MINSTREL TO FEATURE NEW JOKES, SONGS

Reserved seat tickets to the Lions club annual minstrel show, which will be presented next Thursday and Friday nights at the high school auditorium, will go on sale tomorrow or Saturday at a desk in the lobby of the Rice building.

There will be 400 reserved seats each night for the lower floor. Reserved seat tickets sell at 75 cents, general admission, 50 cents for lower floor seats, and 35 cents for balcony seats.

For Helping Children. Providing for the health of children is a major project of the local Lions club. The show this year, the fifth annual minstrel, like the shows of the past has for its purpose the raising of money for the club's crippled children fund.

During the time the Pampa Lions club has been sponsoring this activity, it has financed 55 major operations for crippled children, averaged two cases a month in caring for needy families, and in addition has made possible several hundred tons of operations for needy children, and supplied children with glasses, vaccines, and serums.

First Class Entertainment. Not only will those who see the show be aiding the fund for crippled children, but in addition spectators will be given a quality performance.

There will be plenty of gags full of local color, lots of music, including a men's double quartet, girls' trio, accordion solo, and dance specialties.

There is a cast of 50 in the show. John F. Sturgeon is director and W. A. Bratton, interlocutor. There are 25 men and 14 girls in chorus. Men in the chorus are: Duke Balthorpe, Ken Bennett, George Briggs, Murray Body, D. E. Cochran, Frank Cuberson, R. E. Duncan, K. I. Dunn, Chick Hickman, Harry Kelly, Ewing Leech, Charlie Maisel, L. M. McColm, R. S. McConnell, Roy McMillen, Howard Neath, John Osborne, H. L. Polley, J. M. Saunders, Arthur Teed, Ralph Thomas, Frank Thompson, R. E. Townsend, Sherman White, and R. C. Wilson.

Girls in the chorus are: Albertine Schulke, Ruby Scafe, Lillian Rice, Dorothy Harris, Jean Gillispie, Martha Jones, Lorene Nicholson, Bern Mann, Jo Finnagan, Kathryn Barrett, Betty Jo Townsend, Ethel Wilder, Louise Smith, and Helen Draper.

Blackface end men are Roy Bourland, Joe Burrow, Bert Curry, John Hessey, Clarence Kennedy, D. L. Parker, John Sturgeon, H. L. Wilder. Soloists, whiteface are K. I. Dunn, Ken Barrett, Chick Hickman, and Harry Kelly, with Dr. H. L. Wilder, John Sturgeon, and Joe Burrow as end men.

With the minstrel only one week distant, intensive rehearsals are being held by the cast. A rehearsal has been scheduled for 7:30 o'clock tonight at the red brick school building.

COUPLE JAILED FOR $28,500 MAIL THEFT

DALLAS, Feb. 3 (AP)—Sidney A. Miller and his wife Helen were in jail today awaiting arraignment on charges of connection with the theft of $28,500 and a mail pouch near O'Donnell, Lynn county, Tex., recently.

Federal authorities have questioned them since their arrival yesterday from Atlanta, where they were taken in custody 10 minutes before boarding a plane for Dallas. If indictments are returned, the trials on the mail theft charges will be held in Lubbock.

ARMY BOMBERS READY FOR BLOCKADE HOP

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 3 (AP)—Delayed temporarily by foggy weather, a flight of thirteen B-18 Douglas bombers from March field, Calif., was ready to take off today for Barksdale field, Shreveport, to take part in a demonstration before students of the air corps tactical schools.

The bombers, under command of Lieut. Col. Harvey S. Burwell, arrived at Randolph field yesterday afternoon, completing a nonstop flight.

Are These The Hands Of A Murderer?

These are the hands of a man who admittedly killed his wife and his best friend; they are the hands of a man now fighting for his own life. Are they the hands of a murderer? Or do their twisting, tortured positions indicate merely the nervous tension of a man unjustly charged? The hands are those of Paul A. Wright, on trial in Los Angeles for the "white fame" slaying of his wife, Evelyn, and John Kimmel, last Nov. 9. Wright admits the act, but contends it was not murder because he was temporarily insane from the shock of seeing his wife in Kimmel's arms. Can you predict in advance what the verdict should be, from looking at pictures of his hands, taken as he listened to testimony which will determine his fate?

MCCRAW AIDE DENIES DEAL

AUSTIN, Feb. 3 (AP)—W. W. Heath, assistant attorney general under William McCraw until a few months ago, testified today Tom C. Clark of Dallas did not request him to help procure a receivership job for Land Commissioner William H. McDonald or anyone else.

Clark, now an assistant United States attorney general, was McCraw's law partner before McCraw took office. His name has bobbed up occasionally in the current senate committee investigation of McDonald.

The committee, still unable to obtain attendance of several witnesses, indicated it would call a long recess in the investigation later today or tomorrow. The inquiry began eight days ago.

Among those for whom the committee said it was searching were George Davison, Sr., of Eastland, McDonald's home city, F. S. Sheridan, McDonald's campaign manager in Houston in 1936, and J. T. Dawson, geologist given an interest in oil leases on certain submerged state tracts along the gulf coast.

McDonald had testified he received $6,400 in salary and attorney's fees for insurance receivership work during the approximately four and one-half months between his nomination and his death.

13 Sizzling Fights With 15 New Boys On Program Tonight

The Pampa Daily News Golden Gloves boxing tournament will be "on the air" tonight, beginning at 9 o'clock with John Sullivan, newcomer to the KPND staff, at the microphone. The first bout will be called promptly at 8 o'clock but KPND will not take up the fights until they reach the high point at 9 o'clock.

Thirteen sizzling bouts are on the card for tonight with fifteen new boys in action. Some of last night's winners will be back meeting each other in their weight class. Two boys in the lightweight division will have to appear twice tonight, therefore, Director Cliff Chambers has set their first appearance to open the card, with the winners meeting at 9:30.

The opener will see Raymond Elkins and Marc Miteher, both of Pampa, in action. Then will come Mack Wingate of White Deer and Gene Davidson of Shamrock. The two winners will meet in the second bout at 9:30 o'clock.

Admission to the tournament will be $1.10 ringside reserve seats, tax paid, and 40 cents general admission. Children under 12 will be admitted for 25 cents. Reserve seat tickets may be secured at the Pampa Daily News until 6 o'clock when they will be sent to the arena where gates will open at 7 o'clock.

Again tonight at 6:30 p. m., a special Golden Gloves broadcast will be presented over station KPND with Bill Kern, John Sullivan, Harry E. Hoare and a guest discussing the tournament.

Prices Of Cemetery Lots Raised In New Perpetual Care Plan

A beautiful and improved cemetery for Pampa is planned by the Fairview Cemetery association.

Under a new charter, perpetual care will be given the property. Heretofore, lot owners themselves had to pay for the caring of graves. Now, the expense of caring for the graves will be included in lot prices.

Present lot prices range from 75 cents to $3 per square foot, with 40 cents per square foot allotted for perpetual care.

Former prices were by lot. The largest, 20x30 feet, selling at $80, the smallest, exclusive of lots for infants' graves, at $20. The smaller lots measured 10x15 feet. These prices did not provide for perpetual care of the graves.

Albert Bruce, superintendent of Llano cemetery, Amarillo, has prepared a map of the cemetery, and will consult with the cemetery board as to arrangement, and management of the improved cemetery.

An administration building and other improvements are planned for the future.

GERMAN ARMY BREAKS WITH NAZI PAGANS

(By The Associated Press)

The German army's demand for a showdown with the Nazi party, a Spanish insurgent bombardment of an American-French caravan of ambulances and supply trucks, and Japanese concern over American naval expansion developed today from friction in an unsettled world.

Three Spaniards were killed and 12 persons were injured in the air bombing at Figueras, 15 miles below the Franco-Spanish frontier, but it was not known whether Americans were hurt.

The marriage of Marshal Werner von Blomberg to a carpenter's daughter and his subsequent resignation as war minister touched off the German crisis.

Col.-Gen. Werner von Fritsch, commander-in-chief of the army and its spokesman in suggesting von Blomberg's resignation—still officially unannounced—was believed to have tendered his own resignation, but only after contending he

PANTS ALMOST TORN OFF MAN BY DELEGATES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The administration's "little business" conference adjourned in an uproar today, after voicing a program of economic advice to President Roosevelt.

Two delegates forcibly were tossed out of Secretary Roper's spacious commerce department auditorium, in a vain effort to quiet a feverish tumult, before Chairman Fred Toth, Cleveland, Ohio, pounded the gavel the last time.

Despite shouted protests, the conference adopted reports of nine committees which recommended, among other things, that the government supply financial aid by stimulating private credit.

An unusual calm smoothed the disorderly confusion immediately after adjournment. Business men who had been talking and shouting a moment before sat back in their chairs to pose for photographers.

Both of those ejected a few moments earlier had wanted to address the conference before it closed.

A. S. Shafer of Philadelphia was removed from the scene for the second time. Commerce department guards led him out of yesterday's meeting. The business men almost tore his trousers off while tossing him out themselves today.

Robert Kempfer, who termed himself the forgotten man of New York, was thrown out by a squad of plainclothes policemen, after he too became involved in an argument over demands that he be heard.

The uproar attendant on the two ejections threw the whole meeting into a noisy chaos with most of the 1,000 present jamming the aisles, standing on chairs, and yelling for order. Cries of "throw him out" were directed at both Kempfer and Shafer.

In the midst of this racket and confusion cries of "adjournment" caught the attention of Chairman Fred Toth of Cleveland, Ohio. He put the question and an echoing "aye" ended the conference.

During the temporary tumult, A. S. Shafer, Philadelphia, was tossed out of the conference for the second time.

Shafer was ejected from yesterday's meeting by commerce department guards. Today a group of businessmen themselves did the job. Departmental officers said they had told Shafer that he ought to be quiet.

He was insisting on the right to speak when angry members of the conference dragged and pushed him

DENTIST PULLS TEETH OF WRONG SCHOOL GIRL

ASHWAY, R. I., Feb. 3 (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Betty Champlin was eating soft foods today after her eight extracted teeth excited her father, mother, several school executives and a school dentist.

