final tally

No changes were made to valuations reviewed at the July 20 property tax hearings held by Gray County Appraisal Review Board, and two business valuations which had been pending were completed, according to Chief Appraiser Pat

"Now we're trying to get everything tied together and file reports for the county." Bagley said.

Two residential and two business valuations were scheduled for the hearing. One representative of the residential property attended, and that valuation was unchanged.

The two corporate valuations had not vet been completed because board members had asked for further information from the companies in order to arrive at an accurate valuation.

The final tally appraised value of current taxable property in the county is expected to be completed mid-week, he said. The final tax roll for the upcoming fiscal year will be sent to the county tax assessor-collector, and the information will then go to the various taxing entities, including city and county governments and school districts.

"Their job is to set the tax rate," Bagley said. The taxing entities will use the appraisal information to determine the tax rate they will impose in order to collect enough funds to meet their budget requirements for the upcoming fiscal year.

Feds to up prosecutors for border area

By TIM KORTE Associated Press Writer

ALBUOUEROUE, N.M. (AP) — Attorney General Alberto Gonzales has outlined plans to add 20 new federal prosecutors to handle immigration related offenses and five others who will target drug trafficking in states along the border with Mexico.

"We've heard the cries of our U.S. attorneys, who tell us they need additional resources," Gonzales said Monday during a news con-office in Albuquerque.

Gonzales also challenged Congress to keep the money coming, saying comprehensive immigration reform will require more judges, marshals and bed space to fully secure the border.

"We need to ensure that as we increase our efforts on the front end of the process that we also have the ability at the back end to prosecute these folks," he said.

The $2 million supplemental funding will help federal authorities assign prosecutors for border areas of California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to address human smuggling, illegal entry into the United States and document fraud. They also will target employers who hire undocumented immigrants.

Five additional prosecutors one in each of the five federal law enforcement districts along the border — will be assigned under the Justice Department's Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force. They will target drug trafficking organizations.

"There is some correlation," Gonzales said. "Obviously, smuggling occurs in connection with illegal immigration. Also, there is a serious drug trafficking problem on our southern border."

Additionally, Department of Homeland Security will identify lawyers who will be designated as special assistant U.S. attorneys, responsible for prosecuting immigration offenses.

The U.S. attorney in each of the districts along the border will determine the best ways to specifically allocate the new prosecutors.

U.S. Attorney David Iglesias said one of the four prosecutors who will be assigned to his district in New Mexico will focus on drug cases while the others will deal with violent crime and immigration, which he described as two categories where he has the greatest Iglesias said the new prosecutors are just one element of a multi-pronged approach to deal with immigration. He cited the National Guard troops who are helping along the border and stepped up efforts by the Homeland Security Department.

Treasury Secretary Paulson worries aloud about 'protectionist' trends

WASHINGTON (AP) -Treasury Secretary Henry Paulson voiced support for a strong dollar on Tuesday and said America "must welcome competition, not run away from it" if the country wants to maintain a competitive advantage.

Delivering his first major speech since he was sworn in three weeks ago as the nation's 74th Treasury secretary, Paulson said he would work to tackle long-term problems such as the need to overhaul the government's three huge benefit programs Social Security, Medicare and Medicaid. Mindful that the country must borrow $2 billion daily from foreigners to finance its huge trade deficits, Paulson, like his predecessors, expressed unwavering support for keeping the dol-

No indictment in death of women after late-term abortion

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A Sedgwick County grand jury found no criminal conduct in the death of a mentally retarded woman who suffered a massive infection following a late-term abortion.

District Attorney Nola syndrome. Foulston said Monday the grand jury was dismissed without returning an indictment in the death of 19-yearold Christin Gilbert, a Keller, Texas, woman with Down

An autopsy report showed Gilbert died in January 2005 of complications from an abortion at Women's Health Care Services.

The grand jury had heard testimony since May, after anti-abortion activists presented a petition with more than 7,700 signatures to the clerk of Sedgwick County District Court calling for a grand jury investigation.

Abortion opponents contended Gilbert did not have FILL A Flat Sale, $6.50! Polthe mental capacity to consent either to sex or an abortion. FBI subpoenas Dallas school district credit card receipts

DALLAS (AP) — The FBI has subpoenaed the Dallas Independent School District's credit card records from the past 2 1/2 years as the district continues its own investigation into possible credit card abuse.

The subpoena issued last week asks for all records and documents relating to credit card use beginning in January 2004.

