Icy Streets, Highways Cause Accidents

Several Wreck Victims Hospitalized On Friday

around Muleshoe

Sammie Ethridge reported that the annual Muleshoe Area Healthcare Center received a total of $2,882 from their annual Christmas Card Project.

Mrs. Ethridge said, "On behalf of the Volunteer organization, we would like to express our sincere thanks to everyone who participated again this year."

Funds this year will be used to landscape around the new dining room in the Healthcare facility.

The Muleshoe Fine Arts Boosters will meet at 7 p.m. Monday, January 7 at the 16th and D Church of Christ.

If you are a parent of a student in band, speech, drama, or art, your participation is encouraged and will be welcomed.

Central Plains MHMR Community Support Program will be presenting a Family Education Seminar on Tuesday, January 8, at 6:30 p.m. at 623 W. 2nd Street in Muleshoe.

You are asked to go to the east entrance of the building.

The primary focus of the program will be to provide information on Mental Health needs with an emphasis on family support.

Army Pvt. 1st Class Jose L. Mendoza, a ground surveillance systems operator, has arrived for duty at Camp Casey, South Korea.

Mendoza is the son of Maria Flores and the stepson of Hector Flores of Muleshoe. His wife, Maggie, is the daughter of Danny and Sandra Navejar of Muleshoe.

He is a 1988 graduate of Muleshoe High School.

Sgt. Charlie Simmons, of the Lubbock Highway Patrol District from Plainview, said, "In Bailey County, our troopers investigated no fatal accidents, two personal injury accidents and four property damage accidents in the month of November."

Pat Langfitt, president of the Muleshoe Jennislippers, remind that all Jennislippers and their spouses are invited to attend the 10th annual Jennislipper meeting and installation banquet on Tuesday, January 8.

The annual banquet is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the Bailey County Coliseum meeting room.

WINTER WEATHER HAZARD--One man was hospitalized after being injured in this one vehicle rollover about nine miles west of Muleshoe at mid-morning on Friday. By 2:30 p.m. Friday, at least eight people had been injured severely enough to be hospitalized from area wrecks caused by icy highways. At least two accidents had occurred in the area shortly after noon on Friday, adding to an already 'hefty' total since midnight on Thursday. (Journal Photo)

What traffic that was moving in the area Friday, was creeping along on a thin glaze of ice that made driving, or for that matter, walking, extremely hazardous.

By noon on Friday, seven victims, from several different accidents, were hospitalized at Muleshoe Area Medical Center.

Director of Nurses Kay Swint said none of the injuries were major.

Bailey County had recorded three accidents from midnight Thursday to Friday noon, with several more being investigated between Muleshoe and Sudan, and producing several of the injuries.

None of the injuries were to pedestrians slipping down on ice, although many people took 'spills' on icy sidewalks.

The icy glaze covered the Panhandle and South Plains, and hazardous driving was also reported from the Clovis and Portales areas in eastern New Mexico.

Any unnecessary travel was being discouraged, as tired officers and wrecker drivers fought to keep on their feet on the icy highways, and tried to keep the accidents investigated.

Most of the wrecks involved one-vehicle rollovers, and officers said in many instances, the drivers were traveling too fast for road conditions.

At least one vehicle slid off the highway into a pole, inflicting injuries on the driver and passengers.

Icy conditions prevailed all through the day on Thursday, although the streets and highways did dry off until after dark when a freezing mist, or drizzle, continued through the night.

Trees, wires, and bushes again wore lacy white as the ice created new patterns similar to those seen in the area on Sunday morning.

Weary emergency personnel faced up to two more days of similar weather, according to the National Weather Service on Friday. NWS said the slow moving cold front would leave more ice, with little snow as it treks on to the east and northeast.

On Thursday, the temperature reached to approximately 33 degrees, but by noon on Friday, the temperature was at a cold 25 degrees, with no increase expected for the rest of the afternoon.

Freezing rain, and little likelihood of snow remained in the NWS forecast through Sunday, and all travel was being discouraged.

Businesses in Muleshoe were feeling the brunt of the icy conditions, as people elected to

Hereford Hosting Vegetable Grower Seminar January 15

New varieties of specialty vegetables designed for the High Plains and results of market studies that indicate which vegetables have a profit potential for West Texas are among featured presentations for this year's West Texas Vegetable Conference in Hereford on January 15.

Other innovative ways of improving the vegetable industry of West Texas also will be spotlighted at the meeting, says Dr. Roland E. Roberts, vegetable specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. He is conference coordinator.

The conference begins at 8:30 a.m. at the Hereford Community Center, 100 Avenue C at Park Avenue. Registration includes lunch.

"Wise vegetable growers will evaluate opportunities by measuring the market window for an adapted vegetable before planting any," Roberts said. This means assessing the potential supply, demand and competition at the time the producer will have a crop ready to market, he explained.

The Texas High Plains growing season allows many crops to mature when those crops are waning or not yet ready in other production areas.

Dr. Charles Hall, Extension Service economist and horticulture marketing specialist at College Station, will present results of market window studies that show which vegetables have a profit potential for West Texas.

Defensive Driving Class Planned

Next Saturday

W. Charles Shain, instructor for the Defensive Driving Courses in Muleshoe said he will offer one class each month in 1991.

The first class of the year will be Saturday, January 12, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. in the Auto Technician Class room at Muleshoe High School.

