SONE ASKS PARENTS OF FIRST GRADERS TO OBSERVE 3 RULES

Supt. L. L. Sone today issued an appeal to parents of children who will enroll in Pampa schools for the first time next September to cooperate by complying with all requirements before the time of enrollment.

The following statement was made by Supt. Sone: There are three things which we wish to call to the attention of all parents who have children who will enroll in the first grade for the first time next September. They are as follows:

- 1. The Summer Round-Up blank should be filled out by a medical doctor, preferably your family physician. We urge all parents to have their children examined early in the summer so that if there are any corrections to be made, they can be taken care of before school starts. 2. Birth certificates may be secured from the Department of Health, Bureau of Vital Statistics, at the capital of the state in which the child was born. This certificate should be written for in advance, then if the birth has not been recorded steps can be taken to have it recorded before school starts. 3. Certificate of successful vaccination against smallpox must be secured. This is issued to you by the medical doctor who vaccinates the child.

HOUSING ACT EXPLAINED AT MEETING HERE

Amendments to the National Housing Act, recently passed by Congress, were outlined to Pampa lumbermen yesterday by R. E. Sikes of Dallas, mortgage conference representative for the state. He plans to hold an open meeting here next month.

Mr. Sikes revealed that Title I of the act, repair section, has been re-instated and liberalized. An insured mortgage plan has been added and 90 per cent loans may be secured. Also, combination loans are now available.

The state representative informed lumbermen how and where to secure loans.

Pampa is in the midst of a building program that may be increased because of the new FHA system.

Outline of Amendments to the National Housing Act Under New FHA Program

Reinstatement of Title I (Repair Program)—Three classes of loans:

1.—Any property owner with good credit rating may borrow from $100 up to $10,000 with which to repair or modernize an existing structure of any type of property—such as farm, business, home, apartment houses, hotels, hospitals, schools, colleges and churches.

Money borrowed at 3 per cent discount carrying charge of 55.00 per $100 per year—to be paid back in equal monthly installments over a period of from one (1) to five (5) years.

All money borrowed from under Class I must be used for improvements to existing structure. Movable equipment such as gas and electric appliances are not eligible, but equipment which is permanently installed, such as plumbing, heating, air conditioning, which become a permanent part of the real property, is eligible.

Applications for loans over $2,500 must be submitted to Washington for prior approval.

2. Class 2—New construction of business and service buildings. Maximum of $2,500 may be borrowed to build a new business or service building used wholly or in part for commercial purposes such as: barns, silos, garages, service buildings, various types of wayside stands, gasoline stations, tourist cabins, and various industrial or commercial buildings.

No part of structure can be used for dwelling purposes. (See Class 3). This money can also be loaned on a 3 per cent discount basis to be paid back in equal monthly installments over a period of from 1 to five years.

3. Class 3—New construction of dwellings (used wholly or in part as residence).

Under this plan, an individual with a lot or building site in a location which is not eligible for financing under the FHA Insured Mortgage Plan, such as acreage, tracts, farms, rural communities, on city lease. Structure may be exclusively, or in part, for residential purpose. Total amount to be borrowed is $2,500.

Interest of 3 1/2 per cent discount—$3.50 per $100 per year carrying charge. Maximum term is seven years, 32 days.

Money can be paid back in monthly, quarterly or annual, or semi-annual payments.

Residences do not necessarily have to be modern if facilities are not available. If all utilities are available, property must be modern, and must conform with local laws, codes, or health requirements.

None of the money can be used for purchase of land or refinancing. All applications under Class 3, Title I, must be submitted to local FHA office for approval to conformity to neighborhood, before loan is made and before construction begins.

Do not confuse with Title II—if location of proposed dwelling meets requirements of Insured Mortgage Plan, submit regular application for Title II FHA loan.

Insured Mortgage Plan
1. Title II—Section 203—Insurance of mortgages on individual single family dwellings, duplexes, and apartments—not to exceed four-family units.

(A) 90% Loans

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP)—The White House said today that President Roosevelt was powerless to settle the controversy over the sale of helium to Germany growing out of the refusal of Secretary Ickes to approve a sale contract without guarantees against its use in foreign military operations.

The export of the gas to Germany, it was pointed out, requires the unanimous consent of the six cabinet officers on the National Munitions Control Board, and Ickes is one of the board members.

The announcement was made after a conference between the president and high army, navy and interior officials.

FDR MINUS AUTHORITY IN DEBATE ON HELIUM

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP)—The White House said today that President Roosevelt was powerless to settle the controversy over the sale of helium to Germany growing out of the refusal of Secretary Ickes to approve a sale contract without guarantees against its use in foreign military operations.

The export of the gas to Germany, it was pointed out, requires the unanimous consent of the six cabinet officers on the National Munitions Control Board, and Ickes is one of the board members.

The announcement was made after a conference between the president and high army, navy and interior officials.

ARKANSAS'S GOVERNOR SEEKS RENOMINATION

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 12 (AP)—Governor Carl E. Bailey came out for renomination and a third candidate appeared in opposition to Senator Hattie W. Caraway with the approach today noon of the deadline for filing of August Democratic primary intentions.

The 44-year-old governor said he would seek a second term on the basis of his record in office and that he planned no intensive campaign. Opposing him are Judge R. A. Cook, Little Rock business man;

W. E. Phillips, recently ousted State Education Commissioner; and Dr. Walter Scott McNutt, Batesville college professor running on a return-to-prohibition platform.