It all started when Betty came home and pointed to her almost toothless mouth, explaining the dentist pulled eight.

"Of all things!" her father exploded.

Champlin telephoned the school executives and the dentist. All agreed it was a "horrible mistake."

Investigation disclosed there was another Champlin girl in Betty's class. Her father's name is George. Betty's father's name also is George.

When the dentist sent for George Champlin's daughter it was Betty who went.

The explanations, along with apologies, mollified Papa Champlin.

"We all make mistakes," he said. "The teeth are gone. They were only the first teeth anyway. There'll be more coming."

GIANT PLANES CRASH WITHIN VIEW OF SHIPS

SAN PEDRO, Feb. 3 (AP)—The death toll of a mid-air collision of two giant bombers—worst plane disaster in American naval history—rose to eleven today as search by sea and air was made for the missing bodies of ten airmen.

Rescued from the water after the bomber 11-P-4 fell in a splintering impact last night, J. H. Hester, radioman first class of San Diego, died aboard the hospital ship Relief at San Clemente Island early this morning.

Three of his companions were safe, seriously injured but expected to recover.

Three more of the 11-P-4's crew and the seven men in its sister bomber, the 11-P-3, were hunted by the United States fleet, as navy sources here admitted unofficially there was no hope they had survived.

The bombers, scouted for a theoretical enemy, colliding during a sudden rail squall, within view of maneuvering surface ships.

The 11-P-3 fell in flames. The 11-P-4 smashed into a hundred pieces on the choppy sea.

Searchlights suddenly illuminated the scene and warship launched put out to rescue the men, while the entire war game of the fleet came to a halt.

The disaster overtook the bombers, attached to squadron VP-11 of the North Island Naval Air Base at San Diego, just 26 days after a sister plane, of the VP-7 squadron, vanished off the California coast with seven men.

Fleet in Tension. The full strength of the fleet was deployed for swift tactical tests 70 miles at sea, directly south of San Clemente Island, when the collision occurred.

The four survivors were rushed to the hospital ship Relief, lying in Pyramid Cove at the Island.

As the concerted rescue attempt began, Admiral Claude C. Bloch lifted a rigid wartime "radio silence" to relay news of the tragedy to the navy department at Washington and to the press.

4 KILLED AS ITALIAN PLANE FALLS INTO SEA

NATAL, Brazil, Feb. 3 (AP)—Capt. Mario Stoppani, whose transatlantic seaplane fell into the sea, and brought death to his crew of four, was en route here today aboard an Air France liner cutter.

The noted Italian flier was on a flight from Natal to Rome by way of Cadiz, Spain, when his plane encountered trouble 50 miles off the coast yesterday. The ship caught fire and the crew was unable to escape.

A German seaplane picked up Stoppani, injured and clinging to a float, which was torn from the blazing wreckage.

Candidate For Mayor Urges Way To Use Race Track Stables

Joe Cargile, candidate for mayor, has his own idea of what he would do with the stables at the race track, and his plan is contained in his platform which he announced today.

"I would take some of the horse barns from Fair park and erect a permanent Scout camp for the Adobe Walls council," Joe stated.

MIND your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below.

1. Is it all right for a bride to have an intimate friend help her write her "thank you" notes?
2. Is it enough to thank a person for a "lovely present" or must the gift be named specifically?
3. When a gift has been sent by a couple, to whom is the "thank you" note addressed?
4. When a woman uses her visiting card to enclose with a gift which she and her husband are sending is it correct for her to write "Mr. and" in front of her name?
5. Should one speak of "grooms-men" or "ushers" when meaning the bridegroom's attendants?

What would you do—
About choosing a best man if you have no brother or intimate friend living close enough to attend the wedding? Ask—
(a) Bride's brother or father?
(b) Your own father?
(c) A casual acquaintance?

Answers
1. No.
2. Named. Otherwise donor might think his gift was lost in the multitude.
3. Usually to the wife, but husband should be included in the thank-you.
4. Yes.
5. Ushers in the modern terms. Best "What Would You Do" solution—either (a) or (b).

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART.

NEA Service Staff Writer
A tiny flacon of really fine perfume in a heart-shaped, bag of velvet suede makes the perfect Valentine. Baby-nik with baby-blue edgings, the little suede perfume container will fit nicely into the recipient's purse. Incidentally, a royal enamel heart—pale pink outlined in blue and encrusted with empress, Catherine's insignia—found long ago among the Empress's relics, was the inspiration for this new Valentine.

Now there are several nail protector preparations on the market. Described variously as waxes, films for protecting nails and so on, they are colorless and are to be applied before polish. Simply do your manicure in the usual manner—removing lacquer, shaping nails, gently pressing back cuticle—then apply the protector preparation, covering half-moons and tips, getting it on as smoothly as possible. Let dry thoroughly. Apply lacquer. These new items are supposed to keep nails from chipping, splitting and peeling.

There's a new set for the baby, too. Made by a reputable manufacturer, it contains baby cream, baby talcum and cotton—all in attractive, light pink or light blue plastic jars, beautifully boxed and ribboned. One of these would make a pretty nice Valentine for your favorite infant.

Women who dress their own hair or who roll up straggling ends between visits to the hairdresser will be interested in the latest curler. The curler itself is of shiny metal, constructed to make every type of curl, is small enough to be carried in a purse. The business of arranging the curls makes use of thin, pliable aluminum strips. The hair is wound over one of these, then the ends are doubled over and pressed firmly against the hair, thus holding it at both ends until dry. The "rip" is on the underside of the curl, hence is completely covered. So pliable are the metal strips that you can sleep on them without the slightest discomfort.

Modern Menus

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Service Staff Writer

The American salad is much like the American drug store—you can find almost anything you want in it. However, the type of salad made in a bowl and mixed with simple dressing of oil, lemon juice or vinegar and spices seems to be making headway. That doesn't mean that molded salads, meat balls, and every other kind of salad are not popular.

Molded Thousand Island Salad (8 servings)

One-half cup tomato catsup, 1/4 cup mayonnaise, 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper, 2 tablespoons chopped stuffed olives, 1 teaspoon minced chives, 1 1/2 cups shredded green lettuce, 1 package salad gelatin, 1 cup boiling water.

Dissolve the salad gelatin in boiling water. Chill until the mixture begins to thicken. With the exception of the shredded lettuce, combine all the other ingredients and mix well. Add these to the slightly thickened gelatin mixture and stir until they are well mixed in. At the last, fold in the shredded lettuce. Turn into mold and chill until firm.

Capistrano Lettuce Bowl (8 servings)

Two heads firm lettuce, 1 small head broccoli, 4 deviled eggs, 8 small tomatoes, 1 small can whole kernel corn, 1/2 cup ripe olives, 1 cup strips of green celery, 1 teaspoon salt.

Shred 1 head of lettuce and arrange in bottom of large wooden salad bowl. Cut the other head into 8 sections. Cook the broccoli in salted water until slightly tender, but decidedly not mushy. To keep it very green, add a little sugar to the boiling water. When cooked, drain and chill broccoli. To arrange the bowl for its dining room appearance, place the chilled head of cooked broccoli in the center of the bowl on top of the shredded lettuce. Run strips of celery into head of broccoli, giving it a pin-cushion effect. Stuff the well seasoned tomatoes with the whole kernel corn. Deviled hard cooked eggs cut in half and garnish each half with slices of ripe olive. Arrange the stuffed tomatoes, deviled eggs and lettuce sections around the head of broccoli. Serve with a plain French dressing, or this buttermilk dressing which is popular now in Hollywood.

Buttermilk Salad Dressing (Enough for 8 servings)

One-half cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon onion juice, 1-2 teaspoon lemon juice, 1-2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1-8 teaspoon white pepper, 1-8 teaspoon paprika, 1 cup thick buttermilk.

If these ingredients sound reasonable to you, then combine them all, swing in the salad bowl, pour on the dressing and serve.

FDR's Cake

The nation's First Lady looks mighty happy as she slices into President Roosevelt's birthday cake. And well she should, for the cake is symbolic of many thousands of dollars collected through birthday dinners to fight the scourge of infantile paralysis. Mr. Roosevelt celebrated his fifty-sixth birthday quietly in the White House, leaving to his wife the strenuous task of visiting all of the parties in his honor held in Washington, D. C. The First Lady, a seasoned traveler, took the job in stride, and doesn't even appear tired as she poses above at one of the parties.

Famous Model

Dorothy Schure came to New York to find fame, has become one of the most-sought models under Walter Thornton's management. A graduate of Wesleyess, she is a sophisticated type who models sports clothes delightfully. She is a blonde with a soft, fluffy long bob. Her clear blue eyes are framed by alluring lashes and naturally thick arched brows. Her striking profile and slender, well-proportioned figure are perfect for photographic work.

B-PW Directors Discuss Activities

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Business and Professional Women's club in the city club rooms Tuesday evening, the group commended the American Legion on its program to secure a recreational hall for Pampa. As the board felt that this is one of the greatest needs of the town, it voted to cooperate with the American Legion in securing a hall.

Mildred Overall, president, presided at the meeting in which it was announced that pictures of various industries and public buildings in and near Pampa will be placed in the chamber of commerce rooms as this is part of the publicity committee's program.

Iva Ekern, finance chairman, told that by popular request the club would give another dance during the month of February. Also a motion was made that a request be presented to the Council of Clubs for coat racks to be placed in the club rooms.

A letter was read from Marvin Jones in regard to the proposed amendment to the Constitution providing for a popular vote before a declaration of war could be made. Grace Pool, publicity chairman, suggested that all club members read Mary Roberts Rinehart's article, "Before the Drums Beat," which appeared in the January issue of the Good Housekeeping magazine, and that other club members in the city be urged to read this article.

Lillian Jordan, membership chairman, presented three names for membership in the club which were approved by the board.

The group ratified a contract made by the president with the Curtis Publishing company for securing subscriptions to various magazines. The proceeds received by the club from the subscriptions will be given to the Girl Scouts.

Those present were Mildred Overall, Pat Austin, Iva Ekern, Ruth Walstead, Vera Lard, Gladys Robinson, Lillian Jordan, Julia Kelley, Grace Pool, Laura Belle Cornelius, acting for Grace Brock, and Charlie Jackson for Christine Cecil.

