Gray County deputies arrest
two in each of two traffic stops

By MARILYN POWERS
STAFF WRITER

A Pampa man and woman remain in Gray County Jail today after suspected anhydrous ammonia was found in their vehicle during a traffic stop in the early hours of the morning, according to Gray County Sheriff's Department Chief Deputy Kelly Rushing.

Ricky Lynn Marsh, 43, and Melissa Ann Vanover, 31, both of 619 N. Sumner, were arrested and charged with transport of certain chemicals with intent to manufacture a controlled substance. They were transported to jail by Deputy Scott Larue and booked at 3:26 a.m.

Marsh and Vanover were stopped by deputies south of Pampa near Celanese chemical plant for expired vehicle registration. During the stop, deputies received verbal consent to search the pickup, and discovered a container of anhydrous ammonia. Bond had not been set on Marsh and Vanover as of press time today, and a bond hearing was expected to be held this afternoon.

Two other Pampa residents were also arrested and booked into jail during the night as a result of a traffic stop.

Deputies stopped the pair south of Pampa at around 5 a.m. and received verbal consent to search their vehicle. Suspected methamphetamine and marijuana were found, along with drug paraphernalia, according to Rushing.

The man and woman were charged with possession of marijuana under two ounces, possession of a controlled substance less than one gram, and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Their names, ages and addresses were not available as of press time today, and a bond hearing had not been held for the two as of press time, Rushing said.

By DEE DEE LARAMORE
EDITOR

Pampans of all ages tasted the fruits of the labor of many Thursday night as they celebrated the opening of the Kids Cafe summer food program here.

Dozens of children, adults, church groups and local dignitaries attended the dinner featuring brisket, baked beans, mashed potatoes and gravy, hot rolls, and strawberry shortcake prepared by Verna Schroeder, cafeteria manager, her staff and volunteers, and served in the Lamar Elementary School cafeteria, 1234 S. Nelson.

The free twice-weekly dinners are a combined project of High Plains Food Bank in Amarillo, Harvest House ministry of Trinity Fellowship Church, and Pampa Independent School District.

"I'm thrilled with the turnout, but not at all surprised," said Jamie Davis, HPEB's executive director, as she

Veteran barrel racer to lead rodeo parade

Parade Marshal for the 2004 Top O' Texas Rodeo Parade will be former barrel racing champion June Bull Ivory, rodeo officials announced Thursday.

June Ivory was raised in Gray County and was the daughter of F.E. and Ruth Bull. She was the barrel racing champion of the 1953 Top O' Texas Rodeo. She and her late husband, legendary rodeo cowboy Buster Ivory, have made numerous contributions to further the advancement of the sport of rodeo.

In recognition of her support, she will be inducted into the Pro Rodeo Hall of Fame in Colorado Springs, Colo., on Aug. 14.

looked over the crowd filling the school cafeteria. "Carolyn (Stroud) said it would be like this and it is."

Stroud, co-director of Harvest House, and Debbie Middleton, nutrition director for Pampa Independent School District, are the driving forces behind the local Kids Cafe.

Kids Cafe is open in Pampa from 5:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays, in the Lamar school cafeteria. Meals are free to the public. However parents attending with their children are asked to help with clean-up, etc.

Amarillo now has three Kids Cafes operating which serve approximately 150 to 200 children one to three nights per week, Davis said.

Davis explained that Kids Cafe is a program of America's Second Harvest, funded through High Plains Food Bank which provides the meals, supplies and pays the cook. Pampa ISD, represented by Middleton, provides the location and hired the cook, she said. Stroud and Harvest House are responsible for finding and coordinating volunteers.

Kids Cafe began in Savannah, Ga., in 1989 following a break-in at one of the schools in which a quantity of food had been stolen. Police discovered that two children had committed the burglary, she said. When they asked the older child why they had broken into the school, he replied, "Because my brother was hungry."

Davis said that approximately 45 percent of Pampa children qualify for free and reduced price lunches. She hopes that many of these children will be served through the local Kids Cafe program.

"There's a lot of working moms out there who come home and are tired and don't know what to fix their family to eat," she added. "We hope we can help them out some, too."

Mayor Lonny Robbins thanked the crowd and High Plains Food Bank officials for helping kick off the Kids Cafe. John Curry, a member and past president of the Pampa ISD school board, offered his thanks, also, and spoke of the importance of such a program.

Other officials attending the event included Barbara Sullivan of HPFB, Don Nicholson, a HPFB board member, all of Amarillo; Gray County Judge Richard Peet, Justice of the Peace Kurt Curfman, and representatives of numerous local churches.

Stroud called for volunteers to help with the Kids Cafe. She said in a previous interview that two to four volunteers are needed each night Kids Cafe is open. Volunteers can sign up to help once a week or once a month, but they must commit to a certain night each week or each month.

Second Harvest's goal for Kids Cafe, according to a fact sheet from the organization, is to provide nutritious meals to children in need; to provide enrichment activities such as nutrition education, homework assistance, cultural activities and recreation; to locate programs in safe, accessible sites with supervision; to sustain through the support of resources and partners; and to generate public awareness and support for the issue of child hunger in America.

Israel withdraws from parts of camp

RAFAH, Gaza Strip (AP) — Israeli troops pulled back from two neighborhoods in this sprawling Palestinian refugee camp Friday, leaving behind a bleak landscape of demolished and damaged homes, torn-up roads and flattened cars.

