

Smokin' Armadillos to headline Country Jam '94

By Annette Bottelman

Joe's Boot Shop and KKYC Radio will proudly present 'Country Jam '94' on Friday, April 8, 1994 at 8:00 p.m. at the Bailey County Coliseum in Muleshoe, Texas.

Featured at the jam will be the Smokin' Armadillos, from Bakersfield, California, with special guests Tom Mann & the Ace of Hearts Band, The Cox Bothers Band, and Casey Hays.

In March of 1993, the band opened for Steve Wariner and received two standing ovations. That was only the fourth time the "Smokin' Armadillos" had ever played in public.

An opening act generating that kind of fan excitement, let alone a group just getting started, is pretty rare.

Featuring top notch musicians, bringing a range of influences to bear on their music, and writing most of their own material, they sport more than just good surface appeal. Perhaps most impressive is the fact that they have carved a special, distinct style into the music world, starting with a bit of the old classic country sound, and adding a youthful, rock-tinged edge to it.

The six members of 'Smokin' Armadillos' range in age from 17-24. They met at North High School in Bakersfield while they were students; in fact, fiddle player Jason Theiste is still a student there.

They have gained label attention in Nashville, a rapidly growing fan club, and the support of Wrangler jeans, which turned its admiration for the boys' wholesome approach into merchandising support.

Their first release was a hit single - My Girlfriend Might from their five song CD Out of the Burrow - which took them to #4 on the national Mac Indle chart. It helped put the Armadillos on the map throughout California's Central Valley, and got them airplay across the U.S. After that first single, the Armadillos were well on their way to being well-sought fan material.

Their second single and accompanying video, Red Rock, tells the story of the late legendary bull rider, Lane Frost, Bailey County native elected mayor in N.M.

By Helena Rodriguez

Don Davis is a native of Bailey County and now he holds the key to the city of Portales, N.M.

Davis, who was born in Enochs, was recently elected Mayor of Portales.

Davis was officially sworn in to the top post during ceremonies March 7.

Before Davis was elected to his current position of mayor, he served on the Portales City Council for a short time.

Davis lived in the Three-Way area from 1935 to 1956. His family farmed in the Three-Way community.

They farmed around the Goodland and Stegall areas.

Although Davis now lives in another town and another state, he said that as Mayor of Portales, he still has the interests of Bailey County in mind.

He said, "I plan to work with the surrounding communities. We consider ourselves a part of the High Plains area and we have a lot of common goals and interests."

He added, "We need to protect our water resources, including the Ogallala water reservoir."

Davis said the dairy indus-

"It will not only effect people in the dairy business, but people in the feed grain business," Davis said.

In addition to Davis's recent successful bid as mayor of Portales, there is another story of success to tell about him.

He is a man who has built a successful business out of virtually nothing.

Davis is owner of Valley

Furniture in Portales, a business he started in 1956.

When Davis opened his first store, Valley TV, it was located in back of the Gold Star Shamrock Station on North Lusk comes to Tolk Station from Hobbs, N.M., where he had been manager of SPS's Maddox Station Power plant since 1988.

Lusk began his career in Hobbs in 1979 as a plant engineer at Maddox. Later, he became a supervisory engineer at the plant.

He then was plant services superintendent at SPS's Harrington Station power plant in Amarillo, before transferring back to Maddox Station as manager.

Lusk holds a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from New Mexico State University. He has been active in the Rotary Club and Taylor Memorial Baptist Church in Hobbs.

Dan Lusk

Lusk and his wife Brenda have two children.

Coal-fueled Tolk Station is SPS's latest power plant, having been completed in 1985. Its two generating units are the largest on the SPS system.

Approximately 120 employees operate the plant, which provides roughly one-third of the electricity used by customers in the SPS service area.

Today is National Agriculture Day in America

There was once a Texan farmer who came to town twice a week, each time going to the feed store and buying ten ax handles. After awhile, curiosity got the better of the storekeeper. He said, "What are you doing with all these ax handles?" "Selling them," was the reply. "I'm getting five dollars apiece." The storekeeper was shocked. "That's crazy!" You're paying me seven!" The farmer replied "I know, but it sure beats farming!"

