Top Class of 2005 students named

Kirsten Boyd

Twenty Pampa High School students have attained the rank of honor graduates for the Class of 2005, announced Superintendent Barry Haenisch and PHS Principal Evan Smith.

Four students will carry the highly earned distinction of Superintendent Scholar.

To be an honor graduate at Pampa High School, a student is required to be in the top 10 percent of the graduating class. To achieve the honor of a superintendent scholar, a student must have scored a 1300 or more on the SAT exam or a 29 on the ACT exam in addition to completing four or more Advanced Placement Courses.

These students and their parents were honored by Haenisch and the Pampa Independent School District Board of Education at the annual Honors Banquet recently held at the Pampa Country Club. (Photos of the event can be seen on Page 1B of today's edition.)

Ranking number one in a class of 197 students is Valedictorian Kristen Boyd with a grade point average (GPA) of 4.389. Boyd is a Superintendent Scholar and a DAP Graduate. She is the daughter of Greg and Sandi Boyd.

Good and bad news

By DAVID BOWSER

CANADIAN - There's good news and bad news about the Texas Legislature's plans concerning school finance.

The good news is that both the House and Senate plans cut property taxes. The bad news is it leaves a shortfall for school finance.

Matt Brockman, executive vice president of Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, told a group of cattlemen here Wednesday night that local property taxes may be replaced with a statewide property tax, but that would need to be approved by voters in a state constitutional amendment.

Eastern panhandle cattlemen gathered this week at the Canadian River Valley Museum to hear about state issues from Brockman; national and international issues from Richard

Chisum Ranch joins Angus Association

Chisum Ranch of Pampa is a new member of the American Angus Association, reports John Crouch, executive vice president of the national breed registry organization in Saint Joseph, Mo.

The American Angus Association, with more than 34,000 active adult and junior members, is the largest beef cattle registry association in the world. Its computerized records include detailed information on more than 14 million registered Angus.

The association records ancestral information and keeps production records on individual animals for its members. These permanent records help members select and mate the best animals in their herds to produce high quality, efficient breeding cattle which are then recorded with the American Angus Association.

Most of these registered Angus are used by the U.S. farmers and ranchers who raise high quality beef for U.S. consumption.

Museum Mementos: Avenue named for M.K. Brown's sister

By ELOISE LANE
White Deer Land Museum, Pampa

Gwendolen is the name given to the avenue that begins at 801 N. Hobart and extends westward to Price Road. The avenue was named for Gwendolen Frederica Brown, a younger sister to Montagu Kingsmill Brown. She was born on the 23rd of February 1884 at Hampstead, England ("M.K. Brown Legacy," page xi, item 10t). People who knew Mr. Brown remember that he was adamant about spelling the name of the avenue the same as the name of his sister.

The Pampa City Directory shows Gwendolen Avenue on a map of the city and there is a listing of addresses on Gwendolen Ave. The SBC Directory for Pampa-Skellytown-Lefors shows Gwendolen as the address for those with telephones on that avenue.

Eloise Lane
White Deer Land Museum, Pampa

The Devotional Directory in The Pampa News on Fridays lists the Priest Park Church of God on 1123 Gwendolen (on the south side of the avenue.) The church bus shows that the church building is at the corner of Gwendolen and Summer.

A large sign at the corner of the north side of Gwendolen and Nelson advertises the Gwendolen Plaza Apartments at 800 N. Nelson.

The next Pampa city map published by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will show GWENDOLEN as the name of the avenue.

It is hoped that the spelling of GWENDOLEN will be seen on city street signs and in articles that appear in The Pampa News.

Gray County is one of eight counties recently named, a press release from USDA said, by the Secretary of Agriculture eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the excessive rain.

Goetze said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 100 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue the agriculture business, whichever is less. For producers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest, the release reports, is 3.75 percent.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30 percent loss of production to be eligible for an FSA emergency loan," Goetze said. Farmers participating in the Federal Crop Insurance program will have to consider proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

Membership drive this month at Panhandle-Plains Museum

CANYON — May, according to a press release from Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, is Membership Month at the museum in Canyon.

"There is no better time than now to join for the first time, renew, upgrade, or give a gift of a membership to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum," the release said. "All active members will receive special courtesies during the much-anticipated exhibit, 'Capturing Western Legends: Russell and Remington's Canadian Frontier,' such as a discount and early purchase option for tickets and head-of-the-line admission, even on the busiest days.

