

Ailing Budget Starts Through The Mill

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

The 1969-70 Pampa city budget of $1,855,902, pared to the bone and suffering from monetary anemia, was officially filed today by City Manager Charles Hill.

Although $29,567 less than last year's budget of $1,884,869, there is a glaring $177,424 deficit that must be made up if the city of Pampa is to continue operating in the black.

The ailing budget passed from the city manager's hands, protected by two "sure cures" for a balanced recovery: 1) levying a 50-cent increase in city property taxes from $1.72 to $2.22 or 2) passing a one-cent city sales tax in an election called for Sept. 24.

In either contingency, there will be a 50-cent raise in sanitation charges from $1.50 to $2 monthly, which is expected to augment city coffers by $40,000.

Hill said it is the consensus of Mayor Milo Carlson and the four city councilmen that the sanitation department needed to be operated on a more equitable basis of paying its own way for city services offered.

He said the raise in costs would provide new services for Pampa residents by picking up branches, mowed grass and other worrisome things that could not, before now, be picked up on a regular basis.

The new budget also reflects a re-evaluation and a raise in commercial account rates proportionate to use, which will add approximately $4,000 to city revenue.

Hill also pointed out the increased sanitation charge has come about principally from the increase cost of a sanitary landfill, which the state law decreed all cities of over 5,000 population must utilize as of July 1, 1969.

"This," Hill said, "required us to spend approximately $55,000 on new equipment plus additional personnel to run the landfill operation."

The city manager said the new budget contains only the customary merit raises for city employees.

"We will continue the merit raises as we have in the past,"

he said. "And the reason is to maintain some semblance of competitive wages with other businesses in town."

The primary cause for the budget deficit is the Canadian River Water payment of $155,000 which must be made this year. And, according to Hill, the situation is going to get much worse before it gets better.

CRW payments will go up $5, (See AILING, Page 2)

AT PUBLIC HEARING

School Trustees OK Increase In Budget

By WANDA MAE HUFF
News Staff Writer

Because of a state-authorized teachers' pay raise, Pampa school trustees were forced to approve a 1969-70 school budget Thursday which was $285,349 more than the 1968-69 budget of $3,342,111.

After the budget was approved Thursday night in an open public hearing in Carver Educational Services Center, trustees accepted a bid to build a new athletic building at Pampa High School, authorized a tax rate raise to $1.96, accepted bids for kitchen equipment for two new cafeterias and authorized furniture purchases for Pampa Junior High School.

$90,757 Bid On New Athletic Building At PHS

School trustees accepted a bid Thursday night from Hallmark Builders of Amarillo to construct the new athletic building for Pampa High School. The new bid price of $90,757 eliminated six proposed improvements, but is $6,000 under the original bid estimate of $96,600.

Weldon McClure, representative from Hallmark, submitted the $96,800 bid with seven alternates. Trustees accepted this bid, but eliminated all but one of the alternates.

The alternates eliminated were a brick veneer front, costing $34,000; two 5x24 ft eave canopies, $305; wall liner in workout area, $2,349; wall insulation in workout area, $1,194; air conditioning coils and condenser, $1,605; and insulation over coaches offices, $145.

The only alternate accepted was for McClure to do the site work at $310, because the district does not have equipment available to do site work. (See ATHLETE, Page 2)

South Vietnam's Prime Minister Resigns Post

SAIGON (UPI)—Prime Minister Tran Van Huong resigned today after a five-week impasse over efforts to reshuffle the South Vietnamese cabinet.

The office of President Nguyen-Van Thieu made the announcement of Huong's resignation, which political observers said could bring a major crisis in the South Vietnamese government.

Huong's most likely successor is a deputy prime minister, Gen. Phan Thien Kiem.

The U.S. Embassy in Saigon had put pressure on Thieu to keep Huong in office, political sources said, on the theory that if Kiem became prime minister, South Vietnam would return to a near military government.

It was the second time Huong, 67, had resigned. He also served three months as prime minister in 1964.

If it comes from a Hdvc. Store we have it. Lewis Hdvc. (Adv.)

No one appeared at the public hearing to question items prepared for the 1969-70 budget.

The greatest total budget increase in 1969-70 will be for administrative and teachers' salaries — a total increase of $197,760, with a $5,400 increase designated for administration and $192,360 for teachers, principals and consultants.

Out of eight budget items which will be increased in 1969-70, a breakdown includes an increase of $195,048 for instruction, which includes salary increases; $48,600 for debt service; $14,500 plant operation; $10,300 pupil transportation; $10,058 administration; plant maintenance and fixed charges $9,000 each; attendance services, $600; and health services, $543.

The only budget item which remains the same as last year is $62,000 designated for student body activities. Two budgeted items are lower than last year, with $1,500 less designated for community services and $10,000 less for capital outlay.

On the income side, trustees approved a budget of $3,557,212 which is $301,758 more than was received last year. The 1969-70 budgeted revenue is also $70,248 less than is budgeted for expenditures.

Total revenue is based on a valuation of $104,581,133 with a 96 per cent collection. The maintenance tax rate was approved at $1.50 and bond rate at 40 cents per $100 valuation. The market value would remain (See BUDGET, Page 2)

Jerry Sadler Will Be Investigated

AUSTIN (UPI)—Rep. Jake Johnson, D-San Antonio, confirmed today he went to the Travis County grand jury seeking an investigation into the dealings of Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

Informed sources said the grand jury would begin investigations into the matter Thursday.

Johnson also said he attempted to enlist the aid of the Texas AFL-CIO and its president Hank Brown to help in the investigation of Sadler, but Johnson said Brown "turned us down flat."

By us, Johnson referred to Rep. Don Cavness, D-Austin, and Rep. Frances Farenthold, D-Corpus Christi.

Johnson said he went through the district attorney's office in Travis County to seek the grand jury investigation. He said he wanted the investigation to concern the Homer Long matter and other alleged irregularities in the land commissioner's office.

Johnson said the controversial treasure matter was not one of the items mentioned in the request for the investigation.

But sources close to the jury revealed the Travis County panel would begin hearing testimony into the matter Thursday. The sources said the grand jury would deal mainly with alleged irregularities in the recovery of old Spanish treasure in waters off Padre Island in addition to the Long matter.

Park Says North Korea Has 'New Disturbances'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—South Korean President Park Chung-Hee believes the North Korean Communists are as "belligerent" as ever, and may be preparing "new disturbances and new threats."

The Korean interjected a blunt warning to President Nixon Thursday night into a series of elaborate diplomatic toasts at a sumptuous state banquet.

Park and Nixon wind up a two-day summit conference today, putting the finishing touches to a joint communique expected to serve notice that any settlement in Vietnam will not diminish U.S. support for South Korea.

While a small crowd of antiwar demonstrators clashed briefly with police outside the elegant St. Francis Hotel, Park and Nixon exchanged toasts Thursday pledging mutual cooperation and support. They met for two hours earlier to discuss U.S. aid to South Korea and Korea's military security.

Nixon told the banquet audience in the St. Francis' softly-lighted California Room that the United States was grateful for the sacrifices being made in Vietnam by 50,000 South Korean troops.

"But we also have tremendous respect for the fact that despite the military burdens that the Republic of Korea must bear," he added, "that economic progress has moved forward at a dimension no one thought was possible."

Park dealt in much stronger terms. He said that while the Seoul government supported Nixon's efforts to end the Vietnamese War, "the very aggressive North Korean Communists' belligerent Communists' presented a continuing problem."

Demonstrators March In Front Of Nixon's Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Anti-war demonstrators shivered and chanted outside, but inside the St. Francis Hotel it was all jewels and elegance.

The occasion was one rarely seen outside Washington—the President and Mrs. Nixon playing host at a formal state dinner in this case for South Korean President and Mrs. Park Chung-Hee.

For opulence it rivaled most White House banquets. The black-tied guests and their ladies drove in limousines to a side entrance and the early arrivals did not even see the demonstrators in front of the hotel, who chanted slogans under the watchful gaze of dozens of police.

The meal, prepared by hotel executive chef Klaus Shefner, had a strong French touch with duckling, orange the main course.

Hurricane-Spawned Floodwaters Wash Into Richmond Waterfront

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—The swollen James River smashed against Richmond's sandbagged waterfront today after boiling down from the mountains with at least 38 dead in its backwash. The sandbags held, and Richmond was spared from a major flood.

Thirty foot floodwaters washed against the sandbag barrier as the James roared toward the Atlantic Ocean, swollen by up to 10 inches of rain from the remnants of Hurricane Camille.