The cost is $25 for the eight hour course.

Shain commented, "The purpose of the course is to improve your driving and make you aware of how other drivers drive. Also, it will help you avoid a collision.

"Your insurance company will give you a 10 percent discount on private car insurance over three years. If you take the course to get a traffic ticket dismissed, check with your judge.

"Above all," he concluded, "don't go out of town for the same course and pay a higher price."

Call 272-3911 for the dates for other classes.

Time Running Out For Computer Classes

The Bailey County Extension Service, in cooperation with Muleshoe High School, will be offering two different opportunities to learn the QUICKEN software program in Muleshoe.

Business people, farm operators, and home record keepers who want to learn or improve their managerial skills and keep more information at their fingertips, have a valuable ally in the computer. Inexpensive and powerful computer programs are available which can help you improve your record keeping system and provide a more immediate access to important financial information, says Spencer Tanksley, County Extension agent.

Participants can learn the QUICKEN program by a course study approach. This course will teach one how to set up a record keeping system with various accounts, income and expense categories, and enterprises.

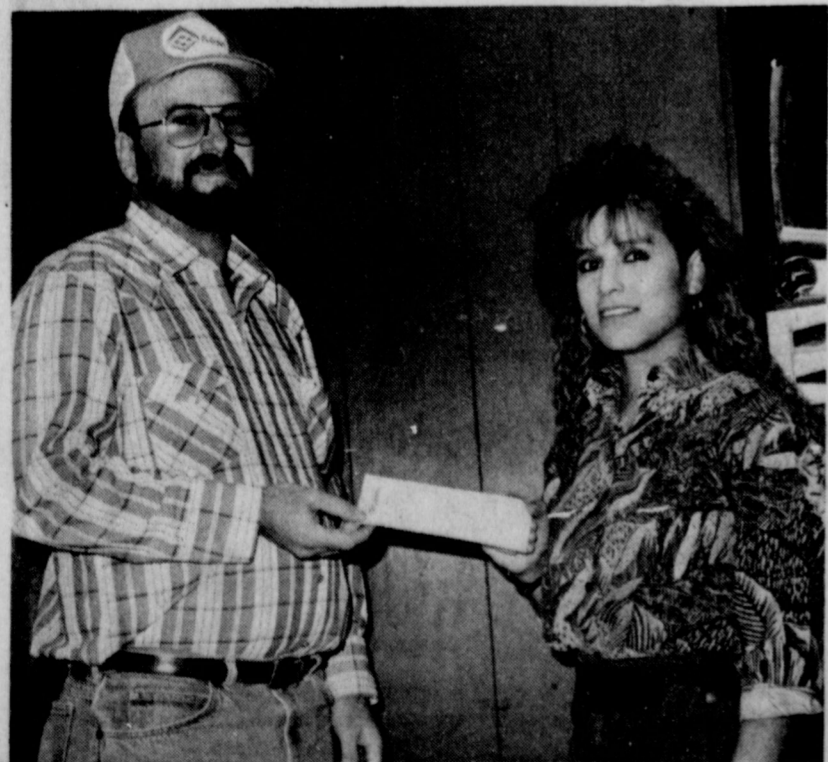

Participants will learn to write and print checks, and enter transactions in the register. These transactions will be used to generate customized reports that can be memorized by the computer for repeated use. Speeding entry, repeated transactions using quick keep and other tips will also be discussed.

QUICKEN has been widely adopted for small business and home record keeping. This software program can be especially satisfying for those who have recently purchased a computer and are anxious to use it.

The two workshops offered will be conducted at Muleshoe High School in the computer lab on January 14-15 and February 11-12 from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. each evening. Classes are limited to 18 people in order that everyone will have access to a computer. Cost will be $30 per person, which include workshop materials.

No prior computer experience is necessary. The workshop will be taught by Dr. Jackie Smith, Extension Economist - Management, and Jane Green, Extension

BOWL GAME WINNER GETS CHECK--James Hanson, left, smiles as he receives a $50 check from The Journal's Dora Toscano. Hanson missed five games in the annual Bowl Game Contest, and was 58 points off on the tiebreakers. Debbie Weir also missed five games, but was 72 points off on the tiebreakers. No one predicted the tie game in the contest. Thanks for entering, and the contest will be back in September. (Journal Photo)

YOUR COMMISSIONERS COURT FOR 1991--Shortly after oaths were administered Tuesday morning to the new county officials, the commissioners court paused for a photograph. They are from left, C. E. From The Office
Of Martin Frost

With thousands of U.S. soldiers in Saudi Arabia, it is no surprise that foreign policy will dominate early discussions when Congress convenes in January 1991.

However, in addition to foreign policy concerns, critical domestic matters must also be addressed during the 102nd Congress. None is more important or controversial than the issue of health care.

The skyrocketing cost of health care over the last decade has made every family vulnerable to financial ruin in the event of serious illness or injury. Even families with health insurance often face overwhelming out-of-pocket costs associated with medical care. Those without health insurance are dependent upon public assistance through Medicaid or state and county health care services.

However, in recent years the number of uninsured individuals and families has grown to the point that public services may not be able to meet the need for health care. A recent study by a Washington nonprofit organization, the Employee Benefit Research Institute (EBRI), estimated that 15 percent of the U.S. population is without any health insurance coverage at all. In Texas, 25 percent of the population are thought to be without insurance.