"Your annual membership includes all of the benefits you value: complimentary regular admission, a discount on programming and in the museum store, complimentary subscriptions to 'PPHMNews' and the 'Panhandle-Plains Historical Review,' and invitations to all museum events, including those for members only."

The release said upgraded membership levels provide "free admission for family members" along with "guest passes, discounts on archive reproductions and museum space rental, and parking passes. The highest level, the Goodnight Circle, comes stood during the grieving process. Families may not know how to help their children, especially when the adults are overwhelmed with grief themselves. The positive feedback from children and their families about their SKY Camp experience keeps the camp growing.

"SKY Camp provides learning activities for children and families under the guidance of SKY volunteers and counselors. It is wonderful to see the children blossom as camp progresses. They generally feel safe and nurtured. Plus, they learn that laughter and fun as well as tears and anger, are healthy components of the grief process. So many grieving children feel isolated and different because they do not know anyone their age who has experienced the death of a loved one.

"You see such relief in their faces as they discover they are not alone. They are able to relate to each other in unique ways because many have had similar experiences and feelings."

The release said the camp was established in 1997 and offers family support groups and individual grief counseling.

event," said Carolyn Witherspoon, executive director of the Coalition. "We are bringing together vendors, healthcare providers, and medical professionals from a broad spectrum of specialties. This is definitely the region's largest trade show of its kind specifically for the healthcare industry."

Witherspoon added HealthLink exhibitors represent fields including medical products and equipment, technology, apparel, pharmaceuticals, financial and investment services, non-profit agencies, and other areas.

Those invited to attend include hospital personnel from all departments, physicians and medical practice personnel, allied health providers, and healthcare employees in a wide range of fields.

In addition, future healthcare professionals from the region's schools, medical schools and schools of nursing and pharmacy, the release said, are invited.

Major sponsorship for the event is being provided by First Choice Cooperative, Harrington Regional Medical Center, Health Affiliated Services, MMCI, Deutsche Bank Alex Brown, and Resource Corporation of America.

Coalition of Health Services is comprised, the release said, of 14 hospitals in the Texas Panhandle. For more information on HealthLink, call (806) 379-9329 or log on to www.cohs.net.

Local Altrusa member appointed governor-elect for District Nine Altrusa club delegates from Texas elected Brenda Tucker of Pampa governor-elect for the 2005-07 biennium during the organization's 49th Annual District Conference held recently at the Embassy Suites Park Central in Dallas.

District Nine is comprised of 36 clubs in the state of Texas, the only district within the International organization made up of only one state. Tucker has previously served on the District Nine Board as director, treasurer and first vice governor/program chair. She was installed at the Governor's Banquet by Marilyn Bell, past governor of District Eight.

Tucker is an independent BeautiControl consultant and is the commercial lines manager for Duncan, Fraser & Bridges Insurance where she has been employed for 26 years. She is married to Dan Tucker and has been a member of Altrusa International, Inc., of Pampa since 1988.

According to a press release from the local club, Altrusa is a service organization founded in 1917. It became international in scope with the extension into Mexico in 1935.

The Pampa club was chartered in 1952 and was instrumental in the development of the Pampa Senior Citizens Center and continues, the release said, to take care of the furnishings of The Quiet Room at the center. Another project of

Coroner determines Centenary player died of natural causes

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Chad Maclies, a standout on the Centenary basketball team who was found dead in his dorm room earlier this week, died of natural causes, the coroner said Thursday afternoon.

Maclies was found dead late Tuesday night after his girlfriend had not heard from him in several hours. An autopsy concluded that Maclies, 22, died of natural causes, Caddo Coroner Dr. George McCormick said. He did not release the specific cause of death.

Maclies, a honor student and award-winning basketball player from Kingwood, Texas, had been chatting with his girlfriend on the computer Tuesday afternoon when the instant messaging abruptly stopped, Shreveport Fire Department spokesman Brian Crawford said. She started looking for him when she hadn't heard from him in several hours.

Friends went to Maclies' room, looked in a window and found him lying on the floor. Maclies was dead when paramedics arrived, Crawford said.

Maclies, a senior who was on the dean's list, had a double major in math and physics and a minor in computer science. He was looking at possibly playing pro basketball, either in the U.S. or overseas, and becoming a computer analyst after graduation in December.

Maclies won All-Conference honors as a basketball player and recently received Centenary's Athletic Achievement Award.

