Protesters fail to mar veteran's funeral in Amarillo

By DAVID BOWSER
Staff Writer

Sgt. 1st Class Tommy Ike Folks Jr., 31, passed through Pampa on U.S. 60 about noon Friday.

His family followed in the funeral home limousines.

Services for Folks, who died Oct. 18, in Iraq, were at 10 a.m. Friday at the First Christian Church in Amarillo. Burial was with military rights at DeBolt Cemetery in Arnett, Okla., Friday afternoon.

Merrill Gilbert, a law enforcement chaplain, and Maj. Gen. Michael H.

Taylor, commander of the 36th Infantry Division of the Texas National Guard, officiated at the Amarillo funeral service.

Outside the church some 130 people gathered, including more than 50 members of various area motorcycle clubs. A group of a dozen members of the Westboro Baptist Church of Topeka, Kan., were conspicuously absent.

The Kansas church delegation had arrived the day before and said they intended to protest at the funeral service. They were not in Amarillo to protest the war, they said. They were in Amarillo to protest homosexuality.

On their Web site, www.god-hatesfags.com, the Westboro Baptist Church states "God himself has now become America's terrorist, killing Americans in strange lands."

On their Web site, they indicate their belief that U.S. soldiers are being sent to war by a "rich fag nation" and say, "God Himself is America's terrorist."

Randy Cox of Cox Funeral Home said he found it ironic that Sgt. Folks died for the rights that the members of Westboro Baptist Church enjoy.

Area motorcycle clubs and members of various veterans' groups, along with family members of soldiers and Marines serving in Iraq, gathered outside the church to screen the protesters from the Folks family, but the protesters never materialized.

Carrying placards reading, "God is your enemy" and "Fag Troops," they picketed funeral services for Spc. Lucas A. Frantz, 22, in Tonganoxie, Kan.

Amendments explained

By DENNIS SPIES
Editor

A number of Pampa residents have called the newspaper office to inquire about explanations of the proposed constitutional amendments on the Nov. 8 ballot.

Here is a description of each as released by the House Research Organization.

Prop. 1: "The constitutional amendment creating the Texas rail relocation and improvement fund and authorizing grants of money and issuance of obligations for financing the relocation, rehabilitation, and expansion of rail facilities."

Brief Explanation: HJR 54 would create a Texas rail relocation and improvement fund in the state treasury and would authorize grants of state revenue and issuance of public debt to relocate, rehabilitate, and expand privately and publicly owned passenger and freight rail facilities and to construct railroad underpasses and overpasses.

Prop. 2: "The constitutional amendment providing that marriage in this state consists only of the union of one man and one woman and prohibiting this state or a political subdivision of this state from creating or recognizing any legal status identical or similar to marriage."

Brief Explanation: HJR 6 would provide that marriage in Texas is solely the union of a man and woman, and that the state and its political subdivisions could not create or recognize any legal status identical to or similar to marriage, including such legal status relationships created outside of Texas.

Prop. 3: "The constitutional amendment clarifying that certain economic development programs do not constitute a debt."

Brief Explanation: HJR 80 would provide that local economic development program loans or grants (other than debts secured by a pledge of ad valorem taxes or financed by the issuance of any bonds or other obligations payable from ad valorem taxes) do not constitute or create debt. Any provision of state constitutional law that may prohibit or limit the authority of a political subdivision of the state to incur debt does not apply to those loans or grants.

Prop. 4: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the denial of bail to a criminal defendant who violates a condition of the defendant's release pending trial."

Brief Explanation: SJR 17 would authorize a district judge to deny reinstatement of bail or new bail to a person accused of a felony, if the person's bail had been revoked or forfeited as a result of the person's violation of a condition of release related to the safety of a victim of the alleged offense or to the safety of the community.

Prop. 5: "The constitutional amendment allowing the Legislature to define rates of interest for commercial loans."

Brief Explanation: SJR 21 would authorize the Legislature to exempt commercial loans from state usury laws that set maximum interest rates. "Commercial loans" are loans made primarily for business, commercial, investment, agricultural, or similar purposes and not primarily for personal, family, or household purposes.

Prop. 6: "The constitutional amendment to include one additional public member and a constitutional county court judge in the membership of the State Commission on Judicial Conduct."

Brief Explanation: HJR 87 would increase the size of the State Commission on Judicial Conduct from 11 to 13 members by increasing from four to five the number of public members and by adding a constitutional county court judge. The additions would ensure that the commis-

"Seventy-six trombones led the big parade, with 110 cornets close behind."

The Pampa Junior High School choir is striking up the band for a performance of Meredith Willson's "The Music Man."

At first glance, audiences are met by stage sets of the small town of River City, Iowa, complete with livery, train station, and several storefronts. But the cast and crew of more than 60 students have spent the last eight weeks in preparation for the premiere.

"We auditioned for three days," co-director Suzanne Wood said. "We've been practicing two hours a night, four nights a week ever since."

Wood said competition was stiff for those wanting leading roles.

"We chose students we felt matched the characters,

WHITE HOUSE

Bush seeks support of war on radio

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the American death toll above 2,000, President Bush said Saturday the war in Iraq has required "great sacrifice," but that progress is being made and the United States must remain steadfast.

In his third speech on Iraq this week, Bush sought to shore up flagging support for a war that began March 20, 2003.

"The best way to honor the sacrifice of our fallen troops is to complete the mission and win the war on terror," the president said in his weekly radio address.

"We will train Iraqi security forces and help a newly elected government meet the needs of the Iraqi people. In doing so, we will lay the foundation of peace for our children and grandchildren."

Public support for Bush's handling of Iraq is at its lowest point, 37 percent, roughly where it has been since early August, according to AP-Ipsos polling.

After a tense week, Bush is spending the weekend at Camp David, the presidential retreat in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains. Before leaving the White House on Friday, he paused to express support for I. Lewis Libby who resigned as the vice president's chief of staff after being indicted for perjury and other charges in a two-year investigation of the leak of the name of a CIA operative.

"We're all saddened by today's news," Bush said, adding that the American justice system assumes that the accused are innocent and entitled to due process and a fair trial.

Libby was a driving force behind the administration's march to war against Iraq and helped assemble evidence — later proven false — asserting that Saddam Hussein possessed weapons of mass destruction, which became the rationale for the U.S.-led invasion.

Referring to Libby by his nickname, the president said: "Scooter has worked tirelessly on behalf of the American people and sacrificed much in the service to this country."

— President George W. Bush

sion has an odd number of members, which is required by another provision of the state constitution.

Prop. 7: "The constitutional amendment authorizing line-of-credit advances under a reverse mortgage."

Brief Explanation: SJR 7 would authorize new options for reverse mortgage agreements for senior homeowners allowing them to draw advances at unscheduled intervals, if and when needed, and only in the amounts needed, during the loan term. These are in addition to options that would allow a lump sum payment after settlement or regular periodic, predetermined equal amounts over a term of years or the lifetime of the homeowner. Additionally, SJR 7 would: (1) prohibit the agreement from requiring the use of a credit card, debit card or similar device to obtain an advance; (2) prohibit the lender or holder from unilaterally amending the extension of credit.

Prop. 8: "The constitutional amendment providing for the clearing of land titles by relinquishing and releasing any state claim to sovereign ownership or title to interest in certain land in Upshur County and in Smith County."

Brief Explanation: SJR 40 would clear individual land titles by relinquishing and releasing all claims of state ownership interests, including mineral interests, in two local areas, namely, a roughly 4,600 acre area located roughly 14 miles southeast of Gilmer, Texas, and a separate 900 acre area located north of Tyler, Texas.

Prop. 9: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to provide for a six-year term for a board member of a regional mobility authority."

Brief Explanation: HJR 79 would authorize the Legislature to provide staggered six year terms of office for board members serving on regional mobility authorities, with no more than one-third of the board positions being appointed every-two years.

projected well, got outside the box and were disciplined," Wood said.

Wood said the students have responded well to the responsibility needed for such a production.

"They have a really great attitude," she said. "They have to give up some things so they can do their best."

However, the parents also give their share in order to keep the show running smoothly.

"We have a lot of parental support and leadership," Wood said. "They have built sets, designed costumes and simply made sure their kids got here to practice."

The school's production of "The Music Man" will serve as a fund-raiser for the choir program. Performances will be at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 4 and 5 in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium.

"The music is catchy, exciting, and energetic," Wood said. "I just hope the community comes out to support us."

School board panel to tour 2 more sites

By DENNIS SPIES Editor

Pampa Independent School Board's Facilities Study Committee will tour Travis Elementary and Mann Support Center Facility at 6 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The committee, with about 60 members, schedules three days for touring to give committee members a chance to attend one of the sessions.

Tours are being made so the committee can make recommendations on whether to renovate of rebuild certain structures.

The committee is charged with looking ahead about 25 years to determine what needs the school district will have at that time.

Lee Porter, committee chairman, said recently that the committee is looking at two things.

"We have to decide whether to spend money fixing up the older structures or whether to build new facilities," he said.

He said a plan should be in place by mid spring of 2006.

