

Terrorists Kidnap Ambassador Elbrick

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)— Communist terrorists held kidnapped U.S. Ambassador C. Burke Elbrick under threat of execution today unless Brazil's new military junta frees 15 political prisoners by early Saturday afternoon.

Under mounting pressure from the U.S. government, the junta summoned top military and legal officials to a presidential palace meeting on the terrorist ultimatum for release of the prisoners by 1:50 p.m. Saturday.

"The life and death of the ambassador is in the hands of the dictatorship," a terrorist manifesto warned.

The manifesto set two conditions for Elbrick's release:

Freedom within 48 hours for the 15 prisoners—whose names were not mentioned—and publication of the entire note in the press, which was done.

Unless both conditions were filled, the manifesto said: "We will be obliged to carry out revolutionary justice."

Several thousand police and troops scoured this tropical city of more than 4 million persons for traces of Elbrick, a 61-year-old career diplomat kidnaped on a residential street by gunmen who ambushed his limousine at 1:50 p.m. Thursday and drove off with him in a Volkswagen bus.

Police reported finding the bus and a Volkswagen car that had been used in the kidnaping.

Both vehicles had been stolen from other states.

Security forces stopped all vehicles leaving Rio, searching the cars and their occupants. Surveillance at airports and rail and bus depots also was greatly increased.

The U.S. Embassy said "adequate measures" had been taken to protect the ambassador's wife, who remained at the embassy residence—five blocks from the scene of the kidnaping.

Minister-Counselor William Belmont of the U.S. Embassy, ranking American officer in Brazil in the ambassador's absence, refused to speculate on how the junta will react to the ultimatum.

The kidnaping was the first serious incident since the junta assumed authority five days ago.

Pampa Not Interested In Suggested RPC

Pampa currently is not interested in the proposed regional planning commission for a 25-county Panhandle area. City Manager Charles Hill said today.

Hill, along with B.M. Wofford, city utilities director, and Ronnie Wood, personnel director, attended a forum meeting in Amarillo yesterday when merits and demerits of the proposal were debated by four speakers in the Civic Auditorium there.

In fact, the Pampa delegation did not stay for the afternoon session.

"When we learned that only elected governmental officials from the 25-county area would be heard," Hill stated, "we decided not to remain for the afternoon session."

The city manager said because state and federal governments have designated Pampa as an independent planning agency there is little local interest in the regional planning commission.

"We are so far from Amarillo and other towns in the area there is no need for us to be involved," he said.

Hill added that the Pampa group, at request of the city council, attended the meeting "just to listen" and report back on what the session was all about.

The city manager said they heard two of the four speakers—Dan Petty of Austin, a member of Gov. Preston Smith's planning staff who spoke for the proposal, and Melvin Munn of Dallas, former Pampan and Life Line radio commentator, who spoke against it.

Petty said he was not there (See PAMPA, Page 2)

Commiss Increase Viet Attacks

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist troops stepped up attacks overnight throughout South Vietnam, military spokesmen said today. The increased activity came three days before the start of an announced 72-hour cease-fire by the Viet Cong in memory of Ho Chi Minh.

The U.S. Command said at least 6 Allied installations came under Communist mortar and rocket fire, the largest number of shelling in more than three weeks. Ground attacks were also reported against two base camps but they were repelled.

The new wave of Communist activity had been anticipated by U.S. officials in connection with the 24th anniversary Sept. 2 of the coming to power of Ho.

The Viet Cong Radio invited Allied troops to participate in the three-day cease-fire beginning at 1 a.m. Monday and warned those who did not would be "severely punished."

There was no immediate reaction from either South Vietnamese or American military officials. In the past, American commanders have followed the lead of the South Vietnamese in observing cease-fires.

Spokesmen estimated 120 Communist charged an American and South Vietnamese artillery installation near Go Dau Ha three miles from the Cambodian border, firing rocket-propelled grenades, small arms and automatic weapons as they advanced. They were prevented from penetrating a barbed wire perimeter by artillery and helicopter gunships.

Allies Expect Hanoi To Toughen Negotiations

PARIS (UPI)—The Allied delegations to the Vietnam talks expect Hanoi to toughen its battlefield and negotiating positions to show its determination to carry on with Ho Chi Minh.

Both the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese chief delegates to the peace conference left Paris Thursday for Ho's funeral following the cancellation of the regularly scheduled 33rd session of the talks.

Xuan Thuy, Hanoi's top negotiator, told newsmen on his departure that he would return "soon" and would "continue backing the just solution to the conflict" put forward by the Viet Cong.

Thuy and Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong delegation chief, were expected to bring back orders to stick to their demands for the complete withdrawal of American troops from the battlefield.

A source close to both the Allies delegations said they "will show a harden attitude both here and on the battlefield just to show they are not affected by Ho's death."

Fire Guts Furr's Food Store

Damages Expected To Reach $500,000 Mark

AFTERMATH OF the half-million dollar fire that ravaged Furr's Food Store in today's early morning hours, attracted sidewalk spectators throughout the morning. Some had come with grocery lists in hand, not knowing of the fire; others to speculate upon the fire-blackened merchandise and the collapsed roof at the back of the store just above the frozen-food and meat departments. An estimated half-million dollar fire swept through and destroyed Furr's Super Market, 1420 N. Hobart, early this morning.

All available Pampa fire fighting equipment and 30 of the city's 33 firemen fought the blaze and strong south winds for more than three hours before bringing it under control. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Furr's manager, Jerry Cansler, who arrived at the scene about 30 minutes after the fire was reported, said he was sure the building and contents was a total loss.

"It will probably run about half a million dollars," Cansler said, referring to the loss.

Pampa Fire Chief Finis Dyer said possibly some things in the store could be salvaged but damage would run high—near the half-million dollar mark.

Pampa police received a call at 2:14 a.m. from Dan Michael, owner of The Spudnut Shop, located across the street from Furr's.

Michael said a customer came into the store and said he could see smoke billowing out of the store. Both he and Michael looked again, saw the smoke and notified authorities.

Dyer said that three pumper units plus the aerial truck was used to squelch the fire. Thirty Pampa firemen, some of them off duty answered the call.

Firemen were still at the smoldering ruins at noon and Pampa police, who worked through the night directing traffic, were still manning barricades at both ends of the 1400 block of north Hobart.

No firemen were injured, although the back part of the roof collapsed and the east and west walls cracked and threatened to cave in. Both walls are weak and not expected to stand.

Many Pampa residents living northeast and north of the store were routed from their beds by the heavy smell of smoke and many thought their own homes were on fire. Smoke was visible several miles from town.

Richard Barth, Amarillo, division meat supervisor for Furr's, said after viewing the fire, "It is a total loss. It looks like nothing. I doubt there will be anything left."

By 8:30 a.m. water was standing six inches deep in the store and there was still some smoke coming from the roof on the north side.

When firemen first arrived no blaze was visible but smoke was pouring from the roof in the rear of the building. Attempts to knock in the three back doors proved futile.

Cansler arrived, unlocked the doors and flames could be seen in the rear portion of the building. Two hours after firemen arrived flames were still shooting through the roof of the building on the north side.

A fire official said the fire probably had been going for some time before it was discovered.

The loss is believed to be the highest by fire ever recorded in Pampa. On March 23, 1959, the Lenora Theatre burned and loss was estimated at $89,000.

On August 23, 1959 five persons died in a fire at Gilkins Apartments. Damages estimates listed $85,000.

North Korea Demands Confession

WASHINGTON (UPI)—North Korea's demand for an American confession that the U.S. Army helicopter downed Aug. 17 was involved in a "criminal act" appears to have complicated the negotiations to release the three crewmen.

State Department officials said publicly the helicopter strayed unintentionally over North Korea and no criminal intention or criminal action was involved.

Privately, Nixon administration officials are considering what their next move should be in their effort to win the crew's release. North Korea has replaced one crew member who was injured slightly and the other two were injured more seriously.