"We're working with the FBI to provide the documents," said Paul Coggins, a former U.S. attorney hired by the district to investigate possible card abuse. "We'll turn everything over once we get it and have it in a usable form."

The FBI began investigating possible corruption within the district last summer after The Dallas Morning News reported on relationships between district officials and vendors, including a school official's use of a fishing boat owned by executives of the district's largest computer sup-

Superintendent Michael Hinojosa canceled the district's credit card program earlier this month in response to reports of wasteful spending and lax oversight of the program. The district also hired Coggins' firm, Fish and Richardson, to conduct an independent investigation.

The cancellation was in response to a Dallas Morning News investigation that found thousands of potentially wasteful purchases with district cards. A review of district records spanning two years found more than $6 million in purchases that either violated state laws or district policy.

District officials would not confirm or deny the FBI subpoena, citing the ongoing investigation.

District employees face a Tuesday deadline for submitting receipts of their purchases with district credit cards.

Hinojosa has said employees who can't justify their credit card purchases with receipts or other records would be held liable for the charges, while those who misused the cards would also be fired.

University of Texas sniper attack

AUSTIN (AP) — The University of Texas was marking the 40th anniversary of the infamous Tower massacre with a low-key observance, lowering flags to half-staff on campus Tuesday and accepting some newly available documents related to gunman Charles Whitman.

Whitman, 25, a Texas student who was a native of Lake Worth, Fla., was killed by a pair of Austin police officers who reached him about 90 minutes after he opened fire from the 28th-floor observation deck just before noon on Aug. 1, 1966.

Whitman's actions that day ultimately left 17 people dead and nearly three dozen others wounded in what at the time was the nation's worst mass shooting.

Authorities later would discover Whitman also was responsible for fatally stabbing his mother and his wife in the hours before he went to the tower.

August got left out when they passed out holidays

The month of August was forgotten when holidays were being handed out.

There are no big observances scheduled for August. All the other months have at least one holiday. I like to think of August as the "time out" month, when no decorations, dinners or festivities are scheduled or expected.

Our eighth month has not escaped being designated for a mixed bag of observances, however. August is listed on one web site as American Artist Appreciation Month, Cataract Awareness Month, Catfish Month, National Eye Exam Month, Immunization Awareness Month, Inventors Month, Peach Month, Romance Awareness Month, Spinal Muscular Atrophy Month, and Water Quality

August has its share of week-long as well as monthlong observances, too.

The first week of the month Coast Guard Day. is Breastfeeding Week and Clown Week. The second week is Smile Week (no, I'm not kidding). The third week is Children's Book Week in Australia and Friendship Week in the U.S.

I guess you can smile during the second week in order to win a friend for the third

Believe it or not, there are no listings for the fourth week of August. It's only a matter of time, however. Someone somewhere will propose national something week and discover that the last week in August is ripe for the picking.

There are days which are also singled out as observances for something or other. Aug. 1 is Respect for Parents Day. Aug. 2 is Ice Cream Sandwich Day. Aug. 3 is Watermelon Day, and Aug. 4 is Champagne Day, Chocolate Chip Day, Twins Day and

Aug. 5 is up for grabs. Aug. 6 is Mustard Day, Peace Day, and Root Beer Float Day. (Have you

Ice cream in all varieties gets a lot of attention, too, probably because the month

I never have understood why we have to have special days, weeks or months for such things as interpersonal relationships and specific foods. The days celebrating relationships seem like a way for greeting card companies to generate a little income during an otherwise flat sales month.

The food days may have it a little rougher, depending on the food. For example, I'm not going to rush out and buy mustard or go out of my way to eat mustard on Mustard Day.

Before we descend to such depths as Half-Sister-In-Law's Daughter Day or Second Cousin Twice Removed Day, I'd like to claim one of August's vacant days for an observation of my

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 1, the 213th day of 2006. There are 152 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

Forty years ago, on Aug. 1, 1966, 25-year-old Charles Joseph Whitman went on a shooting rampage at the University of Texas clock tower in Austin, killing 14 people with a high-powered rifle. Whitman, who had also murdered his wife and mother hours earlier, was gunned down by police.

In 1894, the First Sino-Japanese War erupted, the result of a dispute over control of Korea; Japan's army routed the Chinese.

In 1914, Germany declared war on Russia at the onset of World War I.

