Simon Reassures Farmers Of Fuel

Storms Plague East

While snow, sleet and freezing rain plagued sections of the East, the Texas Panhandle continued to remain at chilly but otherwise mild fall conditions.

Pampa had a high of 58 Sunday, with an overnight low of 31, with similar temperatures expected to last through Tuesday.

High, thin cloudiness dimmed some of the sun's light, but otherwise no wintry weather was in the forecast as of forenoon.

In United Press International reports: Snow, sleet and freezing rain hit the East Coast from Virginia to Maine today, dumping a near-paralyzing half foot of snow on Washington, D.C. and making conditions so slippery in New York City the opening of the New York and American stock exchanges were delayed.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect from the lower Great Lakes to the central Appalachians and east to the Atlantic seaboard. Up to 20 inches of snow was forecast for the Pocono Mountains of eastern Pennsylvania.

Hazardous driving conditions were reported from New England as far south as northern Georgia. A belt of freezing rain and sleet 150 miles wide iced roads and contributed to a series of storm-connected traffic deaths.

At least four were dead, two in Virginia and one each in Rhode Island and Massachusetts in motor accidents.

In the nation's capital, six inches of snow closed all schools, stopped flights at National Airport and allowed government workers an extra two hours to get to work.

"We're kind of excited," a Washington highway spokesman said. "This is the first time in four years we've had snowplows out."

Temperatures plunged below the freezing level in the Southeast corner of Texas today in contrast to much warmer readings across the western half of the state.

Beaumont and Port Arthur had overnight low readings of 28 degrees while Lufkin shivered at 26 degrees. To the northeast Tyler had 27, Longview 27 and Texarkana 26.

The National Weather Service said the cold East Texas conditions resulted from a high pressure area hovering over the state from the coastal plains to the Red River.

City Officials Attend Hearing

City Manager Mack Wofford and Ward 3 City Commissioner Leo Braswell were in Austin today attending a public hearing before the Texas Water Quality Board.

The Pampa city officials were hoping for word on the fate of Pampa's application for a government grant on the proposed $850,000 project to bring the city's sewage treatment plant up to standards set by the TWQB and federal Environmental Protection Agency.

When the hearing opened this forenoon Pampa was No. 10 on the long list of Texas cities seeking federal aid on sewage treatment facilities.

When he left for the hearing, City Manager Wofford said he and Braswell would tell TWQB examiners the city has completed its plans for the project and is prepared to expedite construction.

Unitization—which I am very much for and have supported very strongly—is just simply not something that can or should be done in a hurried up fashion," Hobby said.

"Superior is the same thing, I think the thing needs to be rethought through and re-batted," Hobby also disagreed with Daniel that the special session might run into next month.

Western Beef Plant Purchased

By TEX DEWESE
Announcement was made at a meeting of Pampa industrial and civic leaders in the Chamber of Commerce offices this forenoon that Packerland Packing Co., Inc. of Green Bay, Wis., has purchased the Pampa plant of Western Beef Packing Co.

The announcement was made by Fred Neslage, president of the Pampa Industrial Foundation.

Neslage introduced Robert Rotter of Green Bay, production superintendent for Packerland, who said his company plans to begin immediate expansion and make the local plant its headquarters in Texas.

Harvey Lewis, manager for Western Beef in Pampa, will remain as head of the labor and production force and Howard Frankenthal, a member of the family which owns Packerland, will come to Pampa as business manager.

Rotter said the present labor force will be employed by Packerland and "several dozen" employees are expected to be added as the company immediately begins the processing of hides and expands operations for the company's export of beef products.

"We plan to bring in some of our management personnel from Green Bay," Rotter said, "in order to coordinate operations with those of our other plants."

Once a familiarization takes place, we expect to start immediate expansion and integration of operations to where it will become a more viable factor in the area's beef industry.

"We hope that in the creation of new jobs and added expansion that we will become a vital part of your community."

The new operation under Packerland is to go into effect on Jan. 2.

Packerland already has acquired an additional 210 acres of land adjacent to the present plant site.

City commissioners at their last meeting approved an easement across city land which will give Packerland a railroad spur to the plant.

Rotter said Packerland currently is slaughtering 1600 head of cattle daily and employs more than 1,000 persons. It has an annual sales volume of $200-million.

Packerland uses a system of vacuum packing which enables faster tenderization and replaces the old-fashioned hanging of the beef carcass.

Packerland also uses what it calls Beef Pack, claimed to be the most dramatic step forward in the retail meat industry in many years. It represents hand selected carcasses fabricated into selected cuts, vacuum packed, uniformly boxed and shipped directly to Packerland's customers.

Joining with Neslage in welcoming Packerland to Pampa today were Mayor R.D. Wilkerson, Kay Fancher, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Committee and a dozen or more Pampa civic leaders.

Reds Strike Field Camp Near Hue

SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnamese troops turned from the embattled Mekong Delta and Central Highlands to overrun a government field camp in the rolling hills near Hue, military sources reported today.

The sources said attacking Communists killed the commander and two of his men in seizing a government position 30 miles southwest of the former imperial capital, 400 miles north of Saigon.

They said 11 government soldiers were wounded and 26 missing in Saturday's battle, the latest clash in three months of stepped-up fighting in South Vietnam.

Most of the previous fighting was for control of the Mekong Delta's current rice crop and the Central Highlands' strategic supply routes.

In Saigon, the United States filed a three-page note with the international truce team protesting the killing in "cold blood" of an unarmed American officer.

The American, identified as Capt. Richard N. Rees, 32, of Kent, Ohio, was in a helicopter attacked by the Communists Saturday 12 miles southwest of Saigon. He was searching at the time for the body of an American killed in 1966.

South Vietnamese infantrymen, backed by artillery and warplanes, reported killing scores of Communists Sunday in fierce fighting for control of the delta's rice harvest.

The Saigon command said government defenders at Cai Lay, 44 miles southwest of Saigon, and Cai Be, 36 miles southwest of the capital, turned back the Communist attacks in three hours of intense combat in the delta.

A command spokesman said a total of 97 Communists were slain in the fighting for control of rice, being harvested in the region. He said four government soldiers were killed and 12 wounded.

In Cambodia, field reports said rebels shelled the Phnom Penh suburb of Takhmau Sunday, injuring six civilians.

The reports said the insurgents fired two mortar shells into Takhmau, five miles south of downtown Phnom Penh, in the closest attack to the capital since commandos raided a bridge on the city's southern edge Dec. 5.

FOR SPECIAL SESSION

Lt. Gov. Hobby Agrees With Briscoe On Needs

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby siding with Gov. Dolph Briscoe rather than Speaker Price Daniel Jr., says the Texas Legislature will be too busy passing a speed limit bill during the emergency session to worry about any other legislation.

"That's all this particular session can consider practically," Hobby said Sunday. "Another special session at a later date may be necessary."

Daniel and other lawmakers have indicated that since taxpayers are paying the bills for the special session, which begins Tuesday, why not take a look at a few extra bills.

Rep. Luther Jones, D-El Paso, saying there was a "school crisis," Saturday asked Briscoe to consider legislation appropriating funds to finance a study by the Legislative Property Tax Committee of all taxable property in Texas school districts.

Rep. Larry Baies, D-Austin, also suggested that the governor permit work on a bill banning lighted outdoor advertising at night. He said if consumers must cut back, then the businesses should do likewise.

Fort Worth legislators want to reapportion Tarrant County and Daniel has suggested that lawmakers consider a unitization bill and legislation for building a superport on the Gulf of Mexico.

"Unitization—which I am very much for and have supported very strongly—is just simply not something that can or should be done in a hurried up fashion," Hobby said.

"Superior is the same thing, I think the thing needs to be rethought through and re-batted," Hobby also disagreed with Daniel that the special session might run into next month.

cause of reforms passed earlier this year in the handling of legislation.

