Paris Negotiations Begin 22nd Session

PARIS (UPI)—Allied negotiators today headed into the 22nd formal session of the Vietnam talks confident their patience with the Communists eventually will pay off in progress toward a settlement of the war.

The regular weekly session at the Hotel Majestic was to begin at 10:30 a.m. (5:30 a.m. EDT).

Little progress was expected at the session, particularly in the continued absence of the U.S. and North Vietnamese delegation leaders.

Pat Heads Home After Three-Day West Coast Tour

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Pat Nixon heads for home today after a three-day visit to the West Coast in support of her special project as First Lady—volunteer work for the needy.

Mrs. Nixon and her daughter, Julie Eisenhower, 20, were to depart at 9:45 a.m. for Washington aboard a chartered jetliner. They wanted to be back at the White House in time for the President's televised news conference at 7 p.m. EDT.

Radiating warmth and friendliness, Mrs. Nixon's First Lady image came into focus under the glare of the spotlight as she traveled to schools and social centers in the Los Angeles ghetto areas. Her human touch came through when a little boy clasped her hand and said "let's do a soul brother shake."

The highlight of Mrs. Nixon's trip was an emotional happening when she visited the Foundation for the Junior Blind and watched a group of little blind boys and girls perform the wedding scene from "The Sound of Music."

Deeply moved and blinking back the tears, Mrs. Nixon rushed to the stage afterwards and gave the two little girls who played the roles of "Maria" in different excerpts of the musical hugs and kisses. "You can be on my stage any time," said Mrs. Nixon.

Ford Foundation Withdraws Grant From MAYO

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—The Ford Foundation announced Wednesday it would no longer grant money to the Mexican American Youth Organization. A MAYO spokesman said however, the group previously told the foundation it did not want any more foundation funds.

The foundation "already made up its mind" to cut the funds said MAYO field representative Jose Angel Gutierrez.

The severing of ties between MAYO and the foundation apparently came when the two groups met Tuesday.

"They have made a lot of mistakes in the past, and they had to slap somebody's hand, but before they could slap our hands we told them to shove it," Gutierrez said of the meeting.

A spokesman for the Ford Foundation said it turned down a request by MAYO not because the militant youth group is engaged in "legitimate political activity" but because it is not appropriate for the foundation to make grants to recipients "so heavily oriented in this direction."

Rocky Appears 'Lightened' After Brazilian Visit

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York today concluded a three-day visit to Brazil—the largest and most populous nation on his Latin American tour. He appeared heartened by his talks with government leaders, businessmen and students.

The 60-year-old Rockefeller went into a final round of meetings with local government officials and businessmen and a news conference before a midafternoon flight to Asuncion, Paraguay. The current trip, the third on his fact-finding mission for President Nixon, ends Saturday in Uruguay.

Extremely tight security marked Rockefeller's arrival in Sao Paulo, a fast-growing industrial center of 8 million. Army troops with machine guns lined the route from the airport and air force helicopters hovered overhead.

Police sources said three students with small tack-filled bombs were arrested in the city's Cathedral Square shortly before the governor's arrival. At least three bombings have occurred in Sao Paulo in the past week, two of them directed against U.S.-owned property.

The three-term governor has given assurances Tuesday by Brazil's president, Arthur da Albuquerque, who defeated four other Democrats, including former three-time Mayor Robert F. Wagner, denied his program would be anything but progressive and in the middle of the political spectrum.

"If you think of my record as that of a bigot then you must be out of your cotton pickin' mind," he said.

Marchi's campaign received a boost Tuesday with an endorsement by Vice President Spiro Agnew and by Agnew's prediction President Nixon would soon announce for the GOP mayoral candidate.

Marchi also had the pre-election endorsement of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who had said he would support the GOP primary winner.

Lindsay Seeks New Supporters

NEW YORK (UPI)—Defeated GOP primary candidate Mayor John V. Lindsay yesterday sought support for re-election in November as the candidate of the Liberal party and of a newly proposed coalition party of progressive-minded voters.

Lindsay announced formation of the new group, tentatively named the Urban party, at a press conference during which he criticized the Republican and Democratic mayoral primary winners as having "appealed to the most base instincts" of the voters.

Both state Sen. John J. Marchi, who beat Lindsay in the close GOP primary race, and City Controller Mario Procaccino, the Democratic winner, vehemently denied Lindsay's accusations.

"It was a highly emotional outburst not consistent with an appreciation of the Democratic process, an insult to the 111,000 Republicans who voted for me," said Marchi, who also is the candidate of the Conservative party.

Procaccino, who defeated four other Democrats, including former three-time Mayor Robert F. Wagner, denied his program would be anything but progressive and in the middle of the political spectrum.

"If you think of my record as that of a bigot then you must be out of your cotton pickin' mind," he said.

Australian Commander Gives Last Testimony Before Re-Joining Ship

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (UPI)—Three of the 74 U.S. Navy men who went down with the bow of the Frank E. Evans could have been saved had rescuers gotten to them in time.

Royal Australian navy Capt. John P. Stevenson made the disclosure today in his final testimony before a six-man board investigating the collision June 3 of his aircraft carrier, the Melbourne, and the Evans.

Two of the Americans were seen standing on the severed bow section of the Evans before it sank, Stevenson said. They "went down with the section and were not seen again."

In another instance, Stevenson said, men in a Melbourne lifeboat were able to pick up one survivor from the Evans but his buddy drowned before they could pull him from the South China Sea.

The captain said the Australian sailors in the lifeboat were so upset over losing the American that they needed sedation when they returned to the carrier.

The board of U.S. and Australian officers gave Stevenson a final chance to report on the rescue phase of the tragedy before allowing him to leave for Singapore, where the Melbourne is undergoing repairs to its bow.

Texas Still Remains Target For Unusual And Severe Weather

By United Press International

Severe thunderstorms accompanied by large hail and high winds swept through the northern half of the state Wednesday night beating down on an area not yet recovered from previous turbulent weather.

Fort Worth unofficially measured 1.20 of an inch of rain during a 15-minute period Wednesday night with high winds and hail flattening power lines in the area and shattering windows.

A spokesman at the Fort Worth police department said an unusually high number of accidents had been reported and that several motorists had been stranded in underpasses.

High winds and large hail struck Childress, Tex., at about 10:30 p.m.

"The hail knocked down tree branches all over town, and there was quite a bit of damage to car windows and windows in houses," said Sterling Buster, a Childress police dispatcher. "A truck with a man sleeping in it was blown over about three miles out of town. He had to kick a window out to get out."

A fast moving, but hard hitting storm loaded with 50-mile-an-hour winds and hailstones thrashed Brownwood and Comanche before sundown.

Hailstones covered streets in Comanche and the high winds felled trees. Roof damage on both homes and cars was expected to be heavy.

More storms struck Amarillo Wednesday night, showering the city with small hail but causing little additional damage to estimates of $5 million of destruction done in Tuesday night's deluge.

At the hit-and-miss summer-time storms moved in waves across the northern half of the state, reports from the South Plains indicated that hail earlier in the week all but wiped out cotton and wheat crops in 10 counties.

Early morning severe thunderstorm watches were in effect for areas of North Central and Northeast Texas with scattered thunderstorms continuing to the north where a cool front extended from San Angelo to Texarkana.

Elsewhere over the state skies were clear to partly cloudy except for low cloudiness forming in Central and parts of Southeast Texas.

Temperatures overnight ranged from the 50s and 60s in Northwest Texas to the 70s in other areas. Most of the state had temperatures in the 90s Wednesday, but Presidio recorded a scorching 106. It was 105 at San Angelo, 103 at Cotulla, 102 at Del Rio and 104 at Laredo.

The weak cool front was expected to move only slightly southeastward today and become stationary across Central and East Texas.

Scattered thundershowers were forecast to continue or develop along and to the north of the frontal zone and move to the east.

FBI Forewarned Of Fire; Police Not Notified

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)—The FBI knew a restaurant in Easton, Pa., was going to be burned a month before the fire was set, but decided for unexplained reasons not to notify local police.

Twenty-one persons fled the fire when it blazed up on July 4, 1965.

The information about the fire plot was contained in the transcripts of conversations overheard by the FBI in the office of Simone R. "Sam the Plumber" Decavalcante, reputed Mafia boss in New Jersey.

According to the information made public last week, the FBI learned early in June, 1965, that the Stagecoach Restaurant in Easton was to be burned so its owner Joseph Migliazza, could collect the insurance in order to pay off debts to Devacalcante. Migliazza, who is serving a 15-month sentence on a gamb-

Israel's Motive For Attack On Jordan Is To Punish the Arabs

Israel's six-hour aerial attack on Jordan Wednesday, one of the heaviest since the 1967 Middle East war, was to punish the Arabs for 599 cease-fire violations since January, Israeli government officials said today.

The death Tuesday of American tourist Shirley L. Anderson, 25, in an Arab artillery bombardment north of the Dead Sea was the spark needed to touch off the Israeli retaliation, government sources said.

Jordanian military sources in Amman agreed Miss Anderson's death was the immediate cause of the Israeli attack. But they also cited the "increasing effectiveness" of their army's long-range artillery against Israeli positions.

A military communique distributed to newsmen in Tel Aviv said that since May 13, shelling across the Jordan River had become an almost daily occurrence, with Jordanian salvos concentrated mainly in the sector north of the Dead Sea.

The target area for the air strikes Wednesday ranged from the north coast of the Dead Sea to 35 miles north of it. Israel reported all its planes had returned safely. The Palestinian Armed Struggle Command said one Israeli plane had been downed.

Israeli spokesmen said wave after wave of twin-engine bombers attacked Jordanian positions in the Abdullah Bridge area 2½ miles north of the Dead Sea, and Jordanian and Iraqi army artillery batteries near the El Wahadina ruins, 38 miles north of the Dead Sea.

The raids retaliated against 599 alleged Arab cease-fire violations on all Arab-Israeli fronts, not just the Jordan frontier.

Aides to King Hussein of Jordan said they expected him to visit the South and Central Jordan River Valley today—the areas hit in Wednesday's Israeli attacks. Palace sources said Crown Prince Hassan toured the area Wednesday.

In Cairo, Egyptian Foreign Ministry officials said they were pessimistic about the outcome of Big Four talks on the Middle East. They called unacceptable a U.S. proposal that Arabs accept continued Israeli occupation of the Syrian Heights of Golan and East Jerusalem.

Diplomatic sources said Egypt rejected the proposal when Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko relayed it to them during his visit last week.

50 Communists Dead In Pre-Dawn Battle

By WALTER WHITEHEAD

SAIGON (UPI)—About 150 North Vietnamese troops burst into Tay Ninh City northwest of Saigon at dawn today, seized homes around a temple and held off Allied counterattacks through the day, U.S. military sources said.

American infantrymen and South Vietnamese paratroopers and militiamen failed in efforts to rout the Communists from houses and bunkers in the nation's fourth largest city with 150,000 persons.

Preliminary reports said at least 50 of the Communists had been killed in the daylong fighting, with even more presumed dead in skirmishes with other Allied troops on the eastern and western flanks of the city.

