Sandies To Outweigh Harvesters An Even Nine Pounds To Man

ENDS SCARE

Andrews Will Be In Lineup For Amarillo

Forward Walls Due To Decide Issue Of Big Game Saturday

By HARRY E. HOARE

As the time draws near for the meeting of the Pampa Harvesters and Amarillo Sandies on Butler Field Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, statisticians get busy on dope, weight comparison, etc. Dope, to date this season, has meant absolutely nothing so let's look at weights.

Pampa will take the field outweighed an even nine pounds to the man. The figures show the Sandies average 174 1/2 pounds and the Harvesters 165 1/2 pounds per man. Despite the fact the Harvester line is one of the largest in recent years, it is outweighed by a Sandie forward wall fairly even from end to end.

No one is denying the fact that Blazing Ell Thompson is the parking of the Sandie backfield. Thompson, weighing about 155 pounds, calls signals from the back position, passes and punts, and

Soph's Parents To Meet Tonight

Captain H. G. Lambrecht of the Salvation Army will act as chairman of a meeting of the parents of sophomores in Pampa high school to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in room 202 of the high school building.

The meeting is another in the series of programs designed to acquaint parents with the records made by their children in school, and to foster better attendance.

Last night, there were 19 present at the meeting of the parents of junior class students, teachers, and school officials. Mrs. L. L. McCollum was chairman.

Tom Herod, assistant high school principal, said that of the 37 failures in three subjects, it was found that while this 37 composed only one-twentyfirst of the entire student body, this group was responsible for one-fifth of the absences, showing a close relationship between the number of failures and absences.

After the meeting, parents talked with the junior class teachers present. Of the total enrollment of 744 at Pampa High schools, there are 230 juniors and 320 sophomores. A total of 258 failed in one or more subjects during the first six weeks period.

Water Conservation Meeting Scheduled

The annual meeting of the Pampa Water Conservation Association will be held in the Amarillo hotel at 10 a. m. next Wednesday, Oct. 28.

The note to Tokyo called bluntly for protection of the open door policy in China, and was one of the most comprehensive sent to Japan.

Jobless Man Starts Fire To Get A Job

BEAUMONT, Oct. 27 (AP)—Be-whiskered Tom Scarborough of Shelby County had his own system of solving his personal unemployment problem—but it went around in federal court today.

He told Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson Jr., "I set fire to the timber (in Sabine National Park) so I could get a job. I figured that they'd hire me to help put out the fire."

Scoutmasters Needed For Two Local Troops

Several new Boy Scout troops are now being organized over the Adobe Walls council. Two of them are in Pampa but lack of scoutmasters has kept them from becoming a reality.

Other troops are being organized as follows: Borger 2 and one each in Skellytown and Alvarado, Texas.

Father Of Mrs. Odus Mitchell Dies Suddenly

Richard Shields, 59, of Childress, former Pampa resident and father of Mrs. Odus Mitchell of Pampa, died suddenly of a heart attack late Wednesday afternoon at his home in Childress.

Mrs. Mitchell is the wife of the Pampa high school football coach whose crucial game of the season with the Amarillo Sandies is only two days distant.

Coach and Mrs. Mitchell went to Childress last night following receipt of the death message. Mr. Shields had been a resident of Pampa for several years, leaving here about two years ago to reside in Childress.

He is survived in the immediate family by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. Mitchell of Pampa, and Miss Daisy Ann Shields of Monrovia, Calif.

Funeral services will be held in Childress at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Burial will be in the Childress cemetery.

Townsend Clubs To Give Party Friday

Games of a century ago, music by the W. T. Jesse orchestra, and speeches by C. E. Cary and Newton P. Willis are on the program of the party to be given at 7:30 o'clock Friday night in the I. O. O. F. hall on West Brown street by the Pampa Townsend clubs 1 and 2.

The party is not limited to club members, as the public, young and old, is invited. Children will be cared for in an anteroom. Coffee and pie will be served to those who desire refreshments.

Speeches will be on the theme of the work of the two Pampa Townsend clubs and the explanation of the Townsend movement.

Chairman in charge of the party are Mrs. Bettie Richardson, Mrs. Fay Huff, W. C. Cook, and O. C. Capt. Mrs. J. W. Minnis, and B. C. Myers are on the serving committee, and Mrs. Clarence Barksdale, Roy Hallmon and Joy Hood are hostesses.

Band Will Play As Lions Open Carnival

Music by the Pampa High school band will be the prelude to the opening of the Lions Club three-day carnival at 6:30 o'clock tonight at the carnival tent, located on the Santa Fe right-of-way on West Archibald Street.

The band will march through the downtown Pampa business district on Cuyler, then conclude its march before the entrance to the tent, on the east.

Tomorrow night, the Pampa Junior High school band will provide the preliminary concert.

Entertainment to be given during the carnival, on each of the three nights, will consist of Mike Shepley's accordion quartet, Jack

Dempsey Asks Dies Probers To Pipe Down

Chairman Says He Has 'Hot Testimony' In Michigan Case

EL PASO, Oct. 27 (AP)—Rep. John J. Dempsey of New Mexico late last night sent a telegram to Representative Martin Dies, chairman of the House Committee Investigating Un-American Activities, asking that he defer further meetings of the committee until "after the election."

Rep. Dempsey said he sent the telegram after conferring with Rep. Audrey D. Healey of Massachusetts, both of whom are members of the committee.

"As members of the committee to investigate un-American activities, we request that you defer further meetings of the committee until we can be present after the election and until after the full committee has had an opportunity to meet and consider procedure for a preliminary examination of testimony to be offered to the committee," the telegram stated.

"We are greatly disturbed by the charges such as those made yesterday by the President himself that procedure has been adopted which has permitted the committee to be improperly used for election purposes and we particularly deplore the kind of attack that has been permitted upon an outstanding government servant like Governor Murphy."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Dies committee turned its attention once more today to testimony about industrial conditions.

Sale Of Tickets For Train Slow

Only half enough tickets had been sold up to noon today to insure a special train to the Pampa-Amarillo football game in Amarillo Saturday afternoon. A minimum of 150 tickets must be purchased in advance in order to have the train spotted on the local siding.

Tickets at $1.10 are available at the Santa Fe station and at the office of the school business manager in the city hall where several hundred reserve seat tickets to the game are still on hand.

Plans call for the train to leave at 12:45 p. m., arriving in Amarillo about a block from Butler field 40 minutes before game time.

Paving Of 17 City Blocks Will Begin

WPA workmen this morning completed the paving of 17 city blocks in the city-wide street paving project. The job ended at the intersection of Georgia avenue and Mary Ellen street.

A work order for 17 additional blocks and three alleys was received here Monday and work on that project will begin Monday morning at a point yet to be designated. Also scheduled to begin Monday morning is the project of tearing down the condemned grandstand at Recreation park.

Blocks paved with caliche base and asphalt top included four on North West, one each on North Somerville and North Gray, five on Cooke avenue and one on Georgia avenue.

Scout Official Of Dallas Here Today

Minor Huffman, deputy regional executive of the ninth region Boy Scouts of America with headquarters in Dallas, arrived here yesterday to discuss the local program of the Adobe Walls council.

Reorganization of all outlying districts in the council organizing of new troops through local district committeemen and an enlarged camping program are among the plans for enlarging the Adobe Walls council.

Griffith Amusement Company Announces Retirement Fund

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Griffith Amusement company and affiliated companies announced today a retirement fund had been established for 1,000 male employees in Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico.

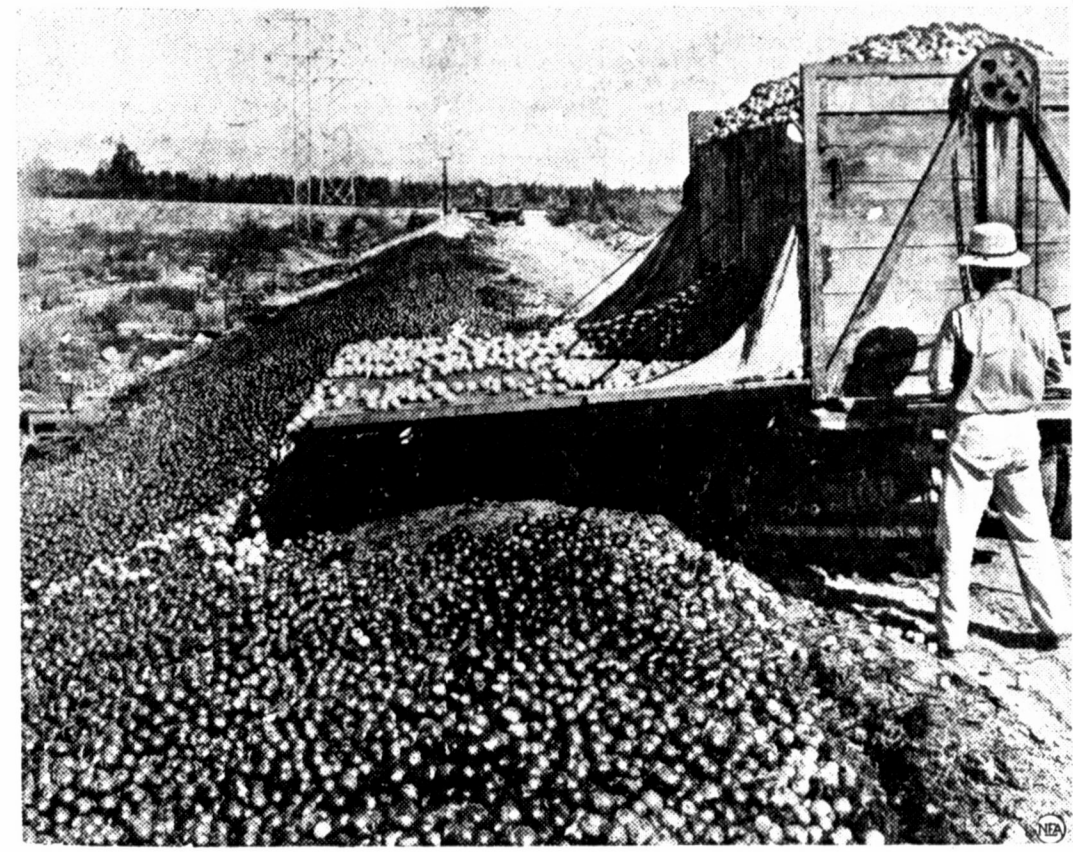

The companies operate 200 theaters in 80 cities and towns.

C. O. Fugham, division manager, said the fund would permit employees to retire at 65 on two-thirds of their salary. Employees may retire after five years of service on about 17 per cent pay.

Special Train Will Provide Safety For Many Football Fans

Enthusiasm over the forthcoming football classic between the Pampa Harvesters and the Golden Sandies at Amarillo Saturday has reached a new high with game tickets and train tickets on the Harvester safety special selling rapidly.

The intense rivalry between these outstanding teams has occasioned greater interest in the annual classic this year than ever before.

Game tickets were sold so rapidly that an additional block was secured by the local school authorities.

In the interest of safety the school authorities have arranged another special train for the return.

Special consideration has been given the handling of the train and provision made to permit the fans' entry to the playing field direct from adjoining tracks. Immediately following the game the passengers are to board the train for the return trip.

Phillips Gives 35,857 Acres Of New Mexico Land To Boy Scouts

A gift from Mr. and Mrs. Waite Phillips of Tulsa, Okla., of 35,857 acres of land a few miles northwest of Cimarron, N. M., and $50,000 to be used in improving and developing the land for camping purposes, was accepted yesterday by the executive board of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, at its meeting in New York City.