One might assume that the majority of the uninsured are also unemployed. However, the EBRI study indicates that 55.7 percent (18.5 million) of those without health insurance are working adults and 27.8 percent (9.2 million) are children too young to hold jobs. Only 16.5 percent (5.5 million) of the uninsured are unemployed.

Debate in Congress, of course, will center not on whether a problem exists, but what approach to take in dealing with it. Some will argue that government should not be involved at all in finding a solution. Others may call for direct and extensive government involvement by pushing to expand current public services or calling for government financed "universal health care" similar to programs in Canada and some European countries.

An approach I believe will be very seriously considered is mandating that employers provide health insurance coverage to all employees. This approach is attractive for a number of reasons: First, since most of the uninsured already have jobs, health insurance can be included as part of their compensation. Second, of those Americans with health insurance, 87 percent are already covered by employee health care plans, so the concept will not be new to employers or employees. Third, the government would be involved only indirectly, allowing market forces to determine the specific types or plans offered.

This is an issue that will affect every community in our nation. The number of uninsured Americans is so great that it cannot be ignored. At the same time, with the federal deficit in the $200 billion range and with many state and county budgets operating in the red, simply expanding government programs and spending more money is not a viable solution.

In the months ahead, I intend to play an active role in formulating a comprehensive approach to our nation's health care dilemma. I welcome any comments you may have on this important issue.

Faculty Salaries Increase For Public Universities

Faculty salaries at Texas public universities for the first four academic ranks increased this year by an average of 3.7 percent over last year, according to a survey by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board.

Professors, associate professors, assistant professors, and instructors in the state's higher education system are now earning an average annual salary of $43,299. In the 1989-90 academic year, they earned an average of $41,756.

"Despite these gains, faculty salaries in Texas continue to lose ground when compared to faculty salaries in the 10 states nearest Texas in population," said Kenneth H. Ashworth, Texas' commissioner of higher education. "We expect the comparative data we get next spring to show Texas faculty salaries averaging almost 13 percent behind the average for those states," he said.

The Coordinating Board study revealed other information on faculty salaries:

•At Texas public universities, average salaries for 1990-91 are $55,114 for professors, up 3.4 percent from 1989-90; $40,526 for associate professors, up 3.1 percent; $34,244 for assistant professors, up 3.1 percent; and $25,654 for instructors, up 4.6 percent. Average salaries paid lecturers increased 8.2 percent, from $21,004 to $22,734. Teaching assistants earned an average of 1.1 percent more, or $14,314, compared to the 1989-90 average of $14,160.

•The highest average faculty salaries in Texas, based on the first four faculty ranks, were reported by the University of Texas at Austin, $53,367; the University of Texas at Dallas, $49,165; Texas A&M University, $49,092; University of Houston, $48,733; University of Texas at Arlington, $43,176; University of North Texas, $42,739; and Texas Tech University, $42,486.

•The state's public community colleges are paying their full-time general academic and vocational-technical faculty an average of $33,038 in the 1990-91 academic year. That represents an increase of $823, or 2.6 percent, over the 1989-90 average.

•Seventeen of the state's 49

community college districts pay above the statewide average, with the highest salaries offered at Dallas County Community College District, Tarrant County Junior College District, Lee College, Alvin Community College, Alamo Community College District, Odessa College, and McLennan Community College.

Faculty at the Texas State Technical Institute's four campuses are averaging $25,526 this year. TSTI faculty salary data was collected for the first time this year.

Kiwanis News

By R.A. Bradley

Fifteen Kiwanians, one honorary Kiwanian, Chad Johnson and Sweetheart Marsha Wilson slid to the La Placita Cafe. Br-r-r-r it was slick. The Muleshoe Kiwanis Club looks forward to a good 1991. We hope it is good to you and us. We hope you were careful this morning, buckled your seat belt and reached your destination safely.

President Glen Morris called the meeting to order. Randy Lewis led the pledge to the flag and Robert Montgomery gave the invocation. Glen Morris, who had the friendship coin, thought there was something fishy going on at the table where Robert and Scott were sitting. Scott, as usual, was handing out bills and Robert was trying to get the money. Must be from a force of habit. Glen gave the friendship coin to Robert. Maybe that would appease him. Robert, work hard -- you can find a friend.

We just found out that Sweetheart Marsha Wilson was entered into the Texas Teenage Pageant at Houston March 1-3. These young ladies will be judged on poise and looks in evening gowns - personality and school activities.

The Kiwanis Club decided to help sponsor Marsha. Marsha can have up to 10 sponsors. Marsha, with your looks, personality and school activities, we think you have a real chance because you are tops with us anyway. If anyone would like to help sponsor Marsha, please contact her. It seems there had been some unfinished business Glen was going through some records and he called Keith Turner, past president and Reggie Johnson up and let Keith officially welcome Reggie into the Kiwanis Club. Reggie, since you are now officially a Kiwanian, we sure look to working with you. There is not anything slow about the Kiwanis Club.

Our guest and program this morning was Spencer Tanksley. Spencer showed a video on the partnership between Agriculture and Consumers. It seems that two percent of the population raise the food and material for clothes for the other 98 percent.

Some people seem to think that "I" am not involved in agriculture. I like the saying I have seen on some bumper stickers If you eat, you are involved in agriculture. That should at least fit most of us.

