FEAR OF NAVAL AIR TRAGEDY IS GROWING TODAY

No Trace Is Found of Plane and Three Officers

SINGLE REPORT IS ONLY CLUE

Men Were Flying to the Bedside of Sick
Girl

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—The Navy department was informed today that an airplane was heard over Thomas Point Light, ten miles south of Annapolis, in Chesapeake Bay, at 4 a. m., yesterday morning. This is the first report received on the missing amphibian plane since she took off from Hampton roads for Annapolis. The message said that the course of the plane heard had not been determined.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Hopeful that another naval tragedy had not been recorded, naval officials summoned every possible aid today to resume the search for three officers of the aircraft carrier Lexington, missing since they took off at 2 a. m., yesterday from the Norfolk naval air station for Annapolis.

The officers, Commander T. G. Elyson of Richmond, Va., the navy's first air pilot; Lieut.-Commander Hugo Schmidt of Brooklyn, and Lieut. Rogers Ransenshausen of Springfield, Mass., had chosen the air route in order that Elyson could reach, in the quickest possible time, the bedside of his 12-year-old daughter, Mildred, who is ill in the Naval hospital at Annapolis.

Flying a big amphibian which had been tested beforehand at the Norfolk base, the three, with Elyson as a passenger, started at 2 o'clock in the morning for what ordinarily would be a two-hour flight. When Annapolis reported they had not arrived eight hours later, nearly a score of planes were sent out to search for them from the Lexington, anchored in Hampton Roads, the Norfolk and Washington air stations, and Annapolis.

After traversing the route the fliers were expected to take, all planes reported having seen nothing of them or their amphibian.

Commander Elyson's wife, who is at the bedside of their daughter, had not been informed early today of the grave fears felt for her husband and his companions, although she was said to have known of his plans to fly to Annapolis early yesterday.

Beaumont Selected For Convention of Texas Democrats

AUSTIN, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Gov. Dan Moody Tuesday refused to sanction any attempted endorsement of him for the presidency by the state Democratic executive committee, declaring that he is a candidate for no office other than governor.

AUSTIN, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Beaumont today was selected as the site for the Democratic state convention.

Beaumont won the convention, to meet May 22, on the fourth ballot, winning over Austin, runner-up, by an executive committee vote of 20 to 10.

Wichita Falls was in the running until the third ballot, with eight votes. Fort Worth and Amarillo were eliminated in the second ballot, Amarillo having no votes and Fort Worth four. Galveston went out on the first ballot, with two votes. Dallas and Brownsville withdrew before voting started.

Sealed Up 31 Years, Frog Still Has Pep

Scientists to the contrary notwithstanding, hundreds of West Texans who saw this horned frog hop out of the cornerstone of the old court house in Eastland, Texas, the other day, will testify that the frog lived there, sealed up for 31 years. Here are County Judge E. S. Pritchard (left) and Bon Hammitt, motorcycle officer, holding the Rip Van Winkle of the south.

WINK FIGHTS FOR RAILROAD WHICH SMALL PLACE WANTS

AUSTIN, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Opposition to the Texas-New Mexico Railway company's request for permission to build a line connecting with the Texas and Pacific at Monahans, without touching at Wink, Winkler county seat, developed in the railroad commission's hearing Tuesday.

Wink representatives protested the project because their town would not be on the route and would be, claimed, eight miles to the nearest proposed station. As now planned the line would run through Kermit, which opponents contended has a population of only about 150 compared to Wink's 3,500. Kermit, it developed has offered to give the road $300,000 in aid.

Student Found Nearly Dead After Vicious Assault

HOUSTON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—A special telegram from Nacogdoches to the Houston Chronicle Tuesday said that Oscar "Red" Wilkerson, 20, of Dayton, freshman member of the Stephen F. Austin State Teachers college football team, was found unconscious and nearly frozen at a spot near the college in Nacogdoches early Tuesday.

S. D. Dorsey, a passing farmer, found him bound hand and foot and brought him to a Nacogdoches hospital where he is expected to recover.