U.S. and South Vietnamese losses were put at light with no numbers announced by the Allied command. American headquarters reported only that the action was continuing, refusing to give details.

In other developments reported by the U.S. Command:

—335 American soldiers were killed in action last week and 1,695 wounded. It was the most battle deaths in a month. South Vietnamese losses were 516 killed and 1,424 wounded, while Communist deaths were put at 4,360, subject to revision upward next week.

—The commander of U.S. paratroopers in the A Shau Valley said there are no Communist troops atop Hamburger Hill to his knowledge. And, said Maj. Gen. Goba M. Wright, if there were, he would blast them with air and artillery before committing troops to another Hamburger Hill campaign.

—U.S. military sources said the Viet Cong have orders to keep troops of the American 9th Infantry Division, two of whose brigades are going home, under attack as much as possible, even if it involves hitting them at airfields as they depart for home.

—Allied troops on the northern front reported more than 200 Communist troops slain in two days of battling, many of them killed in U.S. naval and dive bomber attacks.

The fighting Wednesday and early Thursday cost American units alone at least 28 dead and 46 wounded, as the allies threw every available means of support in their arsenal into the

Senate Expected To Overthrow Cigarette Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A bill banning government crack-downs on cigarette advertising bounced today from a resounding Viet Cong victory to largely a hostile Senate.

A strong Senate antimoking bloc was poised to snuff out the measure to rewrite it to include mandatory health warnings on all cigarette commercials. If no bill is passed the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) would be free to proceed with regulations which—according to the tobacco industry—would end all cigarette advertising.

The measure, passed by the House Wednesday, would extend for six more years the present ban on government regulation of cigarette advertising. It also would strengthen the warning on ever cigarette package.

The bill sailed through the House on a voice vote after a motion to send it back to committee was defeated 252-137. But in contrast to the House, where tobacco state lawmakers were smoothly organized, the pro-cigarette forces in the Senate were in disarray. Tobacco state senators admitted privately they had no strategy and no leader.

Senate Commerce Committee members had few kind words for the measure.

"That six year extension is just far too long without any voluntary action by all concerned," said Senate Committee Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash.

Cigarette packages are required to carry this statement: "Caution: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

Under the House bill, the package warning would read: "Warning: The surgeon general has determined that cigarette packages, advertisements and commercials would be required to include this message: "Cigarette smoking is dangerous to health and may cause death from cancer, coronary heart disease, chronic bronchitis, pulmonary emphysema and other diseases." Cigarette manufacturers have testified they would stop advertising rather than knock their own product so harshly.

The FCC has proposed a ban on all television and radio advertising of cigarettes.

Boy Scout Camp Is Dedicated

Despite very poor weather, over 600 people gathered at the new Boy Scout Camp of the Adobe Walls Council last night.

To hear Kirk Henry, regional scout executive from Dallas, praise the leaders of Scouting in the 15-county Adobe Walls Council area, for their outstanding accomplishment in building the new camp.

Henry expressed the appreciation of Scouting for the many hands, representing business firms, service clubs, individuals and organizations that joined together in the financing and construction.

Participating in the official camp dedication program were Council past presidents E. E. Shelhamer, R. W. Curry, and Frank M. Culbertson, all of Pampa. Culbertson announced that the camp had officially been named Camp M. K. Brown on the Adobe Walls Scout Reservation, as a memorial tribute to the late M.K. Brown of Pampa, who served as Chief Scout of the Adobe Walls Council for many years.

Don Cain, Pampa, also council past president made the response to the naming of the camp, representing trustees of the M.K. Brown Foundation.

Present Council President Milo Carlsson of Pampa presented a partial list of sponsors of the building of the new camp, which included over 200 names of firms, organizations, and individuals. Carlsson said that the camp was not yet complete, with numerous projects yet available for sponsorship.

Located between Wheeler and Mobeetie in Wheeler County, the camp includes 480 acres of land.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The late novelist Thomas Wolfe once noted: "America has never really yet, in any profound and essential way, been explored—it has rather been surveyed."
 "The first problem of the people who settled in this immense and spatial continent was not to explore it but to 'lay it out'—to find the shortest distance between two points, to get the best and easiest grade across the Continental Divide... we have hunted always for the short cut, the practicable way... well, this is surveyor-dom—it is not exploring."
 Without oversimplifying too much, it may be fair to say that one reason for the so-called generation gap is that the new generation is almost wholly concerned with exploring the nature of America—often introspectively—rather than surveying it, because all of the surveying has been done.
 Television, which caters primarily to the older generation, has begun to explore more and more in the sense that Wolfe meant, but too many programs are still essentially surveys. That is why a broadcast such as the one announced Wednesday by CBS—"A Day in the Life of the United States"—is of more than routine interest.
 The program, which will be seen on CBS-TV next season will record, for current and future generations, "What America was like on the historic day when Americans landed on the moon and brought the world into a new age." In short, the surveying in space—the new frontier—will be matched by an exploration of the land that has already been tamed on earth.
 Plans call for the program to be filmed on July 20, the day that the first men are scheduled to land on the moon, and the network says reporters will be at work recording what is happening "from the first light of sunrise on the coast of Maine to the last ray of sunset on the island of Kauai, Hawaii."
 If the execution is as good as the concept, it should be quite a broadcast. And the network is surely preparing for it in the right frame of mind. For example, Charles Kuralt, who has proven his superior style with a human touch in his "On the Road" segments for the CBS evening news, will be the chief reporter. And the network announcement says the program will attempt to capture, for the future, "Who we really were, what we were really like—those people who put men on the moon."

Psychiatric Exam Ordered On Murder Suspect

AUSTIN (UPI)—Dist. Judge Tom Blackwell ordered a psychiatric examination today for Clyde Durbin Jr., the 22-year-old Dallas youth charged with murdering two University of Texas students in January.
 Blackwell set a July 23 trial for Durbin on charges of murdering John Albert White, a 21-year-old UT student from Corpus Christi.
 Durbin is charged in Burnet County with murdering White's date, Keitha Morris, a 19-year-old coed from White Deer, Tex. That trial has been set for Sept. 29.
 Blackwell also ordered a special venire of 400 called as prospective jurors in the case.
 Dist. Atty. Robert O. Smith recommended that Blackwell appoint an impartial psychiatrist to examine Durbin, a former UT student, and avoid any possible delay if Durbin pleads insanity as a defense.
 "Insanity may or may not be an issue in this case," Smith told the court.
 Frank Maloney, Durbin's attorney, objected to any additional psychiatric examination of his client.
 Durbin was examined briefly by a psychiatrist for the prosecution shortly after he was charged in the deaths of White and Miss Morris.
 White's body was found north of Austin in Travis County at a popular picnic spot where he and Miss Morris had gone Jan. 8.

Transmission Line Rates May Be Upped

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Federal Communications Commission (FCC) examiner has recommended that rates charged news services for their leased transmission lines be increased $4.3 million a year.
 Examiner Forest L. McClenning said application of the same "private lines rates" to news services as are charged non-press users of the lines "would not diminish, limit or impair the widespread dissemination of news in any manner inimicable to the public interest."
 The lines involved are owned by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. (AT&T) and Western Union Telegraph Co., and used by United Press International, Associated Press and other services to transmit news to newspapers and broadcasting stations.
 McClenning's recommendation will take effect in 50 days unless appealed by one of the parties in the case or unless the FCC decides on its own to review it.
 The examiner rejected arguments that an increase in private line rates to news services would result in reduced use of the services. He said the $15 million annual transmission costs now paid for news and photograph transmission represented "substantially less than one per cent of total operating costs or of advertising revenues" of U.S. newspapers, and would not go over one per cent even with the $4.3 million increase.
 The examiner said "the lower parties also argued that the existence of legal authority for special news rates, the past practice of maintaining such rates and 'public interest in the widespread dissemination of news' supported their request for lower rates."
 But, he said, in light of the "dynamic" changes in news industry use of communications improvements, "tradition provides no basis for resolution of the matters in issue."
 McClenning said in addition, both UPI and AP were making changes in their transmission facilities that would reduce the increase by approximately $1.7 million.
 The examiner said "the lower rates afforded the press user of private line services resulted in revenue losses to Western Union of approximately $215,000 from Aug. 1, 1967 through May 31, 1968," and that the company proposed to raise rates for non-press users to make up the deficiency.
 "There is no basis in this record for concluding that other users of these services should bear the burden of increased rates to support lower rates for the press industry," the examiner said.
 The case was begun in 1963 and the record closed that year. However, it was reopened in 1967 after private line rates for non-press users were increased and hearings held through 1968.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Near everybody agrees that it would be nice if military spending could be reduced without unduly weakening the nation's defenses.
 I don't know whether Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., had that in mind when he introduced a bill to prohibit Pentagon cooperation in the filming of motion pictures. But it could work out that way.
 At the present time, as you may know, when a movie script calls for an Army, Navy or Air Force, the producer customarily borrows one from the Pentagon.
 Murphy moved to end that practice after six servicemen were injured during the filming of "Tora Tora Tora," a 20th Century-Fox treatment of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.
 Should this bill be enacted, motion picture studios would have no choice but to recruit, train and equip their own armed forces. Otherwise, they could not continue to produce war epics on the scale to which we moviegoers have become accustomed.
 Twentieth Century-Fox, for example, would have to scale down "Tora Tora Tora" to just plain "Tora!"
 Once each studio has its own army, navy and air force, the military potential of the United States obviously will be several times greater than it is now.
 This would make it possible for the Defense Department to cut the military budget by discharging a few million servicemen.
 The department no longer would need such a large force to meet its commitments in Southeast Asia, Europe, the Middle East and Hollywood.
 In event of an emergency, it could simply borrow an army, navy or air force from one of the studios, depending on which one happened to be between pictures at the time.
 One immediate result would be a speedup in the withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam. The U.S. Army could pull out and let the South Vietnamese and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer assume a larger share of the fighting.
 Proper credit would be given, of course. As they marched forth into battle, the troops would carry a banner reading: "This war could not have been waged without the cooperation of 20th Century-Fox."
 There is, however, an element of risk in this concept. It would, I fear, greatly complicate disarmament negotiations with the Soviet Union.
 The United States might reach an agreement with the Russians, but if Paramount refused to sign it, claiming it needed a large standing army for its next picture, the treaty would be meaningless.

Parker's Case Is Handled In Unusual Manner

FORT WORTH (UPI)—A city detective testifying in the murder trial of J. Loyd Parker Jr. told the court Tuesday investigation of the Parker case was handled in an "unusual" manner.
 Detective E. R. Stewart testified that former Dist. Atty. Doug Crouch personally directed the investigation. He said he took Parker to jail on the afternoon of May 2, 1963, the day millionaire J. Loyd Parker Sr. was found shot to death, an 810 minutes later "under orders" took Parker to the district attorney's office.
 The testimony was brought out by special prosecutor Doug Mulder, the Dallas assistant district attorney appointed when Dist. Atty. Frank Coffy disclaimed himself from the case.
 Stewart said Parker stayed in Crouch's office "for four or five hours."
 The veteran homicide detective said then Asst. Dist. Atty. Fred Fick and K. E. "Dutch" Winters entered the room, but that Stewart was not allowed to be present while Crouch and the others questioned Parker.
 Final arguments in the trial were scheduled today.
 In other testimony Julian Morales, a 65-year-old Mexican gardener, testified through an interpreter he saw the younger Parker leave his father's home immediately after two shots were fired.

