

Seven Hospitalized Following Shooting Spree

By ROBERT BERG
RISING CITY, Neb. (UPI)—Irvin "Shorty" Ostrander, a man who had a special love for cats all his life, shot two of his favorite cats at his home north of here.

"I guess that was a tip-off that something was really wrong," said Val Foster, manager of the Farmers Grain Co-op elevator at this community 70 miles west of Omaha Wednesday.

Foster was one of six persons shot and wounded by Ostrander Wednesday at the elevator during a shooting spree in which Ostrander also shot himself. No one died in the shooting and none of the injured was believed critical.

Ostrander had quit his job at the elevator last Saturday because, he told town marshal Verl Winchester, "They've been giving me a bad time there."

Witnesses said Ostrander arrived at the elevator at mid morning, talked briefly to two employees outside the elevator office and then went in to see Foster.

"He came in and talked to me a little bit," Foster said. "Then he stormed out saying 'I'm going to settle this once and for all.'"

"I told him, 'Shorty go home, we'll settle this later. I thought he wanted me to go outside and fight him with fists.'"

But Ostrander went to his truck and pulled out a .22 caliber automatic rifle, police said. He re-entered the building and met assistant elevator Manager Kenneth Crook. Crook was wounded in the back.

Governor To Discuss 'State of State'

Opposed Budget Bill Waits For Signing

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. Preston Smith apparently is going to wait until the final day before announcing the fate of the one-year budget bill passed by the legislature.

Smith, on record as opposing the one-year plan, will "discuss the state of the state" on a 30-minute television program June 20, the final day the governor can act on legislation before it becomes law without his signature.

Since the passage of the one-year proposal, Smith, in a number of public appearances, said he either has not made up his mind about the bill or will not announce his decisions.

But in a one-half page news release Wednesday, Smith said he expects to talk about the budget bill, a $61.9 million teacher pay raise bill, and "several other measures enacted by the regular session of the 61st legislature."

There are at least 119 bills Smith probably will not talk about in his statewide address. The governor announced that many bills are now law, 104 with his signature and 15, most dealing with one county, without his signature.

His request for "public service" television time said his address would be from 7:30 to 8:00 p.m.

The governor said he opposes annual budgeting because the state constitution calls for these bills on a biennial basis. If he vetoes the budget bill, he will have to call the legislature back into special session before Sept. 1 to write a new budget for fiscal years 1970 and 1971 along with a tax bill to support the spending program.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and House Speaker Gus Mutscher said the one-year budget would not require new taxes.

If Smith signs the bill or lets it become law without his signature, the special legislative session to pass a budget bill for fiscal 1971 could be convened as late as next summer. But the governor indicated he would reconvene the legislature in January if he approves the bill.

Among the bills Smith signed into law:

—Changed the name of Texas to Texas Tech University effective Aug. 31. The bill was sponsored by Rep. Delwin Jones, D-Lubbock.

—Established a teachers' professional practices commission charged with the responsibility of writing and enforcing a code of ethics for Texas school teachers. The bill was sponsored by Rep. R. H. Coryn D-Victoria.

—Defined disorderly conduct and specified certain types of conduct as disorderly. The bill, sponsored by Rep. James Nugent, D-Kerrville, is designed to replace the state's disturbing the peace statute declared unconstitutional by a federal court.

—Increased the penalty for assault with intent to murder on a police officer. The bill was summing alcoholic beverages in counties of more than 300,000 sponsored by Rep. Ace Pickens, D-Odessa.

DBA Offers Help To School Board On Paving Plans

Pampa School Board met with three representatives of the Downtown Business Association today and discussed plans for paving Pampa Junior High School parking lot and playground.

Kirk Duncan, spokesman for the association gave the association's proposals to assist the school district with paying the cost of parking and playground equipment.

"The board of directors unanimously approved payment of $1,500 now and another $1,500 about Sept. 1, 1970, if five conditions are met," Duncan said.

The conditions are: that angle parking is provided on Francis St., for the length of the entire school playground, and entry is provided on Francis St., at the point where the sidewalks on the east side of the school building are located, that the entire playground be paved, angle parking be instituted on Browning St., adjacent to the school property and that parking lot and playground is on Saturdays, holidays and in the summer.

The board will meet again at 10 a.m. Thursday to open bids on parking lots at Pampa Junior High, Lee Junior High and Austin Elementary School. They will also discuss bids on cafeterias and a track.

The cost of paving the entire parking lot and playground is $9,000, five-thousand of which was approved in the school districts $900,000 School Improvement Bond.

The board approved retirement of six teachers, resignations of 19 teachers and secretarial assistants and employment of twelve teachers.

The board was still in session at press time.

Apollo 11 Mission Awaits 'Go Ahead'

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Apollo 11 astronauts get the word today whether they will go on their epic expedition to land on the moon in July as scheduled.

The "go" or "wait" decision was to be made late today in Washington by Lt. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, the Apollo program director, following a review of preparations with project leaders. The launch date is July 16, if the go-ahead is given.

The big question was whether Apollo 11 astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin E. Aldrin will be ready to go in a month, or if they need more time to train for the toughest manned spaceflight ever undertaken.

Their Apollo spacecraft and its Saturn 5 rocket are proceeding toward the July date without difficulty, and engineers expect the questions that developed during the flight of Apollo 10 will be resolved in time to proceed in July. Most officials also were optimistic the astronauts would be ready although they acknowledged the schedule was tight.

Apollo 10 astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan cleared the way for the lunar landing attempt this summer by orbiting the moon for three days last month and rehearsing all but the final landing.

The lunar pathfinders received a rousing "homecoming" reception at the launch site and surrounding communities Wednesday and in turn Stafford promised moonport workers:

"We're not going to stop with the first lunar landing. This is only the beginning and we're going to press on from here."

They headed to Puerto Rico today for two days of receptions there and a tour of the island's five major cities. Later this month, they will visit California and their hometowns and be feted at a White House reception.

The moon pilots wound up their visit to the Cape Kennedy area by attending a banquet Wednesday night after drawing an estimated 10,000 people to a welcome-back parade in nearby Cocoa Beach.

It was the first such welcome given astronauts here since Young and Virgil I. Grissom were honored with a parade after their Gemini 3 flight four years ago. Community leaders, launch workers and residents of neighboring towns made it plain they hoped more spacemen would return for similar celebrations in the future.

Final Review Of Disarmament Talks Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration officials said today President Nixon and the National Security Council next week are expected to make their final review of the U.S. position for disarmament talks with the Soviet Union.

The officials said that as soon as the National Security Council examines the American negotiating position, which has been in preparation since the administration took office in January, Secretary of State William P. Rogers would summon Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin to discuss date and place for formal negotiations.

Simultaneously, the officials said the United States would consult its NATO allies about the negotiations.

Details about the National Security Council meeting constituted the latest indication the United States was on the verge of initiating the Soviet-American talks.

Soviet representatives in Washington, who have been awaiting word from the State Department, have begun questioning the sincerity of the United States in seeking talks because of the long delay in making arrangements.

Only Tuesday, the Communist party newspaper Pravda published in Moscow a dispatch by its Washington correspondent deploring the American "Safeguard" antiballistic missile system (ABM) and testing by U.S. military experts of multiple warheads, which are called MIRV.

U.S. officials also are interested in when the Soviet Union treaty to stop spread of nuclear weapons. The U.S. Senate approved the treaty earlier this year.

Soviet sources here indicated the Kremlin was not likely to ratify the nonproliferation treaty until West Germany approves it. Since the Bonn government probably will not tackle the treaty until after its elections this fall, the prospect of Soviet ratification appeared months away.

Bargaining Session Begins

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Representatives from Bell Helicopter Co., and striking United Auto Workers union scheduled their first bargaining session since the strike began for today.

But if both sides adhered to their present stands, the possibilities of settling the strike, which began Monday, were dim.

Today's session was called by federal mediator Eugene Zimmerman.

Both sides revealed their positions to the other Monday, the day 6,800 UAW members struck the plant which is the largest supplier of helicopters used in Vietnam.

"We actually did nothing but reconfirm our position that union negotiators had accepted our proposal 100 per cent," a Bell spokesman said. "Our position has not changed at all since that time."

John L. Lewis, Union Boss, Dead At 89

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John L. Lewis burst onto the American labor scene at a time when coal was king.

When he departed thousands of coal miners in Appalachia and elsewhere in the nation were out of work. They had been replaced by bulldozers, augurs, and trucks. Coal had been replaced by gas, oil and even the atom.

But while coal reigned, so did John L. Lewis. His mighty voice and righteous wrath were legend to some and terror to others. But they were his tools in dominating the American labor movement for a half century.

He died Wednesday night at the age of 89.

Lewis, longtime president of the United Mine Workers of America (UMW) and first president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO), retired nine years ago as head of the Mine Workers. He had warred with presidents, industrialists and other union leaders.

Until recently he came from his home in suburban Alexandria, Va., every day to his sixth-floor office in the UMW Building in Washington in his post as chairman of the trustees of the huge UMW Welfare and Retirement Fund.