"I think the proper business like thing to do is to get in here and do the job that the governor has assigned to us," he said.

"On the part of the Senate, I don't know why that action should take more than a day. I don't know why we couldn't be through in the Senate by Tuesday."

FOR PEACE TALKS

Kissinger Says Israel Will Attend Conference

By United Press International
Secretary of State Henry Kissinger said today Israel will attend the Middle East peace conference in Geneva and that disengagement of forces on the Suez front will top the agenda.

As Kissinger made the announcement, Arab guerrillas blew up a U.S. jet in Rome and then hijacked a West German airliner.

A number of persons were reported killed in the attack on the Pan Am plane.

There is full agreement about the procedures of the opening of the conference," Kissinger told newsmen at Lod International Airport after 10 hours of talks with the Israeli leaders over the past day and a half.

"The opening of the conference should deal with the separation of forces," he said. "The United States will maintain the closest contact with Israel through the negotiations."

leaders as "very warm, very constructive, very full."

Egypt, through its semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram, said the United States and the Soviet Union soon would issue invitations to the peace talks through the United Nations.

Al-Ahram said U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim would officially extend the invitations to Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Israel. The newspaper said Moscow and Washington "were in constant touch throughout to agree on the form of the invitations."

6 SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William E. Simon, the nation's energy chief, reassured farmers today they need have no worry that they will get all the gasoline, propane and fuel oil they need to harvest or process their crops.

"If the farmers, dairymen, livestock raisers and commercial fishermen are going to provide the increased production they have been asked to produce next year, they must get the fuel they need to do the job," Simon said.

While fuel allocations already announced contain provisions that agriculture would get priority treatment, Simon issued the new assurance in a prepared speech to an agricultural outlook conference sponsored by the Agriculture Department.

On another subject, Simon said it would be "pure speculation" to predict how high the cost of gasoline will go in this country. There have been some forecasts that it will reach $1 or more a gallon in a few months.

Simon said in an interview this morning on the NBC-TV Today Show that it was impossible at this time to make a forecast with any degree of accuracy because of such variables as crude oil prices and consumer demand.

To speculate, and it would be pure speculation, on where the market price is going to be for gasoline next year is difficult because there are just too many things that could happen between now and then," Simon said.

On farm needs, Simon said: "There is no question that farmers will have to contribute to energy conservation, just like other sectors of the economy. However, I believe that 'farm needs' are really national needs."

Simon said he would decide this week whether to recommend to President Nixon that gasoline rationing be instituted.

Other world-wide energy developments: The British Cabinet today approved special emergency budget measures aimed at combating serious energy and labor problems. Government sources said the additional belt-tightening moves would mean higher taxes, pay cuts, part-time working and mounting unemployment.

Japan, also suffering economic pains due to the oil shortage, pondered whether to buy oil from Libya at the risk of offending Washington and large international oil companies. Yasuhiro Nakasone, minister of International Trade and Industry, told the Japanese parliament, the Diet, "I want every drop of oil our country can get."

Simon said pharmaceutical houses would get adequate fuel to continue production of essential drugs and to carry out priority research. The statement was issued this morning just before Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's Health subcommittee opened hearings on effects of the energy crisis on the drug industry.

The National Safety Council said that because of gasoline conservation measures and lowered speed limits, its original estimate of the number of persons who will die from traffic accidents during the Christmas holiday period had been lowered by 50 to an estimate of 550 to 650 persons.

In Philadelphia, consumer advocate Ralph Nader said the energy crisis was "the most phony crisis ever inflicted upon a modern society," while Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, who told a group of plastic processors in Cambridge, Ohio that the energy crunch "is a lot of baloney contrived to drive up prices."

The government said last week that oil consumption had been less so far this winter season than earlier estimated, especially in the East, largely because of mild weather. But the season's first widespread winter blast left several inches of snow along a wide region stretching from New England into Virginia, with temperatures well below freezing.

Simon, a former Wall Street investment banker who assumed command of the new Federal Energy Office two weeks ago, said the price of a barrel of imported crude oil may soar to as much as $10, compared with the current controlled rate of between $4 25 and $4.50 and the "second tier" level of $6.50 to $6.75 a barrel.

Simon said that if Nixon did decide to turn to rationing gasoline—a move he has called a last resort—it would come in one of two forms: —A "World War II-type program" of sticker rationing and transferable coupon system where every American could buy eight to 10 gallons per week and persons who didn't use their coupons could sell them to others.

Simon said his "hardest job" once the Arab oil boycott ended and the flow of imported oil resumed would be to "keep the American people and government from going back to sleep."

"This economy is going to have to adjust from a low-cost, abundant energy base to a high-cost, scarce energy base," said Simon.

A decision on which conservation measures, such as the Sunday closing of service stations, will be continued depends on the production level in the Mideast," he said.

Many of the measures probably will remain in effect, Simon said. "We need the American people to change their life styles."

A key senator on the energy problem, Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., publicly urged Simon Sunday to start setting up a "standby rationing program" now so that it could be quickly implemented if it is needed.

DIES IN DALLAS

Borger Explosion Kills Stinnett Man

BORGER — W.S. Cuttrell, 50, of Stinnett is dead as the result of burns suffered over 75 percent of his body Saturday night when two railroad cars exploded in the southeast section of the city.

Cuttrell, a Phillips employe for 25 years and the father of three sons, died at 4 p.m. Sunday at Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas.

He was transferred to the Dallas hospital after receiving emergency treatment at High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo.

Borger Fire Department Captain Robert Lee Harris, 42, remains in fair condition today at North Plains Hospital here.

Borger firemen Bob Lusk, Jimmy Hall, Danny Clark, S.T. Northrup and Jim Davis were treated and released from North Plains late Saturday and early Sunday, as was Daylon Martin, a photographer at the scene.

Cuttrell was helping transfer butadiene from a damaged tank car to another car when a transfer line burst, causing a fire and the two explosions.

The tank car that exploded initially had been damaged in a derailment about noon Saturday and the chemical was leaking from a three-inch crack in the body of the tank car—a Phillips spokesman said. The second car erupted only moments later.

Firemen were forced to evacuate four blocks of a residential area bordering the site of the explosions when it became known other tank cars nearby were in danger of exploding.

Houses adjacent to the railroad tracks suffered damage from blown doors, cracked walls, shattered windows and broken fixtures.

Windows in about 50 downtown stores were broken by the two explosions.

Students Make Christmas Gifts

Members of the second period class of the Pampa High School home economics cooperative education class have been preparing Christmas gifts for residents of the Pampa Nursing Center.

The community service project is sponsored by Mrs. Esther Colville, teacher coordinator for Home Economics Related Occupations program.

The individual gifts were to be delivered to the nursing home today. All gifts were either made in the class or purchased from local businesses.

BULLETIN

ROME (UPI) — At least 21 persons were killed in the Arab guerrilla attack at Rome's Leonardo da Vinci International Airport, Pan American World Airways said today. See related story, Page 2.

Dear Abby

Sister has plenty to hide from fiance

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: This problem is my sister's. She is a very pretty 45-year-old widow with nine kids. She lives in Naples, Italy. I showed her picture to a widower who lives in Jersey, and he said he wanted to write to her. [My sister was born in the U. S. A. and speaks both English and Italian.] Well, to make a long story short, they corresponded, and he sent her a ticket to visit him here. It was love at first sight. The problem is, my sister told him she had only two kids!

He is going to Naples to marry my sister, and he will surely find out how many kids she has. What do you think he will do when he finds out the truth?

My sister is afraid to tell him. Should I? This is a mess I can't see my way out of. A SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Tell your sister if she doesn't tell him how many children she has, YOU will, because you feel responsible for having brought them together. And if you helped your sister "hide" seven kids, shame on you.

