RAILROAD SITUATION IS CRITICAL

Small Bank in Fisher County Robbed by 3 Bandits

LOSS ESTIMATE IN M'CAULEY IS ABOUT $1,800

Assistant Cashier and One Customer Were in Building

ONE ROBBER IS LIKELY WOUNDED

A Charge of Buckshot Fired at the Fleeing Men Hits Mark

MCCAULEY, Fisher county, Mar. 1.—(P)—Three men escaped in a blue coupe today after two of them had robbed the First State bank here of $1,800 in cash, and after a bank employe had fired a shot at them at close range. One of the three robbers was believed to have been struck by buckshot which shattered the glass in the rear of the machine.

Oecil Eivens, 21, assistant cashier and Tom Carter, a customer, were alone in the bank when two unmasked men entered.

"Anybody in the back of the bank?" one of the robbers asked, and when Eivens replied there was not, the man drew a pistol and ordered Eivens and Carter to remain quiet.

Then he and his companion gathered up the money in cash drawers and on the counters and ordered Eivens to go into the vault and open the safe. As he shut the door on Eivens, after the assistant cashier had opened the safe the spokesman of the pair tossed a screw driver to Eivens and said:

"You can use this to get out with." Then he slammed the door, and he and his companion dashed out the front where a third man was waiting in the coupe, which bore the trademark of an oil company.

As the machine turned a corner, Eivens, who had discovered the door of the vault was not locked, ran out with a shotgun loaded with buckshot and fired at the speeding automobile. It slowed, ran an erratic course for a few yards, and then sped up, indicating, officers said, that the driver had been injured and another of the trio had taken the wheel. The shot shattered the glass in the rear of the machine, and several holes were made in the metal, Eivens said.

Several men in a nearby hardware store fired several shots at the automobile, but it was not known whether any of their shots took effect.

The automobile disappeared on the road toward Anson, to the east.

Cox Resigns Position as Carson Engineer

(Special to The News)
PANHANDLE, Mar. 1.—County Engineer Harry Cox this week tendered his resignation and will soon become executive secretary of the Texas Highway and Municipal Contractors Association. His resignation will become effective as soon as a new county engineer can be secured to take his place.

Mr. Cox came here a year ago from the state highway department, where he was employed as division engineer.

GIVEN FINE DOG

H. Otto Studer, local attorney, was presented a thoroughbred Belgium police puppy, five weeks old, by his friend, H. K. Stanfield, Amarillo attorney, recently.

The mother of the pup was bred and raised in Belgium, and was brought to this country by C. O. Keiser of Canyon, two years ago. The sire, one of the Van Norden kennel pedigree dogs, was presented to Mr. Stanfield by Mr. Studer some time ago.

The registration papers had to be sent to Belgium to be filled out. Mr. Studer received his papers this week. He has named the pup Loup (wolf).

THE WEATHER

EAST TEXAS: Tonight and Friday partly cloudy, occasional rains near the coast; colder in south portion tonight.
WEST TEXAS: Tonight and Friday partly cloudy; colder in south portion tonight; warmer in the Panhandle Friday.
OKLAHOMA: Tonight fair, freezing temperature; Friday fair, rising temperature in west and north.

No Gas, But Motor Runs

A tiny motor that seems to run on nothing is the model on which Lester J. Hendershot of Elizabeth, Pa., its inventor, hopes to build bigger fuelless motors for airplanes. Colonel Lindbergh and other aviation notables have seen it and been puzzled by it. Hendershot is shown demonstrating to his son the miniature plane containing the first model of the mystery motor.

LIONS CLUB TO LEND ALL ITS EFFORTS TOWARD COUNTY SEAT

The next county seat removal meeting will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Church of God on South Cuyler. Everyone is urged to attend.

Taking its position squarely and energetically behind Pampa's railroad and county seat efforts, the Lions club today voted to omit its meeting next week and to devote its efforts to these projects.

Ivy Duncan, county seat removal chairman, announced that a booster trip will be made over the county next Thursday, when a band likely will be obtained for the trip. On the same day Boss Lion Otto Studer and a small group of Lions will attend the Lions district meeting at Borger.

A ladies' night banquet will be held during March to make up for the omission of next Thursday's luncheon. Speakers today were the two district attorneys of this section, Clifford Braly of Dalhart, of the 31st district, and Curtis Douglass of the 8th district. Both men highly commended the forward spirit of Pampa and expressed confidence in its future.

Other visitors included Roy McMillen and Mrs. Bob Chafin of Pampa and Mr. Williamson of Dallas. Mrs. Chafin delighted the club with vocal solos.

Ivy Duncan reported growing sentiment in favor of county seat removal, but urged the fullest co-operation in the campaign. He quoted Judge Ewing of Miami as saying, "Without any personal interest whatever, I say the courthouse should be moved to a railroad."

Lot Owners in Dees Addition Win Suit on Panhandle Test

(Special to The News)
PANHANDLE, Mar. 1.—A decision against the Amarillo-Panhandle Development corporation was won by lot owners in the John Dees addition to Panhandle in the 31st district court here Tuesday.

Under the decision, deeds and contracts for lots in the addition are cancelled and the Panhandle bank is ordered to return to purchasers $9,478 now on escrow, and made payable to the development company on completion of a 3500-foot oil test on the land. Evidence introduced tended to show that less than 1,000 feet of hole had been completed.

GIRLS' PICTURE CLUE TO THE SUICIDE OF MAN

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 1.—(P)—Joe Triples, whose address is unknown, was found on the bed of his hotel room today a bullet through his heart and the bed clothes affixed. A picture of a young woman was clutched in his hand.

ARMANDO DIAZ OF GREAT WAR FAME IS DEAD

Italian Leader One of Four Greatest Officers

FOLLOWS HAIG TO THE GRAVE

Dynamic Energy Was Big Factor in His Success

ROME, Mar. 1.—(P)—When Field Marshal Earl Haig of Great Britain died recently, Marshal Armando Diaz, who commanded the armies of Italy in the World war, exclaimed:

"Well, he is the first of us to go; who will be next?"

Today of the four allied commanders, only Marshal Foch of France and General Pershing of the United States are alive. Marshal Diaz died yesterday at the age of 67.

Tenacious and daring, this Italian soldier drove the invader back after the debacle on the Isonzo front on October, 1917. A year later he struck the blow that broke the Australian front driving a great wedge into the Australian line and soon Australia was suing for peace.

Obvious of Danger
Soldiers related of him that when he commanded the Twenty-Third Army corps he sometimes appeared among the trenches. On one occasion, at San Michele, in the forest of Selo, Diaz rode about utterly oblivious of the terrific shellfire by the Austrians. Seige batteries, it was said, "were vomiting columns of incandescent materials making the stone heaps red hot." And yet Diaz, in the midst of this storm of death, looked as though he might have been on dress parade. If he saw a regiment wavering, he would shout "Ragazzi!" (boys) and steady and encourage them.

