Absentee balloting was light with only 79 votes cast by the Friday deadline.

Gray Countians will vote from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. but changes have been made in some of the voting places.

Precincts two and seven through 14 will vote at the court house in Pampa. Persons living in all other precincts will vote in their usual places and all registered voters in the county are eligible to cast their ballot.

Voters will first be asked to vote for or against the constitutional amendment to repeal obsolete, superfluous and unnecessary sections of the Constitution.

Nixon To Unveil New Concept For Welfare System

WASHINGTON — President Nixon will unveil a revolutionary new welfare concept in the telecast he makes to the nation next Friday night.

Called "maintenance guarantee," the proposal is designed to replace the existing system of dole-type payments and outlays to indigents, disabled and disadvantaged.

Their cost to the states, localities and federal government is $100 billion a year. Of this stupendous amount, the federal share is $35 billion.

In the President's speech, he will carefully avoid any reference to two alternate plans that have been widely discussed — "income guarantee" and "reverse income tax." The two formulas are highly controversial, and evoked sharp debate in inner Administration councils.

"Maintenance guarantee" is a compromise concept that finally won the President's approval.

The formula is a signal victory for HEW Secretary Robert Finch. For months he has been urging a far-reaching "restructuring" of the existing welfare system on two chief grounds:

(1) Dole-type payments are degrading and demeaning to recipients, and have the stigma of "charity" attached to them; (2) the welfare bureaucracy of the country has become so huge and costly that it absorbs a considerable portion of the billions now spent for relief.

Under the "maintenance guarantee" proposal, the federal government's share would be channeled through the states for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Informed authorities indicate no price tag has yet been decided for the new plan. However, it is certain to run into several or more billions.

It is also understood the proposal will extensively replace the existing and widely assailed anti-poverty program as administered by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Established in 1964 by the Johnson Administration, the agency and the program have been under almost constant criticism and attack on numerous charges — ranging from corruption and waste to negligence and incompetence.

Democrats want to extend the OEO program for another two years with a budget of $2.18 billion for the current fiscal year. Congress voted only $1.79 billion for last year — and is very unlikely to appropriate more than that this time.

Republicans are insisting on limiting OEO continuance to only one year. The President's launching of the new "maintenance guarantee" concept will very likely operate to the GOP's advantage on this issue, which will not be determined until after Labor Day.

Romanians Give Nixon Tumultuous Welcome

27-Hour Visit May Bring Repercussions

BUCHAREST (UPI) — President Nixon arrived Saturday in Communist Romania on a 27-hour visit that could have important repercussions throughout Eastern Europe. The Romanians gave him the most tumultuous welcome of his tour, but the Russians barely concealed their displeasure.

Nixon was the first American President to visit a Communist nation since President Franklin D. Roosevelt visited Josef Stalin in Yalta in 1945. The only other Western leader to visit Romania recently was Charles de Gaulle, and the Nixon welcome far outstripped his.

Nixon made a point of trying to improve relations with Communist East Europe without poaching in Russia's backyard, and diplomatic sources in Bucharest said the visit could provide a breakthrough in East-West relations.

Romanian authorities estimated that 500,000 to 600,000 persons turned out to welcome Nixon and hear him pursue the same policy he has set forth since he set out on his world tour on Aug. 23 to watch the Apollo 11 splashdown—a policy of peace.

The Romanians sealed off the city with roadblocks to prevent unplanned events and brought in truckloads of people for the welcome. But there was no doubt the welcome was a genuine one—people shouted, yelled, waved flags and pushed forward to see the American President. Nixon responded by getting out of his limousine to shake hands, campaign fashion.

Although the Russians were displeased, they seemed more displeased at Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu than at Nixon, and Moscow observers doubted the visit would imperil forthcoming U.S.-Russian talks aimed at easing tensions.

Ceausescu has sought to follow an independent line and Moscow does not like this—as witness Czechoslovakia. One reason for annoyance was that Ceausescu did not clear the Nixon trip with the Kremlin in advance.

Nixon, in a series of speeches and statements, said the United States is ready to "respond firmly and positively" to East European proposals for security arrangements. He promised to consider all concrete possibilities of removing tensions.

Autopsy May Be Performed On Secretary's Body

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (UPI)—The body of Mary Jo Kopechne, the pretty blonde secretary killed when Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car plunged into a remote island pond two weeks ago may be exhumed for an autopsy.

Dist. Atty. Edmund S. Dinis, whose southern Massachusetts district encompasses the accident site on Chappaquiddick Island, has decided to reopen the accident investigation, considered closed by police.

Blythe Evans, district attorney of Luzerne County, Pa., confirmed Saturday that Dinis had talked with him by telephone and asked about the legal steps necessary to exhumate Miss Kopechne's body. The 28-year-old blonde secretary to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., was buried nearly two weeks ago in PLYMOUTH, Pa., her birthplace.

Dinis, thwarted in his initial attempt before the Massachusetts Superior Court to ask for a judicial review of the July 18 accident which apparently caused a major reversal of Kennedy's political career, now expects word from district court level early next week.

In the regard to the autopsy, observers were at a loss to explain what Dinis had in mind. Dr. Donald R. Mills, the Edgartown medical examiner who pronounced Miss Kopechne dead from drowning, originally asked the district attorney's office if an autopsy was desired and got a negative reply.

As an autopsy generally is used to determine the cause of death, it appeared Dinis wanted to confirm Mills' finding at the scene. A spokesman at the department of pathology of Boston City Hospital said an autopsy also would be able to determine any kind of violence.

Mills made an unusual statement the morning of Kennedy's trial in which he said that had he and Dinis known that the senator was the driver of the car when they were deciding whether or not to perform an autopsy, they would have gone ahead with it.

In his written statement, Mills said so many questions had come up about why an autopsy was not performed, and considering Kennedy's stature, that he had come to the conclusion an autopsy, whether medically needed or not, would have been in the best interests of the senator.

Dinis' announcement Thursday that he would seek an inquest into the accident also surprised many people.

22-Year-Old Student Athlete Charged With Coed's Murder

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—A handsome student athlete charged with the sex torture murder of the seventh young woman slain in this academic area within the past two years was appearing in police lineups Saturday in the continuing search for killers of the other six victims.

Police were refusing to make any statements about the case following the brief announcement that John Norman Collins, 22, an Eastern Michigan University senior "who seemed to like motorcycles more than he liked girls," had been charged with the slaying of Karen Sue Reineman, 18, Grand Rapids, Mich., an EMU freshman.

But UPI learned that several lineups which included Collins and other inmates of the Washtenaw County Jail were held Friday night and early Saturday.

Police would not say whether the persons viewing the lineups were possible witnesses in Miss Reineman's slaying, or in the other six killings.

"We still have six other murders that have to be solved and we're not going to quit until we have," Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey said.

"We never rule out anyone arrested until a full investigation has been made," Police Chief Walter Krasny of Ann Arbor said.

However, Krasny admitted.

I had my best night's sleep in months last night. I hope we can wrap up the entire series of slayings soon.

The nude body of Miss Reineman, battered beyond recognition, was found July 26, face down in a gully near Ann Arbor. She had vanished three days earlier after shopping for a wig.

Collins, a husky six footer who was an English major and hoped to be an elementary school teacher, was arrested Thursday night and charged Friday with killing Miss Reineman.

The bodies of six other sex slaying victims, all long haired brunettes ranging in age from 13 to 23, also have been found during the past two years within a 15 mile triangle of woods and rolling hills that encompasses Ann Arbor, home of the University of Michigan, and nearby Ypsilanti, home of EMU.

Teachers To Stress Individual Student

Pampa school administrators and classroom teachers have organized a college credit program for Panhandle area teachers, which will start Monday in Carver Educational Services Center. About 60 teachers will participate in the one-week class to improve their methods of individualized teaching.

Three semester hours of graduate credit from Pepperdine College, Los Angeles, Calif., will be granted each teacher who completes the course of study. Mrs. Marjorie Gaut, director of educational services, said. "Dr. Gardner Swenson and a team of consultants from the Materials Center of IDEA (Institute for the Development of Educational Activities) Anaheim, Calif., will direct the workshop.

"The college credit course is being offered because our teachers asked the administration to secure a course which could be offered here for them to meet the school board's policy of professional growth," Mrs. Gaut said.

According to the board policy, "teachers with a bachelor's degree are required to complete at least six semester hours of college credit every four years.

Pampan Charged With Assault With A Vehicle

AMARILLO — Mandred Edward Davis, a 46-year-old Pampa man, was charged with assault with a motor vehicle and placed under $5000 bond Friday by Judge S. F. Rose, Potter County Court at Law.

Davis was charged with the offense following a two-car collision here Thursday which critically injured Mrs. Jackie Dell Dodson, Amarillo, and caused the death of her unborn twins.

Mrs. Dodson, 24, remained listed in extremely critical condition at St. Anthony's Hospital Saturday afternoon following surgery Friday.

The accident occurred at about 5:15 p.m. Thursday when Mrs. Dodson's car was struck head-on by a hand control equipped station wagon driven by Davis, a double amputee.

The station wagon was traveling east in westbound traffic lanes when it struck the car driven by Mrs. Dodson pinning both driver's inside their cars.

Mrs. Dodson sustained multiple internal injuries, a crushed chest, crushed jaws and multiple injuries.

Her two unborn babies were delivered stillborn in the emergency room of the hospital immediately following the accident.

Two other children, Scott Dell Dodson, 6, and Becky Michelle Dodson, 2, were also in the car. Scott apparently escaped injury and Becky was admitted to the hospital for observation.

Davis received a broken arm and a facial cut.

He was released to police following treatment and was charged Friday with assault with a motor vehicle.

The suspect was booked into the Potter County Jail but was later transferred to the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Rose told The News Saturday that as far as he knew no other charges have been placed against Davis.

Teachers

To individualize instruction, a teacher must be able to take the subject to be taught and present it to each student on his own level, at his own rate of understanding. In a group of 30 or more students, in an hour time limit per class, this is not easy to do, but must be if each child is to continually progress in his education, she said.

"Flexible buildings, flexible schedules, and flexible teachers are necessary ingredients for individualizing instruction and quality education," but they are not sufficient ingredients," Swenson said. "The real deterrent to progress in individualizing instruction is caused by the lack of flexible curricula."

Individualizing instruction will increasingly cast the teacher in the role of manager of learning for individual students. For such a role change to occur, teachers themselves must be involved in the change process," Swenson said.

Consultants for this workshop room in the newly remodeled Carver Center, will be Dr. Camille Bell, chairman, home economics department, Texas Technological College; R. Herbert Ringis, associate director, IDEA, Materials Center, Anaheim; Dr. Nicholas Silvaroli, director, reading education, Arizona state University, Tempe, Ariz., and Louise Nelson, IDEA materials center, Anaheim.

OGR

A funeral director doesn't simply decide to join the Order of the Golden Rule (OGR) one day and then do it the next.

First, he has to receive the written approval of people in his community. Families he's served. Clergymen. Businessmen. Civic leaders.

These people must attest to his firm's high ethical conduct, professional ability, and integrity. They must confirm that his service is considerably and skillfully given, and that his prices are suited to every income.

In other words, continuing OGR membership for a firm in your community is actually a tribute to you...the local-area residents. The member attained the standards necessary to become a member because of a certainty that you would want nothing less...and OGR acceptance was granted because you were willing to state in writing that you found the firm to be worthy.

Ted's Speech Not His Own

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
 and
JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
WASHINGTON — The voice was Senator Edward Kennedy's, but the words were provided by two long-time Kennedy family liegemen — Theodore Sorensen, thrice-married counsel and ghostwriter for President Kennedy, and Richard Goodwin, Machiavellian literary handymen of Senator Robert Kennedy.
 Within a few hours after the disclosure of "Teddy's" involvement in the drowning of a young Washington secretary, Sorensen and Goodwin had rushed to his home at Hyannis Port, Mass., to advise and guide him. They had come without being summoned, as did former Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and a half-dozen other dedicated Kennedyites.
 It was on the emphatic instruction of these inner devotees that Kennedy maintained tight-lipped silence about the tragic affair for nearly a week. His own instincts were to talk, and newsmen were told a press conference would be held the following day.
 But the Sorensen-Goodwin clique peremptorily barred it on two grounds:
 First, get public reaction to the curious affair; second, to obtain the views of attorneys and friendly local officials on possible legal implications facing Kennedy as a result of the death of the young woman and his mysterious failure to report the fatal auto accident for many hours.
 This last consideration dominated the week-long deliberations of the Sorensen-Goodwin group.
 When it was finally decided, with the approval of the local district attorney, an old friend of Teddy, that he would appear in court on Martha's Vineyard and plead guilty to leaving the scene of the accident, it was Goodwin who conceived the idea of following that up with a televised broadcast.
 In the discussion that followed, this proposal was enlarged to include a "public demonstration of confidence," that is, some form of dramatic response to Kennedy's spiel.
 Again it was Goodwin who suggested the strategem of having this public manifestation center on whether Kennedy should resign his Senate seat.
 As he characteristically remarked, "That'll get them. That's got sex appeal."
 Real purpose of this "poll" is to build up support for Kennedy's re-election next year. That's the primary concern of him and his devotees. He never had any intention of resigning. At no time was it seriously discussed by him or his inner clique.
 Their sole anxiety was salvaging Kennedy's seriously jeopardized 1970 re-election chances. The "poll" is the first move in that endeavor — about which a lot more will be heard and on which a great deal more will be spent.

