Lodge, Ky Meet For Conference

PARIS (UPI)—Chief American negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge and South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky today called an urgent conference after strong indications the Communists were determined to make no concessions to get the Vietnam peace talks moving. The strategy planning session at Ky's suburban residence coincided with widespread hints from Communist circles that North Vietnam and the Viet Cong will stand pat on their demand to discuss first the future of South Vietnam's political regime, blocking allied demands to put military issues ahead.

U.S. Could Stop Nuclear Spread, Humphrey Notes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States might be able to make progress in negotiations to halt the spread of nuclear weapons if it agrees to stop working on the planned anti-ballistic missile system, former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has suggested.

Humphrey made the proposal in an essay written shortly before he left office. The article also reveals that former President Johnson pushed the ABM system because he thought it might "quicken" Soviet interest in ending the nuclear arms race, and that former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara disagreed with Johnson but "compromised."

Iraq, Jordan Say Israeli Warplanes Attack Troops

Nixon Is Considering Mideast Peace Drive

By MURRAY J. BROWN
United-Press-International

Iraq and Jordan reported attacks by Israeli warplanes against Arab forces in Jordan today. Each claimed their anti-aircraft gunners shot down two of the Israeli raiders.

In Jerusalem, Israeli military spokesmen reported one aerial raid across the cease-fire line but made no mention of any losses.

Radio Baghdad said 11 Israeli planes attacked in northern Jordan and claimed Iraqi gunners knocked down two of them.

A Jordanian spokesman in Amman said Jordanian gunners shot down two Israeli planes which attacked troop positions also in the north of Jordan in two waves. Earlier, Jordan said two Israeli planes bombed its territory with napalm but were driven back by anti-aircraft fire.

Israeli spokesmen in Jerusalem said two of their jets struck Jordanian positions south of the Sea of Galilee after the Arabs opened fire on an Israeli patrol across the Jordan River cease fire line.

There was no confirmation in Jerusalem of the other two raids reported by Baghdad and Amman.

An Israeli military spokesman described the Radio-Baghdad attack report as "another one of those lightheaded, wishful thinking, war scare bubbles they throw into the air in Beirut, and which stand in midair until we are asked to puncture them."

The Arab reports of increased Israeli air action came as President Nixon was reported embarking on a drive to bring peace to the Middle East. He moved toward big power talks and resumption of formal relations with Egypt, served by Cairo during the 1567 Arab

College Students Suspended For Demonstrations

CHICAGO (UPI)—Sixty-one of the 300 students controlling the University of Chicago's Administration Building have been suspended—what seems hardly to have disturbed the demonstrators.

Those occupying the six-story building since last Thursday had received a vote by 1,000 "uncommitted" students and faculty members of the 8,600-student school, urging that amnesty be given the demonstrators.

The protestors were visited Sunday by members of the Students for a Democratic Society and the Progressive Labor Party, urging they drop their "student power" demands in favor of economic concessions to the poor.

To Dramatize Issue Today, the demonstrators were to hold a news conference only for women reporters—to dramatize the issue involved in the firing of a woman sociology professor, Mrs. Marlene Dixon, whose politics were radical.

A spokesman also said 50 per cent of all reporters at future news conferences would have to be women.

The demonstrators discussed the Saturday night vote by the "uncommitted" students and faculty, and hotly debated the suggestions of the SDS and PLP, but seemed to be unconcerned by the suspensions, which were temporary and could be appealed to the dean of students.

Suspensions Ordered Sunday, the university said the suspensions were ordered "because of the failure of these 61 persons to discontinue a disruptive demonstration after having been notified that their conduct was disruptive and having been asked to cease that conduct."

The demonstration was sparked by the firing of a woman sociology professor, Mrs. Marlene Dixon, who acknowledged she is a radical. The students charged she was fired because of her politics; the university denied it.

The vote of the "uncommitted" for amnesty covered one of the protestors' three other demands. The other two were for a 50-per-cent student voice in the hiring and firing of faculty—which was rejected Sunday by the demonstrators—and compensation for school employees kept from their jobs by the sit-in.

Harvester Band Receives Honor For Film Library

Pampa High School's Harvester band, a coast-to-coast performer, has been selected for another honor—to be placed in a university film library as one of Texas' "outstanding marching bands," according to Harris-Brinson, band director.

"We have received a letter from Texas A&I University, at Kingsville, stating our band was included in its first permanent file of Texas' best marching bands. The university received a research grant to start the film library which will be on loan to any school on request," Brinson said.

The library will include a listing of each band director's name, the band name and classification, two, three or four A, and its style of marching, he said.

The PHS band style of marching is almost 100 per cent precision in the high knee lift marching style. When the band makes word and picture formations it works to remain in its precision style, with all band members in straight lines and in step, Brinson said.

"The university has requested we send the most recent contest film. We're sending the regional marching contest in Canyon Nov. 5 for University Interscholastic League," he said.

A consistent winner of sweepstakes trophies for marching concert and sight-reading, the PHS band recently performed two nationally televised halftime shows for the Los Angeles Rams in Los Angeles, Calif., and the New York Jets in New York City.

Texas Legislature Buckles Down For Consideration of New Bills

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Legislature, finally finished with a time-consuming change of command, buckles down today to committee consideration of the first of some 200 bills already awaiting legislative action.

The last of the organizational chores was cleared away last week as Speaker Gus F. Mutscher announced his choices for members and chairmen of 45 permanent house committees. The house rules committee, headed by Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria, will probably face one of the session's first controversies early this week when it takes up a proposal on joint house-senate rules.

The senate approved joint rules last week at the urging of Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, but Mutscher declined to push for immediate adoption in the house.

The joint rules would limit conference committee members to adjusting differences between house and senate bills. In the past conference committees often rewrote bills completely. The house appropriations committee opened hearings Thursday on a proposed $5.6 billion state budget, and scheduled more hearings early today before most legislators had returned to the statehouse from a long weekend.

Evaluate Programs Sen. Criss Cole's senate committee on youth affairs meets for the first time this afternoon, and Barnes will ask the group to initiate steps for appointment of a "blue ribbon" committee to evaluate the state's youth rehabilitation program and the Texas Youth Council, the agency which administers the programs.

Earnes said the Department of Public Safety will report today on its findings in an investigation of charges of guard brutality at the Gatesville State School.