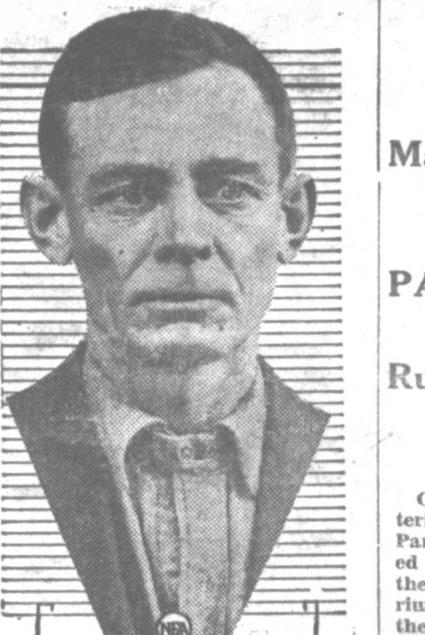

Rino Alessi, a correspondent who was with General Diaz in those fateful days, thus described him:

"A man in the prime of life, of medium height, with hair just growing gray at the temples. He walks with head slightly bent forward, the sign of a meditative mind. His manner is that of a man, sure of his own will. A psychologist would find in him capabilities of surmounting the most difficult crises by force of a compelling personality."

Had "Volcanic Energy"
Diaz's energy has been described as "volcanic." It was said that he combined with great personal pride an abhorrence of lame excuses and was intolerant of petty personal squabbles; thus making him not only loved but also feared by his men. An inflexible disciplinarian in actual soldiering, he clamped the same rules upon himself that he applied to others. Punctilious in dress, his face bronzed by campaigning, Diaz looked "every inch a soldier."

"To the Italian people he was known: 'Il Duce di Vittoria.'"
The body of the warrior lay in state today, fully uniformed. A number of field officers, who were wounded in the World war mounted a guard of honor around the casket. King Victor Emmanuel (See DIAZ, Page 8)

Won Argument

Near Dallas, Texas, George Elliott, above, and George Lay, his best friend, went fishing. While fishing, they talked of the 102-pound catfish caught on a similar trip 21 years ago. Elliott said he landed it; Lay claimed the glory for himself. Both drew guns, both fired. Lay was killed; Elliott went to jail.

HAYS ADMITS GIFT TO PARTY

Robert Stewart Again Heads Standard Oil Board

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—(P)—Disclosure that Harry F. Sinclair made a net contribution of $100,000 to the Republican National committee after the 1920 campaign was made today by Will H. Hays, who appeared at his own request as a witness in the Senate Teapot Dome investigation.

Hays, who is a former chairman of the national committee, testified that in addition to the $75,000 which Sinclair had previously been credited with giving the committee, he had turned over $185,000 in bonds.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(P)—Chairman Nye and Senator Walsh of Montana, prosecutor of the Teapot Dome committee, took sharp issue today with the attitude of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in failing to cast the Rockefeller vote against Robert W. Stewart, who was re-elected chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

CHILDREN LOST

AMARILLO, Mar. 1.—(P)—Their father today had abandoned a theory that Billie and Emmie Fowler, 11 and 14 years of age, respectively, girls, had been kidnapped, following a report that they had been seen west of here. He is, however, continuing his search for them.

BRIGADE TO MEET

Dr. E. Tiedmann Hicks, oral hygienist asks the News to express her thanks to Roy Shor of the Rex theatre and H. A. Gilliland of the Crescent theatre for their hearty co-operation in the hygiene work for the "Little Brownie Tooth Brush Brigade."

The brigade will have a meeting Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock. "Clara Cleans Her Teeth," will be presented at the Rex theatre. The manager has kindly consented to give a comedy in addition, Mrs. Hicks announces. There also will be health songs and poems.

Dave Godwin, better known as "Dad," who has been seriously ill for the past month, is able to be out again.

Henry Thut was a business visitor in Amarillo yesterday.

Jack Gatlin of Miami was here on business yesterday.

David M. Warren of Panhandle was a business visitor here yesterday and today returned, accompanied by Mrs. Warren and J. C. Phillips.

Mrs. Ferguson spent the week-end with relatives at Perryton.

Mrs. D. C. Shepard left today for a visit with friends in Wichita Falls, Waxahachie and Hale Center.

OTHER CITIES ASKING KELL FOR NEW LINE

Mass Meeting Tonight Called to Settle Matter

PAMPA GIVEN GOOD PROMISE

Rumors Can Be Spiked Easily If Citizens Respond

On the evening of what is characterized as the most crucial day in Pampa history, local citizens are called to gather tonight at 8 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium to discuss ways of clinching the Kell railroad.

Added to already alarming facts concerning the project, there came today the information that the railroad is being sought by nearly every nearby town, and that open competition has developed rapidly.

Mr. Kell promised on his honor that he will build the road if Pampa will meet his reasonable requirements, but he must sign a definite contract by next Tuesday in order that work may not be delayed.

Failure of Pampa to raise the $50,000 necessary to provide the right-of-way, terminal, and $5,000 in cash will not only lose the railroad, but will precipitate a lively race between other nearby cities—who are promised aid from the oil interests—in the terminal for a new route.

Pampa has an opportunity to spike these attempts to block her future by going over the top in the financial drive. Every citizen is challenged to meet this supreme test by attending the mass meeting at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

Rotarians and Rotary Anns Enjoy Dinner Meeting

More than 100 Rotary Anns and Rotarians gathered at the Schneider hotel last night and following a delightful dinner served by Alex Schneider Jr., were entertained by local artist.

A playlet, "John Hendricks Finds Himself," was much appreciated by the large audience. It was the story of a hard-boiled business man who found himself only after his best friend had shown him the way.

Those taking part were Mrs. J. M. Dodson, Mrs. C. T. Hunkapiller, Della Vickers, C. P. Buckler, and Burton Doucette.

The Rev. James Todd, Jr. gave an interesting address on "What Does Rotary Mean to Me." His views were clear and his talk beneficial and interesting.

Special musical numbers were rendered by the high school orchestra. Prof. Otto Schick.

6 YEARS FOR BURGLARY

Jack Doyle, charged with entering the Fatheree Drug Store No. 2 in DeLuxe Cleaners during the night February 14, was sentenced to serve three years on each charge in district court this morning.

The case against E. F. Cary, his partner in the robbery, was dismissed when he turned State's evidence.

A jury in a liquor case involving a alleged possession, after being out from 8:30 o'clock last night until noon today, could not reach a decision and was dismissed.

This afternoon a civil case is being tried.

