Woman accuses pastor of rape

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A Fort Worth pastor was arrested on a sexual assault warrant after a church member said he raped her under the guise of casting out demons. Leonard Ray Owens, 63, was arrested Friday after he went to police to give a voluntary statement. Owens, the pastor of Prayer House of Faith, has denied having sexual contact with the woman, police said. The 22-year-old woman told authorities Owens raped her in July when she went to his home for counseling. According to an affidavit, the pastor told the woman she was afflicted by demons and instructed her to lie on the floor so he could cast them out of her body.

Top winners posted in Panhandle 4-H District Roundup competition

CANYON — Panhandle 4-H members from 22 counties qualified recently to compete in the Texas 4-H Roundup at College Station, June 5-9.

Among those qualifying individuals are the following 4-H'ers from Gray County:

Intermediate Nutrition Quiz Bowl. District Roundup third place winners Gabriel Miller, Emily Jackson, Valerie Miller and Tammy Syfrett.

Open (senior). Second place winner Jessica Baggerman.

Senior Share-the-

Fun/Choreographed. Third place winners Emily Jackson, Gabriel and Valerie Miller.

4-H Roundup is a public speaking and talent event.

Goals of the project include:

— Learn about organization of materials to present in a speech or performance;

— Acquire the ability to speak convincingly in public;

— Become aware of one's relationship to others — family, peers, state, nation and world;

— Learn about vocational choices and career opportunities; and more.

More than 200 boys and girls competed in the 30 activities, including speaking events, illustrated talks, method demonstrations and performing arts. Recognition awards were given in ceremonies at West Texas A&M University.

show, "Grease" will delight its audiences with songs and dances such as "You're the One That I Want," "We Go Together," "Hand Jive," "Magic Changes," "All Choked Up," "Sandra Dee," "Hopelessly Devoted to You," "Summer Nights," "Greased Lightnin'," and "Freddie My Love."

The Choir Booster Parents have spent many late nights painting and bringing the set to life with artwork depicting the '50s. Olga Gibson, wife of former PHS choir member Josh Gibson and a native of Russia, has designed and painted the set along with Lisa and Brad Gibson and other choir parents.

M.K. Brown has added a new lighting system in the auditorium and this year's show will incorporate lighting techniques that have not been available before.

An extra feature of the musical this year will be the incorporation of a Pre-Show with Concert Choir members singing popular songs of the '50s. This show will start each evening at 7:15 p.m. in the auditorium.

On Thursday and Friday, theatergoers will be offered a hamburger supper in the Heritage Room before the show. Serving time will be from 6 until 7:30 p.m. Tickets for the dinner will be $6 and will include a hamburger/cheeseburger, chips, soft drink and dessert, and may be purchased at the door. If you wish to just attend the show, tickets are $6 for adults and $4.50 for students. You will still have time to catch the great Pre-Show in the auditorium before the performance begins!

Performances for "Grease" will be at M. K. Brown Auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, depending on football, and at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. Tickets may be purchased at the door for performances and for the hamburger supper.

Leadership symposium to focus on franchising

CANYON — A panel of entrepreneurs with experience in franchised businesses will discuss "Franchising: Business in a Box" at the eighth annual College of Business Leadership Symposium at West Texas A&M University.

The symposium, sponsored by the College of Business and Alpha Kappa Psi professional business fraternity, is from 11 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 16 at the Alumni Banquet Facility on campus. This year it will focus on the challenges associated with starting or buying and growing a franchise business in the Panhandle.

The panel discussion will begin with topics drawn from seed questions provided to the panelists in advance, followed by screened questions from the audience.

Featured panelists are:
• Anthony "Tony" R. Alvarez, director of the Amarillo Hispanic Chamber of Commerce and developer of franchises with four national chains

• Kristina Anthony, owner of Curves in Hereford since May of this year

• Ken Thompson, owner of GMAC Real Estate and real estate broker for more than 19 years

• Don Williams, entrepreneur, Gene Edwards Executive-in-Residence in the College of Business with franchise experience with several national restaurant chains

• Greg Blankenship, president and CEO of Patch Management, Inc. and owner of franchised businesses such as Pizza Hut, Cotton Patch and Taco Villa
Dr. John W. Cooley, dean of the College of Business, will serve as moderator for the discussion, which is free and open to the business community, students, faculty and the general public.

For more information about the Leadership Symposium, contact the College of Business at 806-651-2530.

mittee, as he worked on one of the lighted displays last week.

Carroll Clark, a nine-year veteran volunteer with Celebration of Lights, was helping Bagley as they checked the last of the lights on a stagecoach scene.

The stagecoach is one of approximately 43 displays made up of Christmas lights. Some of the lighted figures are animated, including the stagecoach, Santa parachuting from a plane, a leaping frog, a somersaulting gingerbread cookie, and a fisherman on the lake catching a whale.

Other lights create the shapes of the U.S. flag, toy soldiers, Christmas trees, and a Nativity.

There are almost 100 painted wood cutouts of candy canes, gingerbread boys and girls, and lollipops which line the route taken to view the displays.

Nineteen scenes are composed of larger wood cutouts, including Disney characters, angels, polar bears, snowmen, reindeer, and Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus with some elves.

Pampa's Celebration of Lights is the only lighted park in the Panhandle for the holidays, said Rae Bagley, Celebration secretary.

Individuals, service club members and Texas Department of Criminal Justice inmates have helped set up the displays for this year's show, she said.

Admission to the park to see the displays is free. Donations are accepted at the exit to help maintain, replace and refurbish the displays.

The display will be open for viewing nightly through Dec. 31.

PUZZLED ABOUT EYECARE?

Here's Some Advice That Will Save You Money

If you have met your Medicare deductible for 2005, it makes Good sense to schedule you eye care before this year's end.

Early detection is the key to maintain eye health. Yearly examinations are recommended especially to check for:

- Diabetes - even if you take only the pill or watch your diet.
- Flashes of light or Floaters in your vision
- Glare at night-often caused by cataracts
- Glaucoma has no signs or symptoms
- Macular Degeneration-Causes loss of central vision
- Dry, burning, scratchy eyes
- Family history of blindness

2006 is almost here! It's time to schedule your vision and eye health examination.

Smoking and quitting; EDC; French rioters and flood vehicles

I do not often get on a soapbox and try to get people to do something I think they should do. I am a believer in letting people do what they want to do.

However, once a year I allow myself this opportunity.

I used to smoke. I started when I was 11 or 12, and smoked about a pack a day for nearly 40 years. I quit cold turkey after I was diagnosed with cancer about 15 years ago.

I survived the surgery and can happily say I feel a lot better.

The reason I bring up this unpleasant subject is that Thursday is the annual "Great American Smoke-Out" and anti-smoking advocates will urge smokers to "quit or die."

Since I am an anti-smoking advocate, I personally urge any smokers to quit, including a few of my coworkers.

You will feel better, your food will taste better, and you will not smell like an ash tray.

In the past 20 years, more than 400,000 Americans have died each year from smoking related diseases. Think about that.

The economic development corporation issue has been settled and perhaps both sides can get together to work for the future and posterity of Pampa. Only 111 votes divided the two sides. Now we will wait and see what happens.

You can bet the folks in charge of getting this group going will be careful to not make the same mistakes the previous EDC did.

I am sure you have noticed that hoodlums were trying to burn France to the ground. After two weeks of standing by and watching cars burn and stores get looted, the French government got tough and issued a curfew. To their credit, it worked. Rioting dropped sharply the first night the curfew went into effect.

I cannot help but wonder how much less damage would have been done if authorities would have announced early on that looters and arsonists would be shot on sight. That may be the "Frontier Justice-Old West-John Wayne" way to do things, but I think it would have lessened the damage.

The National Insurance Crime Bureau has launched a free online database for the public at www.nicb.org to keep unsuspecting buyers from ending up with a flood-damaged vehicle.

A vehicle identification number entered in www.nicb.org will potentially reveal if a vehicle has or has not been affected by Hurricanes Katrina or Rita. A "hit" is a good reason to investigate further. It does not mean a salvage title has been issued, or that the vehicle has been flood damaged, only that the VIN was collected for one of three reasons:

- * An insurance claim has been initiated

- * An NICB inspector has looked at the vehicle

- * The vehicle is in a holding area or storage facility for towed cars

"It is crucial that consumers protect themselves by thoroughly investigating a vehicle prior to buying" said Mike Craig, interim director, Vehicle Titles and Registration Division of TxDOT. "The number of damaged vehicles is historic, as is the potential for fraud. Fortunately, information is being gathered quickly using the latest technology by the insurance industry and law enforcement. Public and private groups are cooperating in a united response to prevent future fraud."

