Mosquito control efforts continue

The City of Pampa has begun fogging residential areas for mosquitoes and insects for the fourth time this summer. Kimberly Lincycomb, public service superintendent, reminds citizens who do not want their property sprayed to call 669-5760, ext. 3. The chemicals Permethrin and Pyrocyde are dispersed through an ultra low volume sprayer. A larvicide, Bacillus thuringiensis, Serotype H-14, has been applied to Red Deer Creek. Roundup Pro and Pendiflex, herbicides, are being applied to grass and weeds on the streets, Lincycomb said.

A-bomb test threat hangs over summit

BEIJING (AP) — With days of delicate diplomacy shaken by North Korea's threat to test an atomic bomb, a six-country summit ended Friday with the only success anyone expected — a commitment for more talks to resolve the ominous dispute over Pyongyang's nuclear program. Tension persisted between the United States and North Korea as the three-day conference ended. Pyongyang brought out the brinkmanship and bluster that has characterized its diplomacy in recent years, but also, more obliquely, signaled it wouldn't be averse to a compromise. And China said all six countries had agreed not to "escalate the situation" as long as dialogue continued.

"The DPRK and the U.S. should make clear their will to clear up bilateral concerns," the North's official news agency, KCNA, said Friday, using the abbreviation for the country's full name, the Democratic People's Republic of Korea.

"The DPRK will clarify its will to dismantle its nuclear program if the U.S. makes clear its will to give up its hostile policy," KCNA said.

According to a U.S. government official who spoke on condition of anonymity, North Korean Deputy Foreign Minister Kim Yong Il said at the talks Thursday that his country has the means to deliver nuclear weapons. He also said the North would

Trooper discovers marijuana in trunk

Trooper David O'Brien pulled a 2002 Mazda Protege over for speeding at approximately 1:30 p.m., Thursday, Aug. 28, in the east bound lane of I-40 and seized 5 1/2 pounds of marijuana from the trunk of the vehicle over the course of the stop. Department of Public Safety officials said today.

Christian Albrecht, 22, of Chesterfield, Mo., was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana over 4 ounces/under 5 pounds, according to Gray County Jail records. DPS officials said only the car's driver was arrested. It was unclear if there was anyone else in the vehicle.

Justice of the Peace Joe Martinez, Precinct 1, set bond at $15,000 on the charge, jail officials said, adding that Albrecht has posted bond.

Prop. 12 campaigns gear up for early voting

BY APRIL CASTRO
 ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

AUSTIN (AP) — As Texans began casting early ballots on Thursday for the upcoming constitutional amendment election, activists from all over the political spectrum scattered across the state in an attempt to jump-start historically low voter turnout in their favor. Twenty-two proposed amendments are on the Sept. 13 ballot, but the focus of an intense media blitz has been on Proposition 12, which would change the Constitution to allow the Legislature to set limits on non-economic damages, such as pain and suffering, in medical malpractice and other civil lawsuits.

Proponents say the proposition is vital to address a state crisis of losing doctors, particularly in rural areas, to the skyrocketing costs of medical malpractice insurance. But, opponents argue that the legislation goes too far, destroying the government's system of checks and balances and stripping Texans of their access to the court system. At the Capitol Thursday, a group of consumer watchdogs gathered, sporting their "Vote NO on Prop 12" insignia, to blast the legislation as a product of lobbyists and big money.

Ranchers sell cattle due to heat, rain lack

BY BETSY BLANEY
 ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

LUBBOCK (AP) — Panhandle rancher E.G. Collard III says he may have to sell up to a third of his 1,000 head of cattle because of a multiyear drought and soaring temperatures.

His stock tanks are drying up, and the foraging grass his cows eat is so dry it'll soon break off and blow away.

The last time West Texas had any substantial rain was late June. Across the region, rainfall amounts are several inches behind the normal average. Parts of the Panhandle, for example, are up to 4 inches below normal.

Collard has already started selling some of his herd, and others are considering taking their sheep and cattle to market.

"It just seems like the moisture won't catch up," said Collard, 60, who grazes his cattle on 30,000 acres he leases from the owners of the Frying Pan Ranch near Amarillo. "We'll have a good spell and it'll last a month or so and then all of a sudden it forgets to rain anymore."