Israel said its four-day military offensive in search of arms-smuggling tunnels and militants will continue. The army said no tunnels have been found so far and only one Palestinian was arrested after soldiers questioned hundreds. Security officials believed most of the militants fled before the invasion.

Municipal officials said at least 43 homes were demolished and dozens more damaged in the camp since the offensive began Tuesday. Forty Palestinians have been killed, including gunmen and eight demonstrators hit by a tank shell.

The army said it deliberately demolished seven homes, including one belonging to an Islamic Jihad militant. Other damage to homes and roads was caused by heavy military vehicles and Palestinian militant roadside bombs, the army said.

In the Brazil neighborhood, 25 houses were razed and streets were torn up, local officials said. In many cases, the facades of houses caved in or were shorn off, apparently damage from wide armored vehicles moving through the narrow alleys.

Residents rummaged through the rubble, retrieving mattresses, photo albums, shoes and clothing. A boy, oblivious to his surroundings, sat on the ground and scooped up sand with a broken toy bulldozer.

Israeli troops left behind leaflets in Arabic urging residents not to give shelter to armed men "who are using your homes and are hiding inside like rats."

Yacoub Othman, 55, a resident of the Brazil neighborhood, said he was hit by random fire in the leg as he walked down the stairs in his home Wednesday, but couldn't get medical help.

Japan uneasy following terror report

TOKYO (AP) — The report was deeply troubling for Japan, where immigration agents pride themselves on keeping tight controls on foreigners. A French fugitive suspected of links to al-Qaida and with a history of violent crime slipped into the country and lived quietly as a car dealer.

The media accounts of Lionel Dumont's entry into Japan — so far only partially confirmed by authorities — have clearly rattled Japanese security officials and raised questions about their ability to block infiltration by potential terrorists and other criminals.

"He appears to have entered Japan using a fake name. I regret our failure to catch him," Justice Minister Daizo Nozawa said at a news conference Friday.

Dumont was arrested in Germany in December and was extradited to France on Tuesday. His story caused particular concern because of fears that Japan could be a target for terrorist attack because of its support for the U.S.-led invasion of Iraq.

Tokyo has deployed hundreds of soldiers in southern Iraq on a humanitarian mission, despite public uneasiness about security.

Reflecting the jitters, Prime Minister Junichiro Koizumi ordered authorities on Wednesday to boost security in public areas and at immigration points. The head of the Public Security Intelligence Agency, Takashi Oizumi, issued an urgent warning to his colleagues on Thursday.

"I want you to work at gathering information as if Japan were at risk of being the target of a terror attack tomorrow," he said during a briefing, without making a reference to Dumont.

In a country with a tiny expatriate community — less than 2 percent of the 127 million population — and already in the midst of a crackdown on crime by foreigners, the reported ease of Dumont's entry is startling.

French authorities have long associated Dumont, a Muslim, with the violent Roubaix gang in northern France, which they suspect of ties with Islamic radicals. He escaped a raid on the gang in 1996 that left some members dead.

Ace Sherpa guide becomes fastest Mount Everest climber

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Ace Sherpa guide Pemba Dorjee scaled Mount Everest in a record 8 hours and 10 minutes Friday, beating the previous mark by more than 2 1/2 hours, Nepal's Mountaineering Department said.

The climb from the 17,380-foot base camp to the 29,035-foot summit usually takes about four days.

Dorjee, 26, held the speed record of 12 hours and 45 minutes for three days last year until another Sherpa guide, Lakpa Gyelu, made the journey in 10 hours and 56 minutes.

Dorjee had vowed to reclaim the record. In an interview with The Associated Press earlier this year, Dorjee said he lost valuable time on last year's trip because it was his first climb from the Nepalese side of the mountain and he wasn't used to the route. He reached the summit two years ago from the northern side, in Tibet.

The experienced Sherpa began his journey up the mountain's steep and icy slopes late Thursday.

First Presbyterian plans double celebration

A springtime "Kirkin' o' the Tartan" will be celebrated on June 6 during the 10:45 a.m. service at First Presbyterian Church, 525 N. Gray.

This Scottish-inspired event will feature a bagpiper leading the opening processional, and member of the congregation carrying banners of their respective tartans to honor the Scottish heritage of the Presbyterian denomination. New tartans this year include Cumming (or Comyn), Allison, Pride of Scotland, and Scotland National (Ancient), with a total of 22 clans represented, and two national tartans.

In addition to the celebration of "all things Scottish," the service is also the 18th anniversary of Dr. Edwin M. Cooley as pastor. He began his ministry at Pampa First Presbyterian Church on the first Sunday of June, 1994. With this milestone, he has attained the longest tenure of any pastor in the history of the congregation since its inception in 1926.

