Adviser to promote U.S. overseas image

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush will nominate one of his closest longtime advisers to a key State Department post in an effort to help repair the United States' image abroad, especially in the Arab world, a senior administration official said Saturday.

The official, who spoke on the condition of anonymity, said the announcement that Bush has selected Karen Hughes to be undersecretary of state for public diplomacy and public affairs will be made early next week, possibly as early as Monday. The position requires Senate confirmation.

The official said that Hughes, 48, will spearhead the administration's campaign to promote democracy in the Middle East.

Hughes, who for years has had a major voice in crafting Bush's domestic message, is a former counselor to the president who left the White House in 2002 to move her family back to Texas.

She has little experience in foreign affairs but enjoys the confidence of the president and is close to the new secretary of state, Condoleezza Rice.

Since leaving Washington, Hughes, a former Texas television reporter, has continued to advise the president from her home in Austin.

As undersecretary, Hughes' main responsibility will be to repair the image of the United States which was badly tarnished abroad by anger over the Bush administration's decision to invade Iraq and overthrow its government.

She will be responsible for improving U.S. diplomats' face-to-face contact overseas and will oversee an array of programs, such as radio broadcasts that place American ideas and news before foreign audiences.

The post has been vacant since last summer.

Proud moment sweetens separation

Local Reservist escorts Rumsfeld

By SKYI A BRYANT
 News Editor

High school sweethearts, Raul and Beth Casas of Pampa, are currently experiencing a trying separation while Casas is deployed with the U.S. Army Reserves overseas.

Recently, however, Mrs. Casas caught a proud glimpse of her husband on TV when he was featured by several media outlets with Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld.

According to Mrs. Casas, her husband commands two combat support hospitals in Iraq — one in Mosul, the other in Tikrit. He is with the 228th Combat Support Hospital unit.

"He went to San Antonio in October and was there until Dec. 26 when he left for Iraq," Mrs. Casas said, adding that he now "mostly stays in Mosul."

"I am the CSM (Command Sergeant Major) for Task Force 228, which is comprised of a Combat Support Hospital that is divided up between 2 Iraqi cities," he told his wife. "I also have 2 FSTs (Forward Surgical Teams) that are in 2 other cities. In addition, we have a CSC (Combat Stress Control) unit attached. I am the Senior Enlisted Soldier for the Task Force which is comprised of over 500 soldiers.

"It is my responsibility to ensure that the soldiers in the Task Force are not only technically proficient in their specific jobs, but to also ensure that they are tactically proficient in their combat skills. In addition to ensuring the soldiers can perform their wartime mission, I continue to do many of the things that I would normally do stateside, such as conduct monthly promotion boards, mentor and train NCOs, all the way up to First Sergeants, in order for them to be able to better prepare their soldiers in the skills they need to perform and survive in the combat environment."

A call upon her heart

Nurse shares Sri Lanka experience with church

By DAVID BOWSER
 Staff Writer

Carleen Rogers told the congregation of the Cornerstone Baptist Church on a recent Sunday morning that her call to travel to Sri Lanka to participate in tsunami relief aid was a call upon her heart.

"I think that call started some years ago as I grew up here," she said.

Rogers said she had always received love from those around her.

"Not just from my parents," she said, "but from a whole band of people that raised me."

It was that love from those whom she knew in Pampa that gave her the confidence to through with what she said she felt God called her to do.

Several weeks ago, before Rogers left for the island nation off the coast of India, her brother, Jim Moye, told her the congregation that she felt she had been called as a child to be a missionary nurse.

"That was when I was about six or seven years old," Rogers said.

With her husband, Raymie, also a Pampa native, and her two daughters, Brandi, 16, and Maisie, 13, in the front pew, Rogers recounted that she always knew she was supposed to be a missionary nurse.

"I think sometimes there's just a lot of different roads that you can take to the destination that God calls you to," she said. "Although maybe I took a little side road and put my family first, that calling was always on my life, but the opportunity hadn't always been there."

Rogers, however, credited her friends at the Cornerstone Baptist Church with getting her to Sri Lanka and back safely.

"Ya'll are the ones that prayed me through that," Rogers said.

She said there was more than $9,000 in individual donations from the Pampa area.

More importantly, she said, there were the prayers of her family and friend and members of the church.

That helped her get through the long hours, the oppressive heat, depressing situation and the death threats.

Rogers, a 1983 Pampa High School graduate, is now a hospice nurse in Decatur.

"Everyday I go to work, I know what I do involves the lives of others," she said, "and I'm within my own profession able to point people toward a God that will give them security and safety as they make that transformation into death."

Rogers said she's able to do that every day.

The tsunami that devastated Indonesia and the Indian Ocean the day after Christmas presented her with a new opportunity. Rogers said she

Lynn Switzer officially sworn in as new DA

By MARILYN POWERS
 Staff Writer

Lynn Switzer's appointment as 31st District Attorney was confirmed Wednesday, March 11 by the Texas State Senate, she said Friday in a telephone interview.

She was sworn in the next day in Wheeler County Courthouse by 31st District Judge Steven Emmert of Wheeler. A reception in Switzer's honor at the courthouse followed the swearing-in ceremony.

One of Switzer's first goals upon being sworn in as district attorney, she said on March 4, was to appoint a special prosecutor to investigate the possibility of filing state charges against former District Attorney Rick Roach.

"I want to wait until after next week" to address the issue of hiring a special prosecutor, Switzer said

Friday. "I will be addressing the issue after the Jimmy Young case" has been tried in court, she said.

Young's trial on a charge of manslaughter, enhanced, begins with jury selection at 9 a.m. Monday, March 14, with testimony expected to start at 1 p.m. that day.

Young is charged in the shooting death of Tracy Williams of Pampa, who died as a result of a gunshot wound on April 3, 2003.

If convicted of the first-degree felony, Young could be sentenced to five to 99 years or life in prison, Switzer said.

Grand Jury Indictments

By MARILYN POWERS
 Staff Writer

Gray County Grand Jury handed up 10 indictments Thursday in 31st District Court, with six involving second-degree felonies and four concerning third-degree felonies.

Kasey Lyn Crockett, 20, was indicted on a charge of possession of marijuana. Bond on the second-degree felony was set at $10,000.

On Jan. 12, 2004, Kasey Crockett allegedly possessed 2,000 pounds or less but more than 50 pounds of marijuana.

Kourtney Anne Crockett, 19, was indicted on a charge of possession of marijuana. Bond on the second-degree felony was set at $10,000.

On Jan. 12, 2004, Kourtney Crockett allegedly possessed 2,000 pounds or less but more than 50 pounds of marijuana.

Ernesto Cruz Jr., 26, was indicted on a charge of burglary of a habitation. Bond on the second-degree felony was set at $5,000.

On Sept. 12, 2004, Cruz allegedly entered a habitation without the effective consent of Ty Kidwell, the owner, with the intent to commit an assault against Misty Brittain.

Richard Wayne Osbin, 45, was indicted on a charge of driving while intoxicated, third or more offense, enhanced. Bond on the second-degree felony was set at $10,000.

On June 6, 2003, Osbin allegedly operated a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

On Nov. 21, 1995, Osbin was convicted in Gray County Court of driving while intoxicated. On Oct. 13, 1998, he

Obituaries

Robert Atherton (Bob) Keagy, 85

Robert Atherton (Bob) Keagy, 85, of Pampa, Texas, died Friday, March 11, 2005, at Pampa.

Services will be at 4 p.m. Monday, March 14, 2005, at the First United Methodist Church with John Curry officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors.

We are thankful for the life of Robert Atherton Keagy who was the son of Philip Donald and Martha Louise Hall Keagy. Bob was born Dec. 31, 1919, in Independence, Iowa, and moved to Dallas as a young child. He graduated from Southern Methodist University in Dallas with a B.S. degree in electrical engineering.

He attended the Chicago

Institute of Technology and L.S.U. He married Marilyn (Mike) McGuire on April 24, 1943.

He and Mike moved to the Panhandle area in 1946 where Bob spent 35 years, working for Cabot Corporation. He retired in 1982 as the Southwest Regional manager of oil and gas drilling and production.

Upon his retirement, he chaired the Cabot Retirement Program, which made transportation available to those needing treatment at the cancer center or dialysis lab.

He was a member of the Cabot and NOI Employees Credit Union where he was appointed to the board of directors in 1979. He served many years as an active board member and was elected as chairman of the board in 1991.

Bob was a faithful member of the First United Methodist Church, where he was active as a Boy Scout leader through the church. He was a veteran of the U.S. Navy, serving as a naval officer during World War II.

Bob loved his family and his many friends. Life was an adventure to him, and his philosophy was to live each day to the fullest. His adventure is finished and he is safely home. Well done, my good and faithful servant.

Survivors include his wife, Marilyn (Mike) Keagy, of the home; three daughters, Joan Keagy and husband Ernest Stokely of Birmingham, Ala., Jean Fiedler of South Port, N.C., and Janet Gregory of Trophy Club, Texas; one son, Jim Keagy and wife Connie of Albuquerque, N.M.; one sister, Margaret Stemmler; one brother, Jack Keagy; nine grandchildren, Sara Nowak, Amy Fiedler, Dan Fiedler, Stephen White, Nathan White, David Keagy, Jane McKean, Meagan Gregory and Alan Gregory — he was also special "Papa" to Valerie, Michelle and Andrea Lee; and three great-grandchildren, Mataya Fiedler, Katherine Nowak and Alexander Nowak.

The family requests memorials be to Pulmonary Fibrosis Foundation, 1440 W. Washington Blvd., Chicago, IL 60607.

Tenth Farm Credit District lender posts its year-end results

AUSTIN — The Tenth Farm Credit District, a network of cooperatively owned rural financing organizations, according to a press release posted outstanding financial results for 2004. For the fourth consecutive year, the district set new records for earnings, asset growth and credit quality, the release said.

The district is composed of the Austin-based Farm Credit Bank of Texas, 21 district associations in Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico and Texas, and four Other Financing Institutions.

Net income for the year ended Dec. 31, 2004, totaled $342.5 million, compared to $168.6 million for the prior year. Included in the results for 2004 was a one-time reversal of the allowance for loan losses of $153.1 million, net of the related $4.2 million tax impact.

This reversal was recorded upon completion of previously announced studies to refine the bank's and district associations' methodologies for determining their allowance for loan losses.

The refinement in methodologies resulted in calculated allowances, the press release said, for loan losses that were significantly less than the previously recorded balance, due to revised loss factors that are more indicative of actual loss experience in recent years and to current borrower analysis.

Also, the 2003 results included a one-time gain of $30.5 million recognized upon the sale of the Farm Credit Bank of Texas' mineral rights portfolio. Excluding the $157.3 million one-time reversal of the allowance for loan losses in 2004 and the $30.5 million gain on the mineral rights sale in 2003, district net income for 2004 would have reflected an increase of $47.1 million, or 34.1 percent, over 2003.

Net interest income of $304.1 million at Dec. 31, 2004, was 14.7 percent higher than the $265.0 million in net interest income reported a year earlier.

The district reported $10.3 billion in interest-earning assets at Dec. 31, 2004, up 16.5 percent from the $8.9 billion in interest-earning assets reported at Dec. 31, 2003.

Gross loan volume totaled

$8.44 billion at Dec. 31, 2004, an increase of $1.17 billion, or 16.1 percent, from the $7.27 billion reported a year earlier. The district's portfolio of short-term agricultural loans showed the largest gain, increasing by 47.3 percent over the past year to total $1.55 billion at Dec. 31, 2004.

Loan credit quality also remained strong, climbing to 98.3 percent acceptable volume at year-end 2004 from 97.4 percent acceptable a year earlier.

"Our growth in earnings and assets last year was impressive. This achievement can be attributed largely to the efforts of association and bank staff, who pursued their local markets with new products and more competitive pricing, while expanding their marketing efforts in the agribusiness sector," said Larry Doyle, FCBT chief executive officer.

