Alaska shakes, rattles and rolls

By DAN JOLING ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A violent earthquake slammed a remote area of Alaska's interior, shutting down the Trans-Alaska Pipeline, opening 6foot-wide cracks in highways and making lakes slosh as far away as Louisiana. The magnitude 7.9 quake was one of the strongest ever recorded in the United States.

Only one minor injury was reported; a woman suffered a broken arm.

The quake, centered on the Denali Fault 90 miles south of Fairbanks,

County judge candidates answer questions

Managing Editor

Gray County voters had the opportunity to hear candidates give their qualifications at a candidate forum last week to help them decide who to mark on the ballot on Tuesday, Nov. 5.

After giving those reasons why they were the most qualified candidate, some of the candidates seeking office were given written questions from the audience.

Following are the questions and answers regarding the Precinct 1 and 3 Justice of the Peace race as well as the county judge candidates. Judge Phil Vanderpool was moderator of the forum sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

One question was asked of Justice of the Peace candidate Debbie Darby during the forum.

Vanderpool: "Why do you think you are qualified to be Justice of the Peace?"

Darby: "I feel my qualifications as a bail bondsman for 13 years and a notary public for 19 years has helped with my qualifications to be Justice of the Peace. Also, the county will send the Justice of the Peace to school to become qualified." Vanderpool told the crowd a similar question was presented for incumbent Joe Martinez, but he was unable to attend the forum as he is serving with the U.S. Army National Guard at Fort Martinez was appointed JP upon the retirement of former JP Bob Muns in March 2001. A member of the military reserves, Martinez was called up to active duty in April 2002. In the county judge's race, incumbent Judge Richard Peet was asked several questions. His challenger Greg Kurtz did not attend the forum. Vanderpool: "If you could, what administratively, I don't think I would do anything differently. I think we're on the right track as far as the courthouse restoration. We've done some other things that we've tried.

"For example, I mentioned one in the paper. We were trying to get a juvenile rehab facility here to try to help young people, a number of the voters said no. So we had to send back a $500,000 check to the governor. You know I figured at that time it was when you deal with a DWI case in your court.

Peet: "First of all, I want you to understand when DWIs are issued by the local police, Highway Patrol and sheriff's department. I don't have any bearing on that. They're the ones that are out there in the streets. They are the ones who initiate the tickets or whatever. Once that is done, of course, it goes to the prosecutor who is our county attorney. If it's a first offense DWI it's a Class B misdemeanor. If it's a second offense, DWI, it becomes a Class A

"As I told you earlier, I handle all A and B misdemeanors., but I don't gath er the evidence. Please understand me judges do not gather the evidence That's not our job. Our job is to weigh the evidence presented to us by the prosecutor. I weigh the information in light of what the law allows me to do. I'm not going to make up some law. I'm not going to be biased one way or

"Within the parameters of the law in a first offense DWI, the parameters are up to $2,000 fine and up to 180 days in jail. That's the parameter I have — from zero to that level. Since I've come into office eight years ago, I've more than tripled the fines on DWIs. They were generally running between $250 and $300 per first offense. Now, minimum is $800 — if changes would you make in your administration in the past year? What would you do differently?"

Peet: "I really don't look at it as an administration. I am a member of the five-member commissioners court which I have one vote just like the others, as far as administratively speaking. As far as judicially speaking, I'm pretty much bound by the law. I can't change it unless the legislature allows me to change it. I have to go by what the law says, what the constitution says within the parameters of th that and certainly, I have some leeway. But outside of that I'm kind of restricted. But worth the effort. If we're going to help one child - whether he be from Pampa, El Paso or Houston — as long as we were changing that life around we were helping that youngster. But it didn't go.

"But the program for the courthouse did go. The commissioners court went into that. We got the most money of any county in the state still. At this point, $3.8 million. You can see the construction that's going on. So, I don't know that I would really do anything different.

Vanderpool: "In dealing with DWI cases, how is your authority limited

"Please understand, I don't gather the evidence. I have to rely on what the prosecutor presents to me. The people may not like that, but I don't go out and find it.

