10 Plains Producers Brought In For 4,282 Barrels

GRAY COUNTY LEADS FIELD IN LOCATIONS

Completions continued to hold the spotlight in the Panhandle oil field last week with 10 wells being tested for a total open flow potential of 4,282 barrels and one was well good for 37,584,000 cubic feet.

New locations numbered eight with seven of them in Gray county and the other in Wheeler county. One wildcat test was reported by B. & D. Petroleum company of McLean for their No. 1 Johnson in section 1, G&SFP survey, Gray county, eight miles northwest of Alanreed. The well will be drilled less than a half-mile northeast of the old Purple Sage test on the same lease. Oil was found in the Purple Sage test but it was never completed as a commercial producer.

Hutchinson county led in completions with five good for 2,956 barrels. The four Gray county wells were capable of producing 960 barrels. The other well was in Carson county.

Best well of the week was the Midstates oil company's No. B-9 Whittenburg, section 58, block 46, H&TC survey, Hutchinson county, which gauged 786 barrels.

Completions to date this year number 154 compared with 123 to the same date last year, or an increase of 31 wells. New locations are holding their own with completions.

Completions by counties follow: In Hutchinson county, Barnsdall oil company No. B-3 Lewis, section 7, block 23, BS&P survey, gauged 740 barrels with lime pay between 2,930 and 3,089 feet.

tional, section 49, block A-9, H&GN survey, gauged 117 barrels with the pay from 2,795 to 2,842 feet, in lime.

The Texas company No. 2 Marberry, section 11, block A-6, H&GN survey, gauged 382 barrels with Dolomite pay between 2,780 and 2,591 feet.

Dandiger Oil & Refineries No. B-17, Powell-Beck, section 28, block B-2, H&GN survey, gauged 128 barrels with granite wash pay from 2,890 to 2,832 feet.

OIL INTERESTS MAP FIGHT TO FOIL MEXICO

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP)—Big American oil interests, surprised by the unexpected Mexican weapon of expropriation, today began preparing a legal and diplomatic fight to regain control of their properties, as the next step in their long controversy with the Mexican government and Mexican labor.

Briefs will be submitted early in the week to Secretary of State Hull in the hope that diplomatic moves may ease the situation of the companies and "every legal means" will be resorted to, a spokesman for the companies said here today.

The total American and British interest in Mexican oil development is estimated to be about $450,000,000, of which little more than a quarter is American.

The largest American interests involved, their spokesman said here, are those of Standard Oil of New Jersey and the Consolidated Oil Corporation (Standard group).

When the supreme court of Mexico recently upheld labor board rulings which the companies said they were unable to meet, they were hopeful that United States diplomatic intervention might save them.

This hope was based on the fact that the United States government, thru continued purchases of Mexican silver at fixed prices has helped Mexico through trying financial crises.

This policy, it was announced today in Washington, will be continued at least until the first of April, despite Mexican internal developments.

Ignore Order. When it became evident that President Cardenas had decided definitely to cast his lot with the Mexican workers instead of the foreign oil companies, company spokesmen explained here, the companies acting jointly through their "combine" in Mexico City, decided to ignore the supreme court order.

When the first payday came around, they told their employees they could not meet the terms of the order, calling for payment of an estimated additional 41,000,000 pesos ($11,377,500). The companies also protested against certain administrative features of the court order, especially about certain sections giving workers time off with pay.

Workers' Pay Raised. Last week, the spokesman said here, the companies made a compromise offer of 23,000,000 ($6,322,500) increase in pay—the figure representing the estimated average annual net earnings of the companies for the past three years—providing the objectionable administrative features of the order were withdrawn. This offer was refused.

The companies then moved records, files, cash, etc., out of their offices.

They had expected that the Mexican labor board would install "interventors" or receivers, to operate the business in compliance with the labor board's ruling. The companies warned the government that such operation was likely to be unsuccessful, because of the fact that foreign sales would be hard for the government to make under the circumstances, and because domestic sales, according to the companies, had already been carried on at a loss.

Last night's expropriation threat was a new weapon, unforeseen by the companies, and has consequently altered the attitude and strategy of the companies.

That the present situation was not generally considered an insurmountable one, or a financially disastrous one, was indicated by today's behavior of the stocks of the two leading American companies affected: Standard Oil of New Jersey closed on the New York Stock Exchange today $1.25 a share higher at $47.25, and Consolidated 12 cents a share higher at $8.75.