TAKING SOUNDINGS — Sorensen wrote most of Teddy's telecast. Goodwin prepared a draft, parts of which were incorporated in the final script. Virtually all of the last portion, which Kennedy memorized and in which he asked for public help to "think this through with me," was Sorensen's handiwork.
 Without exception, all the friendly politicians with whom Teddy talked assured him of their confidence and support, and urged him to resume his work in the Capital without delay.
POSSIBLE OPPONENT — Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. delegate at the Paris Vietnam talks, is getting a lot of messages urging him to run against Teddy next year.
 If he does and wins, he would be paying off old scores.
 In 1952, Lodge, a decorated World War II veteran and leader in the movement that nominated and elected General Eisenhower as President, was defeated for re-election in the Senate by then-Representative John F. Kennedy. Ten years later, Lodge's son was defeated for the Senate by Teddy — in a campaign that reportedly cost his family an estimated $1 million.
 Torbert MacDonald, D-Mass., significantly not consulted were Speaker John McCormack, Mass., whose nephew, former State Attorney General Edward McCormack, was defeated by Teddy in 1962 for the Senate, and Senators Edmund Muskie, Me., whose 1972 presidential prospects have brightened considerably since Teddy's difficulties, and Eugene McCarthy, who has privately long harbored a grudge against all the Kennedys.

THE CRY FOR LOVE — Lucy Freeman; each one of us knows what it is like to feel lonely, lost and hopeless. The feeling of depression, although a very personal one, is an emotion we share with every other human being.
THE MELTING MAN — Victor Canning; a suspenseful tale, which involves Rex Carver in a search for a millionaire's stolen car, about which he is suspiciously concerned. Carver encounters numerous situations involving dead bodies and very lively ones.
BACK IN CIRCULATION — Jean L. Block; an indispensable guide for divorced or widowed women. Practical advice on getting a job, managing money, caring for children; sex, loneliness — all the problems faced by a woman on her own.
THE LONG NIGHT'S WALK — Alan White; the narrator in this new book is a Captain in the British commandos who leads a group of three other men, during World War II, on a thirty-six hour mission behind the German lines in Holland.
STRONGHOLDS — L. M. Easton; Persphone, the youthful heroine, is precipitated by events tinged with horror and the threat of violence, out of a rural backwater in the north of England, and sets off a winding journey to maturity.
WHEN IN GREECE — Emma Lathen; this mystery has all the zest, the bountiful humor and the genuine suspense readers have come to expect from Miss Lathen.
CHILD'S PLAY — Kate Christie; a quietly chilling tale of what happens when people give in to their darkest desires, this novel builds up to an astonishing conclusion.
MYSTERY SOLVED
VINELAND, N.J. (UPI) — The mystery of the disappearing tiny American flags from the graves of six Vietnam veterans here, has finally been solved.
 The culprits are a pack of squirrels according to a woman visiting the Siloam Cemetery Thursday. She told police she saw several squirrels pulling off the miniature flags from their poles and retreating to a grove of trees.

SS Manhattan Back Together For Sailing To Northwest Passage

PHILADELPHIA — Chopped apart, strengthened, sharpened and lengthened, the SS Manhattan was back together this week at its Chester, Penn., shipyard and ready for the first ice breaking tanker crew to take the huge ship on a short run into the Atlantic Ocean this weekend for final testing.

After the sea trials, all data gathering instruments will be tested, provisions loaded, and the ship made ready to sail for the Northwest Passage August 11.

All the officers and sailors—first of a new breed of mariner—have been selected from the Humble Oil and Refining Company tanker fleet to take the Manhattan on its maiden voyage through the historic Northwest Passage.

The ship, largest vessel flying the U.S. flag, was chosen for its high power and strong hull—probably the best equipped vessel in the world for conducting scientific tests in Arctic ice.

Their mission: "To collect the scientific data necessary to assess the economic and operational feasibility of a year-round Arctic marine operation."

Under the leadership of Stanley E. Haas, project manager of the Northwest Passage Expedition for Humble, a successful test could mean the attainment of a 472-year dream: the opening of a Polar sea route between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

One Humble seaman, applying for the voyage, expressed his feelings about the difficult assignment this way:

"To be a member of the first crew of the Manhattan's scientific endeavor would be reward enough—knowing that my name would be added (however remotely) to the likes of Columbus, Magellan, da Gama, Cook, Bougainville, Champlain and Cartier."

Such enthusiasm is as vital to the project's success as the ship's new ice breaking bow. As the seamen are told in the crew manual: "In the Arctic the demands on men are much tougher; a different set of rules apply. All concerned should have the mental flexibility to endure with cheerfulness long periods of boredom, drudgery and hardship."

Unusual steps are being taken to maintain crew morale at its highest. Humble's marine officials have arranged for an extensive library, exercise equipment, movies, hobby kits, handicraft tools, and ping pong tables. Since sunspots can cause radio blackouts, and television reception is impossible, tape recorded music will be installed in officer and crew lounges.

Several crew contests are planned. Awards will go to the seaman spotting the first polar bear, sighting first ice, winning the day's mileage run pool, and predicting the daily maximum and minimum temperature.

The crew has been asked to bring personal belongings for a three-month voyage. Humble will issue each man a specially designed parka, mittens and sunglasses. Only crew members and others aboard will receive the expedition patch, a tradition long established by past Polar explorers. The patch portrays the Humble "tiger" outfitted with earmuffs, now making him, as one crew member said, an "Arctic tiger."

Although Humble tanker masters never allow firearms on their ships, Captain Steward will be carrying high-powered rifles for this unusual voyage. Ice research parties, flown by helicopter out on the ice to take core samples, will need the weapons for protection from polar bears.

One of Humble's Arctic consultants notes in the crew manual that "about the only training recommended for prolonged Arctic operations might properly be described as self-training, or better still, self-discipline."

He points out that in high latitudes there will be 24 hours of daylight, warning the crew that "there is a tendency for a few diligent souls to adapt their working habits to daylight hours, inevitably a short-lived and exhausting experiment."

The training program for officers of the Manhattan has been designed to provide them with the maximum amount of ice experience, a skill never before needed by tanker crews. Mr. Haas, Captain Steward and two staff captains, Arthur Smith and Donald Graham, have observed Arctic operations on the USCC icebreaker Staten Island, on Canadian icebreakers and on commercial vessels operating in northern waters. They and other officers have visited the Canadian government's "ice central" office in Halifax, attended the U.S. Navy's ice forecasting school in Washington, D.C., and flown over the Northwest Passage route from Alaska to Greenland.

Several crew members have taken courses in satellite navigation, electronic computer operation and maintenance, and operation of UHF and VHF radio equipment.

An elaborate communication system, 500 times more powerful than standard ship equipment, has been installed on the Manhattan to overcome poor communication conditions in the Polar region. It will assure a highly reliable communication link with the Humble Building in Houston.

Expedition Leaders

Approximately 4,800 people have become involved in this latest challenge to the Northwest Passage. Last August Humble's Arctic marine task force, led by "Stan" Haas, was asked to study the feasibility of moving oil by tanker from Alaska's North Slope. The first public announcement came in December, after Haas and company officials concluded that research and technological advances in recent years made it possible to consider the feasibility of operating large ice breaking tankers under winter ice conditions.

Haas, 45, is a native of Bethany, Mo. He attended Iowa State University, where he received a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering in 1948. He served with the U.S. Air Force during World War II in the European and China-Burma-India theaters.

Joining Humble in 1949 as a refining engineer at the company's Bayway refinery in Linden, N.J., he served in various engineering and planning positions until 1957. At that time he moved to Standard Oil Company (New Jersey), Humble's parent company.

Following assignments in coordination and planning activities, he moved to Houston in 1963, becoming traffic manager for Humble's marine department.

A two-year assignment in 1966 took Haas to Esso Europe, London, where he was manager of marine planning. He returned to Houston just in time to manage the Arctic marine task force, a $30-million project that began as a routine consideration of alternatives for moving oil from northern Alaska.

One of Humble's veteran seamen, Capt. Roger A. Steward, has been chosen to be the first ice breaking tanker master. Assisted by two staff captains, he holds the responsibility of operating the Manhattan on its maiden voyage through the Northwest Passage. He also will be responsible for the safety of all aboard, a complement of operating and scientific personnel which will vary from 109 to 126. In addition to the 55-man crew, these will include representatives of the U.S. Coast Guard, Canadian Department of Transport, ice physicists, helicopter teams, scientists and ice parties, observers, analysts, instrumentation personnel, electronic technicians, public information and photographic personnel.

A native of Reading, Mass., Steward is a graduate of the Massachusetts Maritime Academy.

The 51-year-old tanker master joined the company in 1939 as a third mate. He was promoted to second mate in 1942, chief mate in 1944, and earned the master's license in 1948.

Gray County Oil Gave $37.5 Million Into Economy

Gray County oil and gas wells pumped some $37.5 million into the county's economy last year, according to a study just released by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

Value of production from oil wells was $27.6 million and from natural gas wells $9.9 million, based on the most recent U.S. Bureau of Mines figures compiled by the Association. The county ranked 31 in the state in value of production.

"Out put from Gray County is part of this country's domestic oil supply which is endangered by some of the proposals now before Congress," commented Corbin J. Robertson, Association president. "Attempts to destroy percentage depletion provisions of our income tax laws and to nullify present controls over imported oil could discourage further development of Texas oil resources. Eventually oil markets now shared by the country would be given over to foreign producers."

Last year, the county produced 9.4 million barrels of crude oil and 76.6 billion cubic feet of natural gas.

states will be severely hurt. Many will be plunged into financial chaos.

Bartlett's message is that simple, and that straight. Spokesmen in certain Northern and Eastern states, who are waving the banner of consumer interest, could do irreparable harm not only to oil states, but to the very consumers whom they constantly say they represent, if their proposals are enacted into law or win executive approval.

—Young O. Mitchell

By experience in the oil industry, and by experience as governor of one of the nation's leading petroleum states, Bartlett is an outstanding authority on the status and the future of the oil and gas industry.

An interview this month comes at a time when oil critics threaten to cripple—and possibly even destroy—the great domestic industry through adverse changes in tax laws and through elimination of the import program—and state proration systems.

Bartlett's words should be heeded—not only by his friends, but by those who have singled the industry out for one of the most abusive attacks in political and economic history.

The governor sees the domestic oil industry this year taking the first tentative steps toward a comeback after a 12-year decline. The balance is precarious. But hopes of recovery will be dashed if oil critics have their way, and incentives are reduced and money needed for exploration and development of new reserves is further restricted.

One of the key points in Bartlett's interview is the importance of oil in keeping Oklahoma going. Tax revenues from petroleum provide 70 per cent of the money that runs the government.

Even the most prejudiced of oil critics should get the message. The financial health of a sizeable number of states depends on the health of the domestic petroleum industry. If the industry is crippled, those

After World War II, Dewey Bartlett and his brother David, partners in Keener Oil Co., Tulsa, turned their energies to the domestic oil industry. As independents, they built up a highly successful operation.

A few years ago, Dewey was attracted to politics. In the rough and tumble of electioneering, his honest, forceful, and businesslike approach won the support of Tulsa's voters and he was elected to the Oklahoma Senate. In 1967, Oklahomans selected him to be their governor.

Sam Franklin Named Assistant Land Manager

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. — Cities Service Oil Company has named Sam Franklin of Oklahoma City to the new post of assistant land manager in the land department of the exploration division. He will assist Mark Payton, land manager of this Cities Service company subsidiary.

After earning his law degree from the University of Oklahoma, Franklin served as contracts supervisor in the Cities Service organization here. His field assignments included Lafayette, La., Oleny, Ill., Midland, Texas and Oklahoma City.

He rose from field landman to district and region landman. He was region landman in Oklahoma City at the time of his transfer to Bartlesville.

Franklin is a member of the Oklahoma Bar Association, the Tri-State Association of Landmen, American Association of Landmen and the Bartlesville Chamber of Commerce.

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
 AUSTIN — September 1 is the date suggested by Gov. Preston Smith for the special committee, now investigating auto insurance rates in Texas, to report its recommendations to the governor.

Former Gov. Price Daniel, chairman of the committee, has expressed doubt that the group will be able to make that deadline. But he says "we are going to try."

Lots of insurance industry representatives showed up to listen, chat with reporters, and speculate as to just what was likely to come out of the committee's work.

Gov. Smith, in his address to the committee, stressed that the investigation was not a "witch hunt" nor was it an attempt to "punish" the insurance industry. But he also said that unless increases in auto insurance rates were "absolutely essential," they should not be made — and if they were absolutely necessary, the people deserved to know why.

Capitol press rooms were deluged with memoranda and bulletins from various insurance associations, giving background information, stating positions and generally pledging support and assistance to the committee.

First meeting of the committee produced little information, except a show of determination by its seven members to find a way to lower auto insurance rates or to present a "concise and clear explanation" to Texas drivers as to why their rates are going up.

And this will take a lot of explaining.

State Board of Insurance has agreed to a 30-day delay in its auto rate decision, usually made on August 1. Board has proposed a minimum rate hike of 14 per cent. This increase would apply only to drivers of private passenger cars. Individual rates would fluctuate in keeping with the accident experience record in each area.

EDUCATION — Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System has increased the rate for loans to students from six to seven per cent. This rate applies to all future loans granted under the Hinson-Hazelwood Act.

Board also approved a common calendar for all state supported colleges and universities. Such schools will begin classes the first week of September. Final examinations for the fall semester will end just prior to the Christmas holidays.

INTEGRATION — More than thirty school districts around the state are treated with losing federal funds if federal desegregation guidelines, proposed by the Department of Health Education and Welfare, are not followed.

A Houston Federal Court may have found a way for the Houston School Board to get around losing funds because of integration problems. It has ordered the Houston School Board and the Educational Desegregation Technical Assistance Center at the University of Texas to work out the integration problems.

Bob Reynolds, project director, said no contract has yet been made and noted that this is the first time the federally-financed center has been ordered by a court to work with a local school district.