"We are particularly proud that we were able to accomplish this growth while improving credit quality at the same time," he added. "We plan to leverage this momentum to further penetrate our markets in the coming year."

The Farm Credit Bank of Texas provides funding and services to its affiliated Tenth District financing associations, while make agricultural, rural real estate and agribusiness loans. They are part of the nationwide Farm Credit System, a network of rural lending cooperatives established by Congress in 1916.

FOOT FACTS BY BROWNS SHOE FIT CO.

PROPER POSTURE SAVES FEET... One foot specialist compares the wearing of poorly designed shoes to driving a car with wheels out of balance and front end out of alignment. You can imagine the effect on your feet when bad posture throws your body weight out of balance on your feet. Shifting an unbalanced weight distribution along the heel and arch can make ordinary walking a torment. Even normal fatigue from being on one's feet hour after hour can make any foot movement agony. To minimize fatigue and foot discomfort: 1) body posture should be correct to properly balance body weight on the oppressed feet; 2) the finest and best-fitted shoes are the least we can offer to our hard-working feet.

87-year-old Catholic school closing

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — An 87-year-old Catholic school will close after May graduation, leaving many parents and students broken-hearted.

"We were hoping it wouldn't come to that," said a tearful Dolores Bustamante, whose daughter Angelica is a seventh-grader at Our Lady of Mount Carmel.

Parents of Mount Carmel's 110 students will meet with the principals of El Paso's nine other Catholic schools Sunday to try to find places for their children.

El Paso Diocese Bishop Armando X. Ochoa announced this week the impending closure of the kindergarten through eighth grade school, which has an annual tuition of $2,550. A viability study ordered in January from a Dallas firm had recommended closing the school, Ochoa told parents and students.

In the past four years, enrollment at Mount Carmel has declined by about a third, from 166 students to 110, principal Roger Parks said. The school has been losing $100,000 a year in tuition. To cover the costs, the parish has liquidated its savings and indebted itself to the diocese, Parks said.

"It's hard to call it quits because this is a school where you can be an educator but also be yourself and practice your faith," Parks said. "It's part of who we are."

Two other schools included in the viability study were spared.

Newspaper reflects a growing community

Most of my ideas pop into my head in the early morning hours.

An old friend Gene Gates would say his brain is like a computer. Sometimes the thought process took a long time, he said, because the older he got, the more file folders he had to search through.

Almost every week, I assign my brain to the task of coming up with an idea for my next column. Then, instead of actively working on the problem, I go on about my usual routine. Almost every time, an idea comes to me sometime between 3 a.m. and 5 a.m. Too bad I don't have a lap top beside my bed. I could just write it right then. Not having a lap top, I wait until hours later when I'm at work and have time to write the column.

My "sick" column last week drew more comments than any I've written in awhile. Doug Locke sent me a link to a website about gastroenteritis. After looking at that, I've convinced I prefer the upper respiratory-type flu.

But I really prefer the prescription offered by John Crowell. He suggested a bottle of wine and a DVD of "The Notebook" to watch. That's sure to cure all that ails.

While looking up some background information for Associated Press writer

Betsy Blaney Monday, I thumbed through bound copies of The Pampa News from December 2002 through January 2003. Then I looked through the bound copies for December 2003 through January 2004.

Dee Dee Laramore
Editor

I was amazed by the changes in that one-year period.

The Pampa News reflects what is happening in Pampa, the county, the state, the nation and the world — especially Pampa and Gray County. Newspapers are a mirror of the people who read them. Like a mirror, they are not an exact representation but a likeness. The quality of the newspaper determines how accurate the likeness is.

Looking through the papers of those two periods of time, I was amazed to see a marked change in what was happening in the community.

In the 2002-2003 period, reports of the economy were dismal, especially at the local level. We ran stories about rural ambulance services struggling to make enough money to operate. Pampa lost its bid for a veterans home. The school superintendent was hired by a larger school district. City sales tax rebates were running 5 to 10 percent below what was budgeted. Both of the local dairies were involved in dispersal sales. And underneath all this were war drums, growing louder and louder.

I had forgotten what a dark time that had been for Pampa. Fortunately, a year later, things had changed for the better.

National polls indicated a growing optimism about the economy, an optimism that showed in the local headlines, too. Sales tax rebates were steadily increasing and starting to go above what had been budgeted. The number of building permits, instead of dropping, were now beginning to inch forward. Pampa had been approved as a site for a business incubator project and the local United Way celebrated getting more than $310,000 in donations. A new school superintendent had provided stability to the district. And through it all, the drums of war continued.

I didn't have time as I write this late Friday afternoon to go through the headlines of the same time period for this year, but I know that our local economy has improved even more. City sales tax receipts are now

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Sunday, March 13, the 72nd day of 2005. There are 293 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On March 13, 1781, the planet Uranus was discovered by Sir William Herschel.

On this date:

In 1868, the impeachment trial of President Andrew Johnson began in the U.S. Senate.

In 1884, Standard Time was adopted throughout the United States.

In 1901, the 23rd president of the United States, Benjamin Harrison, died in Indianapolis.

In 1925, a law went into effect in Tennessee prohibiting the teaching of evolution.

In 1933, banks began to reopen after a "holiday" declared by President Roosevelt.

In 1964, 38 residents of a Queens, N.Y., neighborhood failed to respond to the cries of Catherine "Kitty" Genovese, 28, as she was being stabbed to death.

In 1969, the Apollo 9 astronauts splashed down, ending a mission that included the successful testing of the Lunar Module.

Our readers write

Not an angel, God's spirit

I thought I might write and tell everyone an update on the kidney transplant with Glenn Hamilton and myself. Everything went exceptionally well. The kidney began filtering while Glenn was still on the operating table. The surgeons told our families that it was one of the smoothest transplants they had done. No complications. We were both out of the hospital within days.

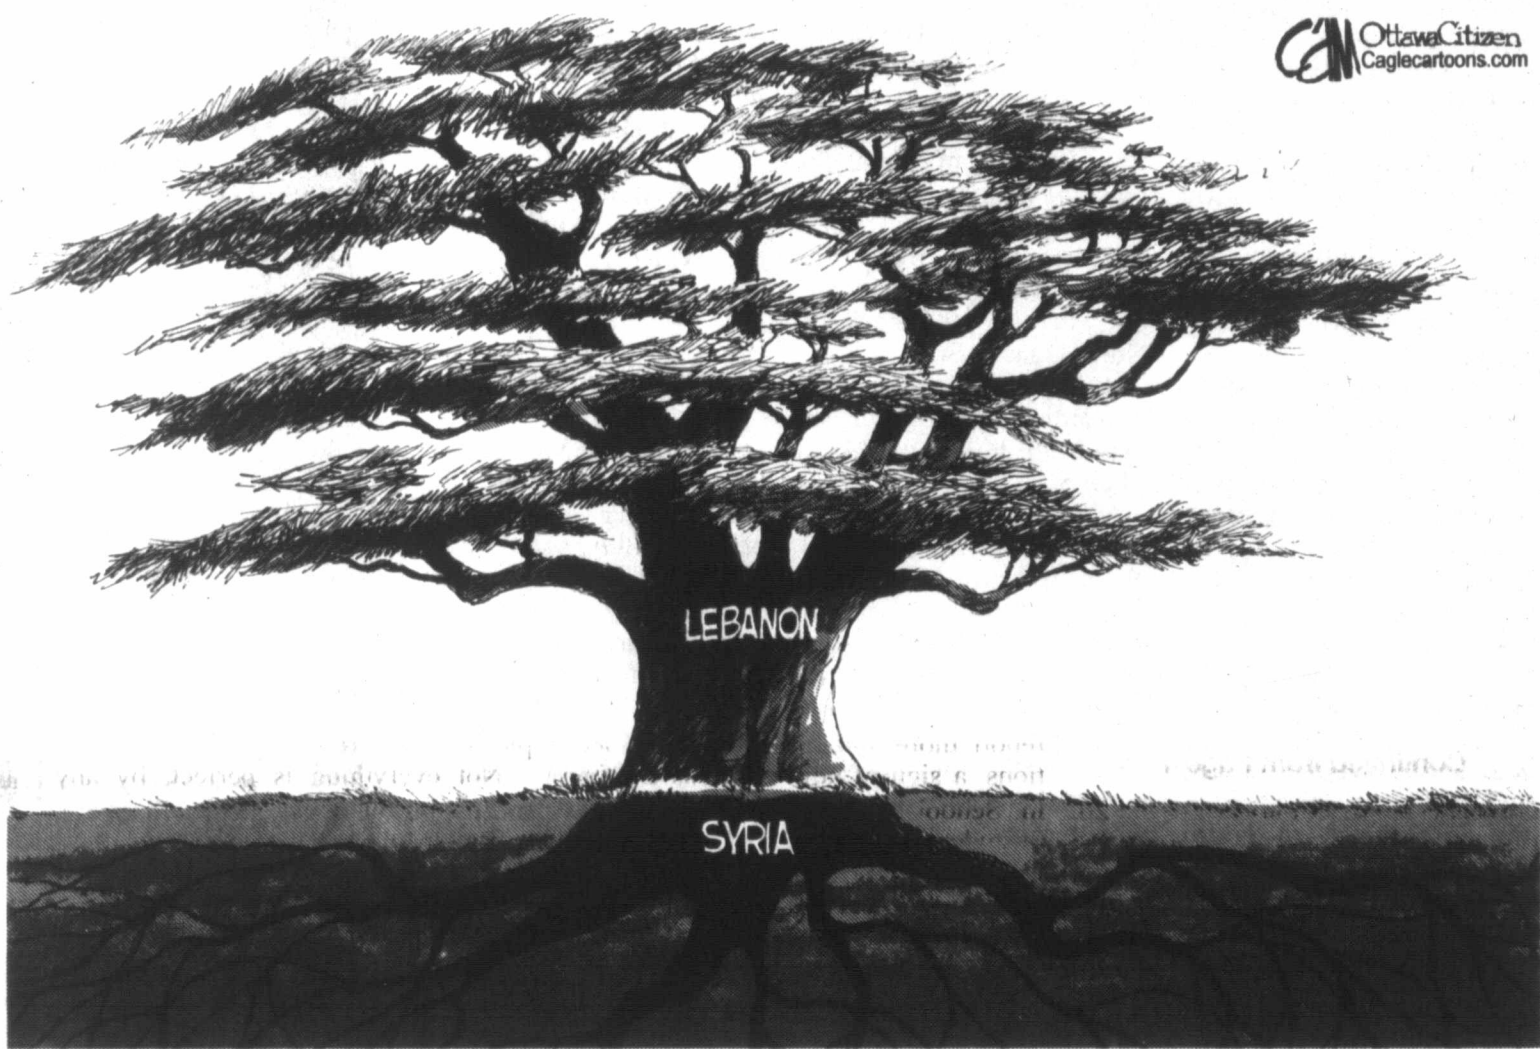

I am back home and back to regular life again. Glenn is still in Dallas with routine check-ups. Glenn and I both have had remarkable recoveries and are doing terrific.

I would like to thank everyone for your support.

Your thoughts and prayers were felt in our spirits. While I was in pre-op, getting reading for the surgery, my mother asked me if I was still doing OK. I said that I was fine. I felt such a peace within, I know that I was resting in God's ease covered with all your prayers.

As The Pampa News referred to as "An Angel Among Us," I want to say I am simply an humble servant of my Lord, living in obedience to His call. What you see as extreme, I see as stepping out in faith. Sometimes He has to show us the extreme in others to get us out of our own comfort zone. It wasn't simply "an angel" but the spirit of God working among us here in Pampa, Texas.

Global grasps for greenest grass

Taken to the absolute peak on the chart of extremes, our unending pursuit of greener grass on the other side finally leads us back on a 360-degree journey to the very same spot. It looks simpler and shorter on paper.

Across the fence, to the next county, with competitive juices flowing, we are committed to the search. Time zones come and go, and we keep moving.

