Kirkin' O' the Tartan celebration returning to Presbyterian church

The annual "Kirkin' O' the Tartan" will be celebrated this coming Sunday during the 10:45 a.m. worship service at First Presbyterian Church, 525 N. Gray, in Pampa. Featured will be Thomas Campbell of Amarillo on the bagpipe.

Banners of tartans representing the clans of various members of the congregation will be carried in a procession at the beginning of the service. The procession will be accompanied by Campbell's rendition of "Scotland the Brave." The banners will be placed in the front of the sanctuary. Additional banners will hang from the ceiling of the church.

A luncheon will follow the service in the newly renovated church parlor for the entire congregation and guests. The meal will be a combination of potluck and Scottish cuisine.

Purely an American custom, the bringing of the "kirkin'" represents Scottish defiance against English rule and dates back to the 1700s when then English King Prince Charles outlawed the wearing of the distinctive plaid or tartan which represented each Scottish clan. Punishment for being caught with a tartan could be severe.

The clans took to carrying small pieces of the fabric to church, often in their pockets. The word for church in Olde Scot is "kirk," hence the name kirkin'.

The service is open to all who wish to come. For more information, call 665-1031 or 665-7321.

Jordan Bible students graduate from class

Twelve inmates at Jordan prison unit recently completed a Bible study on the book of John. Nearly 50 past and present students of the study attended a ceremony honoring the 12 new "Free For Sure" graduates.

Each graduate received a certificate of completion, the book "The Man In the Mirror," a specially designed bookmark, a copy of the poems "My Commitment As A Christian" and "Somebody," and a photo of themselves with the "free world" volunteers.

Graduating from the class were Jorge Alejandro, Eric Smith, George White, Ricky Alvarez, Kelvin Hardin, Mariano Garcia, Robin Whalon, Eddie McCarty, Robert Alexander, Eloy Guajardo, Ed Banks and Calvin Roberts.

In addition to refreshments, the group enjoyed poetry and music presented by volunteers Kathy Farrar, Joyce Field and Margie Moore. Other volunteers included J.B. and Bethel Walker.

MINISTER'S MUSINGS

Daniel was faithful no matter what the situation.

If you were kidnapped by a bunch of heathens who not only didn't believe in Jesus Christ, but were committed to another savior, and then hauled by those pagans to another country and kept there for 70 years, could you be faithful? Would you be faithful? That is the focus of today's article.

The book of Daniel opens with the fall of Judah to the Babylonian Empire in about 606 BC. Babylon's philosophy when it conquered a nation was to carry off into captivity the "cream of the crop" of the youth of the defeated race and to begin brainwashing them in the Babylonian ways immediately. Daniel was one of those kidnapped. They hauled him and the other captives off to Babylon, some 600-plus miles away.

By today's standards it was like taking them to the other side of the world. But Daniel was faithful. He didn't have his family or his childhood friends, and he was constantly barred with the teachings of the idolatrous ways of the Babylonians. But still Daniel was faithful.

Later in Daniel (5:1; 5:31; 9:1; 11:1; 10:1) events confirm that these parts of Daniel were written around 539-536 BC. That means that Daniel lived in Babylon for 70 years. The obvious conclusion would be that he was captured when he was an early teen.

Can you imagine the teenagers in your church being kidnapped and hauled off to another country and still faithful 70 years later? Can they see themselves faithful for all of those years without their

"How Great Thou Art"

In 1886, Swedish pastor Carl Boberg wrote this hymn after witnessing beautiful sunlight that followed a sudden thunderstorm while visiting a magnificent country estate. He called the hymn "O Store Gud" (Oh Great God). In 1927, S.K. Hine, a British missionary, translated it into English and wrote the fourth stanza at the outbreak of World War II.

Where is our hope in this seemingly hopeless world?

Look at the news on any given day and you'll likely walk away feeling that the world is a hopeless place. Terrorist attacks, natural disasters, oil and gas price escalations, health care for senior citizens, and loss of jobs can easily be found during any 30-minute broadcast. The average person gets hit with at least a dozen similar negative news stories daily and they all have the potential to undermine the one last survival tool we have — our hope.