Wilkerson declared, according to the telegram, that three youths seized him on the street Monday night, thrust him into an automobile, blindfolded him, bound, and gagged him and after beating him with what he said appeared to be broomsticks, thrust him from the car.

Wilkerson advanced no probable reason for the assault.

Investigation of Dallas Bank Is Asked in House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—An investigation of the Dallas Federal Reserve bank was demanded today in the House by Representative Williams, Democrat, Texas, who charged that the governor of the bank "has withheld the rediscounting of loans of the rural banks with a purpose—to close their doors."

Mrs. Moe Powell, who has been seriously ill with influenza, has been moved to the home of her sister Mrs. H. W. Johns, on 702 Somerville and is now able to receive visitors.

LOCAL MEN TO MAKE TRIPS IN BIG CAMPAIGN

County Seat Meetings to Be Held in Grand-

PAMPA FAVORED ALL OVER COUNTY

Voting Eligibility Rules
Show Many Are Tax Exempt

A flying squadron of Pampa county house removal boosters will visit neighboring communities on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. They will fraternize with the people of Hopkins and Knorrp at the Grandview school house Tuesday night, and with those of Farrington and Laketon at the Laketon school Wednesday evening.

The sessions will begin at 8 o'clock and will be informal discussions between the local men and those of the neighboring communities. It is expected that about 20 Pampa men will attend each meeting.

It is becoming widely known that a 25-cent tax is being levied year after year for courthouse and jail, and that since this levy on present valuations will amount to $25,000 yearly—enough to build a $200,000 courthouse in a few years without raising either the tax rate or the valuations—taxation is not an issue.

Pampa is regarded as the logical place by people in all parts of the county, and as it is being realized that taxes need not be raised for the courthouse, and that a building must be constructed within a short time to serve modern Gray county, sentiment for removal is growing in communities on the other side of the county seat.

Two or more local mass meetings will be held before the election at places to be announced.

You are qualified to vote in the county seat election to be held March 9 if—

You are the holder of a poll tax receipt;

You do not need a poll tax receipt or exemption certificate and are qualified to vote—

If you are sixty years of age or over and been in the state one year and this county six months prior to March 9.

Bakers Sell Their Interest in Schneider Hotel to Schafers

O. K. Baker and father, T. E. Baker of Woodward, Okla., who with Alex Schneider and son opened the Schneider hotel sold their stock to Henry Schaffer and son, Harry Schaffer, for a cash consideration here yesterday.

Since the opening of the hotel, O. K. Baker has acted in the capacity of secretary and treasurer and has taken a keen interest in the growth of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Baker have made no definite plans for the future, but state that because they like Pampa so well they may remain here instead of moving to Woodward, where they own two hotels.

Mr. Baker resigned from his office as secretary and treasurer and Geo. G. Rainour has been appointed in his place.

M. C. Parker, vice-president, has also resigned from that office, now being filled by Henry Schaffer. W. R. Campbell, one of the directors has also resigned from the board, his place being taken by Henry Schaffer.

LeRoy Miller has been appointed as an additional director.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Barnes have moved to Pampa from Kingsmill and have moved into their new home on Frost avenue. Mr. Barnes has for some time been connected with the G. C. Malone Furniture and Undertaking company.

THOU TOO, R. I.?

(An Editorial)

One of the most unusual and ill-advised utterances that has come to the attention of The News in months is that of C. B. Davis of Amarillo, Rock Island freight and passenger agent, who spoke at the anti county seat removal meeting in Alameda last week.

To begin with, Mr. Davis broke the traditions of good railroading by taking a partizan stand on a public issue, and vehemently expressed some astounding opinions. But as wrong as the railroad man was in fighting Pampa's bid for the county seat—simply because it would help a Santa Fe town instead of one on the Rock Island—he was even more incorrect in statement of purported fact.

With no reason except to discredit Pampa's future possibilities, he slashed Amarillo's population to show how cities rise and fall, and then, turning to Borger, he melted its population from 20,000 down to 7,000, and spoke forebodingly of its present and life to come. Of course, he did not follow his logic to the point of moving the Potter county seat back into the sand hills of the center of the county, but it served his purpose to argue that Pampa as a city is not yet a known quantity.

