Cong Orders Say To Increase Kills

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist guerrillas stormed a U.S. outpost in the Central Highlands today and mauled two South Vietnamese battalions in a mortar salvo near Saigon, military spokesmen said.

A captured Viet Cong document released by the U.S. mission said the guerrillas had orders to fight harder to increase American casualties and force U.S. concessions at Paris.

With these orders, dozens of North Vietnamese troops swarmed out of the jungles 245 miles northeast of Saigon behind a 30-round mortar barrage and charged a U.S. 4th infantry Division outpost, front reports said.

Eight guerrillas carrying bundles of explosives burst into the camp but were killed in two hours, the U.S. defenders threw back the attack. At dawn, they discovered 52 Communist bodies on the battlefield.

Three Americans died and 33 were wounded in the fighting. Guerrilla gunners northeast of Saigon caught two battalions of South Vietnamese soldiers in the open Thursday and with mortar salvos killed 17 of them and wounded 110, military sources said.

It was the third time in the past month that Viet Cong or North Vietnamese artillerymen have inflicted what spokesmen called "heavy" losses on government soldiers.

For the third successive day, Communist terrorists struck inside Saigon, exploding a bomb under a U.S. jeep in the Central Market and wounding three Americans.

Since Wednesday, five persons have died and 46 have been wounded in Viet Cong terror in Saigon.

Israeli Soldiers Bomb Jordan

By United Press International

Israeli commandos waded the Jordan River before dawn today and blew up a dozen houses in Jordan which a Tel Aviv spokesman said were part of an Arab guerrilla base. Egypt said it was ready to "liberate" the Israeli-occupied Sinai peninsula.

Israeli military officials said Egyptian artillery killed two Israeli soldiers and wounded four at Qantara and Port Tewfik on the Suez Canal.

The Israelis said their commandos killed three Arabs in the attack on Wadi Yabes near Beisan City, 15 miles south of the Sea of Galilee. The Israeli raid followed by only hours an attack on other Arab guerrilla bases in Southern Jordan by Israeli jets.

A military reporter for an Israeli military newspaper said the raid reduced Wadi Yabes to "a ghost center for Arab attacks on the Israeli cease-fire line."

A 28-year-old officer who lives in a kibbutz (farm cooperative) across the river from the raided town led the attack, Israeli spokesmen said.

Pampa Scout Will Receive Hero's Award

Mike Cook, 13, is a First Class Scout.

It appears that the Pampa youth also is a first class swimmer as well as first class, period.

This is why Mayor Milo Carlson is scheduled to present a certificate for heroism to Mike at 11 a.m. Sunday at First Baptist Church. The award is for saving the life of Mike's young cousin, Eugene Smith.

The life-saving feat occurred last summer at the home of the two boys' grandmother, Mrs. Fred Smith, on the Old Brazos River near Freeport. The Smith home has a pier that extends several feet into the water. Three-year-old Eugene was playing on a raft attached to the pier when Mike went upstairs. Just at the top he heard Eugene cry out. Mike ran outside just in time to see the young child's head going under the water. He was 18 or 20 feet from shore when Mike reached him.

Artificial respiration was not needed since the youngster immediately spat out a quantity of water and began breathing normally. Mike credits his life-saving training as a Scout for being able to effect the rescue. Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jodie Cook, 437 Hill. He will be a 9th grader next fall.

One Dead And 8 Injured In Sunray Explosion

SUNRAY, Tex. (UPI)—Ethan Noble was doing some repair work at a pipeline booster station Thursday when he smelled gas and fled. He ran for about 150 yards before the explosion flung him to the ground.

"I ran and got up after the explosion and then ran again," he said. "I was surprised when I got up I wasn't injured."

Not only was Noble surprised, he was lucky. One worker was killed and eight others injured in the two explosions and subsequent fires that obliterated a booster station of the Northern Natural Gas Pipeline Co.

"I ran north and they ran west," Noble said. "That's what saved me I guess."

Noble said 11 men were working in the engine room when odor of gas was first detected. He said all the men ran, but in different directions.

One was Seymour C. Pritchett, 51, of Sunray. He was killed.

L. W. Hutchinson, Don Fletcher, Don McCarthy, Delton Emmett, Allen Bartlett and Herbert Marquis, all of Sunray, and Ben Collins of Dumas, Tex., were others. They were listed in satisfactory condition at Dumas Memorial Hospital with injuries ranging from concussions to first and second degree burns.

Noble said he drove five of the men to the hospital in his car. All five, he said, were able to walk to the car.

"When I left I looked back and all I could see was the skeleton of the engine room," Noble said.

The glass in the station's windows "all went out," he said. The blast was like "a ball of fire."

Federal Marshals End Two Day Pupil Sit-In

FOLLOWING THE DIRECTOR'S BATON — Ron Ivy, left, follows the directions of Darrell Garrison, director of the Pampa Junior High band, as Garrison leads the combined all-city elementary band, both junior high bands, and the Pampa high school band, "America The Beautiful" — the finale to the spring band festival held Thursday night at Harvester Fieldhouse. Ron, a member of the Pampa Junior High band, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Ivy, 3212 Navajo.

College Forced To Close

By United Press International

About 100 federal marshals swept through Howard University in Washington, D. C. before dawn today, ending a student occupation which forced the school to close two days ago. At least 24 persons were arrested.

The liberation followed a night of violence during which Negro students set fire to a building and a fire truck. Bystanders were attacked with barrages of rocks and bottles during the melee.

Showered with missiles as they cleared the campus, the marshals liberated six buildings the dissident students took over Tuesday. Several hundred students were chased from the campus and congregated in front of an off-campus dormitory.

However, the crowd was dispersed by police—who estimated its size at 1,000—when they fired at least five tear gas canisters into the street. The marshals acted on federal court orders.

For refusing to obey an earlier court order to surrender the campus, the students had been charged with contempt of court.

National Guardsmen, 800 strong, were standing by—ordered there after Thursday's violence at the mostly Negro school—although they were not used. The guardsmen remained at an armory in another part of the nation's capital.

The turmoil climaxed almost two weeks of campus unrest over student demands that academic courses be made more "relevant" to the needs of the black community.

National Guard troops also remained on standby duty at Southern University in New Orleans today.

The Executive Committee of the New York Board of Education voted early today to keep the City College of New York open. Police Thursday fought with radical students who rampaged through the campus shouting "shut it down."

Black students at Indiana University early today released administrators, teachers and other students.

Looming Tax Rise Prompts Austin to Trim Budget Fat

AUSTIN (UPI)—Legislative leaders today began shuffling pieces of the 1970 financial puzzle, hoping to find about $68 million in "fat" that can be trimmed out of the picture without further upsetting lawmakers or Gov. Preston Smith.

Speaker Gus F. Mutscher Thursday announced his long-anticipated decision to ask House budget writers to draft a one-year spending bill requiring no new taxes.

The announcement, greeted with only mild applause in the House, immediately prompted reports that Gov. Smith will veto the measure and call lawmakers back into special session in August to pass a two-year spending bill and supporting tax measure.

Return Evident

Smith was out of town when the decision was publicly announced, but his office made no comment.

Whether Smith vetoes or accepts a one-year bill, lawmakers would still have to return to the capitol in special session to draft a spending and tax bill to cover fiscal 1971. If Smith vetoes the one-year bill, legislators would be faced with passing a two-year appropriation and a tax bill that could be as high as $300 million.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, instigator of the move for one-year budgeting, said the only strategy in the decision Mutscher announced Thursday is to make Smith decide if he wants to "veto it and make us come back in special session and again recommend a $300 million tax bill."

Delays Conference

Mutscher declared a weekend moratorium on public meetings of the House—Senate conference committee on the appropriations bill—apparently until private decisions are made on what spending can be cut from the bill to make way for the first step of a teacher pay raise.

He said the trimmed-down budget will still include: —Planning and architectural funds for new medical and dental schools, and possibly other educational institutions; —A one-step pay raise for state employees; and —An "acceptable" pay raise for school teachers.

Public Satisfied

Rep. George Hinson, D-Mineola, sponsor of the teacher pay legislation, said budget writers are now "talking in terms of about $61 million for a teacher pay raise."

He said that amount would allow a pay boost of about $690 per year for Texas teachers rather than the $775 which would be provided in the original bill.

Hinson said he feels the "public" would be satisfied with the lower pay raise this year.

2 Charged In Theft Of Autos

CLEBURNE (UPI)—Police filed auto theft charges Thursday against two Fort Worth men and said they believed the men might be connected with an auto theft ring reaching across three states.

Highway patrolman Paul Busby said during an investigation Wednesday he found three cars hidden in a wooded area near Alvarado, Tex.

"They had moved the cars out of the brush a little bit because of the mud," Busby said. "One was close enough to the road so you could see it. I started an investigation and found they were stolen."

Authorities said 34 cars believed stolen by the ring were found in the Dallas-Fort Worth area but the operation was believed centered in the West Texas town of Graham.

Busby said the men charged Thursday were James Roy Sharp of Burleson and James Gayle McBride of Fort Worth. Neither had been arrested.

Authorities said some garagemen in Graham were believed to be buying stolen cars, mostly late model expensive ones, for as little as $400 or $600 and reselling them for $1,600 to $2,000 after changing their appearances.