BRABHAM CHILD BETTER

A telegram from the Rev. Tom W. Brabham today said that the condition of his little daughter, Edith Ann, is much improved, and that she is believed out of danger. The child became ill soon after she, with Mr. Brabham, went to Alvin, Texas, on other points on a visit.

INCOME TAX MAN COMING

A deputy income tax collector is to arrive tomorrow to assist local people in making out their returns. He will be located at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium.

The collector will remain through Saturday. His services are free to the public.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

 JOHN F.-X. MARKHAM, District Attorney of New York County.
 MARGARET ODEL (The "CANARY")
 CHARLES CLEAVER, a man about town
 KENNETH SPOTSWOOD, a manufacturer
 LOUIS MANNIX, an importer
 DR. AMBROSE LINDQUIST, a fashionable neurologist
 TONY SKEEL, a professional burglar
 WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator
 HARRY SPIVELY, telephone operator
 ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Homicide Bureau.

THE STORY THUS FAR
 Skeel's finger prints were found in the apartment of the murdered Margaret Odell, but Vance believed him guilty. It is Mannix, Cleaver and Odell who had been lying about the night of the murder. The story comes out in the next issue of the paper. The paper comes out in the next issue of the paper. The paper comes out in the next issue of the paper.

CHAPTER XXXIX
 When Swacker appeared, he asked that the club's steward be got immediately on the telephone. After a short delay, the connection was made. At the end of five minutes' conversation Markham hung up the receiver and gave Heath a baffled look. "The club takes two Heralds. Both of yesterday's copies are there, on the rack."
 "Didn't Cleaver once tell us he read nothing but The Herald—that and some racing-sheet at night?" Vance put the question offhandedly.
 "I believe he did," Markham considered the suggestion. "Still, both the club Heralds are accounted for." He turned to Heath. "When you were checking up on Mannix, did you find out what clubs he belonged to?"
 "Sure." The sergeant took out his note-book and rifled the pages for a minute or two. "He's a member of the Furrriers and the Cosmopolis."
 Markham pushed the telephone toward him.
 "See what you can find out." Heath was fifteen minutes at the task.
 "A blank," he announced finally. "The Furrriers don't use holders, and the Cosmopolis don't keep any back numbers."
 "What about Mr. Skeel's clubs, Sergeant?" asked Vance, smiling.
 "Oh, I know the finding of that jewelry gums up my theory about Skeel," said Heath, with surly ill-nature. "But what's the good of rubbing it in? Still, if you think I'm going to give the bird a clean bill of health just because the Odell swag was found in a trash-can, you're mighty mistaken. Don't forget we're watching the Dude pretty close. He may have got leery, and tipped off some pal he'd cached the jewels with."
 "I rather fancy the experienced Skeel would have turned his booty over to a professional receiver. But even had he passed it on to a friend, would this friend have been likely to throw it away because Skeel was worried?"
 "Maybe not. But there's some explanation for those jewels being found, and when we get hold of it, it won't eliminate Skeel."
 "No," the explanation won't eliminate Skeel," said Vance; "but—my word—how it'll change his standing."
 Heath contemplated him with shrewdly appraising eyes. Something in Vance's tone had apparently piqued his curiosity and set him to wondering. Vance had too often been right in his diagnoses of persons and things for the sergeant to ignore his opinions wholly.

 But before he could answer, Swacker stepped alertly into the room, his eyes animated.
 "Tony Skeel's on the wire. Chief, and wants to speak to you."
 Markham, despite his habitual reserve, gave a start.
 "Here, Sergeant," he said quickly. "Take that extension phone on the table and listen in."
 He nodded curtly to Swacker, who disappeared to make the connection. Then he took up the receiver of his own telephone and spoke to Skeel.
 "For a minute or so he was on the wire after a brief argument with some suggestion. He ended abruptly. The conversation ended. Skeel said: 'I don't see why you don't have him brought here today.'"
 "As you heard, Sergeant, Skeel insisted on tomorrow, and threatened to say nothing if I forced the issue. It's just as well not to antagonize him. We might spoil a good chance of getting some light on this case if I ordered him brought here and used pressure. And tomorrow suits me. It'll be quiet around here then. Moreover, your man's watching Skeel, and he won't get away."
 "I guess you're right, sir. The Dude's touchy, and he can give a swell imitation of an oyster when he feels like it." The sergeant spoke with feeling.
 "I'll have Swacker here tomorrow to take down his statement," Markham went on; "and you'd better put one of your men on the elevator—the regular operator is off Sundays. Also plant a man in the hall outside, and put another one in Swacker's office."
 Vance stretched himself luxuriously and rose.
 "Most considerate of the gentleman to call up at this time, don't you know I had a longing to see the Monets at Durant-Rue's this afternoon, and I was afraid I wasn't going to be able to drag myself away from this fascinating case. Now that the epiphany has been definitely scheduled for tomorrow, I'll indulge my taste for impressionism. A demain, Markham. By-by, Sergeant."
 (Sunday, September 16; 10 a. m.)
 A fine drizzle was falling the next morning when we rose; and a chill—the first forerunner of winter—was in the air. We had breakfast in the library at half past eight, and at nine o'clock Vance's car—which had been ordered the night before—called for us.

 We rode down Fifth Avenue, now almost deserted in its thick blanket of yellow fog, and called for Markham at his apartment in West 12th Street. He was waiting for us in front of the house, and stepped quickly into the car with scarcely a word of greeting. From his anxious, preoccupied look I knew that he was depending a good deal on what Skeel had to tell him.
 We had turned into West Broadway way beneath elevated tracks before any one spoke. When Markham voiced a remark which was plainly a troubled rumination, I asked him if, after all, this feeling gave any important indication to us. His phone call was. Yet he spoke confidently regarding his knowledge, just a plain, assured statement that he knew who murdered the girl, and had decided to come clean.
 "It's certain he himself didn't strangle the lady," pronounced Vance. "My theory, as you know, is that he was hiding in the clothes-press when the shady business was being enacted; and all along I've clung lovingly to the idea that he was a secret to the entire proceedings."
 "The keyhole of that closet door is on a direct line with the end of the davenport where the lady was strangled; and if a rival was operating at the time of his concealment, it's not unreasonable to assume that he peered forth—eh, what? I questioned him on this point, you remember; and he didn't like it a bit."
 "But, in that case—"
 "Oh, I know. There are all kinds of erudite objections to any wild dream—Why didn't he give the alarm? Why didn't he tell us about it before? Why this? and why that? I make no claim to omniscience, you know; I don't even pretend to have a logical explanation. My theory is only sketched in, as it were. But I'm convinced, nevertheless, that the modish Tony knows who killed his bona roba and looted her apartment."
 "But of the three persons who possibly could have got into the Odell apartment that night—namely Mannix, Cleaver, and Lindquist—Skeel evidently knows only one—Mannix."
 "Yes—to be sure. And Mannix, it would seem, is the only one of the trio who knows Skeel. An interesting point."
 Heath met us at the Franklin St. entrance to the criminal courts building. He, too, was anxious and subdued, and shook hands with us in a dejected manner devoid of his usual heartiness.
 "I've got Smitkin running the elevator," he said, after the briefest of salutations. "Burke's in the hall upstairs, and Emery is with him, waiting to be let into Swacker's office."
 We entered the deserted and almost silent building and rode up to the fourth floor. Markham unlocked his office door and we passed in.

 with his hand on the telephone, gazing at the instrument with dazed incredulity. "I don't see why you don't have him brought here today."