COURTS — Sundaco, the "only-on-Sunday" retail firm which leases other stores on a once a week basis, can stay in business until Attorney General Martin proves it is illegal.

State Supreme Court has turned down Sundaco's appeal of a lower court's refusal to say whether Sundaco is violating antitrust laws. And the Supreme Court endorsed the appellate court's decision not to issue an opinion on antitrust or Sunday Closing laws until the State Attorney General takes action.

Sundaco "buys" merchandise from certain stores every Saturday night, and "sells" it back to the owner every Sunday evening, thus circumventing the Sunday Closing law and allowing the merchandise to be sold seven days a week.

State Supreme Court also has reversed the decision of an appeals court in the George Riveria Santana case.

Santana was tried as a juvenile delinquent in a Texas Youth Council hearing and convicted.

An appeals court reversed that decision saying he should have been tried as an adult — in which case he might have gotten off.

However, the Supreme Court reversed the appeals court decision and said the trial court should decide if a trial or hearing was needed and upheld his conviction as a juvenile delinquent.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SPEAKS — Schools that participate in diet experiments with white rats do not come under laws requiring their projects to be checked with the State Anatomical Board, says Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.

John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture, requested the Gen. Martin "deplored" the action. Barnes condemned it, and cited the contributions the oil industry has made and will make to Texas.

Martin charged that it will cut the amount of state taxes coming from the oil industry.

James Wilson, a researcher for the State Comptroller, disagreed. He says more money would come to the state if the depletion allowance was lowered. He figures that the oil and gas companies will raise prices to make up the difference and since state taxes are based on the price, the amount of money coming in should increase.

OIL DEPLETION — Most Texas government leaders publicly denounced action by the U.S. House Ways and Means Committee that would, if accepted by both houses of Congress and the President, cut the oil depletion allowance from 27.5 per cent to 20 per cent.

Gov. Ben Barnes and Atty. Gen. Smith is withholding comment until more action is taken by Congress.

HUNGER — State Department of Public Welfare officials declined to comment on a huge report of hunger in Texas, as made by the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, since they had nothing to do with the study.

Report says that out of every ten families who live in poverty in Texas, nine get no assistance from Federal Food Programs. It further estimated that 26 per cent of the families in Texas live in poverty compared to a national average of 15 per cent.

Roses May Make West Texas Scene

LUBBOCK — "A rose is a rose — is a rose." And they're also many other colors as seen in rose gardens in East Texas. But now a rose garden is adding color and beauty to West Texas and hopes are that roses may one day be grown commercially in this part of the state.

This "new" addition to the South Plains is found at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock in the form of a research rose garden.

"The garden at present contains 1,200 plants with some 35 varieties, including Hybrid Tea, Grandiflora and Floribunda," points out Dr. Mack Fuqua, research horticulturist at the Center. "The garden will be expanded each year to include additional varieties."

"Rose growing is big business in Texas, about $20-30 million worth," says the horticulturist. "And there is much interest in expanding rose growing areas. That's why this research garden was established in cooperation with the Cooperative Rose Growers of Tyler."

The garden is to be a site for conducting a planned research program to see how well roses fare in this area, explains Fuqua. We also hope to grow roses for a continuous cut flower market. Our research will also center on locating and developing superior rootstocks for further propagation. We hope to have about 100 such rootstocks by this fall.

The roses offer an eye-catching attraction at the Center and should be an interesting highlight during the 60th Annual Field Day and Open House which is slated at the Center on September 9 beginning at 1 p.m.

PARTING SWAT

OLDBURY, England (UPI) — When Vera Taylor returned to the automobile she had parked across a factory driveway entrance, she found factory Director Frederick Turner bashing its trunk, bumpers and lights with a shovel.

She spoke to Turner about this in "very unladylike language," Turner's lawyer told a judge Thursday. Turner, in turn, gave the lady's car a parting swat with the shovel as it drove away.

Turner was fined $12 and ordered to pay $55 damages.

Gray County 4-H'ers with wheat entries in the Tri-State Fair Wheat King Contest are Ted Reeves, John and Jay Spearman, and Isaac and John Mark Baggerman.

Plans for County Camp and Picnic Aug. 22-23 were finalized last week. Attending the session were about 15 4-H'ers and several leaders. The County Picnic will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 22. All families are to bring enough food for their family and one guest.

Recreation and leadership programs are planned. A breakfast and lunch are planned for Saturday. All 4-H'ers are invited to attend.

Four-H'ers with steers on feed for shows next season are Kit Long, Dennis Brooks, Ted Reeves, Joe Richardson, James and Jeannie Everitt, and Jim, Frank, and Dusty Morrison, Janet and Sue Smith and Chris Skaggs are feeding heifers.

Four-H'ers interested in feeding barrows should start thinking about looking around.

The Better Bake Show will be held Monday at 9 a.m. in the County Agricultural Office Bldg. The entries this year will be in cinnamon rolls and plain bread muffins. The girls can also enter a contest to judge the products themselves. Everyone is invited to attend.

Vegetable Production May Expand In West Texas Area

By DAN TAPLEY

LUBBOCK — Multi-purpose vegetable production research at Texas Tech and on private acreages in the Munday-Knox City areas east of here point toward a rapidly-expanding agricultural industry in West Texas.

Commercial production of melons, onions, Irish and sweet potatoes, cabbage and lettuce is moving toward high-density planting, cultivation and harvesting and can produce income in the hundreds of dollars per acre, Tech horticulturists say.

"But with high density planting and totally mechanized cultivation and harvest must come entirely new concepts in the use of agri-chemicals and a whole new concept of education in vegetable production," according to Dr. George Tereshovich, professor of horticulture at Tech. He, with

Prof. Robert R. Reed, heads up vegetable research at Tech.

To complement the Texas Tech research, vegetable specialist Joe Tidwell is stationed at Knox City to work with several producers in that area in on-the-farm research. Tidwell, a native of Knox City, has a master's degree in agronomy from Tech.

"Several Munday and Knox City farmers have already gone into vegetable production and are cooperating fully with Tech researchers in efforts to improve their methods of production and quality of product and to reduce production costs," Dr. Tereshovich said.

Farmers Harvest Bumper Wheat Crop

WACO — Farmers harvested a bumper wheat crop this year, but prices to Texas farmers ranged only from $1.12 to $1.32 per bushel — lowest since the Depression, according to Sidney Dean of Victoria, Texas Farm Bureau president.

"I doubt that many Texas farmers would continue growing wheat at all if it weren't for grazing the crop in the spring," Dean said.

The leader of the state's largest farm organization blamed the low prices, rising surpluses and loss of exports on the present farm program for wheat as well as the United States' participation in the International Wheat Trade Convention.

As for the wheat program, Dean said government planners have not been able to reduce production in line with demand by cutting allotments. He further charged that wheat certificate payment provisions of the present law have been manipulated so as to steadily decrease the percentage of the crop eligible for the subsidy payments.

"The wheat farmer appears to have been caught in a trap,"

Specialist Says Sorghum Is Big In Panhandle

COLLEGE STATION — Just how big is the grain sorghum and wheat industry in the Panhandle Economic Program area of Texas?

It's a booming business, to say the least, and a recent report by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service spells out the exact figures on the two commodities for the 26-county area.

Ed Garnett, Extension area farm management specialist headquartered in Amarillo who compiled the report, points out that farm income from wheat in 1968 was $86,077,943. This included government payments and gross value of the crop. Total acres harvested were 1,841,720 with a production of 44,626,700 bushels.

The figures on grain sorghum show that last year's crop put $142,407,888 into the pockets of farmers, again counting government payments plus commodity dollars. A total of 1,355,800 acres of sorghum were harvested, reaping a total of 109,097,000 bushels.

According to Garnett, grain sorghum not only supports the dynamic livestock feeding industry in the Panhandle but each dollar generates much more additional income before leaving the area. This is quite a boost to the overall PEP economy.

The specialist adds that about 50 per cent of each dollar income from these crops goes for such items as fuel, seed, fertilizer, chemicals and labor in the immediate area where the crop is produced. Most of the remainder is spent on tractors and equipment, irrigation motors, interest, taxes and personal expenditures for farm families.

Garnett reports that on a national basis marketing adds $7.33 to the value of each dollar's worth of wheat produced but only 23 cents of this is added in the Panhandle area, mostly through transportation and storage.

This means that about $39,600,000 in value was added to the area's 1968 wheat crop outside the Panhandle.

Are there ways and means of bringing some of this capital back into the area? The answer is a definite "yes" and this is one of the major undertakings of a task force which is being organized under PEP with its overall objective of boosting the economic activity of the Panhandle area.

PEP counties include Gray, Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Childress, Collinsworth, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley, Hall, Hansford, Hartley, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Lipscomb, Moore, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Swisher and Wheeler.

A thought for the day: British poet John Calre said, "If life has a second edition, how I would correct the proofs."

Soil Conservation

By STEPHEN QUALLS
Increasing populations have resulted in corresponding increases in demands for recreation. City dwellers are in a constant search for places to get away for a few hours of relaxation.

Quail and dove hunting leases have become a major income source for a number of farmers. There are numerous places in Gray County which have excellent potential for gamebird habitat development. A wildlife habitat is simply an area that provides cover and food for the birds. Development of an excellent gamebird habitat often requires very little effort.

Vegetation in fence rows along fields provide very good bird areas. Vegetation can be planted along the fence rows to improve the habitat. A strip the width of a grass drill usually provides adequate cover. Grasses proven very effective for this purpose include switchgrass, blue panicum, and lovegrass. Millet have proven to be an excellent annual-crop for cover and food. These areas should be protected from heavy grazing. A limited amount of grazing is very beneficial in some instances.

Native rangeland provides excellent food and cover for gamebirds. Range improvement, including brush control, improves wildlife habitat. Some wildlife biologists claim that brush control destroys cover, however, the improving grasses provide better cover than the brush.

Proper fish pond management can also provide a profitable income. Many old ponds have been cleaned out and restocked. This has provided a steady income from day fishing leases.

For any information pertaining to recreation development contact the personnel in the Soil Conservation Service in Pampa.

Plans Outlined For Field Day

LUBBOCK — Discussions on cotton and grain sorghum varieties, weed control and broadcast cotton will highlight activities at the 60th Annual Field Day and Open House at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center North of Lubbock on September 9 beginning at 1 p.m.

Special "classes" will be conducted throughout the afternoon on these four subjects: cotton, sorghum, weeds and broadcast cotton. These four subjects which are of vital concern to the agricultural industry on the High Plains. This will involve four special tours to see and hear results of research in action. These in-depth discussions will be an innovation at this year's field day, report Dr. J. D. Bilbro and Dr. I. W. Kirk, research scientists at the Center and co-chairmen of the field day.

FULLERTON, Calif. (UPI)—Veteran Bill Kilmer and rookie Ed Hargett of Texas A&M each completed four passes for the New Orleans Saints in a scoreless scrimmage with the Los Angeles Rams Saturday.

But the Rams made three interceptions of passes by the Saints' quarterbacks.

Kilmer hit four of nine passes for 69 yards while Hargett had 6 yards on four for seven.

Karl Sweetan, Los Angeles' No. 2 quarterback behind Roman Gabriel, hit four of nine passes for 76 yards. The Rams didn't have any passes intercepted.

Mike Dennis of the Rams and Tony Baker of the Saints were the top rushers with Dennis picking up 29 yards in 12 carries and Baker going 20 in four tries.

The "new" Washington Redskins made Vince Lombardi's debut as head coach a successful one Saturday night as they edged the Chicago Bears and Gayle Sayers, 13-7.

Lombardi, who took over the Redskins as coach and General Manager this season after many successful years with the Green Bay Packers, had told the Redskins before the game that they would be winners, "if we think like winners."

So You Want To Be A Writer

CHICAGO (NEA) — Charlotte Drake, a pulchritudinous, modern-day version of Susan B. Anthony, has set out with a ferocious wiggle to combat man's inhumanity to woman.

She is carrying her fight into the sports arena, a rather unlikely setting for a woman of her charms, or even one without her charms, for that matter.

Miss Drake, who has had television experience in assorted fields, wants to be a sportscaster. She has met with resistance, from TV producers to Luscious Lars Anderson, the so-called wrestler.

"Women," she said, whisking an indignant curl back into her blonde coiffure, "are being totally ignored by the television sports people.

"By mere percentages, more women buy the products that are advertised on television than men. In fact, more women watch television than men. So what's the result? All we hear about are sore arms and batting averages. We're a captive audience.

"The least they could do is tell us what a squeeze play is." (An editor's courtly note must be inserted here. A squeeze play, Miss Drake, usually ends up with a cop-shining a flashlight into the surprised eyes of a parked couple.)

"And," she went on, "the sportscasters should inform us about the players' wives — you know, who's pregnant, how the kids are doing in school, does her bum of a husband throw out the garbage like he's supposed to?"

"I also think that the lives of the players should be more personalized for women fans. What kind of girl, say, would Joe Namath like to marry. There are people interested in this kind of information. You see women are more romantic and sentimental than men. So you know what we get? The record-for-most sacrifice fly balls in a game. Ugh and blah."

Recently, Miss Drake stalked up to Minneapolis to do a TV pilot with wrestlers on a program tentatively entitled, "The Beauty and the Beast." She was to interview wrestlers, like Anderson, Wilbur Snyder, Dr. X, Vern Gagne, Pretty Boy Hennig and Cowboy Bill Watts, and also call some of the grunt-by-grunt.

"I was at ringside," she recalled, "and I was watching one wrestler with bare feet sticking his toes into his opponent's ears—my God!