Spencer stated that by the year of 2000, probably four-fifths of the population of Texas would live in six counties -- Dallas-Fort Worth; Houston; Austin; San Antonio and El Paso. It might get lonesome out here in West Texas.

Spencer told about the upcoming Bailey County Junior Livestock Show. They expect it to be the biggest and best yet. He stated that they look forward to have 67 cattle, 108 sheep, and 168 pigs.

Mark your calendars -- Jan. 11th and 12th and go out and support the 4-H and FFA young people as they show their animals. It will be worth your time.

The Kiwanis Club presented

Spencer with a check for $100 to help with the livestock show and also a check for $100 to the 4-H Club.

Thanks, Spencer, for a good program.

TOPS Crowns Six

Months Best Loser

Seeing the need, and having the desire to lose weight, Carolyn Stancell joined Muleshoe TOPS chapter No. 34 a few months ago, and started losing weight. First being named weekly best loser, then monthly best loser a few times, she was crowned six months best loser Thursday night.

Mrs. Stancell received a crown charm, banner, and a gift from each member of the club.

Aurora Mata was named first runner-up and received a charm, banner, a gift from Mrs. Stancell and a check from the club.

Other runners-up included: Alene Bryant, second; Joy Radford, third; Linda White, fourth; Jewell Peeler, fifth; Lucille Harp, sixth; Alma Robertson, seventh; and Betty Jo Davis, eighth. They each received a charm from the club.

Laverne James, leader called the TOPS chapter No. TX 34 to order at 6:30 p.m. Thursday night, Jan. 3 in the Heritage Thrift Shop. She led the group in the TOPS pledge, a prayer and the fellowship song.

Betty Jo Davis called the roll with 17 members responding with the amount they had lost or gained. A treasurer's report was given by Ruth Clements.

Weekly, monthly and six months best losers were named. Best loser for the week was Mary Edmiston. Lucille Harp was first runner-up, and Ernestine Steinbock was second runner-up.

Linda White was named best loser for the month, Carolyn Stancell, first runner-up, and

SCAC News

On Monday, December 17, 1990, SCAC members met in the home of Corrie Savuto for their annual Christmas party. Brian Bush opened the meeting at 6:30 p.m. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Robin Berry. No treasurer's report was given, due to the excitement earlier that day, the ledger was left in the school building.

Michelle Holmens introduced the special speaker and the "Citizen of the Month" for December, Cindy Purdy. Mrs. Purdy is the president of MISD School Board, and has worked hard to improve the school system as well as the community. She brought along the new superintendent, Bill Moore. Mrs. Purdy explained the process taken by the school board in order to select a new superintendent. Then she turned the platform to Superintendent Moore. Moore talked a little about himself and his goals for MISD.

After Moore and SCAC members became better acquainted, all the members gave him a hearty welcome.

Old business was discussed and the next Citizen of the Month was chosen. The meeting was adjourned and everyone feasted on the refreshments brought by several members.

After filling up on sweets, the SCAC members headed out to go caroling at several special places. The evening ended with another snacking at the home of Corrie Savuto.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Lashelle Scoggin on January 21, at 7:30 p.m.

Betty Jo Davis, second.

Mrs. Davis also gave a report on the amount of weight the club had lost during the past year.

The meeting was adjourned with the goodnight song.

WOULD FORESTALL THE BURGLARIZING OF BANKS
Public notice is given by both banks at Levelland, in Hockley County, that, beginning December 29 they will close from 11:45 a.m. until 12:45 p.m. that being the time when most banks are robbed.

It is stated that at this time there are fewer customers present in the banks & robbers have a better opportunity of successfully performing their nefarious work.

Numerous other banks over the country have adopted similar methods of protection.

HERE NETS 2 MASKED GUNMEN $8,350 TUESDAY
Bailey County officers and Texas Rangers are seeking clues to the identity of 2 masked and armed men who bound and gagged, then robbed a 42-year-old farmer of $8,350 early Tuesday morning in his tourist court room west of town.

Victim of the robbery, Glen Teal, owner of farm land near here and at Abilene, lay tied spreadagled on his bed for 4 hours following the pre-dawn holdup before he could free himself and summon aid.

Big Bird And ABC's Go

To Amarillo Civic Center

An unannounced visitor from another galaxy stirs up some excitement on Sesame Street when Sesame Street Live, "Big Bird and the ABC's" goes to the Amarillo Civic Center, Tuesday, February 5 and Wednesday, February 6 for three performances.

Big Bird and his pals are always ready to welcome newcomers to their neighborhood, but this time, the new kid on the block is like no one they've ever met before. They could say she's different, or unusual, but the best description is out-of-this-world. Her name is Tee Hee. She's a lovable alien from the planet Crayon, created especially for "Big Bird and the ABC's." When she finds her way to Sesame Street, the stage is set for non-stop singing, dancing and a special message about understanding.

The challenge facing the residents of 123 Sesame Street is that Tee Hee doesn't communicate the way they do. She's never even heard of the alphabet. It's up to the Sesame Street characters to lend their extraterrestrial friend a hand, or paw, and bridge their communication gap with a lively lesson about the abc's.

