Home Management Supervisor Assists Pampa Gardeners

"In spring a farm wife's mind should turn to thoughts of a well-cared for, productive garden," believes Miss Martin, home management supervisor for the Farm Security administration in Gray county.

"Spring time suggests gardens and all farm families should consider the food needs for each member of the family and then take steps to produce as many of these foods as possible. The kind of meals served by a housewife have a great effect upon the health of their families, and a great many vegetables are necessary to prepare adequately balanced diets."

Many home gardeners working with Miss Martin in this county have planted tomato, cabbage and pepper seeds in window boxes or cold frames so they will have plants ready to transplant to the gardens as soon as the danger of frost has passed. As 75 to 90 per cent of the family's food supply can be provided directly from the farm, including fruits and vegetables which are so necessary to health, and because the production of these foods cuts family living costs, the Farm Security administration encourages its growers to do all within their power to grow adequate home gardens.

A thrice-weekly air service is now operating between Peking and Tokyo.

GUARANTEE

As a theatre manager, I am always reluctant to guarantee a motion picture, because that which pleases one person may not please another.

Having seen the picture "Of Human Hearts," I place my personal guarantee on the picture because I believe it will be considered one of the finest dramas ever brought to the screen.

I think every parent and child should see it. And to those of you who seldom attend the theatre, I assure you that you will have an experience that you will not soon forget.

It's more than a picture. It's a sermon from life that will remain in your memory.

PACKERS BAND TO PUSH TAX BILL THROUGH

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Packers of the revised tax bill, contending it was a needed spark-plug for the nation's economic machine, banded together today to force Senate passage by Saturday.

The Senate Finance committee, which approved the measure formally yesterday, swung far away from administration-sponsored levies voted by the House and substituted tax formulas advocated by business representatives.

As debate began, administration forces were trying to reinstate a modified tax on undistributed corporate profits, which the committee eliminated. Several senators predicted, however, that the floor fight would be unsuccessful and that a conference committee of senators and representatives finally would settle the issue.

Various Senate groups also sought to include in the bill processing taxes and special excise levies on imported pork and canned ham.

In addition, Senator La Follette (I-Ore.) said he would reoffer his often-rejected proposal to broaden the tax base by reducing present income tax exemptions.

A foretaste of debate on this plan came yesterday, when Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) told the Senate that unless the government quits running up billion-dollar deficits, "we will be forced to carry the income tax down to the very lowest income level."

Bankhead asserted that "it may not be done now—there is an election on—and the necessity for it may not be great enough yet."

"But my day is coming," he continued, pounding desk tops and marching up and down an aisle during a speech on the army appropriations bill.

Bankhead asserted that unless deficits are stopped a $1,000 income exempt, might bear a $250 income tax. La Follette's proposal would cut the exemption for single persons from $1,000 to $800 and that for married persons from $2,500 to $2,000.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—A downturn in a slow stock market today erased part of the wide gains leading shares had posted in the previous session.

Some outstanding climbers in the recovery, notably American Telephone, lost as much as 3 or 4 points on a mild forenoon selling flurry. Later offerings dwindled, prices crept up cautiously in late trading.

With only 40,000 shares changing hands in the fourth hour, transactions approximating 1 1/2 one of the quietest sessions of the year.

Sharp setbacks in Telephone, U. S. Steel, Du Pont, International Nickel and other leaders in the recent rally were attributed by brokers chiefly to a halt in the rush to cover short positions, and buying by traders to catch a rally. Telephone at one time had yielded about 4 points off its 15-point rebound from last week's lows.

Cook It Because You Want To Eat It not to keep it from spoiling...

How many times have you bought a piece of meat, or a chicken at a special value, when you had other food on hand, and then had to cook your bargain before you wanted to, to keep it from spoiling? That never happens when you have an electric refrigerator. And that's one of the ways in which an electric refrigerator saves you money. You can buy special values, and keep them in the constant cold of your electric refrigerator until you want to use them. The new models have special meat storage compartments, colder than the rest of the storage space, where meats may be kept indefinitely. Quantity buying and its resulting saving is made possible by this feature, too. Of course, you want a gleaming new electric refrigerator. There's no reason for not having one. Let your dealer tell you about our convenient budget plan.

Tex's Topics

What with all the outward aspects of our daily life becoming so thoroughly "functionalized," "streamlined," and "stripped of non-essentials," it's getting so a man can't have any fun at all any more. . . . Something in the soul cries very distinctly for an adequate supply of non-essentials. . . . Just a little curlicue here and there, once in a while. Nothing at all in the soul cries for a return to what might be called "The Embroidered Age," but it would add to the excitement of streamlined metropolitan scenery if a person could occasionally encounter. . . . say. . . . such a phenomenon as a strong-man performing in the window of a Cuyler-st store. . . . Take wooden Indians. Somebody did take them. They not only provided a pleasant distraction for the eye during a lunch-hour stroll, but made it easy to distinguish a cigar store from a beauty shop.

Those pitiful lost tribes cannot, of course, be brought back now from their celestial hunting grounds, but something can be done about the bare spots in front of the cigar stores. . . . Would it be too much to suggest that these vacant sidewalk posts be turned over, together with their responsibilities, to the men who would otherwise be spending the coming summer months sitting on flag poles or roller-skating from Oklahoma City to Dallas. . . . Anyway, what the tidiers-up of metropolitan street scenery ought to keep reminding themselves as they go along is that most people enjoy nothing so much in the way of scenery as something to look at.

A group of students at Washington University, St. Louis, is peddling insurance policies which offer protection against flunking any subject in the curriculum. . . . That's fine, as far as it goes. But one ought to expect a more ambitious enterprise than that from the age-group that is supposed to look with condescension on anything resembling a half-way measure. . . . Why not also. . . . Insurance against insomnia at Monday morning classes? Insurance against forgetting everything you went to college to learn, a month after graduation? . . . Insurance against remembering the things you never had the slightest use for but had to absorb in order to get a degree? . . . Insurance against postgraduate unemployment? . . . The field has limitless possibilities.

If history would stop seasawing so, maybe a man could get his bearings. . . . Palm Springs, the desert resort town in southern California, turns out to be the property of an Indian tribe. Its hotels, cafes, mineral baths, and cocktail bars swarm with movie stars and society people, but back of every rustling thicket lurks a painted brave. . . . hand on till. . . . First the white men had to be protected from the Indians, and then Indians from the white men, and. . . here we go on our seasaw again. The lower numbers on the Palm Springs cash registers are reported to have been long covered with dust. . . . Maybe these Indians remember the trifling payment another tribe got for the Number 1 Cafe Town back of the Statue of Liberty. Maybe they're planning on expanding around here and there and doing a little farsighted land bargaining themselves. A man ought to think about these things. Maybe we never should have bought New York in the first place. Maybe Palm Springs will prove too much competition and we'll have to sell that other place in the east dirt cheap and get out from under.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY
A $200,000 refinery for Pampa and the largest casinghead plant in the world for Borger were major developments in the Panhandle oil field.
A mist, rain, hail, sleet, and snow fell which amounted to .85 of an inch in precipitation.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY
District Judge W. R. Ewing made permanent the injunction closing Gray county amusement clubs operating as pool halls.
Tests were completed and the new unit of the Danziger Refinery, a mile east of the city, was ready to start operation.