Ector P. Johnson, 48-year-old Little Rock attorney who never before ran for public office, is the latest candidate against Mrs. Caraway in her bid for re-election. Others in the race are Rep. John L. McClellan, Mavern, and J. Rosser Venable, Little Rock.

TODAY'S SERMONETTE

Jesus told His disciples, "How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God." And His disciples were amazed, but it was not hard because they had riches but because of the importance they placed on wealth, and the Savior made His statement plain when He said: "How hard it is for them that trust in riches to enter the kingdom of God."—Chivers.

HEAD WORK

More and more people are getting more and more tired of women's hats as a subject for public comment, but the talk made at Colorado Springs by Frank Lloyd Wright does demand brief attention.

The substance of Mr. Wright's remarks about women's hats was that they were terrible. The word he used was "monstrosities." Mr. Wright's name is probably the most familiar in the world of architecture to people who are not themselves architects. His contributions to the field have been great. Numerous of his ideas have become architectural truisms. But only a little while ago he was too much for the conservatives to stomach. He was ahead of the rest. People called some of his buildings "monstrosities."

The field of female hatery, Mr. Wright is like any other field. Monstrosities do bob up, but sometimes it turns out that they weren't monstrosities at all, but a little ahead of their time. Now certainly you wouldn't want the art of hat design to become static, any more than architecture. Once it's static, it's dead.

Let's not have any more about it. It's setad nutaconsrh

About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Hope Hampton is a sentimental sort of actress. . . She wears miniatures of all the characters she portrays on her bracelet. . . Tiny, jeweled little ornaments they are, and expensive. . . Dangling from her wrist at the moment are replicas of Mimi (La Boheme), Marguerite (Faust), Manon (Manon), and "Madame Butterfly" . . . An interesting point is that Hope designs them herself, and then presents the designs to her jeweler. . . who in turn presents her with the finished article, and the bill.

When you see Jack Dempsey step up to the bar in his restaurant and down a whiskey "neat," don't be misled. . . It's tea, which a thoughtful bar captain keeps in readiness. . . Occasionally Jack can't avoid a sociable "drink" with his pals.

Just found out that Delaware was the first state in the Union. And all this time I thought it was Virginia. . . It wasn't until 1648 that Taverns were licensed in Manhattan. . . America was really discovered by a stay-up who couldn't sleep. . . Else what was he doing up at 2:30 in the morning, which was the hour when the cry of "Land Ho" was first sounded.

Although he is wholly Irish, Morgan Downey is a Wallingford, Conn., boy. . . Cats in Mountain Lakes, N. J., can't run loose without bells on their necks. . . It was just 300 years ago this summer that the benedictine monk, Dom Perignon, learned how to bottle champagne. . . Dom was cellarer to the Abbey of Hautvillers, near Epernay. . . And while we are on the subject of liquors, let us take up the matter of sherry, which is really an English corruption of the word Jerez. . . sherry is an old, old wine, and hard to make. The best "sherry" grapes grow in Spain.

A sponge is not a vegetable; it is an animal. . . June Lang and Arleen Whelan are ex-manicurists. . . Behind the Scenes In Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Hollywood has beckoned to white-haired, tough-jawed William H. Moran, who was 54 years a government sleuth and spent the last 18 of them as chief of the U. S. Secret Service.

And Moran answered the call. When he quit two years ago he commented tartly on the meagerness of government salaries and retirement pay—and perhaps few had a better right, considering the millions of dollars of counterfeit money Moran had kept out of circulation.

Just what the big movie concern which has hired Moran in "an advisory capacity" wants him to do is not known here. But presumably he will have to be less tight-lipped than he always has been in Washington. Newspapers never learned anything from Moran. He always tried to keep himself out of the newspapers and, although he could use the money, has refused to write memoirs.

He has let it be understood that he wanted to be known merely as:

William H. Moran, Presbyterian deacon and bass choir singer.

Green's Face Red

Anyone could get much amusement from looking back at the old records of the A. F. of L. and finding all the sweet things William Green and John L. Lewis used to say about each other. Green was a member of the United Mine Workers and it was Lewis support which won him the A. F. of L. presidency, so it was natural that much flowery language should be exchanged in public before the time Lewis formed the C. I. O. No one bothers to exhume those compliments.

Up in Pennsylvania, however, politicians seeking to obtain the Democratic nomination of Lieut.-Governor Tom Kennedy for governor are using an endorsement of Kennedy by Green which rings strangely in all ears. Kennedy is in the Pennsylvania race because Lewis insisted that the Democratic politicians nominate him and Green has organized a group of A. F. of L. leaders into a group to oppose Kennedy.

"You honored yourselves when you elected our friend, our colleague, our fellow trade unionist, Thomas Kennedy, as lieutenant-governor of this state," Green told the Pennsylvania state federation of labor about three years ago.

"And I hope that he will go further. I hope that the people of this state, the great mass of the people and all of their friends, will honor him by electing him to a still higher position, and it would be a wonderful thing if some time we go into the chief executive's office in the capitol and say, 'How do you do, Governor Kennedy?'"

But in Green's mind today the election of Kennedy as governor would be a symbol of new prestige and power for Lewis and the C. I. O.