Senate hearings are also expected this week on a workmen's compensation bill which would increase benefits for disabled workers. (See BILL, Page 3)

Bucher Returns For Ship Inquiry

CORONADO, Calif. (UPI)—Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, refreshed by a three-day weekend with his family, returned today to the inquiry into the loss of his ship and testimony by his intelligence officer.

Lt. Stephen R. Harris, 21, who headed the Pueblo's "spook unit" when the ship was seized by North Korean gunboats, was to testify secretly for 90 minutes before the hearing was opened to the public.

Bucher was tense and pale during last week's sessions of the court of inquiry, and he relaxed during the weekend on a trip with his wife, Rose, and their sons, Michael, 16, and Mark, 14.

Bucher's civilian attorney, E. Miles Harvey, said the commander will return to the stand after all other witnesses have testified to tie up any loose ends. Last week's sessions were held in secret because matters of national security were discussed, but the Los Angeles Times reported today it had learned certain parts of the testimony of the former captain of the Pueblo's sister intelligence ship, the Banner.

Cmdr. Charles R. Clark told the five-admiral board last Wednesday he "had no fear" during missions off Soviet Siberia because the Russians "would have too much to lose" in world opinion if they seized his ship, the Times said.

ON MIDEAST CRISIS

Nixon Gets Advice From Ike and LBJ

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Middle East turmoil, one of the most explosive problems facing President Nixon, has prompted him to seek out two former presidents for help.

Nixon left the White House on a rainy Sunday evening to drive to Walter Reed Army Hospital where he conferred with his old boss, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, for 40 minutes. The subject was the Middle East.

Nixon said Eisenhower "gave me excellent advice and comment on the policy decisions we are considering," Eisenhower, 78, is recovering from a series of heart attacks suffered last year. "Ike" was dressed in a maroon and blue robe, blue and white pajamas and wool-lined slippers as he sat up for the conference with his former vice president.

After the meeting Nixon announced that an arrangement had been made so he could discuss similar matters with former President Lyndon B. Johnson. He said his first session with his predecessor would be by telephone.

Nixon's communications with the former chief executives came amid growing indications that the new administration will soon make its first major policy moves in the area.

The same problem dominated a three-hour meeting of the National Security Council Saturday.

Nixon said when he first entered the room Sunday Eisenhower called him "Mr. President and I was a little embarrassed."

Nixon held his weekly worship service in the East Room of the White House Sunday morning with Cabinet members, congressmen, 40 White House drivers and their families in attendance.

REALLY A GENTLE MAN

Noted Frankenstein Monster Actor Boris Karloff Is Dead

MIDHURST, England (UPI)—Boris Karloff, the gentle actor whose portrayal of "Frankenstein's monster" and other monsters chilled millions of moviegoers, died Sunday in King Edward the VII Hospital. He was 81.

Karloff was born William Henry Pratt at Dulwich, England Nov. 23, 1887.

He had been in the hospital since last November but had previously been ill for some time.

His death ended a career that spanned more than a half-century of movie, stage, and television acting.

A slender six-footer with a light stoop, Karloff away from the screen was a quiet, soft-spoken man who loved reading, gardening, and poetry.

After making "Frankenstein" in 1931, Karloff began when Columbia Pictures signed him in 1930 for "Criminal Code" to play a part he had created on the stage.

His famous monster role began with Universal. He was eating in the studio commissary one day in 1931 when a director picked him for "Frankenstein."

Then came "House of Frankenstein," "The Body Snatcher," "Isle of the Dead," "The Ghoul," "The Man They Couldn't Hang," and "The Invisible Ray."

Throughout his 50 years in America, he retained his British citizenship and returned to live in England in 1959.

Karloff, who refused to discuss his private life, was married twice. He had a daughter by his first marriage. He wed his second wife, the former Evelyn Hope, in 1936.

After making "Frankenstein" in 1931, Karloff began when Columbia Pictures

TUESDAY, FEB. 4.

Your birthday Tuesday: This is the year of confrontation in your private life. You have the opportunity to share in both sides of every pastime. The temptation is to meddle. Emotional fulfillment is promised. Tuesday's natives tend generally toward technical specialization. This year continues several years of psychic unrest for these complex individuals.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Yesterday's self-restraint begins to pay off. Things move at a better pace. Leave emotional concerns out of business; those you do business with are not those who have given you trouble.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Continue the steady effort but quit as soon as possible. If there is something you should tell your contacts, near or far, do so this evening and get it over with. Delay causes extra confusion.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): News from distant places and people is emphasized. Many pertinent facts are left out (which would give a different overall view). Let people come and go without pinning them down. They will come back.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Open a new creative project, expecting to make some adjustments later for the sake of family or associates. Keep your own counsel about ultimate purpose, but at night compare notes with others.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Other people are inclined to be sensitive as to what you say and do. By neglecting their feelings you may set up a bad turn of events for the next few days.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Somewhere in the nearby scene is considerable help for you from other people's resources. Focus on individual effort until you clearly see opportunity in group effort.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Trivia overfills the time and space you have available. Never mind; let things take their course. Creative ventures and romantic interests are more important to you now!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Keep an eye on the near future, in proportion to what you plan to do later. An extra streak of luck may come from something that one of your kin does without your having asked.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A more philosophical mood is promised for today. Fresh sources of information and materials should be investigated promptly. Romance is smiled upon in the evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Consistent work rather than hasty spurts pays off better. Sentimental concerns take unusual turns but you have no way to prepare for what happens; just accept a novel situation for a short time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Decisions you make Tuesday will have lasting impact on your future, even though the issues may be trivial at this point. Regard everything as if it were vital.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Creative endeavors are preferred over all others Tuesday. Just don't make a fuss over anything; do what is appropriate in your judgment.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am an ordinary man, single and 47. I was recently in New York on a bus travel tour and was having lunch alone in one of those automat restaurants when a woman of about 30 came and sat at my table and struck up a conversation. She started off by saying she knew I was a Catholic priest as she had seen me in a pulpit someplace and she never forgets a face. She kept calling me 'Father.'

I tried to tell her that I was not a priest, but she persisted. I told her three times to please quit calling me 'Father,' and I even showed her my identification, but it didn't help. I got to be so exasperating I finally hurried up my lunch and left. Abby, are there lots of crackpots like this in New York? And what is a person supposed to do in a situation like that?