Far upriver, Allegheny Mountain towns were left in shambles. State police said 38 were known dead and scores were missing.

The James reached a peak of 28.39 feet—one foot below the top of the sandbags—in Richmond about dawn, then half an hour later the waters fell to 28.51 feet and bleary-eyed workers croaked a hoarse "hooray!"

More than 1,000 miles away, where Camille began its destructive overland trek, the cleanup continued in the 600-square-mile Gulf Coast area which felt the brunt of the monster storm. Seabees joined rescue teams in the search for bodies on Mississippi and Louisiana beaches.

It was Virginia's worst flood since 1936, washing away towns, caving in mountainsides and sweeping away bridges. Weary officials said Richmond was spared only because it was forewarned.

Church Gives Thanks For What They Have

GULFPORT, Miss. (UPI)—Two hand-painted signs outside the hurricane-ravaged First Baptist Church read simply: "Church on Sunday."

"We are going to give thanks, those of us who are left, for whatever we have left," said the Rev. John H. Traylor Jr. as he started at a 30-foot satellite blown into the churchyard from the Gulf of Mexico two blocks away.

The ministrant and the churchwomen scrubbing the seawater-stained pews in preparation for their prayers of thanksgiving were but one indication that slowly a measure of order was returning to the shattered Mississippi Gulf Coast today. "We have just begun to fight," read the sign on a passing auto.

Downtown Gulfport, rocked

by Camille's 190 mile-per-hour winds late Sunday night, still looked like wartime London. But some stores opened for business and customers stepped gingerly over the rubble to buy canned food shipped in after the storm.

But the grim search for bodies continued in the 600-square-mile area devastated by the strongest storm ever to hit the U.S. mainland.

The nation's chief hurricane expert, Dr. Robert H. Simpson, head of the National Hurricane Center at Miami, said Camille was "the greatest storm of any kind that has ever affected this nation." He said Camille's winds were estimated conservatively at more than 200 miles an hour and that floodwaters were 31 feet high at some points.

$1.2 Million Bid For Expansion Of Facilities

By GENE SCHNEIDER
News Staff Writer

Ground-breaking ceremonies were held Thursday at Highland General Hospital for the up-coming expansion and remodeling program. The program is scheduled to begin Aug. 27, and the completion date has been set for November, 1970. Reed-Strickland Construction Co., Amarillo, is in charge of construction with the low bid of $1.2 million.

The ceremonies were held in front of the hospital facing Hobart St., where the new wing will be added. The wing will contain new administrative offices, a new laboratory, X-ray department, physical therapy department and a new five-room emergency suite.

Following the ceremonies the hospital board met to discuss monthly business. Discussion centered around the proposed doctors' parking lot which would be located at the rear of the hospital. Doctors would have access to the parking lot from either Pennsylvania or Kentucky Streets. Wes Langham, hospital administrator said the purpose of the new lot would be to provide doctors with an easier access to the hospital. At the present time "doctors are delayed because of the heavy traffic on Hobart St."

No final action was taken on the proposal pending meetings with the city and county regarding the construction.

With no end of progress in sight for Highland General, it might be fair to look at where and when it all started in Pampa.

In 1949 a bond issue allocated the needed funds to build the first wing of the hospital. Another bond issue in 1957 added enough money to add 50 beds to the present structure. (See HOSPITAL, Page 2)

Front Leaves .06 Inches Rain

Pampa's 20 per cent chance for rain finally paid off after three days of dry weather under the prediction.

The official report for Pampa was .06 yesterday following a scorching 99 degree high in the afternoon. The rains covering the Panhandle area have cooled the area with high's predicted in the low 90s for today and Saturday.

A weak cold front moved into the Panhandle Thursday night and was expected to push southward today bringing showers ahead of the frontal zone. Early morning temperatures ranged in the 70s and low 80s with clear skies over most of Texas.

The Weather Bureau said the late summer heat wave showed no signs of easing up any time soon. Both Texas and Waco got 102 degree readings Thursday for the top mark, while the high at Dalhart was only 86.

A tornado was sighted about two miles north of Plainview, Tex., Thursday afternoon. It touched down briefly and then retreated back into the clouds.

WALTER WILLIAM WALLIS Funeral services for Walter William Wallis father of Curt Wallis, 511 E. Browning, were held at 2 p.m. today in First Baptist Church, Hobart, Okla., with Rev. Bill Martin, pastor officiating.

Mr. Wallis, born Jan. 9, 1885, in Saline County, Ark., died in Hobart yesterday after an extended illness.

Survivors are his wife, Ocie, Hobart; sons, Victor, Oklahoma City, Bill, Buena Park, Calif., Jack, Irving, Robert, Kansas City, Mo., and Curt, Pampa; daughters, Gladys Wallis, Mrs. Nadine Scarberry, and Mrs. Billie Ann Drummando, all of Oklahoma City.

ROY JEFFREYS Funeral services for Roy Lester Jeffreys, 64, will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday with the Rev. Gerald Seright pastor of Lefors Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery directed by Duenkel Funeral Home Directors.

Mr. Jeffreys died Wednesday at a Henrietta, Okla., hospital.

MRS. AMY SPRINGER Funeral services for Mrs. Amy K. Springer, 73, will be held at graveside at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Fairview Cemetery directed by Duenkel Funeral Home Directors.

Mrs. Springer died Monday in a Phoenix, Ariz., hospital.

A Phoenix resident 22 years, she was a dietitian and cafeteria manager there 22 years. Before moving to Phoenix, she managed the luncheon in variety stores in Pampa, Lubbock, Cheyenne Wyo., and then in Phoenix.

Survivors are one daughter, Verna Springer, Tempe, Ariz.; two sisters Mrs. Gerde Freeberg, Phoenix; Mrs. Annie Johnson, Sweden; seven nieces and seven nephews.

Athletic

Trustees agreed with Swede Lee, athletic director, when he commented he would be "strongly against the new building open for public use without adequate supervision by qualified personnel."

At first, John Gikas, board member, disapproved of the proposed building, and said he believed the plans would create 20 per cent less building than the original plans.

McClure replied, "It's a good workable plan, and as long as Swede is satisfied... we hope you'll be satisfied."

"Even though there's less space in some areas, it is a better quality building," Swede replied. "We've rearranged dressing rooms, and I actually think we came out better. The areas we shrunk were for some equipment storage room. We cannot play a tennis game crosswise, but we didn't lose any length, and would be equipped for an adequate indoor workout area for all major high school sports."

In other business, trustees tabled payment to E. W. Southard for changing incandescent lights to quartz iodine lights on poles for football stadium lighting, because the board believed Southard had changed the lights without board approval.

Since poles for stadium lighting are to be put up Monday, trustees authorized Dr. Malone and Herbert Brasher, architect for the district's $900,000 building project, to meet with Southard and report to the board on the light installations.

TYPHOON CORA

TOKYO (UPI)—Typhoon Cobra, packing 29-mile-an-hour winds, smashed into Japan's southern-most island today, forcing hundreds of families to flee low-lying areas.

Cora pounded the island of Kyushu with heavy rains. Hundreds of policemen were placed on around-the-clock duty as the season's ninth typhoon plowed across the nation.

JET TRAFFIC is increasing at Perry LeFors Airport as a result of runway improvements made last fall. The airport is now handling small jets regularly. These two business jets made use of the Pampa facilities Thursday.

Lefors Loses Six Teachers To Retirement

The Lefors School district, which has had no personnel changes in the elementary grades for 15 years, made six changes for the upcoming year due to retirements.

Three new elementary teachers have been hired by the board. Mrs. Weldon Bates of Hart will teach sixth grade. Mrs. Harvey Wellman of Turkey will teach third. And Mrs. Addie Lou Skaggs, from Emporia, Kan., will be teaching first grade.

Mr. Bates will fill the position of high school principal. Mr. Wellman will take the junior high coaching position vacated by Scott Dunham, who has been moved into mentor position as high school coach.

School officials attribute the lengthy tenures of service to higher salaries and good teaching conditions.

Hospital ...

1967 brought about another change for the county's hospital. A bond issue for $850,000 was presented to the public Nov. 11, 1967, and was approved 1,392 to 928, a majority of 464 votes.

Following the approval of the bond issue the county applied for a Hill-Burton grant of $592,119, which was approved, bringing the total amount of funds for the hospital to $1,442,119.

Improvements to be done will include the basement, three upper floors and painting of the exterior which will be beige. A new staff entrance will be located in the basement, a new receiving area for supplies, new locker room for employees, the kitchen will be remodeled and central supply and the drug room will be moved from the first floor to the basement.