Imagine that! Why, I'd wear a helmet in there. Well, I was describing all this when these guys started tumbling my way. I got up and started running off. I mean, who wants 500 pounds in your lap? So the guy I'm announcing with hollers, 'Hey Charlotte, where you going?'

"But I came back and later interviewed the wrestlers. They're really nice guys, not like their public image. Of course they do scream a lot. They were a little shook at being interviewed by a woman. It's never been done before. Dr. X was even stunned into silence. But later he got his voice back, and I heard him screaming, 'O.K., where's that broad? I'm ready for her.'

"But I did find out some interesting things about them. For example, did you know that Cowboy Bill Watts is in the cosmetics business on the outside? He does not like people to know that — not exactly his image, you know."

For another TV sports pilot, she interviewed wives of Chicago Cubs players and found out from Eloise Banks that her husband, Ernie, is terribly absent-minded.

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI)—Clark Graebner and Bob Lutz, the No. 2 and 4 ranked amateurs in the United States, and top-ranked South African amateur Bob Hewitt, Friday entered the 89th National Tennis championships Aug. 16-24 at the Longwood Cricket Club.

Deadly Putting Returns

HARRISON, N.Y. (UPI)—Brash Bert Greene, refusing to buckle under pressure, displayed a deadly putting touch Saturday which gave him a four-under-par 68 and a four-stroke lead at the end of the third round of the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

Greene, member of a golfing family from Cochrane, Ga., had previous rounds of 67 and 68 and stood at 12-under-par 204 at the end of 54 holes.

The confident 25-year-old turned back the challenge of a dozen pursuers with uncanny accuracy on the greens. It was his third consecutive sub-par round and the son of a Georgia golf pro did it with the same calmness which marked his previous rounds.

The Georgian, who finished tied for last place in the Westchester a year ago, opened a four-stroke bulge over veteran Tommy Bolt, South African Harold Henning, Frank Beard, Lee Trevino and Dan Sikes, all at 208.

Bunched at 209 were Bruce Crampton, Eert Yancey, Tommy Aaron and former Westchester assistant pro Al Mengert.

Greene, wearing a yellow shirt, green slacks and matching green socks, capped his brilliant round with an eight-foot birdie putt on the 18th hole.

The young southerner, playing his best golf in three years on the tour, broke away from the pack on the toughened 6,677-yard Westchester Country Club layout with back-to-back birds at the ninth and 10th holes and a 20-foot birdie putt from the fringe on the 386-yard, par-four 13th hole.

On two other occasions, he knocked in difficult putts for pars, on one occasion slapping in a six-footer on the 15th hole and a 10-footer on No. 16 after chipping from the high grass to the right. He also sank a 14-footer for par-five on the fifth.

Beard and Trevino climbed into contention with five-under-par 67s, Henning had a 68. Bolt a 71 and Sikes a 70.

The colorful Bolt had another scrambling round which included an eagle-two on the fourth hole and a double-bogey seven on the fifth.

Mets 1, Atlanta 0
 NEW YORK (UPI)—Cleon Jones' pinch single scored Ron Swoboda run third base in the seventh inning and broke a scoreless tie Saturday night, giving the New York Mets a 1-0 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Swoboda led off the seventh with a walk, was sacrificed to second and went to third on an infield groundout. Jones batted for winning pitcher Jim McAndrew and bounced a single through the middle to score Swoboda.

Astros 5, Expos 3
 MONTREAL (UPI)—Norm Miller scored the winning run on Coco Laboy's third-inning error Saturday and the Houston Astros won their seventh game in a row by copping the Montreal Expos 5-3.

Miller had singled and moved to third on Joe Morgan's single. Denis Menke slapped a grounder to Laboy who bobbled the ball, allowing Miller to score. Houston jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first inning when Mike Wegener walked Morgan and Jim Wynn, and Curt Blefary tripled home both runners.

Babe Ruth Stars Play Carlsbad In Opener

Pampa and Carlsbad, N. M., meet at 3:30 p.m. Monday in first round action for both teams in the Southwest Regional Babe Ruth baseball tournament in Ft. Smith, Ark.

All games Pampa plays in the double elimination tournament will be carried locally by KPND with Warren Hasse calling the play-by-play.

This is the first trip for any Pampa Babe Ruth team past state tournament play and is the second year Carlsbad has made the regional affair.

The winner of the regional goes to Illinois for the national meet on August 16.

A Pampa victory Monday would pit them against the Arkansas state champion in a 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Besides Pampa and Carlsbad teams from Tulsa, Okla., New Orleans, La.; host Ft. Smith, the Texas Eastern-state champ, Wharton and the Arkansas champion, not yet named, are in the regional affair.

While all the other teams have players ranging in age from 13-15, all of Pampa's players are 15-years-old.

The Pampa stars have run up an 11-2 record in playoff competition, including regionals and state play.

Manager Melvin Davis and coaches Walden and Dale Haynes either pitching ace Jeff Hogan or Doug Thompson will start on the mound Monday against Carlsbad.

Thompson is 4-0 in playoff competition while Hogan is 3-0. Thompson, however, has been nursing a sore back most of this week.

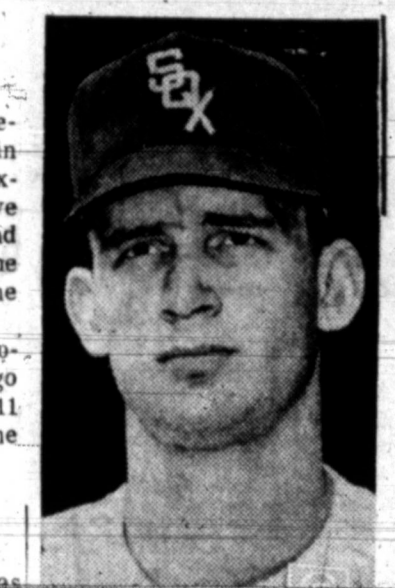

Pampa will take 13 players to the tournament with Mike

Pierson, who has been on the disabled list the past two weeks ready to play and lend his scorching bat.

Before suffering an eye injury Pierson sported a .311 batting average.

Finals of the tournament are slated to start at 7 p.m. Saturday and if a second game is needed it will start at 9 p.m.

Eight of the 13 Pampa players are batting .300 or better with Greg Shultz and Al Ferguson both hitting over .400. Shultz is the leading Pampa hitter with a .434 mark while Ferguson is at .409.

GARY PETERS blanks tigers

Ferguson also leads the club in runs batted in with 21 and Thompson is the leading home run hitter with three. Mike Edgar, hitting .332 has two home runs.

As a team the Pampa youngsters sport a .340 batting average.

Mike Haynes, used strictly in relief by the Pampa coaches sports a 3-1 record and Larry Knutson is 1-1. Edgar has pitched in two games but has no decisions.

All Stars Stumble, 26-24

TEE OFF — Greg White of Pampa gets set to tee off at No. 10 at Pampa Country Club Friday where he led all junior golfers here in qualifying for the state tournament.

JUST MISSES — Ronald Burton of Canyon just missed this 10 foot putt Friday but still shot a 75 to qualify for the State Junior Golf tournament slated in San Antonio.

White's 75 Leads Local Jr. Golfers.

Greg White of Pampa led junior golfers around Pampa Country Club course Friday to win one of four qualifying berths in the State Junior golf tournament.

The state tournament will be held August 18-22 in San Antonio.

White was four over par in his round with nine hole totals of 37-38-75 and beat two other youngsters by one shot.

Scott Stevens of Amarillo and Ronald Burton of Canyon came in with 76's. The other qualifier, two shots back of White was Mickey Piersall of Perryton who toured the course in 36-42-78 figures.

A total of 12 players started the morning round but only 11 finished. One player shot the front nine and then pulled out.

Other scores: Joe Ziegler, Canyon, 79; Chuck Shattler, Amarillo, 81; Mike Shadix, Canyon, 84; Mike Fain, Denver City, 85; Rick Piersall, Perryton, 85; Greg Holmes, Amarillo, 85; Leslie Harris, Pampa, 92.

Kemp Doesn't Think Bills Need Simpson

HOUSTON (UPI) — Buffalo Bill quarterback Jack Kemp said Friday his American Football League team could win without O. J. Simpson, last year's Heisman Trophy winner and the Bills' No. 1 draft choice.

"I don't think we need him badly," Kemp said in an interview.

Simpson, the vaunted running back from Southern California, has yet to come to terms with Bills owner George Wilson.

Kemp and the Bills are in Houston today to play an exhibition game tonight with the Houston Oilers in the Astrodome.

"I don't think we need him badly," Kemp said of O. J. "There's no doubt about it, he's a good football player and every team needs good football players. So to that extent, we could use O. J. But I think we can win without him."

CHICAGO (UPI)—Joe Namath, the quarterback who did not exactly shine, thought there must be an easier way of raising money for charity.

Greg Cook, the quarterback who did shine, said the All Stars would have beaten Namath and his miracle New York Jets. "If we'd kept our cool in the first half."

So ran the story of the annual All Star game Friday night. In the interests of charity, the champions of professional football, took on the best of the collegians—and just beat them, 26-24.

They did it despite a cavalry charge led by the University of Cincinnati's Cook and his three touchdown passes in the second half—the last with 16 seconds left in the game.

The Jets, the first representatives of the American Football League in the All Star game, were hanging on at the finish. Their symbol Broadway Joe, admitted things could have gone better.

JERRY LEVIAS
... I touchdown
"We scored 26 points," he said. "I think we should have scored 40. But we didn't." Namath reflected, "there must be an easier way of making money for charity." The Jets and Namath dominated the first half, piling up a 13-0 lead. Namath passed for 198 yards, completing 10 of 19 attempts, and Jim Turner kicked two field goals in this span.

Meanwhile Jets' defense held the collegians to only one first down, 12 yards rushing and seven yards passing, while New York had total yardage of 464.

But Cook was the player in charge in the second half.

Taking advantage of a 78 yard kickoff return by Utah State's Altie Taylor, he passed to Gene Washington from Stanford for 19 yards and a touchdown.

Then, after Rudy Redmond of the University of Pacific intercepted a Namath pass, Roy Gerala from New Mexico State kicked a 28 yard field goal, and after another Jet kickoff, Cook passed to Taylor for 44 yards and to Bob Klein from Southern California for 12 yards and a touchdown.

That left the collegians behind by only six points at 23-17, and the crowd of 74,208 was giving them every type of encouragement. But their next offensive bid, after Roger Wehrli of Missouri intercepted another Namath pass, failed when Gerala missed 37 yard field goal try.

Still, the Jets were working to stall out the clock.

When they finally had to give up—the ball with barely a minute left, Cook left the crowd breathless as he passed to Jerry Levias from Southern Methodist for 11 yards and to Levias again for 59 yards. Finally, after a bench penalty on the stars put the ball on the Jets' 19 he passed to Levias again for the final touchdown.

The Stars tried an onside kick but couldn't get the ball as time ran out on a win for the Jets, the first American Football League team over to play in All Star game.

It was the sixth straight victory for the pros in the contest and the 10th in the last 11. Over all, the pros have won 25 and lost only nine in the 36

Cook wound up the game with 12 pass completions in 24 attempts for 231 yards and three touchdowns. And he had to share the quarterback duties with two others, starter Terry Hanratty from Notre Dame and Bobby Douglass from Kansas.

But when he brought the Stars to life in the second half, it was Cook the rest of the way.

It was the seventh loss for All Star coach Otto Graham in nine All Star appearances, while it was the third All Star game victory for Jets' coach Weeb Eubank, who directed the Baltimore Colts to wins in 1959 and 1960.

Swoboda Says It All For N.Y. Mets

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI)—It was the classic situation where something had to be said but nobody cared to say it.

If this were the Braves, Orlando Cepeda would stand up and say it because he has many times before. If this were the Cardinals, Tim McCarver most likely would do it, and if it were the Dodgers you could safely leave it to a guy like Maury Wills.

But this happened to be the Mets. The new Mets, not the old ones Leo Durocher keeps talking about, and here they had not only fallen on their faces for the third straight time before the ambitious Astros but had looked about as exciting to watch as the Paris peace talks.

The Mets, in a nutshell, were dragging. That third straight loss to Houston Thursday was their seventh in 11 games and suddenly they no more looked like the pennant contender of two weeks ago than Gary Gentry looks like Bobbie Gentry.

There is a precise word for how the Mets looked dropping those three straight 16-3 11-5 and 2-0 decisions to the Astros but it isn't used in mixed company.

Rude Awakening
Maybe the Mets needed a good swift jab where it would do the most good and maybe they didn't, but there was a much more important point.

Like who would undertake this delicate operation? The Mets haven't been in that many pennant fights that they had a ready-made candidate for the job. They really had nobody.

But up stepped Ron Swoboda. Swoboda was hitting a tremendous .239 at the time and wasn't even playing regularly, but something had to be said and somebody had to say it, so he did.

What he said was that the Mets' attitude reminded him of a cheese sandwich. One that maybe had been left standing in the sun too long.

"It could be we were a little stale," Swoboda said, looking back before Friday night's 5-4 win over the Braves. "I thought we weren't concentrating Thursday. I didn't think we started that game bearing down. I wasn't singling out anybody. If it sounded like criticism, it was directed at myself as much as anyone else. Yes, I said something because I felt things had gotten a little loose, and there was a lack of discipline we had had before. I still think we can win. I don't want the boat to fall apart."

In a way it was ironic that Swoboda should be the one to sound off and shake up the Mets because there have been times during his career Gil Hodges had to talk with him and shake him up a bit.

Always A Clubhouse
"That's true," he says, "but it never was for anything I did on the field. When I go out on the field I think as hard as I can and play as hard as I can. Off the field I just don't like to be regimented and that's what Gil talked to me about."

The remarks Swoboda made Thursday got around, as they always will in a clubhouse of 25 men, and rather than resent them, his teammates generally accepted them for the purpose they were intended.