4,000 TEXANS JOIN RANKS OF HOME OWNERS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 3. — More than 4,000 Texans joined the ranks of home owners during the last half of 1937 through loans obtained from Texas insured savings and loan associations, according to figures just compiled by the Federal Home Loan bank of Little Rock. In the six months' period just closed 4,409 loans, aggregating $8,215,000, were granted to Texas home owners. Of this amount $4,200,000 was used to build new homes and $2,200,000 advanced to assist 1,175 Texans to purchase existing dwellings. Included in the compilation are figures of the First Federal Savings and Loan association in Pampa which participated actively in the local home financing field.

Throughout the Ninth District, composed of the States of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and New Mexico, served by the Little Rock bank, the total loans for the six months' period were $19,495,000, approximately half of which went into the construction of homes, and $6,000,000 was used for purchases. Attention was called to the fact that these loans were made to 10,026 borrowers, averaging $1,944 each, evidencing the service the associations are performing to the owners of small homes. It was also pointed out that this wide distribution of loans and the consequent diversification of the lending risks given the associations greater security for the funds advanced.

Officials of the bank expressed gratification at the large volume of home financing business being done by the insured associations, which they attribute to the attractiveness of the loan plan now available to borrowers. They said the long time, monthly amortized loan plan offered by the associations, under which principal and interest payments are about equal to rent, is proving very popular to home owners.

As another indication of improved business conditions, the bank pointed to the increased, continued flow of investment funds into the associations, which during the six months' period in Texas amounted to $5,200,000. Funds placed in the associations are insured against loss up to $5,000 for each investor by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation, Washington, D. C.

MAN RESCUED FROM ROCK IN RIVER BASIN

LOWELL, Mass., Feb. 3 (AP)—Coast guardsmen in a breeches buoy today brought to shore a man marooned since midnight on a jagged rock in the Merrimack river basin below Pawtucket Falls.

He was identified as Edward Giblin, 33, of Lowell. His father, John J. Giblin, director of the Lowell high school band and prominent in musical circles, said Edward had gone for a walk last evening.

So serious was Giblin's condition, he was unable to tell hospital authorities how he fell into the water. Dr. Leo Ing said the victim had a fair chance.

A guardsman rode the buoy to a rock 75 feet from shore, tied the half-frozen man into it and fellow guardsmen hauled him ashore. An ambulance rushed him to St. Joseph's hospital.

How the man reached his slippery perch, sticking six feet out of the water, was uncertain. Police theorized he had fallen through ice upriver and had been swept over the falls.

A passing mill worker on his way home at midnight discovered the man's plight after he heard a faint scream.

BRITAIN TO GIVE 'NO QUARTER' IN SUB WAR

LONDON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Great Britain's answer to renewed submarine "piracy" was understood today to be a blunt proposal for "no quarter" retaliation on submerged submarines caught unaccompanied on Mediterranean sea routes.

This remedy, and reinforcement of naval craft patrolling Mediterranean waters, were described as the main points in suggestions British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden submitted yesterday to France and Italy.

Britain concentrated more warships in the Mediterranean and expected the other two nations to follow suit.

JUSTICE McREYNOLDS 76 YEARS OLD TODAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Justice James Clark McReynolds, one of the two supreme court members whom the administration regards as "conservative," was 76 years old today.

Except for receipt of birthday messages, associates said, the anniversary passed unnoticed.

McReynolds, Democratic attorney general in the Wilson cabinet, has been the court's most consistent opponent of Roosevelt administration legislation.

There has been much speculation that Justice McReynolds would retire soon, but he has given no indication of his plans.

PAUL WRIGHT COLLAPSES IN WITNESS SEAT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3 (AP)—Paul A. Wright, exhausted from two days of grilling by the prosecution on how and why he killed Mrs. Wright and John Kimmel, resumed today in re-direct examination his story that he discovered his wife "cheating."

The airport executive's counsel, Jerry Giesler, led him back over much of the testimony he gave during cross-examination of prosecutor S. E. Roll, who pounded away at Wright's story until the frail, dyspeptic defendant collapsed on the stand and had to be assisted from the courtroom.

Roll drew the admission from Wright that he did not recall whether he disarranged the clothing of his wife and Kimmel after he shot them. Wright also admitted he did not know whether he picked up any pistol shells.

Wright's defense is that he shot in "white flame" of anger that seared his brain, because he found Mrs. Wright and Kimmel in an unnatural embrace on the piano bench of the Wright living room in Glendale, November 9, 1937.

Roll asked Wright if he saw them kiss. Wright answered that by saying his wife's back was turned to him. Roll produced the copy of a statement Wright made to Glendale police, saying: "They looked up and smiled and kissed again. All I could think of was to destroy that vision."

"When you saw them you thought there was something unnatural there?" Roll asked.

"Well, I guess so; I don't know." Roll went through Wright's statement to police, sentence by sentence. Wright said he did not remember being asked many of the questions.

JAPS REQUEST AMERICANS TO LEAVE AREAS

SHANGHAI, Feb. 3 (AP)—Japan's armed forces marked out a huge area of east central China as a new war zone today and asked Americans and other foreigners there to leave.

The Japanese embassy spokesman announced the decision under which it was indicated many points would be subjected to bombardment in Nippon's drive to crush Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese armies.

The request was issued, he said, by the Japanese embassy at Peiping, the "new capital" where Japan has installed its provisional north China government.

American and other foreign embassies there received a note that in view of the spread of warfare, neutral foreigners in the zone should evacuate and mark their properties so Japanese airmen would not bomb them.

It was recommended that Japanese authorities be given maps showing the location of such properties—most of which are missions—and that the Japanese be notified of the nature of protective markings.

Roughly, the area specified in the warning extends from the winding Yangtze river on the south to a line running from the southern coast of Shantung province to Taiyuan, Shansi province capital, on the north.

The zone encompasses about 376,000 square miles, including about 20 towns in which American missions are located and 32 which are the sites of other foreign missions.

On northern and southern borders of the designated war zone's eastern neck, a half million Japanese and Chinese troops are struggling for possession of the Lung-hai "lifeline" railway.

Japanese have told of puncturing the Southern defenses of the Lung-hai corridor by capture of Pengpu.

This advance came after a month in which Japan's war machine was stalled by snow, sleet, blizzards and fierce Chinese resistance. Chinese were said to be digging in for a new stand in the face of air and artillery bombardment.

From the corridor's northern fringe however, Chinese bent word of successful resistance. They said a Chinese force had driven back a Japanese air force aiding ground troops.

TODAY'S SERMONETTE

The Savior sat at meat with publicans and sinners and when the scribes and Pharisees criticized, said: "I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance." Sinners were never led to Christ by Christians afflicted with a feeling of self righteousness.—Chivers.

STREETS CAN BE MADE SAFER—IF WE WILL

Many and many a city has conducted sporadic traffic drives to try to cut down the terrible toll in dead and wounded that automobiles are taking every day.

And many of them wound up at the end of 1937 to find that, to their surprise and horror, the toll was higher than it had been the year before, despite all the campaigns and viewings with alarm.

But a few other cities got a different answer, and it is worth while to inquire why. Beaumont, Tex., furnishes one of the most heartening examples of what can be done by a community that really wants to do something about the problem.

At the close of 1936 Beaumont was fourth from the top of the list of "killer" cities. Its people were ashamed and alarmed. They decided to do something about it.

At the end of 1937, Beaumont had cut off a larger percentage of its traffic toll than any other city in the country. Accidents had been cut 62.8 per cent, from 381 to 341. Injuries had been cut 20.9 per cent, from 254 to 201. Deaths had been cut 72.7 per cent, from 22 to six.

That is a record of which any city might be proud, but the best thing about it is that no trick methods were employed, no special machinery or facilities used that are not equally available to any other city.

A safety league was organized and 7,000 individuals signed up. A monster parade opened the campaign, and support was enlisted from practically every organization in town.

Three lines of attack were launched at once, all co-ordinated under direction of the Safety League. The first was a giant publicity campaign in which the newspapers played a leading role, but in which nearly 100,000 pieces of printed matter were distributed, and radio, movies, pictures, and posters used.

There were engineering studies and improvements in signals, signs, elimination of traffic hazards, and the whole mechanical side of safety.

The police eliminated ticket-fixing, operated a sound truck, specially investigated causes of accidents.

None of these things is new. Most cities have tried one or all of them. But where Beaumont excelled was, first, in rallying exceptional public support, and, second, in pressing the campaign without a let-up thru the entire year. The two-week campaign that has every motorist on his toes and then is forgotten had no place in the Beaumont picture.

It can be done—this job of cutting down accidents. And it doesn't take any fantastic or expert measures. What it does take is what Beaumont gave it and what any city can give it. This is a widespread determination to cut the toll, and the determination never to let up a minute until results are obtained.

THE BURDEN OF SICKNESS

If there ever was any question that the health of the people is a matter of public concern, it has been forever settled by the National Health survey, being completed by WPA workers as the most comprehensive study of its kind ever made.

On any average winter day, the survey showed, 6,000,000 men, women and children are unable to work, go to school, or go about their ordinary business, because of illness or accident. That is almost one person in 20.

Tex's Topics

Another old friend is leaving us—the buffalo nickel. He is 25 years old, with his well-worn design of an Indian head on one side and a bison on the other. The law permits changing coins every 25 years, and so, just for variety or something, we will have a new kind of nickel this spring, with Jefferson on one side and his old home, Monticello, on the other. The design will be different, but the central problem will be the same, whether it is the buffalo or the Jefferson nickel—how to get more of them.

Australia tribesmen turned Mickey Mouse dance steps into a tribal dance. This must be classed with the Ethiopian war as just another example of the white man's civilizing influence. Hold-up artists who pointed a gun at a Cleveland cashier and told her to "act natural" did not anticipate that her natural reaction would be to scream. Paul Robeson will sing in frontline trenches for Spanish soldiers. Let us hope that music hath not lost its traditional charms to soothe the savage, etc. The government pays Rockwell Kent $29,000 for postoffice murals, then proceeds to paint them out. Sort of a "plowing under" process to relieve artistic overproduction, no doubt.