In the spirit of forgetting things ...

In the spirit of forgetting things, or in my case senior moments, if you forgot to turn back your clocks last night, you are an hour early today.

A cursory glance at information gleaned from several sources gives us these tidbits of information.

Daylight-saving time begins at 2 a.m. on the first Sunday of April and ends at 2 a.m. on the last Sunday of October. Of course no one wants to get up at 2 a.m. to reset the clocks, so we do it before we go to bed Saturday night, or Sunday morning if we forget.

Beginning in 2007, DST will begin on the second Sunday of March and end on the first Sunday of November because of the Energy Policy Act of 2005, signed by President Bush on Aug. 8. A study will be made on the impact of the change and Congress has the right to revert DST back to the 2005 schedule if the study shows negative results.

Officially, it is daylight-saving time, not savings. But many people still use savings because it is easier to say. Actually, daylight-saving time is incorrect because no daylight is saved. But it sounds better than daylight-shifting time.

Some folks do not observe DST. Hawaii, American Samoa, Guam, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Saskatchewan, most of the eastern part of Indiana, and Arizona do not observe DST. The Navajo Nation, partially in Arizona, however, does participate in the observation. Japan is the only major country that does not observe DST.

As a safety precaution, people are urged to change batteries in their home smoke detectors when they change the clocks.

Why DST? To make better use of daylight. We move one hour of daylight from the morning to the evening. Many people like DST because it gives them extra light in the summer evenings.

DST also saves energy because people use less electricity for lighting and appliances. We use more energy when we go to bed and when we get up. By moving the time ahead, we consume less electricity each day.

There are opponents, though. Some complain about having to reset the clocks and those who have sleep disorders have trouble adjusting to sleep schedules.

Historically, DST was first thought of by Benjamin Franklin in 1874 while he was an envoy in Paris.

And here is a natural segue in a continuation of the forgetfulness theme. I forgot to mention last week that the feast of St. Crispian was Oct. 25. That date also happens to be the anniversary of the Battle of Agincourt in 1415. The juxtaposition of those two inspired William Shakespeare, about 200 years later, to write the powerful speech that King Henry V should have used before the battle.

Crispian (or Crispin in some texts) is the patron saint of cobblers and shoemakers. He was tortured and beheaded.

At Agincourt, King Henry's troops were demoralized against a superior French force. Henry's words of encouragement rallied his troops and led them to victory. Actor Kenneth Branagh did a superb job on the passage in a 1989 movie.

The passage is powerful and one of the best in the play. It contains many famous lines, but one of my favorites is this one:

We few, we happy few, we band of brothers;

For he today that sheds his blood with me

Shall be my brother ...

It is delightful reading if you appreciate literature like that. You can find it in "Henry V" Act IV, Scene iii.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Sunday, Oct. 30, the 303rd day of 2005. There are 62 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Oct. 30, 1938, the radio play "The War of the Worlds," starring Orson Welles, aired on CBS. (The live drama, which employed fake news reports, panicked some listeners who thought its portrayal of a Martian invasion was true.)

On this date:

In 1735, the second president of the United States, John Adams, was born in Braintree, Mass.

In 1885, poet Ezra Pound was born in Hailey, Idaho.

In 1944, the Martha Graham ballet "Appalachian Spring," with music by Aaron Copland, premiered at the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., with Graham in a leading role.

In 1945, the U.S. government announced the end of shoe rationing.

In 1953, Gen. George C. Marshall was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize. Dr. Albert Schweitzer received the Peace Prize for 1952.

Newsmaker Interviews: De Borchgrave's world

Few people know as much about the world and the major and minor geopolitical events of the last 60 years than journalist Arnaud de Borchgrave. Since beginning his career as UPI's bureau chief in Brussels at age 21, de Borchgrave has been a senior editor of Newsweek for 25 years, an editor in chief of The Washington Times and an author of books about such things as cybercrime and organized crime in Russia and around the globe.

De Borchgrave, 79, has rubbed shoulders with scores of premiers and presidents. But he also still gets out into the countryside and dresses like a native. That's what he did several weeks ago while traveling for UPI in remote Waziristan, the mountain region along the Afghanistan-Pakistan border, where even the Pakistan army has trouble distinguishing between the al-Qaida, Taliban refugees and local tribesmen. I talked to him by telephone from his offices in Washington:

Q: Isn't Waziristan where they think Osama bin Laden is hiding?

A: North Waziristan is where most locals believe he is hiding in perfect safety and, I assume, comfort, as well. One forgets that the people in that part of the world think he is some kind of a god, certainly a "freedom fighter" who enjoys the kind of romantic picture that Che Guevara did in an earlier time — a cross between Che Guevara and Robin Hood.

You see his poster everywhere on the back of buses with "freedom fighter" written under the poster in English and in Urdu and in Pushto. The guy is walking just in from a little stroll on the Sea of Galilee.

Q: What are your personal politics?

A: I just call it the way I see it.

Q: Neither liberal nor conservative? Isolationist? Interventionist?

A: Throughout the Cold War, I was obviously very anti-Soviet and anti-communist. Having been through World War II, I had seen what the Soviets were up to in Eastern Europe. I've always been against totalitarian regimes, and that led me of course to be a great supporter of Ronald Reagan. He is, after all, the one who brought the Evil Empire down.

Q: You're a Republican one day and you could very well be on the Democrat side of the issue the next day. You go back and forth, depending on who you think is right.

Q: Has the world become more or less dangerous in the last 50 years?

A: Oh, I think without question more dangerous, because I don't think there is any doubt that we will see a weapon of mass destruction used by the bad guys. It could be tomorrow, it could be five years from now, but it's bound to happen. When I started my career with Newsweek in 1950, you had 87 million Arabs. Today you have 310 million. And in 2020 you will have half a billion. It is inconceivable to me that they won't by then have managed to acquire weapons of mass destruction, if only to establish a level playing field with Israel, which has about 300 of these weapons.

Q: How would you rank terrorism as a general threat? Is it real or overrated?

A: It's totally overrated because terrorism, to begin with, is simply a weapons system, the way a howitzer or jet plane or bomber is a weapons system. For 5,000 years it has been the weapon of choice for the poor and weak against the strong. Now we think we're fighting terrorism. We're not. We're fighting a global movement today, just as much as we were fighting a global movement under communism. Today you have a global, political, religious, ideological, spiritual movement that fishes in many of the same spawning grounds used by the communist parties throughout the world during the Cold War. These are the poor, the disenfranchised, and led, of course, by people from middle-class families with very good educations.

Q: What are the most dan-

GOD IS DISCRIMINATORY, NOT NEUTRAL

I hadn't planned on writing anything before the upcoming election, but after getting three phone calls against Proposition 2, I decided it was time to once again go "on the record."

Few things are more clearly presented in scripture than that God only recognizes marriage between a man and a woman. Between Genesis chapters 1 and 2 and Ephesians 5:22-33 there is absolutely no doubt about God's wrath for those who would deceive others by professing to be a Christian and yet in favor of marriages between two men or two women.

God does speak very clearly about two men or two women who live together in a cheap/wicked imitation of marriage. He calls it sin and says that those who live this way and do not repent of this evil before they die will spend eternity in hell.

And don't you just love the way that fake Christians try to use the word "discrimination" to bully real Christians around? Is Prop. 2

Texas Thoughts

■ Oct. 23
The Dallas Morning News on boosting the energy supply:

We've certainly taken issue with Rep. Joe Barton on his push to ease various parts of the Clean Air Act, moves we believe would slow down how quickly North Texas cleans up its dirty air. But we are just as certain that a key recommendation from the Energy and Commerce Committee chairman deserves national support. It's the refinery provision in post-hurricane energy legislation that the House passed earlier this month and that now rests in the Senate.

Introduced by Mr. Barton, the measure is designed to increase the nation's refining capacity. And, given national security concerns, that's a good idea.

Before the hurricanes, the nation's 148 active refineries were churning at nearly full capacity. Then Katrina and Rita revealed a weakness in our system, as they temporarily idled more than 30 percent of the nation's capacity to refine crude oil into gasoline and heating oil, driving gasoline prices to over $3 a gallon.

The Barton provision would allow the Department of Energy to coordinate the refinery-permitting process if a governor requests it or if the president designates a site as potentially suitable for a refinery. It doesn't suspend environmental reviews, but prevents an indefinite process that could stall projects.

We're far less excited about another portion of the same bill, a provision that would allow communities like Houston and Dallas which aren't currently adhering to federal clean air rules to postpone their compliance date if they show their efforts have been hurt by emissions from other areas.

The Senate would be wise to remove this provision, which is a step backward for clean air. Energy policy involves give and take, a strategy Mr. Barton is executing well. He has some good ideas regarding increasing the nation's refinery capacity. We urge him to focus on those.

discriminatory? Absolutely! But that is a good thing. Why? Because God is discriminatory.

God says plainly that "many" will not spend eternity with Him, but will spend it with Satan in hell. With equal clarity the Lord says that "few" will spend eternity with Him in Heaven. God views all of humanity as either His faithful, obedient child or His enemy. There is no neutral ground.

