1976 Public Law Explains Display, Handling Of U. S. Flag

With the United States, along with many members of the United Nations now involved in war in the Middle East, more and more businesses and individuals are flying the flag.

It has become evident that many people are not aware of the rules and regulations for properly displaying or flying the flag.

In 1976, the 94th U.S. Congress passed public law 94-344 establishing guidelines for handling the flag.

The guidelines are as follows:
•When flags of states or cities or pennants of societies are flown on the same halyard with the flag of the United States of America, the latter should always be at the peak (U.S. flag). When flown from adjacent staffs the Stars and Stripes should be hoisted first and lowered last.

•When displayed over the middle of the street, the flag should be suspended vertically with the union to the north in an east and west street, or to the east in a north and south street.

•When the flag is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at any angle from the window sill, balcony, or front of a building, the union of the flag should go clear to the peak of the staff (unless the flag is to be displayed at half-mast).

•Flags are customarily displayed in good weather from sunrise to sunset on buildings or outdoor flag staffs. A flag may be displayed outdoors at night if properly illuminated, and in bad weather if it is an all-weather flag.

•When the flag is suspended across a corridor or lobby in a building with only one main entrance, it should be suspended vertically with the union, the blue field, to the observer's left upon entering.

•The flag should not be displayed with the union down, except as a signal of dire distress in instances of extreme danger to life or property.

•The flag should not be fastened, displayed, used or stored in such a manner as to permit it to be easily torn, soiled, or damaged in any way.

•The flag should not be used as a covering for a ceiling.

•The flag should not be used for advertising purposes in any manner whatsoever.

•The flag should not be used as wearing apparel, bedding or drapery. It should not be festooned, drawn back nor up in folds, but allowed to fall free.

•No part of the flag should ever be used as a costume or athletic uniform, except a flag patch attached to the uniforms of military personnel, firefighters, police officers or members of patriotic groups.

•Flag lapel pins should be worn on the left lapel near the heart.

•Marks, insignia, letters, words, figures, designs, pictures or drawings of any nature should not be placed on the flag.

•The flag should not be used

Cliff Black Receives Bob Stovall Memorial

It was a full house for the annual meeting of the Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation on Tuesday night. Those members and guests attending the meeting heard that the MAIF board had been very busy, and that the Industrial Foundation was very 'sound' financially.

Following a dinner catered by Larry and Paula Winkler, a financial report was given by Cliff Black, secretary/treasurer of the organization.

Black said total expenses for the past year totaled $2,470.37 and total income was $6,809.10.

Cash on hand at this time in the checking account was shown to be $1,834.75, with Certificates of Deposit of $24,614.15, making total cash on hand of $26,448.90.

During elections held for the board, Cliff Black and Duane Lloyd were both re-elected to their positions on the board.

Recognized were the newest members of MAIF, including: Higginbotham - Bartlett, Williams Bros. Office Supply; Five Area Telephone Cooperative Inc.; Dale Oil Co.; Sudduth-Field; Bobo Insurance and ADM Specialty Grains.

Duane Castleberry, who is chairman of MAIF, expressed appreciation to Darlene Henry for heading up a committee that decorated, adding a 'feminine touch' to the meeting room. He also expressed appreciation to the Winklers and to the CoFC ambassadors and ambassador-ettes for greeting and registering guests.

