Greenspan says recovery on track, interest rates to rise at some point

Chairman Alan Greenspan told Congress on Wednesday that America's economic recovery has good momentum and that low, short-term interest rates will have to rise at some point, though he didn't say when.

"Looking forward, the prospects for sustaining solid economic growth in the period ahead are good," Greenspan said in prepared testimo ny to the Joint Economic Committee.

Greenspan noted a much-awaited improvement in the hiring climate after a long period in which an uneven economic recovery had failed to produce significant increases in the nation's payrolls.

The economy added 308,000 jobs in March the most in four years. That raised hopes among private economists that the labor market was turning a crucial corner.

With the rebound in the economy, some companies are finding it easier to raise their prices, Greenspan said. He also noted that the fall in the value of the U.S. dollar and a strengthening global economy were adding to

While stressing that inflation currently

"As I have noted previously, the federal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Reserve pressures on price inflation from eventually emerging," Greenspan said. "As yet, the protracted period of monetary accommodation has not fostered an environment in which broad based inflation pressures appear to be building."

> Greenspan's optimistic remarks on the U.S. economy come as the International Monetary Fund predicted that the global economy should grow strongly this year with growth in the United States hitting 4.6 percent — the fastest pace in 20 years.

> The IMF estimated that the global economy would also expand by a brisk 4.6 percent this year, up from a 3.9 percent increase last year.

Greenspan said he felt that a sweeping change in corporate taxes proposed by presumptive Democratic nominee John Kerry would not have much impact either in preventing the migration of U.S. jobs to other countries or boosting investment by U.S. businesses in this country.

Kerry has proposed eliminating a benefit U.S. companies have in being able to defer taxes on the operations of their overseas subsidiaries until profits from the overseas operations are brought back to the United States.

Greenspan also said he felt it would be a "bad mistake" for Congress to block a proposal by the Financial Accounting Standards Board to require publicly held businesses to treat stock options as an expense.

FOOTBALL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Maurice Clarett's status for the NFL draft is now in the hands of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Clarett's attorney, Alan Milstein, filed an emergency appeal to the Supreme Court on Tuesday. He asked for a stay of a federal appeals court's decision from 24 hours earlier preventing the former Ohio State tailback from being in this weekend's draft.

Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg will handle the case. She asked the NFL on Wednesday to file a response to Clarett's appeal by Thursday morning. There was no word on when she planned to act on Clarett's emergency request or whether she would refer the request to the other eight justices.

In 1971, lawyers for Detroit high school star Spencer Haywood followed the same approach. A stay preventing Haywood from going in the NBA draft was tossed out by Justice William O. Douglas, opening the door for underclassmen and teenagers to play pro basketball.

Kings outlast Mays in low-scoring contest

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - Chris Webber was chagrined by the Sacramento Kings' missed shots and bonehead mistakes. Dirk Nowitzki couldn't believe the deflated throws to give the Kings their final score.

Sacramento Kings' 83-79 victory over the Dallas Mavericks on Tuesday night could match the shock of a last-minute steal by Peja Stojakovic. Yes, that Peja — the superstar scorer a dirty word.

Webber had 19 points, 13 rebounds and 12 assists, while Mike Bibby hit four 3-pointers and scored 10 of his 24 points in the fourth quarter for the Kings. Bibby also controlled play down the stretch as Sacramento nursed a tiny lead to victory.

Rookie Marquis Daniels tied it twice for Dallas with free throws in the final 90 seconds. but Miller hit an open jumper on a pass from Bibby. Nash missed his 3-pointer and Daniels missed a putback, but Webber missed two free throws with 19.6 seconds left.

"It was an opportunity lost for us," Mavericks coach Don Nelson said. "We had them in our sights and in striking distance. Who would have ever thought it would be a defensive battle? ... It looked like there was a lid on the basket. It's just one of those nights you dread as a coach.'

The game had no resemblance to the series opener, when the teams combined for 221 points.

