's not often discussed because it's too painful. Your story is an important one. Sept. 11 has brought into focus the fact that the unthinkable can happen. All of us need to put our house in order — especially if the household contains children.

Parents who haven't already done so should see an attorney to put their child custody plans in writing.

DEAR ABBY: On Sept. 11, 2001, our granddaughter, Christine Morrison, watched the tragedy unfold on television with the twin towers collapsing into heaps of dust. She went into her bedroom and wrote the poem that I have enclosed.

Her fourth-grade teacher thought it was so special she sent a copy to President Bush. Christine received a very special letter from Mrs. Bush thanking her for the poem.

We are proud of our talented granddaughter and hope you will find her words meaningful.

LARUE AND HERB MORRISON,
SALEM, OHIO

DEAR LARUE AND HERB: Your granddaughter embodies the determination of all our citizens to rebuild — both physically and spiritually — from the rubble of that horrific day. She's a strong and talented young girl who has already made a difference. Read on:

THE DUST OF SEPTEMBER
By Christine Morrison, Grade 4

The dust, the smoke, the clouds from the dust of September. The sadness, the sorrow, the darkness from the dust of September. The pretty sites are gone, the love, the death from the dust of September. The families, the lives taken away by the dust of September. Our country is sad, but our country still stands in the dust of September. Our flag still waves through the dust of September. We will never break, we will stand together through the dust of September. People hurt, hearts broken, but we survive in the dust of September.

DEAR READERS: If Sept. 11 has taught us anything, it is how strong the people of this great country can be when they are called upon. To the families and friends who lost loved ones a year ago today, you are in the hearts of all Americans. Our prayers are with you.

Dear Abby is written by Abigail Van Buren, also known as Jeanne Phillips, and was founded by her mother, Pauline Phillips. Write Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069.

Harvesters, Sandies to meet Thursday night in Amarillo

Jessica Burns of Pampa scored the first goal in Navarro Junior College history in a recent soccer match against Hill College. Burns is co-captain of the team and a freshman. This is the first year for Navarro to have a soccer program.

PAMPA — The season starts anew for the Amarillo Sandies, who take on the Pampa Harvesters at 7:30 Thursday night in Dick Bivins Stadium.

The Sandies' opener with Palo Duro was two weeks ago, but the game was canceled at halftime because of lighting. Palo Duro was leading 14-0 at the time and the game will not be completed. It was declared a non-game by AISD officials.

AHS head coach Larry Dippel said his team is anxious to take the field against the Harvesters.

"We need to play and we're ready to play. We want get out there and finish a game," Dippel said.

"Amarillo High always seems to have a strong team, and going into this season they were expected to have one of their strongest groups in recent years," said PHS coach Dennis Cavalier. "I know Palo Duro got the best of them although the game was only a half long. Amarillo High was open last week, so they've had two weeks to prepare for us."

The Sandies finished with a 5-6 record a year ago, but advanced to the playoffs for the 10th season in a row.

Dippel is concerned about stopping Pampa's passing attack, led by senior quarterback John Braddock who has thrown six touchdowns in two games.

"I hope we can figure out some way to stop them," Dippel said. "They are good."

Dippel is also worried the Sandies' inexperience will show up against the Harvesters.

"We're basically a senior team, but not many have had varsity experience. We'll be playing several juniors," Dippel said.

Tailback Matt Tate, who was District 2-5A's leading rusher a year ago, returns to try and get the Sandies back into the playoffs again. The 185-pound senior broke loose on a 79-yard scoring run against Pampa last season. Fullback Chris Cash (190-pound senior) begins his third year on the AHS varsity.

"Both of these guys are big, strong runners," said coach Cavalier.

Charlie Hamrick (6-0, 200-pound senior) and Dale Davis (5-11, 165-pound senior) are expected to rotate the quarterbacking duties.

Sandie noseguard Corey Quebedeux

(260-pound senior) brings experience to the Amarillo High defense. Defensive back Brady Sillivent (175-pound senior) made some big stops on Pampa runners last season.

"The Sandies have always had a strong defense," coach Cavalier said. "They play a defense we don't see from other teams because of their style. They're big and mobile up front and they play a lot of man coverage."

