IN PRIVATE PROJECTS

Judge Puts Stop To County Misuse

By JEFF HOLLADAY
Pampa News Staff Writer
The anger of a Pampa citizen yesterday prompted an abrupt stop to a practice which County Judge S. R. Lenning Jr.

declared was "altogether too frequent here" — the use of county equipment on private property.

Earl Hilton, 1121 S. Wells, telephoned Judge Lenning yesterday afternoon and demanded to know why Pct. 2 trucks were being used to haul sand for a construction project at Panhandle Packing Company, just east of Pampa.

Judge Lenning immediately ordered a halt to the use of county vehicles on the project. The Pampa man withdrew a threat of injunction.

"This has got to stop," Judge Lenning declared. "We know that this sort of thing has gone on before but it's been going on too long."

State law prohibits the use of county machinery on private property or for use other than that which is for public purpose. Penalty for the offense, which falls under misapplication of county funds, is 2-10 years imprisonment, Judge Lenning pointed out.

"But it's something which nonetheless has been going on for years and years all across Texas, especially in rural areas."

Humphrey Was 'Saddest Man' At Inauguration

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It was the moment Hubert H. Humphrey had dreamed of but it wasn't his. It belonged to another—President Richard M. Nixon.

But if one person knew how Humphrey felt, it was Nixon. Humphrey, who wanted so much to become president, was a bit player in the drama of the inauguration.

Of all the people gathered on the east steps of the Capitol Humphrey must have been the saddest.

The standard bearer of the politics of joy was grim and unsmiling at the swearing-in of

Nixon Starts First Day In White House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon began his first full day in the White House today, and already there were crucial developments in Moscow and Paris he was treating with characteristic caution.

Without a break from the obvious inaugural balls, Nixon got down to work immediately—a desire he had expressed to those around him as he viewed the long inaugural parade.

It was a long day for Nixon. He and his family didn't return to the White House for their first night there from visiting the last ball until 12:30 a.m. CST.

Once a reception and the swearing-in of the White House staff were out of the way today,

Nixon called a meeting of the National Security Council for 2 p.m. CST and summoned Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, at 2:30 p.m.

The scheduling indicated Nixon's intention to elevate the National Security Council, made up of the president, vice president, secretaries of defense and state, and the director of emergency planning, to the prominence the council held during the Eisenhower administration.

The agenda wasn't announced for the meeting, but it was sure to include the Vietnam peace talks and the Soviet Union's pre-inauguration invitation to Nixon to open talks immediately on nuclear disarmament.

Nixon's new negotiator in the peace talks, Henry Cabot Lodge, flew to Paris early Monday without waiting to attend the inauguration festivities. But Lodge said upon landing there that there would not be a meeting today—as the Communists had suggested. He said he was not prepared to say whether the Nixon administration would make major changes in U.S. policy.

For eight months the talks in Paris have dragged on, but within the last week the sides have agreed on the shape of the negotiating table and on procedural details.

Nixon's cabinet was reported to be in disagreement on how to respond to the Soviet Union's proposal on disarmament talks.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird wants to review U.S. military posture—which might take several months—to make certain the United States would deal in such talks from "a posture of strength."

Secretary of State William P. Rogers and other top advisers, however, were inclined to believe the Nixon administration.

Preston Smith Sworn In, Takes Office As Governor

Monday night. Driver of the car, Billy Jack Bennett, left, was taken to the sheriff's office where he was held for Hemphill County Sheriff Jim Cloyd.

Ben Barnes Becomes Lieutenant Governor

By DAVID ANDERSON

AUSTIN (UPI) — Democrat Preston Smith of Lubbock today became the 38th governor of Texas, fulfilling a dream that began when he was an eight-year-old West Texas farm boy.

On a spectacular beautiful day, Smith took the oath of office on a flag-draped platform in front of the state capitol, becoming the first governor from West Texas and at 36, the oldest new governor since 1903.

Fellow West Texan Ben Barnes, 30, the first man in Texas history to amass more than 2 million votes, took the oath a few minutes before Smith, becoming the youngest lieutenant governor ever.

Smith, wearing a dark business suit and a polka-dot tie, always wears a polka-dot tie-promised in his inaugural address to "think first of laws to preserve public order."

The maintenance of domestic tranquility and the protection of persons and property from criminal acts and deeds of violence will carry a high priority in this administration," he said.

"We will not tolerate violence, either in breaking or enforcing the law."

Justice for All

He said his administration will seek "justice for all," and mentioned specifically women, the young, the aged, racial minorities, the poor, the sick, and "the business, industrial and professional interests."

Smith said he was aware when he ran of the enormous problems and limited powers of the Texas governorship, "but I face it cheerfully and without dread, certainly without fear."

Smith's luck, a major factor in his political success over the years, continued to be good. For two days Austin weather had pulled no punches.

Pueblo's Skipper Places Blame On Naval Superiors

CORONADO, Calif. (UPI)—

The skipper of the USS Pueblo has placed a good share of the blame on his Navy superiors and the United States government for the loss of the intelligence ship to the North Koreans.

Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, lengthy but sharp in his answers, spent a full day testifying Monday at a five admirals court of inquiry. He pulled no punches.

The 41-year-old Bucher, a civilian attorney at his side, stated:

"He was told the risk involved in intelligence surveillance off the North Korean coast was considered 'minimal'—an estimate involving the State Department and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"He was 'not prepared' for an attack on his vessel and had not conducted such drills as 'repelling boarders.'"

Suggestion Rejected
The chief of naval operations rejected his suggestion that a "destruct system" to destroy secret equipment be installed on the Pueblo because it would require too much time and money.

The only means to destroy electronic gear were fire axes and sledge hammers.

It would have taken two and one-half hours to scuttle the ship.

Two machine guns were installed on deck just before the Pueblo sailed but drills were called off when four-inch ice froze the tarpaulins.

Paper shredders and an incinerator to burn classified documents were inadequate, although some top secret papers were destroyed.

Bucher, still gaunt and thin but looking all an officer in dress blues, crewcut and erect bearing, told the court that only once did he ask the Navy what might happen if his ship came under attack.

Spoke With Captain
He said he spoke with the captain on the operations staff at the Pacific Fleet Command in Pearl Harbor.

"I was told the Navy had plans to react as well as the Air Force," Bucher said.

"However, it was explained that the commitments of planes in the event of a general war were such that it was not likely that either Navy or Air Force planes could come to any assistance in time to save my ship."

The court, which has only the power to recommend further possible action, convened in the amphitheatre of a school at the naval amphibious base on this peninsula off San Diego.

Jaycees Slate Canadian Burglary Suspect Is Picked Up by Local Policeman

By RON CROSS

A suspect in the burglary of a food store in Canadian was stopped by Pampa policeman Joe Brewer here this morning and then taken to the Gray County sheriff's office where he was being held for Hemphill County Sheriff Jim Cloyd.

The Eastway Food Store was burglarized sometime between 7 p.m. and 1:30 a.m. when burglars cut a hole in the roof of the store and went down an air conditioner duct.

The safe in the store office was then pried and other merchandise taken.

The burglars were spotted by a passerby, who called officers. Sheriff Cloyd said he and deputy Don Todd and a city policeman arrived on the scene, but while they were searching the store, the burglars went back out through the roof and escaped in a black Mercury.

Bill Job, Bestway store manager, said this morning that probably about $200 was taken from the safe. Merchandise taken was razor blades, cigarettes, gloves and green trading stamps.

"They did not get a big haul out of the safe, I'm sure, although we haven't had a chance to make a complete audit yet," Job said.

Brewer stopped the car, driven by Billy Jack Bennett, and called other officers to the scene.

The vehicle was searched on Brown Street, where Brewer stopped it. Gray County Deputies D. L. Day and C. L. Wallace then took the car and Bennett to the Sheriff's office, where he was being held for Cloyd.

It was also reported that $84 was found in a house the men were supposedly living in in Canadian. The money was wrapped in Amarillo First National Bank wrappers.

About $25 in change was found in the Mercury when officers searched it. $8 to $10 in Kennedy half-dollars and $10-$12 in paper money.

Cloyd, Eorger officers and Texas Ranger Bill Baten had a house under surveillance in Berger for about three hours this morning, where they believed the other suspects to be.

Officers found out, however, that one of the wives of the two men and another woman were in the house and questioned them.

Officers were searching for Bennett's brother, Bobby Joe, in connection with the burglary. Both have lengthy criminal records, police said.

Feb. 1 Deadline For City Taxes

A reminder was issued by the city tax office today that Feb. 1 is the deadline for paying 1968 city taxes without a penalty.

Taxes become delinquent at midnight, Jan. 31, tax collector Aubrey Jones stated today.

Jones said second notices for taxes due on that date have been sent within the past few days to all city taxpayers.

The penalty for delinquent taxes on Feb. 1 will be 2 1/2 percent plus one-half of one percent interest on the total tax bill. On March 1 the penalty will be 5 percent.

On April 1 it will be 7 1/2 percent and on May 1 the penalty goes to 10 percent. Starting June 1 a penalty of one-half of one percent will be added each month.

SHAW GOES ON TRIAL

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The day of reckoning arrived for Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison and defendant Clay L. Shaw today in the start of Garrison's "Case of the Century" effort to prove Shaw conspired to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Since mid-February, 1967, when Garrison announced that he and his staff had "solved" the assassination, a vague but insistent question has been nudging the mind of Americans and much of the rest of the world: "Has that fellow down in New Orleans really got something?"

The trial that will provide the answer was scheduled to start today.

Questioning of prospective jurors before Judge Edward A.

