Texas legislature passed new laws that limit restraint time for pets

By MARILYN POWERS
Staff Writer

Several laws concerning animals were passed by the Texas legislature in 2007, including acts defining unlawful restraint of dogs, relating to dog attacks on persons and addressing the issue of cruelty to livestock and non-livestock animals.

"We'll be enforcing the new laws," said Pampa Animal Control Supervisor Sandy Burns.

HB 1411 defines unlawful restraint of dogs. It states that an owner may not leave a dog outside and unattended by use of a restraint that unreasonably limits the dog's movement between the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m., within 500 feet of the premises of a school, or in the case of extreme weather conditions.

Extreme weather conditions as described in the new law are when the outdoor temperature is below 32 degrees F, a heat advisory has been issued by a local or state authority or jurisdiction, or a hurricane, tropical storm or tornado warning has been issued for the jurisdiction by the National Weather Service.

A restraint that unreasonably limits the dog's movement is one in which a pinch-type, prong-type or choke-type collar, or one that is not properly fitted to the dog, is used; the chain or other device which attaches the dog to another object is shorter than the House Bill 1411, passed in 2007, places limits on how dogs may be restrained and for what period of time. Some dog owners who do not have fences adequate to keep their dogs on their property and must otherwise restrain their pets may wish to learn the new rules.

Man found guilty, sentenced in 2006 Pampa home invasion

By MARILYN POWERS
Staff Writer

An Amarillo man was sentenced Thursday to four 99-year prison terms after a Gray County jury found him guilty on two counts of aggravated robbery, enhanced, and two counts of aggravated assault, enhanced.

Davey Enriquez, 25, will serve the four 99-year terms concurrently, according to 31st District Attorney Lynn Switzer. The trial concluded at 5:25 p.m. Thursday in 223rd District Court in Gray County Courthouse. Enriquez is one of three men indicted by a Gray County grand jury Oct. 3,

Switzer

2006 in 223rd District Court in connection with the home invasion and robbery which occurred May 21, 2006 at the home of Layne and Mae Conner in the 1100 block of East Francis.

At about 9 a.m. that day, two armed men broke into the home and took a blue Citibank bag with $100 and $50 bills totaling $4,000. A third man was believed to be the driver for the group.

"The suspects demanded money from the victims," said Pampa Police Lt. Fred Courtney at the time of the incident.

Property tax information available at appraisal office

By MARILYN POWERS
Staff Writer

A pamphlet on property tax information is now available to property owners at the Gray County Appraisal District Office, 815 N. Sumner.

"Texas Property Taxes: Taxpayer's Rights, Remedies and Responsibilities," published by the State Comptroller's office, explains how the Texas property tax system works and tells property owners about possible tax savings.

Information in the pamphlet applies to property taxes collected by all types of taxing units, including counties, cities, school districts and special districts.

"Homeowners may file for various property tax exemptions offered by taxing units on residence homesteads," said Gray County Chief Appraiser Pat Bagley.

In Texas, a homestead is generally the house and yard used as the owner's principal residence.

The pamphlet explains each exemption and how to apply for it. For example, all homeowners who owned and lived in their homes on Jan. 1 may file for a $15,000 general homestead from their principal home's value for school taxes. In addition, certain disabled homeowners and those aged 65 or older may qualify for an additional $10,000 exemption from the value of their homes.

"A tax freeze, or ceiling, for school taxes is a benefit for homeowners once they become 65 years old or become disabled," Bagley said. "State law provides that homeowners who turn 65 or become disabled may apply during the year, rather than wait until the next Jan. 1.

"An elderly or disabled homeowner's taxes that pay for public schools cannot increase above the total school tax amount on that home in the first year that the homeowner receives the exemption," he said. "But it may increase if the homeowner improves or adds to the house, such as adding a room or patio."

The law provides an additional school tax benefit for certain homeowners. If the surviving spouse of a homeowner age 65 years or older is at least 55 years old at the time of the older spouse's death, then he or she can keep the school tax ceiling.

Lamar hosts 'Hot Shot' contest

By KERRI SMITH
Managing Editor

As one of their annual fund-raisers, Lamar Elementary hosts the Hot Shot basketball contest and has done so since the 1980's.

The event is scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday in the MPAC building at Pampa High School.

Students in 2nd through 5th grades can compete in this goal-shooting contest to see who can make the most goals in one minute. The top ten students in each grade level will move on to the finals, where the top three places will receive trophies.

Any area students can compete since you do not have to be from Lamar, or even from Pampa.

A concession stand will be available all day, provided by Lamar teachers, and Hot Shot lime green T-shirts will also be for sale.

The entry fee is $4 per student if you pre-register and each entrant will receive a Sonic coupon. It is free to get in and watch the competition.

Register early by calling Lamar at 669-4880 or you can register that morning from 8:30 to 9 a.m. for $5.

The money raised will go into an activity fund, which will be used towards classroom needs, books or playground equipment.

Gerry Ned Ingrum, 60

MIAMI, Texas — Gerry Ned Ingrum, 60, of Miami, Texas, died Jan. 15, 2008, in Gray County, Texas.

Memorial services will be at 2 p.m. Monday, Jan. 21, 2008, at the First Christian Church in Pampa with the Rev. Barry A. Loving, pastor, and Pastor Kenneth W. Tidmore, of the First United Methodist Church of Springer, N.M., officiating.

Cremation and arrangements are under the direction of Carmichael-Whately Funeral Directors of Pampa. Mr. Ingrum was born June 18, 1947, in Pampa, to George and Viola Ingrum. He grew up farming and ranching east of Pampa.

Gerry was a 1965 graduate of Pampa High School, and also graduated from West Texas State University and Oklahoma State University. He married Yvonne Danford on May 14, 1966.

She preceded him in death on Aug. 17, 2005.

Gerry started his own farm and ranch east of Pampa in 1971, working up until the time of his death. He had been a resident of Miami since 1997 and was a member of both First Christian Church of Pampa and First Christian Church of Miami.

Gerry was involved in the Farm Bureau, supporter of both the Miami and Pampa Stock Shows, ASCS Board, and many more organizations.

He enjoyed his grandchild-

dren, camping in the mountains, taking photos, working the land, caring for his cattle and horses, being with his family and friends, and he was always willing to help a neighbor in need.

His family expresses their deep gratitude to Miami and surrounding communities for their loving care and concern.

Survivors include two daughters, DeAnn Bivins and husband Reeves of Pampa, and Denise Howard and husband Scott of McLean; his parents, George and Viola Ingrum of Pampa; one brother, Larry Ingrum of Pampa; five grandchildren

Kevin Dale Taylor, 48

Kevin Dale Taylor, 48, of Pampa, Texas, died Jan. 17, 2008, at Amarillo, Texas.

Services will be at 10 a.m. Monday, Jan. 21, 2008, at Carmichael-Whately Colonial Chapel with Pastor Paul Nachtigall, of the Highland Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Carmichael-Whately Funeral Directors.

After a long and hard fought battle with cancer, Kevin was welcomed into the arms of his Savior and sustainer while surrounded by his family. He inspired many people by maintaining a positive attitude through the hardest times. Kevin was a Christian and lived by what he believed.

Kevin was born Jan. 15, 1960, in Pampa where he had been a resident most of his life. He married Denise in 1996.

Kevin was an active member of Highland Baptist Church where he enjoyed working with the youth for many years. He was an Eagle Scout. He was a very patriotic man who loved his country and had great respect for its veterans. He was also a volunteer at the Freedom Museum.

Kevin loved to go camping and fishing especially when he could take his children with him. He was a Harvester football fan.

Survivors include his wife, Denise Taylor, of the home; three daughters, Sydney Taylor, of the home, Kendra Myers and husband Calvin of Pampa, and Chelsea Luster of Arlington; two sons, Jeffrey Taylor and wife Amanda, and Jason Taylor, all of Amarillo; father, Eugene Taylor of Pampa; one sister, Janet Tomme and husband

Mike of Amarillo; two brothers, Steve Taylor of Pampa, and Keith Taylor and wife Beverly of Howardwick; and three grandchildren, Madison Bolch and Evan Myers, both of Pampa, and Kaysen Taylor of Amarillo. He had many nieces and nephews who were very dear to him.

MEMORIALS: Highland Baptist Church, 1301 N. Banks, Pampa, TX 79065.

Annabell Bogue Wallin, 90

Annabell Bogue Wallin, 90, of Pampa, Texas, went to be with her Lord and Savior on Thursday, Jan. 17, 2008, in Pampa, Texas.

Burial will be Monday, Jan. 21, 2008, at Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Carmichael-Whately Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Wallin was born in Pampa on June 14, 1917, to Lester Leroy Allam, Sr., and Meddie Patton Allam. She married Eugene Howe Bogue, and they had two children; a son, Roy Lee Bogue, and a daughter, Carolyn Marie Bogue.

They were divorced, and years later, she married Earl Wallin, who preceded her in death.

Anna worked around Pampa for years as a waitress in several cafes such as the old Hi-Way Café, owned by the Johnsons, and went on to help run the local theatres downtown. She was the ticket taker and concessionaire at The LaNora Theatre, The LaVista Theatre and The Wallin Capri Theatre.

She loved to be out among the young people of Pampa in the 1950's and 1960's. Many people will remember that hot buttered popcorn she used to dish up for them.

Survivors include a daughter, Carolyn Marie Hood of Kingsland; daughter-in-law, Ann Bogue of Dalhart; one sister, Bertha Keith of Pampa; six grandchildren, Raymond Wayne

Wallin

Hood and wife Chris of Temple, Daryl Vance Hood and wife Jackie of Kingsland, Larry Don Hood and wife Stephanie of Aransas Pass, Beth Perkins and companion Amanda Anauo and Buddy Bogue, all of Amarillo, and Leigh Smith and husband Dean of Fritch; 14 great-grandchildren; and 11 great-great-grandchildren.

