Astronauts Get Close Up of Moon

THE BATTLE GOES ON — Pampa News staffers Ron Cross and Bob Kelly photographed Pampa firemen in action Wednesday afternoon as they battled a fire at Pampa Lumber Co., 1301 S. Hobart, which caused an estimated $60,000 to $70,000 in damage. Pampa firemen were called about 4:45 p.m. and had the blaze under control quickly. The fire, which is believed to have started on the west side of the tin building, was contained to one side. Lumber on the east side of the building sustained water damage and offices smoke damage. Pampa Fire Chief Finis Dyer said the cause of the blaze is unknown. Jake Osborne is owner of the firm. In the picture, at left, firemen battle the fire outside the building and at right they are shown silhouetted inside the building against the smoke.

'Snoopy' Lander Will Carry Space Heroes

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan started their final preparations today for the most dangerous space operation ever tried — driving to within 10 miles of the moon.

From mission control came the piped-in strains of "The Best Is Yet to Come."

Ground controllers sent the song up at its 8:45 a.m. CDT "wake-up call." But Stafford, Cernan and John W. Young were already up and getting ready for the 3:10 p.m. maneuver in which Stafford and Cernan will cut loose in their "Snoopy" lunar lander to skim low over the lunar surface twice while Young orbits 69 miles above in the "Charlie Brown" mother ship.

BULLETIN

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan apparently solved a crucial problem in their Apollo 10 lunar landing craft today and went ahead with plans to sweep within 10 miles of the moon.

viet news agency Novosti said. But Novosti also said Russians shared "the pride which the Americans feel for their astronauts."

Sirhan Remains Calm as Death Sentence is Read

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sirhan E. Sirhan just sat there, chewing on a cellophane-wrapped cigar, as the judge sentenced him to death for the murder of Robert F. Kennedy.

The melodramatic reading by his defense attorney of a letter from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy asking that Sirhan's life be spared did not move him at all. He said nothing and he showed nothing.

Within a few days he will be taken to Death Row in San Quentin Prison. There, he will wait while appeals go up to the United States Supreme Court over a period of more than a year.

In a handwritten note, Ted Kennedy recommended clemency.

"My brother was a man of love and sentiment and compassion," Kennedy wrote. "He would not have wanted his death to be cause for the taking of another life."

Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker made no mention of the letter in passing sentence.

"It is the feeling of this court that the jury was right and I have no reason to change my opinion now," Walker said.

Then he turned to Sirhan and said, "Stand up."

"It is the judgment and sentence of this court that for the crime in the first degree you are to die in the manner prescribed by law."

Walker ordered that Sirhan be transported to San Quentin within 10 days. It is expected that the tiny former racehorse exercise boy be moved there secretly within the next few days and isolated from prisoners who might try to attack him.

The sentence came little less than a year after Sirhan shot Kennedy down in a pantry of the Ambassador Hotel after a victory party celebrating his win in the California presidential primary.

Police, Snipers Battle On North Carolina Campus

By United Press International
"Heavy" gunfire was exchanged early today between police and snipers on two buildings on the campus of North Carolina A&T University in Greensboro. No injuries were reported.

The sniper fire from two dormitories and a classroom building of the mostly Negro school ended shortly after 4 a.m. and police withdrew all but a few patrols around the campus. National Guardsmen returned to the army.

Gov. Robert Scott ordered National Guardsmen to duty Wednesday night after Greensboro police used tear gas to break up rock and bottle-throwing rampages by Negro youths after a disorder during demonstration at all-Negro Dudley High School.

Disorder Spreads
The disorder spread to the campus of the 4,000-student college when 100 persons stoned automobiles and police. Tear gas was used again, youths apparently fled into dormitories and sniper fire later occurred.
In New York, a committee of students, administration and faculty members said Wednesday night there will be no failures at City College of New York this semester. Other demands by black and Puerto Rican students were being worked out and militant students set midnight tonight as a deadline for the school to answer them.

Smith Influence To Determine Spending Bill

AUSTIN (UPI) — Which way the House votes on the one-year versus the two-year spending bill controversy depends on how much influence Gov. Preston Smith decides to exert on legislators, according to one House member.

Rep. Frank Calhoun, D-Abilene, conducted a poll of the House Tuesday and afterwards reported his findings.

House members favor the two-year spending bill over the one-year proposal.

The House will vote in favor of a one-year bill if Speaker Gus F. Mutscher wants them to.

Both Sides Suffer Heavy Losses in Viet Fighting

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. military command listed 430 GIs killed and 2,185 wounded last week—a three-month high—in the opening seven days of the latest Viet Cong and North Vietnamese offensive.

The wave of shellings and ground attacks pushed losses on both sides to their highest point since the week of Feb. 23, with 5,686 guerrillas slain to bring

Button Up That Overcoat

Thursday was a good day to unpack winter clothes because they'll be needed again Friday, if the weatherman is correct on his forecast.

A cold front moved into the Panhandle from Canada Thursday afternoon setting off thundershowers and dropping temperatures.

By mid-morning today the high was only 48 degrees after an overnight low of 54 and a high Wednesday of 92 degrees.

The weatherman said the cold front would stick around another day and begin moving out of the state late Friday. Saturday is expected to be warmer with temperatures returning to normal.

Pampa received .05 of an inch of moisture along with a mild thunderstorm Wednesday night that provided citizens with a brilliant lightning display.

The U.S. Weather Bureau posted a tornado watch for some sections of the Panhandle Wednesday night when a funnel cloud and large hail was reported in the vicinity of Amarillo.

A storm struck the Pantex plant east of Amarillo about 10 p.m. and hail and high winds shattered car windows and buildings. Winds were clocked at 90 mph.

One tornado was spotted 25 miles north of Amarillo and hail was reported 50 miles west.

The Amarillo airport reported wind gusts as high as 56 miles an hour.

Rain was reported in several area towns but the heaviest amounts fell to the north of Pampa.

their losses for the war to 500,500.

Despite the heavy losses, Hanoi radio today broadcast an appeal from President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam for his men to fight until the allies are "completely defeated" and the Americans have withdrawn.

U.S. military commanders said the latest Communist offensive, following closely behind the one that began in February, was designed to

Burger is Nixon Judge Nominee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Warren E. Burger, an Eisenhower appointee to the U.S. Court of Appeals and a strong advocate of "law and order," has been nominated by President Nixon as the 15th chief justice of the United States.

Burger, 61, was born and raised in St. Paul, Minn., and practiced law there most of his life. President Dwight D. Eisenhower appointed him in 1956 as judge for the District of Columbia Circuit.

Subject to Senate confirmation—he is sure to undergo close scrutiny—Burger will succeed retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren, 68. Both men came to Washington in 1953, the first year of the Eisenhower administration—Warren as chief justice and Burger, who had been active in Republican politics, as an assistant attorney general.

It was expected Burger would pursue a more conservative interpretation of the law than that followed by the Warren court, which probably remolded American life more than any court since that of John Marshall.

This would be especially true in matters involving criminal procedure. Burger is chairman of an American Bar Association special committee on the minimum standards for criminal justice.

Both conservatives and liberals in the Senate expressed approval of Burger, a farm boy who worked his way through college to become a floor manager at the 1952 GOP convention for another Minnesota farm boy, Harold E. Stassen. Later Burger switched to Eisenhower.

enhance the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese position at the peace talks.

Military spokesmen in Saigon said South Vietnamese troops lost more men killed last week than American forces. The government put its casualties at 527 killed and 1,634 wounded.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese launched the latest offensive May 11 with 230 battalions into allied cities and towns—the highest number of one-night Communist salvos since the Tet offensive in 1968.

Last week's losses pushed the number of Americans killed since Jan. 1, 1961, to 35,265 and the number wounded to 225,710, according to the U.S. Command. No such South Vietnamese count is available.

The toll included the early days of the battle for Hamburger Hill, overlooking the A Shau Valley two miles from Laos in South Vietnam's far northwest corner.

U.S. spokesmen in Saigon meantime reported fighting on four fronts on Saigon's outer defense ring in which 99 guerrillas died against light allied losses.

Three flights of B52 bombers followed up the Wednesday battles with raids that dropped half a million pounds of explosives on Viet Cong corridors from Cambodia to Saigon.

Preliminary reports from the field said the Communists shelled three Allied bases overnight—fewest rocket and mortar salvos since their latest surge began May 11.

The fighting outside Saigon raged northwest, southwest and northeast of the city, from 20 to 60 miles from downtown, according to the U.S. Command. Four American GIs were wounded.

It demonstrated the continued presence of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops in bivouacs within striking distance of the capital, waiting perhaps for orders to launch another strike, spokesmen said.

In a delayed report, South Vietnamese spokesmen said government paratroopers Tuesday turned back an afternoon Communist attack in the Central Highlands, killing 61 North Vietnamese.

The Moon Over Texas is Finally Down to Earth

By MIKE WESTER
EARTH, Tex. (UPI)—A tornado visited the edge of Earth two weeks ago and right away the sky and everything in it were troublemakers.

The funnel tore the roof off three houses, kicked in two barns and became the hottest news in town since the "Wotverines," some girls in pantaloons, failed to win their third straight Texas high school basketball title.

The moon has little meaning in Earth, except when a kid wows his girl under it. At night it competes for downtown attention with two straight rows of street lights.

So it caused no commotion today among Earth people when the Apollo 10 moonship sent man farther away from his planet, and closer to another celestial body than ever before.

"We got no business fooling with the moon," said Alvin Pittman, a big man with skin like baked leather, as he shuffled through his front yard hoeing weeds.

"Danged, if I think there's anything up there. We're wasting time and money. We're probably land on it next month, for all the good it'll do," he said with the same twang in the talk of every one of Earth's 1,104 residents.

