Animal Circus Will Be Staged Tomorrow Night

Sponsored by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce the Bible Animal Circus will be presented at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night in the city hall auditorium.

The show will consist of dogs, ponies, monkeys and bear in a series of trick and fancy riding and other acts.

In the King Lear pony troupe will be Cutie, the human-minded pony.

Members of the Jaycee committee in charge of the presentation of the Bible Animal circus here, say that the show has been recommended by many schools and that the entertainment is for both adults and children.

The Bible Animal circus has been presented in several large eastern cities and has attracted favorable comment everywhere it has been presented.

High Court To Act On Sit-Down Case

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed today to review a lower court decision that an employer may dismiss workmen who engaged in a sit-down strike.

This ruling, by the Federal Circuit Court at Chicago, upheld the Pansteel Metallurgical Corporation of North Chicago in discharging employees who seized two key buildings in 1937.

After retaining possession of the buildings for nine days, the workmen were driven out by police with the use of tear and nauseating gas.

The court also reaffirmed a previous decision that the General Talking Pictures Corporation of New York City had infringed patents owned by the Western Electric Company and others for use in making talking pictures.

The Justice Department had taken the opposite position, contending that it would "put the administration of the anti-trust acts in serious jeopardy." Justices Black and Reed dissented.

Son Charged With Shooting Mother

CISCO, Nov. 21. (AP)—Floyd Pretz, 20, charged with murder today in connection with the fatal shooting of his mother in the kitchen of her home at Baird last week.

The charge was filed in Baird County Attorney F. E. Mitchell said Pretz asserted he was holding the gun when it accidentally discharged, a bullet striking his mother in the back of the head.

Pretz was employed as a linotype operator here.

France To Send 738 Convicts To Devil's Island

ST. MARTIN-DE-RE, France, Nov. 21. (AP)—A violent tempest today gave a short reprieve to 738 prisoners due to sail aboard the prison ship La Martinique for France's Devil's Island and other French Guiana penal colonies.

High seas and strong wind dashed the small motor launches used for loading the convict cargo against the prison ship's sides so that authorities postponed the sailing.

Under the fixed bayonets of Senegalese troops, who quelled rioting among the convicts last night and during the previous week, the prisoners filed back to their cells in Ile De Re prison to await new orders for departure, probably tomorrow.

They are the first shipment of the Guiana prisoners—which include notorious Devil's Island—since the Daladier government, reversed the decision of the former premier, So-

The R. R. Goes To 'Socializing' School For Smart Three-Year Olds

BY THE ROVING REPORTER

The Roving Reporter went to a "socializing" school today for children between the ages of three and five, and learned a lesson or two in cooperation.

The school is operated by Mrs. LeRoy Rice and Mrs. Lawrence Brock, Jr., at 714 North Hobart street.

One of the surprising features of the Rice-Brock school is the age of the children. Some are not quite three years old, now you don't usually send children to school before they're five years old, but that has become an old-fashioned idea since child psychologists have discovered that "socializing" children is more important than teaching the child to read.

Cooperation is important. The only child in the family is harder to "socialize" than the child who has one or more brothers or sisters. Public school records show that some children make straight A's in their regular courses but make D's and F's in "cooperation." That the modern psychologists say, is because they are not socialized. In other words, they don't cooperate with their fellow students and teachers, they are selfish, difficult to get along with, and they have complexes. But these are not always "only-child" pupils. Many children never become socialized, even though they have brothers and sisters.

Enrolled in the Rice-Brock school are sons and daughters of many of Pampa's leading citizens. Some of the tots have brothers and sisters and some do not.

How They Learn

School "takes up" at 9 o'clock and continues until 12 o'clock. Naturally, the pupils do not study any books or learn any lessons—in the sense that they are learned in regular public schools. They learn through building blocks, songs, cut-outs, marching, gestures and the like. They learn which is the right and which is the left hand. They learn to count, but they don't know they are learning to count because they count in a song. All their exercises are impressive. Their songs describe animals and tell stories about them and there are elaborate gestures attached to the singing of the songs.

At 10:30 o'clock the pupils are served milk and crackers. At 12 o'clock their parents come for them.

Britain Would Send Jews To Guiana Areas

LONDON, Nov. 21. (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today told the House of Commons of plans to lease at least 10,000 square miles of British Guiana to provide homes for German Jews seeking refuge abroad from the Nazi Regime's anti-Jewish campaign.

The Prime Minister also disclosed favorable progress for the settlement of Jewish refugees in Tanganyika, formerly German East Africa, and other territories in Africa.

Tanganyika now is held by Britain under league mandate. Chamberlain last week declared the British government was not considering its return to Germany to satisfy Chancellor Hitler's colonial demands.

Chamberlain's disclosures were made prior to the opening of a scheduled general debate on the question of minorities in Europe.

The Prime Minister said the government would invite volunteer refugee organizations to send their own representatives to British Guiana, a colony with an area of 28,480 square miles on the northeastern coast of South America, to make surveys.

"Provided the results of these surveys are satisfactory, the government contemplate the lease of large areas of land on generous terms under conditions to be settled hereafter," he announced.

"It is not possible at this stage to give exact figures of the total area which could be made available, but it would certainly not be less than

Laws Can't Guarantee Jobs, Senators Told

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—A member of Secretary Roper's business advisory council told a Senate committee today that steady employment in industry could not be assured by legislation.

Richard R. Dupree, president of Procter and Gamble Company, Cincinnati, testified he had studied this question in cooperation with the commerce department for six months but had found no "cure all."

Establishment of annual wages and production planning for steady employment have been suggested as solutions for present unemployment.

"I don't think any human being could pass a law which will get anywhere in forcing permanent employment or profit sharing," Dupree said.

The bespectacled industrial leader told the committee his company had maintained a profit sharing plan since 1890. "He said it was largely instrumental in maintaining amicable relations, in promoting thrift among employees, in making the workers 'pretty good citizens,' and in maintaining steadier employment."

Dupree believes the ordinary profit sharing plan "is not the whole story." He said a guarantee of permanent, steady employment was much more important.

Cuba Will Stand By Other Nations Batista Declares

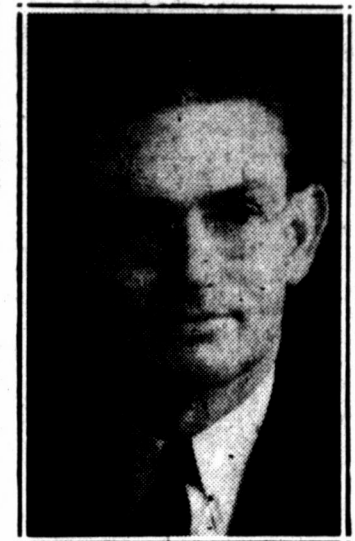

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. (AP)—Colonel Fulgencio Batista, Cuban leader, traveled homeward today after pledging that his country would stand with other American nations against "all political penetration foreign to the ideals of the Americas."

Ending a 10-day visit to the United States, the commander-in-chief of the Cuban army will reach Miami by train Tuesday and sail Wednesday for Havana aboard a Cuban gunboat.

Jury Alleges Violation Of Neutrals Act

Charges Two Planes Transported To Rebel Leader

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 21. (AP)—Gen. Saturnino Cedillo, vanquished rebel leader of Mexico, and five other persons including two American aviators were indicted by a federal grand jury today for conspiring to violate and violate the amended neutrality act of 1937.

The indictment specifically alleged the transportation of two airplanes to Gen. Cedillo from the United States in Sept. 1937. The planes were purchased, the indictment said, from a Chicago firm, some of whose officials were named as material witnesses but were not indicted.

Cedillo was formerly governor of the Mexican state of San Luis Potosi and had served in the cabinet of President Lazaro Cardenas before the Mexican army put his revolutionary forces to rout. He was last reported hiding in Sonora, Mexico.

Indicted with him were Clyde P. Cleveland of New York City, aviator; Howard Frederick Klein, New York City, aviator; Maj. Adolpho Pina, personal pilot for Cedillo; a man known to the grand jury only as "Mansivols" and an unnamed Mexican aviator.

The indictment was returned after an investigation directed by U. S. District Attorney Douglas McGregor of Houston.

Statements in the possession of the government prosecutor at Houston indicate agents of the Mexican rebel general contacted arms shipment in the United States and tried to finance a Mexican revolution with American money.

Tried to borrow. Assistant U. S. District Attorney George John of Houston said the American aviator, Clyde P. Cleveland, was successful in January to borrow money from American oil companies and from individuals in San Antonio, Dallas, and New York.

The prosecutor quoted one statement as saying Cleveland and the Mexico entered the United States from Mexico with the "express purpose to try to obtain a loan for Gen. Cedillo and to get information pertaining to arms and ammunition."

The rebel agents, he said, were given the power of attorney to negotiate loans for the fugitive general and if necessary to pledge Cedillo's famed Las Palomas ranch near the town of San Luis Potosi and two

Lower California Doesn't Want Jews

MEXICALI, Lower California, Nov. 21. (AP)—Mexico's opposition to the cession or sale of Lower California for a Jewish refugee colony was proclaimed today by Gov. Rodolfo S. Taboada.

"If I wanted to own Los Angeles, it would be a dream, but no more absurd than turn over Baja California to the Jews," the governor's statement said.

"The Mexican government is not willing to cede or sell any part of its national territory, even if it takes every citizen to defend its integrity."

ATLANTA, Nov. 21. (AP)—A student at a negro school here expected a pig from a brother at Jefferson on a certain day, but it didn't arrive.

The telegraph operator at Jefferson was stirred from meditation by the unmistakable "oink, oink" of a pig before noticing it was held in the arms of a colored boy.

"Misfit," queried the boy timidly, "has yo' got a box?"

"Yes," replied the man of dots and dashes, "why?"

"Ah wants to git dis pig to mah brother today and Ah guess Ah'll hafta send him by wire."

Belgium Government May Start Move To End War

BRUSSELS, Nov. 21. (AP)—Premier Paul Henry Spaak has disclosed that the government is considering an offer of Belgian mediation to end the Spanish civil war.

The belief was expressed in political circles today that the Premier would reveal definite measures under study when he speaks in the Senate Nov. 29.

MYRA NORTH, SPECIAL NURSE Major Gilder Himself By RAY THOMPSON and CHARLES COLE

27 Join First Baptist Church Here Yesterday

Dr. Arthur Fox of Morrilton, Tenn., who is conducting a two-week revival at the First Baptist Church, preached to 2,400 people Sunday in four services.

Twenty-seven people united with the First Baptist Church yesterday, with 26 coming for baptism. There have been 44 additions to the church during the first week of the meeting. In addition to this number, there were four other conversions and four rededications.

Tonight the evangelist is speaking on the subject "The End of the World." By the aid of a large chart he will point out and describe the different periods of time and dispensations. An unusually large congregation is expected to hear this message.

Each morning at 10 o'clock Dr. Fox is discussing subjects of particular interest to Bible students and church members.

Tuesday night has been designated as Sunday school night and all teachers are to secure the attendance of their classes and sit with them during the services.