Pampa Basks in the Sunshine

By United Press International

Texas hung itself on the line to dry today.

The last of the severe thunderstorms, which have deluged the state since Sunday, ended just before midnight Thursday in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The U. S. Weather Bureau said the state can expect fair weather through Saturday.

Skies began clearing in Pampa late Thursday and Friday Pampans basked in the warm sun. Thursday's high temperature was only 59 degrees while the overnight low was 41.

Pampa received .14 of an inch of moisture Thursday.

A cold front moved through Texas Thursday bringing the last in a series of showers and scattered thundershowers and even a trace of snow in the Panhandle.

During the late evening hours, however, skies cleared over all of the state with the exception of East Texas and along the Coastal Plains.

The East Texas skies scurried away its partial cloud cover to day, however, leaving only the Gulf Coast with traces of cloudiness. Early temperatures ranged from the mid to low 40s in the Panhandle to the upper 60s and low 70s along the coast.

The Weather Bureau said fair weather, cool nights and mild days can be expected through Saturday.

The violent weather left the state Thursday making quite a racket with thunderstorms, hail winds up to 60 miles an hour in Central Texas and the Panhandle's snow.

During the brief flurry of snow, the thermometer dropped to 37 degrees at Dalhart.

Former President Johnson's LBJ Ranch was hit with heavy rains and winds measuring up to 40 miles per hour Thursday. Hail three inches deep covered a highway north of Johnson City but the ranch was not damaged.

The first round of the $100,000 Texas Open in San Antonio was another weather casualty. A brief thunderstorm and golfball size hail toppled a 20-foot television tower at the Pecan Valley Country Club forcing postponement of the prestigious tournament.

Funnel clouds were spotted 10 miles south of San Antonio and in southwest Dallas County but neither did noticeable damage.

Hail, described as the size of a teacup, destroyed crops in Stonewall, the nearest town to the LBJ Ranch, and shattered windows in the Johnson City courthouse and a nearby school.

A student was cut by flying glass caused by hail breaking a window in his classroom.

One busy intersection in San Antonio was sealed when power lines were toppled, one of many such reports in Bexar County. A wind gauge in the city measured winds between 50 and 60 miles per hour.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UP IForeign News Analyst
South Korean intelligence officers believe that Marshal Kim Il Sung, North Korea's bellicose Communist leader, has set 1970 as the target date for taking over the whole of Korea.

He hopes to do it, they say, not by frontal attack but by infiltration, by assassination, by undermining the confidence of the South Koreans in themselves and the United States and through war weariness of the Americans.

To this end, both the Koreans and the Americans believe the United States can look forward to more such incidents as the Pueblo and the shooting down of the EC121 reconnaissance plane.

Despite officially expressed willingness to go along with U.S. decisions, officials of the South have made no secret of their disappointment over U.S. failure to retaliate for either of the two incidents thus far.

Since North Korea is among the more isolated Communist countries, having diplomatic relations only with 27 nations and receiving about as many foreign visitors each year as Albania, not too much is known of its inner workings.

The South Korean intelligence sources estimate its armed forces at about 440,000 men, with 350,000 of them in the ground forces. The others are divided among the air force which has an estimated 640 planes, and the navy, which has about 180 vessels.

On what is known, then, ground forces of the North would be no match for the South's army of 550,000 men and the 50,000 Americans guarding the truce line.

The disparity also puts some limits on the lengths to which Kim Il Sung can safely carry his brinkmanship.

Both of his big Communist neighbors, Red China and the USSR, have warned him against "adventurism". A forthcoming visit by Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny may be expected to reinforce the warning.

Had Fido, Tabby Vaccinated Yet?

Tomorrow will be the last day of bargain prices for rabies vaccination fees for Pampa dogs and cats.

All veterinarians in the city reduced vaccination fees this week in cooperation with city officials who are pushing the vaccination campaign.

Officials stated if 70 per cent of the city's dogs and cats were vaccinated during the week it would greatly reduce the chances of a rabies epidemic.

"It is important that pet owners take advantage of the vaccination offer and help make Pampa a rabies free community," City Manager Charles Hill said today.

Killer of White Deer Girl Files For Trial Delay

AUSTIN (UPI)—The defense attorney for Clyde Durbin Jr., charged in connection with the murders of two university students, filed a number of motions Thursday to delay Durbin's trial. Now a delay appears more likely—only this time the request has come from the prosecution.

Durbin is charged in Burnet County with the death of University of Texas coed Keitha Morris, 19, of White Deer, whose body was found floating in Inks Lake near Burnet, Tex.

The former UT student also is charged with the murder of her date, John Albert White of Corpus Christi, Tex. White's body was found at a picnic site in Travis County.

At a March pre-trial hearing in Burnet in connection with the girl's death, defense attorney Frank Maloney filed a number of motions, including one to suppress certain evidence.

The second pre-trial hearing this one in Travis County in connection with White's death, scheduled for Monday, but Travis County Dist. Atty. requested Thursday the hearing be delayed until the judge in Burnet decides on the suppressions of evidence motion.

Smith asked 147th Dist. Court Judge Mace B. Thurman to delay the trial until September. Dist. Judge Jack Miller of Burnet is expected to rule on Maloney's motion around Sept. 19, the date set for Durbin's Burnet County trial.

Price Gets Ag Committee OK On House Bill

WASHINGTON — Panhandle Congressman Bob Price was instrumental in obtaining the House Agriculture Committee's approval of H.R. 10695, to extend the Great Plains Conservation Program.

As a member of the Agriculture Committee, Price co-sponsored H. R. 10695, in addition to having introduced identical legislation last year and two similar bills this year. H.R. 10695 extends the Great Plains Conservation Program for ten years beyond its 1971 expiration date.

"Progress in the Great Plains Conservation Program which includes all of the Panhandle and south plains area has increased each year in Texas since it was started," Price said. "The program has demonstrated its ability to do the following things:

First, assist small low-income farmers to make maximum use of their resources—thus improving and stabilizing farm income;

Second, accelerate land treatment of critical sediment and wind erosion areas;

Third, reduce maintenance cost of public utilities, businesses, etc., and reduce pollution of water and air;

Fourth, stimulate local economy local pride and confidence in conservation program objectives; and Fifth, make rural areas more attractive places in which to live and encourage people to stay in the country or to move back to the country.

H.R. 10695 will now go to the rules committee where it will be reviewed. The Rules Committee will then decide if and when the bill will be scheduled for debate and vote by the House of Representatives.

Damage Suit Filed Against Owners Of Local Motel

Suit for $15,000 in damages, hospital costs and loss of wages was filed Thursday in district court by John Costello for his son Patrick, 16, against L. D. Waggoner and wife, proprietors of the Star Motel.

The information charges that the son, who had been employed with his father in cleaning driveways asked for a place to change clothing when finished. While he was in a garage to which Waggoner had shown him, an explosion occurred, causing injuries which are still being treated. The explosion is said to have occurred April 2.

Police Looking For Youths in Hospital Fight

Pampa police were looking today for two White Deer youths who created a disturbance at Highland General Hospital Thursday evening.

According to Wes Langham, hospital administrator, the two brothers were visiting their grandfather in the hospital and were involved in a fight with a woman believed to be their step-grandmother.

According to a Pampa police report the boys struck the woman, knocking her down and threatened to hit two nurses at the hospital.

Police were called, but the boys got away and police gave chase with speeds reaching 100 mph.

The chase extended south on Hobart St. and about 20 miles south of Pampa where officers S. R. Belt and Harold Grimes were forced to stop and return to the city.

Langham said late Thursday that the boys had been identified and were apparently intoxicated.

Langham said the woman was placed in the hospital overnight but apparently was not seriously injured.

"We are just now getting some of the patients calmed down here. Some of them got pretty frightened," the administrator said.

NUTRITION FOR OLDER PEOPLE

During May we will be celebrating Senior Citizens Month, so it seems apropos to discuss the nutrition needs of our older citizens. Are their needs different from other times of life? Is there anything new, nutritionally speaking, for the growing number of older people in our population?

Better Use of Knowledge
Essentially, nutritionists don't see so much "new" in nutrition for older people. Instead, it is believed we must make better use of knowledge we already possess to keep aging bodies "tuned up," so to speak. It's a little like keeping your automobile in tune to prolong its life and to promote its smoother operation.

There is, of course, newer knowledge of nutrition, especially the information we now have of amino acids, and the basic research that is being done in genetics. This knowledge offers opportunities to help conserve the body during earlier life and thus approach later years in better condition.

Information Limited
But the information is still limited and we should be careful not to be taken in by charlatans and medical quacks who may attempt to use bits of the information to falsely convince people that a "fountain of youth" has been discovered. People who make poor adjustments to inevitable aging are prone to be so taken in.

But there are specifics, good advice for both the elderly and all of us who will eventually reach old age.

For example, the condition of teeth is very important. If teeth can be kept well, one of the major adjustments in eating among older people is eliminated. Older people with defective teeth, or none, are limited in their approach to a normal diet. They may also be too poor to afford a good diet, and too independent to ask for help. They may live alone and be unable or unwilling to go to the trouble to prepare good meals. They may suffer from digestive disturbances. And finally, older people may still harbor long-established habit patterns or prejudices that promote poor dietetic habits.