Cattle ranchers in Far West Texas and the Big Bend area also are enduring another year of drought, said Matt Brockman, executive vice president of the Texas and

WEATHER FOCUS

PAMPA

The forecast today is calling for a 70 percent chance of numerous showers and thunderstorms, highs in the lower 80s and variable winds 5 to 10 mph, shifting to the northeast 5 to 15 mph. Tonight should see more showers and thunderstorms, lows in the lower 60s and northeast winds 10 to 20 mph. Saturday should be mostly cloudy with a 50 percent chance of showers and thunderstorms. Highs in the upper 70s. Northeast winds 10 to 15 mph. Saturday night, mostly cloudy with a 30 percent chance of showers and thunderstorms. Lows in the upper 50s. Northeast winds 10 to 15 mph. Sunday, partly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of showers and thunderstorms. Highs in the upper 70s. North winds 10 to 15 mph with higher gusts.

STATEWIDE

More scattered rain is forecast today, but rain will be more widespread as a cold front moves through the state Saturday.
 The front will move slowly, bringing the possibility of some prolonged, heavy rains in north and west Texas.
 Southeast Texas will see rain through Labor Day.

Farther south, the cold front will increase chances of rain Sunday and Monday.
 Hail, strong winds and frequent lightning are possible in many of these storms.
 The West Texas forecast calls for scattered storms today, except for organized activity in the southern and eastern Panhandle where storms will be numerous. Rains should end Saturday night in the north and Sunday in the south and west. Highs today will be in the 80s and low 90s in the north, and 90s in the south and west.

 The cooldown comes Saturday, with highs mostly in the 70s in the north, around 80 in the west, and mid 80s in the south. Temperatures will warm slowly beginning Sunday, but highs should remain mostly in the 80s until early next week. Skies will be mostly cloudy Saturday, otherwise partly cloudy.

South Texas will see scattered rain in the southeast today, with some strong storms possible, but the main threat will be heavy rain. The cold front will bring good chances of rain Sunday and Monday in the deep south and Coastal Bend, and will increase chances of rain in Southeast Texas.

prove it had nuclear devices by testing them.

North Korea's strident rhetoric is well-known and it has made such intimidating statements before, leading some to caution against a rush to judgment based on its comments.

"We've seen these tantrum tactics before, usually in response to a U.S. refusal to acquiesce to the North's demands," Molly Pickett, director of the Nonproliferation Project at the Center for Arms Control and Nonproliferation in Washington, said in a statement.

According to South Korea and China, the countries agreed they want to solve the problem peacefully — and address North Korea's security concerns as well. Where and when the next talks will take place haven't been decided.

"I believe these issues can be resolved," Wang Yi, China's vice foreign minister, said in a statement on behalf of all six participants. "What is important is to maintain this momentum of dialogue that has not come easily."

He acknowledged, "the differences between the two sides are comprehensive."

There was no immediate comment from the United States after the talks ended.

A pact to meet again was about the best anyone had predicted out of the six-country conference, which convened Wednesday and brought together the United States, the two Koreas, Japan, China and Russia. "No one expected this first round of talks would produce agreement on all issues," said Deputy Foreign Minister Lee Soo-hyuck, the head of South Korea's delegation.

Russian Deputy Foreign Minister Alexander Losyukov agreed. "There was no failure. But there was no breakthrough either," Losyukov said, according to Russia's Interfax news agency. "It is not surprising."

Mitoji Yabunaka, head of the Japanese delegation, said there were differences but "what's important from now is how we overcome these differences. For that, I think continuing the process of these six-member talks is important."

The United States says North Korea must end its nuclear program immediately. The North says it won't rule that out — but won't even consider it until key demands, such as a nonaggression pact with Washington and humanitarian aid, are met.

In Washington, the U.S. State Department said only that the American goal is to focus on "the complete, verifiable and irreversible elimination" of North Korea's nuclear weapons program. U.S. Assistant Secretary of State James Kelly did not comment to reporters as he left his Beijing hotel for the final talks Friday.

As the talks ended, KCNA released what it said was the speech that Kim delivered to the conference Wednesday. Its contents signaled, behind the rhetoric, a willingness by the North to continue negotiations by saying both sides should take "simultaneous actions" to resolve the issue.

Kim demanded the United States resume shipments of oil, expand humanitarian aid and sign a nonaggression treaty.

"In return," KCNA quoted him as saying, "North Korea does not make nuclear weapons and allows inspections and ultimately dismangles nuclear facilities and suspends missile test-firing and halts missile exports."

North Korea had confirmed privately to U.S. officials in April during talks in China that it possessed nuclear weapons. But Kim's statement Thursday is believed to be its first such acknowledgment in a formal setting.