He is eminently correct: Pampa is not a known quantity. It is, and shall always be, "in the making." Much of its future is tied up in the progressiveness of its citizens, and how well they combat the propaganda of enemies like Mr. Davis. We suspect that after March 9, Pampa's future will be just a little more certain than it is today; that after May 1, when the Kell railroad will begin construction if Pampa rises NOW to its opportunity, the city of the future will be still further outlined; and that this year will belie the predictions of false prophets, local and Rock Island.

This matter of Mr. Davis and the Rock Island is not a closed issue, but a live one. It is up to Pampa and her neighbors to answer it first in terms of the county seat election and the Kell railroad, and then in such other ways as local business men may devise.

West Texas Pools More Than Offset Production Loss

TULSA, OKLA., Feb. 28.—(AP)—Daily average oil production in the Oklahoma fields showed a drop of approximately 10,000 barrels during the week ending February 25, the Oil and Gas Journal will say today.

The greatest loss was in the Seminole field, which declined from 318,740 barrels during the week ending February 18 to 306,910 barrels the last week. A small part of this loss was offset by slight gains in other fields.

The Mid-Continent area also showed a loss, declining from 1,365,513 barrels of light crude for the previous week to 1,363,291 barrels last week.

The loss in the Oklahoma fields was partly made up by gains in the fast coming West Texas field, which had a production increase from 299,250 barrels during the week ending February 18 to 310,669 barrels last week.

The West Texas field thus takes the lead for the first time over the Seminole area.

Other Texas, Louisiana, and Arkansas fields had little change during the week, some slightly decreasing and others showing small increases.

The Gulf Coast production increased from 112,864 to 118,183.

California lost about 2,000 barrels for the week.

Despite the losses in Seminole and elsewhere, the total for the United States showed an increase of 1,857 barrels, thanks to the continual gains of the phenomenal West Texas fields.

Insurance Men to Organize Thursday

Pampa's life insurance underwriters are endeavoring to organize the insurance men of the city to meet at regular intervals probably each time at a luncheon.

The purpose of a meeting to be held Thursday evening will be to raise the standards of solicitation in the city and bring about a closer fellowship among the representatives of the companies located here.

All insurance men holding licenses and who solicit life insurance here are requested to call at Room 1 Smith building before Thursday noon and register for the dinner to be held Thursday evening, the place of which is not yet announced.

TUESDAY WILL DECIDE ISSUE, BACKER SAYS

If City Fails, Railway

DRASTIC STEPS MUST BE TAKEN

Mass Meeting Is Called for Thursday at
C. of C.

Whether Pampa goes forward as a city or slips back to a small town probably will be largely decided Thursday evening at the Chamber of Commerce, when a mass meeting will be held at 8 p. m. to consider means of meeting Frank Kell's railroad proposition.

Pampa is in danger of losing the Kell railroad, with the possibility that it may, by taking another route, become a menace to the future of the city.

Frank Kell was here yesterday, and flatly gave the railroad committee until next Tuesday to fulfill the proposed agreement on terminal, right-of-way, and $5,000 in cash.

Mr. Kell frankly stated that he had another proposition, which would be acceptable to him if Pampa fails to reach her quota—a requirement mutually admitted to be very reasonable. Should Pampa report failure next Tuesday it may mean that Mr. Kell will accept Wheeler's proposition, build to that town, and then proceed up the oil-rich North Fork, emerging considerably west of Pampa to join the Santa Fe. In that event, Pampa would not only lose the railroad, but would lose her position as the logical center of the oil fields.

The railroad committee and a number of business men met at the Chamber of Commerce today and agreed that the situation is the most alarming that probably will ever confront Pampa and that the city is apt to rise or fall according to its response in the next few days.

Mr. Kell let it be understood that he is willing to comply with his former proposition to Pampa, but that he must have an answer by Tuesday in order that he may no longer be delayed. Construction on the present C. of C. north must start by May 1, or an extension of time and possibly a new route requested.

Reports from the finance committee of the railroad group showed that on its $12,000 of the $50,000 needed has been raised. Individual members reported that their lists of assessments contained many non-resident names and that many local people, believing the railroad "will be built anyway," have refused to contribute their part.