New administrative offices will be built on the first floor with a five-bed emergency room suite, X-ray department, physical therapy department, laboratory, doctors lounge and library, medical records room and the nurses station will be remodeled with a new doctor's reporting area. The X-ray and laboratory will be equipped with new facilities. A circular drive will also be built enabling ambulances to have easier access to the emergency room.

A new two-bed cardiac care unit and four-bed intensive care unit will be featured on the second floor. The operating room, recovery room and nurses station will be remodeled. New tables and lights will be furnished for the operating room.

Obstetrics will get a thorough remodeling on the third floor with new tables and lights being furnished for the delivery room and bedrooms. Four bedrooms presently used for expectant mothers will be remodeled and turned into classrooms for the licensed vocational nursing students.

The first wing of the hospital built will receive some special attention with air conditioning and water sprinkling systems being installed throughout. The rest of the hospital was equipped with these features at the time of construction.

NASA Official Shows Film At Rotary Club

The Pampa Rotary Club saw a film "1969—A Year Of Fulfillment" at their regular noon luncheon Wednesday.

The film was presented by Mike Conway, of NASA. It depicted the American space program up through the Apollo 8 moon orbit.

Program chairman for the month, Charles Hill, presented the speaker.

MEG HAS BIRTHDAY

LONDON (UPI)—Princess Margaret, younger sister of Queen Elizabeth, turned 39 today. She marked the event by releasing a photograph from Kensington Palace showing her playing a game of tabletop football with her husband, Lord Snowdon, and her children, Viscount Linley, 7, and Lady Sarah Armstrong-Jones, 5.

Musical Event Doesn't Happen

An unscheduled "happening" cancelled out a scheduled "happening" in Aspen Park on North Duncan Thursday night.

Welcomed, but unexpected thundershowers that blew into Pampa shortly after 6 p.m. and continued their threat until well after the performance time for young Pampa musicians caused Pampa Fine Arts Association officers to cancel "A Summer Happening" until a later date.

Mrs. Elbert Walker, PFA Theater Arts chairman, said it was felt expensive, electronic instruments might be damaged and with the dampness there was an element of danger.

She said the "Summer Happening" would be held at a later date with an alternate meeting place in case of bad weather.

Interest in seeing the young Pampa musicians perform was evidenced by the number of cars parked around the entertainment area in spite of inclement weather and the large number that circled the park after the event had been canceled.

Ailing ...

(Continued From Page 1) 000 per year for the next 18 years, peaking to $223,000 in 20 years and staying at this figure for the next 30 years. Hill said this is just the payment on principal and interest and does not include the cost of operation and maintenance.

The 1969-70 budget will be submitted formally by the city manager to the mayor and councilmen next Tuesday.

And it is doubly "protected" with two ways and means to provide the $177,424 deficit.

At a public hearing and a budget review set for Sept. 9, the mayor and councilmen will hold the first reading on the budget and, also, on the ordinance calling for the 50-cent property tax increase.

Between the first reading on Sept. 9 and the second reading, scheduled for Sept. 25, which would make the tax increase final, Pampans will go to the polls on Sept. 24 to approve or reject a one-cent city sales tax.

In the event, the sales tax is rejected, councilmen will convene Thursday, Sept. 25, to hold the final reading on the property tax increase and the city of Pampa will be back in business for the start of its fiscal year on Oct. 1st.

If the city sales tax is approved, the second reading of the property tax ordinance would be abandoned.

And the current tax rate of $1.72 per $100 evaluation based on a 40 per cent market valuation would still be in effect.

Stallings Reports On Success Of Chamber Show

All the figures were not in but the second annual Fall Festival Style Show and Miss Top O' Texas Beauty Pageant should gross approximately $800.

Jim Stallings, co-chairman of Retail Trade Committee reported to the Pampa Chamber of Commerce directors at their meeting last Wednesday regarding the success of the event.

The total gross figure would be approximately $150 more than last years pageant.

In other business, H.P. Donohue was elected to the board of directors to fulfill an unexpired two year term.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The near-term technical picture remains quite strong and, while some additional consolidation of the recent gains may occur here, the market does not appear to have exhausted its upside potential, says E.F. Hutton & Co. "One of the more pronounced characteristics of the market this week, the firm notes, has been the broadening of the strength into laggard and depressed groups."

Conglomerates, especially, have been doing well, the firm adds.

Wright Investors' Service believes the market has reacted as fully as it is going to the downtrend in the economy and is now about ready to anticipate the economy's eventual recovery. The firm recommends a rather fully-invested position, "training in reserve only about 10 per cent of invested funds for commitment some time after Labor Day."

The bear market isn't over yet and "more trouble lies behind the hills of any near-term rallies," observers. Indicator Digest. In the past, the analyst says, no new bull market has been able to get going until a severe market drop corrected earlier excesses, the economy slowed to recession point, the Federal Reserve switched to an easy-money policy, and interest rates dropped, and the bond market rallied strongly. A decline in the market is the only one of these conditions which has occurred so far, and even then correction has been only partial in view of the speculative heights reached in 1967 and 1968, the firm adds.

A series of probes before a definitive market bottom is reached is anticipated by Bache & Co. It adds that high multiple technology issues have not yet been subjected to the "type of carnage associated with market bottoms." On the other hand, the firm notes, the current bear phase has extended for nearly nine months and there have been no post-war downside phases that have lasted longer than nine months.

Twin Girls Treated Following Wreck

Twin girls, daughters of Mrs. Lotta Mae Lance, 35, of 1008 Buckler, were treated and released from Highland General Hospital Thursday following a two-car collision in the 300 block of S. Cuyler.

The girls, Barbara Ann and Brenda Kay, both 9, received head-and-mouth cuts in the accident at about 2:25 p.m.

According to the Pampa police report a car driven by Mrs. Helen Dudley Warner, 45, 1137 Terrace, was backing out of a parking space and the auto driven by Mrs. Lance was traveling north on Cuyler when the collision occurred.

Pampan Acclaimed For Musical Performance

NEW YORK (Staff) — James Lee Byars of New York City, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Byars, 641 N. Faulkner, won laudatory acclaim from a New York Times critic for his performance with a quintet of young musicians at the Newport Music Festival held earlier this month.

Byars' group, at the request of the festival director, Glen Sauls, learned a major piece of music. The Raff, and performed it within 24 hours following an unusual set of circumstances.

A clipping from the Aug. 11 edition of the New York Times explains:

"The Raff work went on under a set of circumstances that would have astonished the composer, though it attested to the imagination of Sauls' and the resource of his musicians."

"Eugene List, one of the few name artists invited to the festival, was supposed to be the pianist in the Raff. But he turned up pointing plaintively to an injured arm. One of the staff pianists volunteered to learn the piano part overnight and substitute for List. But the four string players, who were down for several other events, could not find time to rehearse with him."

"There were rapid consultations. Mr. Sauls felt the Raff, a major work, should be performed. If the string players were not available, why not transpose to winds? There was a flash of lightning, the art earth moved (Raff turning over in his grave) and five young musicians spent the next 24 hours learning the new piece."

"For the record, they were Peter Esquin, piano; Paul Dunkel, flute; James Byars, oboe; Joseph Rabbai, clarinet and Alan Brown, bassoon."

The New York Times music critic wrote: "Also for the record, they played smoothly, confidently, and with the requisite flourishes. It was a brilliant job. And the work was indeed worth hearing."

Byars and his wife, Janita, are members of the New York Symphony Philharmonic Orchestra. Mrs. Byars is the daughter of Mrs. Ashby of Dallart and the late Judge Lawrence Ashby.

Mr. and Mrs. Byars and their son, Michael, left Aug. 18, for a European tour.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The big question in everyone's mind right now is whether the current lull in the fighting will continue.

I don't mean the lull in Vietnam. I mean the lull in Berkeley, Calif., Cambridge, Mass., and other American combat zones.

There has been a sharp decline in campus clashes this summer, bringing about a withdrawal of National Guardsmen, police cordons and tear-gas-spraying helicopters.

Opinions vary, however, as to what that portends for autumn. Summer school students are notoriously languid and consequently make poor harbingers.

A high administration official was quoted this week as doubting there would be a wide scale renewal of hostilities in the fall. He apparently believes a lowering of the militancy profile will take place.

Recent interviews with student militants, on the other hand, quoted them as predicting a new outbreak of demonstrations, but with a somewhat different chant.