Main Thing to Remember
The main thing for older people to remember is that they need the same kind of good nourishment that we all do, though they probably will be best off with smaller portions and perhaps smaller but more frequent meals. The same foods that benefit youth and growth promote the kind of upkeep and repair that older people need. So, unless a physician has prescribed otherwise for specific ailments, if there are older folks in your family urge them to practice the balanced nutrition and eating of a wide variety of foods that you and your family already enjoy.

Milk and its products, meat, poultry, eggs, fruits and vegetables, whole grain or enriched breads and cereals are the foods we are talking about. And these should be consumed at a calorie level that keeps people at the right weight, just enough and not too much.

Researchers Seek Gardeners' Help To Develop Pure-White Marigold

By helping researchers at one of the world's largest seed companies develop a pure-white marigold, a lucky gardener could get $10,000.

After more than fifteen years of experimentation with the familiar orange and yellow marigold, horticulturists have developed a near-white blossom, but have so far failed to produce a pure-white marigold.

The public this spring has an opportunity to help in the search for the pure-white marigold, and someone could get $10,000 for doing so.

The manufacturers of a puffed rice and puffed wheat cereal, in association with the seed company, are giving free packets of near-white marigold seeds in specially marked boxes of their product during April and May. Details on the cereal packages will tell how to plant the seeds contained inside, and will provide details on earning the $10,000.

Light The Night To Fight Crime

The Make America Better program is being sponsored in this area and nationwide by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Its broad purpose—to help all of us solve the major problems of our cities and towns.

One typical woman in New York has five locks on her door. Washington, D.C., is called the "crime capital" of the nation. Muggers, rapists, and even murderers are set free on bail and are thus free to repeat their crimes. Responsible citizens cover behind locked doors and shuttered windows.

Realtors of America, members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, determined that aroused citizens through voluntary action could reduce this rising rate of crime. In its Make America Better Program, with six objectives and 43 proposals for action, it started action to support law enforcement officers and to reverse the frightening rise in criminality.

One of the most popular of the Make America Better activities is the "Light the Night" campaign. Many of the 1,550 boards of Realtors in the 50 states have activated this proposal.

It is simple and easy and effective, in the words of L. Allen Morris, Miami, chairman of NAREB's Make America Better Committee. Residents of single-family houses are encouraged to use more light, front and back, and in dark places such as garages, to discourage the degenerate, rapist and burglar.

Residents of apartments, and particularly apartment resident managers, are asked to take part. Halls should be well lighted, locks, windows, and doors should be checked, shrubs should be trimmed so they don't provide hiding places, and garage areas should be well lighted, as part of the Make America Better project. Some boards of Realtors have made night trips with police officers to evaluate commercial locks, doors, windows, and skylights. In one city Realtors found that nearly three-fourths of the business houses checked needed better security.

Better lighting and intelligent inspection have proved to be keys in reversing the climbing rate of crime in scores of American cities.

For more information on this timely project, contained in a free Light the Night leaflet, write to: Make America Better Program, NAREB, 1300 Connecticut Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Miss Wainscott Presents Program For Lefors Club

LEFORS (Sp) — Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Pampa was guest speaker for the regular session of Three L Tops Club recently as Mrs. Tommie Clark was crowned weekly queen.

Mrs. Clark called the meeting to order as Mrs. Joeldine Elliott led the club pledge. Mrs. C.C. Read introduced Miss Wainscott, Gray County home demonstration agent. Vegetables and fruits and how to use them in daily diets to get needed vitamins was her subject. Miss Wainscott presented pamphlets to each member on vegetables, fruits and cereals.

Songs were led by Mrs. D.T. Pfeil.

Dear Abby

By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: After putting my husband (whom I'll call "Jim") through medical school and internship, we separated because of a girl I'll call "Nancy." Jim married her as soon as the ink was dry on the divorce papers. We have three beautiful school-age children, whom I've done my best to raise without a father. Jim has helped some financially, but not a whole lot.

I have never bothered Jim and Nancy in any way. My problem is that Nancy keeps phoning me, identifying herself as a friend of Nancy's, but I know her voice. She warns me that Nancy is going to kill my children when they're away at camp this summer. I have told Jim about this, and he doesn't seem worried. I must admit, I am frightened, but if Jim isn't worried, should I be?

Do you think I ought to send the children to summer camp as planned?

CHARLESTON, S.C.
DEAR CHARLESTON: The police and phone company will cooperate with you in getting positive proof that these calls are from Nancy — if indeed they are. You will need this before proceeding. After you have proof, put it up to Jim. If he continues unworried, and will do nothing to stop the harassment, then ask the authorities to intervene.

DEAR ABBY: I am presently living in an old folks' home. There is a gentleman here who I love a lot. He can't hear, so I can't tell him. He can't see, so I can't write him. What can I do?

ELLEN
DEAR ELLEN: What can he do?

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and have gone steady with this guy I'll call Jeff, for nearly a year. We are very much in love and now I think I'm pregnant. I am not positive because I haven't been to a doctor yet, but I'm almost sure I am.

Jeff says he will marry me as soon as we graduate from high school. (We're both juniors.) Ever since I told Jeff that I think I'm pregnant I have begun to doubt his love. He says if I am pregnant, when I tell my folks I should put the blame on some imaginary person so as not to cause hard feelings between him and my folks. That way it will be easier for us to continue our relationship.

Jeff says he really loves me but he's looking out for what is best for us. What do you think?

Pampa Area Pianists Perform In National Auditions For Certificates, Pins

Seventy-seven piano pupils of six teachers in Pampa and surrounding towns were heard in the recent National Piano Auditions which were held here in the First Assembly of God Church with Mrs. E.H. Shuller of McAlester, Okla., as adjudicator.

Pampa teachers entering students in the auditions were Mrs. Fidella Yoder, guld chairman, Bill Haley and Tracy Cary.

Mrs. H.C. Brannon, Shamrock; Mrs. Willie Boyett, McLean, and Mrs. J.L. Naylor, Panhandle also brought students to play in these auditions.

Students earn certificates and pins according to the number of pieces that they prepare. For a 10-piece program they receive national certificates and pins; for 7-9 pieces, state; for 4-6 pieces, district and for 2 or 3 pieces, local. In addition to certificates and pins, they also receive a musical report card, which is an evaluation of their playing by the judge with constructive criticism and comments.

This plan of providing goals for piano students was set up in 1929 by Irl Allison, then in Auditions taking place in hundreds of cities including Alaska and Hawaii. Thousands of piano students enroll in the auditions each year.

On Thursday evening of the audition week here, Mrs. Yoder honored the judge, Mrs. Shuller with a reception in her home. Other piano teachers attending were Mmes. Harris Brinson, Charles Parr, W.M. Cooper, W.H. Fuller, Amy Stewart, Joe Foster, and Calvin Whalley. After an informal discussion of guld activities, refreshments were served from a table decorated with a floral centerpiece of purple iris.

MISS DEB

Answers questions about Junior Miss etiquette, grooming and interests.

Q. I've just given my bedroom a new modern look, but one thing still bothers me. There's an ugly, old steam pipe running across the ceiling. How can I disguise it?

A. Don't try to hide it. Make it a wild pop art feature of your room. Paint the pipe a bright color, and buy adhesive-backed covering in a bright pattern to match the decor. Cut out colorful sections of the pattern and stick them on. The ugly duckling becomes a conversation piece!

Q. My freckles embarrass me

ABBY

(Continued From Page 4) you'd better see a doctor, and if your suspicions are confirmed, tell Jeff that you are going to tell your parents the whole truth. And whether you are pregnant, or not, do yourself a big favor and forget that little weasel.

DEAR ABBY: I have a younger brother who from a very early age showed an interest in "girlish" things. When Mother taught us girls to knit, my brother pleaded to learn, too, but Mother turned him away, saying, "Boys don't do such things."

My brother finally went his way— or so we thought. Later he came to us with some tiny garments which he had knitted for our dolls. They were beautiful! He told us that he had used toothpicks because Mother wouldn't let him use her knitting needles.

Today my brother is an embittered alcoholic. Had he been allowed to develop an obvious talent instead of being shamed and brutally discouraged, he might have been a happy contributor in some creative field.

Do we fault gifted designers, or interior decorators or hair stylists who have effeminate ways?

Why waste the productivity of a human being who happens to be "different" for reasons over which they have no control?

Society would be much better off accepting those talented men with "girlish ways" than to encourage manly misfits.

Very truly yours,
MRS. H.J. M.

as much as blemishes. How can I ever get rid of them?