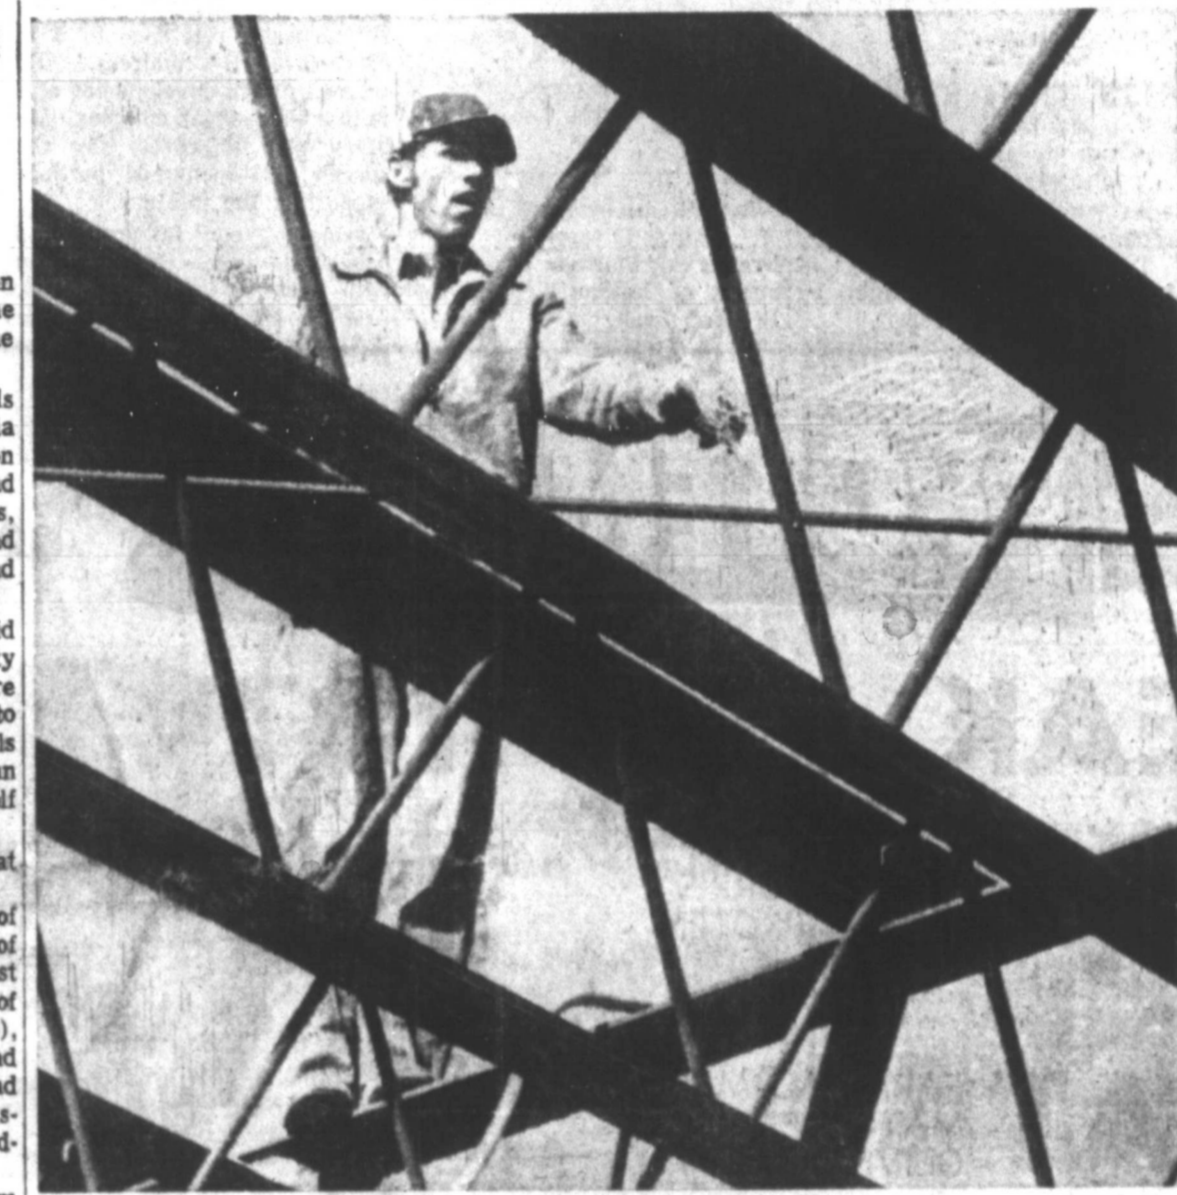

Many said the fund which he won after a long strike and bitter battle with President Harry S. Truman in 1946 was his greatest monument.

He entered Doctors Hospital Sunday. Death came at 7:15 p.m. EDT from what Dr. Marcel Foret called "an acute illness" pending outcome of an autopsy.

He was survived by a son, Dr. John L. Lewis Jr., who practices in Baltimore, Md.; a brother, R. O. Lewis, Fort Myers, Fla., former UMW vice president; and a sister, Mrs. Edith Collins, Kansas City. He was preceded in death by his wife, Myrtle Edith Bell, a former Iowa school teacher, in 1942; a daughter, Kathryn, once active in the labor movement; and another daughter, who died in childhood.

Descendent from a long line of Welsh miners, Lewis began his career as a coal digger while a youngster in Lucas, Iowa, where he was born on Abraham Lincoln's birthday—Feb. 12, 1880.

Lincoln freed the American slaves. Lewis' most ardent and emotional supporters later seized on his birth date as an omen Lewis would free the industrial plebeians.

Gray County Retirement Plan Hits Snag in Commission Meeting

By RON CROSS
Gray County Judge Sherman Lenning's attempt to secure a retirement program for county employees bogged down in the stretch, for a while anyway, in the regular monthly commissioners meeting this forenoon.

Lenning made a motion that commissioners approve the state retirement plan for county employees and it was seconded by Commissioner Joe Clark.

But an attempt for a vote on the motion failed twice and shortly before noon commissioners still were discussing the plan among other things.

Commissioner Jimmy McCracken voting against the motion.

Cracken of Precinct 3 expressed a desire to find out more about the plan and just what benefits county employees would reap.

"It's not that I'm opposed to the plan, but I do want more information on it. I think we should wait until we can see a report on it," McCracken said.

The firm of Rudd and Wisdom, of Austin, a consulting actuaries firm, is making a study of the county retirement plan.

Judge Lenning wants the plan to go into effect July 1 of this year, and commissioners Truitt Johnson and Clark appeared to be all for it.

Commissioner Herschel Wilks, who is recovering from a heart attack, was at the commission meeting for a short time today; but left before the motion was made on the retirement plan.

If the plan is adopted an employee would retire when he reaches age 60 and has had 12 years service with the county.

Also, he could be off the job for not less than five years, come back to work for the county and still be eligible for

Communist Leaders To Tackle Problems

MOSCOW (UPI)—Communist leaders today tackled their world problems with discussion on one of the biggest ones, that of Czechoslovakia, all but ruled out by the Czechoslovakians themselves.

Gustav Husak, Czechoslovak Communist party first secretary, had condemned debate on Czechoslovakia by the 75-nation Communist summit meeting in a speech Wednesday.

"Discussion contradicts our interests and is basically against the Soviet Union and the Socialist countries with whom our party, state and people are connected by ties of international communism, brotherhood, vital interests of freedom and the independence of Czechoslovakia," Husak said.

The draft of the document on problems for discussion at the summit said the main issues were:

—The rift between China and the Soviet Union and the issue of Czechoslovakia were not on the agenda.

Husak was the last to speak among ruling party leaders Wednesday.

He was replying to criticism of the invasion by four of the 40 delegates who had spoken before him. They were representatives of Italy, Switzerland, Norway and Australia.

He said they were uninformed, the whole thing was an internal issue and their comments made it harder to keep the Communist party strong in his country.

Husak told the summit meeting that before the Soviet bloc invasion, party leaders in Czechoslovakia "lacked unity, showed naivete and political romanticism, committed gratuitous acts and used cheap slogans without a class foundation..."

They showed weakness in their handling of anti-Socialist attacks, Husak said, and "the leadership of the fraternal parties lost their confidence in the capacity of the Czechoslovak (Communist) party to end the crisis."

At the time of the invasion of Czechoslovakia by Warsaw Pact nations last Aug. 21, some of the strongest denunciations came from Communist parties of the Western world.

Much of the conference so far has been a series of criticisms of Communist China, which with its allies boycotted the summit.

Viet Cong Bombard Khiem Duc, 10 Killed

SAIGON (UPI) — Guerrilla rockets and mortars slammed into 23 towns and Allied camps late Wednesday and early today, bringing to 360 the number of sites hit in the past week of stepped-up bombardments.

Military spokesmen announcing the attacks, said at least 10 South Vietnamese civilians were killed, eight of them in a two-round mortar barrage into Khiem Duc, 105 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese began their latest round of intensified shelling last Thursday, hitting 102 targets as a prelude to the Midway Island summit between Presidents Nixon and Nguyen Van Thieu.

Heaviest of the bombardments into civilian centers was a 50-round mortar attack against Tra On, 72 miles southeast of Saigon, where one South Vietnamese soldier and two civilians were killed. Three soldiers and 18 civilians suffered wounds.

War communiques listed two ground battles from Wednesday afternoon, including a Communist ambush which U.S. helicopter gunships smashed into the Central Highlands. Spokesmen said 42 guerrillas were killed.

The ambushers opened up on a U.S. 4th Infantry Division convoy with mortars, rocket-propelled grenades and small arms but broke off under aerial attack. One GI was killed and one wounded, the announcement said.

Another fight raged 45 miles northwest of Saigon where troopers of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division behind armored personnel carriers killed 39 Communists while reporting light losses.

Earlier Wednesday, the Communists invaded one U.S. base on the Northern coast and attacked another, killing 16 Americans and wounding 60.

U.S. B52 bombers went after Viet Cong and North Vietnamese bivouacs on approach routes to Saigon and near the highland base at Dak To in eight overnight strikes, military spokesmen said.

Five of the raids hit targets northwest and southwest of Dak To, where U.S. officials have said a North Vietnamese division of about 10,000 men has moved in, triggering heavy fighting recently.

Two other flights of the big bombers slammed their 20-ton bombloads into suspected Communist positions 25 to 27 miles southeast of Saigon, and northwest of the city near Tay Ninh, another hotspot.

Critics of Military Spending: Hunters?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee say the nation has nothing to fear from the military-industrial complex.

Acheson, his tongue still as sharp as when he was former President Harry S. Truman's senior Cabinet member, said critics of military spending are using the same witch-hunt techniques as the militant anti-Communists of the 1950s.

Rivers said that if the United States is overcommitted in the world and made a mistake by getting involved in Vietnam, it was because of decisions by civilians, not military men.

Acheson testified Wednesday before the Senate-House economy in government subcommittee, which has been holding two weeks of hearings on the impact of the Pentagon budget on national priorities.

Rivers spoke today after Flag Day ceremonies in the House.

The "military-industrial complex" is a term widely known through President Dwight D. Eisenhower's reference to it in his farewell address. He warned of the development of a military-industrial complex. Military men, however, say the speech also contained portions supporting the military.

"One of our failings as a people is our preoccupation with witches," Acheson said. And the current assault on the "military-industrial complex" is a witch hunt, he said.

To suggest defense contractors are dishonest or to insinuate that all retired generals go to work for weapons manufacturers is "the McCarthy method of attacking the person rather than the end to be sought."

Acheson ticked off a list of "witch hunts" of the last 70 years, stressing the "anti-Communist campaign" of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis.

Acheson said it would be dangerous to cut military spending because "the power of the United States alone blocks the Sino-Soviet ambitions."

He noted President Nixon's budget for the upcoming fiscal year includes about $90 billion for defense and about $110 billion for all other government programs.

"When one looks at the world that does not seem to be a disproportionate allocation of our resources," he said.

Twelve Members of One Family Buried

PARKERSEURG, W.Va. (UPI)—"They shall hunger no more," said the preacher, "neither thirst any more, neither shall the sun-light them, nor any heat."

As the service ended, Sheriff Lee Bechtold stood up and asked 15-year-old Susan Bailey and her brother Roger, 13, to come with him.

Susan for a brief moment buried her tear-stained face against the sheriff's chest, then the two teen-agers were taken away weeping to await the outcome of charges of murder.