Rockefeller found Costa de Silva aware of some of the adverse feeling in Washington about the military-backed president's suspension of congress and seizure of absolute power in December, aides close to the governor said.

During his visit to Rio de Janeiro Wednesday, the U.S. envoy talked with seven Brazilian university students who told newsmen afterwards the governor reported he had raised questions about press censorship, civil rights and student arrests in his talk with Costa de Silva.

In Montevideo, Uruguay, Foreign Minister Venancio Flores announced Wednesday night the threat of violence forcing a change in the location of Rockefeller's meeting Saturday, with President Jorie Pacheco Areco from the capital of Montevideo to the seaside resort of Punta del Este.

Uruguayan newspaper unions Wednesday declared Rockefeller "persona non grata" and announced a three-day print strike beginning Friday.

They disclosed that the information was received by the Philadelphia FBI office June 4, 1965.

Firebombs were thrown Wednesday against the Foreign Ministry Building, a downtown newspaper office and a Mormon church on the city's outskirts, apparently in protest against the Rockefeller visit.

"It was a bit incongruous but it seemed to lighten the situation," said the skipper, who has blamed the Evans for turning into the Melbourne and causing the collision.

Stevenson said he had turned down a request from the destroyer's captain, Cmdr. Albert S. McLemore of Vallejo, Calif., to return to the aft section of the Evans because he was injured and in shock.

The Australian captain said many of his men risked their lives to save the Evans survivors, including two who jumped from the carrier's flight deck to the deck of the Evans moments after the impact.

He said the search for survivors continued until "There was no possibility that anyone was missed."

Track Bids Prove Troublesome For Board Members

In a two-hour session today Pampa school board members gave lengthy discussion to bids for construction of a new track at Harvester Field, awarded a contract for parking lot paving at six schools and designated KGRO as the official radio station to broadcast school sports events during the 1969-70 season.

Lewis Construction Co. of Pampa was awarded a contract on an alternate bid for the school parking lot paving.

The Lewis bid was low at $25,739. There was an agreement between the contractor and the board that the price would be negotiated to stay within a $25,000 budget figure.

Lewis Construction Co. entered a bid of $36,945 for construction of the high school track. Vibra Whirl Co. of Panhandle, the only other bidder, set a figure of $36,945.

A motion by member Warren Hasse to accept the low bid failed to get a second. After a long discussion period later, the three board members still at the meeting decided to withhold a decision until Dr. James F. Malone, school superintendent, had conferred with the two bidders concerning an extension of time for completion beyond the original Sept. 1 deadline.

Board member R. M. Hampton was out of the city and member Jimmy Thompson left the meeting.

Dr. Malone said he would announce later the date for a called meeting to decide on the awarding of bids for the track construction.

$4,000 In Prizes To Be Awarded At Annual Rodeo

More than $4,000 in prizes will be awarded in the Top O' Texas Rodeo to be held in Pampa July 23 to 26, according to Rex McAnelly, chairman. This will be the 25th anniversary rodeo.

The events will include saddle bronc, bull and bareback riding, steer wrestling, calf roping and a cowgirls barrel race.

Performances will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday. Rodeo dances will be in the National Guard Armory with Charlie Phillips and his orchestra playing.

The annual Rodeo Parade will be at 4 p.m. Wednesday. Seats will go on sale July 21.

Battle

In the A Shau Valley near the Laotian frontier, Communist gunners entrenched on "Hamburger Hill," the 3,000-foot peak abandoned by U. S. forces after a fierce battle last month, fired on U. S. helicopters Wednesday, informed American military sources said.

None of the American helicopters was reported hit by the Communist fire that came as several thousand U. S. paratroopers and government infantrymen were sweeping the A Shau Valley, 375 miles northeast of Senate floor when Goodell spoke from a seat in the rear of the chamber with only a handful of other senators present.

Goodell said in his speech that two principles—the right of a President to nominate and of the Senate to act on his nominations—were violated by Dirksen. "And the confidence of the American people, the ultimate strength of any Democracy, is being shaken," he said.

Smith May Veto New Appropriation Bill

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. Preston Smith, who brought back memories of former Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel with his western-style inauguration, could stir recollections of another former chief executive if he vetoes the pending one-year appropriation bill.

The last Texas governor to veto a spending bill—Gov. Buford Jester—20 years ago faced circumstances somewhat similar to those Smith is encountering.

And Jester's comments about his veto in 1949 of the second year of a two-year spending plan have a familiar ring to persons who have listened to Smith's remarks this year.

Jester said the 51st Legislature did a fine job—as far as it went. Smith has made comparable comments about the 61st session.

But Jester said the 1949 session didn't go far enough in providing for state hospitals and institutions, and that the lawmakers' oversight: the comptroller's estimate of revenue by about $17.5 million.

Smith has noted that state associations for the mentally retarded are not satisfied with the budget drafted by legislators this year. And unless the governor signs a package of revenue bills now on his desk, the state will be about $24 million short of the funds needed to support the legislature's one-year budget for fiscal 1970.

In both 1949 and this year lawmakers had authorized a public vote on a proposed constitutional amendment to authorize annual legislative sessions.

The 1949 proposal was defeated; Texans will vote on the question on Aug. 5 this year.

"As governor of Texas, I have consistently opposed special sessions and new taxes," Jester said in his veto message in 1949.

Smith has this year repeatedly expressed his opposition to annual budgeting sessions, but has recommended new taxes to support his spending recommendations.

Since Jester's veto of the whole year appropriations in 1949, Texas governors have limited their vetoes to "line item" rejections in which only the appropriation for single items are knocked out of the overall spending plan.

Former Gov. John Connally vetoed $3.5 million out of a spending bill while he was in office, but never threatened to veto an entire bill.

Smith has avoided using any "threats" to veto the budget bill, but had repeatedly said he prefers two-year spending and tax bills, and has referred to the one-year measure as a "monstrosity."

Attorney General Rejects Smith's Bill Complaints

AUSTIN (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin today rejected Gov. Preston Smith's complaints about 41 bills Smith claimed were not valid and refused to accept.

Martin said the bills passed in the closing days of the legislative session will become law Sunday unless Smith moves to veto the measures.

Smith has refused to accept the bills on grounds that the measures were not signed by Gov. Ben Barnes and Speaker Gus F. Mutscher in the presence of their respective houses as required by the constitution.

Smith said the bills actually were signed after the legislature adjourned and sent to the governor's office a week later. Smith said the delay deprived him of a constitutional guarantee that he would have 20 days to study the measures.

Martin said today "if the governor does not actually veto the bill or bills bearing such signatures, they will become law 20 days after adjournment of the legislature whether accepted by the governor or not."

The attorney general declined to say whether Smith has the right to refuse to accept the bills.

Martin said when a bill carries the signature of the presiding officers of the Senate and House, and the legislative journals reflect that the measures were signed during a legislative session, "such matters constitute conclusive evidence that the bill was passed legally."

Harmon Address Open to Public

David Harmon, vice president of the Student Government Association, will address the Optimist Club at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Optimist Clubhouse.

According to an Optimist Club spokesman, the address will be open to the public.

Harmon, a Pampa High School graduate has been with the SGA about one year. He maintains an office in Washington and is in touch with ranking political figures.

The chief purpose of the SGA is to oppose such campus groups whose aims include stirring up strife on the nation's campuses.

100,000 Troop Pull Out Needed In Vietnam

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford said Wednesday the United States should pull 100,000 troops out of Vietnam this year and withdraw the rest of its combat soldiers in 1970.

In an article written for the magazine Foreign Affairs before President Nixon announced plans to withdraw 25,000 troops from Vietnam this summer, Clifford said some U.S. airmen and supply troops should remain to back up the South Vietnamese army.

"The resulting balance of forces should avert any danger of blood bath which some fear might occur in the aftermath of withdrawal," he said.

"The one million South Vietnamese in the various components of the armed forces, with American logistics (supply) airlift and air support, should be able, if they have the will, to prevent the imposition by force of a Hanoi-controlled regime."

Clifford, who was defense secretary during most of President Lyndon B. Johnson's last year in office, said he became convinced in 1968 the U.S. military course in Vietnam was "not only endless but hopeless."

Two Persons Die In Fiery Crash Near Shamrock

Two people were killed early this morning five miles north of Shamrock in what radio station KBYP described as "one of the most gruesome accidents around Shamrock in recent years."

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Burton Rogers, Ft. Worth, were killed when the semi-truck in which they were traveling hit a hole on U.S. 83 at about 3:15 a.m.

The truck skidded about 150 feet before it turned over into a bar ditch and caught fire.

Lester Ramsey, a Shamrock High School coach, heard the crash and ran to the scene. Ramsey said when he got there he could hear a woman inside the cab screaming, but because of the damage to the cab he could not free her.

When Shamrock's Civil Defense emergency units and fire department arrived the truck, which had been carrying heavy oil field equipment, was engulfed in flames.

At 6:15 a woman's body, charred beyond recognition, was finally removed. About 30 minutes later after using ball dozers and other construction equipment to pull the cab apart, a man's body was removed.

The highway was blocked for about an hour as highway crews cleared the equipment that had been strewn along the road.

Half Smoked Ham Fits Perfectly for Family Dinner

Traditions from many cultures regard pork as a symbol of happiness.

The custom of serving ham is widespread in this country, having been brought from Europe by many peoples. Certainly it's a festive meat and delicious one which lends itself to an impressive entree. Plain or fancy, since it can be served either decorated or just baked, ham is a popular choice.

Wide variety is also available in the choice of ham. It can be the whole ham weighing between ten and 14 pounds. It may be shank or butt half, either of these weighing from five to seven pounds. It may be a boneless ham, shaped or rolled.

No matter what style all hams are either the "cook-before-eating" or "fully-cooked" type. It's important to know which of these the ham is, for on this depends its oven-going time.

Let the baked ham (it's actually roasted but referred to as baked) come prettily to the table with orange cups filled with a mixture of rice, raisins and unblanched almonds. The baked cups are festive with their sour cream topper. They'll also replace the potatoes.

Other foods in the menu reflect the seasonal theme, asparagus which may be fresh or frozen, braised celery, crisp green salad ingredients, hot rolls and a light creamy pie as a harmonious finale.

Ham And Cheese And Bread Is Not Always A Sandwich

The Earl of Sandwich never dreamed that ham and Cheddar cheese and bread could be anything but a regular sandwich. But when you bake them with mustard, mushrooms, milk and a few other ingredients, you have a fabulous main dish casserole. It's an attractive, easy casserole for breakfast or brunch. And if you know you're going to be pressed for time, you can whip up the complete dish in advance and refrigerate overnight.

One of the nicest things about this Ham and Cheese Strata is simply that it can't fail. It turns out perfect everytime, even for the youngest, most inexperienced "cooks."