The sky has meaning in this Texas Panhandle town only for the weather, it brings. And the weather has been bad lately.

"Of course we're interested in space to a certain extent but being an agricultural community, the weather is the big thing around here right now," said Mrs. Ross Middleton, who with her husband publishes the weekly Earth News-Sun.

"It's more important that our farmers get our cotton planted and are able to make a living then whether we get to the moon or not."

The Apollo 10 astronauts today were 258,000 miles from Earth, and that was too far away for townspeople to worry about. Muleshoe, Tex., is just 20 miles to the west and any gossip from there draws a crowd.

"I don't know why it'll do us any good to reach the moon when we could spend that money to take care of debts right here on Earth," said Mrs. Bernice English, the stocky wife of a farmer.

"The only thing this space shot does is disturb my usual television programs," she said, smoothing the wrinkles in her brown print dress. "But if we're going up there to see about the moon, we'll probably try to go to all the other planets too."

The tallest thing in Earth is the steeple on the Methodist Church, a stone structure and one of four churches in town. Earth, which will celebrate its 45th anniversary this August, has five gas stations, two drug stores, a post office, two cafes, a lumberyard, two barber shops and six beauty parlors.

"We women have got to get to the beauty shop, regardless," Mrs. Middleton said with a grin and a fresh hairdo.

The town's biggest event is an annual rodeo, which is homecoming for all forms. Earth people. They scurry through three days of square dancing and picnics and cowboy waiters serve bowls of steaming fried chicken and potato salad.

If tourists pause in Earth on the good, warm days between west Texas sandstorms, they can stay overnight in one of the motels, the only one handy.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Thus far I have seen no bumper stickers bearing the slogan "Remember the Guitaro."
 Could this mean that we have begun to take the loss of our military ships and planes more or less for granted?
 The sinking of the Guitaro cannot, of course, be directly linked with the capture of the Pueblo and the shooting down of one of our intelligence planes. Both of the latter incidents can be blamed on the North Koreans. The Guitaro, on the other hand, just sort of sank of its own accord.
 Now Afloat, Now Sunk
 One minute the new $50 million nuclear submarine was securely afloat, in the Mare Island naval shipyard at Vallejo, Calif. Then, for reasons as yet unexplained, it submerged in 35 feet of water.
 Workmen who were putting the finishing touches on the sub scrambled to safety, thus upholding an old shipyard tradition.
 Although jolted by the incident, the Nixon administration has been playing it cool. The President apparently has ruled out retaliation, but may take steps to avoid a repetition.
 One possibility would be to order that all nuclear subs in naval shipyards be equipped with water wings.
 No outcry has been raised in Congress either, although Chairman George H. Mahon of the House Appropriations Committee described the incident as a "humiliation."

 I would have to agree with Mahon on that score. It is galling enough when our subs start sinking themselves...
Might as Well Resign
 Well, if that type of thing continues, the United States might as well resign as a world power.
 Investigation may show that faulty equipment or human error was responsible. But there has been playing around in the back of my mind a more fanciful explanation.
 Much publicity has been given recently to the formation of peace groups within the armed forces. Some GIs have been publishing antiwar newspapers and otherwise demonstrating against the conflict in Vietnam.
 So the thought occurred to me that maybe the protest movement is now spreading to weapons as well as military personnel.
 In other words, the Guitaro may have been a dovish type of submarine. Recognizing that it had been designed for combat missions, it subsided in protest. If so, this must be recorded as the Navy's first "sink-in."
 And should that prove to be the case, the Navy would have no choice but to court martial the Guitaro for mutiny. Provided they ever get it bailed out.

Presbyterians End 181st Assembly on Happy Note

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—The 181st assembly of the United Presbyterian Church U.S.A. ended a weeklong meeting Wednesday with members on record as favoring U.S. recognition of Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba.
 Among several other resolutions adopted Tuesday was one suggesting the United States not intervene in affairs of Latin American countries.
 In other action Tuesday:
 —The assembly reaffirmed its support of collective bargaining rights for all persons not covered by existing laws but balked on a proposal to take a definite stand on the California grape pickers strike.
 —It condemned "racist" policies in South Africa.
A Theory Supported
 —Affirmed the rights of conscientious objectors and supported a "just wars" theory.
 —Condemned "the growing violence in the United States."
 In its recommendations on Latin America, the assembly said the United States is guilty of intervention in Latin America to establish their own policies. It called on the clergy to become more involved in Latin America because, it said, the church is supposedly free of North American domination. It also called on Protestant and Catholic missionaries to work together in the aims of Latin American independence.

Urges Trade Relations
 "Consistent with the right of self-determination and to demonstrate that the United States intends to avoid punitive politics in Latin America, the U.S. government should immediately take steps to re-establish normal trade relations with Cuba. This should include the lifting of the trade embargo against Cuba," the recommendation said.
 The assembly's Committee on Church and Race recommended the assembly support the grape pickers strike in California but the assembly deleted the passage.
 The assembly voted to "urge the United Presbyterian Church to support as a matter of conscience and witness the demands of farm workers for bargaining rights and legislative protection."
 The assembly urged Presbyterians to look into church-owned land in South Africa and "to explore what the implication of the struggle against racism in the U.S. means for the strug-

Teen-Age Road-e-o Slated Saturday at High School

The Safe Driving Teen-Age Road-e-o, to be staged at Pampa High School Saturday, consists of two parts, says Gene Hinds, chairman of the Jaycee committee directing the event.
 The first of these is a written test to be given all contestants. All questions on the test will be in conformance with the state Drivers Manual.
 Written tests are to be graded and each applicant informed as to whether he or she has passed and has become eligible for the driving test. The latter consists of several skilled courses which will be graded by a Highway Patrolman.
 The Jaycees will be assisted by the Jaycee-Ettes in grading the written tests and driving scores, Hinds notes.
 Students will report to Study Hall for the writings.
 When the contest is completed the winner will be awarded a trophy and will be come eligible for state competition.
 The annual Road-e-o is a nationwide project of the Junior Chamber of Commerce as part of its public service program.

Church Support Given

The policy statement passed after recommendations by the Committee on Church and Society affirmed the church's support of persons to conscientiously object to a particular war.
 The assembly asked the federal government to make places of service available to conscientious objectors.
 The assembly deleted a section in support of bilingual education.
 In the section condemning violence, the assembly called on the church to "recognize, discuss and try to deal with violence."

Guests at Chamber Luncheon To See Texas 'Fun-Tier' Film

Things to do in Texas. "America's Fun-Tier" will be indicated and recommended in a film of that title to be screened at Monday's Chamber of Commerce luncheon. The meeting will be in Coronado Inn's Starlight Room.

The film, aimed at stimulating tourist travel in Texas, is a sponsorship of the state's Highway Department. Viewers will see a composite of fun in "America's Fun-Tier," such as the Latin flavor of El Paso; ante-bellum graciousness at Jefferson; the "wide-sky country" of the Panhandle; and the "tropical moods of the lower Rio Grande Valley."

Family fun—a brand for everybody—is depicted in the film. The new movie is second in a series of Highway Department travelogues. The first was "Texas, Land of Contrast," introduced in 1966. This film also was selected by the US-Travel Service to be shown at an international travel festival.

The film was translated into three foreign languages and was viewed widely overseas.

The luncheon marks the membership meeting for May.

Professor Eyes Suit Against Odessa College

EL PASO (UPI)—A former professor at Odessa College was to file suit seeking an injunction against the school for dismissing him, according to the lawyer for the professor.

The suit will seek a temporary injunction to prevent the dismissal of Dr. Robert T. Sindermann, a permanent injunction, a due process public hearing and "actual and punitive damages," the attorney said.

The suit, to be filed before U.S. Dist. Judge Ernest Guinn in El Paso, will name Odessa College president Dr. Jack Rodgers and the board of regents as defendants, the lawyer, Richard Clarkson, said Tuesday in Odessa, Texas.

Clarkson, a member of the Warren Burnett law office in Odessa, said the suit will be filed "in the next couple of days."

The lawyer said Sindermann was dismissed by Odessa College because the professor testified in Austin before the Senate Affairs Committee in his capacity as president of the Texas Junior College Teachers Association. His testimony, Clarkson said, concerned an academic freedom and tenure bill and support of a proposal to elevate Odessa College from a two-year to a four-year school.

"We're going to court first to seek a temporary injunction keeping the college from dismissing Sindermann until this whole case has been decided," Clarkson said.

"Second, we demand there be a due process public hearing where he can be judged by his peers."

"Third, we're going to sue for actual and punitive damages against Dr. Rodgers and the regents because of damage to Sindermann's reputation. We're contemplating $100,000 actual damage and $200,000 punitive damage."

"And last, we're going to ask for a permanent injunction against the school for dismissing him, and that he be reinstated permanently."

The public hearing was requested, Clarkson said, so Sindermann could have the opportunity to answer charges of alleged wrongdoing.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Small Business Administrator Hillard J. Sandoval Jr. of El Paso, Tex., has fired his special assistant, Albert Fuentes Jr. of San Antonio, Tex., who had been charged by a Texas congressman with shaking down recipients of SBA loans.

Both Sandoval and Fuentes are Mexican-Americans who were active in the Nixon campaign drive in the Southwest during last year's campaign. U.S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., had demanded Fuentes be suspended for a transaction which he termed a "shakedown racket."

Fuentes told a news conference in San Antonio that Gonzalez was "an unmitigated liar."

The SBA said Sandoval fired Fuentes for "failure to follow direct orders."

Fuentes said Tuesday he will bring suit against some people connected with the allegations against him.