It was stated that oil companies arguing Mr. Kell to take the North Fork route and that he has been offered $150,000 and a proposition to buy stock providing he does so.

J. N. Duncan was chairman of today's meeting, and practically all of those present made talks on the urgency of Pampa's meeting this crisis. The committee will work overtime until the mass meeting Thursday, in order to make the best possible report by that time.

Train Robbery More of Mystery Than It Appeared

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Federal officers were finding the $133,000 Evergreen Park mail train robbery a Saturday more of a mystery than they had anticipated. City police, in turning over prisoners, evidence and recovered money, had indicated they believed the case had been solved but postal inspectors said there remained much to be done before a strong case is ready.

Police indicated that two men under arrest had confessed, but the federal officers said no confession had been made to them, and that the prisoners had failed to shed any light on the case.

BEAUTIFICATION — Pampa has made wonderful strides as a city. Many of these have been accomplished through public improvements which could be carried to completion within a single year.

Moreover, in respect to business buildings and the construction of beautiful residences, Pampa has won note as being much more than an oil town or even an oil city—it is a modern city of up-to-date assets.

A survey of the city, however, shows that in respect to lawns, trees, and park development, there has been scarcely a beginning. This has been inevitable, since so many of the homes are new.

One of the first criticisms of newcomers is this lack of greenness and shade which abound in other sections. Yet it need not be so.

City beautification campaigns are getting under way in many Panhandle towns. Vegetation will be planted in unprecedented quantities this spring.

Pampa should plant a minimum of 2,000 shade trees this spring, not to mention flowers and shrubs.

The week of April 22-28 has been set apart by President Coolidge for nation-wide observance of American Forest week—for "public discussion of our forests and what must be done to safeguard and restore them."

And well may Pampa set aside room for parks. Every good sized addition should have a park site. This would be in keeping with the general movement over the state.

In addition to their beauty, parks are promoting health and child safety, and removing the "child problem."

A more beautiful Pampa means more lawns, flowers, trees, and parks. Let us start the year of growth right by planting 2,000 trees or more this spring.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON—If Herbert Hoover should be nominated without the open support of President Coolidge and subsequently elected he would be just about the first American so honored who ever used a Cabinet post as his principal stepping stone to the White House without previously having been elected to important public office.

The fact that Hoover, who took over control of such vital new factors as aviation and radio along with his many other duties, has done a good job as an executive and has met with less protest than most of the other secretaries is one factor of his present strength.

That he has never been a

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

CHARACTERS

PHILO VANCE
JOHN F.-X. MARKHAM, District Attorney of New York County.
MARGARET ODELL (The "CANARY")
CHARLES CLEAVER, a man about town
KENNETH SPOTSWOOD, a manufacturer
LOUIS MANNIX, an importer
DR. AMBROSE LINDQUIST, a fashionable neurologist
TONY SKELL, a professional burglar
WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator
HARRY SPIVELY, telephone operator
ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Homicide Bureau.

THE STORY THUS FAR

Vance believes Skell innocent of the murder of Margaret Odell and that he lay hidden in a closet while the stranger did his work. Markham ridicules the theory but Vance is unshaken. Mannix under pressure, reveals that he had been calling the night of the murder, on a Miss Frisbee, who occupied the apartment adjoining the "Canary's." At five minutes to 12 he saw Cleaver sneaking out the side door of the building—the door thought to have been bolted on the inside all night. Cleaver later admits this, saying he had slipped in the side way and tiptoed out after hearing a man's voice in the Odell apartment. He says he saw Dr. Lindquist standing in the alleyway.