Haggerty Jr. began at 10 a.m. CST.

A legal technicality required the rearrangement of Shaw before jury picking began. He has stoutly maintained his innocence.

Free on $10,000 bond, the 55-year-old bachelor has lived quietly in his apartment in the French Quarter since his arrest on March 1, 1967. He is a retired businessman.

While Garrison stayed in his office down the hall from the trial room, Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock, 35, was the main prosecutor. Garrison makes only rare court appearances.

F. Irvin Dymond, the chief defense attorney, took the opportunity of a hearing on a staff motion Monday to file an answering motion pointing out that "the actual assassination" of Kennedy "is not even alleged" in the state's formal charge. The indictment charges Shaw "conspired (in September, 1963) with David William Ferrie and Lee Harvey Oswald and others" to kill Kennedy.

All Dead
All the alleged conspirators but Shaw are dead. Ferrie, 49, a former airline pilot with a record of an arrest on a homosexuality charge, was found dead in his New Orleans apartment on Feb. 22, 1967, four days after Garrison had first announced his probe was underway.

Garrison has scoffed at the commission's report as a "fairy tale."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Recently our daughter was married in an all-white church wedding which was one of the most beautiful ever held in this town. It was a dream come true. To say she looked like an "angel" is not just a mother's pride. I can't describe the joy that was in her father's heart and mine.

When the newlyweds returned from their honeymoon, they calmly told us to expect a grandchild in five months! That means our daughter was a good three months pregnant when she donned her wedding gown and veil. Abby, she knew it all along. How could she have done this to us? We loved this child more than life itself.

HEARTSICK MOTHER
DEAR HEARTSICK: The real test of love is to love our children when they need our love the most. It's easy to love them when they do everything right, and make us "proud" of their accomplishments. But when they disappoint us (as children do, occasionally) we can prove the strength of our love by showing compassion, understanding, and forgiveness. Try it. You'll have fewer regrets.

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and my husband is 22. We get along very well but here is the problem: He has very long hair, and I mean it is practically down to his shoulders.

During the daytime he keeps it nicely combed, but at night it is all over the place and it drives me crazy. When I mention a net he gets mad. What should I do?

RUNNING OUT OF PATIENCE
DEAR RUNNING: I agree—that man of yours needs a net—

maybe both kinds. You'll probably run out of patience before he runs out of hair, so let him know he's no treat to sleep with, and let him make a choice.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to put in my two cents worth about the woman who didn't want her husband present when she gave birth because she didn't want him to see her "naked" in front of other people. Of all the reasons she could have thought up, that is the dumbest.

In the first place she is not naked, and besides, she is there to have a baby, not to make a stag film. And as for your advice in this case, Abby, boo end hiss. Having a baby is a joint effort. She is not doing her thing, she is doing their thing.

Only once in history did a woman have a child alone, and that was 2,000 years ago in a stable. Sincerely,

P.N. (HOLLYWOOD)
DEAR ABBY: This is for Ruthie, who objects to getting all dolled up in her best clothes to be entertained in somebody's cellar recreation rooms:

Our cellar happens to be a lot larger than our living room, has more chairs, facilities for elbow-bending, dancing, pool playing, etc. Our friends have better taste than to wear black velvet and rhinestones to a cellar party, neither do they wear moccasins and jeans to a formal affair.

If Ruthie's cup of tea is six people looking bored and elegant in the living room, fine. She isn't being forced to come to the type of party that is our mug of suds, and nobody is going to miss her. Sincerely,
TOOTS, OLEAN, N.Y.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 22
Your birthday Wednesday: Enthusiasm and intrigue will build this year; even routine activities generate poignant incidents. Sentimental matters find emphasis early but may be thrust aside by vocation. Wednesday's natives frequently follow unusual professions in which individuality and leadership are essential. The women are usually much admired and sought after.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Professional matters go along smoothly, but in other directions your life confuses people around you. The public, your mate, traffic officers all tend to be difficult. Drive with exceptional care.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Business activities tend to bring you into collision. Speak up, without rancor. The afternoon brings you suggestion about your health.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your diplomatic talents come out Wednesday as you meet new and perhaps important people. Know what you want, and ask for it specifically.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Solid achievement moves you toward goals. Share the hunt for bargains with your neighbors, perhaps a little pooling on purchases will work out well.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Dress your most presentable. Make deals for the working materials, resources for the enterprise you are pursuing. Do something nice for your loved ones in the evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): If you will avoid panic and impulsive changes now, your concern over financial possibilities will never come to the worst. Stand your ground in any discussion of money.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Public relations activities mark the day. You have many chances to offer a good hand to people you can help for reward. In the evening let loved ones figure out what to do and how.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Follow the line of least resistance today and this evening. Informal invitations relating to your career are to be promptly followed up, quite seriously and in good faith. They may well turn out to be important.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A flurry of ideas are in the air about making money fast. Play it safe, unless you really do have some indisputable inside information.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Try to contain home problems there instead of letting them spill out into your other activities. Whims are seldom a profitable basis for change of financial arrangements.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your work is facilitated and, as if to make up or it, your friends and relatives seem determined to impede your other affairs. Be as graceful as you can including any amenities which hinder your movements.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): There are a lot of not-readily-visible things going for you. Protect these by normal behavior and discretion.

Writer Suggests Spring Season Thoughts on a 'Pressing Matter'

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

It's half-past winter already and time to plan your springtime sewing. But before you start, take a few minutes to check over your sewing area and review your sewing techniques.

Good pressing equipment is almost as important as good sewing equipment. To help you in spring sewing sessions here are tips from a company concerning pressing equipment and techniques.

The ironing board should be set up right alongside the sewing machine. In addition to the basic board, you will need a sleeveboard for small jobs, a tailor's ham for moulding and shaping curved areas, a sausage-shaped seam roll, a point presser and pounding block to help you get at sharp corners and produce flat points.

A new accessory called a Tailor Board is now available to perform many of the jobs done by the separate pressing aids. It may be used with or without its pad and is shaped to handle any kind of seam.

Begin your pressing by smoothing out the pattern pieces and ironing the fabric to remove creases. Always stitch a seam before it crosses another seam. Press with the grain. If a ridge starts to show on the right side slip strips of wrapping paper under seam allowances before pressing.

Darts and other curved sections are pressed over a curved and cushioned pad either on the Tailor Board or with the ham.

A perfectly set collar must be completely finished and shaped before it is attached to the garment. Press seams before trimming seam allowance and edge-stitch allowances to under collar. Then trim and grade seam allowances, turn collar and be sure points are sharp. If fabric is heavy, you may need to pound steam through with the clapper or pounding block.

Different fabrics call for different pressing techniques. Embroidered or lace fabrics should be pressed over toweling to avoid mashing design. Corduroys, velvets and other napped fabrics are best pressed over a needle board though toweling may be substituted. Knits are pressed on the lengthwise fabric grain with a medium-hot iron and a pressing cloth. The new laminated fabrics should be pressed with the iron set for the outer fabric.

For a professional finish, do your construction pressing with the new Tailor Board, which has many curves, planes and angles to conform to any garment dimension. Here, a collar is fitted over a sharp point so a clean line may be pressed in.

Delegates and adult Scout workers will meet in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church, 201 E. Foster, 6 p.m. Saturday for the annual business meeting for the Quivira Council. The meeting will be followed by a dinner at 7 p.m. also in the church building.

Mrs. Don Stafford, District II cookie chairman, reminds all leaders to have troop cookie orders to their neighborhood cookie chairman by Friday.

The annual Leader's Conference will be held at Furr's Cafeteria, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Jan. 30. Mrs. Walter Colwell, program chairman, has a key speaker and a panel discussion planned for this event. Leaders will meet other troop leaders of their own troop level. Leaders are asked to call the Girl Scout Office to register for the conference by Friday if they failed to register during neighborhood meetings.

Members of the Camping

Committee met recently and have scheduled a work-day at Camp Mel Davis for March 1. Anyone able to help on this project is asked to call the Girl Scout Office for further information.

The Public Relations Committee will meet at 10 a.m. Jan. 29, Girl Scout Office. All committee members are asked to attend.

A Ceramics, Cookie and Craft session is planned for Feb. 5 at the Girl Scout Little house 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. This will be a salad luncheon event, to give leaders craft ideas for their troops. Leaders are asked to bring a craft to share with the group. They might bring one which their troop made for Christmas or one to be made by the girls for Mother's Day.

Troop 30, with Mrs. Eugene Turner, leader, replenished the Girl Scout bookshelf at Highland Hospital with books as their service project.

Mrs. Richard Servurier designed the new cover for the cookie plan book. The leaders book gives information on the annual Girl Scout cookies sale.

National Orchestra From Mexico Played 'Astonishingly Well' Music

By BILL HALEY
Last night a large Pampa audience heard the National Symphony Orchestra of Mexico City under the direction of Hererra de la Fuente. The program consisted of four large works.
First came the Symphony No. 96 by Haydn. This is among the final 10 of the composer's prodigious output which are known collectively as the London Symphonies. They are fascinating foot-notes to history in that they show the effect the industrial revolution was finally beginning to have on music. The orchestra was becoming larger and was moving from the drawing rooms of the Esterhazy's and the Radziwill's into the concert halls.
The second and fourth works, La Mer by Debussy and Daphnis et Chloe by Ravel, should be grouped together since they are both highly successful products of musical impressionism. Ravel and Debussy were, of course, contemporaries.
Their works are similar in that they share very much the same harmonic structure and orchestral effects. Their object is to create a mood along with a picture. Anyone who cannot see, hear and feel the sunrise in the opening measures of Daphnis et Chloe is indeed beyond all efforts at impression.
The third work was a modern composition by a Mexican composer, Chavez. Since the modern era is much closer to us than either the classical or impressionistic, we have yet to distinguish between what is inspiration and innovation in these compositions. They are for the most part interesting, however, and this one is no exception.
The Mexico City Symphony played astonishingly well. The Haydn was clear, graceful and very light on its feet. La Mer contained all the musical excitement and perfume that it should have.
The outstanding work of the evening was the Daphnis and Chloe Suite, which demands great skill and orchestral virtuosity as well as sensitive conducting. It is doubtful whether even the Cleveland Symphony, or the New York Philharmonic could have done better on this one.