FROM BUFFALO
DEAR FROM: New York has more crackpots (I call them 'psychoceramics') than other cities because there are more people there. And the only way to handle them is to do as you did. Beat a hasty retreat.

DEAR ABBY: I'll get right to the point. I am 23 and practically engaged to a wonderful guy. We've gone together for nearly a year and I have stuck to my 'hands off' policy, which was not easy.

My question: How much should I tell my fiancée about my past. To be honest with you, I am not lily-white. (There have been several men.) Should I tell him how many, and who they were?

I hate to lie, but I don't want this thrown back in my face later on. Please help me.

ITHACA
DEAR ITHACA: It's not necessary to provide your fiancée with the names and numbers of the previous players. I am not suggesting that you lie. Simply tell him (if he asks) that your 'past' is a closed chapter, and he will have to accept you as you are—or not at all.

DEAR ABBY: Please say something to people who have all day to do their shopping, but wait to do it when we working folks have to do ours.

Have you ever tried to do your marketing right after work to find yourself standing behind a line of homemakers, still in their curlers, looking for something to cook fast before the old man comes home. Or some tired, dirty man, just off the job, getting grub for dinner because his wife got a Charley horse in her tongue from drinking all day with the girl next door.

Try it sometime, you will get the urge to kill. Thank you.

FURIOUS IN PRESCOTT, ARIZONA

CONFIDENTIAL TO 'LOSING OUT' IN BEVERLY HILLS: No intelligent, worthwhile man will abandon the company of a mature, interesting woman simply because a 'young doll' comes on the scene. There are too many young dolls sitting at home while fifty-ish women continue to pick off the best bachelors.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Flowers Everywhere
Stick-on flowers are sprouting on cars, window shades and on walls. The latest place to sprout flowers is the bathtub. They are called Bathtub Appliques and they are so perky they'll beckon even the youngsters into the tub. With these you can have a whole matched bathroom by sprinkling them on the shower curtain, on a corner of the mirror and wherever your imagination takes you.

Color-Coded Gloves
If you use household gloves for a variety of jobs it might be a good idea to have several pairs in different colors for different jobs. That way you won't use a pair that might have the remains of the painting job on them when you do dishes.

DECA Students Win Contests

Pampa High School Distributive Education Students have won two first places, a second and third in area DECA contests and will send three students to the state events in Dallas March 6, 7 and 8.

The PHS students, as a club unit, also were judged most outstanding in the state in citizenship and grooming. This event was judged in all area contests simultaneously, with the students unaware of the judging.

This is the second time this club, which was organized three years ago, has won this award, Clinton Forbes, DE teacher and sponsor, said.

State contestants, winners in the area events in Odessa last weekend, are Ray Stewart, first in advertising; Charles Stafford, first in public speaking; and Connie Owen, second in outstanding student event.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Stafford, 627 Sloan; Mrs. Verna Curlee, Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Owen, 1141 S. Wells. Jimmy Beesley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Beesley, 609 Doucette, won third place in public speaking on the area level.

PHS entered eight students in five contests with 687 students. PHS students competing were Miss Owen and Beesley, in outstanding student event; Dee Inscore and Judy Terry, job interview; Karen Jordan, display; Ray Stewart, advertising; Charles Stafford and Beesley, public speaking and Miss Owen and Rusty Collier, sales demonstration.

Stewart, an employe of the Pampa Daily News, took a 200 question test on fundamentals and technicalities of advertising and did a layout for a motorcycle ad.

In the public speaking event, Stafford and other contestants were given the subject, "Retailing, Change in Our Social Order," and had an hour to prepare their speech, Forbes said.

In the outstanding student event, contestants are judged on school citizenship, overall academic average, on the job training and contributions to DECA.

Miss Owen is employed in a Pampa pharmacy. Stafford is employed in a grocery here and Beesley in a downtown variety store.

First place winners received a plaque and second and third place, medals.

In Accident

Three persons were treated and released at Highland General Hospital Saturday and Maebell Fair Johnson, 58, of 738 S. Gray, was listed in good condition today after being admitted.

All were involved in a two-car accident at the intersection of Hobart and Francis streets about 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

According to a Pampa police report a car driven by the Johnson woman was traveling north on Hobart and a car driven by William E. Robbins, 18, of 1925 N. Sumner, was traveling south on Hobart.

According to the police report the Robbins' vehicle made a left turn onto Francis and the two cars collided.

Horace Dean Williams, 21, his wife, Mrs. Horace Williams, 22, and Lynn Lynn, 15, all of 738 S. Gray, all passengers in the Johnson vehicle, were treated and released at the hospital.

Panhandle Congressman Bob Price was elected Vice President of the Republican 90th Club at its organization meeting.

Rep. James A. McClure of Idaho will be the new president. New Republican members of each Congress form their own club. All but two Republicans elected to the 90th Congress in 1966 were reelected last fall.

The group now represents almost one-third of the Republican membership and holds regular meetings to discuss party policy and legislative positions.

"The 90th Club also represents the youngest segment of the Congress," Price said, "and will be influential in initiating and approving the legislative program of the new Administration."

Price Announces President's Class

Congressman Bob Price announced today that five courses sponsored by a Presidential Classroom for Young Americans will be held in Washington, D.C., this spring.

"The Presidential Classroom," the Congressman commented, "is open to all American high school seniors and will give them an opportunity for an in-depth, on the spot study of the intricacies of the United States Government.

The Classroom is also intended to encourage dedication to and an understanding of the American system, which all too often seems remote, bureaucratic and inaccessible to today's young people."

Price said the curriculum will focus on the three branches of the United States Government—the executive, legislative and judicial.

Classes will be held in the actual physical location of many of the government branches, agencies and departments being studied. The teaching will be supplemented by lectures, seminars, and meetings with key officials from numerous areas within the Government.

Classes will last one full week from 4 p.m. Saturday through the next Saturday morning and there will be five classes, each of which will hold a maximum of 350 students: (1) Feb. 22 through March 1; (2) March 1 through 8; (3) March 8 through March 15; (4) March 22 through March 29; (5) March 29 through April 5.

Price suggested that all interested high school seniors contact his office in Washington, or the Senior Class adviser of his or her high school, who has been furnished all available information on the program.

(1 a.m. CST). Jordanian gunners scored a direct hit on one of three planes in the first wave, he said, and the Israeli jet was "seen falling in the direction of the Tiberias (Sea of Galilee) area."