Sesame Street Live, now in its 11th season, is presented by VEE Corporation and produced by Bob Shipstad in cooperation with Children's Television Workshop (CTW). "Big Bird and the ABC's" was written by David Connell and Jim Thurman of CTW. Stage and set designs were created by Jim Waters with lighting direction by David Agress. The production was directed and choreographed by Diane Arnold.

Tickets go on sale for "Big Bird and the ABC's" January 7 at the Amarillo Civic Center box office. Ticket prices are $9.00 with a $1.50 discount for children 2-12. Groups of 20 or more receive $2.00 discount.

Performance Schedule: Tuesday, February 5...7:30 p.m.; and Wednesday, February 6...4 and 7:30 p.m.

MICROWAVE TIPS

Do many meats turn brown when microwaved?

Not many. But some do brown, such as a turkey breasts with skin on, or even whole chickens. Also, roasts with a heavy fat covering will brown.

Fat coming to the surface is what browns meats. But these meats will not be crisp. The exception to the rule is bacon-cooked on paper it will brown and crisp.

Rebekah Lodge

The Muleshoe Rebekah Lodge #114 met in their regular meeting Tuesday night Jan. 1, 1991 with Dorothy Browning presiding. Mildred Kendrick and Ona Berry presented the flags, Fern Davis, Chaplain, gave the opening prayer.

Thursie Reid, Treas., gave the financial report.

June Green, Secretary, read the Semi Annually report.

Plans were made for the installation of officers which will be Tuesday night Jan. 15. We will have a Pot Luck supper. All members are asked to dress formally.

Happy Birthday was sung to Ina Willimm.

Refreshments were served to 14 members by Dorothy Browning and Frances Burrows.

MONTHLY BEST LOSER--Linda White, left, was named monthly best loser of TOPS Chapter TX 34 Thursday night. Runners-up were Carolyn Stancell, first, center; and Betty Jo Davis, second. (Journal Photo)

Baylor College Selected Sight For Gene Center

Baylor College of Medicine in Houston has been selected as a site for a human gene research center.

The $10 million, five-year grant from the National Institutes of Health makes Baylor one of only six such centers in the U.S. Designation of the centers is part of the $3 billion, 15-year Human Genome Project, a federal program to locate and identify the estimated 100,000 genes on the 46 human chromosomes.

Forty Baylor researchers will concentrate on identifying the genes on the X chromosome and on chromosomes 6 and 17.

"There are between 3,500 and 5,000 genes on the X chromosomes and about 400 of those are related to inherited human disease," said Dr. C. Thomas Caskey, a professor of medicine, biochemistry and cell biology and director of Baylor's Institute for Molecular Genetics. He is also an investigator with the Howard Hughes Medical Institute located at Baylor.

"Abnormalities in these genes can lead to severe mental retardation, physical disability, delayed growth and many other serious conditions," Caskey said.

The Baylor researchers hope to transfer their basic scientific findings to patient care as quickly as possible. With the largest DNA diagnostic laboratory in the world, Baylor's Institute for Molecular Genetics draws patients from around the world who are seeking answers about genetically related diseases.

Baylor will contribute $450,000 to the project and will also add 5,000 square feet to the Institute's current 30,000 square feet.

Caskey will be director of the center. The co-director will be Dr. David Ledbetter, professor of molecular genetics.

Among the other researchers will be Dr. Huda Zoghbi, assistant professor of pediatrics, molecular genetics and neurology; Dr. Richard Gibbs, assistant professor of molecular genetics; Dr. A. Craig Chenault, associate professor of molecular genetics; Dr. Edward McCabe, professor of molecular genetics; Dr. Andrea Ballabio, assistant professor of molecular genetics Dr. David Nelson, assistant professor of molecular genetics; Dr. Stephen J. Elledge, assistant professor of biochemistry; and Dr. Charles Lawrence, research associate professor of cell biology.

Moynihan, Franks Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Bary Moynihan of Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Franks of Shamrock are pleased to announce the marriage of their children, Dustie Yvonne and Otis James, on Dec. 18, 1990.

The bride is a 1990 graduate of Muleshoe High School and is employed by Serv-All Thriftway in Muleshoe. The groom is a 1989, graduate of Shamrock High School and is employed by C&H Equipment in Muleshoe.

The couple plan to make their home in Muleshoe.

TECH GRADUATE--In graduation exercises from Texas Tech University on Dec. 15, 1990, Mike Holt received a BS degree from the College of Arts and Sciences in Physical Education, specializing in exercise and sports medicine. While at Tech, he was a student trainer for the Red Raider Athletic Department. He is also a member of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity. Holt is a 1986 graduate of Muleshoe High School and the son of Ronnie and Sue Holt. He is currently employed in Tahoka. (Guest Photo)

You Are Not Alone

Everybody has ups and downs. But when the down times seem to be taking over, they should not be taken lightly or faced alone.

That's why the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services has published You Are Not Alone (Item 586W, free) a free booklet to help you maintain good mental health and to know when someone is really in trouble. The booklet tells you signs to watch for, in others as well as yourself, that say someone really needs help and is not just having a bad week or two. To get your copy of You Are Not Alone, just send your name and address to Consumer Information Center, Department 586W, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Here are a few signs that may indicate that a person is suffering from depression:

Abrupt changes in behavior, unless they are obvious changes aimed to self improvement, are often signs of distress. Someone who has quit smoking but has a relapse, or "Falls off the wagon," for example, may have done so because of stress and depression.