1936, In Olympic games opened in Berlin with

In 1946, President Truman signed the Fulbright Program into law, establishing the scholarships named for Sen. William J. Fulbright.

In 1946, the Atomic Energy Commission was established. In 1957, the United States and Canada reached agreement to create the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD).

In 1981, 25 years ago, the rock music video channel MTV made its debut.

Ten years ago: In a political victory for President Clinton, a federal jury in Little Rock, Ark., acquitted two Arkansas bankers of misapplying bank funds and conspiracy to boost his political career. (The jury deadlocked on seven other counts.) At the Atlanta Olympics, Michael Johnson broke his world track record by more than three-tenths of a second, winning the 200 meters in 19.32 seconds.

Five years ago: The Federal Trade Commission cleared the way for PepsiCo to acquire Quaker Oats for about $13.4 billion in stock.

Constitutional contempt is contemptible

Representatives voted 245 to 159 to pass the Internet Gambling Prohibition Act of 1999. Because of a rule requiring two-thirds approval, the measure didn't pass. Its sponsor, Bob Goodlatte, R-Va., plans to introduce it again when only a majority is needed for pas-

If enacted, it would "Amend the Federal criminal code to make it unlawful for any person engaged in a gambling business to knowingly use the Internet or any other interactive computer service to: (1) place, receive or otherwise make a bet or wager; or (2) send, receive, or invite information assisting in the placing of a bet or wager."

Criminal penalties include fines and up to five years' imprisonment.

There is absolutely no constitutional authority for get a majority vote, Walter ignore the Williams clearly written consti-Columnist tutional restraints on Congress. The key restraint here is the Tenth Amendment, which holds that all powers not enumerated in the Constitution belong to the people and the states. Of course, congressmen might pretend they have such authority under the "commerce clause," their standard excuse to grab power.

Congress' constitutional contempt is nothing new, but this latest act is quite a step down the slippery slope toward greater control of our their justifications. Rep. Goodlatte says, "Internet gambling is a scourge on our society. It causes innumerable problems in our society."

Rep John Duncan, R-Tenn., says, T h e Internet is addictive for many people anyway, and online gambling can be doubly addictive.

Most other justifications follow the same line of reasoning; namely, there are Americans who don't know what's good for them, and it's the job of Congress to stop them from personal indiscretions.

The Internet Gambling Prohibition Act gives Congress the authority to go an Internet Service they not provide linkages to online gambling establishments. If you think Congress will be satisfied with restrictions only on gambling establishments, you're going to be disappointed.

After all, the Internet provides people with access to other establishments that can be said to "cause innumerable problems in our society." There are various hate groups with Internet sites that spew vile propaganda. There are pornographic sites. There are sites that present political ideas or religious fanaticism that are offensive to many people and can "cause innumerable problems in our society."

If the Internet Gambling Prohibition Act is approved, it will become a precedent for congressional control over other aspects of the Texas Thoughts.

By The Associated Press

A sample of editorial opinion around Texas:

Houston Chronicle on extending housing assistance for Hurricane Katrina evacuees:

The meeting in Houston in August was meant for policy wonks: a confab for the agencies and advocates helping Katrina survivors. But word spread, and for three days the nonprofit sponsoring the event had to stop answering the phone.

Thousands and thousands of evacuees jammed the lines, desperate to attend any meeting that might help keep roofs over their heads.

About 100,000 hurricane survivors in Houston use FEMA vouchers to pay rent. At the end of this month, about 4,000 families, deemed ineligible by FEMA, will lose their vouchers. The rest will lose theirs within three months as FEMA's one-year commitment to evacuees draws to a close.

As many as 8,000 in this population could join Houston's homeless.

One-year vouchers for evacuees, Houston's experts say, just aren't sufficient. FEMA needs to extend housing vouchers to 18 months.

Even those most sympathetic to the evacuees rightly worry that extending services too long may create chronic dependents. That would be draining for taxpayers and life-poisoning for the evacuees themselves.

The danger of dependence is real because many of the 27,000 survivor families now in subsidized Houston apartments didn't function well in Louisiana. While 70 percent had some kind of job, their average household income was less than $20,000 and more than a quarter at some point had used food stamps. Many had become sapped of initiative and resigned to low aspirations, poor education and neighborhood violence.