The North Korean demand was relayed by Maj. Gen. Lee Choon-Sun at a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission Sept. 4. The demand, given U.S. Marine Maj. Gen. Arthur H. Adams, represented the clarifications of North Korean suggestions at the Aug. 29 meeting of the commission.

State Department officials here said the Communists clearly want the United States to admit wrongdoing. The officials said it was not clear whether North Korea wanted the admission to be oral or written. Consequently, the United States was expected to seek another meeting of the commission to clarify the North Korean demands.

It was feared North Korea would seek confessions from the three wounded Americans that it would pump into a propaganda campaign against the United States. So far North Korea has not been reported here to have broadcast any confessions.

State Department officials said because the three American airmen are wounded there is urgency in the current negotiations. The United States has expressed its regret and said it would take steps to prevent a recurrence.

Officials here were understood to be disappointed that these statements have had no visible effect on the North Koreans. They acknowledged the demands for an admission

Red Cross In National Drive For Homeless

To meet the needs of the thousands upon thousands left homeless along the Gulf Coast and in Virginia and West Virginia by Hurricane Camille, the American Red Cross has launched a nationwide $15 million campaign for funds.

"Camille was no lady. Camille was a disaster. The fact is, the Red Cross needs $15 million to put American men, women and children back on their feet," stated James F. Collins, president of the National American Red Cross.

Early morning rains today were treated to one of the Top of Texas' fabulous scenic views—a sunrise streaked with fingers of gold interlaced in a bank of white clouds.

The early morning promise of fair and clear weather was to continue throughout the day, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau at Amarillo.

Skirt-ripping winds were to continue and pick up a briskness during the afternoon.

A ridge of high pressure extending from the Southeastern states westward into Southern Texas early today promised to push out of the state by tonight, permitting cooler Rocky Mountain air to slip into Northwestern Texas.

As the front moved eastward, the weather bureau said it would cause widely scattered thunderstorms in the northwest part of the state with a few squanders continuing in the Panhandle Saturday.

The high Thursday was shared by three cities reporting 95 degrees, Cotulla, El Paso and Wink. Other stations reported temperatures in the low 90s and 80s.

Nixon Cuts Building TO BATTLE INFLATION

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon sought today to take some of the steam out of an inflated economy by cutting back on federal federal construction projects and strongly warning state and local governments to do the same.

Nixon's action was more psychological than a massive withholding of federal funds, Dr. Arthur F. Burns, counselor to the President, said the cutback in actual expenditures for new direct federal construction projects for the rest of this fiscal year would be about $300 million.

Nixon was not aiming at a dramatic net saving to the federal government this year, but trying to set an example for all levels of government to curb the pressure of demand for construction one of the more-inflated sectors of the national economy.

Furthermore, the President knew his action on federal construction programs would not be entirely popular at state and local levels, but he thought the overall benefits worth the risk.

"Although this action will cause some hardships," he said in a statement issued Thursday at the western White House, "it will release resources for home building where the need is great and where severe strains already are being felt."

Specifically, the President directed all agencies of the federal government to put into effect immediately a 75 percent reduction in new contracts for government construction.

This limitation, which will continue until conditions ease, will still permit projects of the highest social priority to be carried forward.

Legislators Kill Out Another Tax Package

AUSTIN (UPI)—For the sixth time in as many weeks, one branch of the Texas Legislature has killed a tax bill passed by the other.

As a result, the state is still operating on an emergency two-month budget and is still without the $300-$350 million in new revenue needed to finance the 1970-71 biennium.

The latest failure came Thursday when the House for the third time rejected a tax bill approved by the Senate. The Senate has killed three tax proposals advanced by the House.

"It's time to quit playing tag and hide and seek, and who's got the ball," said Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes. He said the long series of failures has given the legislature "a black eye."

Rep. John Allen, D-Longview, told the House the same thing. "The people have had enough," Allen said. "They want us to pass a reasonable appropriations bill and enough taxes to do what we have to and adjourn."

Rep. Jack Ogg, D-Houston, blamed at least part of the legislature's failures on the press. He said newsmen have created "popular misconceptions" that there was discord between the House and Senate leadership conflict between advocates of business and consumer taxes, influence by the beer lobby on the House leadership, and an impression that legislators did not deserve a pay raise.

But Allen said "every one of those things is true."

He said, "The newspaper and the radio and television reporters are telling the truth about what's going on down here, and the people of Texas don't like it."

The House' latest rejection of a tax bill was a shock to many legislators in both houses.

Gov. Preston Smith had urged House members to accept the bill, speaker Gus F. Mutscher had "released" his House allies to vote for it, despite Mutscher's personal opposition, and the House had persuaded the Senate to make corrections in the Senate bill to assure its validity if the House gave it final approval.

Pampans Inspect New Auditorium At Plainview

Four Pampans went to Plainview today to inspect the new auditorium just completed on the campus of Wayland College.

Making the trip were E.L. Green Jr., chairman of the M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium committee; Mrs. Fred Thompson, representing the M.K. Brown Foundation; City Manager Charles Hill, a member of the auditorium executive committee, and E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

The group was to be taken on the inspection tour by Dr. Roy McClung, Wayland College president.

Purpose of the trip, it was stated, was to get ideas and information to be presented to the general auditorium committee for possible application to plans for a local auditorium.

Approximately $350,000 is available from the M.K. Brown Foundation for the construction of the Pampa auditorium.

JUSTICE DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department filed termination suits Thursday against the Smokeshop snack bar, its owner, Charles Costello, 700 N. Lincoln, Anderson, N.C., and the restaurant and its owner, Clyde Joseph Norman, of Hampton, Va.

The government said the Smokeshop refused to sell food to black persons for consumption on the premises and Clyde's refused to allow them in the bar.

BUNKER ARRIVES

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, arrived Thursday from Paris to spend the rest of September at his home in Vermont with several days of consultations here.

Kidnap

Da Costa e Silva suffered a stroke.

The Brazilian Foreign Ministry called the kidnaping "an act of terrorism, pure and simple, to the detriment of the international prestige of Brazil."

Papal Nuncio Humberto Monzoni visited the American Embassy to offer his services as intermediary to deal with the kidnapers.

Another offer of help came from Mexico City, where the Foreign Relations Department said it was willing to allow the 15 prisoners to take refuge in the Mexican embassy in Rio.

Elbrick, who had been at his new diplomatic post only a few weeks, was abducted while returning to work from lunch at his suburban residence.

The bearded kidnapers ambushed the ambassador's limousine on a residential street heavy with traffic. They forced the chauffeur to drive to a secluded spot where the ambassador was placed in the waiting Volkswagen bus.

The chauffeur was freed and walked to the nearest house, where he telephoned the U.S. Embassy.

The manifesto left in the limousine was signed by the National Liberating Action (ALN) and the October Revolutionary Movement (MR8), both Communist terrorist organizations.

The majority of the accidents occurred on Saturday (15) with 12 investigated on Monday. More drivers between the ages of 25-34 were involved (23) with 16 persons between the ages of 35-44 involved in collisions.

More male drivers (61) than female drivers (48) had accidents and improper driving was the major cause of the accidents.

An estimated $18,869 in property damage resulted due to the accidents.

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) listened Thursday as spokesmen for the major airlines urged approval of fare increases ranging to 8 per cent.

Why another fare hike, after the CAB approved a 3 per cent increase in February? The airlines contend the first increase was wiped out by rising costs, higher wages and inflation.

To back up their arguments they point to sharply declining earnings. In the first quarter of this year, earnings for the 11 major airlines dropped by 40 per cent. In 1968, earnings were down 34 per cent compared with 1967.

to "sell or kill" the idea, but merely to present facts on what he termed "neighborly cooperation."

Munn called the regional planning proposal a "move away from local government control toward dominance of local citizens by a new, higher form of government."

John Schmitz, a California state senator from Sacramento, and Mayor Tom Vandergriff of Arlington, Texas, were the afternoon speakers. Schmitz spoke in opposition and Vandergriff for the Council of Governments plan.