profits in dividends and less expensive than the House plan for those which do not.
As compared with the Senate's 18 per cent flat corporation rate, under the House plan companies paying out all profits in dividends would pay 16 per cent and companies paying no dividends 20 per cent, with intermediate variations which, for instance, would cause a company paying out half its profits in dividends to pay 18 per cent.
Because American corporations, as a general average, pay out about 77 per cent of profits in dividends, it is argued that a larger amount of business is being soaked under the Senate plan than under the House bill.
Nevertheless, the charge that the Senate plan is soaking small business for the benefit of big corporations which don't pay out dividends is fully valid only when the importance of a roughly estimated 140,000 corporations earning less than $6,500—which get a break under the Senate plan—is heavily discounted.
Inasmuch as 80 per cent of corporate business is done by about 15 per cent of the corporations and corporations earning less than $25,000 do only about 10 per cent of the business, it can be seen that the numerical majority of corporations benefiting from the Senate plan comes far from suggesting a true picture of the relative effects of the two corporation tax proposals on American business as a whole.
Corporations earning less than $6,500 obviously do much less than 10 per cent of the total corporate business. This group is the only bracket group in which all companies—or even a preponderance of them—benefit under the Finance Committee's proposal.

Come On, Tortoise

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Today's essay concerns one of the newsstands in the crowded, hurrying atmosphere of the Times Square subway station. Like the drugstores and other quickie establishments in New York (quickie lunch, quickie indignation) the subway stands have long since succumbed to the Hudson Bay trading post complex—that is, they sell everything from gardenias to steel traps. And if you are lucky, you may even find a copy of your favorite newspaper.

Having been disgorged by the Seventh avenue express, and being in no hurry to board the shuttle train, which whisks one in a wink to Grand Central terminal, your correspondent was tarrying idly by the news rack, sneaking a free glance at the late baseball scores when a chap ambled up and asked for a can-opener.

"Thumb-screw type or old style?" inquired the Factor, being in no sense surprised by this request. . . . "I wouldn't know one from the other," confessed the customer, "what do you recommend?"

"Take this one," suggested the man behind the counter. "It'll cost you 25 cents."

Hardly had this satisfied lad been swallowed up by a BMT train than a nice old lady in a tweed coat hurried up and asked for a bicycle pump. The newsstand boss divided under the counter and came up with just the type she wanted. Another customer asked for—and received—a box of Turkish incense and a Vina Delmar novel.

It was after this rather weird sale that a little girl edged up to the stand and told the man she wanted a "nice doll that says mama when you turn it over."

"Just a moment," replied our magician, digging among some boxes on the floor. He came up with his face wreathed in smiles. "Here we are."

It was a nice doll, dressed in peasant fashion, and it did emit a sort of squawk when turned on its back. But its enunciation wasn't very clear. You couldn't understand a word it said.

"It just won't do," decided the little girl. It doesn't say Mama and I want a doll that says Mama."

"Let me see it," said the perturbed salesman. For a few minutes he studied the doll closely, turning it over and listening intently to its mechanized gurblings. Suddenly his face lit up. "Ah," he cried triumphantly, "this doll is okay. You just don't understand it. It speaks in Italian."

This bock beer has a real twister to its tail. For several months there have been excavations on 45th street at Sixth avenue, and the other night a happily goofy mandarin lost track of himself and plunged headlong into one of the openings.

"Murder, thieves, help, earthquake!" shrieked the fellow at the top of his voice. "Help, police, police!"

They hauled him out and dusted him off, insisting volubly that the earth had risen and swallowed him whole. However, when he admitted he had tried out 14 glasses of the new "bock" they shoed him into a cab and told him to get the devil away from there.

"HOME, JAMES"
NEW YORK—Herbert Bendon, 65, conducts his relations with the law with politeness and dignity.
"This is Herbert Bendon," he phoned a police station. "I'm over at 39th St. and Ninth Ave. I'm drunk again. Send over the same cop that took me the last time, please."
"Thirty days in the workhouse," ruled Magistrate Thomas Aurelio.

People You Know

—By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Several weeks ago, Tom Herod, business manager of Harvester athletic teams, was down at Canyon watching the Buffaloes work out in spring football training. Two or three days later out at Harvester field, Tom said to this one, "If our boys didn't have any better equipment than the Buffaloes had I doubt if they'd come out." Tom said the statement may have been exaggerated but it illustrated the point he wanted to make. Then he cited some interesting figures. Did you know that it takes about $50 to suit out a Harvester for football? That's what the school estimates. That $50 goes for shoes, pants, hip pads, shoulder pads, helmets, playing suits, practice suits, jockey straps, sweat shirts, socks, kidney pads, jerseys. This spring there are about 70 boys practicing football. That bunch includes the Guerrillas. Besides the Harvester's, equipment must be bought for the sophomores, Reapers and Pee-wees. It would be interesting to compare the cost of football playing equipment, including cost of the field, with the cost of, say, teaching chemistry, or music, or science, or manual training. Anyway when you realize the cost of football you have the answer to the question "a lot of people ask every fall, 'where does all that money go?'" referring to football game receipts. . . . Incidentally, Mr. Herod says that the Harvester football player who did less gripping last year about equipment was John Henry Nelson, and that several died for doing the most.

Around Hollywood

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—After a week of comparative quiet along the preview front, the new shows broke out in a rash—and on the whole a pleasant rash.

"Bluebeard's Eighth Wife"—in which the old master Lubitsch of smart drollery makes amends to the box-office without sacrificing a single droll—was easily the most discussed of the lot. Starting with Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper as marquee names, Lubitsch weaves his scintillating magic through a diverting romance—between the daughter of an impoverished marquis and a fabulously wealthy young American who has had seven wives but falls hardest, and lastingly, for the eighth.

This lady, aware that her seven predecessors each drew $500,000 a year, demands double that income, and then proceeds to prove how different she is from the rest in other ways—bringing Cooper so completely to her feet that she has to resort to strong-arm stuff to make him aware she really loves him.

Cooper, under Lubitsch's direction, comes to new life, and Miss Colbert is gratifying as always. The "typically Lubitsch" support includes Edward Everett Horton, David Niven, Elizabeth Patterson, Herman Bing, Warren Hymer and Franklin Pangborn.

Irene Dunne's Latest
"Joy of Living" is most joyous in the sequences wherein Irene Dunne, as a stage star at the mercy of a hungry pack of relatives, learns how to enjoy life under the tutelage of Douglas Fairbanks Jr., who takes her to a beer garden, a skating rink, and another beer garden in the course of an evening's fun on $1.85. Directed by Tay Garnett, the picture moves along briskly after a rather slow start, packs pleasant surprises in treatment now and again, and gives young Fairbanks a chance to lose some comedy tricks. (Sample: Imitation of Donald Duck.)

For Miss Dunne, the film is another comedy triumph of "Awful Truth" proportions, and her singing, for the first time in this reporter's ears, is sweet, clear and unstrained. Alice Brady, Guy Kibbee, Lucille Ball, Jean Dixon, Eric Blore, Franklin Pangborn, James Burke.

Blondell Sleuths
In "There's Always a Woman" Joan Blondell achieves a peak in character acting. Hence there is his private detective agency for lack of clients, Joan chipperly steps in and garners a prospect immediately while husband goes back to his old job on the force. When Joan's client (Mary Astor) turns up with a murdered husband, Joan's peculiar hunch sleuthing, aided by the divine providence that cares for the lame-witted, is equaled only by Douglas's forbearance in refraining from wife-murder. Directed by Alexander Hall, the film is fast and funny, with the murder mystery for added excitement.