But 18 months is not a randomly picked figure. U.S. agencies that resettle refugees know that's the minimum time needed for emotionally stunned, materially bereft people to adapt to a new place. It takes that long to realize one isn't going home, to learn a new

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago, after 56 years of marriage, I became a widow. I am only 82. I miss the companionship, but what I miss the most is ballroom dancing. All my friends are widows, or their husbands are too feeble to dance. I keep house for my divorced son and teenage grandson. I drive my grandson to school in a carpool, take him to the doctor, the dentist, etc. I am blessed with good health and can travel across the country to visit my daughters and other relatives. I play bridge three or four times a week. I am active in my religious community and have many friends of all ages. I love to read, and I'm never bored or lonely. Abby, what I'm trying to say is: Age is all in the mind. -- YOUNG AT HEART IN ARIZONA

DEAR YOUNG AT HEART: I agree with you. With your attitude you will never be "old" or lonely. As to missing ballroom dancing, check your Yellow Pages for dancing schools and sign up for some classes. I knew a lady who went dancing well into her 90s. When she attended events, she would take one (or two!) dancing instructors with her. Where there's a will, there's a way.

DEAR ABBY: Both of my siblings and I are in our mid-20s. After years of fighting, bickering and unhappiness, my parents have finally separated for good. My mother has moved in with her cousin. My problem is my mother is perpetually depressed. This has been going on for years. In addition, she has become more and more reclusive. Her life has become her job, her cat and occasional outings with her cousin, my siblings or me. We have tried repeatedly to get Mom into counseling or involved in any sort of social organization to no avail.

Mother is only in her mid-50s and dislikes anything involving "seniors. Abby, please help. Can you suggest some place or organization to which my mother can turn for help? -- WIT'S END IN WILMING-

DEAR WIT'S END: Chronic depression is caused by a chemical imbalance in the brain. The good news is that, in most cases, it is treatable. Your mother should see a physician for a thorough checkup, and if possible, you should accompany her and explain how restricted her life has become.

DEAR ABBY: I met an interesting, caring, loving man four weeks ago. He is 23 and I am 28. We are very attracted to each other. We have already become intimate, and we have decided to date exclusively. I realize our relationship has moved awfully fast, and it may not be the smartest thing I have ever done. My problem is, he never wants to go anywhere. He prefers to sit at his home or mine, watch TV, have sex or not -- and he's completely satisfied with that. I, on the other hand, am a go-getter. I love to be taken out and shown a good time, go dancing, go to the gym, to the movies, the theater and restaurants. I have discussed my unhappiness with him, but he thinks I'm overreacting. Is this a warning sign? What do you think? -- FAST LOVE IN TEXAS

DEAR FAST LOVE: I think you have jumped the gun. Your boyfriend's passivity is a warning sign. Before you forego dating others, you need to know him a lot better. If there are major disparities now in your view of what makes a good time, consider the adjustments you will both have to make if you get really serious.

Pitchman Madden enters Hall as coach video games, the athlete's foot commercials, the announcing booth and the six-legged Thanksgiving turkeys, John Madden was a football coach.

And, as Madden the announcer might put it, he was a pretty darn good

On Saturday, Madden will enter the Pro Football Hall of Fame 28 years after coaching his final game, recognition some might say is long overdue for a man that has become, especially for PlayStation lovers, the face and voice of the NFL.

"It means everything to me," said Madden, who was elected by the Seniors Committee. "It's just something that humbles you and excites you more than you've ever been excited."

Madden was only 32 when Al Davis hired him to coach the Oakland Raiders in 1969. Before leaving the sideline for the announcing booth in 1978, Madden led Oakland to a 103-32-7 regular-season record and a victory in the 1977 Super Bowl. Oakland never had a losing record under Madden, winning seven division titles

NEW YORK (AP) — Before the and making the playoffs eight times.

Current NBC broadcast partner Al Michaels likens Madden's short career as a coach to that of Hall of Fame pitcher Sandy Koufax. Only Hall of Fame coaches George Halas and Curly Lambeau reached 100 wins faster than Madden. His .759 regular-season winning percentage stands as the highest ever among coaches with 100 career

And his Raiders teams stand as some of the most successful, and colorful, in league history

With players such as Ken Stabler, Fred Biletnikoff, Gene Upshaw, Art Shell and Willie Brown, the Silver and Black had plenty of talent — and maybe even more attitude. Even Davis, the team's owner, was brash, proclaiming his mantra to "Just win, baby."

While some coaches Madden's age - he was one of the youngest head coaches in league history when he was hired - may have been intimidated by the cast of characters, it played right into Madden's strength.