DECA Student Wins Trip To New York City

For selling 1,500 linen calendars more than any other Distributive Education Club in America, the Pampa High School DECA club has won first place in a national sales contest sponsored by a linen corporation of New York City, according to Clinton Forbes, club sponsor.
Steve Edwards, a PHS senior, sold more calendars than any other individual in the United States and has won an all-expenses paid trip to New York City, Forbes said. He will tour the city five days during the Easter vacation.
Forbes will accompany the student, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Edwards, 640 N. Zimmers.

Edwards sold 1,224 calendars and is a member of one of the smallest DECA clubs in the United States. Out of 3,000 clubs in the United States, the Pampa group won the top honor with its 36 members. Money made from selling calendars is used for a club fund for trips Forbes said.
The club will compete in local DECA contests at 7 p.m. Jan. 27 at Pampa High School, and will send its first and second place winners to the area contest in Odessa Feb. 1. Local contests will be in public speaking, sales demonstration, job interviews, advertising and display, he said.

Judge

areas," Judge Lenning said.
He said the main reason for misuse of county equipment was political pressure.
"The commissioners are kind of put on the spot by their constituents, who approach them and ask them to do small favors on their private property... and ask them to do small favors on their private property... putting a little more caliche on them, that sort of thing."
"And if they don't — well, you've got a mad voter. This sort of thing has almost become a tradition in many parts of the state."

Judge Lenning said he thought the only long-range solution to the problem was the consolidation of the county's four precinct barns into one central location and the hiring of a project coordinator.
He said he thought that such a move would not only result in more efficient operation and use of the county machinery but would put a stop to its misuse.
County commissioners have previously rejected a study of the proposed plan — which Judge Lenning estimated would save the county $150,000 a year — with the explanation that they felt it would curtail service. Only Pct. 1 Commissioner Joe K. Clarke voted for the proposal.
Judge Lenning absolved present Pct. 2 Commissioner Herschel V. Wilks of any responsibility in the incident yesterday, explaining that the agreement had been made by his predecessor.
He said Wilks was engaged in some studies for the county and had apparently paid little attention to the work schedule, which is ordinarily carried out by his foreman.
"I don't think he's in the least guilty," Judge Lenning said. "I know for a fact that he's already made several people mad because he's refused to do this sort of thing."
Wilks said, "I don't have any legitimate excuse for this. The only difference between this incident and several requests I have turned down is that the commitment had already been made on this one."
Wilks was appointed to the Pct. 2 commissioners post in November to fill the vacancy left by the death of the late Clyde Organ.
Hilfon, who was working on a construction crew at Panhandle Packing, told the Pampa News he was fired because he complained of the use of county equipment on the project.

Smith

been damp and overcast, but Smith's inauguration day was sunny, calm and warm.

The inaugural was televised statewide on what was said to be the largest voluntary radio-TV network ever put together in Texas.

In his own inaugural speech, Barnes challenged Texans to make the incoming administration "an era of dissatisfaction."
"Until every Texas child has the best education we can provide;
"Until every Texas worker has a fair chance at a decent job and the training to do that job;
"Until we have unified our state in a common purpose to assure full opportunity not for most Texans, but for all Texans."

Smith joined 1,123 wellwishers at a 7:30 a.m. prayer breakfast with a call for state officials to return to the religious commitment of earlier leaders.
"As I approach my duties and responsibilities as governor, I do so with the hope and firm belief that divine guidance must be an integral part of our government," he said.
In keeping with the "down-home" atmosphere, breakfast goers were served grits and fresh biscuits.

Smith, tired from Monday night's victory dinner but full of enthusiasm on the morning of his big day, lingered to shake hands with many in the crowd.
Smith, who wants his celebration to be "big and friendly," is having six inaugural balls—as many as President Richard M. Nixon had in Washington Monday.

Five of the dances are free and Smith has invited everyone in Texas to attend.
Festivities surrounding the old-fashioned inauguration began Monday night with a Democratic victory dinner.
After the legislature inaugurated Smith and Barnes in a joint session at noon on a platform in front of the capitol, Smith and Barnes watched an afternoon parade which Smith had promised would be at least 100 units long.

The two men and their wives planned to appear first during the evening festivities at the formal inaugural ball where they will lead a "grand march" of state officials.
Tour Parties
Then, accompanied by singer Jimmy Dean, the new executives planned a tour of the other five dances with Dean performing the introductions at each stop.
Smith's inaugural contrasts sharply with those of retiring Gov. John Connally, who did away with the inaugural ball in 1963 and had a reception at the capitol instead.
In 1963 Connally had neither a ball nor a reception, and in 1967, he had a single formal ball.
The legislature Monday systematically cleared the way for inauguration of Smith and Barnes with a brief joint session, canvassing the November general election results and officially declaring the two winners of the state's top offices.
Smith handed over the senate gavel to Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris, Tex., for the vote canvassing.

COLD-SINUS
Miseries?

In your head pounding — nose running — your eyes watering and are you sneezing — sneezing — sneezing?

Have you blown your nose until it is raw? Would you prefer sniffing or obviously you're not aware of our product SYN-CLEAR and this is our fault.

SYN-CLEAR is the original timed release tablet that gives you 8 light hours of relief from cold symptoms and stops up sinuses. And that's a guarantee!

If you do not have sufficient relief to open up your sinuses, try our SYN-CLEAR; just the small ad. We do not attempt to sell SYN-CLEAR; we only offer it to you if you have sufficient relief to open up your sinuses. What is medication without relief? SYN-CLEAR is what we offer and it gives you eight hours relief per tablet or your money back in full.

We could go into detail on how our product works and about the fine formula, but we would rather you ask the experts about SYN-CLEAR. The druggist at the store listed below or your family doctor can tell you about the merits of our fine formula.

SYN-CLEAR costs a little more ($1.50 & $2.50 sizes) because it does more. You're buying relief and not gimmicks.

Try SYN-CLEAR as soon as possible — you know — all have to have our own discomforts.

This little ad has an awfully big job to do — to get you to try SYN-CLEAR. So as a bonus, cut out and send in with an empty SYN-CLEAR container and we'll mail you a check for 50¢ for just trying SYN-CLEAR. If you have time to tell us about the relief SYN-CLEAR gave you, we would be pleased to hear from you.

Roy, Dale Making Comeback

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Roy Rogers and Dale Evans have saddled up their careers after a five year lay-off enforced by the cowboy star's bout with a heart ailment.

The king and queen of old style musical westerns in movies and television played hosts on "The Hollywood Palace" country and western jamboree last week.

They've booked guest appearances with Red Skelton and the new Glen Campbell show, not to mention a number of stampedes, rodeos and fairs around the country.

A comeback, never easy, is scarcely to be believed of a man and his wife in cowboy and cowgirl outfits singing square songs in the era of psychedelia.

But they're doing it. "We have a family audience," Dale explained. "People who like Lawrence Welk like us, too."

Yes. However, Lawrence hasn't been away; nor does he wear cowboy duds. "Our fans have been very loyal to us," Dale said. "They feel we're sort of members of the family."

In a sense they are. Their ancient movies, some of them 25 years old, still are shown on television, and their series—cut off at the pass seven years ago—is in syndication in many cities.

Dale, looking amazingly youthful, sees a return to wholesome country and western music.

"The trend in so-called folk-rock music can destroy everything we hold dear in this country," said Mrs. Rogers, the author of eight books.

"Some of today's pop music has a monotonous beat and the lyrics say really bad things if you listen to the words. They're dirty."

"I talk to youngsters about this, but even my own children say they must listen to the beat, not the words. If that's the case, then there is no need for lyrics at all, is there?"

Dale sees a ray of hope in the sudden popularity of Campbell and such songs as "By The Time I Get To Phoenix."

"The youngsters call everything the Nashville sound," she said. "But that doesn't apply to lyrics."

"Country music is homespun and wholesome. It's love songs and ballads. Western music has more of the flavor of the great outdoors and the frontier."

"Roy and I try to blend both sounds with a little rock."

Dale admits with a laugh that she and her husband are happy to see Western apparel becoming fashionable with the swinging crowd.