"On a second offense DWI, the max is a $4,000 fine up to a year in jail. That's the limit — from zero to that. That's the only parameter I can work within. I cannot make the law, and I cannot make you not drink. I don't understand people. They say we have too many DWIs. Yes, we do. I cannot tell you by law you cannot drink. We tried that back in the 1920s - I think I have my history right through the depression years and prior to that. We had the Prohibition. We cannot do it. I'm limited by the limits of the law, and that is what I'll Judge Vanderpool emphasized he was paraphrasing several of the questions.

Vanderpool: "Is there anything the county judge could have done to have made that project move more quickly?"

Peet: "If I knew what it was, I'd be doing it. When we go out for bids on that whoever is going to be the contractor to do the rehab all of them put down 'so-many' days. Most of the contractors that we reviewed put down more than the 300 days that are there. This contractor put down the 300 day limit. As many of you know who get involved with contracts — if you do not — then there is a penalty, per days for not completing the job on time. "So, they're going to work to the best of

As judge I'm not in control of that. Vanderpool: "What kind of authority does the county judge have in regards to the Veterans Retirement Center in notifying people so that they could participate or gather together or participate in getting that VRC here. Where does the county judge stand?"

their ability to get the job completed on time.

Peet: "As most of you know, last year we did away with the economic development corporation. Whether you were for or against, to me that is immaterial at this point. It's gone. We don't have a central agency through which potential businesses can contact an agency and say "Hey, I need data, I need tax information. I need property information. I need whatever we can use to consider coming to Pampa or Gray County. We don't have it. So, now we are back to stage one where individual citizens go out and try to do what they can do to try and bring businesses into Gray County. This is an effort I heard about in May. I heard about the possibility of veterans homes in the state and that they wanted to build two more.

"As I said it's not really the role of the county judge. You won't see that in the role of the county judge to try and generate business. That's not my job. My job is not to try and increase tourism. My job is not to try and get some sustainable business to Gray County. That's not the job of county judge. I've explained to you my job judicially and administratively. "But as a private citizen, and I happen to be judge in this position. I said 'Well, this is worth the effort. Let's see what we can do to get it because it does generate 150 jobs.' Potentially, 150 jobs new to Gray County and to Pampa. I said Well, if you don't try you're not going to get it. So, I went for it. I went to Austin to try to find out about it, and I said, 'Well, I think we're just as good a community as Amarillo or anybody else.' "I put together a packet, and I really appreciate Ken Fields, who was my chairman of that committee and a number of people who participated and volunteered their time, their professionalism, in putting the packet together. So we've sent it off to Austin, and we're in the running with 40 other communities. That's kind of the role. I don't really have a direct role but as a concerned person of Gray County and Pampa, I'm not going to stand by and watch Pampa and Gray County dry up and blow away — not with two of my sons coming to Pampa to live and raise their family. And I want to live here, and I want the rest of you to live her. I'm going to try whatever I can to make efforts to get businesses in."

Vanderpool: "What's the role of the county judge in connection with the Gray County Appraisal District?"

Peet: "The various entities are allowed to appoint someone to represent their taxing entity. Gray County is one of those taxing entities. We get to choose one person to serve on that five-member board. The school gets to choose two people. Lefors and McLean and Alanreed get to choose one person. So, there are five of us on there. Our commissioners court chose me to represent the county's taxing entity on that board. We oversee the running of the appraisal district. I have nothing to do with your tax appraised values. Mine got raised twice in the last two years. Look at the records, if you like. I know that they are going to go up. If you have a complaint with that you have to go to the Appraisal Review Board not the Board of Directors."

Vanderpool: "Does the county and the county judge have a role in the sheriff's department and specifically, the Panhandle Regional Narcotics Trafficking Task Force?"

Peet: "Some of you know when that controversy came around several years ago. Basically, it caused the defeat of a good man because, basically, maybe he didn't see it the way everybody else thought he should have seen it. The commissioners court had no control over whether he wanted to join the drug task force or not. We don't tell the sheriff how to run his office. We can, but he doesn't have to listen to us.

"Every county elected position - we as a commissioners court do not dictate to them how to run their business. We don't have that authority. The only authority we have is write the budget. If they want to increase the number of people working for them or buy this or that, we as a commission decide. If sheriff needs more people or cars, he has to come to us. Other than that we don't have control."