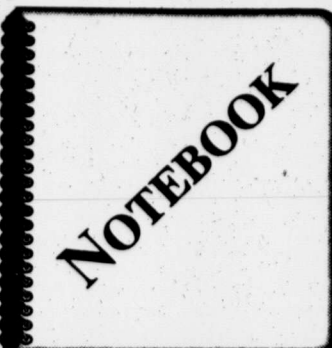

The Harvesters will be looking for some revenge in this year's meeting. A year ago, the Sandies pulled out a 10-7 victory in a contest where the Harvesters won almost every statistical battle except the final points on the scoreboard.

Pampa finished with more total yardage, 230 to 206 for AHS.

The Harvesters opened the 2002 season with a 9-7 loss to Perryton, but bounced back to rout Lubbock Estacado 47-13 last weekend.

"We had a phenomenal night against Estacado," Cavalier said. "Everything we tried went our way."

Free safety Andrew Curtis will miss his second straight game because of a knee injury.

BOWLING

PAMPA — Youth leagues are now forming at Harvester Lanes in Pampa.

There will be a Peeewe League for ages 3-6. Two games will be bowled. The cost is four dollars per week.

League play will be held on Saturdays, starting at 10:30 a.m.

The Stars and Strikes League will be for ages 7-21. Three games will be bowled each week. Cost will be six dollars per week.

On-site coaching, awards and scholarships will be available.

Call 665-3422 for more information.

VOLLEYBALL

RANDALL — Randall downed Pampa 15-1, 15-5 in a District 3-4A volleyball opener Tuesday night.

Julie Hamilton led Randall's attack with 11 kills.

Angie Williams had two kills for the Lady Harvesters. Jackie Gerber, Abbi Covalt and Stacey Johnson had one kill each.

Pampa hosts Plainview at 2 p.m. Saturday in McNeely Fieldhouse.

HOCKEY

TORONTO (AP) — The NHL would like its players to keep their hands to themselves. It also hopes officials will be more prudent in the use of their whistles.

So, for the third time in seven years, the league wants to cut down on the amount of obstruction and interference calls.

Commissioner Gary Bettman met with league general managers, coaches and on-ice officials for three hours at a Toronto airport hotel to discuss rules changes for the upcoming season.

Astros beat Rockies, 11-4

HOUSTON (AP) — Wade Miller says his friendly competition with teammate Roy Oswalt is keeping him sharp.

"I can't let him outdo me," Miller said. "I've got to stay ahead of him because I know he'll be pitching in a couple of days."

Miller (13-3) won his career high 10th straight decision Tuesday night to help the Houston Astros beat the Colorado Rockies 11-4.

Miller allowed two runs and nine hits in seven innings. His streak is just ahead of the pace of Oswalt, who has won nine in a row.

"It's a friendly competition between us," Miller said. "It's a lot of fun. It's nice watching him go out there, and then getting my chance to match him a few days later. We're enjoying it right now, and we just hope we can finish up the season with the streaks intact."

Miller is 10-0 with a 2.11 ERA in 13 starts since a June 26 loss to Atlanta and 12-1 since returning from a pinched nerve in his neck, which put him on the disabled list from April 13 to May 29.

The Rockies were impressed with Miller, who struck out 10 and walked one.

"He throws 96 (mph) and keeps the ball down and powders the strike zone," interim manager Toby Harrah said. "He's got that cutter and he doesn't throw too many balls straight and not too many over the plate."

Juan Pierre went 4-for-5, including 3-for-4 against Miller, but considered himself lucky.

"He's a workhorse," Pierre said. "He comes at you and runs that fastball up there and he's got a good breaking ball."

Pampa tennis team competes in Abilene Cooper Invitational

ABILENE — The Pampa High tennis team traveled to Abilene this past weekend to participate in the Abilene Cooper Invitational.

The 16-team field included Abilene Cooper, Abilene High, Midland Lee, Midland High, San Angelo Central, San Antonio Alamo Heights, A&M Consolidated, Odessa Permian, Amarillo High, Wichita Falls High, Mansfield, Lubbock Monterey and Pampa.

The Pampa netters opened the tournament with a 10-3 loss to Midland High. Pampa trailed 4-3 after doubles with the Harvesters losing two three-set matches in No. 1 boys doubles and No. 2 boys doubles.