DEAR ABBY: What's happened to people? Nobody in business gives anything away any more. At Christmas time, in order to show that they appreciated your business, the milkman used to give you a pretty kitchen calendar with the dairy's name on it. The cleaning man would give you a pretty note pad with a pencil to keep by your telephone. [Okay, so it had their telephone number on it.] My beauty parlor used to give me a small bottle of shampoo or perfume, and my grocer used to give my children candy.

Now, nobody you patronize gives you anything. In fact, THEY expect you to give them something. Why?

OLD TIMER

DEAR OLD TIMER: It's one of the penalties of "prosperity." Some others are poor service, inferior quality, and shortages.

DEAR ABBY: My wife has three sisters and two brothers who got together and gave their parents a Christmas gift—a three-month vacation in sunny Florida, at OUR home. [Without even consulting us, I might add.]

My in-laws just called from Montana to give us the good news that the "other children" presented them with two round trip tickets to Gainesville, good for a three-month stay, and they said that WE would be delighted to have them as our house guests.

Abby, her parents are not easy to get along with. We could take them for three weeks, but NOT for three months! They interfere when we discipline our children, and take sides if my wife and I have a disagreement. My wife is more upset over this than I.

If they stay here for three months, we will either end up in the divorce court, or there will be two more cases for the psychiatric ward. What should we do?

UPSET IN FLORIDA

DEAR UPSET: You and your wife had better quickly set her parents straight. Tell them frankly that their time limit for houseguests is three weeks.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

Jim: "International match-point team competition shows this. Even the greatest players in the world are likely to find themselves flying blind in a fog with no idea as to what they should do."

Oswald: "Here is a hand from a recent team game. The bidding is that at table one. East opened one club because his 19-point hand was too big for a notrump. South preempted with four diamonds. West who was allergic to being shut out tried five clubs. East thought a while and made a brilliant pass and South completed the auction by also passing."

Jim: "It was the right decision based on the principle that a man who preempts should bid just that once." Oswald: "It also was the right decision from the result standpoint. The ace of diamonds, a diamond ruff and the ace of spades gave the defense the first three tricks and a 100 point profit. The bidding started out the same at the other table but South made the mistake of continuing to five diamonds. West doubled (chiefly from fright) and South had to go down two tricks."

LaNita Ballard-George Finley Exchange Vows In White Deer

Miss LaNita Kaye Ballard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene D. Ballard of White Deer and George Ray Finley, son of Mrs. Porter Finley of Floydada were united in marriage Dec. 1, at 6:30 p. m. in the First Baptist Church in White Deer.

THE CEREMONY

The Rev. Floyd Bradley of Floydada officiated for the double ring ceremony. Organist, Mrs. R. A. Hamming, accompanied Miss Sarah Lynch as she sang "The Twelfth of Never" and "We've Only Just Begun." Mrs. Hamming also provided traditional wedding music.

The church was decorated with a high oval arch covered with greenery topped by an arrangement of white roses. The arch was flanked by candelabra and the memory candle.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father with "her mother and I do" avowal, the bride wore a formal white satin bridal gown featuring a rounded neckline with wing tip collar, long full sleeves of lace banded by wide satin cuffs. The high waisted gown featured a fitted bodice with an overlay of lace, enhanced by the chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a tiara headpiece, and her bouquet was of white roses with pastel yellow and white streamers. She carried out the old tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue, plus a penny in her shoe.

ATTENDANTS

Gayle Ann Ballard served her sister as maid of honor. She wore a full length princess gown of yellow embossed satin, accented with puffed sleeves. Her headpiece was a lace covered bandeau from which a short veil was attached. She carried an arrangement of yellow roses.

Jim Dempsey of Floydada served as best man. Ushers were Larry Scott of Floydada and Terry Don Cornwell of Skellytown.

Candlelighters were Harris Osborne, White Deer, cousin of the bride, and Miss Leanne Ferguson, Floydada, niece of the bride-groom.

The bridegroom's mother wore a street length dress of off-white knit with matching jacket. The bride's mother wore an autumn brown two-piece knit street length dress. Their corsages were of yellow split carnations.

RECEPTION

The reception was held in the church. The serving table was decorated with the bride's chosen colors of yellow and white and crystal appointments. The centerpiece was crystal candelabra holding four yellow tapers centered with the brides bouquet.

Mrs. George Ray Finley nee LaNita Kaye Ballard

The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with white satin wedding bells and adorned with miniature yellow roses. Mrs. Pauline White served the cake, assisted by Miss Mary Foster, Mrs. Darrell Gilliland, cousin of the bride, registered wedding guests.

Miss Kelly Ferguson, niece of the groom, presented each guest with miniature yellow rice bags.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride is a graduate of White Deer High School and attended T. S. T. I. in Amarillo. The bridegroom is a graduate of Floydada High School, and he also attended T. S. T. I. He is presently employed by the United States Post Office in Floydada.

Following the wedding trip, the couple will reside at 429 Jackson in Floydada.

Pre-nuptial courtesies were two bridal showers held in White Deer, and Floydada.

TEACHER POWER
NEW YORK (UPI) — A spokesman for the National Education Association (NEA) says his organization hopes to collect $2.5 million from teachers to spend on the 1974 congressional elections. The spokesman, Damon Weber, NEA's assistant director, was quoted as saying in the current issue of "Learning" magazine: "We've broken through the psychological barrier. Teachers were afraid of politics; they thought it wasn't professional. We're convincing them that everything in education is politics: what you teach, how many kids are in your classroom, what you're paid. The natural progression is teachers as supporters, then workers, then candidates."

Today in some parts of the Ozark mountains people still cling to the date of Old Christmas Day in January, which disappeared in England two centuries ago.

WHY GROW OLD Early American Christmas Was Celebrated Lavishly

I thought it would be fun this year to take my readers to a few other countries to celebrate Christmas, and also to recall the festivities of early Americans. I hope you will enjoy these colorful visits.

CHRISTMAS IN THE 19TH CENTURY
Americans today are so diet and cholesterol conscious that even our lavish feasts at Christmas would have been considered starvation menus by the standards of our 19th century ancestors.

Christmas dinner at Mount Vernon with George and Martha was always promptly at three in the afternoon, served in three mammoth courses with the tablecloth changed between each course.

Dishes included onion soup, oysters, broiled herrings, roast beef and Yorkshire pudding, chops, roast pig, roast turkey and chestnut stuffing, cold boiled beef with horseradish sauce, cold baked Virginia ham, six different vegetables, various spiced and pickled fruits, four kinds of pie, three puddings, cakes, cookies, plum pudding, nuts and raisins, and port and madeira with dessert. Dinner was concluded by toasts all around the table (and a great feeling of being more stuffed than the turkey, probably).

Because of the Puritan ethic, Christmas in New England was quite staid and plain, but the Pennsylvania Dutch brought the Christmas tree to America early in the century and celebrated the holidays for two full days.

The local hotel served drinks and there were great pig rares, shooting matches, fireworks and Santa Claus (partly a Pennsylvania Dutch invention) who arrived with gifts. The great country tables groaned with food, cider and beer, and no poor were allowed to go hungry. The ladies wore their best gowns and lace aprons and collars, the men, string ties and soft white shirts under their Sunday jackets.

In New York's Little Italy, people made nougat candy and panettone, a fruit bread for Christmas. All these special Christmas dishes were cooked first on open fires and in brick ovens, and then later in the century on wood and coal-burning stoves. The cooks and their helpers sweated in hot, airless, smoky kitchens and everything they made was, of course, from scratch.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

TUESDAY, DEC. 18

Your birthday today: You can learn as much this year by observing the experience of others as you do by your own. Relationships are subject to sudden changes, mostly for the better despite early uncertainties. Today's natives have a knack for personal diplomacy, ability to stir religious feelings, a desire for deeper knowledge.