U.S. Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., in a House speech, said Sandoval was trying to cover up the Fuentes affair. Patman said Sandoval was using the fact that he had turned the matter over to the FBI, which in turn reported it to the Justice Department, as an excuse for not releasing the report to Patman's Banking and Currency Committee.

"I can only conclude from what transpired last week between SBA and the staff of the Banking and Currency Committee and Mr. Sandoval's letter that the Small Business Administration is attempting to cover up the Fuentes case," Patman said.

He said Sandoval replied to a letter from him in "a highly insulting" manner.

The SBA said Sandoval fired Fuentes for "failure to follow direct orders."

Fuentes said Tuesday he will bring suit against some people connected with the allegations against him.

U.S. Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., in a House speech, said Sandoval was trying to cover up the Fuentes affair. Patman said Sandoval was using the fact that he had turned the matter over to the FBI, which in turn reported it to the Justice Department, as an excuse for not releasing the report to Patman's Banking and Currency Committee.

"I can only conclude from what transpired last week between SBA and the staff of the Banking and Currency Committee and Mr. Sandoval's letter that the Small Business Administration is attempting to cover up the Fuentes case," Patman said.

He said Sandoval replied to a letter from him in "a highly insulting" manner.

Attorney Claims Army Will Not Face Peace Movement

FT. JACKSON, S.C. (UPI)—The Army has decided not to face up to the peace movement among soldiers, an attorney said Tuesday while claiming a major victory for the "GIs" against the war in Vietnam.

The Army said it has decided to drop charges against eight soldiers—accused of holding an unauthorized peace demonstration on this base.

"We'll accept nothing less than honorable discharges," said Michael Smith, an attorney for the "GIs' "Civil Liberties Defense Fund."

Pvt. Edilberto Chaparro of New York and Delmar Thomas of Cleveland, Ohio, accepted the undesirable discharges earlier this month in lieu of court-martial, and Brig. Gen. James F. Hollingsworth Tuesday ordered Pvt. Andrew C. Pulley of Cleveland undesirably discharged.

Hollingsworth said the three men had requested the discharges rather than face court-martial for leading an antiwar demonstration outside their barracks March 20, but the Army dropped charges against all of the men Tuesday.

Hollingsworth also recommended undesirable discharges for Pvt. Joseph Cole of Decatur, Ga., and Eugene J. Rudder of Washington.

The men were among eight members of "GIs' United Against the War in Vietnam" facing general court-martial for their antiwar activities. The other defendants were Pvt. Dominic Duddie of New York, Tommy Woodfin of Washington and Curtis Mays of Kansas City, Mo.

Two Celanese Employees Get New Patent
A patent entitled "Purification of Ketones" has been granted to two employees of Celanese Corp. here, it is disclosed by R. M. Pritchett, Corpus Christi, patent agent for Celanese.

U. S. Patent No. 3,449,436, granted to Patrick O'Connor and Edward P. Maglaughlin, both of Pampa, deals with a method for covering methyl ethyl ketone in a commercially pure state from a crude mixture containing methyl ethyl ketone and tertiary butanol. Methyl ethyl ketone is a widely used solvent, which Celanese produces in large volume here, it is noted.

O'Connor resides at 2541 Mary Ellen and Maglaughlin at 2547 Duncan. Both men are group leaders in the technical department of Celanese Chemical Company's Pampa plant.

Damage to Police Car Said Slight
Some mystery exists as to how and when Pampa police Car No. 1 was damaged Tuesday night between 11:20 and 11:40 p.m.

Patrolman B.D. Shuffield had left the car parked at the Rustic Inn when the officer took a coffee break at 11:20. When he came out the right front door of the car was damaged, looking "as if it had been sideswiped," the report noted. The damage was not done when the car was being driven, the officer said. No explanation had been found as of this morning.

Nixon Will Give Post Office Views

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon will formally recommend to Congress next week that a government corporation operate the post office, with Congress holding a veto power over mail rate changes.

The White House said today the legislation is in the concluding stages of preparation, but that among the points not in final shape was specifically how the corporation should be established.

Rep. Robert J. Corbett, R-Pa., ranking Republican on the House Post Office Committee, told UPI today the plan was explained to senior GOP members of the committee by Postmaster General Winton M. Blount on Tuesday. Senior Democrats on the panel were briefed today.

The proposal, scheduled to go to Congress in the form of a presidential message next Tuesday or Wednesday, could create a "U.S. Postal Corporation" operated by a general manager and a nine-member board of directors.

The postmaster general title and a seat in the cabinet would be abolished but the White House would have power to appoint seven of the nine directors.

C-C Membership Roundup Drive Rises Sharply

Momentum on the Chamber of Commerce Membership Roundup took a sharp rise Wednesday with teams checking in and regrouping their forces for the final three days of the campaign, which will end with the Friday morning check in at 10:00 a.m. in the Chamber offices.

In first place, the Barkers, headed by Jim Morris with 345 points. The Water Boys, headed by Floyd Watson, were second with 260 points; and David Fatheree's Clowns were third with 200 points.

Approximately $35,000 has been received toward the $41,000 budget goal, according to Jim Morris, Finance Director of the Chamber. Any firm, businessman, or individual who is not already a member of the Chamber and would like to affiliate, is urged to contact the Chamber office or any of the workers on the drive.

"The roundup, as far as the contest is concerned, will close Friday morning at 10:00 a.m.; however, should the goal not be reached by that time, it will continue until the goal has been achieved," Morris concluded.

Awards will be made at the Monday Membership Luncheon to be held in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn. Reservations are now being received at the Chamber office.

Dinner On A Skewer Is Full Of Color, Flavor

Food Page

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor
Easy, full of color and flavor, and probably just what you want—a dinner on a skewer.
DINNER ON A SKEWER
To make meatballs:
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/4 cup milk
One-third cup fine dry bread

crumbs
2 tablespoons finely minced fresh onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 pound ground beef
Combine all ingredients. Mix lightly but thoroughly. Shape into 16 meatballs.
To prepare marinade:

1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
2 teaspoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 small onion, grated
Combine all ingredients; mix well.
To prepare kebabs:
3 medium-large tomatoes, cut into 8 wedges each
2 medium-sized green peppers, cut into squares about 3/4-inch in diameter
1 large banana (all yellow or green-tipped), cut into 8 pieces

1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
Place tomatoes, green peppers, banana and meatballs in large shallow pan. Pour marinade evenly over other ingredients in pan. Cover and chill 2 hours, turning once. Arrange food on 8 skewers; stir butter or margarine into marinade. Brush food on skewers with marinade. Broil in preheated broiler 3-4 inches from source of heat about 10 minutes turning once. Brush with marinade during broiling period. Allow 2 skewers per serving. Makes 4 servings.

Dinner on a skewer, ready for the fire.

For Burger fans
Quick mushroom burgers are seasoned with packaged beef flavor mushroom mix. Combine 2 pounds of ground beef with 1 (1 1/4-ounce) envelope of the mix, 1/2 cup of water, and 1/4 cup of chopped onion. Shape into 8 patties. Grill or broil until done.

Food Buying Guide

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers will find good displays of meat and poultry and growing supplies of some fruits and vegetables in food stores and supermarkets this fourth weekend in May.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys continue to be the most abundant meats. Beef roasts and steaks and ground beef may be considered abundant in most areas. Good selections of beef liver may appear in some areas.

Pork items in ample supply include ham, roasts, and smoked picnic. Better-than-average supplies of bacon and Boston butts may also appear in some areas.

Maine sardines, canned pink salmon, and fish sticks and portions are the fish buys to watch for, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

This week carrots and lettuce join cabbage, onions, and potatoes as the fresh vegetables in best supply. Bananas, grapefruit, and oranges are the most abundant fresh fruits, along with strawberries, in some areas.

Latin Neighbors Stuff Vegetables Into Flank Steak

Here's a novelty dish from our Latin neighbors. It may recall our own stuffed flank steak—with a difference.

MATAMBRE (VEGETABLE-STUFFED FLANK STEAK)
2 tablespoons sweet pepper flakes
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
3 pounds flank steak
4 slices white bread
1/2 cup milk
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/2 cup frozen peas and carrots defrosted
2 hard-cooked eggs chopped
1 1/2 cups beef broth

Combine pepper flakes and instant onion with 1/4-cup water; let stand 5 to 8 minutes for vegetables to soften. Trim crusts from bread; soak in milk. Rub salt and black pepper into both sides of steak. Place soaked bread on entire surface of meat. Combine softened vegetables with peas and carrots and eggs. Spoon over bread. Roll lengthwise and tie with string. Place on rack in a roasting pan. Roast in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) for 15 minutes. Add beef broth and continue roasting 45 minutes longer basting occasionally. Cool slightly remove string and slice. Serve with Matambre Sauce. Six servings.

To Shape Up For Summer, Switch To Pineapple Pie Dessert

Food Page

By AILEEN CLAIRE

excess bulges due to a lazy winter? Even though bikinis aren't that much smaller than last season, other bathing suit designs appear to be cut to frame those fatty rolls. It is time to shape up for summer. But first, enjoy another day of food freedom.

This fancy pineapple pie recipe will set a dieter back a few ounces but it is so refreshingly sweet, who can resist?

The filling for this sour cream chiffon pie is made in the traditional manner of fluffy chiffon pie. It is rich with eggs and held firm with unflavored gelatin.

Turn into baked Macaroon Crumb Crust. Refrigerate several hours. Garnish as desired with whipped cream swirls and additional pineapple tidbits. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

Dieters' spring fling—pineapple pie.

There are canned pineapple tidbits in the filling and topping the pie, along with a whipped cream ruffle. All this in a macaroon crumb crust.