"That was a big momentum swing. To lead 5-2 coming out of doubles would have been huge. Instead, we trailed 4-3 and Midland went on to win 10-3," said Pampa coach Carolyn Quarles.

The next match pitted the Harvesters against Odessa Permian. Permian took an early 4-3 lead, but the Harvesters battled back to tie the score 5-5 with wins by Jay Gerber at No. 1 singles and Adam Etchison at No. 5 singles. Permian won five of the next six matches to claim a 10-6 win. Pampa's Zach Hucks won his match in a third-set tiebreaker.

On Saturday, the Harvesters won both of their matches. In the final match of the day, the Pampa netters faced A&M Consolidated. Pampa took an early 4-3 lead in doubles. The match went back and forth and Pampa held a slim 9-8 lead with the singles matches of Abby Bradley (No. 4 seed) and Tara Jordan (No. 2 seed) to be played.

Bradley won in straight sets to claim a 10-8 team victory.

"Abby played a great match," coach Quarles said. "She hit some good offensive groundstrokes that really took her opponent out of the match. I was really pleased with our effort on Saturday. We needed a match like this one since we start district next week."

Quarles said A&M Consolidated was a strong, seasoned team.

"They had won their 5A district title 12 years in a row, so they've been in a lot of big matches. We've played a really tough non-district schedule, and I have seen a lot of improvement over the last three weeks. Our players feel they have something to prove since we were picked third in district. We can't wait to get the season under way."

The Harvesters travel to Randall on Tuesday and then host Plainview on Saturday.

The One Heartbeat players of the week go to seniors Tyler Howard and Kevin Turner.

Howard won two of three matches in No. 5 singles and was four of four in doubles.

"Tyler stepped up his level of play, posting a 6-1 record for the weekend," Quarles noted. "He led the team in the final match with a total refuse to lose attitude that became contagious."

Turner won three of four doubles matches and stepped in at No. 6 singles to win all three of his matches.

In the girls' division, the One Heartbeat player of the week was junior Erin Norris, who won four of four doubles matches at No. 3 doubles, and mixed doubles with partner Adam Etchison, a junior.

Greene's hit lifts Rangers by Mariners

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The Texas Rangers' record streak of 27 games with a home run came to an end, but pinch-hitter Todd Greene drove in the go-ahead run in Tuesday night's 3-2 win over the Seattle Mariners.

Herbert Perry, who went 2-for-3, led off the eighth inning with a double off Joel Pinciro (13-6), and pinch-runner Donnie Sadler went to third on Kevin Mench's sacrifice.

Greene's groundout, a high bouncer to third, gave the Rangers a 3-2 lead.

Rich Rodriguez (3-1) needed just one pitch to get the final out of the eighth. Francisco Cordero struck out the side in the ninth for his eighth save in nine chances.

Seattle wasted another opportunity to help itself in the AL wild-card race.

Alex Rodriguez, who leads the majors in homers, went 0-for-3 after he had gone 4-for-9 with three homers and seven RBIs in his two previous games.

Seattle had seven baserunners over the first three innings, but the Mariners managed only one run after three.

The Mariners scored a run in the second with the help of a throwing error by Rangers starter Kenny Rogers.

Singles by Dan Wilson and Jeff Cirillo put runners on first and second, then Ichiro Suzuki got down a perfect bunt. Rogers' off-balance throw to third got past Perry and Wilson scored.

Rogers settled down to retire 12 of the next 15 Mariners from the third through the sixth innings.

Texas tied it at 1 in the second on Carl Everett's RBI groundout.

The Rangers went in front 2-1 in the fourth on Ivan Rodriguez's RBI double.

Rogers allowed one run and six hits over six innings. He struck out five and walked three.

Rudy Seanez started the seventh for the Rangers and Seattle got even at 2. Suzuki led off with a walk, went to second on Carlos Guillen's single and both runners advanced on Seanez's wild pitch.

Suzuki raced home on Edgar Martinez's groundout.

Notes: The Rangers will mark the Sept. 11 one-year anniversary with a series of events Wednesday starting at 5:45 p.m. and continuing until the first pitch at 7:12 p.m. for the game against the Mariners. Rangers players will distribute T-shirts and American flags at the gates, bands will perform patriotic songs on the field, and area police and firefighters will be honored. ... Ivan Rodriguez extended his hitting streak to 13 games, longest for the Rangers this season.