It was their feeling that college activists will veer away from the academic issues that galvanized them last spring and concentrate almost exclusively on antiwar protests.

As I was musing upon these contradictory previews of the coming collegiate season, a rather bizarre hypothesis began to worm its way into my meditations.

Assume that the lull in the war in Vietnam continues and that the fighting there gradually dwindles down to a complete stop, as some observers believe possible.

And then assume that during this same period student protests against the war become more intense and marked with violence.

Given these two sets of conditions, it is quite likely that the casualty rate of antiwar demonstrations would eventually exceed the casualty rate of the war itself.

Pampa Scouts Encamped In Rugged Area

CIMARRON, N.M. (Staff) — Fourteen Pampa Scouts and their adult leaders have arrived at Philmont Scout Ranch and Explorer Base, the national camping area of the Boy Scouts of America.

The scouts, Ronny Jouett, Denver, Bruner, Kurt Foster, Rick Ellis, Randy Linville, Dirk Rape, Clayton Robison, Ricky Carpenter, Randall Stewart, Glen Davis, Jimmy Staus, John Chittenden, Edwin Andrews and David Hart are members of Troop 34 sponsored by the First Christian Church of Pampa.

The scouts are training in wilderness cookery, backpacking, hiking techniques and uses of a compass and map.

S. M. Chittenden, 410 Red Deer, is leading the scouts on a 12-day high-altitude expedition over the trails of the 214-square mile area in the Rugged Sangre de Cristo mountains. Chittenden, secretary and finance director for the city of Pampa, is supervising the group representing the Adobe Walls Chapter.

Just A Few Million More

The Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, originally conceived as being completely funded by private sources, now is asking Congress for an additional appropriation of $7.5 million so the building may be completed. A bill authorizing the request (HR 11249) has been reported out of the House Public Works Committee and will be coming up for a floor vote soon.

Human Events, the Washington weekly, says if the Kennedy Center's request is approved, it would bring to $23 million the amount the tax payers have given to the supposedly "privately funded" Washington, D.C., cultural center due to open in late 1970. Once the building is opened to the public, members of Congress are hopeful that the musical and dramatic productions presented in the center will be a shade better than the financial and construction farce that has preceded its completion.

The idea of a cultural center in the nation's capital first was advanced during the Eisenhower administration. Legislation granting use of federal land for such a project was passed in 1958, with the stipulation that no government tax funds were to be used and that the land-grant act would expire if private monies had not been raised in five years. In 1963, a three-year extension to the fund-raising period was granted. In 1964, the National Cultural Center became the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. And, as the structure now was to double as a public memorial for the late President, Congress was asked to appropriate $15 million toward its construction, an amount to be matched by private funds. (Another $15 million was authorized for creation of parking facilities.) This amount and its matching funds have proved insufficient to complete construction.

The building, which sits on 17 acres of choice property along the Potomac River adjacent to the Lincoln Memorial, now is about 50 per cent complete. Most of the construction remaining is finishing work, laying floors, installing glass, landscaping, building approaches, etc. Current estimated total cost of the mammoth structure, with its four auditoriums, is $66 million, or about $20 million more than was estimated five years ago. Why the discrepancy? Kennedy Center board chairman Roger Stevens claims that labor strikes were a major factor. For example, during a long-

Pollution With Benefits

Now it's thermal pollution that is causing worry among those concerned with the health of the environment, says Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Thermal pollution is the discharge into rivers or streams of water heated by industrial processes. A rise of only a few degrees in the temperature of a river can have drastic effects on its aquatic life.

Thermal pollution is especially a problem, or potential problem, in connection with nuclear power plants, which use vast quantities of water for cooling.

From Britain, however, comes a report that fish that were raised in warm sea water discharged from a nuclear station in Ayrshire grew much faster than normally. Dover sole reached marketable size in 18 months compared to the three years required by fish living in cold water.

According to one authority, a new industry may be in the making and every British power station may someday have a fish farm. Harvesting the fish could bring another side benefit — lower bills for electricity consumers.

In this country, two utility-financed projects are under way in Oregon to investigate the

H. L. Hunt Writes

IN MUFFA

No group in America has greater pride in the Apollo II achievements than do the members of those two great patriotic organizations, the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Men who have fought this nation's battles from Belleau Wood to the Mekong Delta, men who have shed their blood in defense of liberty from the bleak shores of the Aleutians to the murky jungles of Guadalcanal, know the surest way, and the only way, to preserve the freedom they fought for, and their comrades died for, is to keep America strong. And in knowledge there is strength.

Not only are these two organizations vigilant about enemies beyond our shores, they are equally alert to the forces of subversion which are attempting to destroy the moral fiber of America by corrupting our young and undermining the foundations of home, family and marriage. Having faced in bloody combat live enemies who would destroy our freedom heritage, Legion and VFW members are valiant fighters today in the struggle to keep America faithful to the ideals upon which the nation was founded.

Our exploration of space has no objective other than the peaceful advancement of human knowledge of the universe. The scientific and technical knowledge our space program requires, however, demonstrates to those who seek world domination that America's space "plow shares" can become swift and effective "swords" should the need arise. Let us hope and pray that this "giant step for mankind" signals a new era of peace and understanding between all peoples of the earth and of worlds yet to be discovered.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT

Surgical Removal Best For Painful Hammertoe
Q — I have a hammertoe. Can it be corrected in a doctor's office or must I go to a hospital?

A — Hammertoe is an upward extension of the first joint of a toe, usually the second toe, coupled with an acute bending downward of the rest of the toe. If it is very painful it should be amputated. This should be done in a hospital.

Q — What can be done to relieve the pain of a bunion? Is operation for this usually successful?

A — A bunion rarely occurs in a person who walks several miles every day but, once one has formed, a long daily walk will not cure it. I would advise trying special shoes that relieve the pressure on your bunions but, if this doesn't work, surgery offers you the best chance for relief. The operation is usually successful, but it should be followed by exercises to restore strength to the weakened muscles if you want to prevent recurrence.

Q — What is the best treatment for a soft corn between the toes?

A — This is a form of ringworm and should be treated as such with Whitfield ointment or other ringworm remedies. Recurrences are common.

Q — I would like some information on arthrogryposis.

A — This is a contracture of the joints, especially those of the hands and feet. It is usually present from birth and may involve all the joints of the upper and lower extremities. The joints affected should be massaged and gently straightened out. In most cases splints or a plaster cast must be applied. Treatment with drugs has been disappointing.

In a recent column a woman stated that she had a craving for ice. Although this is not harmful in itself, a recent study reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association indicates that an urge to eat ice, clay or laundry starch may be a symptom or a cause of an iron deficiency. Anorexia, especially a woman, with this type of perverted appetite should have a blood count. If an iron deficiency. Anyone, present, taking iron should cure both the anemia and the abnormal craving.

LOOK UPON IT AS A BARGAIN

Gun Collectors At It Again

By BILL KENNEDY

WASHINGTON — The gun registration and confiscation addicts are really beautiful. They really are.

Just as legislation was under discussion in Congress to rewrite last year's gun control law allowing sportsmen to buy ammunition without first giving their life history — and with the amendment given a good chance to pass — the pro-gun control bunch went to work again.

LBJ's old National Violence Commission came up with a recommendation that all hand guns in the country — about 24 million of them privately owned — be confiscated and that all rifles and shot guns be registered and the owners licensed.

This Commission, headed by Dr. Milton Eisenhower and other anti-gun nuts, figured this would offset the move to weaken the law they already have. And it will probably work. They actually have no hopes of getting this next step to disarming the public this year, but they do feel this proposal will hold off a backward step until they have another assassination of a public figure to give them a groundswell of public sympathy, at which time they can proceed with this next step. They even admit it.

One congressman who worked for passage of the 1968 bill said it is unfortunate — they have proved that the gun nuts were right.

You see, us gun nuts said last year this was a first step to taking the citizens' guns away from them. We still do. Most of us didn't even know the "Back-Door" Registration section was in the bill that passed until it was too late. The House had defeated the part about physical description, weapon caliber and serial number of the gun when you go to buy a few shells or other ammunition. But it was put back in a Senate-House conference and passed. So the Internal Revenue Service, charged with enforcement of the law, is now registering guns every day.

I went to a country store to buy some rat shot and guess what all they wanted? Not just name, address and physical description — which the state gets when I buy a hunting license in any case — but the caliber (which the purchase in and of itself exposes) and the serial number of my rifle. So I left without the rat shot.

(Note to IRS: I really do not own a rifle — I was going to borrow one from a neighbor... if I could find a neighbor who owns one, which I doubt I can if this registration business keeps up.)