SPRINGTIME FANCY PINEAPPLE PIE
3 eggs
1 (13½-ounce) can pineapple tidbits
¼ cup water
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
One-third cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup dairy sour cream
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
Macaroon Crumb Crust
Beat egg yolks with syrup drained from pineapple and water. Combine with gelatin mixed with 2 tablespoons sugar and salt. Cook over medium heat about five minutes, stirring constantly until gelatin is dissolved. Cool. Stir in sour cream. Chill, stirring occasionally until mixture mounds slightly. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff. Beat in remaining sugar. Fold in gelatin mixture and drained pineapple tidbits.

MACAROON CRUMB CRUST
Mix 1-one-third cups finely crushed almond macaroon crumbs with ¼-cup soft butter. Press on bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate. Bake in 350-degree oven 8 to 10 minutes. Cool.

Barbecue Beef Roll-Ups Sparkle Menus
Spark a supper menu with barbecue beef roll-ups. Combine three-fourths cup of pancake one-fourth cup of enriched corn meal, 1 cup of milk, 1 egg and 1 tablespoon of melted or liquid shortening in a bowl. Stir lightly until batter is fairly smooth. Pour the batter onto a hot, lightly greased griddle; bake to a golden brown. Spoon your favorite barbecue beef mixture (heated) across the center of each pancake; roll up. Place in a greased 11 by 7-inch baking pan; sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven about 10 minutes or until cheese is melted. Makes 4 servings.

Just the Answer
If beach-wet hair puts a damper on your summer evening socializing, a dymel wig or fall may be just the answer to your problem.

Try Corn Chowder For Crowd Pleaser

By GAYNOR MADDOX

You can get fresh corn almost any time of year now. But the most plentiful supplies are from May through September. This delicious filling recipe will get your corn enjoyment off enjoyment season off to a good to a good start.
OLD-FASHIONED CORN CHOWDER
One-third cup diced salt pork
1 large onion, thinly sliced
2 cups boiling water
3 cups diced potatoes (about 3 medium-sized potatoes)

3 cups fresh corn (4-5 medium-sized ears)
1 cup milk
1 cup heavy cream
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Cook salt pork in 3-quart saucepan 5 minutes. Remove pork; saute onion in drippings. Add water and potatoes. Cover and cook over medium heat until potatoes are tender. Stir in corn and cook 5 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients. Heat to serving temperature, stirring occasionally. Do not boil. Makes about 2 quarts.

Police Solve Case Of Missing Bike

Solution of a missing mini-bike theft came about Wednesday when a woman reported that a next-door neighbor's garage was housing such a vehicle. Since a knock at the house door was unanswered, investigating officer went into the garage whose doors were opened, accompanied by two neighbors. The bike had been ridden all day Sunday and its motor burned out. Two boys at Lee School were questioned and admitted taking the vehicle. Their parents agreed to settle damages.

Lefors Employs Two New School Teachers

Two new teachers for Lefors schools were employed this week, one of these replacing Mrs. G. M. Moulter who is retiring. Mrs. Moulter has taught first grade for many years. She will be succeeded by Miss Addie Lou Skaggs, Emporia, Kan. Miss Skaggs is a sister to Mrs. H. L. McCarley, fourth grade teacher. Mrs. Harvey Wellman, whose husband is Junior High School coach, also has been employed as teacher. The Wellmans are from Turkey, Tex.

Fine Arts Group Dinner, Election Slated Tonight

Pampa Fine Arts Association will sponsor three special May events—a membership dinner and officer election tonight and two art displays, a one-woman show and a collection of religious art works. Speaker for the membership dinner at 7 p.m. in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room will be William Angus Moore, West Texas State University speech and drama teacher and producer of "Texas" in the Palo Duro Amphitheater. Sketches by Byron Wolfe who did program sketches for "Texas" will be displayed during the meeting, according to Ted Gikas, association president. Mrs. Richard Dickey, guest artist for Pampa's first collected display of religious art will display her own work in the Coronado Inn lobby today through Thursday, May 29. A Lubbock resident, she's the former Sybil Pierson and is the daughter of Mrs. Luther Pierson of Pampa. Mrs. Dickey will attend the association's religious art display which will be exhibited in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co., from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily today through Monday, May 26. The religious art collection owned by Pampa art collectors includes about 70 exhibits of art objects. A native Pampian and graduate of Pampa High School, Mrs. Dickey, began to develop her interest in art while attending Southern Methodist University. She has a Bachelors of Arts Degree in commercial art and has studied at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts and Art Institute of Chicago. She has recently returned from a European tour, which included stops in Sweden, Switzerland and Denmark. Her show to be displayed at the Coronado Inn is the result of sketches she made during her tour. Her work includes paintings done in watercolor and ink, watercolor alone, acrylic, collage, linoleum block print, pastels and oil.

Attempted Burglary Of Theater Probed

LaVista Theater, 318 W. Foster, was the apparent scene of an attempted burglary over the past few weeks, police records disclose. Recently readied for reopening, the building was found to have a hole in the roof where intruders had apparently tried to gain entry. The straight drop of 30 feet from ceiling to floor evidently deterred the burglars. An inspection of the premises showed nothing had been lost.

Vandals Damage Airport Lights For Third Time

For the third time since the new runway was completed and new lights installed at Perry Lefors Airport, vandals have broken out—the lights, County Judge Shelby R. Lenning Jr. said today. This causes financial loss as well as inconvenience, the judge noted. "Furthermore," Judge Lenning added, "since Federal funds are being used in partial payment of the construction, such vandalism could be construed as a federal offense." County commissioners and others concerned in the airport improvement are growing a bit weary of the series of depredations, it was noted.

Patrolman Brown To Auction Bikes

Patrolman S. L. Brown of the Pampa Police Department, will be auctioneer at a Monday sale of bicycles which have been found and impounded by the department. The sale will start at 2 p.m. outside the Department offices.

Free Bicycle Inspection Due Youths Saturday

The inspection centers have been set up for the annual free bicycle inspection Saturday for all youthful bike riders in the city, according to Larry Andrus, chairman. The inspection is an annual event, sponsored by the Optimist Club and closing the yearly bicycle week. A lucky boy and girl will receive free bicycles following a drawing at 10 a.m. The two inspection centers set up by the club are Coronado Center and the downtown Santa Fe parking lot. "The first 150 kids to report will receive free theater tickets," Andrus noted. The inspection will follow the city's Vacation Value Days parade which starts at 9:30 a.m. Bicyclists desiring to ride in the parade are to gather at Craven and Cuyler at that hour.

'Sale' of Desks Canceled by Sale

The sale of used school desks scheduled today at Carver Educational Services Center was canceled because the desks were inadvertently sold in advance, according to Dr. James F. Malone, superintendent. "We wish to apologize to the public for this error in judgement." Other desks will be available later this summer. Anyone interested in acquiring a used student desk should call J. C. Randall at Carver Center, MO5-5202, to be placed on a telephone list. When the desks are available, and are collected in a central place, each name will be called and notified of time and place of another sale. Dr. Malone said. The $130 made by selling the desks will be used to buy shrubs and flowers to landscape the grounds at Carver Center, after the renovation work is finished on the administrative offices, Randall said.

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — All through the recent furor over sex on television, I kept waiting for something to happen that never did.

What I was waiting for was for someone to start a fuss over the fact that CBS TV's British production of "A Midsummer-Night's Dream" was rather frank and plentiful with nudity.

Yet nobody—or hardly anybody—complained when it finally aired. And the subsequent contretemps over video sex and violence found more fruitful fields to exploit.

Well, what was the reason for this lack of furor over "A Midsummer-Night's Dream"? One obvious answer is that one had the guts or intellectual stamina to attack Shakespeare. Another answer is that the production was without a trace of vulgarity.

I wonder, though: Could the real reason be that the nudity was generally unrelated to any contemporary comment challenging current social values? I mean, the nude scenes may have taken slight advantage of the new-found leniency in the arts. But they were, after all, wrapped in the protection of Shakespeare's words. And no one was speaking out about establishment attitudes, those that relate specifically to our times.

On the other hand, take the controversy over the stage musical "Hair," one of the great and revolutionary productions of the American theater. Much of the early publicity about the show centered on a very minor—and artfully done—bit of nudity, which is so trivial that you can miss it if you don't watch carefully.

There was so much of an uproar about this trivia that too many persons overlooked the marvelous music by Galt MacDermot, the lyrics of Gerome Ragni and James Rado, and the almost unearthly emotional power of some of the orchestration.

But the real attack on the nudity, one can believe, was—and is—related primarily to the fact that "Hair" flatly challenges some of the most revered social, political and economic values of our society.

Library Workshop To Start Saturday

About 50 librarians from 26 Panhandle counties will participate in an area workshop Saturday at Lovett Memorial Library with the theme "Library Excellence For Children — Let's Work Together."

The all-day session will include two panel discussions on schools and the public library, and libraries, the news media, and the community. Those participating in the morning program, which begins with coffee and a registration at 9:30 a.m., are Charles V. Hill, city manager, who will give the welcome; Rev. Sam Hulsey, St. Matthews Church, speaker on "Children Become What They Read;" and Elizabeth Crabb, Amarillo Public Library extension coordinator, speaker for "Is Johnny Happy In Your Library?"

Panel participants on "Schools and the Public Library" are Mrs. Marjorie Gaut, Mrs. Frances Walls, and Mrs. Barbara Cockrell.

Afternoon panelists are Mary Louise Loyd, publicity director; Amarillo Public Library; Dallas F. DeWeese, executive editor, Pampa Daily News; E. O. Wedgeworth, Chamber of Commerce manager; Ronnie Wood, personnel director, city of Pampa; and Warren Hasse, Station KPND.