"I agree with Ronnie," said fellow outfielder Tommie Agee. "We haven't had the same pep and spirit the last few days. Maybe what he said had to be said."

Swoboda even drew support from an alien quarter.

"Good for him, for saying what he did," cheered Orlando Cepeda, Atlanta's first baseman. "I don't care what he is hitting or isn't hitting, when he says things like that it shows he's a winning ballplayer. Many times when I think we're not doing all we should, I say, right there on the field, 'C'mon, c'mon, damn it, we're dead on our feet out here! Let's go. We're never gonna win this way.'"

Ron Swoboda admits he's something of a redneck.

"When I got anything inside me, I have to let it out," he says. He did and obviously it didn't hurt.

The Braves jumped in front with three quick runs in the first inning Friday night but the Mets came right back with four in their half and hung on to win.

Injuries Hit Cowboys As Drills Close

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (UPI) — Two-a-day practice sessions at the Dallas Cowboy training camp end today with a final afternoon scrimmage.

The double duty has taken its toll in injuries and releases alike.

Running backs Dan Reeves and Les Shy are still hobbling with slight leg injuries, though they worked out a little Friday.

Jethro Pugh, defensive end, is in a nearby hospital nursing his ulcers. It looked doubtful that he would make the opening scrimmage against the Los Angeles Rams next week.

Friday was the deadline for all National Football League teams to pare themselves down to the 60-man limit.

The Cowboys cut six players including running back Dave Dickey of Arkansas, 13th round draft choice Rene Matison and Ken Kmeic, of Illinois, a hold-over from 1968.

WHERE'S THE STRIKE ZONE? Oakland shortstop Camp Campaneris shows his unique batting stance, which has resulted in a number of walks from confused pitchers who are uncertain of the strike zone when facing the "Campy crouch."

PITCHER DIES
ANDREWS, S.C. (UPI)—Charles Flint "Shad" Rhem, a pitcher on the St. Louis Cardinal world championship team of 1926, died Thursday at the age of 66. He had a 20-7 record in 1926 and a career mark of 105-97.

Yastrzemski Draws $500 Fine

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — I was fined and there was no doubt about it... it was $500."

Yastrzemski has been plagued by leg trouble in recent weeks and claimed he "gave it 100 per cent" on the ground ball hit by George Scott to the left of the mound.

Rookie Joe Lahoud was sent into leftfield to replace Yastrzemski after the incident.

The former MVP added, "I don't want to alibi, however, I might have been letting down unconsciously—not hustling."

But in the dugout in the second inning the Red Sox star and Williams exchanged heated words and Yastrzemski said, "Williams said 'You should have run harder.' I told him I was running as hard as I could, but he said, 'You weren't running hard enough.' He said

SECOND CLASSIC
NEW YORK (UPI)—Grambling and Morgan State will meet again in Yankee Stadium on Sept. 20 in the second annual Invitational Football Classic, a charity event of the Urban League Street Academy program.

NO FIGHT
COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Promoter Mogens Palle said Friday he would not promote the scheduled fight between Carlos Dufan, European middleweight champion, and Tom Bogs of Denmark, if the bout postponed past the scheduled date of Sept. 4.

Palle cited the poor September weather in Denmark as a reason for his possible pullout after Dufan had requested a week's delay because of an inflamed leg.

Home Runs Spice Action In Texas League

By United Press International
Someone better examine the water in El Paso and Little Rock. And whatever is found in the system, better be imported to some health spa.

On an average Texas League night, the eight league teams usually average about three homeruns. Not each, mind you, that's the average total for all eight.

Of course, there'll be a few nights when as many as seven will be hit. Then again there have been a couple of nights when not a single ball leaves the confines of a stadium.

There's even a chance some night as many as nine will be hit. It is doubtful as many as 10 will be hit in one evening, however, even if all eight teams play doubleheaders.

No Chance
Twelve, you say? Impossible. And 11 in two games, you report? Out of the question.

There they are. Twelve homeruns hit Friday night in the Texas League and 11 of them in two different ball parks.

Count 'em yourself. Five in the game in which Arkansas beat Amarillo, 9-5; six more in the game in which El Paso socked San Antonio, 10-3; and one more the nightcap of a doubleheader when Albuquerque bounced Memphis, 5-1.

In the first game of that twin-bill, the one Memphis won, 4-3, and in the Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs' 3-2 win over Shreveport not a single ball left the stadium territory.

Guindon Slams
One of the homers, the one hit by Bob Guindon of Arkansas was a bases loaded blast.

The others were hit by Chico Diaz of Memphis, Jim Mallon of Amarillo, Dave Rader of Amarillo, Chic-Cendeno of Amarillo, Jose Cruz of Arkansas, Rich Shibley of El Paso, Jim Vopticka of El Paso, Leroy Haynes of San Antonio and Oscar Gamble of San Antonio.

And Bill Parlier hit two, his 18th and 19th of the year, to drive in three runs for El Paso. Parlier ranks second to Adrian Garrett of Shreveport in homers this season. Garrett has 21.

Then there's Texas League President Bobby Bragan who could paraphrase the words once credited to President Lincoln when he heard criticism of Gen. Grant's drinking:

"Tell me what brand those guys are using, so I can send a case to all my other ballplayers."

Friday's National League Roundup

Everything Turning Up Roses For Hot Cardinals

By United Press International
Are the Cardinals still in the league?

As they say on the moon, "Affirmative," because St. Louis, after a poor April, poor May and mediocre June, has now returned to its championship form of the past two seasons.

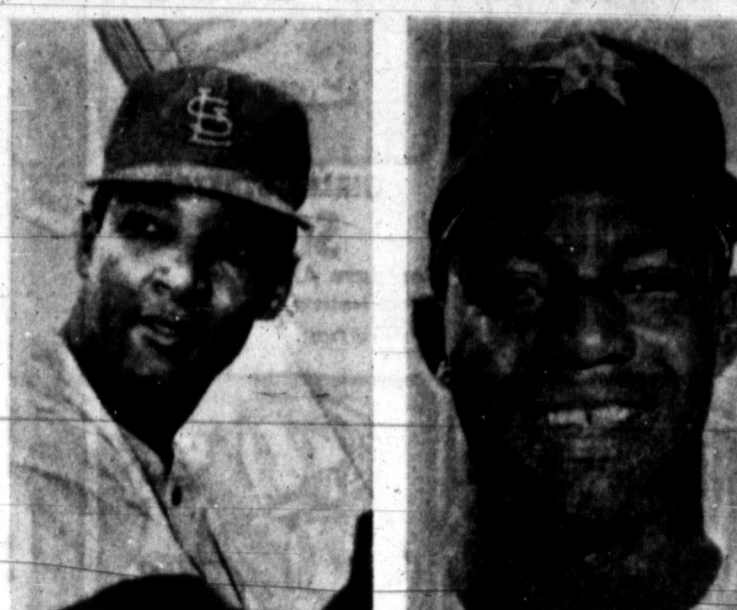

The Cardinals were 20-3 in July, and began the new month with a 7-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night to run their winning streak to five games.

"We don't look back," said Vada Pinson, whose third-inning RBI single ran his hitting string to 22 consecutive games.

"We're looking ahead, and things are looking good." With their 12th win in the last 14 games and 21st win in the last 29, the Cardinals remained 8 1/2 games behind Chicago, apparently a runaway winner of the Eastern Division title only a month ago.

The Cubs kept the pressure on with a 5-2 victory over San Diego, while in other National League action, San Francisco whipped Pittsburgh, 5-1, Houston downed Montreal, 5-3, Cincinnati outslugged Philadelphia, 7-6 and the New York Mets edged Atlanta, 5-4.

with singles as the Cubs handed San Diego its sixth straight loss.

Dick Dietz two-run, seventh-inning homer boosted the San Francisco Giants past Pittsburgh after the Pirates had grabbed an early 1-0 lead. The Giants tied it in the fifth inning on Willie McCovey's 33rd homer of the season before Dietz followed McCovey's walk with the game-winning blast.

The Houston Astros won their sixth straight and pulled within 3 1/2 games of Western Division leader Atlanta on a pair of two-run homers by Curt Elefary and a solo homer by Jimmy Wynn.

Cincinnati scored seven runs in the first two innings then held off the Phillies the rest of the way.

Rod Gaspar singled in two runs in a four-run first inning and Jerry Grote homered in the fourth to give the Mets a comeback win over Atlanta, which still clings to a one-game lead over Cincinnati and San Francisco and a two-game edge over Los Angeles in the Western Division.

HARD CATCH — Roberto Clemente bounces off the wall as he makes a driving standup catch during Friday night baseball action. Clemente had x-rays taken after the game but was not injured.

Lady Umpire Called Out

NEW YORK (UPI)—Organized baseball called her out, but would-be lady umpire Bernice Gera, looking for the next call to come from the courts, said Friday "the game's not over yet."

Mrs. Gera learned only Thursday that Phil Piton, president of the National Association of Minor Leagues, had declared her contract to umpire the Asburn-Corning baseball game at Auburn, N.Y., Saturday invalid.

The 38-year-old Florida umpire school graduate had called the scores of semi pro and amateur games, and had fought for over two years to break organized baseball's sex line for umpires.

Friday she was to make history as organized baseball's first woman umpire, and then she received Piton's telegram.

But Mrs. Gera is still in there swinging. "I talked with my lawyer, Congressman Mario Biaggi of the Bronx, and he said he considers this a serious breach of civil rights," she said.

McLain Sails To 16th Win In Shutout

By United Press International
Denny McLain is a very busy man these days.

But McLain, who seems to get more publicity for his airplane flying, his organ playing, his dental visits and his hospital stays than he does for his pitching, still seems to find time to spend more time on the mound than any other pitcher in baseball.

The Detroit Tigers' controversial righthander got out of the hospital Thursday night after a two-day stay for treatment of bronchitis and promptly beat the Chicago White Sox 8-0 Friday night with a six-hitter.

The victory made McLain the first 16 game winner in the majors this season and boosted the total number of innings he's pitched this season to 220 2/3—another figure leading the majors. Last year while compiling his 34-6 season, he pitched 336 innings to lead the majors.

McLain said the hospital stay didn't bother his pitching after he tossed his seventh shutout—in fact, it seemed to help since he was bombed by the Twins in his last outing. "When I got sick a couple of years ago, it took me two or three starts to get my rhythm back. But now, I can rebound right away. I guess it's the experience and knowing the hitters better."

In other games, Minnesota beat Baltimore, 4-3, in 10 innings, Oakland edged Boston, 4-3, Washington beat California, 5-3, New York topped Seattle, 4-2, and Kansas City blanked Cleveland, 6-0.

Phantom 10th Man Working For Cards

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (NEA)—The St. Louis Cardinals are now being aided by a 10th player. The phantom performer who never gets into a uniform is an automated telephone answering system.

Convinced that instant reports from its farm clubs provide a day-by-day awareness of available reserves, the Cards' management has installed a Record-O-Fone to get daily accounts of farm club games.

The farm managers call in their summaries, which average about two minutes, after each game. This gives the front office immediate knowledge about the players who are steadily collecting the big hits, or the physical condition of players ready to take over big league posts. Also, using a special "Telekey" device which is an exclusive feature of Record-O-Fone, the Cards' management can get reports from anywhere on the road by merely calling their St. Louis office and having it activate the telephone answering service.

A sample of these reports are: Warren Spahn reporting for Tulsa from Denver: "Defeated Denver by the score of 8 to 2. Guzman pitched 6 innings, did not throw very many pitches hard, gave us two hits in seventh with no outs; relieved by Andy Martin, who struck out Jenkins, Holt popped up, Ron Clark walked and this loaded the bases and then he struck out Elliott to preserve the lead. In the 8th, he hurt his elbow and was relieved by Campisi, who retired side in 8th and 9th. Browne hit ball hard and drove in big runs. Warren Spahn, over and out."

SPORTS

Ray Hathaway reporting for Little Rock: "Defeated Dallas-Fort Worth, 6 to 6. Cleveland picked up his 7th win, though not usual self—was hit hard and control was off. Cruz lacking hitting ability against left-handed pitching, pulling away and offering at pitches when very wide of the plate. Murphy hitting to all fields, double off fence in left, triple deep right center—this is the best he had looked for some time. Coulter tripled off top of fence in deep right center. In my opinion, he's the best looking second baseman in our organization—there is no play this young man cannot make—going to the left of second base to make an unbelievable play. Can throw from any position—arm accurate. Hitting good. Ray Hathaway for Arkansas, over and out."

"Joe Cunningham reporting from Modesto where we played Visalia and won, 2 to 1. Winslow in full command for 9 innings, throwing 129 pitches. Powell hit home run—13th of the year. Thompson hitting ball good to all fields. Nickoloff improving his hitting 30 per cent. Having now won 20 and lost 25. Joe Cunningham, over and out."

"Jack Krol reporting for St. Petersburg where we lost to very ordinary. Wouldn't let Orlando, 7 to 0. Bowly was very ordinary. Wouldn't let the ball go and was constantly behind the hitter. Bare looked very good for 4 and one-third innings. Had good velocity on his fast ball. Wright and Ebner were ordinary in relief. Hitting was poor. Dan Ford, Tom Alger, Buddy Smith joined the club today. Jack Krol, over and out."

The Cards' management still takes more detailed reports by mail. But for quick reports of immediate importance, nothing can beat the Dial-A-Report system.

Pampa Families Offer Aid To Iran--Learn 'Lessons In Hospitality'

BALLOONS TO BLOW UP, BOUNCE AND BURST

... Mrs. J. W. Bates with grandchildren, Donna Thompson, 3, Kyle, Stracener, 4, and Kendall, 9

Several Pampa families living and working in Iran are helping pipe natural gas into Iranian homes and industries and are learning lessons in hospitality from their Iranian hosts.