Today Rev. Bayless, the pastor of the First Baptist Church, had this to say about the evangelist, Dr. Fox: "During ten years of pastoral work, it has been my privilege to have some of the greatest evangelists of the nation to the church without having met him or heard him preach. Our expectations have been realized. He has the gift of presenting the profoundest truths in a manner that children can understand. He presents all the gospel in a most uncompromising manner and yet tenderly. He is scholarly without affectation. His many years in the pastorate enables him to be a true church builder and pastor's helper during the meeting. We feel that a modern prophet of God is in our midst. The people are eagerly responding to his ministry and all of us are gratified with the results direct and indirect in his preaching."

Two services each day 10 o'clock and 7:30.

The choir and congregational singing is being led by Arthur Nelson, the new choir director and assistant pastor. His lyric tenor solos accompanied by his vibrato harp are an effective asset to the meeting.

Both Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Brock are graduates of the University of Oklahoma, Norman, where they majored in child psychology and education. Mrs. Rice formerly taught in a Norman school similar to the one she has opened here. The type of school may be new in Pampa but it is not new in other parts of the nation. There are many such schools in large cities, particularly in the East, middle west. There are several schools of the type in Tulsa and Oklahoma City, Mrs. Rice said.

Based on "Conditioning" the methods of the school are based upon a nationally-recognized pedagogy. It springs from Dr. John Watson's theory of "behaviorism" which contends that children have to become "conditioned" before they become socialized. In New York there is an experiment going on that is attracting the attention of the educational world. It centers around twin brothers, one of whom is being "conditioned," and the other isn't.

One of the major arguments for the Rice-Brock type of school is that it gives the child a chance to play with other children—especially an only child, and also develops his own individuality.

Another advantage of the school, according to the behavioristic pedagogy, is that it also "socializes" the parents who, Dr. Watson says, needs it almost as much as the pupils. When they get the idea, the children get the idea, the theory sets forth.

Edward Cumbie Now Has Registered Herd

BRONTE, Nov. 21 (AP)—Five years, after a tiring cotton picking season, a 10-year-old Coke county farmer boy took his savings and invested them in a registered Hereford calf. Today this youth, Edward Cumbie, 15, an outstanding Future Farmer of America, has one of the best registered Hereford herds in the county.

Edward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cumbie, Bronte farm people, is a senior in high school this year and last August attended the training course and leadership school at Shelby, Mich., where around 600 boys from all sections of the United States gathered for the annual meeting. Edward is state secretary of the vocational agriculture group.

Cumbie has been interested in Herefords since a small boy and his herd today includes animals purchased from the Stribling herd at Rotan, the Lewis & Wimberly herds at Sweetwater, the McDeland herd at Amarillo, and other herds well known in West Texas.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling germ-laden phlegm.

The Medical Profession has for generations recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other

'Class Hatred' Spread By U. S. Charges Dies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of the house committee investigating un-American activities asserted today testimony received secretly from government employees Saturday had disclosed a "deliberate, long-time use of government publications to spread class hatred throughout the United States."

He said "Communist propaganda" was used on such occasions in the publications.

The chairman read into the committee records an article in which he said David J. Sapos, national labor relations board economist, had urged workers to establish socialism by force if political action failed.

The article appeared in "Labor Age" in 1931.

Dies said there had been attempts to make it appear the statements were not the views of Sapos.

"The reason we've emphasized this," he added, "is because Sapos is representative of a number of government officials—economic crackpots who have been drawn to the right Socialists to Communists. The committee in the short time left to it is going to do all it can to expose them."

John Metcalfe, committee investigator, took the witness stand to present documents which Dies said linked numerous organizations in this country with anti-religious and anti-racial activities.

Dies read extracts from some of the documents assailing Jews, government officials and the Masonic lodge.

Among the organizations named were: Christian Democratic Corporation, Dallas, Tex., and the Gold Shirts of Mexico.

Those who have read his book know his story—a veteran of the World war at 19 with additional service in Mexico, he was sentenced to the South American colony for theft for eight years. He made four frustrated attempts to escape, witnessed nine beheadings. The final try for freedom successful, he landed seventeen months ago in California after two years of fighting his way by sea and jungle, carrying 30 pounds of manuscrit.

"I wanted to be a free man in an honest way, understand?" he said. "I could run away now, but I won't. I love this country. I take no man's job away from him. I just write of things I know."

His deportation, ordered shortly after he reached the United States, has been fixed finally for Dec. 15, and he sees little hope that he will be granted another extension and ultimate liberty.

MARTIN FUNERAL TO BE HELD TUESDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Frank Martin, 58, will be conducted at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the First Christian church by the Rev. John Mullen, pastor, with burial in Fairview cemetery under direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home.

Mrs. Martin died Saturday night at the home of her son, 417 South Barnes street. She had resided here for 12 years.

Survivors are the husband, a son Merle, Pampa, and a daughter, Mrs. Beatrice Ostrom of Borger.

Palbearers named are W. S. Marsh, Carson Watt, Earl Hussa, Lawrence Tankerton, Frank Smith and Ozie Lyles.

TEXAS TECH MAY GET COTTON BOWL BID

DALLAS, Nov. 21 (AP)—J. Curtis Sanford of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association began his ticket sale drive for the event today and announced pressure has been brought to bear on the association to extend invitations to both Texas Christian University and Texas Tech to participate in two games instead of the one originally planned.

He said that Roosevelt of Fort Worth would invite his father, the President, to attend the games. The plan as discussed by Sanford and Roosevelt would include one game Saturday, Dec. 31, and the other scheduled Monday, Jan. 2.

The ticket sale drive is being conducted by the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association, and T. C. U. the Jan. 2 game.

Chamberlain told the house that the Governor of Tanganyika had been asked to say whether land could be made available for leasing on generous terms "for the purpose of large-scale settlements to voluntary organizations concerned with refugees provided they undertake full responsibility of preparing the land and of settling refugees of suitable types as land is made available."

"The Governor of Tanganyika," Chamberlain continued, "has replied expressing his readiness to cooperate in any schemes of settlement of refugees as far as existing obligations will permit."

Without the 1938 program and the cotton loan, the price of cotton, Wilson said, "would have been lower, somewhere around 4 and 5 cents a pound, probably. That is the situation in terms of market price without figuring in payments to farmers under the program."

County Farm Agent Ralph R. Thomas was in McLean today, attending a meeting of land owners and operators, held at 2 o'clock in the Old Fellows hall. At the meeting R. R. Sime, regional game manager, was scheduled to address the group on the formation of a Game Preserve Demonstration area.

The area are formed with the cooperation of the extension service of the Texas A. & M. College and the Texas Game Commission.

Writer May Be Sent Back To Devil's Island

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—Rene Belbenoit, author of "Dry Guillotine," which describes his 15 years in the steaming jungles of the penal colony in French Guiana, said today he is fearful of being sent back there even though a petition bearing 6,000 names has been presented to President Roosevelt in his behalf.

"If I go back, I go back," he remarked quietly. "Then I will escape again, unless I am killed. And it is easy to die in the colony. Easy to die with no one to take the blame."

He's a dark little man, weighing hardly more than 100 pounds, with black curly hair. His eyes are filled with a profound sadness; his face deeply lined, and he smiles only rarely.

Those who have read his book know his story—a veteran of the World war at 19 with additional service in Mexico, he was sentenced to the South American colony for theft for eight years. He made four frustrated attempts to escape, witnessed nine beheadings. The final try for freedom successful, he landed seventeen months ago in California after two years of fighting his way by sea and jungle, carrying 30 pounds of manuscrit.

Both planes mentioned in the indictment, the government contends, were delivered to a privately-owned air field in San Antonio, Texas, in September, 1937.

It was at the air field, the prosecutor said, that the last payment of $7,000 was made on the two B-19s, which had been ordered from a Chicago aircraft company by Clevenger and Howard Frederick Klein, New York aviator, in July, 1937.

Major Adolph Pina, the rebel general's personal pilot, and Clevenger asserted they flew the two planes from San Antonio to Corpus Christi and from there across the Texas-Mexican border near McAllen.

The planes were delivered to the rebel general's agents the day after President Cardenas seized Mexican government planes held at San Luis Potosi by Gen. Cedillo, John said.

Border reports recently have indicated about 40 fast planes were transported into Mexico. John hinted espionage plots and the activities of foreign conspirators may be investigated further.

valuable Roman tapestries as collateral.

He said Clevenger and the Mexican were told to try to borrow $2,000,000 in the name of the Mexican state of San Luis Potosi, which was controlled by Cedillo.

If this scheme failed, the Roman tapestries, allegedly brought to Mexico in the last century by a Catholic bishop, were to be tendered as collateral for a loan of 1,000,000 pesos.

Ranch Confiscated.

As a last resort Las Palomas Rancho, Gen. Cedillo's headquarters, was to be put on the block. The ranch later was confiscated by President Cardenas' government when he read the rebel general out of the Mexican governmental party.

Clevenger, in a statement made shortly after his arrest in New York May 6, said:

"I have contacted some of the oil companies and tried to borrow money but none of them would listen."

Arms the Mexican rebel chief hoped to buy with borrowed money were to be purchased in Oslo, Norway, and in France, the prosecutor said.

Clevenger reportedly met with no success in the United States, the prosecutor said, and was preparing to depart for Europe to negotiate munitions and loans when U. S. authorities arrested him. Several Europeans, Clevenger was quoted as saying, urged him to go to Europe to perfect his and Gen. Cedillo's plans. The United States, the Europeans claimed, was not the place to plot a revolution or obtain money and arms for the venture.

New Airforce May Overshadow Army And Navy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Government military experts said today that administration's prospective armament program promises to upset the established relationship of air forces to the army and navy.

At present, air forces are ranked officially as auxiliaries to both ground troops and the fleet's battleships and cruisers.

Officers and men of the army air corps compose only about 21,000 of the army's aggregate of 177,000 for all units. Quadrupling the corps, officials suggested Friday as a possibility by Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, would call for an air force of upwards of 100,000.

Johnson, a key figure in the administration's reurvey of defense needs, hinted that Mr. Roosevelt might ask Congress to authorize an army air force of 9,280 first line planes. By official estimates, these would require 95,000 or more pilots and mechanics.

When the first suggestion of multiplying American forces was advanced after the Munich conference, some high ranking officers privately dubbed it "fantastic."

Mr. Roosevelt indicated its purpose when he announced last week that national defense has become a matter of security for the entire western hemisphere against threats of outside aggression.

From R. P. Thomason, Democrat, Texas, senior member of the House military committee, came an indication today that efforts may be made in Congress to augment other military branches, so that they would not be overshadowed.

Thomason said he believed an immediate increase of 15,000 or 20,000 army enlisted men was a possibility, to be followed by successive annual additions.

sprang from the surpluses of 1936 and 1937, "the two years in which there were no effective control programs for farmers to use."

The Supreme Court ruled out the old production adjustment program early in January, 1936, and by 1937 cotton farmers were planting 7,000,000 more acres than had been growing under those programs, he asserted.

The United States is troubled in finding foreign markets for wheat because the other countries which export the grain also had large crops this year, Wilson said. "Last summer farmers harvested about 940 million bushels of wheat—one of the largest crops of the past 20 years, and almost 250 million bushels more than all the people of this country use in a whole year."

"The tariff doesn't help American wheat farmers now, for we are back on an export basis. Prices here are affected by the drop in the world price. About every third bushel the farmer harvested this year represented wheat nobody wanted to buy. Therefore, the price that he got for his wheat was low."