This is the part of the 1968 package that Congress was prepared to re-draft. Senator Bennett (R-Utah) introduced the bill to remove the restrictions covering ammunition and as sponsors he had eight senators who voted for the bill last year. (It passed 41-36.) He said they now realize this permits IRS to set up recordkeeping on gun registration. And — like I said — this bill was given a good chance to pass until the Violence Commission came out for total registration plus hand gun confiscation. The repeal even had (weak) Administration support.

Now they are saying "Too bad, looks like there will be no gun legislation this year."

So be it. But if they leave it like it is, they are going to make lawbreakers out of me and a lot of other hunters and home owners I know. It was not entirely coincidental that on the same page of the metropolitan newspaper where I first read about the "Commission" urging the government to collect all hand guns... there was a news report and picture of a housewife who had prevented a robbery (and we don't know what else) by reaching in a drawer, picking up a hand gun and pointing it at the nose of the would-be criminal.

Question Box

(We invite questions on scenic spots and the proper function of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: Charles A. Beard asked if he could summarize the lessons of history, replied that he could do it in four sentences:

1. Whom the Gods would destroy, they first make mad with power.
2. The mills of god grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly small.
3. The bee fertilizes the flower it robs.
4. When it is dark enough, you can see the stars.

I understand (3) as a scientific truth. Could you explain it as a lesson of history? ANSWER: It is difficult to try to explain what some other individual means. A great many meanings probably could be given to the saying.

WIT AND WHIMSY

A tourist, traveling through the Texas Panhandle, got into a conversation with an old settler and his son at a filling station.

Mr. Lee (the tourist) — Looks like we might have rain.

Mr. Long (the native) — Well I hope so, not so much for myself as for my boy here. I've seen it rain.

The youngster ran all the way home from school to tell his father:

Little Billy — Dad, I've got my first part in a play. I'm going to be a man who's been married for twenty-five years.

Mr. Jones (his father) — Cheer up. Just keep at it and maybe next time they'll give you a speaking part.

As a small boy in a baseball uniform was walking disconsolately down the street, a sympathetic neighbor called out:

Mr. Brown — What's the matter? Didn't the game go well?

Little Bobby — It was a swell game, but we had to call it in the third inning because the

A minister who was very fond of pure hot horse-radish always kept a bottle of it on his dining room table. He offered some to a guest, who took a big bite.

When the guest finally was able to speak, he said, reproachfully:

Mr. Webb — I've heard many preach hellfire, but you are the first one I've met who passed out samples of it.

A mother and her young son were shopping in a supermarket. The child, trying to help, picked up a package and brought it to her.

Mrs. Bass (his mother) — No, honey, go put it back. You have to cook that.

THE GLOBAL VIEW

West German Republic: A Long Way In 20 Years

By LEON DENNEN

Foreign News Analyst
NEW YORK (NEA) — Some 40 million West Germans will go to the polls Sept. 28 to elect a new Bundestag.

This year their national elections also coincide with the 20th anniversary of the Federal Republic of Germany. It was in 1949 that the western part of Germany became an independent state with the consent of the United States, Britain and France.

Two decades is a short time in the life of a nation, but long enough to discern a country's essential character and the guidelines it lays down for the future.

A visitor who saw West Germany a wasteland of war ruins is indeed impressed with what the Germans achieved, through a free economy an hard work, in 20 years.

West Germany has emerged as an industrial giant with the strongest currency and highest standard of living in Europe. It is also one of the key nations in NATO and the Western alliance.

Like most industrialized countries, West Germany also is facing a host of critical problems, including the reappearance of extreme rightist and leftist parties. The "generation gap" is as puzzling and difficult a problem for Bonn as it is for the United States, France or Italy.

The young Germans who still remembered Hitler's crimes emerged as bewildered and "skeptical generation" when the Bonn Republic was created in 1949. Today's generation has surged into rebellious commitment to idealism in government, reforms in the universities and to a dream of a "higher quality of life."

To this kind of youth, the Vaterland concept, which once sent Germans marching into other countries, lost all meaning. Personal freedom is vastly more significant for them than nation destiny.

Many young Germans interviewed by this writer were critical of the coalition government of Christian Democrats (CDU) and Social Democrats (SPD) which currently rules in Bonn.

They were convinced that the "Grand Coalition" of the two major political parties deprived Germany of a lively and meaningful opposition basic to the democratic process.

Older Germans saw the coalition as a sign of maturity and a deliberate effort to avoid the political fragmentation that made possible Hitler's rise to power. In their view, it is a demonstration of opposing democratic parties finding a common ground in acting for the common good.

But even most younger Germans, who fear the emergence of the extreme rightist National Democratic Party, will vote either for Chancellor Kurt Kiesinger's Christian Democrats or the Social Democrats led by Foreign Minister Willy Brandt.

It is the consensus of political analysts that the Grand Coalition will survive the September elections with the Christian Democrats again emerging as the leading party.

Nevertheless, pro-democratic Germans fear even the minor gains made by the extreme rightists in local elections. Adolf von Thadden, the leader of the National Democratic party, has no known Nazi past. But there is no doubt that many members of his party are former Nazis who seek to exploit whatever discontent there is.

But for all his nationalist appeals, Von Thadden has so far been incapable of attracting more than a minor proportion of the West German electorate.

In view of Germany's recent past, the emergence of the National Democratic Party cannot be ignored or underrated. But there is no reason to believe that history is likely to repeat itself in "the near future."

There is also ample evidence that the Bonn government — instead of banning the party and driving its members underground — keeps a close watch on any activities the neo-Nazi may engage in.

The republic started out in 1959 with a basic law that renounced the use of force in reuniting the partitioned German nation. It also affirmed that national sovereignty was to be subordinate to that of a European Union yet to emerge.

Both declarations seem to be Bonn's guideline 20 years later.

Nixon: A Fresh Approach To The Nation's Problems

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) —

There is a spate of stories these days saying that the Nixon administration is leaderless, or drifting, or that it is trying to find its soul.

One day President Nixon is said to be paying his debts to the conservatives, the American Medical Association or the South. The next day he is charged with attempting to appease the "liberals."

Men with Nixon for a long time deny these charges. It is rather that Nixon is a different kind of president from what we are used to.

One major key to his actions, these men say, is that he is as much interested in the means by which an action is accomplished as in the goal itself.

Usually, Nixon's decisions have turned out to be neither more liberal nor more conservative than those of Kennedy or Johnson. It is the approach that has been different. It is over the approaches that some of the major debates have developed.

Take the case of the textile manufacturers who at one point hadn't toed the mark in meeting federal rules on equal opportunities for minorities. One group of men argued that the Pentagon should throw the book at these firms. Another group believed the rules should be eased a bit in view of the situation. Nixon, through Assistant Defense Secretary David Packard, did neither.

Instead, Packard went to top men in the companies involved for long, quiet talks as one businessman to another. Because these men understood that Packard knew business problems and had experience in employing minorities, his words carried respect. Without arm-twisting Packard was able to work out agreements which met the law. The contracts were not canceled. No standards were lowered.

Take the problem of school desegregation. There was a flurry of protest and harsh accusations that Nixon was swinging heavily to the right in fudging the deadline dates by which southern schools must have acceptable integration plans or have their federal funds cut off.

A few days later, Nixon was accused of reacting to please the left when Attorney General John Mitchell began a series of legal moves through the courts to force schools in the South and North to comply with the law.

Writers conveniently forgot the court action could not have been in reaction to the clamor raised by the deadline's delay. The cases must, by their very nature and complexity have been in preparation for some time.

So far as this reporter has been able to determine, Nixon in this action was not easing or strengthening the move toward integration. He merely believed, quite possibly because of his own legal background, that an approach through the courts was better.

Turn then to Nixon's actions on voting rights. When analyzed without emotion, Nixon did two things. He said, in effect, that if literacy requirements were unfair for the Negro voter in the South, they were equally unfair to the Negro in the North. He also said that it is wrong in principle to require states to clear their new laws (election or other) with the federal government or courts in advance.

In the U.S. system, the custom is that laws are made and then challenged in the courts, not made by the courts.

Whether he owes a debt to the South or not, Nixon believes that legislation aimed at one region of the country, and not applied to all, is bad legislation on its face.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A lady I knew (not well) passed away recently, leaving a husband and three small children. I want very much to express my sympathy and let this man know that I want to do what ever I can to help him, but I do not want to appear forward. I know him only to say 'hi' to.