When he made this announcement, Walter W. Head, president of the Boy Scouts of America, said, "Mr. Phillips offered the property without any restriction whatsoever save that it is to be used for the benefit of members of the Boy Scouts of America. As a matter of fact, he specifically stated, if this proposal were being made to any other organization, whose rating was inferior to the record of service made by the Boy Scouts of America, I would be inclined to be more particular in outlining a program, to be assured that the property would be put to full beneficial use as I visualize it."

In accepting his gift the national executive board, on the basis of reports received from members of the national and regional staffs who have inspected the tract, has in mind the establishment of a Boy Scout reservation for the district.

U. S. To Protect Her Neighbors, FDR Warns

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—The United States, through President Roosevelt, served notice on the world today it would protect the western hemisphere from foreign interference and, while desiring disarmament, would not disarm "while neighbor nations arm to the teeth."

The President, in his first pronouncement on American foreign policy since the Czechoslovakian crisis, made a virtually unprecedentedly shattering condemnation of nations which employ force, exile and repression as instruments of national policy.

He declared that the governments of foreign nations "must not threaten the world with the disaster of war" and asserted no useful purpose is served to suggest "either to the American people or the peoples of other nations that the American government in its policies, its practices and its servants are actuated by motives of dishonesty or corruption."

Japan Told To Preserve Trade Rights

Long List Of Broken Promises Cited In 3,000-Word Note

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—The United States government has told Japan in a strongly-worded note to stop "unwarranted interference" with American rights in China.

The 3,000-word statement, presented by Ambassador Joseph C. Grew in Tokyo Oct. 6 but made public only today, demanded continuation of the "open door" policy in the Orient.

An early reply was requested. The unofficial interpretation here was that if a favorable answer did not arrive soon, relations between the two countries would become strained.

The United States accused Japan of seeking to make another Manchoukuo out of the portions of China she has occupied, and listed a long series of violations of American business and property rights.

Charges Trade Monopoly. The note charged Japan with trying to monopolize all trade in China through setting up Pseudo-Chinese monopolies; with manipulating the currency in North China, with altering the tariffs; with keeping American business men from their property and censoring and interfering with American mail and telegrams at Shanghai.

It called Japan's changes in the customs offices "arbitrary and illegal assumptions of authority for

Farmers Must Study New Farm Program

DALLAS, Oct. 27 (AP)—Farm leaders of 20 northwest Texas counties carried back home today full instructions on how to make the government's farm program for next year work smoothly.

Three hundred agriculturists heard state AAA leaders stress that tears of the fields must themselves become better acquainted with the program and must assume more responsibility for making the plan work.

Ralph Price, AAA official from College Station, explained the 1939 program contemplates making acreage allotments before Christmas—in time for spring plantings.

Among new features of the program is one which makes control restrictions lighter on farms receiving total soil-depleting acreage allotments of less than 25 acres. Another is that sweet sorghums and Sudan grass used as silage will not be classed as soil-depleting in certain areas.

A. L. Smith, College Station, special AAA range expert, said prospects of increased range conservation work were good. He said such work previously applied only to West Texas, where 15,000 operators devoted $3,000,000 acres to the program in 1938 counties. The new program contemplates about 65,000 acres under control, he said.

McKay Trial Set For Next Week

A special venire of 75 has been summoned to report in 31st district court at 10 o'clock Monday morning, in the case of State of Texas vs. Paris McKay, who was indicted by the grand jury on September 21 for a statutory charge. McKay is under $2,500 bond.

Monday is the beginning of the seventh and final week of the September term of district court.

The court was at a standstill today, no case being heard this morning. The case of W. H. Kelley et ux vs. F. W. Dye et al went to the jury at 4:10 p. m. Wednesday, but up to noon today they had brought in no verdict.

Fate Of Condemned Man Will Be Settled Today

AUSTIN, Oct. 27 (AP)—The fate of Selanes Canedo of San Antonio, awaiting electrocution at Huntsville penitentiary early Friday morning, probably will be settled at a meeting of the pardons board and Mexican consulate officials here today.

Originally scheduled for execution April 22, Canedo, convicted slayer of Joseph W. Dally, railroad machinist, had been given several reprieves.

Roosevelt's Speech Assailed In Rome

ROME, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Fascist newspaper La Tribuna today said President Roosevelt's speech of last night "fits quite well into the picture of contemporary Democratic, Jewish, and Masonic activity."

The newspaper said the speech showed that Jews constituted the "real reason rather than the pretext which impels Democratic governments to arm themselves to the point of congestion."

SMARTNESS WITH COMFORT. These gloves are made on a new principle—with panels that go over the finger-tips—so that you can wiggle all ten digits in complete comfort! Another example of this trend towards comfort in things women wear, is Modess. This sanitary napkin is made on a different principle, too. The filler in Modess is soft and fluffy—unlike napkins made of crepey, close-packed layers. That's why women everywhere say, "For comfort, there's nothing like Modess!"

Glorifying Yourself. Experts agree that your complexion can be no better than your diet. The woman who eats more fresh vegetables and green salads than heavy, starchy foods and rich pastries, has a better than even chance of having a radiantly lovely complexion. Begin the day by drinking a full glass of hot water into which you have squeezed the juice of a fresh lemon. Then, at least half an hour later, eat a light breakfast which includes fresh fruit. Incidentally, you might remember that orange juice, like milk, is rich in calcium. And calcium is necessary to hair and nail as well as complexion beauty. If you are hungry in the middle of the morning before lunch time, eat a few stalks of crisp celery or a few raw carrots or a quarter of a head of lettuce instead of a sandwich or a bit of pastry. If you are trying to lose a few pounds or want to maintain your present weight, the ideal luncheon consists of hot, clear soup, a large vegetable or fruit salad with a dressing of mineral oil and lemon juice—well seasoned—and a fresh or stewed fruit dessert. If you get hungry again between lunch and dinner time, eat an apple or a raw tomato or drink a glass of milk. If you have had a light breakfast, a reasonably light lunch and only non-fattening food, if any, between times, you can have one helping of everything on the dinner menu. No second helpings, however. Remember, of course, that adequate rest and sleep are all important. In addition to eating sensibly and getting a reasonable amount of exercise each and every day, by all means try to sleep eight hours every night.

N. Y. TESTS PROVE WOMEN CAN LOSE FAT. Ask Your Doctor If It Isn't Good Way. Read EVERY Word. NEW YORK, N. Y. A test conducted by prominent N. Y. physician and nationally known newspaper woman proved there is a harmless, effective way to lose fat. If you'll only STICK TO IT and give it a fair trial. In 80 days, 25 women lost a total of 286 lbs. EVERY woman lost fat. The average loss per woman being 11 1/2 lbs. The women first of all ate sensibly. And for proper functioning they took a little daily dose of Kruschen Salts. If you have the slightest doubt about this Plan just ask your own doctor about its safety and merit. And this is important to know: Kruschen is not just one salt as some people may ignorantly believe, but a blend of 6 active mineral salts (see on box) which, when dissolved in water, make a healthful mineral drink. It's the pleasure of famous European Spas where wealthy fat women have gone for years. Here's the Kruschen Plan: Just take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in hot water every morning for better functioning. Go light on fatty foods and sweets—eat plentifully of lean meats, fresh fruits and green vegetables. Plan to do this faithfully for 80 days and see if you don't lose fat and feel healthier and younger. Constipated? Then Ask Yourself This Question!

If constipation has you bogged down so you feel tired, sunk, all played out—it's time you asked yourself a question! What have you had to eat lately? Just meat, bread, eggs, potatoes? It's no surprise you're constipated! The chances are you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement. If this is what you lack, your ticket is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains both "bulk" and the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B. And it's not a drug, not a medicine! Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and take a new lease on life! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Taking Stock

The story is told of the old Negro, who spent his life with never one thin dime to rub against the other...

Too often, these days, the same general disregard is evidenced by the public in looking at the mounting government debt.

A stock-taking in terms that people can understand is likely in order. In such a stock-taking the following facts, compiled from official statistics of the government, are enlightening:

- 1. The actual federal deficit for July and August, the first two months of the present fiscal year, was $40,000,000 in excess of the average annual federal expenditures from 1900 to 1913.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—One employer asked officials for blanket exemption of his 170 female employees from the wage-hour act on the grounds that they were handicapped.

"They're all crazy!" he insisted. The employees turned out to be elderly colored women engaged in sorting rags.

The Wage and Hour Division is glad to leave to the employer the problem of persuading 170 elderly colored women to sign a statement that they shouldn't get more money because they're crazy.

JOB LOSS SEEN

If statements made by employers in some of the many letters received by Administrator Elmer F. Andrews are to be believed, quite a few unfortunates will lose their jobs when the act is applied.

Especially marked for discharge, apparently, are workers alleged by their employers to be too "slow" to earn 25 cents an hour.

Probably the danger of wide-spread hardship has been lessened by a last minute clarification of previous rules which permit exemption of handicapped workers until February, subject to several conditions.

A Pennsylvania cigar manufacturer writes that 12 of his 27 employees just "can't" make more than 25 cents an hour and that he will have to let them go.

BREAK FOR WATCHMEN

Night watchmen all over the country presumably have been celebrating since Andrews ruled that they were essential to factories operating interstate commerce and hence covered by the act's 44-hour week section.

For awhile the mail was especially heavy with their requests often roughly written in pencil—for information. Many employers wrote to ask, too.

BRITAIN AT BAY, LIPPMANN, WHY? Walter Lippmann, in his syndicated article, says that it is not a coincidence that the Munich settlement is followed by the Arab rebellion in Palestine, and by the Japanese invasion of South China.

Mr. Lippmann is very much concerned whether the British Empire will be able to wield the influence of the balance of the power that it has in the past. He says there are three serious fronts that face England.

Lippmann contends the British have always known that these were the vulnerable spots of their position as a world power. He says the most important question in the whole world is whether the British Empire is to survive this concerted attack on the three vital centers.

Why This Retreat of Democracy The question that every lover of liberty should ask is why is a totalitarian state advancing when the democratic countries are receding.

The question that every lover of liberty should ask is why is a totalitarian state advancing when the democratic countries are receding. Those people who have read something of history and of economics, are convinced that it is because democracy does not follow the fundamental principles of life.

If the United States were a nation now, as it was in principle from 1868 to 1913 when initiative was encouraged and not discouraged we would be so strong and powerful that the dictators would hesitate to so suppress the principles of true liberal government even in Europe.

There is a very definite reason why Germany, Italy and Japan are progressing and growing stronger and the democracies are crumbling. And unless the policies of the so-called democracies are changed from the right of the majority to rule over the initiative of the minority and we adopt the principle of the greatest possible liberty for each individual to add to the wealth of the world, the voting majority democracies will continue to crumble and the totalitarian states will become more powerful.

The Nation's Press

Germany wanted the immense mineral resources of Sudetenland and admittedly Germany needed those resources. So Germany proceeded to take them. Now Czechoslovakia, deprived of resources that are vitally essential to her prosperity faces an economic future that is desperate indeed.

There was a constant threat of war in the Czech's possession of what Germany wanted and needed. There is a possible threat of war in the Czech's lack of what Germany now possesses. And the same threat is evident the world over wherever coveted resources lie within a reasonable distance of a national boundary.