A great pitcher of icy milk and a big bowl of fresh fruit salad makes this meal nutritionally balanced and refreshing.

So keep this recipe handy. And next time you have one of those days when you have no idea what to fix for lunch... presto-Ham and Cheese Strata to the rescue. It's a terrific way to make something extraordinary out of foods that may sound rather ordinary.

HAM AND CHEESE STRATA

- 8 slices white bread
- 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1 1/2 cups (8 oz.) chopped baked ham
- 1 can (2 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- 2 1/4 cups milk
- 4 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- teaspoon paprika
- Dash of pepper

Trim crusts from 5 slices bread; set aside. Place remaining 3 slices and trimmings in bottom of buttered square baking dish, 9-inch. Top with cheese, ham, mushrooms and parsley. Cut reserved 5 slices bread in half diagonally; arrange on top in two rows. In a bowl combine milk, eggs, salt, mustard, paprika and half cup pepper; pour over. Cover or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Let stand for 5 minutes before serving. Bake in preheated 325 degree oven 45-60 minutes.

Ham and Cheese and Bread Is Not Always A Sandwich

Running out of ideas for a light brunch or Sunday supper? One of these days soon stack up the ham and Cheddar cheese and delight the family with this hot one-dish meal... Ham and Cheese Strata.

Nice to know cottage cheese is so good for you, for using it is a very inexpensive way to get extra ration of protein. One half-cup serving of cottage cheese supplies as much protein as a three-ounce serving of most cooked fish, meat or poultry. A half-cup of uncreamed cottage cheese has 19 grams of protein, but only 98 calories. With sweet cream blended in for flavor, one-half cup of creamed cottage cheese has only 20 more calories per serving.

After a big hearty meal, even the most well-mannered guest may plead, "Please, oh, please... no dessert for me!" That can be a bit discouraging! One easy solution can be found in a tray of assorted cheeses, fresh fruit and crackers. Gives everyone a chance to eat as much or as little as he wants, tastes delicious, looks pretty, and it's easy on the hostess too!

 Hot Orange Cups
 8 large oranges
 1 cup water
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 cup raisins
 2 cups precooked rice

1/2 cup whole almonds, unblanched
 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
 Cut tops off oranges and remove pulp and juice, reserving 1 cup of juice and a cup cut-up pieces of orange. Add water, salt and raisins to reserved orange juice and bring to a boil. Add rice, reserved pieces of orange and almonds. Stir with fork, cover and let stand 5 minutes. Fill each orange cup with rice mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Serve warm, topped with sour cream, as a meat accompaniment.
 Yield: 8 Orange Cups.

MEAT COOKERY Quiz

Q. What's the name of this meat cut?
 A. Smoked picnic shoulder.
 Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?
 A. It comes from the pork shoulder and includes the arm section and part of the fore shank. The curing and smoking process gives it the characteristic color and flavor of all pork cuts handled in this way.
 Q. How is it prepared?
 A. By roasting (baking) or cooking in liquid. To roast, place on a rack in an open, shallow pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so it reaches the center of the thickest part, making sure the bulb does not rest either in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325°F.) until the meat thermometer reaches 170°F. Allow 25 minutes per pound for roasting. Smoked picnic shoulder ranges in weight from five to eight pounds which means the total cooking time ranges from three to four and one-half hours.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Democrats May Be Accused: 'Aiding Inflation'

Congressional Democrats are in a somewhat similar bind. By going along with Nixon's demand for legislation extending higher income and excise taxes, they risk reprisals from voters in their home districts. But if they balked at the request, the Republican administration could saddle them with the blame for continuing inflation.

Abroad, bankers and economists are keeping a close watch on America's battle against inflation which directly affects all countries using the dollar as an international medium of exchange.

Britain's financial secretary, Harold Lever, said record-high U.S. interest rates are draining away dollars from Europe and creating tight money situations in countries that may not need them.

In West Germany, Otmarr Emminger, a director of the Central Bank, said his "major fear is that inflation will go on too long, which would have a very unfortunate effect on the U.S. balance of payments." He voiced hope that the United States will continue "present policies of budgetary and fiscal restraints until the dragon of inflation is slain."

Dr. Nikolaus Senn, Director General of the Union Bank of Switzerland, said he can see "only one way out" of the current situation, namely "adapting the currencies of various nations to today's conditions." If this was meant to be a plug for devaluation of the dollar, it is assured of a deaf-ear reception in Washington, where that drastic remedy is not even under consideration.

In Japan, Ichiro Takeuchi, an official of the Bank of Tokyo, predicted that "inflation will not calm down in America at least until the end of this year." But he said he is "positive that the U.S. government will keep fighting inflation to defend the dollar."

Whatever the long-term trend, economists generally agree that the next four to five months will bring steadily increasing prices for nearly everything.

Food prices, which make up nearly 25 per cent of the average family's budget, are at a 17-year high and indications are they will continue to rise for at least six months to a year.

Meat prices went up 9 per cent and vegetables jumped 25 per cent during the month of May alone. Clothing costs have risen 7 per cent since last year and mortgage interest costs have climbed 24 per cent since May 1968.

This increase in the cost of mortgages, plus equally dramatic boosts in the costs of land, lumber and construction labor, has caused homebuilders to downgrade their production estimates for 1969 by 3 per cent to around 1.5 million units.

Because home mortgages are long term investments, homebuilders are the current losers

Israelites, Jordans Battle Near Suez

By United Press International
 Israeli jet planes attacked targets in Jordan today and heavy artillery duels erupted at the south end of the Suez Canal after a night of firing almost the entire length of the waterway.

Egyptian and Syrian leaders met in Damascus to plan ways to strengthen the Arabs' eastern front with Israel. The eastern front includes Syrian, Jordanian and Iraqi troops while Kuwaiti and Egyptian forces man the western front along the Suez Canal.

The Syrian news agency Sana said Anwar Al Sadat, a confidante of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, met in Syria for three hours with Syrian President Nourudin Al Atassi to review the general Mideast situation and the steps they have taken toward "the battle of liberation" of Palestine.

Today's meeting was reported to be a preamble to an Arab summit conference aimed at uniting the Arabs more closely for the struggle with Israel. They were expected to be joined by Iraq and Jordan which today began a new diplomatic campaign for freeing East Jerusalem from Israeli rule.

On the battlefronts, Israeli jets hit targets at the northern end of the Jordan Valley in Jordan—areas where Arab gunners have repeatedly shelled Israeli border positions. A spokesman in Amman said the attacks began at 1:30 p.m. and were still underway nearly three hours later.

Earlier today two Israeli jets armed with rockets and machineguns attacked an Arab guerrilla unit which had taken cover in an orange grove on the east bank of the Jordan River 21 miles below the Sea of Galilee.

An Israeli military spokesman in Jerusalem said the two jets silenced the guerrillas who had opened fire on an Israeli patrol, touching off an hour-long duel near Tirat Zevi, a mile west of the river.

The Israeli patrol called for air support and the jets streaked in to attack the Arab positions in the Wadi Al-Yabess, a fertile area across the river. Jordan said there were no casualties and that Jordanian forces fired back at the planes.

The last Israeli air attack on Jordan was May 28 near Kureiyima, midway between the Sea of Galilee and the Dead Sea, but Jordan said Israeli planes had violated Jordan air space three times this month including Tuesday when they flew over the Dead Sea resort area where an American tourist was killed.

The air strike followed a night in which an Egyptian military spokesman said Israeli and Egyptian artillery engaged in a "violent" exchange of fire along the entire length of the 103-mile long Suez Canal. Egypt said its guns "silenced" the Israeli artillery.

Israel said an Israeli private was killed and three others slightly wounded in the firing. A spokesman said another Israeli soldier died today of wounds suffered in a similar exchange June 10.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst

Unless the Soviet capacity for self-delusion is greater than believed, Kremlin officials can draw little satisfaction from the outcome of their conference of world Communist leaders.

As they assess results in coming days, they must conclude the Communist world is an irretrievable disarray, that Moscow control of world communism extends only so far as its armies and that a rising tide of nationalism promises to extend that disarray even farther.

A final communique declared that discussions were carried on in an atmosphere of "frankness," Communist jargon meaning there were important areas of disagreement.

Most important among those who signed the final document but with reservations were Romania and Italy.

Italy, whose party membership of 1.5 million makes it the largest outside the European Communist bloc, agreed with only one portion of the document, that which dealt with the "struggle against imperialism."

Italy had joined with British, Australian and Austrian speakers to denounce the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Romania's President Nicolae Ceausescu had tried vainly to turn speakers away from a condemnation of Red China, and, without naming Czechoslovakia, had spoken out strongly against the Moscow "commonwealth" doctrine giving Socialist countries the right to intervene in the affairs of other Socialist countries.

The final document omitted entirely the question of Red China whose condemnation and possible excommunication from the party had been the main purpose of the conference since it first was proposed years ago by former Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Nationalism centered on boundary disputes has more to do with the Soviet-Red China quarrel than ideology, and could lead to one of the great power struggles of this century.

Most Americans are painfully aware of their own country's problems. They may not be so aware that the Soviet Union may be in even greater difficulties.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development announced Tuesday a $296,625 grant to Pharr, Tex., to assist in construction of a neighborhood facility.

A thought for the day: William Butler Yeats born on this day in 1865 said, "The years lie great black oxen tread the world, and God, the herdsman, goads them on behind."

JOHN LEE WELTON

Former Pampan Is Drama Director at Carsen-Newman

JEFFERSON CITY Mo. — John Lee Welton, drama director of Carsen-Newman College, has a challenging and unique summer ahead of him when he undertakes the job of directing the new outdoor drama "Walk Toward the Sunset" which is to be presented in Sneedville starting July 3.

"In some cases we'll be working with folks who have never even seen a live drama, much less acted in one," Welton said. "I really look forward to the experience, however. The play has already been cast and the people seem excited with the prospect of performing this moving story about the Melungeons, a race of people who inhabit Hancock County and whose past is mysteriously lost in the secrets of time."

Welton is no newcomer to outdoor theatre since he has worked with the Manteo, N.C. production of "The Lost Colony" in addition to directing over fifty indoor productions. Welton, who has been with Carsen-Newman College for nine years, said, "The outdoor theatre offers new challenges as well as new challenges in comparison to the indoor theatre. In the outdoor theatre the director must capture the broad sweep of the open spaces and pull his audience into the action, giving them the feeling that the events of the play are surrounding them and putting them right in the middle. This art form is the closest that the live stage can come to the cyclorama effect which has been achieved by the wide screen motion picture."

Welton feels that "Walk Toward the Sunset" is off to a good beginning with a top playwright, experienced college actors participating in the production, a great enthusiasm from the people of Hancock County and the use of a highly trained technical director and designer. Mr. David Behan of Tusculum College has been chosen to handle the design and technical aspects of the production.

The play will be presented every Thursday, Friday, and Saturday beginning on July 3 and run until August 16 with curtain time at 8:30 each evening.

In 1920 Ohio Sen. Warren Harding was called to a Chicago hotel and informed that he would be the dark-horse Republican candidate for President.