A. Forget your freckle complex! Those little speckles are actually today's rage, and some girls even paint them on!

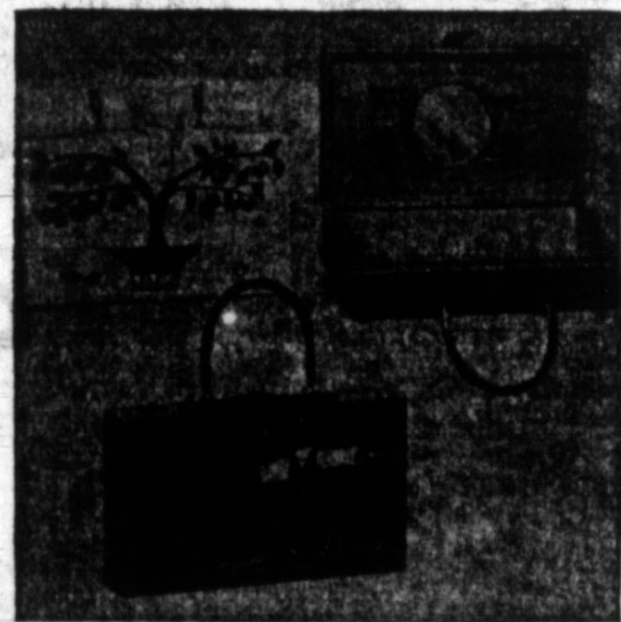

If you still aim to do something about them, freckle creams can't help much. Those little dots on your face are caused by pigment deep in your skin. To tame your freckles in summer, though, use a sun-block cream and shade your face as much as possible. In winter, when freckles pale anyway, you can almost cover them completely with makeup.

Rev. Hazlewood Seeks to Help Youths

By WANDA MAE HUFF
Daily News Staff Writer

Rev. Jack Hazlewood, speaker for several youth programs here this week, has switched from his youthful hang-up on drugs and gang-fighting and is trying to show "young hippies" the way home and back to reality.

Rev. Hazlewood, who spoke to Pampa High School students and students of both junior high schools here, will explain his life story in a program at 7:30 p.m. today at Highland Baptist Church. He will also speak at the church again Sunday, and has appeared at other Pampa churches this week.

A cross-country evangelist aiming to reach and help the younger hippies before they become "hard-core," Rev. Hazlewood began his work three years ago after graduating from Ouachita Baptist University, Ark., with a B.A. Degree in religion and sociology. He mixes his staff evangelist work with Little Rock, Ark. with his nation-wide campaign to offer "respect, responsibility and religion" to America's mixed-up young generation.

"I started this campaign mainly because of my own background. I blew my chances for athletic scholarship by getting mixed up with drugs in high school and want to prevent others from having this same experience," he said.

His campaign involves businessmen, churches of all denominations, doctors, and other professional people in offering jobs, medical help, counseling and chances for education to kids who are on the verge of being hard-core drug addicts.

"Most of these kids have come from upper middle class families and are church-oriented, but somewhere they lost contact with reality. If we don't reach them now, we'll lose the future. Our ministry is geared to the younger ones, 12-18 years old, who are being introduced to drugs by older youths. These older ones have already blown their minds with acid and will do anything to get another fix—even get others hooked on the habit," he said.

His approach is to meet them on their own ground with parking lot crusades and in their night clubs, but he maintains their respect by not changing his clothes, manners or attitude and speaking in their own terms.

"They call me the "Super Straight", but they listen, because we try not to take the churches' attitude and convict them because of outward sins.

REV. JACK HAZLEWOOD

Rev. Hager To Speak on 'Home Sunday Morning

Rev. Martin Hager, First Presbyterian Church pastor, will continue with the third sermon in the series "The Cost of Personal Commitment". Rev. Hager will speak on the topic, "The Home", at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship services. Isaiah 63:15-19 and Luke 13:31-35 will be the textual basis. Ruling Elder Owen Gee will serve as Pulpit Assistant for both worship services.

At the 11 a.m. worship service, the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Wm. K. Mackey, Choir Director, will present the Anthem, "Be Thou My Vision" arr. by Bitgood.

DALE GOODY

Dale Goody, 32, a gospel singer for the past 12 years, will be heard nightly at revival services beginning Sunday at Central Baptist Church.

Goody, a native of Oklahoma and graduate of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, is a former minister of music in Texas and Oklahoma churches, but more recently in the field of evangelism.

He has served with the nationally-known Bob Harrington, officially known as "Chaplain of Bourbon Street". Harrington will be the preacher at the Pampa revival.

Goody's interest in gospel music has caused him to produce several long-play albums including "Heaven Came Down", "Dale Goody Sings", "My Song" and "I've Discovered the Way."

Goody will sing a solo at each evening's service, according to the Rev. Curt Willis, associate pastor of Central Church.

The Role of Christians In Campus Troubles

By DAVID POLING

"The occupation of university offices and administrative buildings by militant students poses a most serious threat to the heritage of academic freedom and the ground rules for a democratic society. . ."

I wrote those thoughts about a month ago and they are more meaningful with each passing week. The student protest has escalated to the flash point of many campuses. It's now quite possible to have a highly successful rebellion and a completely demolished university.

As we said in an earlier column, militant student cadres of right and left are the most dangerous challenge—to the bright promise of the American community—Freedom.

However, it is not enough to say that the presidents and deans should be more strict or decisive in the handling of these explosive student encounters. That is obvious and overdue.

What must be recognized by the parents, adults and older generation here in America is the source of the rage and fury that is sweeping from ghetto to campus and back again—the war in Vietnam.

Until decisive measures have been clearly seen in the foreclosure of the conflict, the dissent will enlarge and the anger deepen. I honestly doubt if most adults have any inkling of the depth and volume of despair spread by this Asian war.

The most visible local manifestation of the war on campus is ROTC. This form of military training in the university scene is on the way out—as are the working contracts between colleges and the Defense Department. Although these targets are near and convenient, the larger reaction is aimed at the draft and the military bearing of this country.

In a very pithy paperback, "Youth in Turmoil," the editors of Fortune magazine have produced an honest piece of writing about the attitudes and emotions of millions of these alert, awake kids. What are they saying?

We came to our convictions through practical experience. When we entered college, we had little reason to protest; for the most part we were products of the warm comfort of middle-class families. Our disillusionment increased over the years, as the discrepancies between the vaunted achievements of our civilization and the realities grew more glaring.

There have been some voices that claim the church has failed the American community. Instead of supporting the status quo on campus and endorsing the war goals of this country in Vietnam, it has openly encouraged acts of dissent which later led to rebellion. I think the criticism is correct.

What has been misunderstood and intellectually bungled in many lives is the fact the Christian community is always interested in change. Nonviolent revolution has been the slogan. But as much revolution as non-violence for the sake of those injured by war and suppressed by ghetto nightmares.

The changes are coming. Many are going to be hurt and maimed in the process. It will not always be without violence or force.

But the Christian family of believers must hold fast to the strategy of love and reconciliation. For if that does not prevail, the ugly forces of hate and racism will abide.

MRS. PATSY ALLEN

Mrs. Patsy Smith Allen will conduct a special Kids and Youth Crusade at the Bethel Assembly of God Church, Hamilton and Worrell, May 11-18 at 7:30 nightly.

Mrs. Allen has traveled extensively in several states and Youth Camps with her special illustrated and dramatized sermons.

A different and exciting sermon will be presented each night. Sunday, an illustrated sermon on the 23rd Psalm with authentic costume from the Holy Land. Monday night life-size devil appears as an angel of light, Eph. 6. Tuesday night special youth service with emphasis on today's morals, Co. 3. Wednesday night, see devil and death in action as a man and his wife are struck dead, Acts 5. Thursday night, mark of the beast, Rev. 16. Friday night, see flames of hell and hear the cry of a multitude as devil and his imps are in action.

Pastor B. C. Elswick extends a welcome to the public.

Christ Scientist Set Sunday Service

"Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God." This verse from I Corinthians is the Golden Text in this week's Christian Science Bible Lesson—Sermon on "Adam and Fallen Man."

A related passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy comments: "A knowledge of evil was never the essence of divinity or manhood."

Texas Baptists Close to Budget

DALLAS — Texas Baptists have risen to the challenge of their record 13.5 million dollar budget, at least for the first quarter of 1969, according to statistics released by R.A. Springer, treasurer of the 1.8 million member Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Cooperative Program receipts for January-April were $4,711,965.50, which is well over the four and one-half million dollars needed to meet the budget. Income has also exceeded last year's first quarter total by more than $223,000.

'Survival of The Unfit' Is Topic

The Rev. Dan B. Cameron, pastor of the First Baptist Church will be in the pulpit for both services of worship Sunday. For his Morning Worship sermon subject he has chosen "Survival of the Unfit."

Roy Kornegay, Minister of Education, will direct the Chancel Choir in singing Mozart's "Glorious is Thy Name."

Other special music will be a mixed quartet composed of Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. George Mitten, Hoyte Phillips, and Paul Barrett, and they will sing "He Could Have Called Ten Thousand Angels."

Miss Eloise Lane, organist will play "In Peace and Confidence" by Bach for the offertory number.

At the seven o'clock Evening Worship the pastor will preach from the topic "The Irreparable Past." Kornegay will direct the Youth Choir in singing "Rise, Shine." The offertory selection will be "Melody in G" by Slickles.

The pastor will be in charge of the Wednesday evening Prayer Meeting which begins at 6:15, and he will begin the study of the book of Amos. The Prayer meeting is preceded by the fellowship supper from 5:30 until 6:15.

Mother's Day Topic Chosen By Rev. Doke

The Rev. J. W. Doke will deliver the Mother's Day Message for the Worship of the First Christian Church. He has chosen for his Scripture Proverbs 31:26. He will be joined at the Lecture by the Rev. Carlton S. Downing. The Sanctuary Choir under the direction of Miss Rosemary Lawlor will present the Anthem accompanied by Mrs. John Gill.

Snack Supper will begin at 5:30 p.m. followed by the Youth Group meetings at 6 p.m. The Christian Life Curriculum Sessions will be taught at 7 p.m.