The Kings fell into a 2-for-19 funk midway through the third quarter, going without a field goal in the final eight minutes. Dallas missed 10 straight shots during one first-half stretch, then got just one field goal in the final three minutes of the fourth.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: THE SUPREME HAPPINESS IN LIFE IS THE CONVICTION THAT WE ARE LOVED. — VICTOR HUGO

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Thursday, ★★★★ You have what it takes to make April 22, 2004:

Others need your steadiness, especially as friends become more unpredictable than they have been for years. What you want could suddenly bounce into your lap. Do not count on anything or anyone being as stable as you are this year. You will need to give others space. You fall into a whole new. unique crowd. Network. Your imagination and creativity peak this year. Use these gifts well if you are in a field where these talents can make a difference. Your love life becomes very exciting, especially after the first week of May. You might meet "the one" this year You might date quite a bit while you discover this person. If you are attached, romance heats up your relationship. Make special plans together. Re-create a first date and other such romantic ventures. GEMINI easily spends your money.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

HHHH The more flexible you are, the easier time you will have with others' unpredictability. You find that many are willing to work with changes when they see your attitude. Learn a new process or accept something from modern technology. Tonight: Talk away.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)  Making money or dealing with a boss tests your humor and dedication. Take his or her suggestions and run with them, adding that touch of creativity and practicality that you often manifest. You can make a wild idea workable. Tonight: Balance your checkbook.

Pampa Art Club gearing up for annual exhibition

Art Club members saw their artworks exhibited in several area shows and exhibitions. Linda Nowell and Chris Alexander both participated in the Best of the Southwest Art Show sponsored by Amarillo Fine Arts Association in the fall. Alexander's work placed second in the glass category.

Nowell entered her pottery in the third High Plains Art. Festival at Miami in January and earned second place in that division.

This winter Alexander, Dona Cornutt, Kay Crouch, Betty Fletcher, Kathy Gist,

This year several Pampa Nowell, Pat Kindle, Billy Collinsworth, Pat Youngblood, Mimi Gross and Evelyn Epps participated in the Pampa exhibit at the Panhandle Art Center in Amarillo.

> These pieces and more will be on exhibit during PAC's Annual Guest Tea and Exhibit from 10 a.m.-7 p.m., Tuesday, May 4 at Lovett Memorial Library, a yearly tradition since 1957.

> PAC meets twice a month, September through May, to work on projects for exhibit. On occasions, guest artists or one member or another will give demonstrations on various projects or techniques

The PAC annual Christmas party is a big event with a luncheon prepared by and in the home of Cornutt. Members exchange personal artworks as gifts. This year PAC decorated a Christmas tree with handmade ornaments for Festival of Trees in December.

At the May meeting, the final meeting of the club year, a field trip is planned to visit projects, demonstrations or exhibits in the surrounding PAC was established in June of 1948. Since that time, it has encouraged and participated in activities and events that promote the arts in Pampa.

Instrumental in the organization of Pampa Fine Arts Association, various PAC members have sat on the PFAA board of directors over the years. Past PAC-sponsored projects include Top of Texas Arts Festival, Art Train and

Health and Wealth Fair coming to CC campus

CLARENDON - Area residents are again promised a full slate of free health screenings, along with a wealth of financial advice, at the upcoming "Good Health, Much Wealth - Your Choice - Health Fair" set for 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., Thursday, April 29, in Bairfield Activity Center on the Clarendon College campus.

The following screenings will be offered during the health fair: glucose, cholesterol, prostate, hemoglobin blood pressure. Individuals are encouraged to fast for 12 hours prior to the screens to ensure more accurate results.

The screenings are a collaborative effort of Donley County Hospital District, Associated Ambulance Authority, Clarendon Family Medical Clinic, Donley County Medical Center Nursing Home, Novartis Pharmaceutical, Northwest Texas Healthcare System and Clarendon College's LVN program.

PSA's will be available to men over 40. The American Cancer Society recommends PSA's once every 10 years after age 40 unless otherwise advised by a physician.

loss either in themselves or in a loved one.