The cotton situation, Wilson said, is no better. The 1937 crop set a record—19 million bales. The new surplus was dumped atop a carry-over which already was large. The present carryover is more than 13 million bales.

"The tariff enough cotton to take care of all our exports and home consumption for a year, even if farmers went for a year without growing a single bale."

About Wheat Loans.

Wilson said the wheat loans, averaging between 50 and 55 cents a bushel in Texas, did not represent anything like a fair price for wheat, but added "I think most of us realize that the loans are not purchases or attempts to fix prices at a good market price. The loans are for the purpose of putting a floor under prices so that farmers may market their crop in as orderly a way as possible."

Without the 1938 program and the cotton loan, the price of cotton, Wilson said, "would have been lower, somewhere around 4 and 5 cents a pound, probably. That is the situation in terms of market price without figuring in payments to farmers under the program."

Plain Duty of America To Hit Jewish Hard

Recent news from Europe has sounded so much like a throw-back to the dark ages that it is a trifle hard to realize what a truly terrible thing the new anti-Jewish campaign in Germany is.

Since we live in a world which has come to accept the mass murder of women and children in time of war as a matter of course, a return to the barbaric pogroms of medieval Europe can hardly seem surprising. Yet if we grow callous about these things we lose our defense against them.

Consider the cold facts for a moment. One of the innumerable victims of the anti-Jewish campaign finally snapped back, and a sub-official in a German embassy was shot. Immediately the great German propaganda machine went into action, whipping up all of the lowest elements in the nation to make reprisals.

So gangsters were allowed to do as they pleased in the great cities for a few hours. No country on earth is as well policed or as completely disciplined as Germany; can anyone in his senses suppose that these outbreaks took place without the full approval of the German government?

Yet this inspired holliganism was only a starter. On its heels came a new set of laws the ferocity of which is almost unbelievable.

Jews may not attend theatres or concerts or visit picture galleries. They must pay the stupendous sum of $400,000,000 for the murder of one embassy teardrinker (and this in a land which protested the World War reparations bill). Jews whose property was disposed in the pogroms must stand the damages themselves; if they carried insurance, they must pay the insurance to the state. New restrictions are thrown around their right to earn a living. A restoration of the medieval ghetto is predicted.

All of this happened a long way off, to be sure. It is hard, living in America, to realize that savagery like that can really exist, or to translate into human terms the utter misery that such a program inflicts on scores of thousands of innocent people. Yet realize it we must, if we are to do our duty to our America.

For a thing like this is what a nation lets itself in for when it gives rein to anti-Semitism—or, indeed, to any kind of racial or religious antagonism. What is happening in Germany today is simply the logical end product of the familiar sort of unthinking prejudice that crops out occasionally in our own land.

And our only defense against that sort of thing is to understand to the full the horror of Hitler's most recent descent to barbarism. See this thing for the domination that it is—and, whenever you see a symptom of the same sort of thing in your own country, hit it and hit it hard. There is no other way to make sure that it won't happen here.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, The Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—Control of the powerful Rules Committee, which decides whether any bill shall come up for a vote in the House, may still trouble the administration despite its "purge" of Chairman John J. O'Connor in New York.

The new Deal and anti-New Deal lineup on this committee remains the same numerically. And Republicans, with four score new House members, will press for larger representation.

O'Connor and Rep. William J. Driver of Arkansas, who helped bottle up the wage-hour act and other bills, were defeated in the primaries. But two loyal New Deal members, Greenwood of Indiana and Harlan of Ohio, were knocked off in the election.

In line for the chairmanship is 72-year-old Adolph J. Sabath of Illinois. If you subtract the election casualties he is the only 100 per cent pro-Roosevelt man among the six Democrats and four Republicans left on the committee. Republicans will demand at least one of the four Democratic vacancies, but even if all four were filled with pro-New Deal Democrats—unlikely because of the conservatism of the committee on committees which assigns them—there would still be no dependable administration majority.

MIGHT ENLARGE COMMITTEE The House might be willing to expand membership of the committee so enough new men could be appointed to assure administration control. Meanwhile, Rules stands as a conservative bulwark.

With Greenwood out, the ranking Democratic member under Sabath becomes Eugene Cox of Georgia, even more anti-New Deal than was O'Connor—especially toward administration alliances with organized labor. Next is Howard W. Smith of Virginia, whom New Dealers vainly sought to "purge" this year. J. Bayard Clark of North Carolina, who was in the anti-wage hour bill bloc, ranks next. And then there's none other than Martin Dies of Texas.

Sabath, at least theoretically, is a key man in any event. Traditionally the House is controlled by the Speaker—now William B. Barkhead of Alabama—and the chairman of the Rules Committee.

Sabath was born in what recently has been Czechoslovakia, in 1866. He is a son of poor Bohemian parents, and was brought to this country at 15; he worked in a mill, studied law and after practicing became a municipal judge in Chicago. He has represented the

Sharing the Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

HITLER'S PURGE OF JEWS I am horrified at the pagan acts Hitler has inflicted on the Jews because one of their members was guilty of a crime of assassination. For the head of a powerful government to inflict punishment on people who were in no way responsible for his act, is the very antithesis of a liberal form of government.

For any government to so discriminate against its citizens, such as fining and limiting the business the Jews dare enter into, preventing them from attending schools and meetings, is certainly an example of giving any government head autocratic power. There is an old axiom that no man or group of men will stand unlimited power.

This act of Hitler should be an object lesson to the citizens of America that the government should not be given discriminatory, unlimited power. While I am horrified at this, our own government is to some degree being as arbitrary and as autocratic and as despotic as Hitler. We are doing this by confiscating the wealth of the industrialists—people who are attempting to serve humanity—and by permitting autocratic groups to live on the fat of the land. This is done by permitting bankers to misuse bank credit, by labor unions preventing honest citizens from learning trades and trading their production on equal terms and by hundreds of thousands of government officials living on the fat of the land without producing what they consume.

HOOPER MISINTERPRETS THE PHILOSOPHY OF MORE BLESSED TO GIVE THAN RECEIVE

Ex-President Hoover, in his desire to receive the joys that follow the philosophy of Christianity, makes the same mistake that many Christians do and which mistake has brought us to the chaos we are now in. Hoover misinterprets the philosophy of Christianity—"it is more blessed to give than receive." He is perfectly willing to give advice and counsel in order that he may have the feeling that he is giving something to society. But, he fails to determine whether what he offers and gives to society will be beneficial or not. If it really satisfies his ego and his vanity, he is satisfied.

When he deliberately advocates collective bargaining, without explaining how it can be of service to all humanity, and when he deliberately advocates an inheritance tax, which makes it impossible for a far-sighted, constructive organization to serve humanity to its full extent, and when he advocates minimum wages and tariffs, without explaining how they will benefit society, he is misinterpreting the philosophy that "it is more blessed to give than receive." He is on the same par with the parent who indulges his children, or the child who gives his dog a chicken bone and causes his death. He does not consider carefully what he is advocating, as to whether it will be beneficial to society or not.

He will not explain to those who inquire as to the wisdom of his bubbles how they can benefit society. He is so satisfied with his own importance and he gets so much joy out of "kidding" himself into believing that he is serving humanity that he will not even attempt to explain how his bubbles can work. He prefers to try to rival Roosevelt in blowing bubbles. He talks about Roosevelt putting two families in every garage, but his philosophies, if carried out, will do the same thing.

BEYOND CONTEMPT (Daily Oklahoman)

So long as the German people want a Nazi government and so long as they keep that kind of government on German soil the rest of the world has no legitimate right to protest or complain. But when the Nazis launch an unlimited and murderous persecution of an innocent people and make criminal violence universal with the government's silence of sanction, every decent citizen of the world at large has a perfect right to express his detestation.

With the government of the Nazis either silent or sympathetic the Jews of Germany are now being attacked with a barbarity that has no place in any modern civilization. Men who claim the world's intellectual leadership are helping to promote a nationwide campaign of confiscation, larceny, arson, and murder. Men who claim to represent the superior people of modern times are dealing in an inhuman manner with the people who gave the world the story of Jesus and all of the precepts of the moral law.

And this brave, self-praising people, who lift the lash and the torch and the budget today, are the same people who came whining and cringing to the feet of democratic soldiery 20 years ago and reposed their trust in those who had conquered them on the contested fields of war.

On the day of the Armistice embittered spirits in all of the allied nations demanded that the conquering countries visit upon the subjugated Germans the same murderous treatment that the Nazis are today inflicting upon the helpless Jews. But nowhere in the allied nations was that appeal for personal vengeance heeded. The victorious nations were too humane, too Christian, and too decent to treat the defeated Germans as the Nazis now treat the Jews.