I am a divorcee, living alone (I'm new in town) and I'm afraid if I telephone him he might get the wrong idea. Also, this is a small town and everybody knows everybody else's business, and I did not want it known that I called him or wrote to him, because they might get the wrong idea.

If I call or write I'd like to say something out of the ordinary. Something witty, or eloquent. (Any suggestions along that line?) I want to let him know I am sincere in my desire to help him, without appearing forward.

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: If you knew his wife "not well," and know him only to say 'hi' to, don't call him. If you want to express your sympathy, send him a note, or card, but don't try to win or eloquence. And please try to contain your eagerness to "help him." It's not the "wrong" idea he may get, but the right one which stands to kill your chances.

DEAR ABBY: My husband of 22 years is giving me the "silent treatment" again. What gets me is that he never tells me what he's mad about, he just clams up and does not say a word. This is much more annoying to me than a good tongue-lashing would be because at least I would know what I did to upset him.

Parisian Designers Mix Hemline Lengths To Permit Individuality

By JOAN DEPPA
NEW YORK (UPI)—Hemlines stay high. Hemlines drop.

Paris designers ended their fall and winter collections on a mixed hemline theme, leaving it to the individual woman to decide just where she wanted skirt lengths to go in the 1970's. It's a "do your own thing" decade ahead, say the high priests of French design. The woman of the next decade will do more experimenting with a much more varied wardrobe.

Woman Without A Country Explains Hazards Of 'Stateless' Citizenship

By EMELETA GUTIERREZ
MANILA (UPI)—Mrs. Virginia Joseph-Kostoff—"Benjie" to her friends—is a Filipina. Her father was an Iraqi with a British passport. Her husband is a Russian with Chinese nationality, and her daughter is an American citizen.

There are no specific figures as to just how many wandering stateless persons there are—who were themselves or whose families were uprooted and displaced first by World War I and the Russian Revolution of 1917, and then by World War II and Nazi racialism from which so many fled when they could escape being murdered. Benjie, who has played a leading role in Manila society for a quarter-century says, "You will never learn the value of having your citizenship unless you lose it."

One disadvantage is that though Benjie was born in the Philippines, and her husband has lived and worked here 20 years, they cannot own property in the Philippines.

DAISIES AND STRIPES—Waverly's sprightly cotton print in a gay stylized design of traditional red, white, and blue sets the theme for a young girl's room. Matching wallpaper adds continuity, and coordinated cotton ticking stripes make a handsome flounce and neat covers for chair and floor cushions. Featured in McCall's You-Do-It home decorating magazine.

So, now that daughter Natasha is 17—she was born in Los Angeles when Benjie was the states for an operation—the family is heading for California later this month.

Natasha will go to college in Los Angeles in September, and Benjie will buy a home and stay as long as her visa permits. When Natasha is 21, her parents will be allowed into the U.S. as "non-quota immigrants." They plan to live partly in the U.S., partly in the Philippines, where Benjie's husband, Nick, is in the shipping business.

Though Benjie, 46, has a busy life as a Manila society matron and charity worker, and is deeply attached to the land of her birth, she wants to settle down for Natasha's sake and put down roots—something she cannot do here as a non-citizen.

JEANE DIXON

FOR SATURDAY, AUG. 23 YOUR BIRTHDAY SATURDAY: The coming year is one of adjustment, furtherance of existing arrangements to greater profit. Problems are temporary, mostly related to your own fastidious choices. This year the sun changes from Leo to Virgo at 3:36 a.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, so that children born before that minute this year are Leos, while those born later are Virgos.

ARIES (March 21-Apr. 19): Get friends to help you with the weekend chores, then go somewhere just for the sake of going. Meditate in this change of scene.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): This not very active day holds great promise for laying out long range plans, travel itineraries. Find music in p.m.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your tasks are no lighter than Friday but much easier to cope with. Creative projects come naturally.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You tend to come out a winner Saturday—the first in all classes and categories. Much depends on how consistent your endeavor and how realistic your expectations have been.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Close attachments generate surprising changes in all concerned. Romance for those eligible flourishes suddenly.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Actions Saturday reflect on much larger, probably beneficial, scales later. You draw much individual endorsement, but do not expect a partner or a mate to receive similar honor.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Your careful timing makes all the difference Saturday. In sentimental matters, the message is how you say whatever it is rather than what you say. Relax and follow your intuition.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Creative ventures take priority over all others.

Family and partners may have a special problem which they hope you can resolve. Try it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your ideas Saturday tend to be more practical than philosophic. Stir up curiosity during the day but explain nothing to anybody.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): New business contacts appear and must be heeded. Somebody you care about promises a spectacular recovery.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Old concerns come to some new conclusions. Institutions of various sorts become prominent in your thinking.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Experimenting is better put off until more thought has been given to the probable results. Orthodox methods will have to prevail until your ideas have been tested in some other place and time.

FRESH AND SPARKLING
An occasional treatment with a clean-and-wax product will keep factory-finished wood kitchen cabinet fresh and sparkling.

NEWS-MAKING—Cotton corduroy takes on a different look for fall. This time it's ribbed with a plush surface. Puritan Sportswear uses it for a handsome jacket with heavy track stitching on seams and yoke, and newly narrowed cuffs.

Conservatives Make Policy-Control Bid

United Press International... Organized conservative movements are flowering in several Protestant denominations that have taken liberal stands on social issues.

Thus far, these movements are too small to make a serious bid for control of policy-making machinery. But they are big enough to register an audible dissent, and they seem to be growing.

Their emergence is evidence of the deep split that has developed in nearly every major U.S. religious body over how churches should respond to the demands for revolutionary change which are emanating from black people, young people, poor people and other disaffected elements of society.

"This, and not the virgin birth, the infallibility of the Pope or the authority of the Bible, is what Christians argue about most heatedly today," says Baptist theologian Harvey Cox of Harvard Divinity School.

In some major Protestant bodies, such as the Southern Baptist Convention and the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, conservatives are in control of the governing bodies and social activists are the minority voice seeking to be heard.

But in most of the big mainline Protestant denominations, the situation is reversed. It is in these denominations that conservatives are now organizing for internal battle.

Perhaps the most potent of these movements is the Presbyterian Lay Committee, which has been functioning since 1964 in the United Presbyterian Church.

It is headed by Roger Hull, board chairman of Mutual Insurance Co. of New York. Other business leaders who participated in its organization are J. Howard Pew, chairman of Sun Oil Co., and George Champion, chairman of Chase Manhattan Bank.

Hull's group has worked quietly to put a checkrein on what it regards as ill-advised social pronouncements by Presbyterian officials. It has carefully avoided flamboyant threats of schism.

Conservative movements may find a favorable climate for growth in the current state of public opinion. In a recent Gallup Poll, 53 per cent of church members interviewed felt that churches should "keep out of political and social matters" while only 40 per cent said churches should "express their views on day-to-day social and political questions."

The other 7 per cent had somehow managed to remain indifferent or undecided on the sharpest controversy in church life today.

Bible Underscores Animal Stewardship

By DAVID POLING

Our exploration of space and our success in traveling to the moon again points to our dependence on the animal kingdom of earth. The 8-day orbit of the Macaca nemestrina monkey, Bonny, was essential to the future travels of man.

A representative of the space program said that "Bonny did not die in vain." Other officials voiced their appreciation for the performance of the monkey and looked ahead to man's next adventure — landing on the moon.

But I was especially glad that James Wechsler wrote a column in the New York Post, cutting away the scientific overlay and expressing compassion for these innocent creatures that must do what we command — often to the point of death.

I am not arguing the issue of using animals in a humane manner for the advancement and well-being of the human race; what I do challenge is the laboratory lingo that so carelessly and arrogantly dismisses these victims as just so much trash, ready for disposal.

As the monkey orbited around the earth, a breakdown began: "Bonny's performance on assigned tasks declined rapidly during the first week in orbit and his metabolic state — conversion of food into energy — dropped to a lower level."

In everyday language, the monkey was dying! And the sad truth is that when a space center or a laboratory or medical team is dealing with an animal, greater risks and longer chances are pushed.

"His lack of response was interpreted to indicate a sluggishness which, if allowed to continue, could have led to serious deterioration."

This may surprise you, but my guess is that the people are still opening the angry mail at the Houston Space Center. A vast number of people in this country are concerned about man's treatment of all animal life.

Christian Church Asks $400,000 In Response To Human Crisis

SEATTLE, Wash. — The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Texas will seek $400,000 in pledges from individuals this fall for the church's response to America's crisis in human relations, officials announced here Sunday night.