Anna is also survived by many friends and relatives in Pampa. Two such relatives are Helen and Dick Kastein who have played a vital role in her life for several years, making a daily ritual to go to the Coronado Healthcare Center to check on her and visit with her.

The rest of her family wish to thank Dick and Helen for all they have done for Annabell; they will forever be in our hearts and prayers. And the family also thanks the fine people of the Coronado Healthcare Center who watched over her and helped her throughout her lengthy illness.

She was preceded in death by her parents; a brother, Lester Leroy Allam, Jr.; and a son, Roy Lee Bogue.

MEMORIALS: Pampa Meals on Wheels, P.O. Box 939, Pampa, TX 79066-0939, or Hospice Care of the Southwest, 1301 South Coulter, Suite 404, Amarillo, TX 79106.

Dogs

greater of two measurements, which are 10 feet or five times the length of the dog from the tip of its nose to the base of its tail; the restraint is in an unsafe condition or causes injury to the dog.

A first offense is considered a Class C misdemeanor. Second or subsequent offenses by a person who was convicted of a previous offense of this law is a Class B misdemeanor. If more than one dog is involved in the offense, the incident is considered a separate offense for each dog involved.

HB 1411 does not apply to persons walking a dog or dogs with a hand-held leash. Other exceptions to the law include compliance with rules for camping or recreational areas and dogs restrained concerning the owner's occupation.

HB 1355 addresses dog attacks on persons. It states that a person commits an offense if the person is the owner of a dog, the person fails to secure the dog and the dog makes an unprovoked attack on another person that occurs at a location other than the owner's real property or in or on the owner's motor vehicle or boat and that causes serious bodily injury or death to the other person.

The owner also commits an offense if it is known that the dog is a dangerous dog and the dog makes an unprovoked attack on another person that occurs at a location other than a secure enclosure and which causes serious bodily injury or death to the other person.

An offense under HB 1355 is a third-degree felony, unless the attack causes death, in which it is a second-degree felony.

If a person is found guilty of such an offense, the court may order the dog destroyed. Certain conditions may be defenses to prosecution under this law.

HB 2328 concerns the offenses of cruelty to livestock and non-livestock animals.

The new law defines what constitutes cruelty to livestock animals: Torture; failing unreasonably to provide necessary food, water or care; unreasonable abandonment; transporting or confining the animal in a cruel and unusual manner; administering poison to a livestock animal other than cattle, horses, sheep, swine or goats, belonging to another without legal authority or the owner's effective consent; causing one livestock animal to fight with another animal; using a live livestock animal as a lure in dog race training or in dog coursing on a racetrack; tripping a horse; and seriously overworking the animal.

Any one or more of the above conditions constitutes an offense.

Livestock animals are defined in the law as cattle, sheep, swine, goats, ratites, poultry commonly raised for human consumption, horses, ponies, mules, donkeys, hinnies and native or nonnative hoofstock and fowl raised under agriculture practices.

HB 2328 states that it is an offense to commit any of the following cruelties to non-livestock animals: torture; kill, administer poison to or cause serious bodily injury to without the owner's effective consent; fail to provide necessary food, water, care or shelter; abandon unreasonably; transport in a cruel manner; cause bodily injury without the owner's effective consent; cause one animal to fight with another animal if either animal is not a dog; use a live animal as a lure in dog race training or in dog coursing on a racetrack; and seriously overworking the animal.

Cruelty to livestock and non-livestock animals is a Class A misdemeanor. If previous convictions have occurred, the offense may become a state jail felony or a third-degree felony.

Trial

"When the adult male was trying to get the money, it apparently was not fast enough for the robbers. One of the suspects fired a shot at him to get him to hurry. Fortunately, none of the victims were injured."

The Conners had an 8-year-old grandchild with them at their home at the time of the robbery. The adults were forced to lie on the floor, and the child ran to a back room and locked the door, according to police reports.

Also indicted in connection with the incident were Carlos Jose Cordova of Pampa and Adam Refugio Aguilar of Amarillo. Each was charged with two counts of aggravated robbery, a first-degree felony, and two counts of aggravated assault, a second-degree felony. Bond for each of the three was set at $300,000.

Charges against Enriquez were enhanced because on Oct. 18, 1991, in 222nd District Court of Deaf Smith County, he was convicted of the felony offense of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon. He was also convicted Jan. 9, 2002, in 251st District Court in Potter County of the felony offense of burglary of a habitation.

Enriquez was first brought to trial on the robbery and assault charges on July 23, 2007 in 223rd District Court. That trial ended in a hung jury July 25 with the jury deadlocked at 10 to two after about eight hours of deliberations.

Thursday's verdict came after a second trial began Monday with jury selection followed that afternoon by testimony. The prosecution rested its case Wednesday morning, and the defense rested Wednesday evening.

Jurors were presented the charge at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, and began deliberations at 10:35 a.m. At about 2 p.m., the verdict of guilty on all counts was announced.

Tearful testimony from the victims and closing arguments from the defense and prosecution were heard during the punishment phase of the trial Thursday afternoon, followed by deliberation by the jurors which began at 3:40 p.m. and concluded at 5:25 p.m. Thursday.

The penalty range for each of the charges against Enriquez is 25 to 99 years or life, and a fine not to exceed $10,000, Switzer said Thursday.

Enriquez was the first of the three indicted in connection with the incident to go to trial. Cordova's trial is scheduled to begin Feb. 25, according to a spokeswoman with Switzer's office.

"Responsibility can lay heavily on a jury, and this jury was faced with an especially challenging case," Switzer said after the conclusion of the trial. "They rose to the occasion, and I am very proud and appreciative of their hard work."

Pampa Attorney Harold Comer, attorney for the defense, could not be reached for comment as of press time.

Both trials were presided over by 223rd District Judge Lee Waters.

Tax

The school tax ceiling does not apply for other taxing units, such as the county and city.

Homeowners age 65 or older do not need to reapply for the exemption this year if they received the exemption and tax ceiling last year. Homeowners turning 65 during the year may file for the 65 or older exemption up to one year from the date they turned 65, owned the home and lived in it as their principal residence. Only those who have never had the exemption and meet the qualifications must apply this year.

Homeowners are also eligible for a $3,000 general exemption for their county road taxes because the county levies a tax for farm-to-market roads.

The taxpayer pamphlet also describes other exemptions available, such as those for disabled veterans and other disabled persons.

Productivity appraisal, another type of tax relief, is available to agricultural property owners. The landowner must file a signed, sworn application with the chief appraiser by May 1. Owners of land receiving 1-d-1 appraisal do not need to reapply unless the chief appraiser requests in writing that they do so, or the use of the land changes. "Appraisal district staff can offer more information about special land appraisal, tax renditions and exemptions," Bagley said.

The pamphlet also contains information about protesting to the appraisal review board. The board is a citizen board that hears taxpayer protests to ensure that property values are fair and uniform.

Another section of the pamphlet deals with how voters can petition for an election to reduce the amount of a tax increase adopted by any taxing unit.

"I urge all property owners in the Gray County Appraisal District to read the pamphlet and learn about the property tax system and all possible tax relief," Bagley said. "Remember, taxpayers must file exemption applications with the appraisal district office by May 1 and any protests by May 31 of this year."

Call the appraisal district office at 665-0791 for more information.

Parenting isn't easy and definitely isn't effortless

I've been thinking about how life-changing it is to have a baby and how much time and effort goes into taking care of that child. Even though I love being a mother and it's so much fun to hear the funny things my son says and to feel his great bear hugs, I just wish people would consider everything before they have children.

I know I've talked about this subject before but lately some other girls and I have discussed just how much effort it takes to be a parent, especially a mother. There is the obvious stress on your body of being pregnant, which is not always easy or enjoyable for every woman.

Women, or girls, who think they want a child and plan to work need to realize that "your job" (that of the woman and mother) is usually the one that takes the beating when the child or children need something. It is usually the woman that has to take off of work to pick up sick kids from school and take them to the doctor and it is usually the mother who takes days off of work to stay at home and nurture them back to health.

The girls that I work with at the paper often discuss how difficult it is to get up every morning and get yourself and your children ready.

You have to plan out who is going to get ready first, make sure everyone's clothes are ready, decide what to feed them for breakfast, make sure they have all of their school work and most of all, make sure they get to school on time and you get to work on time. I have a hard enough time doing this with only one child, so I can't imagine doing it with two or three.

More power to those moth-

It's usually the mother's responsibility to know what's going on at school, when there are parties to attend and what fund-raiser is due next. Keeping up with immunizations are a handful, so your child won't get kicked out of school or daycare.

When they are sick or teething, it is usually the mother who gets up in the middle of the night to sit with them and try to get them back to sleep.

Please don't think bad of me for saying all of this stuff, which is actually the truth, because I love being a mother and the good usually outweighs the bad. But, I wish more people, especially girls, would think about how this decision will change their lives FOREVER before they make this decision. You will have that child for at least 18 years and it's your responsibility to care for, provide for and love that child, no matter what.

I thank God every day because I have a wonderful husband that takes care of our son and he helps me out with everything that deals with childcare or the household. I'm one of the lucky women who do have a helpful husband that doesn't think it's all my responsibility, but many women do not have that luxury.

Just think before making this important decision or having an "accident." If you aren't ready for this lifelong responsibility, make sure to have birth control in place or if you do get pregnant and will not be able to care for that child, have the guts to make the selfless decision to give that baby up for adoption. It will be best for that child and best for you.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Sunday, Jan. 20, the 20th day of 2008. There are 346 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Jan. 20, 1981, Iran released 52 Americans it had held hostage for 444 days, minutes after the presidency had passed from Jimmy Carter to Ronald Reagan.