Nor did New York banking houses with Mexican connections show dismay over suspension by the Bank of Mexico of foreign exchange dealings. They pointed out that the Mexican government has facilities for supplying exchange as needed. In some quarters the suspension was interpreted as a first step in devaluation of the peso, quoted yesterday at 27.75 cents.

W. S. Parish, president of the Standard Oil of New Jersey, in a lengthy statement, renewed prior offers of compromise but referring to the collective foreign investment of $450,000,000 in the Mexican petroleum industry, said "we are not disposed to stand idly by and see that capital confiscated."

Failure Predicted. He predicted the administrator in control of the properties "can no more operate them at a profit under the extreme conditions laid down for the companies than could the owners. Nor can he successfully surrender administrative control of operations to workmen inexperienced in business management. This is recognized in Mexico."

H. P. Sinclair, executive chairman of Consolidated, said: "Our American employees, some of whom have lived here for generations, have been ordered out of their homes and threatened with violence. All access to our offices and properties is blocked by bands of workers. Mob action rather than legal proceedings characterizes the whole program."

"In spite of the unreasoning attitude of the syndicate (union) officials as distinguished from the workers themselves . . . I believe that some basis will be established

AUTO DRIVING STUDIED BY LANSING STUDENTS

LANSING, Mich., March 19.—A new step in the growing national movement to promote highway safety on which we can continue to stay in business in Mexico."

It was not anticipated here by company spokesmen that diplomatic representations would be made by the United States government before receiving briefs from the companies, and that consequently there was little likelihood of an official American protest in advance of the formal order of expropriation scheduled for Monday.

through training in the schools has been taken here by H. E. Gardner, principal of the West Junior high school, where an elective course in traffic conduct and driving technique is given for seventh, eighth, and ninth grade pupils.

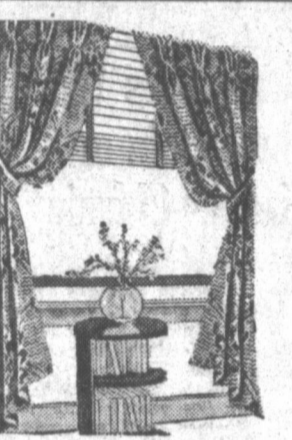

"The traffic safety driving courses now available in many American high schools and colleges are extremely valuable," said Mr. Gardner.

"But I believe, with L. E. Clark, in charge of safety education at our school, that preliminary training of this type may well begin at a considerably younger age."

Mr. Clark's class of 31 pupils ranges in age from 11 to 15 years. In addition to daily drill in all matters of safety education, the students receive special training in the fundamentals of actual automobile operation.

Beaten Daily

Tales of daily beatings during imprisonment at Palma, Mallorca, following capture of his vessel by ships flying the Spanish insurgent flag, were told by J. E. Lewis, captain of the American tanker Nantucket Chief, shown above as he was greeted by his daughter, Ruth, 9, at Port Arthur, Texas. Lewis said he and his crew were jailed for "trading with Spanish Reds." His ship was carrying Russian oil to Barcelona.

SPRING WILL BEGIN MONDAY

Grass on the lawns around the courthouse is beginning to show green, the sun is brighter and the air is clearer, and there's talk of golf and fishing in the courthouse offices where employes ho-hummed through their work Saturday.

Even if the calendar didn't say so, you'd know it is nearly spring. Tomorrow, at 12:43 a. m., marks the beginning of the new season. The thermometer hovered around the 70 mark Saturday.

A style show announced for Friday night is another sign that Pampa will soon be thinking of the annual Easter parade, already heralded by Easter bunnies used in display windows of Pampa stores.

That's Pampa, but in Europe tomorrow, perhaps Adolf Hitler may begin another drive, reaching out toward Poland, Czechoslovakia, or France, a counterpart of the big offensive Von Hindenburg started just 20 years ago Monday.

For it was two decades ago that the might of the German empire was set in motion toward Paris in what was intended to be the victory march of Kaiser Wilhelm. How near the offensive came to making that march a reality was shown in the British General Haig's significant remark after that drive began: "We are fighting with our backs to the wall."

Today, the remembrance of the dark days of 1918 is dim, as Pampa greets another spring. Yet it is perhaps significant that once more the German nation is seeing visions of "Der Tag," even as did on March 20 twenty years ago.