I mention this caveat because I am a car guy, and I hate to see anyone get suckered into buying a flood vehicle.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Sunday, Nov. 13, the 317th day of 2005. There are 48 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Nov. 13, 1789, Benjamin Franklin wrote in a letter to a friend, "In this world nothing can be said to be certain, except death and taxes."

On this date:

In 1775, during the American Revolution, U.S. forces captured Montreal.

In 1927, the Holland Tunnel opened to the public, providing access between New York City and New Jersey beneath the Hudson River.

In 1942, the minimum draft age was lowered from 21 to 18.

'Religion is an attempt, a noble attempt, to suggest in human terms more-than-human realities.'

— Christopher Morley
American author-journalist (1890-1957)

In 1982, the Vietnam Veterans Memorial was dedicated in Washington.

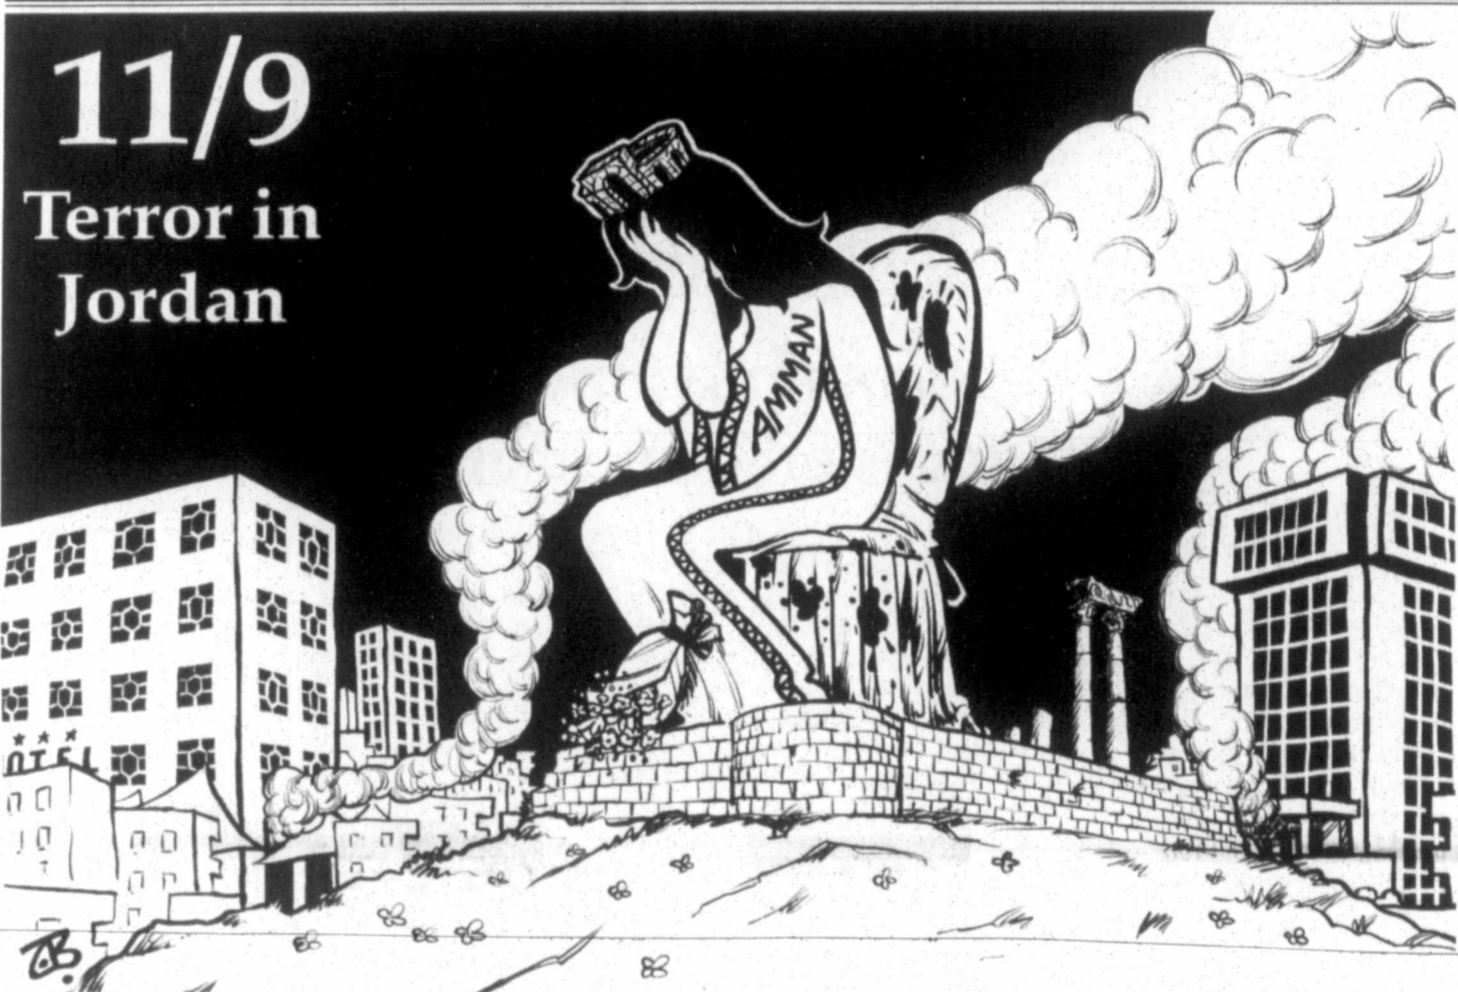

In 1985, some 23,000 residents of Armero, Colombia, died when a gigantic mudslide buried the city.

In 1994, Sweden voted to join the European Union.

Ten years ago: Seven people, including five Americans, were killed when a bomb exploded at a military training facility in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia. The government braced for imminent partial shutdown as President Clinton vetoed one budget bill and prepared to reject another in a fiscal standoff with Republicans.

Five years ago: Lawyers for George W. Bush failed to win a court order barring manual recounts of ballots in Florida. Florida Secretary of State Katherine Harris announced she would end the recounting at 5 p.m. Eastern time the next day — prompting an immediate appeal by lawyers for Al Gore. Joe Mullen and Denis Savard were among those inducted into the Hockey Hall of Fame.

One year ago: Vice President Dick Cheney went to a hospital after experiencing shortness of breath; tests found nothing wrong.

Why President George W. is failing

Two-term presidents fail in their second terms largely because of their successes in their first terms.

Elected to solve certain problems, they usually succeed, winning plaudits and approval sufficient to propel them to reelection. But the fact remains that their success comes at a price: There is nothing left of their original agenda for them to do and no way to control events.

These second-term presidents end up confronting an array of problems that they never pretended they would be able to solve, and more often than not these issues bring them down.

This paradox is amply illustrated by 20th century history. Only Theodore Roosevelt had a successful second term, largely because he took office after an assassination and required time to develop the progressive agenda that would ultimately shape his presidency.

Woodrow Wilson, elected to accomplish the goals of progressivism, fell over the League of Nations. FDR, elected to stop the Depression, failed in his second term over his attempts to pack the Supreme Court. His place in history was rescued by his successful third term as war engulfed the United States.

Harry Truman became popular by rescuing Europe from communism but fell over the prolonged war in Korea. Eisenhower's second term was marred by his ill health in recession. Johnson, having passed the Civil Rights Act, fell over Vietnam.

Richard Nixon, having pulled out of Vietnam, fell over Watergate. Ronald Reagan, having cut taxes and won the Cold War, was brought low over the Iran-Contra scandal. And Bill Clinton, having balanced the budget, reformed welfare, and ended the recession, found himself impeached over Monica Lewinsky.

George W. Bush, elected to cut taxes and reform education, accomplished his agenda in his first year in office. Given a new task by Sept. 11, he has succeeded in methodically removing, converting or limiting the governments that sponsor terrorism.

Only Syria, under assault, and Iran, facing a solid international front determined to bar its path to nuclear weapons, remain from the original list. Libya has capitulated, Iraq and Afghanistan are conquered and North Korea appears likely to forswear nuclear ambitions.