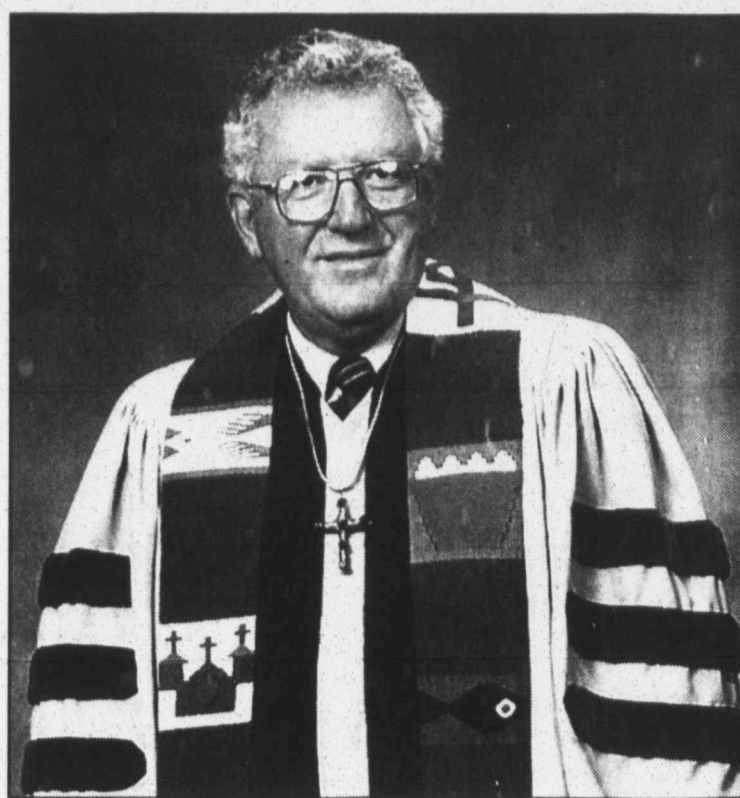

The other installed pastors who have served the church and their dates of services are L. Burney Shell, 1934-1937; Robert Boshen, 1937-1944; Dr. Douglas Evon Nelson, 1945-1954; Ronald Edgar Hubbard, 1954-1961; Donald S. Hauck, 1962-1967; W. Martin Hager, 1967-1974; Norman D. Doe Jr., 1975-1976; Joe Turner, 1977-1987 and Dr. John Judson, 1988-1992. Various supply and interim pastors served during the beginning and during the "in-between" times.

The morning services on June 6 will include Scottish hymns and customs, including open communion, and will be followed by a carry-in dinner featuring Scottish cuisine for everyone attending the worship service.

Dr. Cooley and his wife Lorelee have visited Scotland several times since 1982. They were last there in 2001 when they hiked 45 miles of the West Highland Way, ending with two days on the Isle of Iona, noted for its importance to the Celtic Christianity tradition. In 2003, they were scheduled to lead a group in a "Pilgrimage" to Durham Cathedral and Lindesfarne (or Holy Island) in northern England, and Edinburgh and Callander in Scotland. The tour went without them, as they were recuperating from a car accident in July. Those participating in the tour from Texas were Margaret Williams and Judy Sutton of Pampa, and two Pampa natives, Harriet Henderson of Gaithersburg, Md., and Anne Henderson of Nashville, Tenn.

During the June 6 dinner, there will be a display of souvenirs and artifacts collected on the 2003 tour, as well as mementos from the Cooley's collection of previous Scottish adventures. An added attraction at the dinner will be a presentation by Margaret Williams, one of the participants in the 2003 "Pilgrimage."

All are welcome to attend the service and the dinner following. For more information, contact the church at 665-1031.

Do the right thing because it's the right thing to do

The other day I had a most unusual thing happen and I'm pretty confident that you will agree. I was walking in my neighborhood near my church when all of a sudden I saw a big yellow bottle come flying over a fence. When I say "flying," I mean flying. It must have landed at least 30-40 feet past the fence. I thought for sure that when it hit the ground it would break and when it didn't I just supposed that it was a plastic bottle. Before I could think, here came another bottle and it landed near the other one. Confused I walked over to the bottles and picked them up only to discover two 40 oz. bottles of Colt 45 malt liquor. I told you it was a most unusual happening.

About that time, a young man opened the fence gate and, needless to say, was quite surprised when he saw me standing in the grass holding

Minister's Musings

HILAND CHRISTIAN CHURCH

the two bottles. I chewed him out with a loud voice and warned him not to do anything like that again because he could really hurt someone. He closed the gate and walked off down the alley.

With the help of one my church family members I learned what had probably happened. A couple of young men had liquor on the brain, or at least they wanted to. Somebody probably interrupted them and they had to dispose of the evidence. They threw the bottles into another yard and one of the boys was going to retrieve them. I messed everything up by confiscating the bottles.

The moral: Sometimes even when we don't want His help, God will still try to help stop us from doing something really stupid. Take a moment to thank God for all of the times that He helped stop you from doing something really stupid. Some of those times might have made a tremendous difference in your life.

Sometimes God will convict us of the wrong that we are about to do, but leaves the stopping up to us. Such an event is recorded in 2 Kings 7:3-11. The Syrian army has Jerusalem surrounded, has cut off all re-supply efforts and the times are horrible inside the city. There is hardly any food; what there is sells for outlandish sums of money and some have even been driven to cannibalism. Out of the clear blue, Elisha comes and prophecies that food will be in abundance the next day. No one believes Elisha.

That night, four nameless lepers who lived outside the walls near the gate decided that surrendering to the Syrians could be a blessing. They concluded that if they stayed in Jerusalem they were sure to die, but if they surrendered to the Syrians, they might save them and feed them. During the night they went to the Syrian camp only to find it completely empty. God had caused the Syrians to hear the horses and chariots of a loud army and they ran overwhelmed by fear. The four lepers found the camp empty of soldiers, but full of everything else — food, drink, clothing, livestock, silver and gold.

Overcome with greed and selfishness, they began to take everything that they could and hide it from others who might come later. In the middle of the looting binge, the Bible says, "Then they said to each other, 'We're not doing right. This is a day of good news and we are keeping it to ourselves. If we wait until daylight, punishment will overtake us. Let's go at once and report this to the royal palace.'"