The Annual Mother and Daughter Banquet is being planned by the women of the Church of the Christian Women's Fellowship, Mrs. Glen Maxey, president. The date is set for May 22, 1969 at 7:30 p.m. All of the women in the Church are invited to this banquet.

SOLID STATE Air Control

Friedrich is the first in the industry with solid state controls on units from 9,200 to 15,800 BTU's. Dial the exact volume of cooled air, as precisely as you dial a radio. Larger Friedrich units have 5 fan speeds, smaller ones have 2-speed fans. The Friedrich blower is the quiet-running turbine type that delivers more cooled air more efficiently.

COMPARE and you'll buy Friedrich

- Low operating costs
- More sound-silencing insulation
- Bigger coils
- Multi-directional air flow

No other air conditioner cools like Friedrich... so quietly, so economically

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

MARTIN HAGER, Pastor
First Presbyterian Church

"Like A Crowded Expressway"

It had been a long time since I had been in Chicago. My memories were the ones that I had hoarded since I was a boy, the massive bigness, the manic business of the place. But now, what I noticed most of all was the people. And as I drove on to the Michigan Avenue freeway, that's what impressed me. People, packed into a stream of cars, the strains of a hard day's work on their faces, driving home, or at least attempting to. When the tide of traffic began to move you noticed that you had very little choice as to where you were going. In fact you had no choice at all. Squeezed into the middle lane. I missed the Oak Park turnoff, then the La Grange, then the Desplaines, and without really wanting to, I was squeezed, pushed and jostled all the way to Joliet. And all the time, I asked myself "where are they all going?" "Where do they live?" "What are they like?" "Who are they?" And I suspect that my persistent habit of the pot calling the kettle black was coming into play, because I overlooked the most obvious fact. I was one of them. I too was being carried by the traffic, not knowing, and even now, not caring where in the world I was going.

The Church of Jesus Christ bears the message of its Lord and Saviour. It's "good news," but yet it's different, strangely out-of-place and alien. Where men divide and destroy themselves, it wants to speak the word of unity. Where war broke out, it wants to speak a word of peace. Where man's cynical hopelessness takes full bloom, it wants to speak the word of hope and a future in Jesus Christ. The New Testament is full of these surprises: "light in the darkness," "joy in sorrow," "peace through suffering," hundreds of tense paradoxes that testify to the surprise of the good news. In these days, the Church is in a struggling self-examination, asking itself whether it can find the words to preach the gospel again. It hopes, in humility, that it has not lost the message. It hopes that it has not gotten so struck in the stream of life we all exist in, that it can no longer know and feel and touch the Gospel. It hopes, that amid all the pressures to be "respectable and good" it still has a vibrant notion of the Gospel's unlikes.

And, I suppose, that is the greatest pressure of the times. Somehow, there is too much giddiness built into the way we live to take the Gospel with that kind of ultimate seriousness that the New Testament demands. Somehow, there is too much going on, too many demands, too many diversions, to respond to that brand of absolute discipleship that New Testament seems to be presenting. Again, we know that often our Lord and Saviour has asked us to drop off nets and follow Him . . . but we're not about to. Too often Christ points to the cross, but we're not about to take a single step. Too often, we have pointed only to the solemn, meaningless flow of pious language, the temples of worship, to testify to the quality of faithfulness we are involved in.

Could it mean something quite simple: could it mean that God's gift to us of a Son is an invitation to give ourselves to others? If that is true, that makes a trip on a packed freeway even more troublesome. I was no farther than five feet away from those people I had so many grave questions about. Between us, steel doors, made in Detroit, made for the purpose of getting people from one person to another person. But on the way, the silence is deafening. On the way, nothing more than the idle chatter of a disc jockey selling a new record. And sandwiched in, brief flurries of the day's news.

Christ came that barriers might be broken. He came that people might find out how to be open to one another. He came to restore God's creation to a childish innocence. As difficult as it is to believe, that's His Plan in Jesus Christ. To live otherwise, well, it's like going down a crowded subway.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

Our Capsule Policy

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Juries Still Important

Trial by jury is too embedded in Anglo-Saxon law and tradition for America to follow the example of South Africa, which is abolishing the system.

The development in South Africa is not an outgrowth of that country's racial policies but caps a half-century decline in country's racial policies but caps a half-century decline in use of the system introduced by the British.

From time to time however, voices are raised in this country urging that a larger share of the judicial burden be assigned to judges to help relieve court congestion.

There is no denying that trial by jury can be a time-consuming, expensive, uncertain and sometimes almost farcical procedure. The public is made especially aware of the latter in trials that arouse selection as the opposing attorneys attempt to stack the panel with jurors they think will be the most favorable, or least unfavorable, to their side.

Books have been written advising lawyers in the art of sizing up prospective jurors, including how to read character signs from their physiognomies or the way they sit with their hands folded.

But so too, is trial by judge an uncertain business. An article by two psychologists in a recent issue of "Judicature", published by the American Judicature Society reports on a survey in which 3,000 judges were asked whether their personal verdicts had ever differed from the verdicts of the juries over which they had presided. It was found that judge and jury had agreed only 19 per cent of the time.

One experiment pitted the memory of the famous Dean Wigmore, an authority on evidence, against that of male and female jurors. The women were superior to the men, and the judge outperformed both—but even he recalled only about 81 per cent of the relevant facts.

In a New Jersey study, one judge gave almost twice as many penal sentences as his colleagues. In another of sentencing behavior, a number of judges were given the same set of facts and asked to sentence a man convicted of burglary.

Sentences ranged from suspension to long prison terms, even though all judges had the same facts.

In the main, say the authors of the article, judges are more prone to convict in criminal libel cases than juries. Juries are more prone to find against wealthy defendants in civil cases. In awarding damages in tort (civil action) cases, the jury seems to increase the award if the defendant is a corporation, railroad, city or state. (It was because of this tendency that jury trials were abolished in civil cases in South Africa as long as 1927).

Recognizing such individual variability, judges are now conducting sentencing institutes to study their own behavior in the hope of increasing uniformity. At least one organization, Jury Verdict Research of Cleveland, Ohio, is making continuing analyses of jury behavior.

To repeat, justice in the courts is an uncertain business, but the constitutional guarantee of trial by jury remains one of the bedrock individual tenets of the Republic, and will until somebody comes up with something better.

Disemploying Youth

If the people of this country are destined to go through another long, hot summer sparked, in large part, by foot-loose rampaging teenagers, politicians and pundits alike will probably "view it with alarm."

Each, in his own way, will attempt to place the blame on poverty, racism, the "generation gap," communist agitators or some other cause.

And each, in his own way, will be right—to a degree. Doubtlessly, all of the above factors do have some bearing on the problem of destructive and violence-oriented youth on the loose during the summer months. But we wonder how many will take time to recall an old adage that has yet to be proved false: "Idleness is the Devil's workshop."

We wonder, too, how many will point to the government itself as a major agent provocateur? Yet, according to the National Federation of Independent Business, Inc. bulletin of April 29, "... governmental action will probably result in the biggest surplus of idle teenagers in history when school lets out this spring."

Data for the first quarter of this year, supplied by 26,331 businessmen respondents surveyed by NFIB, shows that "... upward of a half-million jobs formerly given to teenagers (emphasis added) have been closed due to the wage-hour law pushed through by labor lobbying in the Johnson administration."

Results of the survey further showed that 45 per cent of the nation's businessmen DID employ teenagers, but that 40 per cent no longer do since passage of the law.

Many reasons were offered for this reversal of a prior practice. However, the NFIB bulletin noted, "... the biggest factor, 38 per cent, gave the wage-hour law as the reason."

Monument To War

The nations of the world will spend more than $200 billion on armaments and other military needs in 1969.

They have already spent more than $4 trillion on wars and preparation for wars so far in this century.

If the present rate of increased spending continues, that figure will be doubled within 10 years. Even if the present rate remains steady, more than $10 trillion will have been spent in homage to Mars by the end of the century.

The figures are from the third annual survey of world military expenditures by the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. A few others:

—Since 1964, the world's Gross National Product has risen 9 per cent per capita; the world's military budget, 16 per cent.

—More than 20 million men and women are in active duty forces; another 30 million are directly or indirectly engaged in productive activities resulting from military expenditures.

—The average annual expenditure per soldier, worldwide, is $7,800; for the estimated one billion school-age children in the world, the expenditure averages $100 a year. Half the governments of the world, including the United States, spend more on defense than on education.

This is only a sampling from the report. The statistics go on. And on. And on.

Caution: The Government May Be Hazardous To Your Health

The gov'mint has come out against cancer. It is almost as unpopular as poverty, on both sides of the aisle, which just shows that statesmen can rise above principle when great issues are in the balance.

I think I may have told you, at some earlier encounter, that the Administration (any administration) is foreshore against poverty and has begun to take a dim view of malnutrition also. The only way people can be killed with any kind of government approval is to get blotted out in Vietnam. That's okay.

We've gotten all the mileage we decently can out of hunger and poverty but we have not yet reasoned together (or whatever the Nixons do) on the subject of the war on cancer.