"I always thought his strong suit

was his style of coaching," said Stabler, the team's quarterback. "John just had a great knack for letting us be what we wanted to be, on the field and off the field. ... How do you repay him for being that way? You win for him.'

Madden was never revered as a master tactician. Stabler said "he basically pitched me the playbook and said go play," letting the quarterback lead the offense. But he was at his best when relating to his players, often seeming more like a friend than a coach as a result of his age and demeanor.

"Players loved playing for him," said Shell, now in his second stint as Raiders coach. "He made it fun for us in camp and fun for us in the regular season. All he asked is that we be on time and play like hell when it was time to play.

Said Madden: "Sometimes guys were disciplinarians in things that didn't make any difference. I was a disciplinarian in jumping offsides, I hated that. Being in bad position and missing tackles, those things. I wasn't 'Your hair has to be combed."

Pittman shines in North win; Palo Duro's Justin Mason opts for new college name agile, incoming Texas freshman Dexter Pittman led the South to a 122-116 win on Monday night at the Texas High School Coaches All-Star game.

The 6-10 Pittman, from Rosenberg Terry, has lost more than 60 pounds off his 388-pound frame.

"I felt good out here tonight, and I wanted to show that I can run with the little guys," Pittman said.

Pittman, named the South's most valuable player, scored 16 of his game-high 30 points in the first half and shot 14-of-18 from the field. He finished with a doubledouble, adding 12 rebounds, but it was the shot blocking, fast breaking and no-look passing that got the crowd on its feet.

"I had to be the MVP; the Texas basketball guys were talking before the game telling me if I wasn't MVP they were going to throw me under the bus, but I think they were kidding," Pittman said.

Pittman slammed off an inside spin move less than a minute into the game, then turned a blocked shot into a fast break. Pittman's smile was ever-present.

"It wasn't surprising to watch Dex out there. We couldn't stop him, that guy can play," said North high point scorer and fel-

AUSTIN (AP) - Looking lean and low future Longhorn Jay Mason of Amarillo Palo Duro.

> Texas officials had indicated that, at 388, Pittman would likely be red-shirted. But the powerful Pittman has lost 60-plus pounds to date with a target weight of > > 315 by the season opener. Texas Tech-bound Nic Wise of Kingwood added 14 points and won the halftime 3-point shooting competition by sinking 17 shots in 45 seconds. South forward Quenton Kirby of Weimar, bound for McLennan Junior College, added 12 points, while Nick

Okorie of Kempner had 15

North All-Stars points for the South. (Palo Duro) North MVP Michael Crabtree of Dallas Carter led his team to within eight points at 105-97, but Pittman took over with a pair of slam dunks to shut the door with 3 minutes to play. Mason led the North with 17 points while Crabtree added 16 points and seven

The South now trails 33-29 in the series after breaking a four-game losing streak. The Texas High School Coaches Association will conduct its All-Star football game at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Darrell K. Royal Texas Memorial Stadium.

Rangers bounced by Twins, 15-2

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Torii Hunter is back, Carlos Silva was impressive. Maybe the Minnesota Twins didn't need any help from trades after all.

Hunter had a homer and four RBIs in his return from the disabled list and Silva pitched seven strong innings to lead the Twins to a 15-2 victory over the Texas Rangers on Monday night.

Josh Rabe had a homer and three RBIs and Nick Punto had four hits, four runs and three RBIs to back Silva (7-9), who gave up one run and six hits and struck out four.

It was the kind of performance the Twins are going to need a lot more of from Silva if they are going to contend for the postseason. Johan Santana and Francisco Liriano are aces at the top of the rotation, but Brad Radke's shoulder is ailing and Silva and Scott Baker have struggled for most of this season.

"He's the key," Hunter said of Silva. "We know what Liriano can do, we know what Santana can do ... We need him."

Silva was there Monday night, helping to hand the Rangers their seventh loss in eight games. The slide dropped them into last place in the AL West and has prompted general manager Jon Daniels to do some wheeling and dealing at the non-waiver trading dead-

Daniels acquired All-Star left fielder Carlos Lee from Milwaukee last week, then got Pittsburgh starter Kip Wells and Kansas City's Matt Stairs for a couple of minor leaguers on Monday.

The Twins jumped all over John Rheinecker (4-5) in the first, getting a little help from the Metrodome in a five-run inning.