We feel safe from attack, perhaps wrongly, four years after Sept. 11. And Bush has accomplished his agenda.

But he is paying the price of his success. He lacks an issue to capture America's imagination and dominate Washington's agenda. His

Barnum: Public likes to be 'humbugged'

The quote about a "sucker being born every minute" usually is attributed to P. T. Barnum, a colorful showman a couple of centuries back, but there is no documentation that he ever said it. Historians claim it was a common expression of New York City gamblers as early as 1883.

That's what they called the players whose pockets they fleeced regularly. If this be true, suckers have crossed state lines and reproduced.

For all we know, Barnum may have been at the table.

What Barnum did say, though, is even better. He claimed, "the public likes to be 'humbugged.'" We're doing a great job of proving him right.

Humbuggery rules. Most of us can be fooled most of the time, and by hokies, we take as gospel what we see or hear, often to learn later that our new nugget is nothing more than fool's gold.

Choices to believe — or not to believe — abound. Our minds are numbed, very much on overload. If a news bulletin claims that Niagara Falls is running backwards, throngs would believe it without pictorial verification on the 10 o'clock news.

We all are participants to some degree, unwittingly or otherwise, assuming the "right 'til proven wrong" posture.

That's the position I'm taking on the recent scientific claims that "mice sing birdlike songs." These are findings of respected researchers at St. Louis, Washington University, who claim to be surprised by what they've learned.

Songbirds are regarded as the "Sinatras of the animal world," but the scientists believe that male mice can carry tunes, too, and that their high-pitched singing starts when in the presence of female mice.

Thus the theory is that "Mickey's" of the mice world have joined songbirds, humpback whales, porpoises, insects and possibly bats on the short list of creatures that break out in song in the presence of the opposite sex. It is good to learn of this new theory about mousedom.

One of the researchers, Dr. Timothy Holy (not "Holier" or "Holiest") claims that the male mice's vocalizations "are not random twitterings, but songs, with patterns like bird songs." (There is such a temptation to take a side trail here about his "Holy" mice, and at home he may have a faithful friend who's a "Holy" Terrier, and in his sock drawer, "Holy" — no, I just cannot go there.)

I dunno about singing mice. But, such news brings to mind amusing stories where veracity doesn't matter. A longtime favorite is: "The early bird gets the worm; the second mouse gets the cheese."

Since nothing much surprises, what shall we do when we hear the news bulletin from Gander, Newfoundland, that three farmers in their fields, tending their cattle by day, spot a flock of pigs flying overhead?

Yes, it may be said they were "gandering." It was reported that news of the phenomenon was delayed until authorities could decide if pigs, thousands of feet aloft, flying in a V-formation, constitute a flock?

One farmer, using a high-powered telescope, said one pig lagged a bit behind the "V."

He said a tattered sign dangling from his left rear hoof said, "Yes, I'm Porky, the cartoon-ender devoid of coordination, always being laughed at, and never getting to lead."

Okay, maybe you find the farmers' claims suspect. Remember, though, "three" has Biblical precedence, and also the number needed to verify a golfing hole-in-one. (One to hit it, the other two to nod affirmatively, assuming each to be half credible.)

That's okay. This is America. You can believe such pig-sightings when singing mice fly.

Your option, of course, is to retreat to the ever-reliable Internet, where a few bucks will get you the original red velvet cake recipe, work-at-home scams too numerous to list and riches promised in Nigerian letters beginning with "Greetings, Sir."

Oh, I mustn't leave out some great deals on Rolex watches. With luck, you'll get e-mails with these offers several times an hour.

Would that suckers were born so rarely as one per minute.

Current data suggest they're being born by the dozens every nanosecond except in sparsely-populated states where the original quotation may hold — for now.

AMARILLO — Amarillo Civic Center will house the upcoming 25th Annual Christmas Arts & Crafts Show Nov. 19-20 in the South Exhibit Hall.

Exhibitors from as far as Oregon, Colorado, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Kansas will be participating. Only handmade arts and crafts will be included in the show.

On Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Santa Claus will visit with the children present.

The show will contain a wide range of wares such as wood crafts, clothing, jewelry, candles, pottery, metal art, furniture, leather works, blown glass, art, ceramics, quilts, floral arrangements, homemade foods, decorations and more.

Show hours will be 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Nov. 19 and 12 to 5 p.m. Nov. 20. Admission will cost $4 for adults. Children 14 and under will get in free when accompanied by an adult.

Amarillo Farm and Ranch Show coming to soon

AMARILLO — Cygnus Expositions, the tradeshow division of business-to-business media leader Cygnus Business Media, has announced that the Amarillo Farm and Ranch Show, the event dedicated to the needs of producers in Texas and the surrounding states, will host the 21st Annual Panhandle Farm and Ranch Management Symposium at this year's event slated Nov. 29-Dec. 1 at the Amarillo Civic Center.

The Amarillo Farm and Ranch Show is the largest annual indoor farm show in Texas and will feature over 400 leading manufacturers displaying the latest agricultural products and services.

"The Farm and Ranch Management Symposium is always a highlight of the Amarillo Farm and Ranch Show," says Todd Benz, Group Show director. "The symposium provides important crop management information and enables Texas' producers to earn valuable continuing education units. We are pleased to be able to once again offer the latest educational instruction to our attendees."

In addition to the Farm and Ranch Management Symposium, the Amarillo Farm and Ranch Show will feature the Third Annual Panhandle Beef Conference, an Ag Appreciation Luncheon, the Fifth Annual Texas Commodity Symposium, and a special trade seminar on doing business with Cuba.

The show will also host a series of health screenings offered by West Texas A&M University, Division of Nursing. Admission to the show and parking is free. Show hours will be 9 a.m.-5 p.m., and from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Dec. 1.

The three-day event will include educational seminars, health screenings, and the latest products and services from over 400 leading agricultural companies. The show is presented by High Country Chevy Dealers, and is sponsored by KGNC Radio, KFDA TV, the High Plains Journal, and the Holiday Inn Amarillo.

For more information on attending or exhibiting at the 2005 event, visit www.Farmshows.com or call 1-800-827-8007.

Cygnus Business Media reaches nearly 15 million business owners, executives and professionals annually through its portfolio of over 200 media products. Its four distinct divisions — Cygnus Publishing, Cygnus Expositions, Cygnus Interactive and Cygnus Custom Marketing — provide comprehensive, integrated advertising and marketing programs for Cygnus' valued customers and clients.

The company's leading business publications, tradeshow, conferences, Web sites, online products and custom marketing capabilities enhance brand identity, generate sales leads, and build product awareness as they strengthen customer/client relationships.

Bush

Social Security proposal is a nonstarter. His energy and highway bills were largely devoid of innovation and were trivial in scope if not in spending. Bush has nothing left to do.

So he is falling prey to opportunistic infections such as Libby-gate, the Harriet Miers nomination and Hurricane Katrina. For a president to survive his predicament, he must pivot and adopt a new agenda for the balance of his term.

Losing control over events after the early years of his term, Clinton embraced welfare reform and deficit reduction as his priorities and kept control over events until he was undone by Monica.

What Bush needs is a new agenda to capture control of the nation's politics. Here are some suggestions:

• A fence along the border to stop illegal immigration and a vast expansion of our capacity to apprehend, hold and deport aliens who overstay their visas.

• A tough new drug policy focused on reducing demand by mandating drug testing in schools and incentives for employers to require testing at the workplace.

• A national crusade to free America of oil dependence including promotion of hybrid cars, production and distribution of hydrogen fuels, nuclear power, the installation of recapture mechanisms to make coal burning clean, and expansion of biofuels, solar power and wind energy.

Bush will not recapture the initiative by a battle over Samuel Alito's nomination to the Supreme Court. Why he did not choose to nominate Judge Janet Rogers Brown, who had already been ruled non-filibusterable by the group of 14 senators who hold the balance of power, is a mystery.

But the blood that will flow from Alito's nomination will do nothing to move his favorability above 40 percent. It will strengthen his base but will also fortify and enliven the left.

Meanwhile, he will remain ghettoized and emasculated with a low approval rate.

—Dick Morris was an adviser to Bill Clinton for 20 years.