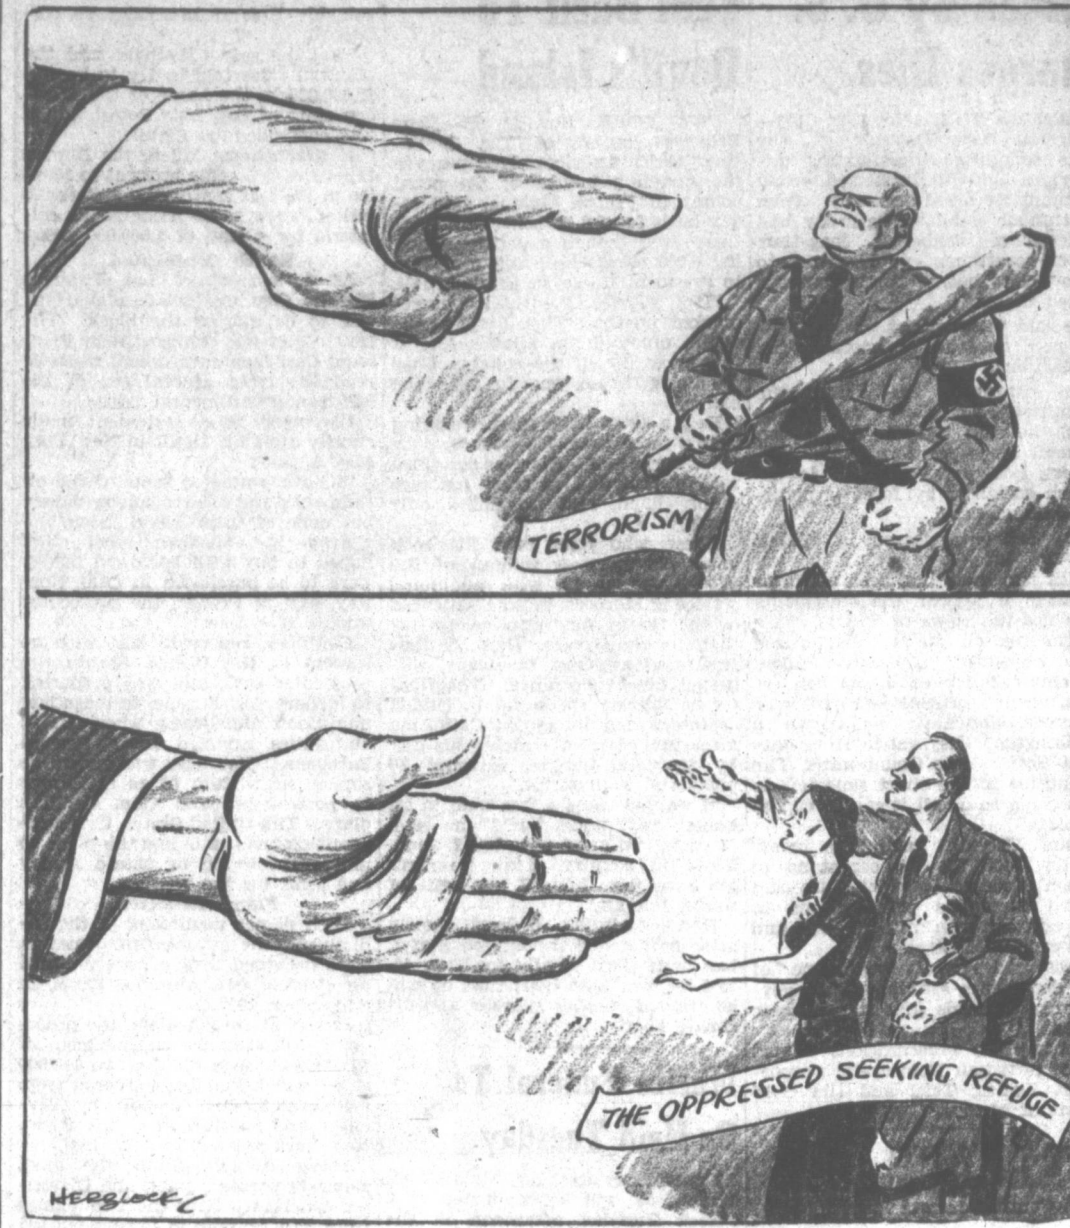

It is none of our business what kind of government the Germans establish or what kind of political and economic philosophy the German people embrace. That is their business and none of ours. But it is the concern of every decent soul in Christendom when a government or a country resorts to the practices of the jungles and embraces a policy of persecution that would be no credit to wolves or hyenas or serpents or dogs.

Not often in her history has America failed to denounce those who proved base enough to persecute without mercy a helpless and unoffending people. We have denounced the thieves and murderers of every continent and extended aid and sympathy to the oppressed of every land.

And the united voice of all the decent souls and daughters of the civilized world should be heard today in unrestrained condemnation of the unspeakable and infamous outrages the Nazis are inflicting upon the people of the Jewish race.

CIVILIZATION CAN DO MORE THAN PROTEST

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Scrooge sat in Reginald Owen's dressing room and talked. Scrooge was waiting to be called to the set, and he had on Reginald Owen's dressing gown and Reginald Owen's battered old slippers. He even smoked Reginald Owen's cigarettes and talked about Reginald Owen when the actor was mentioned. But he wasn't Reginald Owen.

This was due, almost entirely, to Jack Dawn—and to Reginald Owen's patience and forbearance. Owen has been Make-up Man Dawn's No. 1 guinea pig in facial make-up experiments. Owen was the first actor to lose his own face and get a new one from Dawn. That was for the movie "Suicide Club," rechristened "Trouble for Two."

Owen, who ordinarily does not look like Robert Taylor and never threatens the romantic leading man, still has a good enough face of his own. From Jack Dawn he usually gets worse ones. That face in "Suicide Club" could belong only to a monster. The present one in "A Christmas Carol," could belong only to Scrooge.

Scrooge is bald except for a fuzzy tuft planted in the upper center of his high round forehead. The face is florid, as befits a crotchety old gent with the gut and no Christmas spirit, and the scowl-lines are deep over the shaggy grey eyebrows. The nose is sharp, and the mouth is thin and tight.

This day, however, Scrooge could smile. Jack Dawn had made the mask a little less tight so the Scrooge face could soften for the final, regenerating scenes of "A Christmas Carol." The mask—and there is its importance in make-up—responds with the skin beneath to every change of facial expression.

The mask, said Scrooge-Owen, is quite improved since its first use in "Suicide Club" when it was prone to break out in "boils" under the heat of the lights. It's fairly simple now. Each morning Dawn takes his material—a sort of fungus mass—spreads it on Owen's face and there Scrooge stays all day until Dawn yanks him off, all in one piece, nights, at least. Owen can see what he really looks like.

Scrooge-Owen was very happy, he said, to be a part of "A Christmas Carol."

"And thank heaven," he said, "it is being made as simply and sincerely as Dickens himself would have made it. It is not an epic. It is not colossal. It is simple and human and homely."

This brought up a discussion, naturally, of "Stabemates," which Owen (minus Scrooge) co-authored.

"Stabemates" really happened—almost. Owen, driving home from Santa Anita racetrack one day, gave a stableboy a lift, subsequently befriended him. In time the lad disappeared, but one 3 a. m. Owen and his wife were awakened by a long distance call, collect, from Arkansas. It was the stableboy, in distress. He needed $20 to take a horse to Baltimore. Owen sent $50, but the letter was returned unclaimed.

"The boy had acquired the horse substantially as we made Mickey Rooney acquire him in the picture," said Arthur Owen. "We took this incident, plus an operation we saw at Santa Anita, and we had our plot. And—this is a secret—I wrote the part of the old vet for myself. But I'm glad now I didn't get it. Wallace Berry did a much better job than I could have done."

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Dr. V. E. von Brunow, who has been a practicing physician here for more than 35 years, and still is active, was the first member of the American Red Cross in Pampa. More than that he is a charter member of the Red Cross and has a life membership. He has contributed to the Red Cross for nearly 50 years. The first Red Cross chapter was organized in Pampa during the World War, and the women met and knitted garments for the soldiers and sent bandages, food, delicacies and other articles. What does the Red Cross do now in Pampa? Well, you would be proud of your membership if you could see the children who are now doing good work in school because the Red Cross bought them glasses. If it hadn't been for the Red Cross these children simply couldn't have gone to school because their parents were too poor to buy glasses for them. Teachers of such children send them to the Red Cross. Then a thorough examination is made by a physician of the family's choice. Sometimes the child's tonsils have to be removed because usually there is a definite connection between eyesight and tonsils.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M.D.

CANCER HAZARDS. If the existing information about the control of cancer were fully utilized, deaths from this disease could be reduced 50 per cent in a few years.

The above is the mature judgment of Dr. Frank L. Rector, field representative of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

Dr. Rector recently catalogued the principal hazards which confront the cancer patient. Ignorance as to the nature of his condition, he considered to be the greatest hazard of the cancer patient.

Fear, the usual concomitant of ignorance and mystery, is another hazard. The average cancer patient is fearful "that his condition may be cancer," and not knowing what to do, he does nothing.

Strange as it may seem, even now there are many who feel that cancer is something to be ashamed of. The patient is often unwilling to have it known that he is such a patient because he thinks that he has acquired the disease through some immoral act or social indiscretion earlier in life.

This fear of social disgrace is based on the mistaken idea that cancer is contagious, that it is a "catching" disease, that it is transmitted from person to person as are diseases such as tuberculosis, smallpox and syphilis.

For these reasons many cancer patients conceal their condition for the longest possible time. When it is finally discovered by friends or relatives, the cancer is often so far advanced that a cure is practically impossible.

Largely because of ignorance of the nature of cancer, he is likely to fall an easy victim to faddists and quacks. He listens eagerly to suggestions for the proposals for odd treatments, in the hope of avoiding surgical operations or the use of radium and x-rays.

The quack with his "sure-cure" pastes, or the faddist with his fantastic diet lists, is welcomed eagerly by many cancer sufferers with the hope that the hocus-poos offered will obviate the need for more radical treatment. The danger of looking for a short cut to a permanent cure is the most menacing of all.

All of the hazards can be eliminated by becoming acquainted with the established facts on cancer. Your local cancer society will be happy to provide you with authentic literature.

Former Legion Head Dies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—Colonel Henry D. Lindsley, 65, former national commander of the American Legion who died Saturday in Dallas, Texas, will be buried tomorrow in Arlington Cemetery. Lindsley, one time mayor of Dallas, was chairman of the first national convention of the Legion.

Tex's Topics

By Tex DeWeese

It is unfortunate that cases of the lunacy hearing type have to be aired in public where courtroom spectators cannot possibly be acquainted with all the facts. In the case that occupied all of last Saturday in Gray county court, a curious crowd listened to gossip and offside innuendoes which had entirely no bearing on the case, but which served only to besmirch the character of prominent living and dead.

It is assumed that the court many times did not elect to halt the highly irregular questioning and testimony due to a desire to give the defendant every opportunity and right in court because of a story previously circulated to indicate the defendant was being "railroaded." Many times, during cross-examination of state witnesses, it appeared that the witnesses, themselves, were on trial for murder, embezzlement or child-snatching of some kind—with the main issue—of testing the defendant's sanity—being lost sight of.

The courtroom was packed with curious persons, many of whom were in sympathy with the defendant. They cheered and laughed as they thought the occasion demanded, forcing the court to rap for order innumerable times. It is not for us to discuss here the question of anybody's sanity. As we see it—the court, in this particular case, bent over backward to give the defendant a fair trial and in an effort to allay possible criticism from any who might be prone to say the defendant did not have a chance to present her story. This was done, even at the expense of witnesses. Neither is it our purpose here to criticize the court. We merely are trying to show how far the court went in this instance, to give an accused person a fair and impartial hearing.

The courtroom crowd was made up of men, women and children. When all available seats were taken they stood in the back of the auditorium, in the aisles, and then overflowed into the space immediately surrounding the trial table in front of the judge's bench. They sat on the floor behind the jury box. At one point in the case when it became apparent certain testimony would introduce obscene language, the state's attorney warned women spectators and urged them to leave in which to leave the courtroom. Although the crowd was preponderantly made of women, it was interesting to note that only two persons—two small girls—left their front row seats. All the others remained.

2,000 Die In Changsha Fire

SHANGHAI, Nov. 21. (AP)—A five-day fire which razed Changsha, capital of Hunan province, was reported today to have caused 2,000 deaths and brought the execution of three Chinese officials accused of starting the conflagration. Commenting last Sunday, the fires, started in anticipation of the city's capture by a slowly advancing Japanese column, reduced Changsha to ruins.

Chinese officials at Chungking, the temporary capital, declared the fires started both accidentally and through the "premature" zeal of local authorities anxious to carry out China's "scorched earth" policy of leaving little of value to the invaders.

Changsha dispatches said three men had been executed for their part in the fires. General Peng T. garrison commander, and the chief of police and the commander of the local guards at the provincial capital.

The Japanese still were 40 miles north of the city, and Chinese army commanders reported Japanese attacks had been repulsed along the Yochow-Changsha railway.

At the same time Chinese said they had recaptured Thungyang, 20 miles east of Sinning, which is 50 miles south of Hankow. They asserted 500 Japanese had been killed in the engagement.

Insurgents Claim Important Victory

HENDAYE, France, (at the Spanish Frontier), Nov. 21. (AP)—Insurgent armies hammered today at government lines on the Segre River's west bank, in northeast Spain, and claimed to have captured ground in the Serps sector. Insurgent communiques from the Segre front, only active battleground in Spain, reported the capture of 1,200 prisoners but the extent of territorial gains was not mentioned.

Government dispatches considered the insurgents "slightly bettered their position."

Texan Within Four Points Of Leading Grid Scoring Race

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. (AP)—Leroy Fry, Texas A. and I. halfback, rose to within four points of the nation's scoring leadership by tallying 13 points Saturday on two touchdowns and a conversion. He now is only four points in back of Gaylor Smith of Southwestern (Tenn.) who leads with 97.