Mrs. Black and the Navy

Mrs. Hugo Black, handsome and popular wife of the Supreme Court justice, was a wartime yeomanette in the Naval Intelligence Service. She joined up at the age of 18. She recalls how she reported to the Brooklyn Naval Hospital for a physical examination and how a trained nurse turned the library into a temporary examining room. After it was over she found that her clothes had fallen down behind a heavy bookcase where she had placed them. Wrapped in white sheeting, she called on the Navy for help.

"When at last I recovered what belonged to me I left a perspiring, wilted group of men," she reported in the Junior League Magazine. "They had to remove hundreds of heavy medical journals, and take each section down one by one, and as I left I could almost hear their prayer: 'Oh Lord, keep this a man's navy!'"

After that the now Mrs. Black was kept busy looking up addresses on suspicious cablegrams that came to the Navy's attention.

The children of the President have always called his mother "grand mare," after the French. But Buzelle and Sistine Dall, speaking to or of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, use the plain American "grandpa" and "grandma."

'Hm—I Wonder About That Guy'

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Right up in the "Snow White" class for popular appeal should go "The Adventures of Robin Hood," a film to delight all ages.

The new Robin Hood is Errol Flynn, this town's premier swash-buckling star, only one of consequence since Douglas Fairbanks settled down. The tall rangy Irishman brings the romantic figure to brilliant and dashing life in a production so well-proportioned throughout that no single performance can dominate it.

The picture represents a happy proportion of the spirit of adventure and romance, its elements woven so skillfully that even its superlative color photography intrudes no more than Erich Wolfgang Korngold's fine musical scoring. Into the screen play are blended many of the familiar Robin Hood legends, pointed up to fit naturally into the exciting, well-knit plot. If the story and Robin's life in the forest, to confound Prince John and Gisbourne, sometimes strain credulity, it must be remembered that this is a legend, a fanciful adventure.

The Credits
 Robin's Maid Marian is pretty Olivia De Havilland. Una O'Connor, only other woman cast, plays—her maid for excellent comedy with Herbert Mundin as Much the miller's son. Basil Rathbone is his suave, blackest villain as Gisbourne, and Claude Rains as Prince John is remarkable in a role that might have been negative. Patric Knowles is Will Scarlett, Alan Hale is Little John (the role he played in the Fairbanks silent version) and Eugene Palette is Friar Tuck. Ian Hunter is a kingly figure as Richard the Lion Heart.

Other Names Previewed
 Credited for direction are Michael Curtiz and William Keighley. The latter—in a gesture unusual to Hollywood—has publicly thrown the laurels to Curtiz, insisting he walked off the assignment midway in conviction it would be a "turkey."

In "Vivacious Lady" boy meets girl, boy marries girl—and then has several reels of trouble breaking the news to his parents and claiming his bride. Ginger Rogers is the cabaret singer and James Stewart is the young college professor who, instead of rescuing his cousin (James Ellison) from her clutches, falls hard himself, marries her—and then must introduce her to family and campus at dear old Alma Mater. His college-president father is Charles Coburn, his mother Beulah Bondi, his fiancée Frances Mercer.

As a human comedy with human characters, "Vivacious Lady" is sure to find favor with audiences sated with insanity on the screen, hungry for sincere romance minus slaps and socks. George Stevens' direction displays originality, frequently is brilliant, rarely strained. "Vivacious Lady" should be seen.

"Kentucky Moonshine" is the latest from the Ritz Brothers' bag of movie tricks—an audience comedy whose high point is the trio's presentation of "Snow White." Pretty Marjorie Weaver shines. It's very funny—especially for Ritz enthusiasts.

"Sinners in Paradise" is a sort of "Grand Hotel" on a tropical island. An assorted cast of characters is pitched the whole crash of a trans-pacific air liner. John Boles and servant are the only inhabitants—and then a lot of things happen. Midge Evans is the girl.

"The Saint in New York": Louis Hayward smoothly impersonates that mysterious fellow who goes about attending to other people's business, in this case wiping up a New York gang. The attractive heroine is Kay Sutton.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

It was the first Boy Scout camping trip for the five new boys, and the Scoutmaster made a poor out of trying to act as if it were the usual sort of trip and as if he were not as thrilled as the youngsters. The sameness that had made several previous trips with older boys unexciting was lacking. These younger boys had the appealing enthusiasm especially peculiar to boys 12 and 13 years of age. . . Just before sundown, the man and the younger boys diked up the creek, and in that time they saw a half-dozen wild deer which had never been scared by the sight of one of their kind lying dead with blood flowing from gunshot wounds. . . It was the first time the boys had seen wild deer. A crane with long legs dangling rose from a lagoon of water. Owls flew furiously among the shadows of the cottonwood trees that grew huge and dense up and down the creek. . . The boys had time to pass the cooking test and the boys were fascinated, as they always are, by cooking their own meat. And it was an exquisite pleasure to answer the tumbling, eager questions. . . And one little boy who was 12 years and 30 days old and who weighed 70 pounds got cold and so he pulled on big Stokes Green's sweater that hit the boy around his knees, and he had to roll up his sleeves but he was unaware of anything but the taste of the food. . . Then night came and the visit to the "haunted," empty house up the creek where Dave Lard used to live, and then some shivery stories. . . and now we are planning the next trip.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M. D.