There are a lot of things that we can live without, but we can't live without hope. As one writer noted, we can live an hour without oxygen, a week without water, three months without food, but no one can live without hope. The key to successful living is to know how to feed and protect your hope in spite of the negative events that surround us daily. The best definition of hope that I've encountered is "the confident expectation that something good will happen." Not that something good "might" happen, but rather that something good "will" happen. Hope is so powerful that even the writers of the Bible chose to include it in the important definition of faith by instructing that "faith is the substance of things hoped for." This insight gives us the basic weapon required to protect our hope — our faith. Living with the hope that things will get better has been the fuel that has delivered generations of Americans through many past catastrophes. The great depression, the dust-bowl, slavery, 9/11, wars, human loss, terminal illnesses and many other tragic events were successfully endured because of hope. The same hope of our forefathers is the same hope that is available to us today and it is the same that is the substance of our faith. Emerson wrote, "Oh lord, how unhappy are men that allow men to make them unhappy." Emerson understood the importance that nothing in the world should have so much power that it robs us of our hope. I have a relative who will not leave the house until she reads her horoscope and if it is negative will return to bed until the next day. Sadly, her hope originates from the mind and thoughts of man. So where is our hope? It's not with palm readers, it's not with the government, not with our jobs, nor with our money, family or friends. Hope can only come from one source and discovering that source can make a world of difference in a world that is full of bad news.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Jan. 20, the 20th day of 2006. There are 345 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

Twenty-five years ago, on Jan. 20, 1981, Iran released 52 Americans it had held hostage for 444 days, minutes after the presidency had passed from Jimmy Carter to Ronald Reagan.

On this date:

In 1801, John Marshall was appointed chief justice of the United States.

In 1841, the island of Hong Kong was ceded to Great Britain. (It returned to Chinese control in July 1997.)

In 1887, the U.S. Senate approved an agreement to lease Pearl Harbor in Hawaii as a naval base.

In 1896, comedian George Burns was born. Nathan Birnbaum in New York City.

In 1936, Britain's King George V died; he was succeeded by Edward VIII.

In 1942, Nazi officials held the notorious Wannsee conference, during which they arrived at their "final solution" that called for exterminating Jews.

In 1945, President Roosevelt was sworn into office for an unprecedented fourth term.

In 1954, "The Caine Mutiny Court-Martial," a play by Herman Wouk based on part of his novel "The Caine Mutiny," opened on Broadway.

In 1986, the United States observed the first federal holiday in honor of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.

In 1986, Britain and France announced plans to build the Channel Tunnel.

Ten years ago: Hundreds of thousands of Palestinians turned out to vote in a festive first election, solidly endorsing Yasser Arafat and his peace policies.

Sin is paying off for some U.S. charities

Sin is paying off for some American charities as scared politicians in Washington try to dump their Jack Abramoff campaign contributions. Putting daylight between themselves and this first-class crook will not be easy. Abramoff no doubt caused digestive problems for a number of members of Congress and their staffs when he decided to turn canary and sing the tunes dictated by federal prosecutors. Corruption in Washington is so pervasive that a number of people forgot a very important lesson: There is no honor among the dishonorable. Faced with a very long prison sentence, the once-cocky Abramoff said, "Who do you want me to rat on?"

Many of these politicians and arrogant little staff members are now having nightmares about orange jumpsuits and bright, shiny handcuffs. Let us all hope fervently that their nightmares come true. Let us all pray that there are still a few honest people in the Justice Department, protected by civil service, who will do their duty and not the bidding of their political boss.

Abramoff was one of the young stars of the "new conservatives" rising through the ranks of the College Republicans. As it turned out, these guys were neither new nor conservative. They loved big government — as much as the liberals — as long as they could control it and direct the patronage. Their morals were as old as sin itself. They got drunk on arrogance. They got greedy. All of their high-blown rhetoric was as nothing compared with a fat bank account, a mansion and memberships at all the fancy watering holes.

The problem is that in Washington, the only god in town is money. The pols need money to run their campaigns. The lobbyists need money to buy their votes. The special interests are more than eager to supply the money in exchange for favors. Why do you think the tax code is about 22,000 pages of small print? They need that verbiage to hide favors written into the legislation in return for the lucre.