Maclies led the Gents this past season in scoring, averaging 18 points a game, and in rebounds with 218.

Game one: Pampa 4, Ysleta 3

By MICHAEL J. STEVENS
Sports Editor

Extra innings are becoming old hat to the Pampa Lady Harvesters, especially in the post-season. And though she would prefer to win the games in regulation, Coach Bobbi Gill said following Friday night's 4-3, nine inning win over Ysleta, "I think the extra inning games have made these girls stronger."

Gill said the extended sessions put the pressure on the opponent, not her club. "To us, it is just another inning. And these girls have yet to buckle," she said.

Friday night would serve as a great example of what Coach Gill is talking about.

Pampa led the Lady Indians 3-0 going into the bottom of the fifth. Ysleta rallied to tie the game, forcing extra innings, thanks in part a Ysleta home run. The first Pampa pitcher Cassidy Tice (14-3) has given up all season.

Unfazed, Nicole Clark stepped to the plate in the top of the ninth and promptly connected on a triple. The game winning run was scored when Clark crossed the plate on a Ysleta passed ball.

Still, the Lady Harvesters have error issues they need to address, committing another five Friday night. And though errors will happen, Gill says a couple given up by Pampa Friday is what allowed the Lady Indians to get back in the game. "It's something we need to work on and improve," said Gill.

In Friday's game, Tice gave up two hits including a home run, while striking out eight. She also went 3-3 at the plate with a walk, stolen base and scored a run.

Teryn Garner got on base three times on five appearances. She had two hits and scored a run.

Brittany Adams had a single and an RBI. Logan Winkelman had a base hit and a stolen base.

Callie Cobb had a base hit. She also made some big defensive plays in the field to help secure the Pampa win.

Game two of the best-of-three Class 4A area series was scheduled for 12 p.m. Saturday with Clark (11-6) penciled in as the starting pitcher for the Lady Harvesters. Game three, if needed, was set to start 30 minutes after the conclusion of game two.

Despite giving up her first home run of the season, Lady Harvester pitcher Cassidy Tice added another eight strikeouts to her total in Friday night's game one of the Class 4A best-of-three area series against Ysleta in Odessa. Pampa defeated Ysleta 4-3.

A year later, Smarty Jones is living large

By Jim Litke
Associated Press

MIDWAY, Ky. (AP) — The love affair hasn't cooled one bit.

A year after he set the nation's heart fluttering,

Smarty Jones still possesses the looks, charm and self-assuredness of a champion. A movie is already in the works. And now, on top of all that, he's got ... the life.

Retired at stud on a breeding farm in the rolling hills near Lexington, barely an hour's drive east from the Churchill Downs racetrack where a Derby victory in 2004 catapulted Smarty Jones into America's sporting constellation forever, the 4-year-old chestnut spends his days lounging, lunching and — how to put this delicately? — loving.

Morning, afternoon and night. "He's taken to his new career with gusto," said Dan Rosenberg, president of Three Chimneys Farm.

On this sun-splashed Thursday afternoon, Smarty Jones naps on the floor of a large stall that once belonged to Seattle Slew inside a handsomely decked-out barn along with five other distinguished stallions. Imagine the equine equivalent of MTV's "Cribs," or "The Real World," and you have the picture. He gets bathed each morning, eats when he wants, and roams a 2-acre paddock under the stars each night. He even has a two person-staff to handle the crush of mail and requests for strands of hair or straws of hay from his bed, and book his string of appointments.

Five days a week, every week, a single tour group numbering 25 comes through to see him up close, to gaze into the dark, lively eyes flickering beneath the fringe of hair that still falls across his face like a trademark. Up to three times a day during thoroughbred mating season, from mid-February through July (88 times so far; 111 by the end), a mare is ushered into a breeding shed to the south of Smarty's stall to be — as they say in the industry — covered.

His stud fee is $100,000 per live foal, not bad for a horse who retired with $7.6 million in earnings, the third-best total ever. That's why mares have dropped by from as far away as Germany and Japan. Each session in the shed — actually another handsome barn, complete with pine paneling, thickly padded walls and shredded-tire floors — is videotaped to guarantee paternity. If there was a bathrobe hanging from a hook, the place would look like Hugh Hefner did the decorating.

Jarrett, NASCAR prepare for a different Darlington

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Dale Jarrett shrugs his shoulders when he looks at what has become of the old country track he used to visit when his daddy went racing.