 (Sunday, September 16; 10 a. m.)
 A fine drizzle was falling the next morning when we rose; and a chill—the first forerunner of winter—was in the air. We had breakfast in the library at half past eight, and at nine o'clock Vance's car—which had been

Skeel," Heath explained, when we were seated, "is to report by phone to the homicide bureau as soon as the Dude leaves his rooms."
 It was now twenty minutes to ten. Five minutes later Swacker arrived. Taking his stenographic notebook, he stationed himself just inside of the swinging door of Markham's private sanctum, where he could hear all that was said without being seen. Markham lit a cigar and Heath followed suit.
 Vance was already smoking placidly. He was the calmest person in the room, and lay back languorously in one of the great leather chairs as though immune to all cares and vicissitudes. But I could tell by the over-deliberate way he flicked his ashes into the receiver that he, too, was uneasy.
 Five or six minutes passed in complete silence. Then the sergeant gave a grunt of annoyance.
 "No, sir," he said, as if completing some unspoken thought. "I can't get a slant on this business. The finding of that jewelry, now, all nicely wrapped up... and then the Dude offering to squeal... There's no sense to it."
 "It's tryin', I know, Sergeant; but it's not altogether senseless," Vance was gazing lazily at the ceiling. "The chap who confiscated those baubles didn't have any use for them. He didn't want them, in fact—they worried him abominably."
 The point was too complex for Heath. The previous day's developments had shaken the foundation of all his arguments; and he lapsed again into brooding silence.
 At ten o'clock he rose impatiently and, going to the hall door, looked out. Returning, he compared his watch with the office clock and began pacing restlessly. Markham was attempting to sort some papers on his desk, but presently he pushed them aside with an impatient gesture.
 "He ought to be coming along now," he remarked, with an effort at cheerfulness.
 "He'll come, growled Heath, "or he'll get a free ride." And he continued his pacing.

the surrounding country that brings these conditions about? Upon careful study, I find that it is neither yet both. Each is dependent upon the other, indispensable to each other. Their interests are in common; their problems are the same and one cannot go forward without improving the other.

If Pampa is to make a city she will do so if supported by the cooperation of the citizen-ship that dwells in the trade territory that surrounds her. If such citizenship around her intends to reap the fruits that arise from a town that is showing possibilities, it must be so by lending moral and physical support to the many things that are required in the making of a town into a city. This brings on the discussion then, that if Pampa has the possibility of making a city, it is a duty of mine, and to my personal interest as a resident of the city or community about it, to get in and help? This can be determined by the benefits that will be derived by so doing. To the citizenship that resides in the town itself, there can be no question as to their gain, whether they be laborers, property owners, or business men or women, and I pass it. But to myself, a farmer, this brings the discussion as to what particular way, or ways, would it benefit me, individually, to cooperate in such a movement. In deciding this, I must look to what I possess, what I have to buy or sell, and the most economical way that I can market my products and buy to my advantage, to leave me a balance at the end of the year. My observation of the first proposition is that the quality of the land itself does not make the value of land, but its location relative to the marketing of products raised thereon and the density of population of a particular community. The sandy, rocky hills of North Missouri, within 75 miles of Kansas City, producing no more than the sandy, rocky hills of Gray county, are worth $300 to $500 an acre. The good, black land around Pampa is worth from $50 to $75 per acre. Then, if my land is to be increased in value, it will not be because it will be made to produce more, but because there has grown up not far distant from it a town or city of sufficient size to cause a density of wealth and population. This will add those other things necessary to enable one to own it at a much higher figure than the value of it now.

The second proposition, of what I buy, does not differ from that of the necessities of any other farmer, or from the things that I have purchased in the years past. Yet I find myself in possession of a saving in the New Pampa that I did not experience in the old. I find that I am buying my groceries 10 per cent cheaper now than I used to and look forward to even better prices as other wholesale grocery houses locate there. I am getting a better quality of dry goods for the same money, with a greater variety to select from, than formerly. The greatest thing that interests me most and makes me a supporter of the movement to make Pampa a city is what I have to sell, for that one item determines how much I will have to spend. My revenue or money crop, except for the poultry, eggs, and cream I sell, consists of wheat. I realize that the profits of my wheat crop are not made by the law of supply and demand, but by the distance I am from a market, with the rate therefrom. Such a rate is not determined from the place where the commodity is raised, but from city to city. If Pampa can make a city sufficient in size to support the patronage of one or more trunk line railroads, other than the one she now possesses—becoming a wholesale center—it will get recognition with other freight centers in terms of lower rates. These will be reflected in higher market prices and more profits to me. Cash wheat in Kansas City is from 10 to 25 cents a bushel higher than here. Most of this wheat goes to Galveston, as does Kansas wheat. It is further from Kansas City to Galveston than from Pampa to Galveston, but the freight rate is less from the Missouri city, consequently the Kansas farmer gets more for his wheat than I do. For the above, and many other reasons, I am in favor of having a city with some influence in this part of the Panhandle, and Pampa is destined to be that city, if we all cooperate. I feel it is my duty, as well as my neighbors', to help myself by helping Pampa.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—It may be true, as Secretary of Labor Davis believes, that current estimates of unemployment are exaggerated. But his comment on estimates that 4,000,000 persons are out of work has emphasized the absence of any agency which kept accurate track of the facts. Such facts and figures as are available furnish little nourishment for those who agree with President Coolidge's assertion in his message to Congress last December that "employment is plentiful."

In round numbers, the 1920 census showed 40,000,000 Americans engaged in gainful occupations. There were 10,000,000 employers and self-employed, including 8,000,000 farmers; 26,000,000 wage earners and 4,000,000 salaried workers. The employe class included 2,700,000 farm workers, 1,000,000 miners, 12,000,000 manufacturing workers, 2,500,000 building trades workers, 3,000,000 clerical workers and 3,000,000 transportation workers.

ly failed through lack of enrollment in a New Jersey school. We didn't know people were trying to be that "different."

At last: Ambassador Claudel says he learns more of his country's politics and economics from American newspapers than from French ones. But then, he isn't a lecturer.