*****
Mix in the gnawing need to get back soonest to the green, green grass of home, and we are the stuff of record-makers who've circled the globe and are back to their starting points, just days apart.

The latest honorees to traverse Mother Earth in record time covered some 50,000 miles in so doing. They are the "talk of many towns" — yours, mine and thousands of others on the planet. The current record-smashing speedsters are 28-year-old Englishwoman E l i e n MacArthur and 60-year-old American Steve Fossett.

Fossett, a Californian first to circle the globe in a balloon, achieved another milestone March 3 when he became the first person to fly solo around the world non-stop. (Aviation pioneer Wiley Post was the first in 1933, but he made several stops along the way. Two years later, he and passenger Will Rogers died in a plane crash.) A multi-millionaire who hates idleness, Fossett made his fortune early on and has spent most of his life in adventurous pursuits.

He had tanks in all nooks and all crannies to stow 18,000 pounds of fuel in his single-engine experimental jet aircraft. The adventurer covered the 23,000 miles in 67 hours, some of which were marked by unusual tensions.

Some fuel was lost, and it was "touch and go" whether to fly over Hawaii and mush on to the American mainland or to land and re-fuel, thus throwing in the towel. His "fudge factor" was the ability to glide for 200 miles. (Wives would have screamed to stop for a fill-up; husbands would insist they could make it to the next continent.)

He completed the circle as planned when he touched down in Salina, Kan. Holder of more than 100 world records, Fossett made it on milkshakes, brilliant aviation skills, sheer determination, the prayers of many, and favorable winds. He was back to the greenest grass of all.

Battle to balance freedom with security

Recent news that basketball superstar Hakeem Olajuwon supported a mosque that U.S. officials have identified as a front for terrorists rightfully raises concerns, both in the fight against terror and in the battle to protect the rights and freedoms of Americans to give so much of themselves to help those in need.

Olajuwon, the stellar player for the Houston Rockets basketball team, is a Muslim who frequently has condemned violence. He established a Houston-area mosque as well as the Islamic Da'Wah Center, through which he gave more than $80,000 to the Islamic African Relief Agency.

The federal government identified the relief agency as a financial contributor to Osama bin Laden and al-Qaida, and shut it down last year.

Federal officials told The Associated Press they were not investigating Olajuwon himself as a possible terrorist supporter.

The incident raises a dilemma that faces both government investigators and our nation that has so many innocent altruists. Many organizations cloak themselves in benevolent-sounding names that don't reveal their true motives or political views.

Those ambiguous names, however, allow many contributors to hide the real purpose of their donations when listed on financial statements. The caveats usually are well publicized: Always check out a charitable organization to ensure that any donations will go for the donor's intended purpose. Many people, however, moved more by emotion than by reason, trust that others are just as well-meaning as they are, and fail to take the extra time and trouble to do that checking.

Every year millions of dollars sent in to help victims of natural disasters or others in need is lost to scam artists or diverted for other purposes. That could well be what happened to Olajuwon. At the same time, it's hard to fault investigators who want to cut off financial pipelines that fund those who are

"It's funny," Mrs. Casas said. "On Feb. 10, he told me — the day my stepfather passed away — 'I won't be able to talk to you in the morning because I have a top-secret activity.'"

That "top-secret activity," Mrs. Casas later learned, was showing Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld around the hospital at Mosul.

"I was in Vernon in a hotel asleep when the phone started ringing," Mrs. Casas said.

She was in Vernon en route to be with her mother after her stepfather died. The callers were telling her they'd seen Casas with Rumsfeld on their TV screens.

Even people in Dimmitt, where the Casases originally come from, were calling her, she said.

"We got up, so my daughter got to see her daddy."

In 1982, Casas enlisted in the U.S. Army for three years and in 1985 joined the Reserves.

Casas was one of two guides conducting the U.S. Defense Secretary around the Mosul hospital. During his visit, Casas told his wife, the secretary awarded a purple heart to a soldier.

Casas and Rumsfeld, Mrs. Casas said, were featured on Good Morning America, on CSNBC, on the Fox News Network and others.

Mrs. Casas recently spearheaded a drive that netted some 282 Beanie Babies to send to her husband overseas after he told her about some of the children seen at the hospital.

"We raised about $200 for shipping," Mrs. Casas said. "We had about $40 left over."

Her husband told her to use the rest to purchase beef jerky for the soldiers.

The couple has two sons, J.C. and Robert, and a daughter, Bethany. Bethany is a fourth grader at Austin Elementary School where her mother teaches third grade.

J.C. is a student at Amarillo College and is living in Amarillo.

Robert, like his father, is in the military. He enlisted in the U.S. Army in August 2002 and is presently stationed at Fort Sill. He was sent to Iraq in January 2003 for three months.

His mother anticipates he may be redeployed while his father is still overseas.

When not doing his part for his country while serving in the Reserves, Casas is employed as a chemical operator at Celanese Pampa Plant where he has worked since October 1998.

Mr. and Mrs. Casas are members of Calvary Baptist Church of Pampa.

Switzer

The possibility of state criminal charges against Roach follows in the wake of his arrest Jan. 11 on a federal charge of possession of methamphetamine. Three additional counts involving possession of methamphetamine, cocaine and firearms were added to his indictment later in federal court in Amarillo.

On Feb. 8, Roach pleaded guilty in Amarillo federal court to the charge of firearm(s) possession by a drug user or addict. His sentencing on the charge is expected to be some time in April, according to Christy L. Drake, assistant U.S. attorney in Amarillo. At that time, the three remaining charges may be dropped by the judge, Drake said in a Feb. 8 interview.

"Typically, we plead somebody to a count, and the remaining counts of the indictment get dismissed at sentencing as part of the plea agreement," she said.

"A couple of dates are targeted for (Roach's) sentencing. It won't be before April 4, which is the first available date. It depends on if there are objections to the pre-sentence report," Drake said in a March 6 interview.

Roach resigned as 31st District Attorney on Feb. 8, the same day he entered his guilty plea. An original petition for removal from office had been filed by Rebecca Bailey, an employee of the district attorney's office, on Jan. 12 by Gray County Attorney Josh Seabourn, seeking Roach's dismissal from office.

Switzer was hired by Roach in May 2002 as assistant district attorney for the 31st Judicial District, which includes the 223rd Judicial District. The 31st District is composed of Gray, Hemphill, Lipscomb, Roberts and Wheeler counties.

Switzer was appointed 31st District Attorney on Feb. 23 by Gov. Rick Perry. The appointment was then presented to the Senate Nominations Committee for its approval, before being brought before the entire Senate, the last step in the appointment process.

was convicted in Gray County Court of driving while intoxicated, second offense.

On May 8, 1978, Osbin was convicted in 31st Judicial Court in Gray County of the felony offense of burglary of vehicles.

Adam Scoggins, 35, was indicted on a charge of burglary of a habitation. Bond on the second-degree felony was set at $5,000.

On Sept. 12, 2004, Scoggins allegedly entered a habitation without the effective consent of Ty Kidwell, the owner, with intent to commit an assault against Kidwell.

Amy Dawn Strazz, 24, was indicted on a charge of fraud. Bond on the second-degree felony was set at $7,500.

On Dec. 30, 2003, Strazz allegedly attempted to possess or obtain Demerol, a controlled substance, by forging the name of Giang Nguyen to a prescription form.

Jimmy Claude Davis, 59, was indicted on a charge of driving while intoxicated, third or more offense. Bond on the third-degree felony was set at $10,000.

On Aug. 11, 2004, Davis allegedly operated a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

On Nov. 15, 1983; March 21, 1988; and Oct. 8, 1998, Davis was convicted in Gray County Court of driving while intoxicated.

Amanda Jo Landis, 22, was indicted on a charge of possession of a controlled substance. Bond on the third-degree felony was set at $5,000.

On April 24, 2004, Landis allegedly possessed one gram or more but less than four grams of methamphetamine.

Robert Lee Leger, 22, was indicted on a charge of theft over $20,000 and under $100,000. Bond on the third-degree felony was set at $5,000.

On Jan. 26, 2004, Leger allegedly unlawfully appropriated, acquired or otherwise exerted control over a vehicle of the value of $20,000 or more but less than $100,000, from Porfirio Moreno, the owner, with intent to deprive Moreno of the vehicle.

Orpheus Lynn Thompson, 36, was indicted on a charge of possession of marijuana. Bond on the third-degree felony was set at $74,000.

On June 26, 2003, Thompson allegedly possessed 50 pounds or less but more than five pounds of marijuana.

Growth

exceeding budgeted amounts by 20 percent or more. Local oil and gas industry is reawakening every where. Agriculture is showing renewal as well with the opening of a cotton gin near

White Deer and cotton fields scattered across the Panhandle. Houses are selling rapidly, I'm told. City officials report more and more water connections, a sign of new residents coming in. School officials report an increase in student population. Another sign that Pampa is growing. We're hearing that builders from both inside and outside the area are considering new housing developments here. They're not going to invest their money into such a project unless they believe there'll be people coming here to buy those houses.

Not everything is perfect, by any means, but without a doubt, Pampa is on the upswing.

Don't take my word for it. Go see for yourself. Just look at the traffic on Hobart Street.

Records

A few days earlier, Ms. MacArthur achieved an even more remarkable feat. She circumnavigated the world in a sailboat, covering some 27,000 miles in 71 days and change. She eclipsed the old record by more than a full day. (Unlike aviation, there are fewer straight lines, so the trip was some 2,000 miles longer.) Sleeping an average of four hours daily in chunks of 15-30 minutes, twice repairing sails 98 feet above the water, battling winds that reached 65 MPH, surviving rough seas and avoiding a close encounter with a whale, she is the darling of the Brits.

There was nothing "limey" about this solo feat. Prime Minister Tony Blair conferred a fitting title, Dame Ellen. (Fitting in England, but if an American woman sets such a record and if President Bush calls her "dame," she'll hit him over the head with a boat oar.) Dame Ellen's greenest grass is in the Cornwall town of Falmouth, England.

*****

Starting this fall, look for youthful Americans to shoot for unlikely new records — this time for tooth brushing. They're coming out with new battery-powered brushes that play two-minute tunes, sending the melodies straight to the inner ear via teeth and jawbones. Formerly not that much into tooth brushing, kids will go wild with this new way of listening, flashing pearly-whites to prove it.

Look for collegians — in class and out — with toothbrushes protruding from their mouths. They may even have extras hanging from earrings, just in case batteries give out.

*****

My Uncle Mort is not so much interested in records as he is just plain old good news, even small slivers of it. Lately, he's spent a lot of time studying asteroids.

He's excited about finding a "roid word" devoid of both pain and body-building implications.

(And he believes that all people have the right to believe their grass is greenest, no matter where they live.)

*****

Who knows where grass grows greenest? Give it a rest. If we don't, contests will spring up for that, too. Finally, do the math. Fossett averaged some 375 MPH; MacArthur slightly more than 15 MPH.

blowing up Americans and innocent victims in the Middle East.

Establishment of a Good Samaritan-type law to protect donors might actually give more power to those who fund terrorists. High-profile incidents like that involving Olajuwon often lead to knee-jerk reactions from lawmakers who want to show their constituents that they're on top of the issue. In this case, however and in most cases, if we think about it the best option regarding this issue would be increased awareness all around, but no change in laws or policy.

Federal officials should take every measure to ensure that innocent people who unknowingly support questionable organizations aren't unfairly persecuted. Nor should we change policy away from continued support of private donations, rather than taxation, as the major source of charitable contributions.

The best option remains to applaud those who give of themselves, while continuing to encourage them to make sure that their charitable donations are going where they are intended.

Diagnosis first step to treating Alzheimer's

By Kay Ledbetter
Texas A&M communications specialist

AMARILLO — More than 4 million Americans have Alzheimer's disease, but few people can tell you much about the devastating illness.

Alzheimer's is a chronic, degenerative disease, which slowly gets worse as it progresses, said Andrew B. Crocker, Texas Cooperative Extension gerontology health specialist.