Arles (March 21-April 19): The day begins with a rush of competition and probable dissension among regular associates. All your patience is needed to wind up in positive achievement.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Impetuous moods precipitate momentary tensions in which small items become extremely significant. Those emotionally important to you deserve loving kindness.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): You'll be way ahead by doing your usual work and ignoring any petty criticisms. Use your spare time for meditation, serious study.

Cancer (June 21-July 21): There's a great deal to do and little time and money to work with. However, more people are on hand than you'd realized — look about, recruit help.

Leo (July 22-Aug. 22): You'll find numerous reasons for hasty words today. A great deal of needless conflict can be avoided by thinking first and not saying too much.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Divide day's effort between trouble-shooting and vigorous outreach toward new ways of material gains, new applications of your skills.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Survey your enterprises; find potential areas for major changes. Begin planning or if you have it sketched in well enough, take preliminary steps.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The less action you initiate, the better. Think about taking your own personal direction at the earliest opportunity. Meditation is fruitful.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Much is gained by keeping your schedule flexible. Any spare moment is useful for getting a better perspective. Hold onto your temper.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Today's stresses test the quality of your planning and organizational skill, show you ways of improving your position if you will look.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): The problems of today tend to have distant origins, beyond ready adjustment. Divert attention, use a little finesse to avoid direct confrontations.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Review of your financial situation offers incentive for conservative revisions of habits. Your judgment of timing and people is subject to second thoughts.

INTERIOR OFFICIAL CLAIMS

Planes Endanger Whooping Cranes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Interior Department official has concluded that Air Force planes are endangering the rare whooping crane by using Matagorda Island off the Texas coast for practice bombing and strafing. The problem has been thrown into the lap of Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger, who may come down on the side of the whoopers because he is a long-time bird watcher and amateur ornithologist.

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton took the problem to Schlesinger after seeing a report on the situation prepared by Andrew Sansom, a special agent in the Fish and Wildlife Bureau in the Interior Department.

Matagorda is adjacent to the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, where the rare whooping cranes winter after summering in Canada. Sansom said other birds also nest on the southwestern end of the Matagorda, one of a string of barrier islands along the Texas coast.

In Country Club

The Air Force, which owns part of Matagorda and leases the rest, has used the island as a practice bombing range since World War II.

Sansom also reported that the island is known to be "first and foremost an officer's country club." He said facilities include deluxe rooms, a lounge, dining area and chef; a motor pool of approximately 50 vehicles for use in hunting and fishing expeditions; facilities for cleaning and freezing waterfowl, fish and deer; storage for fishing and hunting equipment; airmen to serve as guides, and numerous quail shelters and turkey roosts.

Air Force officials said the 100-yard square target area is more than five miles from a place where whooping cranes have been spotted.

The Air Force denied that its activities endangered the whoopers, saying it had taken strict measures to insure their safety. One spokesman pointed to a 1971 agreement between Morton and Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans Jr. providing additional protective measures for the cranes on Matagorda.

He said that the population of the cranes in the wild has more than doubled since the bombing range was established, now numbering about 50 with an additional 21 in captivity, and that the Air Force had recorded only one death of a whooper, in 1968, and that was due to disease.

Sailors on whaling ships incised pictures and inscriptions on whale teeth, whalebone and walrus tusks—an art called "scrimsaw."

President Vows To Help Wounded Veteran

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon, in a letter made public this weekend, promised Leroy Bailey of Chicago he personally would see that "everything humanly possible" is done to help Bailey recover from severe facial wounds suffered in Vietnam.

Veterans Administration to stop denying treatment to the former GI.

A White House spokesman said Nixon found out about Bailey's plight when an aide showed the President an account of the situation written by Chicago Daily News columnist Mike Royko. The spokesman said Nixon was furious when he learned that the VA had refused to help a man "whose face was blown off" in Vietnam.

"I am determined that everything humanly possible shall be done to assist you and to speed the accomplishment of your maximum rehabilitation, and that of every other American veteran disabled in the defense of his country," Nixon wrote Bailey.

Natchez: Conservatism Still Hanging In There Despite Watergate

Natchez, Miss. (pop. 19,704) has been ruled by five nations — the Natchez Indians, the French, the Spanish, the English and the Americans. The first bank in the state was established here and cotton was the leading industry. After the Civil War, Natchez slumped into idleness that lasted until the discovery of oil and the coming of industry.

beneath the surface of what has been presented to the public.

In this predominantly Democratic-oriented river town, the Eastern liberals are bearing the brunt of this questioning and subsequent criticism. A general consensus is that Mr. Nixon and Agnew are guilty victims but victims nonetheless. Many feel that President Nixon's dismissal of Cox was not as unjustified as it appeared; that Cox was digging into areas unrelated to Watergate. There is mild criticism of the press for "blowing things out of proportion."

His defenders, though, are a little bewildered about the stand they need to take. Active defense is on the wane as each new development comes to light. It's as though the citizens here want the President to stand for what they wish the country to be and they refuse to accept the picture which is slowly unfolding.

Recent editorials in the local press, severely questioning the president's actions regarding the Watergate investigations and his part in the affair, have not evoked the criticism one might expect. There is yet a definite tendency to blame everything on the "liberals."

(Fifth in a series)

Walk the downtown streets of Natchez and it's a simple matter to get into heated discussion involving what is referred to frequently as "the whole national mess." Popular comment on President Nixon's effectiveness in office is optimistic; the people here think he was on the right track concerning issues they care about such as welfare and busing. They are split now between wanting to support him and questioning the ethics of that support. Which is where the theory of a "liberal conspiracy" against both Mr. Nixon and Agnew comes in.

Residents concur that Watergate, Agnew's income tax fraud and Cox's intensive investigation have been brought about by high level interest in ousting the president and vice president. Somehow the impression is given that the public can accept devious political doings, as long as they don't know about them.

Many express the opinion that questionable actions by high level governmental officials have been going on for a long time, that the country has survived them, and that the country will live to survive them once more.

ment and the chaos of governmental reorganization is not being actively sought by Natchez residents, at least not by the majority.

People here wish an answer, but an easy answer.

The expression "to pull the wool over one's eyes" comes from the time when gentlemen wore white wigs, usually made of wool. Highwaymen would pull a victim's wig down over his eyes before relieving him of his watch and wallet.

NATCHEZ, Miss. — (NEA) — This city has come a long way in removing traditional labels associated with the typical small Southern town. Recent events, however, appear to have reactivated some of the conservatism which lies within many of her citizens.

Natchez shares much of the same consternation and confusion running rampant in the country regarding actions by Richard Nixon. Residents took Watergate with a grain of salt, not so Spiro Agnew's resignation, the firing of Archibald Cox and subsequent events.

est powers of government are severely shaken. Many question President Nixon's ethics and Agnew's honesty but accept a certain percentage of chicanery in politics with aplomb. A surprising number question that which lies

'Seesaw' Making Brave Stand To Continue On Broadway

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — Although things haven't been good on Wall Street, they also haven't been good on Broadway, but "Seesaw" has been making one of the bravest stands of any show in years. And Miss Patti Karr, now the star, was saying that in the acting business she has been very successful: "I haven't been to the unemployment office in two years. They must miss me."
"This is my fourth Broadway show in a year — and I've even bought a co-op," she said.
"As Patti spoke, the "Seesaw" closing notice was going up, but the producer was still trying to make a fight to keep the show open.

She is versatile, able to be an understudy, a standby or a star. After going on for Michele Lee about 50 times as her standby, Patti Karr became the headliner when Michele's contract expires.
"I was in two Broadway shows at one time — first time I ever heard of THAT! I was leading lady for 'Different Times' at ANTA and standby for six ladies in 'On The Way to the Forum.' They got a standby for me in 'Different Times' and if anybody'd been sick in Forum, I'd have gone there and my standby'd have gone on for me.