Gone is the big scoreboard and play structure at Darlington Raceway where Jarrett would climb while his father, Ned, mixed it up with NASCAR stars of the 1960s. Now, rising up around the track's perimeter is a multimillion-dollar lighting system.

And Darlington's first official night race, the Dodge Charger 500 on Saturday, is also a NASCAR departure — running on Mother's Day weekend, normally an off week in Nextel Cup.

"It's different but, you know, there's changes going on everywhere," Jarrett said last week before testing his Busch car. "Why not here, too?"

Each year that goes by seems to bring another crack in Darlington's tradition. First, NASCAR leaders moved the Southern 500, a staple of Labor Day for more than half a century, to California Speedway. Then, Darlington's Nextel Cup schedule was cut in half, sliced to one race in a realignment bow to several bigger tracks that had only one date.

At first, Darlington president Chris Browning saw the switch to Mother's Day weekend — NASCAR's largest series hadn't run on that weekend since Atlanta in 1986 — as one more step toward the eventual demise of the longtime Nextel Cup venue. Then he realized demographics had changed in the past two decades.

He said studies show that NASCAR spectators have shifted in the past two decades from about 70 percent men and 30 percent women to almost 50-50. That means more families are bringing mom along to watch the race with them, Browning said.

Advance ticket sales back that up. This past Sunday, Browning got the track's first pre-race sellout since the 1997 Southern 500. He's now started a waiting list to show his bosses at corporate International Speedway Corp. that there's a demand for racing at the old country track.

"We're happy with the way it's going," said Browning, adding that he sold tickets to the race in 48 states — all but Hawaii and New Mexico.

Part of the excitement, Browning says, comes from fans wanting to watch a full-blown night race in the Dodge Charger 500. An exhibition under the lights last August drew a crowd of about 15,000.

"It seems more exciting under the lights," said Kasey Kahne, who was testing his Dodge at Darlington.

The sellout could help keep Darlington on the Nextel Cup schedule.

'It's different but, you know, there's changes going on everywhere.'

Spring cleaning under way at Lake Meredith NRA

FRITCH — As the weather turns warmer, so do our thoughts of spending more time outdoors. Mother Nature has been teasing us lately with some beautiful warm days followed by some late winter weather including snow.

Folks in the Texas Panhandle have utilized the warm, sunny days, a press release from the Parks Service said, to do a little "spring cleaning" at Lake Meredith National Recreation Area.

"As we prepare for a busy summer season, our main goal is to get the park looking its best. Without the help from these dedicated volunteers, there's no way we would have completed all of the projects so quickly," said Park Superintendent Karren Brown.

During the past several weeks, the news release reports, crews of volunteers have been hard at work around the park. Troop 187 of the Golden Spread Council from Amarillo constructed a post and cable fence at the lower parking area at Cedar Canyon as part of an Eagle Scout project.

The Borger United Grocery Store "U" Crew adopted a section of lakeshore and has been out cleaning, in full force, in Harbor Bay.

"We didn't even know about the adopt-a-lakeshore program at the park until recently! The United 'U' Crew is a volunteer team made up of employees from the local Borger store who are dedicated to performing community service projects, in this case, picking up litter to make Lake Meredith a nicer place to visit," said Borger United Store Manager Theron Backer.

Meanwhile, the release said the Crown of Texas Arabian Horse Club of Amarillo has been sprucing up the lower Plum Creek campground by constructing a new double-gated corral to accommodate campers and their horses.

"Each year the club holds an endurance ride in the park, we are thrilled to have their help to improve camping and recreational opportunities for horseback riders at the park," said Brown.

There are now two corrals at lower Plum Creek campground and one at Mullinaw campsite. Both areas, the release said, offer excellent riding opportunities.

The U.S. Navy Combat

Engineers, known as Seabees, have volunteered, the release reported, its time and energy to improving Harbor Bay by performing ground preparations and constructing concrete forms for three new picnic shade shelters.

"This collaborative effort will make Harbor Bay a nicer place for all park visitors. When the hot August sun is beating down, visitors will be able to picnic with a little shade to cool them down," Brown said. The release further reported recent Earth Day activities. Crews of volunteers headed out on the lake in boats to access remote shorelines to take a bite out of litter.

"BFI donated a roll-off dumpster and our crews of volunteers picked up tons of tires, glass and plastic bottles, shoes, fishing lures and even a bumper off a car!" said Marina Manager George Surles.