"It was more like a debate on the merits and demerits of COG," City Manager Hill added. "I had heard the arguments many times before, so we decided not to stay."

Hill said the meeting was not an organizational session and there was no discussion of its detailed workings.

In short, advocates for a regional planning commission or council of governments held that it was a voluntary organization to provide assistance to local governments in such matters as federal and state aid.

Opposing speakers painted COG as "taxation without representation" and "another layer of government headed by appointees and a paid staff who would bypass cities and counties in getting state and federal funds."

Mayor Ernest Stroud of Amarillo, in his welcome speech to the approximately 100 elective officials from over the Panhandle, warned of what he said would be "a revolt of the people against public spending and more taxes." He added that "elected officials who ignore the current trend will do so to their sorrow."

City Manager Hill said he plans to file a report on the Amarillo visit with the city council here when it meets next Tuesday.

Police Investigate 66 Accidents During August

Pampa police investigated a total of 66 accidents in the city during the month of August, a report released by the department showed today.

In the accidents 13 persons suffered injuries. During the same month last year their were only 53 accidents with eight personal injuries.

During the first eight months of this year police have investigated 492 accidents with 85 injuries compared with 477 accidents and 68 persons injured during the same period a year ago.

The majority of the accidents occurred on Saturday (15) with 12 investigated on Monday. More drivers between the ages of 25-34 were involved (23) with 16 persons between the ages of 35-44 involved in collisions.

WILL BE CUT

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Reliable sources say the Air Force will be cut back 50,000 men to below pre-Vietnam strength as part of Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird's $3 billion economy program. This would bring the Air Force down to 810,000 men by July 1, compared with 824,000 at the start of the Vietnam buildup in 1965. The Navy has announced a reduction of 72,000 and the Army of 38,000 but both cut-backs would leave both services considerably above their prewar strength.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Enchiladas, tortillas, tamales and chili are selling like hotcakes in Dublin, according to the Agriculture Department. It said Thursday that an exhibitor of a Texas line of foods sold his entire demonstration stock in two days at the Irish International Food and Drink Fair.

Police Investigate 66 Accidents During August

Pampa police investigated a total of 66 accidents in the city during the month of August, a report released by the department showed today.

In the accidents 13 persons suffered injuries. During the same month last year their were only 53 accidents with eight personal injuries.

During the first eight months of this year police have investigated 492 accidents with 85 injuries compared with 477 accidents and 68 persons injured during the same period a year ago.

The majority of the accidents occurred on Saturday (15) with 12 investigated on Monday. More drivers between the ages of 25-34 were involved (23) with 16 persons between the ages of 35-44 involved in collisions.

More male drivers (61) than female drivers (48) had accidents and improper driving was the major cause of the accidents.

An estimated $18,869 in property damage resulted due to the accidents.

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) listened Thursday as spokesmen for the major airlines urged approval of fare increases ranging to 8 per cent.

Why another fare hike, after the CAB approved a 3 per cent increase in February? The airlines contend the first increase was wiped out by rising costs, higher wages and inflation.

To back up their arguments they point to sharply declining earnings. In the first quarter of this year, earnings for the 11 major airlines dropped by 40 per cent. In 1968, earnings were down 34 per cent compared with 1967.

Crazy World Of Washington

By FRNK ELEAZER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The last thing the U.S. Capitol needed was more stuffy old monuments, and there is general agreement now that Hawaii didn't send any.

It has taken a while for the locals to make up their minds. Initially the topless giant and bottomless priest installed by the 50th state on April 15 as its contributions to the Capitol's satuary hall left amateur critics in a state of cultural shock.

The consensus now among passing tourists and congressional regulars is that Hawaii's two statues are the best thing that has happened to the Capitol since Brumidi painted an undraped mermaid in wet plaster up under the dome.

The footsore sightseer, after all, can stand just so many frock-coated statesmen and uniformed generals. To paraphrase a current high office holder, when you have seen one marble congressman you have seen them all.

Since 1894 each state has been privileged to enshrine two of its heroes in the semicircular hall that formerly was the House chamber. On the basis of the visual evidence to date, state authorities generally get pretty up-tight at the responsibility of selecting and memorializing their fallen leaders.

Aside from Will Rogers (Oklahoma), Robert E. Lee (Virginia), Robert Fulton and his steamboat (Pennsylvania), and Huey P. Long (Louisiana), few of the multiton entries excite more than passing attention from other than their own hometowns amongst the multitudes herded daily by guides through the Capitol corridors.

Since 1894 each state has been privileged to enshrine two of its heroes in the semicircular hall that formerly was the House chamber. On the basis of the visual evidence to date, state authorities generally get pretty up-tight at the responsibility of selecting and memorializing their fallen leaders.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The World Almanac notes among its memorable dates the grim tale of the Black Hole of Calcutta. On June 20, 1756, the Nawab of Bengal, claiming economic abuses, attacked the British East India Company at Calcutta. Most of the British fled, but of those unable to escape, 146 were thrown into a cell only 20 feet square. Lacking an adequate air supply, only 23 of the prisoners survived the night.

What Price Justice

Those pay increases (all considerably in excess of the now forgotten 6 per cent federal "guidelines") received by the president, vice president, congressmen, supreme court justices, and other assorted officials in the federal government, are causing some strange repercussions.
If you don't believe it, just listen to this:
According to wire reports (Aug. 23), 22 Philadelphia municipal court judges are suing the state of Pennsylvania for pay raises ranging from $4,000 to $8,500 a year they say they were "promised."
Don't ask us what business state boob-bahs have promising municipal boob-bahs pay raises—that's a little too complicated for mere mortals. But, let's get on with the tale.
It seems that the 22 judges are not each receiving $12,500 a year (not exactly starvation wages) but, on the basis of a Pennsylvania state House approved bill (later amended by the Senate Judiciary Committee), are charging that they were "promised" the raises and that the state treasurer and auditor are "arbitrarily withholding" their pay boosts.
The state House approved bill called for salaries for the judges ranging from $16,500 to $21,000 a year, depending upon the particular judicial positions involved and the legal experience of the incumbents.
However, the Senate Judiciary Committee, whose members, no doubt, have heard rumblings of a grassroots tax rebellion of late, amended the measure to give all of the justices a paltry $17,500 as their annual stipend. "Only seven of the 22 are lawyers," the wire story noted incidentally.
But get this, given by the judges, as the reason for their suit:
"Failure to pay the higher salaries," the suit charged, "was working" to interfere with and obstruct "the administration of justice."
In other words, descending to the level of the mob in the street, and borrowing the language of union labor czars, the Philadelphia judges are saying that their future performance—as impartial arbiters of justice—will depend upon whether their demands are granted.
Of course, since the State of Pennsylvania has nothing which it does not first take from the people the 22 judges demand, in reality, are directed at individual earners, who, as individuals, have "promised" the judges nothing.

Attitudes Must Change

Perhaps the biggest obstacle President Nixon's proposal to revise our worn-out welfare program will run into is the attitude that more money must be appropriated to enable poor people to keep up with the middle class Joneses.
Our society is riddled with assumptions. Some bureaucrats figure that an average family of four is poverty stricken if it doesn't have an income of $4,000 per year.
How in the world can you set that kind of a figure when poverty is only a relative term? Let's take a look at what Congressman Olin E. Teague reported recently. He found a survey in one of the poorest regions of the United States revealed that eight families out of ten live on less than $3,000 a year; that 37 per cent of those families owned washing machines; that 48 per cent owned automobiles; that 52 per cent had TV sets. This is considered affluence when compared with the middle class people in Europe, not to men-

Unions Afraid Of Customers

The prospect of a grape harvest that will exceed last year's 470,000 tons is not a cause for celebration in the grape growing areas out in California.
The difficulties encountered in marketing a grape crop of that size is only one more item on the long list of grape grower problems.
There is, however, some news that is good, a lot of news that is moderately so and omens of better news in the future.
The good news includes the firm stand taken by the San Francisco Bay Area super-markets against union intimidation. The markets include Lucky, Safeway, Purity and Arden-Mayfair. The Bay Area Grocers Assn. also is included. These stores and the association advertised: "No one has the right to tell our customers that they cannot buy a product because one group wants to put bargaining pressure on another."
Other items show, we believe, that the union tactic of trying to scare potential customers away from grapes by creating a false fear of pesticides has not produced the results the union sought.
Sen. George Murphy said in a Senate speech that the Thompson seedless grapes the union submitted to a private laboratory for testing showed contamination all right—but a pesticide that the ranch from which the grapes were obtained