A second wave of Israeli planes struck about 25 minutes later, he said, and Jordanian gunners opened fire again. He said one of the raiders was seen burning as it fell in the direction of the Israeli-occupied Syrian Heights.

Iraq also reported Israeli jet plane attacks on its troop positions in northern Jordan around the same time. It claimed Iraqi gunners shot down two of the attacking planes.

The Baghdad Radio report said 14 Israeli planes staged a 25-minute raid. It said one Iraqi soldier was slightly wounded. It said the two downed Israeli planes "were seen falling in the direction of the (Israeli-occupied) Syrian Heights." Baghdad Radio said the other 12 Israeli jets fled.

In Jerusalem, Israeli officials said the two planes today went into action "over the sources of Jordanian fire," answering the fire directed at an Israeli patrol.

In Tel Aviv, Israel warned Iraq it will "not sit back" if the Iraqis continue hanging Jews as alleged spies. In Baghdad, the Iraqis had announced they would do just that.

In Cairo, President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and Alexander N. Shelepin, visiting Soviet Communist Party presidium member, wound up talks Sunday night. The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram said, "There was full agreement that the situation in the Middle East has reached, through the continuation of Israeli aggression, an extremely serious point and might explode at any minute."

Expect Agreement

Al-Ahram said it expected Nixon's agreement to the big power talks with Russia, Britain and France. But it said it doubted Israel would accept a big power peace solution if it meant Israeli withdrawal from Arab lands taken in the 1967 Middle East war.

In Washington, Nixon after weekend discussions with top advisers, decided to go along tentatively with a French proposal for the "Big Four" talks, UPI Diplomatic reporter Stewart Hensley said. He said the President was understood to be sending a very cordial letter to Nasser to clear the way for reopening diplomatic links broken by Egypt during the 1967 war.

Underlining Cairo's warning of the seriousness of the current situation around the Holy Land, Israeli Deputy Premier Yigal Allon issued his nation's warning to Iraq Sunday night in a speech to a mass rally in Tel Aviv.

Not Weakness

Allon said Israel's failure to act thus far against Iraq for the hanging of nine Jews a week ago—part of 14 Iraqis hanged for being alleged Israeli spies—should not be seen as weakness. "Israel will not sit back in the face of maltreatment and persecution of Jews where they are. Israel's present restraint is proof of our political maturity," he said.

"Israel's main efforts now will be directed toward the prevention of further executions in Iraq and saving the remnants of Iraq Jewry," he said.

Information Minister

Abdullah Samari had said Saturday his nation "shortly" would defy world opinion and resume the trials that led to last week's hangings. "We shall hang in the public squares of Baghdad and other Iraqi cities any persons who launch sabotage or spy activities against our country, even if the whole world protested..." he told newsmen.

says: "We are, in short, on the verge of a great debate on nuclear arms control, a debate whose outcome could well determine the survival of this country; not to mention the life and death of millions of other persons around the globe."

The debate to which he referred includes the immediate issue of whether the Nixon administration should continue with the Sentinel ABM, designed to protect against light nuclear attack in the 1970's, and the longer range issue of whether

● Lodge

The movement's appeal urged the establishment of a "national union" cabinet which would replace Thieu's regime and dispatch its own negotiators to Paris. It described the National Liberation Front (NLF), the political branch of the Viet Cong, as "a mere politico-military organization," and denounced Saigon as "a dictatorship without sovereignty."

The expanded Paris conversations, started Jan. 18, reached an early impasse when North Vietnamese and NLF delegates put forward demands for a solution of the conflict along the lines of their political platforms while the allies suggested that the conference first discuss military deescalation.

To avoid deepening the deadlock, the Allies will bring up the prisoner issue in the hopes it will be more acceptable than their suggestions the talks begin with the restoration of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), and an agreement on mutual troop withdrawals, the sources said.

This would go along with President Nixon's strategy of making specific and concrete proposals to the other side at each session in the hope that eventually the Communists will agree to discuss them.

Western diplomats predicted there would be no movement until the political battle between the Saigon government and the Viet Cong in the villages of South Vietnam became clearer. Diplomats were therefore predicting a long-drawn-out public battle of words until the Communists agreed to enter secret talks where real give-and-take bargaining could begin.

By REP. MALOUF ABRAHAM

We got our Committee assignments last week. There are 45 committees with something close to 730 places to fill. Rumors floated around for several days about who would get what and why. After we got the assignments, everyone was comparing notes sorta like kids and their report cards. I came out just fine and wound up with five committees instead of the four I had last session. Here's the lineup:

GROSSED BILLS: This is more of a check and double check to make sure that all bills passed are properly processed and all up to snuff.

LIVESTOCK: This is a committee I served on last session and am sure you understand what this is about.

PARKS AND WILDLIFE: I was a little surprised in getting on this committee but am pleased. With the Gene Howe Wildlife Management area in my district and Palo Duro park nearby and the emphasis being placed on expansion of recreation, this could be a very interesting committee.

REVENUE AND TAXATION: This is one of the top committees and one that's got our work cut out. Someway we've got to find a bunch of dough and I'm afraid this is the place. This will take lots of midnight oil and certainly will be most educational although probably not the Date Carnegie type.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: This could be a real sleeper. Ordinarily I don't think it's very active but depending on how this Governor's Report is handled could be a real hot potato. Am still sure that the drastic consolidation proposal will find a very cool reception down here.

This week we will get our Committees all lined out and start hearings on the bills. We already have over 100 bills introduced although it's sorta jumping the gun. At breakfast down town at a table with the Governor, some other members and some lobbyists, Preston is sure getting off to a running start with everyone. He eased into the House the other day without fanfare and is really hitting it off good with the people around here.

The first building and loan associations opened in Pennsylvania in 1831.

Pampan's Neice Honored for Coin

LAWTON, Okla.—Mrs. Janet Clements, designer of the Fort Sill Centennial coin medals, was honored recently by members of the Southwestern chapter of the Association of United States Army.

T. D. Nicklas, AUSA president, presented a plaque to Mrs. Clements at an executive board meeting at the Chamber of Commerce building.

The plaque was in recognition of her service in the Fort Sill Centennial project. It contains an arrangement of three of the coin medals, one silver and two bronze.

Mrs. Clements, an illustrator with Fort Sill's training aids department, spent four months designing the coins, slightly larger than a silver dollar.