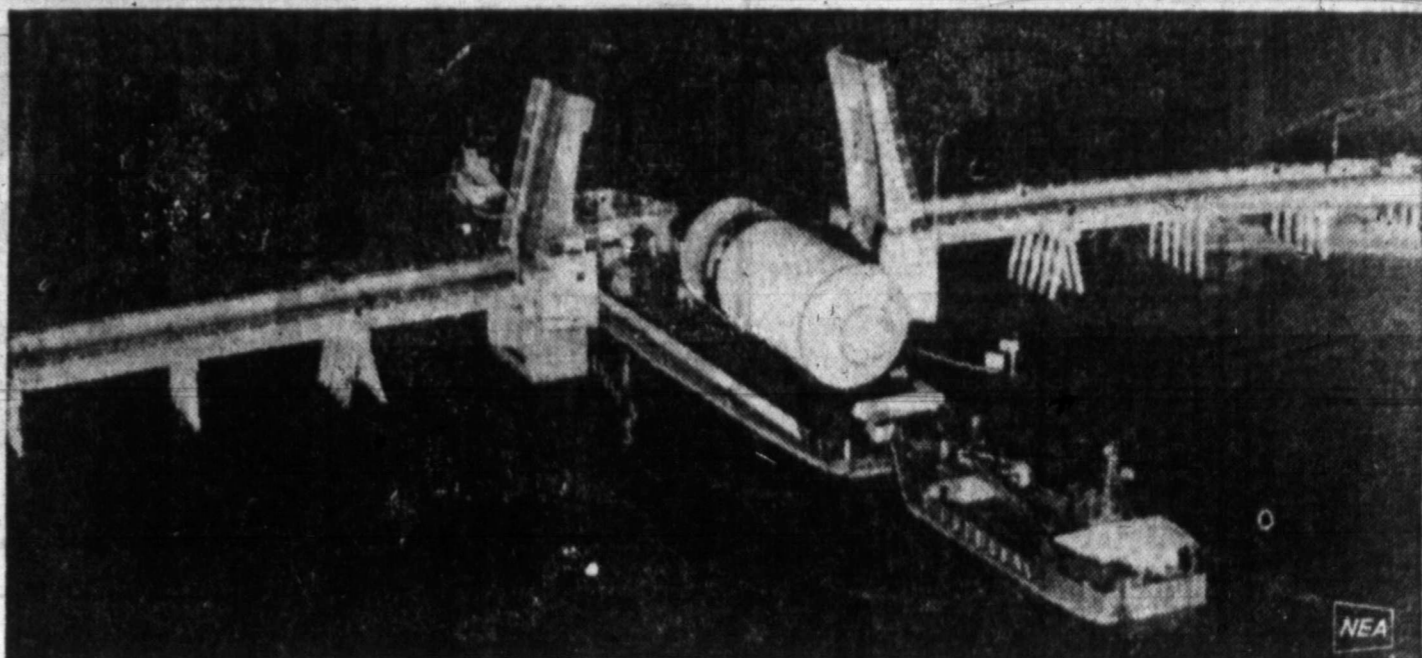

"We've been wearing these styles for years," she said. "And now that Roy is in good health we can increase our activities. We have a busy schedule this year, and hope to pick up the pace next year."

Property Transaction Intricate to Report

EDITOR'S NOTE: It is time to think about the income tax again. This is Chapter Ten of a series reviewing the regulations, with emphasis on taking advantage of all exclusions and deductions legally due you.

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Publications

Senior Citizens are not the only ones who get a tax break when they sell their home at a profit.

There are tax-saving opportunities as well for homeowners under 65 if they buy a more expensive replacement home following the sale of their residence.

If the replacement home costs as much or more than the adjusted sales price of the home sold, the tax on any gain is deferred. To take advantage of this, the replacement home must be purchased within one year before or after sale of the former home. If you are building a replacement home, you must have started construction within one year of the sale and occupied it within 18 months.

First we will define the terms and then give an example to illustrate how the rules work.

The adjusted sales price is the gross selling price less the total of "fixing-up expenses" and "selling expenses."

Fixing-up expenses are defined as those costs undertaken to make the home more salable. They include painting, decorating and repairs, for example. They must have been done within 90 days before the sale and paid for within 30 days after the sale.

Selling expenses include a realtor's commission, escrow fees and legal fees in connection with the sale.

The following case history of a home sale will show the working of the various rules:

Original cost of home $24,000
Improvements .....$1,500
Total investment .....25,500
Selling expenses ..... $2,800
Less:

Fixing-up .....250
$3,050
Adjusted sale price .....32,950

Since the cost of the replacement home, $38,000, is more than the adjusted sales price of the former home, there is no immediate taxable gain. This does not mean the tax on the gain is forgiven; it is merely deferred.

There now comes a second step to the operation. You must now establish an adjusted cost basis for the new home. To do this, reduce the price of the second home by the amount of the unrecognized gain.

To do that, refer back to the original sale and this time deduct only the selling expenses from the sales price. For this purpose, the fixing-up expenses are not considered. This is the result:

Realized on sale ($36,000 minus $2,800) .....$33,200
Investment in former home $25,500
Gain .....$7,700

Reducing the cost price ($38,000) of the replacement home by the $7,700 untaxed gain produces an adjusted basis of $30,300. Whenever the second home is sold for a higher net figure, there will be a profit.

There is no limit to the number of similar upgrading sales and purchases you may make while continually deferring the day of reckoning. If tax laws remain as they are, the ultimate tax advantage could be realized with the final sale occurring after age 65 is reached.

NEXT: Special tax benefits for the military.

Friday Is Deadline For Giving W-2 Forms

DALLAS—Friday, Jan. 31 is the deadline for employers to give employees their 1968 W-2 forms, showing the amount of earnings, income tax withheld and social security information.

Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue for Northern Texas, said today.

Forms W-2 have to be filed with income tax returns and those who had more than one job last year should make sure they have received all of them when they file their returns.

CRASH CAUSE

Bowling Ball Used To Damage Auto

Roy Blansert, 1712 Williston, reported to police Sunday that a bowling ball had been thrown through the window of his Volkswagen late Saturday night or early Sunday.

When Lt. John Thomas arrived, he found the ball, an AMPLITE magic line, had been thrown through the front window of the car, picked up and then thrown through the rear window of the vehicle.

Police learned later that the ball, a bowling bag, bowling shoes and some stereo tapes had been stolen from a vehicle belonging to Jerry Pritchard, 2100 Williston.

Police found that someone had broken a window out of Pritchard's car and had taken the items.

Bond Is Set For Burglary Charge

A bond of $500 was set by Justice of Peace E. L. Anderson Sunday for Wayne Franklin Robinson, 25, of 825 Scott.

Robinson was arrested by police Lt. John Thomas Sunday for suspicion of burglary of an automobile.

Kenneth Reed, 900 S. Finley, reported to police Sunday that a battery had been taken from a pickup parked in his driveway.

A woman reported to police that she had seen a man take something from the pickup late Saturday night. Thomas found Robinson at the man's sister-in-law's house.
The battery was found by Thomas in Robinson's car.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Window on the World:

De Gaulle Vs. Israel:
Ignoring the public outcry over his arms embargo against Israel, President Charles de Gaulle is expected to step up his drive to make friends with the Arab bloc. Former Gaullist Deputy Foreign Minister Michel Habib-de-Loncle flew to Cairo for talks with Egyptian leaders. De Gaulle, meanwhile, is planning to pay a state visit to Lebanon.

Purchaser Beware:
Potential buyers of French arms and Mystere planes, are having second thoughts because they fear De Gaulle may one day block supplies to them as he did to Israel. Dependability on arms supplies is a key consideration of arms buyers of any consequence. World reaction to De Gaulle's embargo against Israel has been so strong that the arms sales campaign now being pushed by De Gaulle is expected to meet with general reserve.

Warn Against Optimism:
Both Communist and Allied diplomats are warning against too much optimism about an early peace to emerge from the Vietnamese peace talks in Paris. Years of fighting and big power involvement have turned the Indochina peninsula into such a complex diplomatic chessboard that no one is prepared to say whether reaching an agreement will be a matter of months—or years.

Warned Nationalists Chinese:
The Nationalist Chinese government on Formosa is expected to ask the new Nixon administration to be kept "fully informed" about the dialogue in Warsaw between the American and Red Chinese representatives when they resume their talks in February. The nationalists are expected to warn against any drastic changes in U.S. policy toward Peking before the dust aroused by Chinese Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution settles.

Warning to U.S.
The new foreign secretary of the Philippines, Carlos P. Romulo, has warned the American embassy not to by-pass the foreign office in dealing with the government. No such acts, he said, will be tolerated "while I'm chief of the foreign department." It was one among several moves taken by the 70-year-old Romulo to disprove charges by critics that he is an "American boy."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Wiesenberger Investment Report says the market "appears to be completing" its third "minor leg downward," adding that investor psychology warrants "a cautious policy." The company says "marginally attractive" issues should be eliminated from portfolios and new commitments confined to stocks of "unusually strong fundamental attraction."

The Alexander Hamilton Institute says the market should continue in its "period of base building" with any major rally attempt probably stalling at the 945-960 level of the Dow Jones industrial average. It advises long-term investors to continue to accumulate quality growth stocks and suggests that traders wait for the market "to stabilize" before making new commitments.

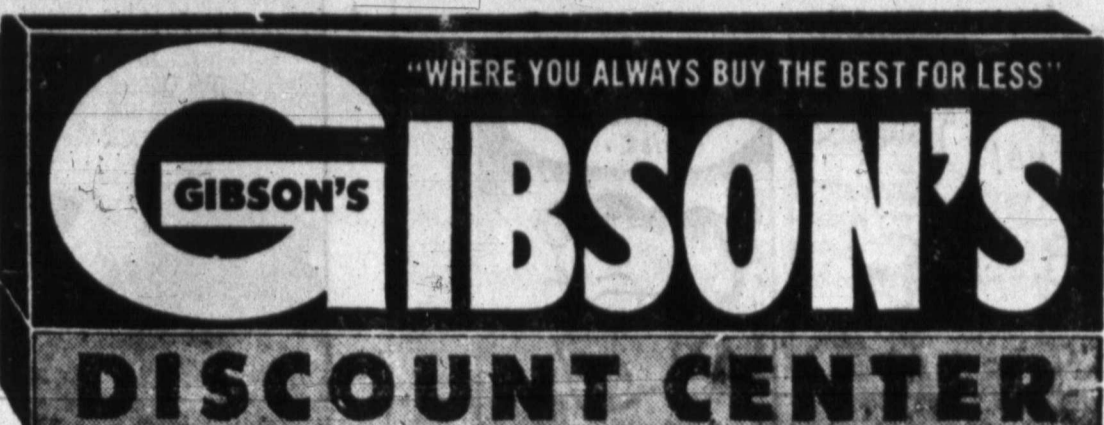

Abraham & Co. says it believes moderation will be the "keynote" of the new administration in Washington and that the market reaction to its policies also will be moderate.