Nothing has augmented the danger of war in recent years any more than the rising dream of national self-sufficiency. And it is the increasing difficulty of obtaining necessary supplies in the foreign market which has given so sharp an impetus to the dream of self-sufficiency.

They are mistaken who believe that cars can be prevented by the simple process of dismantling navies and disbanding armies. They propose to scrap the wrong things. They should be trying to scrap the artificial barriers which deny legitimate trade to the nations of the earth.

Only the President has sufficient rank to entertain King George and Queen Elizabeth if they come to the U. S. next summer. That news should relieve a lot of wives who are worried about the loose plaster in the spare room.

Ten thousand loyal subjects standing with arms raised in salute to Hitler may look a little silly to most of us in a democracy but it must look like a picnic to a pickpocket.

salesmen are subject to review and interpretation by the courts. First, however, they must be interpreted by the employer and applied. But in case an employe feels he is being done out of a 44-hour week unfairly, he himself is entitled to interpret the Andrews definition and appeal to the administrator.

WHEN HALLOWE'EN COMES

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD. — Lucille Ball was in a sorry state.

Sinus trouble. Black-and-blue marks on her legs. Hangover from a cold. Hangover from "Trailer Romance." Hangover from being stung, repeatedly, by the "B's."

The last-named complaint was worst. After all, sinus trouble is fairly temporary. When Lee Bowman finished the water-squirting scenes, which sent a good deal of high-pressure moisture directly up her nostrils, the sinuses might begin to clean.

That called for elaboration. "You see," she said, "I'm lucky enough, I guess. Only I don't know much about acting yet, and I haven't had much real chance to learn. We work too fast."

Lucille's been working steady the past ten months. "I got out of high school—Jamestown, N. Y.—and I had to go to work. My father died, and I didn't have a chance for college, finishing school, or anything. Didn't care about a finishing school, anyway. I went to dramatic school, looked for a job, and I became a showgirl. You don't need to act for that, just be tall enough and wear clothes right. I didn't learn anything."

She became a model in New York. Fashions and advertising. Sam Goldwyn brought her to Hollywood for "Roman Scandals." She'd been selected as a cigarette ad girl, when Sam was looking for well advertised faces. She followed this with bits at Columbia and went to RKO as one of the twelve main size mesh that will permit them to pass through.

The centrifuge is a machine which enables us to separate the more solid elements of a fluid by rotation. The high speed centrifuge throws the various particles dispersed thru a fluid toward the bottom of the container. It is possible to estimate the size, shape and weight of the various particles by the speed with which they fall.

So you see, Lucille finished, a shade despondently, "I've never had a chance to learn anything, really, about acting."

After several offers she got no closer to Broadway than the outfit of lowly "showgirl" status, always being called back to Hollywood. To change her luck, she tossed out the platinum blonde dye, and let her hair go dark. It changed her personality, but for her first test after that the studio wanted it black.

The part she wanted most—in the movie "Stage Door"—was one the director, Gregory LaCava, couldn't see her in. She got it, finally, by helping Andrea Leeds with her test. She didn't know then that she too was being tested. "I'd be happier, if I could do parts like that—characters in big pictures instead of leading ladies in lesser ones. I'm not the leading lady type—my voice is too high. I could use some diction lessons, and I could take on some polish."

People You Know

THEY saw only the stage of the high school auditorium lit up the other night and knew what that meant, so he went in and listened to a rehearsal of one act of "The Enemy," a four-act play that is particularly appropriate at this time, and every person who thinks that it MIGHT be all right for the U. S. to get into a war should see it, because it is a sermon against war. But that is not all it tells a story that has plenty of humor. It is the first serious play that has been produced at the high school in some time.

There is a boy in the play by the name of James Longacre who has a thrilling voice and in the first speech his tones hint of a man whose play is to come. Kenneth Carmon whose direction is patient, penetrating, subtle, has one of the best casts he has ever had. Pampans will be glad to see Dickie Kennedy back on the stage. Dickie played in two championship plays, "Dust" and "Cabbages." He attended Price Memorial at Amarillo last year. Well Dickie plays the role of a German professor-philosopher in "The Enemy," and his accent is perfect. Jimmie Mosley plays the role of a man whose play is to come. Betty Erie Vaughn and Mary Jean Hill have good lines and they do credit to them. Other members of the cast are Catherine Chafferson, Bill Jones, Max McAfee and John Edwin McConnell who gives a remarkable characterization of a war character. Mark Nov. 9 and don't forget to remember to see "The Enemy."

VIRUS DISEASES

Some of the greatest triumphs of preventive medicine were achieved—significantly—not against the bacteria but against the invisible viruses.

Thus Jenner in 1796 taught us how to prevent the virus-caused disease smallpox by smallpox vaccination. Pasteur in 1885 showed us how to prevent the virus-caused disease hydrophobia by means of the Pasteur anti-rabic vaccination. Reed and his co-workers in 1901 taught us how to prevent the spread of the virus-caused disease yellow fever by the elimination of the breeding places of the yellow fever mosquito.

Bacteriology, the science which concerns itself with germs, has long devoted itself to studying visible organisms. As that field has become well explored many scientists have turned to the study of the diseases caused by the viruses.

We now know that the virus-caused diseases are of great importance in preventive medicine. The "invisibility" of the virus has somewhat impeded research, but it has also stimulated the research workers to new and ingenious attacks.

New methods, new techniques, new apparatus and new laboratory animals, have been discovered and put to use. As a result new viruses are continually being announced as the causes of disease in man, plants, animals and even bacteria.

Commenting on the study of virus diseases a Rockefeller Foundation report states: "These previously baffling invisible agents (viruses) are measured by ultra-filtration, or by their behavior in the intense centrifugal field, and concentrated in specially devised high speed centrifuges."

Prize for the year's best package of cellophane-wrapped unlighted bulbs should be delivered forthwith to Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes who popped off in Berkeley, California, early this week by telling the University of California student body to "take no advice whatever from people older than yourselves."

But, aside from that— Things have come to a pretty pass when a representative of our government goes into a great university and tells the young folk that they are headed straight for perdition if they even listen to the faintest bit of advice from anyone who has had the opportunity to benefit through experience.

Mr. Ickes does not believe that forewarned is forearmed. He would rather not have a father tell his son there is a dangerous curve just ahead. The Secretary of the Interior would make that son believe that the father is lying. He would make him believe that he should know nothing about the hazards ahead.

The arguments against such an assinine statement are too obvious and too lengthy to go into here—but, radical cracks like the one made to the California college students by Mr. Ickes certainly ought to help carry on what looks like a well-planned campaign to gum up the works today.

The thing that stands out like a sore thumb in Mr. Ickes address to the University of California student body is that he has absolutely no solution for any of our current economic ills, but merely places faith in the coming generation, "its loyalty, courage and free minds."

It seems like we've heard Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin and the one-way, one-track boys dishing out that same kind of stuff. But, remember— If you tell little Johnny to go to bed tonight, and he says, "nuts to you, Mr. Ickes advises me to pay no attention to the older generation,"—just skip it. A fine kettle of fish.

The Capital Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—After 44 years trial Texas' Capital seems to be well satisfied with its unusual system of city lighting.

The "lights on stilts," batteries of high-powered lamps atop towers 165 feet high, were installed in 1894, and apparently are more popular than ever with the citizens.

They diffuse a soft glow that falls on housetops, lawns and trees like clear moonlight. In fact, Austin is sometimes spoken of as the "city of perpetual moonlight."

There still are 29 of the original 31 steel towers, which cost $120,000, at the time they were set up in Austin several other cities in the

Fallacy Comes Home to Roost

By GUS W. DYER

Professor of Economics and Sociology, Vanderbilt University

The railroads are privately owned, but under the direction and control of the government. The owners of the roads have little authority in the direction of their business. They must take orders from a political body.

The wages of railroad employees and the general conditions of service are fixed by employee-unions under government direction. Those who pay the wages have no authority in fixing them.

Their "not to ask the reason why but to pay and die." The responsibility for the sad plight of the railroads today is not on the owners of the roads, but on the government. It is a conspicuous example of the miserable failure of government in its attempts to direct business.

Under the direction and control of governmental agencies, following seven lean years of reduced traffic and inadequate earnings, the railroads are facing a serious crisis today. During the first eight months of 1938 the railroads failed by $182,000,000 to earn interest and other fixed charges. This means that the railroads are falling short of paying interest on what they owe and other similar obligations almost a million dollars a day. One-third of the roads are already in bankruptcy.

United States, including Detroit, had the tower lighting system, but, according to best information Austin now is the only city that has retained it. The fact that Austin alone in the country has tower lights, however, is one of the chief reasons they are kept. They serve as an excellent advertisement. Visitors are immediately curious about them and when tourists leave Austin they remember for its lighting.

"Even if the towers provided but little illumination they would be worth their keep in advertising," a city official explained. "But they do more than that. They provide a great deal of light, which we supplement by other lights nearer the ground."

Originally incandescent bulbs giving a yellow-white light were utilized but in 1926, when Texas was celebrating its centennial of independence, these were replaced with mercury-vapor lamps which emit a blue-white light. The effect of the new light is much more pleasing.

The difference in the lamps is this: In the new type lamp an electric current is passed through mercury vapor; there is no wire. A few months ago the Austin light towers were the subject of an article by engineers of the Westinghouse Electric Company which supplied the new-type lights.

The tower lights have made several news stories over the nearly half a century they have been used in Austin. A number of years ago a tornado swept through the eastern part of the city, ripping up roofs and spreading destruction generally. One of the towers crashed, falling straight up an alley but injured none and doing no property damage.

Had it fallen on a house it might have killed several persons and certainly would have greatly damaged the house. About six years ago James Fowler, a boy, accidentally plunged from a tower—and lived!

It used to be a late-night sport among University of Texas youths returning from school to climb the towers and swipe the bulbs, or knock out a few. More than one quivering freshman has had to ascend them as part of his seasoning by university sophomores. Two more lighting features installed through the years have added to the beauty and interest of the capital at night. These are the flood-lighting of the capital home and the tower of the main building at the university.

The latter presents an unusually spectacular display at times because of a variety of lighting effects. One of the favorites is an orange and white combination, the university's colors. A traffic policeman stopped a motorist. "What's your name?" he inquired. "Abraham O'Brien Goldberg," replied the motorist. "What's the O'Brien for?" asked the cop. "For protection."

"I really believe we have got Sage at last," said one. "I think we've won his confidence. In fact, Austin is sometimes spoken of as the 'city of perpetual moonlight.'"

New Home of Standard Oil and Firestone

Located at 623 West Foster is this new addition to Pampa's many modern buildings. The traditional red, white, and blue that familiarizes everyone with Standard Oil products is carried out in the color scheme. Standard Ethyl, Standard Flight, and Standard Gasoline fill the four modernized pumps in the driveway, and a variety of Standard, Humble and other oils are in stock. New and modern wash and lubrication racks are maintained by the station. Dale Hughey, who for the past four years has been employed by Hoffman, has been named manager of the new station.

Firestone TRIPLE-SAFE TIRES HEADQUARTERS

FOR over five years F. E. Hoffman's has stood for Firestone, its policies and its products. The new station at 623 W. Foster means that Firestone can better serve you with their tires for every income, as well as with all other auto supplies. The Budget Plan is made available to all persons desiring to purchase Firestone products now and paying later.