Others participating in the afternoon program are Elsie Page, and Kate Holman children's librarian, Amarillo Public Library, speakers on "Storytimes," and "Summer Reading Program," and Rosalyn T. Shamblin, Texas State Library field consultant.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The market's "consolidation phase" appears to be deepening, Bache & Co. says, but some "bounce" should be expected immediately ahead "as bargain hunters to enter the arena." The lack of any stimulative news on Vietnam has tended "to quell the enthusiasm of the speculative fringe," while persistent reports of a possible boost in the prime lending rate have added a note of uncertainty, the firm observes.

It would appear that the market's spring advance is now over and, unless there is a sudden dramatic peace development, a period of irregularity will now ensue, says E. F. Hutton & Co. However, the firm adds, it is obviously too early to make any projections as to how far any decline will carry.

Spear & Staff sees volume of 20-40 million shares a day in the 1970's, with "instantaneous computer analysis" available to aid investor decision-making. Performance will continue to be the "name of the game," the firm says, but the "thrust of the market may be provided by pension funds and life insurance companies, with huge reservoirs of capital that far exceed the scope and strength of the mutual fund industry."

The market's advance appears to have lost momentum, Thomson & McKinnon observes. Though persistent odd-lot selling is encouraging, traders are urged to keep an eye on the spread between the Dow-Jones industrial average and the advance-decline ratio.

BAD RECEPTION
RUSTON, La. (UPI)—Graduating Louisiana Tech seniors attending a reception at the university president's home Wednesday got more than they bargained for. Doctors had to treat 115 of them for food poisoning.

Bad mayonnaise served at the reception, given by Tech President Dr. Jay Taylor, was blamed for the illnesses.

Frank Jerome, administrator at a local hospital, said 30 extra beds were set up in halls and wards of his 100-bed facility to accommodate the sick students. Jerome said none appeared seriously ill.

Tear Gas Helps Quell Student Riot at Berkeley

By United Press International
A National Guard helicopter sprayed tear gas on student demonstrators and onlookers at the University of California's Berkeley campus Tuesday. Militants tried to break down the door of the president's office at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell told a House subcommittee no new legislation to combat campus violence should be passed because it would hurt "the sheep who follow" militants.

The airborne tear gas assault at Berkeley took place about an hour after 3,000 persons held an illegal rally to protest the death of a man wounded in student-police battles Thursday. Both onlookers and the remnants of the protest group were engulfed in the fumes.

The gas seeped into the 27,000-student school's Union Building and hospital, forcing evacuation of some patients.

Case Western students claimed victory when university officials agreed to discuss release of a report on racial violence in Cleveland.

Earlier Tuesday, 200 students crowded into the 9,000-student school's administration building and tried to break down the door of the president's office. They were repelled by campus police and Vice Provost Ernie Green, a Cleveland Browns football player.

The students said the report they want released contains information vital to the defense of black militant Fred "Ahmed" Evans, sentenced to death for the sniping deaths of four persons in last summer's violence.

Today Was U.S. Astronauts Busiest, Most Dangerous

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Today was America's busiest and most dangerous day in space.

Astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Eugene A. Cernan and John W. Young awoke at 8:34 a.m. CDT. Before they sleep again they plan to give the moon lander its second manned test, practice with communications between earth and two separate spacecraft, and fly Stafford and Cernan to within 50,000 feet of the moon's surface.

It is final dress rehearsal for the first landing attempt by Apollo 11 in July.

The long coast from earth ended in moon orbit late today. But Apollo 10's reason for existing is MTODAY.

Taking All Precautions
The astronauts were taking all precautions possible to reduce the chance of trouble and several times during the trip reported they were studying their moon duties. "Skull practice," one called it.

The plan called for Cernan, followed by Stafford, to enter the lunar lander at 10:14 a.m. CDT and, after checking out its equipment, to separate from the mothership at 1:39 p.m.

At 3:23 p.m. Stafford fires the moon lander's big descent engine for the first of two close passes over the target site of the Apollo 11 landing. Then, at 9:43 p.m., the two ships rendezvous and dock.

The astronauts say the rocket firing to begin the lunar lander's descent to the moon is a critical one. It occurs behind the moon.

If that firing is three seconds too long, changing the velocity of the lander by about 13 miles an hour more than intended, the lander would be on a crash course with the moon. This probably would result in an immediate abort. Less error might be correctable without such a drastic step, so long as the closest approach would not be nearer than 30,000 feet.

Everyone Has To Wait

"Everyone on this side of the fence has to wait until you come around in acquisition to find out, you know, did you make it or didn't you make it type of thing," Cernan said prior to the flight.

The lunar lander, silvery with patches of black and gold insulation clinging to its sides, drops toward the moon after the first firing of its engine, along the exact path Apollo 11 will take on its way to the planned landing July 20.

"We proceed down to 50,000 feet and again we are going through the exact timelines and attitudes that the lunar landing mission will do," Stafford said. Apollo 10 will check its landing radar on the way down and pitch over on its face and take pictures of the landing site for three or four minutes.

"Then we'll light the big engine again to start a phasing burn to go to 200 miles above the lunar surface and end up approximately 350 miles behind

John (Young) to check the rendezvous radar at the exact maximum range we could expect in a nominal mission," Stafford said.

The high point of that orbit will come behind the moon and the spacecraft will then drop toward the moon for another low pass.

On that orbit, Stafford separates the top or ascent stage from the bottom half of the landing craft and fires the ascent engine to simulate takeoff from the surface of the moon.

Another critical rocket firing

occurs here when the lander tries to match orbits with the command ship. The events are carefully timed to take advantage of daylight, and a slight overburn of about three feet per second—just over two miles per hour more than needed—could delay the final rendezvous.

Gas Taxes And Prices

Washington Report, published by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, recently reported that the federal government is spending $20,000,000 (that's TWENTY MILLION DOLLARS) of your money every hour of every day of the year. Note that; that is the incredible sum, and it is ever increasing, needed to feed the insatiable appetite of the federal government alone. The other levels of the bureaucracy — state, county, city, school district, have their sticky fingers in your pay envelope, too.

Just how the fed manages to relieve you of that much income — the many and varied methods it uses to tax you in every way imaginable — the "Washington Report" didn't list or elaborate on; however, a news release, prepared by the American Petroleum Institute, reveals how a good portion of that $20,000,000 per hour is transferred from your pocket to the politicians. According to the API release, this looting, at the rate of $1,000,000 every hour takes place at your favorite gas pump in the form of federal, state and local taxes.

The first gasoline tax was levied in Oregon in February 1919. The late Loyal M. Graham, the politician who thought of the gimmick, said he never thought the idea would spread. Ha!

But wouldn't you know it, the "idea" DID spread; just as all forms of legal Robinhoodism

$52 Billion Headache

Not the least of the problems inherited by the Nixon administration is a $52 billion headache submitted by the Civil Service Commission.

It presented its annual report to President Johnson, who sent it up to the Hill with a generous covering letter saying that the incoming President would inherit "a well-trained and willing career civil service ready, able and anxious to help him perform the many tasks of public administration at home and abroad."

President Johnson did not comment on the Civil Service Commission's assertion that Congress has "jeopardized the financial security of millions of American men and women who have served their government and contracted with it to share the expense of providing for their old age and for their survivors."

(Those are the Civil Service's words and sentiments, not ours.)

We confess, however, to more than a little surprise to learn that we tax payers owe the employees' retirement fund a tidy $52 billion. It comes about

Unsafe Hand On Wheel

We can design safer cars and safer highways, but until we learn how to design safer people, we cannot hope to make more than a dent in highway accident statistics.

A study of 25 recent driver fatalities in the Houston area, conducted by the Baylor University College of Medicine, showed that "80 per cent of the fatalities were maladjusted in that they were either alcoholics or had personality disorders, or both."

According to the Institute for

Robot Baggage Smasher

One of technology's latest triumphs is an automatic airport baggage transporter that can be programmed to take luggage from incoming flights directly to the claims counter or transfer it between planes.

The rolling robot is said to be able to travel over any kind of flat surface, open and pass through doors, stop for pedestrians, sound warning signals and return to its point of origin. For many stops, it

Business — The Next Target
Businessmen who think that the radicals will confine their terrorist campaigns to college and university campuses had better get acquainted with the coming leftwing attack on U. S. industry and commerce.

A warning that businessmen are "next on the list" of Marxist-oriented extremist groups came late last month from the head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's domestic intelligence division.

William C. Sullivan, assistant director of the FBI, told the annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington that the leftist groups, while currently focusing on campuses, are offering "a total challenge to the economic, political, military and sociological" aspects of American society. "This summer," he added, "they intend to test you."

It has been reported that members of the ultra-radical Students For a Democratic Society intend to infiltrate many business firms this summer by applying for summer jobs. Thus business men will be well-adjvised to have their personnel officers carefully check the backgrounds and references of young college types who are accepted for college work, especially those enrolled at institutions where the SDS has been active.

This kind of boring from within presents many businesses with a type of problem they are unfamiliar with. Executives will find it useful — indeed perhaps essential — to learn about industrial security in its fullest sense.

Some companies already are thinking of security and employability in new long-range terms. They are concerned that many of the young people coming out of universities with widespread militant activities are not the type of material, indeed in some cases a threat, to corporations. In view of this, a number of companies are shifting their recruiting activities from college campuses. They are looking to ex-servicemen, especially those with experience in the Vietnam war, for executive trainees. The companies know that the veterans are of tested loyalty and are mature in their reactions.

With so many colleges and universities caught in the grip of radical students and weak-willed faculties who won't stand up for law and order, American business may be increasingly drawn into the educational field, perhaps reaching down to the high schools to find potential employees and training them in business-owned and operated institutions. It is possible to see the disorders on campus as a blessing in one sense, in that it may make business appreciate the needs for positive action by businessmen to do effective educational work in teaching the free enterprise system to young Americans.