University of New Mexico finds that girls grades top those of men. Male courtesy still permits women to be first. Unions are said to be curtailing their staffs of organizers, with 10 per cent pay cuts for those remaining. This indicates a need for someone to organize the organizers. Reports that 6,000 Italians have been killed in Ethiopia in the last two months indicate the African spot may become another Black Hole, as far as the Duce is concerned. "Ice Jam Crumples 'Honey-moon' Bride". Ice looks also have ruined many a bridge game.

Butchers plan a nationwide promotion campaign. The decline in meat sales has them in a stew. And now comes National Spring Millinery Week, to bring things to a head. A. F. of L. leaders charge that the Labor Relations Board is 99 per cent for the C. I. O. Who's been holding out? The government is going to toss the bison off the U. S. nickel. Just another case of someone throwing the bull. Europeans were alarmed at sight of the Aurora Borealis. We thought by now they had learned to expect most anything hanging over their heads.

Page Ponce de Leon! Scientists in Havana report that injection of a new vitamin, B-1, makes old people feel younger. New York furriers rejoice that the demand for silver fox is increasing. Do you hear an answering three cheers for the foxes? Language experts reveal that the 150 Indian dialects are all based on phonetic laws of Europe. So they can't even call their language their own, now. A wealthy man recently built a complete railroad system on his island estate. Guests had got so tired of walking that they couldn't lift a cocktail glass.

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Boys and girls taking the course in current events ought to be watching the farm legislation. It is the only measure Congress indicates any intention of passing and, moreover, the finished bill will be the first response of Congress to exhortations that it legislate independently and stop being a White House rubber stamp.

The measure as reported out by Senate and House conferees will be the first farm bill since 1933 not written chiefly by men in AAA and the Department of Agriculture. This time those officials just haven't known what the conference committee was doing and their advice hasn't been asked.

Not only is Congress more independent. Chairman Marvin Jones of the House Agriculture Committee and Senator John Bankhead of Alabama, conference chiefs, knew just what they wanted without asking Secretary Wallace. Their chief difference, bound to result in compromise, was that Bankhead wanted considerably more rigid crop control than Jones.

AAA officials are sure the finished result will be unworkable and that they wouldn't want to be found dead with it. One point of belated congressional resentment against AAA policies centers on the fact that the soil conservation and previous programs penalized farmers who had wisely diversified their crops and rewarded those who had not, since benefit payments were based on changes in crop land use.

"What could be sweeter than a sugar bill?" is an old chant among lobbyists and there were 10 well-stuffed sugar lobbies operating when the last quota act went through. The secret of it all is that American consumers pay $350,000,000 in excess of the world market in order that 100,000 domestic producers may be protected.

Sugar, in fact, is practically a magic word in Congress. Conferees on the general farm bill have decided that benefit payments to growers shall be limited to $10,000 a year. But just the other day, with astonishing speed, Congress rushed through a $39,000,000 appropriation bill for carrying out the sugar act, which is expected to mean single benefit payments of at least $400,000 for each of a least six large producers. Probably it isn't true, as some cynics have suggested, that the speed was due to fear that someone might propose limiting sugar benefit payments.

Turbulent Times In Spain And China, But--

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Not the least bizarre sight in recent days was that of a man who walked into an American Express office and ordered a bunch of travelers' checks.

"Certainly," said the attendant, "sign these." He shoved the checks through the cage.

At that moment the man sat down and kicked off his shoes. "Kindly throw that pencil on the floor," he requested. The dumbfounded teller did as he was bidden. Then the man, for he was unarmed, seized the pencil between his toes and dashed off a flourishing signature.

"Now," cried the patron, "take my wallet from my coat." In this way the teller received his money. There was a sum of small change and the armless man put this in the toes of his shoes. He had, he said, been writing with his toes for years. In summer he travels with a circus!

It has been four years since that dapper little man with the trim white mustaches and an open check book to all struggling artists, composers, and authors died. Otto H. Kahn was always willing to back financially any worthwhile project in the field of art. Scores of times he gave encouragement to beginners, and it was his check for $500 that saved the Theater Guild, in its infancy, when it was about to go under.

Members of the New York Theatrical Press Agents are bringing out a book as a memorial to Ray Henderson, who was killed in Greece several months ago. Henderson is known to editors everywhere for his fine stories and his work in behalf of the Katherine Cornell theatrical enterprises. This book is to include 40 or 50 of the best pieces Henderson wrote. If newspaper editors will go through their files and forward pieces written by Henderson, the committee will be grateful. They may be addressed to this department or to Oliver M. Sawyer, 21 East 37th st., New York city. Thanks.

Ruey Morgan doesn't make a big show, nor does he sit around and talk about it, but he's the No. One Harvester athletic fan. Ruey gives the basketball team the same support and assistance that he gives the football team. He's the only outsider who sits on the bench with the team and coaches during football games. He never missed a game all last season, and when football ended he did not forget all about athletics until next fall. He takes the basketball boys in his car to out-of-town games. At games away from home if anybody wants to get tough about something, Ruey'll take it up. Tuesday night at Berger after the game, two guys who didn't know what they were talking about tried to get Ruey told and he got them told mighty quick. Around Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3.—All over the lot, John Blystone, the director has seemed to prize above anything else a mechschaum pipe. It was large, beautifully colored, and carefully protected by a handsome plush case. On the set of "Swing Miss," he always laid it in a safe place.

Stanley Laurel opened the case the other day and was admiring the pipe when Oliver Hardy approached. Right away a violent argument developed. Laurel, gesticulating heatedly, dropped the pipe, which broke. Not only did it break, but the massive Hardy stepped on it.

You never saw a madder man than Blystone, but his rage melted when Hardy gave him his cherished mechschaum, unharmed. The whole incident was a rib; the broken pipe a replica painstakingly made several days before by the property department.

In a hand-made swamp on the shore of a little lake, Bette Davis floundered for some scenes in "Jezebel."

The wet and muddy actress was accompanied by a Negro, Eddie Anderson, who plays a slave helping the heroine to reach New Orleans.

Reaching the lake, the two are supposed to clamber into a tiny boat which Anderson rows. Miss Davis looked at it nervously. "You know anything about boats?" she asked.

"Why, Miss Davis," said Anderson reassuringly, "Ah played Noah in 'The Green Pastures!'"

Nail It Down? The Cafe de Paris, smart restaurant on the 20th-Fox lot, never has operated at a profit and requires a studio subsidy. But Nick the maitre d'hotel, found an unexpected deficit during inventory. At least $1200 worth of silver and dishes had been spirited out of the place by souvenir hunters.

The restaurant isn't open to the public, but it might as well be for all the privileged visitors who crowd it daily at lunch time. Some of them make off with monogrammed spoons and saucers from their own places, but one woman actually dashed to an adjoining table and snatched up a full-sized dinner plate from which Loretta Young had eaten. She placed it unwrapped, inside her costly fur coat and walked out.

Nick was too surprised to say anything. Now, though, he's thinking of offering china and silver for sale at the desk—each item guaranteed to have been used by movie stars.

The Capitol Jigsaw

AUSTIN, Feb. 3 (AP)—A group of senators soon will begin a detailed study of financial needs of approximately 40 state departments in the hope departmental expenditures can be slashed $2,500,000 a year without impairing governmental efficiency.

The senators, a sub-group of the senate's finance committee, are John S. Redditt, of Lufkin, Morris Roberts of Pettus, E. Harold Beck of Texarkana, Vernon Lemens of Rainbow and A. M. Aiken, Jr., of Paris.

None are up for election this year—16 of the 31 senators are holdovers—and therefore there is no danger work of the committee will be interrupted by political campaigns.

Acting under authority of a senate resolution adopted last spring, the senators will prepare a preliminary draft of a departmental appropriation bill, which will be submitted to the legislature at its general session beginning next January.

The theory is the legislature has so many matters to consider at a regular session it cannot give proper attention to a measure as large as a departmental appropriation bill, which this biennium calls for the expenditure of approximately $25,000,000.

The committee hopes its bill, to be ready soon after the regular session starts, will be used as a working basis for the bill finally adopted. Hereafter, committee members say, the legislature has had to take what department heads recommended or make unintelligent reductions.

Friends of C. V. Terrell and Lon A. Smith, members of the Railroad Commission, are having a laugh at the commissioners' expense.

While attending a meeting of the Interstate Oil and Gas Compact Commission in Oklahoma City, a newspaper there identified a picture of Terrell as that of Smith.

Terrell and Smith frequently clash on commission policies.

Two of the attorneys who challenged the eligibility of Harry N. Graves to serve as a member of the Court of Criminal Appeals are from Waxahachie, the home town of Judge F. L. Hawkins, who long has had a seat on the Court's bench.

The attorneys are L. D. Johnston and H. R. Stovall, a former state representative.

Judge Hawkins was not surprised that the issue was raised but he had not expected it to come up in the manner which it did. He had figured it would be raised in a death case, possibly in a case in which he and Judge W. C. Morrow had differed and Graves thereby had been the deciding judge.

The challenge was made in the form of motions for re-hearing in the cases of men whose convictions of burglary and selling whiskey had been affirmed by the court. The attorneys argued the court was not a constitutional one because Graves was a member of the legislature which increased salaries of the court's judges and his appointment as a judge by Gov. James V. Alfred was unconstitutional.

The constitution says in this connection no senator or representative "shall, during the term for which he may be elected, be eligible to any civil office or profit under this state, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which may have been increased during such term."

Judge Hawkins said he purposely had refrained from studying the question, feeling it might be brought up in his court and he then could say he knew nothing about it.

The state's seven-year-old anti-trust fight with oil companies, still far from a decision, has not been futile, says Gov. Alfred.

"It has been established that we have such laws, a thing which in the beginning the companies denied," the Governor asserted. The State Supreme Court has sustained civil aspects of the statutes, but it still is not settled whether violations may be punished by imprisonment.

Cranium Crackers

Fred Rauch decided to disappear and make people think he was dead. He built up a clever plan, which fooled his wife—but not the police.

At 10 o'clock at night Mrs. Rauch was summoned to the morgue, where she identified the body of a motor accident victim as that of her husband. The features were unrecognizable, but Mrs. Rauch said that the clothes were those which her husband had been wearing that day. Papers found in the pockets also indicated the dead man was Rauch.