By going to tell everyone in the city, they knew that they would loose the possible riches from the empty camp. But they went and told the city anyway.

Why? Because it was the right thing to do. Let's listen more often to that little internal voice that tries to help us do the right thing. The measure of our character isn't determined by what we do when we have no choice, but by what we do when we have clear choices of right and wrong and we choose right. God bless.

Court: Muslim girl can wear head scarf
WASHINGTON (AP) — A sixth-grade Muslim girl in Oklahoma can wear a head scarf to school under a settlement between the school district and the Justice Department, officials announced this week. The six-year agreement, filed in U.S. District Court in Oklahoma, also requires the Muskogee Public School District to change its dress code.

Community concert association

As part of this year's membership drive, Pampa Community Concert Association Presents "Live on Stage" officials will host a covered-dish dinner for campaign workers and spouses at 6 p.m. Tuesday, May 18 at Calvary Baptist Church. (Left-right) Willie Mae Mangold, Knoxine Cotham and Bob Jacobs are seen here planning the event. To learn more about the association or to become a member, call 665-2631. Upcoming entertainers include Artie Shaw Legacy, Rhythm in Shoes, Southern Fried Jazz Band and Richard Glazier, pianist.

Drug dealers discover new OxyContin

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The generic form of the powerful painkiller OxyContin already is for sale on the black market in Appalachia, even though it's not yet available in all pharmacies.

Dan Smoot, chief detective for an anti-drug task force in eastern Kentucky, said undercover narcotics investigators began purchasing the generic drug from street-level dealers earlier this week. Investigators suspect a shipment of the drug was stolen from a storage building in eastern Kentucky.

"When we first got the pills, we didn't know what they were," Smoot said. "They look nothing like the OxyContin we were familiar with."

OxyContin is a long-lasting version of oxycodone, a narcotic considered important therapy for many patients suffering chronic, moderate to severe pain from illnesses such as cancer. The tablet, when swallowed whole, provides 12 hours of pain relief.

But the drug can produce a quick and potentially lethal high if it is chewed, snorted or injected. It has been linked to more than 100 deaths and bears the government's strongest warning label.

The Food and Drug Administration has given approval for Teva Pharmaceuticals of North Wales, Pa., and Endo Pharmaceuticals of Chadds Ford, Pa., to sell generic versions of the drug.

Law enforcement officials were dreading the release of the generic version, saying it could increase availability and reduce prices of the drug on the black market.

Karen Engle, executive director of Operation UNITE, said the anti-drug task force is investigating the origin of the generic drug now available illegally in Kentucky.

The generic drugs circulating in the mountain region may have been a stolen shipment intended for pharmacies in the region, Smoot said.

Kentucky State Police Detective Eddie Crum said a generic drug shipment was taken during an April 29 break-in at a storage facility in Pikeville. He said he was surprised that the generic drugs, which usually are transported in armored cars, were being stored so carelessly.

"We knew when the FDA approved generic OxyContin that it would end up in the region," Engle said. "But we didn't think it would be here before the pharmacies got it."

Prof seeks to ban Klan from campus; other colleges facing similar debates

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — University of Louisville professor Ede Warner has a unique plan to keep the Ku Klux Klan off his campus: He wants the school to ban the group, then argue in court that it's a terrorist organization.

"Nobody has ever done that," Warner said.

Klan members started posting fliers on campus early in the spring semester to protest diversity programs sponsored by the school. That stirred debate among faculty and administrators that has taken place on campuses around the country: how far the university can go to keep some groups off campus and how to best deal with unpopular ideas in the academic setting.

What makes the Louisville situation so unusual is the presence of the KKK, said Mark Potok of the Southern Poverty Law Center in Montgomery, Ala., which tracks the Klan and other hate groups.

"I cannot think of another situation when the Klan has appeared on campus," Potok said. "The Klan is quite small, even within the contemporary radical right."

Having the Klan banned as a terrorist organization based on its past would be legally difficult, especially given the Klan's inaction in recent years, and probably unnecessary, said Potok, whose organization has beat the Klan in court over other issues.

"You would run into issues of free speech," he said.

University officials banned two members of the KKK from campus this month, saying they violated university policy about where fliers can be posted.

That could give Warner his fight, if the Klan challenges the school over access to a public university and its students. Jim Kennedy, the self-described point man for the KKK in the Louisville area, said the Klan is preparing to contest the ban in court. "They don't like us too much over there," Kennedy told The Associated Press. "They're trying to get around that freedom of speech any way they can."

The Klan started appearing on campus in the fall, after black activist and rapper Sister Souljah gave a speech that some students said was derogatory to whites and received $11,000 for the talk. Others said the main theme was black empowerment.

Afterward, Kennedy demanded that the Klan be given equal time and compensation or the school end the diversity program, which he considers racist.

The appearance by the KKK prompted protests on and off campus.

DEAR ABBY

written by Pauline Phillips and daughter Jeanne Phillips

SERIES OF LOSSES LEAVES WOMAN UNABLE TO COPE

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and having a really hard time right now. My dad left my mom and me about two weeks ago, and I had a miscarriage around the same time.

I told my boyfriend I wanted a break, and now I have feelings for another guy I met about a week ago. He makes me laugh, which I haven't done in weeks. I don't know if I want to get back together with my boyfriend. I do love him -- I just don't know if I want to be with him. Can you please help me? -- FEELING LOST

DEAR FEELING LOST: Sometimes when a person doesn't know what to do, it's time to do nothing. You have been through a lot lately -- in a sense, you have experienced three "losses." You do not need a love interest to make demands on you right now. Your mother will need emotional support until she recovers from the breakup of her marriage. You may also need support because of the miscarriage and your father leaving. Your best bet right now is to maintain friendships with everyone and make commitments to no one. You will recover your balance, but for the time being, take a respite from heavy emotions and drama.