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON
It is appalling that many of the newspapers which regularly carry obscene and pornographic movie ads, run-pious editorials against "filth in the mails."
As Senator Edmund Muskie has said over and over, he is not ready to concede '72 to Teddy Kennedy although he admits "there's no way we can stop him getting attention."
The pollution of our waters is a national disgrace—but the pollution of our minds can be a national calamity. The professional anti-anti-Communists boot at the idea of Communists behind the deluge of pornography in spite of the fact that it is demonstrably true. For instance in the Journal Cinéma, a document of the Italian Communist Party, Number 12, pages 233 to 235, it says: "The film and theatre production of today is really a typical bourgeois phenomenon. The bourgeoisie have now reached the final stage in their advance toward decadence and show up their inherent rottenness as they surrender all claims to standard-bearers of responsibility... We are interested in encouraging this... We insist in pursuing this course, even more so in plays being shown that attempt to condone homosexuality."
In a state college in California, an incredibly evil play, "The Beard," was put on by the drama department and presented to the public by this tax-supported institution. It is a horrible, degrading and filthy play which ends with a scene of oral copulation right on the stage.
Prior to the moon-landing, the ultra-leftist Atlanta Constitution editorialized: "Those who travel that far path to the moon truly see our world. New emphasis is given that concept with announcement Thursday that Apollo 11 carries medals honoring five spacemen. American and Soviet, who have perished in the conquest of space."
"The two men we hope will set foot on the moon represent all mankind," said President Richard M. Nixon. "Their achievement will be the world's achievement. It is fitting therefore, that the first lunar explorers carry with them some recognition of the sacrifice made by other space pioneers who helped blaze the trail."
It is not fitting: The Communists who died represented the greatest enemy to freedom in the annals of man: Soviet Russia. The achievement was not the world's achievement: It was the achievement of the American system of free enterprise, and the fantastic cost was paid, not by the world, but by the downtrodden and abused American taxpayer.
The Constitution continued: "Apollo 11, also carries an American flag to be planted on our silvery neighbor, and a plaque on the moonlanding craft, Eagle, declares, 'We came in peace for all mankind.'"
Baloney. The conquest of the moon has nothing to do with peace. Unless it can be said if we control outer space the Russians would dare not attack us.
The "liberals" to these many years have proclaimed that all the world needs to get along is "understanding." Pravoin D. Russiaviet used to love to parrot. "The Russians merely need to understand us—some of my best friends are Communists." We can truly have "one-world," the bubbleheads proclaim, when we all understand each other. Some of the people I understand the best are the ones I dislike the most. The Catholics of Ireland understand the Protestants of Ireland, and vice versa. And they despise each other. Frenchmen dislike all other people—but most of all they dislike other Frenchmen. Yugoslavs distrust Albanians. Northern Italians have contempt for southern Italians. Red Chinese resent Russians. Delta people look down their noses at hill people. Nigerians murder Biafrans. Blacks everywhere resent whites. The moon landing didn't change any of this—and nothing ever will until the Second Coming. Anybody who thinks all we need is to understand each other doubtless still thinks the moon is made of green cheese. There were 10 wars going on in the world before the moon landing. There are still 10 wars going on in the world.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: — What is the cause of depressions and an unnecessary unemployment?
ANSWER: The primary cause of depressions is the government interfering with a free and unhampered market by setting artificial minimum wages, by protective tariffs, by giving labor unions the power to limit apprentices and to set non-competitive wage rates, and by the government regulating bank credit and spending more than it receives from taxation through increasing the money supply, which is inflation. Inflation is a form of taxation.
Of course, there will always be some people who, because they are blind or handicapped in other ways, will have difficulty in producing enough to be worth what the government

H. L. Hunt Writes

No Time For Farmer Apathy
The mistaken foes of Freedom who would completely control and socialize American agriculture keep flying in the face of history and logic. They take a dvantage of tight-money pinches and runaway inflation, which they have caused in the first place, to urge more socialization on everybody.
Agriculture is a prime target. Just as the socializers would like to follow Britain down the drain in the medical field, they would like to take over control of all U.S. agriculture.
Farmers want to believe that "it can't happen here" as it has to farmers in other lands. But those farmers still relatively free should discard any apathy or wishful thinking along those lines, lest they find themselves hamstringed, too.
The problems of creating an ever-more-efficient agricultural production and distribution system are beyond the understanding of these mistaken collectivists. By far the most efficient agriculture in the world is found in our own Republic USA. No matter how cheaply they work, foreign farmers can't compete with American farmers.
Once it was that way in most any endeavor Americans tried. Now foreign manufacturers use our techniques and technology which we developed through our individual-initiative, profit-motive system. To outbid us in the world market, farmers need to be alert that we don't socialize ourselves into a second-rate position in agriculture, too.
Socialized agriculture fails miserably to feed peoples in communist lands and in the so-called "emerging" nations. Leftists in the U.S. try to have our own farmers and taxpayers fill the gap to feed the failing socialist systems around the world, not caring who will feed the world if they ever succeed in finally destroying free American farmers.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT
Many Body Functions Controlled by Hormones
Many of the body's functions are controlled by chemical rather than nervous signals. The former are hormones, a term that means rousing or setting in motion. Although we usually think of them as coming from the glands of internal secretion (secreting directly into your blood stream), recent studies have shown that they may also arise from such nonglandular tissues as bone marrow and brain.
Some tissues produce, not a single hormone, but two or more. Although each of the hormones has its own special field of activity, they do not act independently but more nearly like a well-tuned orchestra. When one gland plays slightly off-key (secretes too much or too little of a given hormone), a person suffers from a hormonal imbalance. This term is applied most often to the masculinizing effect on a woman of too much male hormone or the feminizing effect on a man of too much female hormone. We all normally carry a delicate balance of both kinds.
A reader has asked whether removal of her uterus would correct a hormonal imbalance but she failed to say whether she had too much or too little of which hormone. Since the so-called "sex" hormones are produced by the pituitary, the gonads and, to a lesser degree, the adrenals and the pineal, removal of her uterus would not correct her imbalance, but carefully controlled injections of a deficient hormone might.
One amazing property of hormones is their ability to perform their function in minute doses. It is estimated, for example, that in the lifetime of a woman her ovaries produce less than a teaspoonful of estrogen. The two adrenals together weigh about half an ounce yet the functions regulated by their two hormones are essential to life.
Q — Every time I take anything with aspirin in it I become nauseated. What can I take for headache or backache that doesn't contain aspirin?
A — Acetaminophen, sold under several trade names, requires no prescription. Darvon is a popular pain killer but it does require one.
Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