And everyone who takes any kind of a stand against "traditional marriage" is one of God's enemies. So children of God take note of those deceivers and have nothing to do with them. If they occupy a pulpit, don't listen to them.

If they are a close friend, find a new close friend. If they say that they are a Christian, ask them to stop dragging Jesus' name through the mud of sexual perversion.

Also remember this: Pray for those enemies and love those enemies. But praying for them and loving them does not mean to allow them to run around unchecked spewing out lies and heresies.

Pray for them, love them, but also warn them and confront them with the truth.

God bless.

COMMUNITY MUST WORK TO GENERATE GROWTH

For several weeks, I have been reading letters addressing concerns about the proposed 4B EDC. Many of these letters ask us to remember that Pampa is currently enjoying some economic prosperity, and that it has happened while no EDC was in existence. While this is true, it is primarily the result of oil field activity, and I remember that oil field activity is cyclical, and when it is down, Pampa is not prosperous. They also point out that new shoppers are bringing new shoppers to Pampa; however, they fail to mention that these new shoppers could be contributing to Pampa's economic future if we were collecting the additional tax on their purchases.

Many other letters point out that we have two new motels in our future. What they fail to remember is that the presence of the American is the result of several individuals who banded together and provided their own funds to attract this business. This is wonderful, and we should be thankful, but it is not reasonable for citizens of a community to rely on the generosity of a few people to ensure the economic well-being of all.

I also seem to remember that not one of those letter writers had any positive suggestions with regard to generating economic activity. I am now retired, and therefore living on a fixed income; however, I agree with Bob Cummings' letter of Oct. 26 and feel that an investment of $50 per year is not too much for me to invest in the future of Pampa.

PERSUASION TAKES MUCH EFFORT AND SOME MONEY

I farmed for a number of years. It is necessary to plant seed to reap a harvest. We go to the polls on Nov. 8 to decide whether or not to plant the seeds of prosperity in our community.

An EDC would cost $1 for every $200 spent in Pampa. Prosperity takes effort. In 1932, an economist, John Maynard Keynes, broke ranks with tradition in his field. Tradition said "leave it alone, it will right itself in time." The French call it "laissez faire." To the Mexican, it is "ah manana." The Muslim says, "if Allah wills."

The Bible says, "A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep — So shall your poverty come on you like a prowler, and your need like an armed man." (Prov. 6: 10-11)

I quote my dad, "Doing something is always better than doing nothing."

Keynes' position was, "It may indeed right itself in time, but by that time we will all starve to death." His recommendations were closely followed by FDR. Rural communities are losing ground, drying up, dying all over the world. Some have decided not to follow that trend. Saturn automobiles are built in one, Gateway computers in another. Prisons are located in others, including Pampa.

Neither Saturn nor Gateway or the prison systems decided on their own to locate where they did. They were persuaded by small communities that didn't want to die. Persuasion takes effort, it takes accommodation, and it takes money.

I actually heard an argument against an EDC once. It went something like this: "We don't need a golf course, I don't play golf. We don't need to spend money on the streets, we can drive around the potholes. It will keep speed down. We don't need to maintain the parks, I don't use them."

When this resident was reminded that not mowing the parks would increase the mosquito problem, the response was, "I don't care. I don't go outside. As long as Homeland doesn't close, I'm OK."

Last Sunday's paper had an ad against the proposed EDC. The primary objection was that the board would make decisions. We live in a representative democracy. That means that elected officials and those appointed by them make decisions. Can you imagine a nation where every decision was made by referendum? I can, I just can't imagine it lasting very long.

Even Athens, the birthplace for democracy, was no different. If you think size matters, Athens probably had no more eligible voters than Pampa.

The last time around, I heard one legitimate complaint. The authority was too narrow. Only direct aid to prospective businesses was allowed.

The 4B charter allows for general community projects, infrastructure — virtually any improvements that would make the community more appealing to new business. Now the criticism is that the authority is too broad. There really are some residents who are against virtually everything.

I moved here from a community somewhat like Pampa. It also has a prison. The economy there is based on oil and agriculture, also like Pampa. Its decline has been more rapid than our's. It doesn't have the industrial base we have. It is a sad place to visit.

Our industrial base has been significant and has slowed our decline. Oil and gas are good right now but has always been cyclical. Cuts in the farm bill are also in the news. We need to deepen and broaden our economic base if we are to avoid decline.

As pastor of Benevolence and Pastoral Care at Trinity Fellowship Church, I see the human results of decline. People who lose jobs can't find another, then lose houses, cars, furniture, self-confidence, hope. I invite you to volunteer at the Harvest House, your church's benevolence ministry, or one of the other agencies providing aid to the poor in our community. If the EDC is defeated, so will be many more people in our community.

I strongly urge you to vote on Nov. 8 for the proposed 4B EDC (economic development commitment!). One-half cent is a small seed. Sow the seed of prosperity and reap the harvest.

I want to take this opportunity to say Thank You to all friends and family who put on the "Harvest of Love Benefit" for me. There are so many, I don't know where to start — from those who planned the benefit, to those who donated items to be auctioned, to those who bought the items, to those who just came out to support me in these troubled times, and those who cooked and served the meal to everyone, and the entertainment. The list goes on and on. And there aren't enough words to express my gratitude. Thank you — God bless each one of you and I pray God be glorified in everything.

gerous hot spots that will cause the United States and its citizens the most grief?

A: Well, China is a long-term danger. I don't see it happening anytime soon, but there's no question that China wants to become a major player in the world. And there's no reason we should not allow them to become a major player. You can't stop a country of 1.3 billion people that now has the most modern equipment of science and research.

Q: What's the most important thing you know about U.S. foreign policy that every American citizen should know?

A: That we've been totally wrong on Iraq. I testified before the House Subcommittee on Terrorism and Nonproliferation after I returned from Afghanistan. The hearings were on the evolving counterterrorism strategy. I said, "There's an understandable reluctance to recognize that the Iraq war has served as a recruitment poster for al-Qaida and for the Iraqi insurgency. The global network of Islamist terrorists and its seldom-mentioned support groups have been energized by events in Iraq. The war has turned Iraq into the world's most-effective terrorist training camp."

Q: You were always against the war, right?

A: I was very much against it. To begin with, we were being totally misled about the reasons. The more you dug into it before the war, the more you discovered that the neoconservatives were driving the campaign to take us to war. ... It seems to me you don't go to war to establish a democracy in a country that has really never known democracy.

Q: Is Iraq going to be trouble all the way to the end?

A: Iraq should be breaking into three component parts. We'll see what happens with the referendum. I don't think one in a 100 has managed to read the constitution that they will be voting on. They vote the way their party people tell them to vote or their tribal leaders or their religious leaders. I hope and pray that I'm wrong, but I have an awful feeling that we may be going through the same scenario we went through in Vietnam.

... What happened in Vietnam was not an American defeat. It was Congress yanking the rug right from under the Nixon-Kissinger plan for peace by refusing to go on helping the South Vietnamese and the Cambodians.

Hey Goblins, Ghosts, and Ghouls! Remember these simple Halloween Rules!

- 1 Walk, slither, and sneak on sidewalks, not in the street.
- 2 Look both ways before crossing the street to check for cars, trucks, and low flying brooms
- 3 Cross the street only at corners.
- 4 Don't hide or cross the street between parked cars.
- 5 Wear light-colored or reflective-type clothing so you are more visible.
(And remember to put reflective tape on bikes, skateboards, and brooms, too!)
- 6 Plan your route and share it with your family.
If possible, have an adult go with you.
- 7 Carry a flashlight to light your way.
- 8 Keep away from open fires and candles. (Costumes can be extremely flammable.)
- 9 Visit homes that have the porch light on.
- 10 Accept your treats at the door and never go into a stranger's house.
- 11 Use face paint rather than masks or things that will cover your eyes.
- 12 Be cautious of animals and strangers.
- 13 Have a grown-up inspect your treats before eating. And don't eat candy if the package is already opened. Small, hard pieces of candy are a choking hazard for young children

Center gets new five-year affiliation agreement

CANYON — The West Texas Center for Economic Education at West Texas A&M University has been re-certified by the National Council on Economic Education.

The new five-year affiliation agreement came following a review of the center during the summer.

Jean Walker, center director, received the re-certification award at the NCEE annual conference held recently in San Antonio.

One of eight university-based economic education centers in Texas, the West Texas Center for Economic Education promotes literacy. Its mission is to provide in-service classes and seminars to individuals teaching kindergarten through high school, helping them integrate those portions of the Texas Assessment of Knowledge and Skills (TAKS) test related to economic education and personal finance into their classes.