Vanderpool then asked how the salary of the county judge is determined. Peet responded that it was determined by the commissioners court. He stated that they are the ones who set the salaries for all employees in the county, including elected officials.

He said the salaries are not determined until the needs of each office are determined in the $7 million budget.

A member of the audience, Karen Son, interrupted and said that was not her question.

Vanderpool said he paraphrased that question which was submitted in writing as well as several others he received because the purpose of the forum was to determine the qualifications of the candidates and not a "roast" of the Vanderpool added that another reason he paraphrased some of the questions was because of time.

He told Son to contact Peet after the forum to ask her specific question.

Attack on Hunt Corp. 'copter in Yemen injures two slightly

SAN'A, Yemen (AP) — A helicopter carrying U.S. oil company employees came under small-arms fire Sunday just after takeoff, forcing an emergency landing at San'a airport that slightly injured two people, officials said.

Two Hunt Corp. employees reported "minor scratches" and received first aid on the scene, said Jim Oberwetter. Hunt spokesman at the company's Dallas headquarters. Airport medical workers confirmed there were no serious injuries. It was not clear who was responsible for the shooting. Police were searching the area around the airport from where shots were fired. A Yemeni security official, speaking on condition of anonymity, told Associated Press that the helicopter was heading to oil fields in the northern province of Marib when it was shot at from an area near the airport.

The number of passengers and their nationalities were not clear. The U.S. Embassy said it had no knowledge of the incident.

Oberwetter said in a brief statement that the helicopter was contracted from Abu Dhabi Aviation to carry Hunt employees to the company's oilfields.

It "was struck by small arms fire in the vicinity of the San'a airport today and safely returned to base," he said.

Oberwetter said the Yemeni government was investigating.

Beyond tribal disputes, Yemen long has tolerated Muslim extremists. It is also the ancestral homeland of Osama bin Laden, whose al-Qaida terror network is blamed for the Sept. 11 attacks and the October 2000 attack on the USS Cole in Yemen that left killed 17 U.S. sailors.

Last month, a blast caused by an explosive-laden boat crippled a French oil tanker off Yemen, killing a Bulgarian crew member and spilling 90,000 barrels of crude oil.

FOOTBALL

WACO, Texas (AP) -Kevin Steele, whose teams have won just one Big 12 Conference game in his four years, may have a hard time winning another one.

Steele was fired as coach Sunday but agreed to finish out the season, a brutal three-game stretch that starts Saturday at No. 4 Texas. After that comes No. 1 Oklahoma and Oklahoma State, which just beat Texas A&M.

Steele is 9-33, and the Bears are 3-6 this season, 1-4 in the Big 12.

"It is with regret that I announce this move," athletic director Tom Stanton said. "Kevin's efforts have made significant improvements in many areas of our football program."

Stanton, Baylor's AD since 1996, was hospitalized Monday with a minor heart problem. The school said in a release that the 51-year-old Stanton was diagnosed with an atrial flutter and is expected to undergo a minor corrective procedure Tuesday.

Baylor lost to Texas Tech 62-11 on Saturday. Since beating Kansas 35-32 on Oct. 5 to break their 29-game Big 12 losing streak, the Bears have been outscored 181-21 in four games, including shutouts by Texas A&M and Colorado.

"I am disappointed that we were not able to meet the demands placed upon the Baylor football program in the time allowed," Steele said in a news release.

Stanton said Sunday that the school will begin the search for a successor over the next few weeks and that he would not comment on the coaching situation until after the season.

Before Baylor's 70-22 season-opening loss at California, Steele acknowledged the pressure he felt to win.

"You can do all the rebuilding and coaching and recruiting that you want, but there's some simple truths in coaching," Steele said. "At some point as a football coach, you've got to win. "

Going 2-3 in league play puts Slocum and Solich on hot seats in Big 12

By the Associated Press

Five years ago, Nebraska and Texas A&M met in the Big 12 championship game. The Aggies returned to the big game the following season and the Cornhuskers made it back the year after that.