Direct assault by the leftist on U. S. business, as indicated by the FBI assistant director, also may make many businessmen, who heretofore have been reluctant to get involved in organizations such as the Southern States Industrial Council that speak vigorously for patriotism and conservative good government, appreciate the need for a real commitment to fighting socialism and the socialists.

It is impossible to appease the SDS and similar groups. They have to be fought or anarchy will result and American business will be wrecked. As Sullivan of the FBI warned, America faces a "total challenge" from the Marxist-oriented extremist groups.

Behind the Scene In Washington

But Vietnam Doves Still Carrying Clubs

ROBERT ALLEN JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON. — Despite hopeful bargaining initiatives from both sides, circumstances in Vietnam itself point to a long period of very tough negotiations.

Fighting is expected to continue at a rather heavy level. U.S. casualties may well be heavy too.

While it may be true, as President Nixon said in his televised speech last week, that "nobody has anything to gain by delaying," it is also true that neither side can afford to be hasty now.

The North Vietnamese, as Mr. Nixon noted, think a rising tide of sentiment here is pushing the new administration toward abandoning the war. Experts here think Hanoi will want to keep casualty rates up to swell that anti-war tide.

Until the Viet Cong unveiled their 10-point peace plan last week, many strategists here were expecting more weeks of Communist intransigence at the Paris talks. Administration aides are still unsure of Hanoi's real intentions.

In South Vietnam, on the other hand, U.S. analysts see signs that the shaky position of President Thieu's government — political as well as military — is gradually improving. Hopes are again rising that southerners will commit themselves to Saigon at last.

The intelligence community is surprised, for example, that 70 per cent of the Communist defectors, since the beginning of the year, have come over to the "open arms" program in the IV Corps area. That Mekong Delta area has been, almost entirely, the responsibility of South Vietnamese forces.

One of those defectors, in the Communist Delta stronghold, was a Hanoi-trained officer, born in the South, who had been sent back by Hanoi to invigorate one of the Delta commands. He explained that he defected when he discovered that desertion of nearly 50 per cent of his men had been concealed by his predecessor in false reports to Hanoi.

THIEU'S TROUBLES — There is a risk in over-stressing intelligence of that sort, of course, and no one underestimates the difficulties of Thieu's government. One of the basic problems was highlighted by mass funerals in Hue early this month.

The funerals were to mark the final interment for hundreds of Hue residents killed in the 1968 Tet offensive. It is estimated that some 2,000 people were murdered during the Communist occupation of Hue. About 800 bodies have since been discovered in makeshift graves.

By those murders — of women and children as well as men — the Communists made clear that a terrible vengeance may await residents of South Vietnam who throw in with the Saigon regime. That is what President Nixon was talking about when he said the United States cannot now abandon the people of South Vietnam and "risk a massacre that would shock and dismay everyone in the world who values human life."

Considered in this context, the level of support for the Thieu government is surprising. Some analysts here think it is remarkable that Thieu felt strong enough to say that his government would discuss a political solution in Vietnam with the Viet Cong. President Nixon called that "a dramatic step forward."

One statement going the rounds here is that Thieu has done very well with what passes for the "old" power politics in Vietnam. He is, according to this appraisal, still learning the Viet Namese equivalent of "participatory democracy" in such matters as relations with the Buddhists and with the Saigon press.

HANOI, ALSO — The experts here think Ho Chi Minh's Hanoi government has its problems too.

From captured documents, it is clear that military operations in the South have fallen short of Hanoi's expectations. Even the 1968 Tet offensive, for all its U.S. casualties, is not viewed as wholly successful (as U.S. commanders said it was not).

The Manion Forum

By MARILYN MANION

SOLUTIONS FOR VIETNAM
The Paris peace talks go on and on. So does the war in Vietnam. Rumor has it that a settlement is in the works — involving a coalition government in South Vietnam. If that should come to pass, the Communists will have won at the conference table what they can't win on the battlefield — control in the south.

Is there no end to this cruel war? Can we win? Should we give up and pull out? What will President Nixon decide to do — what can he do?

To explore these crucial questions, the Manion Forum invited an old friend back to its microphone. He is Father Daniel Lyons, a Jesuit priest who edits the weekly magazine TWIN CIRCLE. Father Lyons is an expert on Asian affairs, and much of his knowledge was gleaned first-hand. For instance, he has been to Vietnam ten times in the last five years.

Dean Manion asked Father Lyons what could be done at this late date to solve our problems in Vietnam. Here are some of his recommendations: "The first thing President Nixon should do is pay attention to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who have always insisted that the war cannot be ended unless you close the harbor at Haiphong. The President will have to turn over more authority to South Vietnam. This is the easiest way, because in this way he will not have all of the liberal press against him. For example, if he were to withdraw 30- or 40 thousand American troops, this would not change the military situation much, but it would win people over to his side. I would not be against that, because the troops are not doing very much there—we're fighting a holding action.

"The way the war is being fought now, five million American troops still could not win, because we're not fighting the enemy, we're just fighting in the South. So, it wouldn't matter much whether he took some troops home—a small number, maybe 10 per cent. But he's got to allow the Haiphong Harbor to be closed.

"I think he should allow South Vietnam to work more closely with some of our Asian allies. In the past we have, for some strange reason, been unwilling to allow Free China to help South Vietnam. I think this type of nonsense has to stop. Free China has offered to help South Vietnam for the last seven or eight years, and the United States has never permitted her to do so. So we have sent the last 100 thousand or the last 200 thousand American boys over there when we did not need to send them.

"We could accomplish twice as much with half as many men if we simply allowed the basic strategy of the military to prevail. Instead, we have thought that we will impress Hanoi with our good will.

"We have war in Vietnam because we pulled out of Laos. If we pull out of Vietnam, we will have war in other countries. The war will not stop, it will merely shift its location.

We should know by now—particularly after two humiliating attacks by North Korea within 15 months—that talks don't end wars with the Communists. Strength is the only language they understand, and we had better use ours while we still may.

WASHINGTON: SDS Instructs Members

How To Infiltrate Industry

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Documents which have come into the hands of this reporter indicate the thoroughness with which the organizers of this year's campus "force-ins" are preparing for their move into industry.

The effectiveness of the student-labor alliance in France last year had a pronounced effect on riot leadership here. The French results contrast with what one SDS (Students for a Democratic Society) instruction letter calls their "frustrating and often demoralizing experience" here in the United States the past 12 months.

"Students and middle-class people... are not powerful enough to stop the war machine. Closing down our schools is not enough. Workers produce and move the goods that are used in the war, and it is they who are primarily forced to fight the war. They can stop it."

An SDS "Work-In Organizers Manual" explains the primary target companies and outlines the techniques student activists are to use in getting jobs in target firms. Excerpts from that manual follow:

"Job-seekers should try to get hired in plants or transport depots that have several hundred (. . . 400 minimum) workers. In larger plants, such as GM (General Motors), GE (General Electric) United Airlines, Pennsy RR, etc., there is a greater tendency for workers to regard themselves as workers, with less illusions about becoming . . . a 'boss'."

"In large plants in national unions there is a greater chance that the workers will become part of . . . mass strike movements, rebellions against sellout leaderships, conflict with the government due to 'national interests' injections, etc., which might create the basis for greater mutual exchange about questions relating to opposition to the government's policies."

"(Larger) wholesale and retail outfits within the city proper could be . . . advantageous . . . large mail-order houses (Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward department stores) . . . Other such places could include the telephone company, gas and light company, mass utilities (if privately owned) . . ."

(When submitting a false work history) "make sure your 'former boss' has the story straight."

"Some places give aptitude tests. Don't show off if you're taking the test with other job seekers, try to see how far (number of questions) they're getting and adjust accordingly."

Q — Are there different kinds of diabetes? Can one who has it eat honey?

A — There is a juvenile type, about 25 per cent of all cases, which progresses rapidly to hardening of the arteries and other serious complications unless carefully controlled; and there is a maturity onset type which accounts for the remaining cases and is generally less severe. A person with diabetes can eat limited amounts of honey and other sweets provided they are counted in his weighed calorie allowance of carbohydrates.

Q — I am a 26-year-old diabetic. I have been taking insulin since I was 5. Would it be possible for me to switch to Orinase?

A — No. Oral antidiabetic drugs can be used to control only those diabetics with the onset occurring after 40.

Q — My daughter, 20, has developed diabetic retinopathy and is losing her sight. Would the para-amino salicylic acid prescribed for tuberculosis help this condition?

A — No.

Along a path cut by Jesse Chisholm, a Scotch-Cherokee trader, one of four great cattle trails from Texas to railheads in Kansas and Missouri was established in 1866. The World Almanac says, Some 600,000 Texas cattle were driven over the Chisholm Trail in 1871—its peak year—and about 10 million cattle traveled north over all the trails from Texas.