Lee lost a bloop by Joe Mauer in the lights and Justin Morneau's lazy pop fly dropped among Lee, center fielder Matthews Jr. and shortstop Michael Young for an RBI.

Michael Cuddyer also had an RBI single before Rabe capped the big inning with a three-run homer to left for a 5-0 lead.

Morneau and Punto each had run-scoring singles in the second to push the lead to 7-0, chasing Rheinecker after 1 2-3 innings.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Wednesday, Aug. 2, 2006: You often understand what others don't. Having others not listen and toss boomerangs in your path could be relatively frustrating. Knowing when to pull back and say enough is important. You could appear cold and think that key people are deceiving you. But you might be experiencing an issue with your perception. Have you put this person on a pedestal? A little sprinkle of reality could prevent disappointment. If you are single, a relationship waves hello this year. You see life with renewed vigor. If you are attached, your bond warms up with care and attention. Let down your barriers. You could be unduly stiff. SCORPIO reads you cold.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

 Upheaval helps you understand what needs more work, as long as you don't overreact. Extremes mark your decisions, especially financially and with a key partnership. A loved one makes demands. Tonight: Work as a team.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)  Others react strongly to those around you. The unexpected occurs in meetings and/or around friendships and the unexpected. A family member could be unusually hard or difficult. An emotional situation weighs on you. Tonight: Go along for the ride.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

 A nice and easy pace helps you toss work and pressure aside. You could want to try something in a totally different way. Think in terms of gaining insight into what makes you feel overwhelmed. Tonight: Easy does it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)  Your creativity points you in a new direction. A partner could also take you in a new direction. Your emotions run high and have an impact. Your imagination helps you relate to the many different people in your life. You might feel that you are limited in some fundamental way. Tonight: Pretend that there is no

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)  You come from a fundamental point of view when basics and security are involved. Treat funds with caution. A partner could be provocative, challenging you to go to a new level. You could be overly serious or touchy. Your creativity blooms. Tonight: Anchor in. Could you be overly serious? VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)  A talk proves to be valid and dynamic. If you think carefully, you will allow more creativity to float up. Associates and friends seem to present challenging situations. You could come up with another way of finding solutions. You naturally say the right thing.

Tonight: Talk up a storm. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) ★★ Expenses could be overwhelming. You might need to reverse your direction or do something totally different. You could be evaluating new possibilities. The reception your ideas get might not be what you want. Know your objectives. Tonight: Don't go overboard. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ★★★★ You make waves, as you can tell by others' reactions. Think in terms of gain and growth. Your lively ways draw strong results. Smile your way through problems. You have what it takes.

Tonight: Say yes SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)  Understand what might be going on with someone who is close to you. Detach and try to imagine what it is like to walk in this person's shoes. You easily could be surprised by insights that haven't been available up till now. Tonight: Easy does it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)  Aim for more of what you want. Sometimes you are overwhelmed and think you cannot deal with everything a partner or key associate is throwing at you. Look at what you want ultimately. Tonight: Find your friends.

AOUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) insights open up new possibilities. Tonight: A must appearance.

 You might believe there is another way. Finding it might be a different story. You and others will benefit from turning a dream into a reality. Someone in your daily life rains on your parade. Bah humbug! Tonight: Try a new restaurant.

If people want to gamble online, they are going to gamble online. The only thing the act will accomplish is, like Prohibition, make criminals out of otherwise law-abiding people. It will turn banks and other financial institutions into government snoops. Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass., said, "If an adult in this country, with his own money, wants to engage in an activity that harms no one, how dare we bar it." I second that and add, since protection of "the children" often serves as an excuse to restrict our liberties, that if children get involved, let their parents, not Congress, deal with it.

That's why the U.S. government allots from 18 to 36 months of assistance housing, job counseling, medical help when it resettles newcomers from abroad.

Any less time, says Anthony Love, CEO of Houston's Coalition for the Homeless, and the chances of failure soar. Those prematurely cut off from housing assistance are more prone to be homeless, unemployed and both victims and perpetrators of crimes.

Clearly, all able-bodied evacuees need to get jobs as quickly as possible. Experience with refugees offers the blueprint for how to make this happen. The two ingredients will be giving help navigating their new lives and readying them for self-sufficiency.

"We need to keep the evacuees in apartments for 18 months," says homeless expert Love. "With that needs to go an intense effort to get them linked up with services, including employment and health care, so they can take care of them-