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 21-year-old woman who is happily married to a wonderful man. My best friend is a guy I'll call "Tom." We have been friends for four years. My husband likes Tom, trusts me and has no problem with it. The problem is Tom's live-in girlfriend, "Ginny." Ginny doesn't like or trust me. She doesn't like any of Tom's other friends, either. (Most of his friends are female.) Abby, Tom is not a flirt. He's loyal to Ginny and would never dream of cheating. Ginny is extremely insecure. She goes haywire if Tom has any contact with any of us -- so he has begun sneaking around behind her back to hang with us. I'm uncomfortable with the sneaking around because it makes me feel we're doing something wrong when we aren't, but it seems to be the only solution. Tom and Ginny are not engaged, but they're in the process of trying to buy or build a house together. He acts like he's unhappy in the relationship, but seems afraid to stand up for himself. What should I do? -- TOM'S BEST FRIEND IN FORT WORTH

DEAR BEST FRIEND: You, your husband and some of Tom's other friends should stage an intervention with him. Warn Tom that sneaking around and trying to fool Ginny won't work. At some point she'll catch on and erupt like Mount Vesuvius -- and who could blame her? Instead of behaving like an adult and informing his girlfriend that if the relationship is to continue, she'll have to accept that he has platonic female friends, he's taking the coward's way out. A home is the largest investment most people make in their lifetimes. Tom should carefully consider the wisdom of making an investment like this with Ginny under the circumstances. If you can't make him see reason, then urge him to discuss it with a lawyer. You'll be doing him a huge favor. P.S. And while you're at it, do yourself a favor. Distance yourself from Tom a bit, until he works this out.

DEAR ABBY: My parents are planning a family vacation -- it's an annual tradition in my family. The problem is my sister-in-law has been inviting members of her family without consulting my parents beforehand. This is supposed to be a special event that both my parents and I feel should be limited to only our side of the family, not hers. We feel helpless to stop her from inviting everyone in her family, because we don't know how to tell her, "Please stop because this is not an open invitation event." She has done this before with other events, and the results were chaotic. The last thing we want is to have this vacation in chaos, but if her family is there it will be inevitable. What can we do to stop this without stirring up a hornet's nest? Or must we all smile through gritted teeth all throughout this vacation? -- GRITTING AWAY IN SAN JOSE

DEAR GRITTING AWAY: It's time your parents stop gritting their teeth and bite the bullet. Because they are planning this family getaway, it's up to them to tell their son and his wife that this isn't a cattle call -- and the invitations she issued will have to be postponed for another occasion (when you all will have been fortified with tranquilizers).

DEAR ABBY: I am being married soon, but the engagement has not yet been formally announced. I am 42 years old, and this will be my first wedding. Although I know my friends and family will be happy for me, I anticipate a number of people saying, "It's about time -- what took so long?" They'll think they are being funny, but really, it's a sensitive subject and it makes me want to respond with a sarcastic retort. What's an appropriate response so I can take the high road? -- WANTS TO BE POLITE IN CALIF.

DEAR WANTS TO BE POLITE: Smile and say, "I wanted to be sure I got it right the first time."

Funding from United Way assists Meals on Wheels program

Meals on Wheels greatest accomplishment in 2004 was the move into its new building at 302 E. Foster. Without Meals On Wheels, there would be many elderly and disabled people in Pampa who would not have a hot, nutritious noon meal or a contact person every day.

MOW served approximately 27,400 meals in 2004, or an average of 115 individuals per day.

Mrs. R. is a 102-year-old lady who lives alone. She has been on the MOW program three years and is such a joy to visit. She still can read without the benefit of eyeglasses.

Her closest relative, a son, lives in Wheeler. It is patrons like Mrs. R. that make us realize the importance of having someone check on MOW patrons daily as well as bring them a warm, nutritious meal.

Larry Morse is the volunteer who delivers Mrs. R's meal every day. He has been delivering meals, on a daily basis, for 12 years. He gets a short break in the summer when his wife, who is a teacher at Lamar Elementary, delivers for him on occasion.

His grandchildren also visit in the summer and help with the deliveries, which thrills the patrons. MOW is thankful for all its volunteers who make such a difference in the lives of the patrons.

Extrication workshop

A group of firefighters and students gather around two wrecked vehicles as they learn the proper techniques of extricating injured victims at an Extrication Workshop put on by Lefors Volunteer Fire Department recently. The training was facilitated by Bruce Withers, Lefors VFD fire chief, and involved the latest techniques in safety, stabilizing wrecked vehicles, and operating the Jaws of Life. Lefors EMT's refreshed their skills in the treatment of trauma patients. Students from Lefors ISD participated in the exercise as mock injured victims.

Despite the cool bite of fall, some of the Harvester faithful showed their team spirit in colorful fashion Friday night. Pampa defeated the Dumas Demons 48-6 to improve to 4-5 overall, 3-1 in District 3-4 A.

Pampa routs Demons, 48-6

By MICHAEL J. STEVENS
Sports Editor

Pampa 48, Dumas 6
The Harvesters scored the first five touchdowns they touched the ball in the first half Friday night. Sharod Young had a 62-yard interception return for a TD. By the break, Pampa had lit up the new Culberson Stowers scoreboard with 41 unanswered points. The Demons were never in a game that assures Pampa will compete in the post season under the guidance of first-year head coach, Bryan Wood.

The official numbers will paint the picture of total domination by the Harvesters, who improve to 4-5, 3-1.

Quarterback Brody Smith led his team up and down the field throughout the first half with effective runs and smart, accurate passes. Smith also had a fake punt that allowed a Harvester TD shortly after.

Among his targets Friday night were Young, A.J. Manzanera and Ryan Torres. Running back Shavious Kelley scampered for a couple of scores as well. Kelley set up the first score of them night by picking-off a Demon pass attempt and returning it to the Dumas 11-yard line.

The defense was as dominant as it has been all season. Marcos Campos and Dylan Henley seemed to be in on every tackle. Eric Kingcade, James Coffee and Taylor Fatheree were also busy.

Pampa's defense kept Dumas pinned on its own side of the field most of the first half. The Demons made it to the midfield stripe with 2:57 to play in the first quarter, but penalties pushed them back and forced Dumas to punt a short time later. The Demons would not cross into Harvester territory until the 9:22 mark of the second quarter.

Pampa flexed defensive muscle and played a number of back-ups for most of the second half, allowing just one late Demon touchdown en route to the 48-6 win. Said Coach Wood on getting the back-ups into the game, "These guys deserve to be in the game. They pay their dues during the week and on the sideline."

The Harvesters will travel to Amarillo to wrap up the regular season against the Caprock Longhorns in a Thursday night meeting next week.

Prosecutors say man pretended to be a deputy

TYLER, Texas (AP) — A man who helped search for the suspected shooter of an East Texas high school football coach will stand trial Monday after being accused of impersonating a law-enforcement officer during the manhunt.

Prosecutors have accused Cash Wiley, 34, of claiming he was a deputy constable while wearing a badge, bulletproof vest and gun during the search for a Canton High School parent who police say critically shot his son's football coach.

Prosecutors say Wiley claimed he was sworn in as a deputized constable by his father, C.B. Wiley, a Van Zandt County constable.

"It doesn't work that way," Smith County District Attorney Matt Bingham said in Saturday editions of the Tyler Morning Telegraph.

In a photo taken by the newspaper after Robertson was found, Wiley is pictured holding Robertson's left arm as he is carried out of the woods on a stretcher.

Bingham said Cash Wiley brought his dog to track Robertson, who was Wiley's friend. Bingham said Wiley was never lawfully asked to help in the pursuit. Robertson was found in Smith County, which Bingham said was not in C.B. Wiley's jurisdiction.

If convicted, Wiley faces up to 10 years in prison.

Robertson is awaiting trial on charges of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon on a public servant.

Canton coach Gary Joe Kinne, who lost 80 percent of his liver after the April 7 shooting, has returned to coaching the football team.

Mystery solved: Reinsdorf gets ball

CHICAGO (AP) — A baseball reduced Jerry Reinsdorf to tears.

Of course, it wasn't an ordinary ball. Paul Konerko gave the White Sox owner the ball that Houston's Orlando Palmeiro hit for the final out of Chicago's first World Series title since 1917.

Konerko, who had gloved the throw from shortstop Juan Uribe for the final out at Minute Maid Park on Wednesday night, presented the ball to Reinsdorf during Friday's rally that followed a parade through the city.

"Getting this ball from Paul Konerko is the most emotional moment of my life," Reinsdorf said.

Dr. Shelhamer, W. Cecil Steward Harvester Hall of Fame inductees

By MICHAEL J. STEVENS
Sports Editor

Students, faculty, friends and family filled McNeely Field House shortly before noon Friday in preparation for the 2005-2006 Harvester Hall of Fame induction ceremony.

Honorees were Mr. W. Cecil Steward, a 1952 graduate, and Dr. James H. Shelhamer, who graduated from Pampa in 1965. Both have gone on to excel in their chosen professions. Both preached the importance of education during their acceptance speeches.

In addition to teaching, Steward is today an architect recognized worldwide. Among his many credits is the planned memorial for Flight 93, the hijacked plane that was brought down in Pennsylvania on Sept. 11, 2001.