All the governments represented in Beijing had expressed varying degrees of opposition to the North's nuclear programs. China, a longtime ally, also has said repeatedly that it wants a nuclear-free Korean Peninsula.

Its delegation leader, Wang, said American officials pledged they weren't trying to do in North Korea what they did in Iraq.

"The U.S. said that the U.S. had no intention to threaten North Korea, no intention to invade North Korea, no intention to work for regime change in North Korea," Wang said.

special interest groups.

Craig McDonald, director of Texans for Public Justice, which tracks money in Texas politics, said the amendment would take power away from communities, judges and juries.

"Prop. 12 gives the Texas Legislature the absolute unfettered power to grant these special interest groups special protections from the harm they might cause in the future," McDonald said.

"Prop. 12 dismantles the checks and balances system that's been the backbone of our government. ... It's an unprecedented free pass for the Legislature to grant special favors and backroom deals that will be forever protected from judicial review. This is too much power to grant any legislative body, particularly too much power to grant the Texas Legislature."

A few blocks away, at Brackenridge Hospital, doctors flaunting their "Yes on 12!" paraphernalia gathered to hail Proposition 12 as the savior of their profession in Texas.

"Health care lawsuit abuse has created a statewide medical emergency in Texas," said Charles Bailey, president of the Texas Medical Association. "Three-quarters of the medical liability underwriters already have left the state. Half of Texas physicians are forced to reduce services to patients or shun high-risk cases."

Elsewhere in the state, First Lady Anita Perry joined rallies sponsored by the "Yes on 12!"

committee in Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio.

"Proposition 12 protects our families and ensures that all Texans receive the kind of medical care they deserve," Perry said. "Proposition 12 ensures that doctors, nurses and emergency rooms are open for business and delivering care in Texas' urban, rural and border communities."

Meanwhile on Thursday, Save Texas Courts began airing a television ad pleading with voters to oppose the measure.

"Now politicians and lobbyists for HMOs and big insurance want to take power away from courts and juries," an announcer says in the commercial. "And insurance lobbyists want to rewrite our constitution to limit our courts and protect their special interests. Vote NO on Proposition 12, and save Texas courts."

Early voting, which began Thursday, lasts until Sept. 9, the Tuesday before the Saturday election.

The Secretary of State's Office has not given a projection on voter turnout for the election, but turnout typically is low for constitutional amendment elections. It has hovered between 6 and 10 percent in recent years and hasn't topped 10 percent since 1997, officials say.

Constitutional amendment elections usually are held on a Tuesday in November. Because this election is on a weekend, more voters may want to consider voting early, said Ann McGeehan, elections director for the Secretary of State's Office.

CATTLE

Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in Fort Worth.

Lack of water isn't the only reason ranchers are taking their cattle to market. Good market prices and the end of the growing season for foraging grasses also may be prodding ranchers to sell, Brockman said.

He said without rain to quench the land, there won't be enough grass to feed stock through the winter and ranchers would have to endure the extra expense of buying supplemental feed.

Across the U.S., a beef shortage has increased meat prices at grocery stores, but Brockman said West Texas ranchers selling their stock now won't do much to affect the shortage on a nationwide scale.

Bob Robinson, director of the Texas Cooperative Extension office in Amarillo, said reducing livestock population is the most common way for ranchers to deal with the loss in foraging grasses caused by drought.

"They have to do something," he said.

In Runnels County, Allen Belk has been raising sheep since 1970.

He said conditions are the worst they've ever been. "We've had sell 50 percent of our stock," he said. "There's not enough for them to eat."

Collard, meanwhile, is holding out for a rainy future.

"It will rain," the 60-year-old said. "Someday."

Christian comedian challenges believers with anger, sarcasm

By JIM PATTERSON
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

BRENTWOOD, Tenn. (AP) — Stalking the stage like a hyperactive child, spouting caustic jokes about airplane travel and bad drivers, Brad Stine starts out looking and sounding like a hundred other comedians.

But look in the audience on Stine's new DVD, "Put a Helmet On" (Perpetual Entertainment). The guy laughing in the front row — a pew, really — is the Rev. Jerry Falwell.

And when Stine talks about being afraid to fly after Sept. 11, he says he thanked God after landing safely. "I'm a theist," he says. "I do believe that there is an intelligent designer. I do believe that there is a purpose and value to life. And I do bring up God a lot in my shows."

"You know why? Because I miss him. I miss God in my country."

