School Trustees Accept Increase In '69-70 Budget

Hike $285,349 Over Last Year's Budget

By WANDA MAE HUFF
News Staff Writer

Pampa school trustees today approved an operation expense of $3,627,460 for the 1969-70 school year and set 8 p.m. Aug. 21 for a public hearing.

The hearing will be held in Carver Education Service Center, 312 W. Alpert.

This year's budget reflects an increase of $285,349 over the 1968-69 school budget of $3,342,111.

As of press time, trustees had not gotten around to raising the tax rate that would allow the district to bear its share of the teachers pay raise approved in the recent session of the Texas Legislature.

Shortly after 12 noon today, trustees set a school tax rate of $1.90 per $100 evaluation of 40 per cent market rate. The market value will remain the same as it has been since 1962.

The new tax rate, subject to voter approval at an election to be called by trustees, is 15 cents more than the current $1.75 tax rate.

Pampa, Lefors Phone Numbers Undergo Changes

Telephone numbers will undergo several important changes in Pampa and Lefors Sunday improving Direct Distance Dialing Service and increasing the total number of prefix combinations.

"Prefixes will change from two letters and one number to three numerals, and some other digits in Pampa and Lefors telephone numbers also will change," said George Newberry, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company here.

In Lefors the prefix will convert from TErmina 4 to 834. The fifth digit of some current telephone numbers will change from 4 to 9. For example TE 4-2400 will become 835-2900.

"The last four digits of all other numbers in Lefors will remain unchanged," Newberry said.

In Pampa, the MOhawk prefix will be changed to 66, which is the same in dialing. However, there will be other number changes, Newberry said.

Numbers in the MO 44- group will become 665-8.

Numbers in the MO 44- group will change to 665-1.

All other MO 4 prefixes will change to 669. The last four digits of those numbers will be unaffected.

The DDD improvement involves elimination of use of Area Code 806 when dialing within the code area.

"Pampa customers will dial only '1' and the seven digit number for other telephones in the 806 Area," Newberry said.

"However, all other Area Codes must be dialed."

"The conversion to all number is part of a nationwide program," Newberry said.

About 80 per cent of the nation's telephones already have all numerals.

He said that all numbers increases by about 50 per cent the total of combinations that can be used for prefixes.

Newberry said the change of other digits in the telephone numbers is to provide for future service advancements in Pampa including the introduction of new numbers for Directory Assistance and Repair Service.

On September 21, Pampa directory assistance will become 411 and Repair Service will change to 4102.

Telephone directories with the new changes are being distributed, Newberry said.

Pampans Relieved By Cool Front

Pampans woke up this morning to a slight respite from a string of hot Texas days as a weak cool front cooled the morning air and lowered temperatures by more than five degrees.

The accompanying clouds and chance for showers should help scorch residents cool off even more for at least a couple of days.

The weak cool front pushed into the Panhandle early today dropping the temperature to 65 in Dalhart, but readings were expected to remain high in Texas with a few scattered showers as the front advances.

NO MATTER HOW hot it gets you'll always find activity on the golf course. Here Richard Ellis, the Top O' Texas tournament favorite, has just hit his drive while tournament chairman Elmer Wilson watches. All this in 102 degrees heat Wednesday. The Top O' Texas Tournament is scheduled Aug. 29, through Sept. 1.

Battle Continues In Ireland, Troops Move In

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Trucksload of Irish Republic troops were reported moving today towards the frontiers of Northern Ireland where days of street fighting involving Catholics, Protestants and police brought Northern Ireland close to civil war.

Reports from Dublin said trucksload of regular Irish army troops were moving through County Donegal toward Letterkenny, about 25 miles southwest of Londonderry, a pillaged city that reeled from gun and firebomb battles.

The spark of the Londonderry rebellion spread to nine other towns and cities in Northern Ireland and brought repercussions in London, Belfast and Dublin where the premier of the Irish Republic called for a United Nations peace keeping force.

The Irish Republic is predominantly Catholic and the six counties that form Northern Ireland are predominantly Protestant. The Catholic minority in the north has risen in rebellion against what it calls persecution and denial of civil rights.

There was no official comment on the Irish troop mission, but Irish military sources said they could be used to prevent incursions across the border or to protect the four field hospitals being set up on the frontier by 1,000 troops already bivouacked.

Murder Victims Buried Today

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—It was a day of farewell to the five victims of a shooting and stabbing rampage—a baffling, macabre mass killing at a secluded estate.

Sharon Tate, the young actress who leased the house with her husband, Director Roman Polanski, was eulogized at a service attended by about 150 persons.

In suburban El Monte, friends of Steven Parent, 18, bore his casket to a hearse. A Requiem Mass was offered for Abigail Folger in the San Francisco suburb of Portola Valley. Services for Jay Sebring were held at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Funeral arrangements for the fifth victim, Polish film Director Voitek Fokowski, were being made in New York.

Homicide detectives reported no new developments in the search for the killer or killers that cut the telephone lines to the home in Benedict Canyon and carried out an almost ritualistic mass murder.

Police declined to comment on rumors the victims were mutilated or on a report that they were searching for a friend of the estate caretaker, William Garretson, 19, arrested and then released for lack of evidence.

Polanski, who was in Europe at the time of the murders last Saturday, arrived in a car at the chapel at Holy Cross Cemetery in Culver City.

Psychiatrist To Testify Durbin Was Sane At Time Of Murder

AUSTIN (UPI)—Dr. David Wade, a private psychiatrist testifying as a state's rebuttal witness, probably will reiterate to the jury sometime today Clyde Durbin Jr. was sane at the time he was supposed to have killed two university students.

Wade, the second witness called by the prosecution after the defense rested its case Wednesday, told a jury Durbin "had the capacity to understand the nature and the consequences of his actions."

The last witness called by the defense, also a psychiatrist, said Durbin does not remember exactly what happened Jan. 8, the day the two students were killed.

The witness, Dr. Richard J. Alexander of Austin, said Durbin does not know whether he just went for a ride that day or whether he killed two persons.

Durbin is on trial here for the slaying of John Albert White, 21, of Corpus Christi. The 22-year-old university dropout also is accused in Burnet, Texas, of killing Keitha Jane Morris, 19, of White Deer, Tex. Miss Morris was White's picnic date the day the two were slain.

Texas Senate Writes New, Larger Tax Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The Texas Senate has written a $350 million tax package that includes far more business taxes than either Gov. Preston Smith or the House recommended, but still puts over half of the burden on consumers.

The eight-part plan was scheduled today for a final Senate vote that will send the tax bill back to the House. The House is expected to reject the Senate version and call for a conference committee to write a compromise.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes said he hoped the compromise could be passed by the middle of next week. That would leave four or five days for the legislature to tailor its spending to the amount of revenue available.

It also includes provisions allowing cities with local sales taxes to follow the state's lead in extending sales taxes to alcoholic beverages and telephones, phasing out the chain store tax beginning in 1972, and levying a $4 million stamp tax on real estate transfers to help tax assessors determine the value of property.