Campaign-finance reform will never work. Whatever amount of money a politician needs to win he will find a way to get by hook or by crook. The answer has to be to find ways to limit the amount of money that can be spent. Multimillion-dollar campaigns are an invitation to corruption.

Under the original Constitution, senators were chosen by their respective state legislatures. During one of the reform frenzies, an amendment changed this to make senators run statewide. We should rethink this. In today's overpopulated America, it is impossible to run a statewide campaign in a large state without spending millions of dollars. Having senators chosen by state legislators who are answerable to the people would take a huge hunk of money out of the equation. It would also help people realize the importance of their state legislators.

Another step should be to require that all campaign contributions come from individuals who are legal residents of the politician's district. As it is today, once a man gets to Washington, he can raise his next campaign kitty in Washington. This is a huge disconnect between the congressman and the people back home he's supposed to represent. He doesn't really need the people back home. He just needs the money, which he gets in Washington, to fool the people back home once every two years.

Media, pollsters and marketing people have taken over our political process. Huge amounts of campaign money flow into the pockets of these people, and consequently, we live in an age of perpetual campaigning. Perhaps we should limit campaigns to three months, PHS students' show of respect ...

I am writing this letter to commend the students from Pampa High School for their reverence and respect they showed to my family and me as we drove to Fairview Cemetery recently to bury my husband.

This spoke volumes to the ones in the procession from Pampa and also to those from out of town.

Oftentimes we hear mainly about the bad actions of youth, but I wanted to acknowledge the ones who stood at attention, bowed their heads and placed their hands over their hearts.

Thank you, youth! It meant a lot to me.

A sample of editorial opinion around Texas:

The Odessa American on the impact of the indictment of lobbyist Jack Abramoff:

The indictment and subsequent guilty plea of Washington superlobbyist Jack Abramoff, on charges that he defrauded clients, has many in the capital squirming. And while we feel little sympathy for those who took an active and conscious part in his scams, there's also a tremendous potential in this situation for smears, character assassinations and guilt by association. We would therefore caution readers to be discerning about painting all the players with the same broad brush before all the facts are in. It's by now clear that Abramoff took a sometimes honorable, sometimes sketchy profession to sleazy new lows. For that, he and any co-conspirators should be held accountable.

But in an effort to soften his own punishment, he has agreed to work with federal prosecutors "in an investigation of influence peddling involving members of Congress," according to a wire story. So what's largely been an inside-the-Beltway sideshow now has the potential to widen into a major scandal.

In order to spare himself a harsh prison sentence, Abramoff will now try dragging down as many former associates as possible which means some otherwise honorable people could be smeared in the short run, even if eventually cleared of wrongdoing. The fact that Abramoff is a "Republican" lobbyist only increases the likelihood that this affair will be exploited for ideological or partisan purposes.

If the facts uncovered result in a full-blown scandal, so be it. We won't mourn for those snared in Abramoff's tangled web. But the witch hunt potential here is exceedingly high, so it's important to keep things in perspective. Not everyone associated with Abramoff should be assumed guilty of corruption. What Abramoff is in trouble for isn't "influence peddling," but defrauding clients, which are two different things.

ban polling and ban television advertising. Before the three-month period begins, candidates should be forbidden to spend even one dime on their campaigns.

You might have even better ideas. The point is, all of us must think of ways to shrink the influence of money on the American political process. Power is shifting away from the people to the big-money crowd. Unless the trend is reversed, it will inevitably lead to more corruption and rule by an oligarchy that will sit behind the scenes and instruct its bought politicians. Our elections will become meaningless, since the oligarchs will dictate the only choices we have on the ballot.

One of the things that worries me a lot these days is the general absence of outrage. I don't believe self-government can work unless people get angry about corruption. To shrug it off is to accept it. One must never tolerate evil.

Lobbyist

"Influence peddling" is not, as far as we know, a crime: If it were, half of Washington would be behind bars. So let's be discerning in separating real criminals from those who innocently brush up against one or two corrupt lobbyists in a town where networking is a way of life. And let's take care not to criminalize legitimate lobbying activities by lumping them under the rubric "influence peddling," or to taint all lobbyists as Abramoff clones.