A joke? Sure it is, but unfortunately, it's gallows humor that many Texas farmers and ranchers find less than amusing. I hope that our future in agriculture is a lot brighter than that, and I expect it to be. Still, for agriculture to achieve its potential, we must see a change in attitude from some of our elected officials, regulators and professional activists. Traditionally, on the first day of Spring we observe National Agriculture Day. This year, this celebration of the world's most successful food and fiber production machine falls on March 20.

It is an event worthy of celebration, but agriculture is an industry with many unresolved problems. Many in Congress would all but eliminate price supports for agriculture. Others would impose so many

This annual observance directs the attention of the nation to the important contributions made by the U.S. food and fiber production industry to our national well being.

AUSTIN - In Texas, an average farm or ranch grossed about $78,000 in 1992, but after paying expenses for nearly $59,000 saw a profit of only about $19,000, according to the latest economic figures.

Gross income included money earned for crop and livestock sales, property rentals, home consumption of production and other farm-related income.

Expenses included on average about $8,400 for feed; $8,400 for livestock; $4,600 for interest payments on land and equipment; $4,400 for labor; $2,300 for fuel and oil; almost $1,000 for electricity and $1,700 for property taxes.

Each year, Texas agriculture earns about $12 billion in cash receipts and generates more than $36 billion dollars in economic activity across the Lone Star State.

However, at the supermarket, farmers earn only about a quarter for every dollar spent.

In Texas, agricultural production more than likely involves cattle, cotton, hay, sorghum and winter wheat. Other major Lone Star State crops include barley, corn, grapefruit, oat, oranges, peaches, peanuts, pecans, potatoes, rice, rye, soybeans, sugar beets, sugarcane, sunflowers, sweet potatoes and vegetables.

The state's 185,000 farms and ranches encompass 130 million acres with each operation averaging more than 700 acres. Each acre of land including buildings in Texas is valued at $470 on average.

Southwestern Public Service Company provides electric service to a population of about one million people in a 52,000 square-mile area. The area includes eastern and southeastern New Mexico, the South Plains and Panhandle of Texas, the Oklahoma Panhandle and southwestern Kansas.

and his gnawing encounters with "Red Rock" the 1987 Bucking Bull of the Year.

In talking with Josh Graham, one of the Armadillos, one gets the idea that they are as excited to be coming to Muleshoe, as we are looking forward to having them here.

Josh says he has been to Texas, but has never been to Muleshoe. He says "I think it's gonna' be great. It sounds like fun."

When asked where the most exciting place the band has played before, he says it had to be when the band opened for Willie Nelson in Tulare, California, just because Willie is such a legend.

From Muleshoe, the Smokin' Armadillos will go to Tucson, Arizona, and on to Pasadena, Texas on the 16th of April. On the 22nd they will be back near home turf in Fresno, California.

With all of the familiar surroundings of the recording studios, it seems the Armadillos are most at home on stage.

According to them, one of the most exciting things about traveling and doing concerts is the crowd, along with the fact that they get to travel so far away.

This is your golden opportunity to see this young and talented band on stage. Tickets will be $8.00 for adults, (or $15.00 per couple) and $5.00 for children. They may be purchased at Joe's Boot Shop at 106 E. American Blvd., Muleshoe, TX or KKYC Studios, 1000 Sycamore, Clovis, NM.

Main Street in Portales. At the time, Davis was the only employee.

After four moves and 37 years, Davis has established a prime business location in downtown Portales and employs eight people.

"We started from nothing; a very small television repair business," Davis said. "We have had wonderful growth through the years."

Davis attributes the growth of his business to the town, saying, "We have grown with the community."

Davis and his wife Gertrude have three children and five grandchildren.

Davis graduated from Portales High School in 1953.

He attended college for a year, where he took business courses, and opened his business in 1956.

Davis said he plans to stay in Portales, where he has been involved in industrial and economic development.

Davis was instrumental in helping bring a milk-processing plant to Portales.

He is also a member of the Portales Progressive Partners and Board of Economic Development.

Davis was president for 17 years of the Portales Development Corporation.

regulations that it will become impossible to participate. Before we allow anything drastic to happen, it might be useful to remember why we have federal farm programs.