Hospital District Election Called By Commissioners

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

County Judge S. R. Lenning Jr. has called a special election for Saturday, Oct. 11, at which time Gray County voters may indicate their views on the creation of a hospital district that would encompass all of Gray County including Highland General and McLean Hospitals.

The action was called Wednesday afternoon by Gray County Commissioners.

Judge Lenning said permission for the special election was granted by the Texas legislature in 1965.

In calling the election, Judge Lenning said there are several advantages in creating a hospital district.

The small amount of ad valorem taxes that now goes to the state would stay in the county, also, he added, "it will do away with a duplication in our bookkeeping system. Now bills and records have to be approved by hospital, administrators and county commissioners."

"Creation of a hospital district would mean the hospital board would be elected by the people and this, in my opinion, would make the board more responsible directly to the people," he said.

Currently, the board is appointed by the commissioners' court.

"The hospital district, the way the law is written, will be approved by the voters."

ABA Officers Giving Top Priority To Judicial Ethics

DALLAS (UPI)—The incoming administration of the American Bar Association (ABA) is giving top priority to a new code of judicial ethics and guidelines for handling problems arising from campus unrest.

A third goal will be a complete reformulation of the standards for judicial administration, which have not been revised for 30 years.

Bernard G. Segal of Philadelphia made these announcements Wednesday as he assumed the presidency at the ABA annual dinner, the high point of the association's 72nd annual convention.

During the program, Illinois Supreme Court Justice Walter V. Schaefer received the ABA medal, the association's highest award.

New York City, Chicago Salute Astronauts

By United Press International

The nation's two largest cities Wednesday had the biggest parades in their histories, for the Apollo 11 astronauts.

Estimates were difficult, but at least two million persons in New York and a like number in Chicago gave Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins thunderous welcomes before the moon men went to Los Angeles for a state dinner with President Nixon.

A ticket parade is nothing new to New York. But there never was one like Wednesday's. "It was overwhelming," Mayor John V. Lindsay said. "It was the biggest ticket parade in New York City's history."

U.N. Secretary General Thant greeted the astronauts at the U.N. as men who "brought to us a renewed realization of what we, as members of the human race, can accomplish on this planet, if we are prepared to combine our efforts."

The astronauts landed at O'Hare International Airport at 2:04 p.m. and were brought to Michigan Avenue and Oak Street, where the parade began.

By the time they left, at 4:52 p.m., Collins no doubt was to feel he had seen every Chicagoan.

When they crossed the bridge over the Chicago River fireworks shot multicolored steams of water high into the air, and as the astronauts craned their necks one of the Windy City's breezes blew spray into their smiling faces.

It was welcome. It was hotter in Chicago than it had been in New York.

Skyrockets rose into the air and burst near the Goodspeed kump hanging overhead, with the words "From the Crew of the World's Slowest Columbia to the Crew of the World's Fastest Congratulations." The Apollo 11 command module was named Columbia.

Canadian Store Burglarized

CANADIAN (Staff) — A thief, apparently needing a smoke, shaved and cover for his hands, burglarized Miller Food Store here, sometime during the night.

Hemphill County Sheriff Jim Cloyd said someone broke into the store between 10 p.m. last night and 6 a.m. today by prying open the front door.

Cloyd said the thief passed over the cash box which held $40, a safe and took only 250 cartons of cigarettes, razor blades and work gloves.

"We're expecting a large crowd," Breeding said, "and early reservations will help in completing plans."

The man allegedly threatened Lennon's life when he couldn't marry one of his daughters. He also reportedly was once arrested by the Secret Service for threatening the life of President Lyndon B. Johnson for keeping him from marrying one of the sisters.

James Higbie, in charge of the murder case, said the unidentified man was not a suspect at this time but "we would like to talk with him."

Detectives said today, however, they have no firm suspect in the execution-style shooting of Lennon, 53, although there is an all-points bulletin out with the description of the assailant.

Lennon, who managed the career of his singing daughters, was gunned down Tuesday in the parking lot of the Marina Del Ray Golf Range where he worked as a pro.

The gunman shot Lennon in the back twice as he tried to flee, then ran up as Lennon sagged against a pole, put the 30-06 rifle to his temple and fired a third time. He escaped in a car parked nearby.

LENNON MURDER

Former Mental Case Thought To Be Killer

VENICE, Calif. (UPI)—The elder brother of William Lennon, slain father of the Lennon Sisters singing quartet, believes the killer is a former mental patient who harassed the family.

Detectives said today, however, they have no firm suspect in the execution-style shooting of Lennon, 53, although there is an all-points bulletin out with the description of the assailant.

Jimmy Lennon, elder brother of the victim and a well-known local boxing and wrestling announcer, said hours after the killing he believed the killer was a mental patient from Colorado.

At the present time, the hospital budget is greater than the total county budget. Judge Lenning said the hospital budget is annually over $1 million, whereas the remainder of county expenses is under $1 million. "Total employees at both hospitals number over 220, whereas other county employees average about 90."

Judge Lenning said the greater percentage of hospitals in the surrounding district have already adopted the hospital district plan for operation.

"We need to get our hospitals governed and managed by a board of directors that would be elected by the people and solely responsible to the people. Presently, it is too large an operation to be included in county business and should be set up to operate independently," Judge Lenning explained.

According to the statutes set out by the state legislature it would also be within the jurisdiction of the elected hospital board to levy an annual tax rate, since the hospitals would no longer come under the county tax umbrella.

FRIDAY, AUG. 15
Your birthday Friday: An eventful year of personal growth begins for you accompanied by changes in your intuitive powers and the opportunity for fine nuances of sensory experience. Friday's natives have a natural ability for making money but frequently a complete aversion for the chores involved.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You have mixed going Friday; some people help and others seem determined to hinder. Use tact to best advantage.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Imagination pays off: think of short cuts for menial chores, use the extra time for creative actions. You will have plenty of suggestions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): The people closest to you resist your ideas more than others. Friday is productive of much that is new and useful — jot down items for later development.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Give and accept friendship. There is sound advice from mate, technical advice from fellow workers, family secrets disclosed, and neighborhood gossip to top it all off. Wait a bit before you pass any on — perhaps none should be repeated.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Continue adjusting to partnership operations, the sharing of responsibility. Small efficiencies add up over a period of time to sizable savings.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): New ventures thrive Friday, along with new relationships. Financing with reasonable limitations is available.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Confidential discussions could advance your career — just be sure you know precisely what you are talking about. Romance or married life now becomes intense.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Counseling may not be your regular activity, but you may get into it Friday. Use your intuition; try to reach beyond habit patterns. Expect your friends to run into differences of opinion requiring much patience from you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): All the odds and ends — get them done. Younger people are helpful. Think about the ways you scatter energy, and resolve to streamline your work.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): If your contract is not settled early, relax and try for another date. Much time is taken up talking about journeys that may never materialize. There is good news.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): It may seem that the time has come to make an abrupt move, but be sure your partner understands and agrees first. Your imagination is profitable in business Friday.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): The one thing at a time approach is better in your work for a moment. Start the planning of your weekend early, get all the routine chores out of the way.