"I was learning so many scripts, when I picked up a newspaper, I felt I had to memorize it," Patti said.
Patti's had a variety of experience: understudy for Carol Burnett in "Once Upon a Mattress," understudy to Nancy Walker in "Do Re Mi" and to Gwen Verdon in "Redhead," and standby to Chita Rivera in "Bye Bye Birdie."
Patti, who's from St. Paul, Minneapolis, and Fort Worth, says she's a singer and dancer who became an actress.

"There's no reason a singer can't talk," she said. "I'm going to be the greatest thing since Geraldine Page. That's definite!"

Neil Simon will write a "contemporary" play based on the Biblical character, Job. (Simon mentioned that at one time he was making $60,000 a week from his B'way shows)... Bobby Riggs says he's plotting a match against Rosemary Casals. For big money, naturally.
Tennessee Williams was an eye-catcher at the Actors Studio dinner for Elia Kazan; he arrived wearing a long fur coat and a girl on each arm.

FBI Studying Stamps Theft

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (UPI) — The FBI has confirmed that $32,000 in food stamps three men are charged with trying to sell to undercover agents, were stolen in separate robberies in the East and Midwest.
"I don't think we ought to give the exact cities or details of the robberies," said Special Agent in charge of the Dallas office, J. Gordon Shanklin. "We might tip somebody off. We're still looking for leads into this thing."
Wichita Falls police said Friday the robberies occurred in New York and Ohio.

Alcohol-A Cause Of Polyneuritis

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you write about polyneuritis, probably caused by alcohol? I have been troubled with it four years. Now I have not used alcohol for a month, and notice a slight improvement in my legs and nerves. I have been taking a vitamin-mineral supplement for about a month.

Neuritis, of course, is inflammation of a nerve. Polyneuritis is inflammation of several groups of nerves, multiple troubles instead of trouble along a single nerve trunk.

Alcohol, naturally, is only one of many causes of polyneuritis, but it captures its share of victims, although not quickly. Indeed, when it does start, it quite commonly takes a matter of weeks or months to build up to the amount of misery it is capable of causing.

We say it "pursues a variable course," meaning that there is no particular pattern or severity that can be predicted for any given patient. Generally speaking, the nerve damage produces numbness, tingling and pain in the feet, then spreading up the legs and thighs.

The cause is thought to be primarily vitamin deficiency, particularly the B vitamins, along with a high carbohydrate diet — that is, a diet rich in starches but lacking foods that provide other necessary nutrients.

The disease does respond to proper treatment — which is abstaining from alcohol, and adopting a balanced diet helped along with vitamins. A high-potency mixture of vitamins and minerals is commonly prescribed in cases like yours, as well as for other conditions requiring vitamin-mineral supplements.

In your case, after four years you have quit alcohol and started catching up on your vitamin needs, and you are noticing a slight improvement.

That's to be expected. Don't look for rapid improvement, because treatment usually has to continue over a period of several months.

One word of warning (which may not be needed in your case, but it has been needed in other cases). Some folks, once the polyneuritis has been subdued, think they can go back to drinking again.

Don't be fooled! That's an invitation to start the trouble all over again.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am past 74, in good health, but drink about a quart of milk a day. I have been told (not by a doctor) that I will get too much calcium and it will cause kidney stones. Is this true or false?

—K.S.
A few persons who are subject to kidney stones of the calcium type have to limit calcium intake because of that. But most folks, on the contrary, are more likely to get too little calcium. Even if they get more than they really need, the body just discards the excess.

If you haven't shown any tendency to have kidney stones for 74 years, there's absolutely no reason to think that drinking milk will start causing them now.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am in my early 50s and had a hysterectomy and ovaries removed five years ago.

Shouldn't I be over my change of life by now? The doctor has me on hormones. At times I get very depressing moods. Is this natural?

—A.G.
Removal of the ovaries, or "surgical menopause" or change of life. Your hormone treatment has been to replace the hormones no longer being supplied by your ovaries.

Whether your depression is due to a need to change your hormone dosage or to some other factor is something I cannot answer at this distance. I suggest discussing it with your physician.

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Monday, Dec. 17, the 351st day of 1973 with 14 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase.

The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn.

The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius.

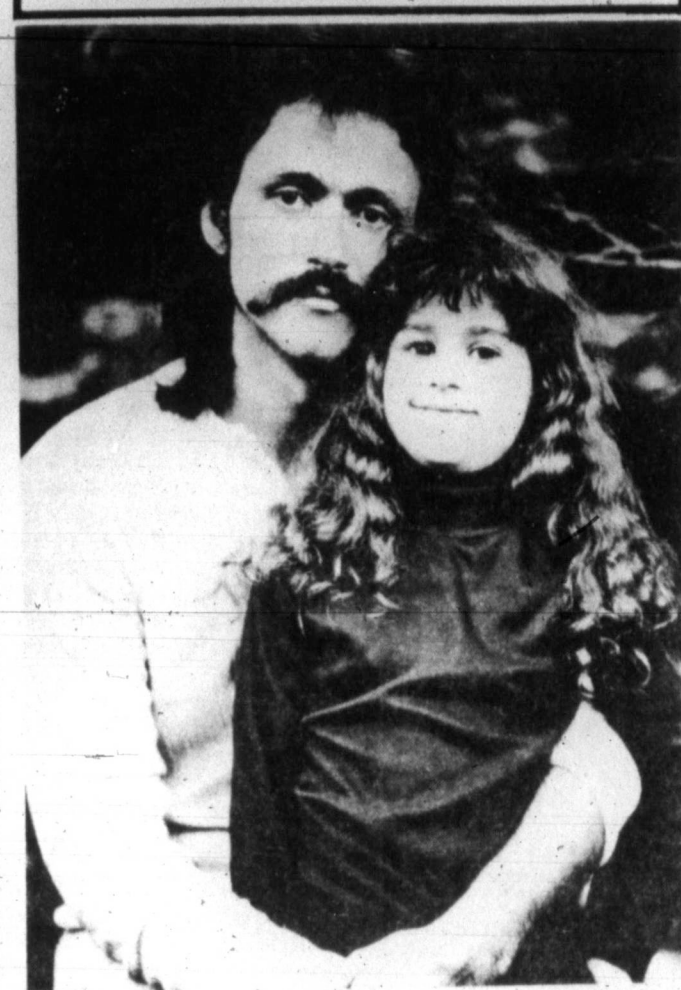

American poet John Greenleaf Whittier was born Dec. 17, 1807.

On this day in history:

In 1903, Orville and Wilbur Wright made the first successful airplane flights in history, soaring over the sand dunes near Kitty Hawk, North Carolina. One flight lasted 12 seconds and a second one was for 59 seconds.

In 1925, General William "Billy" Mitchell, outspoken advocate of a separate U.S. air force, was found guilty of conduct prejudicial to the good of the armed services. Twenty years later, the Senate conferred on him posthumously the Congressional Medal of Honor.

JESSE COLIN YOUNG

By KURT LASSEN
One can't put Jesse Colin Young in any one category except that of being successful. What adds to his lustre is the fact that he has been successful in forming two groups and making them both work. To talk to Colin is cool, confident and relaxed. His subject is today's music and he seldom strays far from it.

"I'm a little late," he explained. "Whenever I'm in New York I go shopping. I buy parts and equipment I can't always get in California and between my recording studio and our instruments there is always something special we need."

The studio actually comes a little later in the story because it was made possible by Colin's first group, The Youngbloods, formed back in 1964. In 1968 their song, "Get Together," was used for a Brotherhood commercial and rose to number one on the charts.

"By 1972 we had all sort of had it," Colin explained. "We had been highly successful, made good money, but it seemed we had also gone just about as far as we could go musically. At least we didn't seem to be growing."

When we formed Youngblood I was playing guitar but we didn't have a bass guitar player so I shifted over. I enjoyed the singing but I wasn't crazy about the bass guitar. I decided to put together a backup band with some of the musicians who worked on our "Get Together" album. It was our first and I began to sense movement in the right direction.