Fry has 14 touchdowns and nine conversions for a total of 69. Smith, who didn't score Saturday, has 16 touchdowns and a single point after.

Thanksgiving Day is one holiday that really gives you an excuse for observing it, on account of being besides a good excuse for your wife to cook a extra good meal once a year, it gives you a excuse to forget a few things that you've mad at for a few minutes, while your thinking about all the good things you got to be thankful for. For instance, if you're probably awful glad that you're living in this country instead of Nazi Germany today, and if you ain't got no oil wells in Mexico. And even if you're just a Republican and ain't got no country, you still got smthin to be thankful for, on account of you can't help feeling glad that some of the Democrats is bossing the country, and even though they think there's smthin screwy about the New Deal in places, and so you're thankful that the purge didn't work on fellows like Senator George, and he's going back to Washington where he says he's going to advocate a more liberal use of common-sense in legislation. The only thing is, if he succeeds in introducing a thing like common-sense into the New Deal, what's the use of having some of the Cabinet, they so absolutely unprepared for such an innovation, on account of outside of the Secretary of State, they ain't none of em ever had no experience along them lines.

P. S.—Anyways it ain't never been copyrighted and anybody kin use it for nuttin, and that makes it cheap enuff so's we can afford to try it once.—J.

Queen Maud Of Norway Dies In London Hospital

LONDON, Nov. 21. (AP)—Norway and Britain today mourned the passing of Norway's English-born Queen Maud, who died in a London nursing home early Sunday of a heart attack. She was 66 years old.

Aunt of King George VI of Great Britain and last surviving child of Edward VII, her death came so suddenly that only a nurse was at her bedside.

King Haakon of Norway was at Buckingham palace where he has been staying since the queen's grave illness brought him hurrying from Oslo.

Crown Prince Olaf, the queen's only child, left Norway to join his father in London. King George and Queen Elizabeth returned from Hertfordshire and ordered court mourning for a month starting on Dec. 8.

The queen's body is to lie in state tomorrow in the chapel of Marlborough House and Wednesday will be placed aboard a British battleship to be escorted by four destroyers to Norway.

Anti-Jewish Drive Slackens in Berlin

BERLIN, Nov. 21. (AP)—The first dim signs of a slackening in the anti-Jewish drive appeared today. A usually good number of homes of foreigners were reported searched for Jews.

The let-down did not lessen general despair or what was for many Jews an acute problem—how to live from day to day. They were unable to draw upon bank reserves to replenish their cash hoards because the head of the house, who made the deposits, was under arrest.

Nevertheless, there was at least a momentary end to the wholesale arrests which Jews estimate sent 60,000 of their men to jail and concentration camps.

A usually kind authority said some Jews would be permitted to continue their export business, because their contacts abroad were too valuable to abandon in the face of decreasing foreign orders for German goods.

Propaganda Minister Goebbels announced Nov. 12 that Jewish organizations would be permitted to resume activity.

Briton Arrested In Russia After Flight

MOSCOW, Nov. 21. (AP)—A British engineer who made a mad-cap airplane flight into Soviet Russia to try to get his Russian-born wife out of the country is under arrest here.

The engineer, Bryan Grover, without entry visa for himself or exit visa for his wife, flew from Stockholm and landed last Monday at Stavropol, 100 miles short of Moscow. He was arrested there.

He has been trying for over a year to get a permit for his wife to leave. Russian law does not recognize marriage to a foreigner as an acceptable reason for leaving the country.

The two were married while he worked in the Soviet oil industry several years ago. He later went to Iran (Persia), intending to return for his wife, but was unable to obtain a re-entry visa. He hoped by the flight to attract attention of some high Soviet official who would aid his cause.

Borger To Run Special Train To Game Here

Pansies And Lilies Will Play Dec. 8

California can have its Rose Bowl, Texas its Cotton Bowl, Louisiana its Sugar Bowl football game but the Panhandle will have its own Bowl game this year. It will be the Flower Bowl game and will be played in Pampa at 3 o'clock the afternoon of Dec. 8.

Contesting teams will be the Pampa Pansies and the Borger-Phillips Lilies. The teams will be composed of members of the civic clubs of the three Panhandle cities and it will be an honest-to-goodness football game and not a burlesque.

Plans for the big game were made when club representatives gathered in Pampa yesterday afternoon. Admission price was set at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children with absolutely no passes being issued. Proceeds will be used for charity.

Only members of service clubs will be eligible to play in the game. Coach Catfish Smith of the Borger Bulldogs will coach the Pansies while the Pampa coach has yet to be named. Coach Odus Mitchell of the Harvesters was contacted but he recommended that the committee secure some one else because he wants to play.

Borger and Phillips are white hot over the big game. Nearly enough tickets have been sold to assure a special train running from Borger. The Borger clubs have already played an intra-squad game with more than 3,000 fans attending the game. The goal for the Pampa-Borger game has been set high.

There are many former high school and college football stars who are members of the local civic clubs and most of them have signed to play. A list of 25 names has been compiled and a call for opening practice will be issued this week by a committee named to handle local plays.

The first week will be spent in calisthenics and getting the gang back in shape. Practice on plays will begin next week after the Harvesters have finished the season.

Representatives at yesterday's meeting were Ray Anderson, Ed Walker of the Borger Rotary club, Bob Grimes of the Borger Lions club, and Ed Ralston of the Phillips 66 club, Chick Hickman, J. B. Massa, Garnet Reeves, Tex DeWeese, Frank Harris, Odus Mitchell, Dick Hughes, Bill Jarrett, and W. A. Bratton of the Pampa clubs.

Banaski And Tex Preen Selves For Furious Bout

There was a rumbling sound heard in Pampa this morning that had citizens worried until they realized it was Joe Banaski and Sailor Tex Watkins arriving in town by different routes for their big wrestling battle at the Pampa Athletic arena tonight.

Banaski and Watkins, two of the outstanding middleweights of the nation, will meet in the main event of Promoter Cliff Chambers' wrestling card which will open at 8 o'clock sharp with Scotty Williams and John Nemanic in action. No hike in admission has been made for the big card.

Williams has become a real favorite around here since he began defending himself against roughsters of the Nemanic type. At first Williams stuck to his clean, scientific form of grappling but later he found it didn't pay. Nemanic is the former referee and he will be anything but the favorite in his battle with Williams.

It is the Banaski-Watkins bout with the main event will send Joe Kopecky against Gus Johnson in a battle of clever maulers with Kopecky leaning to the rough side. Kopecky and Johnson will be battling on the upward trail, both having lost recent battles.

It is the Banaski-Watkins bout that has the town agog, however. Banaski is the former cowboy who has climbed to the top of the heap in seven years. He is strong and has a freak control of his muscles that allow him to wiggle out of holds like a snake. He changes his pace of grappling with uncanny rapidity that makes the opposition jittery.

"That mug can even change his skin tonight and it won't make any difference," Watkins, rough and tough sailor, announced.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—So Harvard starts the campaign by getting into the Big Three title game. It winds up with the Big Three title game. Well, if you didn't know what kind of a season it was, you do now. This corner has been asked to recommend a player-manager (catcher) for an up-and-coming club in the Class "D" league. Those interested, please write in a hurry. That Dave O'Brien did not hurt his all-America chances even a little bit against Rice. The big TCU-earl tossed three touchdowns passes, scored once himself, gained 186 yards on the ground and 117 in the air. Outside of that, he wasn't busy at all.

Tim Nara's New York pro Giants franchise cost him just $2,500 and yesterday's game against the Packers drew only 48,000. Incidentally, Nara drew the biggest year ever for the national pro league. Even Bert Bell's Philly Eagles have plenty of black ink on the books. Is it true Wallace Wade is thinking of making his Duke backs stick their hands in the molasses barrel before Pitt comes to town, to cure old fumble-fits?

Iowa State managed only 87 yards through the line against Oklahoma, and some of the folks think that didn't make those Sooners look so good. What do they expect—bingo? Arkansas has a bunch of midgets on its basketball squad this year. Nine of 'em are only six feet, and Tiny Freiberger is a mere six-eight. Wonder if even Elmer Layden knew Will Hofer was on that Notre Dame "army" before last Saturday. All he did was go 65 yards for a touchdown and then boot a field goal to personally handle Northwestern.

Trojans To Fight For Rose Bowl Bid

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21 (AP)—Southern California and University of California at Los Angeles will clash in a football game here on Thanksgiving day, with:

1. Southern California fighting for a chance to go into the Rose Bowl;
2. U. C. L. A. struggling to lose a jaunt to sunny Honolulu.

Victory will give Southern California a tie with the Golden Bears for the conference championship, and an edge in the voting because they thrashed the lads from Berkeley on Nov. 5.

If the Trojans lose, they have first call on a game in Honolulu. If they win, the ocean trip doubtless will be called off and U. C. L. A. will make the journey.

Hunters killed more than 1,000,000 game birds and animals during Florida's 90-day, 1936-37 hunting season.

Will SMU Be Downfall Of Horned Frogs?

By FELIX E. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Nov. 21 (AP)—Terrific Texas Christian, a football team that honestly doesn't know how it could be, may get around to finding out next Saturday.

Nine consecutive walkway victories are theirs but all of them bundled together couldn't look as big as Southern Methodist's Mustangs—their hosts here Saturday.

Victim coaches, sports writers, and fans agreed Texas Christian was the finest team in southwest history after it romped on Rice, 27-7, Saturday. But the same group opined the Southern Methodist matter was still another thing. They recalled the 1936 incident when the two neighboring schools scrapped it out for the Rose Bowl invitation—and TCU lost.

The Christians, certainly the most versatile team in the sector's football life, can strike either way—by ground or air. Through nine triumphs it had piled up 1607 yards on passes, most of them from little Davey O'Brien, a grand Irish lad who has chucked 18 touchdowns. But the running game was even better. O'Brien, quite a ball lugger also, Connie Sparks, Earl Sparks, Johnny Hall et al, have powered through enemy lines for 1690 yards.

All of which proves that O'Brien, from his quarterbacking post, uses his head for more than a helmet rack. His generalship, the mixing of passes and runs, has been the guiding force in TCU's amazing run.

Bowl Bids Likely

Southern Methodist has sophomore backs—Ray Mallouf, Johnny Clement, Will Mullenweg and Roy Holbrook—who quickly forgot the meaning of pressure and started playing genuine football after a rocky start. Mallouf and Clement can pass in a big way and the aerial play Saturday should be the best of the year.

In Sparks, O'Brien and Clark, the Christians have the conference's three top scorers—in that order. Southern Methodist passes its scoring laurels around.

The Christians could wind up the conference race Saturday with a triumph. But a Southern Methodist victory would put them in the driver's seat—with only Rice on Dec. 3 as their barrier to the title.

An invitation to one of three Bowl games—Rose, Sugar or Cotton—would be about as big a cinch as Seabiscuit in a harness race if TCU comes through Saturday. Notable is the fact that the Pacific Coast conference set its meeting date on Rose Bowl matters for the day after the TCU-SMU game. The Sugar Bowl has unofficially voted its like for a TCU appearance there.

The Thanksgiving Day game between the battered forces of Texas, losers of eight straight, and Texas A. & M., a powerhouse that has exploded on occasions, will draw some 40,000 at Austin, but most of the fans will be thinking two days ahead. The Aggies, 27-0 conquerors of Rice their last time out, were favorites—tradition notwithstanding.