Harvesters Host Dons In District Game Tonight

By RON CROSS
Palo Duro, a team that's been up and down like a yo-yo, and Pampa, who can't seem to get by the good ones, meet at 8 o'clock tonight in Harvesters gym in a District 4-4A basketball game.

The Shockers and Dons junior varsity start things off at 6:15 p.m.

Palo Duro, along with Berger was the coaches pre-season favorite to win the district basketball title. But the Dons finished tied for sixth in the first half of district play at 4-5 and are 10-11 for the season.

Only Berger has lived up to the coaches' expectations, finishing second in first half play.

Pampa did better than anybody thought, finishing in a tie for third with Monterey at 6-3 and 11-6 for the season thus far. The Harvesters will have revenge in their hearts against the Dons who inflicted a heart-breaking 55-53 defeat on Pampa in its opening district game under new coach Sterling Gibson.

The Palo Duro margin of victory came on a questionable goal-tending charge against center Jim Galman.

Palo Duro averaged 56.8 points per game during first half play but gave up an average of 62.4 per contest.

The Harvesters will be trying to break a one-game losing streak, having dropped a 64-45 decision to Borger Friday night. The 64 points was the most Pampa has given up in a conference outing this season and the Harvesters finished third in the league in defense in first half play.

Coach Tom Gilley, who'd rather beat Pampa than anybody returned three starters from last season. There is 6-2 senior Willie Cunningham, an All-State football player; 6-1 senior Denny Randall and 5-10 junior Jimmy Harris. Clarence Bolton, 6-4 junior, is a returning letterman.

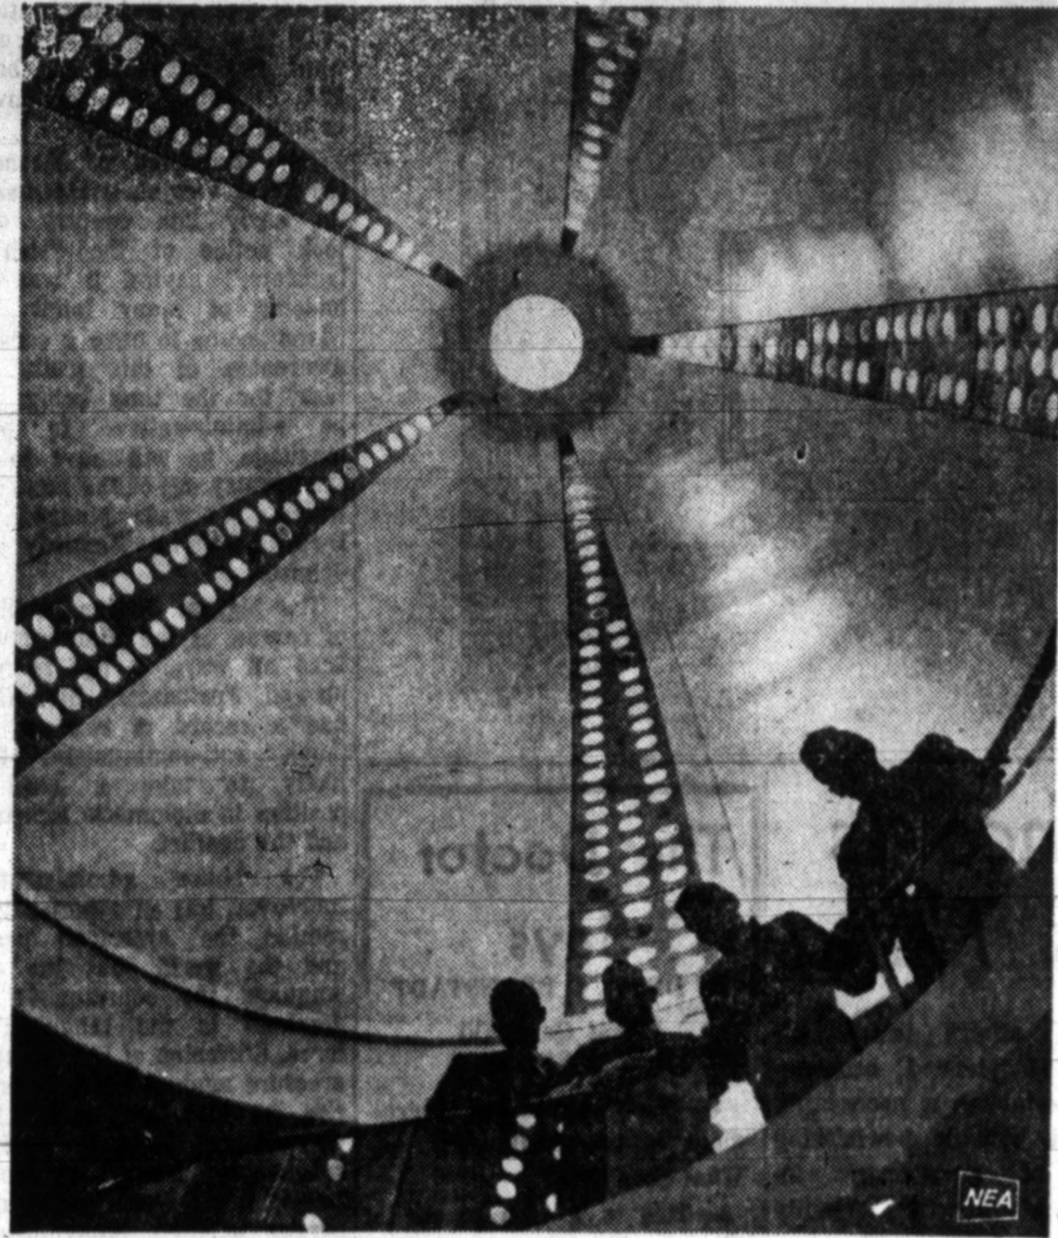

Bolton and Roy Watson, a 6-5 junior, were the two players that gave Pampa fits in the first meeting between the two clubs this season. Both scored 16 points each with Harris adding 11 and Cunningham 10 more.

Pampa led the first three periods of the first encounter but couldn't hold off Colton and Watson who sparked the final quarter drive by the Dons.

Jim Hollis, nursing an injured knee, is still the district scoring leader but his lead has dropped from six points to just two over the runnerup. Hollis scored 21 against Palo Duro in the opening district game.

Buckeyes, Huskies Roll To Victories

The University of Washington has a full one-game lead in Pacific Eight Conference basketball play, where the Huskies now have an unblemished 4-0 mark.

But coach Ted Winter, in his first season at the helm at Washington after a highly successful 15-year coaching career at Kansas State, probably has less trouble than any other winning team in keeping his boys from getting overconfident.

The runnerup is UCLA, in that position only because the Bruins have played but two league games. One of those triumphs was a 93-64 runaway victory less than two weeks ago over Oregon, a team Washington was hard pressed to handle, 60-54, Monday night.

Presuming UCLA disposes of California and Stanford in its next two conference clashes, the two leaders will clash for the top spot in a Feb. 7 showdown at Los Angeles.

Among other major cage games Monday night, Big Ten leader Ohio State shook off pesky Georgia Tech with a late scoring spur to win 73-66. Iowa State came from behind and scored with four seconds left to defeat Oklahoma State 58-56, and co-leader Western Kentucky of the Ohio Valley Conference took advantage of Dayton foul trouble to nip the Flyers 70-65.

Also, Georgia edged Auburn 85-84. Rice beat Florida State 83-80. Oklahoma City defeated Southern Methodist 96-74. Washington State beat Oregon State 61-60. Air Force trimmed Regis 79-58. Southwest Missouri tumbled Arkansas State 90-67. Virginia Tech beat Appalachian State 84-74 and Eastern Kentucky defeated Tennessee Tech 87-71.

Bruins Remain The Best, North Carolina Is Next

NEW YORK (UPI) — The North Carolina Tar Heels are working on a new win streak and strengthening their position in the national basketball ratings while continuing to move toward another possible confrontation with defending champion and top-ranked UCLA.

The Tar Heels continued their comeback after an upset loss to St. John's of New York during the Holiday Festival Tournament by posting a 98-99 triumph over Wake Forest—the sixth straight success since the setback to the Redmen.

The triumph pushed North Carolina's season record to 13-1 and helped coach Dean Smith's club solidify its hold on the No. 2 position in the weekly United Press International major college basketball ratings.

UCLA, as expected, was named the No. 1 team by the UPI Board of Coaches for the seventh consecutive week of the campaign. The Bruins, unbeaten in 12 starts this season, protected their perfect record Saturday night by demolishing Houston 100-64.

Santa Clara, winningest team in the nation with an unblemished 16-0 mark, retained the No. 3 position while Davidson (12-1) remained the No. 4 team. Kentucky replaced idle Illinois as the fifth-ranked team as the Wildcats ran their record to 11-2.

New Mexico State (15-0) climbed a notch from the previous week to the No. 6 spot while surprising St. John's continued its rise by moving to the seventh position. The Redmen are 12-2 for the season.