While most Americans assume the majority of Alzheimer's patients reside in nursing homes, Crocker said close to half of them actually reside at home.

By 2050, more than 14 million Americans are expected to be diagnosed with the disease.

"It seems that the incidence of Alzheimer's disease has increased in recent years to near epidemic proportions," Crocker said. "While improvement in diagnosis has contributed to the rise, the real answer lies in the average length of life for human beings."

In the 18th century, the average lifespan was 35 to 40 years. Now, the average lifespan in the United States is about 77 years. Studies show about 10 percent of those over age 65, 20 percent of those over 77 and half of those over 85 have Alzheimer's.

"Alzheimer's is more prevalent now because more and more people are living long enough to develop the dis-

Listen to your doctor for good heart health

(NAPSA) — Despite heightened awareness about high blood pressure and its contributions to serious cardiovascular diseases such as heart attack and stroke, many patients are still not taking appropriate action to treat their condition.

Unfortunately, according to the National Institutes of Health, two-thirds of Americans don't have their blood pressure under control.

In fact, while people with hypertension are aware of the health risks, a new survey of more than 500 hypertensive adults shows that many aren't following their doctor's treatment and lifestyle suggestions.

Even though more than half of respondents acknowledge that not following their doctors' instructions puts them at high risk for heart attack or stroke, one in three fails to stick to his or her medication regimen, and

Following your doctor's treatment recommendations is a key component to leading a heart-healthy life.

80 percent disregard the lifestyle changes recommended by their doctor.

However, nearly half believe they could be more motivated to try to control their hypertension with added encouragement and emotional support from their doctor.

"Patient adherence is an ongoing challenge, especially when dealing with hypertension, which is often described as the 'silent killer' since the disease frequently does not produce physical symptoms. Patients often look and feel fine, and they may not sense the urgency in controlling their blood pressure day to day," said Brent M. Egan, MD, professor of medicine and pharmacology at the Medical University of South Carolina. "It's critical that patients and health care professionals work together to establish realistic treatment goals, and that health care professionals positively reinforce patients to help them achieve optimal blood pressure control."

Hypertension is the most common reason for seeing a physician in the United States, with 35 million office visits citing hypertension as the primary diagnosis.

It affects 50 million Americans—one in four adults — and is a major risk factor for heart disease and a risk factor for stroke and heart failure.

The disease disables more than one million Americans each year and is responsible for 52 million lost workdays.

The above-mentioned survey, called Hypertension Education Awareness Recognition and Treatment (HEART), was conducted in late 2003 and sponsored by AstraZeneca, maker of medications for hypertension, heart failure and angina.

Some simple substitutions can benefit wellness level

(NAPSA) — According to a recent study by research firm The NPD Group Inc., more than 60 percent of Americans are overweight due to diets too full of fat and calories. Author, TV host and healthy eating expert Janette Barber, who lost more than 120 pounds on her own, believes you should start a healthy eating plan by taking "baby steps" — making small changes to your diet over time.

"When people use the word 'diet,' they have a tendency to think it means following a strict eating plan that doesn't allow them to enjoy any of their favorite foods," said Barber. "Instead of thinking 'all or nothing,' the key is to make simple substitutions, like using Molly McButter instead of butter."

Janette believes the secret to satisfaction is preparing food so it tastes like it's made with traditional high-fat ingredients, when it's actually made with low-fat substitutions.

"Everyone has a favorite decadent dish that's difficult to give up, but the good news is you don't need to sacrifice taste," Barber adds. "Instead, you just need to find a healthier way to prepare it."

Janette's Red Hot Chicken Strips recipe is a perfect example of a dish traditionally known to be high in calories and fat, but made healthy with the right substitutions. And it's easy, too; just a few ingredients will make a great appetizer or main dish that your family will love, and you'll love the fact that it's good for them!

Increase the fiber in this recipe by serving with carrots or celery sticks, and for simple preparation, use kitchen shears to cut the chicken into strips.

RED HOT CHICKEN STRIPS

- 4 medium to large skinless, boneless chicken breasts
- 2 tps olive oil
- 1/3 cup fat-free Italian dressing
- 2 Tbsp Molly McButter(r) Natural Butter Flavor Sprinkles
- 1/4 cup hot sauce

Heat the oil in a nonstick skillet on medium. Cut the chicken breasts crossways into narrow strips, drop into pan and brown on all sides, 5 - 6 minutes. In a small bowl, combine the Italian dressing, Molly McButter and hot sauce. Pour over chicken strips, reduce heat to simmer and continue cooking for another 5 minutes. Remove from pan with

I love living in Pampa. It's a great place to build a business and an even better place to raise your family. Dr. Ellis and the nurses at PRMC were wonderful when I delivered Jetta Ann. Treated me like a queen! The birthing room was beautiful and the nursery under Dr. Nguyen's care is "state-of-the-art". If you can deliver in your hometown — the hospital staff is capable and it's safe... why on earth would you leave home?

Field day open to area farmers, ranchers

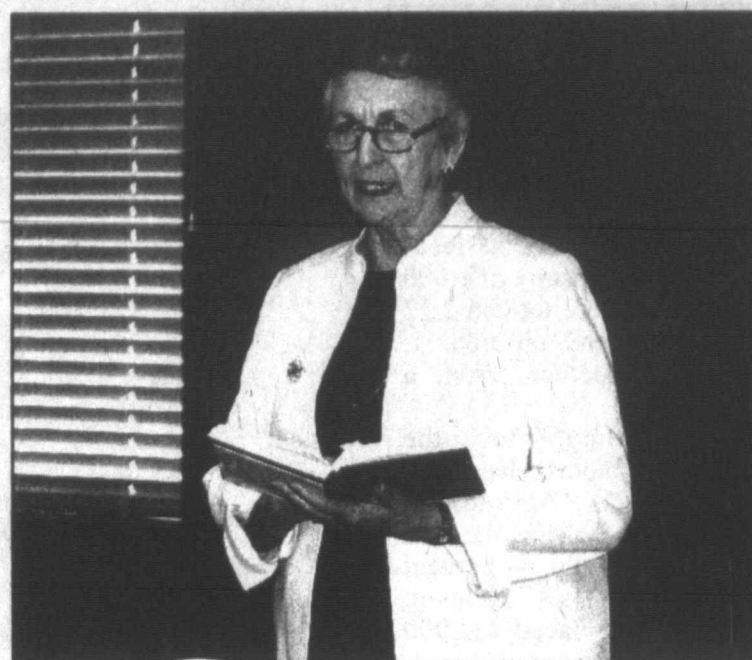

One-half day field day focusing on forages and cattle is slated April 7. Registration will begin at 8 a.m. at the Texas Foundation Seed Service facility in Lockett. The facility is adjacent to the Texas A&M University System Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Vernon.

Agenda: Participants can visit the Vernon center for a look at research with cool-season perennial forages, or caravan to the Smith/Walker research unit to hear presentations on these topics: Reduced tillage practices for grazed and ungrazed wheat; managing bloat in stocker cattle; nitrogen fertilizer rates and application timing; weed control options; and grazing intensity and grazing termination dates.

Following the morning tours, two speakers at the foundation seed facility will address the U.S. Department of Agriculture's national animal identification program and the beef market outlook. A lunch and keynote speaker will

DECA chapter travels to Dallas for conference

Four marketing education students from Pampa High School recently participated in the 59th Annual Career Development Conference for the Texas DECA Association, a news release from PHS said. The conference was held at the Hyatt Regency Reunion Tower in Dallas.

Traveling to Dallas from Pampa were local chapter members Kaylee Keith, Lacy Kilcrease, Mitchell Crow and Jacob Stillwagon.

Crow and Stillwagon were among students recognized as state finalists during the Grand Awards Assembly. They and fellow finalists are now eligible to compete in the International DECA Career Development Conference April 26-May 1 in Anaheim, Calif., with part of their expenses paid by the Texas DECA Association.

Mitchell competed in the Technical Sales Event which consisted of a 100-question test over technical sales and general marketing concepts. He also gave a sales presentation for digital cameras and multi-function printers.

Stillwagon entered the Food Marketing Event, taking a 100-question test on food marketing concepts and participating in two judged role plays.

Both Keith and Kilcrease participated in the Retail Merchandising Event.

In addition to business meetings, career workshops and educational tours, conference attendees participated in curriculum-related competitive events which allowed them to compare their knowledge and skills about various concepts in marketing, merchandising, and management with those of students from over 500 high schools across the state.

Approximately 4,000 DECA members and their advisors took part in the conference, the press release reported.

Donna Crow is the local chapter's advisor.

Jacob Stillwagon, Kaylee Keith, Mitchell Crow and Lacy Kilcrease participated in the Texas DECA State Career Development Conference held recently in Dallas. Stillwagon and Crow were state winners in their respective events.

Plaque

ease," Crocker said.

Plaque is a major part of the disease process.

"We normally associate the word plaque with an award or something that our dentist warns us about when we go in for a check-up. This particular type of plaque forms in the brain between nerve cells, causing nerve signals in the brain to be interrupted," Crocker said.

Nerve cells are like electric lines that transmit signals back and forth. If a piece of insulation blocks the electricity put in the line, the signal can not get through. Crocker said that is how plaque affects the brain - it prevents brain signals from getting from one place to another.

Plaque is made up of a protein the body produces normally. In a normal brain, the protein is eliminated. In the Alzheimer patient's brain, the protein clumps together with other pieces and forms a plaque.

Another hallmark of Alzheimer's is the formation of tangles, Crocker said. Imagine the nerve cells in the brain are like railroad tracks, with two side pieces and a ladder-like structure in the middle holding everything in place.

These ladder-like structures are made up of a protein that becomes abnormal in the Alzheimer patient's brain and causes the ladder to weaken and collapse. If enough proteins become abnormal, the whole nerve cell may collapse on itself and prevent nerve signals from being transmitted, he said.

Alzheimer's begins its destruction in the hippocampus, the part of the brain responsible for taking in new information and processing it through the memory. As the disease spreads, it works its way through the outer layers of the brain, affecting judgment, emotions and language.

Eventually, enough of the brain is overrun by plaque and tangles that even the most basic functions are impaired, such as the ability to use the toilet, communicate and walk. The disease completely destroys an individual's ability to be independent and a state of dependency may last for years.

"The average length of time from diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease to death is three to 10 years, though disease progression may take as long as 20 years," Crocker said.

The only way to make a 100 percent certain diagnosis of Alzheimer's is an autopsy of the brain upon death, he said. However, medical science has progressed such that mental tests, physical exams and ruling out other illnesses can help make a 90 percent-certain diagnosis.

Early diagnosis is important so prescription drug therapy may be started, Crocker said. Though there is no cure for Alzheimer's, medications may help control the symptoms and slow the disease progression.

Testing and diagnosis by a trained health professional is very important since other conditions may resemble Alzheimer's disease, Crocker said. These other conditions may be treatable or completely reversible.

For more information, contact your county Extension agent or go to the Alzheimer's Association web site at <http://www.alz.org>. The Alzheimer's Association may also be contacted at 1-800-272-3900.

Cattle on feed drops in 2005

AUSTIN — Cattle and calves on feed for slaughter market in Texas feedlots with capacity of 1,000 head or more totaled 2.72 million head on Feb. 1, down 2 percent from a year ago.

According to the monthly report released by the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service, the estimate was up 1 percent from the Jan. 1 level. Producers placed 425,000 head in commercial feedlots during January, up 9 percent from a year ago, and 5 percent above the December 2004 total.