"These projects set a great example of resource stewardship for our employees, our visitors, and our neighbors!" said Brown.

To find out more about volunteering opportunities at Lake Meredith NRA, contact park headquarters at (806) 857-3151.

Mushroom pizza recipe

(NAPSA)— Why bother with a so-so sandwich when you can love every bite? Italian panini are winning sandwich eaters' hearts, and no wonder. Inspired panini, such as this one made with fresh white mushrooms, are appetizing and irresistible.

In restaurants and sandwich shops, they're usually pressed in an electric panini maker. If you own one, by all means use it. Otherwise, you can achieve that pressed effect by using an ordinary skillet and weighting the panini.

This healthy recipe delivers satisfying flavor and nutrition. In each bite, you'll taste toasted bread, boldly flavored pesto, golden sautéed mushrooms and melted mozzarella.

Visit www.mushroominfo.com for more great mushroom sandwich recipes.

Mushroom-Mozzarella Panini

- 1 tablespoon olive oil, divided
- 8 ounces fresh white mushrooms, sliced (about 3 cups)
- 2 crusty rolls (each about 6 inches long)
- 3 tablespoons prepared pesto sauce
- 1 cup fresh spinach, arugula or lettuce leaves
- 4 ounces mozzarella cheese, thinly sliced
- 1 large roasted red pepper, cut in strips (about 1/2 cup packed)

In a medium skillet, heat half of the olive oil over medium-high heat. Add mushrooms; cook and stir until mushroom liquid has evaporated, about 5 minutes. Transfer mushrooms to a bowl to cool slightly; wipe out the skillet. Cut rolls horizontally in halves. Spread pesto over cut surfaces. On the bottom halves, layer the spinach, mozzarella, pepper and mushrooms, dividing equally; cover with the tops.

In the same skillet, heat the remaining oil over medium heat. Place the sandwiches in the skillet; weight them with a heavy saucepan or skillet. Cook until browned, about 1 minute on each side. Cut rolls in halves.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Sunday, May 8, 2005:

You have an unusual sense of self. Your personality and magnetism mark your actions. Endless creativity comes forth no matter what situation you are looking at. You work well with others, especially on an individual level. Don't get caught up in thinking that your way is the only way. Events will demonstrate otherwise. Your strength of personality and endurance create strong opportunities for success. If you are single, you will meet many people this year, but someone significant will enter your life next winter. If you are attached, work together as a team and refuse to make all of the decisions yourself. Work on an equal partnership basis. TAURUS understands you well.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

★★★★ Be mellow and caring with a loved one. A purchase or token of affection might create a new beginning. Realizing your limitations will help you balance your plans. Don't allow someone's sadness to mar his or her day, if possible. Tonight: Take a mom out for dinner. This Week: Tell it like it is. You're also likely to hear exactly what others think.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

★★★★ A gesture or caring word could mend some broken fences. Don't kid yourself — you need to make the first move. In fact, the cards fall into your lap. What you do could make all the difference in a relationship. Tonight: Remember those you care about. This Week: Juggle your finances with care. There could be a last-minute snafu.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

★★★★ Know when to step back. You cannot force an issue and still come out on top. It is important to know when to pull out and not get into someone else's battle. Lying back and doing little might be a lot more positive in the long run. Tonight: Take some much-needed personal time.

This Week: You feel your Wheaties, and clearly let others know it. CANCER (June 21-July 22)

★★★★ Aim for more of what you want. You could opt to bring all the mothers in your life together. You find that a fun and joyful occasion will happen if you let go of a need to control. Make the most out of a celebration. Tonight: Don't bet on it being an early night. This Week: Move slowly into the week. Once you get going, you're unstoppable. (July 23-Aug. 22)

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

★★★ Others demand your attention, whether you are the one celebrating the day or celebrating a mother or two. Your attention means a lot more than you realize. You have an opportunity for a new beginning. Express your inner happiness. Tonight: A must appearance. This Week: Zero in quickly to achieve the results you want. Please don't dillydally. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

★★★★ If you need to hop in the car to visit with one of the mothers in your life, do so. Plans might change rapidly. Make important Sunday calls. What you hear might have you regrouping. A new beginning is possible if you detach. Tonight: Express your caring in ways others can hear. This Week: Accept the role of star graciously. Everything else falls into place.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

★★★★ Sometimes you need to get to the bottom of an issue, especially if it involves a partnership or key relationship. What is good for you might not be good for someone else. Honest talks revise many of your preconceived notions. Tonight: Add that extra tenderness. This Week: Use your wisdom to understand what is going on.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

★★★★ You find that others want to run with the ball. Don't try to stop them. You don't have as much control as you would like. You might need to go out of your way for a loved one or someone you consider very important. Tonight: Say "yes" to a suggestion.