Better Babies
 The Chinese figure that a baby is really nine months old when it's born. This calculation is factually correct. At birth the child changes from a dependent to an independent existence. How well it will thrive independently is largely determined by the kind of "start in life" it received during the nine months of its dependent existence.

The crux of this matter is with the mother who is most likely to have a healthy baby when she is in good physical condition. Pregnancy is a natural process, but not so completely natural that the pregnant woman may allow herself to drift along careless of her diet, of her personal hygiene, of exercise, recreation and the like.

The pregnant woman needs expert guidance, the kind the experienced physician can give her, during the full nine-month period. Of course, guidance given and guidance accepted are two separate matters, and to be safe, the pregnant woman must scrupulously follow her physician's instructions.

Of particular value is the advice she receives on foods. During its "start in life," the developing baby requires foods out of which it can build sound and healthy flesh and bone. Necessary amounts of food, but the foods that make a balanced diet, one that contains an abundance of the mineral salts and of the vitamins, are required.

The pregnant woman should not accept her next-door neighbor's advice. She should follow the specific instructions given by her physician as to what and how much to eat. No pregnant woman should feel offended when advised to have a Wasserman test. Syphilis is a communicable disease and a treacherous one. It may be contracted unknowingly and harbored without symptoms. When syphilis is discovered early and treatment is begun by the third month of pregnancy, the chances for a normal and healthy baby are very good.

Adequate medical supervision of the pregnant woman reduces the risks of miscarriage and premature delivery. A noted obstetrician says: "Women should not feel that the beginning of labor is time enough to call the doctor. His part in the job begins in the early months, and the doctor's responsibility is not terminated until the patient is in a position to care for her baby."

The Capital Jigsaw

AUSTIN, May 12.—(AP)—Midnight electricity is literally being burned in one state government department.

Work in most state departments is an 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. affair, but not so in the comptroller's. The reason is that issuing benefit checks for unemployment compensation, which total as many as 55,000 in one week, has been assigned the comptroller.

Because the department did not have sufficient machinery to do the job during daylight hours a shift of employees was assigned to work on the checks at night.

Two instances of candidates having their names changed in courts here come to the attention of the Democratic State Executive Committee.

One candidate was G. A. Jerry Sadler of Longview and the other was Tom Smiley of Karnes City. Sadler inserted in his name while Smiley shortened his from Thomas B.

In changing Smiley's name, District Judge S. B. Carr of 81st judicial district said "The court finds the change will not injure any person."

Smiley wrote Vann Kennedy, secretary of the committee. "There is no longer any Thomas Brannon Smiley, Thomas B. Smiley, Judge Smiley, T. B. Smiley, Captain Smiley, Major Smiley or Colonel Smiley, but in a legal manner all of the above names have been rolled down to 'Tom Smiley.'"

Sadler is a candidate for the Rail Road Commission seat of C. V. Terrell. Smiley is running against Richard Critz, associate justice of the Supreme Court.

George Clarke, until recently one of Gov. James V. Allred's secretaries and now publicly representative of the Unemployment Compensation Commission, was observed reading a book of memoirs by former Gov. Pat M. Neff, president of Baylor University.

He called attention to an account of Neff's pardoning a negro convict the day before his administration ended.

At intervals in the four years he was governor Neff visited the penitentiary and was beset with requests for the negro for a pardon. The negro also sang a song which ran something like this: "If I had the governor where the governor has me, I would before morning set the governor free."

The negro won his case just before Neff went out of office.

Clarke remarked that Gov. Allred, whose term ends next January, does not have the clemency powers Neff had.

He can pardon a convict only on recommendation of the state Board of Pardons and Paroles. He can grant one reprieve of 30 days in a death case without consent of the Board.

Bob Calvert, speaker of the House of Representatives and candidate for attorney general, says he never was a football player, but if elected he can "make some good touchdowns in following the constitution and enforcing the laws."

He made the statement in Austin after visiting many sections of the state talking with boys at the forks of the creek. There is suspicion he was hitting at Gerald Mann, also a candidate for the attorney generalship and not many years ago a great gridiron star at Southern Methodist University.

Looking back over his administration, Gov. Allred said the other day he had one regret. "I am sorry," he said, "that more elementary buildings were not built and provision made to take care for the helpless people needing assistance."

"I wish the building program had been double or three times what it was." The previous night the governor had attended a demonstration showing accomplishments at the State School for Feeble-Minded in Austin. That morning he had approved a efficiency appropriation of $25,000 for operation of the Kerrville Sanatorium for Tubercular Negroes, the Legislature appropriation having run short.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life . . .

By R. C. HOLLES

HAPPINESS AND WEALTH

An advocate of the Townsend Plan sidesteps the issue by insisting that we are contending that happiness and wealth are synonyms.

We are convinced that happiness comes largely from accomplishment, from doing something that will add to the general welfare of society. And the belief of many of the Townsendites that spending benefits society as a whole causes them to be very happy in the hallucination that they have discovered a method of adding to the wealth of the world by the simple and delightful method of spending and destroying wealth.

The fact of the matter is that the Townsend plan, preventing people from working and producing and compelling them to spend, instead of conserving and adding to the wealth of the world, would take away the greatest joy of all—the pleasure of accomplishment—because their spending would not make other people able to enjoy more but would take away from other people exactly what the pensioners would spend but that part of which they spend which was consumed would be, of necessity, taken from those people who produced it, and those people who produced it would have nothing at all in return and be obliged to sacrifice and do without so that other people might consume.