Colin's back-up band is made up of Scott Lawrence, keyboard; Marty David on bass; Jeff Myer on percussion and Jim Rothermel on saxophone, clarinet, flute and harmonica. Colin handles his treasured guitar and most of the singing assignments.

"I wanted to control the quality of our work," Colin explained, "so I built my own studio at home. I got deeply into the technical aspects and now we're getting the kind of sound we want. I think we've captured a lot of it in 'Song For Juli,' an album we just released."

In the album Jesse added trombone, trumpets and additional saxophones as well as a violin.

"I think that's the next instrument I'm going to add to the regular group," he told us. "It works so well with the fat, rich sounds we're into and between it and the woodwinds it works right with my singing."

Colin's singing has him labeled as one of the best voices in rock music today.

"I write practically all my own material," he says, "because I know how I want to handle a song. Then I follow through producing the songs myself. We keep striving for the top quality in sound."

"But it isn't all in the studio. We work just as hard to make our live sound what it should be. I've been professionally in music for 12 years and I've heard too many groups come off great on an album and then disappoint their listeners when they play a concert date. I'm going to make sure that doesn't happen to us."

Colin works, lives, eats, breathes music. His mind isn't wandering off to discover a song, he's planning the addition of another piece of equipment to his studio or the next instrument to achieve his unique sound.

Jesse has a fluid, mellow voice with surprising range. In the days of The Youngbloods he combined it with that of Jerry Corbitt, who helped found the original group. Now Jesse's going it alone and his own "Together" and "Song For Juli" albums seem to bear out his decision to find new musical horizons.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am past 74, in good health, but drink about a quart of milk a day. I have been told (not by a doctor) that I will get too much calcium and it will cause kidney stones. Is this true or false?

—K.S.
A few persons who are subject to kidney stones of the calcium type have to limit calcium intake because of that. But most folks, on the contrary, are more likely to get too little calcium. Even if they get more than they really need, the body just discards the excess.

If you haven't shown any tendency to have kidney stones for 74 years, there's absolutely no reason to think that drinking milk will start causing them now.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am in my early 50s and had a hysterectomy and ovaries removed five years ago.

Shouldn't I be over my change of life by now? The doctor has me on hormones. At times I get very depressing moods. Is this natural?

FOOTBALL'S BEST — O.J. Simpson, Buffalo's superbuck, did his "thing" against the New York Jets Sunday — running wild — and his "thing" netted him 200 yards, giving him 2,003 for the season. The total eclipsed Jim Brown's 10-year standing NFL rushing record of 1,863 yards. Buffalo crushed Joe Namath and the Jets, 34-14.

PLAYOFFS SET

O.J. Breaks Rushing Record

By United Press International — The National Football League mathematical whizzes now can forget about playoff probabilities and possibilities and concentrate on inscribing O.J. Simpson's name into the record books.

The NFL finally sorted out its five remaining playoff berths on the final weekend of play and Simpson ended all question concerning his run at the NFL single-season rushing record by absolutely obliterating it and becoming the first player in NFL history to surpass 2,000 yards in a season.

The playoff picture shapes up this way.

In the American Conference, Miami, which wrapped up the East long ago, ended its season Saturday with a 34-7 rout of Detroit. The Dolphins will play host Sunday to Cincinnati, which had to battle to defeat Houston 27-24 and capture the Central title.

Buffalo routed the New York Jets 34-14 as Simpson became the first runner in history to put together three 200-yard games in a season. He carried 34 times for 200 yards to finish with 2,003 yards, wiping out Jim Brown's 10-year-old mark of 1,863.

Elsewhere, Baltimore downed New England 18-13. Kansas City trounced San Diego 33-6. Green Bay shut out Chicago 210 and Atlanta edged New Orleans 14-10.

Simpson broke Brown's record on his eighth carry of the day and went over the 2,000-yard mark with 56 left to play. He scored on a 13-yard run and rookie Bill Cahill returned a punt 51 yards for another score 48 seconds later to break open the game.

"This is just unbelievable," said Simpson, who broke the record on an icy, snow-covered field. "We've worked hard all year and we're just glad it worked out so well. We're the youngest team in pro football and our future looks great."

"It's been a tough week. People have been calling me all week asking me about the record and it was hard to keep it out of my mind. I just tried to concentrate on the ballgame. At first I thought the field might slow me down but as it turned out, there was no problem."

"It hasn't hit me yet, but I guess it will when I get home. It's just so hard to believe."

Denver in their do-or-die battle. Oakland led 14-10 when Denver tried the fake punt on its own 49 and failed. Stabler then threw a 31-yard TD pass to Mike Siani for the margin of victory.

Ken Anderson threw TD passes of 77 and 67 yards to rookie Isaac Curtis and 10 yards to Bob Trumpy as Cincinnati held off determined Houston. The Bengals led 27-10 but had to survive a two-TD scare in the last quarter by the Oilers, who finished at 1-13, the worst record in the NFL.

Roger Staubach threw for 256 yards and three TDs as Dallas overwhelmed St. Louis. Two TD passes went to rookie Drew Pearson and the third to Jean Fugett.

Bill Kilmer threw four TD passes, three of them to Larry Brown, to lead Washington over Philadelphia.

H-6 IN BASKETBALL!

Temple Stalls But Loses

By United Press International — UCLA beat North Carolina State on Saturday, but the really BIG news in college basketball was made at Knoxville, Tenn.

For UCLA, you see, always wins. What happened at Knoxville doesn't happen very often, and it was so unusual that even Dr. Edward J. Boling, the president of the University of Tennessee, got himself involved.

In fact, Boling became the central character in a unique post-game happening when he asked Tennessee Coach Ray Mears to put his players through an intra-squad scrimmage immediately after they had finished winning the Volunteer Classic tournament.

The reason Boling felt the scrimmage was necessary was because of the 11,700 fans in the stands. He thought they deserved some action for their money, and they got none during the title game in which Tennessee defeated Temple 11-6. That's correct—11-6.

Temple, apparently trying to disprove the theory that the idea of the game is to score, held the ball for 11½ minutes in the first half and 14 minutes more in the second half in a slowdown attempt that failed to produce a victory but did result in one of the lowest-scoring basketball games ever played.

Someone suggested to the first-year Temple coach that his team's stall didn't do much to help college basketball in general or the Tennessee tournament in particular, and he tartly pointed out, "It's their classic, not mine."

The Owls went into the stall trailing 7-5 after 7½ minutes of the first half. They held the ball almost the rest of the half but couldn't score when Kevin Washington dribbled out of bounds with 15 seconds left in the half, and scored only one point in the second half.

No. 1 ranked UCLA, meanwhile, won its 79th consecutive game with little help from Bill Walton. Keith Wilkes scored 27 points and did a superb defensive job on David Thompson, holding him to 17, as the Bruins beat the second-ranked Wolfpack 84-66 at St. Louis to end North Carolina State's 29-game winning streak.

The Wolfpack were the only team in the top 10 to lose on Saturday.

Indiana (No. 3) whipped Ball State 87-62. North Carolina (4) had no trouble with East Tennessee State 81-63. Marquette (6) survived a mini-stall by Minnesota to win 68-50. Providence (8) got 52 points from Marvin Barnes to beat Austin Peay 94-92 (Fly Williams scored 40 for Austin Peay).

Cuero Stops Mount Pleasant To Hilite Schoolboy Playoffs

United Press International — If Cuero coach William Gilbreth had a hot line this week to coaches Corky Nelson, Carroll Lundin, Henry Wilson and Jack Coleman his advice would be "stick to your game plan."

When Gilbreth's Gobblers got away from their rushing plan this weekend it was near disaster. Mount Pleasant scored first in the Class 3A high school championship game and Cuero, using the pass, could not get going.

Then late in the second quarter we were moving into a north wind and we just decided to drive," Gilbreth said. "It was more or less ball headed, just telling ourselves that we could do it. That's really that we had planned to do all along."