Pampa Rainbows Slate City-Wide 'Nylon Roundup'

About 30 members of Pampa Order of Rainbows will conduct a "stocking roundup" Friday and Saturday in residential sections of Pampa to collect used nylons for the statewide Rainbows project.

"Each girl will identify herself as a member of the Pampa Order of Rainbows, Chapter 95, and will explain the stockings are to be used to stuff toys for children's hospitals and make pressure pillow for cancer and burn patients," Carrie Rogers, worthy advisor, said.

"After the girls finish their collections the stockings will be sent to a state office of Rainbows for distribution where they are needed. If anyone has stockings she wants to contribute to the drive and is not contacted, she may call me at MO 5-5029, or the worthy advisor, Mrs. Della Reeves, at MO 5-3423," Miss Rogers said.

Hostesses Honor Pampan At Shower

Mrs. Buddy Cockrell was honored recently at a baby shower in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Harvey, east of Pampa. Members of the Hi Plains Club and neighbors of Mrs. Cockrell were guests.

The serving table, covered with a lace cloth, featured a tall stork with a pink snapdragon floral arrangement. Mrs. Jim Philpott presided at the crystal punch service.

Those attending included Mrs. O.H. Ingram, Mrs. Holly Gray, Boyd Brown, Joe Burton, Kint Philpott, Jack Denton, Joe Massengale, Vinson Shaw, and Tom Henderson, Earl Smith, John Spearman, E. R. Wood, G.M. Walls and Wilbur Walls.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a fighting man in Vietnam with a problem that bothers me more than the enemy.

First, let me explain that there are six of us guys in one dwelling. We have a young Vietnamese girl who comes in every day to make our beds, clean up the place and do our laundry. For this, we each pay her $6 a month.

Well, I have been taking pictures of the natives, the country and other things of interest here, and have sent these pictures to my girl for safekeeping, as the rain and heat here are hard on pictures.

Abby, I thought nothing of sending a picture of this little Vietnamese home to my girl with some other pictures. Well, my girl got the wrong idea and she wrote me a nasty letter saying if I was going to "play around" with native girls she was going to start dating, too!

I haven't "played around" with anyone. This girl is a poor, little quiet servant and means absolutely nothing to me!

I wrote and explained this to my girl back home and she never even answered my letter. Please help me before something real bad happens.

IN DEEP TROUBLE
DEAR IN DEEP: Write to your girl again and tell it to her like you have told it to me. And get those buddies of

PARTY PUNCHERS

Summer Coolers Fill Dinner Gap

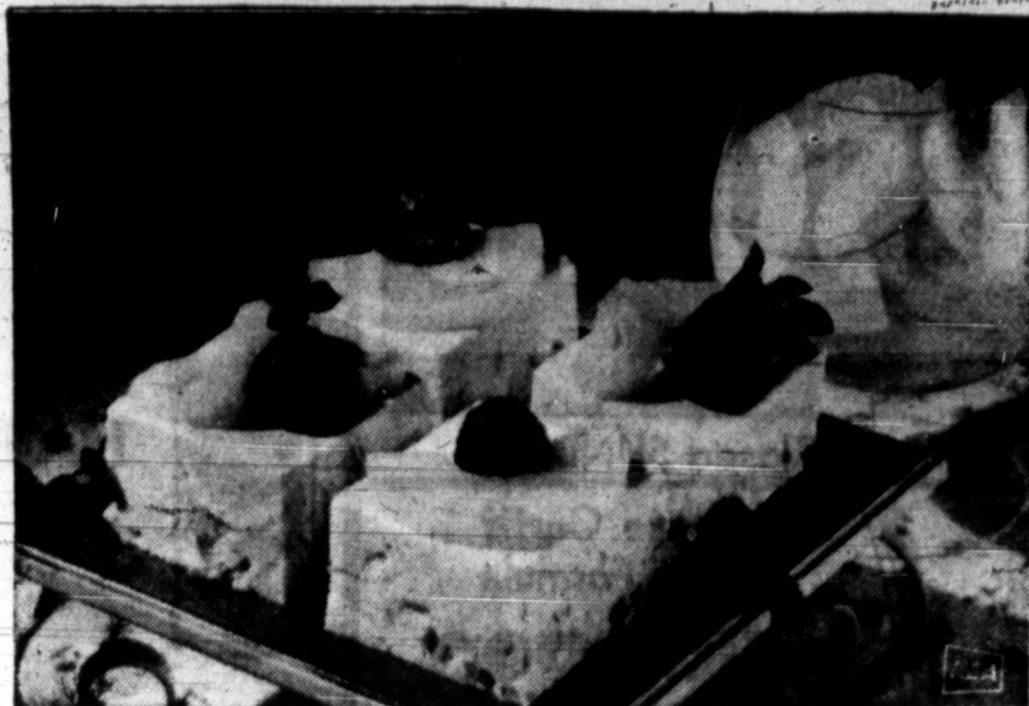

Summer coolers go a long way to soothe heat-irritated nerves and fill in gaps before dinner is served. Here are three nonalcoholic drinks to suit most palates. They are good for impromptu parties, too.

SHING-A-LING PUNCH
1 can (6 oz.) frozen-concentrated tangerine juice, thawed
1 can (6 oz.) frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed
3 cans water
3 cans milk
2 teaspoons aromatic bitters
3 tablespoons sugar
orange sherbets or vanilla ice cream...
Thaw juices. In a punch bowl,

Mix together tangerine and orange juice with water and milk. Stir thoroughly. Add aromatic bitters and sugar. Stir thoroughly. Chill until ready to serve. Add scoops of orange sherbet or vanilla ice cream.

CHOCOLATE REFRESHER
Mix 1 can (9 1/4 oz.) chocolate frosted shake with one teaspoon aromatic bitters. Pour into container with tight-fitting lid and shake vigorously. Fill tall glass with mixture.

COOL NECTARS
Mix together 1 can (5 1/2 oz.) pear nectar and 1 can (5 1/2 oz.) apricot pineapple nectar. Add 1 teaspoon aromatic bitters. Pour tall glass 3/4 full and add sparkling water.

Low-calorie pineapple cheesecake pleases dieters.

Lower-Calorie Ingredients Prevent Dieters From Sacrificing Dessert

Those who eat desserts suffer the most when trying to lose a pound or two in this weight-conscious era.