DEAR ABBY: I am 27 and two months' pregnant with my first child. Unfortunately, I have reason to believe my husband, "Anthony," 41, is having an affair. Several times in the past month, I have walked into a room and found him whispering on the phone. Each time he has hung up quickly, and when I asked about it, he said it was "work-related."

When I found a pair of red thong underwear in the laundry that didn't belong to me, he claimed they belonged to his 70-year-old mother who had visited recently.

Anthony also forgot our anniversary.

I am concerned about my baby, and I don't want to be a single mother. Every time I mention my worries about our marriage, Anthony gets angry and threatens to leave. I love him, but is our marriage worth saving? -- FRUSTRATED IN FLORIDA

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Only you can answer that question. Offer your husband the option of marriage counseling in the hope that he'll be more forthcoming in the presence of a referee. If he refuses to go, then go without him, if only to learn why you would even consider tolerating more of his behavior.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl in sixth grade. My parents are divorced. At school, I'm bully target No. 1 and my grades are dropping.

I don't know how to talk to my parents, and I have been begging them to let me leave school. Can you help me? -- DESPERATE IN DALLAS

DEAR DESPERATE: I'll try. Clip this letter, show it to your parents and tell them you wrote it:

DEAR PARENTS: Your daughter is in trouble at school. That is why she begs you not to make her go -- and that should have been your first clue. You are overdue for a serious chat with your child. After that, schedule an appointment with her school principal. Most schools have policies for dealing with bullies, but they can't be implemented if the incidents go unreported. If that doesn't put an end to the problem, go to the school board -- and possibly a lawyer. The situation will not improve unless you are prepared to act on your child's behalf, so don't put it off.

Wood, 3-3 with a 2.82 ERA and 52 strikeouts, will be eligible to come off the disabled list next Thursday, an off day for the Cubs.

Pampa team wins West Texas 2004 Slugfest

CANYON — Holmes Sports Center, a Pampa Optimist Babe Ruth League team, was named champion of West Texas 2004 Slugfest, a tournament held last weekend in Canyon for players 13 to 15 years old.

Managed by Ron Carr and coached by Olen Douglass, both of Miami, the Pampa team won six games, beginning with a 20-3 blasting of host Canyon on Friday night. Jonathan Carr threw only 17 pitches in two innings of work to receive credit for the win.

Saturday saw Colden Fortenberry shut down Dimmitt 14-4.

Sunday was a long day, ending at 8 p.m. It began at 9 a.m. with Lane Douglass pitching six innings to earn a 7-2 win over another Canyon team. Carr pitched the seventh inning.

Pampa was behind Tulia 6-0 after four innings in the second game Sunday. The local team rallied for six runs in the top of the fifth to tie the game, scored twice to take the lead in the sixth and added two more insurance runs in the seventh to win 10-6. Carr picked up his second victory of the tournament. He received seventh-inning relief from Douglass, who was credited with a save. Douglass took the mound in the bottom of the seventh with no outs and two runners on base. He struck out the first batter, forced the second to pop up and then picked off a runner at second base to end the game.

Pampa pounded out nine runs in the first three innings against Hereford in the third game to coast to a 10-2 win in a game shortened to six innings because of the time limit. Fortenberry pitched a complete game and notched his second win of the tournament.

Pampa faced another team from Tulia in the championship game, which was the fourth game Pampa played Sunday. They fell behind 2-0 after three innings. Then Pampa exploded for seven runs in the top of the fourth. The big blow was a bases-loaded double by Shane Davis, which cleared the bases and gave Pampa a 5-2 lead. Davis later singled home two more runs to lead Pampa to a 12-4 victory. Brandon McBee went three for three to aid Pampa's offense.

A diving catch of a flyball in short center field by shortstop Brady Eakin, who crawled back to second to complete a double play, was the defensive play of the tournament.

Carr threw a complete game for his third win of the tournament. He struck out five of the last six batters he faced, seeming to get stronger the more he pitched.

Other players on the team included Jacob Jenkins, who divided the catcher's duties with Davis, infielders Brett Powell and Aaron Carr, and outfielders Josh Mulkey and Matt Clark.

A total of 14 teams from Canyon, North Randall County, Dimmitt, Clarendon, Panhandle, Claude, Hereford, Tulia and Pampa competed in the three-day event.

The winners were awarded blue tee shirts signifying their first-place accomplishment.

"These boys were amazing," said Manager Carr. "We had only two 15 year olds on the team, but they all played great ball all weekend. We scored 73 runs and gave up 21. Only 10 of those runs were earned. Our pitchers walked only seven batters all weekend and had a 1.83 earned run average."

Physicals set Saturday for Pampa athletes

PAMPA — Athletic physicals for Pampa athletes will be held Saturday, beginning at 8 a.m. at the Pampa Middle School gyms.

Physicals are for athletes, not for summer camp. If an athlete is attending a camp that requires a physical, they must take their physical and copy it at their expense.

However, the parent and athlete will sign for the physical and be responsible for its return.

Physicals will be performed by local physicians.

Physicals are for those 6th graders entering the 7th grade; 8th graders entering the 9th grade, and 10th graders entering the 11th grade for the 2004-2005 school year.