Stine, 43, a veteran of the mainstream comedy club circuit, has taken to preaching to the choir. He's performing his Christian comedy act in venues like Falwell's Thomas Road Baptist Church in Lynchburg, Va., where the DVD was filmed. He's also performing on this year's Promise Keepers tour, where men are exhorted to be better Christians.

Popular culture lionizes "all the comics that are edgy, like Chris Rock, George Carlin, Dennis Miller," Stine said. "They always curse a lot, they always say sexual things ... and they're rattling cages, smashing taboos. So I decided to go into the Christian arena and rattle their cages."

Stine says he was embarrassed by the way Christianity was represented in American culture: "We've come to say that Christianity comes in this spineless, milquetoast, aw-shucks Branson Mo., 'Hee-Haw' comedy show mentality. And I say, 'Says who?'"

Falwell calls Stine "a brilliant communicator, who differs from other Christian comedians because of his depth and content."

"He doesn't mind getting controversial in order to jar people into thinking. But he's so gracious in the way he does it, that even those who disagree with him don't get angry," Falwell said.

Raised a nondenominational Christian in Indiana and Southern California (his parents divorced when he was a teenager), Stine started in show business with a magic act. He worked in clubs and added stunts like sword-swallowing and fire-eating. Gradually, he phased out everything but comedy.

He decided his act would have no vulgarity in keeping with his religious beliefs.

"It was hard ... but it forced me to be a better comic," Stine said. "But look at a guy like Jay Leno or (Jerry) Seinfeld. They can do a dirty audience because if you're funny, they'll take you."

Stine went as far as a comedian can go without scoring a sitcom or movie roles. He's headlined the top comedy clubs in the country, and his act has been on MTV, Showtime, A&E and "Evening at the Improv."

"I was a successful comic," he said. "But there came a point where I felt something wasn't complete, and I prayed. ... The next day, I got a call to do a Christmas special for a Christian cable network. There were little subtle nudges that maybe I should do some work for Christians."

He moved from California to Tennessee last year when he signed up with management and a talent agency that asked him to commit to the Christian market.

Junior High Youth Group from United Methodist Church in Mabank took in some area highlights while visiting Pampa including the "Cross of our Lord Jesus Christ Ministries" at Groom.

Mabank youth visit local farm

Pampans Bill and Jan Ragsdale and Joe and Ande Ragsdale recently hosted a youth group from United Methodist Church in Mabank at the couples' farm south of Pampa on Texas Highway 70.

This junior high youth group visited Pampa as part of a "Mystery Mission Trip" which began in Mabank and ended in Pampa with stops in Dallas and Wichita Falls in between.

During their stay in Pampa, the youth saw the "Cross of our Lord Jesus Christ Ministries" at Groom, took in a play at Palo Duro Canyon and helped a local Episcopal family clean up their property by trimming trees, painting and doing yard work.

The trip was an entire mystery to these youthful participants. The youth included Deidra Blackmon, Sybil Lockhart, Morgan Mesa, Jason DeLong, Matthew Marder, Lauren Hamilton, Austin Daugherty, Tiffani Kale, Taylor Brown, Chelsea Evans, Jacob Neighbors and Bethany Moss. Adult leaders consisted of Bill Easton, associate pastor, Carol Loar, mission director, and Lisa Delong and Mindy Marder, sponsors.

After leaving Mabank, the group traveled to Dallas where they visited Jenkins Chapel African Methodist Episcopal Church. While at Jenkins Chapel, the youth attended worship services and worked outside clearing three lots for the church.

Their next stop was Wichita Falls. There they spent the night at Trinity United Methodist Church. The next day they assisted in a nearby soup kitchen at Faith Mission.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

U.S. Catholicism revises movie classification

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Catholic bishops' film office said it will change its moral ratings for features aimed at adult audiences to respond to what it called increased violence, sexuality, dirty language and adult themes onscreen.

In the church's system of guidance to consumers, the "A-IV" rating designating films appropriate for "adults, with reservations," will be replaced Nov. 1 by the label "L," for "limited adult audience," defined as a movie that contains "problematic content many adults would find troubling."

The other Catholic classifications, which continue, are: A-I (general audiences), A-II (adults and adolescents), A-III (for adults only) and O (morally offensive — viewing not recommended).

Always save some for seed

"... The seed is the Word of God." (Luke 8:11)

I was told of a poverty-stricken family whose sole survival depended on crops harvested from a small garden. They worked this small piece of land with just the basic crude garden tools. The responsibility of plowing and preparing the ground for planting rested on the father as the children were still too young to do heavy work.