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

DEAR ABBY: My widowed father recently married a woman I'll call "Millie." The wedding was held at Millie's home. Of the 20 or so guests in attendance, the only single adult was my younger sister, "Kim." The ceremony was beautiful, the food was delicious, and everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves when, out of nowhere, three of Millie's friends asked for everyone's attention. They then announced that instead of the bride tossing her bouquet, they had decided to just present it to Kim! Most of the guests laughed, and Kim played along, but I could tell she was upset. These friends went on to say something like, "Don't worry, Kim, you won't be single forever -- your turn will come someday!" Abby, my sister is a brilliant, beautiful, very successful attorney in a well-known law firm in a large city. But because she doesn't have a man in her life, she was "singled" out and teased in front of a group comprised mostly of strangers. She held it together through the party, but wept openly to me afterward. She felt humiliated, and worse than that, like some kind of failure. As it turns out, it was Millie's idea to give Kim the bouquet and make it a "funny" display. Kim was incredibly hurt and no longer wants much to do with our new stepmother. I don't want to get in the middle, but I feel if I told Millie why Kim is being distant, she'd most likely apologize. Should I stick my nose in or leave it alone? Are we overreacting? Any advice would be appreciated. -- NOT AMUSED SISTER IN VERMONT

DEAR SISTER: Your stepmother's "joke" was insensitive and not particularly funny. (When will people learn that humor at other people's expense is hurtful?) I agree that your sister is owed an apology. By all means tell Millie about the pain her thoughtless gesture caused.

The alternative would be to let the situation fester until there is either an explosion or total estrangement.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 14, I was bulimic for a while. I was able to stop on my own and my parents never knew about it. Eventually my parents figured out that I was depressed and suicidal, and I was put on Prozac.

A couple of weeks ago, my mom saw some cuts on my hips. I told her it was the only time I had ever done it, but I lied. I have been doing it for several months.

I don't know what's going on with me lately. I used to be able to write all the time. The words just haven't been flowing like they used to, and it's sort of scaring me. I told my psychologist about it, and he told me I need to find a new outlet for my stress besides cutting. The problem is, I don't want a new outlet. I just want to be able to write again. Any advice you have for me would be greatly appreciated. -- SCARED IN STACY, MINN.

DEAR SCARED: Think back for a moment. Did your writer's block start after you began taking the Prozac? If so, ask your therapist whether the Prozac could have caused it. As helpful as antidepressants can be for some people, it sometimes takes a while to find which drug works best for an individual.

Of one thing I am certain. Cutting is not the solution to your problem. Communicating honestly with your parents and your therapist will take you a lot farther a lot faster. Conquering your illness -- and that's what depression is -- will take a joint effort on the part of all of you. Please do not allow fear to slow your progress. The antidote to fear is faith.

FUND DRIVE

United Way helps fund Optimist Club programs

By JOHN WARNER
For The News

The story of Kevin Davis is an often repeated story of the Pampa Optimist Youth Club.

Kevin literally grew up in the Optimist Club. His father, Melvin Davis, was an Optimist baseball coach. From the time Kevin was able to walk, he watched baseball games at Optimist Park. When he was 9, he joined an Optimist baseball team and played seven years of baseball. He also played Optimist football and basketball for four years each.

As a youth, he was taught to give back to the community which gave to him.

As an adult, Kevin is doing just that. He is currently serving as the president of the Harvester Football Boosters. He is an active, hamburger-flipping member of the Pampa High School Choir Boosters. He is a member and helped with the steak dinner for the Harvester Baseball Boosters.

For the last six years, Kevin has served as a Sunday School teacher for seventh grade boys for the First Baptist Church. Once a month for the last eight years, he has cooked and served a pancake and sausage breakfast for church kids who are on the church's bus routes.

He serves on the Building and Grounds Committee for his church. He and his wife, Whitney, are co-chairs of the Glorieta Lodge Committee which involves keeping the lodge in good repair. He is currently on the Nominating Committee for the church.

Kevin has served as a member of the Steering Committee for the Children's Shopping Tour for the last six years and has organized the luncheon which feeds upwards of 300 children and chaperones the day of the tour.

He has served as president of the Pampa Optimist Club twice and is in his fourth term as first-vice president. For the past 12 years, he has been president of the Babe Ruth League in Pampa. He has been in charge of the Optimist concession stand and the equipment room for the past nine years.

He is currently a district commissioner for the Babe Ruth League. He was the construction foreman for the new Babe Ruth Park, supervised installing the new lighting system for the girls' softball park and almost single-handedly built the "Field of Dreams" baseball field for 5- and 6-year-olds.

His wife, Whitney, is deeply involved in Optimist projects. Their two sons, Keenan and Tanner, have grown up in Optimist athletic programs.

As a result of Kevin's dedication and the work of others like him, the Pampa Optimist Youth Club offers programs such as football for boys in the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades as well as flag football for boys and girls in the first and second grades.

The club sponsors girls softball, boys baseball, all star teams, girls and boys basketball, Youth Appreciation Week, an Optimist Essay Contest with a college scholarship for the winner and other projects benefiting more than 1,700 people annually including more than 1,200 youth.

Long time Optimist baseball coach John Warner says, "We use baseball to build better boys. Our object is to offer the youth of this area opportunities to learn team work and sportsmanship at an early age."

Pampa Optimist President Ronnie N. Haynes commented, "We feel that we accomplish a lot for the community through our sports program, but we were able to benefit more than 300 people last year through cooperating with the Kiwanis Club, the Salvation Army and other organizations in the Children's Shopping Tour. That is one of our biggest and most satisfying projects."

The Pampa Optimist Youth Club made a difference in Kevin Davis' life many years ago. He continues to make the investment in his life others made years ago pay dividends today by making a difference in the lives of hundreds of members of this community through his service through many organizations.

Seminar to explore business opportunities with Cuba

AMARILLO — Did you know that trade with Cuba is legal? You can legally export products to Cuba and get paid in advance through a program supported by the U.S. Government. A seminar has been developed to help people learn more about doing business with Cuba. The seminar will be held Nov. 29 from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. at the Amarillo Civic Center Grand Plaza in conjunction with the Amarillo Farm and Ranch Show. It will provide comprehensive information about trading with Cuba, including the process, realistic expectations, important contacts and the necessary licenses.

"The seminar will focus on the potential of the Cuban market and how to conduct business with Cuba. During a panel discussion, those of us who have done business with Cuba will offer our experiences in exporting and allow for questions from the audience," said Rodney Mosier, executive vice president of the Texas Wheat Producers Board.

There is no charge to attend the seminar thanks to the following sponsors: WTAMU Small Business Development Center, Texas-Cuba Trade Alliance, Texas Sorghum Producers, Texas Corn Growers and the Texas Wheat Producers Board.

Legal exports to Cuba include: agricultural products, food, live animals, wood products and medical supplies.

The presenters for the seminar will be Dr. Jaime Malaga, Department of Agricultural & Applied Economics, Texas Tech University; Ms. Cynthia Thomas, president of TriDimension Strategies, L.L.C.; and Mr. Wayne Cleveland, executive director, Texas Sorghum Producers.

Pharmacy chain offers healthy holiday recipes, tips for people with diabetes

The holidays are filled with delectable dishes that tempt us to abandon healthy eating habits, a luxury that those with diabetes can't afford. In honor of American Diabetes Month this November, Medicine Shoppe® Pharmacies and the American Diabetes Association are offering free "Healthy Lifestyle Recipe and Nutrition Cards" full of recipes and meal-planning tips for people with diabetes at participating Medicine Shoppe Pharmacies across the country.

The annual release of the nutrition cards marks Medicine Shoppe Pharmacy's commitment to better serve individuals with diabetes, helping them to manage their disease proactively.

"The Healthy Lifestyle Recipe and Nutrition Cards are a great resource for people with diabetes," said Lindsey Stephens, pharmacist and director of best practices for Medicine Shoppe International, Inc. "The ADA-approved recipes take into consideration the amount of carbohydrates, fats and proteins that are being consumed, all of which play a role in blood sugar levels and overall health."

There isn't a specific "diabetes diet." The foods that are good for controlling blood glucose levels are the same foods that are good for everyone. Rather, people with diabetes need to strictly monitor foods and eating meals and snacks at similar times each day.

—Buy lean. Selecting lean meals such as poultry, fish and lean red meats will help maintain a diet low in saturated fats and high in nutrients.

—Keep it low-fat. Choosing low-fat products such as skim milk, low-fat cheese, nonfat yogurts, margarine instead of butter and reduced-fat vegetable cooking sprays will keep lean meals healthy throughout the preparation stages.