On this date:

In 1801, Secretary of State John Marshall was nominated by President Adams to be chief justice of the United States (he was sworn in on Feb. 4, 1801).

In 1841, the island of Hong Kong was ceded by China to Great Britain. (It returned to Chinese control in July 1997.)

In 1887, the U.S. Senate approved an agreement to lease Pearl Harbor in Hawaii as a naval base.

In 1936, Britain's King George V died; he was succeeded by Edward VIII.

In 1937, President Franklin Roosevelt became the first chief executive to be inaugurated on Jan. 20 instead of March 4.

'Few, save the poor, feel for the poor.'

— Letitia Landon
English poet
(1802-1838)

In 1942, Nazi officials held the notorious Wannsee conference, during which they arrived at their "final solution" that called for exterminating Jews.

In 1945, President Roosevelt was sworn into office for an unprecedented fourth term.

In 1954, "The Caine Mutiny Court-Martial," a play by Herman Wouk based on part of his novel "The Caine Mutiny," opened on Broadway.

In 1986, the United States observed the first federal holiday in honor of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.

In 1986, Britain and France announced plans to build the Channel Tunnel.

Ten years ago: A jury was selected in Amarillo, Texas, to hear a multi-million-dollar lawsuit filed by Texas cattlemen against talk show host Oprah Winfrey over comments made on her program concerning beef safety. (Winfrey won the case.)

Five years ago: Secretary of State Colin Powell, faced with stiff resistance and calls to go slow, bluntly told the Security Council that the U.N. "must not shrink" from its responsibility to disarm Saddam Hussein's Iraq. Caricaturist Al Hirschfeld died in New York at age 99. Pollster Burns W. "Bud" Roper died on Cape Cod, Mass., at age 77.

One year ago: Sen. Hillary Rodham Clinton, D-N.Y., launched a trailblazing campaign for the White House, saying in a videotaped message on her Web site: "I'm in, and I'm in to win."

Kansas Sen. Sam Brownback began a long-shot bid for the Republican presidential nomination (he withdrew last October).

Idle American: Doctors have a 'word' to say

Most hunters are so gung-ho, they'll hunt anything that'll run from 'em. Similarly, TV news folks salivate at the prospect of all-out chases to pluck credible opinions on controversial topics.

That was the case recently when a neurosurgeon was questioned by a Dallas TV reporter. The query concerned the ongoing debate about whether a helmet law should be enacted for motorcyclists. His answer was, uh, a no-brainer. ...

Explaining that many serious injuries incurred by riders without helmets would otherwise be minor, Dr. Jeremy Denning mentioned that some physicians have coined a word that reveals their opinions. The word fittingly describes the bikes whose riders are "helmetless."

"They call them 'donorcycles,'" Dr. Denning said.

End of interview. ...

Meanwhile, operators of four-wheeled vehicles often give law enforcement personnel reasons to coin names for certain drivers — names that are unfit to appear in a family newspaper.

James Davis, who was playing in big bands before they invented instruments that plug in, has to smile when he remembers a traffic pull-over of several decades ago. Decked out in a tuxedo — common evening apparel for him — he was ready to tickle ivories at a country club gala. However, he was a bit late, and his foot was a bit heavy.

The traffic officer gave his obligatory lecture, then backed off with "just a warning." Noticing Davis' spiffy tuxedo, the officer barked, "If you weren't late for your own wedding, I'd throw the book at you. ..."

Bill Sanders, a federal government retiree, had reason to smile about a similar offense recently.

His wife Carolyn chuckled as her hubby was red-lighted to the roadside. As the officer strode toward the car, she hoped that he would make the usual inquiry, the one to determine if the driver had a good reason to be speeding. "I'm on my way to a Crime Stoppers' meeting," Bill answered sheepishly. ...

The truth, of course, is hard to beat. His speed wasn't THAT MUCH over the limit, and he was indeed en route to the aforementioned meeting. Later, he served as county president of Crime Stoppers.

When Sanders began his career in government service, his assignment was in Austin. It was during the presidency of Lyndon B. Johnson.

One day, the Johnsons were in town, and Lady Byrd was planning a barbecue picnic at the ranch. She decided on a "Yellow Rose of Texas" theme. ...

Sanders' supervisor instructed him to get a dozen garbage cans painted for the event.

"The cans are to be painted exactly as Mrs. Johnson instructed," he said. "They are to be 'yellow rose yellow' — not 'lemon yellow,' not 'mustard yellow' and not 'sunrise yellow,'" the boss warned.

Texas Thoughts

By The Associated Press

A sample of editorial opinion around Texas:

■ Jan. 14

The Dallas Morning News on how recycling cell phones can fight poverty in Latin America:

At its best, a "think globally, act locally" effort ties together what happens across the globe with what happens across the street. That's the aim of a local recycling project designed to use discarded cellphones in Dallas to help women lift themselves from poverty in Latin America.

The Chiapas Project is focusing its Earth Day campaign this year on the millions of tons of electronic waste, a rapidly growing environmental threat around the world. Old computers, printers and cellphones, with their lithium batteries, end their lives as potential time bombs in landfills. A single cell-phone, for instance, contains eight toxic metals including lead, mercury and arsenic all of which are capable of polluting land and water.

Some cities and states have pushed policies requiring makers of electronics and computers to participate in take-back recycling programs; several countries have enacted laws to prevent themselves from becoming e-waste dumps.

The Chiapas Project, a nonprofit Dallas organization, is asking corporations, universities and high schools to pledge to collect used cellphones and printer ink cartridges. The items will be refurbished and sold overseas to help fund micro-loan programs in Latin America. The drive, in conjunction with the Grameen Foundation, kicks off Jan. 22 and will run through Earth Day, April 22.

The loans, which are usually less than $100, go to women to establish or expand small businesses. In parts of the world where families live on just a few dollars a day, these loans are highly effective tools to pull people out of poverty. Not to mention that the seed money results from an effort to protect the planet.

What a deal an act of environmental common sense that also strikes a blow against poverty.

For emphasis, he repeated the mandate, asking Bill if he fully understood. Bill did. ...

The ever-resourceful Sanders gave serious thought to the assignment. He feared grave consequences if the painted cans were a hue or two off.

So, his first stop was at the floral shop. He purchased a bouquet of yellow roses before proceeding to the paint shop.

"Paint these cans the same color of these here roses," Sanders said. "Make sure it's not 'lemon yellow', 'mustard yellow' or 'sunrise yellow'." He asked the painters if they understood; they did. The painters "yellowed-up" the cans just right. And Bill continued to "get it right" for the feds over a period of some four decades. ...

I'll end this week's piece by dredging up the old chauvinistic yarn about a traffic officer who finally prevailed after a lengthy high-speed chase.

The veteran DPS guy thought he'd heard them all, but this offender offered a new excuse.

"I tried to outrun you for good reason," the driver said. "A week ago, my wife ran off with a trooper, and I figured he was trying to bring her back. ..."

University to host annual Summer Camp Fair

CANYON — Representatives from 17 different camps will be at West Texas A&M University to recruit summer employees during the University's 2008 Summer Camp Fair set for 9:30 a.m.-1 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 30 in the Jack B. Kelley Student Center Commons.

The annual event gives students an opportunity to find out more about summer camp employment. Recruiters will be looking for camp counselors, lifeguards and employees for specialized areas such as horseback riding and crafts. Recruiters will be on hand to provide detailed information about their camps, and many will have applications available. Those attending should be prepared for interviews.

Local area camps scheduled to attend are Cal Farley's, Ceta Canyon Camp and Retreat Center, Girl Scouts Camp Kiwanis, Girl Scouts of Texas and Oklahoma Panhandle, Hidden Falls Ranch Youth Camp, Odyssey Healthcare and Wonderland Amusement Park.

Camps from other areas of Texas as well as New Mexico and Oklahoma include 4-H Conference Center, Camp Peniel, Camp Summit, Inc., Camp Waldemar, Girl Scouts Circle T Council and more.

For more information, call 806-651-2397.

Extension Service offering on-line courses

DALLAS — Owners of small farms and ranches will soon have access to Web-based help for managing their land.

Three online courses designed for agricultural novices will be offered by the Texas AgriLife Extension Service, beginning Jan. 22, said Rebecca Parker, AgriLife Extension's Dallas-based regional director of programs in agriculture and natural science.

The courses were organized to meet the demand for information from the growing group of small-acreage landowners, said Parker, who cited the U.S. Department of Agriculture's 2002 census of agriculture.

The number of Texas farms with 10 to 49 acres grew by 13 percent between 1997 and 2002, according to the census. By comparison, the number of farms with 2,000 acres or more remained about the same.

The new landowners are often city dwellers who buy rural property for retirement, an alternative source of income or a lifestyle change, Parker said. Unlike traditional farmers and ranchers, the landowners typically have jobs that provide primary sources of income.

"They don't have an ag background, and they don't know how to decide what to do with their land," Parker said. "There's a whole group that we're not getting to because they don't have time for face-to-face educational programs."

The course subjects were chosen based on the demand from landowners for information about those particular topics, Parker said.

The courses cost $50 each. They are offered on the following dates:

Dear Abby...