This Week: Teamwork leads to innovative thinking. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

★★★★ Right now you need to nurture and adapt to others, even if you would prefer to do otherwise. How you state your intentions could have much to do with others' responses. Pace yourself and take it one moment at a time. Tonight: Relax as soon as you can. This Week: It's your turn to take a back seat. Enjoy. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

★★★★ Use your imagination with children and loved ones. You might need to resolve a problem or change your point of view about a family member. Your instincts carry you past a problem and help others make light of it. Tonight: Frolic as if there is no tomorrow. This Week: Getting what you want done remains instrumental to enjoying yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

★★★★ Your ability to say the right words at the right time separates you from others. Think about and visualize more of what you want. Others will seek you out. Touch base with the important women in your life. Tonight: Dinner out. This Week: You could be slow to move out of the doldrums, but once you do, you are a whirlwind.

Grant establishes exercise care for those with MS

People with multiple sclerosis in Gray County have been the recipients of a grant awarded to the All America Chapter, Panhandle Division of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society (NMSS) by the M.K. Brown Foundation of Pampa.

The Individualized Home Exercise Program was the dream of Kayla Pursley, Pursley who has MS, is also an active volunteer with the NMSS. She and Gail Lindsey, Programs Coordinator for the Panhandle Division, began working on writing the grant in the fall of 2003. The grant was submitted in early 2004 and was awarded last summer.

"Everyone needs exercise," says Pursley. "Everyone has daily and weekly chores to do. I wanted a way to make my work my exercise and thought an occupational or physical therapist, or both, coming to my home to watch me work would help me find creative ways to accomplish both."

First, a program to train rehabilitation therapists to improve their knowledge of the needs of people who have MS was offered in Borger at Frank Phillips College in January of 2005.

Bill Myers, PT (physical therapist), owner of Borger Physical Therapy and Deanah Alexander, RN, CS, MSN, an instructor at West Texas A & M University, who also has MS, conducted the training. Fifteen professionals attended from Borger, Canadian, Miami, Panhandle, Perryton, Wheeler, and Amarillo to learn more about providing therapy to people with multiple sclerosis. Continuing Education Units were offered.

As a result of this training, Tatum Pennington, occupational therapist from Canadian, Candee Thomas, physical therapist from Miami and Misty Forbes, certified occupational therapy assistant from Panhandle were hired for the 10-week program.

Gray County residents, registered with the NMSS, were sent letters outlining the program and were asked to complete a questionnaire regarding needs and motivation. Those residents who responded to the questionnaire were enrolled in the program.

Susan Braddock, one of the participants, has had MS for almost 14 years. When she was first diagnosed she was relieved to find out there was a name to put to the sympprogression of the disease. When she did begin giving herself a daily injection of a disease modifying therapy in 1998, she said she finally felt like she was doing something aggressive to combat the symptoms. Since 1993 there have been five FDA-approved treatments developed for the relapsing-remitting form of MS.

With the help of her faith, than I could have ever imagined and will continue to implement and integrate, on a daily basis, the exercises and the suggestions made by the National MS Society program," she said.

Braddock also expressed gratitude for the opportunity to have the therapists work with her in her own environment at home. She looked forward to the weekly visits and the exercise routines that were developed for her. She learned ways to conserve energy while performing routine household tasks. One of her main goals for the program was to remain as independent as possible.

She was given strategies for exercising while doing housework, yard work and maintenance of her vehicle. Grant funds were also used to purchase adaptive equipment such as grab bars for safety in and around the home. She acknowledges without the generous support of the MK Brown Foundation, the Individualized Home Exercise program would not have been possible.

Multiple sclerosis is an unpredictable, chronic and often disabling disease of the central nervous system. It is the most common neurological disease affecting young to middle-aged adults. MS is not fatal, contagious or directly inherited. Advances in treating and understanding MS are achieved daily; and there are now five FDA-approved therapies available that can impact underlying disease course.

For more information about multiple sclerosis contact the National MS Society at 1-800-FIGHT MS (800-344-4867) or visit the web at www.nationalmssociety.org.