Kansas plays its annual Thanksgiving Day game against Tulsa University at Tulsa. The Porkers took a 20-14 beating from Ole Miss last week.

BITS ABOUT BOWLING

Tuesday night bowlers will stage their second battle of the season beginning at 7 o'clock at the Berry alleys on North Frost street.

The schedule follows:

- 7 p. m.—Alleys 1 and 2, Thompson Hardware vs. General Atlas, alleys 3 and 4, American Legion vs. Nehi.
- 8 p. m.—Alleys 1 and 2, Cabot vs. Schneider Hotel; alleys 3 and 4, Diamond Shop vs. Dr. Pepper Lethanders.

Bowlers of teams scheduled to play at 7 o'clock are asked to be on hand before that time so that bowling can begin without delay. Late starting of the games delays the second games which causes late bowling.

Secretary Art Swanson has completed the schedule for the first round for both leagues and it will be published within the next day or two.

Six Football Teams Untied And Undeclared

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—The teams that have gone this far thru the football season with unmarred records are proving very tough.

The list of the better undeclared and untied teams, as compiled by the Associated Press, included:

TEAM	W	L	Ties	Opp. Pts.	Pts.
Texas Tech	9	253	33
Texas Christian	9	234	46
Tennessee	8	183	16
Notre Dame	8	149	26
Oklahoma	8	138	12
Duke	8	107	0

Four Regional Grid Champs Now Decided

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—Four regional football champions are sporting brand new crowns that can't be knocked off until season; the 1938 campaign is practically over in some regions; but the big question of which teams are to be rated best in the nation, which two will meet New Year's day in the Rose Bowl and in other postseason games, still is to be decided.

Most of the problems probably will be ironed out this week. Wisconsin, the national champion, will play the Thanksgiving day classics and next Saturday's climax games bring the season almost to its end.

Last Saturday saw the Big Ten campaign close with Minnesota on top again; Oklahoma complete its sweep of Big Six honors; Duke walk off with the Southern Conference crown; Utah take the title in the Rocky Mountain Big Seven and California clinch at least a tie for Pacific Coast conference honors.

Each of these new champions has a claim of some sort to high national ranking, but there are other claims which must be considered. The "major" unbeaten and untied teams are Georgetown in the east; Notre Dame and Oklahoma in the Midwest; Texas Christian in the southwest and Tennessee and Duke in the south. Texas Tech and West Coast Reserve may be as good as some of these but they haven't been able to prove it yet.

From the sectional and "bowl" standpoint, the major events on this week's program are Thursday's Southern California-U.C.L.A. game, the probable decisive West-Tennessee and Texas Christian-S. M. U. contests and the inter-sectional battle between Duke and Pittsburgh.

Pitt vs. Duke.

In the east the Army-Navy classic heads this week's race; the probable decisive test against Duke. In Thanksgiving games, Penn and Cornell clash; Columbia meets Brown, and George Washington plays West Virginia. Fordham winds up against New York University Saturday.

By conquering a stubborn Iowa State team, Oklahoma's Sooners took the Big Six crown and only Saturday's clash with Oklahoma Aggies stands between them and an unbeaten season. Nebraska winds up against Kansas State; while Missouri plays Kansas Thursday.

In the Southwest-Texas Christian still has to beat Southern Methodist Saturday before they can claim the title and look toward a post-season bowl. In "consolation" games, Texas plays Texas A. and M. Thursday while Arkansas tackles Tulsa. Baylor and Rice come together Saturday.

Texas Tech, which kept its perfect record only because Jodie Marek managed to score 10 points in the last 40 seconds to beat New Mexico, 17-7, meets Marquette, Saturday.

Unbeaten Tennessee can clinch the Southeastern conference crown by beating Kentucky Thursday although the Vols have to meet Mississippi the following week. Alabama, Tulane, and Ole Miss, with one defeat each, are in range if Tennessee should slip up. Alabama plays Vanderbilt and Mississippi meets Mississippi State Thursday while Tulane meets Louisiana State Saturday.

Until the discovery of America, the world's surface was believed to be mostly land. It really is about three-fourths water.

Amarillo And Lubbock To Play For Title Thursday

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF, Associated Press Staff.

A "turnover" of more than 50 per cent in district champions loomed today as the Texas schoolboy football campaign entered the final week prior to start of the state play-off.

Six 1937 champions are already out of the race, Abilene falling in the Oil Belt, North Side in the Fort Worth district, Woodrow Wilson in the Dallas district, Longview in district 9, Thomas Jefferson in the San Antonio district and Mission in the Rio Grande valley district.

Austin (El Paso) has only one outside chance to repeat in district 4, odds are heavily against Sherman coming back in district 5, Lufkin is expected to again win in district 10 and Waco is favored to replace Temple in district 11.

Amarillo faces a hard battle with Lubbock in the fight to again wear the crown in the Panhandle, Wichita Falls goes up against a strong Vernon team in an effort to repeat in district 2 and Comroe is likely to defend the district 13 pennant.

Corpus Christi does not appear in danger in district 15. District 14 last year had no champion due to a controversy over use of twelfth graders. Port Arthur has virtually clinched the title this season.

Highland Park (Dallas) needs only to defeat a comparatively weak Sulphur Springs team to win the district 6 championship again. Should the Highlanders lose it would be the year's outstanding upset.

Prospects are good that the four undefeated, untied teams left in the state will retain that ranking this week. Waco probably faces the strongest challenge in the Temple team but most critics think the Tigers will come through and many predict they will reach the finals of the state race. Gainesville plays Sherman, Tyler meets Marshall and Lufkin engages Livingston.

Tyler boasts the best record with 304 points to 19 for the opposition in nine games. Waco is next with 284 to 19 in eight games while Lufkin has run up 284 against 20 in nine games. Gainesville shows 260 against 41 in nine games.

Wichita Falls, Corpus Christi, Brownsville and Sunset (Dallas) are undefeated but have been tied.

The picture by districts at the present time:

- 1—Amarillo and Lubbock undefeated, play Thursday for championship.
- 2—Wichita Falls and Vernon undefeated, play Thursday for championship.
- 3—Sweetwater, western division winner, plays Breckenridge, eastern division titlist, for championship Thursday.
- 4—Bowie (El Paso) undefeated, plays Odessa Thursday. Can tie for title with Odessa and Austin (El Paso) even with a loss.
- 5—Gainesville undefeated. Can win title by tying or defeating Sherman Thursday.
- 6—Highland Park undefeated. Can get no less than a tie for championship with McKinney-Greenville winner even with a loss to Sulphur Springs.
- 7—Masonic Home (Fort Worth) has already won title.
- 8—Sunset (Dallas) has already won championship.
- 9—Tyler undefeated. Can win title with tie or victory over Marshall Thursday. Gladewater has only one loss.
- 10—Lufkin undefeated. Can win title with tie or victory over Living-

Two Games To Be Played In District One Thanksgiving

Only two games remain to be played in District 1 of the Texas High School football race and both will be on Thanksgiving Day when Pampa invades Borger and Amarillo goes to Lubbock.

The Borger Bulldogs will be fighting to rise from the cellar while the Harvesters will be battling to assure themselves third place in the district race.

The district title will be at stake when the Sandies and Westerners clash.

Bucks Toasted At White Deer Banquet Friday

WHITE DEER, Nov. 21—Members of the White Deer football squad were honored with a banquet by the business men of the town, Friday evening at the high school, attended by 110 boys and fans.

Clarence Williams acted as toastmaster. Mayor A. J. Daur, E. H. Grimes, and Rev. J. A. Zients were the principal speakers, and a number of other fans made short impromptu speeches. The members of the squad were introduced by the coaches, B. E. McCollum and H. M. Howell.

Motion pictures of the White Deer-Panhandle game, made and shown by C. B. Chunn, were the feature of the evening.

Musical numbers were given by the boys' quartet, composed of B. D. Seitz, Nathan Edwards, James Stall, and Bill Hawkins, and by Elton Beene, trumpet soloist.

Mmes. W. W. Simmons, Winfield Powers, and Orman Bently were in charge of the preparation of the banquet, and the pep squad girls assisted with the serving.

"Respecting these latter I must say that Japan does not like the terms. They are not applied anywhere else in the world, neither in the United States nor in any other country."

Britain Busily Wooing Once-Scorned King Carol

By MILTON BRUNER, NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

Just to show that he is not afraid that things will blow up in his absence, King Carol of Rumania plans to go to London and bring Crown Prince Michael his son and heir, with him.

LONDON, Nov. 21 - Eight years ago King Carol of Rumania was given the bum's rush out of England. Now he has been invited to eat off King George VI's golden plate in Buckingham palace.

"That's the comeback King Carol of Rumania has accomplished within the short space of eight years. In 1930 he was an exile who had lost his heritage as a future monarch because of his mad affair with Magda Lupescu."

"In 1938 he is King in his own name. In 1930 he was plotting to get his throne and for that reason the English chased him out. It was against the rule to plan against the peace of a country with whom Britain was on friendly terms."

"In 1938 he is to be eagerly welcomed in England because Rumania is rather an important country now that Hitler has gobbled Austria and the Sudetenland and is looking with calculating eyes at the Balkan lands. For he wants to make a deal with Rumania so as to get her wheat and oil."

The English statesmen hope that Carol is as willing to forgive bygones as they are anxious to forget them. When he comes with his son and heir, Crown Prince Michael, now a strapping lad of 17, King Carol will be received with all the pomp and ceremony the English know how to display when they are out to capture a guest's fancy.

FDR Heads For Tennessee And Warm Springs. BY D. HAROLD OLIVER. ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN. ENROUTE TO CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 21 (AP) - President Roosevelt headed toward Chattanooga, Tenn., today to inspect briefly a unit of one of the New Deal's earliest social and economic experiments - the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Bound for a two weeks' stay at his "other home" on Pine Mountain at Warm Springs, Ga., he departed for a first-hand peek at Chickamauga Dam. It is one of the seven power-navigation projects built or under construction in the Tennessee Valley for development of cheap electric power.

The President also arranged to visit the scenes of the Civil War battles of Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge, where 75 years ago blue and gray forces from 29 states struggled for possession of Chattanooga.

He planned to leave the city early in the afternoon, have lunch and dinner on his special train, and arrive in Warm Springs about 8 p. m. (C. S. T.).

During his sojourn at the health resort which he helped to found, the President expected to begin conversations with Senate and House leaders on the legislative program for the New Congress.

He also may confer there with Hugh R. Wilson, ambassador to Germany, enroute home to report on anti-Jewish violence.

O'Daniel Favors Civil Service Plan. FORT WORTH, Nov. 21 (AP) - Governor-elect W. Lee O'Daniel is ascertaining the attitude of legislators toward a proposal to place all state employees under civil service.

O'Daniel said that of the replies received so far the majority favored the plan. The move was interpreted here as an indication that O'Daniel will recommend such legislation at the forthcoming legislative session.

SERIAL STORY

LOVERS AWEIGH

BY BETTY WALLACE

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JUDY ALCOFF—admin's daughter. She faced a choice between two suitors.

DAWIGHT CAMPBELL—ambitious lieutenant. He faced a choice between his wife and duty.

JACK HANLEY—stingy sailor. He faced a test of a national love.

MARVEL HASTINGS—navy wife. She faced the test of being a good sailor.