By Pauline & Jeanne Phillips

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old single mother of a 1-year-old son. My boyfriend wants to change my life. He wants me to delete all my friends and family from my cell phone and says I can see my family only once a month. (I am very family-oriented.) My boyfriend thinks that because I go and see my parents and sisters a lot that I don't "put him first." I don't know what to do, because my son comes first. I understand the concept that once you find your true love, you move in with him and you're supposed to be happy. But he's never happy. He always finds something to argue about. I work from 5 a.m. to 3 p.m., come home, take care of my son, clean the house, cook dinner and clean up afterward. I am at my wits' end trying to do everything and be a good mother and girlfriend. He loves my son, but he never offers to help me with bills or anything. He never buys me anything, only stuff for himself or my son. I'm so confused right now, I don't know what to think. Please give me some advice. — UNCERTAIN IN OHIO

DEAR UNCERTAIN: Gladly. Do NOT allow your boyfriend to limit your telephone contact or visits with friends and family. This is a classic sign of an abuser, and so is constantly picking arguments. You appear to be doing everything in this relationship -- cooking, cleaning, paying the bills. What exactly is he contributing? A healthy relationship is a partnership in which both members pull their own weight. Unless your boyfriend is prepared to make some serious changes, you should move back with your family.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, "Felicia," is 33 and still lives at home with her father and me. She's a wonderful person, has a great job and contributes to the house. Her father and I love Felicia and are very proud of her. However, we both feel that she needs her own place. Every time we bring it up, Felicia says she would like to live here until she marries. Her dad and I have been married for 37 years, but we would like our privacy. What do you think? — IMPATIENT MOM IN CHICAGO

DEAR IMPATIENT MOM: I think you have been more than patient. The time has come for you and your husband to tell your fledgling she needs a nest of her own. Help her to find one, and do not allow her to stall any longer. You will be doing all three of you a favor.

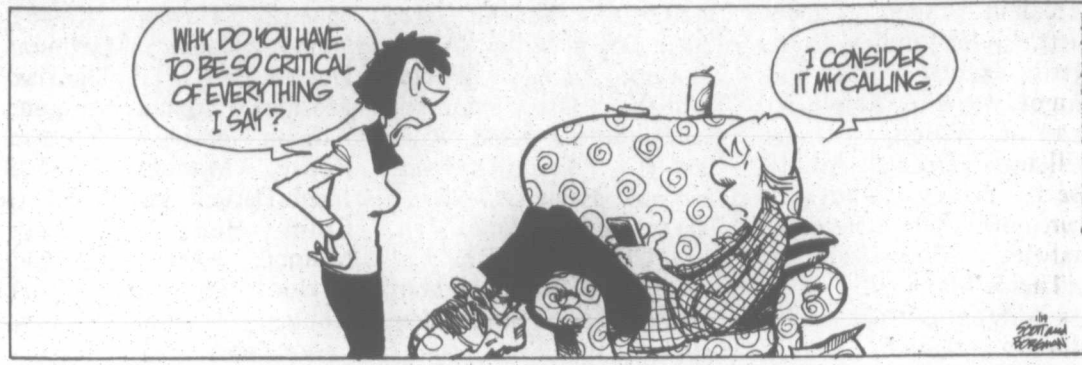

DEAR ABBY: I love my mother. She and I go out to eat frequently. My problem is she sometimes makes loud comments about people who are seated near enough that they can hear her. I have seen some of them look at us after some of her comments. Today she did it again, and I asked her either not to talk about the people loudly, or to do it after we leave the restaurant. She replied that she was not talking in that loud a voice, and now she's mad at me and not speaking to me. Was I wrong to ask her to lower her voice? — UPSET IN UTAH

DEAR UPSET: No. Your mother may have been embarrassed that you corrected her in public. She may also be in denial about the fact that she's suffering from some degree of hearing loss. You were right to tell her that she was being overheard. You would be doing her a favor to insist that she have her hearing checked by an audiologist -- if only to prove you're "wrong."

PPHM only Texas venue for Samuel Colt exhibit

CANYON — An exhibit opening May 24 at Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon will focus on the historical figure of Samuel Colt with an extensive collection of firearms and related works of art. "Samuel Colt: Arms, Art and Invention" will be on display in the museum's Harrington Changing Gallery.

The Bill Gates of his day, Colt was more a man of the 20th century than the 19th. His marketing savvy produced the first celebrity endorsements, introduced "new and improved" as an advertising motto and demonstrated the value of branding.

Colt introduced production lines 60 years before Ford and invented machinery for making interchangeable parts for pistols, a trend other manufacturing industries soon followed.

The exhibition will illustrate the development of revolving firearms which, jump-started in 1830 when 16-year-old Colt, a crew member aboard the Boston brig "Corvo," observed the locking action of the ship's wheel first practical revolver.

The exhibit will trace Colt's progress in perfecting effective, cost-efficient revolvers. Colt's arms are immediately identifiable, characterized by simplicity of form, elegant line and eye-catching finishes meant to reflect light — highly polished blue steel, color casehardening and cool white silver-plate.

Land office acquires letters of Texas Confederate soldier

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas General Land Office said Friday it has obtained the private correspondence of a Texas Confederate soldier to add to the agency's archives.

Thirty-four handwritten letters of Texas Confederate private Dudley Ward were purchased at a Dallas auction for about $11,000 with private donations made through the Land Office's Save Texas History Program.

Land Office historians and archivists certified their authenticity before buying the documents, the agency said. There are some 35 million historical documents stored at the Land Office archives.

The recently purchased letters were written by Ward, who joined Company G, 2nd Texas Infantry of the Confederate Army at age 17.

Early in 1863, Ward became a prisoner of war at Vicksburg, Miss. Upon parole, Ward's unit returned to Texas and was ultimately assigned duty on Galveston Island. Ward died before the end of the war in the yellow fever epidemic of 1864.

"I am honored to preserve this important glimpse into Texas Confederate history," Land Commissioner Jerry Patterson said. He said the timing of his announcement of the acquisition was to coincide with Confederate Heroes Day on Saturday.

Patterson said the letters tell an important story.

"Whether or not you agree with the causes of the war, Ward put his life on the line for his family and for Texas, and his story should be shared with future generations of Texans," Patterson said.

In his letters, Ward offered a view of daily life for a Confederate soldier. In one letter written in 1864, Ward spoke of the high hopes of the South. Federal troops had been turned back at Mansfield, La., in their attempted invasion of Texas.

He wrote that if the Confederate Army could defeat the Union in Virginia, "the effect that it will have on the war will be immense in our favor, and it is fair to suppose that the Yankees will be willing and even anxious to close a campaign which has been so disastrous to them from beginning to end."

Ward's father was Thomas William Ward, the third commissioner of the Texas General Land Office. The elder Ward, known as "Peg-Leg," was a notable hero of the Texas revolution and a major player in early Texas politics.

Texas Farmers Union to stage 106th State Convention

CORPUS CHRISTI — Texas Farmers Union will stage its 106th State Convention Friday, Jan. 25 and Saturday, Jan. 26 at the Omni Marina Hotel in Corpus Christi. The convention will kick-off at 8:30 a.m. Friday.

Convention-goers will board buses at 10:30 a.m. Friday for a visit to the King Ranch. Buses will return to the hotel by 5 p.m.

A reception is planned at 7 p.m. Lacey Nicole Johns, winner of the 2007 Rural American Idol, will sing the National Anthem. After the dedication of the convention, additional entertainment will follow featuring Russell Lindsey and Norman Cason.

A President's Breakfast at 7 a.m. will start the convention off Saturday. During the morning, different topics will be brought by various speakers followed by a Legislative Luncheon at noon.

Dale Enerson will present a seminar titled "Carbon Credit Program" at 1:30 p.m.

Policy drafting is set to begin at 3 p.m. Highest priority will be placed on the following issues: 2008 Farm Bill, Disaster Assistance, Country of Origin Labeling, Dairy Policy and cellulose farm fuels.

National Farmers Union President Tom Buis will address the Saturday evening banquet. The convention will conclude with an auction. Visit your local farm equipment, co-ops or other agri-businesses to acquire items to be brought to the auction. Participating businesses will be announced when their item is auctioned. Proceeds go to the union's Charitable Fund. For more information, call 1-800-299-3276.

Foundation sets Feb. 1 as deadline for scholarships

AMARILLO — The Amarillo Area Foundation Scholarship Program is open to students residing in the 26 northernmost counties of the Texas Panhandle.

The first scholarship fund was established through a generous donation by Mr. and Mrs. A.A. Bush in the 1970's. Over the years scholarships have increased from 17 funds with annual awards of $42,350 to annual awards of $306,664 for 238 area students.

The Amarillo Area Foundation Scholarship application deadline is 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 1.

In mid-November, the Amarillo Area Foundation mailed copies of the 2008-2009 scholarship application to each high school counselor in the 26-county region of the Texas Panhandle. Students wishing to apply for one of the 92 scholarships available should ask their counselor for a copy of the application.

Students can also access the scholarship application by going to the foundation's Web site at www.amarilloareafoundation.org. From the home page, click on the "Receive" tab, then the "Scholarship" tab and finally on the "Scholarship Application" tab to download a copy of the application.

Questions can be directed to Christina Williams, scholarship coordinator, 806-350-4516, or e-mailed to christina@AAF-HF.org.

Landowners should take the Resource Inventory course first, Parker said.

"It answers the question, 'I've got this land, now what do I do with it?'" she said. "We consider that the most important course."

For more information, visit the Small Acreage Landowner Webcourse Web site at <http://grovesite.com/TAMU/RI>.

AgriLife Extension plans to expand the course offerings to include horse production and rainwater harvesting, Parker said.

Lady Harvesters fall behind at Randall

By JORDAN REAGAN
Sports Editor

This season has not been an easy one for the Pampa, and now halfway through the district season, the Lady Harvesters find themselves behind in the district standings, but have one last chance to improve their game the second time around with Dumas, Palo Duro, Hereford and Randall.

The Lady Harvesters recorded a 16-54 loss to the Lady Raiders Friday night, bringing their record to 1-4 in district and 3-15 on the season.

The Lady Raiders held Pampa to only four points in the fourth quarter, and only five in the second as they took a significant halftime lead of 26-9.

The Lady Harvesters managed one point in the third quarter - a free throw by senior Krishna Henderson, which put them behind 10-48, going into the fourth quarter.

Harvesters drop to 0-3 against Raiders

The Pampa Harvesters continued their losing skid Friday night against the Randall Raiders as they were defeated 82-44 in the district contest.