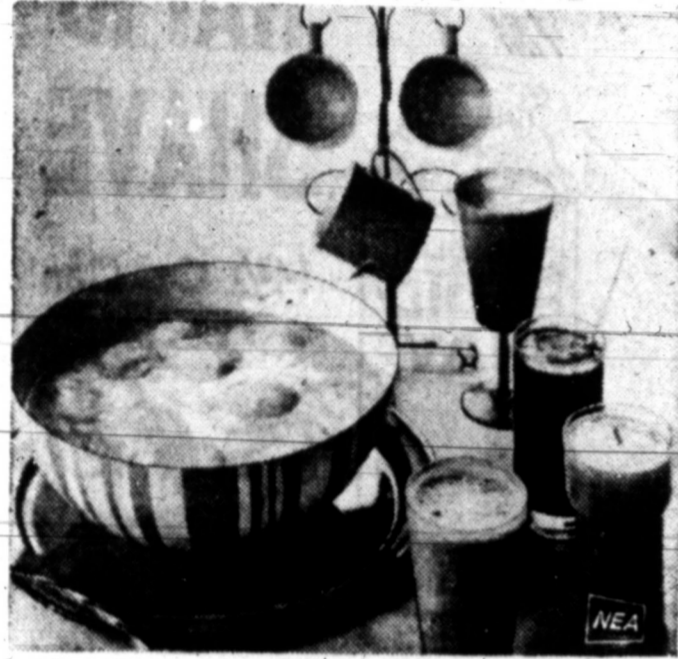

MINI-CAL PINEAPPLE CHEESECAKE
1 cup small curd creamed cottage cheese
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup low-calorie cranberry juice cocktail
1 cup low-fat pineapple yogurt
3 tablespoons low-calorie granulated

sweetener
2 cans (14 1/4 oz. each) low-calorie pineapple slices, drained
1/2 cup evaporated milk, well chilled
Red food coloring
12 strawberries...

Beat cottage cheese in small bowl at high speed until very creamy. Soften gelatin in 1/4-cup cranberry juice. Bring 1/4-cup cranberry juice to boil; stir in gelatin until dissolved. Beat gelatin, yogurt and sweetener into cheese. Chop pineapple, reserving 6 slices for garnish. Beat evaporated milk at high speed until soft peaks form. Fold pineapple, whipped milk and food coloring into cheese mixture until smooth. Pour into 8x8x2-inch pan. Refrigerate until set, about 4 hours. Cut into 12 servings. Garnish with pineapple half and a strawberry. Makes 12 servings.

Washington Report

Bob Price
Member of Congress

During debate on the tax reform bill on the House floor last week, the Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Congressman Wilbur Mills, related an incident which I want to pass on to you. The Chairman said that an acquaintance of his for a number of years deliberately set out to see how much taxation he could avoid during the year 1968 through the use of tax shelters and loopholes. In 1967 he had paid taxes of about $160,000 and he would try to escape any taxes whatsoever on $300,000 the following year. He devised a system based on the use of two kinds of shelters: interest deduction and excess depreciation. Through a series of maneuvers he would end up not only owing nothing but entitled to a $10,000 refund.

The need for tax reform became apparent several years ago with the news that in 1966 there were 154 individuals in the United States with incomes of over $200,000 — including 21 with incomes of over $1 million — who paid no taxes whatsoever.

A total of $6.8 billion will be realized by the Treasury because of the tightening of the various loopholes and tax shelters. But this will be more than offset by the $9.2 billion in tax savings for low and middle income families.

Here, briefly, are the provisions, as presently written, and how they will affect those families and individuals whose incomes are in the $5,000 - $15,000 class. First, an increase in the standard deduction from 10 per cent to 15 per cent by 1972, while the ceiling on this deduction is gradually raised from $1,000 to $2,000. Thirty-four million taxpayers will benefit. Taxes will decline by as much as 6 per cent in the $5,000 - $15,000 class for adjusted gross income, and by more for those in the $3,000 - $5,000 class.

Second, an across-the-board cut in individual tax rates, starting in 1971. By 1972, taxpayers at all income levels will find their taxes reduced by about 5 per cent.

Third, an extension of head-of-household benefits to single people 35 years of age or older, as well as widows and widowers. Full income-splitting rights would go to widows and widowers with dependent children. The head-of-household provision will allow affected individuals to enjoy a part of the lower tax rates available to married persons filing joint returns.

In our treatment of single people we are taking care of an inequity that has been in the law for a long time by giving them head-of-household treatment which, I believe, is tremendously important to millions of Americans. Widows or widowers, supporting a dependent child in their home, could make full use of the joint return, or income-splitting advantage, until the child is 19 or completes his college education.

In colloquy on the floor, Representative Mills assured the Members of the House that the revised code would pose no particular problems for the average farmer. For certain special provisions, which are in the bill, to apply to a farmer he must have at least $50,000 of non-farm income a year and even then the provisions only apply to farm losses to the extent they exceed $25,000 a year.

While there were certain provisions of the bill with which I did not agree, such as the reduction of the statutory depletion allowance on oil and gas and changes in the present tax status of municipal bonds, I do think the good factors of the bill far outweigh the mistakes, and I supported final passage.

Because of the oil and gas depletion provision — which was an emotional issue drummed up by big city interests — I did vote for a motion to recommit the bill in the hope the Ways and Means Committee would see its error and remove this section. Unfortunately the recomittal motion failed.

We do have a basically good bill, however, and I am hopeful the Senate will retain its strong provisions.

I was pleased to have as visitors to my Washington Office the following people: Mr. and Mrs. Gene Sidwell of Pampa, and their granddaughters Cynthia Sidwell of Pampa and Sarah Fatheres of Miami; Mr. and Mrs. Jack M. Bullock of Canyon; Mayor J. E. Chisholm of Littlefield, Glenn Cowser of Amarillo, Cotton Whitley of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. James O'Connor of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cantu; and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Odum of Pampa and their children Linda and Elaine Odum.

The paper and printing of my newsletters are not paid for at Government expense. They are paid for by myself and contributions from those who wish to be kept informed on Congressional activities in this manner.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The market atmosphere has improved, but investors should not throw caution to the winds and jump aboard some of the glamor stocks that were given a ride this week, Bache & Co. advised.

Value, as measured by price-earnings multiple levels, must be the keynote in any buying program, the firm said.

If there is anything the stock market likes less than fiscal uncertainty, it is the suspicion that a political fight over money has broken out between the White House and Congress and is prolonging fiscal and monetary uncertainty, said the Janeway Service.

The recent slump in the stock market possibly reflects a growing expectation in the business community that the pace of business activity will indeed moderate in the months ahead, according to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

But while there are signs of slowing in some sectors of the economy, there is little evidence that financial restraint has as yet sufficiently dampened the excessive pace of economic activity, the N.Y. FED said.

There is no clear-cut answer as yet to the question of whether the stock market has discounted the anticipated economic slowdown. Goodbody & Co. said. However, market weakness in recent months discounts, at least to a substantial degree, any decline in general business and corporate profits that is likely to occur, the firm said.