CHICAGO, March 19 (AP)—You could argue that spring begins this

HULL DECIDES HITLER HURT WORLD PEACE

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—The United States government announced to the world today that it was seriously concerned at the extent to which Adolf Hitler's seizure of Austria tended to endanger peace.

Secretary of State Hull broke his silence on the Nazi coup after receiving official notice that the Austrian legation here had been abolished and its functions taken over by the German embassy.

Giving emphasis by waiving his usual rule against direct quotation of press conference statements, he told reporters:

"The day before yesterday I discussed fully the principles governing peaceful and orderly international relations and their application to present conditions in European and other world areas. "The extent to which the Austrian incident or any similar incident, is calculated to endanger the maintenance of peace and the preservation of the principles in which this government believes is of course a matter of serious concern to the government of the United States."

The secretary also authorized an announcement that certain "technical steps" on the part of this government would be required as a result of Austria's changed status.

Persons close to the German embassy expressed belief that this meant Austria's absorption by Germany would be recognized by this government in fact, step by step as questions of customs and the like arose.

When asked directly whether this government contemplated recognition of the Austro-German union, Hull said the principles he enunciated Thursday in a restatement of American foreign policy should supply the answer. One of the principles he restated then was:

"All nations should, through voluntary self-restraint, abstain from use of force in pursuit of policy and from interference in the international affairs of other nations."

year on both March 20 and March 21 and be correct.

In the middle west, or central time zone, it starts at 12:43 a. m. Monday, March 21 and in the East at 1:43 a. m. But in the Rocky Mountain zone the season starts officially at 11:43 p. m. Sunday, and still an hour earlier on the west coast.

Forecaster H. A. Downs of the U. S. weather bureau in Chicago said the vernal equinox, popularly supposed to bring a week or 10 days of heavy spring rains, was "a lot of hokey," meteorologically speaking.

ROCHESTER, Ind., March 19 (AP)—Fulton county "old-timers" scanned the vital statistics on the spring lamb crop today and concluded war can't be far away. They said bumper lamb crops in the past always have been followed by long, costly and destructive wars, that providence provided the extra meat for the battling armies. The current lamb crop is believed largest in the country's history. Some farmers reported getting as many as five lambs from one ewe.

STATE DEMO CHAIRMAN TO SUPPORT THOMPSON

Beginning Wednesday at that hour a bouquet of roses will be awarded on the program each morning to an outstanding woman in the Pampa community.

The award will be made from votes telephoned or mailed to KPDM. The station will be making votes immediately after tomorrow morning's "Bouquet of the Day" program and they will be tallied up until 5 p. m. Tuesday for the first award to be made on the air Wednesday morning.

Listeners are urged to tune to KPDM at 9:15 in the morning to get full details of the plan.

Miss Priest Speaks on Importance of Social Hygiene

All diseases affecting the health of children affect the health of the nation. Since social diseases do affect children as well as young men and women, they constitute an important medical-social problem.

"There are definite means of preventing typhoid and the public is so advised. There are likewise methods for preventing and treating these other diseases and there is no reason why the information should be withheld and people kept in ignorance when the results are so serious," Miss Priest stated.

"The earliest age at which young boys and girls can understand this information is the time to present the facts to them and to warn them of the dangers. The younger age limit may be surprising, but it indicates how important it is to give information early.

"We are educating our boys and girls to build up strong bodies to avoid tuberculosis. We must also warn them that a hidden army of bacteria can attack other parts of their bodies with equally devastating effects," she added.

"Too often parents fail to discuss the matters with their adolescent children; the schools hesitate to include such information in their curriculums, and hence little opportunity exists for presenting and obtaining accurate knowledge of such an important phase of health," the instructor concluded.

Mrs. Kelley Leads Discussion at Bell H. D. Club Meeting

"Strive to know and to grow the hardest seeds in your garden," Mrs. Julia E. Kelley said in a discussion on tomato growth to the Bell Home Demonstration club which met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Elbert Kenney.

One of the first considerations in growing tomatoes is the proper variety to choose. The three outstanding varieties suitable to this climate are Earliana, June Pink, and Forke.

Tomato seed should be planted one to two inches apart in rows four inches apart. Allow plants to grow until they have two leaves, then thin out plants until they are four inches apart. When they are a little older and large enough to transplant and yet the danger of frost is not over, they may be transplanted into cans or boxes until they are one and one-half feet tall. When the plants are set out in the garden, cover them half way with soil. Tomatoes as well as other growing things should be cultivated regularly and the dirt should be drawn up to the plants in order for them to grow.