The last person who had seen Rauch was Sam Jenkins, a barber, who had given him a haircut at about 5 p. m., and who had seen Rauch enter his car and drive away immediately thereafter.

The police informed Mrs. Rauch that the dead man was not her husband.

Here is what Rauch had done: On the outskirts of the city he picked up a hitch-hiker who resembled him in general build. After riding a short way, he called his companion's attention to something on the right side of the road, and knocked him out with a wrench.

He then stopped the car, changed clothes with his victim, disfigured the man's face, drove the car to the top of a steep hill and jumped out as he turned it off the road. Rauch went on his way, believing no one would ever know that the body in the car was not his.

HOW DID THE POLICE KNOW THE BODY WAS NOT THAT OF RAUCH? (Solution on classified page.)

nation and inauguration as Land Commissioner in 1936. Heath said he and McDonald made a trip to California in connection with one of these receiverships and Clark accompanied them but "had no connection with the matter."

Up to September, 1937, Heath was in charge of banking and insurance litigation under Attorney General McCraw. Sen. Joe L. Hill of Henderson brought out that Heath's brother now worked for McDonald.

Heath said he did not institute negotiations leading to McDonald's procurement of a job as appraiser in one receivership and as a personal representative of the receiver in another.

The former Assistant Attorney General was asked about his relations with Henry Owsley, lawyer of Denton and Austin and brother of Alvin Owsley, United States Minister to Ireland.

He said he now "officed" with Owsley but they had no business connections. He recommended Owsley's appointment as attorney for a receiver in one instance, he told the committee.

E. D. David, vice president of a bank at Gorman in McDonald's home county, testified the Land Commissioner had not had an account in his bank since 1932, didn't carry one in his wife's name and had no lock box.

At the request of the committee, the Attorney General's department supplied it a report on all land vacancy litigation since McCraw took office in January, 1935. The report contained all claimants and attorneys of record.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3. (AP)—Advances of 1 1/2 cents a bushel in wheat values today contrasted sharply with downturns of one point in wheat futures in United States.

One reason was reports that another crop failure appeared likely in the United States because of persistent drought. Some reports from the southwest indicated that the winter wheat crop was being ruined by frosts.

BRITISH GIRL AGENT BREAKS UP SPY PLOT

LONDON, Feb. 3. (AP)—A blond woman "British agent" told from the stand of Bow street court today how for nearly a year she had helped copy plans of Britain's most secret armaments smuggled from the big Woolwich arsenal in combatting an alleged spy plot.

A slim, black-haired girl identified only as "Miss X" testified against P. E. Glading, former arsenal employe, and three arsenal workers accused of duplicating blueprints of army, navy and airforce weapons allegedly intended for delivery to an unnamed foreign power.

The four defendants, arrested under the official secrets act, were remanded until Feb. 7 and after "Miss X" had corroborated the prosecution's story of an alleged plot involving a mysterious couple from Moscow.

Speaking under apparent stress, "Miss X" told how she had entered the office's counter-espionage service in 1931, doing voluntary work "The Friends of the Soviet Union."

In 1934, she said, she met Glading, who had an office in the same building as "The Friends." She testified she undertook "a special mission abroad" for him and in February, 1937, rented a London flat under his direction, where she learned photographic copying.

There, "Miss X" said, a couple named Stevens, who spoke French and who, according to Glading, had lived in Moscow, directed the making of hundreds of exposures of allegedly stolen plans.

The Stevens, she testified, later disappeared. During this whole time "Miss X" kept contact with the war office, and phoned it the night before Glading was arrested.

Prosecutor G. B. McClure successfully opposed all bail for the defendants. He said there was evidence of contact with a foreign power, and that "a certain country would welcome them with open arms."

Dear Son: We welcome you and Helen back from your honeymoon. After you've settled a bit, we'll drop in to see your new home.

I remember the day, some thirty years ago, when your Mother and I came back to our first home. It split kindling for the cast-iron kitchen stove, and it took Mother all afternoon to bake some bread. Instead of her vacuum-cleaner, Mother had a broom... and how she made it fly. But our prize possession was in the parlor... a real talking-machine, with chubby cylinder-records and a big morning-glory horn.

We used to march for miles all over town on our shopping trips. How I fidgeted while Mother shopped. We were both worn out.

Things have changed a lot since then, all right—and you'll both be better off for it. Helen won't have to spend half her days in the kitchen like Mother used to. The advertisements in the daily newspaper will save her those punishing miles of shopping. They'll keep her posted on current values, give her the names of dependable products, tell her all about special sales. When you come home nights you'll find her fresh as a daisy... ready for a jolly evening with your friends.

I'll trade the "good old days" for the good New days any day. But enough of reminiscence... I rejoice in the exciting years of youth that are ahead for you both.

Affectionately, Dad

'DUST BOWL' DROUGHT HAS WALLACE WORRIED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Weather bureau reports of continued drought conditions and dust storms in the southwestern plains and the resulting damage to the winter wheat crop received the attention today of Secretary Wallace and other agriculture department officials. The moisture deficiency was described as "acute" in the so-called "dust bowl," a region centering in western Kansas, northwestern Oklahoma, southeastern Colorado, northeastern New Mexico, the Texas Panhandle and western Nebraska. Wheat experts saw no reason yet to anticipate a shortage of wheat. They said as long as the drought condition was confined to the present area, the 1938 crop together with an anticipated surplus of 200,000,000 bushels from last year's harvest should be more than sufficient to meet all requirements. Agricultural adjustment administration officials said they did not expect the drought to reduce the winter wheat yield below 600,000,000 bushels, compared with 685,000,000 bushels last year.

THOMPSON ASKS OIL STATES TO COOPERATE

AUSTIN, Feb. 3 (AP)—The continuing rise in gasoline and crude oil stocks led Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Interstate Compact Commission, to appeal again to the other oil states for co-operation in trimming production. "Our Sunday shutdown has reduced Texas output by about 198,000 barrels per day," Thompson, a member of the Texas railroad commission, said in a written statement. "Other states have shown an understanding of the present problem and have made some cuts, but I am calling the alarming figures on gasoline and oil storage to the attention of the oil industry for careful study." Estimates of the Oil and Gas Journal placed the decline in Texas production last week at 168,396 barrels whereas the output of the rest of the nation increased around 17,000 barrels. "Gasoline stocks on hand today are 84,844,000 barrels," Thompson said. "This is an all time peak. In March, 1937, we had 282,000,000 barrels of crude oil on hand. Today crude stocks above ground are 304,424,000 barrels, and this is only the first of February. Last year we did not have the depression that is now upon us. "We in Texas and the other oil states are really manufacturers of these unsaleable barrels of oil and gasoline. Is it good sense to continue to produce more oil than the market demands or can absorb?"

DIRIGIBLES URGED BY RHODE ISLAND SOLON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—A proposal to revive dirigible construction as a part of the national defense program developed today in the house naval committee. Rep. O'Connell (D. R. I.), said he would offer an amendment to the $300,000,000 naval expansion bill to set aside at least $6,000,000 to build two lighter-than-air cruisers. He said he would stipulate that the ships be built in this country by American engineers and would advocate that they be of a different type of design than the skeleton hull used in the ill-fated Akron and Macon, whose destruction halted experiments with dirigibles in this country. While the naval committee went ahead with hearings on the bill to authorize construction of 47 new warships and 22 auxiliaries, Chairman May (D. Ky.), of the House military committee said he would proceed with another legislative phase of President Roosevelt's na-

METHODISTS ASSEMBLE FOR CHICAGO PARLEY

CHICAGO, Feb. 3 (AP)—Chicago became the capital of Methodism today when bishops and laymen, ministers and executives assembled amid jubilation over the forthcoming union of the church's three divided houses. Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of Chicago said "the whole range of religion's stake in modern civilization" would be discussed during the three day meeting of the United Methodist council on the future of faith and service. The council represented 8,000,000 communicants and 12,000,000 additional adherents of the Methodist Episcopal church, Methodist Episcopal Church, South and the Methodist Protestant Church, divided more than 100 years ago but which have voted to reunite. Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Sayre, one of many prominent laymen scheduled as speakers, said in an address prepared for delivery today "the age in which we live constitutes a terrible challenge to Christianity." The council meeting also launched world wide celebration of the 200th anniversary of the conversion of John Wesley, founder of Methodism, in London on May 24, 1937.

415 TEXANS DIE OF PREVENTABLE FIRES

AUSTIN, Feb. 3 (AP)—Preventable fires probably took the lives of 415 Texans last year, a report of the insurance department indicated today. Fire Insurance Commissioner Marvin Hall said the estimate, based on 229 deaths actually reported, was 104 fewer than 1936 deaths but 65 more than a forecast made at the close of 1936. The complete record will not be available until the health department compiles a tabulation of 1937 deaths, delayed by tardy reports.

Beginning a Story of the War of 1812

A tall lithe girl... alone.

CHAPTER I
A TALL lithe girl in a brown coat and bonnet stood knocking on old Oliver Dart's oaken street door in the heart of London while a summer storm blustered and the sperm-oil street lamps were being lit. She had come three thousand miles by sailboat across the Atlantic and a hundred miles by coach from Bournemouth, and she was only just losing her patience.

The door opened a crack to let a plump, red-faced woman in a starched cap peer out. The girl said to her, "Let me in, please! I'm wet to the skin!"

"Who are you?"
"Polly Chesley, Great-niece to Mister Oliver Dart. I've come from Connecticut to see him."

"Where be Connecticut? In Yorkshire?"

"In America."
"Lud!" There was a gasp, and the door opened.

On the thresh old the girl turned to call to a driver of a gig that had brought her to the door: "Cabby, bring my trunk, and mind you don't drop it!"

The driver lumbered up the steps with a small doekin trunk studded with brass nails and deposited it on the floor.

"How much do I owe you?" asked Polly Chesley.

"Two shillings, eight pence, Miss."

"You're a robber, but here 'tis, and good night to you."

"Good night to you, young Miss. Journey's end be bright!"