In 1950 Ben Hogan won the United States Open Golf Championship only 16 months after suffering near-fatal injuries in an automobile accident.

Earl Warren's Legacy Is Charter of Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Earl Warren's legacy to the nation on leaving the Supreme Court is a charter of legal rights for the Negro, the voter and the impoverished criminal suspect—and the wrath of critics who opposed him for 16 years.

By any ordinary yardstick, the Warren court probably will be deemed to have lasted from October, 1953, when he took the post until the end of the 1968-69 term in June.

Yet the currents set in motion during the tenure of the affable but controversial former governor of California are too powerful to eddy quickly. President Nixon's appointment of Warren E. Burger as Warren's successor may have impact on the course of the court, but the clock will never be turned back to the pre-Warren era of American life.

At virtually every level, the opinions of the Warren court put new life into the ideal of equality, which the Constitution expresses in the phrase "equal protection of the laws." During Warren's tenure, the court sought equal justice for all Americans—rich or poor, white or Negro, educated or illiterate—wherever they happen to live in the United States.

During those turbulent years, the court was accused of coddling Communists and criminals and removing God from public life. Congress was frequently outraged. Some of the angrier critics demanded Warren's impeachment by billboard advertising and car-bumper-sticker.

But there is no arguing that new legal foundations were laid for the Negro, the criminal suspect—particularly if he had no money—and for the voter. In 1962 and 1963, the court made it clear that the government may not dictate prayers to be said by children in public schools. In the late 1960's, new ground was broken on behalf of the poor. New rights were carved out for juveniles and restrictions were placed on government eavesdropping.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—A stock market which is about at the same level today as four years ago is "not extremely vulnerable," Reynolds & Co. says. The analyst says that despite the "overwhelming gloom," there are "grounds for optimism," adding that "at the worst, we look for a near-term rally after a selling climax, and at the best, we look for a return to equilibrium soon."

Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis places little value in the belief of some that a gold mining stocks are a hedge against possible currency devaluations. The analyst notes the "abrupt" price swings and "extremely high earnings multiples" of gold stocks although such issues "at times" have offered "outstanding profit opportunities to quick traders."

The market is now "deeply oversold," according to Scheinman Timing Forecasts, which predicts a "sharp recovery rally" in the near future, probably this week, but certainly by month's end. The company suggests such a rally may provide "an excellent short term trading opportunity..."

The 30-point dip in the Dow Jones industrial average last week "normally" would set the stage for a sharp rebound, but "no evidence of such a development is in sight," according to Diamond, Turk & Co. The analyst says that "in the present environment, bar-

Lana Turner's Husband Jailed On Felony Charge

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Lana Turner's husband was arrested on felony grand theft charges Tuesday night a few hours after he survived an apparent murder attempt.

Dr. Ronald Dante, 49, a nightclub hypnotist and the 48-year-old actress' seventh husband, was not hit by the five bullets fired at him as he drove into the underground garage of an apartment house Tuesday afternoon. The gunman fled.

However, sheriff's detectives learned Tuesday night Dante was wanted for jumping ball in connection with the attempted theft of $18,000 worth of motor boats from an Orange County manufacturer.

Dante, who told authorities he was born in Singapore and holds a doctorate in psychology from Singapore University, suffered a small cut on his forehead from shards of glass from the windshield of his car which was shattered by the gunfire.

He dived to the floor of the car as his assailant, a blond man wearing an Australian bush hat, opened fire from behind a pillar in the garage. Dante and Miss Turner were married May 8 in a Las Vegas, Nev. wedding chapel.

Miss Turner's other husbands were Artie Shaw, Steve Crane, Bob Topping, Lex Barker, Fred May and Robert Eaton. Her divorce from Eaton became final only two months ago.

The theft charge involved the alleged illegal removal of motor boats from the yard of the Martin Boat Co. in Santa Ana, Calif.

An officer of the firm, Ronald Snyder, told Orange County authorities he surprised Dante during the early morning of May 5, 1968.

John H. Karr Named 'Texan of Month'

JOHN H. KARR

John H. Karr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Karr, 1110 Somerville, is Young Texan of the Month, as designated by the Pampa Optimist Club.

The 1969 graduate of Pampa High School recently received an academic scholarship from Emory University, Atlanta, Ga. He has maintained a 'A' average and been listed on the honor roll since seventh grade. He was valedictorian of his graduating class at Pampa Junior High School. As a high school junior he was named to the National Honor Society and was ranked 14th in his graduating class of 359 seniors.

In athletics young Karr played Pee Wee basketball through sixth grade, was named to the All City Basketball All Stars and played little league ball four years. In junior high school he played three years of football, basketball and track. He served as assistant basketball coach for the Op-guided Pee Wee program at age 13 to 14. For five years he ran in the Jaycee track meet, winning several ribbons. He was a Red Cross swimming program aide one summer as an 8th grader.

In high school John played football in his sophomore year and was co-captain of the Shocker team. Extra-curricular activities included boys choir, chaplain of student council and later president. He was named "Best All-Around Boy" in the 9th grade. That year he also won the Optimist oratorical contest at local and zone levels.

Young Karr was homesomero president in his high school sophomore year. As a senior he was named student council president. And organized Pampa's successful campaign for state student council president. As a result of this campaign the school received a letter of approval from President Nixon.

A member of the Key Club for three years, the young Pampan was its secretary in his junior year and delegate to the club's national convention at Louisville, Ky. He also won the Sandy Nininger Award.

A member of Thespians three years, he had roles in two high school plays. He was on the debating team three years during which his team won the Miami Beach debate tournament. He was voted fifth best speaker.

Texas Changed With Conspiracy

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Albert F. Fuentas Jr., former Small Business Administration assistant in charge of Texas, was fired from his job with the agency late today on federal conspiracy charges.

Fuentas was charged with trying to gain 49 per cent of a San Antonio business in exchange for a $100,000 SBA loan. He was fired from his job with the SBA a month ago.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton E. Vincent, 727 Magnolia, will be honored by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Edward Vincent and family, Lefors, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carr Vincent and family, Boise City, Okla. The celebration will be their parent's 50th wedding anniversary, which is planned from 2 to 6 p.m. June 22 in the Hospitality Room of Citizens Bank and Trust Co. Friends of the couple are invited to attend but are asked to not bring gifts.

Goodwill HD Club Monthly Meeting

The Goodwill Home Demonstration Club held their June meeting in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Elshelmer. Roll call was answered by giving home remedies.

The program "Sewing Tips On Clothing" was brought by Miss Jimmy Lou Waincott. She presented helpful hints on sewing with knits and hints on new methods of applying seam bindings and hems.

Members attending were Mmes. Pete Coombes, Don Duggan, Kenneth Elshelmer, Ray Fraser, Lee Jackson, Paul F. Johnson, Marvin Rowan, Carl O. Smith, R. F. Utzman, V. E. Wagner and two guests.

Vicki Moose and Barbara Whiten.

The next meeting will be July 1.

Ant Prevalative

The best preventive measure against ants is to keep a spotless kitchen. Ants are easily attracted by spilled crumbs or spatters of bacon grease. Trace the ants back to their hiding place probably a crack along your sink or baseboards — then set out an ant trap. Lured by the bait, the ants will carry it back as food and kill the entire colony.

By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm a happily married woman with two children and a husband who is handsome, successful and hard-working. While hanging up his coat last evening, a motel key (from a local pocket) fell out of his coat pocket. Since we live right in town I wondered what he needed a motel room for, so I asked him.

He told me that he has a lot of office business to talk over with his secretary, and he can't very well take her out to lunch in public because she's a divorcee with quite a colorful past, and people might talk. So, since he values his reputation as a straight-laced family man, occasionally he rents a motel room, where he takes her for lunch and discussions.

Abby, I've never had reason to mistrust my husband in the past, but what do you think of this explanation?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Tell your husband that if he's concerned about talk—there would be more "talk" were people to learn that he rents a motel room in order to "talk" business with a secretary who has a colorful past.

DEAR ABBY: I know a widow in her seventies who is quite remarkable. (I'll call her Aunt Mary) Circumstances are such that this lady has had to make her home with her daughter for the past 10 years. Aunt Mary is active, cheerful and a joy to be with. Best of all, she knows how to keep from being "in the way."

Aunt Mary makes herself available to stay in the homes of parents who want a responsible adult there for week-ends or longer.

She does this not so much for the money (which she can use, of course) but she likes to get out of her daughter's home for a while. I have known her to spend her own money to go to a motel for a "few days"—saying she needs her privacy, when it is really her wish to give her daughter's family their privacy.

What do you think of a woman like that?

SALLY

DEAR SALLY: I think she deserves to be nominated for "mother of the year."

DEAR ABBY: How my husband has put up with me for 23 years I'll never know. All these years I thought I had married an over-sexed man, but now I have to admit there was nothing wrong with him. It was me. I'm frigid.

If mothers would only teach their daughters how to be loving wives it would do them more good than learning how to cook and keep the house. All these years I have kept a spotless home, and earned a reputation for being a fine cook. I even served, and took care of our garden, but what my husband needed was me, and I foolishly turned my back on him. We are of moderate means, but we have never had words about money, sex yes, but money no.

I know it's not easy to all of a sudden realize that sex between man and wife is clean and beautiful and right, after having it drummed into your head that it is dirty and sinful and wrong.

Print this. It may help a younger woman.

LEARNED TOO LATE

DEAR LEARNED: It's never "too late." At least you learned.

DEAR ABBY: I've read your column for years and have wanted to write and comment on some of the letters and your replies, and now I finally have a reason.

I recently came across an article on "Antiques" published in TIME magazine, May 1, 1969. With it appeared a picture of a couple serving soup from an antique chamber pot!

No doubt these are the same people who objected so strenuously to bathing babies in the kitchen sink.

R. W. H.: COSTA MESA, CAL.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

FRIDAY, JUNE 20

Your birthday Friday: Whatever your specialty is, you are likely to be called on to teach it. Your coming year is marked by responsibility and more effective control over matters. Friday natives usually succeed as teachers or writers and have a talent for mimicry.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Listen to the glib talkers, but check their proposals before you make any commitments. New purchases can easily wait another week or longer.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Allow a generous margin for error and misunderstanding before you start to settle partnership affairs. Give everybody a chance to prove his case.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Everybody has a different story. Make up your own as you go, double-checking your facts as you run into them. Promises are all too easy to assume.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your feelings are on your sleeve for all to see Friday. If you serenely by-pass any effort for fun at your expense, the practical joke backfires.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Now is the time to say or write nothing you would not want recorded. The less you say and the more you rely on deeds, the better.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Be skeptical Friday. Some of the tales making the rounds are spurious. Who might be a source of gossip? (Point no finger.)

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Defer heavy purchases, transactions, long-term contracts. Return borrowed items. Discard or send for repair any appliances or tools which no longer work.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Other people's money is to be accepted only with proper vouchers and witnesses. Business deals should be centered around your own personal welfare.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Draw in your horns a bit Friday. There are too many things which are better to do than pick a fight. Maintain a straight-forward attitude toward everybody (and everything).