Pampa now sits at 0-3 in district with an overall record of 9-14 following their loss to the Raiders.

Junior Matt Smith opened the first quarter with six points as the Harvesters closely tailed the Raiders on the scoreboard.

With help from teammates Alex Clendening, Mark Stone and Wayne Parker, Smith and the Harvesters went into the second quarter behind 20-15, the first and most narrow lead that Randall would maintain over the Harvesters.

Raider defense lit up in the second quarter as they held Pampa to scoring only four more points before halftime - all of which were tossed in by Clendening.

The score was 38-19 in Randall's favor when the halftime buzzer sounded.

In the third quarter, the five starters came back in to contribute as the Harvesters picked up 13 more points.

At the 4:30 marker, Wayne Parker hit his first three-pointer of the night, and with 1:27 remaining, Hayden Skinner hit two free throws to boost the Harvesters.

With 49 seconds left, a free throw by Smith put one last point on the board for the third quarter as Pampa

Wayne Parker

Basketball

With an injured starter sitting the game out on the bench, Parker walked on in the beginning of Friday night's game against Randall and proved to be starter material. Parker hit a three-point shot and had a total of five points in the game.

Emilie Troxell

Basketball

In Friday night's tough match with the Randall Lady Raiders, Troxell stepped up to contribute as the leading scorer in the Lady Harvesters' fifth district match-up. Troxell tossed in six points in Pampa's 54-16 loss to Randall.

Ladies

Henderson tossed in another two points in the fourth quarter, which were followed by two successful free throws by Emilie Troxell at the 4:25 marker. A basket by Jessica Miner wrapped up the scoring in the fourth quarter for the Lady Harvesters as they ended the game, behind 16-54.

Troxell led the Lady Harvesters Friday with six points on the scoreboard.

The JV girls were defeated by Randall, 41-48 later on in the night.

The Lady Harvesters will play again Tuesday as they take on the Dumas Demonettes for a second match-up at McNeely Fieldhouse in Pampa.

trailed 32-65. The final period was another low-scoring quarter for the Harvesters, but a three-point shot by Alex Clendenen at the three-minute marker made up three of his seven points of the quarter.

When the final buzzer sounded, Pampa was behind, 44-82, giving the Raiders their sixth-straight home court victory.

The Harvesters were led by Alex Clendenen, who had 16 points.

Matt Smith and Mark Stone had 10 points each, Wayne Parker had five points and Hayden Skinner had two points.

The JV boys were also defeated by Randall, 43-75.

The Harvesters will play again Tuesday as they welcome the Dumas Demons to McNeely Fieldhouse in Pampa.

Pampa basketball fans invited to come 'Pack the Pit' Tuesday

By JORDAN REAGAN
Sports Editor

As the Lady Harvesters play their sixth game of the district season, and the Harvesters play their fourth, all Pampa fans are encouraged to attend Tuesday night's games against the Dumas Demons and Demonettes.

Tuesday night is "Pack the Pit," a night in which the basketball boosters throw fun and prizes into the mix of a home game at McNeely Field House.

The first 300 fans to show up to "Pack the Pit" Tuesday night will receive free spirit poms as they enter, and several door prizes will be given away throughout the night.

Door prizes include an iPod, a digital camera and much more.

Over $1,000 worth of prizes are to be given away.

In order to win these prizes, fans must arrive before halftime of the girls game, and be present to win when their name is drawn.

The Lady Harvesters will hit the court first at 6 p.m. as they hope to avenge an early district loss to the Dumas Demonettes.

The varsity boys will follow at 7:30 p.m. as they play their fourth district game, and hope to pick up their first district win.

A full crowd, or a fully packed Pit will be a great help to the Pampa Harvesters, according to a few of the players themselves.

"It feels great to have a huge crowd out there, and everyone yelling your name," Lady Harvester Amber Brown said.

Tons of door prizes, great food and better basketball is what "Pack the Pit" is all about Tuesday night at McNeely Fieldhouse.

WT hoops set to face border rival, Eastern New Mexico

CANYON, Texas — After picking up wins in their Lone Star Conference South Division opener against Angelo State earlier this week, both the Buff and Lady Buff basketball teams continue conference action on Saturday as they head to Portales, N.M., to face border rival Eastern New Mexico.

The women hold an overall record of 11-3 and a 1-0 conference mark after beating Angelo State, 74-53, on Wednesday to keep their home win streak alive at 39 games in addition to ending ASU's 10-game unbeaten streak.

Sophomore Holly Isaacs continued her hot shooting as she connected on 3-of-4 from behind the arc, including back-to-back long distance baskets in the second half, to finish with nine points. Junior Courtney Lee also put in a solid performance with 14 points, a team-high seven rebounds and three steals; she and Isaacs also tallied four assists apiece. Freshman Megan McLain led a solid effort off the bench — which outscored the Rambelles' bench by a 23-10 margin — by sinking 4-of-7 from the floor and converting an old-fashioned three-point play. Junior guard Emily Brister improved her season free throw tally to 94-of-103 (.914) by making 9-of-9 against the 'Belles. Additionally, she drained 5-of-10 baskets for a team-high 19 points to go along with five rebounds and two steals.

The Eastern New Mexico Zias are 3-11 overall after dropping a close 66-62 decision at Texas A&M-Kingsville. On a squad that is made up of 10 freshmen and three sophomores, Til-Lois Fifer leads all Zias with 138 points (9.9 points per game) and 81 rebounds (5.8 rebounds per game), while Cat Clay has accumulated 119 points (9.2 ppg) and 58 rebounds (4.5 rpg).

On the men's side, senior Tyler Cooper hit a three-pointer with two seconds on the clock to lift the Buffs to a 71-68 victory over Angelo State on Wednesday. With the win, WT improved to 11-5 overall and 1-0 in LSC South play. For the game, the Buffs shot a solid 48.3 percent from the floor and were led in scoring by Robert Lee. The Fort Worth, Texas, native collected his first double-double of the season with 21 points and 11 rebounds. Two WT post players were also impressive on the night as Andre Hill produced 14 points on 7-of-8 shooting from the floor and added eight boards, while Chris Hinz produced 13 points.

The Greyhounds opened their conference play with a 74-65 loss to Texas A&M-Kingsville on Wednesday, falling to 6-10 on the season. With a team-leading 17.7 points per game average, senior Justin Redman-Trotter is ranked fourth in the conference in points; he also leads the Greyhounds in rebounds, with 96 (6.0 rpg).

Tip-off for the women's match-up is slated for 6:30 p.m. (CST) followed by the men's game, set to begin at 8:30 p.m. (CST).

Eli Manning's success will rely on Amani Toomer and Plaxico Burress

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — In the seconds following each New York Giants snap, receivers Amani Toomer and Plaxico Burress are going to play an intense game with Al Harris and Charles Woodson that might decide the NFC championship.

Burress calls it hand-to-hand fighting. Toomer thinks it's a little more cerebral. Harris and Woodson say it's the press technique at its finest, while Giants offensive coordinator Kevin Gilbride says the defense that the Green Bay Packers cornerbacks play borders on the illegal.

If you want to be entertained on Sunday without looking at Eli Manning backing away from the center, watch the matchups with the Giants receivers and the Packers cornerbacks at the line of scrimmage.

Harris and Woodson did a great job of preventing the Seattle Seahawks receivers from getting into their patterns last weekend in Green Bay's 42-20 win in the NFC divisional round matchup.

Seattle quarterback Matt Hasselbeck completed 19 of 32 passes for 194 yards and one touchdown. His longest pass on a snowy day went for 22 yards. If there was a lasting memory, it was the quarterback and his receivers complaining to the officials about them being held.

"They grab and hold, and they're going to be up on the bump-and-run, and they're going to test the legality of illegal contact on each and every play," Gilbride said. "Our players know that; they know that's part of the game. We have to do everything we can to not let that be a factor that affects us negatively, and hopefully we'll get some calls."

"Certainly there will be some opportunities for some calls to be made," Gilbride said.

Toomer and Burress are veterans and are used to the tactics. They faced Harris and Woodson earlier this season in the Packers' 35-13 win at Giants Stadium.

Burress, who has been bothered by a sprained ankle all season, had two catches for 32 yards and a touchdown in a game in which he reinjured the ankle.

Toomer had two catches for 48 yards. Manning, who had sprained his shoulder in the season opener the previous week, finished 16-for-29 for 211 yards, the TD and an interception.

Chargers QB Rivers 'optimistic' he can play in AFC championship game

FOXBOROUGH, Mass. (AP) — The San Diego Chargers like what they're hearing from Philip Rivers.

Forced to leave last weekend's upset win because of a sprained right knee, the mouthy quarterback is "optimistic" about playing Sunday in the AFC championship game against the New England Patriots.

Rivers returned to the practice field Friday for the first time this week and sounded ready to go.

"I think honestly, given the magnitude of the game and given the situation, if I'm out there as I plan to be for the first snap and throughout the game, it won't have an effect at all," he said.

Chargers coach Norv

Turner is taking a more cautious approach. He listed Rivers as doubtful and said it would be a gametime decision.

"We want him to be able to move well enough to protect himself," Turner said.

Rivers handled about one-third of the snaps in practice. He was hurt in the 28-24 playoff win over the defending Super Bowl champion Indianapolis Colts, and backup Billy Volek led the winning touchdown drive.

"The way I felt Monday morning, I didn't think I'd feel as good as I do right now," Rivers said. "Certainly, it can ease my mind a bit."

Under NFL rules for reporting injuries, someone listed as doubtful has a 25 percent chance of playing that week. Until Friday, teams were required to merely list whether a player practiced — Rivers did not work out Wednesday or Thursday.