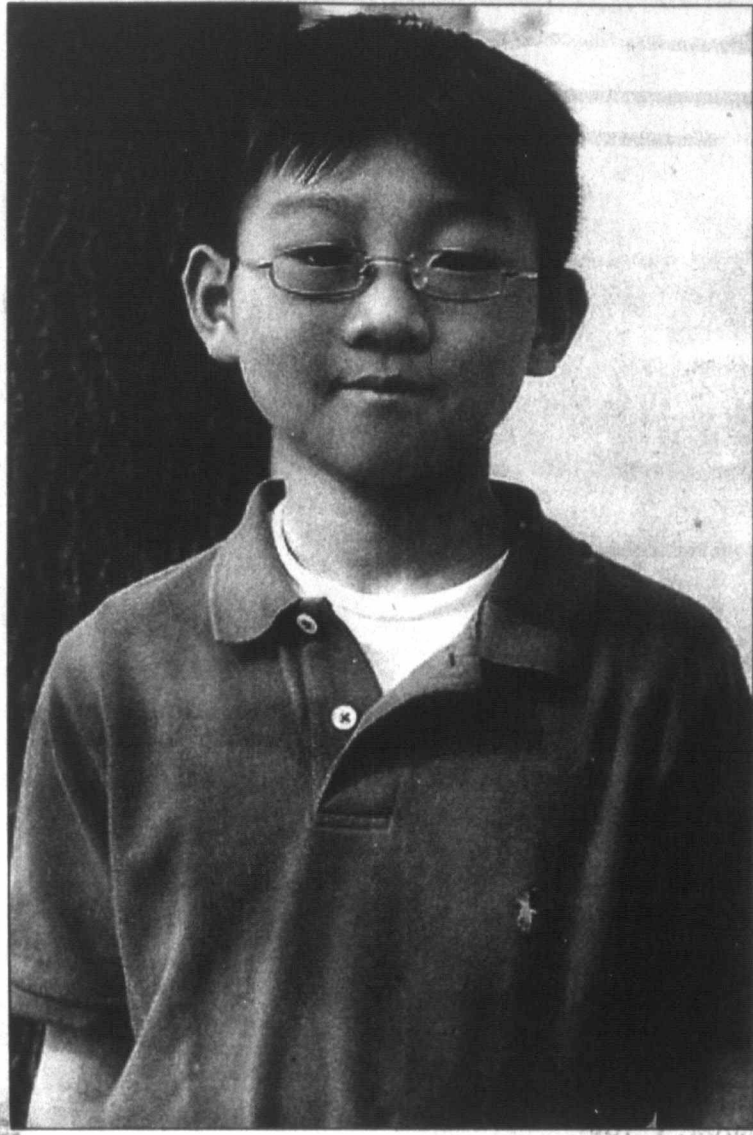

Texas commercial feeders marketed 395,000 head during January, down 8 percent from last year and down 6 percent

Historic ranch to share location for TSWCRA April showcase

FORT WORTH — The legendary Four Sixes Ranch will host, according to a press release from Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, "A Showcase of Rangeland Management" April 6-7 at Guthrie.

Participants will get a first-hand look at the ranch's rangeland management strategies that benefit both livestock and wildlife on the historic spread. Participation is limited to the first 100 registrants.

This unique event is a partnership effort of the association and the Texas Wildlife Association, the press release said, with professional support from Texas Tech University and Texas A&M University. Sponsors are DuPont Crop Protection and Yellow House Machinery Corp.

The event will kick-off at 5 p.m. Wednesday, April 6 with registration, an evening social and a steak supper at the Guthrie Community Center.

Highlights of the evening will include an overview of the Sixes by Mike Gibson, general manager of Burnett Ranches; a photographic essay by Wyman Meinzer, an award-winning photographer, author and speaker; and comments on "The Camouflage Cowboy Hat" by Dr. Dale Rollins, Extension wildlife specialist.

The entire day Thursday, April 7, will be devoted to Four Sixes Ranch site visits and field presentations. Participants will gather at the community center at 8 a.m. for refreshments. Buses will leave for the ranch at 8:30 a.m.

The morning field presentations will cover "Rangeland Management Activities on the Sixes," including fire as a management tool, mechanical and chemical treatments and the brush-cover continuum.

At noon, participants will return to the community center for a fajita dinner and a special presentation. "A Hunter's Pointers and a Cowboy's Logic" will feature renowned dog trainer Rick Smith and seasoned Four Sixes cowboy Boots O'Neal, each sharing a view from their side of the fence.

Buses will leave at 1 p.m., the release said, for the afternoon field presentations, "Rangeland Management Results on the Sixes." Topics will include water and plant responses, grazing and livestock benefits, wildlife and hunting (deer/quail) results and the # Railroad Commission posts monthly oil, gas statistics

AUSTIN — The Texas Railroad Commission issued a total of 1,397 original drilling permits in January 2005 compared to 1,126 in January 2004. The January total included 1,161 permits to drill new oil and gas wells, 27 to re-enter existing well bores, and 209 for re-completions. Permits issued in January 2005 included 397 oil, 409 gas, 550 oil and gas, 40 injection, zero service and one other permit.

Texas preliminary December 2004 crude oil production averaged 911,077 barrels daily, down from the 922,026 barrels daily average of December 2003.

The preliminary Texas crude oil production figure for December 2004 is 28,250,466 barrels, a decrease from 28,582,817 barrels reported during December 2003.

In January 2005, operators reported 266 oil, 500 gas, 27 injection and zero other completions compared to 237 oil, 517 gas, 30 injection and four other permits during January 2004.

Spring Texas Gun & Knife Show coming to Amarillo

AMARILLO — For 27 years, a press release from the Texas Gun & Knife Association said, thousands of Texans from across the state have come to Texas Gun & Knife Shows for the wide range of collectible guns, knives and accessories. On March 19-20, TGKA will present its Spring Texas Gun & Knife Show at Amarillo Civic Center.

Collectors and exhibitors from throughout the Amarillo area will be on hand to buy, sell and trade some of the most extraordinary guns, knives and accessories ever made, the press release said.

"These items you simply can't find every day," said Ms. Kim Hill, vice president of the association. "And even if you could, you certainly couldn't find them all together in one place at one time like this."

Hill expects scores of exhibitors at the upcoming show, and she herself hopes to be available to visit with the public during the event.

At the show, guns and knives are just part of the picture. There will also be a selection of wildlife art, historical artifacts, "Texana" items, and Native American and military memorabilia as well as gold and silver jewelry.

Show hours will be 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday. Admission will be two-for-the-price-of-one both days during the first hour of the show. Children under 12 will be admitted free.

Wallace giving it one last effort

(AP) — Rusty Wallace never said he wouldn't race again. He even wonders at times if he's making the right decision to retire from full-time NASCAR competition after the 2005 season.

When he can't sleep, Wallace stares at the ceiling in the middle of the night thinking about things he did in the past, or what he'll do when he's not racing 10 months a year.

"I'm all over," he said of his thoughts. "Honestly, I'm not content at all."

But the 48-year-old Wallace is sure about one thing: He's tired of the week-to-week grind.

"I'm retiring because I'm just burnt out in the schedule," he said. "If I get through the end of 2005, and I feel like, 'Man, I'm running 3,000 mph and now they tell me I've got to stop, I'm probably going to say let's run about 10 (races the next year). But for sure, my days of running the full schedule are over."

Wallace began this season with a 14th-place finish at the Budweiser Shootout. His 22nd Nextel Cup campaign, which has been dubbed "Rusty's Last Call," officially got underway with a 10th-place finish at the Daytona 500, the race he can't claim among his 55 wins and the one he wanted the most.

"I wanted to win this race, but that's OK," said Wallace, who started 36th and advanced all the way to fifth before dropping back. "It really isn't OK, but I told everybody if I didn't win, it wouldn't be the end of the world. ... I'm done with it. I've had a lot of fun, and I enjoy it."

Wallace, who wrecked during Daytona qualifying and had to switch to his backup car, finished in the top 10 nine times in 23 Daytona 500s.

His best finish in NASCAR's most prestigious race was third in 2001. He led another time with 10 laps to go, and in 1993 was third "with me, Dale Jarrett and (Dale) Earnhardt going for the win" when he was hit by another car and barrel-rolled down the backstretch.

"I haven't won the Daytona 500 and I doubt there's too many people out there who are not aware of that fact," said Wallace, the 1989 series champion and fourth on the career earnings list with nearly $44 million. "I got close many, many times."

Wallace has finished top 10 in season points 16 times. He ended a 105-race winless streak last year but was still 16th, two spots lower than in 2003 when a streak of 10 straight top-10 seasons ended.

"You always hear about the importance of making first impressions," he said. "But for us, we're determined to leave some great last impressions."

Once full-time driving is done, Wallace won't be bored.

He hopes the NASCAR Busch Series team he owns, running its first full schedule this year, will be a championship contender by 2006. He also will spend more time on his car dealership business and with 17-year-old son Stephen, an aspiring NASCAR driver who will race in the Hooters Pro Cup Series this year.

Pampa senior Q.B. Cobb was recently named to the National High School Rodeo All Star team.

Cobb named to NHSRA team

Leaders of the National High School Rodeo Association (NHSRA), the oldest youth rodeo organization in America, appointed Pampa High School's Q.B. Cobb to the Wrangler High School All Star Rodeo Team, the first-ever corporate-sponsored youth rodeo team.

The Wrangler High School All Star Rodeo team is fashioned after Wrangler's Champion pro Rodeo Team, which includes superstars like Ty Murray, Joe Beaver, Dan Mortensen, Charmayne James, and Hall-of-Famer Jim Shoulders. Cobb earned a position on the team based on his leadership qualities, academic eligibility and athletic achievements.

Cobb will receive official competition apparel consisting of Wrangler Twenty X shirts embroidered with the team logo and two pairs of competition jeans. Cobb will also receive a certificate signed by rodeo greats Shoulders and Murray.

Favre says he'll be back; safety Sharper released

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Brett Favre is returning to Green Bay for the 2005 season, Packers coach Mike Sherman told The Associated Press.

Sherman said he had a two-hour conversation with his quarterback on Wednesday night. Favre informed him his wife is doing well in her cancer treatment, so he's planning to play at least one more season, maybe more if his own health holds up.

The three-time MVP said after the Packers' playoff loss to Minnesota in January he wanted to reflect before committing to playing a 15th NFL season following a year of personal tumult. He topped 4,000 yards passing last season and recorded his eighth 30-touchdown season, twice as many as any other quarterback in NFL history.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers released two-time Pro Bowl safety Darren Sharper on to trim $3.4 million off their salary cap and avoid having to pay him a $2.6 million roster bonus this weekend.

The Packers tried to get Sharper to restructure his deal, but he balked at a pay cut, hoping he can make more on the open market than the approximately $2 million Green Bay was offering for 2005.

Cris Larrazolo boxes way to championship; Jose Larrazolo No.2

By MICHAEL J. STEVENS
Sports Editor

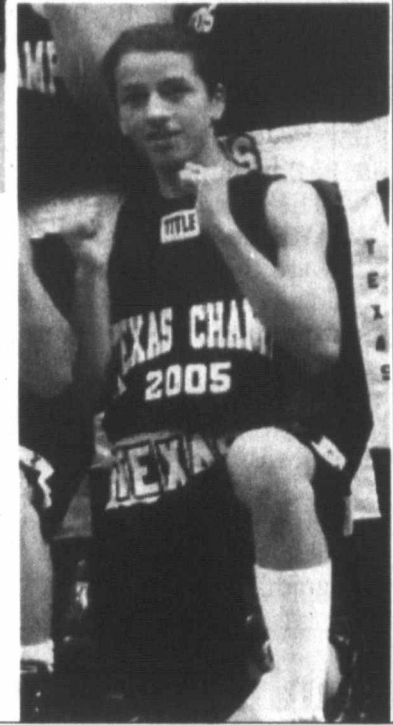

After advancing from the West Texas Regional Championships, Jose and Cris Larrazolo competed at the 69th annual Golden Gloves State Championship tournament in Ft. Worth, March 2-6.

For Jose, this was his second trip. However, it was the first visit for Cris.