We don't often find ourselves coming to the defense of the parasites that feed on the bloated body politic. But not every member of Congress who had a dinner or cloakroom discussion with Abramoff is corrupt. Not every lobbyist is involved in the kind of billing skullduggery and double-dealing Abramoff was.

And not every client who didn't get his wish-list fulfilled by a lobbying shop has been victimized or defrauded. The goodness or malevolence of lobbyists largely depends on where one stands on the issues they are lobbying on. Within limits, lobbyists (in the broadest sense of the word) have a valid, sometimes even beneficial role to play in ensuring that various voices are heard in Washington. But like any other profession, some are dishonest in how they ply their trade.

Power is a bipartisan and equal-opportunity corrupter. And the Abramoff saga, if it can teach us anything at this point, demonstrates that the temptations may just be greatest for the party in power, with its fingers most firmly clasp the federal purse strings. Majority status has obviously had a corrupting influence on the GOP. But it corrupted many Democrats, too, when they were in charge.

We long have held that the reason Jack Abramoffs exist, persist and proliferate is that there is far too much money and power centered in Washington. Unless we reverse that unfortunate and dangerous trend, and de-fund and de-power Washington as much as possible, it will be impossible to purge the potential for corruption from politics.

earthly family, without their childhood friends, without their country, etc.?

Well, Daniel was.

Could today's Christian teens withstand 70 years of brainwashing by a false religion and still be faithful 70 years later? Daniel was.

What about you? What about me? What if we were cut off from everything and everyone except our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ? Would He be enough? What if we didn't have any of our Christian music? What if we didn't even have our Bible? What if we couldn't go to church? What if we were pounded every day for 70 years with some pagan religion? Would the Lord still find us faithful without all of our blessings?

That is the point of today's article. Just think about it. We need to be as confident in our walk with Jesus as Daniel was in his walk with Jehovah. We need to know that we would be faithful no matter what and no matter for how long. Daniel did and we can, too. Think about it.

God bless.

JESUS CHRIST, THE SAME
YESTERDAY, TODAY, AND FOREVER
HEBREWS 13:8

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

DEAR ABBY: I went into our home office and noticed that my wife had left her e-mail on. I spotted an odd name, so I opened one of the messages and my jaw dropped. It was from a man with whom my wife was having an affair. The e-mails were so graphic as to leave nothing to the imagination. This person is someone with whom my wife had an affair before we got together. He was going to leave his wife and live with her before we met, but when push came to shove, he stayed with his wife and just used mine for sex. One of the messages discussed a planned meeting that did not take place -- only because he got stuck at work. She e-mailed him and told him he could stop by the house any night after 10 and have sex for an hour or two because our 5-year-old son and I were sleeping in other bedrooms! She insists that "nothing happened," which I have trouble believing. We have been seeing a therapist who believes my wife, and says that since "nothing happened" it wasn't an affair. I disagree. Am I wrong? -- FURIOUS IN NEW JERSEY

DEAR FURIOUS: You now have two problems. You have a therapist who is siding with your wife, and an advice columnist who sees it your way. No, I do not think you are wrong. And unless your wife can come up with a satisfactory explanation for inviting her old lover over for sex under the same roof as her child and her husband, I'd say your marriage is O.V.E.R.

DEAR ABBY: I have one sister. Our mother is deceased. When our father passes away, he will leave a sizable estate to my sister and me, consisting of two homes and various businesses. Because my sister lives 300 miles away, I will likely be the one taking care of Dad's affairs after his death.