Of the 18 Americans employed by the Iranian government to operate a natural gas pipeline in southern Iran, six of the families are from Pampa.

Those who moved from Pampa since December, 1956, to Tehran, Iran, were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gatewood, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eubanks, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bernard (of Louisiana and formerly of Pampa) and Mr. and Mrs. Don Elliott, (of Houston) and formerly of Pampa.

The Americans were employed by the Iranian government to maintain a natural gas pipeline from the southern part of Iran to the Russian border. Americans were hired to teach the Iranians to operate and maintain the gas line, which will be used to pipe gas to Russia for sale, and for domestic and industrial use in Iran, Mrs. Eubanks said.

Mrs. Eubanks, her three children and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gatewood and their two children are visiting in Pampa and will return to Iran Aug. 6.

"We have learned Americans could take lessons in hospitality from the Iranians. When you go to their homes, they treat you like the most important visitor they've ever had," Mrs. Eubanks said.

"Since the Iranians have a tradition to give you whatever you admire in their home, we learned not to admire anything too much, because it's liable to be a gift.

"Before we knew this, we went to a party and were admiring the big roaring fire. Since firewood is so hard to get, Jack and I just went on and on over the wood, but when we left, the trunk of our car was full of firewood," she said.

In Iran, Mr. and Mrs. Eubanks have added a 12-year-old Iranian boy to their family by offering him a home and an education.

"The boy was shifting on his own and needed us. We found him working in the housing agent's office. We treat him like our own kids and are learning a great deal about the Iranians from him. Our youngest son, Kyle, who is four, speaks English with Ahmed's American accent," Mrs. Eubanks said.

Living in a climate similar to Salt Lake City, Utah, Mr. and Mrs. Eubanks and the other "displaced" Texans have found "life pretty much in some ways like home."

"We have scouts, Little League, swimming, an all-American school, cocktails and dinner parties and housekeeping, just like home, but we're still glad to get to come home and visit our families here once in a while.

"The Iran-American society was established as a place Americans and Iranians could meet and become acquainted. It's rather like a pavilion, with its indoor and outdoor theater, restaurant, library, snack bar, bus transportation to ski areas and little theater type plays.

"Our daughter Kim acted in a play last month sponsored by some American Peace Corps personnel who were trying to raise money for a village school," she said.

Americans living in Tehran do not live in an all-American section, but intermingle in all sectors of the city. The Eubanks family live on Television Road, so called "because it's the street that leads to the television station. We have three T.V. stations, two Iranian and one American, which is owned by the military. Most of the programs are live news casts, movies, filmed or taped shows from the states and sports events," she said.

Most of the clubs, women belong to are service type clubs, and few are for bridge fans and social club members. The American Women's Club members play bridge and attend bridge classes, phrase classes to study the language, and other special interest groups — Persian rug, cooking, arts and crafts, she said.

"The men often tease us about influencing their Iranian women and say their households have not been the same since we came. Their wives are asking them more often to take them along to parties and social events, but I don't think we have had too much effect, because half of the women we see on the streets still wear their chadoras.

"The chadoras are the loose fitting ankle-length garments which cover everything but their eyes. The Iranians still don't accept slacks on women and let you know their disapproval when they pass by on the street," she said.

"One of the most interesting experiences I've had is attending an Iranian wedding," Mrs. Eubanks said. "The bride spent the whole day in the beauty shop and arrived at her wedding at 6 p.m., two hours late. For the wedding, the only furniture in the room was a rug on the floor with a mirror standing beside it.

"The couple sit beside the mirror but do not look at each other except through the mirror until after the ceremony. Someone holds two big cones of sugar over the bride's head and rubs the cones together. Sugar falling on her head is supposed to make her sweet.

"One of the bridegroom's relatives sews material with a needle and thread which is symbolic of sewing up the mouth of the bride's mother so she won't interfere with a happy marriage.

"After the ceremony, everybody eats, drinks and dances. All the relatives are supposed to dance individually in the center of a big circle. We left at 11 p.m. and it was still going when we left, so I don't know when it is over.

"The bride always has quite a dowry, the more Persian rugs, and household items the better. That's why it costs so much to give the bride away. The wedding we went to didn't have any attendants, but the bride and bridegroom were supplied by the company because the traffic is so congested and dangerous it's dangerous to cross any major street.

A typical day in Mrs. Eubanks' life in Tehran starts at 6:30 a.m., to have time to get her husband off to work and send the children to school.

"About two weeks before we came home, we had an Hawaiian Luau at our house and had 90 guests, representing eight nationalities — American, British, Canadian, Hungarian, Iranian, Irish, Scottish, and German," she said.

"Since we go bowling a lot, and to cocktail parties and dinners, the driver keeps busy taking care of a family of six. We've had no real problems adjusting, but have found that we depend more on our friends than we did when we were home and had relatives nearby. I've found that we make friends faster and have more lasting and closer friendships," she said.

Mary Guthrie, Edgar Ethridge Exchange Evening Nuptial Vows

Mary Leslie Guthrie and Edgar Eugene Ethridge were united in marriage in an evening ceremony Friday at the bride's home in Gallatin, Tenn. Dr. Charles Moffatt officiated for the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robert Guthrie, Nashville, Tenn. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Russell Bellamy, Pampa, and English net, which featured a portrait neckline finished with shirred net and fitted sleeves.

Bonds of shirred net extended from the shoulders to the low waistline. The bouffant skirt formed a wide train. Her full-length mantilla veil of alencon lace was handclipped re-embroidered and applied on layers of silk mist illusion. She Ruffles were caught to rows of insertion. Their empire bodices were designed with deep V's in the front and back and were attached to sheath skirts topped with velvet ties at the waistlines.

Ronald Ethridge, New Orleans, La., the bridegroom's brother, assisted as best man.

Miss Nancy Wendling was pianist for wedding music selections.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length gown of silk chiffon printed with shocking pink cabbage roses. Her full skirt was caught to an elaborately draped sleeveless bodice with an emerald green velvet sash.

Donna Huckins, Bryan Stafford Repeat Vows In Evening Wedding Ceremony In Skellytown

Donna Gail Huckins repeated marriage vows—with Bryan Lynn Stafford in an evening wedding ceremony recently in Skellytown Community Church. The Rev. Weldon Thomas performed the candlelight service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Huckins, White Deer. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Stafford, Shamrock.

Given in marriage by her father, with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride wore a peau de soie wedding dress designed with a floor-length skirt. Her empire bodice was designed with a slightly lowered, and rounded neckline and long lace sleeves. Special trim for her gown included a ribbon bow and back button trim, with an inverted back pleat in her skirt.

Her long train was accented with lace. The shoulder-length white tulle veil was attached to a headpiece of pearls, rhinestones, and lace which carried three flowers. She carried a bouquet of white pom poms with a purple cymbidium orchid.

Mrs. David Harvey, the bride's cousin, was her matron of honor. Bridesmaid Miss Billie Woodward was dressed identically to the matron of honor in a street-length dress of orchid serrano. Both bridal attendants carried a nosegay of orchid carnations.

Best man was Carl A. Myneer. Steven Huckins, a cousin of the bride, seated wedding guests. David Harvey, the bride's cousin, assisted as groomsmen.

Pianist, Mrs. Edith Beighle, bridegroom's grandmother, accompanied the bride's sister, Mrs. Emily Enger, vocalist. Wedding selections were "Twelfth of Never," "True Love," and "Whither Thou Goest."

The bride's mother wore a brown dress of serrano with multi-colored neck scarf, white shoes, gloves and hat for accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of tangerine split carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink knit dress with white accessories and white split carnation corsage.

The church was decorated with baskets of orchid gladiolus, two candleabras with white candles and lemon leaves.

Wash Both Sides

It's best to wash both sides of a foam-backed vinyl placemat, because a stain which appears to be on the vinyl side may actually be imbedded in the foam. A vegetable brush dipped in soap or detergent suds makes an effective scrubber for this purpose.

Teens' Job Hunt

Earlier this year I passed along tips to teen-agers who were looking for summer jobs. The thing I failed to mention was that a person can be well-groomed, properly dressed, prompt, equipped with certain skills, armed with a good school record and yet spend the summer months in the ranks of the unemployed.

A teen-aged girl from Ponca City, Okla., wrote asking me why, with her good grades, etc., she is unable to find anything except waitress work at 65 cents an hour. She also voiced the opinion that if the teens in her area (population around 24,000) could get jobs, then perhaps many of them would not "get into trouble."

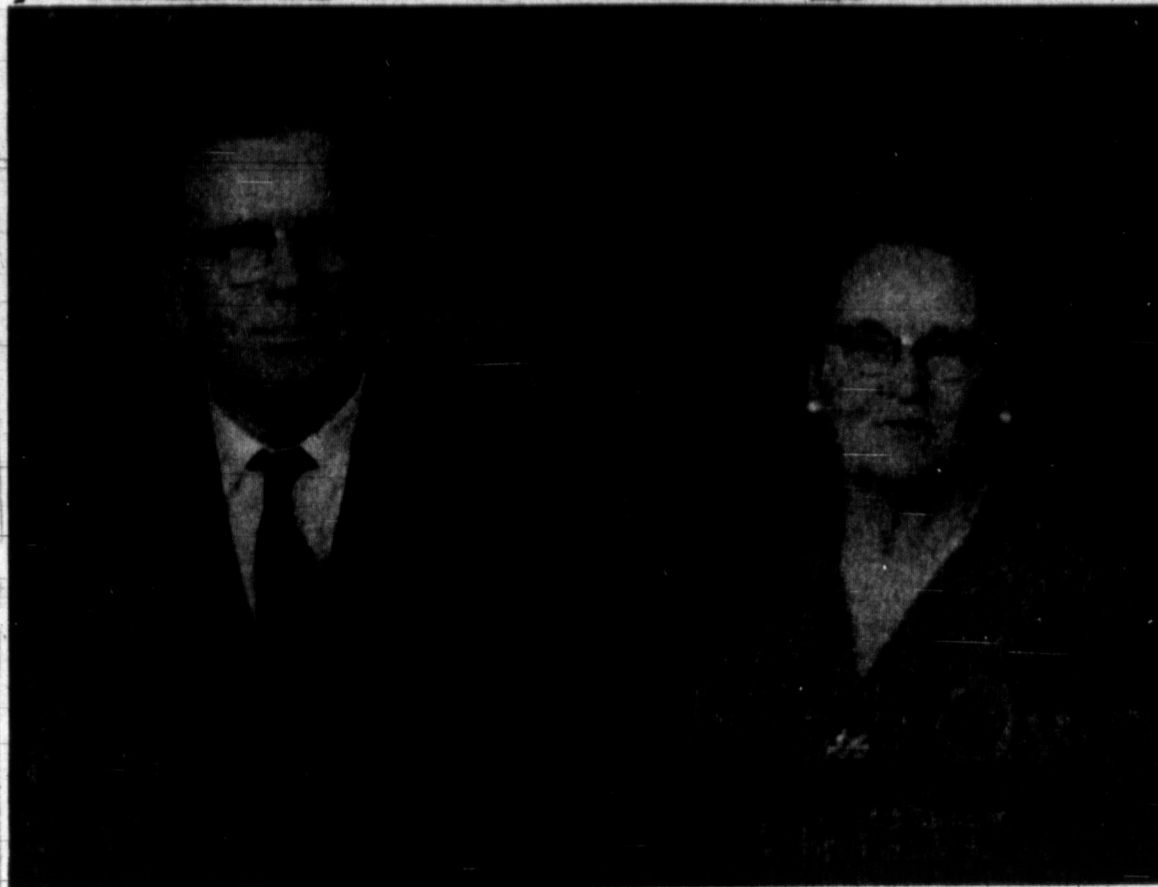

The hard facts are that in many communities there are simply not enough jobs around. For example, a recent news story datelined Indianapolis, tells about 300 jobs offered by area business while more than 4,600 job applications jam the placement files of their local Youth Employment Service.

The co-ordinator of the service is quoted as saying that these youths are willing to do any type work offered, that the skills they have to offer are endless, and that the local merchants are making a big mistake.

I spoke with the co-ordinator of a similar employment service in a town of 40,000. The teacher who heads up this program says that some businessmen in his area are unco-operative and that, in some communities, businessmen have offered two 20-hour jobs rather than one 40-hour job in order to include more students in their employment pool. However, he also says that one of the biggest problems he has encountered is the complete lack of knowledge and imagination some young persons have when it comes to looking for a job. As a partial remedy, the high school where he teaches will incorporate a short course in job hunting in its curriculum.

Rather discouraging for the younger student is that, with so many summer job hopefuls vying for jobs, the older teens, those in the upper-high school grades and in college, are going to get first choice.

Girls find their choice more limited than do boys. Girls cannot take just any job offered and concentrate on looking for clerical or sales clerk positions. However, they should bear in mind that accepting babysitting, waitress work or ironing and housework are not exactly the end of the world. (I speak from experience. I once bagged caramel corn as a part-time job. THAT'S the end of the world.)

DEAR ABBY: The man I am married to is very intelligent about most things but he has one very childish fault. Every time he hears a siren he has to follow it. We have been to more places because this thrill-seeking nut of mine has chased a fire engine, ambulance or squad car. He never misses your column, so maybe if you mentioned this, you'd make an impression. I can't get through to him.

DEAR LEONA: It's nuts like your husband who make it difficult for firemen, police and rescue squads to reach the scene where they're desperately needed. Many lives have been lost, and buildings burned to the ground because curious spectators and thrill-seeking nuts have created a traffic problem. Tell your overgrown boy that if he does not pull over to the curb when he hears a siren, he is in violation of the law.