Illinois (11-1) was ranked eighth by the 35-member coaches rating board and Villanova moved up one position to No. 9. The WU Tulsa, leader of the Missouri Valley Conference, joined the select list as the Golden Hurricane moved into the No. 10 position. Tulsa has a 13-2 record.

got under-way but it was a 36-hole event in those days.

The payoff in the Kaiser was made at 50 per cent of the total purse. Thus, Barber, who owns his own club in Sherman, won $13,500 instead of the original $27,000. Bruce Devlin of Australia, a stroke behind Barber after two rounds, won $7,700 and Arnold Palmer, another stroke back at 137, won $4,785.

Now, the pros move on to Pebble Beach and the Crosby, which starts on Thursday.

Barber Wins Kaiser Open

NAPA, Calif. (UPI)—Miller Barber took his half a loaf, called it just one of those things and headed for Pebble Beach, Calif., today to get ready for the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am.

Barber, the 38-year-old veteran pro from Sherman, Texas, was declared winner Monday of the rain-shortened $135,000 Kaiser International Open golf tournament for shooting a nine under-par 135.

Three days 8s continuous rains, at times reaching torrential proportions, forced cancellation of the tourney, the first time it ever has been done in PGA history.

"I was just fortunate to be the leader after two rounds," said Barber. "I know it's disappointing to the other guys, but there is nothing you can do about it. It's just one of those things. You have to accept what happened and go on."

Never before has a 72-hole tourney been canceled and a pay-off made. Several 54-hole events have been cut short by weather and the original Crosby Clambake, back in 1937, never

Musical Cinch For Vote to Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stan "The Man" Musial will have his finest hour today.

Musial, the former St. Louis Cardinal great whose famed corkscrew batting stance plagued National League pitchers for 22 years, is virtually certain to be elected to the Hall of Fame today.

The only question concerning Musial, who is eligible for the first time this season, is whether he can become the first player ever selected unanimously in balloting by the Baseball Writers Association in America.

Musial, who holds over 50 major and national records, is assured of receiving the necessary 75 per cent for enshrinement at the Cooperstown, N.Y. showplace. Ted Williams, the former Boston Red Sox great, received the highest percentage ever in balloting 93.3 per cent.

Ice All-Stars To Play

MONTREAL (UPI)—The National Hockey League's Western Division All-Stars count on a trio of outstanding goalies to gain a "Super Bowl" upset tonight over the East.

Scotty Bowman, coach of the stampeding St. Louis Blues and Western coach in tonight's game at the Montreal Forum, seems to be following Joe Namath's upset recipe which led to the New York Jets amazing Super Bowl triumph over Baltimore.

Namath boasted as long as he had enough defense, he could win. Bowman isn't making any boasts, but will have three of the top net-minders in the NHL out on the ice facing the certain bombardment of the East's great goal scorers.

Hector "Toe" Blake, the general manager of the Montreal Canadiens who coached the Habs to their Stanley Cup victory over the Blues last year, has an Eastern "dream team" of forwards—including the current scoring leader, Phil Esposito of the Boston Bruins; the Chicago Black Hawks' "Golden Jet," Bobby Hull, and 40-year-old Detroit Red Wing Gordie Howe, who is playing in his 20th All-Star Game.

Members of the NHL Writers' Association in each division selected 12 members to the All-Star teams, and the coaches each named seven additional players. The writers were unanimous in selecting Hull, Howe and Boston's young defense star Bobby Orr, while Red Berenson of the St. Louis Blues was the biggest vote getter in the West, falling only four votes short of a unanimous choice.

Carol Vadnais of the Oakland Seals will replace teammate Garry Jarrett, who is sidelined with an injury.

This is the first year the Western All-Stars have met the East and the first time players have received compensation for playing—$500 to members of the winning squad and $250 to the losers. The game, which is a benefit for the players' pension fund, previously was played between the All Stars and the defending Stanley Cup champions. The Toronto Maple Leafs won last year's game 4-3.

The West's three netminders have a total of 12 shutouts compared to two each for Eastern goalies Ed Giacomin of the New York Rangers and Gerry Cheevers of Boston. From St. Louis, the West has Jacques Plante and Glenn Hall with five shutouts each and goals-against records of 1.79 and 2.20 respectively. Third-string goaltender Bernie Parent of the Philadelphia Flyers has a respective 2.43 average and two shutouts.

Others in Lineup
Other members of the Eastern lineup are: Defensemen Tim Horton of Toronto, J.C. Tremblay and Ted Harris of Montreal, Pat Stapleton of Chicago and Ted Green of Boston; centers Jean Beliveau of Montreal; Stan Mikita of Chicago and Norm Ullman of Toronto; left wings Frank Mahovlich of Detroit and Dennis Hull of Chicago, Bobby Rousseau of Montreal and Rod

Gilbert and Bob Nevin of New York.

Rounding out the Western squad are: Defensemen Bill White of the Los Angeles Kings, Al Arbour, Noel Picard and Doug Harvey, all from St. Louis. Ed Van Impe of Philadelphia and Elmer Vasco of the Minnesota North Stars; centers Ted Hampson of the Oakland Seals and Danny O'Shea of Minnesota; left wings Danny Grant of Minnesota and Ab McDonald of St. Louis, and right wings Claude LaRose of Minnesota, Bille Hicke of Oakland, Jim Roberts of St. Louis and Ken Schinkel of the Pittsburgh Penguins.

Some Not Convinced That Jets Are Best

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI)—Some die-hards still aren't convinced. They don't care what the score was, they still think the Baltimore colts are a superior ball club to the world champion New York Jets.

These human Rocks of Gibraltar come in all shapes and sizes and from all different stations.

The neighborhood milkman, butcher and dentist all have their own ideas of what would happen the next time the Colts met the Jets. They're all pretty sure the outcome would be entirely different from the result in Miami's Super Bowl nine days ago.

Dick McAuliffe is one of those still not convinced the Jets are better than the Colts. He has two strikes against him because, one, he's Detroit's second baseman and baseball players don't ordinarily concern themselves with football matters, and two, he's an avowed Colts fan, but he's still entitled to his say.

"There's no greater feeling in the world, being an underdog and winning like the Jets did," says McAuliffe, who experienced something of the same sensation himself a little more than three months ago, "but I'm sure if they played again and kept on playing and playing, the Colts would come out on top."

"Then how did the Jets beat 'em even once?" a guy asked McAuliffe.

"Everybody has his day," laughed the second baseman. "Even the Detroit Tigers, the day they won the seventh game of the world series."

"We beat Bob Gibson one out of three. That doesn't prove we can beat him every time. I honestly think Gibson didn't have his best stuff when we beat him. I feel all the circumstances involved at the time benefitted us. Gibson generally gets more rest between starts than he got against us. We were lucky."

"You saying the Jets were lucky?"

"I'm saying I think the Colts can do it next year. As a matter of fact I thought they had a chance to come on and still win when they grabbed that outside kick near the end but I have to take my hat off to the Jets, they held 'em."

"What did you think of Joe Namath?"

"He reminded me of Denny McLain. A lot of cockiness but plenty of coolness to go with it."

"What about Detroit next season? Not the Lions, the Tigers?"

HIGHER EDUCATION..... VIA A NEWSPAPER ROUTE

Why do educators frequently encourage youngsters to apply for a newspaper route? And why are more and more schools giving "credit" for newspaper route experience?

Because the attitude of a boy towards higher education frequently changes, when, as a Little Merchant newspaperboy, in business for himself, he begins to understand the value of book learning combined with practical experience.

He buys at wholesale—sells at retail—makes his own deliveries and collections—learns simple book-keeping—and often develops into a surprisingly good salesman.

And the money he banks while a newspaperboy frequently makes it possible for him to attend the college of his choice.

If you think your son or some other youngster might profit from newspaperboy experience, have him come in and talk to us.

Critical Illness of Schools

Someone was quoted recently to the effect that the Greeks gave the world democratic government, the Romans law and the United States "universal education."

"Education" and "schooling" are not synonymous, but if we substitute "schooling" for "education" in the quote, perhaps argument can be avoided.

How are we doing, then, with the universal schooling? Not so hot, according to a number of sources.

In New York City for example, the experiments with "community run" schools has resulted in the teacher strikes which have led the New York Times to comment that "the disintegration of the school system has become a possibility."

The New York strikes have been settled, temporarily, but the underlying issues still smolder. Worried parents, who foresee even greater turmoil in the future, have been swamping the offices of private school administrators with applications for admission on behalf of their children.

The Wall Street Journal, in an investigation of the Russian system of schooling, found that the Russian policy is "aimed primarily at finding the best students and then urging them on to greater academic achievements."

Dr. Hansen asks: "How can America become great—or even survive as it is—without intellectual excellence? How long can this nation continue to disdain the academically gifted among its young."

It may be that the turmoil in the government-run schools is all for the best in the long run. When the situation reaches the point where the students can't read with a fair amount of proficiency, perhaps parents and others who put up the billions that are spent each year on "public education" will conclude that those same billions would be better spent on private schools which must produce the kind of results sought, or else cease to exist for lack of support.

The symptoms of critical illness in government-run schools are evident everywhere and too persistent to be ignored. Lack of money can no longer—indeed, it never could—be used as an excuse for the patient's condition. The opposite seems to be the case: As money for the schools increases, achievement of the pupils decreases.

Johnny can't read, because he hasn't been taught how—even though he frequently is among those who carry a diploma from one of the American mills of "universal education." The "educators," in formal convocation, have declared him "educated." They may as well have added, "but not literate."