ARRESTED AT PENTAGON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three men and a woman were arrested at the Pentagon Wednesday, the anniversary of the Hiroshima A-bomb, after they read antiwar statements in a hallway outside the office of Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird. The four were identified as Barbara Reynolds, until recently a director of the Quaker Action Center in Hiroshima; Bert Andersen, New Hope, Pa., and James Peck and Elwood Gottlieb, both of New York City.

Pampans Give $210 To Local Boy After Leg Amputation

It has been about four months since Robert W. Carter received the injury to his left leg that would cause it to be amputated Monday.

Bobby Wilson, assistant manager of the Coronado Inn, returned Tuesday from a visit to Carter at the El Paso hospital to give him $210 donated by friends and concerned Pampans.

"He's in great shape," Wilson said. "He's really feeling good."

Carter, son of Mrs. Eldin B. Carter, 2221 N. Christy, received the second war injury to his left leg with only 58 days left in his tour of duty in Vietnam.

The 21-year-old helicopter crew chief, who has been awarded several medals in the war, received the Distinguished Flying Cross and was credited with saving the life of his pilot and craft during hostile action last April.

But during the action an MK 47 machine gun bullet ripped through his left leg severing the main artery.

Carter was sent to William Beaumont Hospital in El Paso where doctors tried several times to graft the artery back. In the last operation Carter lost circulation to the foot and lower leg and doctors decided the leg would have to be amputated a few inches below the knee.

Last week employees of the Coronado Inn where Carter had been employed, began a drive to raise money for Mrs. Carter to go to El Paso to be with her son during the operation.

Within a couple of days $61 had been raised and was given to Mrs. Carter who left for El Paso Aug. 6. Wilson took an additional $210 to Mrs. Carter Friday.

Among the donations has been a jar full of change presented by two teenage girls.

The girls had collected the money, $19.20 in downtown stores.

When they brought the money in to the Coronado Inn they said that they didn't know Carter, but since he had fought for them, they thought they should do something for him.

The donations should take care of Mrs. Carter's room and traveling expenses, Wilson said. Further donations will help pay for the phone bill Mrs. Carter has accumulated.

"Her room and stay there has been paid for," he said. "I want to be sure and pay her phone bill here."

But the help the money gave

Mrs. Carter was not as great as the lift the community interest gave to her son.

"At first Bob didn't know what it was all for," Wilson said. "But when he heard what we were doing, he said it made him know it was worth it."

Carter will return to Pampa in two to three weeks then return to El Paso to have an artificial limb installed. Then he'll come back and report to the Veteran's Hospital in Amarillo, Wilson said.

COULD BE MORE
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—"Take it off," the crowd yelled. Mrs. Martha Freidl immediately swept the long cape from her shoulders and showed her 240 pounds. There could have been more to show.

Mrs. Freidl was crowned 1969 queen of TOPS Saturday night an honor she won for losing more weight—136 pounds—than any other woman in the competition. TOPS means "take off pounds sensibly."

Paper umbrellas folding
YODOEMACHI, Japan (UPI)—Popularity of European-style umbrellas has forced many maker of Japan's traditional paper umbrellas to close shop. Only five manufacturers remain in this center of the paper umbrella industry, where more than 30 firms once were in the business. Japanese umbrellas, made of bamboo and heavy oil paper, are sold mostly to hotels, which lend them to guests.

Art, Not Acid, Turns Him On

NEW YORK (NEA) — "LSD," smiled Paul Jenkins, wrapping the artistic fingers of his slightly paint-stained right hand lovingly around a Scotch sour, "is unnecessary and useless as far as I'm concerned. I've got so much of my own chemistry that I don't need anything else."

Jenkins, an artist who stands to the left of Norman Rockwell, to the far right of Jackson Pollock and as far as possible from Andy Warhol, strolled through New York's Martha Jackson Gallery admiring his own work and wondering what anybody else could see in it.

"We're all caught up in illusion," claims Jenkins, who doesn't mind having people second-guess the titles he slaps on his paintings. "The thing we have to decide is where we are and what is real. Sometimes I wonder."

It's Jenkins' opinion that the youth of America is missing a bet by passing up art in favor of drugs.

"The way I look at it," he says, stroking his beard, "getting involved with art is the logical way to extend your perception without turning on the acid. I've never had a bum trip to a gallery."

Be that as it may, Jenkins is aware that kids are turning on all over the country which, he can't do an awful lot about.

"It takes courage to look life in the eye," he says, "but it's easy to shut it out with the aid of various things. People of my generation did it with booze. People of the 'now generation,' if you'll pardon the expression, use drugs instead. They may see some very pretty pictures, but they don't last very long. You can't hang them on the wall for your friends to admire."

Or can you?

To find out, we brought in our own expert, an East Village "underground communications expert" named Phil who admits to having turned on with everything from LSD to airplane glue.

"Personally," he says, squinting through his shades to get a better look at a Jenkins offering. "I see a close relationship between this type of stuff and one thing I see when I'm flying. I recall them visions and I did hang one up once — nailed it right to the wall — but the next day it was gone. There are lots of art thieves in my neighborhood."

As far as Phil knows, he explains, no one has ever successfully captured a "vision" on canvas.

"I know a guy who tried," he says, chomping on a candy bar, "but he ended up with a pure black canvas. That must have been an awfully dull trip. I titled it 'The Day They Got Even With Me For Not Paying the Electric Bill,' but the guy threw it away."

Jenkins, who would like to get inside Phil's head to get a look at one of his visions, probably would not paint it even if he could.

"It would be unfair," he says, "and no matter how I tried it would never be quite right. We all have a right to our own frame of reference and we just don't see things the same way. I've never really seen a Rubens nude and I've been looking for one for years. Even if I thought I'd found the perfect young lady, I'd have to check with Rubens, and he died in 1640."

As Jenkins sees it, "Art is what you think it is. It's all in the mind. Even lack of art can be art if you think it is."

Which is why this story has no illustration.

ELIMINATES RATTLE

Space Research Spinning Off Some Down-To-Earth Research

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When the astronauts returned from the moon they made what is referred to as a soft landing. The national return from that same trip has in some cases been harder — like thud.

Public reaction has not all been favorable. Most people seem impressed — but as the novelty cools down, one question is heating up:

"Was it worth it?"

The expense of the moon journey — $22.5 billion — is beginning to prick people who feel they are suffering enough from the price of milk. And strapped taxpayers everywhere want to know if space will ever be profitable.

Space officials are increasingly answering in the affirmative. Besides the scientific and prestige benefits, they say, the public is already earning handsome monetary dividends from rocket exploration.

Robert Jastrow, director of the Goddard Institute for Space Study, gives perhaps the most encouraging report on material profits. Says he:

The Crazy World of Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Odds and ends from the nation's capital — mostly odd:

Crusty Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, who takes insults with all the relish he displays in dishing them out, carried in his newsletter to the folks back home an item titled "Orchid from a Constituent."

It related that one Forrest Jordan of Columbus had read about Young — at 80 still trying to live up to his name — taking a fall on the tennis court.