Thus, the Townsend Plan, instead of adding to the happiness of the Townsend members, would make them unhappy if they had any comprehension at all of simple arithmetic, that subtracting from the total wealth does not increase the total wealth.

UNEMPLOYMENT

We quite often hear the statement made by apologists for the New Deal, when the question of unemployment is brought up, that there has always been men unemployed and there is no reason to be excited because of ten or twelve million men being out of work.

The answer to this question is plain. In any free country, where free enterprise prevails instead of planned economy, there always will be men who are seeking better pay. Of course, in a dictatorship men do not have the right to stop work for better pay. They must work for what they are told to work for or starve; but, under a practical democracy where free enterprise prevails, men have a right to stop work and search for any job that can better use their talents.

It is quite different, however, for people to stop work because they are searching for better jobs and have saved sufficient to support them while they are searching for better jobs than it is to have people unable to find work and unable to support themselves while they are out of work.

WOLCOTT AND RICE DOPED TO WHIP STEERS

DALLAS, May 12, (AP)—Boylsh Fred Wolcott, Rice Institute's tow-headed candidate for the "world's fastest human," leads a fleet pack of teammates into the Southwest Conference track and field meet here tomorrow and Saturday doped to nose out the University of Texas.

Three first places are expected to belong to Wolcott after the finals Saturday. Recent maker of a 110-yard high hurdle mark of 13.9 seconds, which bettered the American record, Wolcott is expected to win that event, the 220-yard low hurdles and the 100-yard dash.

His mates who recently joined him in setting new Drake relays marks, are counted on to aid him in bringing in firsts in the 440-yard and one-mile relays, but Texas, holders of records in both these events, will be pushing the Owls all the way.

Dope sheets favored the Owls to win eight of the 16 events, but critics believed Texas could sneak in with a goodly portion of the seconds and thirds to defend its title.

The Shreveport Sports were still in the second division today but they were commanding a second look from critics who expressed sympathies for them a month ago in the turbulent Texas League race.

The Sports started the season by dropping nine straight, but have become as tough as they make themselves as Oklahoma City will testify. Yesterday Shreveport shut out the Indians for the second time in a row behind the effective pitching of Jim Binvin, who allowed the Oklahomaans four hits, none for extra bases, while Walsh was slugging two homers and Jim Moore and Bill Sivlich socking one each for the Sports four runs.

Shreveport thus went into sixth place and the Dallas Steers took over sole possession of the cellar by falling before San Antonio 7-2. Fort Worth edged into seventh position by downing Beaumont 3-2.

WICHITA AND PAMPA TRADE GLOVES BOUTS

Pampa and Wichita Falls amateur boxers divided bouts last night at the Pampa Athletic arena, each town taking five. One of the Wichita Falls wins, however, was a fluke.

It was the Benny Moore-Ed Spears bout. Moore, of Shamrock, hit the Wichita Falls boy with everything but the corner post but one of the judges, turning in his decision, put the wrong name on the slip, he reported after the decision had been given to Spears. Since a decision cannot be changed after the referee announces the winner, Spears was given credit for the win.

The judges had a hard time deciding winners so close were most of the matches. Hairline wins were in order when Eddie Russey of Wichita Falls, state A. U. champion, decided Frankie Bills of Shamrock. Bills took a nine count but came back strong enough to erase the knockdown. Russey, however, had the experience and took the decision. Warren Green, with hands dangling nearly to his knees, shaded little Cleve "Red" Drake. The little fellow got inside to land heavy lefts but Green's reach saved the day for him. Bob McKee, making his first appearance for Pampa, won a close one from Country Smith in another hairline decision.

Only clean knockout of the night came when Jack Gillis, Pampa heavyweight, pounded out a win over Wichita Falls' Earl Nicolson in the third round. Nicolson was leading on points until Gillis started connecting to mid-section and jaw.

Melton Beats 2nd Year Jinx With Sixth Victory

Associated Press Writer. Meet the icicle, folks, he not only has the temperament, he even looks like one, this Cliff Melton, the Giants' sophomore southpaw who's standing National league batters on their ears and giving old-man second year jinx one of the classiest goings-over that gentleman ever has suffered.

He's built on the general proportions of a beanpole, Melton is, stretching about six feet six straight up from his size 12's, and his most distinguishable features are a pair of out-sized ears. But, man, can he pitch!

Nothing riles him. Not even as nifty a needler as Bolling Bolly Grimes, one of the doubtful if Cliff-ers. In fact it's doubtful if Cliff-ers the boys have tagged him Mickey Mouse and Mountain Music and Stringbean— even realizes they're trying to rib him. He has less imagination than a pancake and he pays his cool calm and collected southpaw mate, King Carl Hubbell.

As a result, Cliff today is big league baseball's No. 1 elbow of the year in the matter of games won and lost, with an unbeaten run of six straight showing that a second-year man doesn't necessarily have to go to the dogs, as is the general belief. He's one of the chief reasons Bill Terry's Terrific Terriers are making somewhat of an early season runaway of the National league race, what with the Chicago Cubs showing signs of coming apart at the seams.