Jose advanced to the championship fight in his weight class as his opening round opponent was a no-show. In the championship bout, Jose Larrazolo would be paired up against 2004 Golden Gloves state champion, Alton Jeriachi of Dallas. Larrazolo was able to knock Jeriachi to the canvas in the first round after the two got off to a fast and furious start. Jeriachi would later return the favor by way of a questionable blow to the back of Larrazolo's head. The referee would later stop the bout, amid boos from the crowd, and award the win to Jeriachi. For his efforts, Larrazolo was awarded the silver ring and is currently ranked No. 2 in the state in his weight class.

Cris Larrazolo, fighting in the 106lb. division, had a daunting task in his first bout as he was matched up with last year's champion, James Hines. Larrazolo was impressive in taking care of Hines and moving on to the semifinals, where he met and defeated Robert Olague, boxing out of the San Antonio region. Next up for Larrazolo, the championship bout, where he stepped into the ring against Ramen Baez of South Texas. The two fought hard with Baez suffering a point deduction, after which, Larrazolo increased his point lead with a flurry of punches and smart boxing. By the time the final bell sounded, the first-time visitor walked away with the 106 pound championship. He now advances to the National Tournament to be held May 16, in Little Rock, Arkansas. Larrazolo trains here in Pampa at the Pampa Boxing Club.

Eddie George could return to the Titans

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Running back Eddie George, who had the worst season of his career with the Dallas Cowboys in 2004, could return to the Tennessee Titans, his original team.

George, the Titans' all-time leading rusher, and Titans coach Jeff Fisher said they are interested in pursuing George's return.

George spent the first eight years of his career with Houston/Tennessee.

George signed with Dallas last year but wasn't re-signed by the Cowboys after rushing for a career-low 432 yards and four touchdowns.

"I am not ready to put a percentage on it right now, but there is a chance," Fisher said.

"I always thought Eddie should finish his career here, but there are a lot of things we have to work through."

The Titans have recently lost star players Derrick Mason, Samari Rolle and Kevin Carter as they dealt with salary cap restrictions.

If George, 31, returns to Tennessee it would be as a backup to third-year pro Chris Brown.

"I definitely have an interest in coming back," George said.

"I never had any ill feelings toward the organization," George said.

Baby's Coming Shop gets new coordinator

The Baby's Coming Shop of Pampa, according to a news release from 2CARE for Moms & Babies, the entity that oversees the shop, has a new coordinator, Christina Brown, and is currently operating under expanded hours — it is now open Monday through Friday each week.

Brown is a VISTA volunteer with 2CARE for 2005.

"During her service as a VISTA," the release said, "she will strive to make 2CARE for Moms & Babies a household name, as recognizable as other organizations which are committed to healthy moms and babies."

"The first step," the 2CARE news release said, "toward this goal is to offer residents of Pampa and the surrounding area more opportunities to drop by the Baby's Coming Shop located in Suite 433 of the Hughes Building to see first hand the kinds of items which a mom can earn as a participant in this incentive program."

Christina Brown is the new coordinator for the local Baby's Coming Shop, part of the 2CARE for Moms & Babies program. Brown is a VISTA volunteer.

"Christina will be visiting with civic and service organizations in Pampa and the surrounding towns to let everyone know why this program is so vital and of such great benefit to the community at-large, not just to the individual moms and babies who may be enrolled."

"She will also be visiting with groups and individuals about the many opportunities for volunteering both in the shop on a regular basis and with the program for occasional activities."

Brown herself is the mother of one son.

"I responded to the employment ad for this position because I longed to do something that would allow me not just the time to teach my son about life," Brown said, "but to show him a life worthy of being an example."

Brown, the news release said, will in coming weeks be making an effort to get in touch with women eligible for the program. Her goal is to help them better understand how the program works to benefit them and their babies during and after pregnancy. Enrollment cards are available at Pampa Regional Medical Center as well as at some local clinics and doctors' offices.

"When asked for personal information to share, Christina," the news release from 2CARE said, "let it be known that she shares a birthday with Drew Barrymore — to the minute. She enjoys home and garden shows on TV, sewing, playing the cello, and dancing — activities which she hopes to one day have time enough to pursue in depth."

To learn more about 2CARE or to schedule Brown as a guest speaker at your next club or social meeting, call 665-5339.

Lucas expects PG-13 rating on next film

NEW YORK (AP) — George Lucas says the newest of his "Star Wars" films may get a PG-13 rating.

"I don't think I would take a 5- or a 6-year-old to this. It's way too strong," Lucas says of "Star Wars Episode III — Revenge of the Sith" on CBS' "60 Minutes," to air today (7 p.m. EST). "My feeling is that it will probably be a PG-13, so it will be the first 'Star Wars' that's a PG-13."

"Revenge of the Sith," the third prequel to the "Star Wars" trilogy, will open May 19. The movie features Anakin Skywalker's transformation to Darth Vader, a descent based on Lucas' vision of hell, a mythical planet composed entirely of erupting volcanos.

Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum set for Bugbee exhibit

CANYON — On March 26, Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon will open two exhibitions of the work of H. D. Bugbee — "Those Who Came Before Us: The Indian Murals of H. D. Bugbee," which Bugbee painted in the early 1950s, and "Capturing Texas Legends: H. D. Bugbee's Panhandle Frontier," showing the influence of Charles M. Russell and Frederic Remington on Bugbee's work.

"Those Who Came Before Us" will include Bugbee's original 13 murals for the museum's then-Indian Hall, plus four Indian dance murals he added to the cycle later, and sketches and studies (some made in the 1920s) for the murals.

Under President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal, Bugbee painted the first of five murals for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum's Pioneer Hall in 1934.

"Capturing Texas Legends" will comprise paintings with clear connections to Russell and Remington's work, such as Bugbee's copy of Remington's now-destroyed "Ceremony of the Scalps" and Bugbee's interpretation of Russell's famous, "Waiting for a Chinook." Much like Russell and Remington depicted the American West in the 1890s and early 1900s, Bugbee portrayed historic and then-contemporary Southern Plains life, including cowboys, American Indians, and flora and fauna of the region.

At the suggestion of his cousin, cattleman T. S. Bugbee, Harold Dow Bugbee came to the Texas Panhandle from Lexington, Massachusetts, in 1914 with his parents. He studied at Texas A&M College in 1917 and the Cumming School of Art in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1920.

Each fall, until the late 1930s, the artist traveled to Taos to paint with fellow artists "Buck" Dunton, Frank Hoffman, Leon Gaspard, and Ralph Meyers, often packing into the mountains to paint with either Meyers or Dunton.

By the mid-1920s, galleries in Denver, Chicago, Kansas City, and New York handled Bugbee's work. With the Depression and decreasing picture sales, in 1933 Bugbee turned to magazine and book illustration in pen-and-ink. He also continued to make easel paintings.

Under President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal, Bugbee painted the first of five murals for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum's Pioneer Hall in 1934. He later painted additional murals for the Old Tascosa Room in the Herring Hotel and for the Amarillo Army Air Field (which now hang at the Smithsonian's American Art Museum).

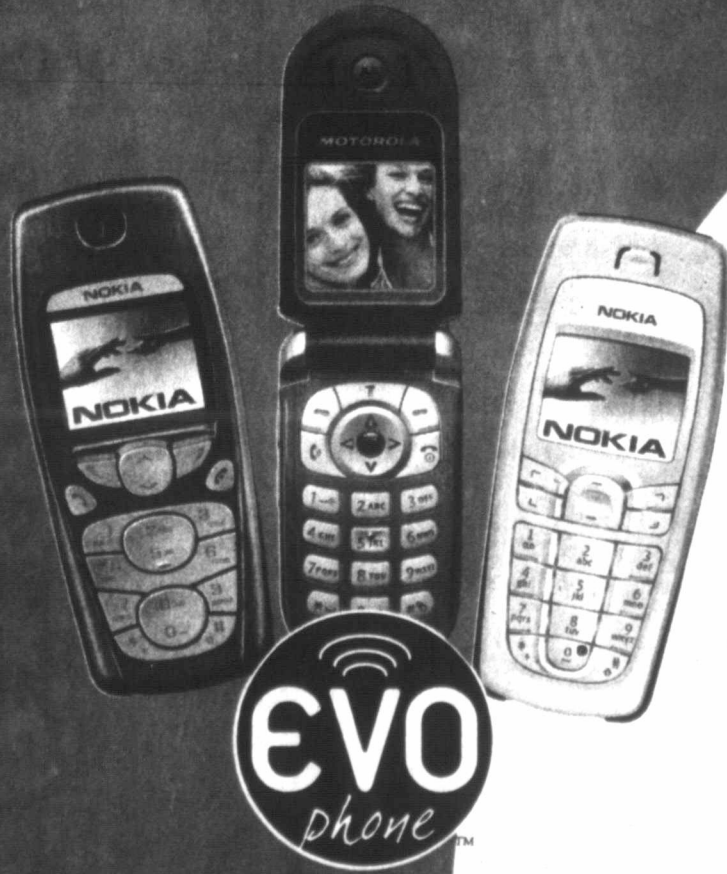

In 1951, Bugbee became the museum's first Curator of Art. Two years later he began the Indian Hall mural cycle, which was then installed above the exhibit cases holding examples of ethnographic material from the Society's collection.

The Museum also published a monograph on the Indian Hall cycle, "Those Who Came Before Us," with a foreword by J. Evetts Haley and a description of each mural written by Bugbee.

Both exhibitions will run through March 2006, with "Those Who Came Before Us" in the Hazlewood Lecture Hall and "Capturing Texas Legends" in the Bugbee Gallery. Reproductions of Bugbee's work will be available in the museum store.

LUBBOCK — Angie Michelle Davenport Dorsch, daughter of Roger and Shari Davenport of Miami, graduated with honors from Texas Tech University School of Law at the conclusion of the 2004 fall semester. Dorsch earned a joint doctor of jurisprudence and a master of science degree in personal financial planning from the university, carrying a 4.0 grade point average in graduate school.

Dorsch enrolled at Tech's school of law in the fall of 2002.

LUBBOCK — Sarah Schwab of Pampa was recently inducted into Phi Upsilon Omicron National Honor Society at Texas Tech University.

Schwab, a member of the President's List for the 2004 fall semester, is majoring in apparel design and manufacturing at TTU.

Phi Upsilon Omicron, a national honor society in family and consumer sciences, dates back to 1909 when it was founded at the University of Minnesota. It is, according to its press release, the oldest national family and consumer sciences honor society and is a member of the Association of College Honor Societies.

Phi Upsilon Omicron recognizes and encourages achieved excellence in scholarship, leadership and service for students of family and consumer sciences.

CANYON — Katie Shipp, a junior music major from Wheeler, will play Barbarina in the upcoming production of "The Marriage of Figaro," to be staged by West Texas A&M University's opera workshop at 7:30 p.m. nightly, March 22-23 at WT's Branding Iron Theatre on campus.

The opera is under the direction of Dr. Cloyce Beard Kuhnert, artistic director and associate professor of voice, and Dr. Douglas Morrison, conductor and assistant professor of music.

"The Marriage of Figaro" tells the story of Figaro and Susanna, and the obstacles they face on their wedding day. The obstacles take on a comedic tone as the young couple uses trickery and deception to overcome another man's obsession.

The opera was first performed in 1786 and continues to delight audiences with its lighthearted romp between the servants and aristocratic master of a French country estate. Fibs, suspicions and complexities fill the opera's four acts but are quickly resolved in a captivating finale.

"This is the first time many of our cast members have ever performed in an opera," Kuhnert said. "They are energetic, young performers who have learned a great deal in a short amount of time."

Members of a Dallas missionary medical team see patients in a clinic set up for tsunami victims in Sri Lanka.

A call upon her heart

had been looking for a way to serve in a way that would answer her calling.

"When the tsunami hit," Rogers said, "I thought here's an opportunity, and I started looking for ways to help."

She said she just turned it over to God. "I said I'll do whatever You want me to do," Rogers said.

Rogers said her boss came in and said that they had an opportunity to go to Sri Lanka as part of a medical team and wanted to know if she wanted to go.