CIO Wins Decision To Halt Hague Arrests

By MALCOLM L. STEPHENSON
NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 27 (AP)—One hundred policemen used their night sticks early today to halt disorders as a hostile group of several hundred attacked uniformed members of the German-American Volkshund as they attempted to leave a meeting. Five men were arrested.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 27 (AP)—The CIO and allied organizations won a federal court order today restraining Mayor Frank Hague and fellow Jersey City officials from "deporting" members, or interfering with their rights to speak in public parks, distribute leaflets and carry placards.

The decision was handed down by Circuit Court Judge William Clark, who sat as district judge at the trial last spring of an injunction suit brought by the committee for industrial organization, the American Civil Liberties Union, and several co-plaintiffs. They asked that Hague and his colleagues on the city administration be enjoined from interfering with their organization activities.

Hope For Appeal
Filing of the suit followed interruption of the CIO's attempt last November to distribute literature and organize workers in Jersey City—a move which Hague called an "invasion." Police arrested 13 organizers and sympathizers and escorted scores of others from the city.

In his opinion today, which Judge Clark has expressed hope will be appealed, he recommended "a modified form of public censorship"—a requirement that an advance copy of a speech must be furnished to authorities in cases where "the particular persons applying for permits had on previous occasions adressed similar audiences with re-sulting disturbances."

Points Not Ruled On
The 15,000-word decision did not rule on the plaintiff's complaint that the Hague administration intimidated owners of private meeting halls into refusing to rent to them. The judge ruled there was no competent evidence to connect city officials with the inability to obtain indoor meeting places.

Neither did the decision deal with the prayer for relief from interference with picketing, union organization and other rights under the national labor relations act. Judge Clark said he already had upheld these rights in an injunction issued in another case, which is now up on appeal.

Judge Clark's decision, bringing to an end the 10-month-old case in which the American Civil Liberties Union joined the CIO and a number of its leaders and affiliates as co-plaintiff, did not once mention communism.

cigarette shooting, hoop game, and clothes pin stand are among the 15 attractions. Hamburgers, hot dogs, drinks, and confections will be sold at the stand that will be in charge of Roy Bourland.

John Hessey is chairman of the bingo stands committee. Other committee chairmen include: Dude Balthrope, cat rackets, Ralph Thomas, bottle rack; Roy Webb, duck ponds and chunk the monkey; Jack Dunn, cigarette shooting; Charles Malsel, souvenirs; Howard Neath, hoop game; Arthur Freed, clothes pin stand. There are 20 committees in all at work for the carnival.

In charge of lights and wiring and the public address system are Clyde Ives and Bob Thompson; advance sale of rubber money, L. L. Sone; publicity, Ed Tracy; building, Bill Bratton; tickets and change, Roy McMillen.

Hub Walker heads the steering committee, and the special arrangements committee, headed by D. L. Parker, consists of Carl Benefiel, H. H. Hicks, R. J. Hagart, Chick Hickman, Jim Saunders, and Bob Watson.

All proceeds of the carnival are for the purpose of aiding under-privileged children. The local club is active in providing medical attention, purchasing eye glasses, and doing similar service for children who need this attention. Work of this character is a major project of Lions clubs over the nation.

Admission to the carnival will be free, but there will be a charge for the attractions at the stands.

velopment and furtherance of wilderness camping."
Scout Officials Entertained
Before formally proposing that the Boy Scouts of America accept the ranch property Mr. and Mrs. Phillips and their son, Elliott, entertained a party of Scout officials at the Philmont ranch near Cimarron, immediately adjacent to the new Scout reservation which Mr. Phillips plans to operate as heretofore.

The party included, besides President Head Dr. James E. West, chief Scout executive, Arthur A. Schuck, director of the division of operations for the National Scout Council, L. L. McDonald, camp chief of the Mortimer L. Schiff Scout reservation near Mendham, N. J., Ray H. Bryan, assistant national director of engineering, and James P. Fitch, regional executive for the states of New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, and parts of Arizona and Arkansas.

The donation made by Mr. and Phillips will in no way effect local camps. Executive Fred Roberts stated today. The Phillips grant is for senior Scouts only and there is no other camp of its kind in the United States.

It will take years to develop the camp completely. First plans are to make the camp ready for a few and then enlarge it yearly, Mr. Roberts said.

The camp will be close enough to Pampa that it will be convenient for the senior scouting program. Coupled with the proposed Boy Scout camp at Lake McClellan the new grant to scouting will be beneficial to the local council program.

McDonald, Bryan and Fitch spent more than two days surveying the property on horseback in the company of Mr. Phillips. The entire group was greatly impressed by the scenic beauty of the area and its usefulness for Scout camping purposes.

Much of the property is virgin territory and under the careful management characteristic of Boy Scout camping those small parts which have been grazed recently will quickly be restored to their natural conditions. Mr. Phillips has proposed in accordance with general Boy Scout practice, that the property immediately be designated as a game preserve.

Has High Peaks
In a statement issued to the executive board Dr. West described the reservation in this way: "The property is in the Rocky Mountains, all above an elevation of 7,000 feet and rises in spots to be at least 11,000 feet. It is the Kit Carson territory and the old Santa Fe trail passes through it. There are nine main canyons on the tract converging either at the Cimarron river or the main branch of the Ponil river, which later flows into the Cimarron."

"When on any high point of the property there are two very prominent landmarks to guide one, namely, Old Baldy, elevation 12,491 feet, and Costilla Peak, elevation 12,000 feet. These are a part of the Sangra de Cristo range, which runs from the west to the north of the tract. Each of the canyons is of the same general make-up, flanked on each side by ever changing vistas, rock palisades, timber growth, and with smaller canyons in endless number fingering out from the main ones. There are also several high land meadows or mesas, offering excellent additional camping area spots. Bear canyon, Dean canyon, and Turkey canyon have an extensive amount of timber growth, comprised, principally of western pines, Douglas fir, balsam, quaking aspen, and cottonwoods. It is the natural habitat of deer and while on the property we saw mule deer, wild turkeys, and dozens of beaver dams and many evidences of bear."

For Older Boys
"While there are few Boy Scout local councils throughout the country which do not have camps both for short camping trips and for summer vacation camping," Dr. West continued, "there is a demonstrated need for opportunities whereby troops and patrols with experience, training, leadership and proper equipment may secure the benefits of what may be termed wilderness camping. I believe this will appeal to older boys in all parts of America. By this is implied a more rugged in Michigan, already the subject of a controversy with President Roosevelt. Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) said he had a surprise witness who would present "hot testimony" in the investigation of un-American activities.

Homer Martin of Detroit, head of the United Automobile Workers, originally had been scheduled to testify about sit-down strikes in the auto industry. He asked to be excused, however, in a telegram expressing agreement with Mr. Roosevelt's criticism of the committee.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—House investigators heard testimony today that Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan had told a crowd of workers in Lansing that they were "not to be tested you," at a time when some of their fellows were under arrest for violating a court order.

SPECIAL

Highway congestion and possible dangers thereon caused the school officials to continue its practice of organizing the Harvester special this year. Last year one of the largest gatherings of fans from this region for the annual football game was held at the stadium. It was estimated that 1600 persons joined the trains.

Comfort and safety of the trip together with the added convenience of using the train direct to and from the field has occasioned much enthusiasm this year from fans. Running time of the trip will be approximately one hour each way.

Tickets for the Harvester Special may be purchased at the Santa Fe depot, Senior high school or thru Business Manager Roy McMillen's office.

1000 Passengers Likely
It is a school-department sponsored train and those who have taken active part in organizing it include L. L. Sone, superintendent; Roy McMillen, C. T. Hunkapiller, C. P. Buckler and other members of the board.

It is expected that close to 1,000 rosters will make the trip to Amarillo on the special. Santa Fe officials believe, and will move from the track directly into the stadium. This arrangement will obviate delay in getting into the stands and also eliminate congestion at the gates.

Those interested in this Harvester booster special are working hard to make it one of the largest trains out of this territory. With 1,000 expected on the train and a large number making the trip in private automobiles, it appears that Pampa's routing section will be a gay, colorful and important number lending moral support to the gridsters who they are backing to knock over the Sandies this year.

during its conflict in the Far East. The President's radio address last night, in the opinion of students of world affairs here, again threw the administration against the dictators.

Mr. Roosevelt gave an indication that this government does not quarrel with dictatorships as such and does not seek to proselytize them to the ranks of democracy.

Its quarrel, he made clear, is with governments which rely on force in pursuit of policy. The fact that the dictatorships have been relying on force, as in the case of Italy in Ethiopia and Japan in China, or the threat of it, as in the case of Germany in Czechoslovakia, makes the two ideas coincide.

In an admonition that the good neighbor policy must be reciprocal, the President may have had Mexico in mind. In that case, it would mean that Mexico, in return for the help she had received from this country through silver purchases and through the bolstering of her currency, should reciprocate by paying for American properties she was expropriating.

plays safety. Ready for the game will be Andrews, 177-pound combination blocking and ball-carrying back who has been out most of the season with a sprained ankle.

Pampa Backfield Weights
On the opposite side of the line the Harvesters have four light-weights who carry the ball, block or do whatever is needed of them. Captain J. W. Graham, 146, calls signals from the right halfback position and does most of the passing and punting. On the other side, Pete Dunaway, 148, carries the ball, does some passing and much of the punting. Close behind the line in the short position is "Kend" Kemp, 146, who plays the safety position. Rounding out the backfield is Bob Karr, 160-pounder, who plays the back position from where he blocks or carries the ball. He also does some punting. That backfield averages 149 pounds.

Lines To Decide Game
Should the backfields be unable to carry on for touchdowns, it will be the lines that will decide the issue. The Harvesters will face weight and experience when they drop to their knees but from workouts the defensive line and never-say-die spirit will be on the Harvester front line.

Starting at ends the Sandies will have an advantage in both weight and height, particularly in height. Humphrey stands well over six feet and weighs 167 pounds while Boyter is about six feet and tips the scales at 180. On the Harvester side Bob Andis weighs 156 pounds and Tommy Solomon adds up 185 pounds which makes weights about even. Both Harvester ends are nearly six feet tall.

Despite the size of Jack Hessey, 210-pound Harvester tackle, the Sandies will have the edge in the weight department with Moss going 229 pounds and Easton, letterman, weighing 193. Glen Nicholas, the Pampa tackle, weighs only 166 pounds.

Widest weight advantages for the Sandies will be at the guard slots where Gill, 165, and Hodges, 183, cavort. Opposite them will be Welby Parish, 150 and Wayne Giddens, 153.

Only position where the Harvesters have the weight is at center where E. G. Candler weighs 202 pounds to Mauldin's 183. Candler goes to a tackle slot on defense while Mauldin backs up the line where he is recognized as one of the best in the state.

The Harvesters will leave for Amarillo at about 11 o'clock and will go direct to Butler Field. Fans will follow in a special train leaving the Santa Fe station at 12:45 p. m. and by car. The band and pep squad will make the trip by bus.

which the Japanese government has an inescapable responsibility." All these violations, said the note, "indicate clearly that the Japanese authorities are seeking to establish in areas which have come under Japanese military control general preferences for, and superiority of, Japanese interests, an inevitable effect of which will be to frustrate the practical application of the principle of the open door and deprive American Nationals of equal opportunity."

Veiled Threat Seen
Saying Americans already have suffered so greatly from the Sino-Japanese conflict that "an early rehabilitation of American enterprise in China and of American trade with China can be expected," the note added:

"The American government, therefore, finds it all the more difficult to reconcile itself to a situation in which American Nationals must contend with continuing unwarranted interference with their rights at the hands of the Japanese authorities in China and with Japanese actions and policies which op-

INTERESTS SQUEEZED OUT

The note set forth that American interests have been largely squeezed out of Manchoukuo by Japan. "In the opinion of our government," Ambassador Grew wrote, "equality of opportunity or the open door has virtually ceased to exist in Manchuria notwithstanding the assurances of the Japanese government that it would be maintained in that area."