Using 15 plays, three of the fourth-down variety, Cuero moved 62 yards with Arthur Whittington scoring from eight yards out. And 13 seconds before halftime it was 7-7.

"We proved it to ourselves," he said.

The second half was all Cuero, and the Gobblers won their first state football championship ever with a 21-7 verdict.

This week Cuero will bask in its championship while six more schoolboys square off for the remaining three titles.

Friendswood in Class 2A, if it can stop Hooks' running back Billy Sims, should win that title. But the other two battles shape up as just that, battles.

In Houston's Astrodome, undefeated Tyler John Tyler will play once beaten Austin Reagan for the 4A crown. The Class A title will be decided between Vega and Troup.

The big difference in Tyler's win was tailback Earl Campbell who ran for 172 yards, 85 of that on one TD run. The biggest play of the game was Tyler's only pass.

"It was an obvious situation for a pass Klate, with score tied 7-7," said Tyler coach Corky Nelson. "except that we hadn't thrown one all day long. They were keyed to stop Campbell because he had caused the damage all year. So we faked to Campbell and threw to the tight end."

Seventy-nine yards later Ronny Lee ran Tyler into the finals.

Reagan got there easier as halfback Larry Mitchell scored two touchdowns and quarterback Mark Steadman passed 70 yards for another.

"We had far more mistakes than we should have had to still win the ball game," Reagan coach Carroll Lundin said.

Coach Henry Winston's unbeaten Friendswood team again showed its Class 2A superiority with a 24-0 win over San Antonio Randolph AFB. The Mustangs will play the Hooks team of coach Jack Coleman, which beat Alpine 21-0 Friday to advance.

In the Class A semifinals, Saturday Troup edged Falls City 21-20 and Vega beat Frisco 15-7 setting up the winners' meeting for the championship.

SMU Proxy Has Confidence In Coach Despite Allegations

DALLAS (UPI) — Southern Methodist University President Dr. Paul Hardin said today he has complete confidence in football coach Dave Smith in turn apologized Sunday night for being connected with possible illegal payoffs.

"There is no plan to dismiss anyone," Hardin said shortly after his return from a Hawaii vacation.

"I want to emphasize the confidence I have in coach Dave Smith and the members of his staff as men of ability and integrity," Hardin said in a statement. "Their job is to look forward not backward, and to work positively toward a successful and competitive season in 1974, with our full backing and confidence."

One week ago Hardin told Southwest Conference officials his school was involved in alleged rule violations that included reports of incentive payments to members of the football squad's specialty teams and cash exceeding the face value for football players' game tickets.

The infractions are serious enough that, if proven, could put SMU on probation.

Some members of the 1973 Mustang team have claimed members of the punting teams, kickoff teams and other specialty teams received as much as $20 for causing or recovering fumbles, blocking kicks or other big plays.

"The rewards were in cash and were paid to the players by a coach, not immediately after the game but later on," Mike Jones, sports reporter for the Dallas Morning News one SMU football player as saying.

Smith met Sunday night with Dr. Hardin and the team.

"I have made a mistake and I am certainly sorry," Smith said. "I never intended to have anything about our program be wrong or reflect anything on SMU. Dr. Hardin and I are working through the conference officials as we should to make necessary corrections. We are wrong by the letter of the law and for that I am sorry."

Smith said he had been contacted last week about head coaching positions at the University of New Mexico and Winnipeg in the professional Canadian Football League. Smith said he met with the team Sunday night to assure players he was going to remain at SMU.

"I found our players very receptive," Smith said.

Pampa Wins JV Event

By TERRY HANNA — Pampa Shocker Tony Stafford hit both ends of a one and one free throw with 33 seconds left to put the game out of reach at 47-39, and Pampa went on to win the championship game of the Pampa Junior Varsity Tournament, 49-43, over the Borger junior varsity Bulldogs at Harvester Fieldhouse Saturday night.

Pampa trailed the Bulldogs until the middle of the second quarter when it pulled even at 14-14, then 16-16, and finally after an 18-18 tie, broke away and led the rest of the contest.

Midway through the third quarter, the Shocker lead lengthened to 13 points — (31-18) after Pampa came out of the dressing room at the half and hit five consecutive points before Borger could break the scoring ice.

Borger chipped away at the Shocker lead until there was 1:50 left in the contest. After free throws by Joel Brown, the Bulldogs pulled to within four points at 43-39.

Richard Lane hit both ends of a one - and - one and Pampa went out in front by six. With 58 seconds left, Gary Williams fouled Stafford who went to the line and missed the first shot of the one - and - one, but on the rebound, while being double covered, Stafford was fouled with 33 seconds left.

He gave Pampa an eight-point lead, sinking both shots of a one - and - one, and putting the game out of reach for Borger.

The contest's leading scorer was Pampa's Ed Drew with 13 points. Borger's Phillip Wagon led the Bulldogs with 12 points.

In the consolation championship, Pampa sophomores lost in overtime to Perryton JV 33-44, after being tied 42-42 at the end of regulation time.

Pampa's leading scorer in that game was Greg Evans with 11 points, and Perryton's leading scorer was Reagan with 13 points.

Dallas Captures Crown

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — The Dallas Cowboys whooped it up dutifully in their dressing room Sunday but the victory celebration seemed no more jubilant than for any other game.

What came with the 30-3 win over the St. Louis Cardinals was the NFC East Division title, which for Dallas is hardly a novelty. The Cowboys have won the division crown in seven of the last eight years and are heading into the Super Bowl playoffs for a record eight consecutive titles.

"It was as rewarding a win as the first one (for the title) in 1966," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "It was all the more rewarding since we lost out for the title last year (Dallas settled for a wild card spot in 1972)."

Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach Jr. compelled to explain the low-key nature of the celebration. He said the players already had their minds on next Sunday's playoff game at Dallas with the Los Angeles Rams, who earlier this year beat the Cowboys, 37-31.

"Today we won but next week we have LA to look forward to," Staubach said. "We have a lot of respect for the Rams."

He added: "Last week we didn't win the East by beating Washington — though technically that may be correct. But last week it was havoc in our dressing room."

Brown Takes 2nd In Invite

SAN ANGELO — Ted Brown won second place in the 500 freestyle and third in consolation in the 200 IM (all four strokes) to lead Pampa High School in the San Angelo Invitational Swim Meet Friday and Saturday here.

Pampa's Swimmers among the 584 entered (16 schools) were Brown, Larry Harris, Larry Stucker, Scott Smith, Tim Anderson, Jamie Hood, Marita Carter, Teresa Glasscock and Vickie Carter.

True Christmas spirit!
how the neighbors helped the lady who lived by a pepper tree

Frequently we hear people say how callous we all are, especially in America...

Much of the time we deserve this comment. Probably because we think we have to build defenses against other, outside stimuli...

A lady of some 75 years or so who lives in a small town in Southern California suffered the loss of her home by fire.

All alone in the world, the disaster might have overwhelmed some lesser person. But not Mrs. Sanchez.

She gathered her few belongings and camped out under a pepper tree on her remote hilltop. She had managed to salvage a beach umbrella, a picnic table and a sleeping bag...

One morning as she was dusting herself off, a phone company truck arrived and the man informed her that the company would like to install a wall phone wherever it would be convenient for her.

People were involved in the plight of this long-time resident in distress, and especially because of her indomitable spirit, her never-say-die attitude.

The people of the United States consume about $2 billion worth of potato chips, pretzels, nuts, crackers, spreads and other snacks annually. The average person also drinks about 20 gallons of sodas and fruit-flavored beverages each year.

AGAINST NIXON Boston Tea Party Becomes Protest

BOSTON (UPI) — President Nixon was tarred and feathered in effigy Sunday as 20,000 persons watched the re-enactment of the Boston Tea Party 200 years after the historic event.