There is a $10 fee per student athlete.

All proceeds benefit the Pampa Athletic Training Department.

One parent or guardian must accompany the student athlete to the physicals.

Stuggling Parnevik one stroke behind leader

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Jesper Parnevik has a lofty goal after struggling just to keep his PGA Tour card last year.

"My No. 1 goal this year was to really make a strong effort to come back into the top 10 again," Parnevik said. "One of the toughest things in golf is to be among the best in the world, then lose it and try to bring it back again."

The Swede took a positive step Thursday, opening with a 5-under 65 in the Colonial to get within one stroke of leader Craig Perks. Only a three-putt bogey kept Parnevik from sharing the lead.

Colonial

Unlike last season, when Parnevik had to keep playing week in and week out just to finish in the top 125 on the money list, he believes he can carry momentum from round to round.

"I feel I can play well again, which is key," said Parnevik, winless since 2001. "Even last year if I had a good starting round, I knew the next day could be completely different. I knew I could shoot 80 in a heartbeat. This season is a different feeling."

Parnevik opened at Hogan's Alley with consecutive birdies and was 3 under through five holes. He had three more birdies his last six holes, but the three-putt from 15 feet on the 448-yard 14th kept him from a stroke behind Perks.

Perks' bogey-free 64 included two chip-in birdies on the 7,056-yard course.

The New Zealander's only PGA Tour victory was the 2002 Players Championship, considered by many as the fifth major.

He then overhauled his swing and has struggled ever since.

"I didn't see it coming," Perks said. "A round like this, it certainly gives me confidence. It shows me I can still play."

Nice catch

Brayden Jamison caught this 3-pound bass on his own fishing pole recently at Lake McClellan. Brayden is with his dad, Kim Jamison of Amarillo. Lake McClellan is located 25 miles south of Pampa in southern Gray County.

Rotary, Glo-Valve play to 3-3 deadlock

PAMPA — Rotary Club banged out seven hits, six for extra bases, to throw a scare into first-place Glo-Valve Service.

Rotary rallied to tie the game 3-3 at the end of the regulation six innings in the 11-12 Cal Ripken League Thursday at Optimist Park.

Rotary's tying rally in the fifth inning started with two outs.

Wesley Harrah got his second double of the game, a shot over the center fielder's head.

Tye Powell slapped a double to left, bringing in Clendenen with the tying run.

Glo-Valve had eked out single runs in the second, third and fourth innings. Alex Clendenen singled to open the top of the second for Glo-Valve. He went to second on an error, to third on a passed ball and home on a wild pitch. Cody Davis, Glo-Valve's leading hitter in the game, started the third inning with a single. He went to second on an infield out and made it to third on a ground ball hit by Tyler Malone when the shortstop was unable to get him at third. Davis, who went three for three at the plate, hustled home on a fielder's choice by Evan Meshke when the attempt to nab him at the plate was too late.

Glo-Valve's half of the fourth inning saw Conner Wilson slam a double to left field, advance to third on Davis' second hit of the day and come home on a single by Anthony Allen.

Rotary made a single run in the third inning as Trevor Morgan walked, legged to third on a single by Hannah, and executed a steal of home when Hannah at first drew a throw by bluffing an attempted steal of second. Hannah was Rotary's leading hitter, going three for three with two doubles.

Both sides made excellent defensive plays in a game where only error was committed.

Glo-Valve catcher Jonathan Robinson was credited with two caught stealings by throwing out runners attempting to steal third and second. Clendenen started a 6-3 double play. Rotary third baseman Garrett Fatheree made two assists and a put out in the sixth inning to keep the league leaders from scoring.

Clendenen snagged a fly ball in center to keep a run from scoring in the fifth.

Malone pitched four innings for Glo-Valve. He allowed four hits and one run. He struck out seven and walked three. Clendenen pitched two innings, giving up two runs and three hits. He struck out five and walked one. Hannah threw three and one-third innings for Rotary and allowing three runs on five hits. He struck out five, walked one and hit two batters. Seth Boon finished up by permitting no runs on two hits. He walked one and didn't strike out a batter.

Glo-Valve remains in first place by a few percentage points with a 6-1-1 record. Duncan, Fraser & Bridges Insurance Agency, a 3-1 winner over Cabot Corporation in Thursday's nightcap, pulled into a virtual tie for first with a 7-2 record.

Tonight's games pit Celanese Corporation against D.E. Chase at 5:45 p.m. and Rotary vs. Cabot at 7:45 p.m.

Johnson dashes to league victory

SAN MARCOS — University of Texas-San Antonio track standout Curtis Johnson, a junior from Pampa, cruised to a gold medal in the 100-meter dash at the Southland Conference Indoor Championships at Bobcat Stadium.

Johnson had a season-best and regional-qualifying 10.43 time, he became UTSA's second 100-meter conference champion since Francis Ngapout in 2001.

Less than an hour after winning the 100, Johnson came back to post a runner-up finish in the 200 in 21.10, just behind the winning time of 21.05 turned in by Glen Taylor, of Texas-Arlington.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Saturday, May 22, 2004:

You live life to the fullest, knowing what you want. Learn to use the unexpected positively. Rush in where angels fear to tread. Your determination might shock others, but this quality will carry you through problems. You have a way of charming others, but remember that you don't need to spend in order to impress others. Monitor your finances as if you were an accountant. An investment involving property helps develop greater security. If you are single, your home life becomes much more pleasurable. You will meet someone next fall who you might want to nest with. If you are attached, invest more time in your domestic life. CANCER can spend your money!