The word "Manchuria" was used rather than "Manchoukuo," Japanese term for the puppet state it made of Manchuria in 1932. The inference was that the United States has no intention of recognizing Manchoukuo.

The United States made three specific demands in the message: "1. The discontinuance of discriminatory exchange control and of other measures imposed in areas in China under Japanese control which operate either directly or indirectly to discriminate against American trade and enterprise;

"2. The discontinuance of any monopoly or of any preference which would deprive American Nationals of the right of undertaking any legitimate trade or industry in China, or of any arrangement which has for its purpose to establish in favor of Japanese interests any general superiority or rights with regard to commercial or economic development in any region of China;

"3. The discontinuance of interference by Japanese authorities in China with American property and other rights including such forms of interference as censorship of American mail and telegrams, and restrictions upon residence and travel by Americans and upon American trade and shipping."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—America cheered the seventeenth navy day today with gala, bunting-draped displays of her sea forces, but there was a serious note in the festivities.

While the naval service decked out in holiday array afloat and ashore to receive millions of visitors, the sober business of building a fleet designed to meet any aggression went steadily on behind the scenes.

Two statements by President Roosevelt gave the annual observance a grimmer significance. The chief executive said in a radio speech last night that America must continue to arm "to meet with success any application of force against us" until other nations were willing to accept general disarmament.

In a letter to Secretary Swanson, Mr. Roosevelt declared the fleet must be ready to insure "positive protection against any aggressor."

Even as he wrote, humming shipyards and aircraft plants gave evidence of the accelerated pace of warship and plane construction started by this year's billion-dollar expansion act.

U. S. Navy Finest In World, Says Schley

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 27 (AP)—Major General Julian Schley, chief of U. S. army engineers, said in a navy day talk today "the United States today has the finest navy in the world in regard to material, discipline and men."

The army, he said, is efficient but is far behind that of other world powers in size. General Schley, whose career has included much work in the Canal Zone, said the Panama canal was vulnerable to attack, as any lock canal would be.

"The chief defense would be the navy—keep the enemy away from the canal."

150 Farm Delegates Gather At Abilene

ABILENE, Oct. 27 (AP)—From 20 counties in this area farm representatives gathered today for a two-day district AAA educational meeting.

E. N. Holmgren, state AAA administrator, announced all cotton allotments for the 1939 crop would be in the hands of producers by Dec. 10 in time for a referendum. Previously growers complained they received their allotments after planting started.

George Slaughter of Wharton, state committee chairman, recounted AAA plans to place administrative responsibility directly in the hands of county committees. County agents have done most of the work up to now.

Speakers included Walter Randolph of Washington, assistant director of the AAA's southern region; E. R. Alexander, professor of agriculture at Texas A. and M. college (on leave with the AAA), and R. H. Nelson, field agent of the AAA in district 7.

Secretary Perkins Talks To Students DENTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Perkins extolled the benefits expected from the wage-hour law in an address before the student body of Texas State College for Women here last night.

She declared the act would have a far-reaching effect in helping solve the labor problems confronting the country and expressed the opinion industry would adjust itself to the new standards without serious difficulty.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—The stock market took selling lurches in good form today and at the close had recovered sizable portions of losses running as one time from fractions to more than 3 points.

The proceedings were quiet throughout, with turnover about 1,400,000 shares, an unusual proportion of which was accounted for by an active group of low priced issues, especially Packard and Studebaker.

Steels led the retreat, which was fairly general, except for the low priced motors and some aircrafts and specialties. This division likewise was among the first to reflect the late lightning of selling pressure.

Retrial To Be Asked In Starr Murder Case

AUSTIN, Oct. 27 (AP)—District Attorney Edwin G. Moorehead said today he would move for an early retrial of five former Starr county constables charged with killing three other officers.

A mistrial was ordered yesterday by District Judge J. D. Moore after the jury reported a 24-hour deadlock.

The trial was sent here on a change of venue from Starr county. Defendants were Amado Vera Jr., Martin Solis, Elia Solis, Benigno Ramirez and Benito Saez. They were charged with the March 9 slaying of Eulalio Elizondo, Ramon de la Cruz and Jose Cantu.

'NATZI' STORM DUPERS

This might be a scene from Nazi Germany—but it isn't. It is the high point in a two-day "crisis" over the "frontiers" of Harvard University. Officials of Cambridge, Mass., where the school is located, recently threatened to incorporate Harvard as a municipality "separate and distinct" from Cambridge. Students hastily formed a "Harvard Secessionist Society" and, aided by members of the Harvard Lampoon, staged the burlesque "Nazi" demonstration shown above—a take-off on the Sudeten-Czech situation.

32 Hens Stolen In White Deer Raid

Another epidemic of chicken thefts have broken out in the White Deer community, Carson county officers informed local police last night. About a year ago thieves made raids on many farm flocks. They were caught and sentenced to jail terms.

Six-Man Football Teams, Playing A Game Tailored To Fit Schools With Few Pupils And Resources Are Sweeping Rural U. S.

If you should go into the backwoods and see a strange game of football going on, don't question your eyesight. You're merely seeing rural America coming into its own on the gridiron. You're seeing one of 3,000 schools playing a game called six-man football, less than four years old, and rapidly spreading to the 16,000 high schools in the United States that have never had the money or manpower to play football with the usual 11 men on a team.

Instead of a great concrete stadium jammed with people, you'll see four or five hundred youngsters, farmers, and merchants along the sidelines and perhaps in the small wooden stands. In place of a half dozen perfectly drilled cheerleaders you'll see one or two, a bit green on the job. Instead of the 150-piece band headed by a high-stepping drum major you may hear the thin strains of an eight-piece school orchestra.

On the field, you'll see two teams, each one composed of a center, two ends, a quarterback, one halfback, and a fullback. You blink and look again. What kind of football can this be? A game of tag? Soccer? Touch football... Nothing of the sort! You'll see those skeletonized teams lined up in regular formations—single wingback and short punt. You'll see them slanting through the line, crisscrossing, hurdling passes, and getting off punts. You'll see more touchdowns, more broken-field runs than you ever saw in the familiar game. You'll find as much enthusiasm, per spectator, as you ever saw in the Yale Bowl.

Began in 1934, six-man football, already an established sport for schools with enrollments of less than 100 boys, had its beginning on a rainy spring day in 1934, when two men sat talking in the principal's office of the two-story, brick high school in Chester, Neb., a town of 579 people near the Kansas line. One was Stephen Epler, teacher and coach. The other was Dean Moomey, his superintendent. They were discussing the ever-present problem of the small school—what to do with the student body in the fall.

Epler suggested a football team and Moomey abruptly shook his head. Chester High had an enrollment of 98, only 48 of them boys. In a school of that size it would be impossible to muster a squad of 24 or 25 huskies. It would be equally difficult to equip that many boys with the expensive armor that goes on a football player. Moomey had tried football once and had taken a beating from larger schools. Football was never designed for the small school.

But Epler had caught a vision of something that would bring fun, pep, and school spirit into the plain walls of Chester High.

"Football was once played with 25 on a side," Epler said, thinking aloud. "Then it came down to 15, and finally to 11. Why stop there? Why not play with fewer men on a side?"

Dean Moomey was a progressive. He caught Epler's idea at once.

"Go to it," he said. "You write a set of rules and I'll promote a test game."

So Epler went methodically to work, tailoring football to fit the crossroads school. He cut the team to six men, because that was the smallest number with which plays could be run. He cut the size of the field to 80 yards long by 40 wide, made everyone except the center eligible for a forward pass, and permitted passes to be thrown from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage. He ruled that the back who received the ball from center couldn't cross the line of scrimmage with it, but must lateral it to someone else. This would prevent straight-line bucks and pileups, and make the play more open.

Eight-minute quarters, he decided, would be long enough for a game in which six men carried the entire burden of offense and defense. Later the quarters were to be lengthened to 10 minutes. To reduce expense and danger, he required all players to wear basketball shoes.

New Game Welcomed.

He presented his outline of the

New Congress, Clean Capitol

It's bath night (once a year) for the nation's Capitol and Washington firemen turn their hose on the imposing facade. By the time the 77th Congress convenes the Capitol will be spick and span, clean and crisp.

game to Moomey and the two began to grow enthusiastic. They took their idea to William Roselius, athletic director of Hebron College, near by, and Roselius responded by calling a meeting of the surrounding high schools. Four of the schools leaped at the prospect of the new game. They were Alexandria, Harly, Belvidere, and Chester, all near Hebron, all with enrollments of 50 boys or less. Roselius got out paper and pencil.

"Chester and Harly can cooperate to form one team, Alexandria and Belvidere the other," he said. "Go home and have your boys practice plays and formations in their old clothes. Come back here Sept. 22 and we'll put in four hours of hard drill on the college field. Then we'll hold an exhibition game and see what it's like."

On the appointed day, the four schools brought their squads to Hebron College. Twenty rangy youngsters, their faces leather-colored from riding a cultivator in the hot sun, their hands strong from pitching hay, comprised the two squads.

On the night of the game, the crowd was greater than anyone had expected. There had been stories in the paper, and the public's curiosity was aroused. Fully 1,000 fans jammed the wooden stands and the sidelines when the two teams trotted onto the flood-lighted field for the warmup. The newspapers had given nicknames to the teams.

Put On Good Show.

Considering their lack of practice and the ordeal of their first public appearance, they put on a good show. They fumbled now and then. They weren't always sure of their signals. They missed their blocks and tripped over their own feet. But with each passing minute confidence grew. They learned the heart-warming thrill of cheers, and began playing with more confidence and snap. When the gun cracked, ending the game, the score was tied at 19 to 19 and the spectators were on their feet, giving the two teams a spontaneous, full-throated tribute. Then the crowd was streaming out and men were nodding their heads, saying, "Pretty good."

The two teams could hardly have suspected that only three years later, 1,200 high schools would be playing the very same game. Not more than 50 schools in four states played trial games in 1934, but in 1935 the number had grown to 156, and in 1936 to 500. Oregon, Iowa, Tennessee, Arkansas, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and a few other states tried it, grinned, and said, "This is what we've been waiting for."

When the fall of 1937 rolled around, the sports world began to blink its eyes and take notice. The American Boy Magazine published articles in September and October, offered a playing manual, and was flooded with 8,000 orders and requests for information. In its January, 1938, issue this magazine published an All-American Honor Roll of 130 outstanding six-man players. Two press services, 40 radio stations, and several thousand newspapers announced the selections. Two nationally known motion picture companies made short features of the game and distributed them to the country.

With this encouragement from press and radio, the six-man idea seemed suddenly to explode into life. Colleges all over the country gave demonstrations of the new game this spring. A score of summer coaching schools announced that they would hold classes for six-man as well as eleven-man. Ontario decided to adapt the traditional Rugby to six-man. Forty-eight states and Hawaii announced the formation of new teams and new circuits. Rural America, denied football since its beginning in the last century, had found its game at last. Small towns went to work with a will, holding meetings, forming leagues, and scouting around for equipment.

Game Costs Little.