Perhaps I am extraordinarily touchy on the subject inasmuch as I make a precarious sort of living in a tobacco-growing state. We are against cancer, too, but we are not much for getting ugly about it and drawing a lot of attention to the thing. (You ought to do something about the cough, Beauregard!) The gov'mint makes the cigarette people print a little "caution" on the side of the package and now there are those in Congress who want to outlaw tobacco advertising on radio and tv. That is pretty dumb, I can tell you.

Folks were smoking long before the transistor. John Smith preceded the vacuum tube by 300 years, and there is no reason to think that there would be a change for the better in the smoking habits of the nation if cigarette commercials were banned. All that advertising money probably would be put into newspaper advertising, and tobacco sales would double—triple maybe—as a result. No, the ban on tv advertising just won't wash.

If the government would quit trying to legislate us into a state of Eternal Bliss, maybe we wouldn't all be so nervous, and that would cut down on smoking. The way we have to dodge and feint and cover up in the clinches just to keep the government from clobbering us is one reason the cigarette industry is able to push their little white soldiers by the billions. The government creates a market for cigarettes and booze and Mary Janes by keeping us at attention on the raw ends of our nerves.

And as if that isn't bad enough, consider that this same government is subsidizing American cigarettes overseas so that they can compete with the native products! Maybe the plan is to convert the cigarette into our secret weapon, getting the Rusks (cough!) and the Chinese (gasp!) and the North Vietnamese (sack!) to destroy themselves with tobacco, courtesy of the U.S. Taxpayer, while our side remains immaculate.

There must be something immoral about subsidizing an article you are convinced is a deadly enemy to human longevity, all the time calling attention to your own purity like a fundamentalist preacher with a few nips under his belt.

If smoking causes cancer, government causes smoking. It's pretty clear where we ought to start cutting down.

D.R. SEGAL

Well, we've got us a new commission to study DDT. Robt. Finch, secy. of Health, Education and Welfare in government, made this earth-shattering announcement — "There is no question but that DDT persists in our environment."

The Food & Drug 'ministration has been studying it too. They have found out that Americans have an average of 12 parts per million of DDT running thru all of our bodies.

They don't say that this is harmful. In fact, I think we would probably be bugger than we are now if we didn't have a little DDT to offset it.

But secy. Finch is workin on a different angle. He has set up a federal standard of 5 parts per million for fish that move across state lines. Now somebody has got to warn those fish.

It ain't fair to penalize the poor fish for swimming across a state line if he don't know where the line is.

Branch Head Bill Says:

By BILL KENNEDY

The anti-discrimination laws and rulings, made primarily to protect Blacks, also declare that there can't be any discrimination against anybody because of sex. They have already touched off a series of court cases by women employees who swear they are not getting equal opportunity with men on the job.

At least two women employees of the major telephone company have brought charges that they were passed over for promotion simply because they were women. When the company pointed out in one case that the job demanded that the worker routinely lift loads of up to 85 and 90 pounds, the little lady involved quickly demonstrated that she could lift weights of that poundage and even heavier. So what's a company to do?

A whole lot of people are concerned about child labor and want to put a stop to it. But it seems nobody is any longer concerned about lady labor. The declaration that women must be allowed to do anything a man does is frightening to some of us old fuddy duddies. We just don't believe it will work in every instance.

How long before some crusading soul protests that "separate but equal" rest rooms is unconstitutional? And how will our Supreme Court rule on that one? (Certainly this would result in no embarrassment to the ladies, since they already reveal most of their secrets by the way they dress in public anyway—but the girls could run into a surprise or two when they view all the wall fixtures in the men's room.)

They not only have stopped the girls from riding side-saddle (they stopped making side-saddles), but now they are insisting on female racing jockeys. ("Watch out for that woman rider.")

When all of this equalization is settled, I hope it will likewise be determined that the women have to meet some other requirements demanded of men.

For example, if girls are going to be "equal" and be permitted to join ROTC units to get military commissions (a recent development in at least three colleges), then why discriminate against them by denying them the privilege of the draft—the privilege of "greetings from Uncle Sam, and a chance to die for their country? Why should it be that we forever kill off the "flower of our young manhood" in all these wars and leave the female flower children to continue blooming? Fair's fair!

And why shouldn't those females now in the military services be required to get a crew-cut, or at least cut their hair so it doesn't hang over their ears and down their neck? That'd be about as equal as anything.

Another way I hope they will decide that women could be equal is to have them take their hats off every time they enter a building. That should be started first with a test case in a church or theatre—so people sitting behind the girls would for the first time be able to see the preacher or the performance.

Next in line should come

H. L. Hunt Writes

COMMUNISM AND CRIME DEADLY MENACES

Few could have anticipated that the deadly menaces of communism and crime would have increased as they have been allowed to do by an apathetic citizenry. Karl Marx died in 1883, a thoroughly discredited, diseased man who had allowed his own child to suffer from malnutrition. Lenin succeeded in getting together only 17 Marxist followers 20 years later in London.

By November 7, 1917, Lenin had built the Bolshevik movement up to 40,000 when, using the Ukrainian-born Leon Trotsky who then resided in Utica, New York, as a co-dictator, he overthrew the Kerensky government of Russia. Now communist dictators rule one-third of the world.

None could anticipate the rising cost of crime in cash could become $30 billion per year. Every FBI report registers increasing losses to crime.

Those who are opposed to communism and crime should encourage and patronize business entities who actively oppose these deadly menaces. Radio and TV have become the powerful molders of public opinion.

In our society, the cause of liberty is outflanked by its opposition many times to one. It is high time that our country cease financing communism and crime. We can detect the silent apathetic majority now awakening to the perils of permissiveness toward both crime and communism.

Neither crime nor communism can continue to grow when Freedom-enthusiasts who love Republic USA arouse themselves to bring the apathetic into crusades, large and small, which will return this land to the values which made it the greatest the world has ever known.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT

There's No Evidence Cancer Is Hereditary Q—Is cancer hereditary? Can it be transmitted by kissing a person who has cancer of the face?

A—The ways in which a person gets cancer are still not well-understood but there is no evidence that the disease is transmitted from one person to another through heredity or close personal contact.

Q—Recently I had a Bolen test. What exactly is it? A—This test for cancer is based on a difference in the behavior of a blood clot from a person with cancer and one without this disease.

Q—What are the early signs of cancer of the intestines? A—Unfortunately, there usually are none. Often the first signs are pallor and loss of weight. A definite change in bowel habits is sufficient reason to have a complete gastrointestinal check-up. In persons who are past 50 a proctoscopic examination every 12 to 18 months often facilitates an early diagnosis.

Q—What is the difference between radium and cobalt treatment? How do they work? A—Radium and cobalt are two different elements. Radium is naturally radioactive and the cobalt used in treatment is converted into a radio-active isotope. Both work by killing living cells. The trick is to concentrate their activity on the malignant cells of a cancer without doing irreparable damage to the normal cells surrounding the tumor.

Q—I have heard that red clover tea will cure cancer if taken in the early stage of the disease. What do you think? A—You're putting me on.

Q—I have some draperies made of glass fiber. When I handle them I get an itching in my eyes and throat. Could this be due to particles of glass fiber? A—Glass fibers have been known to get into underwear laundered along with draperies made of this material. The wearers have then complained of generalized itching.

Students Try To Shock Us

By PAUL HARVEY

Let's ignore the maliciously militant students for a moment and consider the others who may have some valid grievances.

On every visit to any campus, I am confronted with such questions as:

What's wrong with students having an equal voice in College administration?

What's wrong with Saxon words in campus publications?

What's wrong with dorm rules allowing nocturnal boy-girl visits behind closed doors?

What's wrong with trying to overthrow the "establishment"; our country was founded by radical dissidents.

These are questions which you and I cannot sidestep with platitudes. Such questions, unanswered, are used by revolutionaries as fuse-lighters for campus revolt.

First, I am aware that the coed questioner suggesting there's nothing wrong with coeducational shacking-up is testing my own shock resistance.

I've learned, however, to take the last question first: "after all, our country was founded by radicals resisting the establishment."

That hypothesis is quite unworthy of any history student and I suspect they know it. If they don't know it—if religion has been altogether removed from their American history textbooks—let me remind them that America's founders never came to this country to be free to do whatever they wanted.

They sought a place of freedom "to do what they'd ought"; there's an important difference. They bound themselves to the Law of Moses. They prayed not for freedom but "Thy will be done on earth. . . . So much for that."

If youth's argument for less restraint, more permissiveness, more "do what you want" were demonstrating constructive results, then my generation would be forced to concede.

On the contrary, let's examine the bitter fruits of this recent era in which we have increasingly allowed each youngster to do his own thing.

One-thousand college-agers commit suicide each year and another 9,000 try.

Veneral disease among school-agers is epidemic. It's increased 25 percent in two years.

One in every six teen-age girls becomes pregnant out of wedlock. That number has doubled since 1940.

Youth crime is increasing 11 times faster than youth population is increasing.

If all this "freedom" made

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Oscar Wilde made a U.S. lecture tour in 1882, amusing Americans with outlandish antics and outrageous wit. The World Almanac notes, Wilde told a customs agent that he had "nothing to declare except his genius" and that he was disappointed by the Atlantic Ocean. He was, however, impressed by Niagara Falls but said it would be more impressive if it flowed backward.