Steward began his acceptance speech saying, "I am honored and humbled." He suggested to those students on hand for the ceremony that they "Dissect the word Pampa." He explained his view of what the city name stood for. Passion, action (active), mentorship, patience (perseverance) and altruism. With a hint of emotion in his voice, Steward encouraged students to, "Be active in your community." He added, "Everything is possible." Steward thanked the Harvester teacher who placed in him a seed that would later grow into a life passion. "He took an old farm boy and made introduced him to the wonderful world of architecture," said Steward.

Dr. Shelhamer, who still has family in Pampa, has become a pillar in the medical community, in particular to critical care patients. He is also deeply involved and board-certified in internal medicine, allergy and clinical immunology, pulmonary disease as well as critical care.

In listening to Dr. Shelhamer, it is easy to hear his deep love for his fellow man. He also praises those Harvester educators of his past, for setting his feet on the path he is so well known for today. "Each time I pass Pampa High School, I am reminded of great teachers and heroes. They are not here today. But to them, I owe a debt that cannot be repaid." He pointed out to the students sitting hushed before him that their future is only limited by "Your dreams and your talents. Dream on." And whether it be in Pampa, Gray County - no matter where they find themselves in the future, Dr. Shelhamer implored those in attendance Friday morning to "Do all you can to repay your debt."

The Harvester Hall of Fame was started in 1997.

Leblanc predicts exciting 2006 Tour without Armstrong

PARIS (AP) — Tour de France director Jean-Marie Leblanc has predicted an exciting 2006 race in the absence of Lance Armstrong and taken another shot at the seven-time champion.

Leblanc announced the next Tour setup, "with the notable points being the absence of a team time trial, the return of L'Alpe d'Huez, and the matter of which rider takes the start line in the No. 1 jersey now that Armstrong has retired."

"It is a classical, well-balanced course. There are five wonderful mountain stages," Leblanc said Thursday. "It is a change of era. A period of long domination is over. The path is open. It is an exciting time."

Leblanc said Armstrong was discredited by allegations printed in the L'Equipe sports newspaper on Aug. 23, which claimed that he used the banned performance enhancer EPO during his first Tour win in 1999. Leblanc said there was relief in the sport that Armstrong will not be returning.

"Without doubt ... what we have learned has increased the lassitude toward him," Leblanc said. "He was not irreproachable in '99. EPO is a doping product. So this tempers and dilutes his performances and his credibility as a champion."

Johan Bruyneel, Armstrong's team director on each of his seven wins, said the Tour presentation seemed to take a cheap shot at Armstrong.

"I felt targeted during the presentation," Bruyneel said. "They talk for 12 minutes about ethics rather than presenting the race itself. I would have taken a different direction."

"I'm conscious Lance won seven Tour de France titles and owes a lot to the race. But at the same time, the Tour de France became more important with an American who won seven Tours."

Armstrong vehemently denies any wrongdoing. Leblanc made similar comments in August, and Armstrong has said he is considering whether to sue L'Equipe, France's national anti-doping laboratory and the Tour director.

The 2006 Tour starts on July 1 in Strasbourg, in the Alsace region of eastern France, then passes through Luxembourg, Germany and the Netherlands, before winding counterclockwise through the Pyrenees and then the Alps and ending on Paris' famed Champs-Elysees on July 23 — a total distance of 2,256 miles.

With five major mountain ascents — including the Col du Tourmalet, Col d'Izoard, and Col du Galibier — and three uphill finishes, the route is likely to favor the climbers.

Reggie White heads list of Hall nominees

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Reggie White, a two-time NFL defensive player of the year who died last year at 43, heads a list of players, coaches and contributors eligible for induction in the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

White is eligible for the first time along with quarterbacks Troy Aikman and Warren Moon. Other first-year eligible players include running back Thurman Thomas, wide receiver Andre Reed and offensive lineman Dermontti Dawson.

NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue and longtime owners Art Modell and Ralph Wilson are on the preliminary list that includes five former head coaches and 11 contributors.

A member of the NFL's 75th anniversary team, White was named to the Pro Bowl a record 13 straight times from 1986-98. He earned top defensive player honors in 1987 and 1998. He retired in 2000 as the career sacks leader with 198, a mark later passed by Bruce Smith.

White, who played with Philadelphia, Green Bay and Carolina, died on Dec. 26 in Cornelius, N.C.

From a preliminary list, Hall of Fame selectors will choose 25 candidates who will advance as semifinalists. That list will be trimmed to 13 candidates, who will join veterans committee nominees John Madden and Rayfield Wright as finalists.

The Class of 2006 will be announced on Feb. 4, the day before the Super Bowl in Detroit.

Happy Halloween!

NEWSMAKERS

BORGER — More than 60 youth competed in the annual District 1 Food and Nutrition Quiz Bowl held recently at Frank Phillips College.

Seventeen teams of youth ages 8 to 18 squared off to answer questions based on a variety of subjects, including basic nutrition, food preparation skills and storage, nutrition and health, consumer information, and food and kitchen safety.

The top senior (14-19 years) teams included third place winners Gabriel Miller, team captain, Emily Jackson, Valerie Miller, and Tammy Syfrett, all of Gray County 4-H.

GREAT LAKES, Ill. — Navy Seaman Recruit Aspen L. Serr, a 2003 graduate of Miami High School, Miami, Texas, recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command at Great Lakes.

During the eight-week program, Serr completed a variety of training which included classroom study and practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, fire-fighting, water safety and survival, and shipboard and aircraft safety. An emphasis was also placed on physical fitness.

The capstone event of boot camp is "Battle Stations." This training is designed to galvanize the basic warrior attributes of sacrifice, dedication, teamwork and endurance in each recruit through the practical application of basic Navy skills and the core values of honor, courage and commitment.

AMARILLO — Cpl. Shawn Dawes of Pampa recently arrived at the U.S. Marine Corps Base at Camp Lejeune, N.C., after a seven month deployment to Iraq with Detachment 1, Headquarters and Service Company, 4th Tank Battalion of the USMC based in Amarillo.

Dawes and fellow Marines subsequently arrived in Amarillo after a week of out-processing activities at Camp Lejeune.

PORTALES, N.M. — Michael Pergeson of Pampa is attending Eastern New Mexico University in Portales this semester where he is pursuing a wildlife and fisheries science degree.

Pianist guest entertainer at next Knife & Fork meeting

Julie Rivers, an internationally-recognized pianist, will be guest entertainer at the next Top O' Texas Knife and Fork Club meeting, club Secretary Shirley Winborne announced.

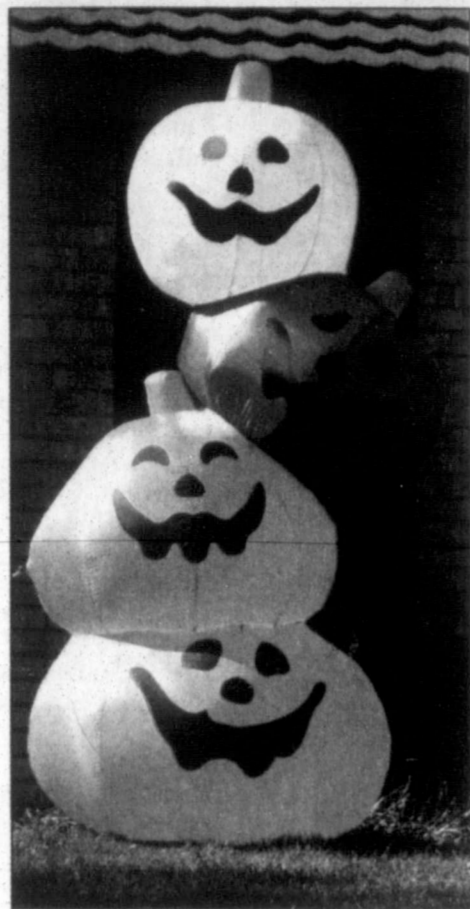

The meeting will convene Nov. 10 at Pampa Country Club.

The title of Ms. Rivers program will be "As Far as the Heart Can See."

A native of Texas, Rivers made her debut as a piano soloist with the Dallas Symphony. She began playing the piano at age 2, won all awards offered to pianists by the School of Music at the University of North Texas, where she graduated, and, in April 2002, won first place in the National League of Pen Women composition contest.

Rivers' recordings have received airplay on radio sta-

Pumpkins don't have to be orange if they aren't real.

Mason Zamudio, center, helps his grandmother, Laverne Thomas, carve a traditional jack-o'-lantern from a pumpkin, while his mother, Maggie Zamudio, works on her own carved creation.

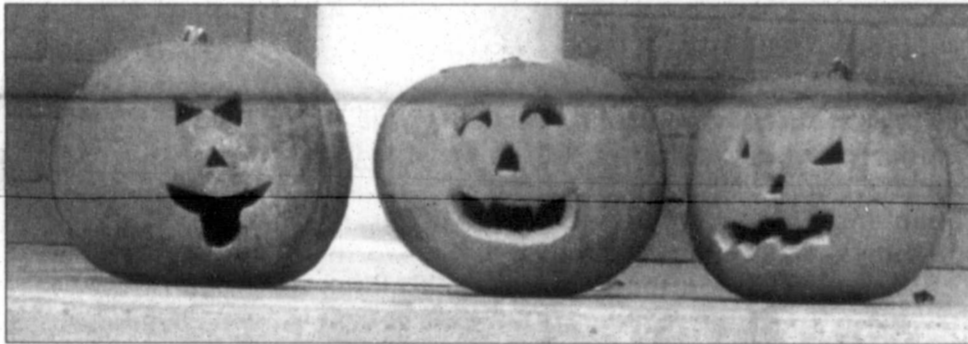

The jack-o'-lantern is one of the earliest symbols of Halloween. Today, the jack-o'-lantern may be a real pumpkin carved or painted with a scary face, or it may be made out of plastic or other non-perishable material.