They're going at the equipment problem with Yankee shrewdness. Some have money enough to lay out $300 to outfit a dozen boys, but most of them are bargain hunters at the cut-rate counters. One school's principal-teacher-coach drove to a nearby college, rummaged through piles of worn-out garments, and returned home with 13 shoulder pads, 15 pairs of pants, seven pairs of shoes, and 13 headguards, for all of which he paid $20.

"It was in bad shape," he confesses, "but we bought a few yards of duck, and whenever a pair of pants ripped we turned 'em over to the girls of the home economics department." Then he added, with pardonable pride: "Our suits aren't fancy, but they give protection."

Others have done almost as well. But the prize must go to a Wisconsin coach who rambled over to a college at which he had formerly coached, talked fast, and came away with 60 pairs of pants for $10. Half of these he sold for $6.50, leaving a net pants cost of $3.50 for 30 boys—five six-man teams! He rounded up other items of apparel, getting outright donations where he could, paying cash only when he had to. At the end he took inventory, sighed with satisfaction, and reported:

"In all, I can outfit 30 boys rather nicely for about $2.20 apiece."

Wealthier schools in the city use such field equipment as blocking dummies, charging sleds, tackling dummies, and running boxes. The cost of these luxuries may run into the hundreds of dollars. Rural schools, where they play six-man, have made blocking and tackling dummies out of sacks filled with sawdust, and have appropriated old automobile tires for running boxes at a total cost of 25 cents. A tackling dummy has been made out of a rolled gym mat, hung from a stout home-made frame. A piece of telephone pole, padded, makes a blocking post. A grain sack strung on a pulley between two trees, with a boy holding to the other end of the rope to act as a counter-balance, also makes a good tackling dummy.

Students Make Fields.

They're going at the problem of playing fields with the same determination. In many small towns night-lighted fields built by the WPA are available. But in one place, where there was no field, the coach induced a farmer to donate a pasture, rounded up a gang of students, and sent them forth with mowers, rakes, and shovels to cut the long grass, level off the bumps, and fill in the low spots. In another place, the players built their own goal posts out of two-by-fours and lined their own field. Students usually keep their own fields in condition. They're willing to go to work with spade and shovel, these country boys, to provide themselves with the fall game of their choice.

To raise the small amount of money required to inaugurate football, schools have hit upon various devices, such as carnivals, boxing matches, food sales. Rural America has gone to work with ingenuity and high spirits to bring itself the thrill of touchdowns in the crisp fall weather. To the graduate managers of large universities who sit with furrowed brows, wondering how a mere $400,000 of gate receipts can be stretched to cover the high cost of salaries and stadiums, the low receipts and running expenses of six-man will come as something of a shock.

Schools in the parent league of the game, the Little Blue Valley, near Hebron, Neb., charges 10, 15, and 25 cents admission, average from $11 to $18 per game, and find that these receipts take care of expenses. Referees get $3 and linemen $1.50. The visiting team is guaranteed $5. The traveling expense consists of gas and oil for two autos, and the longest trip in the league is 40 miles. Players eat lunch at home before leaving town, thus saving the cost of a meal.

Pigskin Unknown.

Most of us assume that every boy, at some time or other, plays a game of sand-lot or high school football. Yet there are thousands of communities, in which youngsters have never seen a pigskin, let alone handle it. Get away from the big city. Go beyond the county seat town, out to the lonely villages of the prairie states, the back woods, and the mountains, and there you will find boys who will look at you with a puzzled stare when you say, "First down and ten to go." Six-man football is changing all that. Last year, 20,000 of these forgotten youngsters went through the primary school of football. Twelve hundred small communities lined up along the six-man sideline to cheer their teams to victory. Six-man football now has its own National Rules Committee, composed of experts and pioneers from six states, and this committee has refined and improved the game. The game is even making headway in the cities. Fans like it because it is a game full of action and easy to follow. Players like it because everyone has a chance to carry the ball.

Six-man football will never replace 11-man. It will, however, flow out and fill in the vast blank spaces in the football map of the nation. It will bring the touch-down thrill to thousands of husky farm youngsters now could never have had the experience if a Nebraska school teacher hadn't made the obvious deduction that the great American game could be played with six boys on a side as well as 11.

Amarillo-Pampa Battle Tops State Schedule

Lubbock Given Best Chance To Win Title

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff

Amarillo's Golden Sandies, long-time rulers of Panhandle football, meet the first major challenge in defense of their district title as the feature of Texas schoolboy play this week. Pampa's Harvesters, traditional foe of the Sandies, play Amarillo Saturday and the result will help cut the field to two contenders for the District 1 championship.

Lubbock's Westerners, rated the best chance to upset Amarillo, play Plainview, the fourth unbeaten team, Friday as a co-feature of the district campaign.

Six other districts have important games among the half hundred battles scheduled throughout the far-flung league race with the Sherman-Denison tilt at Denison Friday ranking as a stand-out. It also will eliminate a strong contender for the district title, the winner to be rated as the team due to fight it out with Gainesville for the crown in sector 5.

Ablene makes a last-ditch stand in the western division of the oil belt. Reeling against the ropes after three consecutive ties, Ablene must defeat Sweetwater to remain in the District 3 race.

Woodrow Wilson, the pre-season favorite in the Dallas district, is in much the same category as Ablene. Defeated by Dallas Tech in an upset last week, the Wolves face Adamson, a highly rated team that, along with Sunset, remains unbeaten in conference play.

Tyler gets Texarkana in District 9. Texarkana last week played the defending state champion Longview Lobos to a scoreless tie.

The result of the Tyler-Texarkana game will indicate whether Longview can hope to again edge through with the title.

The scrambled Houston district features unbeaten San Jacinto against Conroe and Lamar vs. Austin. It's the test that tells the story for San Jacinto and the Lamar-Austin game will eliminate at least one contender from the championship drive.

A survival-of-the-fittest game is scheduled in the upper bracket of the Rio Grande Valley district with Harlingen and McAllen furnishing the fireworks. Both are undefeated in conference play. Brownsville, the other unbeaten team, has a practice tilt this week.

Thirty-seven conference games are scheduled along with seven inter-district tilts and four inter-sectional battles.

This week's schedule by districts:

1-Friday: Plainview at Lubbock (conference). Saturday: Pampa at Amarillo (conference).

2-Friday: Olney at Vernon (conference). Wichita Falls at Electra (conference). Graham at Quanah (conference).

3-Thursday: Mineral Wells at Brownwood (conference). Friday: Big Spring at San Angelo (conference). Abilene at Sweetwater (conference). Corsicana at Eastland (conference). Breckenridge at Stephenville (conference).

4-Friday: Austin (El Paso) at Roswell, N. M., Odessa at Midland, El Paso High at Ysleta (conference). Mesa, Ariz., at Bowie (El Paso).

5-Friday: Sherman at Denison (conference). Paris at Hugo, Okla.. Bonham at Gainesville (conference).

6-Friday: Sunset (Dallas) at Greenville, Dallas Tech at Highland Park (Dallas). Weatherford at Denton, McKinney at Sulphur Springs (conference).

7-Thursday: Masonic Home (Fort Worth) vs. Fort Worth Tech (conference). Friday: Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) vs. Riverside (Fort Worth). conference; Saturday: Beaumont at Paschal (Fort Worth).

8-Friday: North Dallas vs. Forest (Dallas). conference; Saturday: Adamson (Dallas) vs. Woodrow Wilson (Dallas). conference.

9-Friday: Athens at Marshall (conference). Longview at Kilgore (conference). Texarkana at Tyler (conference).

10-Friday: Livingston at Mexia (conference). Nacogdoches at Jacksonville (conference). Henderson at Palestine (conference). Lufkin at Gaston (conference).

11-Friday: Hillsboro at Temple (conference). Waxahachie at Corsicana (conference). Waco at Bryan (conference).

12-Friday: Robstown at Brackenridge (San Antonio). Harlandale (San Antonio) at Kerrville (conference); Saturday: Kingsville at San Antonio Tech.

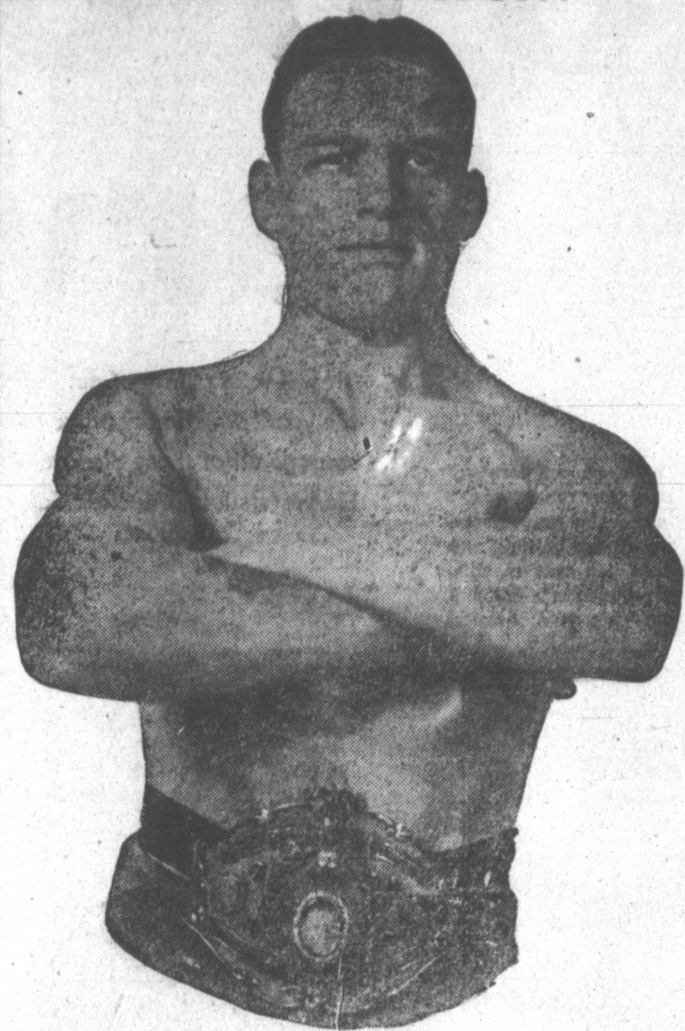

13-Thursday: Reagan (Houston) vs. Sam Houston (Houston). conference; Friday: San Jacinto (Houston) at Conroe (conference). Davis (Houston) vs. Milby Houston (conference); Saturday: Austin (Houston) vs. Lamar (Houston). conference.

14-Friday: Galveston at South Park (Beaumont). conference; Mexico City All-Stars at Goose Creek, Humble at Orange.

15-Friday: Jefferson (San Antonio) at Corpus Christi.

16-Friday: Harlingen at McAllen (conference). Edinburg at San Benito (conference). Furr-Sau Juan-Alamo at Brownsville. Mission at Weslaco (conference).

JOE BANASKI TO WRESTLE GUST

JOE BANASKI

Promoter Cliff B. Chambers has decided to give the fans of this section a new face on his program and he has certainly gone the limit for next Monday night when he will present Joe Banaski of Oklahoma City, one of the outstanding middleweights in the nation today. Banaski will be given the tough assignment of exchanging holds with undefeated Gust Johnson in the three-fall main event.

For a semi-final the little promoter has also strutted his stuff by signing John Nemanic, former referee, and Scotty Williams, fleet little grappler who is about Nemanic's size.

Opening the battle at 8 o'clock sharp at the Pampa Athletic arena will be Walter Stratton and Blacksmith Pedigo, two of the strongest middleweights in the country.