Agriculture is a business that is extremely risky. Weather and other factors can have a profound effect on our food supply. The farm program actually plans a surplus to get us through droughts and other natural disasters.

Farm programs also have an effect of holding down market prices for consumers. On average, Americans spend about 11 percent of disposable income on food. This is the lowest in the world. Without income protection for farmers, prices would rise to much higher levels.

Historically, government has manipulated markets for political reasons. Embergoes, tariffs, trade sanctions and actions that ensure cheap food for consumers, have all had an impact on farm prices.

Federal regulations add heavy costs to agriculture. If these actions are necessary, it is also necessary to support the farm families. In the process, the American people are assured of an adequate, high quality and reasonably priced supply of food and fiber.

From the consumer's standpoint, it may be one of the most outrageously successful programs in history. It would make more sense to argue that the Dallas Cowboys are not the best team in the NFL.

Farmers and ranchers, however, are not enjoying an end zone celebration of this food and fiber miracle. Instead, we are under attack by elements that range from the ill informed to those that should know better. The public is generally not aware that farm program benefits are but a small percentage of the USDA budget. USDA feeds millions of school children, many of them for free. Rural development, nutrition training and many other worthwhile programs fall under the huge umbrella of what Abraham Lincoln called, "The peoples' department."

Add it all up and farm program benefits total less than one percent of the federal budget...not a bad price tag for food security.

Our farm program is an investment in the future. A trip to any grocery store, filled with high quality food, should convince anyone that U.S. farm programs have served consumers well...Food for thought on National Agriculture Day. Bob Stallman, President Texas Farm Bureau

Kemp, Russell united in marriage

Keisha Lynn Kemp became the bride of Casey Don Russell in a candlelight ceremony, at 7:00 p.m. Saturday, February 12, 1994 at First Assembly of God Church in Muleshoe. Jerald Middaugh, pastor of South Lawn Assembly of God in Amarillo and uncle of the bride performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kemp of Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Russell of Lazbuddie. The bride is the grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kemp of Muleshoe, Avis Haney of Muleshoe and L.V. Haney of Levelland. The grooms grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. D.W. Russell of Arlington and Mr. and Mrs. T.S. Peters of Mt. Pleasant.

Missi Jesco registered guests on a table covered with white linen and lace, accented by a candlelight centerpiece.

Prelude music was rendered by Wayland Ethridge as Chad Kemp, cousin of the bride, and Clint Russell, brother of the groom, ushered guests. They wore black tuxedos co-ordinal to the groom's.

Wanda Kemp, grandmother of the bride, sang "I Was Meant To Be With You".

As the instrumental of "My Only Love" began, the groom entered, attired in a black full dress tuxedo, featuring satin yokes accents, front and back with matching single button satin trimmed vest. He wore the traditional white wing-collared pleated shirt with black cross over tie. Black Wranglers and boots completed his attire.

Casey was accompanied by his best man, Craig Russell, brother of the groom. Monty Black, cousin of the bride and Burton Busse, cousin of the groom served as groomsmen. They were attired in full dress black tuxedos, co-ordinal to the grooms.

Bride's maid Dawnda Magby, friend of the bride, bride's Matron Brittini Black, cousin of the bride, and maid of honor Jamie Kemp, sister of the bride, made their entrance. They wore elegant floor length gowns of red satin with bustle and fabric flower in the back.

The bride's attendants carried a single white calla lily accented with red tubing, morning glory leaves and white crystal spray, giving a light gentle form.

Flower girl, Mandy Haney entered carrying a delicate white lace and tulle basket, decorated with miniature calla lilies, red hearts and ribbon. She wore a floor length dress of white satin. Satin hearts and ribbon rosettes accented the shoulders and bustle in back.

The ring bearer, Cory Wallace, accompanied the flower girl down the aisle. He was attired in a full dress black tuxedo featuring satin yoke accents. He carried a heart shaped satin pillow, decorated with red hearts and ribbon.