Sudden changes in eating or sleeping habits--whether the appetite for food or sleep increases or decreases--often indicate the onset of depression. Some people overeat when depressed; others can't eat a thing. Some people seek comfort in sleep, while others become insomniacs.

When a depressed person radically changes the amount of nutrition or rest his or her body gets, the body is bound to react. These changes in behavior can, in turn, cause some physical symptoms--such as recurring headaches or nausea.

The characteristics of the depression itself can also indicate whether it is more than just a "case of the blahs." Undue or prolonged anxiety beyond what seems appropriate may indicate the need for professional help. Anxiety may appear as fear or panic over an event or activity that would normally be routine. Extreme pessimism, lack of self confidence, and feelings of inadequacy, hopelessness, or helplessness are also signs of depression.

If you have a friend that shows these signs, what can you do? First, let the person know you're available--but do so diplomatically; don't make your friend feel like the eyes of judgement are focused on him or her. After that, send for a copy of You Are Not Alone.

You Are Not Alone is also your key to help with other aspects of mental health. With it you'll receive a mailback card listing free booklets to help you deal with unreasonable fears or anxiety, obsessive thoughts or unhelpful, repetitious behavior, and how to find mutual help groups and other mental health services.

And, when you order your free copy of You Are Not Alone from Consumer Information Center, department 586W Pueblo, CO 81009, you'll also get a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration, the Catalog lists over two hundred free and low-cost government publications on a wide variety of subjects.

Prizes Offered For Poetry

A first prize of $500 is being offered for the best poem in a contest sponsored by Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum. Thirty-four other cash prizes will also be awarded. There is no cost to enter.

"The rules are simple: each poet may enter one poem only, 20 lines or less, in any style, on any subject" said William H. Trent, editor. Deadline for entry is March 31. Winners will be notified by May 31.

"The contest is open to everyone. But new poets, especially, are urged to enter, because we are always hoping to encourage and reward new talent," Trent continued. "The poem you send for the contest also will be considered for publication in a hardcover book." Book purchase may be required to insure publication, but is not required to be eligible for the contest.

To enter, send one poem to: Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum, Dept. D, 203 Diamond St., Sistersville, WV 26175.

pea and potato varieties for the area will be reported by Dr. Creighton Miller. He is a professor of vegetable breeding with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, College Station.

Spring planted potatoes, a major vegetable crop on the High Plains, never recovered from last June's heat wave, even those growers pampered them with water and nutrients until late summer. Yet in the plots of Dr. Rick Zartman, Texas Tech University associate professor of horticulture, some planted potatoes grew vigorously and yielded surprisingly well. Zartman will tell of his work with the summer planted crop, production costs of which could end up less than for the crop planted in the spring.

Other speakers will report on use of black plastic mulch which had doubled early yield, increased total yield four-fold and controlled weeds in irrigated cantaloupes; culture management to control diseases and weeds in spinach, and use of one kind of plants to inhibit growth nearby of other kinds of plants, such as careless weed.

Growers also will learn the importance of careful harvesting and handling of pinto beans, and ways to help educate consumers about food safety.

The annual conference is sponsored by the Extension Service, High Plains Vegetable Growers and Shippers Council, Experiment Station, Texas Tech University, Deaf Smith County Extension vegetable program development council and Texas Department of Agriculture.

Local Church Plans Concert This Sunday

Pastor Dean Reid and the Muleshoe Assembly of God Church wish to invite the general public to attend a concert with the Don Thomas Singers.

Don and Virginia Thomas will appear in concert at the church on Sunday morning, January 6 at 10:45 a.m. at the First Assembly of God Church, at the corner of South First and Avenue F.

Don Thomas formerly appeared in the country music scene, working with Buck Owens, Johnny Cash, Tex Ritter and others.

He was a regular member of a TV show on the west coast for two and a half years.

Pastor Reid said that since turning his life to Christ, he has dedicated his efforts to a full time singing ministry, and for the past 19 years, The Thomas Family has been traveling full time, nationwide.

They have recorded 19 albums, and make numerous appearances each year in various churches, auditoriums, and on TV and radio broadcasts.

"We welcome you to enjoy the warm humor and country gospel style of their concert service," added Pastor Reid.

Yeutter Announces Cotton Acre Reduction

Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter has announced a five percent acreage reduction program (ARP) for the 1991 crop of upland cotton. This compares with 12.5 percent reduction for the 1990 crop and is in keeping with an earlier recommendation by the National Cotton Council which represents all segments of the U.S. cotton industry.

The Secretary also announced an advance deficiency payment of 4 cents/pound which represents 40 percent of the projected 10 percent total deficiency payment for the 1991 crop. The law requires the Secretary to make an advance payment of 30 percent to 50 percent of the projected deficiency payment for the year.

The reduction percentage is keyed to a provision of 1990 farm law that requires the Secretary to set the ARP at a level that allows the carryover of upland cotton at the end of the 1991 season to be equal to 30 percent of total upland offtake for the season. The law forbids the ARP to exceed 25 percent.

"Stating the carryover target as a stocks-to-use ratio permits the target to rise and fall with the expected level domestic and export demand for U.S. cotton," said Dr. Mark Lange, the Council's director Economic Services. "The higher the level demand, the more stocks you need to bridge the gap between seasons."