Neither has been back since, and they certainly won't be going this season. Both are 2-3 in conference play with two of their three remaining games against tough foes. A losing league record is not just possible — at this point, it's proba-

Fallout is inevitable. In College Station, it could mean the end of coach R.C. Slocum's 14-year tenure. In Lincoln, Frank Solich is likely to return, but he'll have to make some changes, probably big ones, to keep the Husker Nation happy.

Slocum's status has been in doubt all fall because of a new school president and pending change in athletic directors. New bosses often like to bring in new people who are loyal to them. It would've been hard to push aside Slocum, the school's winningest coach, but the way things are going, it gets easier every week.

The Aggies (5-4, 2-3 Big 12) have lost two in a row, blowing a double-digit lead at home in a loss to Nebraska then falling 28-23 to Oklahoma State on Saturday. A&M had been 6-0 against the Cowboys since the Big 12 began.

The Wrecking Crew defense is a wreck. After a long streak of not allowing 100-yard rushers, they gave up two to the Cornhuskers and another — in the first half - to OSU's Tatum Bell. The offense has endured an early season change in coordinators.

The Aggies are one win ahead of Baylor for last in the South. To be bowl eligible, A&M must beat either Oklahoma and Missouri at home, or win at Texas.

Kyle Field remains an intimidating place for visitors, but the bark is worse than the bite. A&M is 2-3 there this season, with consecutive losses. The only victories were over Louisiana-Lafayette Louisiana Tech.

Solich saw the bubble burst on his team's home invincibility Saturday with a 27-24 loss to Texas on Saturday.

The Cornhuskers (6-4, 2-3) were driving for a potential game-winning touchdown when Nathan Vasher intercepted a pass at the 1-yard line with 10 seconds left.

Throwing on third-and-10 from the 16 was a gutsy call considering a field goal would've forced overtime. But

Singh wins at East Lake

ATLANTA (AP) — Vijay Singh finally earned redempin the Tour tion Championship, but not before a brief reflection on his troubled past at East Lake. Two years ago, he was tied with Tiger Woods going into the final round and shot 73 as both of them were passed by Phil Mickelson.

The real sting was in 1998, when Singh hit a 3-iron over the green on the 232-yard closing hole, made bogey to fall into a playoff-and lost to Hal Sutton.

Singh had a two-stroke lead Sunday over hard-charging Charles Howell III as he climbed the steep hill leading toward the 18th tee, a light rain starting to fall.

The club selection again was a 3-iron.

This time, Singh was

"I was practicing that this morning," he said. "I said if it comes down to 18, I need to hit a 3-iron. And that was the best one I hit. When I struck the ball, I didn't have to look to know it was going straight for the green."

Singh could have kept his eyes closed all day.

In his best ball-striking round of the week, the big Fijian missed only two greens and closed with a 3-under 67 for a two-stroke victory over

Howell. "The last two times I came over here, I thought I was going to win it," Singh said. "I've finally done it, and it's really something I'm going to cherish."

Singh took most of the suspense out of the final tournament of the year, which was just fine with him.

"The key was my golf," said Singh, who finished at 12-under 268 and earned $900,000. "I wasn't worried about anything else."

Bucks blank Gruver, 20-0

GRUVER - White Deer did all its scoring in the second half as the Bucks blanked Gruver 20-0 in a District 1-1A game last weekend.

White Deer is 2-2 in district play and 5-4 for the season. Gruver falls to 1-3, 1-8.

The Bucks grabbed a 6-0 lead in the third quarter on a 6-yard touchdown run by Zach Ballard.

White Deer added two more TDs in the fourth quarter on a 54-yard run by Kirk Kelp and a 36-yard pass from Brian Knocke to Trey Collis.

Kelp led the team in rushing with 86 yards. Knocke at quarterback completed 5 of 13 pass attempts for 99 yards. Rufus Estrada was the leading receiver with 63 yards in receptions.

White Deer closes the regular season at home Saturday night against Booker.

Cougars clinch playoff berth

BRISCOE - Fort Elliott shut out Samnorwood 45-0 in clinch its first playoff spot last weekend.

The Cougars are unbeaten at 9-0 for the year and 6-0 in the District 1-1A six-man standings.