Demonstrators threw oil barrels into Boston harbor from the deck of a reproduction of an 18th century sailing vessel in what they termed the "Boston Oil Party." The re-enactment of the tea party was the opening event of the nation's celebration of the 200th anniversary of the American Revolution.

The crowd gathered in snow that turned to cold rain as a large paper-mache effigy of the President was rowed about in a small boat.

A voice from a loudspeaker asked:

"How many people think he should be taken to the boat and hung?"

There was an enormous cheer.

"Is anybody opposed?" the loudspeaker asked.

There was silence.

Members of various veterans' groups, dressed in colonial costume, dropped wooden crates over the side of the Beaver II, a replica of one of the ships boarded in the original Tea Party 200 years ago. Minutes later, they cheered as the demonstrators, also dressed in 18th century garb, boarded the brig from several small boats, and hoisted banners demanding Nixon's impeachment into the rigging of the ship.

Price Opposes Adoption Of Special Powers Plan

WASHINGTON — Congressman Bob Price opposed legislation adopted by the House in an all-night session to give the President special powers to deal with the energy shortage, because numerous amendments had made the bill intolerable and unworkable.

"This bill has now become a vehicle with I feel will heighten rather than help solve the energy crisis," Price said.

In an eagerness to prevent producers from reaping so-called "excess profits," the House used a base period in which little oil was being produced due to already deficient profit incentives," he reported.

Price was particularly concerned about an amendment which would disallow producer profits of more than their average profits during the 1967-71 base period.

"I opposed this amendment. I supported an exemption for small independent producers, and when that failed by a narrow margin. I sponsored another modified exemption to stimulate production, but these efforts failed. Also, another amendment I offered to deregulate the well-head price of natural gas was ruled non-germane and was not considered," Price reported.

"I fear that if this intolerable and unworkable bill passes in its present form, producers will be further discouraged from exploration and the solution to our energy shortage will be pushed that much further away," the 13th District congressman said.

The bill, significantly different from a Senate-passed version, now goes to a joint conference committee where a compromise between the House and Senate versions will be reached.

Astronauts Watch Sun

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab 3 astronauts promised to use some of their precious time off today maintaining their watch over an exceptionally active sun.

Crewmen Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue worked overtime Sunday taking pictures of mighty explosions of energy from the sun's surface.

Scientist-astronaut Gibson, a solar physicist by trade, told flight controllers he did some of today's house cleaning chores Sunday night to be able to spend more time watching the sun.

Like the changing seasons on the Earth, the sun has periods of great churning activity and other times of relative quiet. This year was supposedly the end of the quiet period. But the Skylab 2 crew collected data on an extremely violent sun, to the joy of scientists who are just now learning its most basic secrets.

The crew experienced more problems Sunday with a radiator-type cooling loop that keeps down temperatures on the solar observatory and officials said the men will try to flush the loop Tuesday. They believe some sort of contaminant is clogging the lines.

Flight director Charles Lewis said there was no more erratic behavior Sunday from a troublesome gyroscope that keeps the ship on the right orbital course.

The gyro hesitated in its performance Saturday, for the fifth time in two weeks, and Lewis admitted the performance has caused genuine concern. If the gyro conks out, like another one did three weeks ago, the crew could stay aboard Skylab five weeks at the longest.

Britain Faces Austerity Plan To Revive Shaken Economy

LONDON (UPI) — Government officials worked on the final details today of a tough, austerity package of tax hikes, credit curbs and public spending cuts aimed at getting Britain's crisis-shaken economy moving again.

Government officials said Chancellor of the Exchequer Anthony Barber will announce the new program this afternoon in an emergency budget statement to Parliament. Barber was to address the nation later in the day.

Political sources predicted the new program would include higher taxes on personal incomes, whisky, beer, tobacco, oil, gasoline, television sets, washing machines and other consumer items.

Government officials said it was designed to hit the nation's pocket books to put a crimp on consumer spending and slow down inflation, which last month was at an annual rate of 10 per cent.

They said Barber also probably would announce cuts in government spending and stiff curbs on bank credit and time buying.

Fears that the government package would mean still higher prices sent Britons this weekend on a last minute buying spree.

The new tax package constitutes the second phase of measures which Prime Minister Edward Heath said were necessary for "national survival."

Water District Schedules Director Election Jan. 8

The voters of Director's Precinct No. 5 of the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District No. 3, South of the Canadian River in Texas, will go to the polls on Tuesday, Jan. 8, to elect one director for a term of two years.

Director's Precinct No. 5 comprises roughly the northeastern portion of Gray County, beginning two miles east of Pampa. John R. Spearman is a candidate for re-election to the post.

One polling place will be at the Hoover Mercantile at Hoover. The other one will be at the Laketon Farm Supply on U.S. Highway 152 at Laketon.

A legal advertisement for the election is being carried in The Pampa News.

Anyone holding a valid voter certificate of registration and living within Director's Precinct No. 5 is eligible to vote. Election officials will have a map of the precinct to assist voters who are in doubt as to their residence.

A map has also been posted at the Gray County Courthouse and at the District Office in White Deer.

Absentee voters may vote at the District Office in White Deer during office hours through Jan. 4.

Christmas Seal Contributions Lagging Behind

Christmas Seal contributions are lagging badly in Gray County, according to Bill Mackey, program director for the American Lung Association in its fight against emphysema, TB and other lung diseases.

Encouraging residents of Gray County to answer Christmas Seal letters as generously as possible, Mackey said the association is carrying on a massive program to overturn the popularity of cigarette smoking among the school-age population in the Texas Panhandle.

This organization is doing very important work to keep our young people from getting hooked on cigarettes and from becoming eventual lung cripples," Mackey said.

Even most parents who smoke don't want their kids getting hooked. I do hope people will get behind this program and the lung research we are doing. I think this work deserves public support."

Mackey serves on the Lung Association board with Mrs. Vermell Meador of Pampa.

Arabs Blow Up Lufthansa Plane

ROME (UPI) — Arab guerrillas blew up a Pan American World Airways jetliner as it was taking on passengers today, then at gunpoint put hostages onto a West German Lufthansa jetliner and forced it to take off toward Beirut.

Hospital sources said one person died shortly after arriving in an ambulance and Pan American spokesmen said at least three others died on board the attacked plane. He said at least 15 others were injured.

The guerrillas radioed Rome control tower after they took off that they were headed for Beirut. The control tower said seven or eight hostages had been taken aboard the hijacked Boeing 737 short-range jet which the control tower said took off with its doors open.

Among the hostages were airport personnel including a radar checkpoint inspector who apparently detected weapons the hijackers were attempting to take on board a plane, an airport source said.

There were about 70 persons on board the plane at the time of the attack, a Pan Am spokesman said.

Police, armed with sub-machine guns, cordoned off the airport and cut communications. Ambulances raced to and from the airport carrying wounded to Rome's San Camillo hospital, the closest to the airport, a key air link to the Middle East.

The Pan Am 707 jetliner was destroyed in the bomb and grenade attack, its fuselage left burning on the runway.

The Lufthansa plane, parked nearby, was a Rome-Munich flight. A Lufthansa spokesman said it was first believed that several passengers had already boarded the flight when the hijackers took it over, but this later proved incorrect.

A control tower spokesman said the Pan Am plane exploded and clouds of smoke blocked visibility from the tower. He said several passengers leaped to the ground from emergency exits.

A Lufthansa airliner last was hijacked on Oct. 29, 1972 by two Arab guerrillas who seized a Boeing 727 while it was over Turkey, and diverted it to Zagreb, Yugoslavia. The Arabs demanded and won the release by West Germany of three Arab guerrillas held in a Munich prison because of their involvement in the Olympic Games massacre which cost the lives of 11 Israelis, five Arabs and one German policeman.

For short distances, perhaps up to 100 yards, the kit fox is one of the fastest running animals. That's why it is sometimes called the "swift fox."