"Bright!" echoed Miss Polly Chesley forlornly after the street door had banged shut. She looked around the narrow wainscoted hallway which was decorated with nothing as far as she could see, but a winding staircase and a fat old woman holding a candle.

"Well," she said a little uncertainly, "could I see my uncle now?"

"I'll fair lay him out, Miss. The surprise."

"But I wrote him a letter before Christmas and told him I'd be here this summer on my cousin's brig, the Trim Yankee out of New Haven. He let me come."

"There was no letter, Miss."

"WHAT? He never got it?" The girl stood pondering a moment while the wet cloak clung to her in sculptured lines and her dripping bonnet sent small rivulets down her surprised young face. "Well, that's a pretty pass!—But never mind."

"I'll fair lay him out, Miss. The surprise."

"Take me to him and I'll recite the letter to him like a magpie."
"I'm Mrs. Broggs, Miss—cook to Mr. Dart. I'd advise you not to see him. No good can come of it. Let me make you comfortable in the house unbeknowns to him, Miss!"

"But there's no sense to that," cried Polly impatiently. "I've come to see him on business. If you mean he's a cross old man, so be it. I've known many such in our town of Lyme."

Still Mrs. Broggs demurred, shifting her feet uneasily and saying "Lud" both under her breath and aloud. Presently she said, "He's above stairs in his study, Miss—supping. Follow me if you must, but don't say I didn't warn you."

Up they went, and Polly Chesley was ushered into a well-furnished sitting room where a thin-featured, pale-eyed old man in a frilled shirt and high stock was having cold cuts and tea before a fire.

The serving woman made a bobbing curtsy and said, with the watchful look of a child bursting a paper sack: "Your great-niece from Ameriky, Sir!"

Old Oliver Dart looked as if his eyes and ears had deceived him. Then, when he saw that she was an actuality, his face seemed to narrow and close in on itself, so that Polly thought she must be looking at a gnome instead of a man.

She gave a shaken little laugh and explained, "I'm Polly Chesley from across the Atlantic—daughter to your niece Mary that married the American seaman in Connecticut, and died there."

"To what circumstances do I owe your visit?" asked Oliver Dart.

POLLY CHELSEY bent her graceful long-limbed body toward the fire to warm her hands. Her hair was smooth and brown, her eyes deep blue, her features evenly cut. There was an unconscious dignity about her. Though she was but 18 she seemed a woman grown, as any girl would who had been housekeeper, seamstress and cook for her family since her fourteenth year.

She spoke up bravely. "It's as I told you in the letter you never got. I've come for my mother's share of my grandfather's money, because we need it so. My father had to give up following the sea because of a stiffness of the joints, and my brother's been lame from a lad. We heard round about that my grandfather Richard Dart died last year. Knowing he had a counting-house business and was well-off, I said I'd come for my mother's share."

Oliver Dart spoke curtly and with an obvious relish: The property was all willed to your mother's brother, the proper heir. Very logical."

"Oh," Polly cried in quick protest. "That's the way the aristocrats do. The titled land owners. But my grandfather's case was different. He was a city man, in business."

"Yet entitled to make a will, my dear young lady. Even had your mother remained dutifully in England and not gone over to the tricky Yankees he might have followed the same course. But certainly she and her children deserve nothing as matters stand. I'm surprised you ever entertained such ideas. You look more intelligent."

"I took a chance," Polly said, and sighed. She had spent the family savings and several dangerous weeks making this journey; within ten minutes this tight-lipped, hard-eyed old man had shown her it was in vain.

"Don't let me detain you from returning to your lodgings," said Oliver Dart.

"To my lodgings?" repeated Polly uncertainly. "Why, sir, I'm in this predicament: my cousin Tim Chelsey put me ashore at Bournemouth and took his cargo over to Cherbourg. He'll not be back to pick me up for several weeks. I expected to stop here until then."

"Indeed," replied Mr. Dart. "Most peculiar. . . . Mrs. Broggs, set another cover and bring a pot of tea for the guest. Draw up, Miss Chelsey, and tell me what the dastardly Yankees are up to now."

"What the Yankees are up to?" exclaimed Polly coloring. "The English navy, you mean! They're stealing men off our ships till half the seagoing lads in America have stripes on their backs from British ships."

She stopped suddenly and smiled, to lighten her words, for she was hungry and needed a shelter. Polly Chelsey from Connecticut was nobody's fool.

bids would be to the state's advantage in some instances if they carried asurances of early developments and the geophysical picture reflected probable rich production.

McDonald had given preference in some cases to bids carrying high royalty agreements in leasing submerged lands along the Gulf coast.

Members of a senate committee investigating Land Commissioner William H. McDonald planned further inquiry into affairs of the general land office today after scrutinizing actions of Francis Felty, former employe, yesterday.

Felty, brother of Rep. Fred Felty of San Antonio, is employed by J. R. Chatham and I. E. Harwell of Burkburnett. Chatham, principal witness, asserted neither he nor Harwell reaped private gain from Felty's occupancy of the state job.

He testified he helped Felty get a job with McDonald but "so far as I know, he had no usefulness while he was in Austin except to the state and the land office."

R. J. Wolfe, Tyler oil man who received the award of a lease on submerged land after McDonald took office told the investigators he contributed $250 to McDonald's campaign fund in 1936 but was not active in the campaign.

"I made the contribution solely because N. D. Callagher of Cisco, whom I have known all my life, asked for it," he said.

J. S. Hudnall of Tyler, petroleum geologist, testified it was hazardous for the state to accept high royalty over high cash offers because many dry holes might be encountered.

Folk Shelter, counsel for McDonald, drew from Hudnall an admission, however, that the large royalty

GROUP DRAFTS CROP CONTROL LEGISLATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Members of Congress chalked up two major accomplishments today for the first month of their 1938 session.

1. A senate-house committee completed the final draft of crop control legislation. Quick ratification by both chambers was expected.

2. A bill designed to stimulate home construction by reducing government-insured mortgage requirements was ready for the President's signature.

Although leaders agreed that the record of surface achievements since Congress met Jan. 3 was unimposing, they said more work than usual had been done during the first month.

Enough progress has been made on routine appropriation bills and the tax revision program so that some members were talking optimistically of an early adjournment.

The house has passed three of the nine regular supply bills—$1,412,000,000 for independent agencies, $1,400,000,000 for the treasury and post office departments, and $549,000,000 for the navy.

Even senate leaders contended progress has been made despite the month's filibuster against the anti-lynching bill. They forecast that this troublesome issue would be shelved within a week, although some proponents said efforts to pass the bill might be renewed later in the session.

The senators suggested they might try to attach a modified version of the measure as a "rider" to some vital appropriation bill.

Flashes of LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

WHY MEN LEAVE HOME
ST. LOUIS—It was a man's voice on the telephone pleading with Deputy Sheriff Charles Colesworth, "won't you please come out here and change the baby?"

"Sorry, but the baby department is closed," said Colesworth. "Then I'd like to have you for a witness in a divorce suit I'm going to file," the voice said.

CASE DISMISSED
BALTIMORE—John M. Noble had two reasons for parking in a prohibited zone outside a hospital and Magistrate William J. Stockdale decided both of them were good ones.

Noble explained he was rushing his wife to the hospital. Soon after her arrival, he said, twins were born.

HIGH AND DRY
ALVISO, Calif.—Anxious neighbors entered the rain-flooded home of Mrs. Ah Quong, 90, fearfully searched for her.

Mrs. Quong sat impassively in a chair suspended by ropes from the ceiling.

SAFE AT LAST
SAN QUENTIN, Calif.—Manuel Madero, 55, was safe in San Quentin prison today, and glad of it.

An automobile in which deputies were taking him to prison to serve a 1-to-10 years term for attempted assault, skidded and overturned. Madero, the only occupant escaping injury, begged of highway patrolmen:

"Get me out of here. Get me to San Quentin—I want to be safe."

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day of about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 1.6 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Richest Girl in the World

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER XXV

"To give away your millions!" Bret looked at her now, repeating what she had told him. There was incredulity in his dark eyes, amazement.

"Yes, Connie met his dark look squarely, unflinchingly. I have a plan worked out, nearly completed. It is what I want to do. The only thing that will make me happy. I had hoped that you would help me, Bret."

He did not answer. She supposed that he still did not believe her. He thought that this, too, was some wild impulse, a whim that would pass.

"I have thought it out as carefully as I could," Connie continued. "As wisely, I hope. The money will be divided into various trusts and foundations. Some for colleges; one here, in this country for these mountain people; some for hospitals. I thought I would like to build churches like this one—her eyes went to the tall thin steeple of the little white church that glistened in the last rays of the setting sun—in rural districts. Then there could be health clinics for all those oppressed and in need. And a laboratory to study and fight the diseases that are the root and cause. Oh, there's so much we can do with all this money; a whole lifetime of working and planning and building together...."

"Together?" Did you say 'together'?" Bret spoke for the first time.

"That was what I hoped, Bret. What I still want. Though, if you can't, if you won't, I shall go on with the plan, alone."

"It is a wonderful plan," he said slowly. "A beautiful plan. But are you sure you mean it, sure you don't regret it?"

"I told you that Constance Corby is dead!" she cried, impatiently. "What more could she say, what more could she offer? She had given him all that she had, not only in worldly possessions, but her heart, the self that was truly she. If he could not believe in that, accept it...."

"I am as sure," she said, "as I am that we are standing here, together. Bret—on the top of our hill. As sure," her voice faltered but she must go on, though he might not wish to hear it, she must be as brave as she had told Rodney she would try to be—"as sure as that.... I know that I love you."

"But you told me that you loved Rodney Brandon? Only so short a time ago."

HOW could he be so stern, so cruel? Her love, then, meant nothing to him. Yet she was not ashamed of it, nor sorry she had laid her heart at her feet. She was glad and proud that she loved this man before her.

"It was a lie. Said to hurt you. A pretense, like all the rest of my life. The part before I ran away and met you and really came to life in these hills. The part when I returned and pretended to be the richest girl in the world again. Yes, and the most spoiled, most selfish, most unthinking. That girl was never really I. Can't you see, Bret, that I would not have run away from her, seeking something, if I really had been that girl in my heart? I could not have lost that same heart? You found the only happiness I ever knew, living the good life, the simple life with you beside me. I would not be offering you all that I have, all that I am—if what I say were not true. But as I've told you, I've grown up. I'm through pretending. I shan't change again, Bret, though you won't forgive me or believe in me."