Quarterback Jason Hathaway sparked Cougars by throwing four touchdown passes against Samnorwood. He completed 7 of 12 pass attempts for 126 yards.

Junior Newman caught two TD passes and also scored on a 45-yard punt return. Cade Zybach scored on a TD reception and a 50-yard run. A TD catch was also made by Seth Meadows.

Larry Lee Horn added a 2yard scoring run.

Fort Elliott built a 32-0 lead in the first quarter. The Cougars finished with 304 yards in total offense. Samnorwood was held to only 46 yards.

Samnorwood is 4-5 for the season and 2-4 in district play.

Rice, Bledsoe fall to old teams

By The Associated Press

Neither Jerry Rice nor Drew Bledsoe were treated very nicely by their former teams

Rice had a decent game Sunday for the Oakland Raiders, they were edged 23-20 in overtime by the San Francisco 49ers, for whom Rice set nearly every NFL receiving record before leaving in 2001. He had six catches for 74 yards, but watched from the sideline as the 49ers held the ball for the final 15 minutes of the game.

"That's the worst feeling," Rice said. "When you can't get the ball in the second half, what can you say? We were parked on the side-

"It's a tough one to swallow. You've just got to deal with it and move on. I'm just disappointed, not only for me, but for the whole team."

Bledsoe's current team, the Bills, never were in their game with his former employer. The New England Patriots routed Buffalo 38-7 and sacked him four times.

"After the game," Bledsoe said, "you shake hands and live to fight another day. If you lose, you congratulate them, lick your wounds, and come back again."

49ers 23, Raiders 20, OT

At Oakland, Calif., Jose Cortez, who missed a 27-yard field goal at the end of regulation, made a 23yarder 8:41 into overtime. Counting their 6 1/2-minute drive to end the fourth quarter and the overtime, the 49ers (6-2) held the ball for more than a quarter.

Jeff Garcia was masterful on the two late drives, completing 17 of his 19 passes after halftime. Terrell Owens had his best game of the season with 12 receptions for 191 yards.

Oakland's Rich Gannon was 18of-28 for 164 yards, ending his NFL-record streak of six straight 300-yard games.

The Raiders have lost four straight following a 4-0 start.

Patriots 38, Bills 7

At Orchard Park, N.Y., Bledsoe's team never was in it at his replacement in New England, Tom Brady completed 23 of 27 passes for 310 yards and four touchdowns, helping the defending Super Bowl champs (4-4) end their four-game losing streak.

Former Bills running back Antowain Smith ran for 111 yards and a touchdown and also caught two TD passes from Brady.

Bledsoe, playing against his old team for the first time since he was traded to the Bills last April, was 28-of-45 for 302 yards and a 1-yard TD pass to Peerless Price.

Buffalo (5-4) had won three

Bengals 38, Texans 3

At Houston, the Bengals won for the first time after seven losses. passes and Artrell Hawkins had a 102-yard interception return for a touchdown.

Cincinnati (1-7) made good on receiver Chad Johnson's victory frustrations on the Texans (2-6).

Kitna completed 22 of 27 passes for 263 yards, and his fourth TD pass went for 10 yards to Johnson. Steelers 23, Browns 20

At Cleveland, revitalized Tommy Maddox threw two touchdown passes and Amos Zereoue ran for a career-high 111 yards as Pittsburgh rallied from a 14-3 hole. Todd Peterson kicked field goals of 43, 28 and 42 yards for the Steelers. With their fourth straight win, the Steelers (5-3) took command of the AFC North. Dennis Northcutt had an 87yard TD punt return for the Browns

(4-5), but the Cleveland offense produced just 36 yards rushing and 193 total.

Jets 44, Chargers 13

At San Diego, the Jets (3-5) got a punt return for a touchdown from Santana Moss for the second straight game. Chad Pennington threw for one touchdown and ran for another, and New York's defense limited LaDainian Tomlinson to 60 yards rushing.,

The Chargers (6-2) wore their powder-blue throwback jerseys and left looking like powderpuffs. Rams 27, Cardinals 14

At Tempe, Ariz., Marshall Faulk had another big day despite feeling ill, carrying the resurgent Rams to their third successive win after dropping their first five.