Dear Mr. Politician—The tax paying public is trying to tell you something. It will be a wise move if you listen; otherwise you are in for big trouble.

The taxpayers have turned down spending issues put to them recently and we believe there is a message there. The cry will be, "The people were not informed sufficiently of the great need." Or, "The public has been victimized by forces of reaction." Or, "There is too much apathy in the community today."

It is possible, even to the closed minds of the political arena, that there is another reason for the negative reaction of those who pay the bills. We suggest that it is not from apathy, not from lack of information and not because the public has "been sold a bill of goods by reactionaries."

We suggest the taxpayers are telling the politicians that they have had enough. They are telling the supervisors, assemblymen, congressmen, city councilmen, the governor and the president to exercise more economy.

More and more people are realizing that the tax bite is not something just for the wealthy property owners. All taxes ultimately are passed on to the consumer, so the only way to cut taxes is to cut spending.

Nixon Maps 1970 Plans For Congress

By RAY CROMLEY WASHINGTON (NEA)—The Democrats' leadership struggles in the new Congress become more understandable when it is made clear that President Nixon intends a massive assault on their control in the 1970 elections.

The President-elect is thinking big on this matter, and the Democrats have all too little time to get their defenses in order and their image shined up.

The incoming administration, heartened that its Senate disadvantage in the 91st Congress is only 57-43, believes it can in 1970 go well beyond the pickup of eight additional seats required for outright control and gain perhaps 12 to 14.

The seats deemed most vulnerable which will be on the block in the next election include those presently held by Senators Dodd of Connecticut, Hartke of Indiana, Tydings of Maryland, Hart of Michigan, McCarthy of Minnesota, Cannon of Nevada, Williams of New Jersey, Burdick of North Dakota, Young of Ohio, Moss of Utah, Proxmire of Wisconsin and McGee of Wyoming.

Nixon planners, perhaps dreaming a good bit, also are gazing covetously toward the seats now occupied by Senators Holland of Florida and Yarborough of Texas.

If all that were achieved by the GOP in 1970 the Democrats would have lost 14 of the 25 Senate seats they have to put up then.

Meantime, only nine Republican seats are at stake, and Nixon strategists think it not unrealistic to argue that just two, the one in Alaska just filled by Theodore Stevens under appointment following the death of Sen. E.L. Bartlett, Democrat, and that of Sen. Charles Goodell, named to the post vacated by the assassination of Robert F. Kennedy, are truly vulnerable.

Factional squabbling in Texas since that state fell narrowly to Vice President Humphrey in the 1968 election may dim GOP dreams there. But Nixon sources still argue that the Democrats are rent by worse strife and that GOP Rep. George Bush could be a formidable candidate against incumbent Sen. Ralph Yarborough.

Florida is considered hopeful because Rep. Edward Gurney just won a Senate seat there and the aging Sen. Spessard Holland is felt to be a ready target in a state where party fortunes conceivably may be shifting more or less steadily toward the Republicans.

The other dozen targets, of course, contain some tough prospects. Should McCarthy adhere to his resolve to bow out in 1970 and Humphrey hold to current intent to seek his spot, Republicans might have to cross Minnesota off their list of hopefuls.

Hart is popular in Michigan, and Dodd, Harrison Williams and Proxmire appear fairly well-entrenched in their states despite some evident vulnerability.

The President-elect's attack, however, will take all this into account. He and his political lieutenants intend to play a decisive role in the fielding of Republican choices for these Democratic seats. They do not plan to sit idly by and see weak sisters thrown into the 1970 lists.

Nixon is said not to accept the argument that a president should not mix in, contending rather that where so much is at stake for the national party his responsibility in candidate selection should be major. The Nixon view, further, is that it is all in the way it is done. State and local leaders need not be antagonized.

It perhaps should not be forgotten that in his extensive campaigning for congressional candidates in 1966, Nixon limited himself almost wholly to new prospects for the House. Of the 47 who then gained new seats, all but one were elected in 1968. The President-elect thus has reason to think well of his own capacity for selectivity in the candidate field.

Listening to today is the man who tells them he will cut expenses, will eliminate waste and improve efficiency.

And Mr. Politician, you'd better believe it; this revolution is just beginning.

Little Ignorance Is A Dangerous Thing

(Chicago Tribune) The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, who succeeded the late Rev. Martin Luther King as head of the Southern Christian Leadership conference, says he rejects the "black capitalism" favored by President Nixon in favor of "black socialism."

"We don't want rich individuals," Abernathy told his followers; "we want rich communities. We want to share in the public sector of the economy through publicly controlled, non-profit institutions."

Inasmuch as there can be no black socialism without white socialism, Abernathy wants socialism for everybody. That is, he wants public ownership of the means of production, according to the Marxian formula. He wants these publicly controlled segments of the economy to be operated without a profit. That isn't difficult under a socialist order: the balance sheet is invariably in the red.

Once the profit motive is eliminated from the economy, who provides the working capital? There are no rich to soak, no productive middle class to soak, nobody to soak. The proponents of the "welfare state" under the quasi-socialism of recent Democratic administrations know better than risk that. They leave enough private enterprise to foot the bill. Abernathy would simply share the poverty.

Abernathy's preference for socialism leaves an even more basic question to be answered. He wants "rich communities," to be produced under socialism, but where can he point to any example of socialism that ever made anybody rich? Where can he find socialism in operation even capable of paying its own way?

The Russians, the Red Chinese, the captive peoples of eastern Europe, have all been "enjoying" the fruits of socialism. So have numerous "new nations" in Africa. So has India. Are these shining examples of prosperity? Even the Rev. Mr. Abernathy would have a hard time concluding they are. All blacks in the reasonably free economic system of the United States are not prosperous, and many undoubtedly are poor. But they have, even at a hardship level, a higher standard of living than prevails in any black nation anywhere else.

These are facts of which the Rev. Mr. Abernathy should be aware, but he finds it convenient to invoke "socialism" as an incantation which will appeal to the unwary. And of one other thing he should be convinced, and that is that the planned economy necessarily leads to despotism.

The Swedish economist Gustav Cassel formulated the progression under socialism 35 years ago in saying: "The leadership of the state in economic affairs which advocates of planned economy want to establish is necessarily connected with a bewildering mass of government interferences of a steadily cumulative nature. The arbitrariness, the mistakes, and the inevitable contradictions of such policy will, as daily experience shows, only strengthen the demand for a more rational coordination of the different measures and, therefore, for unified leadership. For this reason planned economy will always develop into dictatorship."

So it has been in the Soviet Union, in the Soviet satellites, in Red China, in Nkrumah's Ghana, and everywhere else. Perhaps the Rev. Mr. Abernathy fancies himself as the coming Ultimate Leader. But we imagine that most black Americans would prefer Mr. Nixon's black capitalism, with its hope of black ownership, black management, and black working force, all of them getting "a piece of the action." For under this order there is action, while under socialism there is only stagnation.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT

Wheat Germ Oil Rich in Vitamin E

Q—What beneficial ingredient is in wheat germ oil? What does it do?

A—This is a rich source of alpha tocopherol or vitamin E which is essential to prevent destruction of red blood cells. Recent studies have shown that persons with arthritis need less cortisone to control their disease if they take vitamin E; that this vitamin will prevent anemia in premature infants; that it is an effective remedy for digitalis poisoning; that it can ease the pains in the legs that occur on walking a short distance (intermittent claudication) due to hardening of the arteries; and that it benefits women with chronic cystic mastitis.

Q—Do choline and inositol have any beneficial effect on one's cholesterol level?

A—These are two of the lesser-known vitamins. When inositol deficiency is induced in animals the cholesterol level rises. A deficiency of choline, on the other hand, lowers the cholesterol level. These facts have not as yet resulted in any therapeutic use of these substances in human beings, probably because more reliable means of achieving the desired purpose are available.

Q—A lumbar sympathectomy was performed on a friend who had hardening of the arteries. What is this operation and how does it help?

A—In this operation the surgeon cuts the roots of the sympathetic nerves at the point of emergence from the vertebral column just below the ribs. It's usually on both sides and tends to lower the blood pressure. Since high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries often go hand in hand, anything that helps one relieve the other. With the advent of effective drugs to control the blood pressure, this operation is not performed as often as it used to be.

Q—I am taking Tenuate. What is it given for? What are the side effects?

A—This is an appetite suppressant given to help you lose weight. Although side effects are rare, it is advisable after a short course of this drug to rely on a low calorie diet to keep your weight down.

Q—What causes low blood pressure?

A—Low blood pressure, unless it reaches shock level (an upper reading of 95) is an asset and is caused by healthful living coupled with a failure to worry yourself sick.

Experts consider adults to be more careless than children when it comes to littering, says Keep America Beautiful, Inc.

Sensing The News

By THURMON SENSING

Mr. Nixon's Beginning administration. For example, What sort of program Mr. Nixon will send to Capitol Hill won't be known for a time. Since the election he has been quiet regarding his legislative plans, as he has been largely concerned with the selection of Cabinet and sub-Cabinet officials for the new administration. Indeed it is unlikely that the new President will send any big package to the Hill. The country has been engulfed in new legislation in recent years, and the nation's real need is to sort through what already is on the books and to discard what is unwise or unnecessary.

