BRIGGS FROWNS ON IDEA, BUT COCHRANE WANTS TO CATCH AGAIN

DOCTORS WARN MIRACLE MIKE NOT TO PLAY

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service
LAKELAND, Fla., March 28. — Even more important to the Detroit Tigers than Schoolboy Rowe's arm is the battle that Gordon Stanley Cochrane is now waging within himself.

Surgeons undoubtedly have warned Mickey Cochrane not to play. Another blow anything like the one he suffered, when he failed to get his head out of the way of Russ Hadley's fast ball last summer, easily might prove fatal. Owner Walter O. Briggs doesn't want Miracle Mike to risk further injury, but—

Cochrane is coveting around first base at the Bengals' training base here with all the pepper and enthusiasm of a busher. He never looked or felt better, and such a keen observer as Charles Gehringer suspects that he'll return to the active playing list and get in the thick of things once the going rings.

Cochrane will be 35 on April 6, but there is plenty of baseball in him yet, and to one of his disposition catching would be much easier on his nerves than sitting in the dugout.

Detroit is about ready to give up on Birdie Tebbets, and Ray Hayward is not a first-string backstop.

I asked the peerless Gehringer if Rudy York could catch.

"Guess he'll have to, if Cochrane doesn't," replied the American League batting champion.

It is easy to see that the Tiger regulars are not exactly sold on York as a catcher.

Much Depends on Rowe
With or without Cochrane, the Detroit club once more will rise or fall with Lynwood Rowe. Even with Vernon Kennedy, the battling Bengals, as Cochrane calls them, haven't enough pitching to match the New York Yankees without the perennial Schoolboy.

It was Rowe who stopped the Yankees in 1934. It was Rowe and General Crowder who won key games from the Ruppert Rifles and other first division outfits in 1935.

It is too early to know whether the bad spot in his shoulder, which sent Rowe home early last season, has been ironed out. The tall dealer at El Dorado has not yet cut loose.

Arms that go home seldom come back, however, and there is doubt in Rowe's mind.

"I'd pitch this entire season for nothing if I thought my arm would be all right," he says.

Rowe's return to form would give the Tigers five pitchers capable of taking the outfit any distance. The others are Tommy Bridges, Elden Aukes, Kennedy, and Roxie Lawson. Backing them up are Beets Poffenberger, George Gill, Slick Coffman, and the southpaw, Jake W.

Rookie Has the Stuff
Are they 17 pitchers on the Detroit roster? The newcomers Joe Rogalski and Ed Selway, right-handers, appear the more promising.

After starring in the Northern League, the 22-year-old Rogalski, who weighs 167 pounds and stands six feet two, moved to the Bengals at Beaumont farm, where he won 17 and lost 6. He has control and a deceiving knuckle ball, and does not try to pour the pill past hitters. He comes up with the enviable reputation of possessing plenty of courage in tight spots.

Oddly enough, Selway, who is attracting attention, has no record to speak of although he has been at it professionally since 1927. He turned him out into the cruel world when his arm went on the Fritz last term, and he was picked up by Port Worth in time to cop two and lose one.

It was in the Texas league play-off and Dixie series that Selway performed the feats that caused Detroit to purchase his contract. Edward practically was invincible in the two series, twice shutting out Little Rock, the Southern League champion, to bag the Dixie debate. There is plenty of him. He weighs 190 and is six feet three in height.

Pitchers unlikely to enjoy any great degree of success are Alvin Benton and Carl Doyle, former Philadelphia Athletics bought from Memphis; Stanley Corbett, up from the Beaumont subsidiary; Pat McLaughlin, back from Indianapolis; Woodrow Wilson Davis, who toiled for Toronto in 1937; and Harry Eisenstat, a left-hander who had trials with the Brooklyn Dodgers, who served with Louisville last year, and who was acquired as a free agent.

Christian Sewing Up Third
York has too much power to be left on the bench even if he doesn't catch. So the vast Indian and Hank Greenberg and Gehringer again will be the heavier Detroit cannon.

Billy Rogel figures that it is his turn for a big year at shortstop.

Mark Christian, who hit .291 and stole 46 bases for Beaumont, right now has replaced Marvin Owen at third base, although Don Ross has not been dismissed. Ross, not yet 23, hit .305 for Toronto. Tony Piet and Frank Croucher, a shortstop recalled from Toledo, are other infielders.

The regular outfield will be Chet Laabs, Dixie Walker, and Pete Fox, with Jo-Jo White and Roy Cullenbine standing by. Cullenbine compiled a batting average of .308 for Toledo.

Vernon Kennedy should help and the Tigers will manufacture runs in clusters, but that famous battery, Rowe and Cochrane, still is the Detroit story as the major league clubs rehearse for another grueling grind.

Crisler Takes Over Michigan Coaching Job

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 28.—Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler, returning to Western Conference coaching ranks after a six-year absence, called 115 University of Michigan varsity candidates to spring practice today.

Crisler, who restored Princeton to football eminence after leaving the Minnesota coaching post in 1932, is about to tackle the same sort of problem at Michigan. He isn't downhearted about the prospect.

"I didn't come here to lose," he told an alumni group recently.