"Pools for Scandal" is Carole Lombard as a movie actress in Paris on holiday, pursued by Fernand Gravel as an impecunious nobleman, with Ralph Bellamy as Carole's insurance salesman fiancé. If it were all as funny as some of it, "Pools for Scandal" is a Mervyn LeRoy number, would be first rate. The principals, and prime supporting talent in Isabel Jeans, Allen Jenkins and Marie Wilson, do what they can to keep the laughter and interest alive, but it's sometimes rather strained.

NEW CITY ADMINISTRATION

A new city administration takes office in Pampa's City Hall next Monday. It should take over the reins with the well wishes of a united citizenry.

Results of Tuesday's election is evidence that the majority of the voters desired a change. Incoming Mayor E. S. Carr and Commissioners Lynn Boyd and Dave Osborne cannot accomplish the things that are for the city's best interests unless they have the cooperation of all.

We all make mistakes. To expect that the new city commission will not make mistakes would be asking the impossible. Making as few mistakes as possible and benefitting from mistakes of the past are the important phases of this angle.

Pampa will be a much better city in which to live if factionalism is wiped out. A house divided never can accomplish the things that can be done by a house united. It is the same with city government.

Messrs. Carr, Boyd and Osborne will start out with a clean slate. We will not be doing our duty as good citizens unless we contribute our bit to help them to keep it that way.

SAFETY FOLLOWS "CLEAN UP WEEK"

Spring clean-up week, which is an annual observance in thousands of American communities and should be in all of them, is under way in Pampa. The week was started primarily as a beautifying movement—old shacks are torn down, vacant lots are cleaned of debris, homes are painted, grass-grown fields are cut and the harvest burned. It's amazing how little is needed in many cases to change a squalid street to one that is pleasant and charming to the eye.

Furthermore, something other than a better looking town results from a clean-up week that is loyally and enthusiastically supported by all citizens. For a sound, thorough clean-up process is one of the best possible ways of getting rid of fire hazards. A town which rids itself of old, unused buildings, and which does away with litter and grass-ridden lots, becomes a far safer place in which to live and work.

Clean-up week should not stop at exteriors. Everyone should go through his home inside as well as out in search of fire dangers. A congested attic or basement, filled with ancient magazines and broken furniture and clothes that will never be used again, is the perfect starting place for a blaze. Prayed or amateurishly repaired light cords, improperly stored inflammable liquids, dirty or worn heating units—from such things as these come fires that destroy hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property and thousands of lives.

Every town should make this year's clean-up week the most thorough in its history. It's an easy job, if everyone does his bit to help. And it will pay big dividends, in beauty, safety and cash.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, April 6—Current betting by those closest to the tax bill indicates a belief that the remnant of the hated undistributed profits tax retained by the House but eliminated by the Senate Finance Committee is more likely than not to be contained in the tax law eventually enacted.

This belief has grown along with evidence that the House is all set to fight for the principle and an impression that the "relief" provided by the Senate's action is only psychological.

As to the merits, that all depends on how you look at it. Under the Senate plan, a large majority of American corporations would pay a smaller tax bill than under the House bill. About 130,000 of the 300,000 corporations had net incomes of less than $5,000 in 1936 and the Senate plan means a smaller tax payment than the House bill to all corporations earning less than $6,500.

In the brackets between $6,500 and $25,000 the Senate plan costs more in taxes than the House bill. For example, on a $15,000 income the Senate plan tax would be about 25 per cent higher.

Over $25,000, the Senate plan is relatively more expensive to corporations which pay out

A New Approach to Democracy
Yesterday we stated some conditions that must be brought about if democracy is to be made practical. We continue the subject today.

If we are to have practical democracy, we must PREVENT ANY INDIVIDUAL FROM HAVING POWER THAT IS NOT USED TO DEVELOP AND PROTECT THE SOCIAL GROUP AS A WHOLE.

THIS MEANS THAT IT IS NECESSARY TO APPROPRIATE FOR THE GENERAL WELFARE THE WEALTH THAT IS NOT BEING SO USED IN ORDER TO STRENGTHEN THE SOCIAL UNIT IN THE NATURAL SELECTION OF NATIONS.

A practical democracy would do this, it would seem, by a graduated tax on personal consumption, similar to House Bill 7867, as introduced into Congress in 1921 by the late Ogden Mills. It was known as the Mills Spending Tax bill. It embodied the principles that John Stuart Mill said as early as 1848 would be an ideal tax. Among economic humanists endorsing the principle of a graduated consumer tax were the late Professor Thomas Adams of Yale, the late Frank Vanderlip, Thomas Woodlock of the Wall Street Journal, Irving Fisher of Yale, W. I. King of New York University, Arthur E. Morgan of Antioch and Ray E. Untermyer of the California Institute of Technology.

This kind of tax would charge the citizens who consumed twice as much as another, more than twice as much tax. This would be done because in a democracy where general welfare is the determining factor of what is right, it actually costs more for the government to defend the individual in the right to consume in peace, a dollar's worth of goods that is wastefully or extravagantly consumed than it does to protect a dollar's worth of consumption that is absolutely needed to develop the health and character of a person.

Truly Democratic
And in a democracy, no voter should have special privileges or be penalized in his relation to his government and all who have the right to help run the government should contribute to the government, as nearly as can be ascertained, on the basis of what he costs the government.

A graduated personal consumption tax is truly democratic because it does not prevent, as the tax on income resulting from production does, the individual who is a true democrat from using all his talents to strengthen, develop and protect all his fellow citizens.

A tax of this kind permits, stimulates and encourages each and every individual to use his talents to add to the present and future general welfare, which is the essence of true democracy.

Compels Co-operative Action
A graduated personal consumption tax would PERMIT NO INDIVIDUAL WITH UNUSUAL TALENTS TO USE THESE TALENTS FOR HIS EXCLUSIVE BENEFIT. IN THIS WAY, IT APPROPRIATES THEM FOR THE GENERAL USE.

All Must Contribute to Survive
Just as in the human body, each organ must do the function it was evolved to do—and if, or the whole, cannot survive without so doing—just so, in a sound social body, every citizen must contribute to society the functions his natural talents have qualified him to perform so that the social body, the nation, will grow and survive in the natural selection of social groups.

By the process of trial and error, there seems so far to be no other practical way to use the talents of every individual for the purpose of bringing about a practical democracy other than by a graduated tax on personal consumption.

Only Way to Raise Wages
An appropriation of the talents of individuals of the social group, without interfering in any way with their creative abilities to produce, would most rapidly add to the knowledge and wealth of the group. And this is the best known way, if not the only way, of raising the standard of living of all workers because it would make available at low costs better tools to use so that every worker could produce more with a given expenditure of human energy. The increase in the capital of the country would increase the competition between employers for labor and, thus, of necessity force the employer, whether he voluntarily wanted to or not, to pay better wages. Every attempt in all history to force wages up by law, or collective bargaining, or by public opinion, or any other manner, instead of raising general wages, has always reduced them.