DEAR ABBY: A friend and I were recently discussing "pickups." Do you think it is all right for a woman (age 23) to accept a ride from an attractive, polite man on a rainy evening when she is waiting for a bus?

I have always felt that a man who could pick up a strange woman might get the idea that she was a "pick up." My friend says that anyone could tell by just looking at me that I'm not that type, so it would be all right to accept the ride. What do you think?

DEAR CAROL: Anyone who thinks he can tell much by "looking" should think again. No sensible woman would get into an automobile with a strange man regardless of how "attractive and polite" he appeared to be. And a man who could pick up a stranger is also taking a chance.

DEAR ABBY: Things like this always seem to happen in someone else's family, but this has happened in mine:

My son and daughter-in-law had a beautiful church wedding. A few days later, my wife and I were told that we are to become grandparents in just four months!

Shocked we were, and still are. This is contrary to our beliefs and teachings. What does one do in such a situation? Should we forgive and forget?

It is difficult to meet our friends and neighbors who came to the wedding and brought such lovely gifts.

Abby, don't you agree this couple should have gone quietly to the Justice of the Peace instead of making a farce of a church wedding?

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: It makes little difference now what this couple "should have" done. What's done is done. Do not sit in judgment. Forgive and forget. You'll be glad you did.

CONFIDENTIAL TO C. C. IN S. F.: If you want a place in the sun you have to put up with a few blisters.

Everybody has a problem. What is yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

SUNDAY, AUG. 3, 1969
Your birthday today. Service is the keyword for the year. Goals that seemed impossible now come within reach, if you will be persistent. You must simplify your life this year, as you will have no time later for outworn habits. Today's natives are generally candid, also easy to get along with.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your pleasant surface may not reflect much of your impatience, but it does aid you in getting through this day of minor irritation. Your effort brings returns.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Get started bright and early to lend your share of the community's expression of faith. You will find cooperation, especially if you do not rush. Give people space and time to work out their own patterns.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Take care not to leave anybody out as you skip through the long day and evening. Social contacts are satisfying, if you have well made preliminary plans.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your initiative today becomes more important. Rather than suik or complain of being alone, besit yourself to invite other people to share your enjoyment of your home.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Good humor and an adventurous spirit make this day a lively one. The unexpected quality of today is that purely temporary expedients are apt to turn out to be permanent, settled arrangements.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): There is a premium today on thinking for yourself. Your friends seem to have good news in all directions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You will have plenty to scribble about before this active complex day is done. Seek the company of people you like, get some outdoors activity going.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): After you have done your normal Sunday morning rounds, give attention to home, property. Do something or sketch out ideas to make it more attractive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): This Sunday morning is an excellent time to make long-planned changes. Turn over the new leaf! Children provide plenty of entertainment (and perhaps surprises).

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You can relax and let things take their course this Sunday. Gather friends and relatives about you. Try a different menu for the evening meal.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You can make this a calm Sunday. Give yourself a rest. Seek the company of people you enjoy, pursue sentimental interests.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Do your share in the activities of the family and the local community. Make the rounds to renew acquaintances. Attend to correspondence, errands.

MONDAY, AUG. 4
Your birthday Monday! Despite resistance, you make exciting starts this coming year, once you get past the initial upheaval of getting started. Savings are easier even though activity increases. Capital is easier secured for business ventures. Romantic interests take a new, provocative trend. Monday's natives are lucky in business—without very strenuous effort.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Get going early—there's plenty to do. Make allowances for delays or inconveniences, and keep on striving for a full day's achievement.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your tact comes under some testing Monday with trivial annoyances. It seems that you became accustomed to Sunday conditions and for the moment find workday Monday a bit harsh.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Older people pose good questions and perhaps some difficult decisions. Be sure you have the whole story before going ahead.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Certain tension is inevitable Monday. Avoid getting bogged down. Whimsical diversions help both you and your companions to cheer up. Put in a full schedule, as there is a change coming up tomorrow.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): This is the day—and evening to seriously consider your present state of affairs and what you may be able to do with your talents. For long range plans, expect turning points in March and September.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Nothing goes very swiftly Monday so that you have a bit more time to scrutinize details. Settle into a more leisurely pace and last longer.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): If you will just get going in earnest, all sorts of helpful turns are likely to happen Monday in your affairs and contacts.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Now you run into somewhat rougher going with others' own conflicts. If you make sure your work and behavior are straightforward and clear, the rest falls into place.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your self-expression may become more than people are prepared to meet Monday. Promises of major improvement are numerous, but should not be taken seriously.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Useless resources can be converted into cash or something more convenient with little effort. Older people provide interesting thoughts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Relations with family and friends must be sustained with care and tact Monday. Romantic interests are under stress—an unfortunate word may perhaps never be correctable.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): There are strings attached to almost everything today whether in business, family, or social enterprises. Be wide-awake! There is a busy week ahead.

GOLDEN GIRL—California sun colors of brilliant orange and white provide after five brilliance in this easy slip of a formal in cotton matelasse. Complete with matching stole, it's designed by Heiga.

It looks like no change in hemline lengths for fall. Daytime and short cocktail dresses still ride three to five inches above the knees. But several designers like the look of short day dresses or culottes with floor length coats, usually flared and belted.

Monty Kay Huff and Robert Bryan Schaub will exchange wedding vows in the First Baptist Church Chapel Aug. 8. Miss Huff is the daughter of Mrs. M. E. Huff, 1405 S. Barnes, and the late Marvin Huff. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Schaub, 1001 S. Banks. He has attended Texas Tech, plans to attend Frank Phillips Junior College and is employed with Cabot Corp. Miss Huff is a 1969 graduate of Pampa High School.

White Deer Youths Attend 4-H Camp

WHITE DEER (Sp) — A group of 4-H youth from Carson County joined others from District 1 recently for a trip to Cloudcroft, N.M. and an Electric Camp at Camp Scott Able.

About 150 4-H members, leaders and extension agents from 19 counties are attending the camp sponsored by the Southwestern Public Service Co., in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

District Council officers directing the activities are Randy Warminski, chairman, White Deer, Carson County; Cynthia Huthinson, Hansford County, girls' vice-chairman; Ronnie Burks, Castro County, boys' vice chairman.

Dr. Ed Schlutt is advisor to the council. Advisor agents are Mrs. Rita Huckert, Deaf Smith County, and Jerry Harland, Dallam County.

The 4-H Recreation Committee, headed by Robert Adamson, Hansford County, is in charge of recreation and night programs.

Others attending from Carson County are John Fields, county agent; Mrs. Edith Hughes, home demonstration agent; C. E. Williams, James Martin and Mary O'Neal, Panhandle; Pam Ramming, White Deer, Jerry Homer and Jane Hudson, Groom.

Miss Hudson, a senior in Groom High School, was one of 2,000 delegates to the 1969 national meeting of Future Homemakers of America in Boulder, Colo. She is fifth vice president of Area I Future homemakers of America.

For Prettier Flowers

A teaspoonful of detergent added to a quart of water is a reliable formula for reviving partly wilted cut flowers, according to a report from Cornell University's Floriculture Dept.

Furthermore, a flower specialist at the University of Wisconsin advises that flowers will last longer if kept in a clean container which has been washed with hot suds.

Bathe Away Snips

Men's Style Scene Includes Fall Knits

COLLEGE STATION — Knit apparel is an exciting part of the men's style scene this season with suits, slacks, shirts and even ties playing roles.

Hazel Roberts, extension clothing specialist at Texas A&M University, points out the interesting new development of knit suits, sport coats and slacks.

"In tests made last year, these knit garments performed well and were well received," she says. They are made of man-made fibers and many look like the familiar summer seersuckers and cord suits.

The new knit suits hold their press, shed wrinkles, pack well and most important, they are cool and comfortable, Mrs. Roberts says.

In ties, new knitted cravats are different from those of the past as they follow the current trend and are as wide as four inches. New patterns include cross-stripes, vertical stripes and some prints.

For the past several years knitted casual shirts have been so popular that woven fabric shirts have been pushed into the background. Wovens are effecting a comeback but knits still are leaders for leisure-time wear.

One of the most popular knit models, Mrs. Roberts says, will be the instigator of it all: the "polo shirt."

While many of the revived polo shirts will be in the plain, simple, classic style with a two or three button placket and the standard collar, others will be enhanced with stripes on the collar, sleeves and bottom, with contrasting panels of fancy stitches and other colors, or with "layered looks" and give the illusion of being a plain shirt worn under a pullover.

Among the myriad new styles are collared coat-shirts that button down the front, and numberless variations of fancy patterns to wear with casual slacks or walk shorts.

The mock-turtleneck strongly survived recent seasons. The single layer of its standing collar is far more suited for wear in the warm weather and the look is not impaired by the added comfort, the Texas A&M expert adds.

ENGAGED

Sandra Niemantsverdriet

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Niemantsverdriet Jr., Lafayette, Ind., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sandra Lynn, to Melvin Joe Branch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Branch, 1928 Lynn. Wedding vows will be repeated Aug. 23 in Immanuel United Church of Christ, Lafayette, Ind. Miss Niemantsverdriet is a graduate of Jefferson High School in Lafayette, and attended David Lipscomb College in Nashville, Tenn., where she was a member of Tau Epsilon Sorority. Her fiancé, a graduate of Pampa High School, attended West Texas State University and the University of Texas. Both are employed at Camp Shiloh, Mendham, N.J.

Wash floor before waxing

Floors need to be washed before waxing. Only a surface which has been thoroughly cleaned with soap or detergent suds provides a good base for a new finish.

Our Views On Those Nine Constitutional Amendments

Voters throughout the entire state will consider 9 proposed constitutional amendments when they go to the polls Tuesday.

We have considered the amendments on the basis of preserving your freedom and give the following analysis:

1. To repeal the obsolete, superfluous and unnecessary sections of the constitution. This amendment would "update" the state constitution. We know of no cases that would reduce your rights. A YES vote is recommended.

2. To broaden the powers of the Texas Water Development Board and raise the authorized amount of Texas Water Development Bonds by $3,500,000. We realize that water is vital for the sustaining of life and the production of plants. But to set your sights on a 50-year program that will indent you, your future children, and your future children's children needs to be looked at very closely.

The Texas Water Plan offers only one means of developing adequate water resources. It also is not in accord with the neighboring states that the plan hopes to negotiate the purchase of Mississippi River water.

While various chambers of commerce have backed this amendment we cast our lot with the Committee of 1000 to oppose it. We recommend a NO vote.

3. Changes in legislative salaries, per diem, and travel pay. This would add to the cost of state government. An amendment was defeated last November that would have almost doubled the salary of a legislator. They are trying again. Salaries could be changed now and anytime in the future, without the voters' consent. In this day of continuing inflation, the voter should still be allowed to put on the brakes. We recommend a NO vote.

To exempt nonprofit water supply corporations. We do not believe that its passage would encourage the formation of the corporations and the development of water resources. We have always thought that where there is a will there will be a way. There are privately-owned water supply corporations presently paying into the tax system. They would not have this competitive edge against the nonprofit corporations. We

Romney's Housing Chatter

Substantial cost reductions in home construction are the goals of a program, "Operation Breakthrough," being launched with much fanfare by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

HUD secretary, George Romney, has expressed the hope that work-saving, money-saving short cuts in home building can be achieved by the industry through prefabrication, assembly-line methods and other innovations.

But in view of the building trades unions' long standing opposition to even the simplest forms of prefabrication," notes the National Federation of Independent Business, Inc. in its bulletin, "legislation against restrictive union practices might accomplish much more than the government's $20 million design program." Union strikes and product boycotts calculated to prevent builders from using cost-cutting materials and construction methods, are adding considerably to the prices of homes, the federation said.

The federation is undoubtedly right when it says that market place inhibiting union practices act to increase construction costs and, therefore, the prices charged for houses. Moreover, encouraged by a U.S. Supreme Court ruling which established that a Philadelphia carpenters' union had the "right" to boycott a builder who purchased ready-to-hang doors, unions appar-

The American Way

By D. R. SEGAL

This piece is about hospitals, a subject about which I am highly audible and profoundly ignorant. This doesn't trouble me especially because there are many things I am dumb about, some of them a great deal less incomprehensible than hospitals. Further, I suggest nobody really knows much about hospitals except the patients, and they are the one element almost never consulted. Patients are, really, a nuisance.

My credentials are not entirely lacking. I did several hitches on hospital boards, including a long jolt as chairman of the advisory board of a Roman Catholic hospital. I submit that the chairman of the board of a Roman Catholic hospital ranks, in the scale of usefulness, somewhere between a stud mule and a Baptist rabbi. This is not to say he is without purpose. If he is rather a stupid fellow, which I pride myself on being, he is sought out by the Conflicting Parties — to wit, the administration and the medical staff. The former considers the latter to be sophomoric and up tight about their government ticket to heal the sick, and the doctors feel the nuns aren't for real, if you know what I mean. No, check that. I am describing a condition which prevailed several years ago, and I am persuaded things have changed a lot since then. But in the old days the chairman of the board could depend upon getting an earful from the administration and the medical staff. Dedicated nuis, such as myself, tried earnestly to reconcile these differences, a process which got both sides mad at you.

Hospitals live in dread of something called the Joint Accreditation Committee, an Olympian group of self-confessed experts from the medical and hospital professions. They send around investigators who run their fingers over the pipes for signs of dust (pipes in hospitals, incidentally, are very bad form), poke around in Central Supply, check the conductivity of the floors in the operating room — and here's the big one! — check on the charts. There is nothing more important in hospitalizing than charts. I don't think the guy from the Joint Accreditation Committee would turn a hair at finding that the leading surgeon was using a hoe and shovel for gall bladders, as late as the charts were up to date. Passing the inspection of the JAC is like passing that kidney stone. Geronimo!