CHAPTER XXXVII

At that moment Swacker came in and whispered something to Heath. The sergeant rose with alacrity and followed the secretary out of the room. Almost at once he returned, bearing a bulging Manila folder. Handing it to Markham, he said something in a low voice inaudible to the rest of us. Markham appeared both astonished and displeased. Waving the sergeant back to his seat, he turned to Cleaver.
"I'll have to ask you to wait in the reception-room for a few minutes. Another urgent matter has just arisen."
Cleaver went out without a word, and Markham opened the folder.
"I don't like this sort of thing, Sergeant. I told you so yesterday when you suggested it."
"I understand, sir," Heath, I felt, was not as contrite as his tone indicated. "But if those letters and things are all right, and Cleaver hasn't been lying to us about 'em, I'll have my man put 'em back so's no one'll ever know they were taken. And if they do make Cleaver out a liar, then we've got a good excuse for grabbing 'em."
Markham did not argue the point. With a gesture of distaste he began running through the letters, looking particularly at the dates.
Two photographs he put back after a cursory glance; and one piece of paper, which appeared to contain a pen-and-ink sketch of some kind, he tore up with disgust and threw into the waste-basket. Three letters, I noticed, he placed to one side. After five minutes' inspection of the others, he returned them to the folder. Then he nodded to Heath.
"Bring Cleaver back." He rose and, turning, gazed out of the window.
As soon as Cleaver was again seated before the desk Markham said, without looking round:
"You told me it was last June that you bought your letters back from Miss Odell. Do you recall the date?"
"Not exactly," said Cleaver easily. "It was early in the month though—during the first week, I think."
Markham now spun about and pointed to the three letters he had segregated.
"How, then, do you happen to have in your possession compromising letters which you write to Miss Odell from the Adirondacks late in July?"
Cleaver's self-control was perfect. After a moment's stolid silence, he merely said in a mild, quiet voice:

"You, of course, came by those letters legally."
Markham was stung, but he was also exasperated by the other's persistent deceptions.
"I regret to confess," he said, "that they were taken from your apartment—though, I assure you, it was against my instructions."
"But since they have come unexpectedly into my possession, the wisest thing you can do is to explain them. There was an empty document-box in Miss Odell's apartment the morning her body was found, and, from all appearances, it had been opened Monday night."
"I see," Cleaver laughed harshly. "Very well. The fact is—though I frankly don't expect you to believe me—I didn't pay my blackmail to Miss Odell until the middle of August, about three weeks ago. That's when all my letters were returned. I told you it was June in order to set back the date as far as possible. The older the affair was I figured, the less likelihood there'd be of your suspecting me."

Markham stood fingering the letters undecidedly. It was Vance who put an end to his irresolution.
"I rather think, don't you know," he said, "that you'd be safe in accepting Mr. Cleaver's explanation and returning his billets-doux."
Markham, after a momentary hesitation, picked up the Manila folder and, replacing the three letters, handed it to Cleaver.
"I wish you to understand that I did not sanction the appropriating of this correspondence. You'd better take it home and destroy it—I won't detain you any longer now. But please arrange to remain where I can reach you if necessary."

"I'm not going to run away," said Cleaver; and Heath directed him to the elevator.
(Saturday, September 15; 10 a. m.)
Heath returned to the office, shaking his head hopelessly.
"There musta been a regular waker at Odell's Monday night."
"Quite," agreed Vance. "A midnight comelave of the lady's admirers. Mannix was there, unquestionably; and he saw Cleaver; and Cleaver saw Lindquist; and Lindquist saw Spotswoode."
"Humph! But nobody saw Skell."
"The trouble is," said Markham, "we don't know how much of Cleaver's story is true.—And, by the way, Vance, do you believe he really bought his letters back in August?"
"If only we knew! Dashed confusion, ain't it?"
"Anyway," argued Heath, "Cleaver's statement about phoning Odell at twenty minutes to twelve, and a man answering is verified by Jessup's testimony. And I guess Cleaver saw Lindquist all right that night, for it was him who first tipped us off about the doc. He took a chance doing it, because the doc was liable to tell us he saw Cleaver."
"But if Cleaver had an allurin' alibi," said Vance, "he could simply have said the doctor was lying. However, whether you accept Cleaver's absorbing legend or not, you can take my word for it there was a visitor, other than Skell, in the Odell apartment that night."