For the family, getting seed to plant was a continuous task. Some seasons, their harvest was healthy and abundant. They had chosen exactly the right time to plant the seed, and God blessed them with just the right amount of rain and sunshine at the right time. But, then, there were seasons when the seed was planted too early and the seedlings were lost in a frost, or planted too late and growth was stunted by the burning sun and not enough water.

After one of these lean seasons, the harvest from this little garden had been depleted before the father could plant a new garden. The family was facing starvation. One day the father walked into the storage shed and found one of his young sons eating the corn that had been prepared for seed. He did not want to scold him for eating the seed because the child was famished and had been for several days. Although the seed was difficult to digest, it would satisfy the child's hunger for a little while.

Minister's Musings

By LIZ SCULTHORN
CHURCH OF GOD OF PROPHECY

But if all the seed were eaten, that would be the end of all future gardens. The father was well aware of the need to continuously plant seed in order to have a continuous crop. Nourishment would remain in the home as long as seed was planted, so the father lovingly said, "Son, you need to save some for seed."

I wonder what our reason is for eating the seed? We do not want to be satisfied just sitting on our pew Sunday after Sunday, eating the seed and not plant any of it. Jesus said, "Ye have not chose me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you." (John 15:16)

Are we eating the seed while making the excuse that we are waiting for the right time to plant? We must seek the mind of Christ and say, "I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work." (John 9:4)

Are we eating the seed and not planting because we fear it will not be accepted? Have no fear. We have the Holy Spirit to go before us to prepare the hearts for the planting of the seed.

"For as the rain cometh down, and the snow from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater: So shall my Word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it." (Isaiah 55:10, 11)

DEAR ABBY

written by Pauline Phillips and daughter Jeanne Phillips

Woman Who Loves Two Losers Can't Decide Whom To Choose

DEAR ABBY I am so confused. I can't decide with whom I should spend the rest of my life. My ex-fiance, "Ramon," is in jail. Ramon was a drug addict and is responsible for my bankruptcy. He swears he will be a changed man when he is released. There's also my ex-husband, "Fred." We were married for 10 years. He's the father of my two daughters. Fred swears on a stack of Bibles that he, too, has changed. Both of them want me back.

Ramon is still very demanding, jealous and accuses me of cheating. Believe me, I've had plenty of opportunities, but I haven't acted on any of them.

Fred has remained, but says he will dump his wife to marry me. Fred hit me a couple of times while we were together... but truth be told, he is more of a mouse than a man.

What should I do? I can't go to my family. They hate Ramon and Fred, but I love them both.

WILLING TO TRUST AGAIN IN TULSA

DEAR WILLING: You have battled zero in the ballgame of love — because you've been playing in the minor leagues. Ramon and Fred are your eyes for good reasons. If I were you, I'd explore a third option. However, before doing so, I'd take a break from men for a while.

DEAR ABBY For the past 15 years I have been best friends with a man I'll call James. We're both in our mid-20s. I always thought James and I told each other everything. Over the years we've shared some good and not-so-good times. He's been like a brother to me.

Recently, a mutual friend, "Kate," told me that James is gay. I am struggling with this news, because it's true. I never had a clue. To complicate matters, for the past year I've been falling in love with him.

I need to confront James about his sexual orientation, and I also feel an urgency to tell him how I feel about him. But I don't know how to begin this "truth session." Please help me, Abby.

NEEDS TO KNOW IN KNOXVILLE

DEAR NEEDS TO KNOW: Stay calm. Invite James over for coffee and a chat. There is no reason to beat around the bush. Tell him you would like to share some interesting gossip you heard from Kate. Then tell him what she said. Because she said it, doesn't make it true. His reaction will tell you what you need to know.

P.S. If it is true, James is still the same wonderful friend you've always had. Remember that.

DEAR ABBY: I have an old acquaintance, "Ralph," whom I hadn't seen for some time. He recently dropped by my home, and told me with great pride about his new business Web site. He said I should look it over. After he left, I did. Abby, it is awful! It is filled with misspelled words, boring graphics and redundant text. It's impossible to know exactly what his business is or what services he has to offer.

Ralph has not expressly asked for my opinion. If he does, should I be honest?

A FRIEND WITH A FRIEND IN NEED

DEAR FRIEND: If he asks you, begin by pointing out the spelling errors. If he's open to that constructive criticism, and you have the time, point out that the graphics and text could use a little "tweaking" — and give specific examples. If the situation were reversed, wouldn't you want to know?