The bride, escorted by her father, entered the sanctuary. She was adorned in an elegant white satin gown by the designers of Bonny Bridals. The ultra contemporary gown featured an open vee neckline complimented with full length tapered sleeves. The straight skirt was body hugging to the knees then flaired to a beautiful fullness. Delicate schiffli lace embellished with pearls and sequins adorned the bodice and sleeves of the gown. Keisha wore a waist length veil of illusion tulle with a back spray of satin roses and pearls. She carried an exquisite cascade of large white calla lilies with morning glory leaves. White lace and satin ribbon perfected the bouquet.

For her something old, Keisha wore her great-grandmother's gold ring. Her something new was her wedding gown. For something borrowed she wore a diamond tennis bracelet, belonging to Ray An Doshier, friend of the family. Her something blue was a blue garter.

Following the ceremony, guests were invited to the fellowship hall for the reception. The bride's table was covered with a lace table cloth and perfected with scallops of white tulle and bows of red satin. It featured a three tier heart shaped cake, pillars and topped with a cowboy bride and groom surrounded by a lace heart, and adorned with white roses. Chanda Kemp and Jennifer Scott served the cake from crystal appointments.

The groom's table was covered with a white lace table cloth coordinating with the bride's table, enhanced with memorandum of the groom. Jodie Morris served cake and coffee in crystal appointments.

The house party consisted of Lona Embry, Jackie Whatley, Debbie Jo Kemp, Sheryl Morris, Terry Thomas, and Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Bradshaw.

Special out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Enis Galyon, Linda Evans, Lisa Hart, Kevin Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Youngblood, Jo Ann Haney, Debra Scott, Cynthia Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Burton, Mrs. Jerald Middaugh, Jerad Middaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Chad Cunningham, and Geri Allen.

The couple are now making their home in the Pleasant Valley community.

Protect your rights! "Render" your taxable property by April 14th.

A "rendition" is a report to the appraisal district that lists all the taxable property you owned or controlled on January 1st of this year. The rendition form is available at your local appraisal district office... or you may draft a similar form.

Who must file a rendition?
You must file a rendition if you own tangible personal property that is used to produce income—such as the inventory and equipment used by a business.

Are there any advantages to you?
The advantages of filing a rendition are:
 ☑ You give your opinion of your property's value. If the appraisal district believes the value is higher, it must notify you in writing of the higher value and explain how you can protest that value to the appraisal review board.
 ☑ You record your correct mailing address so your tax bills will go to the right address. If your bill is mailed to the wrong address, the law still holds you responsible for paying your taxes on time or paying extra charges for late payments.
 ☑ You can also file a "report of decreased value" to notify the appraisal district of significant depreciation of the value of your property in 1993. The district will look at your property before assigning a value in 1994.

What's the deadline?
The last day for filing or postmarking 1994 renditions is Thursday, April 14. You can get an extra 15 days if you ask for it in writing by the April 14 deadline.

Where do you file?
File renditions with your local appraisal district at:

The Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture would like to thank all those who participated in the Annual Chamber Banquet. It has been termed a "success" as there were some 300 people in attendance, who seemed to enjoy the festivities.

The Chamber recently received a letter from Ray Stone in which he said this was one "Muleshoe — The Real Kick of West Texas" slogan was officially adopted by the Chamber Board, and a logo is currently being prepared.

Jennyslipper President, Rhonda Calvery, reported that they are currently working on the Easter Egg Hunt to be held Saturday, March 26 in the new City Park.

Plans are now underway for the July 4th activities. A letter will be going out soon from the Chamber office to all the civic clubs. Clubs are asked to consider having some type of activity on July 4th, and let the Chamber office know what you plan to do so that it can be a coordinated effort. The Chamber office needs the information by June 1st, if possible. Some of the suggested activities include: turtle races, mule pattie bingo, tractor pull, breakfast, dunkin board, funnel cake cooking, 10K run and bicycle run. The Chamber board will cook hamburgers and there will be entertainment in the park followed by the traditional fireworks.

A Spring Business Seminar was discussed. Someone suggested that shoplifting could be a good topic to be addressed. This will be discussed further at future meetings.

The questionnaires are still being completed. The board was reminded that they should all be done by April 1st. If you have any suggestions for the Chamber board of activities or things that the Chamber can do for you or your business, please contact the Chamber office.