"Nutrition is extremely important for individuals with diabetes," said Ed Clay, an official with ADA. "The emphasis shouldn't be placed solely on which foods to eat or not eat, but how to balance the intake of nutrients throughout the day to control blood sugar levels."

The Healthy Lifestyle Recipe and Nutrition Cards offer 10 ADA-approved recipes for the holidays and throughout the year. Recipes include baked apple pancakes, holiday nog, hot artichoke dip, crispy chips, black bean soup, eggplant ricotta bake, sugar snap peas and peppers, granny smith pork, jambalaya and double-layer pumpkin cheesecake.

(NAPSA) — Although 10 million Americans have peripheral arterial disease (PAD), diabetics are at highest risk with one in three over age 50 affected. PAD is also the cause of 50 percent of all diabetic amputations. Through its Legs For Life program, the Society of Interventional Radiology Foundation is offering free ABI screenings nationwide to detect PAD early. Treatments for PAD include a walking program, medication, and angioplasty and stenting. More information and an online assessment test for PAD can be found at www.LegsForLife.org.

"An estimated 70,000 people get Salmonella from contact with reptiles in the United States each year," said Richard J. AGING

Get the facts on Medicare Part B

(NAPSA) — Did you know that one in five adults is the designated caregiver for an aging or disabled loved one who can't manage alone?

More than 50 million individuals are selflessly engaged in providing 80 percent of all home care services in America. In addition to assisting with activities of daily living, family caregivers are very influential providers of health care information for their care recipients.

If you are caring for someone who is eligible for Medicare or if you are among the millions of family caregivers who are eligible themselves, it is important that you learn as much as you can about the new Medicare Prescription Drug Benefit Program.

Medicare Part D is the most significant expansion in the history of the federal health program designed for the elderly and disabled.

The National Family Caregivers Association (NFCA) was founded to support, educate, empower, and advocate for America's millions of family caregivers. In keeping with its mission, NFCA urges you to learn more about Medicare Part D during open enrollment Nov. 15, 2005 to May 15, 2006.

As in many health plans, open enrollment is a great time to explore, compare, and make informed choices.

It is also a time during which a one-time cost-saving incentive is offered for early enrollees. Of particular interest to family caregivers, this saving can impact the escalating costs and use of prescription drugs over the lifetime of a care recipient.

Get the facts. Plan ahead. A detailed explanation of the program is offered by the federal government through the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services: 1-800-MEDICARE and www.medicare.gov.

Although very comprehensive, it can also be very complex.

Through the NFCA Web site, www.thefamilycaregiver.org, family caregivers can link to other sources of information that are easier to comprehend—some with links specifically designed for family caregivers.

For more information about the benefits of NFCA membership or to support its non-profit programs, please visit the organization online.

Sports Day

Pampa players named to All-District tennis teams

The Harvester Tennis team had several members named to the All-District teams for the fall season.

Coach Emily Laurence said, "I was very proud of the selections and think that my kids really deserved and worked hard for the awards they got. Several others on the team were mentioned but did not receive awards even though they had a great season also. It's tough to pick from such a great group of kids."

Myca Vinson also picked up the girls most valuable player award. With an 18-1 record on the season she was a likely choice for this honor.

"Myca is very deserving of this award. She is a great senior leader on our team and always has a winning attitude in which she leaves everything on the court in order to win."

Pampa finished third in district in the fall but managed to take most of the all district selections on the girl's side and one selection on the guy's side as well as mixed doubles.

"We had a very strong girl's team this year and will definitely look forward to the spring season. I think that we will have some definite competitors on both the girls and boys side."

The Harvesters will start back up in February with the Wichita Falls Tournament.

Palmeiro escapes perjury charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Baltimore Orioles star Rafael Palmeiro will not be prosecuted on perjury charges after lawmakers said there isn't enough evidence to prove he lied when he told a congressional panel under oath that he had "never used steroids" — six weeks before failing a steroid test.

Committee Chairman Tom Davis, R-Va., released the House Government

Reform Committee's 44-page report in the same hearing room where Palmeiro sat on March 17 alongside Jose Canseco, Mark McGwire and Sammy Sosa and vehemently denied using steroids.

In May, Palmeiro tested positive for the anabolic steroid stanozolol, leading to a 10-day ban from Major League Baseball.

The National Association of School Psychologists recently announced the acceptance of a proposal submitted by Tori M. Kelley of Pampa. The proposal was chosen for NASP's convention by the organization's 2006 Convention Committee.

"This means that NASP has accepted my proposal for presentation at the 2006 NASP convention in Anaheim, Calif., in March 2006," said Kelley, who is currently serving as a school psychologist intern with the local school district.

Kelley

The title of Kelley's presentation is "Distance-Based Education in School Psychology Training."

"NASP greatly appreciates your commitment to this professional development event, and we look forward to your participation," said Lisa Kelly-Vance, 2006 Convention Committee program co-chair, in a letter to Kelley.

AMARILLO — Jose Meraz of Pampa was recently among 56 new members inducted into Beta Eta Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa at Amarillo College.

PTK, an international honor society, promotes scholarship, leadership, fellowship and service at community colleges around the world.

Scholarships are available for active participants at the chapter level. Many four-year schools offer transfer scholarships specifically for PTK members, said Wendy Poling, organization sponsor.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — The University of Arkansas recently celebrated its "Campaign for the 21st Century." More than 72,000 people and groups contributed gifts to the campaign which raised $1.046 billion in seven years.

The university has 132 endowed chairs for professors, 1,738 scholarships and fellowships, $296 million in infrastructure and $191 million for campus programs.

Dr. Robert J. Hogan Jr., of Mobeetie holds the Harold F. Ohlendorf professorship in agricultural economics.

The Ohlendorf endowed chair was made available for an extension and research program focusing on production economics, marketing and farm management.

Dr. Hogan works with individual producers as well as leading economists from around the United States, Canada and Mexico.

KOPPERL — Kirt Bell of Kopperl, formerly of Pampa, recently earned certification as a Texas Master Math Teacher, making him one of only about 20 in the state, Bell said.

"I spent this last summer attending classes to qualify for the examination to be a Master Math Teacher," said Bell whose teaching methods, his ability to assist other math teachers, and his overall knowledge of such disciplines as Algebra, Calculus and statistics were tested.

The exam, he said, lasted five hours. Bell and his wife lived in Pampa for nine years.

The Budweiser Clydesdales

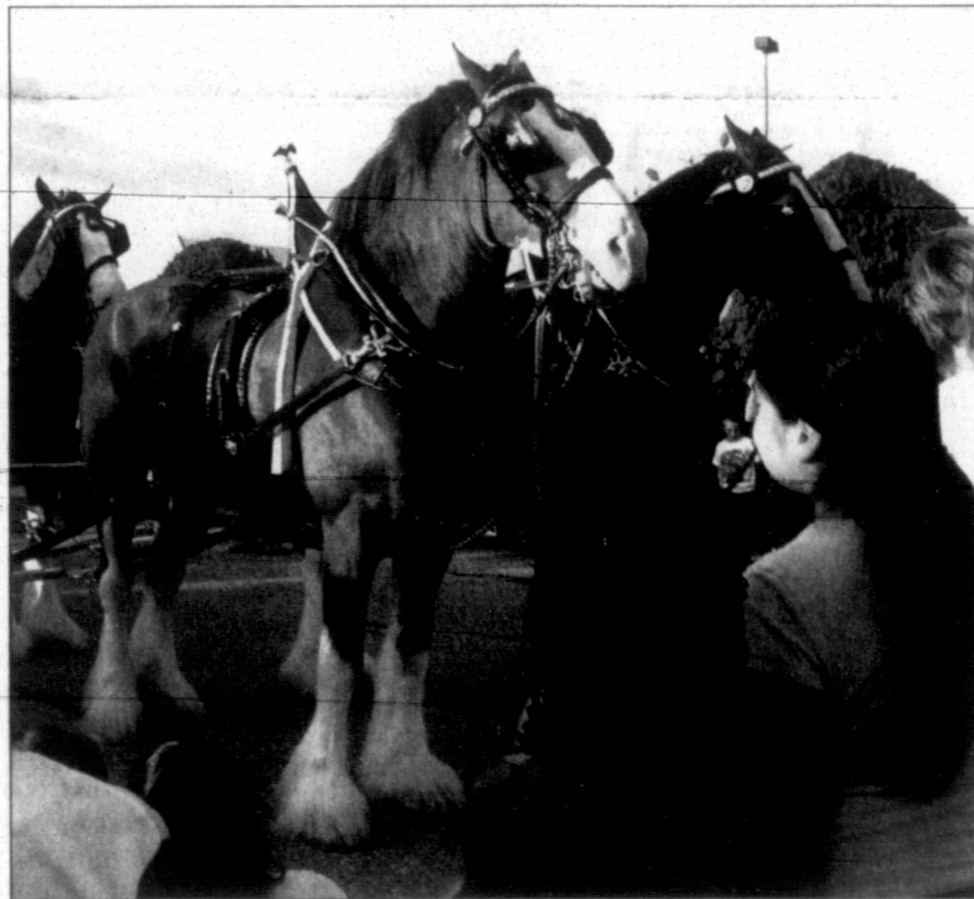

Doc the Clydesdale stands patiently for two hours Tuesday as admirers gather around him and the seven other horses in the Budweiser team.