Dear Abby is written by Abigail Van Buren, also known as Jeanne Phillips, and was founded by her mother, Pauline Phillips. Write Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069.

For everything you need to know about wedding planning, order "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $5 (U.S. funds only) to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447. (Postage is included.)

PAMPA — The Top Of Texas Golf Tournament tees off Saturday at the Pampa Country Club.

The tournament consists of 72 holes of medal play in the Championship Flight, 54 holes of medal play in the President's Flight, and three days of match play in the other flights.

Edmond, Okla. golfer Nick Hughes is the defending champion.

PAMPA — Ronny Loter of Pampa had a hole-in-one Wednesday on the No. 6, 143-yard hole at Hidden Hills. He used a 9-wood.

Witnesses were Bill Hammer of Pampa, Hoyt Hammer of Dallas and Bobby Nickels of Pampa.

BASKETBALL

WACO, Texas (AP) — For one night, Baylor University's beleaguered basketball team didn't worry about its uncertain future — and friends and relatives of slain 6-foot-10 forward Patrick Dennehy didn't dwell on the questions surrounding his death.

As a crowd of 300 gathered in Baylor's Powell Chapel on Thursday night, the focus wasn't on NCAA rules violations or the murder charge against Dennehy's former teammate Carlton Dotson.

The attention on this night belonged to Dennehy: his sense of humor, his dream of playing in the NBA, his commitment to Jesus Christ.

"I'm not exactly sure what God's plan was on this one, why Patrick had to leave us so young," said John Cunningham, a communications professor who was close to Dennehy. "My only guess is that they needed a power forward on the starting basketball team up there."

FOOTBALL

PAMPA — Additional registrations in the third and fourth grade division of Optimist Tiger League football have required adding another team, Commissioner David Hutto announced Thursday.

The new team will be the Storm and will be coached by Ted Hutto. Other teams in the third and fourth grade division include Lazy's Feed & Garden Broncos, the Southwest Collision Packers, the Texans and the Lefors Youth Club Buccaneers.

Late registrations for both the third and fourth grade division, and the fifth and sixth grade division will be accepted through Tuesday. Parents interested may contact David Hutto at 665-5800 or 665-3017.

Coach Cav remembered

Pampa High senior players, cheerleaders, student trainers and technicians form the word CAV between the goal posts at Harvester Stadium. Prior to tonight's Pampa-Perryton kickoff, Dennis Cavalier will be remembered with a moment of silence. Players will wear a CAV emblem on their helmets and KGRO Radio (1230 AM) will honor Coach Cav with a tribute at 7 tonight.

Carter sparks Cowboys in pre-season rout

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Quincy Carter was supposed to play deep into the second half because he needed all the work he could get.

Then he played so well in the first half that Dallas Cowboys coach Bill Parcells said he'd be needed for just one series in the third quarter.

Carter cashed in on that one, too, giving him five scoring drives in as many tries, leading the Cowboys past the Oakland Raiders 52-13 in the preseason finale Thursday night.

Although Dallas' starters lasted far longer than Oakland's, Carter's two best plays came against the first-team defense — a scrambling 69-yard touchdown pass to Joey Galloway and a 49-yarder to Terry Glenn off play action.

"Winning today's game was definitely a good confidence-builder, but we have to remember that this game doesn't count," said Carter, who was 11-of-16 for 239 yards, leading the Cowboys (2-2) to four touchdowns and a field goal. "We have a lot of hard work to do before the Atlanta game."

Parcells said there could be residual benefits from Carter's play in his first game since being flamed the starter, a franchise-record for preseason points and touchdowns from the defense and special teams — even if it came against a Raiders squad that hardly resembled the group that played in the Super Bowl.

"It means something to me because I think it gives the players something to build on, something to think about," Parcells said. "You can only get confidence if you demonstrate an ability to do something. We did that tonight."

Dallas scored 31 points in the first half, then added three more touchdowns — including a 96-yard kickoff return by Reggie Swinton — to break the team record for points in a preseason game (45). It was set by the 1971 club that went on to win the team's first Super Bowl title.

"Yes, it's the preseason, but you never want to be associated with a game like that," said Oakland backup quarterback Marques Tuiasosopo, who went 22-of-28 for 198 yards and ran four times for 52. He also wasted at least three points by getting tackled at the 3-yard line in the final 10 seconds of the first half with no timeouts left.

Starting quarterback Rich Gannon and his top receivers played only five snaps. Gannon was 0-for-3, with his first pass bouncing off Jerry Rice's shoulder and being returned 24 yards for a touchdown by cornerback Mario Edwards.