One of the latest trends in Halloween decorations is inflatables, large yard ornaments made out of synthetic fabric in bright colors which are inflated with air and anchored by guy wires to keep them in place.

These lawn inflatables come in the shapes of jack-o'-lanterns, but also include many other symbols of the spooky season, including ghosts, spiders, Frankenstein, witches, black cats and skeletons. Many are lit up to be visible at night.

There are many other ways to create Halloween decorations, from painting wood cutouts to applying clingy plastic film cutouts to windows.

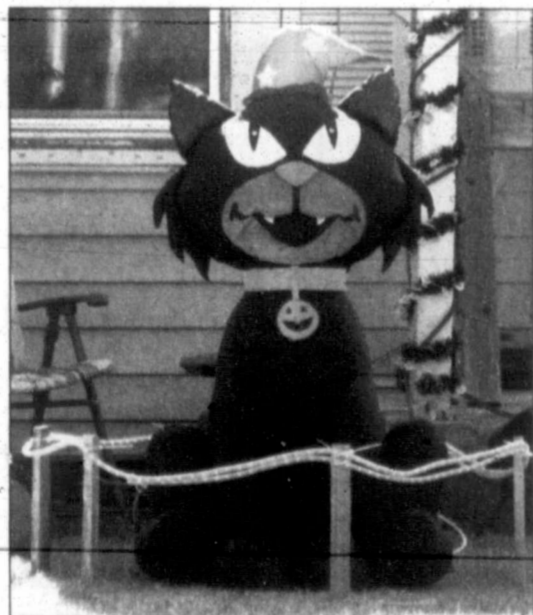

Whatever method is used, the effect is usually festive, always eye-catching, and sometimes downright scary.

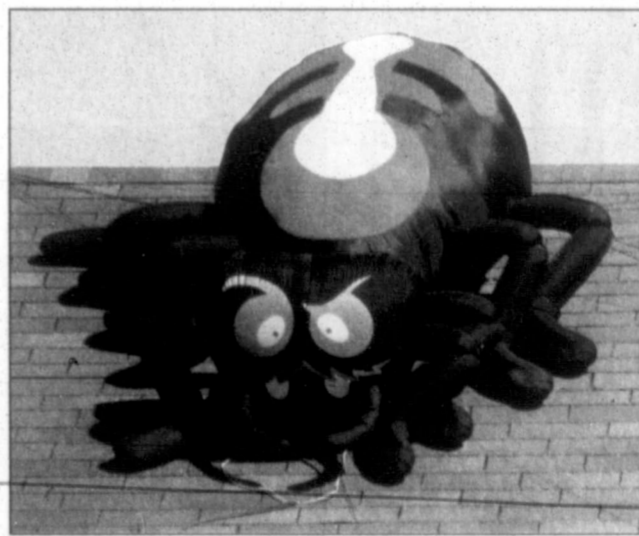

Pumpkins carved to create a trio of faces line the front porch of one house.

A spider perches on the roof of a house, looking toward an inflatable witch on the lawn. Maybe he is wondering whether or not to come and sit down beside her.

No answers on whether to stock up on Tamiflu

CHICAGO (AP) — Worried that bird flu in Asia could morph into a human flu pandemic, healthy patients, schools and even some doctors are asking if they should stock up on Tamiflu — the one medicine experts believe might help fight the virus.

Although some doctors' groups say no, the agency in charge of the nation's public health has no answer. That has frustrated local health officials who want to know how to advise people.

"Those are questions that are under discussion," Christina Pearson, spokeswoman for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, said this week. "Right now we're focused on the seasonal flu."

HHS includes the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, whose job includes dispensing public health recommendations.

"A lot of people have asked the CDC to provide some guidance about this, with patients asking doctors for prescriptions," said Dr. Craig Conover, medical director for the Illinois Department of Public Health.

Personal hoarding isn't fair, he said, "but on the other hand, I have heard people say that the more this gets used, the more manufacturing ability they'll develop. We've chosen to wait for CDC guidance on this."

Tamiflu is a prescription pill designed to treat regular flu. But it also seems to offer some protection to people against the type of flu that has devastated Asian poultry flocks and is spreading to birds in Europe. Bird flu has killed more than 60 people over the past two years.

On Thursday, Tamiflu's Swiss maker, Roche Holding AG, said it was temporarily suspending shipment to private U.S. suppliers because of increased global demand.

"We've seen recently some very large purchases at the wholesale level, companies or large entities who are possibly hoarding Tamiflu right now," said Darien Wilson, spokeswoman at Roche's U.S. offices in Nutley, N.J.

New DNA map to speed search for disease genes

By MALCOLM RITTER
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Scientists have mapped patterns of tiny DNA differences that distinguish one person from another, a step that will speed up the search for genes that promote common illnesses such as heart disease and diabetes.

The map represents "a real sea change in how we study the genetics of disease," said Dr. David Altshuler, a leader of the project that included more than 200 researchers from six nations.

Scientists want to find disease-related genes as a means for diagnosis, prediction and developing treatments. Such genes give clues to the biological underpinnings of disease, and so suggest strategies for developing therapies.

Genes that predispose people to common disorders — heart disease, cancer, diabetes, asthma and others — are devilishly hard to find.

But the new "HapMap" — taken from the genetics term, haplotype — opens the door to launching comprehensive searches through the human DNA for those genes, said Altshuler, who does research at the Broad Institute, which is a collaboration of Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and at Massachusetts General Hospital.

It's not yet clear how many genes will be found or how useful they will be, Altshuler said. The achievement probably won't result in new disease treatments for five or 10 years or more, he said.

HapMap data already have been used to track down a gene linked to the eye disorder macular degeneration, said HapMap project participant Dr. Lincoln Stein of the Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory in New York.

Scientists want to find disease-related genes as a means for diagnosis, prediction and developing treatments. Such genes give clues to the biological underpinnings of disease, and so suggest strategies for developing therapies.

The map is described in a recent issue of the journal Nature. Participating scientists came from Canada, China, Japan, Nigeria, the United Kingdom and the United States. The project analyzed DNA samples from 269 people from Nigeria, Beijing, Tokyo and Utah.

Human DNA consists of more than 3 billion building blocks whose sequences form genes, just like letters spell a word. For any two unrelated people, these letters are 99.9 percent the same. But that leaves millions of single-letter differences, called SNPs (pronounced "snips") that provide genetic variation between people.

M.D. ANDERSON

Ride into a smooth holiday season in 2005 with cards, gifts from young cancer patients

HOUSTON — The Children's Art Project at The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Cancer Center offers a shortcut to shopping this season with its 2005 Holiday Collection of cards and gifts.

At M. D. Anderson, pediatric cancer patients participate in weekly classes where they produce artwork that is used to develop the products sold by the Children's Art Project (CAP). The creative must-haves that come from the imaginations of these young patients are often the prettiest packages under the holiday tree. Over the past 32 years, they have generated more than $20 million in proceeds to return to M. D. Anderson to fund patient-focused programs such as the in-hospital education program, the Child Life program, two summer camps, college scholarships, pediatric activities and many other programs.

This season, CAP's holiday line includes the traditional greeting cards with twenty-six different designs, as well as photo (15 cards, $12), correspondence (10 cards, $6 or $8 depending on size) and thank you cards (10 cards, $6) cards in the holiday motif. From whimsical to religious, there are greetings to suit every taste — and many of the designs are seen on other gift items in the product line. Ornaments, wrapping paper, gift tags, sterling silver jewelry, silk ties and scarves, t-shirts and more are included in the collection.

Once again, Christopher Radko has collaborated with the Children's Art Project, producing four new ornaments. The "Gift Tree," "Butterfly" and "Family Trip" are perfect for the holidays, and the fourth ornament, "Trick or Treat," is a great addition for Halloween décor. All previous CAP Radko ornaments are still available for sale. These collector's items are painted inside with sterling silver to enhance their vibrant colors. A special Radko signature tag is attached and the ornament is packaged in a signature box for safekeeping after the decorating season. The ornaments sell from $40 to $45.

"Each year, it's exciting to see the product line from the Children's Art Project," says Shannan Murray, project executive director. "We work to keep in sync with market trends because it's important that we grow our proceeds to fund the programs at M. D. Anderson. CAP's mission is make life better for children with cancer and these programs do just that."