"That's all right, too," conceded Heath reluctantly. "But, even so, this other fellow is only valuable to us as a possible source of evidence against Skell."
"True, but you have only Cleaver's word that Lindquist was in the neighborhood. And that evidence, uncorroborated, can't be accepted as the lily-white truth."
Heath stirred suddenly and looked at the clock.
"Say, what about that nurse you wanted at eleven o'clock?"
"I've been worrying horribly about her for an hour." Vance appeared actually troubled. "Really, you know, I haven't the slightest desire to meet the lady. I'm hoping for a revelation don't you know. Let's wait for the doctor until half past ten, Sergeant."

He had scarcely finished speaking when Swacker informed Markham that Doctor Lindquist had arrived on a mission of great urgency. It was an amusing situation. Markham laughed outright, while Heath stared at Vance with uncompromising astonishment.
"Isn't that necromancy, Sergeant," smiled Vance. "The doctor realized yesterday that we were about to catch him in a falsehood; so he decided to forestall us by explaining personally. Simple, what?"
"Sure," Heath's look of wonderment disappeared.
As Doctor Lindquist entered the room I noted that his habitual urbanity had deserted him. His air was at once apologetic and apprehensive. That he was laboring under some great strain was evident.

"I've come, sir," he announced, taking the chair Markham indicated, "to tell you the truth about Monday night."
"The truth is always welcome, doctor," said Marham encouragingly.
Doctor Lindquist bowed agreement.
"I deeply regret that I did not follow that course at our first interview. But at that time I had not weighed the matter sufficiently; and, having once committed myself to a false statement, I felt I had no option but to abide by it."
"However, after more mature consideration, I have come to the conclusion that frankness is the wiser course.—The fact is, sir, I was not with Mrs. Breeden Monday night between the hours I mentioned. I remained at home until half past ten. Then I went to Miss Odell's house, arriving a little before eleven. I stood outside in the street until half past eleven; then I returned home."

"Such a bare statement needs considerable amplification."

"I realize it, sir; and I am prepared to amplify it." Doctor Lindquist hesitated, and a strained look came into his white face. His hands were tightly clinched.
"I had learned that Miss Odell was going to dinner and the theater with a man named Spotswoode; and the thought of it began to prey on my mind. It was Spotswoode to whom I owed the alienation of Miss Odell's affections; and it was his interference that had driven me to my threat against the young woman."
"As I sat at home that night, letting my mind dwell morbidly on the situation, I was seized by the impulse to carry out that threat. Why not, I asked myself, end the intolerable situation at once? And why not include Spotswoode in the debacle?..."

Granite Beats Monte, Southwest Champ

WILDCAT HOLDS THROUGH BOUT

Stanley and Farrell Also Get Popular Decisions

Leading the fight most of the ten rounds, Kid Granite of Pampa, last night wrestled the lightweight championship of the Southwest from Wildcat Monte of Drumright, Oklahoma, in a fast and hard fought battle. Hitting hard and working nicely in the clinches, Granite earned the decision.

Although beaten, Monte displayed his oldtime cleverness at covering and hitting in the clinches, but his hanging-on tactics and strange holds failed to place him on the aggressive. The two boys after the first round fought toe to toe, with Monte using his superior foot work to keep away from the ever-dangerous Granite.

The first round opened with both boys boxing carefully, but with the Wildcat landing the majority of the solid blows.

Round two saw things liven up and both boys begin to mix. Monte was leading the fight with a two-fisted attack which had the Kid on the defensive. Both were doing plenty of in-fighting, Monte getting the best of the interior work.

Granite Opens Up
Round three saw things open wide and Granite on the offensive, boring in and chasing the champion around the ring with rights and lefts to the head.

The next round was pretty even with Granite getting the better of the in-fighting when Monte would miss while on the offensive.

The fifth round was practically all-Granite. He was doing the leading and making Monte miss frequently, while he landed several hard blows to the head. His left was working perfectly.

Round six also saw Granite on the offensive, working his left every time the champion would lead and landing hard while Monte was hanging on in the clinches.

The seventh round was even, with Monte coming back and showing some of the form that he used to display. The eighth round saw Granite leading to the head and body with series of lefts that had the champion worried. Although he was missing with the right as he came in, he was connecting hard with the left to the body.