JOHN GOLDSMITH

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Sen. George McGovern is not only hitching his political wagon to a star, but his standard of living also is taking a sudden skyward spurt.
The ambitious South Dakota "peacenik" already a busy aspirant for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, is causing a lot of startled eyebrow raising by buying a $160,000 home in a choice residential area near American University.
The seller was Chief Judge David Ezelon of the U.S. Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia. The asking price was $177,000.
Custom built by the Bazelon some 12 years ago, the house has 10 rooms, spacious grounds and garden. On the ground floor is a large living room that leads into a sizable dining room; also a good-sized study. Upstairs are a big master bedroom, and four other bedrooms and baths.
The custom-made furniture, drapes and decor are contemporary Japanese.
All were included in the purchase. Close Bazelon friends say they left everything except their own personal belongings. They are now living in a newly-built fashionable apartment on the Potomac.
Previously, McGovern and his family resided for number of years in a modest suburban six-room frame house.
A next-door neighbor was former Vice President Hubert Humphrey — until he moved into one of the Capital's ritzy new cooperative apartments. Another neighbor was Sen. Eugene McCarthy, who last year rented a large mansion opposite Washington's noted National Cathedral on fashionable upper Wisconsin Avenue.
Several weeks ago the Minnesota "peacenik," estranged from his wife of 24 years, took up residence in a small apartment in a leading Washington hotel.
Mrs. Abigail McCarthy has told friends she will give up the mansion as soon as she finds another place to live. Two of her daughters and an 18-year-old son are attending out-of-town colleges. Another daughter, a student at a Washington school, is living with her.
INTRIGUING MYSTERY
The big puzzle in Capital circles, particularly Democratic, is where McGovern got the money to buy a $160,000 home.
He had given no indication of such means before. He and his family had always lived on a modest scale and did little entertaining, and then nothing elaborate. Knowledgeable friends say his previous frame residence could not have brought more than $40,000 even at today's inflated prices.
Further, they relate, he hasn't sold it's being rented at an estimated $300 a month.
Still unpaid is a reputed $100,000 in debts incurred by McGovern in his last-minute presidential campaign following the slaying of Senator Robert Kennedy. McGovern's pitch never got to first base. But quite a bit of still-owing money was spent on it.

Recently, the Democratic National Committee agreed to pay off his debts as well as those of Humphrey and McCarthy. With the committee's unpaid obligations from the 1968 election campaign, the debt total is around $9 million.
FAR DIFFERENT ERA
Former Vice President Hubert Humphrey is apparently learning quite a bit as well as teaching — particularly about the much-discussed "generation gap."
The 1968 Democratic standard bearer is illustrating that with the following story:
"When I was working my way through college, a student when asked what he was 'taking,' would reply, law, pre-med, political science, art, or whatever — he was majoring in. Recently, I met three students on the campus of the University of Minnesota and in the course of a chat, asked them what they were 'taking.'
"To which one replied, 'Well, tomorrow we're thinking of taking the Administration building, and the next day the Library. After that, we haven't decided just what we'll take. We'll see how the situation shapes up.'
"I guess that's what is meant by the 'generation gap,'" grinned Humphrey. "It's vastly different from my day."
HEAR YE, HEAR YE — A powerful new transmitting facility is now broadcasting the Voice of America throughout the Far East.
Located at Tinang in the Philippines, the huge establishment consists of ten 250,000-watt transmitters constructed at a cost of $23,236,000. Occupying some 2,300 acres, the facility is the most powerful in the USIA system and in the Far East.
Construction began in 1966, but was delayed when some $7 million of steel for transmitting tower antennas proved defective and had to be replaced. A long dispute ensued between USIA and the contractor over payment.
The Tinang station broadcasts to Asia in 14 languages and fills some 900 hours of air time weekly. It penetrates into Red China, India and portions of Russia.
TIMELY MEASURE — Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla., tired of waiting for the Supreme Court to impose a code of ethics on itself, has introduced legislation along that line.
His measure would establish a Federal Commission on Judicial Qualifications with authority to crack down on judges who misbehave. How far this timely legislation will get is conjectural.

A Look at the Book

By DR. BOB JONES
THE END OF THE SEARCH
It is a strange thing how often people accuse other folks of doing the very thing that they themselves are guilty of.
Zophar, one of the three men who came to "comfort" Job at the time of his sorrow and poverty, thought he knew all there was to know about God; yet he accused Job of being guilty of this same presumption and asked him: "Canst thou find out the Almighty unto perfection?" (Job 41:7)
Man by searching can find out much about God. The physical universe reveals a great deal of the power and skill and wisdom of the Almighty. The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth His handiwork. Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night sheweth knowledge" (Psalm 19:1-2). The ordered regularity of the movements of the heavenly bodies reveal to the searching telescope of the astronomer the attribute of perfection which God possesses. The complexities in the patterns of Nature speak of the infinite wisdom of God. The workings of God's moral law proclaim His justice. God "plants His foot upon the sea and rides upon the storm," and the searcher finds everywhere in creation evidence of Deity.

Finding out the Almighty to perfection is another thing. But Christ is the end of that search. The man who finds Christ finds the only perfect revelation of God. "... He that hath seen Me," said Jesus, "hath seen the Father" (John 14:9); and in Christ is found the only perfect revelation of Deity in all His attributes. "For in Him dwelleth of the fulness of the Godhead bodily" (Colossians 2:9). He is God Incarnate; and the man who finds Christ finds God perfect in power, perfect in love, perfect in wisdom.
Job, looking forward with the eyes of faith through the years and seeing Him, exclaimed, "For I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth: And though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God" (Job 19:25-26). When we find Christ, we find God; and having our faith fixed on Him Who is God the Redeemer, we share Job's assurance that someday when our bodies have been transformed into the likeness of His glorious body, then in our flesh we shall see God.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Nathan Leopold, a codefendant in the famous Loeb-Leopold murder trial, lives a quiet life now, working with a hospital in Puerto Rico since his release from prison.

He does not appear often in television interviews, but he taped one recently for the Ed Nelson show, a local ABC-TV series that is seen elsewhere besides in Los Angeles. The taping is scheduled for airing today, and Nelson, formerly a performer on "Peyton Place," discussed prison rehabilitation with Leopold.

"The American prison system doesn't generally rehabilitate," says Leopold in the interview. "Prisons are so large, matters of security, matters of routine take up so much time there is nothing left for rehabilitation."

Only a few prisons really have a program he said.

"In 1933," said Leopold, "my codefendant and I started the first correspondence high school in any penal institution of which I have any knowledge. Here the men were able to work on their own time in their cells. Now they get nothing for it, we're willing to give up their time to doing their assignments. They were motivated. They had a real desire to learn."

Nelson said, "Even with the limited facilities available during your time in prison you learned over 26 or 27 languages. How did you manage the time and energies for that?"

Leopold replied, "Well, the one luxury of the convict is unlimited leisure. Now there aren't awfully many alternatives. If you happen to be a baseball fan, all right, you listen to the radio, the baseball game. There are no nightclubs there are no dancing parties so what you do, your choice is between doing something like studying self improvement or living on your bunk and counting the cracks in the wall."

Nelson: "What about the idea that a man work in industry during the day learning a trade and be returned to prison at night and letting them out?"

Leopold: "This is the coming thing. It's being practiced now. For instance by a federal penal system. I know that at the federal institution in Danbury, Conn., a real effort is being made to interest employers in the town."

Nelson: "What about the inside of prison? how do prisoners react to an execution?"

Leopold: "Definitely (They do react), especially if the electric chair is located in the building, the lights go dim for a moment everybody is alert and waiting."

Phone Gap In Germany

By Texas War

BONN (UPI) — A West German can get a telephone call through to New York or Hawaii in five minutes, but he often waits 18 hours for a connection to a relative in Communist-ruled East Germany.

Someone living in West Berlin is unable to put through a phone call to East Berlin under any circumstances.

The communications bottlenecks and blocks set up by the Communists are one of the most frustrating results of the political division of Germany.

Werner Dollinger, West German Postal Affairs Minister, has proposed to the East Germans that they join him in improving the situation by:

- Adding 100 telephone circuits to the 54 now existing between West Germany's 60 million and East Germany's 17 million residents.
- Restoring direct telephonic communications between West and East Berlin.

Egyptian Drivers Average Eleven Traffic Tickets Each Year

CAIRO (UPI) — If you think your local traffic cop is a little too quick with his ticket book consider the plight of the Egyptian motorist.

Policemen last year handed out 1,899,000 tickets to the nation's 170,000 private car owners, an average of 11 tickets for every motorist in the land.

Police officials say motorists here are probably the most highly ticketed in the world. The authorities have become increasingly alarmed that this prolific fines system has done little to stem the nation's spiraling accident rate.

Last year 1,714 persons were killed and 7,624 were injured in this predominantly rural land of 32 million persons. Though administrators say these statistics may be low by comparison with figures in motorized Western nations they are considered high in Egypt's pastoral landscape.