John Randolph of Roanoke, the great Virginia statesman of the early 19th century, once took notice of the "itch to legislate," saying it was the undoing of many lands. Mr. Nixon seems to have a sensible awareness of this truth. His task, for the time being, will be administrative. In plain language, he will have to get the country out of the mess into which it was plunged by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

The biggest foreign problem, of course, is the Vietnam war. Like all wars, it has to have an end. Fortunately, Mr. Nixon has a record of realism and tough anti-communism. He's likely to take a hard-line position in diplomatic efforts to end the conflict. The Nixon administration, moreover, has an opportunity to remind the American people and the world that the only language the communists understand is the language of force. Stiffening of U.S. military pressure against North Vietnam and the Viet Cong is the best way to get them in a more reasonable frame of mind. Indeed if the North Vietnamese persist in their funny-business and propagandizing at Paris, the Nixon administration could quickly bring the Reds to their senses by a renewal of U.S. air and sea bombardment of North Vietnam.

Part of the tragedy of the present situation is that President Johnson halted that bombardment just at the time when it was doing the most good and when the communists were really hurting. A tough international policy makes sense for Mr. Nixon, if for no other reason than by the people who elected him, because it is what is wanted by the people who elected him. Mr. Nixon was NOT elected by the "doves" who want a quick withdrawal from Vietnam. He got the "hawk" vote in the presidential campaign, and his supporters expect him to be "hawkish"—realistic, that is, during his tenure in the White House.

On the domestic front, his supporters undoubtedly expect him to take a hard line towards law and order in the streets and on college campuses. The disorders at several "educational" institutions has worsened in recent weeks, especially in California, where anarchists have waged pitched battles with the police. The time has come to use the authority of the federal government to deal with those who are determined to sabotage higher education in the United States.

The people who elected Mr. Nixon are the Americans who are concerned about lawlessness and civil disobedience and want something done to eliminate these evils. A good place to begin is Washington, D.C., where the police have been virtually disarmed as a result of political pressure on the city administration. For example, police no longer may fire at fleeing lawbreakers. Obviously, the hoodlum element is rejoicing.

An excellent proposal to this end already has been submitted by U.S. Rep. Joel Broyhill (R-Va.), a member of the House Committee on the District of Columbia. He has proposed putting Congress in direct control of the war on crime in the federal district.

Congressman Broyhill recommends that the Speaker of the House and the President Pro Tem of the Senate name the police commissioner for the District of Columbia. In this way, the post of police commissioner would be insulated from the political pressures inside the district, pressures that benefit the street hoodlum element. If something of this sort is not introduced, Washington, D.C. soon will not be safe for government workers or tourists. Now is the time, therefore, to turn the seat of government into a showcase for law and order.

An enormous range of administrative decisions await Mr. Nixon and his Cabinet. Few are more pressing than action to reform the welfare system that is a haven for parasites. A crackdown is in order against the associations and unions of so-called "welfare clients." These militant groups think they have a privileged sanctuary from which they can raid the public treasury and abuse productive citizens who provide relief money through their taxes. A federal investigation of the "welfare rights" organizations would be a good beginning for the Nixon administration.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—President Nixon's inaugural address Monday made clear he already knows more about speaking on television than Lyndon Johnson learned in all his White House years.

Nixon's address was a low-key endeavor in which he demonstrated again his recently developed ability to talk in a most natural way to home viewers. Content aside, this is a tremendously valuable asset, and certainly a boon to the watching citizenry as well.

For, as someone pointed out, former President Johnson's constant—and overwhelming drawback as a television figure was that he always seemed to be talking the way he apparently thought a president ought to talk.

Persons close to Johnson often maintained that the way he was on television was not the way he was privately. Away from the home screen, he was highly persuasive and relaxed and natural, his associates claimed.

And, in fact, he did have one lengthy network interview a while back, in the John Kennedy style—talking informally with newsmen—and it seemed that this program would break down the video image barrier he had unknowingly created. But the promise was not fulfilled, and barely improved afterward.

The contrast of Nixon's and Johnson's television ability over the years is vivid. For many years, Nixon had no command of the medium, and did his image no good. Yet he saw video's value, and worked hard to improve himself—and did.

Johnson, on the other hand, actually was better on television when he was Kennedy's vice president. A half-hour interview he did on ABC-TV during that time stands out even now for its naturalness. Yet once he got into the White House, he became a more remote, impersonal television figure.

Television made clear that Johnson was a proud man. And there are video moments in which one recalls his great personal dignity at crucial times. The nation saw him after he was sworn in as president following Kennedy's assassination. And it also saw and heard him withdraw from the race for re-election last year—a moment in which it was impossible not to admire his presidential honor.

But television makes its impact on the public day in and day out, and not so much through occasional events. And it is in this area of a continuing personal relationship with the people of the United States that Johnson sadly lost the immense opportunity offered by the television medium.

One hopes that this lesson is not lost on President Nixon.

FINNISH SHEEP IMPORTED

A breed of sheep from Finland, noted for producing multiple births, has been introduced to the U.S. and will be used in crossbreeding experiments in an effort to improve lambing rates. The sheep now in quarantine will be used at Agricultural Research Stations at Beltsville, Md., Clay Center, Neb. and Dubois, Idaho. Finnish Landrace sheep usually produce an average of 2 to 4 lambs per lambing.

FUTURE SPACECRAFT may look like this artist's concept of a modified Gemini capsule which would carry a crew of nine. The ship would be used to perform low earth orbital logistic missions in support of proposed space station activities. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has awarded a study contract to explore the development costs, funding, schedules facilities and facility modifications necessary in planning the proposed project.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The thing about the new federal budget that makes the mind boggle and the senses reel is not the prospect of spending $195.3 billion in a single year. It is the prospect of spending $195.3 billion and still having something left.

One can comprehend the magnitude of that sum as long as it leaves us in the hole financially. But the concept of spending such a scale without exhausting the exchequer is beyond one's grasp.

During the past few decades, the mind and the senses have become deficit oriented. We spend more and we sink deeper into debt. The two go together, like love and marriage. Or marriage and divorce.

Our entire economy, which has produced the highest level of prosperity ever achieved by man, was built on this principle.

In proposing a budget which has a $3.4 billion surplus, President Johnson has spread confusion and bewilderment throughout the land.

Small wonder that a U.S. senator, upon first perusing the budget, concluded that it was "put together with mirrors."

For several hours after the budget was released, I wondered bogglingly about the credibility gap, unable to get my bearings. Finally I called I know-in-the-budget bureau and asked directions.

"Is such a thing really possible?" I inquired. "Can the government actually take in more than it spends? Or is there some kind of trick to it?"

"I understand your feeling of consternation," he replied, "but theoretically it can be done."

"Well, it sounds kind of un-American to me," I said.

"Not at all," he said. "There have been many times in U.S. history when income exceeded expenditures. Look it up."

I did, and I found there are historical precedents for a budgetary surplus. But I got the impression they came about largely by accident. Poor planning on someone's part, most likely.

In this era of computers and modern accounting techniques, there is no excuse for such slip-ups. If the budget bureau had diligently supplied itself to task, I'm sure it could have found some way to spend that extra $3.4 billion.

All hope is not gone, however. We can usually count on Congress to lead us back to normalcy.

GENTLE PEOPLE are found in San Francisco—or so go the lyrics of a popular song. Here is the handiwork of some not-so-gentle swingers on the campus of San Francisco State College, where students and police clashed. Bloodied demonstrators, left, are being led off by authorities. Downed policeman, right, was struck with a cast iron chair leg during rioting and is reported in "very serious" condition.

Quotes in the News

By United Press International
 WASHINGTON—Henry Cabot Lodge, speaking with W. Averell Harriman, the man he will replace as chief U.S. negotiator in the Paris peace talks: "You're going to be a hard man to follow."

WILMINGTON, DEL. — The Rev. Thomas Luce, commenting on an announcement that National Guard troops will end nightly patrols of Wilmington's black slums after more than nine months: "The guard was just an insult to the community, and now that this is removed there will be a much better atmosphere in general."

BAN ME THOUT, VIETNAM — U.S. Army senior advisor Col. Frederick Tibbets III, evaluating the performance of a South Vietnamese army division in which the number of American military advisors was reduced: "All three regiments of that division maintained a high level of combat for extended periods of time. Leadership, initiative and self-reliance increased."

WASHINGTON—One of a group of servicemen who marched in an antiwar parade through Washington Sunday but barred the way when some fellow demonstrators tried to pull down an American flag: "I don't like what our country stands for now but that will change someday and this will still be our flag."

George Washington was inaugurated April 30, 1789, on the balcony of Federal Hall on Wall Street in New York. He read his inaugural address to Congress assembled inside the building.

COLD - SINUS Miseries?

Is your head pounding — your running — are your eyes watering and are you sneezing — sneezing — sneezing? Have you blown your nose until it hurts? We're sorry you're suffering so; obviously you're not aware of our product, SYNACLEAR and this is our fault. SYNACLEAR is the original timed release tablet that gives you eight hours of real relief from cold symptoms and clogged up sinuses. And that's a guarantee! We do not have millions to spend on TV to tell you about SYNACLEAR; just this small ad. We do not gimmick our Advertising and product by offering twelve hours of medication. What is medication without relief? SYNACLEAR is what we offer and it gives you eight hours relief per tablet or your money back in full. We could go into detail on how our product works and about the fine formula, but we would rather you ask the experts about SYNACLEAR. The druggist at the store listed below or your family doctor can tell you about the merits of our fine formula. SYNACLEAR costs a little more ($1.99 & $3.99 sizes) because it does more. You're buying relief and not gimmicks. Try SYNACLEAR as soon as possible — you know — all have to lose are your discomforts. This little ad has an awfully big job to do — to get you to try SYNACLEAR. So as it helps, can we out and send you with an empty SYNACLEAR carton and we'll mail you a check for $5.00 for just trying SYNACLEAR. If you have time to tell us about the results SYNACLEAR gave you, we would be pleased to hear from you.