This is the first year the stocks-to-use ratio was used to calculate the acreage reduction program for cotton. Under the Food Security Act of 1985, the carryover target was fixed at 4 million bales. The Secretary is confronted with a difficult job in trying to hit a carryover target, regardless of whether it is a fixed number or a variable number keyed to offtake.

"Remember," Lange said, "the target the Secretary is trying to hit is the stock level on July 31, 1992. That's 19 months from the date he must make his final ARP announcement."

Lange said if any one of several variables across the 19 months differs slightly from the Secretary's projections, the carryover target will be missed.

"To hit the target, his projections have to be right for domestic and export demand,

IRS Attempting To Give Checks To Taxpayers

Earlier this year, the Dallas District of the Internal Revenue Service matched up more than 2.2 million north Texas taxpayers with their refund checks. But 2,197 refund checks were returned to IRS by the U.S. Postal Service and now IRS is trying to find their owners.

According to Terry K. Green, Chief of the IRS Taxpayers Service Division, "While 2,197 represents only 0.1 percent of refunds claimed, IRS feels that even one undelivered refund check is too many. The most common reasons for the returned checks are that that taxpayer has moved and failed to notify us or the post office of the new address, we were unable to read the taxpayer's handwriting on the address portion of the return, or the taxpayer has deceased. Actually, there are probably 2,197 individual reasons for our inability to get these checks to their owners."

The checks range in amounts from $1.40 all the way to more than $97,000 with the average being $493. "Taxpayers who believe they may be one of those due a check should call us during business hours to claim their refund and provide a good mailing address" said Green. "While our number in Dallas remains 214/742-2440, our toll free number has been changed to 800-829-1040 (800-TAX-1040)."

for acreage planted to cotton and for yield," Lange said.

The assignment is further complicated by new flexibility rules expected to result in a net increase in acreage planted to cotton in 1991.

Council President Tommy Funk said the new procedure, which was a cotton industry recommendation, "is an attempt to do a better job of managing supply at a level adequate to meet domestic and export demand without adverse price consequences. We don't want supply to be so tight that price restricts demand. Nor do we want a supply so large that prices are depressed and program costs soar."

The Harlingen, TX, producer said the variable carryover level embodied in the stocks-to-use ratio is in harmony with the industry's general goal of market orientation in farm policy.

"While demand can be expected to fluctuate, as it always has, we think the outlook is good for long-term growth in global demand for cotton," Funk said, "and if our supply is adequate and our price is competitive we fully expect U.S. cotton to participate in that growth."

Adam Salazar Services Held At Morton

Funeral services for Adam Salazar, Sr., 59, were conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Spanish Baptist Mission with Rev. Isidro Ponce, pastor, officiating. Interment was in Morton Memorial Cemetery under direction of Ellis Funeral Home. Rosary was at 7 p.m. Friday at Ellis Funeral Home Chapel.

He died at 8:31 p.m. Wednesday in University Medical Center, Lubbock, following an illness.

He had lived in Morton since 1950, moving there from Elsa. He was born August 8, 1931 in La Copita, TX and was a truck driver. He was married to the former Edeveges Prieto on October 10, 1951 in Morton. He was a Catholic.

His survivors include his wife, Edeveges; three sons, Adam Salazar, Jr., Roy Salazar and Steven Salazar, all of Morton; a step-son, Abundio Rios, Lubbock; one daughter, Lupe Flores of Morton; one half sister, Petra Martinez, Elsa; one brother, Marcos Salazar, Bledsoe; and 18 grandchildren.

Local Woman's Brother Dies At Childress

Funeral services for L.E. "Ted" Wakefield, 73, of Childress were held at 2 p.m. Friday, Jan. 4 in the First Baptist Church of Childress with the Rev. Jim McCurley, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Childress Cemetery under the direction of Schooler-Gordon Funeral Home. Wakefield died Wednesday in Childress Regional Medical Center following a lengthy illness.

Born in Azle, Wakefield married Barbara Orr in 1944, in Las Vegas, Nev. He was a farmer and a member of the First Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Barbara; three sons, Barry of Oxnard, Calif., Jim of Shamrock and Joe of Houston; two sisters, Louise Andrews of Childress and Verda Nell Arnn of Muleshoe; and two grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by a daughter, Diane, in 1949.

The family suggests memorials be made to the American Cancer Society.

Prosperity In Newspaper Industry Depends On Change

Although media pundits have sounded the obituary of newspapers for years, a Texas Christian University journalism professor believes the print medium can prosper in the future if it adapts to its readers' needs.

Dr. Gerry Grotta, a former editor who got his start in the newspaper industry as a Linotype operator, noted that developments in communication technology during the last half century have shifted control of content from the producer to the consumer. He cited cable television as a medium that allows such individual selection.

"I think that's going to have to happen in newspapers to some extent if they're going to survive," Grotta said.

Computerization of production and printing operations in recent decades allowed newspapers to slash expenses and see profits increase, Grotta explained. However, he said, the era of profitability through this kind of cost reduction is over.

The journalism professor discounted the possibility of boosting profits through increased readership or advertising revenue, noting recent downward trends for both options.

"I suspect that the newspaper is going to undergo some pretty fundamental changes in the area of audience," Grotta suggested.

Using computer technology, newspapers may be able to tailor personal editions for their readers, Grotta believes. He foresees future newspapers providing one subscriber with only business news and the comics, while another would receive a separate issue of the same day's paper with just entertainment and society news.