This will involve a great deal of time, going through both houses, some cleaning, and too many phone calls to count, etc. Would it be fair to keep track of the time my husband and I devote to this, charge an hourly fee, and deduct it from my sister's share of our father's estate? Let's face it, fair is fair. -- DREADING WHAT'S AHEAD

DEAR DREADING: It seems fair to me. However, if your father has his faculties, this is something that should be discussed while he's still living so it can be noted in his will. If he's too ill to talk, then speak to the lawyer who drew up the will. You may be surprised to learn that what you have in mind is usual and customary. The lawyer can explain it to you.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend, "Craig," whom I have known almost a year. We have become closer than friends in a lot of ways -- except the one way that counts, if you know what I mean. Craig likes to tease me about sex, but says it will never happen because he doesn't want to ruin the friendship. Do you think it's fair for him to arouse me and then just run out the door? Craig says he doesn't want me, but when I go out on dates with other people he gets mad. How should I handle this? -- IRRITATED IN GEORGIA

DEAR IRRITATED: The key phrase in your letter is "he says he doesn't want me." Craig may enjoy teasing you (a power play), or he might be gay (unavailable for romance). In either case, the result will be frustration for you if you allow the relationship to continue as it is. I say, move on.

Destiny Fitzer fires off a short jump shot against the defense of the Lady Bulldogs at McNeely Field House Thursday night. Fitzer and her Pampa teammates fell to Plainview, 39-23.

Freshman girls fall to Plainview, 39-23

By MICHAEL J. STEVENS
Sports Editor

The Lady Harvesters freshman team hosted Plainview at McNeely Field House Thursday night, and despite a solid defensive performance, fell to the Lady Bulldogs, 39-23.

Holly Winegeart led Pampa in scoring with seven points. She also scooped up four rebounds.

Of the four quarters, it was the second that seemed to doom the Lady Harvesters. Said head coach Troy Owens, "We came out playing good defense. We just couldn't make a shot." Owens noted the second period, saying, "In the second, we lost everything." Pampa was outscored in the quarter, 17-2.

The Lady Harvesters stepped up in the second half, holding Plainview in check and allowing just 11 points, while Pampa added 12 to its total.

Pampa is now 3-7 for the season with little time to rest as they host Caprock Saturday morning at 10.

Harvesters home to host Demons

By MICHAEL J. STEVENS
Sports Editor

Pampa is back home in The Pit tonight after two very important road wins over Randall and Caprock to open the District 3-4A season. The Harvesters host Dumas (12-8, 0-2). Game time is 7:30 p.m.

You would think given his team's performance to this point, head coach Dustin Miller and his guys would be marked men by now. "You know, I think people respect our record but I still don't know if we are a marked team," said Miller. "Obviously people will recognize that we won on the road but I'm still not sure people outside of Pampa recognize exactly what it is these boys have done." What they have done is put together a record of 17-4 overall, 2-0 in District 3-4A. Pampa enters tonight's game tied with Palo Duro for first place in the district. The lack of attention beyond the Pampa boundaries may be a good thing. "It gives us plenty of motivation to keep doing what we are doing," said Miller.

Though the PD games looms large on the Harvester horizon, Miller knows better than to look beyond the Demons tonight. "Dumas is a district opponent that we will treat like everyone else," noted Miller. "You have to be ready to play at all times no matter if it is a home game or road game."

Miller noted he expects Dumas to attack his team with a zone defense, which could shut down the lane and force Pampa into taking shots from outside. "We better be prepared to shoot the ball well tonight," Miller said.

Not one to allow his team to rest on its record, Coach Miller was asked what he wanted to see most from his team against Dumas tonight. "I want us to go out and play Pampa basketball. That is hard pressure defense, running up and down the floor and shooting the ball well. We are really anxious to play at McNeely again and hopefully we have a nice crowd," said Miller.

One of the unique aspects of the Harvesters is the challenge they present to opponents. Notes Miller, "I would not want to prepare for us because we have four people averaging double figures. It is tough to decide who you chose to focus on."

Those four are Sharod Young (17.2), Jarrett Kotara (15.4), Braydon Barker (11.8) and Tyler Hall (11.6). Kotara leads the district in rebounds, averaging just under 10 per contest.

The sixth-man should be loud and noisy tonight, making things even tougher for the Demons.

Sports Day had just one more question for Coach Miller this morning. What does 7:30 p.m. Tuesday mean to him? Miller replied, "We have a game Tuesday?"