GALENTO EXPECTS TO KNOCK OUT MANN TOMORROW NIGHT

By GAYLE TALBOT. NEW YORK, May 12 (AP)—It looks like poor Tony Galento, who asks only that he have his beer and be permitted to bite in the clinches, was born to trouble. Nothing seems to go right for Tony except his left hand, with which he expects to knock out Natie Mann tomorrow night.

He only just managed to get himself reinstated by the local boxing commission so that he could start in making an honest living for his first-born, and now he finds himself the unwitting cause of a war between his manager, Joe Jacobs, and the promoter, Mike Jacobs. "Something's always happenin' to me," the Newark round man mourned after Joe and Mike had their verbal clash yesterday down at the boxing commission. "I was in the principal of a house-brick, and it seems like I been hittin' somebody with a house-brick ever since."

"Chee, Joe's sore at me now because I signed a contract for this fight. They shouldn't told me they was goin' to reinstate Joe as a manager if they wasn't gonna do it. Joe says I made a 'scratch man' outta him, whatever that means."

Tony really looked pained right down to where his neck would start, if he had a neck. He couldn't work up any enthusiasm as making his first appearance as a main-eventer at the Garden.

BROMBERG TO BE CUMMINGS' FOE MONDAY

Count Seigfried von Bromberg Hiller's wrestling representative to America, is being given a tough assignment here Monday night when he tangles with Bob Cummings in the main event of Promoter Cliff Chambers' wrestling card. Opening gun will be fired at 8:30 o'clock.

A semi-final no less tough than the main event will send Sterling "Dilly" or "Dizzy" Davis against George Hartay, the Hungarian flash.

For an opener, the little promoter will use Buzz Reynolds and an opponent not yet named.

The German army man appeared on the mat last Monday night for the first time and gave notice that he is rough and tough and out to win regardless of the method of procedure necessary. He enters the ring wearing a black robe decorated with an Iron Cross which he is entitled to display according to reports.

Love Flight

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES COPYRIGHT, 1938, BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, the first quarrel comes and Roger leaves Jackie on the dance floor. And he does not dance with her again.

CHAPTER X

Jackie did not believe she ever had been so angry before in all her life. She told herself that she simply despised Roger Breckner. So he thought it was ridiculous, did he, to pretend to be engaged to her? He had laughed at her, accused her of being jealous. Jackie forgot that she had called the very idea of their engagement ridiculous, too, more than that once. She did not know anything about jealousy, since she had never been in love. She did not know how much skin hatred and love can be.

She did know she wished she could square matters some way with Roger for having got her into this mess. She would like to make him suffer for it, as much as she had. She would like to turn the laugh on him.

Well, one thing was certain, the moment this fight of his was over, Jackie would put an end to this whole crazy business. She could not keep this up any longer. Even if she had to tell Evelyn the whole truth about everything.

"Dear me," Evelyn said, toward the end of the long evening. "I do think Roger has behaved very strangely toward you, Jacqueline. Why do you know he had danced practically every dance with Mrs. Melrose? He is dancing with her now—see them, darling!"

"Of course I see them!" Jackie snapped. How could she help herself? She did not have to have her attention drawn to the fact that Roger was dancing with Beryl Melrose. She had been very much aware of it all evening. She knew he was doing it on purpose, because he thought it would make her jealous.

"It does not look very well when this is your engagement party," her mother murmured up any longer.

"It's really yours," Jackie said. "Mine!" Evelyn exclaimed. "Oh, I see what you mean, darling—because of myself and Paul. You know, I believe Paul thinks it odd, too, the way Roger is behaving. . . . Scott thinks about anything!" Jackie said. Then she turned away, biting her lips hard. She was not biting them because it was an effort to keep back the prick of tears from behind her eyelids, or down the big lump filling her throat. But she was tired, the silver slippers pinched her feet, her head throbbed from trying to hold it high, her lips felt stiff from keeping them in a curving smile. Besides, she must be careful what she said or her mother would no longer believe in this ridiculous engagement. To have Evelyn find out now that it was all pretense would be more than Jackie's nerves could stand.

Roger and Beryl Melrose came up to Jackie after that glance. "I'm afraid I'm going to have to say goodnight," Mrs. Melrose said smiling, extending her hand. "It's so sweet of you to ask me."

She actually sounded as though she meant it, but of course Jackie could see through her. "It was nice of you to come," she returned politely. It was just lovely of you to spoil my whole evening, she might have added. But she had no intention of letting this other girl know that.

"Of course I'll see you again," Beryl said. "You'll be coming to the field to see Roger take off. You must be genuinely proud to be engaged to him!" As she said this last, she turned her big dark eyes toward Roger, with a look that, although Jackie did not know anything about love, could be easily read.

Why Beryl Melrose was in love with Roger! Really in love with him. This knowledge was like an icy shower descending upon Jackie's head. She did not know why it should be like that. It could not make any difference in her young life.

Of course I'm proud of him," Jackie said. Really he did not want to say it. But she just did. She, too, gave Roger a look; a shy smiling one that seemed to say how proud she was, more than any words. For suddenly Jackie had been seized with an idea of her own! She really would put on an act. She really would make people believe in this ridiculous engagement. Even Roger himself!

Then she would indeed have the laugh on him.

He was looking at her in his puzzled masculine way. "You sounded as though you meant that," he said. "I haven't done anything to be proud of yet."