What US Democrats need to stress is development of a national consciousness of Republican rottenness.

Just when Congressmen are urging non-immigration laws, our movies are convincing the young folk of other lands that this is the only country where there are brave men and abundant opportunities.

You can't blame people for hoping, and up in Lipscomb county the Higgins News is wishing for "the biggest gusher in the Panhandle" in the Jones well, which has a slight rainbow showing.

BOOST YOUR ANNUAL.

Do you want to boost your high school annual? If so, buy one. Get behind your class and see that it goes over one-hundred percent by Friday afternoon at which time the popularity contest will close. If you want your favorite contestant to win, be sure you do your part by getting others to do theirs. If you do not do your part in helping Central high to publish a worthy yearbook for 1928, you are going to be called a slacker instead of a booster. So come on students get behind your school and boost its activities. Buy your annual and see that your friends buy theirs.

HARVEY ANDERSON.

EVERYBODY VOTE.

The courthouse must be moved from LeFors. The location of the county seat of this county has become a standing joke. It is absurd that a town without a railroad or prospects of one or hotel accommodations for visiting business men, witnesses, jurors, etc., should long keep the courthouse from Pampa, the rising industrial metropolis of the Panhandle. Since LeFors has only one small hotel, visitors on business at the court house must often go home each night and return next morning over almost impassable roads. LeFors' lonesome hotel has no modern conveniences, and neither does the rest of the town.

Upon whom should the mantle of LeFors fall? Pampa, of course! and why not? We have all sorts of modern conveniences, to say nothing of our paved streets, efficient fire department, and hotel facilities. Think of the many miles of pavement to be laid on roads leading from our metropolis in our paving for the Spring. If Pampa gets the courthouse there will be no long pilgrimage through sand and mud to the halls of justice. Taking all this and the fact that Pampa is the largest city in Gray county into consideration, everybody should realize that Pampa is the logical location for the county seat, although not centrally located.

Then, too, think of the benefits Pampa would derive from being the county seat. Besides keeping "Bill Dollar" at home, it would bring many visitors and their "Bill Dollars" to our city. The courthouse would make practical a public library, which could be combined with the much-needed city auditorium and school library. Think, also, of the valuable publicity Pampa would receive. "Let us, then, be up and doing!" There have been 3,600 poll tax receipts sold in Pampa alone. We want at least this many votes for the moving of the courthouse to Pampa. Do not let personal motives influence you. Work for the good of your community. Everybody out on March 9!

NEW CLASS STARTS

An extemporaneous speaking class was organized by Miss Bernice R. Whiteley. Thus far fifteen boys and girls are members of the class.

These students have three lessons each week, meeting from four until five o'clock on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. Several have been given an opportunity to speak in chapel. Last week George Eldridge, Sammie Henton, and Jewel Cope spoke at chapel. Yesterday morning Catherine Vincent, Ralph Irwin, and Retha Lester spoke to the student body. Tuesday morning Sam Keith and George Eldridge spoke to the students of Central ward Friday afternoon several students will speak to the members of the P. T. A. Boost the boys and girls; one of them will represent Pampa at the county meet in April.

Les Miserables Is Coming Friday as Benefit Picture

The Universal-Film de France production has been secured by the Rex Theatre for local showing Friday for the benefit of the high school annual.

This picture, produced by the Societ des Cineromans of Paris is of epic proportions. It is said to have taken more than two years to produce at a cost running into millions of francs.

Many of the scenes of the French super pictures were taken on the exact locations indicated by Victor Hugo in the novel. This entailed the necessity of reconstructing the main streets of the towns and villages in which the action takes place, to appear as they did a century ago. So intense was the interest of the French nation in the success of the gigantic motion picture enterprise that permission was readily granted by town authorities so that the reconstructors might do their work unhampered, even to the extent, in one case, of taking up a section of pavement and laying cobble stones.

The streets of Paris could not of course, be reconstructed, but massive sets were built that are said to be remarkable for their fidelity to the period represented.

Leading actors from the French stage were engaged to portray the characters created by Hugo, Gabriel Gabrio appearing as Jean Valjean. The other principal roles are enacted by players of equal note and the extra players, all in period dress, number thousands.

In the finished film, as exhibited throughout France, there were more than 6,000 separate scenes. So long was the complete picture that it was exhibited in a series of five showings.

Universal has reduced the picture to feature length, leaving out many of the side excursions so dear to the heart of the French and leaving only the highly dramatic substance of the story of Jean Valjean. According to reviewers in the several cities in which the picture has been shown in its present length, a gripping story unfolds on the screen in an astonishing succession of "big scenes." Ed Herlachner.

To the Voters

Come, all you Pampa people. And cast your worthy vote. To move the county courthouse From a place now so remote.

Pampa is the growing city. With paved streets, electric lights, Railroads, schools, and hospital; And her "new courthouse" site.

Oh, we've got to fight the battle If we move the county seat. But we know it's worth the effort, And we must not stand defeat.

We've gone too far for failure; We must put it over the top. Make Pampa the county seat Before we dare to stop.

Come, all you Pampa voters, And vote on that day, That we make Pampa the county seat Of our thriving county, Gray! —Lillie McMillan, (senior)

Students Tell Why Courthouse Should Be Moved to Pampa

The students began Wednesday morning in chapel to boost the removal of the courthouse from LeFors to Pampa, by yells, talks, and a boosting poem composed by Lillian McMillan.

Retha Lester delivered the first talk on "Why LeFors is not a Suitable Place for the County Seat." The road to LeFors, the situation, and the surroundings of LeFors were brought out in her carefully planned talk.

Ralph Irving was the next speaker on "Why Pampa is the Most Logical Place for the County Seat." He emphasized that Pampa is the best town in Gray county and should therefore be the county seat.

Catherine Vincent, the last speaker, convinced the student body that Pampa needs a courthouse. Her subject was "The Good of the Courthouse to Pampa."

Lillian McMillan read a poem of her own composition on "To the Voters." Professor Schick and Professor McKimming entertained the student body with three selections of Professor McKimming's own composition.

Forensic Club Hears Open Forum on Prohibition

An Open Forum on prohibition featured at the weekly meeting of the Forensic club which met Tuesday night. The open forum gives each member a chance to express himself and to the surprise of the club several members were "well read" on the prohibition question.

Sammie Henton in his usual easy conversive manner gave the club an extemporaneous speech on the psychological and psychological aspects of "self control."

A reading "Little Al Sid" given by Marjorie Jewel added relief after the "heavy thinking" of the first speakers.

The meeting closed at 8:15 because a church play cast were to give a play in the auditorium.