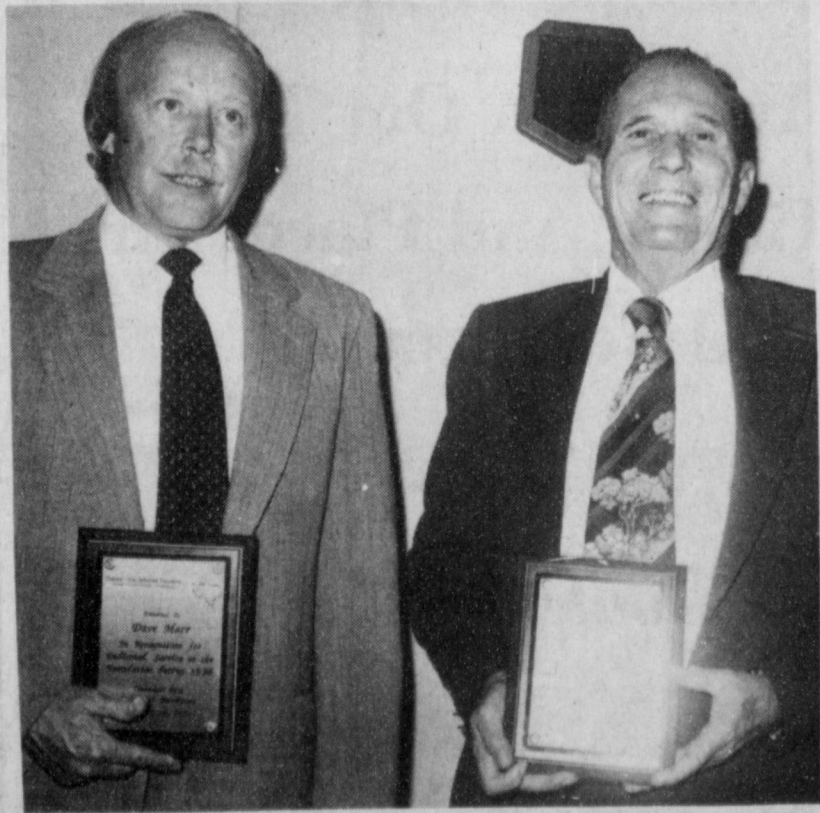

Castleberry said MAIF had worked on several projects during the past year, including Almeria Inc. who reported they had turned their loan and grant applications to the Farmer Mac program in Amarillo just last week. There will be approximately a 45-day wait to see if they have been approved for their loan to start up their greenhouse operation south of Muleshoe.

He also said MAIF had instituted the Bob Stovall Memorial Award, a very special award to be presented someone who shows community spirit and selflessness. He said the board had decided the award would not be an annual award, but would be reserved for someone who had exhibited the qualities sought for to receive the award.

Tuesday night, the very first Bob Stovall Memorial Award was presented Cliff Black, who "exemplifies what the award stands for."

Black thanked the board and commented that he was proud and honored to have received

Financial Aid Seminar Deemed Successful

The College Financing Seminar for high school students and their parents held on Monday, Feb. 11 was very successful.

A large number attended the fourth annual meeting sponsored by the Jennislippers Mary Ann Ramirez, President of the organization, welcomed the crowd.

"Picture YOU in College dorm life!! Cecyle Newsom, coordinator of New Student Relations, South Plains College reminded the students of another important application----- housing for at least the first semester of any college. She advised the students to ask lots of questions-no matter how minor they may seem. She humorously pointed out some of the housekeeping duties involved when they finally get away from home! There may be some tests of compatibility but the benefits last a lifetime!! The panel of representatives from the various colleges skillfully guided the students and parents through many aspects of financial assistance available to continue their education.

Members of the panel included: Jeanette Head, West Texas State University, Financial Aid Dept. Opportunity Plan; Dr. Ronny Barnes, Texas Tech University, Financial Aid Dept., Lubbock; Jim Ann Batenhorst, South Plains College, Financial Aid Dept., Levelland; Gwenda Hanna, South Plains J.T.P.A., Muleshoe; Leo Hatten, Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, N.M.; Pat Prater, V.P. Muleshoe State Bank; and Linda Marr, Muleshoe High School Counselor.

The students and parents were encouraged to ask questions and visit with the panelists.

The Jennislipper education committee this year were Norma Bruce, Ellen Ladd, Jo Mayhugh, Rae Logan, Pat Prater, Judy Watson, and Billie Downing. They appreciate the help of Mr. Moore, Superintendent of Muleshoe Schools; Tori Bruton, Linda Marr, Dr. David Wyer, Janie Hughes, Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, Kathi Franks, and all of those who helped with the calling committee.