"I was deeply depressed," Jordan wrote the senator, "to hear that you had broken your finger while playing tennis."

"It should have been your neck."

Wayward Words:

The National Academy of Sciences distributed a collection saying a line in one of its releases should have read: "Congressionally designated underdeveloped regions instead of congressionally underdeveloped regions."

Administrator Thomas O. Paine of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration told the National Press Club of a letter he received from a woman apparently concerned that the Apollo 11 landing might have polluted the lunar surface.

"She accused me of raping the moon," he said.

"But then she noted that part of the module roughly resembled a crucifix, and said that made her feel a little bit better."

Someone in Paine's audience apparently mistook that President Nixon's name was on that plaque implanted on the moon, submitted a written question:

"What are your plans now for astronauts Armstrong, Collins, Aldrin and Nixon?"

Paine neatly sidestepped, grinning:

"For Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins, all the world attention opens up brilliant political careers."

"As for Nixon, since he's my boss, it's difficult to say precisely what I have in mind for him."

Another bit of lore from the National Geographic Society:

"Indians ate it. English gardeners planted it, farm boys play in it, and foreigners escape it."

"But poison ivy annually makes millions of Americans miserable with ten-day bouts of blisters and red itchy rash. So widespread it thus toxodendron radicans that it jokingly has been proposed as the country's national plant."

"Air Force plans to procure lox from commercial sources," said the heading in the record on House Defense appropriations hearings.

Doesn't mean they'll be going to the delicatessen, but to makers of liquid oxygen.

TEMPEST IN TEAPOT

COVENTRY, England (UPI) — Some 200 car assembly line workers staged a wildcat strike Thursday over who should tighten two screws on the redesigned dashboard of a compact sedan.

thing up, we'd find that we are already getting as much money out of space research as we are putting into it. In agriculture alone, the estimate is we have increased our yields $2 billion a year because of improved (satellite) weather forecasting. And I believe that these earnings will double in the next few years."

As it happens, Robert Jastrow is one of the few men in space authority who will attach dollar specifics to immediate space dividends. Most of his peers, though boundlessly optimistic about economic benefits of the cosmos, will mention figures only when talking about the future.

Dr. A. B. Clark, assistant to the director of research for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, says he "could not begin to estimate" whether farmers are significantly profiting from space today.

But he adds emphatically:

"We have made detailed studies as to what extent an expanded space technology program could help agriculture. Our findings have been that the return of such a program would be about five to one; that is, for every dollar we spent on it we'd get about five dollars back."

But though most space officials, like Dr. Clark, talk about money only when talking about tomorrow, they do not discount the probability that, as one NASA leader says, "We are earning some hard cash right now."

These earnings, they explain, come mostly from "space spin-offs" — the commercially applicable by-products being continually born in space study laboratories.

A NASA department, called the Technology Utilization Division, reports that over 3,000 such spin-offs are now in the public domain.

Some of them:

For the home: The sealing is being used to plug up gaps in window sashes; paint, used as space thermal cooler (up to 1,300 degrees) also gives years of maintenance-free protection to house siding; techniques used to prepare food for astronauts also are finding their way into kitchens in the form of freeze-dried edibles such as coffee.

For the sick: A six-legged machine invented for moon exploration has been redesigned as a walking chair for crippled kids; computer techniques used to enhance TV pictures from space are being used as ray boosters; sensors designed to measure air pressure can now be injected into human arteries (through hypodermic needles) to give vital blood pressure readings.

For industry: Electromagnetic hammers, which cause spacecraft metal to flow like soft plastic (to allow reshaping without stress) are now utilized by airplane and auto makers; filament-wound plastics, strong as steel but nine times lighter, are being used by racing car makers; fuel cells are being used by public utilities to create more efficient electrical energy.

No one in the space administration can accurately estimate the currency worth of these space spin-offs. But each is available to the business community on a royalty-free basis, hundreds of firms are now utilizing some of the products commercially, workers have thus been hired to meet new demands — and, says on NASA man, "good money is definitely being made."

And this good money, officials add, can do nothing but grow.

"Look at what happened with the invention of the auto and air travel," says space pioneer Dr. Werner von Braun. "Entire new industries were born and have now become a vital part of the nation's economic structure. I think the same thing will happen in the 'space industry.' One day we'll realize we never could have gotten along without it."

Bicycle Safety A Must For Texas Roadways

Although summer is about over — as far as carefree young bicycle riders are concerned — bicycle safety is still a must for our Texas streets and highways.

And with school time approaching, many students will be pedaling their way to classes — and in many cases, in all kinds of weather.

The Texas State Department of Health suggests that you remember that there are rules and regulations for bicyclists. It's important that parents instruct their children in the "right" method of bicycling. Somewhere in the neighborhood of 600 bicyclists annually lose their lives when in collision with motor vehicles. There are more bikes being ridden now than ever. Children learn to ride at an earlier age and more adults have taken to biking for exercise and recreation.

Failure to observe traffic laws contribute heavily to accidents involving bicycles, and more than half of the accidents occur at intersections.

For safety while riding, here are some tips for bicyclists: A skillful bicycle rider always has his bike under control, has both hands free to steer and never rides too fast or too far.

The cyclist must develop skill in balancing and pedaling to avoid swerving, hitting a fixed object or running off the roadway. Parents should make certain their children are skilled before sending them off into traffic.

Hand signals should be used by cyclists as well as motorists. Bike riders should avoid crowding between cars or between an automobile and the curb at stop signs.

Doubling up on one bicycle is dangerous and illegal. Never hold onto a moving vehicle and don't attach the bike to a vehicle.

Always ride single file. Trick riding or strutting is always dangerous. Riders of hill-risers are especially cautioned against making the bike rear up and riding on back wheels only, or jumping the bike over obstacles.

SPIKE TURNS UP

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — The Nevada Silver Spike, used 100 years ago to join the Transcontinental Railroad at Promontory Point, Utah, has turned up after being missing for 12 years.

Nevada officials said they were informed Thursday it had been found in the Stanford University Museum in a metal filing cabinet. It will be put on display at the museum.

Catfish Out For A 'Stroll'

After a rainstorm, Vernon Ogilvie spends the night driving and looking for walking catfish out for roadside strolls.

Vernon, a biologist on the staff of Florida's Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, is an expert on this land-prowling menace.

His current opinion: the walking catfish, a former pet tropical fish gone wild, is more of a threat than ever.

Its habitat has increased until it encompasses West Palm Beach where Ogilvie resides. There is evidence that the species nested productively this year and he finds a new wave of juveniles.

In the fish's mobility lies its threat. Earlier reports were that it invaded land using its peculiar air-breathing apparatus in order to satisfy its voracious appetite. From the frequency of observation by the public in the spring, it appears also that the catfish uses its wriggling locomotion to hunt out sheltered waters for spawning — thus increasing its range.