Susan and Roger, police said, admitted setting fire to their tarpaper-covered house Sunday because Susan's father had told her to quit seeing her boyfriend, an 18-year-old cousin, Charles Bailey, 41, his wife Ruby, 36, and 10 Bailey children ranging in age from six months to 17 years died in the blaze.

The 12 were buried in six coffins supplied by the state in a communal grave about the size of a small swimming pool. Susan and Roger went to the pre-burial funeral services, but were not allowed to attend the actual burial.

"The local rescue unit was pulled into the street for Mrs. Hans and Ostrander began firing at it," Foster said.

"He got Doyle Fozzard in the thigh. Then Bill Potter began throwing rocks at him to keep his attention away from us at the rescue unit."

Potter tried to run for safety and was hit in the back.

$74,598 Awarded

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Supreme Court today upheld a judgment of $74,598 in favor of an oilfield worker who was injured in a well-testing accident in Nueces county.

Jose Rangel, a roughneck for Sam Howell Drilling Company, was injured when a section of pipe fell on his back and shoulders during well-tests being run by Howell.

He brought suit against Johnson Testers, a division of Schlumberger Well Servicing charging that proper care had not been taken in handling of the section of pipe.

A trial jury awarded Rangel a total of $74,598 for medical services and diminished capacity to work.

Johnson appealed, but the Supreme Court today ruled there was no reversible error in the trial court proceedings.

The mishap happened near Driscoll in Nueces County.

Try Hot Dogs, Beans For Teens

A chow-down to please teens.

A teenage buffet party can be a very simple thing to prepare. Give them one he-man dish, lots of it, plus a few extra fixings and a hearty salad. Then turn the party over to them.

Try a combination of thinly sliced frankfurters in condensed bean and bacon soup. Add tomato juice and a little chili powder. On the side, have a bowl of chopped green peppers and one of chopped parsley. Serve with crusty bread and mixed green salad.

HOT DOG-BEAN CHOW-DOWN

- 1 frankfurter, thinly sliced
 - 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 - 1 can (11 1/2 ounces) condensed Bean with Bacon Soup
 - 1 cup water
 - 1/4 cup tomato juice
 - 1/4 teaspoon chili powder
- Brown frankfurter slices in butter. Stir in soup, water, tomato juice, and chili powder. Heat, stir now and then. Two to 3 servings.

Try Baked Salmon Mousse

Recipe for Summer Dish

New Englanders favor salmon. This recipe comes from Old Sturbridge Village in Sturbridge, Mass., New England's center of living history. It was part of the elaborate President Adams Dinner given there recently.

BAKED SALMON MOUSSE WITH EGG SAUCE

- 1 lb. (2 cups) uncooked salmon, fresh or frozen, or 1 lb. can (2 cups) 2 tablespoons butter
 - 1 rounded tablespoon flour
 - 1/4 cup milk
 - 2 eggs, separated
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 cup (1/2-pint) heavy cream
- Uncooked salmon, fresh or frozen is best, but canned may be used. Flake with a fork and remove skin and bones. Blend flour and butter over low heat and stir in milk, stirring constantly until thick and smooth.

Cool. Add egg yolks. Add salt until stiff but not dry and fold into mixture. Whip the cream and fold in. Pour into well-greased fish mold or 9-inch ring mold. You may garnish bottom of mold with slices of green pepper or pimento if desired. Place in pan of hot water and cook at 350 degrees for about one-half hour. Cool slightly before turning out on hot platter. Garnish with lemon wedges and parsley and serve with egg sauce.

- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup light cream
- 2 small onions, sliced thin
- 1/2 bay leaf
- 1 whole clove
- 3 tablespoons melted butter
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash white pepper
- 2 hard-cooked chopped eggs

Start Breakfast With Pancakes

Fresh is one of nature's sweetest blessings. Pancakes made with it turn that blessing into a wonderful start for the day. Unusual, rewarding and certainly uniquely delicious. Try them for breakfast, lunch or supper.

FRESH CORN BACON PANCAKES

- 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 - 1 teaspoon sugar

 - 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
 - 3 cups (about 6 ears) corn cut off the cob
 - 1 egg, beaten
 - 1 cup milk
 - 3 strips crisp bacon, crumbled
 - 2 tablespoons bacon drippings
- Sift together salt, flour, sugar, baking powder and black pepper. Add corn and egg. Gradually stir in milk, crumbled bacon and bacon drippings.

Mix well. Drop from tablespoon onto lightly greased griddle. Cook until bubbles form over top and underside is brown. Turn to cook other side. Serve hot with butter for lunch or supper.

FRESH CORN CAKES

3 to 4 ears fresh corn.

- 3 eggs, separated
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- One-third cup milk

Nixon Appointees Now Under Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Presidential appointees are finding themselves coming under escalating attacks from Congress. Such figures as Supreme Court justices and treasury secretaries are among the targets.

But the latest recipient of a congressional barb is Texan Hilary Sandoval Jr., administrator of the Small Business Administration. But what makes Sandoval rather unique is the criticism is coming from within his own party.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., is leading a group of Senate Republican liberals who are putting Sandoval on trial with an SBA program to help Negro businessmen the key test in the trial.

After a Senate Small Business Committee hearing Tuesday, at which Sandoval appeared, Javits said Sandoval is "a good man." He said he would support Sandoval if the administrator got the Negro entrepreneurship program and other SBA projects on the track.

"But we can't wait forever," Javits said.

No Open Criticism
Javits and other GOP senators did not openly criticize Sandoval at the hearing. But sources close to the situation said Republican liberals studied Sandoval's controversial work as head of the SBA and believed he was off to a poor start.

The GOP liberals said Sandoval virtually abandoned the agency's program to help Negroes and other minority groups start their own businesses.

"This agency urgently needs a new personality to put over this minority program," Javits told Sandoval during the hearing.

"I think I'm the new personality," Sandoval answered.

In other testimony, Sandoval said budget cuts forced the SBA to "completely discontinue direct lending," meaning it no longer was making loans at 5.5 per cent interest.

Big Expenditure
But he said the SBA plans a $985 million program during the fiscal year. The figure for SBA programs this fiscal year was $694 million.

"We're going to get it all from increased bank participation," Sandoval said.

Most of it will be under the SBA's program of guaranteeing conventional bank loans, he said.

He agreed with Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., who said he did not see how small businessmen can afford the new 8.5 per cent interest rate charged by banks.

Raps High Interest
"As a small businessman it's almost unbelievable to me," Sandoval said. "I can't fathom paying 8.5 per cent. It will slow down our progress. There are some businesses that can't take it."

Sandoval, from El Paso, came under fire recently when Albert Fuenes Jr., whom Sandoval picked as one of his top SBA aides, was indicted in an alleged shakedown operation. Sandoval then fired Fuenes, another Texan from San Antonio.

The SBA also was criticized when investigators discovered the agency made loans totaling more than $1 million to businessmen in four cities with underworld connections. The loans all were made before Sandoval took office in March.

Vietnam Television Carries Thieu's Views On Government

SAIGON (UPI)—President Nguyen Van Thieu returned from Midway Island demonstrating a new flexibility toward elections to determine the political future of South Vietnam.

President Nguyen Van Thieu tonight dismissed the Viet Cong's announcement of a new "provisional revolutionary government" as a propaganda move that would not change Saigon's attitude toward the Paris peace talks.

A statement by Thieu was read over the government-run television station in answer to questions about his views on the Viet Cong move.

Thieu said the "provisional government" did not have any significance, that it was a Hanoi propaganda move to deceive the world and that members of the government still remained the children and servants of Hanoi.

"Of what value are governments formed by men hidden in the jungles and mountains who do not even dare to reveal the place where their government was established?" Thieu asked.

"I consider the formation of this so-called provisional government to be a new propaganda tactic of the Hanoi Communists aimed at deceiving world opinion and reinforcing the morale of their lackeys."

Thieu said the National Liberation Front (NLF), the political arm of the Viet Cong, "does not control any significant portion of the territory of South Vietnam or of the people of South Vietnam, nor does any government which the NLF gives birth to."

Thieu said the members of the provisional government were "familiar faces" from the NLF and the Alliance of National, Democratic and Peace Forces, which is affiliated with the NLF.

No matter what organization they belong to, they still remain the "children" and "servants" of Hanoi, Thieu declared.

Thieu said his government's attitude toward the Paris peace negotiations would not change as a result of the Viet Cong announcement of the new provisional government.

He said the talks would remain in the Saigon government's view two-sided talks between the Allied and Communist sides.

He said Saigon would "never" recognize the Viet Cong as a separate entity.

"We are still the legal and constitutional government of the South Vietnamese people," Thieu declared.

Political observers said Thieu had returned from Midway Island demonstrating a new flexibility toward elections to determine the political future of South Vietnam.

This flexibility was the most significant point to emerge from the news conference the South Vietnamese President held Monday after returning from his meeting with President Nixon.

Thieu held out the possibility of an election contest with the Viet Cong before the regularly scheduled 1971 presidential elections.

He said the timing of such elections, the form they would take and who would be allowed to participate could be negotiated with the Communists.

Previously, Thieu had indicated to Vietnamese congressmen he was determined no elections would be held outside the framework of the constitution and the constitution could not be amended to allow for special elections.

"Everything can be solved at the negotiating table if the two sides show goodwill and sit down and have serious talks," Thieu said in his news conference.

"It was the most forthcoming public statement he has made on the subject of elections," a diplomatic source said.

Thieu's remarks appeared to bring him in line with Nixon's position on elections.

Diplomats said Thieu's flexibility on the crucial election issue already had been privately revealed before the Midway Island conference, presumably in talks with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker. But to most diplomats and politicians in Saigon, it had been a well-kept secret.

While voicing new flexibility on the elections issue, Thieu, however, made perhaps his harshest statements against the possibility of a coalition government with the Communists.

He declared anyone in South Vietnamese public life who advocates a coalition government with the Communists to replace the present government "will be severely punished."

Most observers feel Thieu made this remark strictly for domestic consumption—to show he was just as firm as ever and was not being forced by Nixon to make concessions to the Communists.

V.C. Have Invested In New Government

PARIS (UPI)—The Viet Cong said today it had invested "all power and authority" in a newly announced provisional revolutionary government in South Vietnam and proclaimed its right to "represent the people of South Vietnam" at the Paris peace talks.

The announcement was made by a broadcast of the National Liberation Front (NLF), political arm of the Viet Cong. It was monitored in Saigon. The broadcast gave no indication whether the NLF would be dissolved. Apparently it would continue to exist side by side with the new provisional government.

But it said the delegation in Paris would now be a delegation from the provisional government, rather than from the NLF. This would fit in with an earlier announcement that Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, deputy Viet Cong negotiator in Paris, would be "foreign minister" in the provisional government.

The announcement came shortly after South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu called the provisional government a propaganda stunt of the Hanoi Communists and said it would not change Saigon's attitude toward the Paris talks. He said the talks would remain two-sided as they are now.