As a starting point for his announced plan to rebuild the Michigan Wolverines, once the "champions of the West," from "the ground up," he has available 18 letters from Harry G. Kipke's 1937 eleven which won four games and lost four.

Kipke's contract was not renewed, and Michigan athletic authorities, casting about for a "trouble-shooter" to tune up their football machine, selected Crisler on the basis of his success in similar roles at Minnesota and Princeton.

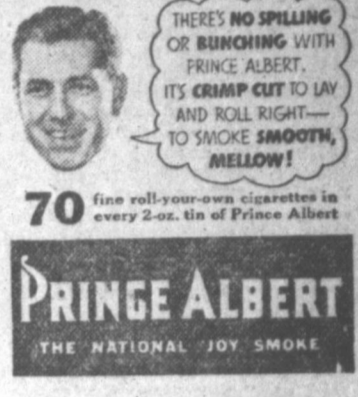

day he is "in great shape and ready to go." Bobby Doerr has been playing second for the Sox, but although his fielding has been first class, he has not been hitting.

HOUSTON—Manager Gabby Street can't figure out this "just place" talk about the St. Louis Browns. He points out his Browns have won all eight of their training games and that they are getting plenty of lousy hitting.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Richard Merriwell Erickson, rookie hurler of the Boston Bucs, may be a real "Dick Merriwell" this season. Erickson has shown excellent control this far and that's what has Manager Casey Stengel grinning.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Tommy Bridges is the Detroit Tigers' latest concern. An X-ray revealed the star right-hander chipped a bone in the elbow of his pitching arm last week. One club official said he might not be able to hurl before May 15.

STENDEL GETS LAUGH WHEN HE SAYS BEES MAY WIN TITLE

By GALE TALBOT
BRADENTON, Fla., March 28.—It's a tragic announcement to have to make, but Casey Stengel has joined up with the conservative Boston set and isn't funny any more. The only comic crack he made in a half-hour's earnest conversation was that his Bees might win the National League pennant.

The man who used to wow them over in Brooklyn sits there now as dignified as a kid wearing his first stiff collar and insists upon discussing such trivial items as baiting and leading averages and pitching possibilities. He even made a point of having names pronounced correctly. Once he said, mistily:

"I can't tell you how much I appreciate the way these folks have treated me since I took over the club. I haven't got a lot of back-ground like some managers."

He referred, no doubt, to such old line, rock-ribbed landed gentry as Burleigh Grimes, of the Missouri Grizzlies, and to Frankie Fritch, the Bronx boulevardier. In time, of course, Casey will learn that Burleigh and Frankie are just as democratic as anybody.

During the Bees' exhibition games Casey doesn't even get out on the coaching lines, but sits back sedately in the dugout and makes motions just like Connie Mack, except that he doesn't use a score card, yet. Only once in the course of a game did he go out and argue modestly with the base umpire. He said he was feeling all right, too.

Contributing to the new gravity undoubtedly is the fact that Casey is more or less on the spot in taking over the Bees after the miracles they performed under Bill McKechnie last year. With an old-folks-pitching staff and not a 200 hitter in the line-up, they finished fifth.

Now Casey has the same club, except that it's a year older, and he's bound to feel the strain. If the Bees finish worse than fifth, Boston fans won't be pleased with Casey. And if they do finish as high as fifth again, this writer, for one, will be greatly astonished.

WANTS TO HAVE 'FIGHT NIGHT'

CANYON, March 28.—Defending champions will have to look to their laurels in boxing and wrestling events Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the annual "Fight Night" at West Texas State College.

Men of the athletic department are hoping for a large crowd at 40 and 25 cents admission, since the proceeds will be used in landscaping the grounds about the athletic plant.

J. E. Pitzsch of Amarillo will open the boxing events, battling Donald Kendrick of Groom. Other fights will include: Tom Slack of Canyon vs. Jim Pous, of Littlefield 178-pound class; Joe Hayes of Allison vs. Francis Elliston of Hereford, 168 pounds; Royce Barron of Borger vs. Foster Watkins of Dumas, 158 pounds; Ray Cox of Vernon vs. Michael Petrucci of East Rutherford, N. J., 148 pounds; Allen Plummer of Hereford vs. Joe Bailey of Quittaque, 138 pounds; and Wilbur Welford of Plainview vs. Lawrence Hodges of Tulsa, 128 pounds.

Wrestling finalists will be the following: Reese Nowling of Perryton vs. Leon Williams of Shamrock, heavyweights; Herbert Mason of Vernon vs. Blake Lyde of Childress, 178 pounds; Monroe Horton of Pampa vs. Scott Neal of Borger, 168 pounds; Jack Jennings of Tulsa vs. Ernest Schur of Vernon, 158 pounds; Floyd Murry of Floydada vs. Lee Gordon Mokeble, 148 pounds; and Bill French of Clayton, N. M., vs. Glenn Allen of Canyon, 138 pounds. There will be no 123-pound wrestling.

Fight night will be held in Burton gymnasium.