Persistence Pays

As a small boy, I watched a pile-driving machine at work. The operator pulled a huge weight to the top and turned it loose to come crashing down on the steel column. Though the impact shook the ground under my bare feet, the piling hardly moved at all. I soon tired of watching the machine make noise but apparently accomplish little else.

It was not until some years later that I began to understand and appreciate the pile-driving process. Its results are cumulative. The pile-driver must keep pounding away, even if it isn't making any visible progress. Persistence pays off in the long run.

For small businesses, persistence is one of the basic ingredients for prospering. Persistence is the continual striving toward the goal that ultimately guarantees your success. At times, you may feel that you aren't getting anywhere. When you feel this way, just remember the pile-driver. Keep hammering away until you have built a firm foundation. It is steadfastness of purpose that drives many businesses to prosperity.

One of the ways you can make continual progress as an entrepreneur is to stay focused on where you are going. Only when you have an achievable goal in sight can you measure your success.

I believe you should write your goals into a formal business plan. The planning process is a prerequisite to success. Plan the work, then work the plan.

The conquering of Mount Everest in 1953 is a good example of planning and persistence. Although only two men made the final assault on the summit, their success was the culmination of months of preparation. The project team included more than 300 packers, climbers and support personnel. They established supply bases at strategic points and stockpiled tons of supplies and equipment. Sir Edmund's team didn't just decide to go for a hike that day, they had a plan. Their success in reaching the top was a direct result of following a plan.

You will be more likely to reach the summit of personal and financial success if you first determine a course for your business. If you stay focused on that course, persistence will allow you to accomplish the most difficult objectives.

"Gentleman Jim" Corbett was one of the toughest bare-knuckled boxers ever to enter the ring. His personal motto, "fight one more round," became a tribute to his persistence. Corbett said, "When your feet are so tired you have to shuffle back to the center of the ring—fight one more round. When your arms are so tired that you can hardly lift your hands to come on guard—fight one more round is never whipped." Corbett practiced persistence. He won his first fight in the twenty-eighth round!

When business drags you down and you feel like quitting, keep on trying. Think of the pile-driver, Sir Edmund and Gentleman Jim, and keep hammering away.

Take a moment and reflect on some of America's great examples of persistence. Remember Thomas Edison who had hundreds of failures before he lit up our lives. Remember Abraham Lincoln who failed in business and lost several elections before becoming President of the United States. Remember Colonel

Sanders who was 66 and nearly penniless when he founded

Kentucky Fried Chicken.

And, of course, don't forget Tommy Putzer. Who is he, you ask? Tommy is the guy who only tried a couple of times, then gave up.

round. When your nose is bleeding and your eyes are black and you are so tired you wish your opponent would crack you on the jaw and put you to sleep—fight one more round—remembering that the man who always fights one more round is never whipped." Corbett practiced persistence. He won his first fight in the twenty-eighth round!

A Dragon Named Eustace

Eustace Scrubb was a dragon. Yes, I know we don't believe in dragons. Neither did Eustace, but a quick glance at his scaly arm (or claw) and a brief snort of fire from his nostrils necessitated a hasty reappraisal of his previous position of disbelief.

Curtis
Shelburne

He hadn't always been a dragon. Once not very long ago he had been a little boy—a surly, selfish, snobbish boy, but a boy nonetheless. In fact, since he was quite sure that he'd been a genuine human being when he rose that very morning, he was under the impression that the transformation from boy to dragon had been amazingly rapid.

He was wrong. Scrubb had been on the road from boy to dragon for quite some time, although the physical change had indeed been very recent and quite sudden. In fact, each time the boy Eustace had chosen to be selfish and "sit on his treasure" or to be abusive and spew words of fire he had become more and more beastly and that much less human. The transformation from human to fiery serpent was really not sudden at all.

It rarely is. Like this little boy from one of C. S. Lewis' children's stories, we all are being changed slowly but very surely. With each day and each decision, we plot our courses in one of two directions. Jesus himself has given us the choices. Either we enshrine him as Lord of our lives and allow him to change us into his likeness, or we bow down to change us into his likeness, or we bow down to ourselves and our own passions and become, like Eustace, monstrous.