Sodium nitrate or the Ford fertilizer should be put on the soil before planting time. Proper preparation of the garden is essential if we expect to have good gardens, Mrs. Kelley stated.

It is generally known in this section that tomato vines are easily grown but the tomatoes do not form. Sprinkling the blossoms early in the morning and late at night will help the pollenation of the plants and produce more tomatoes.

Other kinds of garden seed especially good for the Panhandle garden are tender green mustard, show-pink turnips, New York No. 2 and Iceberg lettuce, hybrid banana corn, Detroit red beets, Spanish sweet or hot and the Bermuda onions, little parsel and early Alaskan English peas, red scarlet radish, perfect cucumber, Chinese cabbage or Wakefield, and pinto beans, or stringless green beans.

"I am hoping that you will have something different to eat from your gardens than you have ever had before," Mrs. Kelley said.

During the business session, with the president presiding, the community party was planned for Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Kenney.

The recreation committee made plans to attend the recreational study Saturday afternoon in the agent's office.

Refreshments were served to 11 members and Mrs. Julia E. Kelley. The Bell club will meet Tuesday, March 22 in an all-day meeting in the home of Mrs. J. L. Morris for a postponed meeting.

NEW YEAR BEGINS TOMORROW FOR FRATERNITY OF ROSICRUCIANS

Pampa members of the Rosicrucian Order, a philosophical fraternity, will mark the beginning of a new year tomorrow with the arrival of the vernal equinox, when the sun enters the astronomical sign of Aries on its celestial journey around the Zodiac.

"For centuries the people of the Orient celebrated the beginning of the New Year on or about March 21," said Dr. Paul V. Binion, Pampa Rosicrucian representative, last night. "When this astronomical phenomenon occurred, and all nature was in a state of rebirth and awakening, that appeared to be the logical time to begin a new year."

Dr. Binion stated that the ancient Egyptians declared the advent an occasion for festivities, and partook of a symbolic feast of cornbread, salt, and grapejuice, representing the principal element of man's nature.

The traditional history of the Rosicrucians, according to Dr. Binion, records its establishment in 1330 B. C. during the reign of Pharaoh Amenhotep IV, who is said to have instituted the ancient ceremony and feast, which is continued in commemoration in the same ancient manner by Rosicrucians throughout the world today.

Throughout North and South America tomorrow newly-appointed officers for local lodges of the order will be installed immediately following the ancient rites.

Recreation for Children Stressed

Until well into the 20th century play was an activity tolerated only among young children, to be outgrown as soon as possible. This idea to some extent stemmed from the prevailing theology of the day, in which the world was a vale of tears to be patiently endured, and the delight of rest and recreation were reserved for another life which lay beyond the gates of death.

The concepts have changed greatly and people have come to realize that it is not necessarily virtuous to make life all thorns and no roses. Loye Ruckman, chairman of recreation committee of the Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association, stated at a paper presented on "Recreation."

Education and recreation may in a large degree be one and the same. Of course they do not fully overlap. Discipline, order, and devotion to study can never be dispensed with in schools. But it is futile to try to build a fine fence between work and play. This is recognized by the teachers and the recreation leaders. Not only is this true but both types of professional leaders realize a new and increasing obligation to extend their services to persons of all ages. Organized instruction and organized play are beneficial not only to children and youth but also to maturity and old age. As has been pointed out many times the speed of the social services for adults a necessity, he stated.

At the present public schools have their plants in every community as the outposts of common learning. The more modern of these buildings and grounds include excellent facilities for physical education, exercises in music and fine arts, as well as play activities which refresh the soundness of mind and body. Usually, however, these facilities are scarcely adequate to take care of the school population to say nothing of the infants and adults. Often they are the best facilities available on anything like a general scale and in thousands of rural and small-town communities they are virtually the only public facilities of their kind in existence, Mr. Ruckman suggested.

The school day usually ends in the afternoon and the term in the spring. Of course the school often offers extra-curricular activities for the voluntary participation of pupils in the afternoon but in only a few of the larger towns and cities are the facilities open to be used by the community during the summer months.

A larger number of schools should be awakened to the fact that their recreational facilities should be open to the public. Of course in many cases the recreational facilities are so situated that they cannot be used by the public without some use interfering with the routine work of the school. This being true the school plant of the future should be so constructed as to have separate units for recreational uses so located as to be readily opened and used without giving access to the other parts of the building which are devoted primarily to instructional purposes, he pointed out. The importance of recreational facilities cannot be over emphasized but regardless of the equipment the recreational program of any community will be a failure unless great care is used in selecting a trained, experienced and highly competent director of recreation.