DALLAS VS. FT. WORTH
DALLAS, March 27.—The Dallas Steers of the Texas League, launching an exhibition schedule which will keep them busy until the day before the Texas League season opens, were matched against the Fort Worth Cats of the same circuit in a two game series at Longview, beginning today. Rain caused cancellation yesterday of the second game of a series between the Steers and Saint Paul Saints.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The spring that brings out the crocus and the robin also has brought out the St. Louis Browns. Perennial doormats of the American League, the Brownies are riding high in first place in the Grapefruit circuit, with a spotless record of eight straight victories.

The Yankees needn't be alarmed. The Browns have been beating Texas

LOVE LAUGHS AT THE DOCTOR

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday: As a stand-in for Camilla Wynne, Connie spends her first day at the Thorvald ranch. Advised by the doctor not to take her acting too seriously, Connie is about to reply scathingly when he speaks again.

"YOU committed Miss Wynne to a rather large slice of humble pie, didn't you?" Dr. Rogers went on, his eyes coolly amused on hers. "I wonder whether she'll accept her dismissal so gracefully in her own person. Her 'Jo-Jo's' daddy has a lot of money, you know. However, from what I've heard of the lady's adventures in romance, she should be the last to question your philosophy on one point at least. . . . And you so wisely observed, 'No one can help not loving some one any longer.'"

"I can't help wondering," he went on, "whether your conclusions are based on observation or experience." Constance asked, "I didn't suppose there was anything left about me for you to wonder about. You've had me under the microscope for quite a while. By this time you ought to know how to take me to pieces and put me together again."

His quizzical look faded, and he said with an abrupt assumption of "You're terribly tired, aren't you? Now I think you'd better go to your room and let me arrange to have your dinner sent up. Then go right to bed and get a good night's rest."

Constance's lip curled in angry amusement. "Rest. When some where in the house was Derek. And so much to be said between them," she thought. He was going on, "I shouldn't be surprised—"

SUDDENLY all the resentments and frustrations of the day flared up in a need to thrash about and hit out at some one. "You don't raise a single detail, do you, Doctor? Life to you in an orderly pattern of nurses and obedient patients who trot off to bed when you send them, so that at dawn they may be up and doing—"

"I was about to say," he said stiffly, "that I shouldn't be surprised if you wondered why Miss Thorvald hadn't shown up yet. I have an idea she's going to be annoyed with me tomorrow, but as a matter of fact, I have given orders that she must sleep as long as she can, because—"

"Don't tell me why, I know already," Constance cut in, her voice rising recklessly in a kind of triumphant chant, "because she's likely to have a difficult day tomorrow."

She was rolling on now with the rising tide of hysteria, without a chance of stopping herself, even if she had cared to try. "I suppose," she rushed on, "that every evening when you're through playing with your funny little test tubes, you say to the equally funny things in them. 'Now just stop wriggling, my dears, and settle down for the night, because—'"

WHEN it was over, she looked up with the defiant, shamefaced stare to find Mark Rogers standing over her, his eyebrows raised, his hands in his pockets, his lips pursed in a thoughtful whistle. "Well," he said grimly, "You win. You're a better doctor than I am, Gunga Din. . . . You knew what you needed, and you went troubling sense of unreality, as if she had been handed a treacherous fairy gift, which might vanish at her first attempt to touch it. Then she saw Derek waiting for her, and forgot everything else in the joy of his nearness. (To Be Continued)

FRIENDS LIST HUNDRED ACRES FOR HEDLEY MAN

CLARRENDON, March 28—Again one is reminded of that kindly admonition that "man cannot live to himself alone" or "for any length of time without the need of help from others. All too often this help never comes, or comes too late. Near Hedley Tuesday forenoon, there was illustrated the meaning of real neighbors. Real people who have a feeling of human sympathy and helpfulness."

March 16th, Mrs. J. K. Hunt passed on and through the trials of her passing, Mr. Hunt was distressed with loss of his helpmate. He was forced to be away from home. He got behind with his farm work. He returned to Hedley Monday evening. Already friends had planned a gathering at his farm home.

Tuesday morning at the Hunt farm home there came 34 men with 22 tractors with which they listed 100 acres. This easily was accomplished before noon. At the noon hour, a feast was spread. Mrs. W. B. Ford, Mrs. John Auffer, Mrs. Clyde Bain, Mrs. A. A. Nipper and Mrs. Odie Owens prepared the dinner, the makings of which was supplied by the Hedley business men who wished to share in the good work.

DIRT MOVING STARTED FOR BOGGY CREEK DAM

CANALIAN, March 28—Work of moving dirt for the dam proper at the Bogy Creek water conservation project started last Thursday. Men have been at work there since March 1, clearing brush and digging the pits. Actual work of moving dirt for the dam proper, however, did not start until last week, it was announced.

Two shifts of 6 1/2 hours each are being worked. A total of approximately 90 men will be on the job the latter part of this week, county officials believe. The entire Hemphill county list of men available will be used on the project. Some of the machinery has not yet arrived. As soon as it comes there may be three shifts at work at Bogy Creek, it was said.

Judge E. C. Fisher said he expects the men, now employed on the Gem City road project, will be transferred to the Bogy Creek dam today. This will mean that practically all available labor in the county will be held for work there.