The Viet Cong announcement said the new government would be disposed to open diplomatic, cultural and economic relations with all nations, regardless of their political and social systems and including the United States. It also said it was ready to accept economic assistance from all nations.

Algeria recognized the new provisional government today and the Communist bloc nations were expected to recognize it immediately.

The Viet Cong said the new government would participate in no military alliances with foreign countries.

The announcement said the NLF Central Committee "has invested all power and authority in the new provisional revolutionary government, including the right to represent the people of South Vietnam in the Paris negotiations."

It said two of the main aims of the provisional government were "to defeat the American imperialists" and overthrow the Thieu government.

Mafia Dialogue Is Released

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—A chilling look at the techniques and the protocol of murder and racketeering was provided Tuesday when the Justice Department released the transcript of wire-tapped conversations of reputed Mafia chiefs.

In 13 volumes of dialogue, released at the insistence of an alleged Cosa Nostra leader under indictment, the hoodlums talked about the infiltration of legitimate business, the bribing of public officials and the niceties of killing.

Clean Killings
In one conversation recorded by the FBI at "The Bar," a tavern in Mountainside, N.J., owned by Mafia Captain Angelo (the Gyp) Decarlo, the gangsters apparently were concerned about the necessity of clean, bloodless killing so as not to "disgrace" the victim.

Decarlo said a fatal shot of dope should be administered to the victim and then went on to relate another killing:

"There was me, Zip and Johnny Russell. So we took the guy out in the woods. I said 'You gotta go, why not let me you right in the heart, and you won't feel a thing.' He said, 'I'm innocent Ray (Decarlo's nickname) but if you got to do it.' So I hit him in the heart and it went right through him."

Also included in the recorded material was a conversation between Samuel (Sam the Plumber) Decavalcante, a Mafia kingpin, and Elizabeth, N.J., Mayor Thomas G. Dunn, involving a contribution to Dunn's mayoral campaign.

Well, Maybe
In the conversation, Decavalcante asked about the possibility of obtaining city contracts for his plumbing business and Dunn laughed and replied, "Well, maybe."

Late Tuesday Dunn issued a statement admitting he took a campaign contribution of about $100 but that Decavalcante has received no city contracts and that his remark had been made in an offhand manner.

"I don't apologize for this," Dunn said of the incident. "It extremely difficult or any man in public life to know who he meeting. I pray the people of Elizabeth will trust me."

Earlier in the day Dunn had said he did not remember the conversation.

The term United Kingdom includes Northern Ireland while the term Great Britain does not.

The Eleanor, the Beaver and the Dartmouth were the three ships which lost their cargo of tea at the Boston Tea Party.

10,000 Greeters Turn Out To Welcome Apollo Pilots

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The three Apollo 10 moon pilots returned to a roaring "welcome back" ceremony at their launch site today and told a crowd of 10,000 moonport workers, "You're the greatest and we thank you."

The ceremony inside the space center's towering rocket assembly building kicked off a tour of public appearances on Thomas P. Stafford, John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan.

The astronauts began the day's activity by motoring from nearby Cape Canaveral, Fla. in an open yellow convertible through the Cape Kennedy Air Force station, and then the sprawling Kennedy space center which they left on a fiery Saturn 5 rocket 24 days ago.

Stafford pointed out to the launch workers that the U.S. House Monday passed the space agency's budget for the next fiscal year and said, "You know, Congress has faith in all you people, too."

As the lunar pathfinder spoke, technicians 3 1/2 miles away were readying the 36 story tall Apollo 11 space machine for launch July 16 on the historic moon landing mission.

After leaving the 52-story moon rocket assembly building, the astronauts headed to nearby Titusville for a lunch

Smith Shows Off To 750 Students

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. Preston Smith got out before dawn today with a group of high school boys and showed them how he keeps in shape.

The 57-year-old governor, noted for his informality, but not necessarily his physical prowess, showed 750 high school seniors that he can keep pace with today's youth.

Smith appeared at 5:30 a.m. at the Boy's State calisthenics area on the University of Texas at Austin campus. When the governor arrived, the sun hadn't even showed itself. The youth camp's directors had the lights turned on and the governor proceeded to demonstrate his favorite physical fitness exercises.

John Steinbeck's novel, "Of Mice and Men," takes its title from a familiar quotation by Robert Burns: "The best laid schemes o' mice and men."

First cardinal in the United States was Archbishop John McCloskey of New York, who was made a cardinal by Pope Pius IX in 1875.

State of Texas, Board of Mental Health Involved In Suit

AUSTIN (UPI)—A $150,000 suit against four individuals, the state of Texas and the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation was to be filed in federal court today.

David Richards, attorney for Dr. Floyd McDowell, former superintendent of the Richmond State School, said that the suit also seeks to declare "that all employees of the state of Texas agencies are entitled to be free from arbitrary discharge."

The suit stems from the firing in June, 1968 of McDowell because he "couldn't cooperate in the program (of the school) and was unable to respect administration and its rules and requirements."

Defendants include Dr. John Kiarross-Wright, commissioner of the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, Dr. Charles Barnett, deputy commissioner, and two other individuals, David Loan, of Austin, and Joe Day, of Fort Worth.

Richards said that McDowell's firing "was unlawful and deprived him of rights of free speech and due process of law."

He said McDowell was fired because "he didn't go along with the political decisions of the people he worked for."

Women Scientists Learn They Can Combine Careers With Marriage, Motherhood

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—The girl who elects science as a career knows she will be competing in a world largely dominated by men. But she goes right ahead with her plans, confident that brains have no sex, confident also that she can combine marriage, career and motherhood.

Eleven fledgling scientists say so, all of them already cited for their achievements although the girls still are in their teens.

For as Andrea Jane Yates, 18, of Decatur, Ala., puts it: "I believe marriage, career and motherhood can be combined if a man will recognize the individuality of his wife and treat her as an equal rather than a possession . . . family responsibility can be shared. Identify, whether in marriage or career, should be of the first importance for a woman as well as a man."

Or, consider the views of Jill Ann Markwood, 17, of Lancaster, Ohio.

Need Husband's Support
"Life consists of many different fulfilling facets," she said. "The greatest secret would lie in having a husband backing and supporting his wife in her career."

"The secret would be to marry a man who doesn't mind his wife combing a career and marriage," said Jennie Marie Orr, 16, of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Miss Orr was the only girl of the top 10 national winners in the 28th Annual Science Talent Search, conducted through Science Service and underwritten by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation. Her reward was a $4,000 scholarship. In all, this year, 11 girls and 29 boys made the finals.

We gave questions to the 11 girls on several subjects—the marriage-career-family problem being one.

"I feel that having a career will make me a more aware and understanding mother," said Barbara Ann Baron, 17, of Havertown, Pa. "I realize there is danger of neglecting the

All in the Stance

A woman can be beautifully dressed, but if she doesn't carry herself well and doesn't walk gracefully, the impression she creates is not a good one.

family . . . however, if I am not capable of holding a career and having a family at the same time, I don't think I would be fit to be a wife and mother alone."

"My mother's doing a good job of it," says Lynne Dianne Calonico, 17, of Berkeley, Calif.

"It just takes resourcefulness."

On the matter of job discrimination because of sex, the opinions were varied. Miss Yates said, "Ability warrants recognition—male or female."

Uncertainty a Liability

" . . . The woman with the determination to reach her goal will succeed and overcome disadvantages if they exist," said Susan Irene Bromberg, 18, of Portsmouth, Va. "She herself can create a disadvantage by being uncertain or undetermined."

"It depends on each person's approach," said Barbara Jean Rosenberg, 16, of New York City. "If a woman is constantly on the defensive she will create a bad situation. If she can work with the other people as individuals, not as male and female figures, she should be able to overcome any problems of this nature."

But some felt that in certain areas their careers would be hampered by their sex.

"For example, the medical schools tend to lean toward the male student," wrote Marilyn Ann Finn, 17, of New York City.

"Employers are more likely to give top positions in science to men. If they do give them to women, it is usually with less pay."

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Every Memorial day (or Decoration day as some people still call it) my mother goes out to the cemetery and tears herself apart over the graves of her mother, her father, her brother, and some other relatives who are buried there. I have begged her not to go, but she won't listen to me.

My mother is not a well woman, Abby, and carrying on that way can't help but take a lot out of her. This year when I asked my sister to help me try to talk my mother out of going, she said, "If she wants to go, let her. It does a person good to have a good cry." I say, "If a person can avoid an emotional upset (and believe me, this is one) it is better to avoid it."

Please ask some of your medical consultants for their opinions.

A DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Three psychiatrists agree that what may appear to you to be an "emotional upset" may actually be a healthy venting exercise. It depends upon the person. It's a good guess that your mother has some unresolved feelings of grief, and she feels better after "tearing herself apart," so let her cry.

DEAR ABBY: I have a couple of parents like you wouldn't believe. My mother would have made a perfect warden for San Quentin, and my father should have been with the FBI. They never take my word for anything. No matter what I say, they check up on me.

ARGUING

Abby, I am a 15-year-old honor roll student. I don't lie, but I am treated like a criminal. Sometimes I feel like taking off and never coming back. I am an only child, but that's no excuse. How does a guy get his parents to trust him?

JOHNNY

DEAR JOHNNY: Your parents probably check up on you because they think you're too good to be true. Don't resent it. Be grateful that they care enough about you to want to know where you are and what you're up to. Just keep on being trustworthy and you'll find them trusting you more, and checking on you less.

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative who I am sure does not hear half of what is going on, but she absolutely refuses to admit that she is deaf! Everyone yells at her, and even then they have to repeat what they've said two or three times.

I once mentioned that I thought she should have her hearing tested and she exploded in anger. Why is it a disgrace to wear a hearing aid? People who can't see are perfectly willing to go to an eye doctor and get themselves fitted with glasses.

Now, what do you do with a stubborn ox like that?

CONCERNED RELATIVE

DEAR RELATIVE: Until this relative is willing to admit that she has a hearing loss, you may as well talk to the wall. There are none so deaf as those who will not hear.

DEAR ABBY: Who do you think should decide on how many children a couple should have? The husband or the wife? I think the wife should because she's the one who has to have them and she's also the one who does most of the work when it comes to raising them.

My husband says he thinks the man should decide. We've been married only three months and don't have any yet, but I think two is plenty. My husband wants four. Can you settle this?

ARGUING

DEAR ARGUING: Why not split the difference and plan on three? Or better yet, have two and then decide if you want to go for more.

Watch That Lipstick

What comes out of your mouth on a date is very important, but what goes on your mouth is equally so. Iridescent, glow-in-the-dark lipsticks only give a garish look to your make-up. Subtle, warm shades are much more appealing.