Faulk had 178 yards rushing, sealing the victory on a 13-yard touchdown with 1:53 to play. The Rams are 19-0 when Faulk reaches triple digits in rushing. He also caught five passes for 58 yards.

Marc Bulger, 3-0 as the starter in the absence of injured Kurt Warner, was 20-of-29 for 245 yards and two touchdowns.

Down by six, the Cardinals (4-4) went for a fourth-and-4 from their 30. Jake Plummer's pass to Frank Sanders was ruled a trap, and the call withstood an Arizona replay challenge.

Bucs 38, Vikings 24

At Tampa, Fla., the Buccaneers' finally showed some offensive spark under first-year coach Jon Gruden. Brad Johnson, who missed a game with a broken rib, completed 19 of 31 passes for 313 yards, five touchdowns and no interceptions. Keyshawn Johnson had nine receptions for 133 yards and two TDs — all season highs.

nine-game start in their history, equaling the 1979 team.

Minnesota (2-6) has lost 15 straight road games, including the playoffs. But Michael Bennett ran for 114 yards, including an 85-yard touchdown that was the longest run in Vikings history.

Eagles 19, Bears 13

At Champaign, Ill., Philadelphia (6-2) shut out the Bears (2-6) in the second half, handing Chicago its sixth consecutive loss.

Hugh Douglas, who knocked Jon Kitna threw four touchdown Jim Miller out of a playoff game in January by slamming him to the turf during an interception return, sacked the quarterback on third down from the Eagles 24 with 17 seconds to go. Miller, who had "guarantee" by pouring out all its missed the previous two games with injuries, threw too high for Marcus Robinson on fourth down.

David Akers kicked four second-half field goals for the Eagles. Falcons 20, Ravens 17

At Atlanta, the Falcons (5-3) won their fourth straight after squandering a 14-point lead. The last time they won four in a row, they went to the Super Bowl.

After two straight brilliant outings, Michael Vick completed only 12 of 24 passes for 136 yards. The second-year quarterback also was sacked three times, had minus-5 yards rushing, fumbled twice and threw his first interception of the season

Without Ray Lewis and starting quarterback Chris Redman, the Ravens (3-5) rallied behind backup OB Jeff Blake, who directed two TD drives - including a seasonlong 92-yarder — to tie it at 17.

But Atlanta's Jay Feely kicked a 40-yard field goal.

Titans 23, Colts 15

At Indianapolis, the Titans tied the Colts for the AFC South lead at 4-4. It was Tennessee's third straight win, and the Colts' third straight loss Keith Bulluck returned a fumble 61 yards for one touchdown, and Peter Sirmon's interception led to another TD. Eddie George gained 95 yards for the Titans.

Peyton Manning completed 37 of 50 passes for 327 yards and two touchdowns, but the Colts' running game generated just 80 yards without injured Edgerrin James.

Giants 24, Jaguars 17 At East Rutherford, N.J., Tiki Barber ran for 101 yards and scored on runs of 2 and 44 yards as the Giants (4-4) broke out of a scoring slump. Coach Jim Fassel took over play-calling duties from offensive coordinator Sean Payton and it also paid off in Kerry Collins' replay review-aided 8-yard touchdown pass to Ron Dixon in helping the Giants (4-4) snap a two-game losing streak.

Tim Seder kicked a 24-vard field goal and Mark Brunell threw fourth-quarter touchdown passes of 14 yards to Bobby Shaw and 9 to Jimmy Smith for Jacksonville (3-5), which has dropped four straight. Lions 9, Cowboys 7

At Detroit, Jason Hanson's three field goals, including a 43-yarder with 48 seconds left, helped the The Bucs (7-2) matched the best Lions (3-5) surpass last year's victory total. The Lions were 2-14 in One game after breaking Walter Payton's NFL record for career rushing yardage, Emmitt Smith ran for just 39 yards on 16 carries. Smith's backup, Troy Hambrick, got Dallas' only score on a 3-yard TD run that put the Cowboys (3-6) ahead 7-6 with 7:42 left.

Redskins 14, Seahawks 3

At Seattle, Kenny Watson ran for 110 yards in place of injured starter Stephen Davis, and Shane Matthews threw two first-half touchdowns passes for the Redskins (4-4).