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) ★★ Deal with others, especially family. A change in personal dealings might be in line. Understand what you are seeking, and verbalize it more. Stand by and look at situations more carefully. Basics do count. Family responds to your effort. Tonight: Dinner at your pad. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ★★★★★ You find the right words to put others at ease. Don't worry so much about a serious conversation. Another needs to hear your feelings. Be careful with your temper and fast actions. You could be careless or say something you'd regret. A whimsical friend takes the lead. Tonight: Happy as a clam. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) ★★★ You might want to make a new purchase or investment. Take your time, even if it feels perfectly right at this moment. You will gain more insight given space. Recognize that your willingness to spend might get you into trouble. Think positively. Tonight: Off to a movie. CANCER (June 21-July 22) ★★★★★ Use your personality to help settle a problem rather than let it get overly serious. Think through an idea carefully. Test it out on several people. Others could find you unusually aggressive. Pick and choose your words with care. Tonight: Whatever makes you happy. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) ★★★ Take your time as you work through a personal issue that might be bothering you. Could you be taking someone too seriously? Think through a decision that might involve increased finances but also more expenses. Tonight: Lie back. Can the Lion take a night off? VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) ★★★★★ Keep plans with an older or very serious friend. How you push or handle an overwhelming person could vary. You might come off much stronger than you are aware. Trust your instinctive reactions. Tonight: Where the action is. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) ★★ Others turn to you, as you seem like a natural leader. How you say what you feel makes a difference to a grumpy and slightly intolerant friend or family member. Don't push beyond your limits. Your instincts will guide you. Tonight: Take the night off. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ★★★★★ Go to a play or take off for a flea market. A change of scenery can and will make all the difference. Think like someone else by putting yourself in his or her shoes. Laughter emerges with friends and a get-together. Tonight: Opt for different. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ★★★★★ Others have strong opinions. You might as well listen, as you aren't going to change them. You could find someone a bit conservative or uptight. Look for a more positive outlet or friend. Don't get focused on this one person. Tonight: Out on the town. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) ★★★★★ A partner might pull you left and right, if you let him or her. On some level, you might even feel like a Ping-Pong ball. Detach and take an overview. Find an activity that relaxes your mind and helps you open up. Tonight: Let your mind wander. Go to a play or listen to a favorite type of music. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) ★★ Your health needs to come first. If you are tired, just relax and take the day off. Feel free to cancel plans. A true friend or loved one will understand. Take your time and do your thing. Consider an energy-building program. Tonight: Put your feet up. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) ★★★★★ Let your emotions flow, and you'll do the right thing. You have mixed feelings about a loved one or a child. You might inadvertently create some distance. If you cannot resist an invitation, don't. You're entitled to a good time. Tonight: Be a teenager again.

Facing defeat, Senate GOP postpones budget vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders say they will try again to win Senate passage of a $2.4 trillion budget, after avoiding an embarrassing election-year defeat Thursday by postponing a vote on the measure until at least next month.

But pivotal GOP moderate senators oppose the plan because of concerns over cutting taxes at a time of record deficits, and they say there is no reason to change their minds.

Senate Majority Leader Bill Frist's decision to postpone the vote came hours after President Bush used a rare visit to the Capitol to urge Republicans to push the measure to final passage. The House narrowly approved the legislation Wednesday.

"I'm disappointed. I haven't been able to pass yet the budget proposed by the president," Frist, R-Tenn., told a reporter. "But it's not over."

Shortly after the president's private session with Republicans, the White House issued a statement in which Bush said: "I urge the Senate to follow the House's lead and pass this budget so that we can continue making progress on our shared agenda of building a safer, stronger, and better America."

But that — along with the harsh reproof that House GOP leaders directed at moderates this week — proved insufficient to "win votes. Those maverick senators were Susan Collins and Olympia Snowe, both R-Maine; Lincoln Chafee, R-R.I.; John McCain, R-Ariz.; and a Democrat, Ben Nelson of Nebraska.

"I think they're just sore we're right and we've gotten into deficits," Chafee said of the House leaders' remarks. "We all try and be team players when we can, but I think the core Republican philosophy is fiscal conservatism."

House Speaker Dennis Hastert, R-Ill., had asked reporters if one holdout, McCain, was a Republican. And House Majority Leader Tom DeLay, R-Texas, said the moderates "need to read the Republican philosophy" of cutting taxes.

Frist and other Republicans expressed hope that the chamber would revisit the compromise spending plan after Congress' week-long Memorial Day recess, which begins Friday. But it was unclear when, or if, the Senate would address the measure or perhaps a truncated version that would help the chamber work on later tax and spending bills.

The moderates and nearly all Democrats say tax cuts should be curbed because they would deepen federal deficits. Bush and GOP congressional leaders oppose such restrictions; they view them as roadblocks to their agenda of repeated tax cuts.

This stalemate has persisted for two months, despite earlier statements by GOP leaders that they would complete the plan by April 15.

"They control the House, Senate and White House. They just seem incapable of organizing in a way to meet about any objectives," said Sen. Byron Dorgan, D-N.D.

Republicans said they believed they could eventually prevail.

"Stews take a long time to cook in the Senate," said Sen. George Allen, R-Va.

The budget would increase defense and anti-terror spending while holding most domestic programs level. It would also deliver a fraction of the tax cuts Bush wants — along with a near-record $367 billion deficit.

The budget sets guidelines for future tax and spending legislation and does not need the president's signature. Lawmakers can later work on measures without a budget, but they would lack its procedural advantages that would make those bills easier to pass.