Your Horoscope
JEANE DIXON

Friday, June 13, 1969

Your birthday Friday: Your outlook should be governed by wholehearted effort. This coming year is to be turbulent, and—to balance—highly successful through intangible gains. Friday's natives frequently have an uncanny aptitude for correct guessing.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): The potential hazards of Friday are not from the fortuitous combination of day and date, but from subtle forces represented by planetary patterns. Pace yourself, play safe.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your share of the planetary aspects tends to confuse your judgement about spending. You can also sustain losses if you neglect any security precautions Friday.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): The strongest urge is to squabble with the opposite sex. This is one game you cannot win now. Let anybody rage who wants to, wait until the tantrum is over.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Nerves seem to make for much misdirection of action. Slow down a bit, watch for the rules of the road, and live much more comfortably.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): If you have disclosed anything which you were not supposed to, it will come out in the open now—probably in a slightly changed form.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Take it from the beginning Friday, with completely normal routines. Machinery, appliances, vehicles all tend to be unpredictable.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Everything seems to happen at once now. Just make sure your part of it is the best you can do under tense circumstances.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You might find a surprise in the confusion some friends get into over money Friday. Postpone any detailed discussion for another time, when arguments are not so apt to become bitter.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Divert your temper into any constructive project you can think up. A thorough review of your health, habits, diet is a sensible outlet. If you have some nagging subtle symptom, it may be more readily diagnosed Friday.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): The rare combination of genuinely difficult aspects with such a day and date probably started the superstition about Friday. At any rate, watch your step no matter what you are doing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): The one thing you can do well Friday is to sell ideas, concepts, and land. Everything else is best left dormant for a better time.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): There is no sense getting in an uproar over the abounding confusion and tensions. Pause for a long moment of meditation, find within yourself a serene viewpoint, and sit it out.

Reindeer Ownership

ALTA, North Norway (UPI)—The number of families with reindeer in the province of Finnmark has increased each year since World War II. In 1948, 140 families of 586 persons owned 32,500 reindeer. By the end of 1968, the number had increased to 220 families of 978 persons owning a total of 57,300 reindeer.

Pampans Attend Women Educators' State Meet

Among the more than 1,200 members attending the 40th annual state convention of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society, international honorary organization for women educators, in Austin, June 5-9, were seven members from the two chapters in the Pampa area.

These were Mrs. Audie Morgan and Mrs. Calvin Murray, Panhandle, president and first vice-president of Theta Delta Chapter; Mrs. M. Roy Sullivan and Miss Claudia Evely, members of Theta Delta; Mrs. James Poole and

Mrs. Roy Sullivan

Miss Yvonne Goss, president and first vice-president of Beta Delta Chapter, Pampa; and Mrs. Julian Key, honorary member of Beta Delta.

Miss Frances White, Port Arthur, sister of Mrs. Key, was elected president of the state organization. She appointed Mrs. Sullivan as one of the six area directors in "Texas, who assist in planning and directing regional meetings and serve as representatives of the president in coordinating activities of chapters. Mrs. Sullivan's area includes 27 chapters in the Panhandle and West Texas.

Mrs. Sullivan has served as state chairman of the Music Committee, state chairman of the Committee on Personal Growth and Services, and as first vice-president of the state organization, as well as president of the Beta Delta chapter and on numerous committees. She received the State Achievement Award in 1963.

Beta Delta Chapter will be hostess to the six upper-Panhandle chapters at a regional meeting in Pampa, Nov. 11. Miss White will be the speaker, with Mrs. Sullivan director, and Mrs. Poole in charge of local arrangements. Based on the theme, "I Caught the Fire from Those Who Went Before," the state convention began with a planning meeting followed by a boat ride and dinner along the river. The Executive Board, made up of the state officers and chapter presidents, met for reports of the past year's work and recommendations for the coming biennium.

Agenda for the first general session, included reports by state officers, and the Presidents' Dinner, at which presidents of the 213 chapters in Texas were presented in a professional, in which Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Poole participated. Speaker for the evening was Mrs. Neil McMains of Texas City, immediate past International president, who chose as her topic "Look to the Future."

The second general session featured state chairmen's reports. At the traditional Birthday Luncheon, long-term and summer scholarships totaling more than 16,000 were awarded to members. Achievement Awards were presented to six members who had served the state organization.

The two Founders present, Miss Ray King and Miss Lela Lee Williams, were honored with gifts at the Founders' Dinner. Money derived from the sale of money corsages was presented by the Scholarship Committee in a traditional ceremony. Dr. Mary Frances White, Manhattan, Kans., international first vice-president, spoke on "How Far Does Your Shadow Fall?"

Delta Kappa Gamma was founded by Dr. Annie Webb Blanton and 11 other women teachers, in Austin, May 11, 1929. It includes 2,163 chapters in all 50 states and five Canadian provinces. It sponsors professional seminars such as the 1969 seminar on "Life and Culture of the Middle East" to be held in Beirut, Lebanon, this summer; world-wide travel; educational projects such as "Project Peru" under which women educators from the United States are working with the Ministry of Education in Peru in promoting educational progress in that country; World Fellowships for foreign women educators; and an extensive scholarship program for Delta Kappa Gamma members including grants of $2,500 for study toward doctor's degrees.

Jackson Swings for The Horizon

By United Press International
When evaluating Reggie Jackson of the Oakland Athletics it all depends on whether you view him as a .250-hitter or a .665-sluggier.
There's little or no inbetween for the 23-year old outfielder who freely admits he swings for the horizon. He's made only 41 hits in 164 official at bats this season but 31 of them, including 19 homers which tie him for the major league lead, have been for extra bases.
Jackson did his thing again

Wednesday night before a crowd which included President Nixon at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium in Washington, D.C., when he hit two homers in a 6-4, 13-inning victory over the Senators.
Red Sox Bomb Twins
The Boston Red Sox bombed the Minnesota Twins, 13-5, the California Angels beat the Baltimore Orioles, 7-5, in 14 innings, the Detroit Tigers shaded the Seattle Pilots 4-3, in 10 innings, the Chicago White Sox nipped the Cleveland Indians, 4-3, and the New York Yankees defeated the Kansas City Royals, 5-4, in 11 innings.
In the National League, San Francisco downed New York, 7-2, Atlanta topped Chicago, 5-1, St. Louis whipped Cincinnati 10-5, Philadelphia blanked Los Angeles, 3-0, Pittsburgh clubbed Houston, 13-8, and San Diego edged Montreal, 6-5, in 10 innings.
Joe LaHoud, who started the game with an .083 batting average, hit three homers and drove in four runs in the Red Sox' romp. Dick Schofield hit three doubles and Reggie Smith and George Scott each had three singles as the Red Sox combed seven Minnesota pitchers for 16 hits. Sonny Siebert, who shut out the Twins for the last five innings, was the winner.

Legion Baseball Team Wins First, Rips Spearman

Pampa's American Legion baseball team made its home opener a successful one Wednesday night, winning its first game of the year. Cliff Gage fanned 17 batters and John Jenkins lashed out four singles as the Legion nine tumbled Spearman, 11-5, to put its record at 1-2.
Catcher Steve Scott tripled and singled and drove in three Pampa runs.

with two out in the 14th inning gave the Angels their victory. The Angels had gone ahead in the 11th when Jim Spencer doubled home Aurelio Rodriguez but the Orioles tied the score in their half when Paul Blair singled home Curt Motton. Ken Hicks hit a three-run homer the Angels.
Lifts Tigers To Win
Jim Price greeted reliever Diego Segui with a run-scoring double climaxing a two-run 10th inning rally which lifted the Tigers to their win. Singles by Al Kaline, Norm Cash and Jim Northrup tied the score for the Tigers after John Kennedy's homer gave the Pilots a 3-2 lead in the top of the 10th.

Errors by Vern Fuller and Tony Horton, singles by Bobby Knoop and Buddy Bradford and a sacrifice fly by Duane Josephson enabled the White Sox to score three runs in the seventh inning and hand Luis Tiant his eighth loss. Gail Hopkins homered for the other White Sox' run as Dan Osinski won his second game although he retired only one batter.

Pinch-hitters Bobby Cox doubled home Jake Gibbs with the winning run with two out in the 11th inning to give Jack Aker his first victory as a Yankee. Lou Piniella had four hits and drove in three runs for the Royals but missed a diving catch on the game-winning hit.

Rick Roach Wins Consolation Title In Reese AFB Meet

Rick Roach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Trice, won the championship consolation at the Reese Air Force Invitational Golf Tournament in Lubbock, recently.
In the match play meet Roach lost the first round to the eventual winner one up on the 19th hole.
He went on to win his next three matches 4-2, 4-3, and 1-up on 19. He shot scores of 72-74-71-70.

murder when the ball gets tangled down in it.
Casper, who stumbled in this year's Masters when victory was in sight, was in a large group of "favorites" in what figured as a wide-open tournament. Others getting plenty of backing were mostly the "big hitters," guys like Jack Nicklaus, Dan Sikes, Tom Weiskopf, Bert Yancey, and Arnold Palmer, who reached the Open this year after being forced to compete in regional qualifying for the first time in 10 years.
And there's Gary Player, the little South African, who now restricts his tournament appearances drastically but has been in top form each time, came up with a 5-under-par 65 that topped the practice scores reported Wednesday when the players got in their final tune-

Crowd Likes Trevino, But Open Wide Open

HOUSTON (UPI)—The crowd likes defending champion Lee Trevino likes Billy Casper—in the 1969 U.S. Open golf beginning today with a field of 150 starters attacking the steam-heated Champions Golf Club course.
Trevino, who won himself an army of fans called Lee's Fleas "as well as the usual fame and gold when he took the Open last year at Rochester, N.Y., in a major surprise, is shooting to become the first repeat champion since another tough little Texan named Ben Hogan did it back in 1950 and 1951.
"If I had to pick a winner, I'd pick Billy Casper," said Trevino just before the 139 pros and 11 amateurs who make up this year's field trooped out onto the par 35-35-70 Champions' Cypress Creek course to do battle with 6,967 yards of tight fairways, slow and tricky Bermuda grass greens, and Bermuda rough that frowns thick instead of up and is nice when your ball sits up on it

Cepeda, Aaron Help Niekro Win

By United Press International
Phil Niekro, who knows what it's like to pitch well with the lowest results, wants the world to know he's enjoying that sweet smell of success.
A 30-year-old knuckleballer who travelled the minor league hamburger circuit for seven seasons, the Atlanta Braves' righthander has a 10-4 record which ties him for the major league lead in victories.
Niekro notched No. 10 when he beat the Chicago Cubs, 5-1, with a two-hitter Wednesday night and then found himself apologizing for throwing a home-run ball to Randy Hundley after carrying a perfect game into the sixth inning.
Orlando Cepeda's two-run double was the big blow of a four-run Atlanta first inning and Hank Aaron connected for his 16th homer of the season and the 526th of his career in the fifth. Bill Hands, kayoed in the fifth inning, suffered his sixth loss against five victories.
The San Francisco Giants ended the New York Mets' 11-game winning streak, 7-2, the St. Louis Cardinals clubbed the Cincinnati Reds, 10-5, the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Houston Astros, 13-8, the San Diego Padres nipped the Montreal Expos, 6-5, in 10 innings and the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers, 3-0 in other National League games.