But, I digress. What I started to say was I think hospitals are becoming a thing of the past. Probably something better will take their place, but that's only a pious hope. The trouble is, nobody wants to do the kind of work that makes a hospital what it's supposed to be — a place that encourages the complete healing process. My friend Sister Mary Stanislaus, RSM, remembers when, as a young nurse, she'd rub patients' backs all night and never think twice about it. She's in her 70's now. Things have changed.

Nobody rubs backs. Instead, medical centers spring up and bright young plumbers and electricians hook you up to a heart-lung-whoee-burrp machine and, if you ask them what comes next, they either snarl "vrmblelix" at you or don't answer at all. That, in my view, is not healing; it's garage work, for mechanics.

I am not knocking all the Magic-Eye drinking fountains in the lobby of the beautiful new medical center; and I suppose there is a respectable rationale for keeping a human vegetable alive as long as medical ingenuity can arrange it, but what of the little nurses who, long years ago, rubbed your back and maybe even sang a few soul sad tunes through the long, terrible night. Maybe they lost more patients in those days, but I suggest that more of them went out with a smile than a grunt.

God bless you, all the Sister Stanislauses still in this world. In my heart, you'll never be replaced by machinists.

One Big Trouble With "Loopholes"

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

What's A 'Good Neighbor?'

By PAUL HARVEY

Two of our Latin-American neighbor nations are at one another's throats. Honduras and El Salvador have been fighting an undeclared war. At one point there were border penetrations more than 40 miles deep.

These noisy neighbors have irritated one another for years but the recent fighting was triggered by a disputed soccer game.

And when the shooting started, weapons supplied by the United States were used by both sides.

Within the last year the United States provided $800,000 in military aid to Honduras, $500,000 to El Salvador. American Corsairs have been dropping bombs on El Salvador. American Mustangs have bombed Honduras.

So again our well-intentioned intervention in the affairs of others has left both sides blaming us for their difficulties.

Many Latin-American nations prefer their traditional military solution to internal problems. It can be argued that military dic-

Clearing House

Got something you would like to "get off your chest"? That's what the "Clearing House" is for. It has been suggested there should be more letters to the Editor, that people should speak their mind. So, in the public interest, I will be the Editor and "get it off your chest."

Editor: It is not the intent to purge the man that is Ted Kennedy. That has been done by experts. To reflect upon the unfortunate individual, and even to add this foolish man, is the prerogative of all.

The Bible says, "He who lives by the sword, shall die by the sword."

Mr. Kennedy has used the hatchet on many people and can only expect to be repaid in kind.

The loud acclaim of approval, alleged to come in an overwhelming tidal wave, could prove to be another such as was experienced by Harry Truman, when he fired General MacArthur. It will be recalled that at first report, Mr. Truman was highly lauded.

The telegrams that were said to be in favor of the firing, had to move through human hands, and it finally developed that Mr. Truman had erred grievously.

It may be that the future will reveal that the praise that has encouraged Mr. Kennedy, will turn out to be a glory invented by those who are very closely tied to his future, and the Journalists who were constantly showing him forward.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT

Eating Too Fast a Cause Of Gas In Stomach, Bowel
Q — I have an excessive amount of gas after meals no matter what I eat. The non-prescription drugs I have tried have not helped. What do you advise?

A — Eating too fast and conscious efforts to belch cause you to swallow air. This increases the gas both in your stomach and your bowel. In addition to this, gas in the bowel comes from the fermentation of such foods as dry beans, corn, peas, potatoes and members of the cabbage family. When you eat a meal, the distention of your stomach puts added pressure on your lower bowel and increases the expulsion of gas.

Several preparations that contain methyloxytoloxane, some of them requiring no prescription, are now available. They have been a godsend to airplane pilots and astronauts in whom high altitudes favor the expansion of any gases contained in the body.

Q — After every meal I have rumbling and gurgling in my abdomen. I also belch a lot. Is this due to indigestion or an ulcer?

A — Your rumblings are caused by the movement of a mixture of gas and fluid in your digestive tract. They are not, in themselves, a sign of either disease but may be associated with various gastrointestinal disturbances.

Q — I am taking Librium for bloating and stomach upsets. Do you know of anything better for those conditions?

A — Librium is a tranquilizer. Although it may help to relieve a "nervous stomach," it will not remove the underlying cause which should be determined by your physician or a specialist in gastrointestinal diseases.

Q — Can the paternity of a child be determined through blood tests? If so, where are such tests made?

A — If an agglutination test of a baby's blood with the serum of the alleged father is negative, this would prove that the man is not the father. If the test is positive it indicates that the man may be the father but it is not proof thereof. This test can be made in any clinical laboratory.

Q — I have been taking Atromid-S for a heart condition. Do these tablets cause an increase in urination?

A — Not unless you use a lot of water to get them down.

Inside Washington

By ROBERT ALLEN and JOHN GOLDSMITH

Why McCarthy Won't Run Again — for Senate
WASHINGTON — Senator Eugene McCarthy's announcement that he will not run for re-election next year was strongly impelled by two key backstage factors:

(1) Direct word from former Vice President Hubert Humphrey that he would seek McCarthy's seat regardless of what he did; that is, Humphrey was prepared to fight his one-time Senate colleague for the Democratic - Farmer - Labor nomination. This unequivocal notice was served on McCarthy shortly before Humphrey went on his European trip.

(2) Increasingly strained relations between McCarthy and his wife Abigail. In the past several weeks, close family friends have been saying that a breakup of the 24-year marriage "appeared imminent."

It has been a more or less open secret for several years that the poetry-spouting Minnesota "peacenik" and his wife were at odds. During his presidential campaign last year, Mrs. McCarthy took virtually no part in it. In her few appearances, she occupied a hotel room of her own, and didn't arrive at the Democratic national convention in Chicago until it was well underway. She took no part in those turbulent proceedings, remaining in her room and meeting visitors there.

Friends have indicated that two factors kept the McCarthys from an open break: Both are devout Catholics; and the welfare of their four children — three daughters ranging from 13 to 21, and an 18-year-old son.

Now, however, according to knowledgeable friends, the long-strained ties between McCarthy and his wife have become so tense that they apparently are on the verge of separating. These sources are saying this "may occur at any time." Also that only "time will tell whether the split will be the first step to a divorce."

At one time last year, at the height of McCarthy's "peacenik" campaign for the presidential nomination, his wife notified him by long-distance phone that she intended to leave him. Close political associates and others hastily intervened and after urgent pleading prevailed on Mrs. McCarthy "not to do anything rash."

This incident was known to a few newsmen covering McCarthy, but they did not publish it.

THE CHALLENGE
Humphrey sent word to McCarthy of intention to run for his seat next year through several mutual political friends, one a leading Minnesota congressman.

McCarthy indicated he was not surprised by Humphrey's message. That was his only immediate reaction. He gave no hint of what he proposed to do. But shortly thereafter he told a group of Minnesotans that he would like to see Rep. John Blatnik, D-Minn., run for the Blatnik is a long-time close personal friend and strong political supporter of Humphrey. In political circles, McCarthy's maneuver was immediately viewed as a not-subtle attempt to cause a rift between Humphrey and Blatnik. Soon after the episode, Blatnik emphatically let it be known he had no intention of running for the Senate and was "100 per cent for Hubert Humphrey."

While McCarthy's announcement that he is quitting the Senate was unexpected, particularly as it was made an hour or so before the splashdown of the Apollo 11 moon-walking astronauts, it was not wholly a surprise.

For more than a year and a half the Minnesota "peacenik" had virtually been on a self-granted "leave of absence" from the Senate.

Last year, out of 339 record votes in the Senate, covering a wide range of domestic and foreign issues, he was present for only 12. The rest of the time he was running for President, vacationing on the French Riviera as the guest of a multi-millionaire New York investment banker, covering the World Series for a magazine for $5,000, lecturing for fancy fees, operating at fund-raising dinners and peacenik rallies, and performing at "poetry readings."

This year, McCarthy's voting record has been somewhat better. On most major issues he has shown up for the decisive ballot. He was notably present to vote for the $12.500 increase in pay.

But despite his clangorous crusading against the Vietnam war and "military industrial complex" last year, he has completely ignored the long and stormy Senate battle over the Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system. As one liberal colleague derisively remarked, "Gene has been conspicuous by his non-attendance."

Not only has he taken no part in the eventual debate, he has given no sign of the slightest concern over the outcome of the fight. Anti-ABM leaders claim they have assurances from him that he will show up to vote with them. But that's all.

Graphically illustrative of his attitude toward his official duties is the following incident: Several weeks ago, while the Senate was considering a multi-billion dollar supplemental appropriation measure, Democratic Floor Leader Mike Mansfield rose and demanded that the presiding officer restore quiet and order. Mansfield indignantly exclaimed, "We can't bear what's going on. There is too much noise and confusion on the floor. I ask that all persons not engaged in meaningful and constructive work be asked to leave the chamber."

As the presiding officer rapped the gavel and called for order, McCarthy, who had been sitting idle and relaxed at his rear-row desk, rose, and turning to a neighboring colleague, remarked chucklingly, "I guess that includes me. I'm not doing anything meaningful and constructive, so I might as well leave."

And that's exactly what he did. McCarthy ambled into the nearby Democratic cloakroom, had one of the pages bring him several newspapers and busied himself for the next half hour reading them. Then he departed and hasn't been back since.

A LOOK AT THE BOOK

By DR. BOB JONES

His Sweet Will
God never asks a man to give up something without giving him something better in return. God called upon Abraham to leave his country and his kindred and his father's house. God asked this man of prominence and of wealth to turn his back on the friends of his childhood and the home of his youth and follow Him without knowing where he was to be led, and by faith Abraham obeyed and went out, not knowing whither he went" (Hebrews 11:8).

Because he was willing to give up the fellowship of the moon worshippers of Ur, he enjoyed the companionship of God. Because he was willing to leave the land of his parents, God gave to him for himself and for his children the land of promise. Because he thought more of doing the will of God than abiding in ease in Ur, he became the father of the faithful, the one from whose seed Messiah came. Abraham was blessed in his obedience and became a blessing to others, as he obeyed. The man who chooses to do the will of God and who obeys the command of the Lord is always blessed himself and is always a blessing to others. He becomes the instrument through which God's blessing can be poured out and it made joyful in being thus used. There is more happiness in being a missionary than in being a millionaire if the one is a missionary in obedience to the will of God and the other a millionaire because he failed to obey the God Who wanted him to be a missionary. God's call is always to self-denial and self-restraint. God's call is sometimes to privation and suffering. Privation and suffering in the will of God with the blessing of His abiding presence and in the light of His face bring a thousand times more joy and contentment and peace than can be found in the accumulation of wealth and a life of ease out of the will of God.

Q — I occasionally entertain customers by taking them on a fishing trip. Can I deduct anything for the cost of operating my boat?

A — Unless you use the boat more than half the time for business purposes, only gasoline, oil, and other out-of-pocket expenses incurred during the trip for it may be deducted. If the boat was used more than 50 percent for business, a portion of your costs of operating the boat, such as depreciation, repairs and general operating expenses, may be taken as a business expense.

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—These are the dog days of television—the days of August.

Almost nothing happens on the home screen. And I've been thinking how nice it would be if the networks just went off the air—completely, period—each August, to create the pause that refreshes.

No—deadly reruns, no glazed eyes, no weary deodorant ads, no nasal-voiced ugly housewives in detergent commercials, no smoking ads of people puffing themselves to a cigarette death with smiles on their faces because they are getting paid for it by a manufacturer.

It might almost cause a real anticipation, an excitement, if the screen went blank for a month, and then resumed with fresh shows as the new season got under way in September.

In Hollywood, the stars are working on their new shows. They give out the same old interviews with the same old nothing to say.

And in the end, the only thing that matters is what they do on the screen. The results are all that counts, and there are no results in August.

Except one, maybe. That would be Merv Griffin's new late-night series on CBS-TV, which bows in on Aug. 18 opposite Johnny Carson and Joey Bishop. The chief interest will be how it does in the ratings against Carson and Bishop.

The more interesting television news in August is in New York. For the top executives in New York are planning ahead, over the long range, with the immediate pressure of ratings still six weeks off.

And it is there, also, that the news and documentary people are getting things together, and when you talk to them it is not the same thing as talking to performers selling a show.

MULTIPLE LISTING SERVICE (MLS) PROFESSIONAL TRAINING

(One in a series of messages)

Whether you are buying or selling you need the services of a trained and experienced Realtor. The Brokers and Salesmen of Multiple Listing Service are required to attend training sessions several times each year to keep abreast of the ever changing real estate market. They are members of Professional Organizations, Replacement Cost, Discounts, Interest Rates, Association of Realtors. Normally the average buyer or seller has had little or no experience in the sale of Real estate.

Here are some of the items that need attention when buying or selling real estate: Contracts, Equity, Appraisals, Replacement Cost, Discounts, Interest Rates, Abstract Examination, Clear Title, Loan-Assumption, Earnest Money, Closing Statement, Neighborhood and many, many others. Your trained and experienced Realtor and salesmen will advise you of these and many other items in the purchase or sale of real estate.

Each transaction is different and the M.L.S. trained members are at your service to advise you so that the sale or purchase can be made with the least amount of difficulty to you. Each week M.L.S. members meet to discuss the properties listed and arrange a tour of the properties so members will be up to date on what is available in the various price ranges and different parts of Pampa.

USE A PROFESSIONALLY TRAINED MEMBER OF MULTIPLE LISTING SERVICE WHEN BUYING OR SELLING REAL ESTATE. IT IS A HIGHLY SPECIALIZED BUSINESS.