Regard for Others Brings Prosperity
If we can interpret history, just to the degree that any nation has practiced the principle of every individual using his talents and his power in due regard to the interests of the social group as a whole, just to that degree has it prospered and survived. If that be the case, then it would seem wise to enact into laws these principles so that we can have a democracy that is practical.

The covenant of this kind between people would be in harmony with the fundamental principles back of all religions and would better promote the general welfare than any other method.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M. D.

GLAUCOMA
If neglected or improperly treated, glaucoma (green eye) frequently results in permanent blindness.

The condition arises from a disturbance in the circulation of the fluid content of the front portion of the eye. This disturbance subjects the eyeball and its contents to increased pressure. If unrelieved, the nerve of the eye is ultimately destroyed, and blindness results.

Glaucoma is rare before the age of 40. The specific cause of the condition is unknown, but pre-existing disease of the eye, long continued eye strain and uncorrected defective vision are known to contribute to its development.

Every adult should know the common and suggestive symptoms of glaucoma. These are:

Hazy or foggy vision; colored rings around artificial lights; the loss of all or some vision, lasting for a few minutes; a desire to change to stronger reading glasses; inability to see objects from the corner of one's eyes, that is, those not directly in front.

Together with these eye symptoms, there may be constitutional disturbances such as severe pain in the eyes and head, nausea, vomiting and fever.

Should any of these symptoms be experienced, it is imperative not to delay consulting a physician or eye specialist. Delay is dangerous, and may lead to loss of vision.

An attack of glaucoma may last a short time and then subside, only to reappear in a week or two, or even sooner.

Unless the sufferer recognizes the nature of his symptoms and secures the required medical help, he may believe he is a victim of nervous headache, indigestion or biliousness. Treating himself accordingly, he is likely to waste precious time.

An injury to the eye—even a mild blow—may be followed by the development of acute glaucoma.

Glaucoma does not tend to cure itself spontaneously. Hence there is no warrant for the hope that the condition will pass.

The treatment of glaucoma is principally surgical. Frequently, however, local and constitutional medication are of value to relieve the eye pressure symptoms, reduce the pressure and prepare the patient for operation.

100 ATHLETES WILL COMPETE HERE SATURDAY IN TRACK-FIELD MEET

WHEELER WILL BE DEFENDING CINDER CHAMP

At least 100 top track and field stars from 10 northeast Panhandle counties will vie for district honors here Saturday, occasion of the district 2 Interscholastic league track and field meet. Registration and payment of fees will be at 9 o'clock in the red school building with preliminaries in most of the events starting at 10:30 a. m. at Harvester field.

Wheeler high school will be the defending champion, having won the 1937 meet with Pampa second. Comparative strength of teams is unknown. There have been no invitational meets in the district, largely because of the exacting weather and the fact that most schools are now turning to boxing and away from track and field.

To date, no county champions have been certified to Director Frank Monroe. The Pampa Harvesters will place a full team in the meet but it has not yet been selected. Trials will be conducted this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 o'clock. Starter for track events Saturday will be Ben Gull with Bill Anderson and Harry Kelley clerks.

Golf will be played Saturday at the Pampa Country club, registration at 9 a. m., under direction of R. B. Nuckols.

Tennis will begin at 9 a. m., Friday morning with registration in room 208 of the high school. Volley ball will begin at the same hour in the high school gymnasium under direction of J. L. Lester and Miss Eugenia Johnston. Tennis will be in charge of B. G. Gordon, assisted by A. L. Patrick, N. H. Cleek, W. P. P. Smith, H. A. Yoder, C. P. McWright, and Mrs. F. Alexander.

No records in track and field were shattered last year which makes it promising for the 1938 entries to shatter the existing marks, six set in 1935 and four each in 1934 and 1936. Half of the existing records, however, do not equal those of county meets prior to 1934 when the district was organized and Pampa made district city. Prior to that time counties decided champions with winners going to the district in Canyon, now regional center.

Standing district records follow: Existing district 2 track and field records follow: 100-yard dash—Jones, Hedley, 1935, time 22.9 seconds. 220-yard dash—Jones, Hedley, 1935, time 51.6 seconds. 440-yard dash—Hays, Pampa, 1935, time 1:11.3 seconds. 880-yard run—Nichols, White Deer, 1934, time 2:09 minutes. Mile run—Howe, Panhandle, 1935, time 4:47.6 minutes. Mile relay—Pampa (Elkins, Haner, Bill Dunaway, Hays), 1935, time 3:35 minutes. High jump—Williams, White Deer, 1934; Finch, Lella Lake, and McDaniel, Clarendon, tied, 1935, height 6 feet. Broad jump—Key, Mobeetie, 1936, distance 20 feet 2 1/2 inches. Pole vault—Gilliam, Alarred, 1936, height 11 feet, 5 inches. Javelin—Mills, Shamrock, 1936, distance 165 feet, 9 inches. Discus—Behrends, Clarendon, 1934, distance 123 feet. Shot put—Ford, Wheeler, 1936, distance 45 feet, 3 1/2 inches.

Yankees Play In Dallas Today

DALLAS, APRIL 6 (AP)—Joe McCarthy's world champion New York Yankees and the Dallas Steers of the Texas League clash here today in an exhibition game. Manager Ray Brubaker said he would start his veteran right-hander, Al Baker, on the mound in an effort to cut the Yankees spring season percentage to .500. Jolly SoRelle was on call for relief. McCarthy planned to use Joe Beggs, young right-hander from Newark, and his veteran Irving (Bump) Hadley.

Lamesa Definitely In Football District One

(By The Associated Press) One hundred and nine teams will be in the field next fall when the Texas Interscholastic league inaugurates its nineteenth annual football campaign, and included in the race will be four newcomers, graduates from Class B ranks.

R. J. Kidd, athletic director of the Interscholastic league, announced the official list of participating schools for 1938 and said, while the roster is not closed, he did not expect any further changes. New teams are in the Panhandle. El Paso, Fort Worth and far East Texas districts and two schools have transferred to other sections.

Lamesa enters district 1 with Amarillo, Borger, Lubbock, Plainview and Pampa. Odessa joins Austin (El Paso), Bowie (El Paso), Fabens, El Paso high and Yaleta in district 4. Fort Worth Technical enters the Fort Worth district, replacing Mineral Wells which transfers to the Oil Belt.

Athens transfers from district 10 to district 9 with the state championship Longview Lobos and Gladiators, Kilgore, Marshall, Texarkana, and Tyler. Livingston takes Athens' place in district 10.

The complete list of schools by districts: 1—Amarillo, Borger, Lamesa, Lubbock, Plainview, Pampa. 2—Childress, Electra, Graham, Olney, Quanah, Vernon, Wichita Falls. 3—Abilene, Big Spring, Breckenridge, Brownwood, Childress, Dalhart, Mineral Wells, Ranger, San Angelo, Stephenville, Sweetwater. 4—Austin (El Paso), Bowie (El Paso), El Paso High, Fabens, Odessa, Yaleta. 5—Bonham, Denison, Gainesville, Paris, Sherman. 6—Denton, Greenville, Highland Park (Dallas), McKinney, Sulphur Springs. 7—Arlington, Rockwall, Waco. 8—Mason, Home (Fort Worth), North Side (Fort Worth), Pocham (Fort Worth), Paly (Fort Worth), Riverside (Fort Worth), Technion (Fort Worth). 9—Adamson (Dallas), Technical (Dallas), Forest (Dallas), North Dallas, Sunset (Dallas), Woodrow Wilson (Dallas). 10—Athens, Gladewater, Kilgore, Longview, Marshall, Texarkana, Tyler. 11—Canton, Cleburne, Corsicana, Hillsboro, Temple, Waco, Waxahachie. 12—Austin, Breckenridge (San Antonio), Childress (San Antonio), Kerrville (San Antonio Tech, Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio). 13—Jeff Davis, (Houston), Reagan (Houston), Milby (Houston), Lamar (Houston), Sam Houston (Houston), Sam Houston (Houston), Austin (Houston). 14—Beaumont, Galveston, Goose Creek, Orange, Port Arthur, South Park (Beaumont). 15—Corpus Christi, Kingsville, Laredo, Robertstown. 16—Brownsville, Donna, Edinburg, Harlingen, McAllen, Mercedes, Mission, Pharr, San Juan-Alamo, San Benito, Weslaco.