In securing Banaski, the local promoter had pulled a one-man Mike Jacobs act. It will be the first time the sensational Banaski has appeared in a Panhandle city and it is costing Chambers money to bring him here.

Banaski is an ex-cowboy of prominence. He has been a top hand in many rodeos even since he became an ace grappler. He has been wrestling for seven years and has made a reputation for himself to be known as the change of pace wrestler. Banaski often starts slow and cautious but without a second notice turns into a wild bull raging and tearing around the ring. Or he starts like a wild man and then tames down at the psychological moment. His pet hold is the flying arm scissor.

Reserve seat tickets are now available at Cretney Drug. The largest crowd of the season is expected to see the ace card.

Eyes Of All Exes To Be On Big Game

Many ex-Harvesters will be unable to see the Pampa-Amarillo football game because they will be playing in outstanding college games. At least a dozen former wearers of the green and gold are now playing on big college elevens.

Down at Rice Institute in Houston are J. R. Green, Bill Haner, Moose Hartman, and Stokes Green while J. P. Mathews, ace guard of last year's eleven, is with the Rice freshmen squad.

At Canyon the Harvesters have Jap Gillis, captain of the freshmen team, Roy Lee Jones and Glen Maxey.

Down at Abilene Topy Reynolds, of last year's team, is at McMurry college.

Playing with the Oklahoma City University Gold Bugs are Roy Webb and Lester Stephenson of the team of several years ago.

The Cameron Aggies at Lawton, Okla., have a star guard in Carl Smith.

Absent because they will be at sea will be Wayne Kelley, Leon Noblitt and Bill Ragsdale with the United States navy.

Many others will be too distant to be at Butler field but like the rest they will be with the Harvesters in spirit.

Work on Holland's Zuider Zee has reclaimed 900 square miles of land that had been under water for centuries.

Modern airplanes have an average speed of 200 miles per hour, as compared with 100 miles per hour in 1930.

Writer For Liberty Got His Signals Mixed On This Story

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 27.—(AMAC)—When Texas Aggie followers read Hugh Fullerton's recent article in "Liberty" in which he named Ernie Lain, Rice, back, as the player of 1938 to fill the shoes left empty when Byron "Whizzer" White, Colorado star, completed his college career in the Cotton Bowl last New Year's Day, they got a big laugh and at the same time felt slighted for Fullerton forgot to mention that such a player as Dick Todd, "The Crowell Cyclone" of the Aggies even existed.

While Dick has gone on to even greater heights of play this season than he did last year, Lain apparently has been unable to get started in the four games the Rice Owls have played. At the same time Dick has been turning in sixty minute work in the Cadet's five games and has an average to date of 6.34 yards net for every time of the 50 times he has carried the ball. Against that Lain has averaged 1.41 yards in his 43 tries.

On punting, Lain averaged 28 yards while Todd has a booting average of 35.5 yards. Todd has received two passes and Lain none.

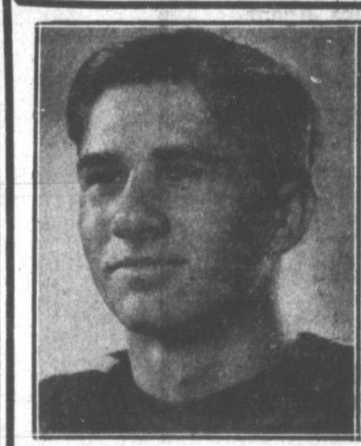

Where Ernie does excel, however, is in forward passing with an average of 446 for completions against Todd's 167. Lain has thrown 56 and Todd 18.

Another bit of humor in Fullerton's story was the naming of Jack Morrison, SMU, and Dwight Sloan, Arkansas, as other prospective "Whizzer" successors. The funny part of that is that both of those boys graduated last June and Sloan is now playing pro football in the town where Fullerton has his office.

With errors such as those in his story, perhaps he still had Dick playing at Crowell (Texas) high school where he set the world's football scoring record in 1934 when he personally scored 318 points over an eleven-game schedule.

He is now playing his last year at Texas A. and M. and standing the fans on their seats with his spectacular play.

George White, sports editor, Dallas Morning News, and Southwest representative on Collier's All-America Football Board, said in an airblast over WPA before the Aggie-Baylor game, that he considered Todd the greatest back in America today and COURAGE Harvesters!

"It will take plenty of determination and the will to win to overcome the opponent's power in the traditional "battle of the year" which may prove to be the "Battle of The Century" a few minutes after the opening whistle. But with lots of courage all of these disadvantages may turn into advantages, and Pampa, including the merchants and fans, wishes you Harvesters lots of luck in Saturday's clash."

"Odus, you have shown strategy in ironing out the rough places in the team since the first of the season, and we all are backing the team a hundred per cent in this, the climax game, although not the last or maybe not the hardest game."

ODUS MITCHELL, Harvester Coach

Calm the Sandstorms

... but above all, PLAY SAFE. Don't endanger an injury when it is possible to evade it. Although thousands of fans will be shouting their hearts out to "maul him" or "knock him out," they are not speaking literally. Just play the game fair and square, and you'll win out in the long run."

... and to the PEP SQUAD

"You've worked and played hard during every game so far this season, but the big test for you, too, is the Amarillo game Saturday. When the boys need it worst, that's when you will yell the loudest—we all know that. Any pep squad can give everything they have when the going's smooth, but it takes a good one to make the stands ring when the breaks are bad ones."

Y. C. PREJEAN, Line Coach

"The development of a strong and powerful line is one big job, and the assistance offered to the head coach is another one. We know you have done both, Prejean, and are for you and your efforts."

Parish's And Nichols' Injuries Worry Coaches

The Pampa Harvesters went through their most intensive workout of the week yesterday afternoon as they prepared for the invasion of Amarillo Saturday afternoon. The session was not one of blocking, tackling and closing with a scrimmage, but was a review of both offense and defense.

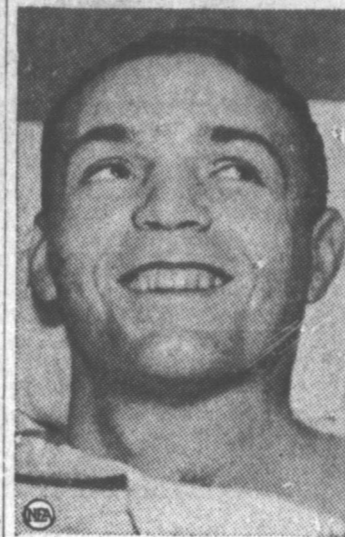

For nearly three hours the boys ran plays and then went on defense while another eleven ran Amarillo plays. Every boy was checked on his assignment both on offense and defense. Plays were run over and over until the boys' tongues were hanging out but they were frisky when it was all over. "We're ready as we can possibly be this early in the season," Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean announced following the workout. "The boys lack experience but they have come along fine. They realize they will enter the game the underdogs but they have promised to give everything and that is all that can be asked of anyone, man or boy." This afternoon will be devoted to limbering up and polishing off of plays and offense. Tomorrow afternoon there will be a light workout of punting, passing and running of plays. The boys will not leave Pampa until after 11 o'clock Saturday morning. They will have dinner at 10 o'clock in the cafeteria and then go direct to the field by bus. The full Harvester starting lineup will be ready, coaches announced, although they were still uncertain after yesterday's workout how long Parish and Nichols would be able to go because of recent injuries and illness. The pair, however, says they are in perfect shape and ready for 60 minutes of football. The rest of the starters made the same statement while the reserves announced that they would play plenty.

"Pitch C," the standard note from which all others are turned, has 512 vibrations per minute.

The average weight of a man's brain is three pounds eight ounces, as compared with a woman's brain of two pounds 11 ounces.

Another Pitching Arm Is Mended

Hal Schumacher has good reason to be all smiles as he recuperates in a Memphis hospital, where a "loose body" was removed from his pitching arm. The operation, similar to that performed several weeks ago on his teammate, Carl Hubbell, is expected to permit the New York Giants' star right-hander to hurl without pain next spring. Surgeon Chandler and Wes Ferrell of the Yankees are other major league pitchers who have had arm trouble corrected by surgery since the close of the season.

Pitt-Fordham Battle Tops Nation's List

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—The great autumn madness reaches new heights Saturday when Pittsburgh plays Fordham and Notre Dame invades the east to play Army in a gold mining down around Liano. Wally Lawson, Texas' hard-working fullback, is a straight "A" student. . . . And Coach Morley Jennings of Baylor joined the army of "believers," including all coaches who have fretted through an Aggie game, by pronouncing Dick Todd of the Cadets the best running back his team has faced since he took over in 1926.

Freshman Ed Price of Texas once had a hand in the development of two great forward passers—neither of whom went to Texas! Bill Patterson of Baylor was a Hillsboro High student when Price coached there and Ken Heineman, the Texas School of Mines sensation, was an El Paso High senior when Price switched to that school. . . . Heineman, incidentally, was tagged for Texas Christian once but forgotten when he broke a leg that appeared would be slow in mending.

The noise from West Texas is like Coach Dutchy Smith of Texas Tech blowing the trumpets for his two tackles, Abe Murphy, 200, and Bill Davis, 225, standouts in Tech's unbeaten team.

two of the most important games of this or any season. The rest of the schedule shows enough class and color to make it a banner day, but these two meetings steal the show. Some 75,000 expect to pack the Panther stadium and about the same number will jam Yankee stadium to watch the Irish and the Cadets. The game at Pittsburgh is the more important from a national standpoint, but while Army and Notre Dame may not have quite the class but they have traditional color. In the mid-west there are Northwestern-Minnesota—danger for the Gophers there—Michigan-Illinois, Wisconsin-Indiana, and Michigan State-Santa Clara. Texas Christian will be tested by Baylor in the Southwest. Unbeaten Duke meets an old rival, North Carolina, in one of the South's big games, and Mississippi comes North Friday night to meet George Washington. All over the South they're wishing Ole Miss met the Green Wave of Tulane this season. Out on the coast U. C. L. A. plays Stanford and Southern California faces Oregon.

um against Sam Houston of Amarillo. Coach Bruce Barton's Guerrillas lost a 6 to 0 thriller to Stinnett two weeks ago in the Hutchinson county capital. The only pass completed by the Rattlers resulted in a touchdown as the Reapers outplayed them on the ground and in the air. No admission will be charged to the game and fans are urged to see the future Harvesters in action. Coach Jack Davis' Sophomores will be idle. Their only other game this season will be against the Reapers on Nov. 4. The Reapers of Coach Oscar Hinger have come a long way since the start of the season when he took a green bunch of boys and whipped them into a football team. The defense, however, outdistanced the offense and the Reapers have been unable to win. Coach Hinger and his Reapers will shoot the works against Sam Houston, one of the strongest teams in the district. Neither coach had definitely decided on a starting lineup this morning. "After the practice this afternoon," they announced.

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT

DALLAS, Oct. 27 (AP)—Sure Pitt is good, but did you ever hear of the Lincoln High Bumblebees, a Port Arthur negro eleven? Well, they just won their fortieth straight game an 18-0 workout with the Corpus Christi Yellowjackets. . . . Four years without even a close shave.

Touchdown leader of the nation last year was Dean Bagley, A San Saba High schooler. . . . Now it's Lendon Davis, 165-pound Mount Vernon high halfback who is after the honor. . . . He has 121 points in five games. . . . and tied for the nation's collegiate scoring pot is Leroy Fry of Texas A. and I., who has six touchdowns and six conversion points for 66 total.