Yesterday: At Marvel's wedding, Judy saw the good-looking blond man who had attended Marvel at the restaurant that day.

CHAPTER XIII
'DON'T be a fool!' Jack whispered roughly. His hands closed around her arm.

Judy came to herself with a sick jerk. How could she have made such a fool of herself? Her eyes fastened on the bride, on Dwight, on the face of Commander Hedges.

The solemn words of the marriage service rang through the hushed church. 'In sickness and in health . . . to love and to cherish . . . for richer for poorer . . . for better for worse . . .'

Dwight was putting the ring on Marvel's finger. 'With this token . . .'

And then it was all over. The bride and groom were going up the aisle. Outside, steel flashing in the sunlight, there was an arch of swords.

There was noise and laughter, and someone said, 'Pop! There goes the first flash!' Pictures of the bride. Pictures for the newspapers.

There was a wedding luncheon at the Coronado Hotel. Judy schooled herself sternly. She must get through it. Dwight was married now. Married. She wanted to cry.

THE long dining room was mobbed. There was a lace covered table, and Diane whispering, 'It's her own cloth, and her own silver. Isn't it sumptuous?' Rows of repousse forks, heavy silver platters.

Jack whistled. 'I said brown, didn't I?' He added, 'I'm hungry. She must have imported a chef from New York. There's a little I recognize.'

But though he brought Judy a plate loaded with dainties, she couldn't eat. People were toasting the bride, pressing around her. Judy thought desperately.

Jack whistled. 'I said brown, didn't I?' He added, 'I'm hungry. She must have imported a chef from New York. There's a little I recognize.'

Bill said reflectively, 'When he said, "With this ring I thee endow," I was reminded of the old man about the seaman first who married a millionaire's daughter.

FDR Will Say 'No' To Wild Pension Plans

By W. B. RAGSDALE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—When it comes to the question of bigger pensions for younger persons, President Roosevelt and the conservatives are likely to speak the same language in the next Congress—at least far enough to say a common "no."

Nevertheless, numerous changes in the present social security act will be presented to the new Congress on behalf of the administration. They will not be broad enough to still the rising clamor for larger pensions.

Evidence is accumulating, that the California "30-every-Thursdays" group and the Colorado pensioners are considering supporting the pension bill drafted by the General Welfare Federation. It is milder in several respects than the $200-a-month idea of the Townsendites, who have poured blistering words upon the General Welfare group.

The administration proposals, however, are not prompted entirely by the voting strength shown by high class adherents in the last election. They are art of the broad general program for social welfare envisioned when the original social security bill was worked out.

Since the chief phases of that program dealt with insurance, the new thoughts that appear likely to find their way into any administration bill are simply added benefits which might be figured into an ordinary insurance policy.

Looking at it from that angle, the next things to be added would be a provision to take care of those who become permanently and totally disabled and to provide for their widows and orphans if the insured worker dies before reaching 65.

Collateral phases of the proposed changes would be to boost the amount that may be paid to those who reach 65 during the next five or ten years. This would cover persons who have not paid the tax premiums long enough to build up a reserve that will yield an annuity big enough to count.

2,700 Pounds Of 'Bullneck' Daily Texas A. & M. Students 'Shoot'

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 21—(A&M)—Here's a rough idea of how much food 2,885 Aggies consume in one day. They eat approximately 2,000 pounds of potatoes, 190 pounds of butter, 325 loaves of bread.

2,700 pounds of meat, 12 cases of eggs, 600 pounds of carrots, or any green vegetables, 5,600 hot cakes, 500 pies a meal, 9,000 rolls and 9,000 biscuits. Ice cream is served every third day and around 3,200 individual cups are served.

When chicken is served, usually on Sunday, about 1,400 pounds is required. For Thanksgiving dinner, the Cadets will eat around 2,000 pounds of turkey. Milk consumed amounts to about 6,000 half-pint bottles a day. Milk, ice cream and butter used by the mess hall comes from the A. & M. College creamery.

The A. & M. College mess hall is the largest single unit dining hall in the world. Although only about 2,900 eat in the mess hall at the present time, 5,000 could be accommodated if the occasion demanded it. The mess hall is striving constantly for economy in the feeding of the students, for example, last year it cost approximately 81 cents a day for a student to eat; this year it is costing the student only 69 cents a day for food, or about 23 cents a meal.

Many people eating in the A. & M. mess hall for the first time probably think the Aggies speak to each other in some unknown tongue when they holler, "shoot the bullneck, please." It so happens that the Cadets have their own special names for food and "bullneck" happens to mean meat. Other terms for food include:

Buzzard—chicken, turkey. Popeye—greens. Sawdust—sugar. Sand—salt. Dirt—pepper. Dope—coffee. Cush—dessert. Sky—juice—water. Shotgun—pepper-sauce. Winchester—Worcestershire sauce. Grease—butter. Spuds—potatoes. Shot—peas. Artillery—beans. Worms—macaroni. Cackle—eggs. Gun-wadding—bread. Blood—catsup. Rabbit—lettuce. Seab—cornflakes, other dry cereals. Much—cooked cereals. Shovel—tablespoon. Lumber—toothpicks. Mealhound—to get food from other tables this is an exclusive freshman privilege. Sub—gravy. Rocks—ice.

Typically American

Although born in Puritan surroundings, Thanksgiving today, in spirit and in practice, is as typically American as the world series, the automobile, or the roadside "hot dog" stand.

The early settlers, humble and sincere, sought expression and reward in the manner best suited to their mode of living.

Today our outward manifestations of gratitude are not the same as they were in Plymouth colony.

And well might we bow our heads and give our hearts in prayer.

Plans are under way to improve the campus for all the schools in Pampa, according to L. B. Sone, superintendent. This will employ men out of school 18-25 years of age under the National Youth administration.

CAROL MONTGOMERY

JAMES CARLILE

Harvester Who's Who

Carroll Clyde Montgomery, Harvester tackle, is five feet eleven inches tall and weighs 175 pounds.

Lincoch J. C. Prejan says, "Carroll needs more experience, but he is a hard and conscientious worker."

Carroll's favorite actor was "Charles Chan" until that character died, but now it is Spencer Tracy. Patsy Kelley is Carroll's favorite actress.

"When asked about his favorite subjects and teachers, he said, 'They are all so darn good it's pitiful. My best subject is chemistry. I like girls with cold black hair,' he added emphatically."

Have you seen that tall, dark and nice looking fellow back on the Harvester squad? Well, this interviewee means James Carlile with his five feet ten inches of height and 170 pounds of muscle.

Carlile came from Dallas to Pampa last year. He is a sophomore, and this is his first year to play football.

"I like a good steak dinner, round steak," said Carlile when asked what his favorite food was, and chocolate pie is also a favorite.

Notice to all brunettes! After being questioned further he disclosed that he preferred brunettes to blonds.

When asked whether Borger or Pampa would win the Thanksgiving game, he quickly replied, "We're gonna win."

Talk on Careers Given to Seniors

Miss Alma McCloud gave a talk to the seniors last Tuesday on business occupations and business careers of students.

Friendliness of people was the main topic theme of the talk. Personality and courtesy of young men and women were stressed as an important factor in being a success in business life.

Concluding the talk Miss McCloud answered several students' questions on different kinds of occupations and gave her advice and viewpoint by oral illustrations. The talk was given in the auditorium last Tuesday from 2:00 to 3:00 to all seniors and several sophomores.

Staff Members To Attend Press Meet At Denton

Little Harvester Entered In Contest

Representatives from the "Little Harvester" and the annual staff will attend the Texas High School Press association's annual convention, December 9-10, which is sponsored by the Texas State College for Women at Denton.

Registration will be on the evening of December 8 in the Journalism department, headed by F. L. McDonald. Registration fee is one dollar and covers the dance and the banquet given Saturday.

The "Little Harvester" will compete against approximately 90 school papers in the sport, news and feature stories, editorial and column contests. A complete file of the "Little Harvester" to the present date has been mailed and will be entered in the contest as a weekly paper published in another paper.

Last year the paper won first in its division and Dorothy Jane Day, last year editor and president of the Panhandle Press association, won fourth in feature story contest. Grover Foster and Vera Dowell accompanied her to Denton. Leona Hurst and Betty Shryock represented the year book.

T. S. C. W. will furnish lodging for four delegates from the paper and four from the annual. As yet these students have not been selected.

The Little Harvester is going to win the cup again this year, claim the staff.

Sagebrush By The SAGE

There's something up somebody's sleeve besides laughter. Yours truly, the Sage, has a humdrum of an idea. Who in Pampa High has the deepest dimples? That's the question we want to find an answer for.

Every home room find the boy and girl with the deepest and drop the names in the Student Opinion box. Some time all the candidates will get together and have a pow-wow and see who comes out on top. Results will be recorded here, (and maybe the pitchers!)

Now on with the foolishness—Darel Coker is having a back time keeping the hair on the back of his head slicked down. Axle grease might help.

Boys who never read a book before will like "Manners for Moderns." It tells all about open air petting.

Tommy Lee Close has a new definition for a lazy person. She says a lazy man is "one who has the sniffles and won't blow his nose."

It won't be long before the old school won't look like itself. Football season will be over and all our cripples will get well. Why not organize some boxing teams?

Petunias To Puppy Lovers A boy and a lily pond with a pretty blond date realizes he is in deep water a little too late!

Marriage is a great American institution, but so is a jail.

Harold Mitchell, the smallest boy in P. H. S., wants smaller desks so he can do some studying at school. Carrying books home at night is enough to stunt his growth!

Do you think J. W. Graham has played in enough quarters to get a sweater?

Do you think school should turn out at noon for shirt-tail parades?

Do you think the Harvesters will do the Westerners and Sandies next year?

Do you think this foolishness has gone far enough?

Someone one once said "Forewarned is forearmed." The members of the Pampa Institution known as Pampa High school might take this into consideration next Thursday when they start slicing the turkey. Just remember not to eat so much that you can't attend the football game between the Harvesters and the Borger Bulldogs.

A.A.U.W Will Not Give Scholarship

No scholarship will be awarded by the local chapter of A. A. U. W. to one of the girl graduates next spring. It was announced following the club meeting last Thursday.

"Not that we do not consider the granting of a scholarship to a high school girl as a worthy project," explains Mrs. Fred Roberts, president. "The club voted to suspend scholarship activities for the next two years upon the recommendation of the sectional conference. All A. A. U. W. branches in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and Missouri are asked to do this while an extended study is made of scholarships."

"The discontinuance of scholarships for the present does not mean that the A. A. U. W. is no longer interested in the high school girls. The club will continue its work in vocational and college guidance and will hold its annual entertainment honoring the girl graduates."

No recipient of a Pampa A. A. U. W. scholarship has ever graduated from college, though the first scholarship was awarded in 1930. Few of the girls have attended college more than one year. The club has put out almost $3,000 in scholarships, over two-thirds of the amount being loans. About $400 has been returned. The experiences of other A. A. U. W. branches have been similar.

"This does not mean that we are dissatisfied with our present girls," says Mrs. Roberts. "Three recipients of our scholarships are now in college and making splendid records. But as a unit of the national and international organizations of university women, we are being asked to concentrate on fellowships to enable outstanding college graduates to continue advanced research work."