And, as the informant said, it's working out perfectly. Joe hasn't made a move to report, the Yankees do look pretty awful, and you're beginning to hear it predicted that they're due for a mighty fall. In fact, it's a good yarn in every respect, except that it's not true if you happen to know Colonel Jake Ruppert, who owns and loves these Yankees. Sure, he likes a certain amount of publicity, because it does his beer business no harm, but you may bet that if DiMaggio has signed the colonel doesn't know about it, and that if the Yankees ever do beat even a minor league outfit, they'd better not let Ruppert know about it.

No, you'll have to look for a more sensible reason for the champs' poor showing than the aforementioned plot. Maybe the absence of the swatting young DiMaggio is responsible for the team's failure to click. Jack Doyle, the betting commissioner, seems to believe that's the answer, for he's holding up his final odds on the America League race until he hears when and in what condition the star outfielder intends to report.

On the other hand, there is just

YANKEES' AGE MAY FINALLY STOP CHAMPS

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—This is a town weighted down with mistrust, so it is not surprising to learn that many of the boys think the Yankees have been dogging it this spring for publicity purposes, the idea being that you can't drum up much interest in a one-hoss race.

It comes straight from one of the best informed soda dispensers in the neighborhood that Joe DiMaggio actually signed his contract months ago, and that he was asked kindly not to report until his world champion teammates had finished botching up their exhibition schedule to the point where the baseball writers would pick Detroit, or maybe Cleveland, to win the prized ensign.

And, as the informant said, it's working out perfectly. Joe hasn't made a move to report, the Yankees do look pretty awful, and you're beginning to hear it predicted that they're due for a mighty fall. In fact, it's a good yarn in every respect, except that it's not true if you happen to know Colonel Jake Ruppert, who owns and loves these Yankees. Sure, he likes a certain amount of publicity, because it does his beer business no harm, but you may bet that if DiMaggio has signed the colonel doesn't know about it, and that if the Yankees ever do beat even a minor league outfit, they'd better not let Ruppert know about it.

No, you'll have to look for a more sensible reason for the champs' poor showing than the aforementioned plot. Maybe the absence of the swatting young DiMaggio is responsible for the team's failure to click. Jack Doyle, the betting commissioner, seems to believe that's the answer, for he's holding up his final odds on the America League race until he hears when and in what condition the star outfielder intends to report.

On the other hand, there is just a faint possibility that the all-conquering club of the last two seasons has passed its zenith, and now has a real fight on its hands. Even with the DiMaggio juvenile in the line-up, the average age of the Yank regulars is about 29 years, and that is not young in baseball.

It is recalled that in the midst of the last world series, while the Yankees were kicking the Giants around, owner Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators, said he would like to make a sizeable bet that the Rupperts wouldn't make it three straight in the American League. At the time everybody in earshot looked at Mr. Griffith suspiciously and asked him what was the catch. He said he meant it, and now he's having a lot of fun saying "I told you so." Baseball's "old fox" has been around a long time, and maybe he saw something during that autumnal massacre that escaped younger eyes.

MANAGER FOR STEERS SINGS BLUES HYMN

By RAY BRUBAKER, Manager, Dallas Steers. DALLAS, April 6 (AP)—Any attempt at the present time to forecast where the Dallas Steers will finish in the '38 Texas league race would be purely guessing on my part. Ours is almost a brand new ball club.

Since the close of the '37 season, much time and money has gone into our rebuilding process. We have added Catcher Bob Fenner, long an American Association backstop; Pitcher Sal Glatto, and First Baseman Phil Todt, for years a strong major leaguer.

Pitcher Beryl Richmond was purchased from Kansas City and Pitcher Fred Fussell and Outfielder Walter Cazen were added, bought from Syracuse of the International League. Outfielder Harlan Pool, a heavy hitter, was purchased from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League.

We also got Third Baseman Grey Clarke from Macon of the South Atlantic League. Outfielder Laske and Tommy McBride were recalled from farm clubs as were Pitchers Collin Lancaster, Joe Demoran, Harry Bowles, and Claude Horton, and Infielders Bob Kennedy, Lloyd Rigby and Walter Paschal.

Only holdovers from last year's club include Shortstop Jim Levey and Pitchers Al Braker, Jerry SoRelle, Frank Papish and Infielder George Meyer.

And there is the rebuilding scheme. Several promising rookies are in camp and general progress has been shown in spring training.

Should it appear later that additional strength is needed, we will add it, but it is our intention to give the men we now have this opportunity to prove themselves and we believe they can do it.

Fine club spirit and good weather have combined to give us a good training season to date.

An increasing number of American and European tourists are seeing India by air. Three international air services connect India with Europe and within India there are several air lines.

FISTS FLY AS BLACKHAWKS OF CHICAGO TROUCE TORONTO

TORONTO, April 6 (AP)—The Chicago Blackhaws, having started the hockey world once again by upsetting Toronto, 3-1, in the opening game of their best-of-five scrap for the Stanley cup, scanned their possessions today and found them arranged approximately as follows: 1.—That vital one-up margin on the National Hockey league champions.

2.—A slightly bruised but still defiant manager, Bill Stewart. 3.—An old familiar hero, Left Wing Johnny Gottselig, the left-off's leading scorer. 4.—A brand-new hero, their half-pint substitute goalie, Alfie Moore. The Hawks emerged with that collection from a wild-eyed evening as the Stanley cup play-offs ever have provided. For, while the Softball will be discussed tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the city commission room in the city hall when sponsors and managers of teams in this section meet to organize a league, or leagues if enough teams are entered.

The area for teams will be from near Skellytown to LeFors unless it is decided at the meeting to cut down the traveling distance with two leagues or by limiting the distance.

Last year 20 teams squared off in two leagues with the champions meeting in a playoff, won by the King Oil company from the Texas company. A few teams dropped out during the season.

This year it has been suggested that each team place a forfeit check with the league treasurer to assure its completion of league play. It is urged that every firm, company or person planning to enter a team in the league, or leagues, be present at tonight's meeting and on time.

game itself was enough to keep the crowd of 13,737 enthralled, there was even more behind-the-scenes drama.

Raw Deal Charged. Stewart was involved in two fist fights, one with Toronto Manager Connie Smythe before the game, another with Hal Cotton, former Maple Leaf star, between periods. Alfie Moore today, despite a Cotton-inflicted bruise on his cheek, still was maintaining that his club got a "raw deal" and that the league hadn't heard the last of it.