"I called Raymie and said, 'Are you okay with me going to Sri Lanka?'" Rogers laughed. "He said, 'Okay.'"

She said opportunities just opened up. Rogers said that God is a personal, caring God. "Sometimes we get so caught up in what we're doing each and every day, we're doing our own thing, and we know that God is doing His thing," Rogers said, "and sometimes that comes together."

She said that during her 10 days in Sri Lanka she was able to see how the prayers and actions of people in Pampa affected her and people half way around the world. She said God's divine intervention connected the two.

"Only by that divine intervention," Rogers said, "could they be connected."

Rogers said that before she left Texas, her sister-in-law, Della Moyer, Jim's wife, gave her cards sealed in envelopes to be opened one each day while she was on her trip to Sri Lanka.

"Each would have a Bible verse on it for that day," Rogers said, "and it would have a prayer that she would say for me that day."

Rogers said those cards lightened her days.

After arriving in Sri Lanka, Rogers said they opened their clinic and she was working in a tent in the oppressive heat and humidity.

"It was like Houston in the summer," Rogers said.

When they arrived that first day, she estimated that there were 100 or more people waiting in line for them.

"It was busy all day," Rogers said.

Kids would gather outside her tent window to watch. She would shoo them away with the wave of a hand.

"About 1 p.m. that afternoon," she said, "I looked up and there was a soldier with a big machine gun. He was standing at the window watching me."

She continued her work, praying that the soldier was there for good, not evil.

"There were soldiers with machine guns all over our camp," Rogers said, "and they were not happy and smiling at us."

Rogers later found out that they were government troops sent to find out what was happening in an area that had been contested by rebels.

That night when the medical team got together, she opened up the card for the day that Della had sent her.

"It was Psalms 31:20-21," Rogers said.

The verse said to hide in the presence of the Lord and that the Lord would protect her like the walls of a fort.

The prayer that Della had enclosed called for the Lord to protect Rogers from danger and send angels to watch over her.

"That was the prayer that was written to me almost three days before I read this," Rogers said.

▲ Carleen Rogers, right, visits with Peggy Fisher at Cornerstone Baptist Church where Rogers talked to the congregation about her trip to Sri Lanka on a tsunami medical relief effort.

The next day, tacked to the door of the church where they had their clinic, was a death threat against the pastor from the rebels, ordering him to close the clinic or they would kill him.

The knock on the door that followed, however, was the soldiers from the day before saying that they were there to protect the clinic.

The soldiers were the angels that Della had prayed for, Rogers said.

She said that while they did not witness to their patients unless asked, she noticed an interesting phenomenon.

The patients, mostly Hindu and Buddhists, said that their priests were busy rebuilding their temples rather than taking care of the people. Rogers said that even the Moslems, who had never before turned to Christians for help, walked 20 miles or more to their clinic.

Now that she has one missionary trip behind her, Rogers said she ready to go again.

Swope, junior broadcasting major from Pampa, was among several West Texas A&M University students getting an early start on spring break and heading for California as finalists in the 2004-2005 National Broadcasting Student (NBS) Electronic Media Competition March 8-12 in Los Angeles.

WTAMU students attending the NBS convention last year brought home more national awards than ever before, including production awards, a model chapter award and faculty accolades.

Dr. Leigh Browning, assistant professor of mass communications, is director of broadcasting at WTAMU.

Area teaching professionals Carrie Johnson, Jeanna Miller, Billie Sue Evans, Jan Stroud, Janet Abbe, Wanda Cotter, Sue Cree and Susan Slaybaugh were among 500 Texas Classroom Teachers Association members from across the state who gathered in Austin recently for TCTA's 50th Annual Convention.

Johnson, Miller, Evans, Stroud, Abbe, Cotter, Cree and Slaybaugh are all members of Pampa's CTA chapter.

During the convention, members were given a briefing on education issues being discussed in the current session of the Texas Legislature. Texas Comptroller Carole Keeton Strayhorn delivered the legislative briefing, sharing information on funding available for Texas public schools.

Following the briefing, members traveled to the Capitol to meet with lawmakers and to discuss their classroom, student and public education needs.

Professional development sessions were offered to convention-goers. The sessions focused on such topics as the reauthorization of the federal special education laws, working with gifted children, and understanding state and federal accountability laws.

In other matters, TCTA members, serving as voting delegates, discussed education policy issues and elected TCTA's 2005-06 statewide officers and district directors. Lieutenant Governor David Dewhurst, who delivered the convention's keynote address, accepted the association's 2004-05 Friend of Education award in the public official category — presented to a public official who has shown extraordinary commitment to education in Texas.

In his address, Dewhurst discussed options for financing Texas public schools and outlined the finance plan recently released by the state senate.

The next meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. March 22 at the home of Mary Wilson.

Enjoy ethnic cuisine easily in own home

(NAPSA) — Healthy eaters, such as Sarah Ferguson, The Duchess of York, are drawn to the nutrition and bold flavors found in ethnic cuisines. Often, people assume cooking with spices is complicated, which explains why many busy people limit themselves to enjoying these foods at restaurants. Now, however, The Duchess knows that exotic flavors needn't be farther than the kitchen cupboard.

• Quick Curry. Curry gives South Asian dishes their exuberant character. With so many exotic flavors, how do home chefs put its magic in their own recipes? Quite easily, in fact, because curry can be made with as few as five ingredients. "Indian cuisine is wonderful for special dinner parties," said The Duchess. "Such occasions call for jewel-toned linens, fragrant florals and flickering light from votives. Unquestionably, though, it's the food that takes center stage, such as Baked Salmon with Curry Sauce — perhaps most amazing is that it only takes 12 minutes to prepare."

• Asian Expedition. A favorite of many, Asian cuisine is a great choice when entertaining family and friends. Try serving Chicken Satay and Shrimp Spring Rolls with Wasabi Dipping Sauce, made with innovative and flavorful French's(r) GourMayo(tm) Wasabi Horseradish Flavored Light Mayonnaise. For a complete cultural journey, offer green tea and serve the meal with chopsticks on beautiful bamboo placemats.

• Brown Bag Bistro. Add a bistro kick to your brown bag sandwich with GourMayo(tm) Creamy Dijon Flavored Light Mayonnaise, which has the full-bodied flavor and zest of deli-style Dijon mustard and a surprisingly delicious hint of sweetness. Pair it with leftover grilled chicken, mozzarella cheese and tomato and voilà—a sandwich fit for anyone seeking a taste of France.

• Middle-Eastern Easy. Mixing the various flavors of the Middle East can excite any palate. Spicy Hummus Dip is delicious, healthy and multifunctional—perfect for spreading on wraps or dipping vegetables when entertaining. "This recipe is surprisingly simple, made with GourMayo(tm) Caesar Ranch Flavored Light Mayonnaise, which combines the flavors of creamy Caesar, cool ranch, Parmesan, buttermilk, chives, parsley, garlic and lemon," said The Duchess. "For even more spice, add a touch of Chipotle Chili Mayonnaise—perfect!"

• Fajita Friday. Who knew that Mexican could be healthy? Try preparing Santa Fe Pork Fajitas, accompanied by Santa Fe Paninis, which include grilled vegetables such as zucchini, eggplant, bell peppers and mushroom.

Open your kitchen to a world of flavor. For the highlighted recipes and more great tips, visit www.frenchsfoods.com.

THE PAMPA NEWS COMICS

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

DEAR ABBY: My nephew was recently arrested. It's the fourth time I know of that he's been arrested for various things - there may have been more.

This time, bond was set at $500. He asked his parents for the money. They refused because they hoped the time he spent in jail would teach him a lesson.

Next, he called his grandparents (my parents). He told them he was in jail because his girlfriend (with whom he has two kids, 6 years old and 8 months old) had accused him of aggravated assault. They dislike her, so they believed him.

I learned the real reason for his arrest when I called the jail. It wasn't assault; it was two counts of driving without a license, and two counts of failing to appear in court. When I approached my mother about this, she got mad at ME, and now she's not speaking to me. Was I right to let her know her grandson was trying to use her again, or do I owe her an apology? -- HEARTBROKEN IN VIRGINIA

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: There's a saying that in ancient times it was dangerous to give Caesar bad news, because it was his habit to kill the messenger. Your mother could not have been thrilled to hear what you had to say, so instead of aiming her anger where it belonged -- at her grandson -- she's taking it out on you. You don't owe your mother an apology; she owes you one.

*****

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 18 years and have two children. I come from a humble background. My husband's family is very well-to-do. I try to be as nice to them as I can, but his mother, sister and brother treat us like we don't exist.

If we are invited for a family get-together, they don't speak to either of us. If they have something to communicate, they talk around us. How should I deal with this? They act as if we are not their family. It breaks my heart to see them be mean to my children. They seem to think that money is everything.

I think my husband's mother and sister may be the problem. I can't continue to let them walk all over me. Please give me some insight. I have no one to talk to. -- ON THE OUTSIDE IN INDEPENDENCE, KAN.

DEAR ON THE OUTSIDE: It would have been helpful if you had been able to explain why your husband's family has been so cold and unwelcoming. Whatever the reason, if they have not accepted you after 18 years of marriage to your husband, it is not likely to happen now. For your own happiness, and that of your children, strictly limit or eliminate your visits with the in-laws. Once you stop seeking their approval, your life will improve.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old graduate student who is working on my Ph.D. in genetics at a large, well-respected university. My great-aunt and I are arguing over the use of "Dr." in the non-academic world.

I say that I'll be allowed to call myself "Doctor Jones" when I graduate, having gone through a great deal of effort to gain that title. She disagrees, and insists that only MDs are allowed to call themselves "Doctor." Who is right? All of my professors use "Doctor" in all situations, regardless of whether they have an M.D. or Ph.D. -- ALMOST DR. JONES

DEAR ALMOST DOCTOR: Your aunt is well-meaning but misinformed. Once having earned your doctorate, you are entitled to be introduced as "Doctor" if you wish, and to be addressed as "Doctor" in formal situations.

Pampa Community Concert Association
 Presents "Live on Stage"

"Gershwin's Piano Music Finds An Exquisite Voice In Richard Glazier"

The Pampa Community Concert Association Presents "Live On Stage" invites everyone to come, see and hear "Richard Glazier, pianist." It is due for a Saturday, March 19, 2005, performance in Pampa's M.K. Brown Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Richard Glazier is a graduate of Indiana University School of Music and Cleveland Institute of Music. Some of his accolades include the Pro Musicis International Award, National Federation of Music Clubs, and Young Artist Competition Grand Prize. While classically trained, Glazier has a special affinity for the American Popular Song. In 1998, he recorded an all-Gershwin project for the Gershwin Centennial for Piano Disco company. He has completed the first volume of the piano works of Scott Joplin for Centaur Records. Glazier pays tribute to these performers, their films, and the great composers who wrote for them in his one-man multi-media show entitled "A Salute to The Hollywood Musical."

"Richard Glazier has Gershwin in his soul."

The final performance planned for the current season will be "The Southern Fried Jazz Band," an eight-member Dixieland band which whets the appetite of its audiences with some of the most refreshing Dixieland music on the scene today. Their performance is scheduled for Thursday, April 7, 2005, at 7:30 p.m. in the M.K. Brown Auditorium in Pampa.

Membership/tickets are available at the door. For information contact Ronnie Holmes, PCCA president, at 665-2631.

Senior driving challenges, solutions; accidents can be avoided

(NAPSA) — There are more ways than many people realize to reduce the aging population's frequency and severity of automobile accidents.

A few can be found in a recent issue of the CPCU Society's CPCU eJournal, "Senior Driver Issues: Upcoming Challenges and Solutions," by Robin Olson, CPCU, of the International Risk Management Institute. "Senior drivers tend to experience more functional impairments, as compared to other age groups," writes Olson.

"Functional impairments include visual, visual/cognitive, cognitive and physical. "As the Baby Boomer generation enters the senior years, it is essential to find ways to lessen elderly drivers' frequency and severity of automobile accidents," he adds.