A major factor in the nation's malfunctioning fines system is that though policemen are free with their tickets, many of them are too little too late.

Maj. Gen. Saleh Hussein, central traffic chief, said that for the majority of traffic offenses such as speeding or driving through a stop sign fines range from 15 to 100 piasters (34 cents to $1.90). And there are no provisions in the current laws to fine repeated offenders successively heavier amounts. A motorist who commits his first speeding offense will probably be ticketed for the same amount as a driver caught for the tenth time.

Even then, under current laws, offenders are allowed accumulate tickets and put them off in one lump sum at the end of the year.

Traffic cops here are faced with a task of attempting to discipline a nation of poor drivers with an inadequate fine system and a set of archaic traffic laws which allow many illiterate persons to drive vehicles and which, in many instances, do not even cover common driving offenses.

For instance, there is no provision to fine motorists who fail to stop after an accident or for those who drive along "cycles only" lanes.

Hussein said the problem should be tackled at its root — in the license issuing department. Under existing standards practically anyone obtain a license merely by driving a car forward about 10 yards and then reversing it. Police officials say many holders are illiterate persons (recently published government figures show 70 per cent of all Egyptians over the age of 10 are illiterate) who cannot even read traffic signs properly.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My faithful husband of 12 years moved to California to take advantage of a job offer. I stayed behind to sell our house and pack up before joining him June 1st.

When I was unable to reach him by phone well past midnight, he told me (the following day) that he had dinner at the apartment of a young divorcee with whom he was working. He assured me it was strictly platonic as she was engaged to a man in Chicago. It upset me terribly, and I asked him please not to do it again. He promised he wouldn't.

I have now joined him in California. We were invited immediately to the home of the bride and bridegroom of one week for dinner. I was told it would be a casual evening and to wear slacks. When I arrived, the hostess was elegantly attired in a gown more appropriately suited for an Academy Award presentation. She addressed me only once during the evening—to tell me I reminded her of her "older" sister because of the bags under my eyes! (I am six years her senior.)

Anyway, I told my husband I didn't care to see this couple again. He said I was "foolish" — then our phone bill arrived showing that my husband had called me several times (while I was still in Colorado) from her apartment, after promising he wouldn't see her again. Abby, I am furious.

I told him I didn't want him working with her anymore, and I gave him two weeks to tell her to find employment elsewhere—or I am leaving.

Please tell me if I am a jealous fool, or if you think I have grounds for such drastic action:

NO NAME PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: I think you're "jealous"—and you have a right to be. But you're no fool!

DEAR ABBY: When my girl and I started making plans for our wedding she said her uncle had a terrific voice and she wanted him to sing at our wedding. I said okay.

Well, this uncle was in town last week and I heard him sing. Abby, I don't claim to be a musician, but this guy can't call hogs. He stands like a prize fighter with his fists all doubled up like he's going to slug somebody. He sings off key, bellows like a bull and when he forgets the words he goes, "Ba ba ba booooo."

He is a swell guy, but I sure don't want him singing at our wedding. How can I get my girl to cancel this uncle?

DELAWARE
DEAR DELAWARE: Tell her (nicely) that you agreed to having her uncle sing before you heard him. And now that you've heard him you think he'd make a better guest than vocalist. Of course if she has already asked him and he accepted, you're sunk.

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago I was so much in love with a 16-year-old girl I thought I couldn't live without her. I tried to talk her into marrying me, but fortunately, she was smarter than I was and told me I would have to wait. She was still in school and I was in the service. We had no money and a lot to learn, and now I realize that if we had married then we'd probably be divorced by now.

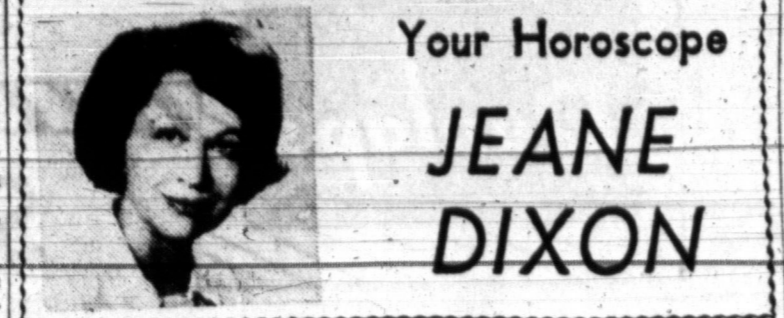

She told me that she wanted us both to live a little and find out who we were and what we wanted out of life before jumping into marriage.

Since then I have completed college through the service and she has completed two years of business school. I've been working for two years now and she has been working for a year and a half. Together we have saved $10,000 and we both have our own cars completely paid for. We each live in apartments with our own friends. She wanted to be completely on her own so she couldn't say that first she was under parents' rule and then under her husband's.

We plan to be married tomorrow. I really don't think I am going to get any sleep tonight, but I just had to tell someone that this 16-year-old girl I once loved is now a 20-year-old woman I love much more. I know this is long, but if you print it it might encourage kids who think they have to get married right away to wait. We did. And it was worth it.

Your Horoscope
JEANE DIXON

SATURDAY, SEPT. 6
YOUR BIRTHDAY SATURDAY: Expansion in your interests and activities is likely this coming year. Your drive to consolidate your position results in more growth, requires more effort than you expect. Emotional ties deepen through the year. Saturday's natives, however expansive, usually follow a systematic approach to problems without much outer show of excitement.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): It is so easy today to run yourself ragged doing all the chores yourself. Get help. Find some time for visiting people and places you have not seen lately.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your circumstances are much smoother now. Beginning important projects is not favored now, as you do not have available the energy needed.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Use soft answers to make this a peaceable day. Catch-up on correspondence, accounts. Leave money matters pretty much as they are for the moment. Gather friends for a quiet evening.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): This quiet, sociable day should be an interlude from serious concerns. You'll find many ideas and projects are overly optimistic, and some of them collapse.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Get busy on the kind of life you would like to lead. If given half a chance, your friends and loved ones are extraordinarily helpful in a quiet way.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): A change of tempo now—things move faster and, if you are alert, more profitably. Money requires special attention Saturday. Saturday night relax and have fun.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be intrigued rather than annoyed with your friends' curious notions about dress and fads. Take everything in moderation Saturday recreation, pastimes, study, and meditation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): While the vitality of most is at a relatively low level, press gently for what you want. Make a serious study of your goals and your present operations. Resolutions are in order.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Pleasant news on some money matter is promised. Friends, relatives, neighbors are reasonably congenial but unlikely to lend you anything of real value.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): The most direct route is the only one. If you have clear knowledge of some upcoming changes, act now to earn a fee or a capital gain. Romantic feelings arise and flower, assuming reasonable situations.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): The probability of new problems today is very low, so that there is opportunity to rescue yesterday's errors. Extra rest will be beneficial in the evening.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Anything speculative has a powerful attraction for you now—but for the time being you are unlikely to win at games or gambling. Your digestive system needs protection against excess of any sort.

When something new in fashion comes out, don't debate for a couple of years before adopting it. You'll end up looking like most women, outdated all the time, says designer Clodagh O'Kennedy. Miss Kennedy, a Dublin designer with international success although she's still in her 20's, advises women not to "apply too much of Granny's good taste. Perfect good taste is boring. A little vulgarity in fashion, as in humor, adds the spice, always thinking fashion from the skin out."

Contemporary Scholars Produce Best Translation Of Bible Available

Idea For Mideast Peace; Jews, Arabs In One State

By DAVID POLING
A group of concerned Christians in Lebanon has proposed that the only enduring settlement and solution to the constant crises in the Middle East is the establishment of a "bi-national state." That surely must sound like the most absurd suggestion ever made to the warring parties across the Jordan and the Suez but has merit and ought to be given careful consideration.