Eloise Lane, who won the scholarship in 1932, is now a senior at Mary Hardin Baylor college at Belton. She expects to receive a major in music education next spring. Edythe Shearer, winner of the scholarship for 1936, is now a junior at West Texas State and has consistently made the very highest records in the college. Hazel Bath, this year's scholarship girl, is a freshman at West Texas state which she entered at the beginning of the summer session and is also making a good record. The late Betty Blythe, holder of last year's scholarship, also made an enviable record at Canyon.

Many types of aid are available to undergraduate college students, what with N. Y. A. jobs and numerous scholarships offered by the colleges themselves and by outside organizations. The A. A. U. W. is one of the few organizations offering fellowships to enable outstanding women to continue with advanced research work.

Leona Hurst, 1938 graduate and former member of the choir, accompanied the program and the choir. "The program, robes and lighting effects were very grand. I am certainly proud to be able to say that I was once a member of that organization."

There will be no school dance during the Thanksgiving holidays, according to the student council. The reason given was that all teachers would be out of town and there would be no chaperones.

Girls' Gym Classes Learn Old Dances

Program Proceeds Add Fifty Dollars To Fund For Robes

Total proceeds of the A Cappella choir program given last Tuesday night amounted to approximately $0 dollars, according to Miss Helen Martin, choir director.

This money together with the rental fee, which is charged each semester, is to be placed in the choir fund. Principal D. F. Osborne, expressing his enthusiasm concerning the choir, remarked that the work of the A Cappella choir was splendid and certainly merited the approval of the faculty and student body.

Ticket Sales for Senior Play Led By Dick Kennedy

Frances Thompson Takes Second Place

Dick Kennedy led the senior class in ticket sales for the senior play November 1-10. Frances Thompson was second and Bill Jones ranked third. Kennedy sold $13.15 worth of tickets and will get $9.85 credit on the cost of a trip to Carlsbad Caverns next spring.

The cost of the trip to Carlsbad depends on the method of transportation. If the person should choose to go by school bus, the price is four dollars; by private car it will come to six dollars. Each year the proceeds of the senior play go for this purpose.

The play, "The Enemy," had a royalty of thirty dollars placed on it. Cost of printing programs and tickets, use of furniture and other incidental expenses must also come out of the proceeds.

Three-fourths of the amount of tickets sold is applied to the seniors' credit. If a student sold eight dollars worth of tickets, he would be given a free trip to Carlsbad by car and a free trip by bus if he sold $5.35 worth of tickets.

Students who have at least $4.00 credit are: Bill Adams, $4.26; Roberta Bell, $5.82; Jack Crot, $5.16; Lois Daugherty, $5.64; Dorothy Nell Dean, $4.50; Reita Lee Eller, $4.56; Mary Jean Hill, $5.73; Cleo Harrison, $5.64; Bill Jones, $6.54; Dick Kennedy, $9.85; Wyndall La-Casse, $4.50; Claude Lard, $4.62; Frances Thompson, $7.14; Kellon Miller, $5.58; John Edwin McConnell, $4.32; Charles Pearce, $4.92; and Tommy Solomon, $6.63.

Book Week Observed Last Wednesday in Chapel With Music

The band, under the direction of Winston Savage, and the A Cappella choir, under Miss Helen Martin's direction, provided the program for last Wednesday's assembly. The theme of the program was books.

Fondanel Smith gave a short talk on book week. This year's theme was "New Books, New Worlds."

Beginning with a medley of numbers taken from literature the band played "Mary Had a Little Lamb," "Jingle Bells," "Sing a Song of Sixpence," "Farmer in the Dell," "Lazy Mary, Will You Get up," "Hickory Dickory Dock," "Three Blind Mice," "Rock-a-bye Baby," "Cockles and the Wren," "London Bridge" and "Children's March."

"The Red Man" by John Phillips Sousa taken from Longfellow's "Hawthorn" and "On the Road to Mandalay" from Kipling's "Mandalay" and "The Star Spangled Banner" were also played.

Composing a sextet, Annabelle Lard, Helen Harris, Vera Sackett, Meribelle Hazard, Betty Jean Therman and Charabell Jones sang "Marianina" and "Dream Sweetheart" accompanied by Maxine Holt at the piano.

"Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," "Song of the Peddler" from Shakespeare, "Which Is the Properest Ragtime Band" were sung by the A Cappella choir.

Miss Clarine Branom and Miss Gracie Fern Latimer arranged the program.

Four Members to Represent F. F. A. At District Meet

Barnes Kinzer, Claude Lard, Donald Cole and Dudley West were chosen Monday of last week by the members of the F. F. A. club to represent them at the district meet held November 19 in Shamrock.

The purpose of the meet is the initiation of green hands, boys with no previous experience in agriculture, by district officers. J. L. Lester, agriculture supervisor, will accompany the boys on the trip.

White coveralls were selected for a club emblem if the boys wished to buy them. Membership cards were given to those who had paid their dues.

Parents to Hear Gordon and Selby Tomorrow Night

Talks by R. A. Selby, supervisor of curriculum of the Pampa schools and B. G. Gordon, head of the Senior High mathematics department, will be features on the program at the parents meeting of all senior, junior and sophomore parents tomorrow night at 7:30.

The subject of Mr. Selby's talk will be on the unification of Junior High, Senior High and ward schools. Mr. Gordon will give the result of the mathematics tests that were given at the beginning of the term. Musical numbers by the A Cappella choir will also be presented.

Reports on the state P.-T. A. meeting which was held last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in Lubbock, will also be given.

Mrs. A. C. Green, president of the P.-T. A., will preside at the meeting.

Harvesters Will Battle Bulldogs Thanksgiving

The Pampa Harvesters meet another squad of Bulldogs this week in Borger. Thanksgiving Day the Harvesters and Borger Bulldogs will face each other in the last game of the two teams 1938 schedule.

Three weeks ago Borger almost caused an upset by holding the strong Amarillo Sandies 7-0 until the latter part of the third period. The final score was 13-7. This should indicate that there will be a very close game this Thursday.

Catfish Smith, Borger head coach, has Hubert Allen, one of the best all around backs in the Panhandle, as the captain and triple-threat man.

The nucleus of the Borger team is formed by nine lettermen: players who have lettered two years—Allen, quarter; Bomar, center; Rabbor, full; Sullivan, tackle; and those who have lettered one year—Davies, tackle; Suckles, half and Williams, end.

The Bulldogs have lost six games and won only one. Their season's record is given below.

Borger 25, Electra 2
Borger 13, Poly Tech 28
Borger 13, Childress 14
Borger 7, Lubbock 24
Borger 13, Lubbock 67

Stoddard To Be Exercise Speaker

Dr. A. J. Stoddard, Denver school superintendent and superintendent of Philadelphia, has accepted the invitation to be speaker at the P. H. S. spring commencement exercises.

Dr. Stoddard is the second man employed in school service to receive a medal for "Service to mankind" and he is classified as one of the foremost American educators.

Pledges Presented Bids by Sub-Debs

Bids were presented to pledges Deb club at a waffle supper given by the local chapter of the Sub-in the home of Jeanne Lively Friday evening.

As the pledges arrived, they received a cornflower corsage. The centerpiece was a golden pumpkin circled with blue cornflowers, carrying out the club colors of blue and gold. The room was lighted with blue tapers.

Those receiving bids were Betty Jean Tieman, Jackie Hurst, Betty Plank, Dorothy Jane Day, Frances Thompson, Jeanne Knox, Betty Jean McAfee and Harriett Price.

Charter members are: Jerry Smith, president; Iris Williams, vice-president; Jeanne Lively, secretary-treasurer; Donna Day, Fay Redman and Miss Charles Hill, sponsor.

Following the waffle supper, dancing entertained the Sub-Debs and their guests: Bill Davis, Bill Richard, Howard Buckingham, Omer Harrell, Bill Miskimins, Buster Wilkins, Harold Gillespie, Junior Barrett, James Evans Ray Boyles, Jack Goodridge, Doyle Auld, Grover Heiskell, Travis Lively and Leonard Ramos.

Senior term themes for this semester are to be on any vocation about which they are interested. These themes are due tomorrow.

Homemakers Club Represented at Canyon Saturday

Skit Presented by Eight Pampa Girls

Seventeen members of the Pi-Tau chapter of the Future Homemakers of Texas attended a meeting of area one held last Saturday on the West Texas State college campus in Canyon.

"Personality of the High School Girl" was the theme of the meeting. "Pledges," a personality skit, was presented by the following Pampa representatives: Mary Jean Hill, Lucille Carlisle, Faye Redman, Betty Sue Price, Jean Knox, Reita Lee Eller, Roberta Bell and Frances Thompson.

Lunch was served by the W. T. S. C. Homemakers chapter.

During the afternoon business session, officers of the area were elected. The meeting adjourned at four o'clock and the group returned to Pampa after a short stay in Arroyo.

Those making the trip were: Frances Thompson, Reita Lee Eller, Jean Knox, Faye Redman, Betty Sue Price, Roberta Bell, Lucille Carlisle, Ellen Gray, Mary Jean Hill, Katherine Culbertson, Oneta Gualis, Faye Kitchon, Dorothy Gibson, Nadine Pierce, Joyce Certain, Annabelle Holloway, Helen Harris, Mrs. R. H. Sanford and Miss Charles Hill, sponsors.

Plainview Loses To Pampa 21-6

Pampa Harvesters did their first scoring in 1938 conference play against the Plainview Bulldogs with a 21-6 victory Friday afternoon at Harvester park.

At the half the Harvester queen, Lee Fender, was crowned.

The Harvesters received the kickoff, but the first quarter promised nothing. Carlile went over in the second and Harvester-Graham's try for extra point was good. In the third Dunaway took the ball from the Plainview 28 to the eight, then Andis caught Grahman's pass in the end zone for the second Pampa touchdown. Extra point, with Graham kicking, was good.

Kemp, Plainview end, got a pass and carried it to Pampa's five-yard line just before the end of the third quarter. At the beginning of the fourth Barry carried over the Bulldogs only score. Try for extra point failed. Andis caught a Carlile pass across the goal at the middle of the fourth and Graham's placement for an extra point was successful.

The Bulldogs almost scored a second time when they brought the ball to the Pampa two-yard stripe, where they fumbled.

Hale and Graham, Bulldogs, were hurt in the second quarter. Harvester Karr had his leg injured.

Officiating at the game were Duncan, Brown, Walker and Neely.

During the half intermission the Plainview band went through its formations and Pampa's pep squad, band and majorettes and football squad assisted in the crowning of the queen.

Students Present Red Cross Skits

Students selected from Kenneth Carman's dramatic classes presented two skits on Red Cross week at KFDN local radio station last Wednesday and Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The first skit entitled "The City of Terror" was about the Baltimore Red Cross association. The cast included Dick Kennedy, John Edwin McConnell and Jimmy Mosley.

The second skit was entitled "Is Home a Safe Place?" The cast was Vera Sackett, Jeanne Lively and Jerry Smith.

Wednesday Deadline For All Seniors to Have Pictures Made

Attention, seniors. Wednesday, November 23, is the last day you may get your annual pictures made for 50 cents. After the Thanksgiving holidays the pictures will cost a dollar. So why not save fifty cents and get your pictures made before the Thanksgiving holidays.

Everyone who has a camera at home should get it out and click it off so that you can start taking pictures for the annual row and have a bigger and better snapshot section this year than there has ever been before.