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your property and portable belongings deserve the finest care. Stay within your own territory and finish up the week properly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): While you are checking facts and trying to find a pattern, others are busy spinning new yarns of fantasy and speculation.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): The temptation is to try getting away with some fancy financial and social arrangements. Keep matters simple. Some factors you have not thought about are already at work.

Highland Ladies Hostesses For Tea

The ladies of Highland Baptist Church honored their pastor's wife, Mrs. C. R. Bridges, with an Appreciation Tea recently in the church fellowship hall.

Mrs. Carrol Goad presented piano selections and Mrs. Gene Winegeart sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. Goad.

Mrs. Archie Ardin gave the opening remarks with Mrs. J. C. Jones and Mrs. Troy Ledbetter reading poems. Mrs. Wayne Hill gave the devotional and Mrs. M. A. Powell presented the autobiography of Mrs. Bridges.

The closing prayer was given by Mrs. Jess Jennings. A corsage of blue, the honoree's favorite color, was presented to the guest of honor.

Those attending and bringing gifts were Mmes. Don Minick, Jerry Lincycob, George F. Moore, Johnny Dawes, Richard Harrell, Carrol Goad, Jess Jennings, William Stafford, J. C. Jones, M. B. Parker, Eunice Hunt, T. W. Hale, Ken Allison, Troy Ledbetter, M. A. Powell, Troy Hester, Archie Hardin, Wayne Hill, Bessie Kosoner, Gene Winegeart, Wayne Mitchell and Ruenell Vaughn. Sending gifts were: Mmes. Bessie Harper, Opal Cornelius, Annie Brown, F. H. Marchman and Sharon Powell.

Mrs. Ken Allison served the punch and Mrs. Don Minick served the cake. Mrs. Troy Hester registered the guests.

AV Society Has Dinner Meeting

The African Violet Society met recently for a dinner party at Furr's Cafeteria.

The hostess, Mrs. Charles Gilson, used an african violet as a centerpiece and had painted plaques as individual favors.

The president, Mrs. Norman Walberg, announced that the club members will not meet again until the second Tuesday in September.

The hostess read a poem, "I Small Pause" by Gladys Billings Bratton.

The program chairman, Mrs. Dan Glatner, began the program by naming her favorite african violet and telling why it is her favorite. Each member present named her favorite and told the reason for her choice.

CB Classes Meet With Mrs. Reeves

The Naomi and Elizabeth classes of Central Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. C. L. Reeves for a salad supper and business meeting.

Opening prayer was led by Mrs. Ethel Gower and a Bible reading was given by Grace Necase.

Members attending were Mmes. Eertha Hussa, Ethel Gower, Jess Hulsey, Eva Catts, Mary McMahan, Estella Gist, Willie Jackson, Thelma Cody, Pearl Meadows, Ashlee Hally, Hattie Anderson, Velma Bettes, Vera Raliff, Lula Taylor and Grace Necase. Two visitors attending were Mrs. Hazel Hunter and Mrs. Thelma Hadley.

Hints On Cleaning Sewing Machines

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

Did you give your sewing machine a long, hard winter? Then it's time for a little spring cleaning, to keep it in good condition. Many women do most of their sewing in the first three months of the year, and give their machines a rest during the late spring and summer — and if you're one of this group, it's important to clean your machine before storing it.

Most machines come with instruction manuals telling how to clean and lubricate the mechanism. If you don't have a book, you can get one at your sewing center.

According to Jessie Hutton of a Sewing machine company, you should use the machine oil and the lubricant which are distributed by the manufacturer of your sewing machine. Other household oils are too heavy for a sewing machine. In addition, you will need a soft cleaning cloth and a lint brush which comes with the machine.

First use your lint brush to remove accumulated lint and fluff from the exposed parts, cleaning around the feed dog, under the throat plate and slide plate, and around the sewing hook or shuttle. Use the soft cloth to clean the tension disks, the take-up lever, the thread guides, presser bar, needle bar, bobbin case and machine arm and bed. Don't use a detergent.

After cleaning, apply one drop of machine oil to the points indicated in your instruction book. Most machines have tiny holes here and there on the head, which are oil points. Oil behind the face plate. If you turn the hand wheel slowly, you will see where one metal part moves against another. These are spots to oil.

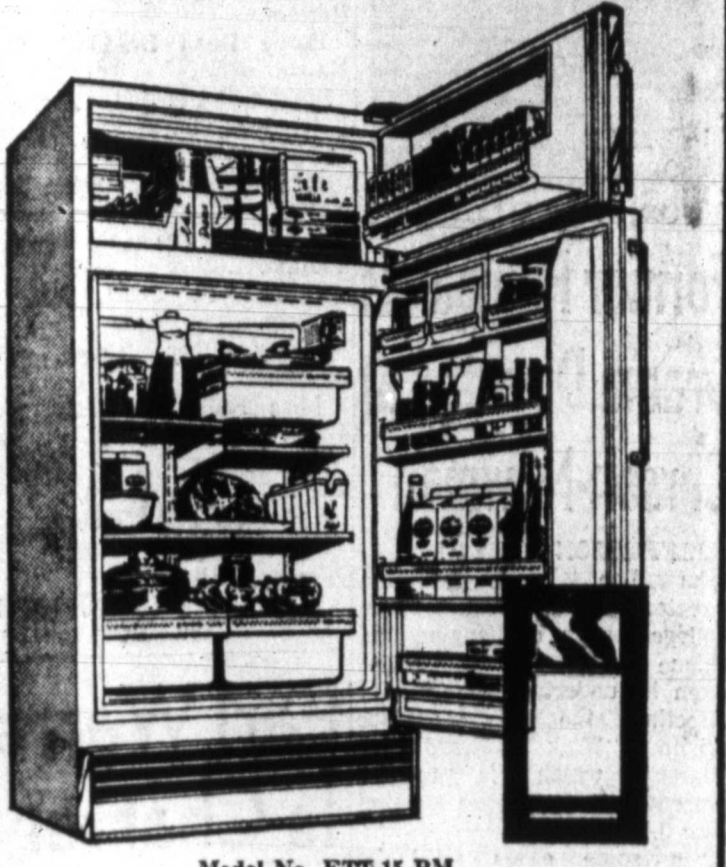

To oil and lubricate the bottom of the machine, first disconnect the plug. Tilt the machine back and loosen the screw to remove the bottom cover. Brush away lint, and place a single drop of oil on each moving part. Use the heavier lubricant on the gears.

After cleaning, oiling and lubricating the machine, run the machine back and forth on fabric scraps (paper towels are good, too) to work out the extra oil.

Pampa B & P W Night At "Texas"

Friday, July 25 will be "Pampa B & P W Night" at the production of "Texas," the musical drama about the Panhandle of the 1890's, now in its fourth year run at the Pioneer Amphitheater in Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

Mrs. Eli Etheridge and Mrs. L.B. Robertson, co-chairmen of the civic participation committee of the Pampa B & P W Club are making arrangements for two or more chartered buses to take Pampans to the canyon for the performance. They are being assisted in ticket sales for the event by members of the Pampa B & P W Club.

The buses will leave the Continental Trailways bus station at 6 p.m. on July 25.

For information on the cost of the trip, which will include bus fare and tickets to "Texas," interested persons may call Mrs. Etheridge at Mo 4-6720 or Mrs. Robertson at Mo 5-3288.

The Pampa Club met recently in the City Club room as members discussed plans for their annual bus trip to "Texas," with Mrs. Pearl Castka, president, presiding.

Other business included reports of delegates to the 49th Convention of the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Charles Scott Represents District At State Convention

Plans made at business meeting Mr. and Mrs. Irvy Hangerford and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scott recently attended the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Texas State Convention in Houston.

During the three day convention there were several work shops, contests and banquets. One of the highlights was the Beauty Queen Contest in which Mrs. Scott represented District 10. The winner was Mrs. Nornie Howard of Muleshoe.

The new State Officers were installed by International Council President, Joan Monson. They are president, Virginia Mankins of Kilgore; 1st vice pres., Martha Hardin of Amarillo; and 2nd vice pres., Margaret Benham of Houston.

The Kappa Alpha Chapter of Pampa received the Muscular Dystrophy Award from Howard Wright, District Director for their outstanding work this past year.

Canadian Chapter received a National Foundation Award from the March of Dimes.

Foreign Exchange Student Fashion Designers Love Scarves

Bids Farewell To Pampa

Members of the American Business Women's Association held their June meeting recently at which time they heard the final speech of Pampa's Foreign Exchange Student from South Africa, Miss Helen Hill. Helen was introduced by her Pampa mother, Mrs. E. L. Henderson. Helen is a native of Johannesburg, South Africa, and is a 1967 High School Graduate of that city.

She described her home country as being dense, wealthy and very beautiful. The climate there is temperate and most unusual is Christmas in the summer time. A typical Christmas day is a picnic at the beach, swimming and sun bathing. South Africa has its share of large cities and skyscrapers, it is the worlds largest producer of gold, a producer of the worlds most precious diamonds rich in uranium and coal mining. One of the worlds largest agricultural centers, fourth in worlds production of wool and is world famous for its beautiful flowers. They have the largest game reserve in the world and the wild life is very important to their country.

Helen will be leaving Pampa in two weeks to return to her own country and left this one impressive remark, "I will not miss this Texas wind."

Mrs. Norman Quick gave the vocational talk. She was employed by the Western Union Telegraph Service for over ten years and had some outstanding assignments including National Baseball games play by play teletype for broadcasting. She is presently clerking in a local store.

A nominating committee was elected to get a slate of officers to present at the next meeting.

Mrs. Travis Winegeart was installed as a new member at the conclusion of the meeting.

Woman's View
By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—A scarf is a piece of cloth made of varying widths and lengths and worn for decoration or warmth about the waist.

So says the dictionary. And it's all true, only more so this year. For the definition now is an oversimplification of what scarves have become in the hands of fashion designers.

Not since Isadora Duncan wove her magic has so much fuss been made about scarves. (But watch it. Isadora strangled in France in 1927 when her long scarf caught accidentally in the rear wheel of the open car in which she was riding.)

New Look

Scarves do wrap up a totally new look in fashion. They no longer are just splashes of color to tuck in a collar or tie on the head. One women's magazine showed 24 ways scarves can be worn, and any ingenious woman can think up another dozen.

And for fall and winter! There's hardly a designer on Seventh Avenue, heart of New York's garment industry, who isn't doing something different with scarves.

Some of the most extreme show at high fashion houses like Oscar de la Renta, Gayle Kirkpatrick, and Tiffau & Busch, where the maxi lengths reign. I asked for measurements on some of the long, tubular jobs at De la Renta's and was told they were 1 1/2 feet, 5 inches, which means they're about the length of a small bedroom in today's houses.

Many Patterns

Glentex, one of the volume manufacturers of scarves, did many of those for De la Renta and in its own fall collection for retail counters everywhere is showing the maxi 9 feet long, 11 inches wide. They feature them in argyle patterns, in florals or checks with fringed ends, in solid color rayons or acetate crepes; silk surah and challis, to name a few.