PICTURE IS APPRECIATED Mrs. Daniels and pupils wish to thank Mrs. Joe Smith for the beautiful picture given them for the schoolroom. We enjoy and appreciate it very much. The first four grade children are playing nicely at recess and noon periods on their respective play grounds.

Baker School Notes

Mrs. King's first grade celebrated the birthday of George Washington with a party in their room last Wednesday. After a brief discussion of the life of Washington, the children played games, sang songs, and dramatized two stories. The children had as their guests nine mothers. Refreshments of lemonade and cakes were served. The children all agreed that this was one of the most enjoyable events of this year.

Baker school has a piano. Hurray! A friend has permitted us to store the piano here for our use and protection for the present time and probably until the close of the school.

SOPHOMORE NOTES

The Sophomores had to start the Beauty Contest and I suppose we will have to start the popularity contest. We are not only going to start it, but we will end it.

Just because we are a little slow is not any sign that we don't intend to do our part for the high school annual of 1928.

But you seniors, juniors, and little fishes, please don't get the idea that we sophomores are going to lose, because we absolutely refuse to lose.

Deimar Hotskinson—Popular boy. Violet Schafer—Most popular girl. Do your voting now.

Essay Writers Work Hard to Win 5 Contests

The essay contestants, Dee Blythe, Lewis Pogleman, and Susie Bell Smalling, are busy. They are conducting a series of five contests; the first of which was held February 20, and the following results were determined by three competent judges; namely, F. C. Conwell, Mrs. Brabham, and Mrs. Tom Rose.

The essay entitled "My Favorite Club," written by Dee Blythe, won first place; the essay entitled "My First Venture into Society," written by Lewis Pogleman, won second place; and the essay entitled "The Value of Public Speaking in the Schools," written by Susie Belle Smalling, won third place. The second contest was held Wednesday morning.

At the close of the fifth contest the student who has the best average will be termed the winner and will represent Pampa in the county meet.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Meek of Wheeler were visitors of the school Monday evening. We were very glad to see them as they are the parents of our (Principal) J. A. Meek.

The grade cards will be given out this week.

Jack Delaney and Tom Heeney to Go 15 Rounds Tonight

WINNER MAY MEET TUNNEY

Heeney Has Ability to Absorb Punishment and Win

NEW YORK, Mar. 1.—(AP)—Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., and Tom Heeney of New Zealand move well into the first part of Tex Rickard's new heavyweight elimination series in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight. The winner probably will be accorded recognition as the next challenger of champion Gene Tunney.

When the boxers enter the ring, they will be rated equally to take the victory despite Heeney's advantage of some 20 pounds over Delaney. In doping out the result for this fight, the majority of ring critics have straddled the fence.

Many observers feel that Delaney must knock out Heeney within the first six or seven rounds if he is to win. The New Zealander is considered a rugged boxer of the plugging type who absorbs plenty of punishment for the sake of wearing down his opponent. Heeney never has been counted out.

The Australian made an impressive showing in his recent draw with Jack Sharkey of Boston. At the time, many fans felt Heeney would have taken the verdict if the bout had gone the championship distance of 15 rounds instead of 12.

Dave Bancroft Glad to Become Mere Ball Player

NEW YORK, Mar. 1.—(AP)—Davey Bancroft, formerly of the Phillies, Giants, and Braves, has joined Wilbert Robinson's flock of Robins at Clearwater, Fla., and he likes the idea of being a mere player instead of a manager.

He said he was glad of the shift from pilot of the Braves to shortstop for Brooklyn. This will be his thirteenth year in the majors.

The Giants reached Augusta, Ga., late last night after the jaunt from Hot Springs, Ark., with several additions to the party including Lefty O'Doul, the highly reputed outfielder of the Pacific league.

CO-OPERATION APPRECIATED
The Annual Staff is taking this method to express its thanks to the people who gave their hearty co-operation in helping to make our play, "The Whole Town's Talking," a success. We wish to thank especially the Pampa Drug company, Mr. Sincor of the Rex theatre, and G. C. Malone Furniture company.

HEENEY RUGGED TYPE OF FIGHTER DELANEY ALWAYS FOUND HARDEST

Two sharply contrasting styles will be seen when dashing Jack Delaney (above) meets plodding Tom Heeney (right) at Madison Square Garden March 1. Although Delaney always has looked his worst against pluggers of the Heeney variety, he is a popular favorite to win this important test, which may mean a shot at Tunney's title.

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Delaney, the playboy of the heavyweights, will be up against one of the toughest of the big fellows in his 15-round tussle with Tom Heeney at Madison Square Garden, March 1. Their battle opens Tex Rickard's new "elimination tournament" with an early summer shot at Tunney's title as the prize.

The dashing Delaney undoubtedly will be a heavy popular favorite although he has always had trouble with the husky durable type of fighter ably represented by the iron-jawed Irishman from New Zealand. The crowd still strings with the fighter who can hit and the French-Canadian's flashes of ring genius in knockout victories over such opponents as Paul Berlenbach, Mike McTigue, Tiger Flowers and Bud Gorman are not easily forgotten.

Heeney, too, in his steady, plugging way, has been doing things these days, getting a draw with Jack Sharkey in his last big fight, winning from Johnny Risko and knocking out Jimmy Maloney.

Indeed the dope based on comparative showings against the same opponents, gives Heeney somewhat the better of it. His "kayo" of Maloney took less than a round, whereas Delaney lost ingloriously to the same antagonist a year ago in a fight which was ballyhooed as the battle of "the rapier and the bludgeon" and later dubbed "the tin sword and the slapstick."

Nehf Is Expected To Give Chicago Cubs Good Hurling

CHICAGO, Mar. 1.—(AP)—If manager Joe McCarthy of the Chicago Cubs knows his pitching, the veteran Art Nehf will spoil many good batting averages in the National league this season.

Nehf, who came to the Cubs last season when no other major league club bid for his services, has been

MALCEWICZ IS HURT IN BOUT

Unable to Continue After Strangler's Headlocks

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Mar. 1.—(AP)—For the second time in two years Joe Malcewicz, Ulica panther, has lost to Ed (Strangler) Lewis, heavyweight wrestling champion, before either had won more than one fall in a scheduled finish match.

Malcewicz forfeited his match to Lewis here last night when he was unable to continue after the Strangler took the first fall with a headlock in one hour and fifty minutes. The Ulica grappler claimed to have suffered a torn ligament in the left shoulder, Malcewicz escaped from three headlocks, but after his shoulders were pinned to the mat with a fourth headlock, he was carried to his corner, apparently in a daze.

However, he had Lewis in trouble several times, twice with a body scissors and a wrist lock. The Strangler also used a toe hold to advantage.

In a meeting at Tulsa, Okla., in 1926, Lewis won on a foul when Malcewicz hurled him from the ring after the Panther won the first fall.