Sharod Young

Lady Harvesters pursue unexplored territory tonight

By MICHAEL J. STEVENS
Sports Editor

The Lady Harvesters could find themselves in foreign territory if all goes well against the Demonettes tonight. "Tonight we have a chance to be in second place by ourselves at 4-1, a place we have never been," said Pampa head coach Troy Fry.

Fry's team has gone 3-0 since dropping a close district opener against Palo Duro.

In the Demonettes, the Lady Harvesters face a team not unlike the scrappy Caprock squad Pampa edged Tuesday night.

"Dumas is somewhat like Caprock, a very young team that plays very hard," said Fry. "They like to run the flex offense and could come out and run a box-and-one against Britteni (Rice) tonight." Fry added he wouldn't be surprised to see Dumas try to press his team as well.

If all in fact goes as planned and Pampa wraps the first half of the District 3-4A season with a mark of 4-1, will he consider his team a contender for the title?

Said Fry, "I consider ourselves a contender only if we play aggressive defense the rest of the season." He continued, "It would feel great to finally be the chased and not the chaser."

Pampa enters the night 11-13, 2-0. Dumas is 9-13, 1-3.

Games tonight can be heard on AM 1230 KGRO and via the Web at www.centramedia.com.

Pack The Pit nights

By MICHAEL J. STEVENS
Sports Editor

The Pampa High School basketball boosters have set aside Tuesday's home game against Palo Duro and the Jan. 31 game against Randall as 'Pack The Pit' nights.

Door prizes and giveaways are scheduled prior to halftime of the Lady Harvester's games, so it would behoove Pampa fans to arrive early and plan on a night of Harvester hoopla.

slips and checks for his company," Romo said in the affidavit.

"Mr. Hall advised that the boxes of checks and deposit slips were opened but not disturbed. Mr. Hall thought the incident was strange and wanted to report the matter in case he began to get unknown charges on his checking account," Romo said.

Det. Beverly Chace of Pampa Police Department identified the man as Zachary Wilson, 2600 N. Hobart #C6, on Jan. 4, according to Romo's affidavit.

On Wednesday, Chace and officers of Gray County

Sheriff's Office were looking for Ryan Mears on a felony arrest warrant. They went to Wilson's apartment in search of Mears because Wilson was a known associate of Mears, Romo said.

Wilson answered the door to his apartment Wednesday and gave verbal consent to the officers to search his apartment for Mears, according to Romo's affidavit.

"While in Zachary Wilson's bedroom, the officers observed in plain view mail that did not belong to Mr. Wilson," Romo said.

Romo was called to the apartment, and Wilson subsequently gave Romo written permission to search the residence, according to the affidavit.

"Found incident to the search was a large amount of mail addressed to post office boxes at the Pampa post office. Among the mail recovered from Wilson's bedroom was a pad of Mr. Locke's Bank of America deposit slips. The deposit slips were imprinted with Mr. Locke's Pampa post office box address," Romo said.

In an interview with Wilson, Romo said Wilson admitted he had begun breaking into post office boxes at Pampa Post Office in October or November 2005, and had returned some mail to a ranch office two or three weeks earlier.

"He told me that he had stolen all the mail that was found in his bedroom and that he worked alone," Romo said.

Wilson was transferred Thursday from Gray County Jail to a federal detention facility at an unknown location, according to jail records. The charge against him had originally been listed as "burglary of a building" on jail arrest records.

Theft of mail is a federal offense in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1708.

PISD

All campuses were deemed academically acceptable except for Austin Elementary which was Academically Recognized by the state. Multiple schools in PISD received "Gold Performance" which is determined by the number of students commended in various areas of testing.

The board was also presented with an audit of last year's finances performed by the firm of Graham, Brown, and Co.

Total assets were valued at $22 million including $12 million in net assets. The district began last year with a fixed $32 million and was only lessened in large amounts by purchases of items such as kitchen equipment and buses. No area of the audit was found to need further investigation. The district was commended for monitoring and accurately amending the budget throughout last year.

Finally, PISD received eight quotes on the architectural work estimated for the projects set forth by the district's facilities committee. A meeting with three top prospects was scheduled for Feb. 6 at 6:30 p.m. in the junior high auditorium. The school board would like to hire one of these firms at the February board meeting.