Mrs. Clements is the wife of Mrs. O. L. Lester, 316 N. Christy, Pampa.

Petroleum Group To Meet Thursday

The Panhandle Chapter API will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

Kenneth Elliott, Skelly Oil Co. manufacturing department in Pampa, will present the program, "Gas Rotary Blowers."

Elliott will describe how these small gas compressors recently have been used to increase casinghead gas production from existing gas gathering systems on leases in the Texas Panhandle Field.

QUIRKS IN THE NEWS CLOSES SHOW

GOSHEN, Ind. (UPI)—Theater owner William P. Miller reluctantly closed the showing of the Swedish movie, "I, A Lover," Saturday after City Court Judge James A. Simpson gave it a one-word review: "Obscene." Simpson said he would file charges if the picture was not withdrawn.

"Family pictures are a flop at the box office," Miller complained.

A Little of Stengel in Grover Seitz

I never knew Grover Cleveland Seitz and I think I may have missed something.

But after hearing Rufe Jordan describe him Sunday for induction into the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame in Amarillo I believe I have a pretty good picture of what Grover was like.

I have a picture in my mind of him being slightly taller and heavier than average with the same baseball mind as a Casey Stengel, which is excellent.

Seitz was the 18th person to be inducted into the Hall of Fame. Burl Bufkin was No. 16 and Pete Shotwell was No. 17.

All three were honored in ceremonies at the Civic Center in Amarillo yesterday along with a host of other people, including George Bailey and Randy Matson.

Dean Weese, girl's basketball coach at Spearman was selected as Panhandle coach of the year and Eugene 'Mercury' Morris was voted athlete of year.

Morris proved to be as humble and nice off field as he is a star on field.

Some of our other area people were honored such as Major Tommy Pool, formerly of Groom and Jack Riley who has done marvelous things with youngsters, golf clubs and golf balls at McLean.

They didn't get around to Grover Seitz until last yesterday but it was merely a case of saving the best for last.

I think that if I ever want to be introduced or have someone talk to a crowd about me I want our sheriff to do it.

Maybe having covered the sheriff's office everyday had made me too used to him but Sheriff Jordan planted a mental picture in everyone's mind of

You Don't Say...
By RON CROSS

Grover Seitz that didn't know him and brought back fond memories to those that did know him.

I have always thought that Harry Carey had a patent on the words 'Holy Cow!' but I know that Grover Seitz was using that expression long before the Cardinal's baseball announcer.

We also found out that Grover had many rituals he went through in a game, such as grabbing up a handful of dirt and rubbing it over his bald dome. He was cured of this one night though, when he got some lime mixed up in the dirt, rubbed it on his head and spent the next few hours doing a war dance with a very hot head.

And there was the time Mr. Seitz's oilers were playing Borger and Pampa trailed 1-0 in the eighth inning. The Oilers had men on first and second and their leading hitter was due to bat next.

"Grover hadn't hit a ball in a long time," Sheriff Jordan told, but up he came to the plate, told his leading hitter to sit down and pinchhit for him. He took two strikes and missed the ball both times by 20 inches, then bam, the ball hit him on the arm to load the bases. He always got hit a lot but he'd do anything to win," Jordan said.

There was an umpire in the league that Seitz disliked more than the others and the same was true of the umpire who, it is said, said he would like nothing better than to punch Seitz in the nose.

One sunny afternoon the Oilers had runners at second and third and Seitz was coaching third. The batter hit one to deep center and both runners scored. But that's not all. The umpire who disliked Seitz looked up and here came the Oiler manager racing in from third and he slid across home plate.

"Seitz, what the heck do you think you're doing," the umpire is supposed to have said. "I'm scoring, you nitwit," Seitz replied.

The umpire supposedly shot back: "That's the only way you could ever score."

There was more to Seitz than just comedy, he had his serious side also.

"He didn't like for people to know it but he helped many people," Jordan said. "I know of a time when he bought clothes for a whole needy family. But that's the kind of man he was."

I've got this image of Grover Seitz now and what a pleasure it would be to have him back.

Pampa Plays 'Horns, Rebs In 4-4A Action

The top three teams in District 4-4A will settle the dispute about who's best this week and the pressure will be on Tascosa.

The Rebels, unbeaten in 13 district outings, including four in the second half of conference play, meet both Pampa and Borger this week and will have to beat both to stay on top.

But the Rebels did it in the first half of play and no one is counting them out this second half.

Tuesday Tascosa hosts the Bulldogs while Pampa will host Caprock. Friday the Harvesters travel to Amarillo to meet the Rebels while Borger plays at Lubbock.

Pampa, Borger and Tascosa all stand 4-0 in second half action.

The Harvesters had better not take Caprock lightly. The 'Horns gave Pampa plenty of trouble for two quarters in the first meeting this season and have won one district game this second half and gave Borger all it could handle Friday night. Caprock is 4-20 for the season and 1-12 in district play and 1-3 in second half action.

Tascosa got past two foes last week beating winless Lubbock, 66-44 and Coronado, 71-59. Borger clipped Amarillo 72-60 Tuesday and edged Caprock, 45-38. Pampa downed Monterey 70-55 and Amarillo, 57-51.

Tascosa still has the best defensive average in the district while Borger maintains the best offensive average. Pampa has the second best defensive average and third best offensive mark.

Besides the Tascosa-Borger, Pampa-Caprock tilts Tuesday. Palo Duro entertains Monterey. Lubbock plays at Coronado and Plainview hosts Amarillo.

Seagren, a gold medal winner in the Mexico City Olympics, cleared 17 feet to defeat Larry Curtis of Oklahoma State University, but failed three times to clear 17-6 for a world indoor record.

Long, an OU senior, won the 60-yard dash Saturday night in 6.0 seconds. He had finished with a time of 6.6 in the 60-yard low hurdles. Friday night, upsetting previously undefeated world record-holder George Byers of Kansas.

Texas won Saturday evening's final running event, the mile relay, in a time of 3:15.5. Kansas State was second at 3:15.9; and Oklahoma's Sooners finished third at 3:16.1.

In the shot-put, Kansas' 275-lb. sophomore, Karl Salb, threw the 16-pound ball 63 feet even.

Texas won the first two places in the 600-yard run, with David Matina winning in 1:11.4, just ahead of teammate Mike Mosley, whose time of 1:11.4 was matched by Oklahoma's Cline Johnson.