EXENCIONES DE RESIDENCIA

PUEDEN REDUCIR LOS IMPUESTOS QUE PAGA POR SU CASA

Una exencion de residencia le ayuda a reducir los impuestos sobre la propiedad que tiene que pagar por su residencia reduciendo el valor que se utiliza como base para calcular sus impuestos. Por ejemplo, si su casa esta valorada de $50,000 y usted recibe una exencion de residencia de $5,000, usted va a pagar impuestos de residencia como si su valor fuese de $45,000.

Usted puede recibir una exencion de residencia si usted era el dueño de su casa el primero de enero y la usaba como su residencia principal en la misma fecha. No importa si su residencia es una casa, un condominio o una casa remolque.

Hay exenciones que cualquier persona que es dueño(a) de su residencia puede usar para rebajar sus impuestos escolares. Exenciones adicionales se ofrecen a dueños de residencias que estan incapacitados o tienen 65 años o mas. Otras exenciones pueden ofrecerse a propietarios por distritos escolares, condados, ciudades y distritos escolares.

Solicite todas

las exenciones que usted puede recibir en la oficina local del distrito de valoracion en la direccion que se cita abajo.

Si usted recibio una exencion para su residencia actual en 1990, usted no necesita solicitar para 1991 a menos que el jefe de valoracion pida que haga una nueva solicitud.

Sin embargo, si usted cumplio 65 años o quedo incapacitado antes del primero de enero haga una nueva solicitud para recibir exenciones adicionales.

Si usted no ha recibido una exencion para su residencia actual o si se cambio de su casa, haga una nueva solicitud para 1990.

Usted tiene que hacer su solicitud antes del 1 de mayo de 1991. Comuniquese con su distrito de valoracion antes de esa fecha si necesita mas tiempo para hacerla.

Para tener mas informacion usted puede recibir una copia gratis del folleto los Derechos, Remedios y Responsabilidades del Contribuyente de Impuestos en la oficina del distrito de valoracion o puede pedirlo del Consejo Estatal de Impuestos sobre la Propiedad (State Property Tax Board) en Austin.

MICROWAVE TIPS

There are ways to brown foods in a microwave--using special browning utensils.

These utensils should never be used in conventional ovens. They are designed to brown foods like a conventional skillet. They absorb microwave heat and can quickly reach a temperature of 500 degrees or higher!

The sides and handle stay cool. These utensils should never be placed on place mats or table tops--though they are supposed to be safe on counter tops.

Parents Can Help Revise Child Care Standards

By Sandra Avart

Many Texas families spend at least 20 percent of their annual income on child care. But parents now can contribute another valuable asset--advice--to revising the state's minimum standards for child care facilities, according to a family life specialist.

"Now is the time for concerned parents to speak out and join care providers in setting standards for facilities in Texas," said Diane Welch with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "More than 370,000 children currently attend 7000 licensed child care centers in the state, and the kind of care they're receiving cannot be left to chance."

The Texas Department of Human Services, which currently is revising the minimum standards for licensed child care facilities, is soliciting comments and suggestions, she said. The licensing department regulates the establishments to help protect the health, safety and well-being of children.

"We revise the standards about every six years, and we're making an assertive effort to get input," said Doug Sanders, the stimulate involvement at the grass roots, let people know what standards exist and discuss recommendations."

Minimum standards relate to staff/child ratios, training requirements for staff, space allocations for care programs, requirements for safety, nutrition and child care supervision. Facilities are classified under nursery, private kindergarten, day care, group home and drop-in care, depending on the number and age of children and the amount of care time involved.

Parents of children in school-aged care also can give input, said Dr. Sarah Anderson, Extension Service family life specialist. "We hope that part of the new standards are clearly written with the acceptance of school-aged children in care because the same rules for younger kids don't always apply to older ones."