Willie Mays and Hal Lanier each drove in two runs and Gaylord Perry pitched a four-hitter for his ninth victory for the Giants. Willie McCovey extended his batting streak to 16 games with a double and a single as the Giants bombed five New York pitchers for 12 hits and got nine walks.
Lou Brock and Vada Pinson each had three hits and drove in three runs for the Cardinals, who blitzed Jim Merritt with five runs in 1 1-3 innings. Joe Torre also contributed a homer to the Cardinal attack which enabled Jim Grant to win his first game for St. Louis with a seven-inning relief stint. Alex Johnson and Bobby Tolan homered for the Reds.
Roberto Clemente's seventh career grand slam climaxed a six-run sixth inning and enabled Steve Blass to win his sixth game for the Pirates with relief aid from Bruce Dal Canton and Chuck Hartenstein. Matty Alou and Fred Patek added three hits each to the Pirates' 15-hit attack on Don Wilson and four successors.

The Padres' winning run in the last of the 10th came when right-fielder Donn Clendenon caught a foul fly by Tommie Dean with the bases filled and one out. Jose Arcia trotted home with the winning run following the goof to give Billy McCool his second win. Ed Spiezio had three hits for the Padres and Clendenon had three hits for the Expos.

Billy Champion, a 21-year old right-hander, pitched a five-hitter to end the Phillies' losing streak at nine games. John Callison doubled home one run and Don Money singled in another to send the Phillies to a 2-0 first-inning lead against Claude Osteen. Deron Johnson doubled home the other Philadelphia run in the sixth.

USGA Changing Qualifying Rules to Play in U.S. Open

HOUSTON (UPI)—The U.S. Golf Association is changing part of the rules regarding automatic berths in the U.S. Open golf championship, because it thinks the "big money" tournaments have wrecked money earnings as a guide to a player's proficiency.
In a change announced for the 1970 Open at Chaska, Minn., the USGA wiped out the automatic exemption from local qualifying given the top 15 players in the current money standings and awarded them to the top 15 players under a "new point system."
The system gives points for the top five places in any tournament with at least $100,000 in prize money. The USGA said tourneys worth that much "affects as tournaments the same field as tournaments worth more, but the money earned from the bigger ones is more." There will be a 50 per cent bonus in points for the top five in the PGA championship, British Open and Masters tournament.

Still exempt from qualifying will be the top 15 in last year's U.S. Open, the Open champions of the last five years, the PGA champions of the last five years, and the British Open and U.S. amateur champions.

JOHNSON SOLD

ATLANTA (UPI)—Ken Johnson, who lost a nine-inning no-hitter to Cincinnati on April 23, 1964, was sold by the Atlanta Braves Monday to the New York Yankees. Johnson, a 35-year-old righthander, compiled an 89-102 record with Kansas City, Cincinnati, Houston and Atlanta.

Landowners Complain Too Much Water East

AUSTIN (UPI)—South Texas land owners complained today that a controversial plan to rechart the Edwards underground reservoir would deprive them of water needed for farming.

"You're cutting off our water to provide more for the counties to the east," said H. O. Neimeyer, chairman of the Uvalde County Water Conservation Association.

More than 80 land owners and irrigation farmers from Uvalde and Medina counties appeared with Neimeyer to oppose the proposal at a Texas Water Rights hearing.

Four Dams Proposed
The plan prepared by the U.S. Corps of Engineers calls for the construction of four dams for flood control in the Guadalupe, San Antonio and Nueces River basins. Water collected in the reservoirs would be funneled into the Edwards aqueduct.

Neimeyer complained that the dams and reservoirs would "be nothing but mud flats."

W. H. Spice Jr., a San Antonio consulting geologist who testified for the plans, said the project was never intended to provide permanent recreation pools. He said evaporation would make it impracticable to keep water above the ground.

"Evaporated water cannot be used for recharging and that is the purpose," Spice said.

Action Needed
Other spokesmen for the plans said some action is needed to end the decline in water level and prevent possible contamination as the water table dropped.

A spokesman for the San Antonio City Water Board raised doubts about the danger of contamination, however, and said there is no legal authority for the state to control ground water withdrawal as proposed in the plan.

Robert Van Dyke, general manager of the San Antonio Water Board, said unless other water is provided for his city "the growth of San Antonio might be stopped or at least substantially curtailed."

Corpus Christi officials also were to appear to oppose this proposal. The Texas Water Rights Commission held a hearing prior to making a decision on whether to recommend the plan to the governor and federal officials.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It is something of a paradox that this generation despite the tremendous outpouring of books.

Many factors have contributed to the fascination of film for the young, and certainly one of them is that, through television, the new generation has grown up with a visual orientation.

People partly adapt to life through the powerful influence of habits acquired while young. And if one is to believe the many surveys, boys and girls nowadays grow up spending roughly a fifth to a sixth of their lives watching video.

Years ago, one went to the movies whenever possible. But when staying home at night, there was obviously more inclination to read. Today one will often find persons who fend off loneliness by simply keeping a television set on for hours at a stretch, even when not watching it. It is a form of impersonal company, and the visual orientation is heightened by osmosis.

I think a very good case can be made for the fact that one of the chief reasons many youths prefer film to books is that it requires less work, is easier to absorb. In short, it is a good excuse for sheer laziness. Furthermore, it requires less intelligence, and gives many inferior types a chance to put down art and information that is beyond their limited, film-oriented grasp.

In a way, it is quite understandable that the new generation, in its introspective look at itself and the nation, is more concerned with proper attitudes as opposed to mere facts. For the pioneer days in America are over, and the look is inward.

On the other hand, it is also very understandable when adults get offended by some young persons who put down reading, and then—with an enormous and overbearing lack of perspective—give the impression that many of their so-called new ideas and attitudes have never been thought of before. It is reminiscent of those jokes about the Russians claiming virtually every important discovery in the history of mankind.

But the Russians did have Dostoevski. And whenever I see a bad movie, which is more often than not, I get very guilty thinking of the Dostoevski books I could be home reading.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Poets usually claim to have been deeply influenced in their youth by Homer, Dante or Shakespeare. The World Almanac notes, England's poet laureate, Lord Tennyson, was once asked, "What was the poetry which first revealed yourself to yourself?" The laureate, who had at age 12 written a 5,000-line epic, thought a moment and retorted: "My own, at the age of five."

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

Our Capsule Policy
The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Three Per Cent Difference

Somehow, we've never quite mastered the rationale, Richard M. Nixon managed to convince millions of voters that he was considerably less socialistically inclined than either his late opponent, Hubert Humphrey, or the former President.

Of course, since Hubert just missed grabbing the magic ring, we have no way of precisely measuring his socialistic level; however, by considering the lowly "hot dog" ("cone island" or "wiener" to the more sophisticated) as it existed under Lyndon and now exists under Nixon, we do have an accurate yardstick for measuring and comparing the socialistic inclinations of the former and current presidents.

It works out that Johnson was more socialistic than Nixon—by exactly 3 per cent fat. And, let us hasten to add, that is no arbitrary, whim-of-the-moment conclusion. Being scientific-minded, we made use of bipartisan mathematical analysis in working out the answer. Let us explain.

Under a proposal submitted by the outgoing Democratic administration by grace of God and Lyndon Johnson, manufacturers of hot dogs were to be allowed to put as much as 30 per cent fat into their products (UPI reports. Now under a proposal of the Republican administration, by grace of God and Richard Nixon the hot dog may contain as much as 33 per cent fat.

See how it works out? Three per cent exactly! "Officials said," according to the (UPI) item, that "studies show 33 per cent is now the normal" (normal for whom? the officials didn't volunteer)

Anti-Inflation Education

President Nixon spoke out against inflation at a recent White House meeting. The occasion was the launching of a campaign to convince people that economic stability can be restored and leaders of business, education and government are joining in the effort.

The president's statement, according to Washington Report, published by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, was as follows: "Only with a better informed public can we build a sound basis for prosperity. . . Private enterprise, far more than government spending, is the impetus behind sound economic growth. The voluntary effort of the men and women of private enterprise is needed now, as never before, to enlist the support of the American people in the fight against inflation."

The National Chamber Foundation will underwrite the joint Council on Economic Education's effort to conduct intensive educational activity in the schools to dispel the idea that inflation is inevitable. The Advertising Council will develop a national program to educate the public.

The News heartily agrees

Why Communities Die

Visiting a community where the businesses or industries that were major sources of employment and tax revenue have moved away is a depressing experience. Fortunately, there are not many such communities in the U. S., thanks to the vitality of our competitive, free market, free choice economic system, under which business entrepreneurs are constantly discovering opportunities to develop and expand needs for goods and services of all kinds. New comers keep established firms on their toes, and the endless process of growth continues with every business ceaselessly searching for ways to attract customers.

In a sense, this whole system rests on what we are pleased to call promotion and advertising. Yet the would-be regulators of promotion and advertising never seem to see the connection between these all-important features of the marketplace and rising em-

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

Sexucation — Part VI

Dr. William Campbell Douglas has pointed out in Sarasota County (Fla.) Medical Society Journal:

"Everyone seems preoccupied with sex these days. Worldwide. That is nothing new. Of course, the pronoun 'everyone' may be a little too all-embracing. But when the students on an American college campus riot because the faculty refused to let them erect statues of men and women performing perverted sexual acts, one wonders what Freud, sex education and John Dewey hath wrought.

"Sex education is the 'in thing' in America's schools, starting at the kindergarten level. Without it, the promoters of 'sexology' warn us, your child will be warped, inhibited and, heaven forbid, moralistic. One wonders how 10 generations of Americans managed to build a great and stable nation without formal sex training. We even managed to procreate without liberal busybodies telling us how. At the turn of the century, sex was considered a private matter. Some parents discussed it with their children and some did not. Everyone seems to agree that there was less mental illness than now. But now the sexperts tell us, if the parents won't teach their children about sex, then we must.

"Why? "At the present rate of debacle, within five years we will be down on the level of Sweden and Denmark. They have had sex education for decades. Their 'healthy, happy young people have venereal diseases in castrophic proportions.' Approximately half their brides are pregnant at the altar, as in most Scandinavian countries. In 20 years the number of Danish brides aged 15 to 17 has swelled by 400 per cent. One legal, and four or five illegal, abortions are now performed for every 30 births.