DANCING

Well, we are still talking about "DANCING." We hope the readers of this article will remember what has gone before on the subject too. If we do no more than to get parents to STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN, I shall be pleased with the effort. Why should people be asked to "do evil that good may come?" Rom. 3:8. We have heard it said that the money collected from DANCES held in our school building was used to buy uniforms for the bands. Well, so what? Does the means justify the end? You also heard it said that the money we get from whiskey goes to our schools; are we ready to sell our boys and girls for TAXES? This is an old trick. Why should people be interested in what we do if we need money for the BOY SCOUTS let those who are interested give it. Let's not, "do evil that good may come." Romans 3:8. John Dillinger had a way of raising more money than all of us together; but who will argue that "the means he used justified the end." Well, we are still looking for a word from the preachers in Pampa on this subject. TAX SUPPORTED PROPERTY IS NOT FOR DANCES!

Juvenile Protection Discussed by Worker in P-TA

With deaths numbering into the 40 thousands during the past year, as a result of motor vehicle accidents on streets and highways it is with profound appreciation an opportunity to delve into ways and means of helping to solve the problems that confront us in protecting our children and teaching them to protect themselves, Miss Dorothy Edgerton, who has worked in the Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association, stated in a paper on "Juvenile Protection."

In the magazine, "Club Women," for April 1938, many good thoughts and excellent suggestions are found which should be of much help in discussing the question of "Juvenile Protection." A great deal of the material found will be quoted as found in the magazine.

"The children and young people of today are the drivers of tomorrow. If they can be taught that saving life is more important than saving time, and that it is more creditable to be known as a safe driver than a fast driver," we have taken a step toward solving the safety problem within the next 10 years," she said.

It seems that a plan for the teaching of safety in high schools, and for study of the motor vehicle, in preparation for driver's licenses, should be sponsored in cooperation with school authorities. This would be of untold help toward the protection of our children, Miss Edgerton pointed out.

"The program for children could be advanced through an educational program in the kindergartens and elementary schools. Here will be found an opportunity for the use of movies, slides, posters, playlets, games, and other methods of implanting safety lessons in the minds of the children. School patrols are also suggested in order to instill the thought of responsibility for safety of others."

Junior Safety Volunteers
We should try to instill within every school child the desire to be a junior safety volunteer. Safety volunteers can help prevent accidents by knowing and following the rules taught them in school and by teaching the rules to young children. Most every school in Texas and in the United States is trying to carry out the idea of safety volunteers, she added.

"Safety volunteers can help traffic policemen by waiting for the proper signal before crossing a street. They can help traffic policemen by teaching small children that the traffic officers and policemen are their friends. At an intersection, where there are no traffic lights or policemen, safety volunteers should keep a sharp lookout for automobiles, particularly before leaving the curb."

Parents and teachers should teach children to love policemen. They are the children's friend in uniform and "a policeman-who-will-get-us-if-we-don't-behave."

Safety instruction, which aims to be successful, "should be taught by speaking to the child's language, teaching through the eye rather than the ear, and by the instructor's having a sound understanding of children." It was stated in the article on safety.

Teachers May Assist
The teacher is a mighty force in helping bring before the children safety methods. "In grades where arithmetic is taught, the story of faulty brakes may be told graphically to the automobile drivers of tomorrow. The number of feet in which a car can be stopped at a certain speed can be determined in a practical way in having the brakes of the family car tested regularly."

"Miniature scenery depicting a street corner is helpful. A real traffic light that the children can operate themselves teaches the meaning of the lights. Their toy automobiles may be brought to school and actual traffic problems worked out with the aid of crayon lines on the floor. One child may explain to another the proper way of crossing the street at the crosswalk."

It should be the aim of parents and teachers to prevent further loss of life and serious injuries to our children. We should teach the lessons of courtesy, carefulness, and consideration, and thus reduce the tragedy which is now coming into so many homes, Miss Edgerton concluded.

Modern Menus

By MRS. GATHOR MADDOX

When shad swims up the river, it's time for your annual "spring dinner." Begin with a pungent essence of green herbs—a clear hot soup made of greens from the garden—such as parsley, leeks, celery root, and whatever herbs you can lay your hands on. Cook these together in a little water, drain and serve as an appetizer to the treats to follow.