For Gayle Kirkpatrick, they ran up a whole batch of giant checked wools to wear either with pantsuits or the new length coats, practically sweeping up the floor.

Jacques Tiffau, the designer at Tiffau & Busch, liked great loops of scarves of the same fabric as dress or pants costumes, the scarves coming to the floor even though the dress outfit might be five inches above the knees.

And De la Renta's long scarves include 10-footers in mink blocks.

Pampa Club Ladies At Austin Meeting

Three members of the Pampa Garden Club recently attended the Forty-First Annual meeting of the Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. which was held in Austin recently. Those attending were Mrs. Thelma Bray, Mrs. Joe B. Curtis and Mrs. Myron Dorman.

Speakers during the convention were Joe T. Meador, National Orchid Society; Dr. Donald L. Weismann, Professor in the Arts, University of Texas; Mrs. James P. Hart, Director, Travis County Collection; and Mrs. Jean W. Epperson, history of Gardening.

A paddle boat trip on Lake Austin followed by dinner at Greenshores was one of the recreational highlights of the convention.

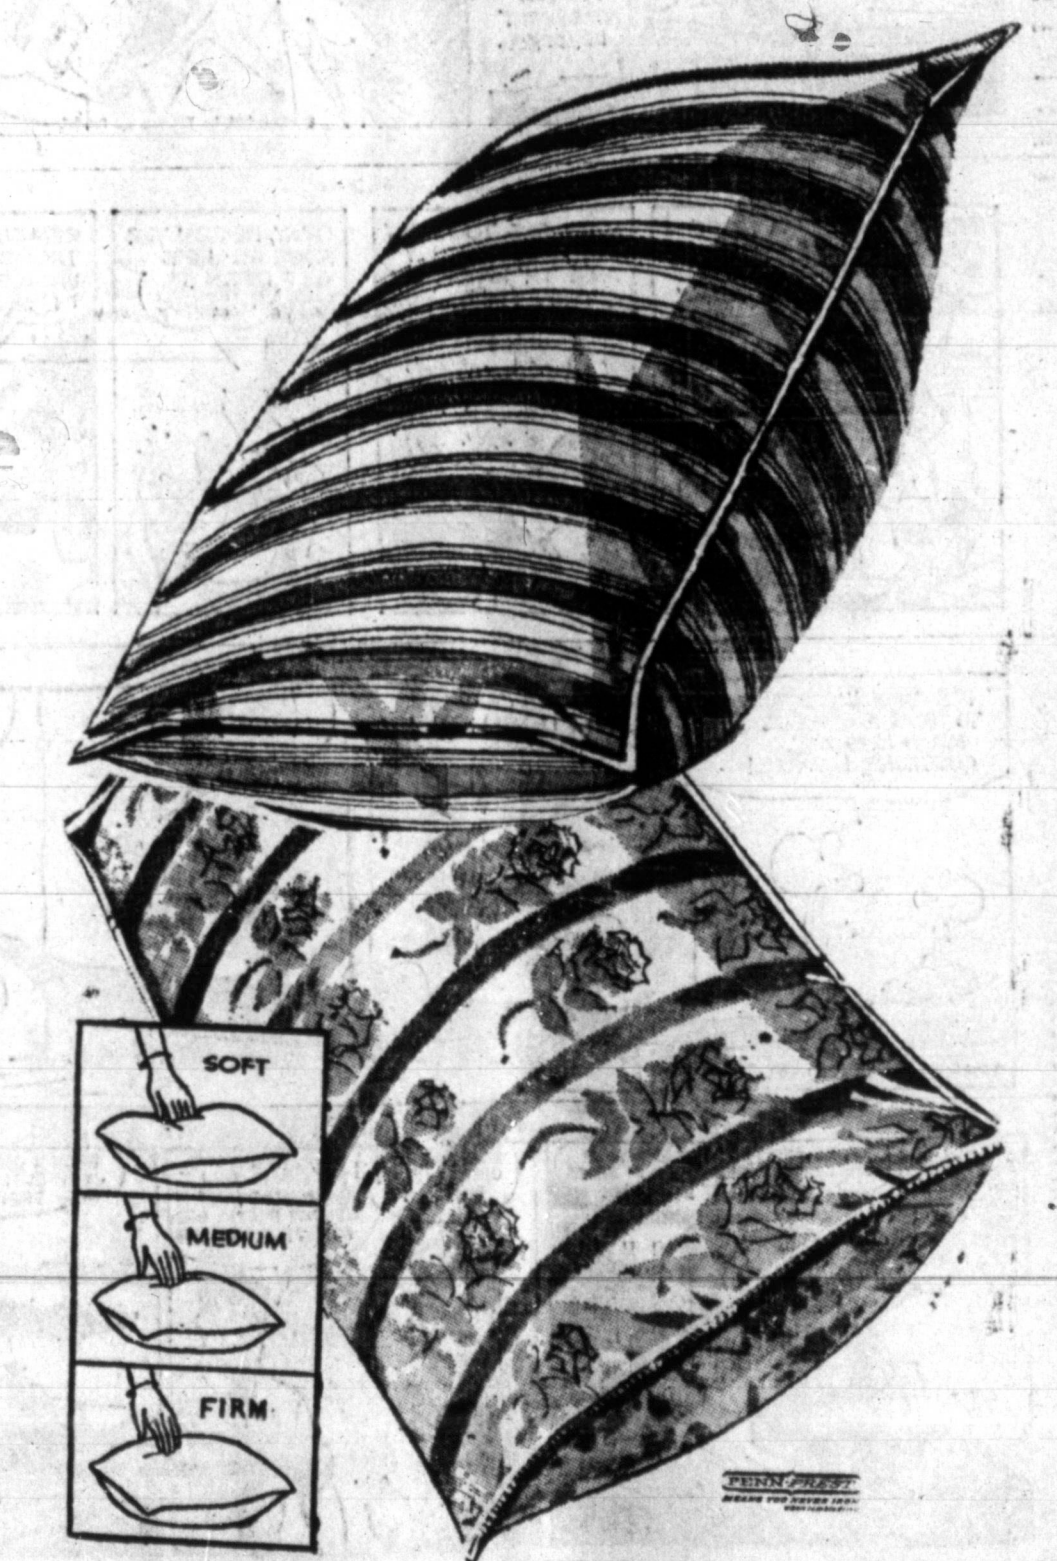

A tour of Austin with Tea at the Governor's Mansion followed by an inspection of the new landscaping for which the Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. contributed $30,000.00.

The Pampa Garden Club won five state awards; scrapbook, civic beautification, yearbook, club president and reports.

A's Jackson Gets Praise All Day

By United Press International
Reggie Jackson's day started with a telegram of congratulations from President Nixon and ended with baseball writers comparing him with Babe Ruth and Roger Maris.

"I am most appreciate and thankful that the President would take the time to write me," said Jackson before the Athletics' Wednesday night doubleheader with the Kansas City Royals. "It was a great honor to play in his presence," he added, referring to the June 11 game in Washington, D.C. when Nixon saw him hit two homers.

Then Jackson hit his 25th and 26th homers of the season as the Athletics routed the Royals, 16-4 and 9-2, and found himself being compared with Ruth and Maris. Reporters pointed out that Jackson is five games ahead of Maris' 1961 pace en route to 61 homers and four games ahead of Ruth's 1927 pace.

Jackson, Larry Haney and Dick Green batted in three runs each in the first game enabling Chuck Dobson to go the distance with an 11-hitter. Jackson's homer capped a three-run rally against Dick Drago and gave the Athletics a 5-4 lead in the fifth inning.

The Baltimore Orioles defeated the Washington Senators, 3-1, the Minnesota Twins beat the California Angels, 3-1, the New York Yankees topped the Detroit Tigers, 4-2, the Cleveland Indians shaded the Boston Red Sox, 2-1 and the Seattle Pilots scored a 6-3 victory after losing to the Chicago White Sox, 7-3, in other American League games.

Boog Powell's two-run homer in the sixth inning enabled the Orioles to beat the Senators and gave Jim Hardin his third victory. Powell's homer followed a walk to Paul Blair, who had tripled and scored the Orioles' first run in the first inning. Jim French homered for the Senators.

Harmon Killebrew hit a two-run bases-filled double after an intentional walk to Tony Oliva in the eighth inning for the runs which gave the Twins' Jim Kaat his seventh triumph. Reliever Hoyt Wilhelm yielded two-out singles to Leo Cardenas and Ted Uhlaender and walked Oliva on purpose before Killebrew connected. The loss was the sixth against two victories for the 44-year old Wilhelm.

Jerry Kenney's sacrifice fly drove in Jake Gibbs with the tie-breaking run as the Yankees rallied for three runs in the eighth inning to end the Tigers' winning streak at seven games. Bobby Murcer followed with a run-scoring double and Steve Hamilton shut out the Tigers in the last two innings to preserve rookie Bill Burbach's fourth victory.

Sam McDowell was touched for nine hits but struck out seven and walked only one in chalking up his eighth win for the Indians. Russ Snyder scored the winning run in the seventh inning when he eluded catcher Russ Gibson's tag to score from third base on Max Alvis' fielder's choice.

Koosman's Arm Is Improved, Mets Down the Phillies 2-0

By United Press International
A year ago today, Jerry Koosman won his 11th game in 13 decisions. Wednesday night he evened his record at 4-4 and said he couldn't be happier.

Koosman, who finished 19-12 last year as a rookie, pitched a four-hitter to pace the New York Mets to a 2-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. The important thing to the young lefthander, however, was the fact that his bothersome left shoulder was without pain.

"No, there's no pain at all in the shoulder," said Koosman. "It sure feels great. I'd like to have 10 or 11 wins now but I'll settle for what I have as long as I'm physically O.K."

Koosman has been proving himself to be more than "O.K." in the last two weeks. He has allowed only three runs in his last four decisions, winning three and dropping a 1-0 game. Not included in that total is a 10-inning shutout performance against Los Angeles, a game in which the Mets won the inning after he was removed.

Elsewhere, Cincinnati clubbed San Francisco 11-2, Houston downed Atlanta, 3-1, Pittsburgh shaded Chicago, 3-2, Montreal ripped St. Louis, 5-1 and Los Angeles trounced San Diego, 10-1.

Ed Kranepool and Wayne Garrett had fun-producing singles to back Koosman's performance. Kranepool followed Cleon Jones' sixth-inning double with his hit and Garrett's hit drove in Tommie Agee from second an inning later.

Rookie Jose Martinez singled home Roberto Clemente from second base with two out in the 10th inning to give the Pirates their fourth consecutive victory over the Eastern Division leading Cubs.

Clemente led off with a double and two outs later, Al Oliver was intentionally walked to set the stage for Martinez' hit. The Cubs had taken a 2-0 lead in the eighth on Ron Santo's two-run triple but the Pirates tied it in the same inning on Clemente's two-run homer.

Denny Lemaster pitched a five-hitter.

Longhorns Out of NCAA Series Despite Protest With Umpires

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — You can't blame the Texas Longhorns for asking "What if?" following their elimination from the College World Series.

A manager and team members can second-guess themselves on any ball game and Texas has its fair share today.