Otis the Dalmatian is another familiar figure associated with the Budweiser Beer Wagon. He watched from atop the wagon as Pampa Mall visitors lined up to have their photo taken with the Clydesdales.

Story and Photos
by Marilyn Powers

Doc appears to be carrying on a conversation with some of his fans.

When the Budweiser Clydesdales came to town Tuesday, no one expected they would attract such a large crowd of admirers.

Visitors had the opportunity to buy photographs of themselves standing beside the famous eight-horse team, hitched to the red Budweiser beer wagon, complete with wagoner and a Dalmatian named Otis.

Proceeds from the sale of the photos goes to Pampa Special Olympics. During the two hours that the photos were taken, 90 customers lined up and bought photos.

"The response was just overwhelming. We weren't expecting this," said Kathy Hammer, a volunteer who helped with the photo-taking at the Pampa Mall.

Each person having their picture taken was posed beside Chester, who was described as the most people-oriented equine of the team. Periodically, Chester would turn his head to see who was standing beside him. He never did anything to cause anyone a moment's concern, however, although at his size, he could have done some damage if he chose.

Anheuser-Busch, owner of Budweiser breweries, owns approximately 250 Clydesdales. The team which visited Pampa is headquartered at SeaWorld San Antonio, which is also owned by Anheuser-Busch.

The Clydesdales chosen for the Budweiser teams are 18 hands, or about 6 feet, tall at the shoulder and weigh between 2,000 and 2,300 pounds.

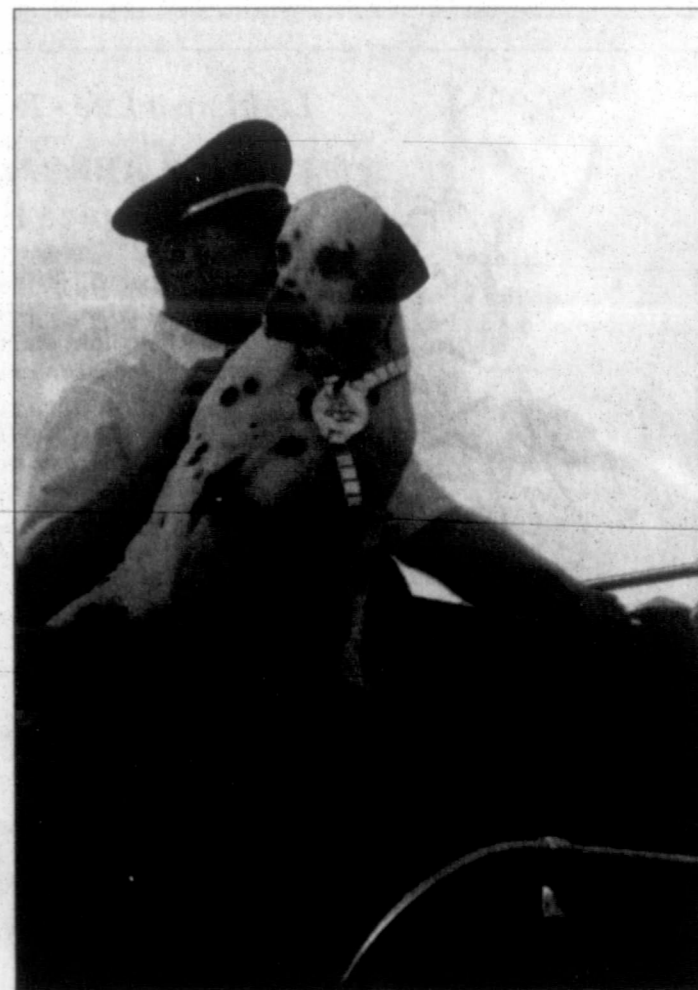

The team members generally are bay in color, with a black mane and tail and a white blaze on their faces. They have white "feathering" on their legs and feet.

The Pampa visit originated when Larry Lenderman, the local Budweiser distributor, mentioned to Shane Dyer that the Clydesdales were going to appear this weekend in the WRCA World Championship Ranch Rodeo in Amarillo. They were stabled in the Bill Cody Arena building of the Tri-State Fairgrounds in Amarillo.

The approximately 50 Pampa-Special-Olympics team members may participate in bowling, basketball, track and golf. Their next scheduled event is bowling in Amarillo, Hammer said.

Otis gets a few pats and scratches as the day draws to a close and the Pampa visit is nearly over.

Preston, Williams tie matrimonial knot

Alesha Preston became the bride of Seth Williams, both of Pampa, in a wedding ceremony held in the offices of Justice of the Peace Joe Martinez on Oct. 29. The nuptials were presided over by Judge Martinez.

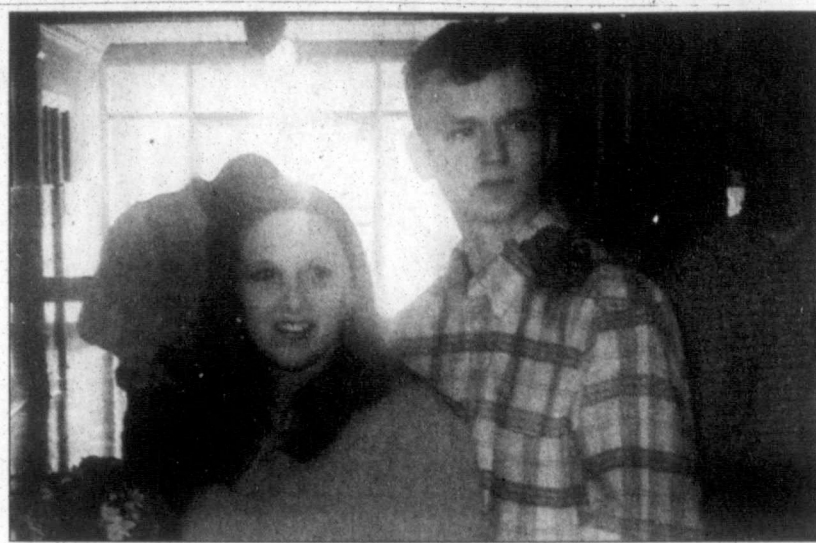

The bride is the daughter of Ronnie Preston of Pampa and the late Vicki Goering. The groom is the son of Ronnie and Terri Williams of Pampa.

Following the service, the couple was honored with a reception at The Coffee Shop with Carol Fulcher of Pampa, LuAnn Seabourn of Amarillo, Sherri Guinn of Tyler and Pam Powell of Owasso, Okla., serving the guests.

The groom is employed with Centramedia Online Services in Pampa.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Lubbock and intend to make their home in Pampa.

Hope for better films on horizon

The past few months have been a sad time for the film industry. The movies looked so lame, even I stopped going to the theater. Recently, things have started to look better. "Shopgirl," based on Steve Martin's novella of the same title, is a movie with some critical hype, but unfortunately it's rather disappointing. "Prime," starring U m a Thurman and Meryl Streep, is nothing spectacular, but it's cute. It has a solid cast and is an enjoyable romantic comedy. With it, I feel like we're on the periphery of good movies to come.