With the shad, serve new potatoes in parsley butter and the freshest and greenest spring asparagus in the market. Hollandaise sauce if you must, but drawn butter with a suspicion of lemon juice is the ideal accompaniment for this spring vegetable.

A huge sprightly bowl of spring salad comes next—and it comes with nothing more elaborate than a French dressing made of olive oil, vinegar or lemon juice and spices. In the bowl toss Chinese cabbage cut in strips, radishes, green pepper, watercress, sorrel, endive, crisp lettuce, chopped parsley, sliced cucumbers, chopped chives, a few chopped raw green peas, a few tender young carrots shredded into golden strips. Toss and toss and then toss again.

For dessert, nothing more sumptuous than the most sumptuous of berries—strawberries served with thick rich cream. A few fresh lady-fingers—and there is your greeting to spring in all its simple perfection.

Broiled Spring Shad
(Serves 4 to 6)
Use a 3-pound shad. Clean and wash. Split open along the back, remove large bone. Season with salt and pepper. Brush liberally with melted butter. Place on broiler rack, skin side down. Broil until half done, basting frequently with melted butter. When half done, remove to roasting pan. Baste again liberally with melted butter and cook in hot oven (400 degrees F.) until done. Serve on large hot platter garnished with water-cress and thin slices of lemon.

Planked Shad
(Serves 4 to 6)
Prepare the shad (3 pounds) as for broiling. Rub gently with salt and pepper. Brush liberally with melted butter. Use an oven plank made of oak which is wider and longer than the shad. Butter it, then lay the shad on it skin side down. Place the shad on the plank in a pre-heated hot oven (400 degrees F.). Bake for about 25 minutes, basting frequently with melted butter. Remove plank from oven. Garnish with puree of mashed potatoes forced through pastry tube. Brush mashed potato garnish lightly with butter, cover fish with oiled paper and run plank under flame just long enough to brown top of potatoes. Serve at once.

HISTORICAL MATERIAL SOUGHT BY TEXAS U.

AUSTIN, March 19.—The University of Texas library is depending on University ex-students to aid in the collection of historical material about Texas far more than upon any other individual or group, according to library authorities.

"Ex-students can do more than they suspect to help us preserve the history of Texas for the future," Miss Winnie Allen, archivist, said recently. "It seems, though, that only a very few persons know they can help."

It is not necessary, Miss Allen explained, to have an original document signed by Coronado or any material of such an early period or of such importance to be of help to the library.

"Unknowingly, probably, many persons have in trunks, or in attics, or in family Bibles material which could be of great value to us," she said. "Family papers, letters, minutes of organizations, early newspapers—all have significance to those who know what to look for in them."

The first European university was founded in the ninth century at Salerno for the study of medicine.

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART.

No woman can derive any real benefit from a beauty preparation which she applies infrequently or indifferently. It's a waste of money to buy several items, then ignore the directions on the jars or bottles or use each only now and then. Furthermore, it's important that she knows what each is supposed to do, what it can and cannot be substituted for.

For instance, a dry-skinned reader, confessed rather recently that she has been using her lightening cream as a night cream as well as a cleanser. Her complexion had been getting drier instead of smoother and softer during the winter months, and she wondered what to do about it. Now she's using a regular night cream that contains lanolin which is easily absorbed by the skin, and reports that, within so short a time, she can see a difference. Her lightening cleanser has a mineral oil instead of lanolin base. And white mineral oil creams are perfect cleansers, they shouldn't be substituted for night creams with lanolin bases. The skin doesn't absorb mineral oil in a satisfactory manner.

On the subject of rouge, there's sound reasoning behind the advice cosmetic experts give the dry-skinned individual. They say that cream rouge is more flattering to dry complexions—also that it will stay on longer than powder or cake varieties. They are right. And, the reverse being true, those with oily skin probably will find dry cake rouges more to their liking.

If the directions on your new jar of mask tell you to leave the mask on for only 20 minutes, then take a look at a clock while you are putting it on, and begin to remove it in just 20 minutes.

If you hate having cream on your face while you sleep, don't buy a night cream which is supposed to be left on the skin all night. Spend some time and thought finding what will suit your own purposes, then use it exactly according to the rules on the label.

THE recent death of one of Merseburg's ravens served to call attention to the strange custom mentioned above. Nevertheless, supposedly, still the castle be without one of these birds of ill omen. The ring which was stolen was a valuable one belonging to the Bishop Thilo of Trotha.