Physicians say that gonorrhea and syphilis are more widespread in Sweden today than in any other civilized country in the world. A recent inquiry revealed the startling fact that about half of all boys who had become infected with venereal disease admitted having sexual relations with at least 40 different girls—and 10 per cent said that they had had relations with as many as 200.

"The Swedish education system has been accused by a highly respected group of 140 eminent Swedish doctors and teachers, including the King's physician, Dr. Ulf Nordwall, of producing sex obsession among adolescents because, as they put it:

"It has bombarded school children with sexual instruction for which their immaturity ill fits them and the result has been unnatural oversexualization of the rising generation (in which) . . . the young have confused instruction in method with encouragement to practice."

Several years ago, when interviewing a group of Icelandic young people, I was told that almost nobody married until the girl was pregnant. One 15-year-old laughingly told me, "We all do the same things most of your children do. We just don't hide it and lie about it."

And they certainly don't. In Scandinavia, girls casually bring their dates, even first-time pick-ups, home to visit the family, after which the boy and girl bid mom and pop goodnight and retire to the bedroom. As "Elishop" Pike and Mrs. Caleron of SIECUS say: "Sex is fun!"

In decadent England, an enterprising promoter has produced, for school use, the kind of film which used to be circulated only in depraved male circles at "stag" parties. This film shows, from a "scientific" standpoint, an attractive unmarried couple working up to and then consummating the complete sex act. The sponsor, who supplies educational material to 10,000 schools, says: "We feel that a film like this is the best way to give sex instruction to children." They show it like it is, in living color!

Sour Grapes
Senator Edward Kennedy is one of the more colorful additions to the "grape protest" in California. Teddy marched with the strikers last month and pledged his brotherhood to them and their cause.

What is that cause? It all depends on to whom you listen. If you hearken to the words of organizer Cesar Chavez, the version is that the workers want better wages and working conditions; that the growers refuse to give them these things; and that a union is the only salvation.

On the other hand, if you listen to some of the workers themselves, you might conclude that Chavez and his cohorts are not telling the real story. Listen, for example, to Jose Mendoza, a California grape worker who is the General Secretary of the Agricultural Workers Freedom to Work Association. Mr. Mendoza was recently a guest on the Manion Forum radio program. What, in his opinion is the grape issue all about?

"The fact is," says Mendoza, "that there is no strike of workers in California. Less than 2 percent of the California farm workers belong to this union. They have never walked in a strike."

"This is an attempt to unionize all the farm workers throughout the United States. California farm workers are the highest paid farm workers in the country, and the grape pickers in California are the highest paid farm workers in the state. No other state in the nation provides as many protective laws for its farm workers as California."

It appears, then, that the "burning issues" are distortions of fact. Ninety-eight percent of California farm workers aren't worked up about wages and working conditions. What methods can the organizers use to unionize them? Here is what Mendoza says:

"There are only two ways left to organize the workers. One is to threaten them. This tactic has failed. I, myself, was threatened that if I didn't quit interfering with this unionization thrust my home would be dynamited, my children kidnapped, and certain things done to my wife.

"The other would be to boycott the products — the grapes — throughout the United States, so the growers would be forced to negotiate with the union, so that the workers would be literally thrown into the union they've been so vigorously resisting for nearly four years.

"If they can scare the growers with the threat they will not be able to sell any grapes — then the growers might be tempted to negotiate. Actually, they would be paying the workers less money than what they are paying them now. The union contract pays $1.70 an hour, limited to only 40 hours a week, creating an income of $68 a week. Independent workers, not limited by time nor earning power, can make over $100 a week. They always get the hourly wage plus incentive pay. The union contract does not provide this incentive pay.

"If the grape boycott is effective, if this union can convince people of this fantastic propaganda, if people believe it and refuse to buy California grapes, then they will create a very tragic pocket of poverty in this area where I come from."

WIT AND WHIMSY
A dear old lady inquired of a sailor:
Old Lady — What rank did you hold when you were in the navy?
Sailor — Ship's optician, lady.
Old Lady — I didn't know there was such a rank. What did you do?
Sailor — I scraped the eyes out of the potatoes.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT

Take It Slow and Easy
Acquiring a Sun Tan

Acquiring a sun tan is still a popular pastime. If you try to hurry it you may wind up with a severe sunburn. But if you take your time—the fairer your complexion the more time you must allow—your tan will protect you from sunburn. On the credit side, sunlight will prevent rickets in children and, taken in moderation, it will benefit, but not cure, such skin diseases as psoriasis, eczema, acne in 100 days! The "up" bevaricose ulcers.

Most persons with light skin should not expose any one area to the sun for more than 10 to 15 minutes a day at first. This period may be increased by a third or a fourth each day. The sun's rays are most intense between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. and will have little, if any effect before 8 a.m. or after 4:30 p.m.

Sun tan preparations and sunscreens, although they do not shut out the ultraviolet rays completely, will allow you to stay in the sun longer than you could safely without them. The label should list at least one of the following agents: red petroleum, anhranilate, salicylate, cinnamate, pyrene, benzimidazole, carbazole, naphthosulfonate, quinine disulfate or para aminobenzoic acid.

Some persons have an allergy to sunlight. Recent studies have shown that this is often the result of using certain cosmetics, perfumes that contain oil of bergamot, deodorant soaps and shampoos, some acne remedies, sulfa drugs and certain tranquilizers. If the preparation you are using contains any of these, you must weigh its advantages against the danger of photosensitivity. Persons with lupus erythematosus, porphyria, dermatomyositis and albinism are especially susceptible to the damaging effects of sunlight.

Another column will deal with other harmful effects of solar rays.
Q—I am a housewife, 34. I have been taking Darvon Compound for four years. Is it habit forming? Is it harmful to take it for so long?
A—Although this pain reliever is not habit forming some persons develop a psychic dependence on it. The compound contains some aspirin and phenacetin. Prolonged use of the aspirin may cause gastric bleeding and of the phenacetin may cause kidney damage. Ask your doctor to let you take some other pain killer for awhile if you really need one.

BRANCH HEAD BILL

If Only Congress Would Just Curb Federal Courts

By BILL KENNEDY
WASHINGTON, D.C. — The last count on Capitol Hill shows they have now introduced a total of 23 new bills that would "do something" about the campus "unrest" in the country.

I don't know what good the Congress thinks all this will do except to establish that it is the job of the Federal Government to keep down local disturbances.

The feds don't even enforce the law they have already passed. (If they had, the Justice Department would already have arrested Carlotta King, Ralph Abernathy and Walter R. utter, who "crossed state lines" to incite to riot in Charleston, S.C. The law says it is a federal offense to do that. Reuther had a d d d the demonstrators $10,000 and told them when they needed more to ask for it. Abernathy set up a local office and residency for nothing less than to help keep the trouble brewing.

Some congressmen want the Federal Government to cut out federal aid to students who take part in campus riots. That's a big joke. Compared to financing that the campus looks are getting from subversive groups, including the Communist Party, this would amount to very little—probably wouldn't even pay their "pot" bill or one party in the dean's office. How would stopping scholarships and fellowships help, when vast numbers of the troublemakers are not even students? Now, if they would cut out the OEO "Poverty Program" funds, that might help, because it is known that in many cases this money is going to Black Panthers and other groups now active on the college campuses.

Some lawmakers even talk of "cutting out all support from schools where the trouble continues. Funny, they would stop federal support from school administrators who refuse to accept the demands for "black studies" and other separatism (like dormitories) while on the other hand HEW is withholding funds from schools for keeping too much separatism.

It makes about as much sense as anything else in Washington. What Washington is doing is advancing the view that no law is good unless it is a federal law. There are plenty of laws on the books to take care of rioters—in any state you want to mention if only the Federal Government would permit these laws to be enforced.

But the Federal Government refuses to do so. Let one or more of the goons get in trouble with the local fuz, and they immediately take it to a federal court. And if they get the attention and the financial backing they want, it ends up in the Supreme Court of the United States.

It makes no sense. But it does help establish the belief that the only laws that count are federal. And that is exactly what Washington wants.

Congress needs to pass but one law. This would be a law to prevent federal courts from interfering with the enforcement of state, city and county laws in purely local matters like a bunch of unruly students on the campus of a local institution.

If Congress did that, nobody would have to worry about the riot leaders "crossing state lines." By the time they got out of jail in one state they would be on the other side of a new generation gap.

But Congress won't do it. And the result is that local authorities are hesitant to act—they know that the minute they do the subversives will make of it a federal case.

Only Congress can curb the federal courts. And the only reason it doesn't is because the members of Congress, too, want the people to feel that the only place they can get justice and protection is Washington.

How simple it would be if when rioters started trouble in a state or city college, or other institution, and were arrested by state or city officials if the federal district judges would simply say, "We can't hear the case. This is none of our business," which it certainly is not!

The American Way

By D. R. SEGAL

My roommate got into it with Sen. John Tower the other night and the senator blew his cool. He also got mad at me, which is a general condition. Quiet sabb.

This encounter did not take place in one of the halls of state where you might expect to discuss Great Issues with a United States Senator. As a matter of fact it happened in a Mexican saloon and when the senator and I reached the height of our eloquence, we eclipsed the paid entertainment.

I think it started when my roommate brought up a matter a group of us had been talking about earlier in the evening—to wit, the absolutely rotten service the post office gives you. For maybe an hour or so each of us had told some hairy tale of a letter which took three days to get across town, and I chipped in my experience trying to find out if an air mail, registered letter had made the trip from North Carolina to New York City in three weeks. (It had, barely.)

We ran into the senator a couple of hours later and Roommate, who has a retentive mind, started the instant replay tape on our post office discussion. The senator, who must have had a hard day at the forum, said, "Dammit, you people want us to work a miracle in 100 days!" The "us" being the Republicans and the "you" being the et ceteras.

Before my roommate could say something which would have repressed the senator for hours, I said I did not expect the Republicans to perform a miracle in 100 days, months or years. I added that I had never bumped into a genuine miracle performed by Republicans or Democrats, but did he intend to deliver one pretty quick?

He hedged. He also told us that senatoring is very hard work. "The heat is terrific," he said, rather angrily. This did not go down well with Tom Clendenin, the barrister, who has to watch his cholesterol. "How many heart attacks have you had, Senator?" he asked, obviously leading the witness.

"None," said the Senator. "I have had 2 1/2," said Tom. No cross-examination, your honor.

After that, the situation began to deteriorate. Everybody at the table had voted for the senator two or three times not in the same election, match), not knowing we were forcing the guy into such an unpleasant line of work. One lady remarked that senatorial salaries and fringes being what they are, a fellow ought to be able to take quite a bit of heating-up.

I don't know what it was that put the senator into such a foul mood, but I suspect Roommate hit a nerve. Anyway, he lectured us on our shortcomings which, as he saw it, range from ingratitude to impatience. For awhile I thought his non-coronary record was in peril. Mercy, he got wigged out!