When the Hawks discovered yesterday afternoon that their regular goalie, Mike Karakas, would be unable to play because of a fractured toe, there was a conference of club officials and N. H. L. President Frank Calder.

Stewart left the huddle in the belief he would be able to draft Dave Kerr, New York Ranger goalie, to substitute. Fifteen minutes before game time, Moore, regular goalie for Pittsburgh of the International-American league, entered the Chicago dressing room, and said Smythe had told him to report.

"They didn't even know I was to play," Alfie said later. "Kerr was getting dressed. Right then I knew I had been made the sucker. I was so mad that when Smythe poked his head into the door I told him 'I hope I stop every puck you fellows fire even if I have to eat the rubber.'"

Meanwhile Stewart had met Smythe outside the dressing room, and, before many words had been exchanged, was swapping punches with him. Cotton was among those who separated the two, which led Stewart to make a remark about Cotton and the "Toronto racketeers who were Smythe's bodyguard" a guard" a period later, and brought the enraged Chicago manager into his second scrap of the evening.

National Boxing Finals Will Be This Evening

BOSTON, April 6 (AP)—Thirty-two amateur boxers, battle-marked after two nights of flying leather, tonight step into the Boston garden ring to do battle for eight national boxing championships. Representing all sections of the United States and Honolulu, the 32 survivors are the cream of a crop of 175 who assembled to vie in three-round encounters two days ago.

As the most skillful boxers forged toward the coveted national crowns, knockouts in last night's fistcliffs were few. Only six contenders had paralyzing punches, five of whom fought in the light heavyweight and heavyweight divisions.

A powerful New York delegation upheld eastern prestige as westerners eliminated nearly all the New England hopefuls. Seven of the New York team of eight boxers will step into the ring tonight in an attempt to reverse the inter-sectional trend that has placed 14 westerners against 13 of the once numerically strong eastern group.

The welterweight division was dominated by Jim O'Malley of Chicago, a hard-hitting stylist "who wants" to be heavyweight champion of the world some day perhaps. A beautifully-trained boxer, he jabbed and hooked his way to victory over Harry Shaw of New Orleans in an unusually scientific bout.

3-Second Rule May Be Changed

CHICAGO, April 6 (AP)—The three-second rule was scrutinized today by the men who lay down basketball regulations. A recommendation that the rule be changed was one of several sent by the national association of basketball coaches to its rules committee yesterday. Nat Holman, of the City College of New York, said the rule, which prohibits an offensive player from remaining in the free throw lane or the foul circle for more than three seconds, created compact zone defenses that could not be penetrated. The coaches would permit an offensive player to stand in the outer half of the free throw circle indefinitely if he did not have the ball, and three seconds otherwise.

CHAPTER XXIV
MISS WILCOX'S cheerful voice said, "Oh, here you are, Doctor. Just a minute, please."
Without a backward look he turned and followed the nurse into the sickroom. Constance went slowly toward her own room... Yet for a moment he had seemed as close to her as if he had held her in his arms.

She had promised to ride with Hilda that afternoon. As she got into her riding clothes, she wondered what she could say to the other girl to help Derek. For after all, Derek was only what circumstances had made him. He had so little security within himself that you could not blame him for grasping at what seemed to him to be security from without. And to Derek, security meant what Hildagard Thorvald represented.

Constance went to find Hilda—along the upper gallery and down the outside stairway that descended to the first floor. The stairs made the descent in three turns, with a moss-green landing at each turn. On the lower landing Constance halted abruptly with one foot poised, clinging to the iron railing to steady herself.

Two people were standing on the gallery below her. In that suspended moment Constance realized, with a tearing sense of bereavement, how much she had really been hoping that sometime, in another brief interval when he was not too hurried or too shy, Mark Rogers was going to tell her what she so much wanted to hear from him.

Clinging to the lapels of Dr. Rogers' coat, her eyes bright with tears, but laughing up into his face as only a happy girl can laugh, stood Hildagard Thorvald. As Constance poised there, unable for the moment to stir, Mark put his arms about the tall glowing girl and kissed her gently; and Hilda said with a pulse in her lazy voice that Constance had never heard there grasping at what she so much wanted to hear from him.

"Derek?" Hildagard laughed in self-amusement. "No one need worry about Derek. He will always know how to get what he wants out of life. What he really wants now—"

But I can't stand her listening, Constance remembered. Perhaps she moved; for they both glanced up and saw her robed there white and stricken.

Hilda drew herself quickly from Mark's arms and called, "Connie, come down. There's something I can't wait to tell you."

"Please God, not now! Constance prayed. Not with both of them to see me... Oh, what a fool I've been!"

She turned to run back up the stairway. Perhaps her eyes blurred with the tears she could not check; or perhaps the clumsy riding boots tripped her—

The next thing she knew, she was huddled on something hard and cold—numb, and blindingly, sickeningly giddy.

Somewhere near her Hilda's voice was saying, "Well, Mark Rogers, you complete fool—do you believe me now? Think how we must have looked to her, as if—oh, Mark, you don't suppose she's—"

Then floating in space above her, Mark's voice, "For God's sake, Hilda, don't you go hysterical on me... Help me cut this fool skirt of hers off... Thank heaven, it isn't her—"

Wrenching pain in her shoulder—someone screaming sharply—brief oblivion. Then she was sitting up, her cheek resting against a rough, warm surface that smelled faintly of tobacco.

For an instant Mark's face swam in a cloud above her, white and absurdly distorted as it said, "Give me the wide tape from my bag, Hilda."
Constance giggled, and made to her what at that moment was the most reasonable and interesting observation in the world: "Darling, you do look funny so upside down... Ouch!" and shut her eyes, feeling faint, because someone was doing something to her shoulder again, and it hurt.

Mark's voice said with a laugh that was not quite steady, "She's reacting quite normally. At least she can still see how funny my face is."
"You're no idea how funny he is any way you take him, Connie dear," Hilda's voice said again. "But he's a lamb; and if I weren't going to marry a flying fool in Tibet, next week before he tears off again and loses himself in Tibet or other parts unknown, you'd never have got a chance at him... That's what I was telling Mark about when you dropped in... You'd better thank God that Mark just cuts people up for a living instead of hunting comic rays. At least, you may see him at breakfast once in a while."

at breakfast once in a while." shoulder had subsided into a dull ache, and Hilda's face swam into focus out of the cloud where Mark's face had been... There seemed now to be just she and Hilda... So that was why she had always been reading books about Tibet... Hilda was going to marry a flying fool in Tibet who cut up comic rays for a living, or was it? Her thoughts refused to arrange themselves; but there was one thing Hilda had just said—

"I wish you'd tell me," she asked giddily, closing her eyes, "how anyone has a chance at a man she can't catch alone for—five minutes at a time?"
Hilda giggled; and Constance found the giggling annoying. All the grievances of the past days—combined with the pain in her shoulder—swam in upon her, demanding immediate expression.
"Oh, it's easy enough for you to laugh," she said, "You don't want him... And anyhow, he talks to you. But he never even looks at me... Or if he does, only as if I were something little and awfully funny on a sickening interval when he was not too hurried or too shy, Mark Rogers was going to tell her what she so much wanted to hear from him."

MARK'S voice said, very close to her ear, "Connie, darling, this ought not to be necessary—you must have known from the beginning that I wanted to—but it's customary, I believe... Will you marry me, and give yourself something to laugh at for the rest of your life?"