JEANE DIXON

FRIDAY, MAY 23

YOUR BIRTHDAY Friday: The changes coming in the year ahead will see you making adjustments in your life. Better relations with authority are promised. Romance may be hindered and helped in turns by the changing scenes in this turbulent year. Friday's natives are resourceful and strongly adaptable, and accuracy of workmanship is part of their general tradition.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Emotional expressions run into high glamor, but are not to be depended upon for lasting impact. Speculation is unlikely to succeed today; stick to conservative measures for sure and reasonable results.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Be ready for compromise in games, family affairs. Abide by some decision rather than try to keep it in a state of flux, so others can arrange their actions to fit. Amuse younger people at night.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Make peace today among friends and relatives far and near. Write, phone, make the amenities. There is quite a lot of good news coming and going.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your intuition is blinded a bit Friday, so do not trust your judgment where speculative risks are involved. Information from others is more than likely to be incomplete and misleading.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): An expansive episode is about to open for you. Older people longer in your field can give you the basic information on which to build—ask them.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your natural tendency for moderate, sparse consumption serves you well. Your system is a little more sensitive to strange foods.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Keep all operations above board. Confidential transactions are apt to blow up later, with considerable embarrassment for all. Travel is better postponed—the people you would go to see are not yet set for the visit.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Social involvements continue rather active. Your group moves on to a new phase of interests and amusements. Your own impatience tends to hinder your success.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your ventures thrive better Friday. Personal and vocational expressions are sound and well supported by accurate insight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Much of the situation Friday is unnecessarily complex—and misleading because of it. Before taking serious action, spend some time straightening out facts and figures so you know where everything is. Watch for unsuspected negative factors.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Follow the rules and routines Friday to get a valid result despite confusing conditions.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Conditions are bewildering; there are so many odd and unfamiliar details! Just curb your impatience, question everything, and put things into place (one at a time).

Beach Cutouts

The only thing that won't be "cut out" during the summer fashion season are cutouts. They're being shown on sundresses, cocktail dresses, shifts, blouses and pants suits. And if you're a sun-worshiper, before you "cut out" for the beach, make sure you're "cut out" for it.

Dear Abby

By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How dare you advise a woman whose conscience is tormenting her because she cheated on her husband not to tell him?

If you don't know that the foundation of all good marriages is complete honesty, then you ought to confine your advice to teenagers.

You told that woman to confess to her God—to her clergyman—to a dear friend, but not to her husband. He is the one she should confess to!

I hope you will reconsider and retract your advice to this poor woman. You gave her very bad advice.

ROGER L.

DEAR ROGER: Sorry, but unless a woman is reasonably certain that hers is a mature, forgiving, and understanding man, she's better off keeping her bazoo shut.

DEAR ABBY: I'm with you! All "confessions" are not good. At age 55 I am still awakened—sometimes at 4 o'clock in the morning—to hear my husband cursing me because of a past intimacy with another man. This took place long before I even met my husband, but I foolishly "confessed" all, and now he insists that I have sinned against him—when I didn't even know him.

I would give anything if I hadn't told him, but I did, and now it's too late.

I would advise women who have husbands like mine to try to tune him out. Don't listen, don't answer, and don't try to apologize or explain. Leave the room. Sleep on the couch if necessary. (I did last night.) Consider it just another headache.

My husband is fine when he isn't harping on this one subject—which is like a sickness with him—and I comfort myself by reasoning that my love for him is greater than his love for me. I am not going to crack up, and I am not going to leave him. Statistics tell me that I'll be alone soon enough.

SORRY I TALKED

DEAR ABBY: To "Lonesome and Blue" who is bitter toward her husband's company because she is unable to go on business trips with her husband. You are not alone. I have exactly the same situation.

My husband has been a traveling executive for 15 years. We've been married 18 years and have 3 children. I am 39, have kept up my appearance and figure, and keep up on current events. During the time my husband is away I spend as much time with the children as possible since they don't see much of their father. I don't accept evening social engagements alone, either.

My husband has an expense account which enables him to stay at the best hotels and eat at the finest restaurants. When he gets home, he is ready for a "home-cooked meal"; I am

Veterans' Auxiliary Plans Poppy Sale

The American Legion Auxiliary Kerley Crossman Unit No. 334 — met in the home of the President, Mrs. Molly Butts, for a called meeting to plan the Poppy Sale and other memorial programs.

The group gave pledge of allegiance to the flag and report of standing committee. Mrs. J.M. Turner, secretary, displayed a plaque, earned by the auxiliary for having reached its quota for members for 1968.

The Poppy Sale for this year will be Saturday, on the streets of Pampa commemorating the war dead in America. Each person in Pampa is asked to wear a poppy in memory of those who died while in the Armed forces.

There is no special price for the Memorial Poppy, but one third of the Poppy Sale goes to the Veteran in VA Hospital where the veterans have made these poppies. The rest of the money is used by the auxiliary for veteran work in Pampa.

Auxiliary members named to put out flags on Memorial Day, May 30th in both cemeteries, were Mary Martin, Gladys Turner, Bessie Foster, and Libby Shotwell. Nine tray favors for Highland General Hospital were made by the auxiliary president and will be placed on the patients' trays Memorial Day.

Refreshments were served by the hostess Mrs. O.A. Butts Sr., Mrs. J.M. Foster, Mrs. Frank Shotwell, Mrs. J. M. Turner and Mrs. Estelle Wheeler.

Troop 136 was assisted by its Sister Troop, 61. Special Award was given to Debra Eggleston, who was the Campership Letter Winner for Brownies from District 11.

Those receiving perfect Attendance Awards were Debbie Anderson, Belinda Collins, Debra Eggleston, Rose Ann Miller, Cheryl Miser and Kathryn Morgan.

About 35 parents and guests attended the ceremony.

Troop 136 attended a slumber party after the ceremony. Troop leader is Mrs. Tom Collins, assisted by Mrs. George Eggleston.

Troop 61 is completing its year with a Court of Awards. Troop members' mothers will serve refreshments. Troop leader is Mrs. Wayne Jones.

Troop 41 has been active this Spring studying nature. They finished the Gypsy Badge by hiking to Central Park, carrying their dinner on packs and cooking it over open fires. They also finished Buddy Burners, which really worked, for their Foot Travelers Badge.

Girls of Troop 41 participating were Mollie Jackson, Pam Allen, Sandra Vance, Debbie Welch, Delores Riggs, Danna Chisum, Deborah Lawley, and Belinda Brooks. Also coming to aid as a leader was Mrs. Wayne Brooks.

Troop 22 had a bake sale May 10. Troop members are trying to earn money for a trip to Austin by selling fountain pens. Those helping with the bake sale were Mrs. C.J. Welch, Terry Morris, Elaine Odom, Kathy O'Neal, Susan Welch, Debra Terry, and Pam Welch.

Don't forget P.A.T. Training from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. May 24 at the Girl Scout Little House. Bring a sack lunch. Training will be given by Mrs. T.M. Whiteley. This is open to all Cadettes who need training for Day Camp.

National League Roundup

Osteen Wins 100th Game

By United Press International
Claude Osteen has finally reached the 100 victory figure but now he's aiming for 20.
Osteen pitched a five-hitter Wednesday night and singled in a run to record the 100th triumph of his major league career as the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Chicago Cubs 3-1.
Osteen, who struggled through a 12-18 season last year, is now off to a 6-2 start and has a chance to reach the 20-victory mark in a single season for the first time in his career.
First-Inning Homer
Willie Crawford homered in the first inning and followed Osteen's run-scoring single in the fifth with another run-scoring single to pace the Dodgers to the triumph.
In other National League games, San Francisco edged St. Louis, 4-3. New York blanked Atlanta, 5-0. Cincinnati edged Philadelphia, 6-5. Houston nipped Montreal 3-2, and Pittsburgh drubbed San Diego, 11-1.
Willie Mays hit a two-run homer in the eighth inning to snap a 2-2 tie and carry San Francisco past St. Louis. Mays' homer was the 592nd of his career and came after Ron Hunt opened the inning with a scratch single off the glove of reliever Gary Waslewski.

Palmer's Game Slips, But He Still Has Fans

ATLANTA (UPI)—Arnold Palmer's million dollar golf game is going bankrupt because he's lost confidence in his putting—but he has no intention of cashing in his chips.
Palmer went into today's opening round of the $115,000 Atlanta golf classic still the most popular golfer in the field but posing little threat because of his inability to score consistently.
With seven of this year's top 10 money winners entered, the Atlanta Classic has its best field of its three-year existence. But top money winner Gene Littler ($96,676) and the No. 7 man Deane Beman, winner of the Texas Open two weeks ago, both skipped this tournament and Billy Casper, No. 1 last year and No. 8 so far this year, had to withdraw Tuesday when his allergy acted up.
That still leaves a pretty fair drawing card with the likes of U.S. Open champ Lee Trevino, Tournament of Champions winner Gary Player of South Africa, Jack Nicklaus, and the locally popular Georgians Tommy Aaron and Doug Sanders on hand—as well as Palmer.
Citrus Open champion Ken Still said the hilly, 7,053-yard, par-72 Atlanta Country Club course was "a real endurance test," especially with the temperature approaching 90 in the shade and a hot sun beating down on Wednesday's pro am.
Canadian George Knudson and Dave Hill tuned up for the classic with 5-under-par 67s in the pro-am and defending Classic champion Bob Lunn had a 68. Pro Jack Montgomery shot a 76 Wednesday, but his amateur partners, that included former Georgia Gov. Carl Sanders, picked up the slack to win team honors with a best-ball score of 18-under-par 54.

American League Roundup

American League Taking Yankees Seriously Now

By United Press International
Are the New York Yankees for real?

That's a key question in the American League today after the Yankees stretched their winning streak to seven games with a 6-5 victory over the Oakland A's.

The league laughed at the Yankees' fifth-place finish in 1968 and predicted they would go nowhere in 1969. But the Yankees are beginning to look like a formidable team now and the players singled out by General Manager Lee MacPhail as key operatives are the guys coming through.
Kenney singled home Horace Clarke from second with two out in the 11th inning Wednesday night after Pepitone tied the score at 4-4 with a homer in the eighth and Bill Robinson's triple drove home Tom Tresh to give the Yankees a 5-4 lead.