Round nine also went to Granite with Monte trying to tie him up.

Monte came out in the tenth round in a last effort to draw the fight and showed his best class of the evening. He was landing hard to Granite's head but often on the defensive. The Kid chased him around the ring, but took punishment while trying to get to the champion.

Sam Fenberg refereed the bout.

Duff Stanley of Amarillo hit Art Valion with everything he had but failed to put him down for the count. The Amarillo boy took the entire eight rounds, rocking the Mexican in every round with rights and lefts to the head which would have put an ordinary fighter to sleep for a long long count.

The boy from Mexico City is without a doubt one of the toughest that has ever been seen here. Even the iron-jawed Jimmie Carter could not take what Stanley handed out.

Frankie Farrell, the 126-pound Pampa flash, gave Jerry Haley, also of Borger, weight, size and age and the beat him in the six-round special event.

Farrell Is Aggressive
The first two rounds were draws with Farrell taking the next three by wide margins. Haley came back strong in the sixth round to win it. Farrell is without a doubt the fastest and most aggressive boy here, and has shown his class to local fans.

DELANEY SCOFFS AT HIS SHORTAGE OF AVERDUPOIS

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Feb. 28.—(AP)—Jack Delaney has just about decided that the poundage he carried as light heavyweight champion of the world—or a little more—must bear him through the rough and tumble battles he faces in the heavyweight division where the best he can expect is about 20 pounds the first of the weights.

On Thursday night, under the glare of the Madison Square Garden floodlights, Delaney will face Tom Heeneey, burly blacksmith of New Zealand, in the first of Tex Rickard's heavyweight elimination semi-finals. In Heeneey, the erstwhile rapier of the North—a tin sword in the hands of Jimmy Maloney—will battle the roughest of the handpicked contenders for Gene Tunney's title.

Heeneey will weigh close to 200 pounds, yesterday when Delaney hopped on the scales for a deputy of the New York state athletic commission, the bar jiggled to 175 3-4 and stopped.

Ray Schalk Likes His Costly Rookie, (Bill) Cissell, Cost $123,000

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—(AP)—The first squad of the Chicago White Sox, including the high priced rookie, Chalmer (Bill) Cissell, gathered today under the managerial chaperonage of Ray Schalk for the trip to the Shreveport, La., training camp. Batterymen a few infielders and club officials comprised the party which will be joined at Shreveport tomorrow by others under contract, excepting only a few veterans who have been ordered to report later.

Manager Schalk registered thorough approval of his new shortstop candidate, Cissell, who lightened the Sox bankroll by $123,000.

"He's my idea of just the right physical type for the job," said Schalk.

Reaching Shreveport, Schalk will have another coast phenom to look over, Eugenio Luque, who has nicknamed himself "speed." A friend of owner Comiskey was so impressed with Luque's sandlot pitching around San Francisco that he persuaded the Sox to sign the young Spaniard. His real name is Puentelero, which he regarded as too difficult for the scorekeepers. He is no relation to Adolfo Luque, the Cincinnati Red pitcher, who is of Cuban birth.

These two, Cissell and Luque, are the standouts among a collection of youngsters and two or three veterans departing today with manager Schalk. "Big Ed" Walsh, back with the Sox as a pitching coach, and Russell Black-

Giants Play Game at Hot Springs as Farewell to City

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(AP)—The New York Giants have made their final stand for this year at Hot Springs, Ark., by playing a six-inning ball game before leaving for Augusta, Ga.

The Giants collected a make-shift squad yesterday out of the batterymen and opposed another odd lot of players training in Hot Springs, while John McGraw served as umpire. The fray ended two all. Art Johnson, a lefthander, connected for the first home run.

Pitcher Waite Hoyt, the Yankee hold-out, failed to come to terms in negotiations between Hot Springs and business manager Ed Barrow of New York. Hoyt said he would stop another week at Hot Springs and then return to New York.

Florida rains impeded the workouts of the Yankees and Robins at St. Petersburg and Clearwater respectively. Twenty-three players turned out for practice at the Yanks' camp before the downpour. Babe Ruth played golf. Dazzy Vance appeared in playing with the Robins at Clearwater although he has not signed his 1928 contract.