"But you will!" Jackie flashed. Now she stepped closer to him, slipping up an arm through his, looking up at him again. "You know," she said to Beryl Melrose, "Roger said I am going to be married just as soon as he comes back from his flight."

"We are!" Roger looked quite astonished at this news, as though it was the first he had heard of it—as indeed it was.

"We decided on that tonight," Jackie said. "At least, I did." She flashed Roger another shy, sweet smile. She was not Evelyn La Farge's daughter for nothing, after all! "I found out—just tonight—that I must have that definitely understood—before Roger goes away. I mean," "I understand," Beryl Melrose said. Her dark eyes looked into Jackie's a significant moment—as though she did understand, perhaps more than had been said. She said good night once more. Roger said he would see her to her cab.

When he came back he found

Jackie sitting in a secluded corner, sheltered by a mass of flowers and shrubs, screened from the dance platform and the gay lights. She looked as though she were waiting for him. Which was exactly how she had hoped to look. Maybe, because she did not want him to see what her eyes really said. "No—I wasn't pretending. I . . . I guess you were right, Roger. About Beryl Melrose. I mean, I could not bear to see you with her—all evening." That was the truth. It made her so angry that she had seen red. "You mean that?" Roger took a step closer, he caught both of her hands in his. "Don't pretend with me now, Jackie—I warn you. This is just Jackie. Not for the benefit of your mother, or anyone else."

"Yes, it is just between us," Jackie said. "This was how she would even the score with him. For getting her into this crazy idea of his, for everything. This was how—in the end—she would show him she hated him. "Nobody else has anything to do with this," Jackie said.

Certainly nobody else had anything to do with what happened next. With one swift motion Roger drew her onto her feet. He caught her to him and held her closer than he ever had held her before. His eyes, that were as blue as the sky, looked down into hers a long moment. Then his lips found hers and clung to them.

Jackie had not known that there could be such a kiss as this, fierce, yet tender, delicious, yet thrilling, a kiss that lifted you out of yourself so that reality slipped from your senses, robbing you of reason, stirring your veins into a joyous tumult that was fearful, heart-filling. So that for a moment you almost believed in it yourself!

Jackie saw now that this idea of hers was almost as dangerous as a light into the stratosphere! But Jackie was not afraid of anything. She would play this through, to the bitter end.

VISITORS AND PAMPANS SEE SITE OF LAKE

Seven men connected with the construction of the dam on McClellan Creek and delegations from nearby cities were guests at the monthly membership meeting of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce Tuesday noon in the basement of the First Methodist church which was filled to capacity. Later a large group drove to the dam site.

Ted Smith, engineer on land development, expressed thanks to all who took part in the move to build the lake. "I am glad that I was invited to meet with you men who have taken such an interest in our development program," Mr. Smith declared.

Earl Lee Bradshaw, project manager, and George Rich, regional engineer, admitted that they would be praying for dry weather during construction of the dam proper and that afterwards everyone could pray for rain to fill the lake.

William Anderson, landscape architect, who drew a picture of the lake, now hanging in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, said he hoped to see the lake and surroundings the way he drew them on paper.

Robert Barkley, head of the water utilization department, and Larry Bury, assistant, said they couldn't fill the lake but that rain could.

T. E. Wilkins, head of the land acquisition department, was the other guest. He thanked those who assisted in securing the land for the lake.

Visitors were present from LeFors, Alameda, Wheeler, Miami and Borger. A guest was Charley Lockhart, state treasurer, and H. S. Secrist of the Austin Dispatch.

The Top O' Texas Fiesta plans were outlined by Dr. C. H. Schulke, president of the Pampa Junior

Chamber of Commerce, who predicted that the celebration would be bigger and better than ever.

Postmaster C. H. Walker, who introduced the speakers, urged everyone to mail at least one air mail letter during Air Mail Week, May 15 to 21. May 19 has been designated as special air mail day in Pampa when eight flights will be made over the Top O' Texas area with air mail.

Church Observes Mother's Day

DENWORTH, May 11—A Mother's day program was observed in the church here Sunday, with M. D. Bentley of McLean, Mrs. Willard Doom, William Roach and Paul Jenks of LeFors, taking part.

A clarinet duet was played by William Roach and Paul Jenks. A pianologue was given by William Roach, with Mrs. Doom as accompanist.

Do You Suffer from Nerves?

Dallas, Texas—Mrs. Ola Young, 3611 Bertrand St., says: "I was barely able to eat solid food and felt very tired and nervous, was hardly able to get about the house. I used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it gave me a splendid appetite and helped to relieve me of that tired, nervous feeling." Ask your druggist today for it in liquid or tablets. represents what recreational water in the Panhandle, means to us. Lake O. C. W. a snappy name representing oil, wheat and cattle; Lake Estacado, suggesting the mystery and romance of the vast region once widely known as the Llano Estacado of "staked plains," which includes this territory, or Staked Plains Lake. Lake Six Flags, suggesting our early Texas history. Lake Texas from the legends giving the origin of the name Texas; Buffalo Bayou, an attractive and appropriate name for the lake in our Panhandle, which is taken from the name of the first railroad in Texas, started in 1852.

"Arrow heads can be found at the dam site or lake. A large arrow head could be built on the side of a hill and small ones on buildings and signs to the lake could read (here Mr. Durham draws an arrow head with the name printed on the symbol). He writes the Roving Reporter that "I believe the name I am sending in would be the best name that could be suggested for the lake being built on McClellan Creek. Arrow-headed Lake or Arrow Head. I am sure that arrow heads made of flint rock can still be found at the dam site, and arrow heads reminds one of the past.