National Nursing Home Week set for May 8-14

National Nursing Home Week, an annual observance sponsored by the American Health Care Association, will be observed May 8-14, according to a release from Pampa Nursing Center.

In honor of Nursing Home Week, the center will host a series of events designed, the release said, to enrich the relationships and contacts between residents, community members, family and staff.

PNC's theme for the week will be "Living Life as a Luau."

"Being able to have fun and laugh is so important to the residents and staff," said Kristie Fuller, activity director for PNC, "and having a week long Luau seemed like a perfect way to celebrate this special week."

The week of festivities will kick-off with a Mother's Day "Hawaiian Punch Social" and celebration at 10 a.m., Sunday, May 8.

Tuesday, May 10, will be "Crazy Hair Day Tuesday." Bill and Company Band will perform at 7 p.m.

The "Loudest Hawaiian Shirt Contest and Fruit Feast" is planned at 10 a.m. Wednesday, May 11. Everyone, the PNC release said, is welcome at the upcoming activities.

"Pampa Nursing Center would like to say Happy Nursing Home Week to all the local and area nursing homes that provide seniors with care," the press release said. "Everyone's roll is important and there are no small parts."

30 Minutes Saved this Mama

Connie Nicklas and Daughter, Emily

"I wasn't looking forward to it, but it's something you do for yourself and your family. The technician was wonderful—she walked me through the procedure and answered my questions. It just wasn't a big deal. Now I have peace of mind, and I'm thankful I had the mammogram."

Pampa Regional Medical Center believes the health of this area's women is important. That's why we've invested in state-of-the-art mammography: The Lorad. Early detection of breast cancer, discovered through a 30 minute mammography procedure is 98% survivable.

PRMC is accredited by the American College of Radiology with two dedicated Radiologists on site. We Care. We care that women get mammograms and that they're performed correctly right here at home.

THE PAMPA NEWS COMICS

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I went to a funeral to pay our respects to our neighbor and his family for the loss of his father. I had met the parents on a few prior occasions; my husband had not.

As I was expressing my sympathy and talking with the widow about her husband and their life together, she became a little teary-eyed -- so I continued to stand with her and hold her hand and speak with her. The incident lasted about two or three minutes.

My husband feels I should have only expressed my condolences and quickly moved on. I am mortified that I may have done something inappropriate and caused this woman pain. What should I have done? -- WONDERING IN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR WONDERING: A funeral is not an assembly line. You did the right thing by taking the widow's hand, expressing your condolences, and allowing her to share her feelings. Your husband may have been embarrassed by the grieving woman's display of emotions, but that is his problem, so please don't allow him to make it yours.

DEAR ABBY: I have a mondo problem. I think my mom doesn't like me anymore. When I fell off my bike head-first without a helmet, she said I was "overdramatic."

I have fallen down 18 feet of stairs four times, and my dad was the only one who helped me. Sometimes my mom is really nice, but I am a little scared of her.

I would tell her myself, but I am 12 and still very sensitive. Please help. -- SCARED GIRL IN NASHVILLE

DEAR SCARED: Please clip this from the newspaper and put it on your mother's pillow:

DEAR MOTHER: Your little girl is either accident-prone or trying to get your attention. Please put forth a little more effort to show her you love her. A hug would be a good way to start. And because she will soon be a young woman, giving her a little more time would be greatly beneficial. She needs you very much, and it's sad that she had to do it through me.

DEAR ABBY: We have two beloved (deceased) pets -- a rabbit and a bird, buried in our back yard. Within the next two to five years, we plan to sell our house and move out of state.

What should we do about the pets we have buried in our yard? Should we leave their remains and just take along their plaques -- or take their remains and bury them at our new residence? This may seem like a silly question, but I'm terribly concerned. -- BRENDA IN LAKELAND, FLA.

DEAR BRENDA: No question that's sincere is "silly."

While some readers may disagree, I think you would be doing all involved a favor to leave the remains where they are. Your present home is the place where your pets lived full and happy lives -- and that is where their little spirits should remain, free to frolic forever.

DEAR ABBY: I want to know if you can become addicted to drugs by having sex with an addict.

Please don't print my name because I live in a small, conservative community in Ohio. -- NAMELESS IN A RED STATE

DEAR NAMELESS: Although you cannot become addicted to drugs by having sex with an addict, you CAN become addicted to drugs if you hang around with addicts and frequent places where drugs are easily available. (This is one of those situations where you should "just say no" and avoid temptation.)