Games This Week To Decide Title in Conference

CANYON, Feb. 28.—On Wednesday and Thursday nights the West Texas State Teachers college basketball players will don their maroon and white togs for the last time this season.

They will take the floor against Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks of Nacogdoches in a two-game series that means more to the Buffalo hopes of another T. I. A. A. championship than all the rest of the season's games. Upon the results of these two games hinges all the hopes of the Buffalo Herd of pacing out the other teams in the race for the championship which they are defending again this year.

With this, the last appearance of the Buffaloes on the local court this season, fans will witness the passing of another of Coach Sam Burton's super-coached teams—a team composed of men from every class in the Teachers college. Men from several high schools of this section are among the number Canyon High school has five, Ralls has two, Hedley has one, Perryton has one and Tulla has one. Of the five regulars three are Canyon High school men, one is from Ralls high school and one from Tulla.

Athletics Gather at Fort Myers—Ty Not Yet Signed

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28.—(AP)—The heavy artillery of the Athletics was enroute from Fort Myers, Fla., today, the second contingent in charge of Captain Eddie Collins, having left here last night. The battery men have been there for ten days.

Tris Speaker, new member of the Mack outfit, probably will beat Ty Cobb into camp, provided of course that Tyrus is headed that way, as Connie Mack believes. Mack is "reasonably sure" that Ty will again grace the team's lineup, but the papers have not been signed.

Three big trunks consigned to Speaker reached Fort Myers yesterday. Excess baggage charges amounted to $16.75.

Cool weather greeted the Phillies at Winter Haven Monday, and the work-out was held to a single session. Of the recruits, Ray Benge of Waco; June Green of Portsmouth and August Walsh of Pittsfield are showing up favorably in the box.

TREES

Poem by Joyce Kilmer, who gave his life in France)
I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.
A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast.
A tree that looks at God all day
And lifts her leafy arms to pray.

A tree that may in Summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair,
Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Who intimately lives with rain,
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

Women of the Bible Are Studied in 20th Century Club

The Twentieth Century club met at the home of Mrs. A. Doucette with Mrs. R. C. Campbell and Mrs. Doucette as joint hostesses.

Each one responded to roll-call with an interesting current event. After the business session, the president read suggestions on "Tree Planting" that had been received from Mrs. W. B. It was suggested that the American Legion be encouraged in the planting of a memorial grove.

Mrs. H. D. Lewis had charge of a well arranged program on "Women of the Bible." Mrs. W. R. Mitchell gave a sketch of the Old Testament characters, Sarah, Rachael and Rebekah. Mrs. G. C. Malone told of the lovable traits of the devoted sisters of Lazarus, Mary and Martha, and of their hospitality toward our Lord. Mrs. R. C. Campbell gave a well written article on Mary, the mother of Jesus while the lives of the maidens, Ruth and Naomi were well discussed by Mrs. Joe Smith who dwelt especially upon the devotion of Ruth and Orpha.

Santa Fe Improvement Program for 1928

Railways serving a growing country are never finished. They must add yearly to the number of cars and locomotives in order to care for increasing traffic. They must build extensions and provide second and third tracks. They must provide larger terminal yards and longer and more sidings. They must provide heavier bridges and larger and more commodious stations, roundhouses and shops.

This expansion in facilities requires additional cash investment in the railroads of this country, amounting to over half a billion dollars annually.

The Santa Fe proposes to spend 45 million dollars on its program for enlargement of such facilities during 1928.

Orders have already been placed for 3,850 new freight cars, 75 all-steel passenger train cars, and 771 miles of new steel rail, of which 490 miles will be 110 lbs. to the yard and the balance 90 lbs. When this steel is laid the Santa Fe will have 2,182 miles of 110 lb. rail all laid since January 1, 1925. Orders have been placed for steel for bridges, ties have been purchased, and work on more second track and other improvements is in progress.

The Santa Fe puts this large additional investment of new money into its property to increase its capacity, to render service, to promote safety, and to take care of the growing needs of the country it serves.

W. B. STOREY, President The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway System.