The lopsided loss capped a disappointing preseason for the reigning AFC champs. How disappointing? Well, with two touchdowns, the Raiders (1-3) actually had their most points yet.

Pampa tennis team competes at Plano meet

PLANO — This past weekend the Pampa tennis team competed in the Plano Invitational. In what is regarded as one of the toughest team tournaments in the state, the Harvesters went 1-3 in match play.

The Harvesters lost to perennial powerhouse Highland Park 15-0 and Lindale 10-7. On the second day of play, the Harvesters lost to Ennis 10-7, but came back to beat Mesquite Horn 11-2.

"The kids went up against some very good tennis players," said new head coach Travis Eggleton. "I was proud of the efforts the kids put forth on the tennis courts."

The previous week, the Harvesters went 1-1 in match play in Levelland. The Harvesters defeated Levelland 12-7 and lost to Andrews 11-8. Pampa's next match is Sept. 5-6 in Abilene.

Other teams entered in the Classic are Palo Duro, Borger, Sanford-Fritch, Dalhart and Plainview. The Lady Harvesters were consolation winners in the recent Borger Lady Bulldog Classic.

Boys Ranch Rodeo this weekend

AMARILLO — This Saturday and Sunday, 100 youngsters from Boys Ranch, Girlstown, USA and the Family Program will participate in the 59th annual Cal Farley's Boys Ranch Rodeo. The boys and girls will compete in a variety of riding events that include stick horse racing, mutton busting, calf, bull, bronc and steer riding, barrel racing and pole bending.

The young riders begin practicing in May at the Lyle Sankey Rodeo School, held at Boys Ranch. One of the main purposes of the annual school is to teach students safety techniques and procedures to use during rodeo competitions.

First-year student Russell Douglas was inspired by his brother to compete in the bull-riding competition.

"He started riding bulls last year at the Sankey School," Russell said. "He really loves it, he doesn't love anything," Russell said.

Championship titles are on the line for each event, but the competitors have set their sights on winning the three most prestigious titles that include the Senior All-Around Cowboy, the Senior All-Around Cowgirl, and the Junior All-Around. Winners will take home championship belt buckles, hand-made boots and saddles.

In addition to the rodeo events, spectators will also enjoy the Fourth Annual Old Tascosa Rendezvous, which lasts through Sunday. The Rendezvous, held in conjunction with the Rodeo, is an historical re-enactment of the early explorer gatherings of the American West. The oldtime camp recreates the sights, smells and sounds of the past, and offers visitors an opportunity to experience the "rough and rugged" times of the 1800s as re-enactors dress in authentic period clothing and display their hand-made wares. There will be games and demonstrations, such as fire making, black powder shooting, hide tanning, beading and campfire cooking.

The Rendezvous begins Friday, Aug. 29 at 9 a.m. with scheduled demonstrations for school children.

The event is open to the public Saturday and Sunday from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Rodeo tickets are five dollars for general admission and eight dollars for box seats. A barbecue meal is included in the price of each rodeo ticket. Admission is free for the Rendezvous.

Today, the Cal Farley organization cares for approximately 400 boys and girls at its three campuses — Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, the Family Program and Girlstown USA. Children from pre-school through high school are accepted with no charge to their families. The Cal Farley programs provide a variety of academic, vocational, spiritual and extracurricular activities for the children in care.

For more information, call 806-373-6600, ext. 632.

Hill catch sends Astros to defeat

HOUSTON (AP) — With his team trailing by two runs in the bottom of the eighth inning, Houston's Lance Berkman hit a ball that would have cleared the wall in most flat major league parks.

But with Eric Gagne's save streak on the line, Los Angeles outfielder Dave Roberts climbed the hill in deep center field of Minute Maid Park to rob Berkman of a game-tying home run on Thursday night. The Dodgers added an insurance run in the ninth, to beat the Astros 6-3.

"That is the first time I have seen a guy go up that hill and make that play," Houston's Geoff Blum said. "Most guys go up there and bury themselves."

In the Dodgers only trip to Houston this season, Roberts prepared for the tricky hill.

"It's hard to keep your footing on that hill, but I practiced it the last couple of days before the game. I was determined to take one away from him because he's taken plenty away from us," Roberts said of Berkman, the Astros left fielder.

Gagne earned his 44th straight save of the season, setting a major league record as he closed out the victory.

"That was one of the best catches I have ever seen. It was amazing. I picked me up," Gagne said.