There are certain facts that must be considered in order to reach such a startling conclusion. The Palestinian Arabs, about 2 million, refuse, in spite of all the Arab military disasters, to accept the seizure of their homeland by an alien Western political movement. Many of these families date their origin in this area for thousands of years. Like the Vietnamese, who have endured the Chinese, the French, the Japanese, and now the Americans, they will wait it out.

Circuit Leader To Pay Visit To Witnesses

Richard Fetter, presiding minister of the Pampa Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced the tri-annual visit of circuit supervisor Gerald D. Grizzle during the week of September 9-14, 1968.

The congregation anticipates a week of increased activity and spiritual benefit from Mr. Grizzle's visit. Fetter stated, the visit is described as part of an advanced training program for Jehovah's Witnesses. The activity scheduled is also designed to encourage more Bible discussion by people of all faiths in the community.

The program will begin Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. with a ministry training school, followed by a 30-minute discourse by Mr. Grizzle. Wednesday through Sunday some time will be devoted to field missionary service each day. Mr. Grizzle will join ministers from the local congregation in making calls on residents in the community.

This is part of the regular door-to-door ministry and training program of Jehovah's Witnesses. The Saturday evening program begins at 8 with a Bible question period, "New Things Learned", which consists of audience participation. A 30-minute discourse by Mr. Grizzle, dealing with counsel for improving one's personal ministry concludes the session.

Highlight of the week comes Sunday at 10 a.m. when Mr. Grizzle gives the public talk "The Appointed Times of the Nations Have Run Out". A congregation Bible study using the Watchtower magazine as an aid and final remarks by Mr. Grizzle, bring the week's activity to a close. All meetings will be held at the Kingdom Hall 1701 Coffee. All interested persons are welcome and no collections are taken.

The Beirut group has suggested that only a nation that seriously incorporates the diverse groups and religions in a just and equitable manner will survive. Call it binational, or pluralistic secular state, or even a Semitic Union. This would mean the de-zionization of Israel (since Israel has always insisted that it wants a purely Jewish state). A pluralistic society is just that—not for one but the many. The Middle East, if nothing else, is many, many peoples.

The concerned Christians in Beirut quickly point to the living arrangements in their own society that has made it possible for Christians and Muslims and Druze to get on in Lebanon. Another example, albeit stormy, is Cyprus, where Greek Christians and Turkish Muslims drink from the same wells.

Peace means adjustment, negotiation and compromise. The alternative is eternal war—and that can mean nothing but death and disaster. Land is not more precious than life anywhere.

Sentiment might have something to do with the runaway popularity of zodiac jewelry. A girl may not actually believe in her sign, but she believes in the way it can give her power to bewitch when it is temptingly emblazoned on pins, earrings, bracelets, pendants, and, of course, charms.

Choosing among the modern translations is largely a matter of individual taste. The RSV preserves the sentence structure of the old King James, substituting modern for archaic usages where necessary. Thus it appeals to people who admire the majestic prose of the King James.

Progressive HD Club Lists 1969 Officer Choices

Progressive Home Demonstration Club members met recently with Mrs. Ewart A. Revard, 1100 Seneca Lane, for a covered dish luncheon.

Mrs. D.A. Rife conducted the business meeting as officers were elected for next year. After the election, Kenneth Evans, highway patrolman, gave the program.

Officers elected were Mrs. B.F. Dorman, president; Mrs. Fred Symonds, vice president; Mrs. Herb Peoples, secretary; Mrs. E.L. Truman, treasurer; Mrs. Grady Grant, council delegate.

Those attending the meeting were Mmes. Rife, Dorman, Symonds, Peoples, Trumm, R.L. Gordy, E.P. Templin, Revard, and visitors Mrs. Betty Ward and Kenneth Evans.

Hostesses were Mrs. Revard and Mrs. Grant. Mrs. Symonds will be hostess for the next meeting Sept. 21 at 1939 Evergreen.

POLLY'S POINTERS
Insulated Ice Buckets
Keep Camp Food Fresh
By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY: I would not think of going on a camping trip without including a couple of insulated ice buckets along with my usual cooking equipment. When my fishermen are late returning for a meal I make use of these buckets to keep prepared dishes at the right temperature. I also painted my paring knife handle bright red. It is so often needed and was hard to locate among the mad jumble of cutlery kept on a tray. It is now spotted a jiffy.

To make a pretty cake for a bridal shower, bake it in a square pan and cover with white frosting. Pipe pink frosting across it to resemble ribbon with a tied bow at the side. Add a few pink rosebuds and the cake will resemble a pretty, wrapped shower gift.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY: My daughter, 3 will eat only eggs, peanut butter, cookies, candy and popples. How do I get her on a diet with meat, fruit and vegetables? It seems logical to remove all the things she likes and expose her to the meat, vegetables and fruit but that is more easily said than done. I will be everlastingly grateful if other mothers will tell me how they have solved such a problem.

JANIE
DEAR POLLY: I want to tell Pearl that I find the tubes that come inside paper products are great for rolled magazines, comic books and so forth that I send to our son in the service overseas. The shorter ones are

Revival Center Church

Rev. H. P. Shaw of Childress Sunday Sept. 7th. The services will be the evangelist in the revival meetings in the Revival Center Church beginning Revival in the church located at 1191 South Wells St. Rev. Ruby M. Burrow is pastor of the church.

Jehovah's Witnesses

Clare Wright of Amarillo will be the guest speaker for the Pampa Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses Sunday at 10 a.m. His subject will be "Your Faith-How Far Does It Reach?"

Mr. Wright will show how righteous ones live by faith as brought out in Hebrews 10:39. Also, Jesus and the early Christians set an example of far-reaching faith by depending on God. The speaker shows how strong faith governed the lives of early Christians for them to be able to face life and death issues, such as being thrown to the lions.

The question "Can you obtain far-reaching faith?" will be answered. Essential to those wanting to gain everlasting life are regular study, meditation, prayer, service, and the demonstration of faith.

Immediately following the public discourse will be the weekly Watchtower study, at 11 a.m. The subject "Jehovah God, The Healer of 'Prayer'" will be found in the Aug. 15, issue.

The meetings will be held at the Kingdom Hall, 1701 Coffee, and are open to all interested persons.

First Church of Christ, Scientist

Thus saith the Lord, the Holy One of Israel, and his Maker, Ask me of things to come concerning my sons, and concerning the work of my hands command ye me."

This verse from Isaiah is spoken of as made in God's image, it is not sinful and sickly mortal man who is referred to but the ideal man, reflecting God's likeness.

Services begin at 11 a.m. at First Church of Christ, Scientist 901 N. Frost.

Church Of The Nazarene

Disapproval Shown To Church Mixing In Political Issues

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

A public opinion poll commissioned by the National Council of Churches indicates a substantial majority of Americans disapprove of church involvement in social and political issues.

The poll was conducted by the National Opinion Research Center among adults of all religious persuasions, including those who don't belong to any church.

They were asked: "In general, do you approve or disapprove of the churches becoming involved in social and political issues such as the urban crisis, Vietnam and civil rights?"

Disapproval was voiced by 58.6 per cent, approval by 36.7 per cent, with the remaining 4.8 per cent indifferent or undecided.

Analysis of the responses by the National Council's Department of Research shows that persons with incomes over $10,000 a year are more likely to approve of church social action than those in lower income brackets.

Level of education also seems to be a major factor influencing a person's attitude toward efforts to throw the weight of organized religion behind anti-war, anti-poverty and anti-discrimination measures. College graduates are more sympathetic to such efforts than people with less formal education.

Unsurprisingly, blacks are more enthusiastic than whites about an aggressive church commitment to social justice and young people are overwhelmingly more favorable to this kind of religious activity than older people.

Sex does not appear to make a big difference but to the extent that it is a factor, women are more likely to approve of the church's social ministry than men.

Professional men take a more affirmative view of social action than business men and Democrats tend to be more receptive to the idea than Republicans.

Episcopalians, Presbyterians, Methodists, Lutherans and members of the United Church of Christ are substantially more likely to favor social action by churches than Baptists, "Disciples of Christ and members of other evangelical Protestant denominations.