A LOOK AT THE BOOK

By DR. BOB JONES

THE EYES OF THE LORD With the gaze of the Divine eye, God sees the deeds of men, whether performed alone and in secret behind a closed door or in the presence of a great company. God sees all that is done, both openly in broad daylight or in solitude and darkness. But God sees more than the deeds of men. The secrets of the thought and the intent and purpose of the heart lie open to His gaze. He Who hid the treasures in the earth and veined the hills with gold reads the secrets of the minds of men, and "the eyes of the Lord are in every place, beholding the evil and the good" (Proverbs 15:3).

Though the searching eyes of God are on both the good and evil, He does not gaze upon them both alike. His eye sees the evil that evil may be judged. God looks upon the good that He may bless. We are told the eyes of the Lord see throughout the whole earth to show Himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward Him (II Chronicles 16:9). God looks upon the man whose heart is perfect toward Him that he may, when He sees a special need in that man's life, meet and supply; that when moments of weakness come He may be there to uphold and strengthen; that when sorrow comes He may be present to comfort and sustain.

And to the righteous man God them happy. . . but mental illness among school-agers is epidemic.

If their "judgment" were as mature as their bodies. . . but automobile accident statistics show this is not so.

And one in two teen-age brides subsequently will be divorced.

And further evidence that their judgment remains less mature than their intellect is the bare-faced absurdity of many of today's campus demonstrators' demands.

Again, however, I am convinced that many of those "demands" are intended mostly to test the resolve of their elders.

They are begging to hear what they have not been hearing in church, in school or at home; that some things are "right" and some things are "wrong" and each of us will do what is right or suffer the consequences.

Question Box

(We invite questions on scenarios and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: My question pertains to the pension racket as practiced by many labor unions and also by many private companies.

Apparently our elected representatives view these nefarious schemes as sacred cows as there are, at present, no state or federal laws to protect the individual. I have written to the U.S. Department of Justice and to the U.S. Department of Labor concerning this situation whereby one may be a participant in some such crooked plan for years and never realize one cent in benefits.

Both departments have given me evasive replies. Of course, we are well aware, the Justice Department is terribly busy prosecuting and persecuting kids who have burned their draft cards but what excuse does the Labor Department have.

I am anxious to hear your views on this subject.

R.H.J.

ANSWER: We are not acquainted with what "pension racket" Mr. J. is concerned about. We do know that the best kind of pension plan is one that the worker himself develops and controls. It sounds as if Mr. J. is referring to some sort of compulsory plan worked out between a union and an employer. We do not favor any coercive plan, believing the individual can best judge for himself what sort of retirement program he wants and is better able to handle his own funds than to have another party withholding his earnings for future retirement.

Many individuals provide for their own retirement by insurance, by savings accounts, by investments in stocks or bonds, or combinations of these or other alternatives.

Mr. J.'s inability to get government to protect him is not unusual. The politicians are more interested in votes than in protecting the individual. And since they rely on labor union bosses for support, they are not likely to do anything to embarrass their prospective supporters.

Huge Bond Holds Kidnapper's Wife

BEAUMONT (UPI) — Ila Faye Dent, 21, wife of slain desperado Robert Samuel Dent, Wednesday was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of robbery by firearms.

Her bond was set at $25,000 at the end of a four-hour examining trial before Justice of the Peace J. Paul McNeil. Not being able to post bail, she was held in the Jefferson County jail.

Dent 22 and his wife last Friday kidnaped Texas highway patrolman Kenneth Crone near Beaumont.

Leaning Tower of Pisa Gets $5 Million Grant

ROME (UPI)—The Italian government is ready to pay million grant for anti-tilt works. But before the money can be spent, someone has to come up with an acceptable project for stabilizing the tower, which has been leaning for all but the first 10 of its 795 years. In 1965 the government authorized an international competition for proposals on the best way to shore up the tower. None has been adopted yet. Suggestions have ranged from freezing the ground underneath the tower to make sure it doesn't tilt any further.

If it's the only time you have to yourself, make the most of it.

After a long business day, it's a wonderful feeling to enter the relaxing and luxurious world of Cadillac. For no other motor car so completely insulates its owner from unnecessary distractions and undue demands. The inherent quietness of a Cadillac is immediately apparent. You sense it in the solid, precise sound of the closing door; in the whisper-quiet response of the big engine; in the isolation from road noise; in the surprisingly muted sounds of street traffic. As you lean back, enjoying the comfort of the contoured cushions with the seat adjusted to the position of your preference, you experience a most welcome release from the tensions of the day. And how reassuring it is, as you blend effortlessly into the flow of the freeway, to have at your command the precise, sure response of Cadillac's variable-ratio power steering and power front disc brakes. At the end of your journey you arrive home, pleasantly refreshed and relaxed, ready to enjoy the evening. And chances are, you'll be looking forward to the advent of another day and to another quiet hour with your Cadillac.

Chamberlain Is Wrong, Says West

SPORTS

The Pampa Daily News

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI)—Jerry West never flinched. He could've squirmed, begged off or simply said he'd rather not answer but he never did. The flat-nosed, but still good-looking 30-year-old Los Angeles Lakers' superstar had made a trip here to accept an emerald green new automobile awarded him by Sport Magazine as the outstanding performer in the NBA playoffs and he knew there'd be questions, but this was nearly as rough as going up against the Boston Celtics again.

West was handed the keys to the car Thursday and then ushered inside a restaurant where he sat down in one of the red upholstered booths and in no time at all found himself surrounded by a horde of interrogators.

He tried the low key, logical approach at first, reminding that actions speak more eloquently than words.

"Too much importance these days is placed on athletes' comments," he said. "Not enough on their performance."

That wasn't what anybody had come to hear though.

What about some of the comments made by the Celtics, some of whom said they had never seen anyone play a better game of basketball than Jerry West did in Monday's finale, which the Lakers lost, 108-106. How did such talk make him feel?

"A player knows when he has played well," West said, without sounding priggish about it.

Yes, persisted a persister, but how did he REALLY feel about being the recipient of such praise?

"I realize," West said haltingly, "respect from other players doesn't come easily."

Did it strike him somewhat funny being designated MVP even though he was on the losing side?

"It seems almost insignificant," West replied. "I'll probably be recognized more for this than for anything else in my career. I've had better playoffs though. This wasn't my best."

So much for the sparring. Now everybody was primed for the haymaker. They wanted to know what Jerry West thought about Wilt Chamberlain. More than that, they wanted to know what he thought about Chamberlain being quoted as saying the Lakers lacked "direction" in the final moments of Monday's contest with the Celtics, and about Chamberlain's statement that the Lakers worked the ball to "one man" too much.

That's where Jerry West didn't flinch. He took a moment before answering but didn't duck the issue.

"I don't think Wilt made himself available to get the ball all the time," West said evenly. "He had five fouls on him. I can't go along with what he says there."

Now, West was asked what he thought about those who keep referring to Chamberlain as a loser or a quitter.

"A lotta people wanna call him that, but that's unfair," said West. "He contributed as much as any player to our team, maybe more. People don't realize we won more games with Wilt Chamberlain than we did without him."

It was suggested to West he was beginning to sound like Chamberlain's defender.

"I'm not trying to defend him," he said. "I'm only trying to tell you what is so."

Chamberlain twisted his knee going up for a rebound Monday night and had to sit out the last five minutes, and now West was being asked whether he thought Wilt's return to the floor possibly would've helped the Lakers.

"I know he wanted to come back," West said. "That's what was told me, but I don't know how much his coming back would've meant. That's something we'll never find out."

Invariably the conversation centered around Chamberlain, not because West had anything to do with it, but he still answered all the questions as best he could.

"I think that loss bothered him more than any loss he has had to accept," West said. "Hell, I've lost as much as he's lost. Elgin (Baylor) has lost as much also. But when you get paid as much as he's paid I guess people figure you're never supposed to lose. People think he's superhuman. He's not superhuman."

West surprised some of his listeners with his answer to the question of which player he would choose over all others right now.

"Lew Alcindor," he said. "I've watched him play and he can do things no other center can do."

Even though Alcindor has never played a single game in the NBA?

"That's right," West said. "And who would he pick for one game?"

"Bill Russell," replied West. "I think Wilt Chamberlain is a better basketball player than Russell but for one game, I'd pick Russell."

Why?

"You'd have to be an athlete to know why," West said.

Edwards, Alou Click for Astros, 9-7

By United Press International
Jesus Alou and Johnny Edwards dropped their powder-puffs long enough Thursday night to give Bob Skinner fits.

Alou, who entered the game batting .187, cracked three hits and drove in three runs, including one which tied the game with two out in the ninth inning. Edwards, who went in with a .120 average, drove in the decisive runs in the ninth with his second hit as the Houston Astros outlasted the Philadelphia Phils 9-7 in the only major league game scheduled.

In today's National League play, San Francisco is at Chicago for a day game and Houston meets New York, Cincinnati plays at Montreal, Atlanta is at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh plays host to Los Angeles and San Diego is at St. Louis in night action.

Six night games are set for pulling my share of the load," said Edwards. "I'm not too thrilled with this average of mine."

Skinner was extremely upset with his Philadelphia bullpen. "Five out of our 13 losses are by relievers," said the Phils' manager. "The bullpen has only three saves and two of them were in lopsided victories. I've given everybody a chance and they just can't get anybody out."