Jeromy Burnitz homered and drove in three runs as the Dodgers ended a four-game losing streak.

Gagne beat Tom Gordon's 1998 record of 43 in a row to begin a season. Gordon still holds the record for consecutive saves overall, with 54. It was only the fifth time straight save, dating to last season.

Paul Shuey (5-4) entered in the fifth and pitched 1 1-3 hitless innings for the win. He struck out two.

Wilson Alvarez lasted only 4 2-3 innings in his sixth start of the season for the Dodgers. He allowed three runs on six hits and two walks, striking out seven.

Tim Redding (8-13) allowed four runs on six hits and a pair of walks in only three innings.

Piniella, Devil Rays knock Seattle out of first place in AL West

By the Associated Press

Lou Piniella spent 10 years teaching the Seattle Mariners how to get to first place — and the last two days knocking them out of the top spot.

Toby Hall homered in the ninth inning, lifting Piniella's Tampa Bay Devil Rays to a 3-2 victory over slumping Seattle on Thursday.

The Mariners fell two games behind Oakland in the AL West after leading the division for 4 1/2 months. They lost for the eighth time in nine games, leaving them a half-game behind Boston in the wild-card chase.

"We're a very good team. We just haven't shown it on the field in the last few weeks," outfielder Mike Cameron said.

Al Martin also homered for the Devil Rays, who took two of three in Seattle — only the third series Tampa Bay has ever won against the Mariners.

Piniella, who managed the Mariners the past 10 seasons, enjoyed a dramatic victory Thursday on his 60th birthday.

"What a clutch home run," he said with a smile.

In other AL games, it was Oakland 6, Baltimore 4; New York 7, Chicago 5; Minnesota 6, Anaheim 1; Cleveland 8, Detroit 3; and Kansas City 6, Texas 5 in 11 innings.

Seattle's Bret Boone tied it at 2 with a solo shot in the eighth off Travis Harper (3-7), but Hall connected with two outs against Shigetoshi Hasegawa (1-1).

It was only the fifth time Hasegawa has allowed a run in 53 appearances this year.

"I've made mistakes during the season all the time," Hasegawa said. "Today, I thought it was only one pitch, and he hit that one."

A 10-mph wind was blowing from the northwest, unfurling the flags above left field. For the first time in four months, the green and yellow "Athletics" banner was displayed on the first pole among the AL West teams.

"They were eight games back of us, so things can happen quickly," Seattle manager Bob Melvin said. "We need to find a way to turn it around."

Lance Carter pitched the ninth for his 22nd save in 28 chances.

Since joining the AL in 1998, the Devil Rays have won 13 series against first-place teams. This was the fourth time they've knocked a front-running club from its perch.

"We beat a contending team, but we're trying to beat everybody," Hall said. "We're not trying to pick and choose. We're trying to win every game."

Athletics 6, Orioles 4
At Oakland, Calif., Adam

Melhuse hit a three-run homer and John Halama pitched into the seventh inning as the Athletics won their sixth straight, sweeping Baltimore.

Scott Hatteberg led off Oakland's four-run first inning with a homer against Rodrigo Lopez (6-9). Mark Ellis later added an RBI triple as the AL West-leading A's cruised to their 10th win in 12 games — and their sixth straight victory over Baltimore this season.

Halama (3-4) won for the first time since May 8. The left-hander was solid in his second start in place of injured ace Mark Mulder.

Keith Foulke got his AL-leading 35th save in 40 chances.

Yankees 7, White Sox 5
At New York, Mike Mussina made sure the Yankees didn't get blown out by Chicago again.

New York scored five runs in the first inning off rookie Neal Cotts (1-1) and went on to win the finale of a three-game series between division leaders.

New York, pummeled by a combined 24-4 in the first two games, headed to Boston for a weekend series with a 4 1/2-game lead in the AL East.

Mussina (15-7) won for the fifth time in six decisions, giving up three runs and eight hits in six innings.

Horoscope BY JACQUELINE BIGAR

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Saturday, Aug. 30, 2003:

Finances, especially adding to your income, star as a major preoccupation this year. Working with a partner will help you build your financial coffers. Your ability to move through problems and get ahead marks your creativity and ingenuity, whether at home or at work. You start a new life cycle this year and are quite likely to head in a new direction, if you want. Extremes mark your moods — as high as you get and as low as you can become. If you are single, you will meet someone significant this year. Be sure you want this relationship, because ending it could be difficult. If you are attached, your relationship will grow, especially if you share more private time together. You two will flourish together. LIBRA helps you make money.