The match here was the first for Lewis since he defeated Joe Stecher at St. Louis recently. Lewis weighed about 225 pounds, 30 more than Malcewicz.

Tramel and Young Headline Bout

AMARILLO, Mr. 1.—(AP)—On its second boxing exhibition card the Tri-State Fair Athletic association announces that Duke Tramel and Sid Young will headline the Monday night show with a ten-round bout.

Duke weighs 150 pounds and comes from Fort Worth. He has boxed many of the best boys and boasts of thirty-four knockouts. Most of them come in the second round. Sid Young claims the welterweight championship of Oklahoma. He weighs 155, and hails from Tulsa.

In the semi-windup Bob Vincent of Stillwater, Okla., has been slated for an eight-round bout with Duff Stanley of Amarillo. Vincent has a conspicuous record in the southwest. He is a graduate of Oklahoma A. & M. southpawing in the senior circuit for many seasons. Ants, Reds, and the Braves. In the workouts at the Cubs training camp at Catalina Island during the past few days he has been parading some curves and fast balls that made some of his fellow workers envious. McCarthy is confident he will be a leader on the Cub's hurling squad.

Hahn Clips Off Fastest Mile of Season in Race

NEW YORK, Mar. 1.—(AP)—Lloyd Hahn has added the "mile of the century" to his long string of triumphs on the boards this winter.

The short-stepping Boston flier ran Conger, of the Illinois A. C., and Dr. Otto Peltzer, German champion, into the ground in the international mile, feature of the Knights of Columbus meet last night, but failed by a full second to equal the world's indoor record for the distance.

The 20,000 fans who packed Madison Square Garden also saw the sensational rise of Barney Berlinger, 19-year-old freshman at the University of Pennsylvania, into the top rank of America's all-around athletes. He galloped off with first honors in the septathlon, defeating such stars as Falt Elkings of Nebraska, national titleholder; Harold Osborne, Olympic champion, and Emerson Norton, Osborn's Illinois A. C. teammate.

Hahn's failure to realize his ambition to break the indoor record for the mile of 4:12, held jointly by Paavo Nurmi and Jole Ray, was due chiefly to the fact that he was forced to make his own pace the whole way. Taking the lead with the gun, he pounded away steadily at a pace his rivals did not care to better. For six laps the three runners hung closely together, with Conger second and Peltzer third. At this stage Hahn began to draw away. At the close of the ninth lap, Hahn flashed a spurt that carried him to the tape 25 yards in front of Conger, while the Teuton champion, exhausted, jogged into the finish line. Hahn's time was 4 minutes, 13 seconds, the fastest mile of the season.

Champion Eagles To Play Lubbock Soon at Canyon

CANYON, Mr. 1.—(AP)—The bi-district interscholastic league championship basketball game with Lubbock, representing the second district, and the Canyon Eagles, the first district, will be played off at Canyon Friday and Saturday.

Supt. Jim Webb stated that the first game will be at 8 o'clock, March 2, the second game at 3:30 Saturday and if necessary a third game Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Coach Butler of the Amarillo High School will referee.

BUFFALOS ARE NOW CHAMPS

Lumberjacks Defeated by a Score of 48 to 22

CANYON, March 1.—(AP)—For the third time in five years the Buffaloes of West Texas State Teachers college here are basketball champions of the T. I. A. A. by virtue of a 48 to 22 victory over the Stephen F. Austin state Teachers college Lumberjacks of Nacogdoches here last night.

The Buffaloes won the T. I. A. A. cage title in 1924 and again in 1927.

Manager Bush Is Hard Master in Training Work

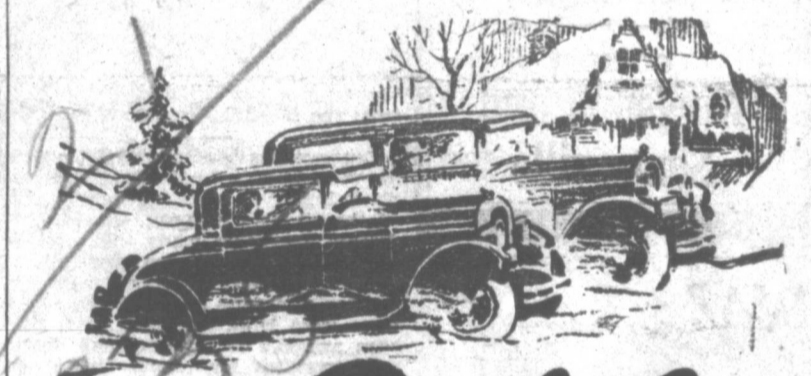

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Mar. 1.—(AP)—Manager Donie Bush read what might be termed the riot act to the Pittsburgh Pirates squad at Paso Robles, Cal., when he announced that rules were to be obeyed as strictly during training season as when the pennant chase starts. Bust set 11 p. m. as the deadline for evening entertainment with 8 a. m. as the breakfast call.

Claude Linton, catcher from Arkansas, is suffering from sore arm muscles. Bush decreed several days of rest for him.

Ruffing Hard at Work—Cooney Is Trying Bad Arm

BOSTON, Mar. 1.—(AP)—The pitching string of the Red Sox at Bradenton, Fla., has been completed by the arrival of that erstwhile holdout, Charley Ruffing, who went to work in earnest as if to show that there were no hard feelings because the management didn't see his way in the salary argument.

Johnny Cooney, Braves pitcher did his first work since he was forced out last season to have two operations on his arm for splintered bones. Manager Jack Slaters, the guiding genius of the Braves at St. Petersburg, Fla., watched Cooney's performance closely and was pleased when the southpaw showed he still had the stuff.

manuel and Premier Mussolini sent special emissaries to convey their condolences to the family.

Served Under Mussolini
Marshal Diaz held the portfolio of war under Mussolini for a time but was obliged to surrender it because of his health. Lately he seemed to be recovering from a liver disorder from which he had long suffered, but influenza which developed into bronchial pneumonia quickly brought the end.

His wife and son were at his bedside when he died yesterday and he had received the last sacraments from a priest attached to Santa Maria Del Popolo, titular church in Rome of Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago.

Amusements

AT THE REX
"It is the greatest work of epic and dramatic fiction which has ever been created or conceived by the human brain," says the Encyclopedia Britannica of Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables." It would be conservative to use the same language in describing the colossal motion picture production of "Les Miserables" which comes tomorrow to the Rex theatre, for the Universal-Film de France triumph is without doubt, a surpassing cinema achievement.

This majestic drama of humanity striving under the yoke of ignorance and unjust power has had, in its book form, more readers than any other work except the Bible. As a motion picture production it has made new attendance records in every European country and has been acclaimed by two continents as the greatest film triumph of the old world.