This season, a Halloween correspondence card that's great as an invitation is available. In addition to the Radko ornament, other Halloween products include a charming resin "Witch" ornament and a resin Halloween frame to capture a memory of this year's little goblins. Two Thanksgiving cards are also in the line. A new "Turkey" apron can decorate cooking in the kitchen year 'round, but it's especially appropriate to talk turkey on Thanksgiving Day. The apron comes sized right for adult chefs ($22) and for little helpers, too ($15).

Holiday stationery (25 sheets, $8) with matching envelopes (25, $8) is back this year in the "Snowfall" pattern. That's also one of the designs for the money card (4 cards, $6), but cold cash, checks or gift cards are equally at home in the "Happy Snowman" format. "Snowfall" giftwrap comes in a roll ($6.50) with two sheets, each 30" x 5', a total of 25 sq. ft., and there are matching stick-on gift labels ($4). A 34" square silk scarf shows off the "Snowfall" design in fashionable style.

A new "Travelin'" silk necktie comes in both blue and green ($35) as well as in a special child-sized version ($27). The popular month-to-month calendar for 2006 ($10) and a new board book, "Go!" ($10), are part of the line, too.

All of the charming products in the Holiday 2005 Collection are developed from the artwork of young patients at M. D. Anderson and all proceeds from their sale are returned to the cancer center. Children's Art Project products are available at retail outlets throughout the country, online and through direct mail.

For a free catalogue or to place an order, call 1-800-231-1580 or visit www.childrensart.org.

Healthy ideas

(NAPSA) — To reduce your risk for dry eye, avoid dry environments and eye irritants such as dust, pollen and tobacco smoke. Limit consumption of sodas, alcohol and coffee, which usually contain caffeine. Blink more frequently. Increase humidity at home and work. Remove contact lenses when traveling by air. Use lubricating eye drops, such as GenTeal artificial tears, especially at bedtime. For more information on dry eye, visit: www.genteal.com. Older Americans would be wise to talk to their doctors about a serious health issue-pneumococcal disease. The professionals at Prescription Solutions recommend that you bring current medications with you when visiting your physician(s) to ensure that they are still needed. Then, once you know that your prescriptions are appropriate, it's important to handle them correctly. Store medications in a safe, dry place rather than a damp bathroom medicine cabinet. Keep all medicines and vitamins in their correct bottles to avoid mix-ups. Check to make sure medications have not expired and dispose of any that are outdated. For more information, visit www.rx-solutions.com.

PAMPA REGIONAL MEDICAL CENTER SPEECH THERAPY

WHAT IS SPEECH LANGUAGE PATHOLOGY?

Speech-Language Pathology or Speech Therapy is a rehabilitation profession that assists adults and children to return to their functional communication level after experiencing some sort of injury to the brain or developmental delays. Most speech therapists specialize in the areas of injuries to the brain, which can affect swallowing, speech, understanding, memory, voice and higher level thinking skills.

WHO NEEDS SPEECH THERAPY?

- * Adults who have had a stroke or some sort of head injury, which could result in swallowing difficulty, difficulty speaking, difficulty understanding, difficulty remembering daily activities or changes in voice.
- * People with Multiple Sclerosis or Parkinson's Disease, which could result in speech or swallowing difficulty or change in voice.
- * Children with learning disabilities, which could result in delayed speech and language skills.

Nathan Kim enjoys learning the alphabet with his speech therapist Renita Logan, MS, CCC-SLP

—Stowers delivered the treasurer's report. —Standing committee reports were heard on a variety of subjects such as education, science and technology. —Vonna Wolf presented the program. The next meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 8 at the home of Fay Harvey.

Altrusa

Altrusa International Inc., of Pampa met Oct. 25 at Pampa Country Club with President Billie Dixon presiding. Mayda King, Edna Hickman, and Mattie Norton served as greeters. Beth McPherson, District Nine secretary, Carolyn Rash, District Nine governor, both of Dallas, and Barbara Cox attended as guests.

The following business was conducted—and announcements made:

—The Accent was delivered by Pat Johnson who reviewed the history of the Pampa Altrusa Club in recognition of the chapter's 53rd birthday. The Pampa club was chartered Oct. 10, 1953, with 21 members. —The Amarillo Altrusa International Club elected officers for the year. —Dixon announced that the club had received a "Distinguished Club Award" for the previous year's projects. —Leona Willis reported on the purchase of paint for the Southside Senior Center library.

—Judy Warner reported the "Make a Difference Day" project (which included the distribution and mailing of brochures regarding drugs) had 100 percent participation by the club. Project coordinators Warner and Penni Pfizner received certificates of appreciation.

—Leona Willis was awarded a plaque for being a member of Altrusa for 25 years.

—ASTRA Club will host a Halloween Party at Pampa Sheltered Workshop at 6 p.m. Oct. 27.

—Members were asked to volunteer to help with holiday bags for residents of Schneider House.

—Brochures on breast health were distributed in observance of Breast Cancer Month.

—Dixon introduced Rash who was complimentary of the club's projects and encouraged attendance at the District Conference in March 2006. She challenged members to accept leadership roles and to share Altrusa with others anytime the opportunity presents itself.

—Stephanie Jones, Ruby Roysse, Betty King and Edna Hickman were recognized as having birthdays this month.

The next meeting will be at 12 p.m. Nov. 8 at Pampa Country Club.

Cleaning under way at lake

FRITCH — With the recent nip of fall in the air, thoughts turn to football, autumn festivals and roasting marshmallows, but officials at Lake Meredith National Recreation Area see fall as a time to clean.

"As we prepare for the winter season, our goal is to get the park looking its best while at the same time winterizing all park assets," said Park Superintendent Karren Brown. "With the help of dedicated staff and volunteers, we have been able to complete these projects rather quickly."

Visitors to the park may notice improvements made to Harbor Bay picnic area. Earlier in the summer, the U.S. Navy Combat Engineers, better known as the Seabees, volunteered their time and energy to improving the bay, making ground preparations and constructing concrete forms for three new picnic shade shelters. The park's maintenance staff poured three 14-foot by 28-foot concrete pads. Shelters have been erected from Blue West, where visitation is poor, to Harbor Bay, a much more frequented area.

"This collaborative effort will make Harbor Bay a nicer place for all park visitors," Brown said. "Whether it's summer or winter, visitors will be able to picnic in comfort with some protection from the elements."

Other park resources have been spruced up as well. Outback toilets have been painted inside. The new finish provides a surface that is easier to clean, park officials said, as well as adding to the overall physical appearance of the units.

Many signs throughout the park have been replaced and the main road graded.

Friends and neighbors of Brian Conrad gathered last weekend at the Conrad farm south of Pampa on Highway 70 to harvest the family's sorghum crop. Conrad, his pregnant wife Michell and her son Zack Doan were shot to death on Sept. 30. A man jailed in Missouri is considered a suspect in the case but he has not been charged in the deaths.

Student volunteers serve nutritious meals to poor, homeless

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Even though it's been more than 40 years since Walletha Hayes attended college, she has no trouble remembering mealtime in the campus dining hall: limp, discolored vegetables and mystery meat.

Nothing like the meals delivered these days to Hayes and her neighbors at O'Malley Apartments from the kitchen at nearby Gonzaga University.

Three nights a week, student volunteers package dinners that otherwise would have gone to waste and distribute them to residents of the low-income complex.

A recent dinner tray included poached salmon, wild rice and fresh string beans.

"I think this is better than the dorm foods I used to get" at college in the early 1960s, Hayes said.

"I don't remember it being this good."

Gonzaga is one of six universities nationwide which sponsor a Campus Kitchens Project, in which student volunteers package unserved dining hall food into nutritious meals that they distribute to the elderly, homeless and underprivileged in surrounding communities.

Founded as a pilot program at St. Louis University in 2001, Campus Kitchens is a spinoff of the successful Washington, D.C.-based DC Central Kitchen, whose founder and President Robert Egger came up with the idea to use unserved food and campus facilities during off hours to feed the hungry.

"He saw a school that had a kitchen ... and a fabulous opportunity to use space that is ready to go, but not used at all hours," said Abby Flottesmesch, development director of the nonprofit organization.

Campus Kitchen at Gonzaga organizes the packaging and distribution of meals.

Hannah Israel, a recent University of Michigan graduate and the 21-year-old coordinator of the Gonzaga program, is joined by about 40 regular volunteers at Cataldo dining hall to assemble meals, which are supplemented by donations from restaurants, grocery stores and food banks.

The next day volunteers load up their cars with food — including dinners, sack lunches and after-school snacks for elementary school children involved in a campus mentoring program — and deliver them to clients of five hunger relief agencies.

Hayes, a diabetic, has her meals specially prepared with salads and low-sugar desserts.

The Gonzaga program, which helps train unemployed adults for jobs in the food service industry, serves about 500 meals a week.

"Spokane has a big issue with homelessness and unemployment," Israel said. "There is a lot of need in this community."

And the need clearly extends beyond Washington state.

At Marquette University, senior Kelly Collins volunteers six to eight hours a week at the university's Campus Kitchens.

"A lot of people that want to come here ... have these kind of values," she said in a telephone interview from the Milwaukee campus. "A lot of people feel 'I should volunteer. I should give back to the community.'"