He did not say anything for a moment; then he turned toward her, and now his eyes looked into hers, deeply, searchingly, as only Bret's eyes could, causing her heart to hammer faintly.

"I told you," he said, "that I had something to tell you—that night, when you said you were going away—I wanted to tell you that I was going away; to ask you to go with me. I had secured a new contract to build a road, further west than this, but in country not unlike this, either. I wanted to ask you to build a new life with me, to make our home, have our children...."

"Oh, Bret!" She held out her hands to him in a pleading motion. "Why didn't you ask me then? Why didn't you make me go. Why didn't you tell me that?"

You told me that you loved Rodney Brandon. That was the only thing that made me agree to set you free. Love can't be chained, you know. Nor purchased at any price. Besides I loved you too much to hold you, if you did not care for me."

"YOU loved me too much...." But now—was that love dead, hopeless? It must be or he would have told her. She put her hands before her eyes, turning away her head. She must not let him see how much he had hurt her. She had only herself to blame, if she had killed his love. She should be the one to suffer.

"Yes," Bret said, I loved you too much. More than myself, more than life. I still love you—in that same way—as I always shall. Connie.... Look at me! It isn't much that I have to offer, only my love, but if it's enough—I'll give it all to you. In exchange, darling, for your wonderful plan, which we will carry out, together."

She took her hands from her face, looked at him as though she could not believe what he had just told her, such unbelieving ecstasy that she wondered if she dared believe him.

"It won't be easy," Bret went on. "To carry out this plan or to make our marriage over. We will have to work at it. We will have to make it endure forever and ever. Not a small task, any of this that lies before us. But we can do it, I'm sure of that. Not alone, sweetheart, but as husband and wife. We can begin again—together."

"That it enough," Connie said. "Much more than enough. Why don't you know," her laughter rang out on the fragrant night that now enveloped them, her eyes looking into his were unafraid, her sweet face radiant, "now I am the richest girl in all the world, Bret darling!"

He took her in his arms, then his lips met hers in a kiss that was solemn, yet infinitely tender. He said, "And I—am the richest man, dear heart."

DALLAS ONCE MERE VILLAGE TO LANCASTER

LANCASTER, Feb. 2. (AP)—Shadows of an historic past cluster about a two and one-half story house sitting 100 yards west of the Lancaster Pike at the outskirts of this town. The home, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Miller, stands on the site of Pleasant Run, long since disappeared, but once was larger than Dallas.

Mr. Miller's grandfather, an original settler, owned a store there and his descendants treasure the story of the woman who came down from Dallas to buy her wedding dress because, "you can't buy anything in that little place!"

M. M. Miller built the house in the 1840's and in 1859 increased it to its present size of 15 rooms. The original timber, oak and hand hewn cedar, hauled by oxen from Houston, has become so hard an electrician wiring the building not long ago nearly gave up when he found his tools would not bite through it. Many parts still are joined by the original wooden pegs.

An old pond stands near the house, a relic of the mill Mr. Miller once operated along with the store.

Occasionally Mr. Miller went to New York to select goods, the trip being so hazardous he made his will before leaving on the first trip. Once Mrs. Miller accompanied him, and wrote home that from her hotel window she sometimes could see as many as a thousand persons. She also was very shocked by the vulgar display of limbs in the theaters.

Lodging with Mr. Miller before he married was Pat Garrett, later famed as a ranger, and killer of Billy the Kid and other desperadoes. Miller was known as a better shot than Garrett and both intended moving farther west until cupid halted Miller. Garrett pushed on toward the setting sun and adventure.

The influence of the great-grandfather of the present Mr. Miller is attributed the immunity of the section from attack by Indians. When the ancestor was bludgeoned by a group of Indians he was found an Indian chief left to die by enemies in an inter-tribal war. The white man nursed the chief to health and when Indians later raided the settlement they were halted by the chief upon recognizing his benefactor. The Indians spread the word and the section never was attacked again.

Pampa Whips Amarillo; Miami Tournament Next

How Mighty Mize Keeps Fit

Johnnie Mize, mighty first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals and a holdout, keeps fit by doing chores on his farm near Atlanta and hunting in the hills.

As a near capacity crowd roared its approval, amateur boxing was introduced to Pampa last night with 15 rousing bouts at the Pampa Athletic arena. The tournament, sponsored by the Pampa Daily News and sanctioned by the Southwestern A. A. A., will continue tonight and end tomorrow night when eight champions will be crowned.

Ten of the bouts went the limit with four ending in knockouts, two actual and two technical, and the other by default. When James Brown of Pampa disappeared after donning his trunks and Adrian White of Borger won by default.

Knockouts went to Frank Bills, Shamrock bantamweight, who took a second round victory from Harrison Hall of Winkler; Billy Morgan, another Shamrock bantamweight, took Kenneth Davis of Canadian under in the third round; T. J. Watt, Pampa lightweight, landed a knockout punch to Jack Callaway of Canadian in the third; Jimmy Hamill of Pampa, fought one minute and 10 seconds to flatten Hugh Anderson, also of Pampa.

Many stars who did not battle last night will swing into action tonight, trying to battle their way into the finals Friday night. Several of last night's winners will also reappear on tonight's card.

New Boys Tonight. Among the new faces to show tonight will be Kelson Miller facing Thomas Smith, both Pampa featherweights; Marc Mitter and Ray Elkins, Pampa lightweights; Mack Wangel of White Deer and Gene Davidson of Shamrock, another pair lightweights; Eidean Flowers of Shamrock and Lewis Stark of Pampa, a couple of middleweights.

Also on the "yet to appear" list are J. P. Mathews, A. C. Burslein, Joe Hamill, Donald Logan, Glen Tabor, LeRoy Davis, and James Cores. They will be on tonight or tomorrow night, depending on matching.

Tonight—as last night—the bouts will begin at 8 o'clock with between 12 and 15 battles on the card. Admission will be $1.10 ringside reserve, tax paid, 40 cents adult general admission, and 25 cents for children under 12. Doors will be open at 7 o'clock tonight.

Leather This Thick. There was more leather in the air than particles in the last dust. Out of the 15 battles, only three could be classed as boxing matches. The rest were old-fashioned slugfests with leather flying from all angles. Blood flowed freely in spots but the boys seemed to battle all the harder when the red appeared.

Honors for gameness probably should be pinned on little Edward Asher, Doug Keyser and John Kidwell. They never let up even after their opponents had gained the lead. Boxing bouquets were showered upon Ray "Dippy" Norman and Cleve "Red" Drake, both of Pampa, who went the distance in a great defensive battle with Norman's experience the winning factor.

The biggest surprise of the evening came in the final bout when Martin Cluck of Shamrock defeated Elvis Mathis in a light-heavyweight classic which saw more leather slung than in any bout of the evening.

Only one unpopular decision was rendered, when Bob Gaiser of Borger was given the nod over Harry McMahan, middleweights. Gaiser opened strong and brought blood but McMahan never let down and piled up many points. Gaiser fouled to open the last round but one of the judges apparently missed it and the referee broke the tie in favor of Gaiser whose conduct was not exactly gentlemanly in the ring.

Referee Ray "Big Train" Clements of Lubbock, state licensed official, gave an almost perfect performance. He watched the fighters closely, catching every foul or infraction of amateur rules and warning the boys.

Everyone Tried. And hats must go off to every boy who appeared on the card. The little fellows, the medium sized boys and the big ones battled their way out for the customers. And they were amply rewarded by cheers, the only thing the amateurs get out of their efforts because they cannot accept money. All proceeds from the tournament, after expenses are deducted, go for the advancement of amateur sports.

ILLINOIS CAGER SUSPENDED FOR TAKING CLUB'S CHECKS

CHICAGO, Feb. 3 (AP)—Revelation that Lou Boudreau, University of Illinois basketball captain, had been suspended from athletics for verbally agreeing to sign with the Cleveland baseball club and for permitting the club to send $100 monthly checks to his mother, struck western conference athletic officials like a bombshell today.

The suspension prompted John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics of the conference, to make a sharply worded protest against major league clubs, "enticing" college players before their graduation, and led other big ten officials to speculate as to the existence of similar cases.

Boudreau's ineligibility ruling by the western conference faculty committee stunned the Illinois campus at Champaign. The ruling, however, provided that he might be reinstated next fall provided he severs connection with professional athletics. Boudreau was reported to have directed the Cleveland club to stop remitting money to his mother who lives in Harvey, Ill. Being a junior, he has another year of competition.

The 20-year old athlete professed not knowing he was violating any conference rule and declared the committee's ruling was a shock to him.

Three counts before going down for the last time after one of the gamest battles of the evening. Little John Kidwell had to give away too much reach to cope with Jake Bible of Alameda in a featherweight setto. Bible gave a marvelous exhibition of aggressive fighting and hard hitting although Kidwell bored in and never let up. Although battered he never lost his smile and got a great hand from the fans as did the popular Bible.

Gameness featured the Freeman Sullivan-Edward Asher battle with Sullivan getting the nod through a last round rally. Both tried hard and landed with everything but the KO punch was lacking.

Shamrock Boys Win. Another Shamrock youth, Leonard Evers, decided Billy Penegraff of Canadian in another prize-raising struggle which saw both nearly out time after time. Evers, however, had the stamina to come back in the closing minute to push the fighting for a decision.

Pampa's T. J. Watt, an early favorite, had to come from behind and they overcame a late rally to knock out Jack Callaway of Canadian. Watt opened with a two-fisted attack that had Callaway on the run. In the second stanza, Callaway took over and punished Watt. Callaway failed to follow up his advantage and Watt dropped him in the third.

A punching piece of dynamite was Jimmie Hamill of Pampa in his first round knockout of tall Hugh Anderson.

After being dropped for a count of seven in the first round, Verlin Massey of Canadian came back to win a decision from LaFolia Watt of Pampa in a thriller. Massey dropped Watt for counts of three and nine in the last round to win going away.