Morris Chosen Top Athlete

AMARILLO (UPI) — The Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame honored two Texan Olympians and inducted two former football stars and a former baseball player-manager Sunday. The induction of Burl Bufkin, a football player for Amarillo High in the 1920s; Pete Shotwell, a West Texas high school football coach; and Grover Cleveland Seitz, a player-manager in the old West Texas-New Mexico baseball league, brought to 18 the hall of fame members. Seitz was inducted posthumously. Special achievement awards were presented to Olympians Randy Matson of Pampa, who won the gold medal in the shotput in Mexico City, and Maj. Tommy Pool of Groom, who won a bronze medal in shooting in 1964. Morris Honored Eugene "Mercury" Morris, the NCAA all-time leading ground gainer in football from West Texas State was honored as athlete of the year from West Texas. Dean Weese, who has taken his Spearman High School girl's basketball team to the state tournament the last three years, was named coach of the year. Bufkin played for Amarillo high in 1928-29-30 and was a fullback on the 1930 team which lost the state championship to Tyler. He later played for the University of Washington. Shotwell, who played at West Texas, won state football championships at Abilene in 1923, Breckenridge in 1929 and

Longview in 1930. He later coached at Hardin-Simmons and Sul Ross and recently retired as athletic director at McMurry. Coached 17 Years Seitz played with the St. Louis Cardinals in the 1930s and coached in the West Texas-New Mexico league for 17 years. He was Amarillo High School's Panhandle coaches honored Kennedy Clapp in football, Weese in basketball, Amarillo Caprock's Gerald Nipp in Baseball, Amarillo High's Tom Aihart in track, Turkey's Loren Denton in tennis and McLean's Jack Riley in golf. # Writers Pick Hoyt, Coveleskie

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sluggers Stan Musial and Roy Campanella will have company when they are inducted in the Hall of Fame next July from a couple of rugged old pitchers from baseball's Roarin' 20's.

Waite Hoyt, one of the New York Yankees' all-time World Series heroes, and Stan Coveleskie, who won three games for the Cleveland Indians in the 1920 series, were elected unanimously Sunday by the Veterans Committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America. "You can't top being elected to the Hall of Fame," said the 69-year-old Hoyt, who learned of his election just as he finished playing 18 holes of golf in Clearwater, Fla. "There's nothing beyond it. It's a real privilege."

"It makes me feel just swell," said the 78-year-old Coveleskie who spent most of the weekend fishing in South Bend, Ind. "I figured I'd get in sooner or later and just kept hoping each year would be the one."

Both veterans said they "wouldn't miss being present" when the official induction ceremonies are held in Cooperstown, N.Y., next July. Hoyt, who coined the phrase "It's great to be young and a Yankee," won six World Series games from 1921 through 1928 and compiled a 237-182 lifetime record. He was a 19-game winner for the Yankees when they won their first pennant in 1921 and won between 17 and 23 games in six seasons between 1921 and 1928. His best seasons were 1927 and 1928 when he had 22-7 and 23-7 records, respectively.

Jack Takes Golf Meet

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—By now Jack Nicklaus must be used to the crowd rooting for the other fellow. He didn't much care Sunday when more than 15,000 fans followed hometown favorite Gene Littler around the Torrey Pines Municipal Course in the final round of the $165,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open. The big thing that counts though is who was first at the pay window when it was all over. Nicklaus was front and center to collect the $30,000 prize and Littler, who gave it the old college try on the 18th, was second in line and took home $17,100. Littler, who won the 1954 San Diego Open as an amateur and has failed ever since to win it as a pro, started the final round on a sun-drenched day two strokes ahead of Jack.

Will Anything Be Done?

The General Accounting Office was created to check up on how various departments and agencies of the federal government handle the people's money and property.

As an investigative team, it has done what most people consider to be an excellent job finding and calling attention to waste and loss and worse which amount to many times what the Office costs.

Of course, after the GAO makes a discovery and calls attention to it, the matter goes into other hands for the correction it needs but does not always get.

At the moment a revelation by GAO about the anti-poverty program in Detroit has been made to Congress. A report on Neighborhood Youth Corps programs in that city disclosed that many young people who did not need help, or no longer needed it, and were not intended to get any, actually dipped deeply into the flow of money being pumped to the "poor."

The theft, and that is what it is, was possible because anti-poverty officials charged with seeing that the youth training programs were conducted properly did not even try to do their job. "Little or no attempt to follow up" is the way GAO put it.

Contributing to the mess and compounding it, according to GAO, was that local sponsoring or part of the 10 per cent of the costs which the local people were legally required to pay.

Finally, the whole dirty situation could continue to exist because federal officials assigned to make sure the programs were carried out properly did not do their job either. They "were performing very little monitoring" of the activities, GAO said.

Well, there is no way to win in a situation like that. And what is disheartening is that the GAO, which was slow in beginning and months in carrying out its Detroit probe, has more of the same kind of work to do in other places than it could perform in a thousand years.

To restate briefly, the anti-poverty officials didn't do their job, the local organizations did not do theirs, and the federal monitors did not do theirs.

The GAO has reported all this to Congress. But can anyone seriously contend that Congress does not suspect and has not suspected all along that wholesale theft and waste of anti-poverty money is nationwide?

Similar and costly distressing discoveries have been made in many cities and have occasioned the resignation in disgust of some conscientious anti-poverty officials themselves.

Congress is ultimately responsible. It has absolute control over the volume of money poured into such projects, and it has the power to demand and get accountability to the last penny.

The GAO report was given to Congress; there will be others, probably at increasingly frequent intervals, with the change of administration in Washington.

The question is whether Congress will, as the nameless officials and inspectors did, lie down on the job, smugly pretending to trust that more good than harm is being done. Watch.

On Middle Class Morality

Repeatedly, in recent months, we have been coming across the phrase, "middle class morality." Each time we see it in print it is like a wet mop in the face. The hippies head for a Haight-Ashbury in San Francisco to rid themselves of it; movie reviewers find enlightenment in movies which portray persons trying to escape it; even book reviewers are given to hailing authors who create depraved demons who deplore their middle class morality upbringing and violate whatever they fancy middle class morality to be.

It has come to be a standard phrase in the terminology of the literary license takers who defend any behavior as being simply a protest against middle class morality. At least two national magazines of recent date have devoted space and photographs to young people who represent to be busily engaged in purging themselves of this middle class morality malady, in order to be useful spokesmen for and cohorts of the unorthodox and unclean of our time.