The Seahawks (2-6) gave top four sacks and lost linebacker Chad Brown for the season with a broken right foot.

Amnesty International accuses Israel of war crimes in Nablus

By RAMIT PLUSHNICK-MASTI ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

JERUSALEM (AP) -Israel committed war crimes, including unlawful killings, during a military offensive in the West Bank cities of Jenin and Nablus earlier this year, the human rights group Amnesty International said Monday.

The Israeli military said the offensive was launched in self-defense; in response to Palestinian terror attacks on Israeli civilians.

In its report, Amnesty said there is "clear evidence that some of the act committed by the Israel Defense Forces during Operation Defense Shield were war crimes.'

Israeli carried out "unlawful killings, torture and ill-treatment of prisoners, wanton destruction of hundreds of homes," Amnesty wrote. The group also accused Palestinian suicide bombers of crimes against humanity.

The latest report said soldiers blocked access to ambulances and denied humanitarian assistance, leaving the wounded and dead lying in the streets for days, and used Palestinians as "human shields" while searching for suspected militants.

"Up to now, the Israeli authorities have failed in their responsibility to bring to justice the perpetrators of serious human rights violations," the Amnesty report said.

Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman Daniel Taub accused Amnesty of ignoring the reasons for the military incursions. report describes Israel as going into the West Bank as if this happened in a vacu um," Taub said.

"There really are dilemmas here for any democracy," Taub said, who accused Palestinian fighters of using residential neighborhoods and ambulances for cover during the fight-

The Amnesty report claimed that more than half the Palestinians killed in Jenin were civilians, but did not give specific figures. At least 16 of the 80 people killed in Nablus were women and children, Amnesty reported.

Israel launched a West Bank offensive on March 29 after a Palestinian suicide bomber killed 29 Israelis. Jenin was the site of the heaviest fighting, and 52 Palestinians and 23 Israeli soldiers were killed.

"This terrorist infrastructure was established in the heart of an innocent Palestinian population that served as a cover," the army said in a statement.

Israel has said intense fighting sometimes made it impossible for ambulances to get to the wounded, and said in one case last month, a smuggled explosives belt was found inside Palestinian ambulance transporting a sick child.

* Kathleen Cavanaugh, a researcher for Amnesty International, said Lt. Gen. Shaul Mofaz, who is to become Israel's new defense minister this week, could be charged with war crimes for his role as the army's chief of staff during the incur-

Palestinian Cabinet Secretary Ahmed Abdel

Rahman applauded the report's accusations against Israel.

"The (U.N.) Security Council and the parties that signed the Geneva conventions should take this report as proof of war crimes committed by the Israeli government against the Palestinian people and act immediately to punish the Sharon government," Rahman said.

The United Nations investigated the Jenin fighting after Palestinians alleged Israel had committed a massacre in the refugee camp. The United Nations ruled that there was no evidence to support the Palestinian claims, and said both Israeli forces and Palestinian militants had violated international law.

Amnesty said the Israeli army had failed to "impartially and thoroughly" investigate the events in Jenin.

The report documents witaccounts from Palestinians present during the springtime fighting. They tell stories of torture, beatings of prisoners who were stripped down to their underwear and of soldiers demolishing homes with residents still inside, leaving them to die in the rubble

Political party with Islamic roots wins Turkish elections

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — After an overwhelming victory. in Turkey's elections, a party with Islamic roots pledged to maintain the nation's pro-Western stance, quickly moving to soothe worries that this crucial U.S. ally would undergo a radical shift toward Islam.

The Justice Development Party won a parliamentary majority in Sunday's elections — the first time in 15 years that any party has been in a position to govern alone largely due to voter fury over a devastated economy.

The win 'could concern Turkey's powerful and firmly secular military, which in the past forced a pro-Islamic government from power. However, the victorious Justice party stressed it didn't want confrontation. Party leader Recep Tayyip Erdogan quickly laid out stances reassuring to the military: support secularism and for Turkey's bid to join the member — is crucial to any European Union.

He even said that while he opposes military action against Iraq, Turkey could support it if it were approved by the United Nations, a position mirroring that of outgoing Prime . Minister Bulent Ecevit.