"What if" starting pitcher Larry Hardy pitched the entire game instead of leaving in the third inning?

"What if" the Longhorns had not loaded the bases on an intentional walk in the inning to first baseman Joe Szewczyk.

But then Jack Miller shot a ground ball deep behind the bag along the first base line. Szewczyk knocked the ball down, picked it up and tried to out race Miller to the sack.

Szewczyk dove for the bag and Miller slid into it. The two collided sending the ball into right field.

Harmon, meanwhile, scored what appeared to be the tying run. But umpire Harvey called Miller out at first, ending the game.

Gustafson, who normally leaves his perch on the top step of the dugout only to change pitchers, charged onto the field in protest with a goodly number of the Texas team in pursuit.

The ensuing ruckus lasted for nearly 10 minutes and Gustafson finally protested to the NCAA Rules and Tournament Committee. Committee chairman L. C. Captimim called the entire umpire squad for a conference.

"Captimim told me that the umpire said he did not see the ball squirt away," Gustafson said later. "We asked the other three umpires but all three had left the playing field and did not see the play."

Texas scored its only runs the first time at bat when Lou Bagwell singled and scored on a triple by David Chalk. Then NYU starter Carl Marino threw a wild pitch and Chalk scored the second run.

Bubbles To The Rescue

Slowly, but surely, individual values and the potential by-individual, mankind is learning and grasping the significance of a basic fact of nature: Force in human relations, whether initiated by the party of the first part or the party of the second part, is self-defeating and inhibitive of human advancement. The first blow struck invites the second, the second, third, and so on in an ever increasing chain reaction of violence. Human life, safety, and freedom obviously exist precariously in such an environment.

But the problem, now as ever, is how to counter the first act of force without indulging in the use of force oneself and, of course, without becoming a martyr in the process. And here, the going gets sticky. How is one to protect oneself and properly from potential aggressors without, in turn, becoming an aggressor oneself? Obviously, the ideal and ultimate solution to the problem must be found in the educational field in a course of study which, by both precept and example, teaches the sanctity of both the individual person and his external property. As the principles taught in such a course of study are understood, accepted, take hold and spread, the level of violence in the world will be progressively lowered until, hopefully, one day it will approach the vanishing point.

But, in the meantime, what? Well, human experience and developments in the market place offer some encouragement and add likely pointers if we will examine them closely.

Locks, doors, fences, walls, etc., none of which are capable of generating force themselves, do offer some effective protection, against the predator. True, none of them offer total protection, and it is doubtful that anything ever will; however, all of them have the merit of compelling the predator to expend a certain amount of time and energy in order to penetrate them. If the time and energy required to penetrate such inanimate, non-force-generating, devices is out of line with the value of whatever the predator hopes to gain, it is reasonable to believe he will be discouraged from making the attempt. Rational action, it would seem, would consist of strengthening such protective devices in direct ratio to the value one places on that which one wants to protect.

Bank checks, taken for granted by most of us merely as a convenience, offer another outstanding example of real, effective protection being afforded by inanimate, non-force-generating, market place innovations. Although consisting of mere slips of paper and, admittedly, not providing total protection, the fact remains that blank checks, by removing money from the immediate reach of the illegal predator, do provide a real degree of protection.

The TV Bank Teller innovation is still another outstanding illustration of the non-force-generating protective principle; and why it isn't being made use of by more banks is a mystery, to this writer. Placing inanimate concrete and steel between the bank's

Planning Ahead

If you listened real fast, you may have heard the commentator on the radio telling about post-war plans being drawn up by some of our boys in Washington.

There wasn't much detail, but the plans have to do with money. When the war is over, and that may be taking too much for granted—the lawmakers figure there is going to be a pile of billions not having to be spent for guns, and things like that.

So they reckon the best thing to do is to plan now how to put the grab on that money and get it committed in advance to the Government's social goals. The point is, unless steps are taken now to make sure Washington gets and retains a firm grip on all that money, some of it just might slip back to the people from whom it came.

WIT AND WHIMSY

The Manion Forum

By MARILYN MANION

A Curious Double Standard

Why does our nation fight Communism in Asia—and support Communism in Africa?

If you put that question to the general public, most people would be shocked to hear that we support Communism anywhere. How, they would ask, does the United States aid the Reds in Africa?

How? By refusing to sell arms to such anti-Communist nations as Rhodesia and South Africa. While Russia, China and Cuba are engaged in mass subversive activities across the African continent, complete with modern arms, terrorism and careful organization, we will not sell to Rhodesia or South Africa the items they need to defend themselves from Peking, Havana and Moscow.

How did we get ourselves into this ridiculous position? Let us take as an example the sorry saga of our relations with Rhodesia. A recent guest on the Manion Forum radio program, W.L. Thornton, President of the Southern States Industrial Council, catalogued our history of errors as regards Rhodesia:

"Rhodesia is an independent country in Southern Africa. Until recently it was a part of the British Commonwealth. When the British socialist government brought intolerable pressure on the white citizens of Rhodesia to surrender their sovereignty to the native blacks, the whites quite naturally refused.

"To insure their survival in the face of growing British pressure and against Communist terrorist attacks from the North, Rhodesia declared its independence from Great Britain on November 11, 1965. Great Britain, in an effort to keep Rhodesia in the Commonwealth, imposed economic sanctions on Rhodesia and asked us to join her in this oppression of a free enterprise, anti-Communist nation; and we followed right along like the tail of a kite.

"All this time Great Britain was trading with our enemies in North Vietnam, furnishing them with materials which they used to kill our soldiers in South Vietnam.

Mr. Grosse is no fool, either. Mr. Grosse, 64 years old, is president of the Research Institute of Temple University and co-discoverer of the carbon-14 dating process to determine the age of objects of plant or animal origin by their radioactivity. He worked on the Manhattan Project, which produced the atom bomb—and he is generally acknowledged as the nation's leading expert on bubbles." With these credentials, the Journal observed, "Mr. Grosse can get people to listen."

Grosse, a smiling, grandfatherly looking gentleman, says his bubbles could be used to prevent all kinds of trouble; to stop riots and protect property from destructive mobs. As reported by the Journal, he said "... a wall of bubbles could be thrown up in the path of rioters" (thus putting the decision of whether to walk into the bubble wall up to the individual rioters themselves) and, "if they broke into this wall, the bubble would cover their eyes and ears, sharply reducing their vision and hearing and creating a sort of eerie, science fiction-like atmosphere."

The bubble machine, small enough and light enough to be carried on a man's back is capable of barricading a street or of filling an average size store with tough, difficult to break bubbles in a matter of minutes at a cost of approximately $40 to $50. Grosse emphasizes that the superiority of his bubbles over other devices exists in the fact that they cause no injury and, unlike fire hoses and tear gas, for example, would effect only those persons who attempted to break through their protective wall.

As we have pointed out again and again, there is no telling what creative individuals and what free market place would provide in the way of moral, really effective protection, if people will just rid themselves of the obsession with the use of force and the false belief that political government—itsself a predator and instrument of force—can provide protection for their property and their lives.

What Good Air Mail And Zip Codes?

Clearing House

Got something you would like to "get off your chest"? That's what the "Clearing House" is for. It has been suggested there should be more letters to the Editor, that people should speak their mind. So, in the public interest, write to the Editor and "get it off your chest."

Editor: Attached is a copy of a letter mailed June 16 to the city manager of Pampa.

Dear Sir: Question. What are city taxes for; what is the monthly garbage collection fee for?

Today I have spent approximately three hours in cutting or breaking twigs into a size that will fit into the garbage pails, and sawing the heavy part of the limbs into not more than three-foot lengths and tying them in bundles where the trash collectors will deign to pick them up. Perhaps — just perhaps — the chore is now one-third completed.

These limbs were blown from, or broken, where they were hanging from my trees during a windstorm a couple of weeks ago. The City of Amarillo somehow managed to collect the limbs broken there during a later windstorm. Are they that much more affluent? Or do they take that much more pride in appearance of the city? Or is it just that they consider that unusual circumstances such as a windstorm would be something to be covered by city taxes?

I do not pretend to have any understanding of the problems of running a city, but it would not be easy to convince me that having a truck to pick up the broken limbs after a damaging windstorm would entail a really tremendous greater amount of work and expense than picking up filled garbage pails and bundles of limbs tailor-fitted to your requirements after the property owner has put in countless hours of labor getting them in the exact dimensions that you require before the city will soil its hands with them.

I have lived at this address for a few months more than ten years, and in that time have tried very hard to keep my property reasonably neat and clean. It has not been a simple thing since I am widowed—survive to hold down a job to survive, and have no one upon whom I can call for assistance.

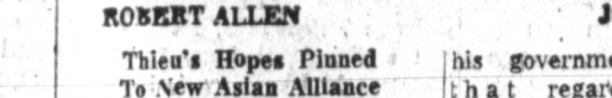

It could have been considerably less difficult if the City were willing to cooperate in a clearly-defined, highly-limited, not-too-well-publicized, one-week-out-of-the-year thing.

To repeat, I have completed one-fourth to one-third of this job. As time permits, I shall get the rest of it completed and get my section of the alley neat and clean as I would prefer it to be.

In the meanwhile, please try to be understanding if I don't contribute my share to the shining cleanliness of the city. May you and your inflexible rules live in complete harmony. P.S. My mistake, I didn't get this mailed yesterday and when I returned home from work today I found that the meticulously bundled heavy limbs were not picked up, though the pails were emptied. Thieu's Hopes Plunged To New Asian Alliance
WASHINGTON.—South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu is apparently seeking to gain support at home and here in Washington, by taking the leadership in forming a new anti-Communist alliance in Asia.

That is the assessment in some Asian embassies here. It stems, in large part, from Thieu's well-publicized visits to South Korea and Formosa just before he traveled to Midway Island for his huddle with President Nixon.

In the course of his pre-Midway travels, Thieu talked with South Korea's President Park Chung-hui and with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. Both are long-time advocates of an anti-Communist alignment in Asia.

Diplomats here report that Thieu's overtures toward the formalizing of such an arrangement were quite open and explicit. They think those moves might have been more widely reported in the United States.

Press accounts here on Thieu's visits to Seoul and Taipei were dominated by his bellicose pronouncements on the war and his comments on coalition government in South Vietnam. They were the headline news at that point.

For the future, in the view of some Asia experts, Thieu's alliance talks may be the more important aspects of his trip. South Korean armed forces are now fighting against the Communists in Vietnam. Pak and Chiang are, of course, anti-Communist leaders of long-standing. Like Thieu they have benefited from the spending of many, many millions of American dollars.

STATUS SEEKING — The time may be coming when the Nixon Administration will look with favor on a new, all-Asian anti-Communist alliance, separate from the SEATO treaty. Other anti-Communist regimes, in Malaysia and the Philippines, for example, might be receptive to the idea too.

As the United States seeks to cut its losses in Vietnam and reduce its commitments in Asia, such an arrangement might be a stabilizing force.

In the eyes of diplomats here, however, President Thieu has a much more personal stake in pushing now for an anti-Communist alignment. He has a very urgent need to establish himself as a leader and solidify