There must be about 150 million people in this land who came out of middle class morality and that is three out of every four living and breathing Americans.

The code did not differ greatly from one part of the country to another, nor from one religion or color to another. In essence it has been: work a full day for a day's wage, save for a rainy day, fear God, defend the Flag, preserve the family, and do unto others as you'd like them to do unto you.

It was never a complicated code, and it was inbred, in every American community. It was not imported from any land; it wasn't carried here by any national or religious group. It was part of the beginning and the growth of America. Each incoming group had to prove itself, to be sure. And it took a little time. But the once-hated Irish did it; the Jews did it; the Chinese did it; the Negroes did it. They didn't do it as a group, or a race; they did it as individual Americans who liked the code and adopted it as a way of life and then stood proud as a peer of every other American who earnestly endeavored to pay his own way and held his God and his Country higher than himself.

Middle class morality does not tolerate either malingers or malingerers.

Middle class morality is not a sickness of our society; it is the spine of it.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: — Why is there so much confusion over and so little understanding of the Commandment against coveting?

ANSWER: — There are many reasons why there is little understanding of the commandment against coveting, but we think that the basic cause is that most people do not see the two sides of covetousness. It is natural to covet, and so some people think that the commandment goes against human nature and must therefore be mistaken.

The trouble is that these people believe the commandment forbids coveting. It does not forbid coveting. It forbids coveting that which belongs to another. We quote the George M. Lamsa translation from The Peshitta, which may be the most ancient of the biblical texts: "You shall not covet your neighbor's wife, neither shall you covet your neighbor's house, nor his field, nor his vineyard, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor anything that is your neighbor's."

To covet means to desire possession of, from the Latin, cupiditas, meaning desire. It is quite natural for men to desire many things. In fact there is no limit to men's desires. And this is the source of man's progress. The Irish call it "the divine discontent." It leads man to improve his life, to create, to produce, to grow and develop.

But to covet the property of another leads to coercion, and coercion is always wrong. If you covet the property of your neighbor, you will be tempted to steal it. If you do steal it, instead of working to produce something like it, or to voluntarily purchase it from your neighbor, you will have harmed yourself, and your neighbor. If stealing becomes, then, a way of life for the whole society, the whole society eventually will be destroyed, for not one will go on producing if what he produces will only be stolen from him.

When preachers and teachers and the so-called intellectual leaders of society do not know and can't point out the difference between the two opposite kinds of coveting — a rational-coveting which leads to production and an improved life for man and an irrational coveting which leads to coercion, theft, and ultimately, war — how can the great majority of people who only follow their example understand it?

Philip Wylie in "Generation of Vipers" points out that there is a psychic law comparable to, in physics, Newton's law of action and reaction. The subjective law is called the law of oppositeness. More than 3,000 years ago someone in Hebrew history — Moses or someone before him — recognized the law of oppositeness at work in the two different effects of coveting and attempted to prevent the harm from the negative effect by forbidding the coveting of the property of another. The commandment clearly makes the distinction: "You shall not covet... anything that is your neighbor's."

When preachers and teachers and the so-called intellectual leaders of society do not know and can't point out the difference between the two opposite kinds of coveting — a rational-coveting which leads to production and an improved life for man and an irrational coveting which leads to coercion, theft, and ultimately, war — how can the great majority of people who only follow their example understand it?

Philip Wylie in "Generation of Vipers" points out that there is a psychic law comparable to, in physics, Newton's law of action and reaction. The subjective law is called the law of oppositeness. More than 3,000 years ago someone in Hebrew history — Moses or someone before him — recognized the law of oppositeness at work in the two different effects of coveting and attempted to prevent the harm from the negative effect by forbidding the coveting of the property of another. The commandment clearly makes the distinction: "You shall not covet... anything that is your neighbor's."

Middle class morality does not tolerate either malingers or malingerers. Middle class morality is not a sickness of our society; it is the spine of it.

It has come to be a standard phrase in the terminology of the literary license takers who defend any behavior as being simply a protest against middle class morality. At least two national magazines of recent date have devoted space and photographs to young people who represent to be busily engaged in purging themselves of this middle class morality malady, in order to be useful spokesmen for and cohorts of the unorthodox and unclean of our time.

Supreme Court Warned To Police Itself—Or Else....

ROBERT ALLEN
WASHINGTON—Chief Justice Earl Warren is confronted with a new forceful demand that the Supreme Court tighten its rules of procedure so as to preclude "Arbitrary and capricious" decess by its members.

Unless the tribunal itself institutes such corrective measures, legislation imposing curbs will be vigorously sought in Congress.

That's the stern warning to Warren in a letter from Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House Armed Services subcommittee on National Guard and reserve affairs and the draft.

The influential legislator's ire was aroused by a number of stays granted by Justice William O. Douglas, an openly avowed "peacenik," blocking the sending of guardsmen and reservists to Vietnam. In every instance, such restraining orders had previously been denied by lower federal courts and other members of the Supreme Court—including the Chief Justice and Justices Black, Brennan, Harlan and White.

Also in several of these cases, it is charged Douglas acted in a "highly irregular manner."

Every one of Douglas' stays was subsequently thrown out by the Supreme Court as a whole.

"Justice Douglas' action, then and since," Hebert wrote Warren, "has reflected a complete and utter lack of judicial restraint, and in my view was prompted solely by his sense of political activism—in short, his apparent opposition to the war in Vietnam."

"I cannot pretend to assess the total mischief effected by the stay orders issued by Justice Douglas. However, the gravity of his action is aptly reflected in the observation of one of my congressional colleagues, who said: 'To me it is unjustifiable that litigants can shop among the justices until they find one who will grant a stay.'"

"This procedure could be extremely damaging in an emergency that occurred while the Court was not in session."

RENEWED WARNING—Rep. Hebert's sharp letter is the second he has written to Warren demanding procedural changes to put an end to such high-handed and biased action as

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT

Borderline Deviations Are Warning Signals

Q—About two months ago my mother had a severe infection which damaged her heart. The electrocardiogram showed borderline deviation from normal. How serious is this?

A—Borderline deviations act as a warning to take steps to prevent further damage. When such a warning is heeded, normal life expectancy is the rule.