Already a two-touchdown underdog against the perfect Patriots, the Chargers are awfully banged up. Star running back LaDainian Tomlinson said he thought his hyperextended left knee would be OK for him to start, but tight end Antonio Gates was put in the doubtful category.

Patriots coach Bill Belichick said San Diego's injury problems were of little concern to him.

"We get ready for all 53 players every week," he said. "We don't have any control over that."

Stricker-Hogan Wedding

Jayme Stricker and Barry Hogan, both of Lewisville, Texas, were married in a double-ring ceremony at seven o'clock in the evening on Saturday, Oct. 6, 2007, at Embassy Suites Outdoor World in Grapevine, Texas, with Dr. Lynn D. Moore officiating.

The bride is the daughter of James and Sherry Lawson of Paris, Texas, and Jeff and Stephanie Stricker of Grapevine. Jayme is the granddaughter of: Don Hickman and Sharon Hickman of Pampa, Texas; Wanda Stricker of Woodward, Okla., and the late Carl Stricker; and Charles and Pat Ritthaler of Pampa.

The groom is the son of Larry and Peggy Hogan of Wylie, Texas. Barry is the grandson of: the late Bob and Mildred Hogan of Fort Worth, Texas; and the late Harry and Violet Gradel of Fort Worth.

Wedding music was provided by Chris Gunn of Paris. "Glasgow Love Theme" played as the mothers of the bride and groom were seated.

The bridesmaids and groomsmen entered together to "I Could Not Ask For More." The flower girl followed them. Pachelbel's "Canon" played as the bride was escorted to the altar by her father, Jeff Stricker. She was given in marriage by her family.

The bride wore a satin pick-up gown with a sweep train in ivory. The gown had a cuff neckline and lace-up back, all accented in a champagne trim. The veil was a simple fingertip blush in champagne, accented with a beautiful champagne pearl and diamond tiara.

For her bridal bouquet, the bride carried an urban classic, hand-tied design of green-wine hydrangea with cream roses, flame mini calla, red Gerber daisies and red hypericum berry, fully wrapped with cream and champagne ribbon with pearling. All the flowers were designed by

Jayme Stricker and Barry Hogan

Bridal Blooms & Creations of Richardson, Texas.

Jayme chose two maids of honor. They were Jessica Meuse of Lewisville and Karina Gonzalez of El Paso, Texas. Bridesmaids were: Stephanie Lacy of Denton, Texas; Pashé Sykes of Prosper, Texas; Jake Dobbins of McKinney, Texas; and Heather Kinsey of McKinney.

The bridesmaids wore two-piece satin full-length pick-up skirts with sweetheart designed tissue-taffeta tops, all in chocolate brown. Each bridesmaid carried an all green-wine hydrangea with red Hypericum berry and a different fall color of Gerber daisies, all finished with chocolate ribbons. Each bridesmaid's Gerber daisies matched the boutonniere of the groomsmen who was their escort.

The flower girl was Alexandra Dobbins of McKinney. Her dress was full-length of ivory satin with a chocolate brown sash. She carried a matching flower basket of fall-colored rose petals.

The best man was Ken Schroeder of Lewisville. Groomsmen were: Jared Lacy of Dallas; Jason Redick of Lewisville; Jay Hadokowitz of Hurst, Texas; Chris Koder of Lewisville; and Jared Lambert of McKinney. Ushers were: Jack Lacy of Denton, friend of the groom; and Tori Ritthaler, Kris Lawson and Kory Lawson, all of Paris, and all brothers of the bride. The groomsmen and ushers wore traditional black tuxes with chocolate brown vests.

"Lost In This Moment" was played during the Lighting of the Unity Candle.

A reception was held following the wedding in the Embassy Suites Outdoor World Ballroom. The room consisted of round tables with candle-light centerpieces with white floor-length linens. There was a Bistro station which included a selection of meats and imported cheeses with assorted water biscuits and breads garnished with fresh fruit, and market baskets of fresh cut vegetables. A butler served a champagne toast for the bride and groom.

The bride's cake was a three-tier square in ivory and chocolate brown. They chose a silver "H" for the cake topper. There were fall shades of Gerber daisies on each layer of the cake and along the table. The groom's cake was a round, two-tier chocolate cake with a complete Dallas Police theme including decorative bullets, handcuffs, and a replica of Barry's badge. The cakes were created and designed by the talented Michael Plata of Paris.

After the cutting of the cake, there was dancing enjoyed by all the guests to the music of DJ Chris Gunn of Paris.

House party members included Kristen Lacy of Dallas and Jo Lacy of Burleson, Texas.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents on the eve of the wedding, was held at Cantina Laredo in Grapevine.

Jayme and Barry were honored with several parties and showers including a Couples' shower held by the Lacy family in Lewisville. Jayme had a Bridal shower held by her bridesmaids in McKinney. She was also honored with a surprise Personal shower, given by Kristen Lacy and the bridesmaids, which was held in downtown Fort Worth. It was a weekend of fun.

Jayme is a 2001 graduate of North Lamar High School in Paris. She attained a bachelor's degree in psychology from The University of North Texas in 2005. She is employed by Phoenix Health Systems in McKinney. Barry is a 1999 graduate of North Garland High School. He attained a bachelor's degree from The University of North Texas in 2005. He is employed by the City of Dallas as a Police Officer.

Barry and Jayme would like to thank Jami Birdsong of MK's Photography, and Cindy Wilson and Ashley Farmer of Stone Ave. Hair Salon.

A very special "Thank You" to our parents! OUR DAY was beautiful because of YOU.

Following a honeymoon on a Caribbean cruise, the couple settled in McKinney.

AgriLife to host next 'Get-to-Gather'

AMARILLO — Texas AgriLife Extension Service's February "Get-to-Gather" will provide an opportunity to "make and take" a heart-shaped décor item for participants to be used as a gift.

"This easy-to-create piece would make a perfect hostess gift for the upcoming Valentine's holiday," said Sue Church, AgriLife Extension family and consumer sciences agent in Potter County.

The demonstration and hands-on clinic will begin at 1:30 p.m. Feb. 11 at the Potter County Kimble 4-H Center on the Tri-State Fairgrounds. The program is free and open to the public.

Glenda Vandagriff, a Cherokee Extension Education Club member and crafter, will present the steps for constructing the heart made of paper twist.

For a complete list of supplies needed and to reserve a space at the workshop, call the AgriLife Extension office for Potter County at 806-373-0713.

The Get-to-Gathers are an educational activity sponsored by the Potter Extension Education Association.

National League of Junior Cotillions forming chapter

MIAMI — The National League of Junior Cotillions is currently planning a chapter in Roberts County. According to national Director Anne Colvin Winters, the league is actively seeking a director to head up the chapter.

The director, she said, "will receive complete training and an exclusive territory for expansion."

The league provides social dance training for junior high school students along with etiquette and character education. The organization currently has directors operating hundreds of chapters in 34 states.

"This program is making a positive impact on students across the nation, and we are delighted to know that more young people in this area will have the opportunity for this vital training," Winters said.

The league training utilizes role-playing, skits and games to teach etiquette and courtesy to its students. Standard ballroom and line dancing are taught using nationally-approved top 40 music.

The league instruction encompasses lessons on honor, respect, ethics, good sportsmanship, table manners and more. The program is headquartered in Charlotte, N.C., and was first established in 1979. It conducts licensed cotillions nationwide in addition to a Holly Ball and a Spring Ball.

WT faculty to present recital

CANYON — Faculty members in the Department of Music at West Texas A&M University will present their 24th annual Faculty Grand Recital at 8 p.m. Friday, Jan. 25 in Mary Moody Northern Recital Hall.

Brass, string, woodwind, piano and voice will fill the hall as performing members of the WTAMU faculty present a program of music ranging from Schubert to Verdi including a piece composed by Dr. Daniel J. Hall, assistant professor of music. It's the faculty's musical thank-you to everyone who has supported the department throughout the year.

"Our faculty members really enjoy doing this every year, and it's a way for us to give back to those who have done so much for us," Dr. Cloyce Kuhnert, associate professor of voice, said.

The WTAMU Chorale will perform the work composed by Hall titled "The Tooth that Nibbles at the Soul." Hall will direct the piece, and accompaniment will feature Dr. Denise Parr-Scanlin, assistant professor of music, on piano, and Dr. Susan Martin Tariq, professor of music, on chimes.

Dr. William Takacs-trumpet, assistant professor of music, will perform a work by Anthony Plog titled "Animal Ditties II" with "The Ostrich," "The Chipmunk," "The Canary" and "The Elk." Hall will narrate, and Jan Walsler, part-time instructor of music, will play the piano.

Mark Trimble-flute, instructor of music, and Dr.

Choong-Ha Nam-piano, assistant professor of music, will perform "Sonata for Flute and Piano," op 94, movements 1 and 2 by Sergei Prokofiev.

— Dr. Cloyce Kuhnert
Associate professor of voice will take to the stage to perform Giuseppe Verdi's "Liberté Scriptus" (Requiem). Rolando Salazar will provide piano accompaniment.

Don Lefevre-saxophone, associate professor of music, will play Vittorio Monti's "Csardas." Accompanist will be Mila Abbasova. The recital program also will feature Dr. Joseph Cox-trombone, professor of music, and Walsler on the piano in a performance of "Sinfonia" by Giovanni Battista Pergolesi.

Other performers for the evening include Ron Lemon-horn, associate professor of music, playing "Concerto in D," movement 2 "Largo" by George Philipp Telemann. Abbasova will provide piano accompaniment. Parr-Scanlin-piano, will play Schubert's "Impromptu in A-flat," op 90, No. 4.

The Harrington String Quartet will be part of the program and perform Mendelssohn's "Theme and Variations," op 81, No. 1, and singing "Ah! Je veux vivre!" will be Dr. Joe Ella Cansler-soprano, associate professor of voice, with Walsler on the piano. Auditions to be held for 'TEXAS' in Feb.