CAVALRY MANEUVERS TO BE HELD AT BALMORHEA

FORT SAM HOUSTON, March 19 - The historic southwest that saw the march of the Spanish Conquistadores, the defense of the Alamo, the expedition of Gen. Phil Kearney, the subjugation of Geronimo, and latterly, the Pershing expedition, is again witnessing the march of armed-men as the First Cavalry division assembles in this area for maneuvers. It will be a far cry from the lances, cross-bows, arquebuses and pedereros of Cabeza de Vaca when over an almost identical route the modern cavalryman of today will march with the best and most modern implements of war that science and industry can produce. This march will begin when the First Cavalry division, augmented by supplementaries, troops to a strength of approximately 6,000, will leave home stations along the Texas border, beginning March 16, for extended maneuvers and tests at Balmorhea, Reeves county, during the period, April 20 to May 18. Mrs. Kassy should recover, according to the Federal Circuit Court in the case of New York Life Insurance Company vs. Kassy, 87 Federal Second 236 (1937). The court stated, "It seems clear that the act which resulted in the accident may be deliberately undertaken by the insured and yet in some instances be caused by 'accidental means'."

TWO FASCIST HEADS OUT TO RULE EUROPE

NEW YORK, March 19.—Centurions Hitler and Mussolini have proceeded far enough in their brotherhood of conquest to make clear the appalling fact that they are out to dominate the old world between them, each having his assigned sphere of influence.

Statesmen of other countries have sensed for a considerable time that the dice were being rolled for such a division of power and spoils. But the idea seemed so utterly fantastic that many of them refused to believe such a thing could happen.

Some there were who realized that clicking of the ivory meant, Anthony Eden, Britain's late foreign minister and Sir Calahad of international politics, was one of these.

He resigned because Prime Minister Chamberlain preferred to bargain with the dictators rather than crack down on them. Now Chamberlain knows the story of the dice.

Hitler's lightning annexation of Austria, and Mussolini's acquiescence, have lifted the smoke-screen and made a lot of things much clearer.

It is quite apparent that Napoleon has been reincarnated in twins. And there isn't even a single Wellington in sight.

So far as the Nazi chieftain is concerned, through his own deeds and fiery speeches, supplemented by the ventriloquistic words he has placed in the mouths of his noisy

Charlie McCarthys, he finally has compelled the chancelleries of Europe to make two and two equal four. His position now is too plain for comfort, and it is this:

He contemplates creation of a vast and powerful Germanic confederation which will dominate Europe.

This involves annexation of Austria already achieved, Czechoslovakia, presumably Danzig and the Polish corridor (perhaps through a deal with Poland), Memel and quite likely other territory with German populations on the borders of the Fatherland.

Hitler also wants Russia's rich Ukraine. Other countries which he doesn't actually annex, he hopes to control through iron-clad economic pacts.

In other words, professional diplomats who have made it their business to study Hitler at close range declare he envisages himself as lord of all he surveys in a vast corridor of nations running from the Ukraine westward across Europe, and dipping down a bit into the Balkans. England and France move into second position as powers in this scheme of operations.

Mussolini's place in the sun is the great Mediterranean zone which is now dominated by Britain.

With II Duce's field of operations would be Spain, northern Africa, Egypt, Asia Minor, and at least part of the lower Balkan states—Jugoslavia, Bulgaria, Greece and Albania. All this area he is credited with intending to control in one way or another.

Such a set-up would give Italy protection for her African possessions, including the newly conquered Ethiopia; it would pave the way for possible annexation of other territory; it would make Mussolini joint-dictator of the entire old world.

The highest railway line in Europe runs up the Jungfrau mountain in Switzerland to an altitude of 11,000 feet.

VOSS ANNOUNCES NEW PROCESS OF CLEANING

A new process of clothes cleaning, that renders clothes moth-proof while they are being cleaned, has recently been instituted by the Voss Cleaners. This method, known as the Monite moth-proof cleaning process, is harmless, odorless, and non-poisonous, according to Ernie Voss, manager, who explained that the process involves the use of a special chemical solution in the regular cleaning fluid, and that fabrics so treated are made moth-resistant in every fiber.

The Voss Cleaners is Pampa's exclusive licensee for the Monite process, that privilege having been extended them by the Monite Co. of St. Louis, Mo.

FORCE VICTOR IN LITHUANIA AND AUSTRIA

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 19.—One country was swallowed and war in another averted in a week of kaleidoscopic events which brought Europe nearer to armed conflict than any time since 1918.