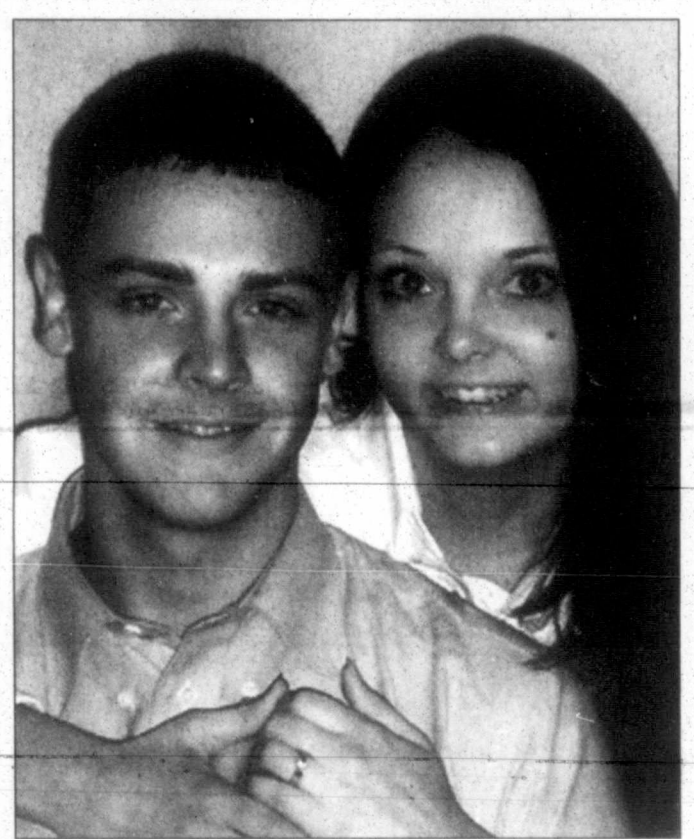

Steve Martin adapted "Shopgirl" from his well-received book. It focuses on Mirabelle (Claire Danes), a young woman stuck in a rut, searching for the happiness she deserves. She has a short fling with Jeremy (Jason Schwartzman), who doesn't exactly sweep her off her feet, seeing as he lacks some basic social skills. Then Ray Porter (Martin), a wealthy, older man she meets at the glove counter at Saks Fifth Avenue, where she works, enters the scene. He treats her like a queen, but problems arise when he can't fully commit.

Anita Hacker

from what we're used to seeing him do, and not a good different. He wasn't dramatic Steve Martin. He was just Steve Martin with the comedy taken out of him. In other words, boring Steve Martin. Also, nobody wants to see him in romantic situations. Actors have baggage, and Martin's is that we see him in a comedic light. He's the funny guy - not the sexy guy. Even though I knew "Shopgirl" wasn't a comedy, I still wasn't able to shake my preconceived notions of Martin. He should have known that, and if he wanted the film to be a successful See REVIEW, Page 10-B

Conner/May

Jessica Conner and Justin May, both of Abilene, plan to wed Dec. 3 at New Life Assembly of God in Pampa. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Janis and Ron Ebel of Pampa and Tim and Sheril Conner of Cumming, Ga. She is a graduate of Pampa High School and Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. She is currently employed with Funeral Directors Life Insurance Company in Abilene. The future groom is the son of Tina and Tony Abernathy of Abilene. He graduated from Cooper High School in Abilene and is currently employed at North's Funeral Home of Abilene. He plans to attend Texas State Technical College Aircraft Mechanic School in Abilene.

BY JACQUELINE BIGAR

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Sunday, Nov. 13, 2005:
You have the ability to adjust and come up with solutions. Though you begin a new luck cycle this year, you will also be concerned with the quality of your work and health. You can change a lot in your life as long as you have a sense of direction. You also have a lot of energy and spirit, which come out. Taking financial risks could be dangerous unless you can handle the loss. If you are single, you can kiss that status goodbye if you want. You will have many admirers around you. If you are attached, work more often as a team. You will greet success and a greater sense of togetherness. ARIES pushes you.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have:
5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 The same old routine will not feel right, now. You want to try something different or participate in an activity that isn't the norm. Meet a friend halfway who lives at a distance. Explore a new flea market. Tonight: As you wish. This Week: Indulge yourself, but be aware of your finances. Make calls and schedule meetings midweek.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 Take some quiet time with someone very special and dear to you. Whether walking in the country or just lounging at home, you find that you bond on a much deeper level. You might need to reach your opinions. Tonight: Make it an early bedtime. This Week: Monday, the Moon in your sign gives you an extra edge and bounce. Use care with finances from Wednesday on.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 Wherever you are, a party can be found. Celebrating seems second nature to you right now. Friends surround you. You might need to adjust to someone key in your life. Flex, and you'll find happiness. Tonight: Zoom in on what you want. This Week: Think through decisions quietly before you act on them. From Wednesday on, you are on the go.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 You are the powerhouse who makes a difference. Your ability to make others comfortable and bring people together marks your day. Be gentle with someone who might not be up to snuff. Tonight: Up late. This Week: Take charge Monday and Tuesday. You'll have an impact. Review ideas and a project midweek.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 Sometimes impulsiveness becomes you. Lift up constraints, let reason go and be spontaneous. You might surprise yourself with the ideas that come to mind. The child in you emerges. Tonight: Detach and make the impossible possible. This Week: You cannot skip out on your responsibilities. You will step up to the plate and hit a home run.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 Let go of judgments, and stop being a stick in the mud! A friend or partner leads you into a new type of experience. Your openness could bring a special closeness and caring. Tonight: Why get uptight? This Week: You need to check facts and figures before making a decision. Hear say means nothing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
 Others present ideas. You can say yes or no. What you find is that your plans will change. Spontaneity will bring unusual people and events into your life. Defer to others right now; you're not in control. Tonight: Go along with the program. This Week: Work with individuals. Eye contact means a lot. Do your research.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
 You might still need some time to yourself to center. A money matter might require you to sort through the pros and cons. Your smile proves to be a winner. Relax, and don't feel like you have to do anything. Tonight: In your easy chair. This Week: Others are in control. You are just along for the ride.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
 Being willing to adapt to the moment can make or break your day. A child or loved one brings out the kid in you. Don't deny that side of yourself. Go off and just enjoy. You need to give up control more often. Tonight: Have fun. This Week: Listen to what is happening and what others want. Try to deliver.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 Your family becomes an even higher priority. Just let what you want happen. You might need to change your mind-set. In fact, a new thought pattern can only enhance your intelligence and life. Invite others over. Tonight: At your place. This Week: Your imagination works wonders in all aspects of your life. Please use it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
 You might disappoint a friend as you adjust to the moment. An offer comes your way that you cannot refuse. Enjoy those who surround you. Make the most of the moment and the company. Invite a friend to join in. Tonight: Chat the night away. This Week: Family and home become a high priority Monday and Tuesday. From Wednesday on, you will be lighter, easy-going and more creative.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
 You might want to weigh the costs of an enterprise or investment that might impact your community or personal life. You will probably take the risk, as you can visualize the long-term benefits. Tonight: Talk to someone you trust and admit. This Week: You will be busy. Calls, meetings and requests come your way. By Thursday, you will want some quiet time.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Monday, Nov. 14, 2005:
You have your hands full this year, but somehow you'll come through with flying colors. Lady Luck will be sitting on your shoulder. Work and community commitments might be demanding, but your endurance mixed with your positive spirit will make the difference. Sometimes others will be critical of you or withhold things from you. Remember, you can only do so much. Claim your power and start creating the world that you want. If you are single, don't count on a relationship as being long-term until you have gone through a year together. Though you might experience a rocky beginning, this could be Mr. or Miss Right. If you are attached, agree to disagree. Try to walk in your partner's shoes. TAURUS always presents another view.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have:
5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 You might be more businesslike than usual. Hassles can occur, as Mercury goes retrograde today. Miscommunications and problems with mechanical items could develop. Be as clear as possible. Tonight: Evaluate your budget.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 The Moon in your sign adds to your vigor and energy. In some way, you hop over obstacles. Still, confusion could stem from joint finances and insurance policies. Be sure to dot your i's and cross your t's. Tonight: All smiles.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 You find that much goes on, but you might be happier distancing yourself from what happens. You could also feel out of sorts. Relax and enjoy some downtime. Don't make any decisions for the next few weeks. Tonight: Get some extra sleep. You will need it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 You might be questioning a friendship or long-term goal. Do just that before you plunge in. In fact, taking your time making decisions would be very wise. Don't think that what someone says is written in stone. Tonight: Where the crowds are.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 Whether you like it or not, you might need to step and change your plans. You are in charge, but might find it difficult to get others to follow your lead. Don't fight the inevitable. Sit down and think of another approach. Tonight: You get a late-night idea.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 You are pushed hard to see another point of view. You can. Investigate different ways of thinking, even if you're uncomfortable with the premise. Learning other thinking patterns will help your mind grow. Tonight: Talk to some other respected minds.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
 Work with others; let them feel that they are in charge. They want to play the big boss. Let them, and let them experience the end results. Just establish boundaries and stay clear of their messes, for your sake. Tonight: Early to bed.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
 You will have to defer to others for now. Sometimes people need to see what happens when they do what they think is right. Set your boundaries so that you aren't involved. Use your positive energy for yourself right now. Tonight:

Keep your own counsel.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
 You might not be pleased with what is going on, but then you don't always have to be happy. You are being pulled in many different directions. Stop and prioritize. Otherwise, you could make an error or have an accident. Tonight: Try an early night at home.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 You are imaginative and creative. Because of this rush of ingenuity, you get tired when others don't get it or when you have to explain over and over. You are heading down the right path. Tonight: Write down some of your ideas, or take off and play like a kid.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
 You certainly feel pressured, as others seem contrary or demanding. What was OK yesterday might not be today. Please note that this trend could reverse itself with some logic and a firm hand — but not today. Tonight: Stay close to home.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
 You could be in the midst of a brouhaha and not really want to be. Pace yourself more carefully than before. You must still concentrate on work or a project. Don't let events cause you to lose focus. Tonight: Try not to get in the middle of a problem. Take a walk.

APPLICATION AND PRELIMINARY DECISION. City of Lefors, P.O. Box 383, Lefors, Texas 79054, has applied to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) for a renewal of TPDDES — Permit No. 10411-001, which authorizes the discharge of treated domestic wastewater at a daily average flow not to exceed 100,000 gallons per day. This application was submitted to the TCEQ on June 7, 2005.

The facility is located approximately 1300 feet south of State Highway 273, 2.5 miles west of the intersection of Farm-to-Market Road 291 and State Highway 273 south of the City of Lefors in Gray County, Texas. The treated effluent is discharged to an unnamed tributary; thence to North Fork Red River in Segment No. 0224 of the Red River Basin. The unclassified receiving water uses are no significant aquatic life uses for designated tributary. The designated uses for Segment No. 0224 are high aquatic life uses and contact recreation.

The TCEQ executive director has completed the technical review of the application and prepared a draft permit. The draft permit, if approved, would establish the conditions under which the facility must operate. The executive director has made a preliminary decision that this permit, if issued, meets all statutory and regulatory requirements. The permit application, statement of basis / technical summary and executive director's preliminary decision, and draft permit are available for viewing and copying at Lefors City Hall, 101 North Court Street, Lefors, Texas.

PUBLIC COMMENT / PUBLIC MEETING. You may submit public comments or request a public meeting about this application. The purpose of a public meeting is to provide the opportunity to submit written or oral comments or to ask questions about the application. Generally, the TCEQ will hold a public meeting if the executive director determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the application or if requested by a local legislator. A public meeting is not a contested case hearing. Written public comments and requests for a public meeting should be submitted to the Office of the Chief Clerk, MC 105, TCEQ, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, TX adaptation from his book, he should have cast somebody else, and not taken the role himself.

Danes, in the title role, just gets by. She always does little things to make a character seem like a real person. But "Shopgirl" rests on the relationship between Mirabelle and Ray, and there's absolutely no chemistry between Danes and Martin. But I have to respect her for trying. I mean it was hard enough for me to watch Martin in romantic moments. Trying to act in them couldn't have been better.

The one bright spot of the film is Schwartzman. He's the comedic relief, and is such a scene-stealer. He's one of those actors that make you wonder how much of the performance is really them. Jeremy is such a weird character. He's an awkward guy, but is strangely self-confident. It's an odd combination, and Schwartzman is perfect for that role. His character in "Rushmore," one of my favorite movies, has that same quality.

Although Jeremy is a pivotal part of the story, Schwartzman's screen time is little, and "Shopgirl" is worse off for it. When he's not on screen the movie is slow. Slow is not always a bad thing, but this is a dragging slow. It seems like nothing really happens. Maybe it would have been different if Ray was cast differently, or there were more chemistry between him and Mirabelle. Or maybe the pacing is just off.

Where "Shopgirl" failed to meet my expectations, "Prime" did a better job. When Rafi (Uma Thurman) meets a younger man (Bryan Greenberg), she eagerly tells her therapist, Lisa Metzger (Meryl Streep), all about him. Dr. Metzger soon realizes that the David Rafi is speaking of is her son. Awkward therapy sessions and other complications ensue.

It's a good premise, something we haven't seen before. It provides the opportunity for some very funny moments, but the refreshing thing is the real conflict in the film comes from things the audience can identify with. Age and religious differences are the actual problems. David is from a strict Jewish family, and his family's expectations are important to him. Also his young age makes Rafi question whether they really want the same things.

"Prime" has such a strong cast. Streep's versatility is what makes her such a great actress. She has the ability to do comedy as well as drama. Her choices are surprising and her timing is dead on. Thurman is also fun to watch. In "Prime" she gives such a laid back, easy-going performance. It's so different from the over-the-top role in "Kill Bill." It's a natural performance that doesn't seek attention, but services the story.

Greenberg keeps up with the two established actresses in fine form. He does everything he's supposed to — he's dreamy, funny and charming. He also lets the women have their moments and they let him have his.

Overall, "Prime" does what it's supposed to do. It entertains the audience and makes you feel good for a couple of hours. If you're in the mood for a romantic comedy, it's the movie for you. And it also gives me hope that great movies are around the corner.

Conservation leaders gather in Corpus Christi

TEMPLE — More than 850 conservation leaders gathered in Corpus Christi recently to attend the 65th Annual State Meeting of Texas Soil and Water Conservation District Directors. Among those in attendance at the convention were David Bowers of Pampa, chair of the Gray County district, along with Manuel DeLeon, district conservationist with Natural Resource Conservation District's Pampa field office, and Troy Ritter of Groom, vice chair of the Gray County district.

The meeting brought together district directors from around the state representing the 217 Soil and Water Conservation Districts in Texas. These locally elected officials met with other state elected officials and state and federal agencies to discuss various issues dealing with soil and water conservation on privately owned farms and ranches in Texas.

The General Session consisted of a welcome address from the Hon. Henry Garrett, Mayor of Corpus Christi. Other speakers included the Hon. Todd Staples, state senator, State District 3, Palestine; Jesse Jack Hereford, Aide, U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison, Harlingen; Bill Wilson, president, National Association of Conservation Districts, Kinta, Okla.; James Grimm, executive vice-president, Texas Poultry Federation, Round Rock; Barry Mahler, president, Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts, Iowa and Britnee Brotherton, State FFA Soil and Water Stewardship Public Speaking Leadership Development Award 2005 Winner, Floydada.

David Bowers, Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District vice chair of Pampa, Manuel DeLeon, district conservationist, Pampa NRCS field office, and Troy Ritter, Gray County district vice chair of Groom.

The meeting concluded with keynote addresses from Executive Director of Texas FFA Foundation Aaron Alejandro of Austin; Central Regional Assistant Chief, USDA-NRCS Merlin Bartz of Washington, D.C.; and state conservationist with USDA-NRCS Dr. Larry Butler of Temple.

Conservation tours were scheduled during the meeting to the Welder Wildlife Refuge in Sinton and to the King Ranch in Kingsville.

Over 850 agricultural leaders from essentially every county in Texas, including SWCD directors, their spouses, SWCD employees, employees of USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service and other state and federal employees were in attendance at the meeting.

SWCDs are designed to deliver a local program, based on local needs, that best conserves and promotes the wise and judicious use of our renewable natural resources. They work to bring about the widespread understanding of the need for soil and water conservation.

In addition, they work to galvanize public and private organizations and agencies into a united front to combat soil and water erosion and to enhance water quality and quantity in the state. Through a Memorandum of Agreement with USDA, the NRCS works closely with and provides technical assistance to soil and water conservation districts.

The Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board is the lead agency in Texas responsible for planning, implementing, and managing programs and practices for abating and prevention agricultural and silvicultural nonpoint source pollution. In carrying out this mandate, the TSSWCB works shoulder-to-shoulder with the state's 217 SWCDs.