"A large arrowhead could be built on a hillside and smaller ones could be put on front of buildings at the lake. "If I win the money I will give it to the first Boy Scout that brings me an arrow head from the dam site."

German Sisters Remembered Five names are suggested by Louise Clark and four by Mrs. J. P. Clark. Mrs. Clark would choose Trail of '74, "in honor of early pioneers and that was the year of the massacre and rescue of the German sisters; Lake Jane, "to honor Jane Garman, who lost her life when she tried to interfere with the scalping of her dead mother." "Lake '74, for in 1874 occurred the massacre and rescue of the German family; Lake Mary, to honor Mrs. Mary Wyre, the oldest school teacher of this section as well as the oldest lady. Louise Clark would select Sophialake, "combining the names of Sophia and Adelaide German; Lake Julia Adelaide, "for they are the names of the youngest German sisters; Lake Hobart, for T. D. Hobart; Lakes Miles, for George Miles, who did so much for the German sisters and who was their guardian for a number of years; Lake Julianne, combining the names of Julia and Catharine German."

Mrs. Lena McWhirter would select the name "Lone Star" for the lake. Mrs. McWhirter, whose home is in Magic City, writes that "Magic City must not be left out of the race for the lake name." Lone Star, she believes, would eliminate any hard feelings on anyone's part. Seven suggestions are made by Mrs. Paul Kassihke: Liquid Gold Lake, "an appropriate name because of its double meaning. It represents oil, which has contributed so much to our modern history and it truly

DUMAS STRIKE OF 144 MEN 3 WEEKS OLD

DUMAS, May 12.—Effects of the three-week-old strike of 144 workmen of the Illinois Zinc Smelting plant, located 10 miles northeast of Dumas, are beginning to be felt heavily here.

Many of the smelter workers were paying for automobiles, meeting installments on radios, refrigerators and other goods. Now, it is said, a number of men are losing their automobiles, radios, and refrigerators, and this is hard on both the merchants and on the men of this town, which has a population of 2,600.

The majority of the strikers favor holding out for a ruling from the National Labor Relations Board. Some, however, want to end the strike by going back to work. The local union of the CIO has preferred charges against the smelting company to the labor relations board. County officials say the matter probably will be settled in two or three months.

Several conferences on the matter have been held, some in Amarillo and some in Dumas. One in Amarillo was conducted by a representative of the National Labor Relations Board. But the union and the company failed to accede to the demands of the other, and the strike is still facing a stone wall.

Fires are still maintained in the furnaces at the zinc smelter, and the clerical force of some 10 men reports to work every day.

The Dumas Chamber of Commerce, county officials, the Dumas newspaper, the Moore County News, and individuals are trying to terminate the strike. Numerous meetings have been held and others are scheduled.

The only individual in Moore County who is said to be enjoying the strike is Perkins. Perkins has seen 24 winters and 24 summers and stands almost 16 hands high. He is a large black mule that works in the smelter. It is said that Perkins has a history that he has worked in the zinc mines of South America. And he is now enjoying his long vacation from work.

The striking smelter workers live in small frame houses in Dumas and on the Illinois Zinc Company's property north of here near the plant. The houses in Dumas are small, of about three rooms each, on the outskirts of the city. Their sameness is striking.

Some of the strikers went to County Judge Noel McDade recently and asked him to draw up a petition for them to the effect that they, the undersigned, wanted to go back to work and hold a consent election to determine the bargaining agency. This petition, however, has had no results as yet.

A rumor was circulated here yesterday that the men would go back to work Monday, but it was not substantiated.

Crux of the whole thing is that the Illinois Zinc Company will not recognize the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter, which is affiliated with the Committee For

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, May 12. (AP)—It was a stock market in search of a trend today as leading issues stumbled into insignificant declines and equally unimportant advances.

The list lacked rallying vitality at the start, although there were few noticeably depressed groups. Just as there was a scarcity of strong stocks, volume dwindled after the opening and dealings were of an indifferent character during the remainder of the proceedings. Transfers approximated 550,000 shares.

One or two aircraft, oil, mail orders and specialties gave fair account of themselves, and utilities and rails contested such light pressure as was exerted against them. Steels, motors, rubbers and coppers stood still or shifted to moderately lower levels.

There's a pleasant surprise for you in your first glass of COORS EXPORT LAGER. You'll note with pleasure how pure, how richly-satisfying it is. But the surprise is BALANCED FLAVOR. It's the absence of either sweet or bitter tones that gives flavor distinction to this noted brew — that makes you realize you have found the ideal beer. And when you have tasted COORS EXPORT, you'll understand how the brewing triumph of BALANCED FLAVOR can be achieved only with the finest ingredients... costly, highly-skilled methods... Rocky Mountain spring water.

I double dare you... show me a cigarette that gives MORE PLEASURE

why—

... because Chesterfield ingredients are the best a cigarette can have... mild ripe home-grown tobaccos... aromatic Turkish tobaccos... aged for 2 1/2 years... pure tasteless cigarette paper... and a blend that can't be copied

... they'll give you MORE PLEASURE than any cigarette you ever smoked