To keep deficits under control, the moderates want to require any tax cuts or benefit increases over the next five years to be paid for with tax increases or spending cuts. That restriction could be ignored if 60 of the 100 senators voted to do so.

The compromise budget imposes the restriction only through next April 15, and it exempts the only tax bill likely to become law during that period.

House passes $422 billion defense bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A record-high wartime defense bill awaits Senate approval after passing the House in a strong bipartisan vote.

Putting aside for a moment differences over the war in Iraq, the House on Thursday voted 391-34 for a $422 billion bill to authorize military programs in the new budget year that begins in October. The spending level was up nearly $21 billion over the amount approved for this year.

The House also agreed to a White House request to add $25 billion as a downpayment for the costs of military operations in Iraq and Afghanistan during the next budget year.

"No one can question the need to fund our troops to keep them strong and victorious," said Republican Majority Leader Tom DeLay, R-Texas.

The Senate was debating a similar bill, but then put off a final vote until after it returns from the Memorial Day recess next week.

There was near unanimity in the House on the need to focus on programs aimed at keeping troops in hostile areas safer and doing more to make their families back home financially secure.

The House bill, generally mirrored by the Senate version, includes an across-the-board 3.5 percent pay raise for military personnel and raises the hazardous pay for troops facing hostile fire from $150 to $225 a month. It also increases separation pay for those stationed overseas and improves health care programs for reservists.

To answer complaints that U.S. troops are not adequately protected from insurgent strikes, more than $1 billion is included in the bill for better armored Humvees and add-on ballistic protection for vehicles in Iraq and Afghanistan.

A dispute over base closings was the one major trouble spot. The House bill courts a presidential veto by delaying for two years the next round of military base closures, set to take place next year. An amendment to reverse the delay was defeated, 259-162.

The administration contends the Pentagon could save billions by closing unneeded facilities. It says there still is more than 20 percent excess capacity in military facilities nationwide.

There have been four previous rounds of base closings from 1988 and 1995, in each case over the objections of lawmakers concerned about the economic repercussions to their districts.

Under the "base realignment and closure" or BRAC authority, the Pentagon draws up a list of excess capacity facilities and an independent commission picks which bases to close. Congress can accept or reject, but cannot

U.S. lawyer linked to terror attacks

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — An American attorney arrested two weeks ago in connection with the deadly train bombings in Spain was set free after fingerprints found on a bag of detonators were linked to another man.

Brandon Mayfield, 37, was released Thursday, soon after Spanish officials said fingerprints on a bag left near the bombing site were that of an Algerian. U.S. authorities had previously said the prints were Mayfield's. The bag contained detonators similar to those used in the March 11 blasts, which killed 191 people and injured 2,000 others.

"I want to thank my family and friends who were supporting me through what I will call a harrowing ordeal," Mayfield, a convert to Islam, said as he walked out the federal courthouse in Portland, grasping his wife's hand and holding a Quran and a Muslim prayer rug.

In Arabic and then in English, Mayfield recited the Muslim prayer: "God is great. There is no God but God."

His three children, ages 10, 12 and 15, rushed up behind him, and his wife's eyes filled with tears. The family has insisted Mayfield is innocent, saying he has not been out of the country for at least a decade.

His mother, Avnell Mayfield, said she hugged her son when he arrived at his suburban Portland home. "I'm just elated," she said in a telephone interview. "He's much taller than I remember him being."

Samer Horani, a board member of the Islamic Center of Portland, called Mayfield's arrest a stark example of the FBI's profiling of Muslims. "Ethnicity doesn't matter. If you are Muslim you are suspect," he said.

House caps month of tax talk by preserving, expanding child tax credit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A vote to preserve and expand a $1,000 child tax credit topped a month of House work highlighting President Bush's tax cuts during this election year.

House lawmakers have voted in succession to lock down the president's tax cuts, a broadened bottom tax bracket and adjustments to the alternative minimum tax so that levy on wealthy tax dodgers wouldn't snare more unsuspecting families.

The House voted 271-139 on Thursday to add the $1,000 child tax credit to the list of tax reductions they want to safeguard. The bill would cut taxes $228 billion over a decade and stop the child credit from dropping to $700 next year.

"If parents are to take advantage of this tax credit to purchase new clothes, school supplies or a new computer for their child or to invest in their child's future, they need to know that these tax cuts are not here today and gone tomorrow," said Rep. Shelley Moore Capito, R-W.Va.

The Senate plans to wrap extensions of the three popular tax cuts into one bill and pass it later this year. The Republican budget passed in the House envisions a final bill that stops short of making the tax cuts permanent and instead calls for a one-year extension.

Opposition from moderate Republican senators who want to further limit tax cuts forced the Senate to postpone debate on that budget at least until June.

Fewer House Democrats backed the child tax credit bill than other bills cementing tax cuts. Many disagreed with GOP efforts to expand the full credit to families earning up to $250,000.

"This bill is outrageous," said Rep. John Lewis, D-Ga. "What we're doing today, here again, is offering huge tax breaks for those who need them least."

The increase makes members of Congress with children eligible for the credit. They earn $158,100.

"Do we need that tax break? I don't think so," said Rep. Sander Levin, D-Mich.

The bill would make a bigger child tax credit immediately available to low-income families by accelerating a change scheduled to take place next year. That change lets families earning more than $10,750 to claim 15 percent of the credit as a refund. Currently, they can claim 10 percent.