The Weekly Message of Inspiration...

Calvary Baptist Church

Rev. Edwin W. Boyle

"THE LIMITLESS CHRIST"
Paul, inspired by the Holy Spirit, opens our eyes to a dimension so vast, we can but fall prostrate at Christ's feet in adoration. To the Corinthians He says, "There is but one God, and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by Him" (1 Cor. 8:6). To the Colossians He says: "Jesus is The Image of the Invisible God, the first born of every creature; for by Him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they are thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers; all things were created by Him, and for Him; and He is before all things, and by Him all things consist." (Colossian. 1:5-17)

Christ's authority is unparalleled. His perfection was never dimmed by sin; His will was always God's will; His very presence is eternal life. Christ had His dwelling place with God before the foundation of the world.

Christ is the great central fact in all history; to Him everything looks forward or backward. All the lines of history converge on Him. All the great purposes of God culminate in Him. The greatest and momentous fact in history records is the fact of His birth. When Christ entered history He changed all history forever. He is the Christ of eternities, the center of all history.

Christ was the turning point in my life. Not in mine only, as Paul would say, but also the turning point in all other lives who confess their sin to Him and by Faith receive Christ as Savior and Lord. Christ breaks through the maze of dogma, ritual, and creed. He breaks through barriers of race, misunderstanding, and misrepresentation. His healing love reaches each soul who longs to be rid of sin and who by faith reaches out to "Touch the hem of His garment."

His love is the difference between victory and defeat, between happiness and despair. None but Christ can rightly claim the full surrender of your soul. But when He has that surrender, there is no limit to what He will do for you.

The work of Christ is to save all men from the guilt of sin, the power of sin, and the condemnation sin brings. Christ is able to save us completely, satisfy us thoroughly, and keep us eternally.

Christ's power has been the same in all ages. He appeals to each individual in a personal way. The same power that has changed and transformed the lives of others can change and transform your life. He is historic and eternal. He has taught people in all ages how to become the Sons of God.

Weather Still Hampers U.S. Open Net Meet
 NEW YORK (UPI)—Owen Williams of South Africa, a free-wheeling tennis proponent brought in to stage the $137,000 U.S. Open in a professional manner, spends his spare time pouring over weather almanacs searching for ideas for the future.
 Hot, humid weather over the Labor Day weekend held down attendance. Heavy rains soon after that wrecked a meticulous playing schedule drawn up by Capt. Mike Gibson, the colorful referee imported from Wimbledon.
 "Why couldn't we stage this tournament two weeks later next year?" Williams is asking everyone. "The weather would be on our side then."

Weeb Says Namath Will Start

DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas Cowboys are going to see a lot of Joe Namath when the Super Bowl champion New York Jets meet the Cowboys in the Cotton Bowl Saturday night.
 At least, that is the word from Jets coach Weeb Ewbank, who says he plans to play his star quarterback at least three quarters "because the contest will be the final pre-season test for the American Football League champions."
 The game, first ever between the two rival league power-houses, has been a sellout for week and some 73,000 fans are expected for the 8:05 p.m. CDT kickoff, marking the second straight sellout for the Cowboys home pre-season schedule.

 Ewbank also indicated his linemen would be going all the way as he sharpens the Jets' "season opener."

 "I'm not worried about them," Landry said of the contested posts. "We're not hunting whichever one is in there."
 The Cowboys will be without the services of running back Danny Reeves and strong safety Mike Gaechter, both of whom were waived injured at mid-week—Reeves with a bad knee and Gaechter with an ankle sprain.

 The only doubtful player on the Jets roster will be defensive end Carl McAdams, one of 10 Texans on the New York roster. McAdams has a leg injury.
 The Cowboys, who own a 3-1 pre-season record, have never played any other AFL team except the Houston Oilers and their 14-11 win in the Astrodome last week was their third without a loss.
 The Jets, who have won three of five starts, have won four of six against NFL foes, including last week's 24-21 conquest of Minnesota.

Buffalo," Ewbank said. "We want our regulars to be ready to go all the way."
 Some of the Cowboys also may be going all the way, but generally coach Tom Landry has indicated he would be still giving all hands a chance at the contested positions and would be spelling the others from time to time.

Practices Pleasing SWC Coaches
 By United Press International
 At least three Southwest Conference coaches said they were pleased with their teams' practice sessions Thursday, but Arkansas coach Frank Broyles would say only that he was thankful there were no injuries.
 "Today (Thursday) was the first time for a coach that no one had to be carried out of a scrimmage because of an injury," Broyles said after a two and one-half hour session.
 Broyles had little else good to say following the Razorbacks' first scrimmage since two-a-day drills began last week.
 Bill Beall at Baylor, Gene Stallings at Texas A&M and Hayden Fry at SMU all said their teams had their best or near best—practices of the season.

 SMU quarterback Chuck Hixson hit 16 of 20 passes for 248 yards including a 10-yard touchdown pass to sophomore Gary Hammond.
 Beall said the Baylor scrimmage was the best overall session of the season.
 He praised defensive tackle Tommy Reaux, offensive guard Bob Stephenson and center Calvin Hunt.
 Steve Bradshaw, a senior defensive guard, looked impressive for Rice Thursday as he applied constant pressure to quarterbacks in a controlled scrimmage.

 Coach Bo Hagan said he was also pleased with the running of sophomore Mike Sprull.

The Lighter Side
 By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The advent of September has produced an outbreak of predictions as to whether there will be another outbreak of violence on college campuses this fall.

At the moment, those who expect more violence and those who expect less violence are evenly divided. More or less, so I have solicited yet another prediction to the break the tie.

My subject in the following interview is Dr. Samuel Eliot Maticulation, the noted international authority on education, and a member of the United Nations Truce team at Harvard.

Q: "Dr. Maticulation, you have just returned from a visit to Harvard. What are the chances for peace there this fall?"

A: "I'm afraid there is very little chance of ending the fighting through a negotiated settlement. Peace talks between the trustees and the Viet campus are as far from agreement as when they began last spring."

Q: "Then it is your opinion that the fighting will continue indefinitely?"

A: "Not necessarily. Even without a formal armistice there could be a tacit arrangement leading to a mutual withdrawal."

Q: "How could that be accomplished?"

A: "More emphasis should be placed on training non militant undergraduates to educate themselves. Once the students are able to conduct their own classes without the aid of outside professors, it will then be possible for the faculty to make a gradual withdrawal."

Q: "What's wrong with having the faculty pull out immediately on a unilateral basis?"

A: "That would only invite a takeover by the Viet campus. The faculty must remain strong until there are assurances the Viet campus is willing to make a similar withdrawal."

Q: "Many Americans feel that Harvard is not an essential part of the U.S. education system. Why do we continue to defend it?"

A: "You can be certain that if the Viet campus successfully overthrows the faculty at Harvard, other colleges threatened with a Viet campus takeover will find it impossible to continue their resistance."

Q: "Are you referring to the so-called 'domino' concept—push one domino and they all topple over?"

A: "No. I am referring to the 'house of cards' concept. Remove one card and the whole thing collapses."

Q: "How long do you estimate it will take Harvard undergraduates to reach the level of proficiency necessary to handle their own education?"

A: "The freshmen should be ready by Thanksgiving. But seniors may take a lot longer."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The shorter term trend of the stock market remains positive despite recent sluggish tape action and upside trading potential is still evident, according to Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis. The firm said it could detect no significant trend in the stance of institutional traders, except to note that buying interest increased during the sluggish trend of the market in the final week of August.

E.F. Hutton & Co. notes that in five of the past nine years, the market rose in the week immediately following a Labor Day and the blue chips were higher a month later. The market lost ground in the post-Labor Day sessions in the other four years and the blue chips were lower a month later, the firm added.

W.E. Hutton & Co. recalls that the Great Bull Market of 1929 reached its final peak on the first session after Labor Day and that the "most violent decline in modern times" started right after Labor Day in 1937. The firm labeled the first post-Labor Day session this year "entirely neutral," but added that a single session does not establish a trend.