Plans for the campaign, which will be launched in September and completed by Thanksgiving, were outlined in an unprecedented "Texas caucus" after an evening session of the international General Assembly of the church.

At least 25 percent of the funds raised for "Reconciliation," the Disciples' urban emergency program, will be used "to meet needs in Texas," Dr. Kenneth L. Teegarden of Fort Worth, executive minister of the Christian Church in Texas, told approximately 160 participants in the called meeting.

The Reconciliation program, started in the spring of 1968, embraces scores of denominational and ecumenical projects in such areas as jobs, housing, youth recreation, remedial education, child care, ghetto economic development and community improvement.

Teegarden said the campaign plans were developed by a special Texas Reconciliation Committee formed after the state assembly of the Christian Church last April called for action on the program "as soon as possible."

"Hopefully, you will be the vanguard of the large corps of concerned persons needed to tell the story of Reconciliation and secure the pledges," he told the delegates.

Other speakers at the caucus included Dr. Karl M. Parker, co-chairman of the Texas Reconciliation Committee and minister of the First Christian Church in Irving; Dr. John R. Compton of Indianapolis, Ind., staff director of Reconciliation nationally; Dr. William T. Pearcey of Tucson, Ariz., consulting guest director of the campaign; Dr. Harrell A. Rea of Ft. Worth, an associate executive minister of the CCT; and Dr. James M. Moudy, chancellor of Texas Christian University in Ft. Worth.

Moudy, moderator-elect of the Disciples' General Assembly, cautioned that the rough part "will not be raising the money but changing the attitudes of the people — educating them to the need for reconciliation."

Warning that the United States is "on the brink of disaster" because of a "crisis-mix" made up of poverty and race problems, Compton said the church "is on trial and, unless it shows more concern for the poor, will be in real difficulty."

Terming the $400,000 goal "a drop in the bucket," Pearcey said Texas Disciples have "the plan, the leadership and the money" to assure a successful campaign.

Rea explained that individuals will be asked to make pledges in units of $100 to be paid $5 per month over a period of 20 months, beginning in December.

Several Reconciliation-related business items are before the General Assembly, which has drawn some 7,600 representatives from throughout the U.S. and Canada. One proposed action would increase the national financial goal for the program from $2 million to $4 million and extend it from two years to four.

Summer School Of Faith To Begin Sunday

The annual Summer School of Faith will be held at the First Presbyterian Church, Aug. 24-28, beginning each evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall. Dr. Marion Conditt, pastor of the Grace Presbyterian Church of Temple, Tex., will discuss the theme, "The Meaning of Protestantism." Topics for the event are, Sunday, "What is Happening to Protestantism?" Monday, "What Happened to the Reformation?" Tuesday, "Karl Barth, the Reformation Voice," and Wednesday, "The Future of Protestantism."

Dr. Conditt attended Trinity University in San Antonio after serving in the United States Army in Japan where he graduated in 1951 with a bachelor of arts degree in the humanities. That same year he entered Princeton Theological Seminary. His second year of theological studies was spent at New College, Edinburgh, Scotland. He received his B.D. degree from Princeton in 1954.

Following a pastorate in Winters, Tex., he studied under Professor Karl Barth at the university of Basel, Basel, Switzerland and received his Th.D. degree. Dr. Conditt has been pastor of Grace Presbyterian Church since 1962. He and his wife have three children.

Missionary Medics Demonstrate Love

GLORIETA, N.M. — "You see a mother holding an emaciated baby, its arms literally skin and bone, its feet swollen, its stomach distended, its hair falling out, and you know this baby is dying of malnutrition, starving to death," a Southern Baptist layman told an audience at Glorieta Baptist Assembly during Foreign Missions Conferences, Aug. 14-20.

Dr. Timothy Pennell, assistant professor of surgery at Bowman Gray School of Medicine, Winston-Salem, N.C., described scenes from a work and study tour he made last year at Baptist medical facilities in parts of Africa and the Middle East. "I intend to tell it like it is," he said, addressing himself primarily to teen-agers and young adults.

"I saw absolute poverty, deprivation, disease, pagan superstitions, and unbelievable human need," Dr. Pennell continued. "I saw plenty of reasons for our being there." Missionaries are attempting to help people in a variety of ways, he said, "and what it comes down to is people doing their thing for Jesus Christ. It's a demonstration, an involvement, a sharing of God's love."

When a Nigerian, for example, regains consciousness after an operation in a Baptist hospital and sees a missionary nurse standing by to help him, he sooner or later wants to know why. Why would she come from affluent America to help people like him in Nigeria? This becomes the setting for a demonstration of God's love, Dr. Pennell said.

Yet, 11 million Southern Baptists are represented by only 2,500 missionaries overseas, he reminded his listeners, adding that Baptists had to close one of their hospitals in Nigeria recently because there were not enough missionary doctors and nurses to staff it.

"You've got to be involved in human need to understand it," Dr. Pennell said, "and there is an adjective that goes with this involvement: total."

Monroe Woods Appointed For Fifth Year

Rev. Monroe Woods Jr. was assigned for the fifth year to the St. Mark Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, 408 Elm.

When Rev. Woods came to the church its indebtedness was $16,000. The debt stands at less than $4,000 now.

Delegates from St. Mark to a conference held July 1-4 in Lubbock were Charity O'Neal, Mr. James Morgan and Monroe Woods III.

Morgan was named layman of the year and he and Rev. Woods were elected delegates to the general conference in Memphis, Tenn., in May 1970.

Representing the youth department at the annual conference was Monroe Woods III. He was also elected to represent the youth of the Northwest Texas Conference at the National Youth Conference which convened in Birmingham, Ala.

Rev. Woods attended the Ministers' Institute held July 6-12 in conjunction with the National Youth Conference.

He was honored by being selected to preach the ordination sermon for his home conference July 31 in Nacogdoches.

Christ Scientist Lesson-Sermon Entitled 'Mind'

"And the Lord said unto Moses, Thus thou shalt say unto the children of Israel, Ye have seen that I have talked with you from heaven." Ex. 20:22.

This verse from Exodus is part of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon, titled "Mind," to be read in the denomination's churches this week.

A correlative passage from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy states: "The human capacities are enlarged and perfected in proportion as humanity gains the true condition of man and God."

Services at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 901 N. Frost, are at 11 a.m. All are welcome.

Draw nigh to God, and HE WILL DRAW NIGH TO YOU

(JAMES)

Christian Scientists believe that an inspiring and healing understanding of God's love is within reach of every man, woman, and child. It grows and unfolds in your life through consistent study, spiritual searching, deep prayer, and the willingness and constant effort to live by the law of Christ. This is the reason for the Christian Science Bible Lessons, the Reading Room, the church services and Sunday School. You are always welcome.

CHRISTIANITY, a Life—
Not A Law

The New Testament, and particularly the Galatians, tells us that fundamentally, when you get past the externals, there are two kinds of religion. There are religions of law, and there is a religion of grace.

All the religions of the world, except one, are based on law. Only one religion of grace and that is Christianity. There are many misled Christians who constantly seek to introduce law into Christianity.

Under law you must do something in order to become acceptable to God, while under grace you accept the fact that Christ has done what needed to be done to make you acceptable to God. If you live under the law, you must keep doing many things to keep the favor of God. If you live under grace, you daily trust Him to keep doing in you and through you what He wants done as you yield to Him. The man under law has a stern sense of duty, and he works hard to live up to a strict code of conduct and performance. The man under grace does right because he wants to, and he wants to because he is born of God and God's nature dwells within him.

God is more concerned about what you are in your heart than what you do to impress men. He wants a heart filled with love more than a list of good deeds. He knows that once your heart is right, what you do will be all right. We find that throughout the Gospel this is taught.

You may have done all that is expected of a Christian, traditionally speaking, but not be a Christian. You may have heard the Gospel of grace a hundred times but not be living under grace. You may be living under law; you may be a slave instead of a son. The Lord is saying, come to me. Trust in me. Receive me into your heart and let Me live and reign there by grace. The result will be rest and freedom, and a faith that will work because of love.

Pack To Test Cowboys In Annual Battle

DALLAS (UPI)—There will be no championship overtones, but the Dallas-Green Bay pre-season National Football League grudge match in the Cotton Bowl Saturday night will pack 'em in to the rafters. The occasion will be the 22nd annual Salesmanship Club charity game and will mark the 10th time the Packers have furnished the Cowboys' opposition.

The game will not be televised.