Captain Claude Heiskell and his mates on the Harvester basketball team were hoping this morning that Borger would be entered in the tournament at Miami which begins tomorrow.

The Harvesters again proved their superiority over the Bulldogs last night when they whipped the Sandies more than the Borgans did. The Amarillos lost to the Pampons 23 to 20, their fourth straight defeat. Borger nosed out Amarillo in an overtime period when the two teams met recently.

The two centers, Norman Cox and Jack Cunningham, couldn't make any scores; Andis' shooting was ineffective; Reynolds and Dunaway couldn't hit the basket, so it was up to Claude Heiskell to win the game. And he did just that. He won it with a total of 15 points. Heiskell was the main spring of the team the previous night in Borger when the Harvesters lost by four points.

The coaches, Norman Cox and Jack Cunningham, couldn't make any scores; Andis' shooting was ineffective; Reynolds and Dunaway couldn't hit the basket, so it was up to Claude Heiskell to win the game. And he did just that. He won it with a total of 15 points. Heiskell was the main spring of the team the previous night in Borger when the Harvesters lost by four points.

Coach Odus Mitchell had not learned today who would be the Harvesters' first foe in the Miami tournament. He hoped it would be Borger. Unless the Harvesters and the Bulldogs meet in some tournament, they will not clash again until the district tournament which will be held here Feb. 17, 18 and 19.

Heiskell scored 10 points single-handed in the first half before any other player on the team scratched. Cunningham, sub center, sank a free throw and that was Pampa's total scoring for the first half. The Sandies led 13 to 11 at the half-time whistle.

Rice, Sandie guard, was high scorer for his team with 8 points. Game Close-Fought. The game was tight all the way through, and the two teams ran neck and neck through most of the second half.

With only a few minutes to play, the Harvesters broke a 19-all tie when Heiskell sank a floor throw and the Pampons tried "freezing" the ball and waiting for the final whistle. Reynolds, Pampa guard, fouled C. W. Kelly, Sandie forward, who promptly bucketed his free shot to tie up within one point of the leaders.

With less than a minute to play left, Cox, tall Pampa center, looped in a field goal, and Pampa went back to their stalling tactics. The Sandies showed marked improvement over their previous games with the Harvesters as they fought every inch of the way.

Sandie reserves defeated the Pampa second string 28 to 20, earlier in the evening. Williams was high point man of the game with 10 tallies. Harrell led the Harvester reserves with 8 points.

McCluskey Warns 'Running Fools'

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Veteran Joe McCluskey of the New York A. C. issued a warning today to Don Lash, Indiana iron man, and other "running fools" who try to pack too much competition into the annual indoor track campaign.

McCluskey, who will face Lash and three other national champions in the two-mile race of the Millrose games at Madison Square Garden Saturday night, has been campaigning for nine years, and just now is getting the nod through the career. Lash, Joe believes, already is slowing up, although he hasn't been around half as long.

"Don's trying to do too much," McCluskey said. "Saturday night, besides running the two-mile, he'll be in the mile against Glenn Cunningham, Archie San Romani and George Harbord. He did the same thing in Boston last week end, when he beat me in the two-mile in 9:04.6 and ran last in the mile.

"Coming on top of the appendicitis operation he had last year, that sort of a program is hurting him. Sure, that Boston two-mile was fast, the second fastest ever run there. But if Don were running as well as last year, I believe he could have bettered that by two or three seconds."

Joe's own running policy is to do it for fun, and that's what he'll do for Saturday night.

Philadelphia and Cincinnati. Brooklyn had Mungo, Frankhouse and Butcher. Philadelphia had Walters, La Master and Passeau. Cincinnati had Grissom, Derringer, Hollingsworth and Schott. Some of those fellows are great pitchers; the rest are above average.

The last three clubs in the American league race, Washington, Philadelphia and St. Louis, couldn't muster a pitching force to compare favorably with that National league bunch.

Carl Hubbell of the Giants is the easiest pitcher to work with. He's always within a few inches of the plate and as cool as ice. Pinelli has umpired in the league for three years. Only once has Hubbell questioned one of his decisions. He walked up and said: "That looked like a pretty good ball, didn't it Babe?"

The toughest batters for any pitcher to fool are Joe Medwick of the Cardinals, Paul Waner of Pittsburgh, Mel Ott of the Giants, and Billy Herman and Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs, in that order. Pinelli says these five absolutely will not chase a bad ball. The horsehide comes over the plate or they ignore it.

In the National it was Brooklyn,

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 3 (AP)—Patty Berg encountered the stellar Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta in the semi-finals of the Miami Biltmore Women's Golf tournament today.

Their meeting overshadowed in gallery interest the other match between Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. S., and Mrs. Jane Cochran Jameson of West Palm Beach, Fla.

Miss Kirby toured the difficult Biltmore layout in 76, six under women's par, in eliminating Marion Milley of Fort Pierce, Fla., one of the co-medalists, 3 and 1, and swamping Mrs. Lillian Zech of Chicago, 6 and 4.

Miss Berg, the Minneapolis flash, turned back Sally Guth of Webster Grove, Mo., 3 and 1, and Marian McDougall of Portland, Ore., Pacific Coast champion, 5 and 4.

Mrs. Jameson defeated Mrs. Mortimer May of New York, 2 and 1, and took a 5 and 4 victory over Dorothy Traung of San Francisco. Dorothy Hemphill turned in a pair of 7 and 6 victories over Mrs. Charles Harbaugh of Cleveland and Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I.

TIGERS CLAIM BEST ROOKIES

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 3 (AP)—Manager Mickey Cochrane said today his Detroit Tigers and the New York Yankees had corralled the best rookies coming up into the American league this year.

A close pennant fight may be decided, he predicted, by the way the new men turn out.

"New York got two or three promising pitchers from Newark," Cochrane declared, "and also this boy Fish Gordon, who is slated to take Tony Lazerri's place at second base. The Yanks also are counting heavily on Tom Henrich, the outfielder who was one of the best rookie finds in 1937.

"We're digging for rookie gold, too, and have several fine prospects." Cochrane, his wife, and their two children, Gordon Stanley, Jr., and Joan, came here from Detroit and plan to stay until the Tigers break their training camp about April 10.

The erstwhile catcher lists two pitchers with previous Major league experience among Detroit's "A-1 prospects."

"They are Al Benton, who used to be with the Athletics, and Harry Eisenstat, former Brooklyn Dodger," he said.

Cochrane, who broke up his infield that won the World Series in 1935 when he sent Marvin Owen to Chicago along with Gerald Walker in a trade for pitcher Vernon Kennedy and outfielder Dixie Walker, has high hopes a 2-year-old youngster, Mark Christman of Beaumont, will fill the third base gap.

"Christian has the highest recommendations of the Tiger scouts, and his record is very impressive," the manager said. "He hit well and ran the catchers of the Texas league ragged stealing bases. Why, he had a record of 47 stolen bases in 50 tries.

"If he can make good, it looks as if the infield will be set with Dick Greenberg on first, Charley Gehring on second and Bill Rogell at short.

Riggs A Round Ahead of Grant

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 3 (AP)—Top-seeded Bobby Riggs was a round ahead of Bilsy Grant, his arch rival of the winter tennis circuit, in the Surf Club tournament today but faced stern opposition in his quarter-finals match with Charles Harris of West Palm Beach, Fla.

If Riggs wins the tournament it will be the hard way. From the start the young Chicagoan has been a marked man.

Yesterday he defeated Carroll Turner, Miami veteran, 8-6, 7-5. Riggs had to come from behind in both sets. Harris advanced yesterday over Dick McKee of Miami Beach, 6-2, 6-0.

Grant, the Atlanta mite, still had a third round engagement with Vernon Marcum of Lakeland, Fla., and should he win will meet Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., later in the day.

By HARRY GRAYSON Sports Editor, NEA Service. A Phi Beta Kappa scholar, with a West Point background, assumes the duties of football coach at the University of Oregon next fall.

And the results should be very interesting when Gerald A. (Tex) Oliver starts moving in Pacific Coast Conference circles.

Oliver played his first big-time football at West Point after the World War, under "Cap" McEwan. He gained entrance to West Point via the examination route after many months with the doughboys in Europe.

This big six-footer has coached the grid game nearly half of his 38 years. And the Pacific coast is not new territory. For four years he was stationed at San Diego high school and then put in seven more at Santa Ana high school, sending many a prep star to coast schools.

At Santa Ana, from 1930 to 1932, Oliver's high school charges won 27 straight games. This reputation landed him at the University of Arizona where in five years his football teams won 32 games, lost 11 and tied four.

During the 1937 season, the Wildcats won eight games and lost two. Notable victories were over Kansas, 9 to 7, and Oregon, 20 to 6. It was Oregon that brought him attention at Eugene.

Thirst For Knowledge. Following his West Point days, Oliver attended summer sessions at Stanford and University of Southern California, where he earned his B. A. degree in 1930. He also earned a Phi Beta Kappa key, which speaks his scholastic record.

Born in Atlanta, Nov. 21, 1899, Oliver received his early education in Georgia but started as a high school athlete in Houston and El Paso, Tex. He was a four-sport letterman in interscholastic competition, participating in football, basketball, baseball and track.

On his first visit to Eugene, Oliver impressed everyone with his keen sense of humor and fluent manner and speech. He proved that even the life of football coach needn't be too serious.

Monday morning quarterbacks—those ever-helpful alumni who meet on Mondays to diagnose Saturday's errors—fall to worry him.

"In Tucson we had a club called 'Town Cats'—about 300 of 'em'—which met once a week and discussed the games. We showed pictures and had a lot of fun!"

He admitted he borrowed the idea from Minnesota's Bernie Bierman, and that it kept the wolves from growing if he lost a close game!

Holds Clinics For Public. Oliver has another plan to aid in his "public relations." It's a "football clinic," to which the public is invited to witness passing, running and punting contests.

"The contests create a lot of interest in the team," he claims, "and the public learns to know the players personally."

As to his particular style of play, Oliver characterizes his coaching as "versatile attack" and lets it go at that.

In offering Oliver a three-year contract at $6,000 annually, Oregon broke a long precedent.

At the present time, Oliver is president of the Pacific Coast Football Coaches' Association.