Little Lithuania capitulated today to the overwhelming force of neighboring Poland and kept peace in the Baltic.

But she did not surrender her independence as did Austria a week ago in the face of Reichswehr Adolf Hitler's ultimatum backed by the force of the German army.

Poland's resort to strong-arm tactics, closely emulating Hitler's angrier such countries as Great Britain, France and Soviet Russia, associated with her in the League of Nations.

But they counselled Lithuanian submission to keep a relatively minor border incident from becoming another Sarajevo and embroiling all Europe.

That border incident on March 11 in which a Polish guard was killed precipitated Polish demands for solution of differences extending back to 1920.

London, Paris Angered.

The demands, while on the surface apparently reasonable, aroused deep resentment in London and Paris because they were backed by a threat to trample on Lithuania's war-born independence.

They were especially humiliating to Lithuanians since they called for restoration of diplomatic relations and business connections—non-existent for 18 years—on a basis tantamount to abandonment of Lithuania's claim to her ancient capital, Wilno.

Polish forces seized Wilno, traditional shrine of Lithuanian history, October 9, 1920.

Today's victory over a state having close relations with Russia improved Poland's chances for domination in the Baltic area, possibly in conjunction with Germany with whom she now appears more friendly.

Settlement of the Polish-Lithuanian dispute left the fates of Czechoslovakia and Spain as burning issues in war-frightened Europe.

They were issues which brought renewed attacks on the government of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain just as it was recovering from the political repercussions to Anthony Eden's protest resignation from the post of foreign secretary.

Eden quit Feb. 20 over Chamberlain's determination to seek agreements with Germany and Italy.

Chamberlain "On Spot."

Powerful groups, including some of the prime minister's own conservative party members, demanded he declare flatly Britain would support France if she should go to the aid of Czechoslovakia to repel an invasion by Hitler.

Horrible bombing of Barcelona during the week—in which the death toll variously was estimated at between 600 and 1,300—resulted in further pressure on Britain to abandon non-intervention and allow the Spanish government to have arms.

The 69-year-old Chamberlain, still facing a latent revolt in the house of commons, refused to be "rushed" into decisions. He adhered to a "hands-off" policy in Spain but promised aid to France in event Mediterranean communications were threatened.

There were indications, however, that he would clarify further the positions on Czechoslovakia and Spain Thursday in parliament after cabinet consultation Wednesday.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT JOBLESS COMPENSATION LEVY

QUESTION: I am now receiving unemployment benefits, but have been offered temporary employment. If I take it, it will probably only last a week or two, while my benefits will last ten more weeks. Should I turn it down and wait for a permanent job?

ANSWER: No. Take the job and keep yourself eligible for unemployment benefits that much longer. In other words, if you stop receiving benefits, it is like leaving your money in the bank. The benefits will be there when your job closes and you will be assured of an income longer. Also the Employment Service will be trying to find you another job.

QUESTION: I got my check for benefits several days later than I was supposed to have it. When it got to me, it was almost time for me to have another check. What caused this delay?

ANSWER: Unemployment compensation benefits are not paid in advance. After the waiting period is ended, a claimant must show he is still unemployed by filing a continuing claim with the Texas State Employment Service. The Employment Service sends the claim to the Unemployment Compensation Commission in Austin where the man's name and the amount of his benefit check is placed on a payroll list and sent to the Comptroller's Department. There the checks are prepared and then returned to the Unemployment Compensation Commission to be mailed. All of these operations require on the average about seven days from the time the continuing claim is filed until the check reaches the claimant.

Yellow is the ideal color for a "blackboard" and blue is the best chalk to use on it, British experimenters report.

TEXAS WILDLIFE HEAD EMPHASIZES PROGRAM

COLLEGE STATION, March 19.—A plea for Texas people to cooperate wholeheartedly in National Wildlife Week programs March 20-26, inclusive, has been issued by Dean E. J. Kyle, of the school of agriculture at Texas A. & M. college, a prominent wild life preservation worker. President T. O. Walton, of the college, is state Wildlife Week chairman.

"I desire to call the attention of the people of Texas, Dean Kyle said, "to the programs that have been arranged in a number of the counties on the development and conservation of our wild life resources in Texas."

"Texas probably was blessed with a more abundant and a more diversified wild life than any other state. During the past 50 years, however, this wild life, especially our wild game, has been destroyed in a thoughtless and ruthless manner.