CANYON — Auditions for the 43rd season of the outdoor musical drama "TEXAS," staged at the amphitheater in Palo Duro Canyon, are just around the corner. "TEXAS" management is predicting this season will be the largest since 1970.

The "TEXAS" Company is looking to hire actors, singers, dancers, instrumentalists, wranglers, audio/lighting technicians, costumers and hospitality staff. All ages are invited to attend the castings, set to include more than 100 company members, ranging in age from 4 to 64.

Rehearsals will begin in mid-May. Production nights are Tuesday through Sunday June 2 through Aug. 17. Performance and technical classes will be provided to company members during the summer.

The following auditions will be held in Canyon:

• Feb. 2, 10 a.m. dance audition (9:30 registration) and 11 a.m. singer/actor audition (registration 10:30 a.m.), West Texas A&M University Fine Arts Complex, Happy State Bank Black Box Theatre. Auditions are open to individuals 17-plus years of age.

• Feb. 3, 1:30 p.m. Children/parent meeting for ages 4-16, WTAMU Fine Arts Complex, Happy State Bank Black Box Theatre. The show's choreographer and music director will assess participants' singing and movement abilities. Children should prepare a 30-second monologue.

Other auditions will be conducted in Edmond, Okla., Austin, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Chapel Hill, N.C. For more information, call the company office at (806) 655-2181, e-mail arosel1@tphf.com or visit www.texas-show.com on the Internet.

Directors reach contract deal to put a stop on strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hollywood directors have reached a tentative contract deal with studios after five days of negotiations, the directors union said Thursday.

The agreement puts pressure on striking writers to end their walkout that has lasted more than two months and idled work on dozens of TV shows.

High Plains Vegetable Conference in offing this month in Canyon

CANYON — The sixth annual High Plains Vegetable Conference will be held Jan. 24 in the Alumni Banquet Facility on the West Texas A&M University campus in Canyon, said a Texas AgriLife Extension Service specialist.

The program will begin with registration at 7:45 a.m. and time will be given to view exhibitor displays and posters, said Russ Wallace, AgriLife Extension vegetable specialist from Lubbock. Industry representatives will also be given the opportunity to provide updates on what is new for 2008. The program will include various experts who will provide the latest information on disease, insect and weed management for vegetables; transitioning to organic and sustainable agriculture; alternative crops; seedling establishment; economics; weed management in turfgrass; and laws and regulations.

The conference is designed for vegetable growers and shippers, consultants, agriculture industry representatives, AgriLife Extension agents, university researchers and Master Gardeners from the High Plains and surrounding regions, Wallace said.

Texas Department of Agriculture will offer 6.5 continuing education credits — four general, two integrated pest management and one-half on laws and regulations, and Master Gardeners will also qualify for continuing education credits, he said.

For more information, contact Wallace at the Texas AgriLife Research and Extension Center at Lubbock at 806-746-6101.

STATE FACTS

Texas unemployment rises

DALLAS (AP) — The statewide unemployment rate rose to 4.5 percent in December, its highest level in 10 months and a sign of slowing in the regional economy.

Figures released Friday by the Texas Workforce Commission showed that the number of job hunters swamped a modest increase in hiring in Texas, pushing unemployment up from 4.2 percent in November.

Still, the December jobless rate remained low by historical standards. Unemployment in Texas dipped to 4.1 percent, a 31-year low, at times last year.

The national unemployment rate in December was 5 percent, a two-year high and a major reason that President Bush, Federal Reserve Chairman Ben Bernanke and members of Congress are talking about tax cuts or other measures to boost the economy in an election year.

The Texas commission said seasonally adjusted non-farm employment in Texas grew by 18,600 jobs in December. That was an improvement from weak November numbers, and Chairwoman Diane Rath said it was twice the national rate, although still below the increases of earlier months.

"This isn't great news, but it's not clear that we're definitely going to have a recession either," said Michael L. Davis, an economics professor at Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Davis said oil prices of about $100 per barrel "will support the oil patch, and we added 1,300 construction jobs, which strikes me as pretty good given what's going on in the housing market."

Midland, helped by the boom in oil and gas exploration and production, continued to have the lowest unemployment in the state at 2.7 percent, unchanged in several months. Neighboring Odessa, along with the Panhandle cities of Amarillo and Lubbock, held their runner-up status at 3.2 percent.

At the other end of the scale, unemployment jumped to 6.6 percent in the McAllen-Edinburg-Mission area, up from 5.9 percent in November. Beaumont-Port Arthur, Brownsville-Harlingen and El Paso were close to 6 percent.

The statewide numbers were adjusted for seasonal trends in hiring and firing, which most economists believe gives a better picture of the job market. But local figures are not seasonally adjusted.

Professional and business services added 8,900 jobs in December, and government hiring helped too, as education and health services added 5,800 jobs, according to the commission.

Initial claims for unemployment benefits in Texas declined 4.3 percent, to 57,364 from 59,943 in November.

Following are the preliminary December jobless rates for local areas in Texas, with revised November figures in parentheses. The figures are not seasonally adjusted. The statewide unadjusted jobless rate was 4.3 percent in December, up from 4.1 percent in November.

Federal government files lawsuits over fence issue

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — The federal government has sued the Brownsville Public Utilities Board and several Cameron County landowners to get access to their property as officials work on the proposed Mexican border fence.

The 12 land condemnation lawsuits filed Thursday state that the Homeland Security Department intends to seize the property under federal eminent domain laws and plans to compensate landowners, according to Harlingen television station

KGBT-TV.

The filing followed a judge's order earlier this week that allowed federal seizure of 223 acres of city-owned land in the border community of Eagle Pass. City leaders were furious with the order, which came the same day federal prosecutors sued for access to the land.

The Homeland Security Department is trying to build 370 miles of border fence by the end of the year. A law signed by President Bush and supported by both Texas' U.S. senators mandated a total of 700 miles of fence along the border.

The Justice Department is expected to file 102 lawsuits against landowners to survey the property and decide where to put border fencing or other barriers or equipment.

Several landowners have given the government access to their land, including some who oppose the fence. Many others in Texas, Arizona and California have refused, prompting the lawsuits.

Bank robber gets to keep lottery prize despite breaking probation

BARNSTABLE, Mass. (AP) — The luck keeps rolling for a convicted bank robber who won a $1 million lottery prize: Though he violated his probation by buying the ticket, a judge says he can keep the money.

A lawyer for Timothy Elliott, 55, called the violation minor, and the Massachusetts lottery commission previously has said there was no basis for withdrawing the prize.

Barnstable Superior Court Judge Richard Connon on Friday approved the probation department's agreement that he could keep the winnings. The only change is that Elliott now must pay a monthly $65 probation supervisory fee, previously waived because he had been indigent.

Elliott declined to comment Friday. He lives in Bourne under the supervision of the Department of Mental Health.

Probation department spokeswoman Coria Holland would not comment further on the case.

In October 2006, Elliott pleaded guilty to unarmed robbery for a heist at a bank on Cape Cod and was placed on five years' probation. The terms required him to not "gamble, purchase lottery tickets or visit an establishment where gaming is conducted..."

The jackpot was won on $10 ticket for the "$800 Million Spectacular" game that Elliott bought at a supermarket in Hyannis. He already has received the first of 20 annual $50,000 checks from the lottery commission.

CHILD'S DEATH

Man throws toddler from overpass

HONOLULU (AP) — The man in hospital scrubs threw the toddler like a doll from a pedestrian overpass to the freeway humming with traffic. The 2 1/2-year-old boy fell 30 feet to the asphalt and was pronounced dead at the scene.

The horrifying incident Thursday on the highway cutting through the heart of the city shocked Honolulu residents, causing panicked parents to phone day care centers to check on their children.

Police arrested a 23-year-old man they say occasionally baby-sat the child after witnesses saw him throwing something, followed him and called authorities.

Kraig Hengst told The Honolulu Advertiser he was working in an apartment garage across the street from the overpass when he saw a man "toss the baby" at about 11:40 a.m.

"I saw the baby high in the air. I thought it was a doll at first," Hengst said. The man held the child in one arm and "tossed it into the air," he said.

One or two vehicles may have struck the boy, but it was unclear exactly what killed him, the newspaper reported.

A white sheet covered the body on the westbound lanes of the H-1 freeway, a major route through downtown that police temporarily closed. The scene was just blocks from the Capitol and the governor's mansion.

The man, who was wearing green hospital scrubs, was taken to the police station and then to a hospital, said police spokeswoman Michelle Yu. She didn't know whether he had a history of mental illness or a criminal record.

"That will be part of the investigation," Yu said.

The suspect screamed "Thank you for everything" to television crews as he was escorted to a cell block. While in a police car, he rocked back and forth in the back seat.

The Queen's Medical Center, the nearest facility with a mental health wing, declined to say whether the man was or had been a patient. But spokeswoman Rebecca Pollard said that no patients were missing Thursday and that none had been discharged in an unstable condition.

Johnnie Bruen told KITV that the man calmly walked away from the overpass after dropping the child. Bruen later chased the man up a hill among houses and low-rise apartment buildings near the freeway.

"He didn't say anything, he didn't scream; he looked like a normal person standing there smoking a cigarette, except that he had on a smock," Bruen said. "That's just a horrible sight that I seen down there, for any man to do that to a child."

Comedian gets fit at age of 51

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Harvey wants men to know: "At 50, you are still fly."

And to prove it, he shaved his head and began exercising.

In an interview in Jet magazine, the actor-comedian says he began his transformation after talking to a listener on his radio program, "The Steve Harvey Morning Show."

"The girl said to me, 'Steve, you're 50 and you are over the hill,'" Harvey recalls. "I started thinking, 'Wow, I am over the hill?' I said 'OK, I got to do something to stop this line of thinking. Because at 50, I should not be thought of as over the hill. At 50, a man ought to feel that he is on top of the hill.'"