Skinner said he tried to trade for a reliever, "but the others teams won't give up the good ones and we have enough of the other kind."

"We're keeping a close eye on the kids at Eugene (the Phils' Pacific Coast League far club) and there may be some changes made."

Norm Miller opened the ninth with a single and one out later, reliever Gary Wagner walked Curt Blefary and Rader. The tying run crossed the plate as Alou beat out a slow roller to short and Edwards followed with his two-run single.

Bad Pitch

"It was a bad pitch," Alou confessed when asked about his ninth-inning hit. "Up above my eyes. But I got the bat on the ball and got lucky. When you're hitting .187, you've got to get lucky and have some things go your way."

"It's about time I started

Hitters Have Big Night in Texas League

By United Press International
Montezuma would have thought it was the Marine singing in the halls.

Actually it was the barrage of hits—28 in all—that were banged out Wednesday night in Far West Texas when San Antonio, the leaders of the Texas League's eastern division, collided with El Paso—the cellar dwellers in the west.

But when the dust had cleared, all eight pitchers who saw action settled into the showers, when the three home run hitters received their last handshakes, it was El Paso which came out with the lion's share of an 11-3 score.

In other action Thursday night, the Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs swept a doubleheader from Shreveport, 2-0 and 8-2, Arkansas bested Amarillo, 6-3, and Albuquerque's game was postponed because of rain in Memphis.

The Sun Kings were never behind in taking their third straight from the Missions. Catcher Randy Brown aided the El Paso cause with his fifth home run of the season in the first inning with a teammate aboard. Brown now leads the league in home runs.

Jim Vopicka hit his first round tripper of the season in the fifth—a solo affair—and San Antonio's Dave Werdick connected for his first four-bagger in the seventh, with nobody on board in the losing effort.

Harvey Shank, El Paso's no. 1 hurler, was called in from the bullpen in fifth inning and picked up credit for the win, his fifth of the year against one defeat.

The Spurs received two complete performances from their pitchers in their two seven-inning contests.

Pampa Drops Final Game To Rebs, 8-1

AMARILLO — Pampa ended the 1969 baseball season the same way they started it Thursday, by losing, on errors.

The Harvesters committed six errors in a 8-1 loss to Tascosa of Amarillo in the final season contest.

Pampa finished with a 4-18 season record and the Harvesters were last in District 4-4A with a 2-15 mark.

Tascosa claimed second place in the district while Monterey won the championship.

Cliff Gage started for Pampa but errors got him in trouble in the third and Sammie Heasley finished up, coming in the fifth inning.

Tascosa scored five runs in the third on two hits and three Pampa errors, added two more in the fourth and scored its final run in the fifth.

Robert Maiden held Pampa to just four hits and his teammates backed him with eight safeties and only one error.

The lone Harvester run came in the sixth when, after two were out, John Jenkins singled, went to third on a two base error on a throw and scored on a passed ball.

The other three Pampa hits were by Heasley in the seventh, Gary Parrish in the first and Mike Stephens in the third.

Soggy Fairways Dampen Texas Open Golf Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—A field of 155, including an elated Rocky Thompson and a disappointed Tommy Aaron, takes another crack at getting in the first round of the $100,000 Texas Open golf tournament today over the soggy fairways of Pecan Valley Country Club.

The first round was washed out in a convincing manner before noon Thursday by a turbulent rain, wind and hail storm.

Flood waters from Salado Creek still stood in many of the fairways Thursday afternoon, but the fairways and greens were expected to be in a decent, if not ideal, condition for today's opening round.

PGA officials decided to schedule 36 holes for Sunday to make up for the postponed round.

The intense storm, which lasted 15 minutes, struck with such ferocity that visibility was cut to about 30 yards. High winds felled a television tower and two cameras behind the 18th green. Golf ball size hail chopped into the green.

Only half the field had made it on the golf course when the rains struck, and the leader among those who had finished nine holes was Aaron. He birdied three holes on the front side for a 33, and had missed a curling 6-footer on the par-5 ninth that would have brought him to the turn at 4-under par.

On the other side of the ledger, however, was Thompson, who had tied the course record in Wednesday's pro-am event with a 65. Thompson had finished the first nine holes Thursday in 4-over par but the rain scrubbed his bad beginning.

Most of the big name golfers are missing from the 41st annual Texas Open. Trevino and Miller Barber, two of the three top 10 money winners who are in the field, are the co-favorites.

DON AWREY, left, of Boston Bruins tries to get at Montreal Canadiens' John Ferguson, but discovers he must get through Ferguson's jersey first.

4 Texas Cities Get Austin Nod To Education

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Senate State Affairs Committee Wednesday approved new education facilities at Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and El Paso. The committee, however, put the damper on one of Gov. Preston Smith's pet projects—a medical school for Texas Tech in Smith's hometown of Lubbock. Over the objections of Sen. Don Kennard, D-Fort Worth, the committee approved a bill to create a University of Texas at Dallas to build on land donated by the Southwest Center for Advanced Studies (SCAS). Kennard said the bill was approved for full Senate debate before he was given the opportunity to present additional testimony, presumably against the school. The Senate sponsor of the UT-Dallas bill, Sen. Ralph Hall, D-Dallas, said he has 23 votes for the bill in the Senate, more than enough to assure passage. The bill already passed the House.

Washington Window

By FRANK ELEAZER WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congressmen are enthusiastically prescribing for the ethical ills of the federal bench a medicine they administered to themselves only reluctantly in tiny doses. Public disclosure is the name of the drug. The idea is that taxpayers are entitled to know about the outside (and possibly conflicting) interests and income of officials, elected and appointed, such as the congressmen they pay $42,500 a year on the theory it's a full time job. Short of impeachment, public disclosure is about the only concrete suggestion the lawmakers have come up with in the case of Supreme Court Justice from the family foundation of convicted stock manipulator Louis E. Wolfson.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford was the first to call for application to federal judges of "the same public disclosure rules" applying to Congressmen and officials of the executive branch. Speaker John W. McCormack echoed the proposal, suggesting that if the legal fraternity (through its judicial council) didn't voluntarily accept a suitable dose of this medicine, Congress might prescribe it by law. These and other such congressional testimonials to the efficacy of public disclosure are somewhat surprising considering the gagging and protest with which the 90th Congress choked down a spoonful or two of this ethical cure. Members said everybody knew they were honest and that this treatment suggested they weren't. Some were embarrassed to own up to their riches

Other Schools Approved

The committee also approved a new University of Texas Medical School in Houston, a new UT Dental School at a site to be decided by the university's board of regents and UT nursing schools in San Antonio and El Paso. Majority Vote

The real "disclosure"—tax returns in the case of the senate and dollar figures in the case of the House—goes into sealed envelopes for inspection by ethics committees only by majority vote if the affected member gets into trouble. As for the officials of the executive branch, contrary to Ford's apparent belief, they don't disclose anything, except to their immediate bosses and certainly not including their real bosses who pick up the tabs. Fortas might and might not have been deterred from dealing with the Wolfson Foundation (whose money, incidentally, he later returned) by disclosure requirements like any of these. If it was a fee he took, the senate rules wouldn't be required him to mention it. If it was a foundation gift, house rules would have exempted it. Whatever it was, whatever he did with it, disclosure rules of the executive branch would have left him secure in the knowledge that (except for the nosiness of the press) you and I never would have known about it.

CAREER CORNER

ARE CHEMISTS SUPERBRAINS? Retired couples often become resident managers for large apartment buildings, or foster grandparents for needy or institutionalized children.

SENIOR AIDES: The U.S. Department of Labor and the National Council of Senior Citizens started a pilot program last fall in 10 cities to fill 400 community service jobs—mostly helping the poor, elderly, handicapped or children. Application is made through local state employment service offices. Among the jobs: teachers' aides; assistants in rehabilitation programs, work therapy centers and homes for the aged; home service aides who instruct young mothers in child care and home management; recreation aides; teachers for unskilled workers in machine shops; employment interviewers and day care center aides.

WHERE TO LOOK FOR A JOB: Newspaper advertisements, state employment service offices, private employment agencies, small businesses and factories, colleges and other institutions, building management offices, political patronage friends, sales and service organizations and associations which have volunteer placement services for older workers. Two of the best-known associations—The American Association of Retired Persons, and the Forty-Plus Clubs.

FOR A RESOURCE SHEET: For books and several ideas on employment opportunities, write to Joyce Lain, in care of The Pampa News. Enclose 15 cents for handling, and a long, white, stamped and self-addressed envelope. Ask for "Jobs for Retirees" sheet. YOUR OWN HOOK: There are who-knows-how-many independent business ventures for retirees. Next month we'll mention a few. I had been thinking about including retirement to an animal farm until my city aunt, who tried it, said it was a dumb idea. Just because a cow crushed her foot and she fell off a tractor and was in traction two weeks and is sick and tired of playing midwife to a lot of sheep...

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—"A growing number of investors are beginning to feel that at the first signs that fiscal and monetary restraints are becoming effective, the Federal Reserve will immediately reverse its policy." Goodbody & Co. says. However, even if such a questionable assumption should prove to be justified, the firm says, the time lag works in both directions and corporate profits most likely would continue under a good deal of pressure well into 1970. The relatively backward performance of the Dow Jones rail average must be carefully watched, Hayden, Stone Inc. says.