Reviewing, the bidding the next day, Roommate solved it: "You know," she said, "it's lots easier for a senator when the other party is in the White House. The way it is now, Tower has to defend the President instead of putting the knock on him like he's been accustomed to doing. His whole system of reflexes is shot and he's having to get re-wired. Hell of a strain on a man."

I said, "You are exactly right," proving that I am a better politician than John Tower. But, actually, she's right, you know. I think Tower is a good man but if he thinks (a) he can perform a miracle under any circumstances or (b) that I expect him to or (c) that I want him to or (d) that I want him to think I expect him to—then (e) we are not getting through to each other.

The senator said a big obstacle to the miracle is that the Congress and the White House are not communicating. I think the welfare of the nation is best served when the White House and the Congress do not get along too snugly. There is an old saying which goes, "When politicians fall out, honest men prosper." I may not have total recall on that old recall on that old saying, but it's close.

When the sun is near the horizon, an observer on a high mountain or in a plane might see the rainbow as a complete circle.

The Lighter Side

BY DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — My neighbors, the Planktons, have a fairly fixed routine in the evening.

Wimprey Plankton gets home from work about 5.30 and pitters around the house awhile. At 6, he and Ethelgreen have cocktails. The cocktail hour usually is over by 8.30.

Then they have dinner, clear away the dishes, put on their pajamas and retire to the den to watch television. A tensive pain during the viewing period, Wimprey drops off to sleep in his chair. Occasionally, Ethelgreen dozes off, too.

At 11, they arouse themselves, turn off the TV set and go to bed.

Enjoys Color Set
The other day Wimprey was telling me how much he and Ethelgreen have enjoyed the color set they bought about a year and a half ago.

I said, "Do you mean that you sleep better in front of color television than you did in front of your old black-and-white set?"

"That's right," Wimprey replied. "I don't know how to explain it, but I enjoy napping in the den much more since we got the color set. And Ethelgreen does, too."

It occurred to me that TV manufacturers have been overlooking a good point in their advertising.

If I were a TV manufacturer, I would hire George Gallup or some other pollster to make a survey to ascertain whether the Planktons' experience is common among color set owners.

"Survey shows that going to sleep watching color television is 48.9 per cent more enjoyable."

Packs a Wallop
A good copywriter probably could sharpen that caption up a bit, but even in rough form it packs a wallop.

My next step as a TV manufacturer would be to underwrite a research project to determine why it is more gratifying to sleep through a television program in color.

If I may hazard a supposition, I would suppose that it has something to do with the way light rays effect the unconscious mind.

This theory could be easily tested by attaching electrodes to the head of a sleeping televiewer and then comparing the brain waves emitted during color programs to those recorded during black-and-white reception.

Assuming I am on the right track here, the experiment probably would show that black-and-white light rays agitate the sleeper's brain whereas colored rays assuage it.

This could be the start of something big.

AUSTIN (UPI) — Two state agencies with special spending liberties pay lobbyists more for part-time legal counseling than many lawyers working for the state receive for full-time services.

The State Board of Pharmacy pays 700 a month to C. Dean Davis, an Austin lawyer who lobbies for some of the business firms the board regulates.

The State Board of Examiners for Registered Nurses pays Keith J. Kelly, a former state senator turned lobbyist, $700 a month to give part-time legal advice to board officials. Kelly resides in Fort Worth and has his offices there, but the agency is located in Austin.

At $700 a month, both men make slightly more than the $3,352 starting salary paid to full-time attorneys in most state agencies.

Salaries Vary
At least three other state agencies outside legislative budget writers' jurisdiction pay lobbyists 34,600 to $5,000 a year for part-time legal counseling.

And in one instance officially sanctioned by legislators, a lobbyist receives $9,000 from the state for serving as a part-time executive director of the State Board of Dental Examiners.

In several cases the part-time counselors actually lobby for businesses and firms regulated by the state agencies they advise on legal matters.

—Carl C. Hardin Jr. serves as executive secretary of the State Board of Dental Examiners and lobbies in the legislature for the Texas Dental Association, the dentists' professional group.

A Busy Man
—Davis, in addition to advising the State Pharmacy Board on legal matters, lobbies in the legislature for the Texas State Pharmaceutical Association, Texas Hospital Association, and Texas Association of Life Underwriters.

—Johnny B. Rogers, an Austin lawyer who gets $500 a month for giving the State Board of Morticians legal advice, is a registered lobbyist for the Texas Funeral Directors and Embalmers Association.

Officials of the agencies say they see no conflict of interest in the arrangements.

"We can only act according to the law," said J. H. Arnette, executive secretary of the pharmacy board. "He (Davis) just interprets the statutes for us and drafts regulations if something in the law needs clarifying."

Here's An Example
"The law says pharmacists have to be 'sanitary,' for example. So we may pass a regulation to say what that means," Arnette said. "But if we write any regulation there has to be a basis for it in the law."

"We haven't had any complaints," said John Cooper, executive secretary of the morticians' board. "I'm sure the board would investigate if there were any."

The amount of work the lawyers are expected to do for their retainers varies from agency to agency.

—Rogers attends the morticians board's two to six meetings each year and answers "practically daily" queries from Cooper on legal matters.

Helps With Inquiries
—Officials of the nursing board said Kelly attends four meetings a year and helps with investigations on the 80 to 90 cases of imposters and incompetents the agency handles in an average year.

—Pharmacy board officers said Davis attends 10 to 12 meetings a year and is called an average of two to three times daily on legal questions.

—Dean Moorehead, an Austin lawyer, receives $4,600 a year from the State Board of Plumbing Examiners for handling license revocation cases and answering legal questions "from time to time."

Lynn Brown, board administrator, said there have been no revocation cases in two years but described Moorehead's pay as "very low, considering what most retainers are."

Only Minor Duties
—The two Austin law partners retained by the State Board of Optometry for $250 a month each, describe their duties as "minor" at present. "At one point we were doing quite a bit, but recently there hasn't been so much," said Will St. John Garwood.

Garwood said he and law partner Thomas G. Gee spent "virtually all our time" on optometry board business during court sessions in a lengthy legal fight over the board's rule-making powers. The case was concluded nearly two years ago.

Garwood and Gee have no contract with the board, but have been on retainer to the state agency more than 10 years.

The optometry board is one of 14 state boards and agencies that escape the jurisdiction of legislative budget writers by keeping their funds outside the state treasury.

Most receive their money from license fees and are permitted to spend it as board members choose—including hiring attorneys at rates higher than other state agencies are allowed to pay.

Uranium In Kentucky
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A survey by the Southern Interstate Nuclear Board and the Atomic Energy Commission indicates Kentucky has uranium deposits valuable enough to warrant further investigation for possible mining. The deposits were found in the state's coal fields.

Smith Says We Must Protect Society Elements

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. Preston Smith today said his administration has balanced both conservative and progressive legislative programs, and described his own philosophy as "political conservatism."

After admitting that "I am a conservative in fiscal as well as political matters," Smith added, "but I feel the terms conservative and progressive are not at all contradictory."

"I strongly believe that we should preserve and protect those elements of our society that have proved useful and worthwhile," he said, in remarks to a convention of state funeral directors and embalmers.

Smith said his administration and the legislature "have jointly taken a rational, progressive view of what Texas ought to be doing and of where Texas ought to be going."

"I want you to understand that my philosophy is not conservative without purpose and that it is not conservative without a view to a progressive future. It is a conservatism that is awareness of the wants and needs of all our citizens in the context of the present," he said.

Smith cited passage of minimum wage legislation, establishment of new colleges and universities around the state, and increases in vocational-technical education programs as progressive accomplishments during his administration.

Communist Threats Key Off Bombing

SAIGON (UPI)—Nine flights of B52 Stratoforters went after Communist threats to key Allied bases northwest of Saigon and in the Central Highlands in raids ending at dawn today. Terrorist bombs left two civilians dead in the capital.

One bomb exploded inside a pedicab near South Vietnamese naval headquarters in Saigon today, killing the passenger and wounding the driver. It followed a terrorist blast near National Police Headquarters Tuesday that killed a child and wounded seven adults.

U.S. military officials predicted Monday the capital was in store for more Viet Cong terrorism from Communists attempting to demonstrate their military ability and catch headlines in the United States.

Announcing the B52 raids, U.S. military spokesmen said four of the flights aimed for Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers northwest of Saigon who mounted a drive into the suburbs of Tay Ninh city last week.

In flights of three to 12 bombers, the eight-engine Stratoforters dropped their 20-ton bombloads on what headquarters described as troop positions, supply dumps, base camps and weapons positions.

It brought to 13 the number of overnight B52 strikes near Tay Ninh city since Sunday night in some of the heaviest bombardments this month. The B52s flew 277 raids in May, the most for any month of 1969.

Tay Ninh city lies on the Cambodian border and is near the point where, according to U.S. military sources, American helicopter gunships have begun daily raids against Communist troops in the neighbor country.

These sources said the gunships have been stripped of all U.S. markings. Their targets are Communist trucks bringing supplies of guerrilla bivouacs in Cambodia from the Ho Chi Minh Trail, they said.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia announced Tuesday he will re-establish diplomatic relations with the United States, a move that would give him more diplomatic muscle in asking the guerrillas to leave.

Five more waves of the big bombers raided the North Vietnamese division which U.S. officials said has moved in around Dak To, a Central Highlands outpost about 280 miles northeast of Saigon.

Allied headquarters said such strikes helped kill 1,000 guerrillas there in May.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese gunners shelled 29 towns and military camps overnight, the U.S. Command said, inflicting damage or casualties at 13 of the sites. One child died and three civilians suffered wounds in a rocket attack on Quang Tri city, the nation's northernmost provincial capital.

One major ground battle was reported, with U.S. 9th Infantry Division troops killing 32 Viet Cong 40 miles southwest of Saigon while losing five men wounded.

Bell Helicopter And UAW Unable To Reach Medium

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Bell Helicopter, Co., a major contributor of equipment for the Vietnam War and space efforts, remained closed today.

United Auto Workers local 218 struck Bell at 1:01 a.m. EDT Monday after rejecting Bell's last contract offer. The vote came in a noisy meeting Sunday afternoon.

Much of the jeering at the proposed contract came from the wives of the union members, a Bell official said Tuesday.

"Sure, our wives were at the meeting," a union member confirmed. "They have to live with the contract the same as the men."

"It's all due to the younger employees," a senior UAW member said. "The ones with seniority liked the proposed contract. The younger men without much seniority voted against it."

The vote sent about 6,800 UAW workers on strike and put a total of 10,100 persons out of work at the Fort Worth plant, which makes about 150 Huey and Huey Cobra helicopters a month for use in Vietnam.

About 2,300 of Bell's 5,000 employees went on strike at the plant in Wheatfield, N. Y.