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Sunday, Oct. 30, 2005:

You might want to keep your opinions to yourself. Though you can be strong and dynamic, you often choose to sit back. You have a sixth sense with money, but carefully checking out investments will serve you well. You seem to know of events before they happen. Let your intuition come through more often. If you are single, you will meet many people. Unfortunately, your choice might not be as authentic or honest as you would like. Date several people before settling in. If you are attached, frequent getaways together renew your closeness. An investment you make ultimately does you well. LIBRA reads you cold.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19) ***** If you let go and allow others to run the show, you might very well enjoy yourself. Others inspire you to try something new or to live out a dream. Let it all flow. A friend could be unusually important. Tonight: Go along with plans.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ***** Someone might not be able to keep up with your vivacious energy. Let this person pitch his or her ideas. This person needs to feel valued. You know how to make him or her feel important. Tonight: Out on the town.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) ***** Sometimes you need to let loose and just be yourself. Enjoy the moment and let go. Don't always worry about others and their opinions. If you want to swing, find a swing. Just do what you want. Spontaneity creates happy dreams. Tonight: Try something different.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) ***** Still playful, settling down on Monday might be close to impossible. From Tuesday on, you have too much to do in too little time.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) ***** You naturally get into the levity of the day. In fact, you might be happy just watching the kids and their friends getting excited. Think "fun" when making plans later in the day. You won't be able to contain others. Tonight: Hang where the fun is, or be the one distributing the candy.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) ***** Last-minute details could keep you in your head and not as aware as you would like to be. You might need to make a last-minute purchase. Also, an expenditure might surround your home or domestic life. Tonight: Don't be extravagant.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) ***** With the Moon in your sign, where you direct your energy counts. You are likely to succeed. Be willing to adjust and make positive changes if need be. People might be unusually unpredictable. Tonight: Either watching the action or being part of it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ***** You might want to be more of an observer than a player right now. Use extreme caution with your finances; you could have an unexpected expenditure.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ***** With Mercury moving into your sign today, you suddenly become even more verbal. Others enjoy having discussions, be they political or personal. Surround yourself with those you care about. Tonight: As you like.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) ***** Have you ever thought that maybe the reason so many people dump their responsibilities on you is because you accept them? You might want to consider setting new boundaries. Do you enjoy these demands? Tonight: All eyes turn to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) ***** You might want to take an overview or not get involved with a potential mess or argument. By observing and putting yourself in another's shoes, you gain greater understanding. Creativity flourishes. Tonight: Go for something different.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) ***** A partner wants to have his or her say. You aren't going to stop this person. Play the passive role, and you might be delighted. Someone finally reveals him- or herself. Understanding grows. Be vulnerable as well. Tonight: Continue the closeness.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Monday, Oct. 31, 2005:

Often, you might want to retreat from situations. Actually, maintaining a low profile will work well for you and will add to the lucky nature of your year. Think through decisions rather than have a knee-jerk reaction. Often, you will want to sort out your feelings. Your instincts are unusually strong, especially with money. In fact, you might restructure your finances and the manner in which you handle them. If you are single, you will have many admirers; just make sure the person you choose is available. If you are attached, plan plenty of getaways together. Be more open. LIBRA makes a good healer or doctor for you.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19) ***** You simply are not able to get away from the Halloween enthusiasm. Just when you are deep in concentration, a witch or gremlin pops by. Why fight the inevitable? Network while getting into the humor of the moment. Tonight: At one of the many pumpkin parties.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ***** You might need to be an anchor, as everyone trips on his or her alter ego or fantasy character. You get the job done and finish off what others might be too distracted to do. Your amazing sense of graciousness wins over a loved one. Tonight: Just make sure you are ready for the trick-or-treaters.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) ***** Your enthusiasm can't be quelled. You see whatever occurs in a positive light. Allow more humor and fun in, especially today. Someone might make a last-minute suggestion. Go for it. Tonight: Be a kid again. You might like a piece of candy or two.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) ***** You naturally find fun, though for whatever reason, you might feel a need to anchor in those around you. If you can work from home, please do. Be ready to pick up where someone has left off. Tonight: Make sure you have enough candy.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) ***** You naturally get into the levity of the day. In fact, you might be happy just watching the kids and their friends getting excited. Think "fun" when making plans later in the day. You won't be able to contain others. Tonight: Hang where the fun is, or be the one distributing the candy.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) ***** Last-minute details could keep you in your head and not as aware as you would like to be. You might need to make a last-minute purchase. Also, an expenditure might surround your home or domestic life. Tonight: Don't be extravagant.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) ***** With the Moon in your sign, where you direct your energy counts. You are likely to succeed. Be willing to adjust and make positive changes if need be. People might be unusually unpredictable. Tonight: Either watching the action or being part of it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ***** You might want to be more of an observer than a player right now. Use extreme caution with your finances; you could have an unexpected expenditure.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ***** No matter how many times you twist and turn your plans, you like the end results. You do need to be around people, be it at work or in your personal life. You make a great addition. Tonight: Get into the fun nature of the night.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) ***** Whatever goes on, you naturally fall into the position of leader of the gang. Your decision counts. Others will naturally accept you as wise and intelligent. Tonight: Get into the Halloween spirit.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) ***** Your imagination could go haywire or really be out there, especially if conjuring up any ideas, projects or Halloween plans. Listen to a friend who might have a more grounded perspective. Tonight: Let your imagination rock and roll now, even if it means a last-minute change.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) ***** A partner dominates plans, ideas and decisions. Don't buck this trend, for now. Let this person have his or her moment of glory. This person wants you to focus on just him or her. Do it. Be a good listener. Tonight: Enjoy the moment.

Pumpkin contest

Dr. Mark W. Ford, Jr., center, of Ford Family Chiropractic in Pampa recently staged a "Great Pumpkin" weight guessing contest. Winners were Sue Fatheree, left, and Wanetta Hill who each received a gift certificate in the amount of $50 toward a future tank of gas. The pumpkin weighed 122 pounds. Both Fatheree and Hill guessed its weight at 123 pounds.

IRS seeking owners of undelivered refunds

DALLAS — The Internal Revenue Service is looking for 6,763 Texas taxpayers. Normally that would make many folks nervous, but, this time it's good news. The IRS wants to make sure that these people get tax refund checks that were stamped: returned to sender.

The $6 million in tax refunds will be reissued to taxpayers as soon as taxpayers correct or update their addresses with the IRS.

In some cases, a taxpayer has more than one check waiting. The biggest unclaimed check in Texas totals more than $182,000. It was returned after it could not be delivered to an owner's Corpus Christi address.

The average amount owed to each Texas taxpayer is $892, $20 more than the national average of $871.

"Our goal is to get this money back in the hands of the people it belongs to," IRS Commissioner Mark W. Everson said. "Visiting IRS.gov makes it easy for taxpayers to see if they've missed a refund."

The "Where's My Refund?" feature on the IRS.gov Web site provides taxpayers with information about their refunds. It is available from the home page. To use it, taxpayers enter their Social Security number, filing status (such as single or married filing jointly) and the refund amount shown on their 2004 tax return.

When the information is submitted, "Where's My Refund?" will show the status of a refund and, in some cases, provide instructions to resolve potential account issues.

In the case of Gulf Coast residents affected by Hurricane Katrina, the IRS will expedite research into the status of undelivered payments and issue a refund check when the original is outstanding.

The IRS advises hurricane victims who had been expecting a refund check but did not receive one to contact the IRS on the special toll-free Katrina disaster line at 1-866-562-5227.

How to Update an Address with the IRS

Generally, refund checks can go astray for a variety of reasons. Often, a life change results in a change of address. When a taxpayer moves or changes address and fails to notify the IRS or the U.S. Postal Service, a check sent to the taxpayer's last known address is returned to the IRS.

Taxpayers who have moved since filing their last tax return can ensure the IRS has their correct address by filing Form 8822, Change of Address, with the IRS.

Download the form from IRS.gov or request it by calling 1-800-TAX-FORM (1-800-829-3676).

Those who do not have access to the Internet and think they may be missing a refund should first check their records or contact their tax preparer, then call the IRS toll-free assistance line at 1-800-829-1040 to update their address.

SEW LIKE KNITTING

Sewing demo in offing

AMARILLO — A certified sewing instructor will be on hand to give area seamstresses a first-hand demonstration of the new "Sew Like Knitting" process at a Nov. 14 Get-to-Gather.

Judy Love, certified by the Palmer Pletsch Institute and a member of the Prairie Flowers Extension Education Club, will be demonstrating "Sew Like Knitting" at 1:30 p.m. in the Kimble 4-H Center located on the Amarillo fairgrounds.

This new technique creates a lacy look that is used to create shawls, ponchos and other clothing accessories. It is similar to techniques for making chenille.

The monthly Get-to-Gathers are sponsored by the Potter Extension Education Association. They are an opportunity to share techniques and creative ideas with individuals interested in needle arts. The activity is open to the public and there is no charge to participate.

For more information, contact the Texas Cooperative Extension office in Potter County at (806) 373-0713.