Minimum standards are the same for children from birth to 12 years old, she said. However, the rule that calls for visual supervision of children at all times is appropriate for a 3-year-old but not for a 10-year-old who can do things like walking down the hall to the rest room alone, for example.

One approach being used to inform people about current standards is a series of public forums where individuals can give suggestions for enhancing quality care for children, Welch said. Local child care licensing officers have more information on these meetings.

Suggestions also can be mailed to the Texas Department of Human Services W-403, P.O. Box 149030, Austin, Texas 78714-9030, or to local licensing branches.

Parents are a vital part of this process," said Kathy Hudgens, director of Kathy's Kids in College Station. "Parents should be just as much a checking system as government agencies, because they visit the care facilities daily, and every day is a very good monitor."

Hudgens believes that the existing standards provide a good foundation.

"There's already a good base. The only thing that could be done is to increase the minimum standards," she said.

the award. "But knowing the man it was given for (Bob Stovall), that makes it just that much more special."

The director, Castleberry, also told of different local functions of the board, including hosting a fajita cookout for members of the Korean Jenro Group, who were in Muleshoe looking at the proposed Almeria Inc. operation. According to Castleberry, "We received a lot of help from the community, and especially from the Jennyslippers, and we want to thank everyone involved in helping us."

Castleberry also thanked the city council, mayor and city manager; the county judge and commissioners; Muleshoe Independent School District; and the Muleshoe Country Club.

"The Industrial Foundation is functioning the way it was intended, and is financially sound," he added.

Cliff Black explained some of the functions of the MAIF and what process is used to put together a presentation for prospective industrial projects.

He explained how sites are sought, and how the prospect is shown the positive sides of locating in or near Muleshoe.

Duane Lloyd told the group about utilities, and the availability of necessary utilities, such as electric lines, adequate water and telephone lines.

Ronald Ashford spoke on transportation and labor availability.

On transportation -- Ashford said they are asked, "It is on major rails? Can we get sidings? What transportation is available for commercial and private aircraft."

On labor -- "That's what we're designed for," he commented, "to help provide jobs in Muleshoe. We help find employees, and the Texas Department of Employment is a great help with figures and lists, employees, job training and other factors."

Howard Watson explained about prospects and indoctrinated about the 'quality of life' in Muleshoe. This includes churches, schools, medical facilities, care for elderly, service clubs, retail businesses, organizations for youth, recreation, weather and security.

Financial matters were discussed by Jay Messenger. He explained how taxes are handled, and reminded that with any prospect, Muleshoe is competing with towns and cities from all over the state, and at times, from all over the nation.

Messenger said a basic level of incentives must be provided, based on the capital, the prospect will bring to the community, as well as how many jobs will be created.

"We're not in the business of taking projects that are merely someone's idea and putting it in place for them. They have to have their own financing available. We stand ready to help them acquire their funds by providing guidance."

For the election, Joe King was named chairman; and Reagan Cox and Hugh Young were election clerks.

Ronald Ashford presented awards to several people who have helped the MAIF in the past, including Dave Marr and Clint Peat. He also gave plaques to Cliff Black and Duane Lloyd, who were then re-elected to their positions.

Membership certificates were presented to the following businesses and individuals: ADM Specialty Grains, B-C Produce, Barrett Produce, Bingham-Nieman Realty, Bobo Insurance, Bob Stovall Printing, City of Muleshoe, Clifford and Carren Black, Dale Oil Co. and Dent & Co.

Also, Dinner Bell Restaurant, Duane Lloyd, Ellis Funeral Home, Energas, Farmers Co-op Elevator, First Bank, Five Area Telephone Systems, Inc., Fry & Cox, Inc.; Harvey Bass Appliance; Henry Insurance; Heritage House Inn; Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Co. and K C Mufflers.