"Think of the incredible cost savings if the newspaper delivering 200 pages to 300,000 subscribers would deliver an average of 50 pages with different mixes of content based on reader interest," Grotta said.

"Then I think that we could see a new and very prosperous era for the print medium," he said.

Ring out the Old Ring in the NEW

Another year has passed, and things gone by, we cannot change. So ring out the old year and ring in the new with high resolutions. These bells, which have long been used by churches as a call to worship, are ringing an opportunity for you to begin the new year at worship with the Lord in His house. Start now and be faithful throughout this year. Attend Church regularly.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

UNDERSTANDING SOCIAL SECURITY AND MEDICARE

Deadline For Cashing Government Checks
By Martha A. McSteen
President
The National Committee to Preserve
Social Security and Medicare

Most people cash government checks as soon as they are received, but there are occasions when Social Security checks or other government checks are put aside to be cashed later. Beware, there is now a one year
time limit for cash-ing government checks.

As a result of a change in the law,
printed across the face of all government checks issued since October 1, 1989,
are the words VOID AFTER ONE YEAR. So if you misplace a government check or tuck it away in a drawer
or desk and forget about it for more than twelve months, when you find it,
your bank will not be able to cash it.
You will not have lost your right to the money, but the check will have to be reissued.

If you accidentally let a check go uncashed past the one year time limit, you can contact the government agency that authorized the check and request that it be replaced. As you can well imagine, however, there will be a delay before you receive the new check.

Only a paper check is affected by the one year time limit. A direct deposit is your money the instant it is credited to your account. This is another reason to consider asking Social Security (or any other agency from which you receive regular payments) to deposit your payments directly into your own bank account.

You can learn more about Social Security and other issues of special concern to older Americans by joining the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare, an organization devoted to improving retirement income and health care. Free brochures about the organization and a copy of its newspaper are available by writing to:
National Committee, 2000 K Street,
N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

Martha A. McSteen is President of the five million member National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare. She spent 39 years with the Social Security Administration, rising from claims representative to acting Commissioner.
As one of the ten original Regional Medicare Administrators, Mrs.
McSteen has an understanding of Medicare unique in the nation.

McSteen since October 1, 1989,
are the words VOID AFTER ONE
YEAR. So if you misplace a government check or tuck it away in a drawer
or desk and forget about it for more than twelve months, when you find it,
your bank will not be able to cash it.

PROGRESS IN HEALTH

New Contact Lens Offers New Hope For Astigmatism

Triumphs in computer technology may bring a whole new outlook on life to many people with vision problems.

Not so long ago, people with astigmatism—irregularity in the shape of the cornea which results in blurred or distorted vision at all distances—or sensitive eyes were hard to fit with contact lenses. Many had to wear glasses and miss out on the improved vision and cosmetic benefits contact lenses offer.

Fortunately, a unique new contact lens called Envision™ now offers new hope to the 15 million Americans who have been unsuccessful with contact lenses or discouraged from wearing them. To develop this patented contact lens design, highly sophisticated computer technology was used to precisely analyze the shape and topography of the cornea.

The result: a custom-made, custom-fitted lens that offers crisp clear vision generally unmatched by soft contact lenses.

Envision, marketed by Polymer Technology Corporation, is made from an oxygen permeable material. That means it lets a lot of oxygen reach the cornea, so the eye

New kinds of contact lenses can can breathe. It also compensates for the irregular curvature of the cornea that characterizes astigmatism.

Standard soft contact lenses do not have this ability, as they conform to the irregularity, rather than compensate for it.

Another advantage of Envision lenses is they're easier and less expensive to care for than soft lenses.
With proper care, they can easily last 2-3 years—at least twice as long as soft lenses.

PAPER OR PLASTIC?

Which bag do you choose at the grocery store check-out? Today, more American consumers, like you, want to make that choice with the environment in mind. Here are some facts about plastic grocery bags that might help that decision:

Plastic grocery bags are 100% recyclable through a growing network of collection programs around the country.

Plastic bags are less bulky in a landfill than paper bags—accounting for six to ten times less waste by volume. And because modern landfills limit biodegradation for health reasons, paper bags will take up more room for years to come.

Plastic bag production uses half the energy per bag production.

In the manufacturing of plastic bags, fewer emissions are released—up to 63 percent less—compared to paper bag production.

Making Life Better

Plastics are helping to bring windpower costs down to earth.
Wind machines borrow from current aerospace technology in which composites (reinforced plastics) are used to make the turbine blades that rotate to produce electrical energy. More than 14,000 windmills now dot California's hills. There, strong tropical winds generate enough electricity to meet the residential needs of a city the size of San Francisco or Washington, D.C.

Used plastic containers, car parts and computer housings, collected, cleaned and chopped, can be a valuable commodity. By mixing used plastics with ground glass, one company has been able to manufacture durable road construction products that won't rust, corrode or rot. These products include highway signs and the "chairs" and "bolsters" that support the steel reinforcing rods for roads and bridges.

Modular plastic walls have captured the imagination of avid rock climbers and novices alike. They're great for people who live outside areas where they can rock climb and for serious climbers who are constantly training. The walls, normally installed in fitness and recreation centers, mimic the look and feel of rock. They're made from glass reinforced polyester panels (fiberglass) that have been coated with a polymer concrete.