Clarias batrachus (its scientific name) can grow as long as 18 inches. It is a bully, subduing the more valuable native fish. It is even hard to poison in a body of water because it can simply walk away. It sleeps days, is active at night.

Tennessee is worried enough for its game and fish commission to take up the subject of erecting defenses. Eob Burch of the department says Tennessee weather is probably cold enough to keep what was originally an Asian tropical fish from getting through Tennessee winters. But they're taking no chances.

One strange note: The walking catfish is a valuable beast right at this stage. Vernon Ogilvie is so busy sending the ones he captures during his night forays to other biologists who want to study them that he can not repeat an earlier test on whether the fish is tasty on the platter.

He said he fried a few early in his research and that he's sure most people would prefer the domestic catfish now being raised widely in southern commercial ponds.

Four thousand catfish farmers sold 12 million pounds of channel cats and blues last year and the crop is expected to go to 32 million pounds in 1972. Franchised chains of catfish eateries are sprouting.

The domestic catfish has its own invasion going. The United Fruit Co. accumulated brood stock and is trying to raise catfish as a farm crop in Central America.

Maybe there isn't too much danger from Florida's walking catfish. Already in this country we have a fish that, when the whim hits it, comes ashore for a stroll. Scientists report the freshwater eel frequently makes excursions on land in moist grass for considerable distances, the purposes of which are not understood.

Big eels can be met on pond paths in the East. This is a giddy encounter not easily forgotten by the human involved though the eel still goes about its business, breeding in the ocean vastness, spreading its floating larvae and remaining a fairly good citizen (though slimy).

TERMS AUTOMATIC

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The California Senate has voted automatic jail terms for persons convicted of repeated acts of prostitution.

Sen. Mervyn Dymally, D-Los Angeles, argued in vain the bill should require punishment of the customer as well as the prostitute.

Noting San Francisco sponsorship of the bill, Dymally said: "I'll tell you why San Francisco doesn't want to punish the customer. It's because it'll kill their convention business."

By United Press International: Chicken-turkey hybrids were produced at a U.S. agricultural farm in Beltsville, Md., in 1960. The "churks," as they were called, were bred from a Cornish chicken father and a Beltsville turkey mother.

New Sports Program Set For 7th Graders

National League East table with columns: W, L, Pct, GB. Teams include Chicago, St. Louis, New York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Montreal.

There will be no competitive sports in the Pampa and Lee Junior High seventh grades this school term. Pampa Athletic Director Swede Lee has installed a program for the seventh graders that he has had nothing but success with at Texarkana and Galveston. All seventh grade boys will be required to take a physical education class. The PE classes, instead of football or basketball, serves several purposes. Lee Junior High has an average of 150 seventh grade boys. There will be 75 boys coaches working with each in each class with three group. "First, said Lee, "it takes coaches three weeks to learn the names of the boys because there are so many and you never, in one season, learn all their names." "Second, he continued, "you don't have time to find out where a boy plays best. Just because a youngster, when he's in the seventh grade, looks like he might make a good tackle doesn't mean he will later on." "Third, boys that young are not ready for competitive physical contact and really don't learn much," he said. In this program, just one part of Lee's attempt to

"Many boys come into junior high somewhat frightened and feel they can't compete in sports," Lee said. "We hope that after they've gone through our program and find they can keep up with the other youngsters they'll find they like sports and will want to continue in this field," he stated. "Too, Lee stated, by these youngsters building up their bodies they won't be as prone to injuries later on." "With three coaches working with 75 boys the coaches will learn to know the boys and the boys the coaches," Lee concluded. Lee first tried this type of program in Texarkana in 1962. When the class reached eighth grade status, the two junior highs lost but one game, when they played each other. The same thing happened when they were freshmen. They were undefeated when they played each other.

The basketball team also won a state championship just to prove the roundball sport was not forgotten. As sophomores they finished 8-2; as juniors 9-1-1 and as seniors 9-2 or 8-1-1. In Galveston Lee's program bore fruit last season when the group of seventh graders he started on the PE classes completed a 10-0 season as sophomores. Lee is disappointed in one respect. He thought he would be the first coach in District 3-4A to start this type of program but has learned that Lubbock already does it. Another part of Lee's program that was sorely needed here is beginning to take shape. The curbs have been completed around the football field for the new track and it looks like the Dec. 1 deadline for having the track in and completed may be beat. The lights have been taken down at the field and new ones should go up pretty quick.

Pampa Golfers Split Matches In Seniors

BORGER (Staff) - Eight Pampa golfers split their matches Wednesday in the 35th annual Tri-State Senior tournament at Huber golf course here. Four of the Pampa group won matches to advance into second round play today while the other four were dumped into consolation brackets. Defending champion Frank Sparks of Pasadena, Tex. downed Lou Scallia, 7 & 6 and Medalist Spec Goldman of Fort Worth clipped Eddie Smith of Tishomingo, Okla. 3 & 2. Pampa's only championship flight player, Kyle Hall lost a close match to C. L. Duniven of Amarillo, 2 & 1. In the first flight Fred Neslage downed Harry Althouse, 1-up and R. A. Baker defeated John Williams by 3 & 2. C. F. McGinnis advanced to the second-flight semifinals with a 4 & 3 win over Frank Bailey. J. C. Ward downed Bob Lister of Oklahoma City, 4 & 3 in the third flight but J. D. Sneed clipped Mark Heath, 2 & 1. Both Pampa golfers in the fourth flight lost when Rural Sables was beat 3 & 2 by Hubert Harden and Paul Brown edged Hoyt Barber, 1-up. The 175 golfers continue match play today and conclude the tournament Friday with 18 holes of medal play.

Colts Face Oilers In Exhibition Test Friday

The Baltimore Colts should be a 17-point favorite over the New York Jets. They'll be going for their third straight victory of the exhibition season over an AFL club when they go to the Astrodome Friday night to meet the Houston Oilers. The Colts, who've already beaten two of the leading teams in the AFL's Western Division, Oakland and San Diego, now will attempt to beat the Oilers who were the second-place team in the Eastern Division last year. So far, nine games have been played between the two leagues and the NFL has a 6-3 edge including the two Colt victories. Houston, which beat Buffalo in its only exhibition game, announced Wednesday it will have two lineup changes for the Colts. Ed Carrington will start at tight end in place of Alvin Reed, who is serving two weeks of military duty, and Tom Domres will start at right tackle in place of George Rice. The Oilers have one of the best cornerbacks in the business in Miller Farr but they have problems at the other corner where Moore is trying to replace Leroy Mitchell.