And, King Grain, Muleshoe Abstract; Muleshoe Motor Co.; Muleshoe Publishing Co.; Muleshoe State Bank; Pat Prater; Pay-N-Save; Poynor's Home & Auto; Ronald Ashford Electrical; Southwestern Public Service Co.; Sunbelt Savings; Valley Grain Products; Western '66'; West Texas Ranger; Wiedebush & Co.; Williams Bros. CCC Asking Comments On Flexible Acreage

The U. S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) asked Friday for comments on certain planting provisions of the 1991-95 price support and production adjustment programs for wheat, feed grains, upland cotton, rice and oilseeds.

Producers participating in the farm programs may plant up to 25 percent of their crop acreage base (CAB), known as flexible acreage, to another crop without suffering a reduction in their CAB. The Agricultural Act of 1949 (the 1949 Act) prohibits the planting of fruits and vegetables on flexible acreage, however.

CCC is seeking comments on: --what crops in addition to fruits and vegetables should not be permitted to be planted on flexible acreage;

--whether the production of industrial and other crops should be permitted to be planted under the 0/92 and 50/92 provisions;

--what minor oilseeds should be eligible to be planted under the 0/92 provision; and

--what oilseed crops should be eligible to be pledged as collateral for price support loans?

CCC proposes that the fruits and vegetables that may not be planted on flexible acreage are apples, apricots, arugala, artichokes, asparagus, avocados, babaco papayas, bananas, beans, beets, black berries, blueberries, bok choy, boy-senberries, broccoli, brussel sprouts, cabbage, calabaza, cassava, chinese cabbage, and chinese mustard.

Also, chufes, canary melon, cantaloupes, casaba melon, carrots, cauliflower, celeriac, celery, cherries, chicory, chinese bitter melon, citron, citron melon, coffee, collards, cow-peas, cranberries, crenshaw melon, cucumbers, currants, da-reen, dates, eggplant, elderberries, endive, escarole, figs, gooseberries, grapefruit, grapes, guavas, honeydew melon, huckleberries, jerusalem artichokes, kale, kiwifruit, kohlrabi, kumquats, leeks, lemons, lentils, lettuce, limequats, limes, loganberries and loquats.

And, mangos, marrionberries, mulberries, murcotts, mustard greens, nectarines, olallieberries, onions, oranges, okra, olives, papaya, paprika, parsnip, passionfruits, peaches, pears, peas, all peppers, persimmons, persian melon, pineapple, plaitain, plumcots, plums, pomegranates, potatoes, sweet potatoes, pumpkin, quinces, radichio, radishes, raspberries, rhubarb, rutabaga, santa claus melon, salsify, savory, shallots, spinach, squash, strawberries, Swiss chard, sweet corn, tangelos, tangerines, tangos, taniers, taro root, tomatoes, turnips, turnip greens, watercress, watermelons, white sapote, yam, yu choy.

CCC is proposing that no other crops be added to the list of crops that may not be planted on flexible acreage.

The CCC is also seeking comments on planting of industrial and other crops on acreage otherwise idled under the 0/92 and 50/92 provisions.

The 1949 Act permits the planting of sweet sorghum, guar, sesame, castor beans, crambe, plantago ovato, triticale, rye, mung beans, experimental crops (including kenaf and milkweed) and crops that have no substantial domestic production or market. If these crops are authorized for planting, their production may not increase the cost of the price support program and may not affect farm income adversely. Comments are also sought on whether minor oilseeds -- other than sunflowers, rapeseed, canola, safflower, flaxseed, mustard seed -- may be planted on acreage otherwise idled under the 0/92 provision for wheat and feed grains.

The designated minor oilseeds may be planted on 0/92 acreage and the producer would have the option to receive deficiency payments or oilseed price support loans.

Oilseed crops which are eligible to be pledged as collateral for CCC price support loans are soybeans, sunflower seed, canola, rapeseed, safflower, flaxseed and mustard seed.