Most of us are quite familiar with the predicament of Eustace Scrubb. We rush through life and only begin to see what our carnal dispositions have made of us when we catch a glimpse of our reflections—and, all too often, green, scaly, fire-breathing creatures peer back! What then?

Then we either proceed on the course which has begun to destroy our humanity or (like Eustace later in the story) we allow the Son of Man to peel the scaly serpent skins off, washing us, and healing us with His blood.

Curtis Shelburne is the minister of the 16th and Ave. D. Church of Christ in Muleshoe.

Isaac, Bayouth honored at wedding shower

The home of Lisa and Don McElroy was the sight of a wedding shower given in honor of Debbie Isaac and Charlie Bayouth.

Doyce Turner, Tony Barrier and James Brown greeted guests as they arrived, and Nancy Barrier registered them at the registration table.

A vegetable dip with broccoli, carrots, celery, cauliflower, pickled okra, olives, pickles, chips and dip, and individual cheese cakes and coffee were all served to guests from copper and crystal appointments.

The serving table was adorned with a St. Patrick's theme - green and white table clothes, green and white napkins, and a tree house with leprechans and four leaf clovers all accented the centerpiece.

Special guests were Cindy Fitzgerald, sister of the bride-elect and John Isaac, brother of the bride-elect.

Hostesses presented the couple with a carved oriental cedar chest.

Hostesses for the occasion were Nancy and Tony Barrier, Sue and Travis Bessire, Diane and James Brown, Julie and J.D. Cagé, Lynn and Buck Campbell, Elaine and Sam Damron, Sydna Flowers, Sammie and Larry Hall, Cindy and Kelly Harrison, Melba and Joe King, Pat and Max King, Lisa and Don McElroy, Pam

Police Chief is avid collector of patches

By Jolene Franklin
Special to the Journal

Collectors come in all shapes, sizes and genders. What they collect is an entirely different matter.

One of Muleshoe's most avid collectors is Police Chief Julian Dominguez. His passion is collecting the patches of law enforcement agencies.

Julian's collection of more than 400 patches is displayed on one of his office walls at the Muleshoe Police Station. He has collected patches not only from the surrounding area, but from all over the nation and some foreign countries.

"The harder a patch is to get, the more it is appreciated," Julian said.

Two of his most prized patches represent law enforcement agencies in the South African state of Rhodesia, and Mexico.

"Sometimes, you have to have connections to obtain these patches," Julian said. "If you have no connection; no fellow collector, it's almost impossible to get the patches you desire."

Foreign patches in Dominguez's collection include patches from Canada, Australia and Indonesia.

Julian is a Muleshoe native and life-long resident. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Dominguez, are also long-time residents, having moved to Muleshoe in 1954.

He began his career in law enforcement in Muleshoe in 1980, after choosing the police department over the military. He chose the police department because it was similar to the military and allowed him to remain in Muleshoe and serve the people of his hometown.

Julian began collecting patches in his first year on the job, after seeing the collection of a Lubbock police officer. The history of the patches intrigued him, especially those of the Muleshoe Police Department.

Julian found that a total of seven patches have been worn over the years by MPD officers. His collection contains all seven and they share a prominent position in his display.

Julian began his collection with a Muleshoe Police Department patch and followed that with a patch from the Lubbock International Airport police.

Former Acting Police Chief Jerry Hicks, who was Julian's boss before leaving the job several years ago, gave Julian's collection a big boost. Hicks left Julian 20 of his patches. It was the largest group Julian received at one time and was much appreciated.

Julian has recently expanded his interest in patches with the design of a new MPD patch. Slightly larger than the current MPD patch, the new design incorporates royal blue and white and shows up well on a uniform sleeve.

"The patch collection in my office is my personal collection," Dominguez said. "The Police Department also has it's own collection, which includes patches from almost all of the 50 states."

Dominguez's collection of U.S. patches include New York, Florida, Hawaii, Wisconsin, Alaska, Arizona and Illinois.

In addition, Dominguez collects patches from different federal agencies. He has patches from the Border Patrol, The Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF) and the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA).

Two Christmases ago, Julian's wife Connie asked him what he wanted for Christmas. Julian got exactly what he asked for — money to buy more patches for his collection.

Collecting patches is catching on around the Dominguez home as well. Julian's son, nine-year-old Andy, recently started his own collection of police patches with help from his parents.