The Packers have been a nemesis to the Cowboys, twice having beaten them in NFL championship games, and winning all four of their regular season matches over the past decade. The Cowboys have managed only 1965 and 1966 victories in the nine pre-season meetings.

This intense rivalry and the charity angle has always pulled a crowd into the big bowl, but this year the home folks have been stirred into a fresh frenzy for the club's initial Dallas appearance. All 72,000 seats will be filled for the 8:06 p.m. kickoff.

Not only will it mark their first chance to see the "new" Cowboys without retiring quarterback Don Meredith and fullback Don Perkins, but they are anxious to see if rookie Calvin Hill is "for real."

Hill, the club's No. 1 draft choice from Yale, stunned not only the San Francisco Forty Niners but also the back-home television viewers with an auspicious 106-yard rushing debut.

Coach Tom Landry has indicated they will get to see Hill, but probably not as much as they would like.

Landry said running back Craig Baynham would be among the club's regular starters who would be back in their familiar roles this week after a half dozen or so of them yielded to backup men and rookie aspirants last week.

"Too, he said Danny Reeves wtwasthe No. 1 running back until a knee injury early in the year wiped out the 1968 season, would make his first competitive appearance. That would leave little time for the tall, rangy Hill to show his wares.

Defensive tackle Jethro Pugh also is slated to make his first 1969 appearance after an attack of stomach ulcers.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL BLOOPERS

Wrong Way Riegels Wrong Run
By Newspaper Enterprise Association
At the 20-yard line, Roy Riegels—captain-elect of California's 1929 football team—was running free and clear, practically laughing out loud. In this Rose Bowl game, of all games, chance had picked him to carry California's destiny.

A touchdown lay before him, a mere center who had picked up a fumble, but a nagging voice kept shouting at him above the roar of the crowd: "Stop! You're running the wrong way!"

The voice belonged to Riegels' teammate, Benny Lom, who had been desperately chasing him for more than 40 yards. At the 10-yard line, Lom managed to grab him, but Riegels shook him off. "Get away from me," he shouted. "This is my touchdown."

At the three-yard line, Lom grabbed him again and this time held on. Riegels finally realized that something was wrong and turned around. But a wave of Georgia Tech players rolled over him, smearing him on his own one yard line.

He had run 62 yards in the wrong direction, chased by Lom and an incredulous Georgia Tech team, to produce what was probably the weirdest play in collegiate football's first 100 years.

Harvester Club Sets Outing

A chance to meet Pampa Harvester varsity football players, eat ice cream and join the Harvester Club awaits Pampans Tuesday.

The Harvester Club is sponsoring an ice cream supper, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Harvester Stadium.

Pampa fans will have a chance to meet Pampa's 1968 varsity players and enjoy themselves.

Memberships will be open to join the Harvester Club for the minimum fee of $2 per person.

Shaw Takes Lead In AVCO Classic

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI)—At the present rate "who's that?" will be playing "what's his name?" for the $30,000 top prize in the AVCO Classic golf tournament.

The $150,000 tournament had already been plagued by the absence of several "big name" players, Palmer, Nicklaus, Floyd, Beard and Dave Hill before it even started.

Lee Trevino was the next to go when he picked up after 11 holes and went hunting a chiropractor to treat his ailing back.

And by the end of the wind-whipped opening round, the list of leaders in the field of 14 didn't look anything like a normal PGA production.

The individual front-runner, Tom Shaw, was distinguished by the fact that he has won single tournament—but hadn't been on top of the pro heap for even one round in over five months.

Shaw, relying on his driver to cut through gusting winds of up to 30 miles an hour, shot a 35-33—68 for sole possession of the lead at four under par.

The 26-year-old Shaw earned less attention for his leadership than a dozen entries got for blowing away the breeze.

Gary Player was the first to go, he soared to 40-37, five over par and nine off the pace. Bunky Henry, Doug Ford, and Billy Maxwell all joined Player in the 77 class.

Oilers Test Bears, Sayers

By TRAVIS HUGHES

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Houston Oilers, whose coach proudly proclaims as a team "with guts that can play anybody," faces a second straight rival National Football League foe tonight in a game expected to feature running attacks.

This time, the Oilers will be facing the Chicago Bears' Gayle Sayers, Ron Bull and TCU rookie Ross Montgomery in the Astrodome after losing 33-29 to Baltimore last week on the final play of the game. The Oilers had spotted the Colts a 21-0 lead.

"This ball club showed me it had guts and can play with anybody," Oiler coach Wally Lemm commented afterward.

But, when a team trades four players for another team's most valuable player, then loses the guy because of a broken neck, it needs fortitude to cover up the hurts.

Good On Defense

The Oilers, who made an off-season trade for third-year cornerback Willie Mitchell, Boston's 1968 MVP, will survive his injury better than most teams would have. They were already superbly stocked on defense.

Acquiring Mitchell, who will miss the entire 1969 season with the training camp injury, was like sending a money order to a millionaire for a birthday present. It's nice, but...

Already performing on Houston's powerful defense are two all-American Football League selections—linebacker George Webster and cornerback Miller Farr. The defense ranked No. 1 in the league last season against passing.

Defense emphasized Besides acquiring Mitchell, the Oilers made a linebacker—Ron Pritchard of Arizona State, a standout in the all-games—their first draft choice. So, defense continues to be emphasized at Houston.

Defense won the Eastern crown for the Oilers in 1967, when they intercepted a record six Joe Namath passes in one game at New York. But defense wasn't enough last season when Houston finished second to the Jets in the East with a 7-7-1 record.

Again, offense—and specifically quarter—is the Houston mark.

Pete Beathard, sixth-year quarterback from Southern Cal, is expected to be the starter. Beathard came to Houston in midseason 1967 in a trade with Kansas City for Ernie Ladd. He took over the team for the last half of the schedule and led Houston to a division championship. Last season, Beathard started strong but underwent a midseason operation and did not regain his form when he returned late in the season.

"Pete is our quarterback," Lemm says. "He has the job until someone takes it away from him."

TEXAS GIRL RUNNERUP

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Melissa Briley of Houston, Tex., was runnerup in the National Junior Olympics girls 11-12 diving competition Wednesday, finishing 32 points behind winner Earbie Weinstein of Cincinnati, Ohio, who had 288.87 points.

Trying to do that are seventh-year man Don Trull, a former Baylor great who is a favorite with the fans; second-year pro Bob Davis of Virginia; and rookie Bob Naponic from Illinois.

Houston's offense boasts a strong experienced interior line that partially makes up for the lack of speed in the backfield. Tackles Walt Suggs and Glen Ray Hines, and guard Sonny Bishop are in their fourth year together. Third-year guard Tom Regner from Notre Dame rounds out the unit with center Bobby Maples.

Big Alvin Reed will be back at tight end. For wide receivers, the Oilers have second-year pros Mac Haik and Jim Eirne. Joining the receiver corps are draftees Jerry Levias of SMU, second; Charlie Joiner of Gramling, fourth; and Willie Grate of South Carolina, sixth.

Houston's "Big Back" offense, which punches out steady but unspectacular yardage, stars a pair of 225-pounders—fullback Hoyle Granger and halfback

Roy Hopkins. Last year's half-back, Woody Campbell, is expected to return from military duty in Vietnam before the season ends.

But if the Oilers are to beat out the world champion Jets for the AFL's Eastern title, they likely will do it with defense.

Zeke Moore, a third-year pro, will replace the injured Mitchell at corner, and join Farr and safeties W. K. Hicks and Ken Houston in the secondary.

At linebacker, Pritchard will battle for the right outside post of veteran Olen Underwood, opposite Webster. Garland Boyette, a nine-year veteran, is the middle linebacker.

The front four is solid with much depth. Veteran Pat Holmes and second-year sensation Elvin Bethea are at ends and George Rice and Willie Parker go again at tackle.

High Attendance Expected For 25th Boys Ranch Rodeo

A new attendance record is expected to be set for the annual Boys Ranch Rodeo at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch over the Labor Day weekend. This is the 25th year for the rodeo that is believed to be the only one of its kind in the nation in which the only contestants are boys competing under R.C.A. rules on professional rodeo stock.

Television In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — The British were interested in doing a morning show like NBC's "Today" but they finally decided against it for the remarkable reason that British homes frequently do not have central heating. Climbing out of bed to shiver in front of a set while the coal fire or oil heater slowly warms the place is punishment rather than pleasure and although the Spartan British are used to it the television powers felt it was not the frame of mind in which to enjoy a local version of Hugh Downs.