"We will not spend our time dizzy with victory. We will build a Turkey where common sense prevails," Erdogan said at a huge celebration at party headquarters early Monday after the win became clear.

On the sidelines, a party official called on supporters not to shout religious slogans such as "Allah is Great!"

The vote came as the United States was trying to showcase Turkey as an example of a secular, democratic country that is overwhelmingly Muslim but has cast its future with the West. Turkey NATO's only Muslim possible action against Iraq, which borders this nation. The Justice Party has its roots in Turkey's Islamist movement, but it has denied that it has any religious agenda. Erdogan leads the party, but has been banned from standing as a candidate because of a jail sentence he served in 1999 for publicly reading a poem that a court deemed anti-secular. Erdogan told the Milliyet newspaper in an interview that his party will meet Tuesday and Wednesday to decide on who to nominate as premier. The Justice party appeared to be just short of the two-thirds parliamentary majority needed to change the constitution to allow Erdogan to become premier. Under Turkey's complicated election rules, the Justice party's powerful hold on parliament was won despite a less than overwhelming show of popular support. With 99.9 percent of ballot boxes counted, Erdogan's party won 34 percent of the vote, the semiofficial Anatolia news agency reported. The center-left Republican People's Party had 19 percent, Anatolia reported.

Other parties remained below the 10 percent threshold needed to enter parliament, meaning that the Justice party and the Republicans would divvy up all 550 seats. Projections by Anatolia showed the Justice party taking 363 seats - enough to rule without a coalition - and the Republicans winning 178.

Republican party leader Deniz Baykal refused Monday to describe Erdogan's party as a threat to Turkey's secular system. "Such accusations would put the country into distress," he said.

"We have to act in good faith. But I will retain caution," Baykal said. "The whole world will be watching developments very carefully."

Justice sought to calm the public and the markets with pledges of support for secularism, Turkey's bid to join the European Union and an International Monetary Fund austerity program.

"We have no intention to challenge the world," Erdogan told Dow Jones Newswires. "Under our government. Turkey will be in harmony with the world."

On the issue of Iraq, Erdogan said he hoped for a peaceful resolution. "We do not want war, blood, tears and dead in our region," Erdogan said. But, he added, "we are obliged by the United Nations' decisions."

Markets seemed not to be rattled by the party's victory. Shares had risen 5.3 percent on Istanbul's benchmark index in early trading Monday.

The election also marked the ouster of Turkey's longtime dominant political class. The party of outgoing Prime Minister Ecevit won only I percent of the vote and his coalition partners were below the 10 percent threshold needed for entry into parliament.

"New Hire Expectations: Corporate A&M University's Fifth Annual Leadership Symposium, sponsored by the T. Boone Pickens College of Business and Alpha Kappa Psi professional business fraternity.

"The event will focus on the changing expectations of individuals entering the workforce and how employers and corporate cultures are responding to these trends," said Philip Niegos, instructor of computer information systems and one of the event coordinators.

The symposium is scheduled from CANYON - A panel of distin- 11-12:15 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 13 in guished area executives will address the Alumni Banquet Facility at WTAMU. The format will consist of Culture Response" at West Texas initial discussions drawn from seed questions provided to the panelists in advance; those will be followed by screened questions from the audience.

Featured panelists are Carl Birdsong, president, Maxor Corporation; Campbell Burgess, president, Core Data; Mike Coomer, president, Wells Fargo Bank Texas NA; Martinez, director, Hermilo Community Service and Economic Development XCEL Energy/SPS; and Jerry D. McMillon, CPA, partner, Clifton Gunderson L.L.P.

Dr. John W. Cooley, dean of the T.

Boone Pickens College of Business, will serve as moderator for the discussion, which is free and open to the business community, students and the general public.

"The symposium addresses expectations of newly hired employees as they prepare to face the business environment of the real world," said Dr. Karyn Friske, associate professor of accounting and one of the symposium coordinators. "We encourage the attendance of anyone interested in what this distinguished panel has to say. We feel we've selected a panel that covers a variety of areas of business and will, therefore, have a variety of interesting viewpoints."