'Golden Bear' Nicklaus Draws Favorite's Role

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) - Jack Nicklaus, Ohio's own "Golden Bear" who tied the course record with a 35-31-66 in his final tuneup, was both the sentimental and actual favorite today for the first round of the $175,000 PGA golf championship at the lush National Cash Register Golf course. A field of 142 was set for the start of the 72-hole tournament even though the threat of a civil rights demonstration that might disrupt play continued to hang over the event. A handful of pickets from a so-called "coalition" of civil rights groups marched briefly outside the downtown Dayton offices of the Dayton Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, and a spokesman repeated previous warnings that "there will be demonstrations" at the course during the tournament. Defending champion Julius Boros, who delighted all the non-young golfers in the land when he plodded through the heat at San Antonio, Tex., last year to win the title at the record-setting age of 48, also is a sentimental choice here. Also drawing heavy support in the poll were Frank Beard, the top money winner on this year's pro trail with $155,187, Gary Player, the South African star who plays only a limited tournament schedule, and Dave Hill, the only golfer who has won three tournaments so far this year. Hill had a 67 in practice Wednesday. Also rated high in contention in pre-tournament figuring are British Open champion Tony Jacklin of England, always-dangerous Billy Casper, and Arnold Palmer, who is extremely determined to win at age 39 the only major championship he has not gained during his brilliant career.

Landry Plans To Use Roger Against 49ers

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (UPI) - Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry said Wednesday he hoped to play Roger Staubach for the first time Sunday against the San Francisco 49ers. The Cowboys held an hour-and-a-half workout at their training camp, concentrating on offense. Landry said Craig Morton and Staubach looked good, and Bob Hayes and Lance Rentzel turned in fine performances on the catching end. Guard Tony Liscio and cornerback Cornell Green were chosen honorary co-captains for Sunday's game.

Hollywood Reports

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—They call him Crazy George Schlatter on "The Rowan and Martin Laugh-In" because no sane man could produce such madness every week.

Schlatter has knocked about television for years producing specials, the late Judy Garland's series and other shows. He takes wry pride in the fact he has been fired by all three networks at one time or other—most recently by ABC-TV for "Turn-On," which most viewers quite rightly turned off.

It was a scheduled series with several episodes already filmed. But it was cancelled after a single airing. Airing is what it needed.

Undaunted, Schlatter sails on with the No. 1 show, "Laugh-In." He is resourceful, energetic and possessed of a maniacal sense of humor which surpasses that of most comedians.

Of all the wacky attractions on his show, few are more popular with Crazy George than the Flying Fickle Finger of Fate Award.

The award is made sporadically whenever Schlatter discovers what he considers "a gigantic stupidity."

Generally his selections come from obscure notes in the news, colossal blunders by people in high places, bungling politicians or simply guys who goof on the grand scale.

"The Fickle Finger of Fate is given gently," Schlatter said. "It is presented kindly and with good intentions. If it weren't for our award some of these magnificent contributions to humanity might go unnoticed."

As an example of imbecility, the award was given the California Legislature for allowing car dealers to sell new automobiles whose speedometers had been adjusted after what could be thousands of miles.

"The speedometer law was repealed," Schlatter said triumphantly. "And the news release quoted our Fickle Finger of Fate."

"We gave it to the voters of Youngstown, Ohio, for failing to pass a school tax levy, and after they were presented with the award the good people of Youngstown reversed their decision."

One night last season Schlatter deprived the City of Chicago of the award for its handling of the Democratic Convention.

Beneath the humor of the Flying Fickle Finger lies strong social comment which is made palatable by the show's stars, Dan Rowan and Dick Martin.

Unlike the Smothers Brothers, Schlatter does not believe in lecturing on his NBC-TV show for fear of boring or enraging some 50 million viewers.

"We must never become angry, mean or hostile," Schlatter said. "We say it funny and lightly. Nobody gets angry."

Television In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—In a few months a decade dies and NBC-TV is assembling a two and a half hour obituary of the 10 turbulent years of the Sixties that will also be a forecast of what the world can expect in the era that opens with New Year's Day, 1970.

Outside of the historic moon landing there is little to weep for as the Sixties depart.

Producer Robert Northshield, studying the material from reporters, who include every big name in the NBC news division, believes "From Here to the Seventies" will strike a more hopeful note for the next decade although its own great problems—hunger and population—are already clear and threatening.

The program is scheduled for Oct. 7 (8:30 p.m.-11 p.m. EDT) replacing "Julia" and "First Tuesday" for that night. And with time growing short Northshield was discovered checking

Glamor not needed

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Elmer Winter, president of Manpower, Inc., says his firm employs many part-time clerical workers in their 70s.

"Executives today are aware of the acute shortage of clerical help and aren't demanding glamorous," he says. "They are settling for just secretaries."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—While taking a course in salesmanship a few years ago, a chap named Frank Gray was visited by a rather devilish idea.

It occurred to him that the "principles and techniques" of selling could, with slight modification, "just as easily be applied" to seduction.

The ultimate result of these naughty ruminations was the recent publication of a handbook titled "Zcoremanship." Or so it says in the blurb prepared by Bantam Books.

I have an ingrown suspicion of book blurbs and I might ordinarily have dismissed this one as the product of an overwrought publicist.

By coincidence, however, it happened to arrive at time when I was shopping around for a used car.

After observing the "principles and techniques" of about a half a dozen used car salesmen, I came to the conclusion they would indeed make great lovers.

And had Don Juan and Casanova not expired before the advent of the automobile, both probably would have won free trips to Bermuda for leading their districts in used car sales.

To illustrate the point, I have taken a few lines from "Romeo and Juliet" and transferred them to a used car lot:

Customer: "How about this 1962 station wagon over here? Is it in pretty good condition?"

Salesman: "One fairer than my love! The all-seeing sun ne'er saw her match since first the world began. She hangs upon the cheek of night like a rich jewel. Her beauty makes this value a feasting presence full of light."

Customer: "How about the price?"

Salesman: "A beggarly account of empty boxes."

Customer: "Actually I was looking for a smaller car. How about that compact over there?"

Salesman: "She comes in shape no bigger than an agate-stone on the forefinger of an alderman."

Customer: "But those little cars are usually sluggish. Will this one run good?"

Salesman: "Like the lightning, Ten times faster glide than the sun's beams."

Customer: "What kind of guarantee will you give me?"

Salesman: "By yonder blessed moon I swear, that tips with silver all these fruit-tree tops."

UNUSUAL LITTER

MANTI, Utah (UPI)—Kasey, a year-old Irish setter, is the proud mother of nine-pups—all males.

Dog fanciers say a litter of nine is not especially unusual, but an all-male litter that size occurs only about once in 100,000 times.

What is "Quality"?

Quality begins when something is made a little better than it has to be. There's one more step. When a thing is made as well as man's knowledge permits... made by people who care about the best; for people who appreciate the difference... then we say that special something has quality.

Encore was never meant to be sold. It was our brewmaster's own private recipe. Something he brewed just a little at a time for his friends. They all agreed it was an extraordinary beer.

The secret was in our brewmaster's recipe. It called for slow-lager ageing—a time-consuming, rather costly way to make beer. Only recently have we been able to make enough to offer it for sale.

Discover it soon. And see what sets Encore apart from all other beers. Discover why Encore makes this, a very good year for beer.