Q—Is there any truth in the belief that sleeping on one's left side is easier on the heart? My father believes it and says he can feel his heart pounding when he sleeps on his right side.

A—Most persons can feel or hear their heart beats more readily when they sleep on their left side but there is no danger to the heart from sleeping on either side. Once asleep, most persons flop from one side to the other several times during the night.

Q—What causes heart murmurs? Is there any pain associated with them? What is the treatment?

A—Heart murmurs in adolescents and young adults are often functional. Such murmurs are of no significance since they are caused by the swiftness of the flow of blood through a strong heart. Other murmurs are caused by a roughening of the surface of the valves or leaky valves or both. How loud a murmur is has no relationship to the seriousness of the underlying condition.

A murmur is not painful so, Angeles county has 50.

Congressman Roush concluded that much of our national fire and theft loss if any pain is present, some other cause for the pain must be sought. The only treatment necessary is to discover the cause of the murmur and treat the cause if any treatment is required.

ability and the willingness to exercise self-restraint in judicial offices and not permit their actions to be influenced and clouded by their emotional involvement in national issues. Others, however, do not. Justice Douglas obviously does not."

Pointedly noting that Warren ducked the procedural question Hebert raised several months ago, the latter insisted on an explicit reply on pain of remedial legislation.

"Since this question is no less pertinent today," wrote Hebert, "I solicit your advice on whether the Court itself can within its own organization and authority establish rules of procedure which will preclude a repetition of these unfortunate circumstances in the future. Or, whether Congress may be required to legislate on this subject?"

Able U. Alexis Johnson

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—U. Alexis Johnson's appointment as undersecretary of state for political affairs marks the fifth time in U.S. history that an active career diplomat has held so high a post.

This is a man of unusual character, ability and experience. This reporter first ran across Johnson in 1936 when he was a language student in Japan. In 32 years covering the State Department in Washington and abroad, this writer has never met a finer career public official.

You could disagree with Johnson's conclusions at times. You could never disagree with his honesty or ever believe that he acted from anything but the highest motivation.

It is easy in hindsight to question some of his recommendations. Considering the information available at the time, this man acted logically and with surprising insight.

He is no doctrinaire extremist. He knows that in foreign affairs there are no perfect solutions. There are often only the least undesirable of a variety of undesirable answers.

Johnson is no dove and no hawk. He looks to long-run objectives. If the long-term aims demand accepting short-term losses, he will accept that logic.

He is a man of no pretense. When he doesn't know the answer, he does not pretend that he does.

When he believes in a course of action, he pursues it to the best of his ability. But he does not believe those who disagree

World Almanac Facts

Finding something pleasing you were not seeking, falling into something pleasant you were not expecting are the small but exquisite pleasures of serendipity. Besides walking aimlessly, the only demand serendipity makes is that you be open to the good things in the world. The word was derived by Horace Walpole. The World Almanac says, from Serendip, an old Arabic name for Ceylon, whose princes followed this amiable inclination.

Hot Line In Your Home

By PAUL HARVEY

One number to telephone for all emergencies!

Threatened by fire or burglars or stricken with a heart attack, there is no time to let your fingers do the walking in the phone book.

Wouldn't it be wonderful at such a time to be able to grab any telephone and dial "911" for immediate assistance?

You can if you live in Haleyville, Ala., Huntington, Ind., Clanton, Ala., Kodiak, Alaska, or New York City. Those towns and cities have adopted the "911." Your city will if you insist.

Rep. J. Edward Roush of Indiana heard testimony that the St. Louis telephone directory lists 161 different numbers for various emergencies. The District of Columbia has 45 emergency numbers. Los Angeles County has 50. Congressmen Roush concluded that much of our national fire loss might be traceable to the cumbersome complexity of reporting an emergency. A minute's delay might be enough for the fire or the fugitive to get away.

Further, with our increasingly mobile population—families moving from city to city—there is an ever greater need for a single, nationwide emergency telephone number.

Other nations are ahead of us in providing such a service. Fire losses in Britain are less, per capita, than in the United States. Perhaps because you can dial number 99 from anywhere in Britain for immediate fire, police or ambulance service.

West Germany, Denmark and

Belgium have three-digit emergency numbers. With the co-operation of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., Roush decided upon number "911" as a hot line for emergencies anywhere in the United States.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover immediately and enthusiastically endorsed the idea. He said, "More rapid communications in emergencies will save lives."

The President's Commission on Law Enforcement seconded the notion, estimated that "policemen arriving in two minutes instead of three would solve 11 percent more cases."

New York City now handles 18,000 emergency calls a day on "911." Already this fast-service number is credited with saving lives.

The number can even be used long distance. One California mother called New York 911 and reported her son in Greenwich Village had threatened suicide. Within 15 minutes police had the son on the way to the hospital.

Some Bell companies are now starting to convert outside paystation telephones so that you can dial "911" without using a coin. Such service is already available in New York City and Washington, D.C.

It is not a simple modification. It costs AT&T millions of dollars to provide the necessary personnel to install the necessary equipment. No community will get "911" unless the citizens of that community write municipal or county officials urging it. You can petition your local phone company or state officials who regulate utilities.

But you won't get it unless you ask for it.

WASHINGTON: Big Plans on Nixon Team: Able U. Alexis Johnson are thereby frauds or fools. Johnson has spent many years in the thick of dealing with Communist crises and in meeting with Communist negotiators.

He was deputy assistant secretary of state for the Far East during the Korean war and truce negotiations and deputy undersecretary of state for political affairs during the negotiations for a three-part government in Laos.

In 1964 and 1965 he was deputy ambassador in South Vietnam and was ambassador to Czechoslovakia in the stormy 1953-58 period. He attended the Geneva conference on Vietnam and Korea in 1954 and was coordinator of the Korea sessions. He spent much of 1955-57 negotiating with the Chinese Communists in Geneva and Warsaw on the return of U.S. prisoners and other major U.S. Peking problems.

As a result, Johnson is under no illusions about the difficulties and traps in negotiating with the Communists. He does not despair about the practicability of such talks.

He has not forgotten the lessons of Korea, Laos or Czechoslovakia. But he believes there are workable diplomatic paths to pursue inasmuch as the Communist states and the United States live on the same globe.

He is a man of no pretense. When he doesn't know the answer, he does not pretend that he does.

When he believes in a course of action, he pursues it to the best of his ability. But he does not believe those who disagree