AT THE CRESCENT
Edmund Lowe who plays the detective-reporter in "The Wizard," a Fox Films production now being shown at the Crescent theatre, is said to give one of the best performances of his screen career in this absorbing murder mystery.

Lella Hyams has the leading feminine role. Lowe, always keen for an opportunity to give the public what it wants, is convinced that this type of story is the most interesting for picture purposes. Other players in the cast are Gustav von Seyffertitz, Norman Trevor, Barry Norton, E. H. Calvert, Oscar Smith, Richard Fraser, Perle Marshall, Maude Turner Gordon and George Kotsoranos, Richard Ross directed the picture.

C. B. DAVIS, division freight and passenger agent of the Rock Island lines, Amarillo, did Borger a great injustice the other day when he said in an address at Alanreed that Borger's population had dropped from a city of 20,000 to 7,000 within a short time. Mr. Davis was making an effort to show why the Gray county court house should not be moved from LeFors to Pampa. Borger easily has 15,000 people in the camps running from Phillips to Marland, and there are several thousand more in outlying camps and around the carbon black plants. With the civic development that is taking place in Borger in the past few months, that city is not a forsaken place, as the Amarillo Rock Island official would endeavor to make the public believe.

Gray county will hold its third county seat election within the past nine years on March 9, LeFors, the present county seat, is an inland town and situated in a valley, making it almost impossible ever to get a railroad. Through the support from the southeastern part of the county, LeFors won in the elections in 1919 and 1925. As Pampa has 3,390 poll taxes paid by this time, compared with 770 for McLean, 200 for Alanreed, 101 for LeFors, 135 for Knorp, and 148 scattering, it seems that the Gray county oil metropolis should win this time.

The Santa Fe and Rock Island railroads have rendered a great service to the Panhandle during the past few weeks by running farm demonstration trains. Tens of thousands have inspected the exhibits and have heard the interesting lectures. The railroads know that agriculture is of vital importance to their prosperity and they are doing all they can to enable the farmer to raise bigger crops and thus increase the freight tonnage.

The International Harvester Company is also holding several short courses over the Panhandle. Although the short course is advertising in a way for the company, yet it is considered of such widespread interest that community support is usually gladly given. Lack of co-operation in Amarillo has practically caused the Harvester company to omit Amarillo from the schedules in recent years.

Contract has been awarded for paving with concrete 6 miles from Panhandle to Borger on what is generally called the oil field highway. Considerable detours are being made this time so that it will not be inconvenient to travel to Borger, as it was when the grading was done and drainage structures were built. Contract has also been awarded for grading and drainage structures for twenty miles on state highway 75 or Federal highway 86, frequently called "The Main Street of America."

A recent trip through Hall county is such as to make one wish that other Panhandle counties will get started on paving projects as rapidly as possible. Several miles on highway No. 5 out of Memphis have been opened for travel. Traveling over this road is sufficient to give one an indication of the great pleasure that motoring will become in a few years over the Panhandle.

Hutchinson county is not satisfied with stopping on a few miles of paving from the Carson county line through Borger and to Stinnett. Agitation is becoming crystallized for a paved road from Borger to Roxana and Skellytown. A good highway through the Dixon canyons will be of vast importance for all time to Borger and should be made a reality as soon as possible.

Greene county, Missouri has 23,000 dairy cows. Springfield is the county seat and derives much profit from the dairy industry. The prosperity that will come to the Panhandle with 10,000 dairy cows in each of thirty to forty counties is difficult to estimate, but we can safely predict that dairy farming will help to make the farmers independent.

BE STRONG
Be strong!
We are not here to play, to dream, to drift.
We have hard work to do and loads to lift.
Shun not the struggle, face it; 'tis God's gift.
Be strong, be strong.

Say not the days are evil—who's to blame?
And fold the hands and acquiesce—
O shame!
Stand up, speak out, and bravely in God's name

Be strong!
It matters not how deep entrenched the wrong,
How hard the battle goes; the day, how long;
Faint not, fight on! Tomorrow comes the song.

El Progresso Completes Study of Philosophy in Interesting Meeting

"El Progresso" met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. A. Cole for a continued study of "The Story of Philosophy" by Will Durant. Mrs. J. M. McDonald proved herself a very able leader in her treatment of the subject matter at a whole and in her particular treatment of Kant and his reaction on religion, and philosophy.

Mrs. F. C. Ledrick acquainted the club with Spinoza's philosophy in a brief but entertaining paper. Mrs. W. M. Craven's talk on Hegel and Schopenhauer presented her thoughts well, and was carefully followed in order to grasp the intent of the whole. Her papers were full of humor and showed much thought and preparation.

Mrs. Dave Pope, in a thoughtful way gave the "Theory of Evolution as expounded by Herbert Spencer. The two lessons taken from "The Story of Philosophy" were the most difficult and thought provoking ones that have been studied in El Progresso during its six years of existence.

Mrs. W. M. Craven, the president-elect for next year appointed the following committees: Program, Mrs. C. M. Bryson, Mrs. James Todd, Mrs. T. D. Hobart, Mrs. R. R. House, and Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar; entertainment committee, Mrs. Carson Loftus, Mrs. A. Cole, Mrs. H. L. Ledrick, and Mrs. J. M. McDonald.

Mrs. C. M. Bryson was elected secretary of the club for the next year. Mrs. A. Cole, and Mrs. C. P. Buckler were welcomed as members again as they were originally charter members, and Mrs. R. R. House was taken in as a new member. Mrs. House is the district secretary of Citizenship for the seventh district.

The next meeting will be held Mar. 14, with Mrs. Siler Faulkner for a study of the book, "Tampico" with Mrs. H. L. Ledrick as leader.

The hostess served a delicious plate luncheon carrying out the idea of St. Patrick in her refreshments and decorations. The members present were Mrs. Dave Pope, Mrs. P. C. Ledrick,

P. B. Carlson—"The courthouse states 'It do not choose to remain in LeFors.' It is going to be a pleasure to have the courthouse where anyone can attend and hear the cases and learn how the law is enforced and justice meted out."

People's Forum

Editor, The News:
I am a farmer living in the southwest part of Gray county and I attended the county seat speaking at the Grandview school house Tuesday night.

I would like for the gentlemen from McLean to tell why they are voting additional taxes to build concrete roads and three bridges across the Red River north of McLean, and then telling us we will be making a mistake if we tax ourselves for a new courthouse.

I would appreciate it if you will print this, and let them answer this question through your paper.

Judge S. D. Stennis—"It certainly will be a pleasure to be able to walk to court to try a case instead of having to drive fourteen miles over roads that are cow trails."

Chas. I. Hughes—"This is the first city of any size that I have ever lived in that the court house was off a railroad and in a small place with a city so close. We must move the county seat to Pampa where those attending court can have the conveniences they are used to."