On a more optimistic level, Olson's research shows that "seniors are less likely to speed; their chances of seriously injuring other parties is less, as compared to young operators."

Olson suggests insurers be accountable and responsible for helping seniors maintain insurance coverage. "Personal automobile insurers need to regularly review the latest research on elderly drivers and automobile accidents. Insurers should look at rating plans that would decrease premiums for seniors who drive a very small number of miles (say 2,000) per year."

Overall, Olson believes reducing senior driving accidents can be addressed from a variety of angles, including:

- Treatment of functional impairments
- Elderly driver licensing laws
- Highway design
- Vehicle types, design, and adaptations
- Intervention issues
- Public education

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Sunday, March 13, 2005:

Your communication will help you gain in all arenas of your life. What you say does count, and others will respond. Network and socialize to your heart's content this year, as you will meet a lot of people with different life experiences. Some will be just friends. Others could be more. You also might decide to do more for your community or immediate circle of friends. If you are single, if there is a loose cannon in a relationship, it is probably you. Take your time establishing a bond. If you are attached, you intrigue your significant other as you reveal many new facets of your personality. Spend time conversing, going out together and keeping the bond "updated." TAURUS draws you out.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

★★★★ A serenity envelops you -- finally. You gain insights as a result of the calmness that surrounds your day. Discussions involve commitments of time and energy. Follow through on what is good for you. Tonight: Order in.

This Week: Indulge yourself. You really might want to take a little personal time. Why not?

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

★★★★ Make plans that suit you. Others' responses could be unpredictable. Embrace people's individuality rather than try to pigeonhole them. Acceptance allows good feelings to flow. Tonight: Just ask with a smile.

This Week: You beam into your week, empowered and on top of your game. Communicate.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

★★ Sometimes your way or manner could confuse others. You might appear more aloof than you realize. Investigate a new area or museum. Play the explorer and experience something new. A parent could act very differently. Tonight: Get some extra rest.

This Week: Be lazy on Monday, because demands become heavy on Tuesday. You can handle what hap-

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

★★★★ Flourish with new changes in play. Look at the cup as half full, and you'll enjoy yourself. Gather friends and/or family together today or in the near future. Don't forget that person at a distance! Tonight: Don't think about tomorrow. Enjoy now.

This Week: Monday and late Thursday on, you are in prime shape. Play it low-key in between.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

★★★ Responsibilities tumble on you because others know how well you handle obligations. A partner's response could be quite unexpected. Help enrich this person's life by sharing more. You lead by example. Tonight: Out late.

This Week: You are in your take-charge mode. What you think needs to happen will -- if you have your way.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

★★★★ Don't talk about going away -- do something to make it happen, maybe as soon as today. Make calls; decide to go for an adventure. Meet a friend halfway. You will enjoy yourself thoroughly. Those you encounter could be very exciting. Tonight: Try an adventure for dinner.

This Week: Experiment with different concepts before making a decision. Take the leap with a project Tuesday.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

★★★★ A close friend or loved one has a greater impact on your day than you'd anticipated. You could be jolted or unnerved by another's actions. Relax. Nothing is written in stone. Value the person you are with and the moment. Tonight: Togetherness works.

This Week: Relate on a one-on-one level on Monday. Stay detached but understanding from Tuesday on.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

★★★★ Others run the show, and you don't want to change it. The outcome could be delightful if you let go and relax. Unusual and exciting moments or situations keep popping up. For those interested in romance, this could be memorable. Tonight: Go along with plans.

This Week: Others run the show. Go along for the ride.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

★★★ Relax. Read the paper. Call friends and loved ones at a distance. Everyone needs a day to recuperate from recent stress. Invite a family member to play a favorite game or to get into a mutually adored pastime. Tonight: Think about what you want to accomplish.

This Week: Get as much done as you can on Monday. Others will demand your time and attention from Tuesday on.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

★★★★ Allow others to see your less serious side. In fact, the amount of fun and pleasure you create just by relaxing and letting go delights many. Follow an impulse, even if it might have you looking at cars or running off on some other fun happening. Tonight: Do what you want.

This Week: Your creativity flourishes on Monday. Daily life demands your attention on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

★★★★ Enjoy your immediate family or a roommate. You won't want to go far from home. In fact, you might spend some money just so you don't have to go out. A conversation could give you a great deal of insight. Tonight: Order in.

This Week: Come from a solid and centered place. Add in your imagination and ingenuity, and bingo! -- you get results.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

★★★★ Your unpredictability gets the day moving. Make calls and connect with those you haven't heard from in a long time. Though you might spend a lot of time on the phone, it is worth it. Plan on getting together with a friend later. Tonight: Hang out.

This Week: Extend yourself. Make calls. Avoid playing the recluse.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Monday, March 14, 2005:

A lot of unusual but exciting happenings might be heading your way this year. Sometimes you might feel confused, but the lines of communication need to stay open. Ask questions and seek information. Be willing to explore options and to see different perspectives. The more often you open up, the greater growth and understanding you'll develop. If you are single, an unusual person will knock on your door anytime from winter 2005 on. He or she could be close to perfect in many ways if you can accept different lifestyles. If you are attached, a trip could add new life to your relationship. TAURUS loves to debate with you.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

★★★ Confusion marks the moment and your finances! The lack of direction could lead to power plays. Understand what is happening around you, and diplomatically take the lead. You can do it. Your insights allow you to make sound decisions. Tonight: Splurge a little.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

★★★★ Your role becomes clearer as the day precedes. Your strength and vision come through, no matter which way you turn. Others might be grasping at straws or just plain confused. Take the lead in your diplomatic style. Tonight: As you like it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

★★ Stand back and evaluate exactly what needs to be done. You will trip over your own feet if you are not careful. In fact, you might feel you cannot win for losing. Know when to withdraw. Cocoon and stay out of trouble. Tonight: Get some extra R and R.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

★★★★ Staying focused on what is important will define your success. Others might be easily distracted from the issue at hand, while you aren't. Detach and don't get triggered by events. Success becomes you. Tonight: Be among the crowds.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

★★★ You know when to take charge. In the chaos and difficulties that exist, your leadership abilities star. Others might not take your suggestions. Don't take it personally if someone stands up to you. This person might be unusually reactive. Tonight: Ever playful.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

★★★★ Recognize that others have far more control than you were aware of. Don't buck trends; you might be amazed at what goes down. Do your thing without complicating a situation. Be a yes man (or woman) -- for now! Tonight: If you flex, you will be happy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

★★★ Work with individuals rather than groups. Others, especially bosses and associates, could be a bit out of sorts. Avoid mixing yourself into difficult situations. Realize more of what you desire with diplomacy and good timing. Tonight: Make nice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

★★★★ Rather than get into a tizzy, which really isn't you, defer to those who feel that they have more control. Review a decision more closely, but don't finalize it now. You don't have all the answers just yet. Tonight: See what offers you get.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

★★★ Dive into work and don't allow yourself to be distracted by those around you. Others have their issues and choices. Understand what you need to do in order to make a situation work for you. Don't get caught up in frivolous situations. Tonight: Squeeze in some exercise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

★★★★ Your creativity bubbles through confusion and perhaps power plays. How you present your ideas might have a lot to do with the manner in which they are received. You might not be getting all the facts. See where there might be an information gap. Tonight: Ever playful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

★★★★ Even you can act like a stick in the mud sometimes. You might be exhausted, which could be playing into your mental processing. Friends also might be asking too much from you. Quickly establish boundaries. Tonight: At home.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

★★★★ You have a way of stating issues that makes sense most of the time. Someone else, however, might create a conflict where there previously was none. You need to stay away from problems and those who create a whirlwind of confusion. Tonight: Hang with friends.

First-time homebuyers, time to buy is right now

(NAPSA) — According to a recently released survey by the National Association of Realtors (NAR), first time homebuyers currently account for 40 percent of all homes purchased. This significant portion of home purchasers has helped fuel record levels of home sales over the past several years- and economic conditions indicate future first time homebuyers will remain a substantial percentage of the overall market.

On average, first time homebuyers are relatively young and financially stable. As cited in the NAR survey, the typical homebuyer is 32 years old, has a household income of $52,500 and makes a down payment of three percent on a home costing $139,000. With current mortgage rates still hovering at near historic low levels, those in the market for their first home will still be enticed by the lure and financial advantages of home ownership as we progress in 2005.

As one might predict, the majority of first time homebuyers seek the expert guidance of real estate professionals when beginning the search process. ERA Real Estate, one of the world's largest residential real estate franchises, is one company that provides customized services to meet the needs of those purchasing a home for the first time.

The ERA Answers(r) book, for example, is a free resource guide available to first time buyers without obligation in a print version at ERA offices and online at www.ERA.com. The book addresses more than 90 of the most frequently asked questions about buying and selling a home and has been specifically designed to help consumers feel more comfortable and confident about their home buying and selling decisions.

On the Company's Web site www.ERA.com, My ERA.com offers first time homebuyers convenient and useful features such as My Virtual Assistant, which allows visitors to save and access their local office/agent profiles and track and record activities such as title searches and utility information. Create A Room is another feature of My ERA.com that can be used to design a virtual room layout for moving or redecorating purposes.

On average, first time homebuyers are relatively young and financially stable.

For the especially tech-savvy homebuyer, ERA.com Mobile allows complete access to ERA.com home listings from wireless tools, including cell phones and personal digital assistants (PDAs).

Through ERA Mortgage, there is a range of flexible mortgage options specifically designed to meet the needs of first time homebuyers such as 100 percent financing. ERA's Web site also features an "Affordability Calculator" to help those in the market for their first home determine exactly what their financing needs may be. And ERA's range of "Select Consumer Services" offers discounts on many goods and services first time buyers may need -- such as insurance, security alarms, moving and home warranties.

As a result of these and other products and services, ERA Real Estate was recently ranked the recipient of the 2004 J.D. Power and Associates Award for "Highest Overall Satisfaction for First Time Home Buyers Among National Full Service Real Estate Firms." The award resulted from a 2004 Home Buyer/Seller Satisfaction Study, based on responses from 4,977 homebuyers and sellers. The study was conducted on behalf of Candant Corporation by J.D. Power and Associates.

For more information, visit www.ERA.com.

Investigate before you invest

(NAPSA) — It can pay to investigate before you invest. Traditionally, investors study their portfolios, separate the winners from the losers and consider additional investment opportunities. It's a smart idea, however, to learn about any products being considered -- as well as the firms and individuals who offer them -- before making any investment decisions.

National Futures Association (NFA) is a congressionally authorized self-regulatory organization for the United States futures industry committed to safeguarding market integrity and protecting investors.

NFA believes that one of the best ways to protect investors is to provide them with the information they need to make informed decisions. To that end, NFA publishes several brochures describing the kinds of information you should always obtain first -- and questions to ask -- about any investment being considered.

The list of NFA brochures includes:

- Glossary of Futures Terms
- Understanding Opportunities and Risks in Futures Trading
- Buying Options on Futures Contracts: A Guide to Their Uses and Risks
- Trading in the Retail Off-Exchange Foreign Currency

Market: What Investors Need to Know.

Another important step to take before investing in futures is to conduct a background check of the firms and individuals offering these products.

Using NFA's Background Affiliation Status Information Center (BASIC) on NFA's Web site (www.nfa.futures.org), investors can quickly and easily check a firm's or individual's registration status and disciplinary history. NFA has also published a brochure describing the information available on BASIC and containing instructions on how to conduct a BASIC search.

All of NFA's educational brochures are free. Simply call NFA's Information Center toll-free at (800) 621-3570 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. CST, Monday through Friday. An Information Center Representative will assist you. Brochures can also be downloaded from NFA's Web site.

Always remember to be wary of investment schemes that promise significant returns with little risk. Take a close and cautious look at the investment offer itself and continue to monitor any investment you do make. If you have any questions or complaints regarding a futures firm or one of its employees, contact NFA's Information Center.