Her head was clearing now... Of course this might all be really happening, but—
"Darling," she asked shakily into his coat collar, "would you mind just—pinching me—or something? ... People do imagine things sometimes after they've bumped their heads, don't they?"
"I don't hold with pinching," he said, "but—"
He did not pinch her; but he did kiss her very satisfactorily—on her wet eyes, and then on her lips.

Constance said shakily, "is why you didn't do that weeks ago."
"With you doing Camilla Wynne and laughing up your sleeve at me every time I tried to talk sense to you—and that beautiful blond boy hovering in the background, I'm not so sure now—"
"Then you're too blind to be practicing medicine, Derek? Why, for weeks Derek's been just—just another stand-in."
After another few minutes he said, briskly, "Do you know what I'm going to do now?"
"Don't tell me," Constance cut in. "I've been expecting it. You're going to send me to bed—because I've got a difficult—"
"You've got worse than that a head of you—God help you!—if you're not going to marry a—now what are you laughing about?"
"Oh—nothing," Constance told him, "except—I was just wondering if I'm going to have to break my neck every time I want a few minutes alone with you."
(THE END)

SMOOT FLAYS TOBACCO USE

SALT LAKE CITY, April 6 (AP)—The tobacco industry's advertising campaign is a "heartless and destructive attempt to exploit the women and youth of our country," former United States Senator Reed Smoot declared today at the Latter-Day Saints church's general conference.

The denunciation of the tobacco industry by Smoot, a member of the Council of Twelve Apostles, followed a declaration by venerable, 81-year-old President Heber J. Grant that all persons holding positions in the church must obey the "Word of Wisdom"—abstinence from use of tea, coffee, tobacco, and liquor. "We all have our faults, some more than others," Smoot said. "I sometimes think that among the growing faults, of a few, I hope, are those of the members of the church who use tobacco."
He recalled a speech he made in the senate in 1929, assailing use of tobacco.
"The reason I had decided to deliver that speech was what I had witnessed not only in Washington, but wherever I went, in the use of tobacco by women."
"At that time, the practice had not reached the extent it has today. I condemned insidious cigaret campaigns that so often appear in the press of our nation, promoted by tobacco manufacturers whose only god is profit, whose only Bible is a balance sheet and whose only principle is greed."
"And, above all, I denounced the heartless and destructive attempt to exploit the women and youth of our country."
Smoot said he was "dumbfounded" by a report showing women consumed a large percentage of cigarets manufactured in the United States. He estimated cost of the nation's public schools in 1928 at $2,285,261.57 and declared $2,097,000,000 was spent for tobacco the same year.
Other leaders of the Mormon church solemnly warned the 108th annual conference that individualism is needed in a world abounding in regimentation and unemployment.

LARGE GROUPS ATTEND SERVICES AT CHURCH

"What To Do To Be Saved" was the sermon subject discussed by the Rev. W. M. Pearce last evening at the campaign of evangelism in progress at First Methodist church.

Services are being held daily at the church at four different hours, 10 o'clock in the morning, young people's service and a prayer meeting for the adults at 7:30 o'clock, and the evening preaching at 8 o'clock.

Large crowds attended the services yesterday and enjoyed the singing of the Rev. Tony Dyess, who is assisting in the young people's work.

Those taking part in the campaign are working toward a maximum attendance in Sunday school next Sunday morning. The service will be omitted on Saturday morning.

In the morning services the pastor is conducting a series on evangelism. The subject presented this morning was "Individual Method in Evangelism."

Special music is presented each service by the Rev. Dyess.

ROMANCE TURNS INTO TRAGEDY IN HOBOKEN

HOBOKEN, N. J., April 6 (AP)—They met, fell in love—Grace May Badaracco and Paul Phillip Le Boutilliere.

He went back to France to finish his studies in architecture. She stayed in Hoboken, collecting her trousseau.

He wired her to come over for the wedding late last year. He'd won a prize at the Sorbonne for the plans he had drawn of their future home in Orange, N. J.

Then he was critically injured, his father killed, while motoring from Italy to their home in Bordeaux.

Recently he recovered. He wired again, love, happiness spanning the Atlantic one more.

She packed, booked for sailing today on the S. S. Washington and for marriage next week in Bordeaux. They planned a brief honeymoon and return to America—to build the Orange home from the prize plans.

But Grace May Badaracco didn't sail today, and Paul Phillip Le Boutilliere will never build the house in Orange.

His convalescence suddenly turned to pneumonia. He died yesterday at Bordeaux.

The Capital Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, April 6 (AP)—How Will Porter and three companions disappeared some Monterey policemen and landed in jail is another of Henry story salvaged.

The story was retold on the death recently of Louis Doyle of Austin, a drug store clerk, at the age of 65.

Porter, Doyle and Dan and Dave Tobin went to the Mexican city and there were intrigued by the long swords the police carried.

They disarmed three policemen, confiscated the officers' hats, and waving the hats on the points of swords, started a procession up a street, driving the police before them.

The parade ended at a jail, however and Thomas Doyle, brother of Louis, received a telegram asking assistance.

Thomas Doyle hurried to Monterey and found the young men in the hoosegoy.

"Always full of devilment" was the description Doyle applied to Porter, who lived in Austin a number of years before going east to become famous as a short story writer.

Another woman is attempting to win a seat in the legislature, which for the last two years has had a womanless membership.

First Mrs. Margaret Harris Gordon, attorney of Waco, announced for the legislature, seeking to succeed Rep. A. R. Cagle, who is not a candidate for re-election.

Now comes Mrs. Bessie Deford of San Antonio, who, describing herself as a housewife, is out for the place now held by Fred Felty of the same city. Felty also is retiring.

Mrs. Deford was the first of several score persons expected to run for office in Bexar county to file application for a place on that county's ballot.

The last woman of the legislature was Mrs. Helen Moore of Texas City, who retired two years ago.

High and low mourned the death of Col. E. M. House but none probably more than "Uncle Allen" Carthen, old negro who for years drove the colonel's carriage in Austin during the horse and buggy days.

When he left Austin about 1912, House gave Uncle Allen the victoria carriage he was employed to drive, suggesting that perhaps he could rent it out. The project didn't bring in much income, because the automobile rapidly was replacing the horse, so Uncle Allen finally disposed of the vehicle.

The negro grieved that he could not go north with the colonel, who wanted to take him, but an ailing mother, Allen said, caused him to stay in Austin.

On the occasions of House's visits to Austin, Allen always would be at the station to carry his luggage, and when the colonel left the negro took the luggage back to the station and personally put it on the train.

He said the colonel always shook hands when he left him and gave him several dollars.

Uncle Allen is an avid house "fan." His collection includes a yellowing magazine in which there is an article on how House and the Kaiser almost prevented the World war.

The colonel sent Allen a book in which is mentioned the photograph of Allen in military uniform which House kept on his desk. The uniform was the one House wore as a colonel on the staff of James Stephen Hogg and later gave Allen. The photograph was taken at House's request.

Uncle Allen treasures a number of letters from House received over a long period, some from Paris and London. They are brief, usually con-

How the diversified occupation program provides high school students with an adequate answer to an employer's first question, "What can you do?" was explained at a banquet given last night in the Lamar school building, attended by vocational study and school officials, members of the advisory board, teachers and students.