Reliever Lindy McDaniel struck out the first two batters in the Oakland ninth but Bert Campaneris walked, stole second and third and scored the walk to pinch-hitter Ted Savage in the ninth gave the Reds the victory over the Phils. The Phils had taken a 5-4 lead in the top of the ninth when Clay Carroll wild pitched home a run. But Tony Perez' single, an error, Johnny Bench's single and an intentional pass brought up Savage with the score tied and the bases loaded. Savage worked Johnson for the walk to win the game.

Pitches Three-Hitter
Tom Seaver pitched a three-hitter to give the Mets the triumph over the Braves. Bud Harrelson tripled in three runs with two out in the eighth to wrap up the win and move the Mets to the .500 mark for only the second time in their history. Cleon Jones singled in the Mets' first two runs in the first inning.
Bob Moose pitched a five-hitter and rookie Al Oliver hit his first major league grand slam as the Pirates crushed the Padres. Oliver's homer came off Billy McCool in the sixth and gave Moose an 8-1 margin.
Denny Lemaster drove in the winning run with a single with two out in the sixth inning and got ninth-inning relief help from Fred Gladding as the Astros beat the Expos. Lemaster scattered seven hits before retiring after eight innings.

Guess Still On Prince's Race Future

NEW YORK (UPI)—Majestic Prince will step onto the track at Belmont Park today, and along the rail clusters of owners, trainers, clockers, newspapermen and track officials will try to decide for themselves if the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner is going to be ready for his supreme test—the Triple Crown.
Majestic Prince's entry for the Belmont Stakes on June 7 is by no means certain. His trainer, Johnny Longden, had no desire to bring the handsome colt to New York at all, but owner Frank McMahon, at first in agreement with his trainer, later decided he would at least ship his horse to the scene.
Longden returned to California, and McMahon took a trip to Palm Beach where he decided, he said, to ship the Prince to New York "to give him every chance to show if he can run in the race. If he isn't able to, we haven't lost anything, but we'd have been very disillusioned if we went to California and after a week he looked like a million dollars."
McMahon insisted the unfavorable reaction to the original plan of passing up the Belmont had had no part in his change of mind.

Net, Track Meet Set by Jaycees

Thanks to the Pampa Jaycees athletes in Pampa and the surrounding area will be busy during the month of May and June.
Friday and Saturday tennis players will have a chance to show their stuff with the Jaycees seeking a tennis tournament to be held at Pampa High School courts and the Central Park courts.
June 7, the Jaycees are sponsoring a track and field meet and entry blanks for the meet can be found on this sports page.
Youngsters aged 10 through 18 are eligible to compete in the net meet. No entry fee is required.
A singles division has been set up for boys and girls in four age groups, 10-12; 13-15; 15-16; 17-18.
A doubles division is slated for all the youngsters except the 10-12 group. Group 10-12 will play at Central Park and all other aged groups at the high school.
The tournament will get underway Friday at 5 p.m. and Saturday play starts at 8:30 a.m.
Youngsters aged eight through 18 may compete in the track meet at the high school field.

No other popular pickup goes to the lengths Chevy does to save you money.

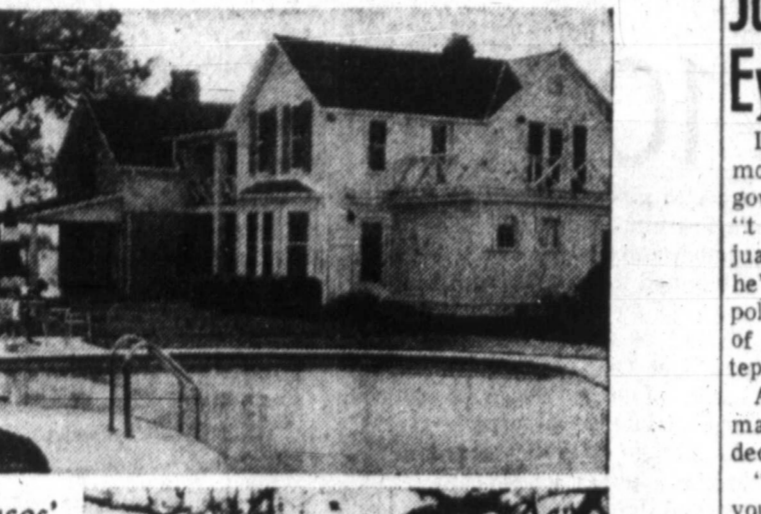

Several lengths, in fact. Like offering pickup boxes that range in length from six-and-one-half feet to a king-size nine-footer.
No matter what size you prefer, you're going to get a full measure of Chevy's Pacesetter Value with each model. For instance: the biggest power choice among popular pickups. Six or V8, including a hill-climbing 350-cu.-in. V8.
You're also going to get the smoothest ride this side of a passenger car. Thanks to an all-steel independent front suspension that refuses to acknowledge bumps.
Inside the double-steel cabs, you're going to find such Pacesetter Values as thick foam seats. Which provide stretch-out room for three. And you'll discover that safety features surround you like a security blanket: four-way flashers, seat belts, dual braking system, padded sun visors and more.
Besides all the built-in Pacesetter Values, there's plenty you can order. Everything from power steering to chrome wheel covers.
Wrap it all up in a small price and it becomes pretty clear: Chevy will go to great lengths to please you.

'Little White Houses'

For his "home away from home," President Nixon has chosen a five-bedroom, Spanish-style mansion on the Pacific coast midway between Los Angeles and San Diego, top left. A White House spokesman said it was "very likely" the President would again become a voting resident of California, his native state. Other executive retreats have been the Texas LBJ ranch, top right; the Kennedy home in Hyannis Port, Mass., center left; Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., farm, center right; Truman's "Winter White House" in Key West, Fla., bottom left; and Franklin D. Roosevelt's modest home in Warm Springs, Ga., bottom right.

Jubilant Leary Eyes Politics

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Timothy Leary is going to run for governor of California on a "I run-the-people-on-with-marijuana" platform. If he wins he'll lease the office to a real politician and camp on the lawn of the governor's mansion in a tepee with his wife. And nonsmokers can eat marijuana in brownies, he declared. "Out of sight" cried his youthful supporters, applauding their hero. Leary was dressed in buckskin trousers, a homespun shirt and wore an Indian headband around his blond, graying hair. Jubilant after the U.S. Supreme Court reversed his marijuana possession conviction, Leary appeared Tuesday at the offices of the Los Angeles Free Press, an underground newspaper, to announce his candidacy as California's first "psychedelic governor." The former Harvard instructor, whose pioneer experiments with LSD led to his leaving the university, said the Supreme Court ruling killed the federal prohibition of marijuana. And to celebrate, he said, "We're going to start a party." "I don't mean a party like Democrat or Republican. I mean a party! A celebration! There's no excuse for this state to have one unhappy person in it."

Sunray Explosion Claims 2nd Victim

The second victim of a May 8 explosion at Northern Natural Gas Plant, Sunray, died Tuesday at a Sunray Hospital. Lawrence Winfred Hutchinson, 54, had been in critical condition from a concussion and burns since the accident. Hutchinson was one of 11 men working in the plant's compressor room when a leak filled the chamber with gas and the explosion followed. Six other men hospitalized after the accident remained in satisfactory condition today. Funeral services for Hutchinson were to be at 4 p.m. today at First Baptist Church, Sunray, and burial in Lane Memorial Cemetery there. Hutchinson was born at Tige and had resided at Sunray 16 years. Survivors include the widow; two sons; three daughters; a sister; four brothers and 16 grandchildren.

Chemical Society To Hear Talk On 'Trace Analysis'

BORGER — The Panhandle Plains Section of the American Chemical Society will meet at 7 p.m. Saturday in Wyatt's Cafeteria preceded by a group dinner at 6 p.m. Dr. Philip W. West will present a talk entitled "Trace Analysis." Emphasis will be placed on the importance and study of trace analysis in the prevention of air and water pollution. C.A. Carlton, retired, will be presented his fifty-year pin. Dr. Carlton has been a member of the American Chemical Society for 50 years and his last professional position in industry was with J.M. Huber Corp. as Technical Director of Rubber and New Products. Reservations may be obtained from any of the following members: R.N. Cooper, Phillips Petroleum Company, Borger; E.T. Suttle, U.S. Bureau of Mines, Amarillo; Dr. James D. Woodyard, West Texas State University, Canyon; Clarence A. Wolfe, Celanese Chemical, Pampa. In addition to current teaching and research activities, Dr. West is director of the Institute for Environmental Sciences at Louisiana State University. Dr. West's research interests have centered mainly on microchemical and trace analysis including the development of spot tests and the application of coordination chemistry and organic reagents to inorganic analysis. He is the author of three text books and over 140 research papers.

CRASH KILLS THREE

WESLACO, Tex. (UPI)—Cruz Alcantar, 46, of Mercedes, Tex.; his wife Carmen; and Mrs. Myrtle S. Parks, 75, who lived near Weslaco were killed Tuesday and six other persons were injured in a collision involving a car and a pickup truck about a mile north of the Alcantar home, north of Weslaco.

Two PHS Seniors Admit Paint Spree

Police were investigating today charges of malicious mischief involving two Pampa High School seniors who admitted painting "Sr's 69" in blue spray paint on a post at Purviance Clinic, 808 W. Francis. The damage occurred Tuesday night. The youths, each 18, were charged with malicious mischief after it had been reported by a man that a 1954 Chevrolet pickup was parked at the clinic and boys were spraying property there. The boys admitted painting the "bottom of a pole" at the clinic but denied other painting jobs at Ideal Foods and Sands Fabric stores. A woman whose car had been parked at the clinic beside that of the youths' pickup, said she had seen the painting done at the clinic but she had left during the operation. When she returned the boys had gone. The two youths were brought to the police station by their parents. The paint can they had used was found in the street near Worley Hospital.