Connie, who owns Connie's Place restaurant in downtown Muleshoe, is somewhat of a collector too. Displayed in her restaurant, in a huge variety of colors and designs, are men's caps.

Julian's passion for patch collecting continues. His next project is to acquire patches from a couple of not-so-official police departments. He hopes to add department patches from the television classics "Hill Street Blues" and from the Mayberry Police Department from the "Andy Griffith Show."

WALL OF PATCHES — (Right) Muleshoe Police Chief Julian Dominguez has a collection of more than 400 patches from law enforcement and federal agencies on the wall in his office. His son Andy (left) has also taken up the hobby.

50th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY — Lloyd and Elsie Williams will be honored with a 50th wedding anniversary reception Saturday, March 26th from 2:00 until 5:00 p.m. at the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church in Muleshoe. The event will be hosted by David and Judy Pierce of Bursleson, TX; Gary and Jo McCray of Muleshoe, and Andy and Jane Ponder of Highland Village, TX; everyone is welcome to attend.

Puckett places second, moves to state

Amanda Puckett, 8th grade student at Howe Middle School in Howe, won second place in the individual competition of this year's annual regional MATHCOUNTS math contest held at the Paris Junior College on Feb. 5.

It was sponsored by the Texas Society of Professional Engineers and the Nations-Bank.

This performance rewarded Amanda and her coach, Margaret Troxtell, with an all-expenses paid trip to Austin to participate in the State Contest held on March 4-5.

Amanda is the daughter of Logan and Kathy Puckett and the granddaughter of Jack and Alice LeBleu of Howe and Barbara and Richard Puckett of Muleshoe. She is the niece of Nelda Merriott and Wannie Frazier, also of Muleshoe.

Rebekah News

By Ina Wilemon

March 8, 1994, we didn't have lodge as the roads were icy, bad weather-

March 15, there were seventeen members present. Patsy Chance, Becci Venzor and Mary Ann Ramirez furnished refreshments for tonight. The refreshments each week are different and always very good. Thanks to each of you. The conductor station is vacant so the Installing Team installed Velma Howell as conductor. Was reported Ruby Garner daughter-in-law passed away, also Jessie Robinson passed away.

Papers were read pertaining to a new member. We will be having installation of this new member sometime soon. Several members may be gone a few days to our state meeting. Everyone going have a good and safe trip.

Our musician Clara Lou was present and oh how wonderful. We miss her so much if not present.

A variety of homestead exemptions could lower your property taxes!

A homestead exemption lowers the property taxes on your home by lowering its taxable value. If your home is valued at $50,000 and you receive a $5,000 homestead exemption, your home will be taxed as if it were worth $45,000.

Who qualifies for an exemption?

Anyone who owned a home on January 1st (and used it as their primary residence on that date) is entitled to a $5,000 homestead exemption to lower their school taxes this year... and it doesn't matter if your home is a house, condominium or mobile home. (Counties, cities and special taxing districts may also offer homestead exemptions.)

Are other exemptions available?

If you're disabled—or if you're 65 years old or older—you are entitled to an additional $10,000 school tax exemption on your home. And if you qualify for the over-65 exemption, you're also entitled to a permanent, locked-in "ceiling" on the school property taxes on your home. (The ceiling does not apply to county or city property taxes, and those entities may offer other exemptions.)

Do I have to apply each year?

No. If you had a homestead exemption on your home in 1993, you won't need to reapply for 1994 unless your chief appraiser requires it. However, if you haven't received an exemption on your present home—or if you've moved to a new home—you'll need to file for an exemption for 1994. And if you turned 65 or became disabled during 1993, you need to file for the additional exemptions.

When and where should I file?

File applications by April 30 at your appraisal district office. If you need more time, contact us at:

SAFE AND SECURE

How confidently he sleeps. Mother and Daddy are in the next room. Teddy Bear is right beside him. We, also, desire a feeling of confident security. We want to do good and live with honor in this life, free of the fear of falling into sin. God wants this for us, too. And He sees and knows how hard we try. -In the New Testament, Jude writes, "God is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy." Pledge yourself to Him and attend church this week.