Publisher J. Willard Ridings of T. C. U., who never has found the bottom of his statistical sack, drags out comparative figures to enlighten the citizens on the question of whether Davey O'Brien is as good a passer as his former master, Sammy Baugh. . . . The slinger, in his senior year, hurled 203 passes and completed 104 for 1196 yards and ten touchdowns. . . . Master Davey, in five games to date, has heaved 86, completed 44 for 782 yards and ten touchdowns. . . . O'Brien already has produced a similar number of scores.

Some 2,000 students from Denton's state college for women, will join some 5,000 "brother" Aggie on a double corps trip of the state schools to the Aggie-S. M. U. game on Nov. 5. . . . And speaking of women, it was "Ladies Night" at Texas Tech's Touchdown club meeting recently. . . . Coach Pete Cawthon enlightened the fair fans on several football puzzles which had come up in Red Raider games.

Will Be Absent Out of season, but in line with the weather: Five 1938 Texas league managers are due to be absent at opening next spring. . . . Included are Jack Fitzpatrick of Oklahoma City; Jim Levey of Dallas; Hub Northern of Shreveport; Jack Reid of Fort Worth and Ira Smith of Houston. SERIAL STORY

MURDER TO MUSIC

BY NARD JONES

COPYRIGHT, 1938, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
MYRA DOMBEY—herald-wife of the sensational swing band leader.
ROBERT TAIT—hero. Newspaper photographer—detective.
MYRA LESTER—Myra's closest friend.
DANNIS FEELEY—officer assigned to investigate the Luden Dombey's murder.

Yesterday, Tait is introduced to glamorous Nelda Starr, who asks him why the swing band never plays "The Cat's Meow" any more.

CHAPTER XXII

"Do you mean," Nelda Starr asked, "that the band won't play 'The Cat's Meow' any more?"
She seemed genuinely affected by Tait's news.

"Perhaps in a year or two—but by that time, of course, it may not be popular at all."
I've been wanting to hear it all evening." Her glance swept Archie Mackey and Tait. "I've a record of it at my apartment. Let's go there and have a cocktail and hear the song."

Mackey made a protesting gesture. "Listen, beautiful lady, I have to work. I've been to four night clubs already. It's almost midnight, and I haven't got material for a line! You take Bob and run along."

"Would you like to come, Mr.
Tait?"

"Very much," Bob Tait said.
But there was misgiving in his heart when he said it. Nelda Starr was a strange young woman. He could well imagine what worry and anguish she caused old and dignified Aaron Starr. Certainly they did not get along, else why would she forsake the Starr mansion for an apartment of her own?
And her preoccupation with swing widened. "I'd like to hear it now."

"Oh, but it will!" The girl's eyes music and the song "The Cat's Meow" were almost abnormal.
Tait's mind went back to his visit with Leonard Macy when the latter had insisted that the addicts of swing—the jitterbugs and the ickies—were a study in abnormality. Tait had scoffed at the notion then, because Macy's inference had been that Myra belonged to that classification. Yet here before him was a girl utterly different from Myra Dombey. Here was a girl, neurotic and finely-spun, upon whom the world of swing had undoubtedly had effect.

DID she actually want to hear the record of "The Cat's Meow" so badly that she must leave the Golden Bowl? Or was the invitation, issued to a man she had never met before, simply a subtle build-up toward asking for a spot with the band? The questions swam through Tait's tired brain as he helped Nelda Starr with her luxurious evening wrap in the foyer of the Golden Bowl.

"I have a car outside," Nelda said.

That, Bob Tait was to discover,
was a masterpiece of understatement.
He followed her out under the spacious marquee of the Pacific-Plaza, saw the doorman fuss with his signal box the moment he recognized Nelda. Almost immediately there rolled to the curb a small car that was like a jewel in the world of automotive engineering. It was no larger than the smallest of light stock cars, but the body was of special make and the finish was bright and faultless.
The attendant left the wheel and stood at attention while Nelda slid herself into the driver's seat.
Slightly bewildered, Tait climbed in beside her.

"Some little bus," he said.

"What is it?"
She told him the name of the engine and chassis, a name familiar to every driver in the world.
"I designed the body myself—in the rough, of course. And Dad had it built for me. That was before we had our latest argument."
"I see..." Tait withheld a desire to turn her over his knee and spank her. The special body, which her father "had built" for her, must have cost several times the price of an average car. Surprisingly Tait studied her profile, and when he did so he forgot his instinct to punish her as a parent might punish a child. This Nelda Starr was a grown and beautiful young woman. She was, too, wise indeed for man, as Archie Mackey had hinted. And, Tait felt sure, she was more than that. Nelda Starr was dangerous.

HE could no longer detect the faint perfume which had revealed her to him among all that crowd in the Golden Bowl. His sense of smell had grown accustomed to it now. Yet, he told himself, it was Nelda who wore that perfume. It was that perfume he had caught on that night when death had missed him by the merest fluke—the anxiety of a taxi driver to be of service. Had the attacker been this slight girl beside him? And was even her seemingly harmless invitation tonight really another attempt to take his life? It was not a comfortable feeling, but it was with Bob Tait as he rode through town with the fragile, lovely Nelda in her car that had been built for her and nobody else.

"That perfume you use," he said suddenly. "It's—so unusual. May I ask what it is?"

Nelda Starr laughed. "If it isn't unusual," she said, "someone is going to get into a lot of trouble.
It doesn't have a name—unless you want to call it Nelda Starr—because it was made especially for me."

"Somehow," said Tait, "it suits
you. It's enticing and yet—well, dangerous."

"Dangerous?"

"Yes. Isn't that what you wanted it to be?"

Nelda Starr was silent a moment.
"I suppose so." Then: "You know, that's curious that you should say that."

"Curious? You mean that I should think that your perfume gives a hint of danger?"

She nodded. "Yes. Lud Dom-bey told me that one day."

SOMEHOW the remark started in Tait. Even though he told himself not to be a fool he experienced a queer chill. "It did prove dangerous, didn't it, for Lud Dom-bey?" That was, he knew, a reckless remark to make. But if Nelda Starr received any connotation beyond the words themselves she gave no sign of it. She only said,

"Poor Lud."

"You liked him a lot, didn't you?" Tait asked.

"I was in love with him, if that's what you mean."

"Not with his music?"

She made a turn into another street with unnecessary vigor. "I don't care for men who treat me like a child, Mr. Tait. They remind me of my father."

"I'm sorry. But it does strike me that your father has been—well, rather lavish."

"That's all you know about it."
She shrugged. "Of course he's given me things. Like this silly car. But when I really wanted to have something—something that meant everything to me, he'd never see it my way. When I told him I wanted to be a singer in a night club he practically died."

"I think that's a very normal reaction. Singing in a night club is a tough grind—and not all the patrons are the best, you know."

Nelda Starr didn't answer. She had slid the little car alongside a curb which fronted a towering apartment building. Silently Tait followed her inside, into the automatic lift. Since leaving the car she had said not a word and the next thing Tait knew they were standing in front of a door while Nelda Starr fumbled with the lock. At last she swung the door wide, and Tait looked beyond.
There, past the little hallway, stood Harris Rogers!

Five County Educators To Attend Meet

Five Gray county educators will go to Amarillo Saturday to attend the meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Superintendents Association, where W. T. Lofland, deputy state superintendent of schools, will be formally introduced to school men.

Attending the meeting from this county will be W. B. Weathered, county superintendent of school; L. L. Sone, superintendent of the Pampa Independent School district; R. A. Kelly, curricula supervisor of Pampa schools; G. A. Craver, superintendent of the McLean Independent School district, and P. L. Mize, superintendent of the LeFors Independent School district.

While the new deputy state superintendent will be formally introduced at the meeting in Amarillo Saturday, actually he has been on duty about two months and already was known to most of them as head of the Vernon schools. Mr. Lofland succeeded J. E. Speer when the latter became superintendent of the Canyon public schools at the beginning of the current term.

State Supt. L. A. Woods is expected to address the Amarillo session, which will begin at Amarillo high school at 10 a. m., on proposed legislation and phases of Texas school problems. B. B. Cobb, secretary of the Texas State Teachers Association, will speak on the association's legislative program and teacher retirement.

Senator Clint C. Small, Rep. G. H. Little of Amarillo, and Rep. Mack Boyer of the Perryton district are among the other speakers.

On the Campus Trail

Having won a state scholarship to Rutgers University, William Moncrief, 20-year-old student from Bridgetown, N. J., found he couldn't afford to live in a dormitory. So, for $70 he bought the trailer beside which he stands in the photo above, installed it on the Rutgers Campus, obtained electric current from the school at a small charge, and moved in. He takes his meals at a house where undergraduates cook their own, and earns $10 a month incidental expenses by working on the college farm.

TOMMY SOLOMON

The determined-looking young footballers above are ready for the invasion of Amarillo Saturday. They have been working long and hard and faithfully preparing for the big game. Truman Rumble, who started the season as a fullback, has been temporarily shifted to tackle in case Glen Nichols cannot play the entire game. Dull is out with injuries. Green has been a regular and reserve end all season, alternating with the other ends. L. C. Bailey is a bundle of dynamite. He is small but very rugged. Jack Hesse is the giant of the line and is playing his first year of football. He will play his third game against Amarillo. Leonard Dull injured a knee which put him on the bench for a while. Tommy Solomon has been transferred from center to end to add weight to the outer fringe of the line.

Suppose It Were To Pour Down Rain All Saturday Afternoon

Has it ever rained on October 27? For the first time this season a fan thought of rain on a downtown street yesterday afternoon, as he thought of the game between the Pampa Harvesters and Amarillo Sandies Saturday afternoon in Amarillo.

11, 1930. That was before Butler field had a coat of turf and the rain fell and fell. Amarillo won the game 2 to 0 in the closing minute of play. Not since that date has Pampa and Amarillo played on a wet field. The wind has blown and the sun has been slightly hidden but mostly the day has been warm and nice.

Indications this year point to another pretty day. There is no sign of rain in the offing. Only the wind will be a source of worry, if it blows, of course, says the optimist. Here is the Harvester-Sandies results of past years: Oct. 11, 1930—Amarillo 2, Pampa 0. Oct. 17, 1931—Pampa, 13, Amarillo 6. Oct. 29, 1932—Amarillo 7, Pampa 0. Nov. 11, 1933—Amarillo 9, Pampa 6.

Nov. 29, 1934—Amarillo 13, Pampa 6. Nov. 26, 1935—Amarillo 13, Pampa 0. Nov. 26, 1936—Amarillo 20, Pampa 6. Nov. 11, 1937—Amarillo 6, Pampa 0. Oct. 29, 1938—Amarillo ? Pampa ? That is the record in cold figures which show an average of 9 1/2 points to 3 7-8 in favor of Amarillo in eight games. But these figures cannot begin to portray the emotional background of the rivalry which year after year sets hearts a-fire with eager anticipation beforehand, thrills and chills thousands during the game, and provides enough fuel to keep the blaze burning for another 12 months.

Canadian Will Play Clarendon

CANADIAN, Oct. 27.—The Canadian Wildcats will play their last home game of the season Friday night against the Clarendon Bronchos under the lights at Hooyer field. Although a non-conference battle, the game is expected to be one of the most thrilling of the season. The teams are rated about even in size and experience. Several Wildcats will play their final game before home fans. Of the graduating class will be Benny Caldwell, Victor Fort, Red Callaway, Revis Massey, Davis Morris, J. B. Tandy, and Joe Thresher.