CCC may designate other oilseeds which may be eligible to receive price support at such level that is determined to be fair and reasonable in relation to the price support level established for soybeans. CCC is proposing that no other minor oilseeds be designated as being eligible to be planted on 0/92

Kiwanis News

By R.A. Bradley

Twelve Kiwanians, three honorary Kiwanians, Jon Keith Turner, Robby Clapp and Chad Johnson, and four guest from the Amarillo South Kiwanis Club met Friday morning at the Dairy Queen.

Guests from Amarillo were Lloyd Hayes, past Lt. Gov.; B. F. Thigpen, Gerald Millard and the present Lt. Gov. of Division 33, Scott Smith. Our sweetheart Marsha Wilson, who had a heavy school night, last night, Valentine's Day (we don't know what his name is) but Marsha was absent. We sure do miss Marsha when she is not there.

President Glen Morris called the meeting to order. Randy Lewis led the club in the pledge to our flag and R. A. Bradley gave the invocation.

Eddy Morris said he hadn't really found a friend, but decided to give the friendship coin to a Kiwanian who had been gone all the way to Memphis and see if Randy Lewis could find a friend. Good luck, Randy.

Cub Scout Pack 620, Blue & Gold banquet tonight, 6:30 p.m., Methodist Fellowship Hall and have your food there by 6 p.m.

All Kiwanians are invited. The Kiwanis Club voted to put out the flags the first Monday of each month to show Honor & Support to our troops in the Middle East.

To all of our flag customers who would like to fly the flag every day during this conflict -- we will furnish you the flag for an extra $5 per month to help defray the wear and tear on the flags.

Scott Smith, Lt. Gov. of Division 33, made a few remarks about some of the goals of Kiwanis International.

He then introduced Lloyd Hayes, who is chairman of the Major Project for Kiwanis -- Young Children, Priority #1.

Lloyd told about the need for this program. So many underprivileged children: need love, care and help. A child's most learning age is between 18 months and 30 months old. Their little minds are like a sponge. They take in everything so be careful what we teach.

Teach "Love," "Care," "Responsibility" -- there is so much that we each can do.

So many of us say, "What can I do?" What little I could do would not mean very much.

Lloyd told about an elderly gentleman who was walking along a beach, picking up star fish, that had been washed ashore to die, and was throwing them back into the ocean so they might live.

A gentleman approached him and said, "Why are you doing this. There are so many star fish on the beach you can only make a small dent in it."

As the old man reached down and picked up another star fish and threw it back into the ocean he said, "To that star fish, it made all the difference in the world."

Think about it!! Hope everyone had a Happy, 'Loving' Valentine's Day.

Tuesday afternoon Lula Maye Shanks, Claudine Embry, Bonnie Green, Olive Cox and Beth Watson and Linda Low came to shampoo and set the ladies hair. Laverne James dropped by for a visit.

Wednesday afternoon Linda Tanksley brought her HECE students from High School who visited and gave the residents a gift of homemade cookies and decorated their doors for Valentines Day. Later the HERO group visited bringing long stem burgundy roses to the ladies and rose burgundy to the men. Needless to say we were delighted to have these groups come.

Following Glenda Jennings Sing-A-Long Wednesday afternoon Gay Willimas among other ladies from the Lazbuddie Methodist Church brought children from church to visit and deliver Valentine place cards for the residents.

Sometimes the desire to run out the door and chuck it all is overpowering when we are confronted with the mess of an after-dinner table!

Sometimes, insight lets us see that our lives are quite a mess too. In fact, things seem such a jumble, that our reaction to this truth, if acknowledged, is, "What's the use?"

Well, of course, the only thing to do with the dishes is to take them to the sink, put them in hot water, and wash them with a good cleansing agent until they shine.

Less obvious, perhaps, is what to do with a messed-up life. We invite you to seek an answer in church this week. You are sure to find there the Power who will help you with your problems, a power who cares immeasurably for your soul.

"Casting all your care upon him, for he careth for you." I Peter 5:7

"And the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain." Isaiah 40:4b.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