He hired a personal trainer and now works out five days a week at his Atlanta home.

"I had a potbelly and love handles," says Harvey, who's lost 13 pounds. "I've been telling people you can be 50 and fly, but when I took my clothes off, I wasn't looking fly."

Harvey, who celebrated his 51st birthday Thursday, defines "fly" as looking great, but also being healthy and spiritually strong.

"Shaving my head was more of a spiritual thing for me. I wanted to be free," he says.

Harvey starred with Bernie Mac and Cedric the Entertainer in 2000's "The Original Kings of Comedy."

He shows off his new look on the cover of Jet's Jan. 28 issue, on newsstands Monday.

Man with gun arrested near U.S. Capitol Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Capitol Police arrested a man carrying a shotgun outside the Capitol building Friday, authorities said.

The man, who was not immediately identified, was in custody and no one was injured, police spokeswoman Sgt. Kimberly Schneider said.

An officer first spotted the man near Union Station, about two blocks from the Capitol.

Police used a robotic camera to see inside the vehicle but could not determine some "items of concern," Schneider said.

Authorities were evacuating parts of a nearby building as a precaution so they could use a powerful water hose to destroy the vehicle.

Xcel Energy becomes founding reporter of The Climate Registry

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Xcel Energy has become a Founding Reporter of The Climate Registry.

The Climate Registry is a non-profit organization established to measure and publicly report greenhouse gas emissions (GHG) in a common, accurate and transparent manner, using consistent industry sectors and borders.

Thirty-nine U.S. states, five Canadian provinces, three Native American tribes, two Mexican states and the District of Columbia are the founders of the organization.

"I believe climate change is a global problems and the time to act is now," said Dick Kelly, Xcel Energy chairman, president and CEO. "The Climate Registry will provide an accurate and credible inventory of our greenhouse gas emissions. It will give our customers and communities a sound technical basis by which they can assess and provide feedback on our climate and clean energy strategies."

By joining The Climate Registry, Xcel Energy voluntarily commits to measure, independently verify and publicly report greenhouse gas emissions on an annual basis utilizing The Climate Registry General Reporting Protocol. The protocol is based on the internationally recognized GHG measurement standards of the World Resources Institute and World Business Council on Sustainable.

"Xcel Energy has demonstrated exemplary environmental leadership by courageously stepping forward to support The Climate Registry in its preliminary stages," said Gina McCarthy, chairwoman of The Climate Registry. "We are deeply grateful for their integral support in helping to address the challenge of climate change."

Xcel Energy is the largest utility wind provider in the United States. The company is a national leader in energy efficiency and conservation programs and development of renewable and other clean energy technologies. Xcel Energy recently proposed resource plans in its Colorado and Minnesota service territories that will result in significant greenhouse gas emission reductions by 2020.

Xcel Energy (NYSE: XEL) is a major U.S. electricity and natural gas company with regulated operations in eight Western and Midwestern states. Xcel Energy provides a comprehensive portfolio of energy-related products and services to 3.3 million electricity customers and 1.8 million natural gas customers through its regulated operating companies. Company headquarters are located in Minneapolis.

More information is available at www.xcelenergy.com.

The Climate Registry was incorporated in March 2007 in Washington, D.C. The Climate Registry provides accurate and transparent measurement of GHG emissions and ensures consistency of measurement metrics across industry sectors and borders. The Climate Registry accounting infrastructure supports both voluntary and regulatory programs.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Sunday, Jan. 20, 2008:

Prepare to experience change as you enter a new luck and life cycle. Make choices accordingly. At times you might not be as sure of yourself as you would like to be. Understand that you are in a period of dynamic change and happenings. Be open to positive life changes. If you are single, you'll discover the many opportunities that head in your direction to change your status. Hold back if you aren't comfortable. Date. If you are attached, the two of you need more private time together. CANCER helps you out more times than you can imagine.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)  Emotions come forth when dealing with friends and/or long-term goals. You could feel stretched in various directions. Be aware of your limitations, physically as well as emotionally. Work with your friends. Tonight: Call it an early night.

This Week: Work with a distinct set of goals. Each day you become more effective.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)  You might choose to handle a situation differently given an opportunity. A key person becomes even more important. Consider seizing greater control, remembering that with action comes greater responsibility. Tonight: Chat the night away.

This Week: Interpersonal communication soars Monday and Thursday.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)  Your possessive side emerges, taking you in a new direction. Question what needs to happen as opposed to what you want to happen. Keep a tight hand on spending. You might not want to deal with the aftermath. Tonight: Your treat.

This Week: Your words hit the mark.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Monday, Jan. 21, 2008:

This year you will give considerable thought to a change of direction or doing something very differently. Others will respond accordingly, and not necessarily as you'd like! Strong feedback heads in your direction toward your next birthday. Much will go on behind the scenes. You will learn much more than you have in the past about those in your life. Your finances take many twists and turns. Your leadership qualities will emerge. If you are single, check out a potential sweetie, as he or she might not be emotionally available. If you are attached, as a duo you'll build a better relationship if you take time off together. You will bond far more closely. CANCER anchors you.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)  Opportunity heads your way if you're willing to lead as you sort out responsibilities. Certainly an offer might be too good to be true. An easy but steady pace continues to mark your actions. Tonight: Head on home. You need some downtime.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)  Reach out by being more attentive to what others say and feel. Someone might have a very strong opinion or sense of what needs to happen. Another's unexpected actions just might work. Don't walk away from the unpredictable. Tonight: Hang out.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)  Hold a steady pace, even when the unexpected pops up professionally. You are far more anchored than in the

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

 Your smile proves to be a sure-bet winner. If you really want to head in a new direction, you will. A partner plays into your plans far more than you realize. Discussions are open. You can convince anyone of anything. Tonight: As you like.

This Week: Start the week emphasizing key priorities.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)  Vanish while you can. You might want to spend some time alone with a special friend or loved one. Question your choices. Don't let others play into your decisions. Others might be curious about what you are up to. Tonight: Keep it low-key.

This Week: Tuesday, you perk up. You feel that the Force is with you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)  Aim for more of what you want. Friends provide a friendly atmosphere, where you have greater say and impact. You are happiest where you find crowds and people. Don't underestimate your impact. Tonight: Aim high.

This Week: Monday and Thursday, you make a difference.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)  Others look to you for leadership and direction. Your abilities come through. Others want you to take the lead. They trust you. Quick changes surround those you look up to. Know when to head in a new direction. Tonight: A must show.

This Week: Honestly, you might feel as if you are unstoppable, especially if you assume leadership.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)  You might need to turn in a new direction or do something differently. Break your old patterns; reach out for others. Opt for adventure rather than the staid and safe. Make your personal life a higher priority than in the past. Tonight: Read between the lines.

This Week: Take an overview. Defer to others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

 You will be speaking your mind more often. In this sample, A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

This Week: Work with others individually. Break past boundaries.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)  Others express interest in what you are doing. Share more of yourself and be more open. It is easy to be withdrawn. Your ability to communicate takes you in a new direction. Understanding proves to be significant. Tonight: Understanding mounts.

This Week: Allow others to run the show. Be imaginative about what lies ahead.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)  Follow the easy and relaxing path. Sometimes you push way too hard and exhaust yourself. Recognize that you have a limited reserve of energy. Consider another person's advice with care. Remember to follow your instincts. Tonight: Think "Monday."

This Week: Monday, get as much work done as you can. Afterward, you might not be as interested.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)  Everyone wants fun and good times. Understand when you need to break a pattern or relax more with a loved one. Let the impossible happen. Invigorate your energy by having a fun time. Listen to your inner voice. Tonight: Act like there is no tomorrow.

This Week: You might want to open up to news. How you see a personal matter could change.

past. You come from a stable point of view. Honor who you are, and you'll succeed. Listen to a partner. Tonight: Use discretion with funds.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)  Others come forward. You might not be as sure of yourself as you'd like to be. Start asking questions, and you'll come up with answers that suit you just fine. Pressure will build if you don't become expansive. Tonight: Out and about.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)  Accomplish as much as you can. Don't feel bad or worry if you need to close your door or need some private time. Not everyone needs to agree with you. Your instincts could be unpredictable. Get into the facts. Don't speculate right now. Tonight: Easy does it.

How about a nap?

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)  Meetings, crowds and people in general help you create much more of what you want. A key associate or loved one could be unpredictable. Give this person acceptance and space, and the situation might calm down. Tonight: Where the gang is.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)  Pressure builds, and you respond to others in style. Listen to others, even if you believe they have some way-out ideas. Your ability to move past hassles and focus on basics emerges. Thank goodness. Stability helps you make strong decisions. Tonight: Easy does it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)  Listen to news that heads in your direction. Creativity bubbles forth. Aim for more of what you want. Your imagination soars in a new direction. You are capable of the unexpected. Tonight: Relax your mind. Listen to great music.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

 Much jars you as the day gets older. Be ready to change gears or do something very differently. Your perceptions might not fit with events. Pull back and think in terms of gains. Investigate and see what happens. Tonight: When it gets rocky, pretend that you are an expert in emotional white-water rafting.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)  Others certainly frame events and ideas in an interesting manner. Clearly, you might not have the control you would like. Investigate opportunities with care. The unexpected does occur. Seriously consider alternatives. Tonight: Say yes.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)  You might want to revise your thinking with a work-related matter. You'll discover far more than you might want to. Finances take unexpected swings. A partner thinks in terms of gains. Investigate news that heads in your direction. Tonight: Put your feet up and relax.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)  Opportunity heads in your direction. Listen to news. Creativity bubbles forth. You'll get answers. The unexpected occurs, and pressure builds when you least expect it. Let everyone pitch in. Why not? Tonight: Fun and games.