Pascal Buckner of Big Spring, supervisor in West Texas and the Top O' Texas for the trade and industrial division of the Texas Department of Education, was the principal speaker.

In his speech, Mr. Buckner told a waking McMurray college students in an assembly program, what they desired to do when they finished college. Only six could answer the query.

Efficiency of the diversified occupation program was shown in the fact that in Cisco, out of 24 students who had taken the courses, 22 were employed in the line in which they had studied. In another town, out of 15 students, 14 were employed in their favorite vocations at good wages, the lowest being $22.50 a week. These students had employment, Mr. Buckner said, because they knew how to do something, and had more than mere academic education.

Emphasizing the need of recasting the idea that overalls and work shirt represent ostracism, as some have thought, E. C. Pennington, Gray county co-ordinator, who presided at the banquet, compared the wages made by a good mechanic, $40 to $60 a week with those made by some white-collar workers, at $15 to $18 a week.

Everybody Speaks

Brief talks on their views of the diversified occupation program were made by most of the other persons present, who were called to speak by Mr. Pennington.

Introduction of those attending the banquet was made by Mr. Pennington, following the meal, served cafeteria style. Preceding the talks, the nature of diversified occupation program was explained.

Minimum requirements include age of 16, junior class high school ranking, study periods of from one to two hours a day in subjects directly allied to the vocational choice of the student.

Employers are contacted and student and employer brought together, so that a part-time apprentice system is worked out, actual practice as well as by study.

The program also includes a study of business law, teaching of responsibility, and of human relation adjustment.

Attending the banquet given last night were Harry Kelley, high school art teacher, and instructor of adult courses in sign and card writing, H. C. Huckabe, Pampa junior high school teacher and instructor of elementary science and elementary mathematics as applied to the petroleum industry.

C. V. Terrell, chairman of the railroad commission who is running for re-election, has held membership on the commission for 14 years, but he yet has a long way to go if he equals the record of Allison Mayfield, who was a commissioner from Jan. 5, 1897, to Jan. 23, 1923.

Terrell took office August 15, 1924, under appointment by Gov. Pat M. Neff and was elected to full six-year terms in 1926 and 1932.

In point of service on the commission, he is second only to Mayfield and L. J. Storey, who was a commissioner from Nov. 21, 1894, to March 28, 1909.

Atlanta's Tall Men in Revolt Against Ducking

ATLANTA, April 6 (AP)—The tall men of Atlanta—at least 25 of them—are in revolt.

"We are tired of ducking," said the twenty-five, each six feet or more tall, in a petition asking city council to order clearance of six feet six inches between sidewalks and awnings.

Councilman C. M. (Mac) Bolton, himself six feet two and one-half inches, introduced the petition and said he would offer an amendment requesting hotels and railway lines to provide beds of special length.

FANNY TOO BUSY TO TALK ABOUT BILLY

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—Fanny Brice, red-haired comedienne, said on her arrival from Hollywood today she was "too busy" at the moment to think about arranging for a divorce from her producer husband, Billy Rose.

"I'll take care of Billy Rose later," she said.

"Besides," she added, "I'm in no hurry to get married again."

Rose, who has expressed a desire to be free in order to marry Eleanor Holm, former Olympic swimmer who in private life is Mrs. Arthur Jarrett, telephoned her shortly after her arrival and they discussed plans to defend a $33,000 lawsuit brought against Miss Brice by a booking agent, Edgar Allen.

The comedienne greeted her husband with a business-like "Hello there, how are you?" when she heard his voice on the telephone. Her tone grew more cordial, however, when Rose promised to testify that he, and not Allen, got her the theatrical job for which Allen is seeking to collect a commission.

"Thus far, she said, the question of a divorce or separation has not come up between them."

She scoffed at reports that Rose had offered her a $100,000 settlement, saying:

"That's not the Rose I know. It must be the man in the bird store down the street."

Miss Brice, who was accompanied by her 17-year-old son, Billy Brice, is scheduled to appear in court tomorrow in the Allen suit.

BLUM DEMAND DESCRIBED AS FOR IMITATION

PARIS, April 6 (AP)—Former Premier Pierre Flaudin today told the Chamber of Deputies that socialist Premier Leon Blum's demand for decree powers was "a copy" of President Roosevelt's "experiment which has failed."

Rightist party deputy, first in chamber debate to compare the financial and economic powers sought by Blum with President Roosevelt's "New Deal measures, said:

"The American experiment must show us that the controlled economy the premier proposes will not work."

Other speakers had likened the premier's program to the Soviet Russian administration, and still others to dictatorship methods.

The tall, lanky rightist leader, shouting above interruptions from leftist benches, asserted that Blum's decree measures meant "inflation—whether we consider it camouflaged inflation or franc inflation. It remains inflation."

Constant interruptions from socialists and communists and several sharp exchanges between Flaudin and Blum occurred when the premier arose to contest Flaudin's interpretation.

Flaudin's attack brought considerable applause from the right and center groups, although his influence has been considerably checked by insistence in the past that France drop her present alliances and make a separate security agreement with Germany.

Strikes continued throughout the Paris region where it was estimated 45,000 workers in metal and allied industries were out.

A half-day Paris taxi strike was called for this morning but the vast majority of both independent and company drivers ignored the call and cabs were plentiful everywhere in Paris.

About 8,500 metal workers in plants about Paris walked out last night.

About 30,000 of the workers have been on strike several weeks, asking collective contracts and wage adjustments.

ONE MOMENT, PLEASE!

CHICAGO—One of former President Hoover's most embarrassing moments: Within 20 feet of the North Western Station train gate, Mr. Hoover stopped, disoriented, and searched his pockets for the tickets. He couldn't find them, and searched again.

Friends thought he might have left them in the car, and started away to see Mr. Hoover searched a third time and found the tickets in an inner pocket of his jacket. He said he put them there so he could find them in a hurry.

HUGE PUBLIC WORKS OUTLAY BEING URGED

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Mounting relief costs have reviewed talk among administration officials of possible establishment of a huge new public works program, not only to prime industrial pumps but to give direct employment to thousands.

A decision has not been reached, officials emphasized today, pointing out that arguments have been advanced both for and against such a course.

Any basic improvement in employment, they said, necessarily depends on better business conditions. Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator, declared that rising unemployment would necessitate a substantial increase in federal relief expenditures when present funds are exhausted.

While he would hazard no prediction as to what sum President Roosevelt would recommend to Congress, he recalled that $1,750,000,000 was appropriated for the present fiscal year, June 30. In January, Mr. Roosevelt tentatively projected a $1,000,000,000 appropriation for the 1938-39 year. Some relief experts saw now that this figure may have to be more than doubled.

Contributing directly to the unemployment situation, these officials said, are several factors, including:

1. The absence of marked business improvement this spring, coupled with the usual prospects for sluggish summer business.
2. The end in a few weeks of social security compensation payments to an estimated 1,000,000 unemployed. This will be brought about, it was explained, both by the expiration of the 12-week limit on payments and by the exhaustion of state funds.
3. Reduction in farm production, under the new farm bill. One informed official said that crop curtailments would throw many agricultural laborers out of work.

The first law school in the United States was established at Litchfield, Conn., in 1784.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Colman—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!—Go to the Morning!—Go to the Morning!

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Excitement, health, you guarantee in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. See Stebbins' reduce surprising else.
